New people in Cisco are Jean and Jim Fitzgerald. He was the principal at West Ward Elementary School from 1958-1963. They left Cisco and moved to Bayshore, Long Island and lived there for 20-years. He taught at Westbound where he was a football coach. They then moved to Villanova, Pennsylvania where he was the dean of students at North Eastern Junior College for six years. They have retired and moved back to Cisco at 700 West 9th.

Jean is the former Jean Coats.

Visiting with Wayne and Shirley Hargrave this week is their granddaughter, Stacy Jobe, from Mt. Pleasant, Texas. They will take Stacy home this weekend and top the trip off by stopping by Arlington. Wayne and Shirley will be celebrating their anniversary August 17, and will spend time with the grandchildren before school resumes. The younger granddaughter, Wendy, stayed two weeks in July.

On the back of Willy Hunt's vehicle, local ambulance driver, is a bumper sticker that says "Make an E.M.T. happy. Buckle up."

Mr. Don Kłodziejczyk has a letter at the Cisco Press office, 700 Conrad Hilton. It was addressed to Box 150, the Longhorn Press, but the people there don't know Mr. Kłodziejczyk. If you do, let him know that he can pick up his letter here.

Saw a V-formation of geese flying south Monday morning while coming to work. There have also been crickets coming in the businesses and a plague of grasshoppers attacked downtown Cisco Tuesday morning. It is said that all these signs point to an early winter.

Received a letter from Mr. Henry Schaefer recently. On the front was the "Support Barrier Free Design" logo. There have been some of these logos in the Press also. Mr. Schaefer, uses a wheelchair and is an avid supporter of wheelchair ramps and easy access for wheelchairs into businesses.

Local cities received sales tax rebates collected for the month of June, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock. In a report he said that cities, counties, and transit authorities across Texas received an average of 9.8 percent more in sales tax rebates this month than they did at the same time in 1988.

Cisco's check was 5.96 percent more than what it was the same time last year. This is what helps to run the city government. So remember to shop Cisco first. The money spent in Cisco will come back to Cisco.

Gorman and Ranger also had an increase in their rebate checks. Eastland and Rising Star had a slight decrease in their checks.

A set of keys was turned into the Press Friday. They were found on Royal Ave., and have been run over a few times by a vehicle. If you lost your keys stop by The Press, 700 Conrad Hilton to see if they are yours.

W.B. Norton brought a map of the state of Texas with a miniature map of the United States on it, by The Press this week that is over 100 years old. It belonged to his mother, Minnie E. Robinson Norton. She died in 1972, at the age of 96-years old.

It had the census of 1880 on it. The state of New York had a population of 5,082,871. The population of Texas was 1,591,749. California's population was 864,694. Illinois 3,077,871, Wyoming 20,789, and the Indian Territory (Oklahoma) 8,785.

The total population of the United States was 50,155,783. The national debt was $2,018,770,265.75.

The map also had railway stations and distance tables across Texas listed.

The popular and electoral vote for the president of the United States was listed. They give the number of electoral and popular votes by states for Hancock, Garfield, Scattering and Weaver, in 1880 and Cleveland, Blaine, Butler, St. John in 1884.

There is a copy of the map at The Press if anyone would care to stop by and look at it.

Iva Quinn had as weekend guests Jaunita Quinn of San Angelo, Marion Brown of Mingo, and Mr. and Mrs. J.B. McAuley of Pasadena, Tx. Mr. and Mrs. McAuley purchased a home while here and will be moving to Cisco soon.

Iva Quinn, Jaunita Quinn, Marion Brown and Virginia Hatten were in Ranger Sunday to attend the funeral of Bill Quinn. He was the brother-in-law of Iva and Jaunita.

Hospital Auxiliary Needs Books For Book Fair

Keep all those books coming, is the message from the E.L. Graham Hospital Auxiliary.

The group is soliciting donations of books - hardbacks and paperbacks - for its annual book fair to be held Sept. 15-16 in the Corral Room.

Persons who have excess books they would like to give to this cause are encouraged to do so, says auxiliary project chairman Janelle Schrader.

"We are hoping for a good turnout at the fair which will also include a bake sale. The money we raise will go to a worthy cause," she said. The group is hoping to help pay for a vital piece of equipment for the hospital, she explained.

Hours for the book fair are from 5 to 9 p.m. Friday, Sept. 15, and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 16.

Those who have books they would like to donate may call Mrs. Schrader at 442-3329, or drop them by the Chamber of Commerce office or Thrift Mart.

Eastland County Commissioners Endorse Hospital District

Meetings which lasted until late Monday in the County Commissioners Courtroom, and a number of items were discussed. Some of these were approved.

The Commissioners endorsed the creation of a Hospital District in an area roughly bounded by Pct. 1. A map with the exact boundaries was given to the Commissioners by Emmett Lasater, who brought the request from Eastland Memorial Hospital.

The Commissioners also approved a request to use the County Courthouse on Sept. 16 as a voting site for the Eastland Hospital Tax District. Emmett Lasater thanked the commissioners for their cooperation, and also thanked County Clerk JoAnn Johnson and her staff for helping prepare for the voting.

In other matters, the city of Eastland asked the Commissioners to review the Rural Fire-fighting contract with the city. The contract has expired, and City Manager Paul Catoc brought the request that a new one be negotiated. He said the Eastland Fire Department was fighting more fires outside the City than inside the City limits.

The Commissioners also heard a report on County Jail Contracts with the cities. All cities but Eastland (and possibly Gorman) have agreed to the current contract.

On other law enforcement matters, the Commissioners approved a request to advertise for bids for long-distance transportation of prisoners for the Sheriff's Department. Sheriff Dee Hogan said there would be considerable savings in manpower if prisoners from other states could be brought one-way by Companies involved in hauling prisoners.

The Commissioners also approved a policy for the Sheriff's office in regard to trips on weekends or at night when no County money is available. A cash sum of $500 will be held at the Sheriff's office subject to unexpected law enforcement expenses. Previously personnel from the Sheriff's Department have had to provide their own cash for these duties, and wait for approval of the bills before reimbursement. An accounting will be made for trips in which the cash allowance is used.

Commissioner Billy Bacon reported that 21 prisoners were currently in the jail, with three of these Federal prisoners. These three prisoners are expected to be picked up shortly. Bacon also said that the jail was clean, with everything going well there.

The Commissioners briefly discussed the 911 Telephone Emergency System, then said more information would be available on this topic at a called meeting Wednesday, Aug. 16. This meeting will begin at 10 a.m., and will be open to the public.

Commissioners Approve Budget Set Tax Rate

A budget estimated as "around $3 million" for the fiscal year of 1989-90 was approved Monday by Eastland County Commissioners. A tax rate of 33.389¢ per $100 valuation was set, an increase of 3 percent from last year.

This rate is expected to yield the same amount of money as last year, about $2.3 million in revenue. County Judge Scott Bailey said this will mean a $250,000 shortfall.

"Where's the money coming from?" Commissioner Billy Bacon asked several times. "This deal of voting before we know what it's going to cost - it's like going through the back door."

After considerable discussion the Commissioners decided to go ahead with approval. Salary raises under the new budget were said to be "less than 3 percent." All final figures on the budget were expected to be available this week. The next fiscal year will begin Oct. 1.

Elementary Students Are To Be Pre-Registered Before August 28

Mr. Robert Lindsey, principal at Cisco Elementary School, would like to remind all students in grades kindergarten through sixth grade, that they need to be pre-registered before the first day of school, August 28.

Mr. Lindsey said that any student who is new in town, any kindergarten student or any previous student who attended Cisco Elementary School last year but who did not return their registration form, needs to have that form on file at the school before August 28. He said if any student does not have this card on file the first day of school they will be sent home.

Mr. Lindsey said the dress code for the Cisco Elementary School will be the same as for the high school, except that they will allow students to wear warm ups. But, he said, not the ones that look like someone's underwear. He said students may wear shorts if the length is down to the end of the student's fingertips. He said this will also be the rule for skirts and dresses. He said the school's dress code will not allow bicycle pants and for safety reason, students will not be allowed to wear thongs.

Mr. Lindsey said a list of school supplies for all classes is now on display at Mott's and Bill's Stores in Cisco. There will be a list printed in a future issue of the Cisco Press and a list of students and their homeroom numbers will be published before school starts.

The troop will continue to collect aluminum beverage cans. They can still be dropped off at 301 East 21st Street but the trailer will not be available.

Department On Aging Offers Certificates Honoring Grandparents

Grandparents are more important today than ever before. Recent social trends have obliged many grandparents to raise their grandchildren as well as their children, often delaying their retirement as a result. And, as always, their wisdom, experience and work ethic make them the unacknowledged backbone of our state.

The Texas Department on Aging, in honor of the vital role grandparents play in society, will sponsor Texas' observance of National Grandparents Day September 10, 1989. As in the past three years, TDoA will offer free certificates for presentation to outstanding grandparents.

These certificates are suitable for framing. They are printed in color on parchment paper and are signed by Governor William P. Clements and Department on Aging Executive Director O.P. Bobbitt. A space is provided for inscribing the name of the recipient.

Last year, TDoA distributed more than 100,000 Outstanding Grandparent certificates to individuals, schools, nursing homes, churches and civic groups. Many schools and other organizations sponsored local Grandparents Day celebrations which included presentation of certificates.

The Department of Aging urges people who are ordering certificates to place requests as soon as possible to assure that the orders will be filled in time for Grandparents Day.

Requests should include the number of certificates required (orders of any size can be filled) and a complete return address for the individual who is presenting the certificates.

Submit orders in writing only to: Grandparents Certificates, c/o Texas Department on Aging, P.O. Box 12786, Capitol Station, Austin, Tx. 78711.

A Thought For The Day...

DeAlva Chambers

Friendship is a great gift in life. It is equally great in the giving as well as in the receiving. Real friendship requires a genuine like of the person, not what the person can give us or do for us. To receive the gift of friendship, we must in turn give it. Unlike a Birthday or Christmas gift, the gift of friendship is intangible. Above all, it is a gift we must earn. This is often a forgotten truth. Because of this, friendship can be easily forfeited. For example -

All of us have forgetful friends. And lest we ourselves forget, let us remember we, too, at times are the forgetful friends to others. We forget to say, "Thank you" ... forget to say nice-to-hear things on this 'n that ... forget to give a word of affection and encouragement...

Incidentally, may we take this opportunity to say "Thank you" to all our friends who have taken the time to write, phone and comment on these articles...

Husband. Grandfather. Great American Investor.

When Bob Lawrence began his career on the railroad nearly 30 years ago, he began something else, too. Investing in U.S. Savings Bonds—the Great American Investment. "It was my wife that got me started. She wanted us to put something away for our retirement," he says. Today, Bob is ready to retire with quite a nest egg. And while he still buys Savings Bonds, his reasons have changed. "My wife and I aren't worried about ourselves anymore. Now we're thinking of our grandkids. We give them Bonds as gifts." Savings Bonds come in a variety of denominations, are free from state and local income tax, and you can buy them at work or where you bank. The Next Best Thing -

...to a clear conscience and a good night's sleep is the feeling of security in owning your own home with a clear title. Peculiar to the real estate field, values are based on land and the improvements thereon, if any. But values on these are based on the title. The title then comes the most important item to be considered when purchase of real property is contemplated. So be careful to buy good title based on an abstract of title or a policy of title insurance.

School Opening Legislation Cuts Into Six Flags Season

Changes in public school opening dates which were approved this summer by the Texas Legislature will cut four days from Six Flags Over Texas' daily operating schedule.

The Arlington theme park had been scheduled to be open daily for the summer season through August 31.

The new laws permit schools to open as early as August 28, and the majority of school districts in the Dallas-Fort Worth area are taking advantage of the early start.

Six Flags is staffed by 2,500 young hosts and hostesses, primarily high school and college students. Their availability dictates the park's operating schedule.

Six Flags will end its daily schedule on Sunday, Aug. 27, and will begin weekend-only operation for the fall months on Saturday, September 2.

Weekend operations will continue through November 12.

Fishing Outdoors

Area anglers made a good showing over the weekend at the Fifth Annual Stonewall County Jaycees Bass Tournament. The event was held at Lake Stamford. Seventy six anglers were present for the days competition which turned out to be tough fishing.

At the three p.m. weigh-in in the final standings were: 1st Tommy Stratton, Abilene, 3 fish 9.43 pounds; 2nd Butch Willingham, Cisco, 3 fish 6.01 pounds; 3rd Al Senterfite 3 fish 5.82; 4th Mike Kinsley, Abilene, 3 fish 5.69; 5th Terry Wilson 3 fish 5.66 pounds; 6th Don Holland, Abilene, 3 fish, 5.01; 7th Ronnie Parsons, 1 fish 4.43; 8th Rick Sanchez 2 fish 4.32, 9th Randall Graham 2 fish 4.43. Big bass winners were 1st Ronnie Parsons 4.43; 2nd Al Senterfite 4.17; and 3rd Tommy Stratton 4.02.

This event as most tournaments held polygraph test for the winners. And Randy Dodson of Clyde was unable to pass the test. After 3 exams Mr. Dodson had failed the same question asked 3 different ways. And with more and more clubs adding the "Death Penalty Rule" Mr. Dodson will probably have to take up golf as a hobby.

Seven members of the Eastland County Bass Club meet at Lake Fort Phantom Sunday for a day of angling. Off colored year round Phantom doesn't receive a lot of tournament fishing. And these seven anglers could probably tell you they know why. Even though fishing was tough this, lake does produce some good strings of fish. At the weigh in only two anglers had fish 14 1/4 inches or longer. First place and big bass was won by Tim Freeman with one fish 3.49 pounds. And second place James Schuman 1 fish 1.84 pounds. Both fish were

Sunday, August 20, The First Annual Texas American Veterans Open Bass Classic will be held on Lake Granbury. Headquarters will be at Hunter's Park Hiway

51. The entry fee for this event is $35.00 with an optional $5.00 big bass pot. At least 50 places will be paid, with 1st place winning a 1989 Dodge Ram pickup. 2nd place a 24 inch color TV set, and 3rd place a video recorder. There will also be a drawing for a 1989 Dodge Ram 50 pickup at the tournament. For more information you may contact me at 629-3255.

The Eastland County Bass Club will be hosting its 14th Annual Open Bass Tournament Sunday, September 10, 1989. This event has grown from 50 entries to an average of 200 contestants over the years. Many of these being visitors from other parts of this state and some from other states. It is the hope of the E.C.B.C. that these anglers visit some of and use the local merchants for their needs. And especially the sponsors of this years event: The Crossin' Restaurant, Green Light Auto, N.A.P.A. Eastland, Fullen Motor Co., Steve's Garage, Bryan's Auto, Eastland County Newspapers, and Fishing Outdoors.

And a very special thanks to Berkley Trilene of Spirit Lake, Iowa and to the Yamaha Company. Without these two sponsors the annual event could not have continued to grow and improve.

The above is only a current list of sponsors and is expected to grow as the tournament day grows closer.

As I reported to you last cast Lake Leon's catfish are biting. Howard Wilson landed a 30 pound yellow cat this past week on live perch. Howard also took off a good number of channel cats. These were taken on live shad. And other anglers are reporting good to excellent success in other areas of the lake. So if you don't have a line out you better pick a spot. And be sure to properly mark your line so it won't come up missing.

Leon's bass are really picking up with the lake level rise and cooler water temps. Topwaters and spinners seem to be the best baits right now.

The fish are shallow and hungry. So now would be a good time to load the kids up and take them out for a fun day.

Safe Driving Tips from Rhonda

Seat belts inject the thought of safety first. A child will feel more secure being restrained in his car seat. Children, as parents are aware, like to explore their territory and find out where the boundaries are. Car seats let the child know where the boundaries are therefore; they are more secure. Buckle those kids up!

Sheriff's Dept. News

Three federal prisoners had been brought to the Eastland County Jail by a U.S. Marshall to be tried on local charges.

At Sheriff Dee Hogan's suggestion, District Attorney Emory Walton agreed to return the three to federal authorities. They had already been convicted in federal court and sentenced to long prison terms without parole. Trials for the three in Eastland County would be very costly to the county and would not add to the prisoner's time in jail. A lawsuit against the county might also be avoided.

T.D.C. has held open four places for prisoners from Eastland County this month, but there probably won't be anyone to go, reports Sheriff Hogan, as local prisoners are still awaiting court action or their day in court.

The Rhome residence in Gorman was burglarized with two refrigerated air conditioner window units and two fans being taken.

Troy Daniels, reported arrested in another article, came in voluntarily to face charges. A 15 year old runaway girl and her boyfriend were believed to be in Eastland County but officers hadn't been able to locate them.

Deputies responded to three family disturbances, one in Morton Valley, one in Desdemona, and one in Rising Star.

Officers were on the lookout for a Hamilton County escapee.

Deputies investigated the sale of a stolen boat motor. Reportedly the man selling the motor had purchased it from a man who moved out of state.

Frontier Legend's Resting Place In Peaceful Eastland County

By Viola Payne

The grave of William H. Bonney, alias Billy The Kid, lies in an old Fort Cemetery seven miles southeast of Fort Sumner, New Mexico.

Bonney is buried between two associates - Tom O'Folliard and Charlie Bowdre - who died several months earlier than The Kid's death at the hands of Sheriff Pat Garrett July 14, 1881. A granite headstone with the inscription "Pals" marks the resting place of Bonney and his friends.

Another pal is buried in Eastland County.

THE KID AURA

There is no way a visitor to Fort Sumner can miss the presence of The Kid's grave, or the aura of this young cowboy/gunman who had a leading part in the Lincoln County War. For Billy The Kid, dead at age 21, has become a mythological figure - a symbol of revolt against a sometimes hypocritical Establishment.

A whole tourist industry revolves around this grave and The Kid's legend. People from all over the world turn off the State Highway to travel Billy The Kid Road 3 1/2 miles south. There they may go inside the Old Fort Museum - for $2 each - and view the grave in the white-walled burial ground behind it.

THE GANG

A tourist-promotional group known as the "Billy The Kid Outlaw Gang" operates out of Fort Sumner, assisting with numerous historical events in the area. Some are in Fort Sumner, and others in Lincoln County 150 miles southwest. Every major event in the 1878-81 Lincoln County War has been written about, debated, and a number of historical markers erected. The town of Lincoln is carefully preserved in Territorial style, with annual Billy The Kid - Pat Garrett celebrations held during the summers.

In spite of international publicity, with books, films and music based on his life, a lot of controversy, speculation and mystery surrounds Billy The Kid.

Josiah G. Scurlock, who knew the answers to most of these questions, lies buried over 400 miles east of Fort Sumner - right here in the Eastland City Cemetery. He shares a marble headstone with his wife, Antonia Herrera Scurlock, the Basque-French girl he married in Lincoln, New Mexico in 1876.

As yet, no tourists are hurrying off the Freeway to visit the grave of Josiah G. Scurlock. There are only visits by family members in the area, or a few friends who remember the pleasant old Irish gentlemen who died in Eastland in 1929. Yet historians of the Lincoln County War will tell you that Josiah G. "Doc" Scurlock was a close associate of Billy The Kid - probably knew him as well as anyone who ever lived.

THE REGULATORS

He and The Kid were in a group called the "Regulators" during the War, sharing the pain and violence of those times.

Josiah G. "Doc" Scurlock is pictured with a daughter, Lola. This photograph was made around 1920, when "Doc" was 70 years old.

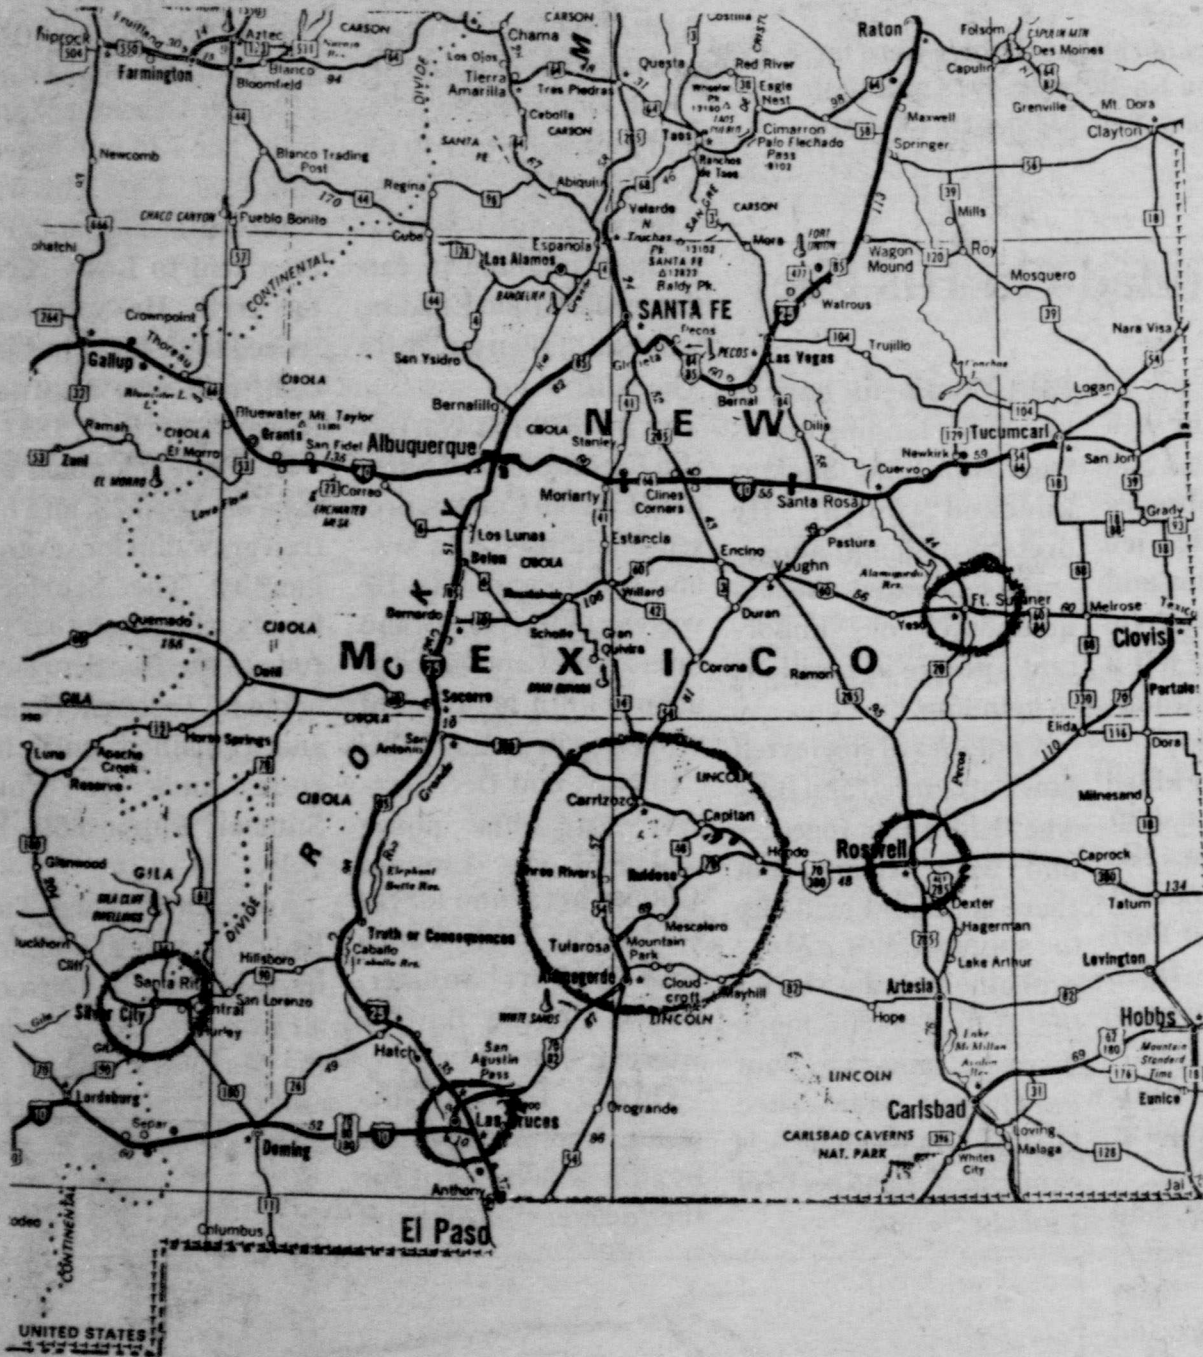

PULLING HARD AGAINST THE STREAM

Its in this world I've gained my knowledge
 And for it I've had to pay
 Although I've never been to College
 Yet I've heard the Poets say
 Life is like a mighty river
 Rolling on from day to day
 And we as ships are launched upon it
 Some get wrecked and cast away

Refrain

Then do your best for one another
 Make this life a pleasant dream
 Help a weary careworn brother
 Pulling hard against the stream.

house of Pete Maxwell to walk in, unarmed, during the night. Some historians say he was carrying a knife, but no gun. In Pat Garrett's story of the killing he indicates that The Kid had a gun. Garrett, in the darkened house, fired at The Kid's head when he heard his voice.

Pat Garrett continued to live in the southwest after his controversial killing of The Kid. In 1882 he lost the race for Sheriff of Lincoln County, and bought a ranch near Roswell. Later he served as Sheriff of Dona Anna County, at Las Cruces.

He worked as Collector of Customs at El Paso for four years, then retired to a ranch at the Organ Mountains near Las Cruces. During those years one of the Scurlock descendants reportedly nursed Pat Garrett during an illness, and he never knew she was connected with the Scurlock family.

Pat Garrett was ambushed and killed in 1908 while riding to Las Cruces.

No matter how careful you are, it is hard to beat all the odds.

Billy the Kid

WANTED:

BILLY THE KID

In the violent decade of the 1880's, Billy the Kid was a notorious young outlaw known throughout the Territory of New Mexico.

Ten years old when he arrived in Santa Fe with his widowed mother and brother Joe, he was known as Henry McCarty.

His mother married William H. Antrim and moved the family to Silver City, New Mexico when Henry was 14. Over the next seven years, the young man who was to become an outlaw legend was known variously as Kid Antrim, William H. Bonney and El Chivo.

Following his last, most famous, jailbreak from Lincoln County, Billy the Kid fled to friends in the Fort Sumner area. It was in the home of Peter Maxwell, son of Lucien B. Maxwell, that Sheriff Pat Garrett surprised Billy in the dark and shot him. The date was July 14, 1881. Billy was 21 years old, and had supposedly killed 21 men.

Billy is buried between his "pals" Charlie Bowdre and Tom O'Fallard, in the old government cemetery seven miles southeast of the present town of Fort Sumner.

INTERNATIONAL

DOC TOOK PARDON

Their trails began to part when New Mexico Gov. Lew Wallace offered a pardon in 1879 to everyone on both sides of the Lincoln County War. There was one stipulation for Billy The Kid - he would have to stand trial before he was pardoned. Scurlock and a number of the other Regulators took their pardons and made new lives for themselves - Billy The Kid refused.

A trial in Messilla, New Mexico and a spectacular jailbreak from the Lincoln County Courthouse were some of The Kid's last adventures.

After leaving Lincoln County and Fort Sumner for Texas, Josiah G. Scurlock was very reluctant to tell of his experiences in New Mexico. He related nothing outside the family, and made only brief remarks to family members. He indicated he had enemies who would kill him if they ever found him.

He did say that the law officials in Lincoln County at the time of the War were corrupt, and that he would never stand a fair chance with them. So during the rest of his life he refused any position of prominence, or any situation that would give him public notice.

CONTRASTS

It would be hard to find two people with more contrasting backgrounds than Josiah G. Scurlock and Billy The Kid. They did have an Irish ancestry in common, but Josiah G. came from a settled family in Alabama with means and advantages.

A fierce pride of race, family and person was bred into the Scurlocks. One family member - thought to be Josiah's cousin - died in the Alamo.

Daniel, an older brother, fought for the south in the Civil War. He is also buried in the Eastland Cemetery, along with Josiah and Antonia's son William, his wife Liddie and Josiah's daughter Gladys.

YOUNG DOCTOR

Born in 1850, Josiah showed an interest in medicine when a young man. He studied under a Doctor in Alabama, then went to Charity Hospital in New Orleans to work on his Internship. He was a bright and handsome young man, and made a lot of friends.

Just before his graduation something happened which plunged Josiah into a wild depression. He was in love with a young nurse, and found that she had decided to marry another intern.

Josiah left medical school and took a boat for Josiah G. Scurlock and his wife, Antonia Hererra Scurlock, are buried in the Eastland Cemetery. Antonia died in 1912 at the age of 52, and Josiah died in 1929 at age 79. The couple had ten children. The Scurlock grave is to the right of Valley Street in the Cemetery.

Tampico, Mexico, where he found work treating patients with yellow fever.

By 1871 Scurlock feared he might have tuberculosis, and came back to the United States. He worked briefly for John Chisum, a Texas-New Mexico cattle rancher. Chisum, who drove cattle out of the Brown County, Texas in 1866, had established a headquarters in the Fort Sumner-Roswell area. At that time he was reported to have one of the largest holdings of cattle in the world.

Scurlock was still restless, and he drifted over to Arizona. There he met Charlie Bowdre, and they operated a mine and cheese factory for a short while. One of their employees was an engaging youngster known as William H. Bonney, who was on the run from trouble in Silver City. Bonney had a stepfather, W.K. Antrim, who worked in mines around Mogollon. Scurlock took a liking to mild-mannered Bonney, with his ready smile and lightening draw of a gun.

FIRST KILLING?

Bonney became involved in a bar-room killing and drifted south into Mexico. Scurlock and Bowdre decided to set up a ranch on the Rio Ruidoso in Lincoln County, back in New Mexico. After they settled there Scurlock taught school along with his ranching, and also served as a Doctor. There he acquired the nick-name Doc.

Lincoln County had some of the most beautiful scenes anywhere, with high mountain meadows and clear streams tumbling to dry flats near the Pecos River. But an explosive mix of people had converged on this area, and trouble was simmering.

South of the Ruidoso was the Apache Indian Reservation, filling a territory supposedly inhabited by their Mountain Gods. Across the rolling grassy hills below the mountains were old-line Spanish and Mexican families, who established ranches there around 1850. To the east lay the vast holdings of John Chisum, the Texan planning to enlarge his territory. Just southwest of Lincoln was Fort Stanton, with U.S. Calvarymen (sometimes black) and white officers.

THE RING

Business and finance in the town of Lincoln was under the control of a Murphy-Dolan group, financed by Thomas B. Catron, President of the First National Bank of Santa Fe. Catron was the leader of the so-called "Santa Fe Ring", a group who exercised control of Territorial politics and manipulated scores of business ventures.

About this time Billy The Kid drifted out of Old Mexico to Mesilla, N.M., and finally to the John Chisum ranch. A large amount of cattle and horse stealing was going on in the territory, and The Kid got a job rounding up and returning Chisum's stolen stock.

When Chisum later decided Billy was a "loose gun" and quit paying him, the Kid allegedly continued to round up Chisum stock - but then he sold them and kept all the money.

A DUEL

About this time Scurlock, according to family tradition, lost his front teeth in a dispute which arose during a card game. He and his opponent fired at the same time, with the bullet entering Scurlock's mouth and coming out the back of his neck without inflicting a fatal wound. The man who fired that bullet is reported to have been less fortunate.

An English nobleman named John Tunstall had a ranch on the Ruidoso, and he and Scurlock became good friends. Billy the Kid hired on as a cowboy for Tunstall, and it was interesting how quickly the educated Englishman and Billy took a liking to each other. For Billy it was a chance to eat regular meals and attend some of the local dances. There were some mighty pretty girls at the dances, and Billy was a favorite.

Scurlock was probably a favorite too, but he soon dropped out of the competition. He was in love with dark-eyed Antonia Hererra, daughter of a Basque ranch owner. (The Basques came from the border of Spain and France.)

A WIFE

The Scurlocks and Hererras had one thing in common - each family believed its members were "too good" to marry "just anyone." Fernando Hererra was certain that lovely Antonia, born to his first wife (a French woman, who died young) was far superior to this cowboy-stranger.

Doc Scurlock wasn't exactly considered an angel. He was high-spirited and hot-tempered, and there were some warrants out for him on cattle and horse rustling. Hererra liked the bunch Scurlock ran with better than that other faction of Anglos - but he sure didn't want his daughter mixed up with any of them.

Somehow Scurlock

managed to get Antonia to a Catholic Church in Lincoln on Oct. 19, 1876. One story has him riding by the Hererra ranch, pulling her up on a horse and riding off. Others say this was not true. Either way, Antonia's father never really approved of her marriage to Doc Scurlock.

The couple did stay in the Hererra home some after their marriage, however. The final break seems to have come when Scurlock came in one day to find Antonia's stepmother ordering her to do some work.

He declared that "no one is going to make a maid out of my wife!" and moved Antonia and their two small children out of the house.

Although her father fought on the side of the Regulators during the Lincoln County War, Antonia had little personal contact with her family again.

The Lincoln County War was smoldering, with frequent clashes between Tunstall's cowboys and a group of gunmen under the leadership of James Dolan. In 1877 the Lincoln County Bank was organized with John Chisum, President, Alexander McSween (a lawyer) Vice President, and John Tunstall, Treasurer. This made the Tunstall-McSween-Chisum faction a serious threat to the Murphy-Dolan group.

Local sentiment was about evenly divided between the newcomers and the establishment, and neutrality was about as dangerous as being on one of the sides. Major Murphy used his political influence to have William Brady made Sheriff of Lincoln County.

By Feb. of 1878 a dispute arose over money on an insurance policy Alex McSween had collected for a former partner of Murphys. Murphy instructed Sheriff Brady to serve a writ of attachment on the property of McSween's partner John Tunstall.

TUNSTALL'S DEATH

On Feb. 18 an armed and allegedly drunken posse met Tunstall on the road to Lincoln and killed him. Tunstall's cowboy's, including Billy the Kid, swore revenge for Tunstall's death. Before long they had ambushed and killed two members of the posse and killed Brady and another man named Hindeman on the streets of Lincoln. This began five months of violence and bloodshed in which neither side was ever able to claim a victory.

THE REGULATORS

Two days after Tunstall was killed, Scurlock, ranchers George and Frank Coe, Billy the Kid and about ten other supporters forcibly evicted the Sheriff's representatives from the Tunstall store and bank and seized control of the property. Styling themselves the Regulators, these friends of Tunstall set out to liquidate the posse they held responsible for his death. There was a swift ride over to a place called Seven Rivers, known to be a hideout for the group involved. Two men, Morton and Baker, were "executed" during this raid.

When word got around of the killing of Morton and Baker, concern settled on the minds of the townspeople. Who would the Tunstall Death Posse find next? On April 5 the Posse engaged Buckshot Roberts in battle at Blazer's Mill on the Mescalero Indian Reservation. Roberts failed to live up to his boast that he would "get" the Kid, but proved he was a tough gunfighter.

At The End Billy The Kid "Had the liking of being an outlaw."

THE SPIDER WEB

As the killings continued on both sides, Doc Scurlock had special reasons to fear for the safety of his family. His rides with the Regulators had brought down warrants for his arrest from Lincoln all the way to Mesilla. One day he hid Antonia and their two babies in a deep old cellar, using special care to leave the spider-webs across the cover intact. As Antonia sat in the darkness, enemy riders glanced at the cellar cover and decided no one was inside. Later Scurlock slipped Antonia and the children over to Fort Sumner for their protection.

THE SHOWDOWN

The climax of the Lincoln County battles came with a five-day siege of the McSween home in Lincoln. The house was the most luxurious in the territory, consisting of twelve rooms elegantly furnished, including a fine piano. Supporters of the Tunstalls and McSweens had gathered in the home or in positions nearby on the street.

One account says that Doc Scurlock was in a Montano house nearby during the battle. It is known that he was also in the McSween home during some of the worst of the siege. Susan McSween, her sister and two nieces were in the McSween house, with a Lincoln School teacher named Katherine Gates in the Turnstall-McSween store. As the current Sheriff Peppin and his followers gathered for a showdown, Mrs. McSween is reported to have played the piano to veil noise in the house.

Dolan, realizing McSween forces were solidly entrenched, called on Colonel Dudley of the Ninth Cavalry at Fort Stanton for help. He was refused because of an army regulation forbidding troops to assist a civilian posse. But on Friday, July 19 the Colonel rode into town with three companies of soldiers.

It was announced that the military had come to protect the women and children. But - according to most New Mexico historians - the Colonel and his troops simply watched the subsequent burning of the house without taking any action for protective custody.

The women escaped, but the Regulators lost a number of their men, including McSween. The survivors, among them Scurlock and Billy The Kid, regrouped at an abandoned ranch house they often used as a hide-out. On Aug. 5 they led a successful raid on the herds of the Mescalero Apaches.

Sheriff Peppin was unable to maintain a strong force, and the Regulators were riding in and out of Lincoln without molestation. About the first of September, Doc Sculock and Bowdre moved to Fort Sumner, a town that had been generally friendly to their cause.

Scurlock went to work for Pete Maxwell, a rancher with large holdings in eastern and northern New Mexico. About the end of that month Lew Wallace, the newly appointed Governor of the Territory, entered upon his official duties. After the murder of Mrs. McSween's lawyer in Lincoln on Feb. 18, 1879 the Gov. decided to go to Lincoln and attempt to settle the continuing War.

PARDONS

His solution was to pardon all people on both sides who would lay down their arms and promise to obey the law. Billy the Kid would be tried and then pardoned. Colonel Dudley at Fort Stanton was to be investigated, and moved from his post.

Although Wallace met with him, Billy The Kid said he did not trust the Courts and could not take the pardon. If he laid down his guns some of his enemies would kill him, he declared.

GONE TO TEXAS

Scurlock took his pardon, and about this time apparently decided to make a break with his New Mexico associates. About October or November of that year he gave away all his guns - with the exception of one squirrel rifle. He sold a gold mine he owned for $500 - the man who bought it later resold the mine for $75,000. He moved his family to Tascosa, in the Panhandle of Texas. There he looked after horses on a mail-hack line, and also hunted wild horses.

During 1880, the Kid, Charlie Bowdre and Tom O'Folliard headed a makeshift group who apparently rustled cattle and horses for a living. They stayed one jump ahead of a young Deputy Sheriff named Pat Garrett, an acquaintance (but not a friend) of Billy The Kid.

SENTENCED TO HANG

In the winter of that year O'Folliard and Bowdre were killed in Fort Sumner. Billy continued on his old trails, but was captured and tried in Mesilla for a number of murders. In April he was convicted of the murder of Sheriff Brady of Lincoln, and sentenced to be hanged in Lincoln on May 13, 1881. The Kid was confined in Lincoln in a two-story building formerly occupied by the Murphy-Dolan mercantile firm. Deputy Sheriff Robert Ollinger - a member of the posse which had killed Tunstall - was one of his guard.

Jodi Brumfield of Eastland (Lake Leon) is a Great-granddaughter of Josiah G. "Doc" Scurlock. Her Grandfather was John Joshua Scurlock, and her father is Joseph Theodore Scurlock of Breckenridge. Jodi and her husband, Danny Brumfield, have a daughter, Dana.

The Kid's jailbreak, the killing of two guards and his escape into hiding is now part of the legends which surround Lincoln County. Pat Garrett, who had become Sheriff on Jan. 1 of that year, made no outward sign of pursuit.

TO TASCOSA

The Kid had disappeared. But the Josiah G. Scurlock family knew where he was. According to family stories. He rode into Tascosa to the half-dugout where they lived, and stayed with them until he decided to go back to Fort Sumner.

By that time the Scurlocks had a third child, a baby named John. During his lifetime John told his family that "Billy The Kid held me when I was a baby."

In years which followed John Scurlock also repeated something else he had probably heard from his father: "Billy The Kid never killed a man except in self-defense. He was actually a good and kind person."

Doc Scurlock tried to talk

Billy out of going back to Fort Sumner. "You know that Pat Garrett will kill you, Billy."

Billy insisted that he must see a certain Mexican girl in Fort Sumner - that would be worth all the trouble of the trip. Besides, Garrett would never face up to him.

AT MAXWELL'S HOUSE

So he rode into Fort Sumner late on July 14. First he stopped at the home of a Mexican family near the Fort, then decided to walk over to Pete Maxwell's house in the dark to get some beef to eat. He did not know that Garrett was already in the house, looking for him. Billy's last words were "Quien Es?"

The Scurlocks always felt sure that the "real" Billy the Kid was buried in the grave at Fort Sumner, in spite of occasional rumors to the contrary.

About a year after the Kid's death the Scurlocks moved to Wilbarger County, near Vernon. Doc practiced medicine on the side and acquired knowledge of French and German from settlers in the area. He took up a wheat farm and in 1893 sold the property. Later the region became one of the large oil fields of Texas.

Eventually the Scurlocks had ten children - Viola, Josiah G. Junior, John, Ellen, Presley, William, Linda, Gladys, Amy and Lola.

From North Texas the Scurlocks moved near Cleburn, where Doc grew cotton and corn and taught Spanish and other subjects at Mehan Business College. From 1899 to 1913 he farmed at Granbury. Antonia Scurlock died at Acton, Texas in 1912.

For several years Doc worked as a bookkeeper for the S.L. Humas Co., a farming concern southeast of Athens. A Dallas newspaper tried to persuade him to write a series of stories on the Lincoln County War, but he was determined to stay clear of his past.

Family stories indicate that Scurlock was a devoted but rather strict father, who expected obedience and hard work from his children. He read extensively, almost entirely from the classics, and urged his family to read good books and get a good education. Such writing as he did was usually confined to poetry.

TO EASTLAND

In 1919 the family moved to Eastland, in Eastland County. Here "Doc" ran a candy store for a few years, just west of where the jail is now. In 1921 he worked for the State Highway Department. In 1925 he retired, living after that with some of his children. As a sideline he wrote book reports and book reviews for Students at the University of Texas, charging a small fee.

Josiah G. Scurlock apparently suffered a heart attack on July 25, 1929 and died the same night. After his burial in the Eastland Cemetery the remains of his wife Antonia were removed from Acton to Eastland and buried beside him.

There are a number of Scurlock descendants living in Texas. Among them are Joseph Theodore Scurlock, a grandson, of Breckenridge, Mrs. Mickey Wilson, a granddaughter, of Hamby, and Marie Tollett, a granddaughter, of Amarillo and Sue Guthrie, also a granddaughter of Amarillo. Mrs. Lucille Stewart of De Leon is another granddaughter. Jodi Scurlock Brumfield of Eastland is a Great-granddaughter, and Dana Brumfield (Jodi's daughter) is a great-great Granddaughter. Thelma Lewis and Opal Watson of Eastland are other descendants.

Marie Tollett remembers that Grandpa (Doc) did not speak much about his experiences in the Lincoln County War. She learned much of what she knows from "Uncle" Frank and George Coe, whom she met when her parents went to Lincoln County in 1931. The Coe brothers would talk to them for hours about the battles the Regulators were involved in.

AN OLD FRIEND

Marie says she remembers that her parents and brothers and sisters were sitting in a Church service when an elderly man tapped her father on the shoulder. John Scurlock stood and embraced his father's close friend, Frank Coe. Both men wept, and Coe told John that he looked just like his father. She said that for the rest of their stay in Lincoln County Frank Coe kept the family supplied with vegetables from his garden.

In Eastland Doc Scurlock would walk back and forth to the Library, check out good books for the Grandchildren, then take them back. "You'll always be known by the books you read," he declared.

One of the family stories gives some hint of Scurlock's concern over Billy The Kid, and why he had to break with the New Mexico group.

"He was a good looking young fellow, happy and easy-going," Scurlock once said. "But I could see he had changed. Toward the end—the last time I saw him - I could see he kinda got into the liking of being an outlaw."

Apparently Scurlock, the intellectual, had a totally different concept of what kind of lifestyle he really wanted.

"Letters To The Editor" were a popular item during the Lincoln County War, and appeared frequently. This one was published in the Mesilla News, located in the town of Mesilla just southwest of present-day Las Cruces, New Mexico.

*Mesilla News, July 20, 1878
LINCOLN COUNTY
Lincoln N.M.)

DEAR NEWS:

The war still rages here. A.A. McSween is still in the mountains with twenty five men; they say they defy the law and its officers.

McSween and party are spying on the public highways preparing to waylay the Sheriff and posse. They are also fortifying themselves against officers of the law, who may undertake to serve warrants on them.

McSween has in his party Bowdre, Scurlock, Antrim, (alias the Kid) Henry Brown, John Middleton, Wait, who are said to be part of those who are the hired assassins of Sheriff Brady and deputy Sheriff Geo. Hindman on the public street in the town of Lincoln.

John S. Chisum, it is reported furnishes honest? McSween's boys, with fresh horses to ride after they run a while from the Sheriff until their own horses are jaded. Chisum's house is also opened to them to use as a fort against the officers of the law and Justice. What will come next?

OBSERVER

Ironically this letter was dated on the day in which McSween and a group of followers - now numbering around 50 or 60 - rode into Lincoln and took up positions. McSween reoccupied his home with his bodyguard, Jim French, Bonney, O'Polliard, and others of the Regulators. The Spanish people generally supported the Regulators, and at least five of the Spanish ranchers gathered in the McSween home, and others fought for the Regulators in the town.

The Regulators Strong Loyalty To Each Other

Some events of the Lincoln County War are documented, and some have passed into the realm of folk-history and legend.

One thing which has helped keep this part of history alive is that the country where it happened has remained the same. The vast reaches of Lincoln De Baca, and Chavez counties are still there - man hasn't been able to ruin it or tame it.

The faces of the ranch people, the mosaic of races, the daily work of ranching - much of this is the same as in 1878. The Rio Bonito and Ruidoso still wind down from the high country, and blue light still envelopes the Capitan and Sacramento Mountains. Here the past is mysteriously a part of the present.

Historians don't always agree on details of the War. But any research into this episode shows the strange entwining of the lives of most principal characters. This conflict was not strangers fighting strangers - it was neighbors fighting neighbors. There were old enemies against each other, and sometimes friends turning against friends.

The Regulators considered that they were fighting for the rights of small farmers, ranchers and storekeepers against an alliance of established businesses (including a mercantile store and bank) politicians, the law and the military.

This organization was formed right after the death of John Tunstall, and members allegedly swore an other to remain loyal to each other no matter what happened.

They announced that their purpose was to arrest, not execute, the wrong-doers, and bring them to Lincoln, where they would be held for trial.

In effect this was a citizen's vigilante organization pledged to serve warrants against Tunstall's killers. These were warrants Sheriff Brady would not honor.

The events which followed showed that it was almost impossible for heavily armed, angry men to ride around the countryside and carry out their purpose without killing anyone.

Among the Regulators were rancher Dick Brewer (the leader until his death) Charlie Bowdre, Doc Scurlock, William H. Bonney, Hendry Brown, Sam Smith, John Middleton, Jim French, George and Frank Coe, Waite, Tom O'Polliard, A.A. McSween, Jose Chavez, Francisco Zamora, Vincinte Romero and others.

A number of the Regulators were killed during the Lincoln County War. The survivors apparently felt under a blood-oath to protect each other all their lives. A bond had been forged which was as close as family ties.

The grave of Lucien Maxwell is located in the same cemetery near Fort Sumner as that of Billy The Kid. Maxwell once held the largest tract of land ever owned by one individual in the United States. He died shortly before the Lincoln County war, and his son, Pete, ran the family ranch. Billy The Kid, Doc Scurlock and Pat Garrett each worked for Pete Maxwell at various times. Billy The Kid was killed in the Maxwell home near this cemetery. The spacious house was destroyed by a flood in 1941.

Governor Lew Wallace

General Lew Wallace, appointed Territorial Governor of New Mexico in 1878, is regarded by most historians as a man of considerable romanticism and sensitivity. Yet he took on a job few men wanted - that of attempting to end the violent Lincoln County War.

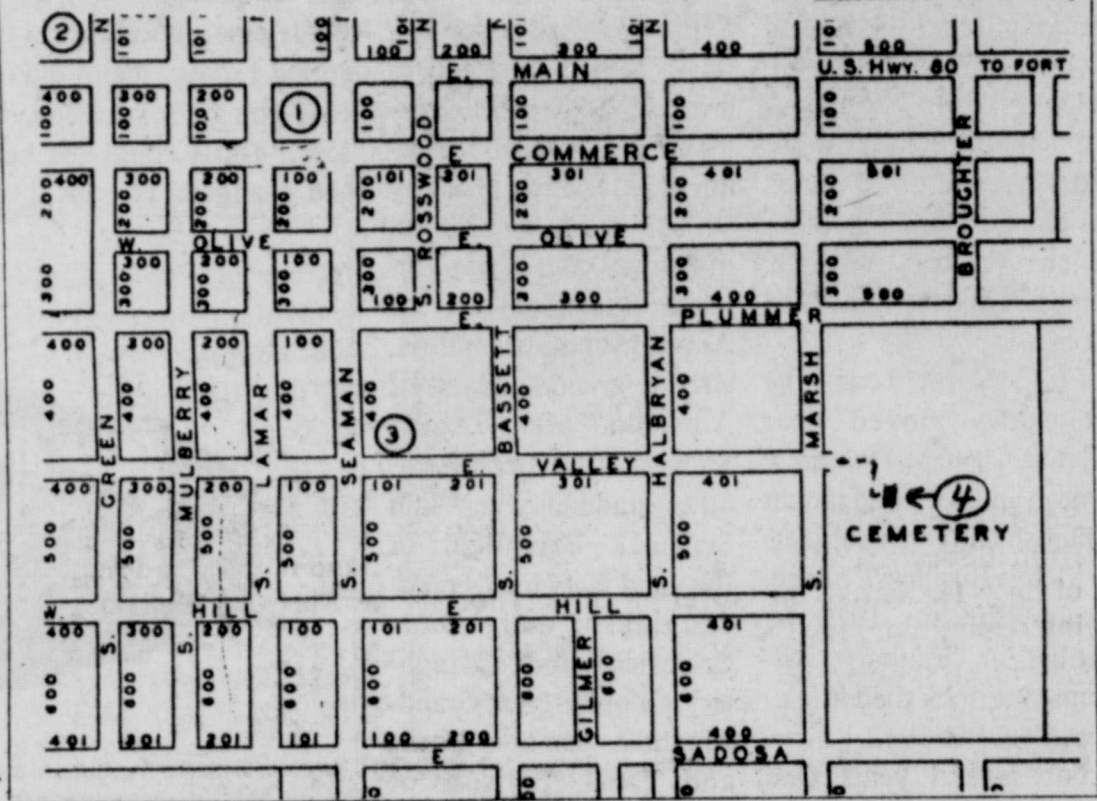

But he is known just as well for accomplishments in fields other than that of the Army and politics. Wallace had an inner life as a writer. While struggling with the intrigues of New Mexico he wrote one of the best-sellers of all time - the historical novel "Ben Hur."

Was this an escape from his troubled reality? A letter to his wife, Susan, hints at this. He said: "When I reach the words 'The End' how beautiful they will be! How many hours and days and weeks it (the writing) has consumed! Yet I know of no happier way of spending the time, none which takes me so completely out of the world and affairs of the present."

Highlights About Josiah Scurlock

One of the things which makes the story of Josiah G. Scurlock's so interesting is that Scurlock was probably one of the most educated persons involved with the Regulators. He was about 25 yrs. old when he settled in Lincoln County, and he had far-ranging interests even at that age.

He was a physician, rancher farmer, expert horseman, gun-fighter, school-teacher, miner, businessman and poet. Later in life he also became a linguist and scholar. His grandchildren remember that he "looked like a professor."

Scurlock's early life appears to have included a classic struggle between emotions and reason - with his strong feelings and temper often getting the upper hand.

Rejection by a girl he loved in New Orleans set the stage for his long wanderings on the Southwestern frontier. There he came in contact with almost every type of person known to society.

The first mention of Scurlock found in newspapers of that time appears in 1875. The story alleges that he stole three horses, two saddles and a gun from a New Mexican citizen, and made his way to Arizona. (This accusation hardly ties in with the fact that about this time Doc Scurlock went into partnership with Charles Bowdre on a ranch on the Rio Ruidoso.)

Scurlock is described in this way: "Twenty-two years of age, between five ft. eight or ten inches high, light hair, light complexion, front teeth out, writes a very good hand, quick spoken, and usually makes a good impression on first acquaintance."

In Lincoln County Scurlock tried to defend a side he thought was right. Yet the killings in the war eventually caused him to be tagged as an outlaw. Although he was present at a number of the Regulator fights, it was never proved that he murdered anyone.

Numerous warrants went out for his arrests on various charges, but he usually was "no billed" on the charges or escaped from the local lock-ups.

Since Billy The Kid was younger than Scurlock - and had once worked for him - it is probably that Scurlock had a "brotherly" or "fatherly" interest in The Kid.

The Kid probably turned to Scurlock for advice - as much as he turned to anyone. Doc Scurlock was not able to control him all the time, for The Kid sometimes danced around the edge of extinction. But then, so did Scurlock.

One of the happier parts of the Scurlock story is his marriage to Antonia Herrera. Apparently this was a good marriage and an enduring one. The hardships this couple came through can hardly be imagined today.

One interesting domestic sidelight is how Billy The Kid dropped his own activities to help the Scurlocks move to Fort Sumner on Sept. 1, 1878. Antonia and Doc Scurlock had two small children at that time. Fort Sumner, mostly inhabited by Spanish people, was considered a "safe" place for the Scurlocks and others of the Regulators.

Pete Maxwell hired Scurlock to work on his vast ranch. Pete, whose mother was Spanish, had an attractive sister named Paulita. Some historians believe that Paulita Maxwell was the girl Billy The Kid was in love with.

After the Scurlocks moved to Texas their lives must have changed a great deal. Probably some of the old friends visited them occasionally, but neither Antonia or Doc Scurlock ever returned to New Mexico. They worked hard to make a living for their children and "raise them right." Some of these children were fair-haired like the father, and some dark-haired like their mother.

Doc Scurlock seemed to prefer obscurity to any public attention. This trait became almost second nature to him. Photographs show that he would even turn his head sideways to a camera. His picture with daughter Lela is one of the rare times when he faced the camera.

The Scurlock descendants have been generally interested in education, and have excelled in various lines of work. Young men from the family have served in World War I, World War II, and other U.S. conflicts. Family members are active in Churches, and none have had any serious trouble with the law. It appears that Josiah G. Scurlock was able to pass on some of his wisdom.

SAMPLES OF HANDWRITING:--Members of the Regulators were far from illiterate. The writing of J.G. Scurlock in Eastland in 1928 and that of Billy The Kid to the Governor of Territorial New Mexico in 1881 are interesting samples.

Pat Garrett - Always Landed On His Feet

Pat Garrett, 6 ft. 5 in., dark and imposing, was another of the amazing personalities connected with the Lincoln County War.

Although he took no part in the first episodes of the conflict, he became Sheriff of Lincoln County right after Governor Lew Wallace had offered amnesty and pardon to both sides.

Therefore he got in on the pursuit, ambush and killing of various individuals who did not accept the Governor's terms. He is chiefly known for his killing of Billy The Kid in Fort Sumner on July 14, 1881.

Garrett was born in Alabama in 1850, and his family moved to a plantation in Louisiana shortly afterward. His mother died when he was age 16 and his father died the next year. Pat was left with a number of brothers and sisters and a bankrupt plantation.

Young Pat left to seek his fortune in Texas, and his trail was a bit obscure for several years. He tried farming near Dallas and ranching further west. He is thought to have left a wife near Sweetwater, Texas.

Garrett probably killed a Black man on a trip back to Louisiana. His second killing is reported to having been near Fort Griffin, Texas in 1875. There he was in partnership with a group of buffalo hunters, and got in a fight with an Irishman at the camp.

By 1878 Garrett had tired of buffalo hunting. He rode into Fort Sumner, New Mexico and was hired by Pete Maxwell for ranch work. He married Juanita Gutierrez, and she died shortly afterward.

In July, 1878 Maxwell fired Garrett - some say because Pat was stealing cattle. After leaving Maxwells Pat tried running a restaurant, then worked as a bartender.

In 1880 Pat married Apolinaria Gutierrez, his sister-in-law. This marriage lasted for life, with the couple having several children.

Times were hard, but

Pat seemed to have a knack for landing on his feet everytime he was knocked down. He dressed well, and apparently cultivated the acquaintance of "important" people in positions to help him.

A number of stories tell how Pat Garrett and Billy The Kid rode together and were friends, but there is no real evidence to support this. More probable are the stories that Billy The Kid made sarcastic remarks about Pat Garrett, and worked against him when he was campaigning as Sheriff of Lincoln County.

At the end of the Lincoln County War some leading citizens apparently decided that it was time to clear out all the dissenting outlaws and build the great society they envisioned.

Governor Lew Wallace had pardoned everyone who would accept his terms, but Billy The Kid and several friends were still running loose.

By this time The Kid's cattle and horse raiding activity had the quality of what some might regard as a defiance of authority - with high spirited jokes and pranks thrown in for good measure.

But such antics were especially irksome to cattlemen like John Chisum, who had "fallen out" with The Kid.

So in 1880 Pat Garrett ran for the office of Sheriff of Lincoln County, presenting himself as a law-and-order candidate. He was elected on Nov. 2, and immediately appointed as deputy until his term of office began Jan. 1, 1881.

In Nov. and Dec. Garrett and his posse searched the Lincoln County area, and all the way to the Yerby ranch east of Fort Sumner, where Charlie Bowdre worked.

On Dec. 15, 1880 Governor Lew Wallace offered a $500 reward for the "delivery" of William Bonney to the Sheriff of Lincoln County. Some think the word "delivery" meant that he wanted Billy alive.

Gov. Wallace was reported to have a sentimental feeling for Billy The Kid - the two had met, talked and corresponded. Perhaps he had a last hope of arranging some kind of pardon for The Kid - something to replace the one Billy had turned down.

But things turned violent quickly. Both Bowdre and Tom O'Folliard were killed in December, and Billy The Kid and others captured. The Kid was first confined in Santa Fe, then sent to Las Cruces for trial. He was sentenced to be hung in Lincoln, and was returned there on April 22, 1881.

He made his noted escape on April 28, and his trail grew dim for several months. The Scurlock family stories tell that he rode to the Doc Scurlock home in Tascosa, Texas, and remained until he rode back to Fort Sumner, supposedly in July.

Apparently when The Kid reached Fort Sumner he stopped at the house of a Francisco Lobato near the Maxwell house. It is amazing that he felt free and safe enough at the
