Travel Sober And Buckled Up

Statistics prove there are two simple precautions that could save your life while driving the busy Texas highways this holiday season - and during the rest of the year. "Many people who died last year might have been alive today if they had buckled up or had driven sober," said Dr. Robert Bernstein, Texas Commissioner of Health. "It just makes sense to use your seat belts and to drive without drinking."

Statistics from the Texas Department of Public Safety show that in 1987, more than 75 percent of the 3,261 persons killed in traffic crashes in Texas were not wearing safety belts. The chances of being killed in an accident in 1987 were six times greater for those not buckled up.

The combination of bad weather, drinking drivers, and weary travelers speeding home for the holidays makes Texas' roads especially hazardous during the Christmas and New Year's holidays. Last year, 38 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the five-day Christmas holiday period, and another 43 were killed during the five-day New Year's holiday.

Safety belts hold passengers in place, preventing a second "human collision," in which unbelted passengers hit the windshield, dash, door, or are thrown from the vehicle. Young children, who are especially vulnerable to being injured or killed in a traffic accident, should ride protected in child passenger safety seats.

Texas law requires children under age 2 to ride in a safety seat, and youngsters from age 2 to 4 to ride either in a safety seat or secured by a safety belt. All front-seat passengers, regardless of age, are required by Texas law to ride buckled up.

"Some people brag that they can drive just fine when they drink," said Dr. Bernstein. "If this is true, why do so many deaths on Texas roads involve alcohol?"

Last year in Texas, 42 percent of all fatal traffic accidents on rural roads involved driving while intoxicated (DWI). More than a third of all the state's fatal traffic accidents involved DWI.

Dr. Bernstein recommends a "designated driver" plan, in which one person in a group volunteers not to drink, and assumes the responsibility of driving others home. Some restaurants and bars now provide free non-alcoholic beverages to a designated driver. In addition, many communities are arranging free or inexpensive taxi service to transport persons unable to drive safely.

Dr. Bernstein said each ounce-and-a-half of liquor or 12-ounce beer requires about an hour to be metabolized in the bloodstream. Food helps slow the absorption of alcohol, but eating while drinking will not keep someone from getting drunk. Also, coffee and cold showers cannot help someone become sober.

Student's Needs Must Be Focus Of Texas Academic Skills Program

With the recent introduction of the Texas Academic Skills Program into the higher education arena, public community and junior college educators throughout the state are facing one of their greatest challenges - continuing to provide all citizens with opportunities to enroll in college programs of their choice, while at the same time implementing House Bill 2182.

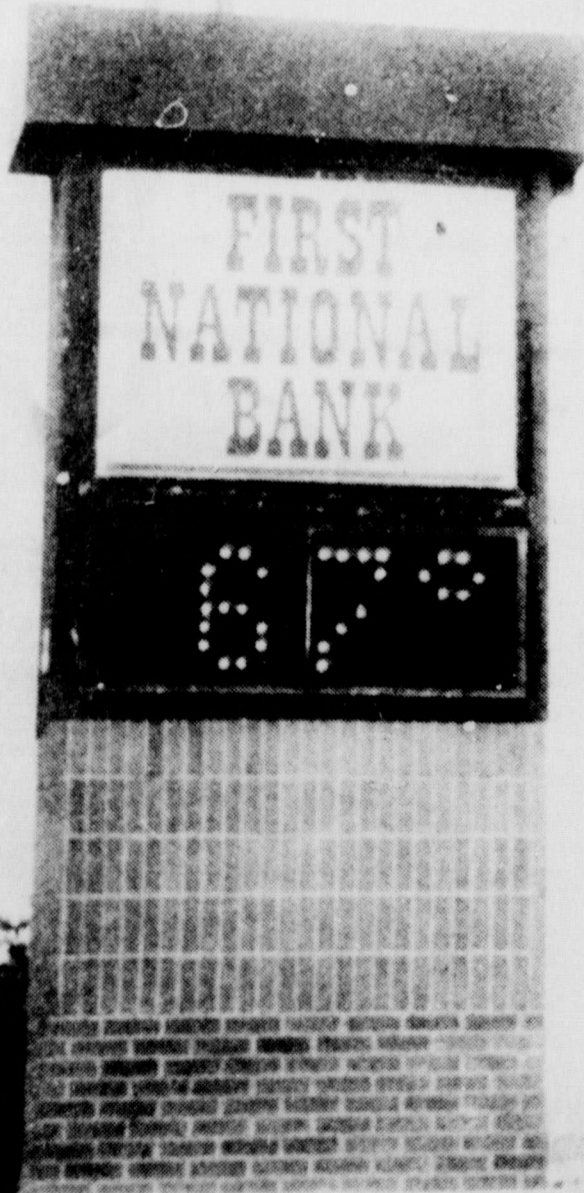

The implementation of TASP, including the testing and remediation of thousands of incoming freshmen, should eventually prove to be beneficial to the over 731,782 students annually entering public community and junior colleges and universities in Texas - if remedial needs are properly addressed.

Providing needed remedial services will be the crucial key to making TASP the viable and productive program it should be. The Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board estimates that 40 percent of the state's entering university and community and junior college freshmen will need remedial course work in one or more academic areas. By assessing students' basic skills weaknesses early in their college careers and prescribing appropriate remediation strategies, students should be better able to succeed in achieving their educational goals.

In implementing the Texas Academic Skills Program, a broad range of human and physical resources must be identified and provisions for them addressed to ensure optimum program success for the constructive support of students in their educational pursuits.

Texas Academic Skills Program

Although community and junior colleges are generally equipped to sensitively address the problems that are inherent with mandatory testing programs such as TASP, it is important that existing resources are not diverted from present programs to achieve TASP objectives. Instead, current remedial programs and student services such as counseling and tutoring must be augmented and expanded accordingly so that they will be responsive to these new requirements. It is also imperative that, in the administration of tests and in the delivery of necessary support services, community and junior colleges address a number of other issues.

Among these are student apprehensions caused by the TASP test, including anxiety regarding the length of time allotted for the tests; the impact of the $24 cost for the initial test and costs for subsequent retests; and language barriers which exist for many Texas students.

Once students are tested, the challenge will be even greater to ensure that the educational, advising and remediation needs of students are not neglected and that they are not discouraged from pursuing their educational goals.

In addition, many faculty will need to acquire additional capabilities to assist in the delivery of basic skills instruction so institutions can develop the most effective and beneficial remediation system for students. Community and junior college faculty not presently involved in remediation instruction may find it necessary to participate in specially-focused faculty development activities. This training should be designed to better prepare faculty to work effectively with the thousands of students who will need support and assistance as they attempt to pursue degree or certificate programs while simultaneously undergoing remediation in one or more of the basic skills areas.

Providing quality curriculum, hardware and software for computer-aided basic skills instruction, and facilities to provide these resources will become major responsibilities of all community and junior colleges. Appropriate state funding as well as increased local efforts will be necessary if the TSAP is to be as effective for our students as it was designed to be.

The passage of the Texas Academic Skills Program in Texas is proving to be one of the most challenging pieces of legislation experienced by public community and junior colleges. In the long term, the program should prove to be beneficial to both students and institutions. The identification of needed remediation, the delivery of quality programs, the expansion of existing student services, and the follow-up on student performance for the purpose of improving and refining all aspects of the TASP program should result in better educated individuals.

UTILIZATION OF existing services in connection with the those provided by the Texas Department of Corrections appears to be one of the many bonuses to be seen in the consideration and effort by this area in securing a maximum security facility here in the days ahead.

Certainly the same 800 or so employees who would be living in this area would bolster school enrollment, health care needs and legal services, but because of the wide-area involved, would not put an undue burden on any one facility. These would be big pluses in strengthening our schools, our hospitals and our courts.

As far as the inmates are concerned, T.D.C. generally is pretty well self-contained in dealing with these matters, but would utilize those local services which exist to bolster its own services. It's a fact that the junior colleges — and area senior colleges — would be a vital part of the inmate educational program and the struggling hospitals around here undoubtedly would be strengthened by being able to offer services not available at such a T.D.C. unit here.

Some have wondered if such a unit might cause undue flooding of local courts because of the possible influx of legal papers generated by the inmates. A local judge sees this as no particular problem, stating that most such cases would probably be bound for higher courts up to and including the federal level.

The local judge guessed that only those cases which involved crimes committed within this jurisdiction would be filed in the local courts. From a T.D.C. publication, the specifics are spelled out on these three important areas:

System (an independent school district) is designed to meet the educational needs of the inmates. Those who do not achieve a fifth grade level on the Educational Achievement tests given when they enter TDC must go to school until they are able to pass the fifth grade test.

All other education programs are voluntary.

The Division of Continuing Education has several programs to serve the inmate. Three post-secondary programs are offered.

- A two-year junior college degree in arts, science, general and technical fields;

- The senior college program which can lead to a Bachelor of Science, Arts or General Studies degree;

- A junior college vocational program offering a Certificate of Completion and credit for approximately 20 college semester hours.

Other programs include the Texas A&M University Extension Service which offers specialized training programs including Electric Lineman, and Heavy Equipment Operator, the Apprenticeship and a Related Training Program, which includes Building Maintenance, Welding, Construction, Plumbing, Auto courses, and others, and the Inmate Craft Shop which gives inmate artisans an outlet for their goods and gives visitors an accessible place to purchase souvenirs.

Health Services
Basic outpatient clinic services are available at each unit. All of the units provide sick call five days a week, hold chronic disease clinics and serve the routine health care needs of the inmate population. Convalescent care and specialty care are available. Additional specialty clinics are provided at the TDC Hospital in Galveston which is the admitting facility for inmates in need of hospitalization.

All of the TDC units have 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week coverage by medical personnel in case of an emergency. Each of the TDC units has an ambulance for emergency transportation. Life Flight helicopters are available if needed.

TDC operates its own inpatient program for psychiatrically ill inmate and for the mentally retarded.

Legal Services
TDC provides attorneys to assist inmates with their legal problems. Legal assistance will be provided EXCEPT for the following: where an inmate has an attorney, cases against TDC, and cases in which attorney's fees can be awarded or a money judgment entered in favor of the inmate.

The type of legal problems normally handled include:

- Challenges to convictions after the appeals are over.
- Jail time problems.
- Detainers - where a county in Texas or another state has indicated that they want an inmate upon his release from TDC.
- Family law cases such as divorce or when a private party is trying to take away an inmate's children.
- Cases where an inmate

Joint Select Committee On Worker's Compensation Insurance Held Meeting

The Joint Select Committee on Workers' Compensation Insurance approved its final report earlier this month. It is helpful to review a bit of the committee's history and accomplishments.

The Committee was created by the Legislature in July, 1987, because the State's workers' compensation system was poorly understood and thought to be out of control. Workers' compensation insurance rates had increased over 67% in 30 months; large employers said high insurance rates were hurting business expansions; many small employers said high rates forced them to choose among lay-offs, canceling insurance coverage, or shutting down altogether. Working people said payments to those suffering injuries were meager.

The political atmosphere was hostile. Employers, labor unions, insurance companies, lawyers, doctors and hospitals, all had explanations for the system's woes, and most of them came down to one thing: "It's somebody else's fault."

Legislative attempts to reform the system had always run aground on two issues: competing interest groups and lack of objective information. A 1982 legislative study concluded that "Texas literally has no substantiated idea how good or bad its workers' compensation system is... Texas is ignorant of where its workers' compensation system is going and only slightly more aware of where it has been sued in a civil suit. Immigration, Social Security, and military/VA benefits problems.

If an inmate has a legal problem of this type, he can write Staff Counsel for Inmates through the TDC mail system. Staff Counsel for Inmates exists to help inmates with their problems, therefore the attorneys will not send reports or contact family members. All correspondence is with the inmates alone.

Created in this atmosphere, the Joint Select Committee chose to take the high road; to put away the arguments and ideas of past debates and to examine the systems from top to bottom with a fresh and unencumbered eye. By choosing the high road, the Committee has given the Legislature the high ground in the fight for reform. It has placed the debate on a foundation of solid information and expert analysis light years beyond the catch phrases and anecdotes of the past.

What the Committee found was a system suffering from years of neglect and incapable of serving the needs of a modern state. It is a system wracked with high accident rates and employer costs which are among the highest in the United States. Overall, payments to injured workers are moderately high, but the money is not distributed equally or fairly; many get too little while others get too much.

The system is too complex and too controversial. Attorney involvement is high and the levels of controversy and litigation are increasing. The Industrial Accident Board is unable to regulate workers' compensation or to implement policy on a consistent basis. The Board that should be a referee is too often relegated to the status of a player.

The Committee found that the delay and cost of deciding disputes often force one or both parties into compromises that are in no one's best interest.

Repairing a system so long neglected will not be fast or simple. The Joint Select Committee has given the Legislature over fifty detailed suggestions for change. They cover numerous areas, but three are critically important: the Agency, benefits, and the handling of disputes.

The Agency must have both the power and the people to do its job. It must be able to investigate fraudulent claims, unnecessary medical treatment, and improper claims handling by insurance companies. It must operate a safety system that identifies unsafe employers and improves workplace safety. And the Agency must collect data and produce reports that permit us to see how well it does its job.

Benefit need improvement. They need to be more fairly distributed and more closely tied to the severity of the injury. They need to be delivered quickly and according to more objective criteria. And they need to be structured in a way that encourages a speedy return to work.

The likelihood of disputes must be minimized, but when they occur, they must be resolved quickly, fairly, and economically. However, when litigation cannot be avoided, workers must have access to good attorneys to protect their rights.

The means to accomplish these goals are provided in the report of the Joint Select Committee. Disagreements remain on many points and some areas require further study and refinement. But the roadmap is there. And with the Legislature convenes on January 10, 1989, it is time to head down the road to reform.

Commissioner Of Precinct 2 Expresses Thanks

Commissioner of Precinct #2, Norman Christian, wishes to express his appreciation to three business concerns and landowners in the area for their assistance in road maintenance in Precinct #2.

Christian stated that he very much appreciated the contributions made by Sun Oil Company and its supervisor, Barry McFall, and his employees, in work and contribution of road building material from their land. Also singled out for commendation was Joe Bob Oil Company for their assistance on road repair and maintenance and Sierra Oil Company for their assistance on road maintenance and repair.

Sixteen landowners contributed material which helped greatly in the expense of maintenance, Christian also said.

The Commissioner concluded his thanks by saying that the three companies not only have shown their good corporate citizenship, but are also substantial taxpayers in Eastland County, and Eastland County very much appreciates their efforts. He thanks the landowners for their cooperation for the good of the area.

Homemaking Hints

From Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent

As 1988 comes to a close, I wish each of you a joyful Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Many people make New Year Resolutions! I have saved a clipping from a newspaper for years. The article "The 10 Commandments of How to Get Along With People" has some excellent guidelines. Include these guidelines for your new year resolutions.

The 10 Commandments of How to Get Along With People

1. Keep skid chains on your tongue; always say less than you think. Cultivate a low, persuasive voice. How you say it often counts more than what you say.
2. Make promises sparingly and keep them faithfully, no matter what it costs.
3. Never let an opportunity pass to say a kind and encouraging word to or about somebody. Praise good work, regardless of who did it. If criticism is needed, criticize helpfully, never spitefully.
4. Be interested in others; their pursuits, their work, their homes and families. Make merry with those who rejoice; with those who weep, mourn. Let everyone you meet, however humble, feel that you regard him as a person of importance.
5. Be cheerful. Don't burden or depress those around
6. Keep an open mind. Discuss but don't argue. It is a mark of a superior mind to be able to disagree without being disagreeable.
7. Let your virtues, if you have any, speak for themselves. Refuse to talk of another's vices. Discourage gossip. It is a waste of valuable time and can be extremely destructive.
8. Be careful of another's feelings. Wit and humor at the other person's expense are rarely worth it and may hurt when least expected.
9. Pay no attention to ill-natured remarks about you. Remember, the person who carried the message may not be the most accurate reporter you by dwelling on minor aches and pains and small disappointments. Remember, everyone is carrying some kind of a load.

10. Don't be too anxious about the credit due you. Do your best and be patient. Forget about yourself and let others "remember." Success is much sweeter that way.

Recipe for the Week

The following is a microwave candy recipe for Ravishing Rocky Road — Merry Christmas and happy eating!

Ravishing Rocky Road

Top with marshmallows and pecans. Fold in remaining chocolate, evenly coating marshmallows and pecans. Chill until set. Cut into squares. Makes 1 1/2 pounds.

in the world. Simply live so that nobody will believe them. Disordered nerves and bad digestion are a common cause of backbiting.

WORD OF GOD

Jesus said:

Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.

For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.

The Next Best Thing -

...to a clear conscience and a good night's sleep is the feeling of security in owning your own home with a clear title. Peculiar to the real estate field, values are based on land and the improvements thereon, if any. But values on these are based on the title. The title then becomes the most important item to be considered when purchase of real property is contemplated. So be careful to buy good title based on an abstract of title or a policy of title insurance.

Dee Hogan Fills Term As Sheriff

In a special meeting at 4 p.m. Friday, December 23 in the Commissioners Court, Eastland County Commissioners accepted the resignation of County Sheriff Don Underwood.

After Sheriff Elect Dee Hogan verbally applied to fill the position, he was appointed by vote of the Court to fill the remainder of Don Underwood's term of office. Sheriff Hogan will continue as Sheriff after December 31 as the elected Sheriff.

Commissioners then voted to confirm the deputies under the new Sheriff, and then the Court adjourned until Tuesday, January 3.

Trauma Systems Could Avert Many Deaths

Of every 10 Texans who died yesterday from critical trauma, as many as three or four could have survived, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

Dr. Robert Bernstein, Texas Commissioner of Health, said that the reason why so many trauma victims die is not always because treatment is beyond the scope of modern medical expertise and equipment. Rather, it can be because Texas lacks a uniform system by which the best medical resources are readily available to all victims who need them.

Trauma is loosely defined as any injury - a cut, wound, burn or internal damage - caused by accident or intent (as in homicide or suicide attempts). Most trauma is treatable at home with first aid, or at a general hospital. But about 5 to 8 percent of trauma cases, those involving life-threatening injuries, require specially trained staff and advanced technology.

Dr. Bernstein said that the key to saving more lives of trauma victims is the establishment of "trauma systems" statewide, a concept which is nationally recognized for its effectiveness. Simply stated, a trauma system is an arrangement among available resources to coordinate emergency health care. Resources include emergency medical services, local hospitals, and specialized hospitals. Each has clearly outlined responsibilities for trauma cases.

Such systems ensure that victims receive the treatment warranted by the degree and complexity of their injuries - as quickly as possible. And each part of the system knows its own role in rapidly stabilizing and treating the victim. That includes transferring the victim, if necessary, to a hospital - commonly referred to as a trauma center - which is able to comprehensively treat seriously injured persons.

According to Dr. Bernstein, several studies, spanning three decades, show that where trauma systems have been instituted in other states, deaths from critical trauma have been reduced by 30 to 40 percent. In Texas, traffic fatalities alone could be dramatically lessened. If, for instance, trauma systems had been in place last year, and succeeded in saving the lives of 35 percent of the 1,508 reported killed on our highways, 528 victims could have been spared.

TDH will ask the 71st Texas Legislature in January for authorization to create trauma systems throughout the state. "We all must realize, however, that there are some very real problems which must be solved before trauma systems can work in Texas," Dr. Bernstein said.

He explained that state and local economics present the main hurdles to creation of comprehensive trauma systems. Critical trauma treatment is the costliest kind of medicine, since it requires the broadest range of equipment and specially trained personnel around-the-clock. These hospitals must be able to handle any of the many types of life-threatening injuries. In addition, treatment often entails long hospital stays and rehabilitation services.

Compounding the expense of maintaining state-of-the-art equipment and full-time staff, a trauma system must also be able to accept patients who may be able to pay for treatment. "Certainly any legislation authorizing creation of trauma systems must contain a mechanism to help reimburse participating hospitals and personnel for uncompensated care," Dr. Bernstein added.

1 package (6 oz.) chocolate chips

Combine sugar and corn syrup in 2-quart microwave-safe measuring cup. Microwave at HIGH 4 minutes. Stir; microwave at HIGH an additional 4 minutes. Stir in pistachios; mix in butter and brandy flavoring. Microwave at HIGH 1 minute longer; remove from microwave oven. Stir in baking soda. Spread on aluminum foil-covered cookie sheet. California Pistachio Popcorn
2 quarts popped popcorn
1/2 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 cup light corn syrup
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla
1/4 teaspoon soda
1 cup shelled natural California pistachios

Keep popcorn warm in 250 degree F. oven while preparing coating. Melt butter in large saucepan; stir in sugar, corn syrup and salt. Bring to boil; stir constantly. Reduce heat to medium; boil without stirring 5 minutes. Remove from heat; quickly stir in vanilla and soda. Place popcorn in large, heat-proof bowl; slowly pour syrup over popcorn while stirring. Add pistachios; mix thoroughly. Turn into greased 15-1/4 x 10-1/4 x 3/4-inch baking pan; bake at 250 degrees F. 1 hour, stirring every 15 minutes. Remove from oven; cool. Break into serving-size pieces. Store in tightly covered container. Makes 2 quarts.

Combine sugars and half-and-half in heavy 3-quart saucepan. Cook over low heat until sugar is dissolved; stir constantly. Bring to boil over medium-high heat. Boil gently to 236 degrees F. or until a little mixture forms a soft ball in cold water; stir often. Remove from heat. Add pistachios. Stir just until nuts are coated and mixture becomes lighter; immediately drop from a spoon on to buttered cookie sheets into patties about 3-inches in diameter. If mixture becomes too stiff to drop, stir in 1 or 2 teaspoons hot water. Let pralines stand until firm.
Makes 20 pralines.

Adding insulation to your walls is difficult and usually not cost effective, but increasing the level of insulation in the attic can be done by a do-it-yourselfer. Use a ruler to measure the thickness of your attic insulation. If you have less than 8 inches of batt insulation or loose-fill cellulose insulation or less than 10 inches of loose-fill glass fiber or mineral wool insulation, then you probably don't have R27 in your attic. By bringing your insulation up to the recommended levels, you can save significantly on your heating bills.

When checking your insulation level, also check to see if the attic is properly ventilated to avoid moisture buildup in the insulation. Putting plastic bags or other devices over turbine ventilators in the winter is not a good practice because it hinders attic ventilation and moisture control.

Remember, insulation is not just for walls and attics. By insulating your hot-water pipes, you keep the heat from escaping into the cooler air. This pipe insulation will cost about 20 cents per foot, but should be recovered in a short period of time through saving on your water-heating bill.

The second measure that should be taken is air leakage reduction. Air leakage in a typical house accounts for 25 to 30 percent of the home's heating and cooling costs. When this air loss is reduced your heater runs less, saving energy and money. Weatherstrip and caulk where you find leaks around doors and windows.

Also, check for leaks in some of the not-so-obvious places. To restrict air leakage around light switches and electrical outlets, gasket sealers are available to place between the wall and cover plate. Insulate the back of attic doors, and weatherstrip around the door frame. Stuff insulation in the gaps in floors and walls around plumbing lines that enter the house. Replace broken and cracked windows; seal small cracks in glass with duct tape if replacement is too expensive.

The third tip is to be sure your heating system is operating efficiently. Arrange for a maintenance inspection by a heating system specialist at the beginning of each heating season.

Fishing Outdoors

By Terry L. Wilson

Attention Eastland County Fishermen

1989 looks like to be one for the record books. Especially for the northwest Texas area. Florida stockings by TP&W officials in years past are now coming into their prime. Hubbard has produced a number of 10 plus blacks, Leon 10 plus up to 12 pounds, Lake Brownwood 10 pounders and the list continues to grow.

With the promising outlook for angling, what better time than "now" to join one of these areas few organizations dedicated to helping preserve our natural resources. The Eastland County Bass Club is presently undergoing a restructuring program in an effort to serve a wider range of interest. Many of you may wonder what the purpose of the E.C.B.C. is. The purpose of this organization shall be educational, in that:

1. It shall make, or cause to be made a study of the fishing conditions in this area, and, of possible secure the services of a biologist to study the problems of the lakes of west central Texas with the view of improving fishing conditions.
2. It shall, whenever possible, improve relations between landowners and fishermen, and also other sportsmen.
3. It shall provide means for its members to bring forth their ideas concerning the improvement of game fishing in this area.
4. It shall cooperate with the Parks and Wildlife Department of Texas.
5. It may cooperate with other organizations of like character.
6. It shall foster the education of the youth of our area in matters of conservation, and sportsmanship and safety practices.

7. It shall encourage the preservation of the natural environment of the lakes and streams of west central Texas and shall set an example in maintaining litter-free waters and camp sites.

Steve Pennington, 1989 president-elect has announced the format for next year will basically remain unchanged with the exception of Article IV of the organizations by-laws. The change here will only be that this article will be utilized at all times by which "This organization shall be governed by a board of directors." This is only part of this article, but the meat and taters for the restructuring for 1989.

January 5th, 1989 will be the first meeting of the E.C.B.C. All area anglers are urged to attend this meeting at the E.N. Bank at 7:00 p.m. All board of directors are requested to arrive at 6:20 for a short board meeting to discuss some pertinent matters.

A couple of upcoming tournaments for 1989 area: Specialty Bass tournaments, Lake Sam Rayburn, Any bait team event January 28, 1989, Headquarters Rayburn Country (409) 698-2444, weigh in will be at Twin Dikes Marina. First place two rigged skeeter SED-80's full metal hull, custom trailers, 70 H.P. Yamaha engines, Humminbird Electronics, Minn Kota trolling motors continental batteries, a $19,000.00 value guaranteed.

February 18, 1989, Specialty Bass Tournament Sam Rayburn Open; Stanley jig and spinnerbait tournament. All entries must fish with Stanley jigs or Stanley spinnerbaits. Headquarters Rayburn Country, weigh-in at Twin Dikes Marina. $24,000.00 payback based on a field of 325 entries.

The tournament outlook for 1989 is excellent statewide. This is largely due to organizations such as Eastland County Bass Club who are the grass roots of competitive fishing as we now know it. But in perspective the club levels are a learning level which other sports have yet to establish. Not only the basics of fishing or learned but many situations encountered can and are used throughout the anglers life on and off the water.

A fellow outdoor writer reported that local angler Chuck Burgess will be competing in the professional B.A.S.S. Fishing Tour. As soon as I find out Chucks first scheduled event I will let you all know. Perhaps Chuck will begin his professional career on Lake Livingston in Texas around late February or early March. Good luck not only to Chuck but to each and every angler in 1989. May every bite be a keeper.

Countian Remembers Pearl Harbor

SUMMER, '42 AT HONOLULU--In the chair is the late Homer Bisbee and the barber is Bernard Campbell. The two were friends and had planned to get together on Sunday night of the attack. This photo was made some six months later, the first time, they had been able to make contact.

Bernard Campbell retired from Comanche Co. Co-Op in 1983 after 15 years with them, and lives with his wife Murl in Eastland. He was also a barber, a farmer, and he once worked in a copper mine in Arizona.

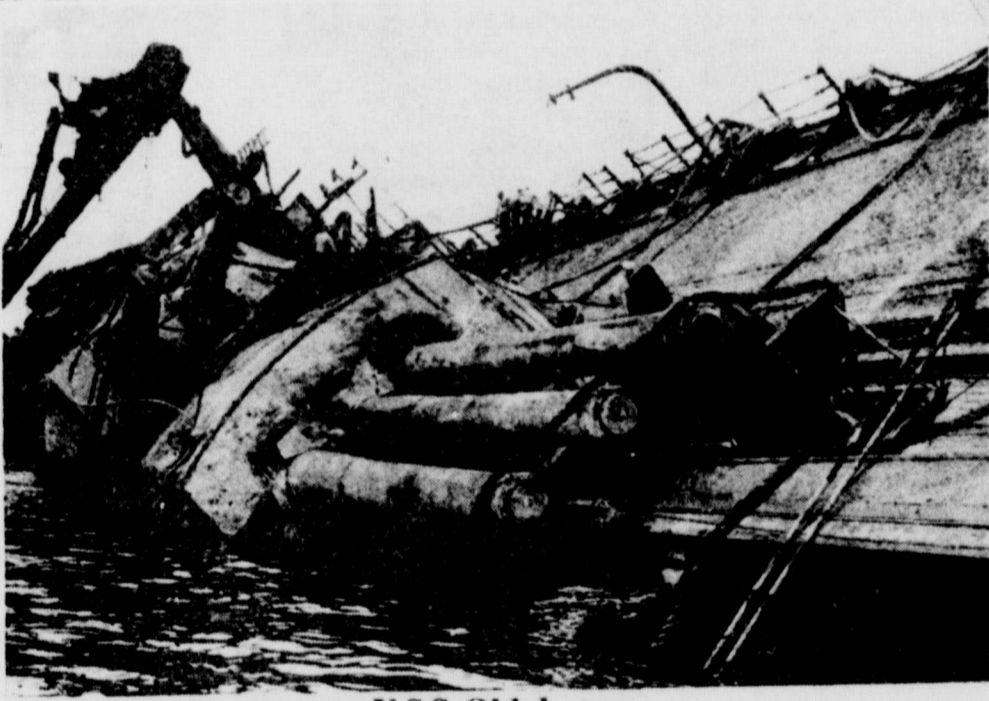

Surprise Japanese Attack Killed 3,600 Americans, Started War

(ED. NOTE: Earlier this month our nation observed the 47th anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor and we asked Eastland Citizen to share his memories and photos of the occasion.

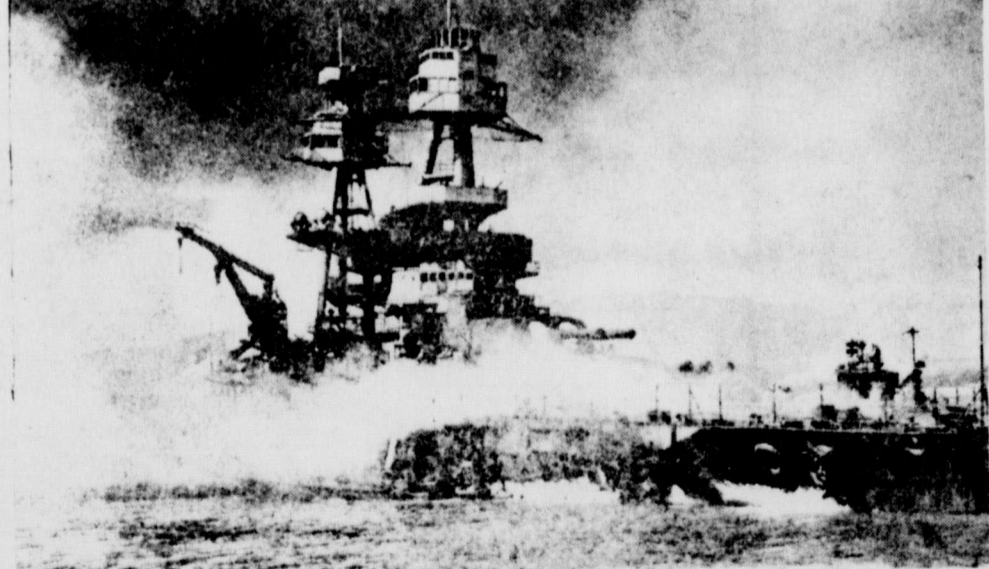

Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941
By Bernard Campbell
There were three boys from Carbon there that day. Walter H. Gilbert was a Marine on board the U.S.S. Oklahoma when it went down. (He jumped and swam to safety.) Homer Bisbee was in the Navy Air Station at Kaneohe Bay, which is across the Island from Pearl Harbor. I was stationed at the submarine base at Pearl Harbor. The Japanese planes came in from the east as the sun was rising, about 50 of them. This was about 7:55 a.m. They hit everything about the same time. Wheeler Field, Hickam Field, and Pearl Harbor. Another group hit the naval air station at Kaneohe Bay. The ships at Pearl Harbor went up in fire and smoke and the oil leaked out on the water. The Oklahoma turned over on it's side. The Arizona, California, and West Virginia went down there at the dock, along with several more battleships, cruisers and destroyers. The ones that didn't take a hit went to sea. That morning a friend of and I were going to Honolulu to meet Homer Bisbee. The first I remember, the fire alarm went off, then the air raid alarm went off. I heard the O.D. say "Those Japs are attacking us." We went to our battle stations. These everyone was assigned to their duties that day. I was assigned to be a messenger. When I wasn't delivering a message I was

He was there. He further remembers that our patrol planes did not go out on Sundays and that the men had attended a Shreiner Football Game on Saturday.) painting windows. Everything had to be blacked out for the night. That night going from building to building I could hear gun fire coming from the main gate. We later learned that some of the Japanese from the island were trying to come in the base. The next day, Dec. 8, I went back to my regular duty, which was barbering. The next few days were spent cleaning up what they could and burying those that died during the attack. For some time we were expecting another attack, but it never happened. I served my time at the submarine base Pearl Harbor, Submarine base Midway Island and on the U.S.S. Pelias a submarine tender. I was discharged in September of '45. Mr. Campbell further shared with us that it was a touch and go situation for him on that Sunday night because as a messenger because he knew the buildings, but he wasn't armed, and there was heavy guard duty because a second attack was expected. "The Japanese fleet apparently came as close as possible Saturday and waited, knowing that there wouldn't be patrol planes out Sunday morning," he remembers. also Sunday night, signals flares from the mountains could be seen, indicating that the Japanese had comrades who helped stage the attack. The Campbells hope to return to Pearl Harbor in 1991, the 50th anniversary of the attack.

A sign in the window at Winnet Oil Co., 110 West 8th Street, last Tuesday, December 20, said, "Guess Who's '50' and it's not Francille. Happy Birthday Peepaw. (Gerald Winnet)." There was also black balloons around the sign.

Larry Jernigan, night officer with the Cisco Police Department, is in the Intensive Care Unit at Hendrick Hospital in Abilene.

Larry who is only 36-years old, suffered a heart attack last Friday.

Connie, his wife, reported that Larry is recovering faster than what the doctors expected. They have taken him off the critical list, but he is still in the ICU.

Larry was taken to Eastland Hospital first and was at first thought to have had a gall bladder attack, and was sent home. But after he kept hurting he went back and was diagnosed as having a heart attack when an EKG was run.

The doctors at Hendrick were expected to run more tests on Tuesday.

Dot Rhyne, who lives in Marfa, Texas and is the daughter of E.L. and Elsie Jackson, of Cisco sent the following write-up about the celebration of Mr. Jackson's 90th birthday. It said:

What is a family?

A family is laughter, love, and good feelings of acceptance—warts and all—and appreciation of each others' accomplishments and abilities.

A family is compassion for each others' sorrows, and help, if possible, in each others' troubles.

A family is stories that happened long ago and are told over and over and get even funnier with each retelling.

A family is comfort and protection and warmth.

A family is sometimes quarrels and misunderstandings but loving each other anyway.

A family is traditions, such as always having turkey on Thanksgiving or running the Turkey Trot; tall trees at Christmas decorated with beautiful ornaments and also with not-quite-so beautiful (but actually even more beautiful) decorations made by loving little hands in early years; family picnics on the Fourth of July, always with watermelon.

A family is having roots and knowing where you came from, even if you don't always know where you're going.

A family is guidance and advice—not that the advice is always taken or should be.

A family is also forgetting birthdays and not always remembering to say "Thank You" and "I Love You."

The letter went on with paragraphs about each member of the family, that could fit all families.

This is the last paper of the Cisco Press for 1988! The year went by so fast. Too fast!

Have you made your New Year's resolution yet? Most people I ask say they don't make them, or they say they won't tell me because they don't want it in the paper.

We will have the end of the year wrap-up in the next issue of the paper. Have a Happy New Year!

Dear Santa,
My name is Mike Speegle.

I am seventh grade, and I have been a good boy. For Christmas I would like a Red Rider B-B gun, an answering machine, some posters, and a few more nintendo tapes like Mario 2 and Zelda 2 and a bone for my doggie Spuds. Well, I guess I better go. Love,
Mike Speegle

"I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO SAY..."

Does the question of knowing the "proper" thing to say at the visitation keep you from going to a wake or funeral? It shouldn't!

Your appearance at a wake or funeral is always a support and expression of love to the bereaved. The words you express as you embrace or extend the clasp-of-hand can add a sincere feeling of warmth and concern—but the words aren't nearly as important as your "just being there."

Here are some expressions you might consider:
"John was such a fine person. I will miss him."
"My warmest sympathy to you and the family."
"Mary was such a dear friend."
"Mary enjoyed life and shared her joys so often with others."

You may find it easier to say these words of comfort if you practice them beforehand when you are alone. Sometimes just hearing yourself say the words out loud makes them easier to express to others.

HEY CLOWN!

Don't fool around!
(WITH CRACK!)

If you're thinking that crack is something to try, then you're really not thinking at all. It's an inexpensive form of cocaine that's unpredictable, highly addictive and very deadly. In fact, you could die from just one time's use, and if you do live through the experience, you'll more than likely be addicted. That's the nature of it. Make the mistake of trying crack just once, and you'd be making the mistake of your life. Maybe it's time to realize that drugs are not what they're cracked up to be. Only a clown would fall for crack.
