Thieves Steal Audio Equipment From Church

Several hundreds of dollars worth of audio equipment was stolen from Calvary Baptist Church in Cisco earlier last week.

Taken in the robbery was three Boss monitors, three microphones, one lapel mirophone, two tape players and the electrical chords to the equipment. The incident occurred sometime between Sunday night and Monday night, January 1-2.

According to Celia Shackelford, wife of the pastor Ronnie Shackelford, the doors to the church have always been left unlocked. She said several people would come in during the night or early morning to pray at the altar.

But, she said, this was destroyed with the robbery. The doors on the church will have to be locked from now on. Mrs. Shackelford said it's a shame that even the house of God is not safe from

Full Agenda For County Commissioners Monday

Around 20 items are listed on the County Commissioners agenda for Monday, Jan. 9, according to Jean White, Court Secretary. Some are routine, and others are voted on annually - but some concern new business. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in the Commissioners Courtroom, and is open to the public.

Among topics for consideration are the County Jail's contract with the cities, the opening of bids for computer service, and a request by A.C. Steele to consider providing a place to pull trucks off the highway for weighing. There will be a report form the jail, and Attorney Bill Hart will be invited to discuss the Appeal in the Garcia case. Numerous other items will probably add up to a full day for the Commissioners.

Faithful Workers Sunday School Class Held Meeting Dec. 15

The Faithful Workers Sunday School Class of East Cisco Baptist Church held their Christmas social Thursday, Dec. 15, 1988, in the Educational Building of the church at 6:30 p.m.

When the ladies came to the salad supper, they entered a beautifully decorated room, and placed their dishes on picture perfect tables decorated in red, white and green. Some of the ladies brought flowers, vases and other items from their own homes and used them.

Before the ladies sat down to eat, they formed a "circle of love," repeated their watchword (Psalms 19:14) and Marie Ivie led in prayer.

After the meal, a short business meeting was held. Leona Morton gave the treasurer's report. After expenses the class was still in the black. The class decided to give a special gift to the Lottie Moon Christmas offering.

The outreach project for the Canterbury Villa this year was individual napkin holders and little wreaths, made by the class members before the Christmas season and delivered Dec. 5 to each person in the home.

After the meeting the Christmas tree was the center of attention. Under it were gifts that were numbered. Each lady drew a number and received the gift that matched her number. Then the class presented their teacher, Marie Ivie, with a gift. She,

Volunteers Working Together For Eastland County

Dr. Charles Barnes, project manager, of the Eastland County Economic Development Committee, said quite a few volunteers have come in to work on the "Hoos-Gow" program. The "Hoos-Gow" program has been developed in an effort to obtain a state prison system in Eastland County.

Barnes said the response of asking for volunteers has been good and there is lots of talent working on this project now. He said the work that these professional people have volunteered to do will be essential in the prison picking Eastland County.

If Eastland County is chosen for the site of the prison it will bring in 700 good jobs, and have a monthly payroll of $1.6 million dollars.

For instance, one of the jobs at the prison, a correctional officer employee, starts out with a monthly salary of $1,212, the first month while the employee is at the training academy. The correctional officer will make $21,408 annually, after 18 months employment.

There are several other jobs that will be available at the prison system. Barnes said 30-35 percent of the employees who work in the prison systems are women. There is still a lot of work to do for the Texas Department of Corrections to pick Eastland County. Barnes said the volunteers who are working on this project are highly qualified personnel. They live all around Eastland County and are working for the future financial well-being of this area.

He said there is a mechanical engineer who is looking at the total utility aspect for a prison. A retired junior college teacher has volunteered to be the editor of a report for the Texas Department of Corrections. He said a high school graduate has volunteered to type letters and is very eager to do anything to help Eastland County.

Barnes said a family who owns a business in Eastland County will start a campaign with the state senators and let them know that it will be a good idea if Eastland County is chosen as a prison site. An accountant and bookkeeper has been scheduled to look at the mathematical statistics of Eastland County. And a husband and wife team, who work in oil field production have volunteered to talk to people about the prison and to put out the "Hoos-Gow" signs.

Other volunteer workers include an architectdraftsman, a retired Army photographer, who took pictures of real estate in Eastland County that show the good qualities of living here and a state highway engineer who will look at the roads in Eastland County at the present time and how the condition of the roads will be in future years.

Dr. Barnes has an office at 700 Avenue C, in Cisco. If anyone would like to work on the project to get a state prison in Eastland County

Dr. Barnes said five area residents have volunteered

Barnes said there have who have called and want to work for "Hoos-Gow". He said the response has been great. This project is still in the beginning process of obtaining a state prison, Barnes said, and several volunteers are on hold. But Barnes said when it's time for them to work, he will get them lined up and give them

Elsie Jackson Speaks To First Industrial Arts Club Thursday

"Do you think about the heritage of America and of being born in this great land?" asked Elsie Jackson at the regular meeting of the First Industrial Arts Club, held last Thursday at the club house.

Mrs. Jackson was in charge of the program and talked about the five freedoms in America. One was the freedom to choose where someone wants to work. She said youngsters have the right to choose what vocation they want.

The second freedom is the right to dream. People may say someone can't make a living on a dream, but people have pulled their selves up by the bootstrap and kept going because of a dream. Employers should treat their employees right or they might be able to buy that business someday and then the former employees would be the boss. She said employees can dream or create a life of their choice. and they have the right to compete with another business.

Another freedom is the right to advance in the business world. Mrs. Jackson said if someone is at the bottom of the ladder they can keep trying and make it to the top.

The final freedom she talked about was the freedom to invest. She said everyone has the right to put their money where ever they want

Jackson said in America these freedoms are worth keeping, and everyone should be thankful of these gifts. She said Americans can even make a choice of who rules them.

She hears about people who don't like the way America is being run, but if they don't like it they should leave. There are probably at least 10 people from other countries who are waiting to take their place.

Mrs. Jackson said there should be stricter laws to protect the people. She also said the clubs and churches in Cisco need to make a concentrated effort to start a program against the drugs and other immoral acts.

Mrs. Jackson played a tape by Johnny Cash about the "Ragged Old Flag." and read a poem about the

Dr. Jim Mankin Melvin Wende Speaks To Rotary

The Cisco Post Office is not funded by tax dollars, according to Melvin Wende, posmaster in Cisco. Wende was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Cisco Rotary Club held last Thurs-Tradition's day at Restaurant.

Wende said the post office does receive subsidies from second class mail and from mailings from non-profit organizations.

He told the club the postal service has been improving the service and improving their products. He brought several shipping boxes, tubes, and envelopes, including padded envelopes to show to the club.

Wende talked about the stamp collecting sets he had and brought some that featured soccer, scientist and arts and crafts. He talked about the vending machines the post office has now. He said these machines are for the convenience of working people who don't have time to stop at the post office during open hours. He said people can also buy stamps by mail. He said all mail carriers have the forms for this. The post office now has express mail that is 100 percent guaranteed to be delivered the next day or there is no charge to the customer. He said this mail can reach all of the market centers in the United states in one day. He said they do have some trouble with small towns like

FLOWERS AT FUNERALS

In ancient days, fragrant flowers and strongly scented spices were ever-present at funerals. Wild flowers lent a natural beauty to the tribal funerals along with a "living" tribute to the departed tribesman. Flower and spice fragrances "perfumed" the area.

Today, flowers have retained an important place in funeral service. Today we can't always pick our own flowers so we have florists who design and produce breathtakingly beautiful floral pieces.

Flowers add a bright, colorful beauty to a setting which may seem somber to some, but flowers still add beauty to a casket and provide a hint of delicate fragrance. Floral pieces treat kindly our senses of sight and smell. Still a "living" tribute, they are an emotional contribution to the comfort of the surviving family, a estimonial that the funeral, indeed, IS FOR THE LIV-

TO THE PERSON OF THE PERSON OF

TRAITS HEALTHY FAMILY:

As 1989 begins...now is a good time to make resolutions for the New Year. One of the most important is to better your family life and be a more understanding, supportive parent.

The healthy family - *communicates and listens *affirms and supports one another *teaches respect for others *develops a sense of trust *has a sense of play and humor

*exhibits a sense of shared responsibility *teaches a sense of right and wrong *has a strong sense of family in which rituals and traditions abound *has a balance of interaction among members *has a shared religious core *respects the privacy of one

*values services to others *fosters table time and conservation at family meals

*shares leisure time *admits to and seeks help with problems

Each one of these traits certainly lends itself to some serious thinking of how we can be a stronger family unit.

Strengthening Texas families is a major focus issue of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Eastland County Ext will be providing programs on parenting and "managing home and work responsibilities" for families during 1989. If you are interested in learning more about upcoming programs, contact Mrs. Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent - Home Economics at 629-2222.

OATS AND CHOLES-TEROL:

Research continues to indicate that oats can help some people on a low fat diet to reduce elevated cholesterol levels. Studies by Dr. J.R. Lupton, Dept. of Animal Science of Texas A&M University and others show that consumption of 2 ounces of oats (about 2/3 cup of dry oats) per day can be effective. Beta glucan is a gum and is the chemical fraction of the soluable oat fiber that reduces blood cholesterol. More of the glucan is found in the pericarp or outer covering of he oat and endosperm cell

Oat products are made by first removing the oat hull to reach the edible kernel called a "groat". The groats are then processed by being steam

Rolled oats or old fashioned oats are made by steam rolling whole groats. Quick cooking oats are obtained by cutting the cutting the steamed and flaked groats into pieces. Instant oats are cut into much finer pieces and flaked. Oat flour may be the finest pieces or finely ground groats. No more than 15-20 percent of oat flour should be substituted for wheat flour in recipes since, like commeal, it does not contain any gluten. Oat contain high levels of complex carbohydrates and protein but are lysine deficient. Therefore they can become a "complete: protein when consumed with milk or meat group foods or complimentary protein such as legumes. The small amount of fat in oats is polyunsaturated.

Remember! Grandmas knew what she was talking about when she said, "eat all of your oatmeal"

A questionnaire is stamped on the back of the current City utility bills, and persons are requested to check off the items they think are most needed in the Park, then check the way they can help with Rising Star's portion of the funding the improvement. Some of the improvement proposed are new restrooms, a picnic shelter, park benches and a walking trail. The more people who fill in the questionnaire, the more likely that Rising Star will get a grant to achieve the goal. Don Gramer, a guest

TRAITS OF HEALTHY FAMILY:

As 1989 begins...now is a good time to make resolutions for the New Year. One of the most important is to better your family life and be a more understanding, supportive parent.

The healthy family -*communicates and listens *affirms and supports one another *teaches respect for others *develops a sense of trust *has a sense of play and humor *exhibits a sense of shared responsibility *teaches a sense of right and wrong *has a strong sense of family in which rituals and traditions abound *has a balance of interaction among members *has a shared religious core *respects the privacy of one another

*values services to others *fosters table time and conservation at family meals

*shares leisure time *admits to and seeks help with problems

Each one of these traits certainly lends itself to some serious thinking of how we can be a stronger family unit.

Strengthening Texas families is a major focus issue of the Texas Agricultural Exwill be providing programs on parenting and "managing home and work responsibilities" for families during 1989. If you are interested in learning more about upcoming programs, contact Mrs. Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent - Home Economics at 629-2222.

OATS AND CHOLES-TEROL:

Research continues to indicate that oats can help some people on a low fat diet to reduce elevated cholesterol levels. Studies by Dr. J.R. Lupton, Dept. of Animal Science of Texas A&M University and others show that consumption of 2 ounces of oats (about 2/3 cup of dry oats) per day can be effective. Beta glucan is a gum and is the chemical fraction of the soluable oat fiber that reduces blood cholesterol. More of the glucan is found in the pericarp or outer covering of he oat and endosperm cell

Oat products are made by first removing the oat hull to reach the edible kernel called a "groat". The groats are then processed by being steam rolled, flash dried, ground or cir. and flaked.

ing contains more fiber and beta glucan. Rolled oats or old fashioned oats are made by steam rolling whole groats. Quick cooking oats are obtained by cutting the cutting the steamed and flaked groats into pieces. Instant oats are cut into much finer pieces and flaked. Oat flour may be the finest pieces or finely ground groats. No more than 15-20 percent of oat flour should be substituted for wheat flour in recipes since, like commeal, it does not contain any gluten.

Oat contain high levels of complex carbohydrates and protein but are lysine deficient. Therefore they can become a "complete: protein when consumed with milk or meat group foods or complimentary protein such as legumes. The small amount of fat in oats is polyunsaturated.

Remember! Grandmas knew what she was talking about when she said, "eat all of your oatmeal".

New Car Buyers Rely On Newspapers in their newspapers to help when they're shopping, according to a recent study.

enter and exit the automotive market in a fairly short time. Median time spent gathering information was three weeks; two weeks were spent visiting dealers, and one week elapsed between the time a make and model were chosen · Fifty-six percent of buyers visited three or more dealers during the shopping process, while 24 percent visited only one dealer. Nearly eight out of 10 made only one or two trips to negotiate a final

· When shopping, new vehicle buyers tend to read the automotive classified ads in their local newspaper on a regular basis. Fifty-nine percentreported reading the classified at least once a week, with 17 percent reported daily reading.

· All-week shopping is the norm, with two-thirds saying they shopped for a new vehicle on both weekdays and weekends, compared to 24 percent who reported weekday-only shopping and 11 percent who shopped on weekends only.

· Buyers want factual information they can act on in classified ads. The three specifics rated "extremely important" or "very important" by more than 50 percent of the buyers were price (58 percent), warranty information (54 percent) and specific make and model information (51 percent).

· Although convenient location is an important factor for many car shoppers, 34 percent of the car and truck buyers in the sample reported traveling "a wide area" to visit

· Reliability was rated the number one consideration in deciding the make and model to buy, with 88 percent rating reliability as "extremely" or "very" important.

Results of the study have been published in a 95-page report, "New Vehicle Purchasers: Who They Are and How They Buy." Advertisers, agencies and news media may obtain single copies by

Regardless of what security we select, it should meet our goals.

One of the basic tenets of investing is that it should not be done on impulse. Know what you want before you buy. The, determine if your selection will do for you what you want-in short, if it will meet your needs.

If, for example, you want your investment to give you income, then you must expect your choice to provide suitable dividends (stocks or equity investments provide dividends) or interest (bonds or debt securities produce interest) to meet your needs. in addition, you must be reasonable convinced that this income will be paid to you regularly and on time.

Whether or not you get your income will depend on the ability of that particular corporation to meets its obligations. It is also generally true that the higher your yield or return, the more risk you assume.

A U.S. government-guaranteed bond probably will not provide as much income as an unsecured note of some small corporation. On the other hand, the government bond will afford you more safety and peace of mind. So, if you're aiming for maximum income on your investment, chances are you're going to have to sacrifice a bit of safety. To put it another way, "There's no such thing as a free lunch.'

If, on the other hand, income is secondary and you're after capital appreciation, then you probably should invest in securities you think you may sell for more that you paid for them.

Fishing Outdoors

By Terry L. Wilson

"Hawg Hunting"

January marks new beginning for a lot of things. The one anglers recognize most readily is the "Great American Hawg Hunt." And we're not talking pork here folks. January marks the beginning of about 4 months of intense fishing for that wall hanging trophy largemouth. Many of you may be saying January is too early. Not so even as you read this those sows are putting on the feed bag, gaining weight in anticipation of the spawning ritual.

Weather of course dictates just when these hawgs can be caught and for how long. Mild winters such as we are experiencing allows for conditions to ripen earlier. Water temperatures warm soon, set the biological clocks in motion.

Last years fishing can give you some ideas to start on for locating these early catches. Remember that bank last year where you caught 2 or 3 egg laiden fish? This area was holding spawners last year and by all rights should again this year. For January and February trips try these spots, only fish a little deeper and of course very slow. Perhaps you heard other anglers commenting about areas that each year holds spawners. Frequent these areas, again start deep, the first break and work your way in to the shallows. The larger fish don't always spawn deeper, but wouldn't it be sad to pass them over if they were

Another excellent area to start looking for these early fish are north banks and north east banks. These areas receive the most sunlight at this time thus warming the water the fastest. To refine this more look for areas with rocks. These rocks could be deep or shallow depending on water clarity. Stained water will not allow for easy light penetration where as clear water will. However stained water will retain heat longer than clear water due to its heat absorption capability. Thus in clear water after only a few days of sunlight moderate depths around rocks may produce. Where in stained water heated for the same time, hallow rocks are preferred. A good example of this was last weekend on Leon. Anglers found bass in the Chock-O-Block region which was stained to be holding 3 foot or less. While the fish located in the make lake area of cleaner water the fish were found in 4-8 feet of water. Both areas fished were around rocks adjacent to and below the surface. Two different areas two different patterns in the same day. Whey were these fish here? Because it was comfortable due to the rise in water temperature. Which by the way in the these two areas was 52 degrees while the surrounding water was 47-48

To help refine your hunt even further look for the calmest water you can find. Calm flat water whether clear or stained will absorb heat more readily than choppy water. Allowing a more direct penetration. Also bass seek the calmer water at this time to build their nest where less wave action won't be causing silt and sand to fill their nest or cover eggs which have been laid. Thus dooming them before they have a chance.

So what we're looking for is a calm rocky bank on the north or northeast side of the lake. But wait a minute, all the experts say black bass prefer not to spawn in a rock environment so lets add one other little requirement if your looking for those spawning rows. A firm preferably smooth bottom close at hand. Sounds simple doesn't it. Well we all know that everyone has read the books, heard the speeches and watched the shows on the how to's of bass fishing. Everyone that is except the bass.

Till next time stay dry. Terry L. Wilson

I mentioned in a recent column that some property on East 8th, is always kept so beautifully. The property belongs to Olive Smith. Her address is 904 East 8th. She said her brother-in-law, Tom Smith, who lives in the white house behind her on East 10th, keeps the yard up.

It's that time of the year when several of the subscribtions to The Cisco Press run out. Check for the date on your label to see if yours has run out.

We have renewed several subscriptions already by mail or by people coming in. We received a check from Mrs. George F. (Edleen Armstrong) Connally from Houston. She wrote that she looks forward to each copy to read about friends from the past.

She said last April they returned to Cisco for the reunion and plan to be back this year for her 50th high school reunion.

Former residents who take the paper love to read about what is going on in Cisco, so if you have company, or go on a trip, or a family member marries or has a child, call us and we will put it in the paper.

We would like to thank each and everyone of your for buying The Cisco Press. We do appreciate your business very much.

Visiting Mrs. Janice Ferguson during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Westfall, Steven and Kathleen of Robstown; Dr. and Mrs. J.P. Thompson, Brad, Melissa and David of Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. Tim Ferguson and Brandon of Austin; and Corporal John Ferguson of San Angelo.

Corporal Ferguson is temporarily assigned to Goodfellow Air Force Base, San Angelo, after being in Korea for a year. He is in the U.S. Marine Corps.

The Westfalls also visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Westfall while in Cisco.

Brit Ferguson, of Stephenville Police Department, was on duty and couldn't join the family.

Melvin Wende, Cisco Post Office postmaster, said they get some letters that are only addressed to "Grandma," on Route 2. But they usually get delivered he said.

Tony White, who keeps a record of rain here said Cisco received 33 inches of rain in 1987, but only received 15 inches of rain in 1988. This area received a trace of rain earlier in the week.

Sgt. Larry Jernigan, with the Cisco Police Department is greatly improving and should be home next week according to a report from his parents, Luther (Bud) and Bobbie Jo Jernigan.

He had triple by-pass heart surgery on December 22. Larry had trouble with a bleeding ulcer also while in the hospital and had to have 5 pints of blood because of it.

If you would like to send a get-well card to him, send it to Larry Jernigan, c/oHumanna Hospital, 6250 Hwy. 83-84 at Antilly Road, Abilene, Texas 79606.

Two thank you cards from people who received help from the Cisco Goodfellows came in the mail last week. One said:

Dear Goodfellows of Cisco: I just wanted to tell you thank you from the bottom of my heart! This was the best Christmas my family has had in many years. May God bless you all as much you have blessed our family. The other letter said:

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

In a recent article a 58-year old Cisco man was not named when he held up a Cisco officer with two sticks of beef jerky but he was stated to be taken into custody for medical help at a mental facility.

Since Cisco is a small town I guess most of the people who read the article of retaliation on Melvin Louis Wilcoxen Sr., being charged with threatening phone calls against two Cisco people, know they are the one in the same person. I felt the article made Melvin Wilcoxen Sr., sound like a criminal rather than a man who is suffering from mental problems.

hog, and several turkeys. The caller then said the only good thing about all that happened, is that it is over and he has all year to practice his shooting before next season.

Although I have heard of meone lose control of their mind is anything but funny.

So, please, the next time you are tempted to use the incident as a source of amusement remember that Melvin Wilcoxen Sr., is a husband, a father, a son, a brother, an uncle, a grandfather and a long time friend of many people in this com-
