CofC Banquet Awards Given

Cisco Chamber Commerce president, Emma Watts, said Cisco had many accomplishments in 1988, including a major facelift in the downtown area. Emma spoke to a large crowd during the annual Cisco Chamber of Commerce banquet held Thursday night in the Corral Room.

Emma said one of the things Ciscoans can be proud of is the mural on the side wall of the old Chamber of Commerce building. The mural was painted by Cisco High School students and adult volunteers under the direction of Yukiko Kleiner.

Emma said in 1988 Cisco was not successful in obtaining the Aldersgate Methodist home, but they learned a lesson in working together with other towns in Eastland County. And they are all now working together with the HOOS-GOW project to help this area be chosen as the location of a new prison system.

She said in 1988, the Cisco Chamber of Commerce helped to promote the growth of the present industries in Cisco. She added that things will begin to pick up soon, because, "everyone will work together because 'Cisco is A-OK.'"

Several awards were given out during the banquet to deserving Ciscoans who were honored for helping to make Cisco a better city to live in.

The Overdue Award was given to Lloyd London. Eris Ritchie presented the plaque to Mr. London.

Ritchie said Mr. London has a long record of community service, including the establishment of the Cisco Rotary Scholarship Foundation during the year he was president of the Rotary Club and the collecting of $10,000 in donations in order that the interest could be used to grant scholarships to Cisco Junior College. He served 13 years on the Cisco Junior College Board of Regents, eight years as president, during which time a number of new buildings were erected with low interest rate bonds; drawing up original trust agreements for the Cisco Cemetery Association and setting a goal of $100,000 and setting up a perpetual care agreements for 14 other small cemeteries in this area, and several other achievements.

Lloyd is married to the former Vera Elder Kleiner, and he has two children—Lisa Detering, a teacher in Burleson, Texas and a son, Jeff London, a stock broker in Minneapolis, Minnesota. He is also the proud step-father of Vera's two sons—

Touch Of Winter Touches County With Ice

With plenty of warning, winter finally descended on Eastland County Thursday night.

The Alaskan Special came South and proved once again to locals that "Yes, there can be winter."

After a mild winter to date, and temperatures in the 80s during most of January (and 79 on Ground Hog Day Tuesday), the mercury began to drop Thursday evening and fell to an official 13 degrees for a low, according to Weather Observer Ron Bailey.

Other thermometers recorded as low as 11 degrees in some areas.

Moisture was on the light side, and recorded only as a trace, but sufficient to make for a severe glazing Friday morning, resulting in closed public schools, and bringing commerce to a crawl.

Only the necessary were moving Friday as the day dawned on an iced landscape.

Plenty of warning that the front was coming, plus the fact that the previous warm days that kept earth warm and scarcity of falling moisture, keep the scenario from being as bad as it could have been.

State Highway Dept. crews were out early Thursday night sanding bridges, overpasses, and busy downtown intersections, so that motorists could, with caution, proceed at moderate rates. Int. 20 was reported treacherous throughout this area, and although Ranger Hill had been sanded, it was still nip and tuck for truckers to even get to the usual bug-a-boo in bad weather.

No serious accidents had been reported by mid-morning, but the area appeared to be in for an extended siege of frigid weather, the likes of which had not been seen for some time.

The high Thursday was only 44, and wasn't expected to get that high Friday.

As the record-cold came down from the north, it appeared to be headed mostly in a south and eastward sweep, with just the fringe of its blast expected to sweep through Central Texas. Had more Gulf moisture been prevalent, it would have resulted in a heavier icing throughout this area, officials report.

It's been several winters since this county has truly experienced a really bad icing, and memories of the 11 days of 11-degree highs now come back to locals vividly as they cope with this edition of Old Man Winter.

Freezing Weather

reporting no difficulties in delivering service, barring unforeseen changes, and locals who had been warned for days of the coming cold, were believed to be fairly well stocked up on staples and necessities.

There undoubtedly will be a number of activity postponements and/or cancellations, so citizens would be advised to check about scheduled events in advance, because officials are advising that the safest bet is to stay in, off the roadways, and for personal protection during this winter blast.

Temperatures are expected to stay low until the middle of next week.

The Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation maintenance office in Eastland reported that all roads and highways were iced over and hazardous for driving in the Eastland County area.

All of the highway maintenance crews and trucks were out Friday morning sanding overpasses and bridges, and assisting stranded motorists whose vehicles had slid off the icy roadways.

Ranger Hill, always a dangerous spot in bad weather, was sanded, but motorists were reported to be sliding off the highway before they reached the hill. Motorists were reported to be sliding into ditches in the western part of the county near Cisco as well.

State employees stressed that if you don't have to be out on the roads, please stay at home.

Even with the sanding the hills are remaining slick, and if a car starts to slide or a truck jackknives, it can start a chain reaction. Four wheel drive vehicles, even with their superior traction, are not immune to accidents and pile-ups and should also be cautious.

Motorists were being advised to wear several layers of clothing and to carry blankets in their cars, as prolonged exposure to the unusually cold weather, as might happen with an auto accident could cause health problems or even death.

Weather forecasters are predicting that local temperatures will remain in the teens and single digits until Wednesday, with more icing probable on Sunday.

The electric company wasn't experiencing any unusual circumstances so far, but were on stand-by, T.U. District Mgr. John Berry reported. Heavy rains followed by severe icing and heavy snows with freezing temperatures are what cause the most lines problems, he explained.

Lone Star Gas Co. spokesman said that gas pressure is good and is constantly being checked to make sure that there is sufficient for normal service. The local offices had not at mid morning been advised of any curtailment needs, and service appeared to be on a normal basis with just the usual business.

A Department of Public Safety spokesman said that traffic is moving slow on the Interstate, and that to the west, it's bad to about Baird Hill, and extremely dangerous to the east. The highway is open and passable, but dangerous, he said. Most appear to be driving very careful, and there had been no major incidents reported so far, but all employees were out and the department was advising careful travel, and no travel unless necessary because of the extremely dangerous situation. Dallas and Fort Worth appeared to be the heaviest hit in the storm.

TCI, the local cable television service reported some cable problems Friday morning, believed to be weather related, particularly with stations on the low end of the dial.

Normally, local drivers gain their "ice-legs" after a few days of driving on slick services, but there's invariably a few "fender benders" until that time comes.

HOOS-GOW Project Discussed

"We should know by September if the state legislature is going to give money out to build new prisons," according to Dr. Charles Barnes, project manager for the HOOS-GOW project. Dr. Barnes spoke to the Cisco Rotary Club last Thursday.

Eastland County is working toward getting a new prison system built here. Dr. Barnes said there will be

Local Man Seeks Alternate System

While the 71st Texas Legislature is discussing plans to build new prisons, an Eastland man, John Nevill, is working with a private firm looking for alternate answers.

Currently Nevill is dealing with the Boot Camp concept, a pilot program meant to be used instead of prison sentences for a small portion of young men.

The Boot Camp facility consists of a minimum security, military-type training unit for first offenders age 18-25. The men drill and work - usually outdoors - and have an opportunity to learn discipline and basic values.

The last session of the Legislature approved this concept for the state, Nevill says. The Boot Camp training can be used for train-three general areas in Texas chosen first and then the Texas Department of Corrections will make a tentative choice for one place and then it will go to the state legislature. He said all the factors of a future prison site will be looked at.

Barnes said one good point for Eastland County is that 25 percent of all prisoners come from the Dallas-Ft. Worth area. He said with the Interstate going thru this area, it will be easy for an inmate's family to visit them.

Barnes said Eastland County is seeking a 2,250 bed prison similar to the one near Palestine, Texas. He said the prison will create 825 jobs that Eastland county does not have now. He said approximately 60-85 jobs will be filled by personnel from other prisons, but the remaining jobs will have to come from this area. He said the starting salary for these jobs will be from $11,000 to $46,000 annually.

Barnes said this will be the biggest industry in this area. He said it will be bigger than the oil, or agricultural industry ever was.

Dr. Barnes said there is a potential 100,000 person work force around this area, when commuting from the larger cities is considered.

He added that if Eastland County is chosen as a site for the prison it will set off a positive chain reaction for the boost of the economy.

Dr. Barnes, who is a native of Rising Star, said one of the biggest fears about a prison coming into Eastland County is what if an escape happens. He said prisons usually have 1-2 prisoners who escape each year. He said these are usually trustees, not the hardened criminals. He said the days of sawing the bars off a cell to escape are gone.

He said these are the same people that are considered prison escapees.

If Eastland County is chosen as the site of a prison it will take a little over a year to build the facility.

The HOOS-GOW project has taken interested citizens to the Correctional facility near Palestine. Dr. Barnes said they will be taking another trip on February 23, if anyone would be interested in going. He said it is a beautiful campus, but he is always glad to leave there.

Dr. Barnes said at the present time the HOOS-GOW project is in need of money to buy 300 acres for the site of the prison. He said an option to get the money is for anyone who wants to help to go to their bank and set up a note with them that if Eastland County is chosen they will give a certain amount of money. Barnes added that if Eastland County is not chosen then the note will not be sent through.

For more information on what can be done to help the HOOS-GOW project obtain a prison for Eastland County, call Dr. Barnes at 442-3413, or stop by his office at 700 Ave. C, in Cisco.

isolated," Nevill says. "I am presently working with a site near Ozona, Texas, and some other sites may be considered.

"I think the Boot Camp program is a very worthwhile concept. It allows some young people who would otherwise be headed for prison to have one last chance to straighten out their lives," he adds.

"It's something that the taxpayer should be interested in too, for it's a far cheaper way of handling these people than sending them to prison. It costs $30-$40 thousand per year to keep each person in prison."

Nevill points out that reports from Travis County say it costs about $19 per day to feed and house each man in the Boot Camp program, compared to the daily cost of $37.49 for each inmate at TDC.

But the best part about the Boot Camp program is the dramatic lowering of the rate of return for inmates, Nevill states. He lists about a 70 percent return for persons released from regular prisons. Yet men who have completed Boot Camp training have a less than 20 percent return to the prison system.

"Boot Camp is really basic training to live in society," he says. "It instills self-worth, and builds respect for themselves and other human beings. The program is manned 24 hrs. per day, but anyone who wants to leave it may do so. If they leave, however, they have to go serve their time in prison.

"Most who begin the training stay in - and then have a chance to become useful members of society."

Drug rehabilitation becomes a part of the program, Nevill says. You can't stay on drugs and alcohol and finish Boot Camp training. Nevill mentions that a number of state officials have come out in favor of Boot Camp, and he thinks it's just a matter of time until some more camps are set up.

"I agree that the state prisons should be reserved for violent people and career criminals," he says. "We must look for alternate ways to deal with the people who can be salvaged."

Doyle Rasco Joins Mountain Top Church

Rev. Doyle Rasco joined the staff of pastor John C. Jones as "part of the great team that keeps the ministry side of the church going while the pastor is away on speaking engagements state-side and abroad." The pastor states "it takes a great team of ministers to keep a progressive church moving forward when the pastor is as heavily engaged in overseas evangelism as I am, as well as my speaking engagements here in the states each year."

Doyle Rasco joins the Assistant to the Pastor, Walter Williams; and song co-ordinator, Ron Pipkin. Doyle was born in Coleman and graduated from high school there, and also has attended the Abilene division of CJC with studies in electronics. In the past he has lived in Brownwood and Abilene, Texas. He married Charlotte Ann Cowart, a native of Abilene, and they have four children, Angela 13, Jason 12, Scott 8 and Amanda 3.

He is presently employed by General Dynamics of Abilene.

The pastor states that God has certainly blessed his ministry with some outstanding young men to work with him and the great church, and is expecting a lasting relationship with Doyle Rasco and the church. Doyle has had considerable experience in the field of building and cabinet work and with the church presently building a new sanctuary at 600 E. 8th on the adjoining three acres, and purchasing what was the previous "Spot Restaurant" for a temporary church annex and family center, these skills will be particularly welcomed.

Pharmacy Topics

By Bob Mueller

Early studies in France and Israel indicate that Vitamine B supplementation seems to increase HDL cholesterol (the good kind) in people with high blood cholesterol levels, and to lower the ratio of total cholesterol to HDL (also a good sign).

Chorionic villus sampling -- a prenatal test for birth defects that can be done as early as 8 1/2 weeks after conception -- seems to be just about as safe as amniocentesis, according to a study at the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development.

The same particle beams that have been part of space wars technology are now being used against cancer. These beams seem to be successful against large tumors that are hard to treat with radiation, and in sensitive eye tissue where radiation cannot be used.

New periodontic probe -- a test strip -- picks up samples of bacteria. Biotechnical test indicates the type and activity of the germs causing periodontal disease.

First defense against periodontic disease: good dental hygiene. You'll find everything you need at Wal-Mart Pharmacy, Hwy. 80 East, Eastland, 629-3347. cer104

POEM

LOVE

Brightly beams our Fathers mercy
As He sends to us His love
Like a shepherd that lost His sheep
In this sinful trouble world.

Oh little child of sorrow
And trouble

Cast your eyes to the heavenly sky.

You can see an artists masterpiece

As He paints the stars on high.

So when the load gets too heavy
And you never seem to get to the end

Remember that someone still loves you

In our Jesus you have a friend.

So when the final trumpet sounds

And the dead in Christ shall rise

Will you join in the celebration

Or forever be cast aside.

Survey Finds More Than Half Of High Schoolers Use Drugs

(ED. NOTE: This article is from the current issue of Texas Education Today, a publication of the Texas Education Agency. A survey of public school students in Eastland County was made last fall and is expected to be reported to school officials in the near future.)

More than 50 percent of all high school seniors say they have used illicit drugs, including alcohol, during their lifetime, according to a statewide survey on the prevalence of drug and alcohol abuse among Texas students.

That is just one of the findings in a report to the 71st Texas Legislature on the status of substance abuse education in the Texas public school system. The State Board of Education approved the report at its January meeting.

The 36-page report is information on the history of drug and alcohol abuse education programs in the state, existing state and federal laws, funding, implementation of programs, state and federal guidelines applicable for districts.

The report was mandated by the 70th Texas Legislature, which directed the Texas Education Agency and the Texas Commission on Drug and Alcohol Abuse to study the problem of substance abuse and to develop guidelines for implementing substance abuse education programs.

In 1988 the Texas Commission on Drug and Alcohol Abuse surveyed 7,500 seventh and twelfth grade students. Participation was voluntary and all questionnaires were handled anonymously.

Lance Taylor of Coleman.

The annual Cisco Junior College Talent Showcase sponsored by the Student Government Association and the Wrangler Belles will be held Tuesday, February 7 at 7:00 p.m. in the Harrell Fine Arts Auditorium on the CJC campus. The public is cordially invited. Admission will be $1.00 for adults and $.50 for children under 6. At intermission, there will be a drawing for a cash prize.

The survey found that 54 percent of the seniors participating in the study reported having used illicit drugs during their lifetime; inhalants are the most available drug to students, especially to seventh graders; alcohol and drug abuse affect all racial and ethnic groups; and most adolescents say they would seek help for drug abuse from a friend and not an adult.

The first statewide program for substance abuse education was in 1969. That program, the Crime Prevention and Drug Education Program ended in 1979.

However, using locally generated funds, many school districts have continued with similar programs patterned after the Crime Prevention and Drug Education Program.

Currently, state-mandated essential elements provide for drug abuse education and prevention in elementary and middle, or junior high school health courses as well as high school health and driver education courses.

The Texas Education Agency's program, Education for Self-Responsibility II: Prevention of Drug Abuse, was developed to give districts a more comprehensive way to address drug and alcohol abuse at all grade levels. Developed as a curriculum guide, Agency staff provide technical assistance and guidelines for implementing Education for Self-Responsibility in each school district.

According to the report, the largest source of funding for substance abuse education programs comes from the federal government. The Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act of 1986 allotted more than $13 million to Texas.

Ten percent of the funds stay at the state level to be used for technical assistance, development and distribution of teaching materials on substance abuse education. Special assistance to districts with large numbers of economically disadvantaged children or sparsely populated districts. The other 90 percent is provided to districts to support local programs.

Several guidelines govern the use of the state funds by school districts. Funds may be used for prevention, intervention, rehabilitation referrals, counseling programs for students and parents, public awareness programs and curriculum efforts.

In order to be eligible for funds districts must submit a plan for a comprehensive drug abuse education program. This plan must have the approval of a broad section of the community and must describe the extent of the current drug and alcohol abuse problem within the district.

Districts, in addition, must show that they will coordinate their efforts with other community-related drug and alcohol programs.

"A Cup Of Water Given With Love"

By Vera Wheat
Most of us are far away from those who need a cup of water—we are middle class, locked in our way of life!

Our problems are not where the next meal is coming from, or where to find shelter for the night, but what to wear the next day. It isn't that we don't work hard, or haven't found or calling, and our church home—It's just we have been blessed, and labelled middle class.

Yet our hearts are disquieted, when we try to remember—when we last gave a cup of water. When we last saw the poor as separate individuals in a lost, faceless world.

We do not touch or see those begging, dejected and empty. We have not felt their hopelessness, their cycle of failures, or their loss of self respect.

There is a place that does, everyday, someone enters their doors, seeking a cup of water. And it is given with love. The person who is maklove and hope, find not only their thirst quenched, but their spirits touched, their hope rekindled.

This place is the Salvation Army. They give the cup of water with love. They open their doors, their lives, to embrace the poor, the helpless—yes the different—the lost. And as we rely on them to give our cup of water, they give it with love. We must offer, our prayers, support and our love to them.

God had blessed us abundantly with this blessing, but it comes with a great responsibility. We thank the Salvation Army for being our hands. May we not fail you again. May we give generously to them.

This is a known fact. The Salvation Army was founded in England in the 1865, by William Booth. It has been on active duty in our U.S.A. the last one hundred years—1889-1989. Congratulations and May God Bless them during the next hundred years.

PARENTING - TODDLERS

Becoming a parent is one of the most natural things in the world; being an effective parent is quite another story. Raising children to be happy, productive people is not a skill we are born with. Although we all want and try to be good parents, it takes knowledge and support from others to help us do the best job possible.

Those wonderful years when your child is 1-3 years of age is full of opportunities for good parenting skills.

The Next Best Thing -

...to a clear conscience and a good night's sleep is the feeling of security in owning your own home with a clear title. Peculiar to the real estate field, values are based on land and the improvements thereon, if any. But values on these are based on the title. The title then comes the most important item to be considered when purchase of real property is contemplated. So be careful to buy good title based on an abstract of title or a policy of title insurance.

Eastland, Texas 817-629-1077 CERRS104

This state is marked by exploration and achievement. Toddlers realize that they are separate human beings, and will alternate between showing off their newfound independence and acting like babies. Encourage their independence, but also be there when they need reassuring hugs.

The amount of energy your toddler has will amaze and exhaust you. Now that the toddler is mobile, the whole world is an adventure. Exploration is a crucial part of development. You must provide an environment in which your toddler can explore freely, without endangering himself or your valuables. You'll enjoy your toddler much more if you're not jumping up and "no-ing" hundreds of times of day. Child-proof your house:

- *cap electric outlets;
- *use childproof catches on cabinets and drawers that contain glass, sharp objects, medication or vitamins, mouthwash, cleansers, plastic bags, bug sprays or other poisons, and liquor;
- *remove matches and cigarette lighters;
- *lock up guns;
- *lower the temperature on your hot water heater to 125 degrees; and
- *remove poisonous plants; and keep bathroom doors shut.

While you can't expect your two-year old to stay away from the candy dish, you can set certain appropriate limits, such as "it's not okay to play in the kitchen garbage can." As you remove your child from the garbage, briefly explain why this is unacceptable, and substitute an appropriate plaything. Deal with your toddler's natural defiance by making most decisions yourself. Let them make limited choices: "Do you want apple juice or grape juice?" not "What do you want to drink?"

Since most toddlers have limited verbal skills, they "act out" their feelings. Try to look for the message behind the behavior. Your one-year-old will probably turn over her dish of strained carrots to tell you "I hate strained carrots." You too can communicate non-verbally by removing the carrots. And always reward appropriate behavior with smiles and praise.

Learning how children change as they grow, what their capabilities are, and why they sometimes don't live up to your expectations can lead to a happier and more productive parent-child relationship.

RECIPE FOR THE WEEK:
Hashed Brown Potato Bake is a delicious casserole. This makes a big hit at covered-dish suppers.

HASHED BROWN POTATO BAKE
2 lb. frozen hashed brown potatoes, thawed
1 stick margarine, melted
2 cup grated American cheese
1 cup sour cream
1 can cream of chicken soup
Combine all ingredients with salt and pepper to taste in bowl, mixing well. Pour into greased casserole. Bake covered, at 350 degrees for 1 hours. Yields: 8 servings.

Smiles and praise. Learning how children change as they grow, what their capabilities are, and why they sometimes don't live up to your expectations can lead to a happier and more productive parent-child relationship.

Wide Range Of Ailments Cause Tree Decline

COLLEGE STATION—Trees, like all living things, have their "ups and downs"—and they don't live forever. When their condition begins to decline, it's often a combination of ailments.

"Tree decline is actually a normal process," said Lanny Dreesen, a forester with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Like other life forms, trees pass through a period of decline before they die."

"Many people use the word 'decline' loosely when describing a less-than-healthy tree," he said. "This is because they don't know the specific disorder."

According to Dreesen, trees continually interact with factors on their sites that are both favorable and unfavorable. Stress due to injuries or drastic environmental changes such as this year's drought, causes trees to lose most of their ability to respond to favorable conditions, so they go into a state of decline.

Generally, buds and twigs die back as a shock response to injury such as cuttings of roots and severe defoliation, which could result from a number of causes.

Trees also can suffer from chronic stress such as salt damage, too much or too little water, or systemic infection, in which case foliar symptoms and slow growth will likely precede dieback, Dreesen added.

"If symptoms stabilize over a long period of time, decline may have ceased," he said. "However, decline caused by systemic infection is usually not reversible."

Tree decline may be due to a number of factors, such as insects, fungi, bacteria, nematodes, viruses, water problems, root asphyxiation, air pollutants and site alteration. A single disorder or environmental problem often opens the door for secondary factors that will ultimately cause a tree to die, said the forester. "So, it all boils down to taking good care of our trees if we want them to live a long, healthy life," Dreesen said.

HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Banking Reforms Urged

Clements also answered a report detailing problems in the state banking industry with a call for major changes in the State Department of Banking.

The state auditor's report criticized the banking board's actions in the face of record bank failures in Texas, 130 in two years.

Banking commissioners rejected the criticism while drawing praise from the Texas Bankers Association.

Prison Plan Panned

Treasurer Ann Richards, praising the California solution to overcrowded prisons, told lawmakers that financing new prison construction with a $343 million bond program would eventually cost $4.9 billion in interest and other cost.

She offered the California program of drug counseling and rehabilitation as a solution.

Other Highlights

Clements wants the Legislature to appropriate $38 million to retire part of the bond debt used to lure Sematech to Texas, and he ordered emergency status for the issue.

Sematech is a consortium of 14 U.S. high-tech corporations uniting R&D efforts to overcome Japan's lead in semiconductor production.

The short-term project's success is considered vital to global dominance in the computer and electronics fields.

House Republicans, with 57 members, formed a Republican Caucus and elected Midland Rep. Tom Craddock as chairman and Houston's Ashley Smith as vice chairman.

Their formal organization for the first time along party lines, besides being a response to Democrat organization, is indicative of their push to elect a GOP speaker in '90. They need 19 votes for a majority.

Democrat legislators, for the most part, stayed quiet when Jesse Jackson's former aide Ron Brown claimed he has sewn up the national party chairmanship. Brown is also a former aide to U.S. Sen. Teddy Kennedy.

The Railroad Commission and the Public Utilities Commission made history by announcing plans for their first-ever joint session to discuss rebate and marketing program by utilities.

San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros confirmed he will not seek another term, fueling speculations the Democrat will indeed enter statewide politics next year, possibly governor.

Meanwhile, Texas Republicans are standing in line to make that race.

Three touted for the race are George Bush, Jr., the president's son; Midland's famous A&M alum, Clayton Williams of Claydesta Communications fame; and Amarillo's world-renowned corporate raider, T. Boone Pickens.

Add Texas Secretary of State Jack Rains, who said he is "95 percent sure" he will run for the mansion, and Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance, the symbol of conservative realignment.

The latest surprise in a Legislature where everyone seems to be publicly confessing dreams for higher office came last week when state Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, said he may challenge U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, now that Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has backed away from that ambition.

New Book About Texas Wildflowers

Reviewed By Viola Payne

Some treasures are captured forever in bronze or marble. But others are living treasures, part of the growing, changing landscape.

Wildflowers are part of this natural order - priceless heritage which has utility as well as beauty.

It's this beauty which shines out first from a new book available at $11.50 in all the Eastland County Newspaper offices. Called "Wildflowers of Texas," this 414 page volume was written by Geyata Ajilvsgi, a Cherokee Indian, and published by Shearer Publishing Co. of Fredericksburg, Texas.

It contains 378 colored photographs and much information, showing most of the common types of flowers throughout the state. The contributing photographers live all the way from El Paso to Plano, with on out-of-state.

The book is arranged as a field guide, something you can take to the pastures and roadways to help locate and identify flowers. One of its most striking features is the color-coding, where the top of the pages are tipped with the predominant colors of flowers - white, yellow, red and blue.

Texas has wildflowers from March through October, the author says. Although they are often taken for granted by residents, wildflowers are a major attraction for tourists. They also furnish food and forage for a number of types of life, and help protect and rebuild the land.

The vegetation zones of the state are designated in the book, with codes as to where certain plants can be found. The common names of the flowers are used along with the botanical ones.

Eastland County is part of the North Central Texas zone, and many native flowers can be recognized in the photographs. A picture on the book cover shows the attractive basket flower, which is fairly common here.

Pictures of the standing Cypress, winecup, various asters and daisies, primroses, verbenas, bluebonnets, paintbrushes, wild larkspur and other flowers bring memories to me of happy times in the fields and pastures.

These are the kind of memories every child on this earth should grow up with, but many do not. Then, with no love for the land, they are quite willing to exploit and abuse it.

But having a book at hand such as "Wildflowers of Texas" will increase interest in natural things for everyone from children through the seniors. And maybe - just maybe - someone will feel inspired to plant more wildflowers in Eastland County.

Foster Care Crisis In Eastland County

After an investigation of child abuse or neglect in Eastland County, case workers for the Department of Human Services often must drive hours to place the child or children in emergency foster care. Currently there are only three certified families in Eastland County providing emergency care.

Even if the reported case occurs late at night, the case worker may drive hours placing children in homes," states Janice Williams of the Department of Human Services. "Although we always need more permanent foster parents, Eastland County really needs one or two families that would serve as foster parents under these emergency situations... often only overnight... until the child is either returned to the parents or placed in a more permanent foster home."

Tuesday, February 21, the Eastland County Child Protective Service Board is sponsoring a dinner at K-Bobs Restaurant at 7:00 p.m. in honor of the families currently serving as foster parents in our county. These families provide the love and support the abused or neglected children so desperately need.

If you are interested in becoming a full-time or emergency foster parent, you are invited to attend this dinner and learn more about

February Community College Month

Cisco Junior college will join the state's 48 other community/junior college districts in celebrating February as Community college Month with special activities Feb. 6-9 in the state capitol rotunda.

Members of the Board of Regents and Dr. Roger C. Schuster, CJC president, will be in Austin during the month to report to legislators on the tremendous impact Cisco Junior college has made in this region of the state.

An information booth in the rotunda of the state capitol building will distribute literature from the college and other two-year institutions to Texas lawmakers and visitors. College representatives from across the state will be on hand to discuss the outstanding contributions made by Texas community colleges and to answer questions.

A full slate of entertainment will spotlight community college student and faculty talent during the lunch hour, including choirs from Alvin Community College, Angelina College and Houston Community College, the Apache Bells from Tyler junior college, a faculty jazz octet from McClellan Community college, and others.

The celebrations is being sponsored by the Texas Public Community/Junior College Association, of which Cisco Junior College is a member.

"Texas is second only to California in total headcount enrollment—almost 400,000 students attend classes in one of the state's 49 public community/junior college districts," said Allen Shifrin, spokesman for Amarillo College and coordinator of the Austin celebration for the TPC/JCA Communications Council.

"We are intent that the 71st Legislature know about the significant contributions these colleges make to individual lives, to our communities, and to local and state economies.

"Texas public community/junior colleges play a major role in the quality of life we enjoy in this state," Shifrin noted. "A person graduating with an associate degree from a two-year college can earn an average starting salary that is $3,612 higher than a person who enters the workforce with only a school diploma.

And as new technologies force changes in the workplace, the importance of community/junior colleges as institutions of hope and opportunity for all citizens will only increase in years to come."

Gordon Spot

By DeMarquis Gordon, County Agent

One of the keys to growing pecans, whether in the backyard or in a commercial orchard, is to plant the trees properly so that they get off to a good start.

Tree planting time is at hand — January and early February are the best times — and here are a few guidelines.

To begin, select a tree 4 to 8 feet tall as soon as nurseries get supplies. Plant as soon as possible, using care not to let roots dry out or freeze.

Dig the hole only as large as the tree's root system. If the hole is too deep, the tree will settle and this can cause poor growth or death.

The taproot should sit in the bottom of the hole. If the hole cannot be as deep as the length of the roots, cut back the taproot to fit the hole.

Pack original soil around roots as tightly as possible. Packing the soil in 2 to 3 inch layers is better than watering to pack the soil. Use adjacent soil to complete filling the hole, not light soil, sand or potting soil. The tree can down in rainy weather if light fill soil is used on clay land.

Plant the tree at the same depth it grew in the nursery row. Look at the colors to determine the soil line: the bark is gray and the root is dark brown.

Cut off the top half of the tree at planting to balance the stem and roots to force growth close to the soil line.

Wrap the lower 18 inches of the trunk with aluminum foil to prevent side shoots, sun scald and rabbit damage. On large plantings, use a mixture of white latex paint and water (one part paint to three parts water).

Build a basin around the tree to hold water and give each tree five gallons of water immediately after planting. Make sure trees do not go longer than 14 days without water.

These are some basic steps in planting pecan trees that can lead the way in getting them into production in a few years.

How to properly plant a pecan tree.

County History Book Progressing!

Development of the elaborate Eastland County History Book is moving forward, Chairman Roy Lee Smith has announced.

"Not as fast as we'd like, but definitely progressing," he said, as he explained that the publishing company is dedicated to turning out a quality book for the county. The company's representative, Mrs. Jodie Head, has stated that she has been charged with getting the book out as efficiently as possible.

Firms and individuals who are interested in memorial pages and/or business pages still have time, and may secure the details from Mr. Smith. "What we need most right now," he said, "are book sales."

The book will have some 1,200 family histories, general history and be a real collector's item, he emphasized.

"Marriage Of Figaro" At Majestic

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, an Austrian, lived only 35 years. During that time he wrote some of the world's most vibrant music - compositions which have lived far beyond his 1756-1791 era.

The magic and charm of one of his Operas - "The Marriage of Figaro" - can be experienced in Eastland at the Majestic Theatre on Tuesday, Feb. 7. The presentation will begin at 7 p.m., using an English version of the libretto.

Music students in the Abilene Collegiate Opera will make up the cast. This will include about a dozen young people from Hardin Simmons University, Abilene Christian University and McMurry College.

Stage direction for the Opera will be by Jayne C.

Middleton, a professor at Hardin Simmons University. Music will be provided by the Abilene Collegiate Symphony, directed by J. David Brock of Abilene Christian University. Thirty students are expected to perform in the Symphony for the Eastland production.

"The Marriage of Figaro" is set in the late 18th Century, in a castle near Seville, Spain. The theme is lively and joyful, involving romance, disguises, and harmless plots. The set and costumes will be elaborate and colorful.

Admission for the Opera will be $5 for adults, $4 for Senior Citizens, and $3 for students and children. Tickets are on sale now at Olney Savings in Eastland, Cisco, Ranger, Albany and Breckenridge.

Lady Wranglers Top Hill 83-82

The Cisco Junior College Lady Wranglers defeated Hill Junior College 83-82 last Saturday night at home. The win brings their conference record to 4-1 for the season.

The Lady Wranglers were ahead 83-79 with eight seconds left. Hill managed to make a three pointer but Cisco was still on top by one.

Claudette Ford led Cisco with 25 points and 10 rebounds, and Elayne Caruthers added 14 points, 9 assists, and five steals. Kelly Page had 11 points, and Michelle Holder had nine. Cynthia Wilson finished with eight points, Alicia Rawlings with 7, Stacy McPherson with 6, and Lee Ann Moore had three. Rawlings added 6 rebounds and McPherson had five.

Leading scorer for Hill was Ray with 30.

Wranglers Lose To Grayson: Play TSTI Tonight (Sat.) Here

The Grayson College Vikings took a 49-32 lead to the locker room at halftime, and went on to defeat the CJC Wranglers 86-79 in a NTJAC conference game at Denison Wednesday night. The Wranglers made a gallant comeback try in the second half, but cold first half shooting and sloppy ball handling in the first half proved too much for them to overcome and they fell to 2-5 in conference play. The Vikings improved their conference mark to 5-2 with the

Earl Ray And Dr. Charles

Barnes Speak To Rotary Club

The Cisco Rotary Club met for their regular club meeting held last Thursday at Tradition's Restaurant. Otto Urban presided over the meeting.

Ken Diehm gave the invocation.

Earl Ray, talked to club members about the contest that Cisco High School students will be having to design a logo for the "Just Say No Drugs" t-shirt.

He said Rita Clements, wife of Texas Governor, Bill Clements, will be in Cisco on February 19, to present the award to the winner.

Ray also talked about the VCR tapes he has about drug abuse. He said anyone can go by Dollar Video, 813 Conrad Hilton, and check out one of the tapes, free of charge. He said if the tapes are kept for too long, then there will be a charge. Mr. Ray said he would like to encourage all students to watch the tapes.

He said he is also in need of a television set, 19" or larger to loan out to the schools or to churches to show the VCR tapes.

Ray said they are still in need of donations to help provide the prizes for the winners in the t-shirt contest. He said if anyone would like to help with the television set or to help purchase a prize for the contest winner they need to contact him or his wife, Jane, at Ray-Ram, 442-3433, or come by 105 East 9th.

The club was anonymously given a new club banner. Dr. Charles Barnes also spoke to the club about the HOOS-GOW program. (See story about this elsewhere in paper.)

Compulsive Attendance Law To Be Enforced At Cisco High

Cisco High School will begin enforcing the compulsive attendance law immediately, according to Jack Martin, Cisco High School principal.

Martin said there are several students who are skipping school and this law will be enforced to help bring the situation under control.

He is asking the parents of all Cisco High School students to co-operate with the school with this program. Martin said he will file a report with the Cisco Justice of the Peace, J.V. Heyser, on students who are abusing the compulsive attendance law. Martin said parents of guilty teens can be fined $25-100 per day that their child is truant.

Martin said there are two reasons why he is enforcing this rule. He said (1) it's the law, and (2) he feels that students need to be in school to grow so they may have the opportunity to get an education and to be successful citizens of the state and the community they live in.

Martin added that if any citizen knows of a student who is breaking the compulsive attendance law, to please inform the principals of the schools, elementary-Robert Lindsey 442-1219, jr. high- Jim Puryear or high school- Jack Martin, 442-3051.

SUGGESTION FOR OUT-OF-TOWN ADVERTISING SOLICITATION
Local merchants and individuals are advised to check with their local Chamber of Commerce when solicited for advertising into out-of-town publications and promotions.
A nearby city was recently hit by a sales force that sold and collected for advertising into a special publication which hasn't been heard from since.
Some of this type of solicitation is done through the implied sponsorship of a local organization of worthy merit.
Citizens would be well served to check with their local chamber offices before agreeing to and/or paying for such promotions.

CHS To Have New Program

Cisco High School is in the process of identifying potential gifted and talented students as part of a new program to begin in the near future.

High School principal, Jack Martin, said he had a meeting with high school students and discussed aspects of the new program. He said letters about the gifted and talented program have been sent out to all parents of high school students.

He said after parents have read the letter they should mark either yes or no as to whether they feel as though their child should participate in this program. The program will be for gifted and talented students who excel in writing, science, and math.

The signed form will give permission for the testing of these students to see if they will be qualified for the program. The student will then be interviewed by a board made up of principals, teachers and parents of the community.

Martin said the board will be working with the parents to develop the Gifted and Talented program.

For more information on this program call Jack Martin, principal or Amy Johnson, counselor, at 442-3051.

Spanish Club Fundraiser

The Spanish Club is raising money to buy pottery for a class project.

This idea was chosen because pottery is an intricate part of culture in Latin American countries. The group has also planned a trip to Webster's House of Pottery in Eastland to pick up the materials necessary for the completion of this project.

Approximately $400 has been raised so far by Spanish Club members from the selling of posters by the Argus Communications Company in Allen, Texas.

The Spanish Club may have another fundraiser later in the year.

Groundhog Predicts Weather

On February 2, Mr. Groundhog came out of his hole and looked for his shadow.

February 2 is taken very seriously by some believers. According to those people, six weeks of cold weather will prevail if the groundhog, after coming from his hole, sees his shadow. If the groundhog doesn't see his shadow, winter is declared to have ended.

Where does groundhog watching occur? Well, in various places, but one of the most famous is located in Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania. In this small town, the Groundhog Club supervises this annual event, organized over 80 years ago.

How seriously should one take the prediction of an animal? According to some believers, the groundhog has been accurate 90 percent of the time. Yet, others figure below 50 percent.

Play Casting Complete

The Senior Class of 1989 has begun work on their Senior play which is entitled "Squad Room."

In this play you will meet a squad of likeable but slightly loony detectives who handle everything from burglary to bunco. Commander Rainwater plans to run for mayor so he leans on the squad room's head honcho, Lieutenant Mootfowl, to clean up crime in City Park, where only "a moving bullet is safe." If Mootfowl doesn't succeed he'll have to turn in his badge. This rowdy comedy fills the stage with assorted police personnel, street people, con artists, a psychiatrist, crime victims, crooks, lawyers, and a woman with a guilt complex who will confess to anything at all. We can't forget the Mad Bomber who manages to plant a bomb in a file cabinet or the hatecheck girl from the Pink Poodle Disco with marriage on her mind. Mootfowl is not the dope Rainwater thinks so before the final curtain things have sorted themselves out in hilarious style.

Seniors in the cast in order of speaking are: Frances Gonzales, Detective La Cava; Stephanie Kimbrough, Janitor; Pete Shong, Fingers; Philip Shackelford, Detective Strindberg; Stacey Saunders, Woman with a Guilt Complex; Lori Justice, Detective Marie Grant; Ginny Pope, Mrs. Grant; Leila Hawari, Deli Person; Deanna Parrigan, Teacher; Lori Lopez, Deana Lane and Teresa Gaeta as the students; Chris Rener, Lieutenant Mootfowl; Amy Hounshell, Commander Rainwater; Kay Ingram, Detective Adams; Lupe Sanchez, Moose Newland; Deana Wages, Lunatic; Julie Weathers, Dr. Vague; Lori Ann Speegle, Lucille Hotchkiss; Billy Black, the Mad Bomber; Katrina Denison, Mrs. Van Hickenlooper; Tina Crozier, Edith Stonebridge; Kim Rhodes, Photographer; Celia Walters, Detective Doris Cansino; Alicia Lambeth, Bag Lady; Larry Fields, Kavanaugh; Cindy Choate, Gloria Garvey; Marty Powledge, Chester Garvey; and Aki Kleiber, Miss Abbott.

The play is scheduled at 7 p.m. on February 24. Tickets will be $1.50 for students and $2 for adults.

Sheriff's Dept. News

Will the Texas Legislature fund some new prisons this year, or will they try to pass the expense of building and operating prisons, as they dictate, down to the county level? Most of the big city jails have had a problem for some time with trying to hold and house all of the prisoners who should be in T.D.C., if there was room. The problem with moving down to the smaller cities too, even the ones which have spent large sums for new jails, like Eastland.

A blow from a first finally persuaded the burglar to stop trying to escape. A deputy arrived and escorted the man to the County Jail where he was awaiting charges.

Five rifles, a V.C.R. and tapes, cash, and other items were taken from another home near Carbon. Two sus-

Second Generation Funeral Directors
 CAN A FUNERAL DIRECTOR CONDUCT FUNERALS OF ANY FAITH? The answer is "yes" for most experienced funeral directors. We have acquainted ourselves with most of the local religious customs and can advise you about them.

From the time we and the clergyman are called, we are in close touch with each other so as to pay strict heed to the family's wishes for any and all religious services. It is important for you to contact your own pastor, priest or rabbi EARLY so he can help you -- and us. If you don't happen to be active in any church, we can suggest an appropriate clergy person.

During the time of the funeral planning and service, your religious faith can be a mighty strong support and source of comfort to you. To include meaningful portions of your faith in the funeral service can render additional comfort to those attending the funeral. If you have any questions about the funeral service and any religious practices, feel free to contact us by phone or stop in for consultation.

An arrest is expected soon for motorcycle theft. The motorcycle was found and returned to its owner.

In a third fence post theft case reported to the Sheriff's Dept., 100 posts were taken. Officers expect to make an arrest soon.

Donald Gene Conner, an inmate in TDC, has requested a retrial, and District Judge Jim Wright has issued a warrant for him to be brought to Eastland Monday for a hearing. Sheriff Dee Hogan says that his Dept. will bring Conner back to Eastland for the hearing, unless the weather makes the trip impossible at this time.

Warrants have been issued for two young men in Cisco who are accused of stealing electrical wiring from a rural home belonging to Emmitt Rich near Cisco.

Sheriff Hogan found it necessary to purchase a kerosene blower Friday to thaw plumbing lines in order to maintain necessary facilities for the jail.
