Many thanks to Mr. Hubert Kennedy for sharing. He brought in some delicious apples and peanuts recently and we enjoyed them a lot at our house.

The youth group at Redeemer Lutheran Church is planning a bake sale for Saturday, Oct. 28, at Thrift Mart. Please mark this date on your calendar and stop by their tables for some delicious baked goodies. Better get there early for best selection and before everything is sold out.

Tickets for the annual Granbury Candlelight Tour of Historic Homes will go on sale at the Granbury Convention and Visitors Bureau on Nov. 1. Adult tickets are $7 in advance and $8 the day of the tour. Children ages 12 and under are $4. The tour will be Dec. 2 from 3 to 9 p.m. Two second-story apartments above Victorian commercial structures on the Granbury Square will be open for the tour, along with a contemporary lakeside dwelling decorated with Texas antiques and art. This house, nestled on the shores of Lake Granbury, is the home to Dave Lane, general manager and president of WFAA-TV, Channel 8, in Dallas, and his wife Jeannie. Nine public buildings will be open for the tour including the old Hood County Jail with its Texas gallows and 1880s cell block, the restored Granbury Railroad Depot, and an old log cabin once used as a frontier post office.

Six historic homes will be on the tour. Both the Texas Boys Choir and the Texas Girls Choir will perform during the tour at the First United Methodist Church on the square, one of the three churches open for the tour. The First Baptist Church will present its Singing Christmas Tree, which features holiday music performed by over 100 choir members who stand in a large, spectacular Christmas tree.

Horse-drawn wagons and Victorian Christmas decorations invite participants to step back in time and enjoy an old-fashioned Yuletide in a turn-of-the-century small Texas town.

Cisco Junior High School seventh and eighth grade football teams and the junior varsity Lobo team will travel to De Leon Thursday night. Game time is 5 p.m. De Leon Bearcats will be here Friday night at 7:30 for action against the Lobos.

CAST MEMBERS of the Cisco Junior College production of Shakespeare's A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM were rehearsing when the above photo was made. The play, directed by Tom Brown, will be presented Oct. 30-Nov. 5. Reservations may be made by calling 442-2589.

Working With Shakespeare Unusual Experience For CJC Drama Students

For the students involved in the upcoming production of A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM, working with Shakespeare has been an unusual experience. Not only have the actors had to overcome normal anxiety about acting but they have had the 16th century English language to master. Did the language keep the actors from understanding the play? Leila Hawari, freshman from Cisco, says, "No, because we had three weeks of simply sitting with the script and going through each line to be sure we understood it and were saying it correctly." Jill Reynolds, also of Cisco, says, "Our understanding of what is happening in the story makes it easier for the audience to understand it." Further understanding is helped by several scenic elements. Danetta Bible, sophomore from Rising Star, says, "We've updated costumes for the young lovers to the 1950s and it makes great sense for their relationship. It was easier for us to identify with the characters when we compare them to people from 'Happy Days,' for example." Several students are making their acting debut with a

Loboes Lose Close Game To Ranger Friday Night

By TOMMY J. WELLS
Cisco High School Loboes fought the Ranger Bulldogs in a battle Friday night in Bulldog Stadium only to lose to the Bulldogs 28-20. Wade Casey and the Bulldogs picked off three fourth quarter passes to hold off the offensively rejuvenated Loboes. This was the first week of District 8-2A action.

Cisco, despite amassing 267 total yards on offense, dipped to 1-5 and 0-1, while Ranger, under first year head coach Dan Johnson, improved to 4-2 and 1-0.

The Bulldogs, behind the strong arm of Casey, who passed for 221 yards on 13 of 22 attempts, opened the scoring on a 23-yard scamper from running-back Chris Washington.

Steve Crew, Ranger's leading ground gainer this season, added to the Bulldog's slim margin midway through the second quarter with a three-yard plunge, lifting the upstart Ranger squad to a 14-to-0 lead.

The Loboes, receiving a superb outting from an offense that has been slowed by injury, showed signs of breaking their season long scoring slump during the second quarter when David Zell took the handoff from sophomore quarterback Brad Goosen, fought through heavy traffic for 10 yards and a touchdown. Cisco's extra point attempt was blocked, enabling Ranger to sneak into the half with a 14-to-6 advantage.

Zell, who continued his assault on the 1,000 yard mark, finished the night with 78 yards on 16 carries.

But Goosen, who has passed for 448 yards in three games since replacing injured Matt Goosen at quarterback, and receiver Harvey Perkins had other ideas. Ideas that paced Cisco to a 14-point outburst and cut Ranger's lead to a single digit. Perkins accounted for six of the Loboes final points by hanging onto a Goosen pass and rambling 38 yards for the score. Perkins caught 4 passes for 91 yards for the night. Moments later, Zell paid a return trip to the end zone for Cisco to cut the Bulldog's lead to 21-to-20. Zell's TD came with 9:47 remaining in the final period. Ranger, which draws the No. 4 ranked Eastland Mavericks as their next opponent, secured their victory over Cisco on Crew's third TD run of the night. Cisco, now having dropped four in a row, return home Friday night to face the De Leon Bearcats, whose record is 1-5 and 1-0. In other district action Jim Ned faces Dublin, while in area play Strawn hosts Sydney and Carbon JV plays Blanket. SCORE BY QUARTER

1990 Lobo Yearbook To Go On Sale October 26-27

The 1990 Lobo Yearbook will go on sale Thursday and Friday, Oct. 26-27. The Lobo Staff will take orders for yearbooks at Cisco High School and Cisco Junior High on Oct. 26. On Oct. 27, the staff will be at Cisco Elementary School between 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. to take orders for the book.

The 1990 Yearbook will begin a new, exciting trend. Instead of publishing a yearbook that covers only six months of the school year as the yearbook has previously, the 1990 Yearbook will cover events and activities from the beginning of the school year through the Elementary and High School graduation exercises at the close of school. The book will actually be a true yearbook, not a partial yearbook as in the past. In past years, the cut-off deadline for copy and pictures in the Lobo Yearbook has been March 1st. Due to this procedure, such events as UIL, all banquets, honors, spring sports, and graduation have not been represented in the book. The deadline for copy on the 1990 book will be June 2, 1990. The 1990 Yearbook will arrive for distribution shortly after the middle of July. The date of distribution will be scheduled and publicized. Those classes wishing to plan annual-signing parties will have the opportunity to do so. The cost for the 208-page book will be $24. If you wish to have your name printed on the book, the cost will be an extra $2. On Oct. 26 and 27 you may pay the total amount for your yearbook, or you may order a yearbook by making a downpayment of $12. If you make a downpayment of $12 on these dates, the balance owed will be payable on or before Feb. 28, 1990. Don't miss purchasing your 1990 Lobo Yearbook. The book will definitely depict that the students of the Cisco Independent School District are "Loboes with Class." 1990 Lobo Yearbook Staff

Area Mammography Service Is Accredited

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit of Odessa, which services, E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital, has received the certification of the American College of Radiology Mammography Accreditation Program. Mammography is an x-ray examination of the breast, which the American Cancer Society and other medical experts see as the best means for the early detection of breast cancer. The program is voluntary and is designed to insure that women receive optimum quality mammographic examinations. The process is done through a peer review evaluation of the facility's staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs, image quality, and breast dose. The accreditation must be renewed every three years. The accreditation program was instituted because of the concerns of radiologists, other national medical organizations, and the public that qualified personnel perform and interpret mammograms and that dedicated mammographic equipment be used. The American College of Radiology received an American Cancer Society Control Grant which was used to pilot test the Accreditation Program. Breast cancer will strike one in 10 American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 41,000 women will die of breast cancer this year. As there is no way to prevent the disease, early detection and treatment offer the greatest hope for survival. The American Cancer Society recommends breast exams by a doctor. It further recommends mammography on the following schedule: A baseline mammogram (for reference) between age 35 and 39. A mammogram every one or two years between age 40 and 49. An annual mammogram from age 50. The Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Cisco on Thursday, Oct. 19. You may call 442-3951 for an appointment.

Girl Scouts Are Working Toward Many Badges

Recognitions have been an integral part of Girl Scouting since the earliest days of the organization. Girl Scout badges are part of the recognition system for Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts. Girls work on these recognitions, as well as other activities, during their troop meetings.

When earning a badge, a girl completes certain activities from a carefully designed series on a given topic. When she has successfully completed the required activities, she receives an insignia to wear on her sash. The badge she wears symbolizes her achievement and shows she is able to share her new knowledge and skills with others.

Girl Scout badges are spread among the five worlds of interest - the world of well-being, the world of people, the world of today and tomorrow, the world of the arts, and the world of outdoors. Brownie Girl Scouts have 35 Try-It badges to work on and Junior Girl Scouts have 88 badges to choose from.

Junior Troop 51, led by Sarah Hounshell and Janet Hounshell, are working on the Do-It-Yourself badge. The purpose is for the girls to learn simple repair skills for the home. The girls recently sanded and painted much needed shelves for the Scout House. The troop has also visited Cisco Lumber & Supply and Joe Wheatley to find out about building supplies.

Junior Troop 54, led by Denise Connell and Deborah Reed, is working on the Communication Arts badge. The purpose is for the girls to explore the arts of visual and verbal communication. The girls have been exploring the usage of symbol languages - flag code, sign language, and Morse code, and discussing advertising design.

Brownie Troop 53, led by Jacque Holliman and Shelia Conger, recently held a back to school bash to work on the Art to Wear Try-It. The girls tie-dyed t-shirts and made hairbows to wear in the homecoming parade. They were also treated to ice cream sundaes and lots of fun games and songs.

Carbon News

By Dorothy Jackson

Our summer time weather seems to just continue on. The farmers are looking for another shower, to help finish out their crops. Most farmers are still waiting to start up their harvest equipment, the peanuts need a little more maturing time.

The young people and the youth meetings at the Baptist Church on Wednesday night are going great. If you are in this age bracket and are not a part of these activities, we would urge you to become involved. They meet each Wednesday 6:30 p.m. til 8:00 p.m., a special thanks goes out to each teacher and leader of these youth and young peoples groups.

Saturday, October 14, over one hundred "Golden Agers" gathered at the Carbon School Cafeteria for their annual homecoming. A very delicious noon meal was prepared by the Senior mothers and served by the Senior class members to 98 "Golden Agers". The Carbon Exes were seated in the cafeteria and the Senior boys waited tables and did a fantastic job. The exes were very appreciative of not having to pass through a line and carry their own plate.

Preston McCall came the furthest to attend, he lives in San Francisco, California.

There were 4 in attendance that was over 90 years of age; Mrs Noble Poe of Dallas; Hugh Bailey of De Leon; Robert Tucker and Clyde Campbell of Carbon.

The Class of 39 was the honor class this year, nine of the class was present; Ina Mae (Norris) Duncan; Nancy Bernice (Tucker) McCormack; Dorothy (Whitehorn) Casstevens of Ft. Worth; Meredith (Black) Baze; Lou Ella (Murphy) Kitchens; Dude (Medford) Ramsey of Eastland; Frankie (Knox) Jarrett of Gorman; Donnie Ruth (Barnett) Mathison; Bob Medford of Carbon.

CHILD ABUSE 24 HOUR HOTLINE 1-800-252-5400

Ten of the class of 39 have passed away Willie Faye (Alford) Patterson, Vernon foster, Junior Nicholas, Johnie Bell May, Wesley Norris, Mary Green, Loraine Ryrd, J.C. Basham, Esthma Lovell, LaVern Jackson.

Meredith Baze is the new president and Arlene McCurry is the Sec-Treasurer. The Golden Exes will not meet in October 8, 1990, they will meet in July during the all school homecoming. The Golden Exes will meet again in October of 1991.

Stan, Lavada, Andy and Erin Tucker spent the weekend with me, other Sunday dinner guest in the Jackson home was Mrs. Myrtle Higgins and Bro. Donnie Auvenshine.

Carbon Jr. High boys won their game last week. Congratulation to the boys and their coach. Jr. High will play this week at Morgan Mill there at 6:00 p.m.

The Wolverines will travel to Blanket for this weeks game.

Congratulation to the following grades for perfect attendance: 1st week of October; 1st, 3rd, 5th and 10th grades. Second week of October: 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grades.

Travis Hays, son of Mr. & Mrs. Bryan Hays of Oklahoma, visited in the Baptist Church Sunday morning.

Travis and his parents lived at Carbon for many years.

Clements Urges Rewarding Of Teaching Excellence

Texas Governor William Clements has teamed up with the Ex-Students' Association to recognize Texas' outstanding high school teachers. In an October 5 letter to principal, Governor Clements urged them to nominate outstanding teachers for The Texas Excellence Awards for Outstanding High School Teachers, provided by The Ex-Students' Association of The University of Texas, in cooperation with UT's College of Education. Clements said, "one of the most positive, beneficial, and cost-effective ways to revitalize the teaching profession is to reward excellence in teaching."

Nominations, which will lead to the recognition of several hundred distinguished high school teachers, are being made by principals across Texas, all of whom were mailed forms last week. Over the past two years, some 600 teachers nominated by their principals were recognized in their hometown for their outstanding contributions.

UT President William Cunningham said, "Every student on our campus is a statement of accomplishment for secondary teachers. Without quality high school teaching, the University could not begin to fulfill its mission." A committee of distinguished UT alumni, high school officials, and UT students, faculty and administrators will select 10 exemplary teachers, who will receive $1,000, a commemorative sculpture, and an exclusive on-campus conference which will include meetings with top students, faculty, and administrators for informal discussion and intellectual exchange.

Everyone is encouraged to recommend nominees to their local high school principal. The deadline for nominations is November 15, 1989.

The Ex-Students' Association is an independent partner with The University of Texas and its purpose is to serve the University and its alumni. In addition to providing scholarships, teaching awards, a grassroots legislative effort and other programs to enhance UT's academic program, it also serves as the communication link with Texas Exes around the world. Association programs are dependent on the 47,000 alumni who are annual dues-paying members.

Letter To The Editor "Don't Look Back"

How many times have we worried over jobs that have failed, words that have wounded, grudges underserved, money lost, sorrows unhealed, goals that have failed, friends betrayed and ambitions that were destroyed? Too many times we have let the pains of yesterday, with all its mistake, cares and tears, control what we do for God. We worry as if each of the above can be relieved.

What madness it is to worry about tomorrow and the bad to come. We need to concern ourselves with the present. "He who worries about problems suffers then twice over". Christian, forget what is in the past and let God lead in the future, for he is far more capable than you. Do everything is your power to think about the good things of God. For as a man thinketh, so is he.

Think of all the exciting things that God has done. Don't look back, go forward with God and He will direct your path.

In Jesus Christ

Eastland Memorial Hospital To Sponsor Breast Cancer Detection Unit

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of every ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime during her lifetime. Every year over 37,000 women die as a result of breast cancer.

According to a spokesman from the Regional Breast Care Center at Women's and Children's Hospital in Odessa, Texas "The death rate from breast cancer could be drastically reduced if women would have mammograms done before a problem exists." By using modern state of the art x-ray equipment breast cancers can be found when they are about the size of a grain of rice and well before the cancer can be felt. A woman who is diagnosed with breast cancer at this early stage has a 90%-97% survival rate. However, a woman who is not diagnosed until a lump can be felt has approximately a 50% survival rate in five years.

In an effort to find cancers at the earliest possible stage and prevent unnecessary deaths, a mobile breast cancer detection unit will be made available to local women on Monday, November 6.

The mobile unit will be parked at Eastland Memorial Hospital.

Appointments may be made by calling 629-2601.

For more information you may call the Regional Breast Care Center at Women's and Children's Hospital at (915) 334-8888/561-9999.

Breast cancer will strike one in 10 American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 41,000 women will die of breast cancer this year. As there is no way to prevent the disease, early detection and treatment offer the greatest hope for survival.

The American Cancer Society recommends that women do monthly breast self-exams and have regular physical breast exams by a doctor. It further recommends mammography on the following schedule:

A baseline mammogram (for reference) between age 35 and 39.

A mammogram every one or two years between age 40 and 49.

An annual mammogram from age 50.

The Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Eastland, Texas on Monday, November 6, 1989. You may call 629-2601 for an appointment.

It's time to prepare your home for winter— Renovating, refurbishing can help increase your home's appeal, value

The approach of fall signals a fresh new start. After the heat of the summer, fall is the time to settle down and prepare oneself for the challenges of a new season of school and work. To begin your preparation and organization, why not start with the comforts of your own home.

Whether you live in a small city apartment or an airy country house, home improvements are always worthwhile projects, which increase the value and comfort of your home.

Before you get caught up into the pre-holiday season, now is the time to get your home in order. A home should always be at its best; it is the place where most of your precious time is spent. After a long day of hectic work, the home provides you with relaxation and protection from the outside world.

Now is the ideal time to reevaluate and write out a list of improvements that will increase the comfort and the luxury of your home. Ranging from the small task of rearranging closet space to a more complex one, such as installing a skylight, these home improvements are never a waste of time. Renovations and additions are always a wise financial investment. However, not all improvements have to be costly ones. With a little creativity and imagination you can make your home look and feel wonderful.

Fall is the time when people begin to spend more time indoors. So why not invest pride and love in your furnishings. Home improvements will make a great difference, bringing pleasure and convenience to your lifestyle. Even if your home improvement only involves adding a Ficus tree to the living room decor, there is no doubt that the crisp, green leaves will create an uplifting mood.

The utilization of space, change of color and lighting are other inexpensive ways to improve the comfort and appearance of your home.

Attics cluttered with old, and obviously needless junk, can be cleaned out. This will give you a great opportunity to weed through remnants of the past. Who knows, maybe you'll find a beautiful antique lamp that would look great in the bedroom. Rummaging through old odds and ends is a great substitute for shopping.

Perhaps now is a good time to renovate the wasted space of a lofty attic or cellar. No matter what size your home is, it is usually the case that you could use more space for living or storage. Even reorganization and new methods of storage would be a wonderful improvement.

Taking a good look around your home, you are bound to find idle space. Perhaps that nook under the stairway would be a great area to place a small desk. Or try busying up a hallway with bookshelves. Another handy idea is to utilize the space under a window sill: a window seat is a practical addition which looks fabulous.

The cool autumn breeze blows in a definite change in mood. Color is one of the most essential elements of a mood creation. Whether you follow fashion or your personal preferences, changing the colors of a room can be an inexpensive way to a spectacular new look.

Reupholstering furniture, painting trim, and adding rugs or pillows can alter the color pattern of the room. Revive old, dull furniture by restaining or stripping. Bleaching dark oak floors has the pleasant effect of brightening the room.

Used well, complementary colors can add an interesting touch. The combination of yellow and purple is a unique color scheme, a zesty addition to any room. How about bringing the outdoor mood inside by adding more white and shades of yellow, green, and blue. To create the toasty autumn mood, use warm earthy tones. Color can visually manipulate the size of the room. When planning a new color scheme always remember that light, airy colors make a room appear larger.

The lighting of a room is also a notable element which contributes to the atmosphere. Don't be surprised if your room can be dramatically improved by the installation of new lighting. Even a difference in wattage will create a new look. Golden light bulbs provide a soft romantic glow, which warms the heart.

Home improvements should be considered for the exterior of the home as well. As the beautiful autumn foliage decorates the air, now is the time to install new siding, paint trim, and build a redwood deck to enjoy next summer.

This time of the year usually brings an increase of indoor entertaining. How about planning to use your enclosed porch this fall by installing an old pot-bellied stove? During the picturesque autumn months, a toasty porch is a wonderful place to entertain.

When considering home improvements, be sure to plan thoroughly. Always remember to allocate a sufficient amount of time. Too often a job extends longer than the expected completion date. Also, costs must be determined carefully. If professionals are to be hired, make sure that your instructions are well defined. If performed in an organized manner, home improvement projects can be a lot of fun.

And, remember: Simple, inexpensive projects can make an enormous difference. Don't hesitate to add a colorful piece of pottery to pep up a room, or to install shelves in your bedroom closet to make your life easier.

So, if you're interested in getting yourself ready for the hustle and bustle of fall, start now with projects of home improvement. Create a pleasant and efficient atmosphere for your home. Start by taking a good look around and deciding what you would like to improve. Don't allow laziness to stand in your way! With a little bit of creativity and planning, your home can accommodate your particular needs and lifestyle. FH890526

HOW TO CLEAN UP ON YOUR USED CAR

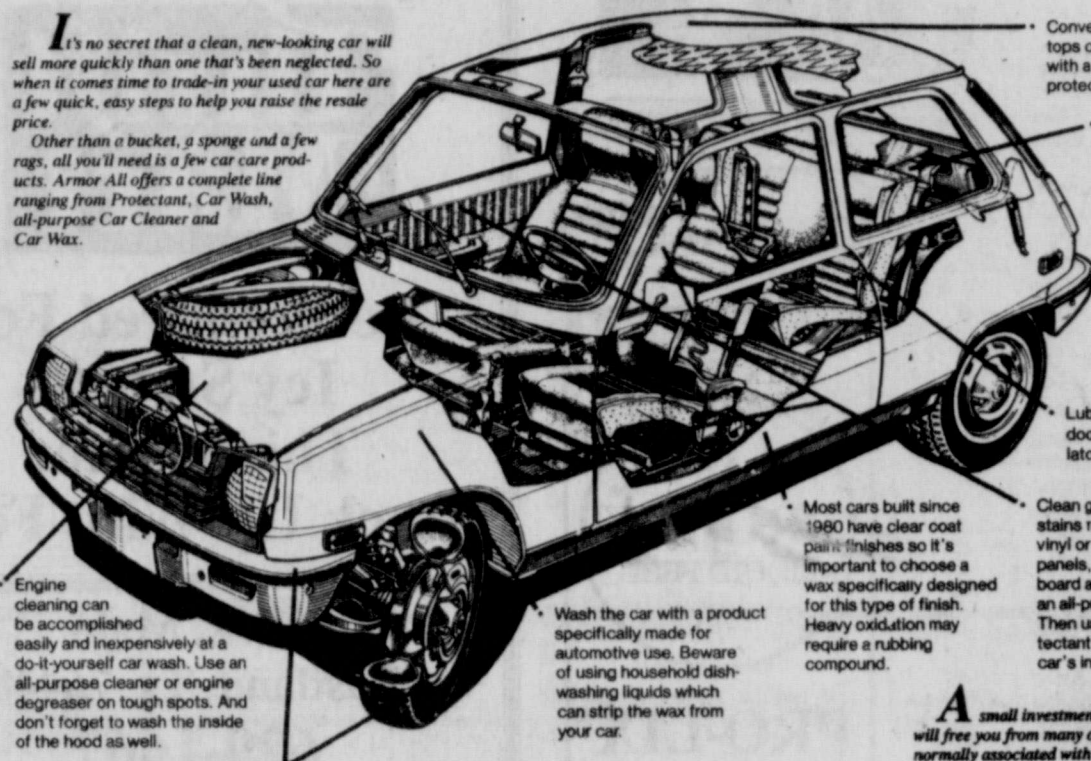

Simple Tips To Maximizing The Value of Your Trade-In

It's no secret that a clean, new-looking car will sell more quickly than one that's been neglected. So when it comes time to trade-in your used car here are a few quick, easy steps to help you raise the resale price.

Other than a bucket, a sponge and a few rags, all you'll need is a few car care products. Armor All offers a complete line ranging from Protectant, Car Wash, all-purpose Car Cleaner and Car Wax.

Engine cleaning can be accomplished easily and inexpensively at a do-it-yourself car wash. Use an all-purpose cleaner or engine degreaser on tough spots. And don't forget to wash the inside of the hood as well.

Armor All Protectant will restore a new look to all exterior vinyl, rubber and plastic surfaces... bumpers, trim, weather stripping and tires.

Convertible and vinyl tops can be revitalized with a coating of vinyl protectant.

Vacuum the trunk thoroughly—make sure all tire changing equipment is in order.

Lubricate squeaky door hinges and latching mechanisms.

Most cars built since 1980 have clear coat paint finishes so it's important to choose a wax specifically designed for this type of finish. Heavy oxidation may require a rubbing compound.

Clean ground-in dirt and stains from your car's vinyl or cloth seats, door panels, carpets, dashboard and headliner with an all-purpose car cleaner. Then use Armor All Protectant to revitalize the car's interior.

A small investment of time and money will free you from many of the headaches normally associated with selling your car and you'll be surprised just how quickly you can transform your lemon into a peach!

This fall, caulk for significant energy savings

Up to 30 percent of a home's heated air can be lost through leaks and cracks, say energy experts. Doors, windows, chimneys and even the foundation of the house offer opportunity for leakage.

The Elmer's Home Solution people recommend a general purpose, good-quality caulk to help prevent heat loss and realize substantial savings.

Check problem areas

For do-it-yourself caulk applications, the first step is to identify the main areas of heat loss. Check spaces where pipes, wires, cables or water faucets enter the house, where door and window frames meet walls, under window sills, and between porches and the main body of the house, for example.

Next, select the right caulk. For general repairs, look for caulks with high resistance to water, such as Elmer's Sili-conized Acrylic Latex Caulk. It's easy to use, paintable, and a good choice for most uses around the home.

When to caulk

Caulk when outside temperature is moderate—as in the fall. Extreme cold weather will produce frost or condensation on the joints; hot weather may close joints through expansion.

Before filling a crack, make sure the surface has been cleaned and the old caulk removed. To fill a crack, push the caulk along the crack with the angled opening running fairly flat along the surface. Do not let the bead get bigger than the tip. On vertical cracks, start at the bottom and push upwards.

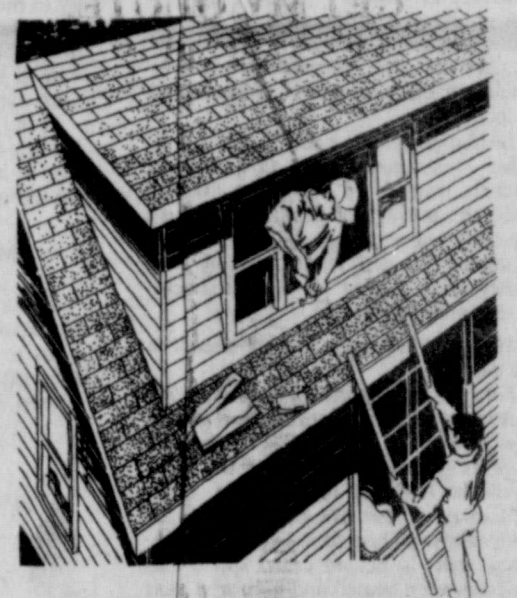

To stop the flow, twist the gun slightly as you disengage. Remove excess with a rag dampened with water or a cleaning agent, depending on the product used.

The objective is to join two surfaces of a crack. For gaps over one-quarter inch wide, first use oakum, caulking cotton, sponge rubber, fiber glass or even newspaper as filler before applying caulk.

After caulking, smooth surfaces with a wet finger or spatula to smooth.

October is energy awareness month: Conservation is stressed Americans consume more energy per person than residents of any other country. Therefore, we have a real responsibility to conserve energy for the future and protect our nation's valuable energy resources.

To promote awareness of energy conservation, the government has declared October "National Energy Awareness Month." Having an energy efficient home is important all year round, but during this time, it is recommended that you make an extra effort to conserve energy.

Several advantages

Saving energy begins in the home. And having "energy smarts" is important because it can help you improve the energy efficiency of your home, help you save on winter's heating costs and help keep your home more comfortable.

Test yourself with this true/false energy IQ quiz—you may find that a few trivia facts mean big savings in your home and big savings for our nation.

1. Audits to determine the energy efficiency of your home can be conducted by an energy utility, a private contractor or yourself.

2. Insulation efficiency is measured in R-Values. R-Value indicates the thickness of the insulation.

3. The walls of a home require more insulation than the attic.

4. All insulation materials have the same thermal values.

5. Double-pane or storm windows can help reduce heat loss by 10 percent.

6. A 40-watt fluorescent lamp produces more light than a 100-watt incandescent bulb at 50 percent of the energy cost.

7. Recommended optimum R-Values for attic insulation across the country range from R-11 to R-19.

8. Half of your home's heat loss is caused by underinsulated floors.

9. Setting your hot water heater at 200 degrees Fahrenheit is recommended for normal household use.

10. Electronic setback thermostats are convenient but they don't really save fuel.

11. The most popular type of insulation among homeowners today is rock wool.

12. Heat flows from cooler areas of the home toward warmer ones.

Answers

1) True. An energy audit, which is a check of your home to see where it is wasting valuable energy, can be conducted by all three.

ONE COMMONLY-HELD MYTH ABOUT INSULATION is that it is only effective in winter. In fact, insulation can help save on energy bills and increase comfort year-round, according to the energy experts at Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. This do-it-yourselfer is conducting one of the most popular insulation projects—insulating the attic.

2) False. R-Value indicates an insulation material's resistance to heat flow.

3) False. Forty percent of the heat lost in winter and gained in summer is through attics; walls are the second most important area to upgrade.

4) False. Different insulating materials have different thermal values; fiber glass insulation is the most commonly used product.

5) False. Double-pane or storm windows can help reduce your home's heat loss by up to 25 percent.

6) True. Replacing traditional incandescent bulbs with fluorescent ones will provide more light at half the energy cost.

7) False. Recommended levels actually range from R-30 to R-38; if your home is in the R-11 to R-19 range, it may be underinsulated and will need to be upgraded to meet today's energy standards.

8) False. Heat escaping through your attic may be responsible for up to one half of your home's entire heat loss in winter; your attic is the most important area to upgrade to today's energy standards.

9) False. Setting your hot water heater at 200 degrees Fahrenheit is not only scaldingly hot but a waste of valuable energy; 120 degrees is sufficient for normal use.

10) False. By installing an electronic setback thermostat you can be conserving valuable energy while helping to save as much as $300 on your annual utility bills.

11) False. The most popular form of insulation among homeowners today is—by far—fiber glass.

12) False. Heat always flows from warm areas toward cooler areas.

Severe

Zero-4 correct: A little energy education would help reduce your utility bills and energy usage.

Five-9 correct: You've got some facts—are you turning them into savings?

Tips on keeping your car healthy this winter

Winterizing a car does not necessarily mean an expensive trip to the auto shop or service station. Car owners can actively prolong the life of their investment and avoid skyrocketing repair costs this winter by taking advantage of one simple, effective tip for personally maintaining their car's peak performance.

This cost-saving upkeep tip is to use fuel additives: Chemical formulas designed to eliminate stalling, sluggishness, reduced power, decreased mileage, knock, ping and run-on (dieseling) caused by carbon deposits. Over time, these deposits collect throughout the entire intake system, gradually decreasing the engine's ability to function properly. The result? Poor engine performance and expensive visits to the shop to have the deposits professionally removed—which, according to mechanics, can cost $350 or more.

While all cars are prone to carbon deposit build-up regardless of make, model and year, today's smaller and more powerful car engines are particularly sensitive to carbon deposits, especially those equipped with fuel injectors. Fuel injectors spray the exact amount of fuel needed into each cylinder through tiny orifices to deliver maximum performance. Because these openings are so small—less than the width of a human hair—even small deposits can clog the fuel injectors, resulting in poor engine performance.

An easy, fast-acting solution is regular use of quality fuel additives which are specially formulated to combat deposit build-up. Simply pouring a fuel additive into the gas tank before fueling once a month, or every 1,000 miles, ensures peak performance and reduces time and money spent on maintenance.

However, just as all gasolines are not created equal, neither are fuel additives. According to information published by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE), some gasoline additives can cause more harm than good because, as they break down existing carbon deposits, they create and leave new deposits behind.

Technologically advanced products like Chevron Chemical's new Pro-care™ additives are specifically designed to safely break down carbon deposits and remove them from the engine—without creating new deposits. A special ingredient in these products, Chevron's patented Technon™, gives these additives the power to remove even difficult combustion chamber deposits safely.

This innovative chemistry, developed in the company's extensive research facilities, has faced rigorous testing in what may be a car engine's toughest environment—the taxi cab. After 50,000 miles of driving with normal maintenance, 80 San Diego, California, taxicabs were disassembled for inspection in the lab. This study again confirmed that engines which used additives formulated with Technon had consistently cleaner intake and fuel metering systems than those using other additives.

These results have caused most foreign and domestic automakers—from Audi to Volvo—to recommend or approve fuel additives with Technon to fight deposit build-up.

As the days get shorter and the temperature drops, fuel additives can help car owners eliminate performance problems this winter and keep engines running clean—during a season when peak performance is vital. FC891636

To increase home energy efficiency, know these ten facts about insulation

Homeowners who want to save money and increase the energy efficiency of their homes need the facts—the myths—about insulation, says industry expert.

“Installing insulation in the home is a simple and inexpensive do-it-yourself project. But to get maximum energy and comfort benefits, it is important that homeowners have a good sense of the facts before they begin,” says Frank Glover of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., a leading manufacturer of energy efficient building materials.

Common myths

To help homeowners complete their projects properly, Mr. Glover offers 10 common myths about insulation.

Myth 1: “When insulating an attic, it is necessary to insulate the attic floor, walls and roof.”

Fact: It is only necessary to insulate the walls and roof if you are working with a finished attic that is going to be used for living space.

If you're not planning to use the area for living space, it is only necessary to insulate the floor, which will create a thermal barrier, reducing heat loss during winter and heat gain in the summer in the living area below. Remember to install the insulation with the vapor barrier facing the warm-in-winter side.

Also, be careful not to block eave vents at the edges of the attic if you are sure to keep insulation at least six inches from recessed lighting fixture.

Myth 2: “A vapor barrier all that's necessary to prevent condensation in the attic.”

Fact: Proper ventilation is also essential to prevent condensation. Eave vents—openings at the roof overhang—combined with a ridge vent or roof vents are effective in creating a positive movement of air out of the attic.

As a general rule, one square foot of free vent area is needed for each 150 square feet of floor when no vapor barrier is used. One square foot of vent area per 300 square feet of attic floor area is recommended when a vapor barrier is used.

Understanding R-values

Myth 3: “Insulation effectiveness is measured in inches.”

Fact: Because different types of insulation require different thicknesses to produce the same resistance to heat flow, insulation effectiveness is not measured in inches.

Insulation effectiveness is rated by R-value—resistance to heat flow. Tin air pockets trapped in insulating material resist the passage of heat—heat gain in the warm summer months and heat loss in colder fall and winter seasons. The higher the insulation's R-value, the greater the insulating power.

Myth 4: “Insulation is only needed in the attic.”

Fact: While insulating an unfinished or unroofed attic is certainly one of the most important do-it-yourself insulation projects, four other areas of the home should be insulated to maximize energy efficiency. These are basement walls, floors above unheated crawl spaces, masonry walls in heated crawl spaces and walls between heated and unheated areas (such as a garage wall or uninsulated exterior wall).

“You have to remember,” Mr. Glover adds, “that the attic is only one energy escape route out of your house. There are many others.”

Myth 5: “Insulation is only effective in winter.”

Fact: Traditionally, insulation was considered primarily a cold climate product, effective in helping to reduce heating bills. But insulation can be just as effective in reducing air conditioning costs during the hot summer.

The main concern is heat: Whenever there is a temperature difference between outside and inside, there will be heat flow. Insulation helps keep summer heat from entering the home, which helps the inside stay cool and lessens the need for air conditioning. Conversely, insulation keeps the house warm in winter by reducing the escape of interior heat.

Consider an energy audit

Myth 6: “There are no longer any government financial incentives to make energy-saving home improvements.”

Fact: Even though government incentives have ended, utility companies in at least 16 states offer rebates, cash grants or low- or no-interest consumer loans for home energy improvements.

Since most utilities are required by law to help their customers conserve energy, many will conduct free or low-cost home energy audits and then help pay for the recommended changes. A homeowner should check with the local utility to see what programs are available. Most audits generally cost around $15.

Myth 7: “All homes today are energy efficient.”

Fact: Americans spend $100 billion on household energy annually, or $1,100 per household. The Department of Energy (DOE) estimates that 50 to 70 percent of this energy is for heating and cooling. But most existing homes are not insulated to recommended levels.

An attic insulation study by National Family Opinion, an independent research firm, found that the average insulation level in attics is around R-19 or 6 1/4" of fiber glass insulation. The DOE now recommends an average level of R-38—or 12" of fiber glass insulation—for attics in most areas of the country.

Helps reduce noise

Myth 8: “Insulation has very few other applications, aside from keeping a home warm in the winter and cool in the summer.”

Fact: Properly installed fiber glass insulation in interior walls and ceilings can also help reduce noise in the home. The inner walls in homes are often built with plaster board or drywall on wood studs. For rooms, such as the bedroom, bathroom, family room, or in between floors, greater sound resistance may be desired.

To soundproof a wall in frame construction, place 3 1/2" unfaced fiber glass insulation between the studs. Hold the insulation in place with resilient channels (metal strips that break the path of vibration) available at most home centers. Directly apply drywall over the side with the resilient channels to finish the wall.

Special treatment for floors

Floors can be made more sound-resistant by installing 3 1/2" unfaced fiber glass insulation between the joists. Then fasten a drywall ceiling to the joists using resilient channels.

Myth 9: “Radiant barriers are more energy efficient than fiber glass insulation.”

Fact: Radiant barriers can save energy in the summer, but studies show they won't help much during the winter heating season. A recent government study found that under the best conditions, radiant barriers have an equivalent R-value of R-2 to R-3.5 in the winter. Other data suggests an R-5 to R-7 in the summer.

Actual performance of radiant barriers varies depending on weather, location, ventilation, dusting and other factors. Building insulation, like batts and blankets, not only provides benefit year-round but also is generally considered more cost effective.

Myth 10: “It is difficult and expensive to re-insulate my attic.”

Fact: Adding a layer of R-25 Attic Blanket® insulation to a 1,000-square foot attic costs about $300-$350 when you do it yourself. It is a relatively easy project and usually can be accomplished in one day.

When adding a second layer of insulation, unfaced material is recommended. Place the unfaced insulation perpendicular to the existing layer. When unfaced is unavailable, use the faced type but remove the vapor barrier or slash it freely with a knife (then install the insulation with the slashed side facing down).

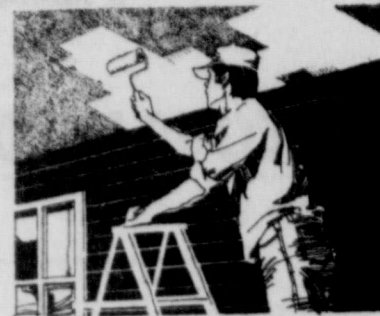

If the existing layer is a few inches below the top of the joists, it is more effective to lay the batts directly on (parallel to) the insulation below.

Goblins, ghosts and cavities? Healthy Halloween teeth tips

Halloween...it's almost impossible to keep children from overindulging in candy and other sweet “treats” during this time of the year. According to a 1988 survey by the candy industry, 80 percent of all American households gave candy to “Trick or Treaters” last year.

And children are risking more than an upset stomach from these sweet “treats”—excess sweets without proper oral care can lead to cavities and tooth decay.

Allowing a child to eat small amounts of candy over several days is unhealthy for teeth because teeth will be constantly coated with sugar. This can be even more damaging to children's teeth than allowing them to eat it all at once.

But parents can keep their children's teeth healthy on Halloween and long after by helping their children follow these simple oral health tips from Colgate:

Healthy teeth tips for Halloween

• Halloween treats should be eaten after regular meals and children should brush their teeth afterward. (Remember, children need supervision while brushing until age seven or eight.)

• Always use a fluoride toothpaste that is accepted by the American Dental Association (ADA). Toothpastes specially designed to appeal to children make a parent's job of getting children to brush much easier.

• Young children tend to swallow toothpaste when they brush their teeth. Use a pea-sized amount of toothpaste—preferably one that contains less foaming action, such as Colgate Junior Toothpaste—on the toothbrush to avoid this common problem.

• There isn't much of a “trick” to flossing, but smaller children have difficulty. For Halloweeners over the age of eight, make sure flossing is a daily habit.

• Fluoride rinses can help prevent tooth decay. Use a rinse which bears the ADA's seal of approval. Colgate Fluorigard Mouthrinse, when used daily along with brushing, has been shown to reduce cavities by up to 40 percent more than brushing alone. (Fluoride rinses are not recommended for children under six years of age.)

Resources Association Hears Reports On Assistance

Members of the Eastland County Resources Association met Tuesday, October 10, with President Corrie Cowley in charge.

Reports on the current activities of the Multipurpose Center were heard from Peggy Roberts, Center Director.

Ruth Alexander told of the extensive community service work of the Daughters of the Church of Christ in Eastland.

Mrs. Roberts began the report by saying that the Multipurpose Center has a number of county-wide services: A clothing room, food pantry, distribution of surplus Government commodities, transportation services, family planning, and other types of assistance.

The Multipurpose Center is located at 204 N. Lamar, and is a community action program administered by Central Texas Opportunities Inc.

She said that the surplus commodities will probably be down to only two items this month, since this type of assistance is "lowest on the totem pole" of Government services. "Even lower than foreign aid," Mrs. Roberts added.

Winter clothing is needed now for distribution from the Center, the Director said. "Please bring clean clothing," she requested. Mrs. Roberts also said that donations of canned and staple foods would be appreciated at the food pantry.

Mrs. Roberts reported that a new transportation van had been purchased, and it is available for anyone who had difficulty with transportation for errands. Senior Citizens may ride one-way on it for 35 cents, and all others for 50 cents. Transportation to Abilene will be 10 cents per mile.

This van transportation program is different from the medical transportation service, which has been in operation for some time.

On another matter, Mrs. Roberts reported that the Headstart Program in Cisco is going quite well. There are 20 children enrolled, and always a waiting list. These are students from low-income families, and some spoke no English when they first came.

Members of the Resources Association were also interested in hearing about a community-service program supported by the Daughters of the Church of Christ. Ruth Alexander, one of the Church workers, said that the center was located in a house on the corner of Daughters and Plummer St. It is open Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and staffed by volunteer labor.

More than 200 people are helped by the Center each month during the winter, and around 75 per month during the summer, Mrs. Alexander said.

She also said that the Center does not give out cash, but furnished $10 worth of gas to stranded motorists, and feeds stranded people. Food and clothing is stored at the Center.

Fire losses are a special concern of the local Church. "Sometimes our workers almost beat the firemen," Mrs. Alexander said.

She mentioned the work of Gary Montgomery, Minister of the Church. She said that one when he called for food for the needy, he said: "I'll preach in the aisles, but I want the rostrum filled!"

Contributions filled the rostrum that day, Ruth Alexander said.

After hearing these and other good reports, Corrie Cowley outlined plans for the County Resources Association. The Directory will be up-dated, and a membership drive held.

The group welcomed new member Adna Nelson of Eastland. Mrs. Nelson moved here from the Rio Grande Valley about two years ago.

The next regular meeting of the Resources Association will be held Tuesday, November 14th, at Eastland Centennial Memorial Library, 12:00 noon. The public is encouraged to attend.

Bullock Says Texans To Pay Less State Sale Tax

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that over 15,000 Texas taxpayers will pay less state sales tax when exemptions passed by the Legislature take effect on October 1.

"These exemptions will give a tax break to groups ranging from senior citizens doing yard work to people sightseeing in Texas," Bullock said.

As of October 1, the Comptroller's office will not collect sales tax on computer program repair, maintenance and restoration as long as the work is done by someone who didn't sell or create the program, Bullock said.

Candy, gum and trinkets from vending machines will also be tax exempt when the price is 25 cents or less and the goods are randomly dispensed. Sales tax is still due on beverages.

Employers using temporary help services may also be exempt from the state sales tax if the temporary help does the work regular employees normally do. To qualify for

It is so dear
It was so far
Yet it was so near

As I wandered

I thought of my mother

I thought of my Dad

helping my love ones
While I was gone

I wondered why
why am I here
I didn't understand
I am so scared
frighting for someone
I can not see
I wonder if anyone
Would fight for me

I think of our home place

Then I walked the streets

Calling out your name
Have you seen my loved

But my search was all in

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor, I am writing you again to clear up some misconceptions my last letter caused. As the readers can not see, but you can, I am writing this on my company's letterhead stationery to show that I am a business man that advertises in the Eastland and Cisco papers.

First, I am not against the prison coming to Eastland County; but I'm not really for it either. It can help the economy in certain ways but it will also add considerable strain to the economy. What I am really against is the idea being pushed off on us that the so called "good" of the county is more important than the opposition's right to free speech and dissent. If we have to use scare tactics and innuendos to silence those opposed, then I never want to see the prison here. And if some of those opposed to the prison have to use lies, gossip, and innuendos to try to convince people to be against the prison, then please don't connect me or the other good people with them. Let both sides stick to using facts so that we all can make an intelligent decision.

This is a tax issue for those that have to pay taxes; it is an economy issue for the store owners who want to see more customers; it is a revenue issue for those that control the different taxing units. To me it is just a propaganda issue where each side pushes only the good points of its argument.

I would like to see these questions answered in the paper by the Economic Development Council in a big ad like they've been buying lately. If it will cost us $180,000 a year to pay off the pipe line and it will be paid for by the prison buying water, then does that mean that we can expect them to pay $15,000 a month for water? The cost for the sewage treatment plant is almost double that, so can we expect the prison to pay almost $30,000 a month for sewage? Once the prison is hooked up to water, where is

Opening Of Absentee Balloting Period For Nov. 7 Election

The in-person, absentee balloting period opens Wednesday, October 18th, for those registered to vote in the Nov. 7 election.

Registered voters will have until Nov. 3 to appear in person at county courthouse and cast absentee ballots in next month's election.

Under a 1987 state law that relaxed absentee balloting requirements, Texans were given the option of casting absentee votes by personal appearance without having to give a reason for doing so.

A separate period still exists for those who cast absentee ballots by mail. That period began Sept. 8. Those who vote absentee by mail must give a reason for not being able to cast their ballot on election day. "This 1987 law makes it much easier for registered voters to exercise their constitutional right in this election and in all future elections," Bayoud said. "Texans now are hard-pressed to find a reason for not voting."

The Nov. 7 statewide ballot will include 21 proposed constitutional amendments. Some board, bond elections and other issues.

Historically, proposed constitutional amendment elections have yielded low statewide voter turnout totals. But, Bayoud said, he hopes the personal appearance, absentee voting option will bring more people to the polls.

"Several important issues face Texas voters in this upcoming election," Bayoud said. "The Constitution is the fabric of our state's laws. When proposed amendments are being considered, all Texans who are registered to vote should participate in the process. It's imperative that everyone who is registered votes - either by absentee or on election day."

Next month's proposed constitutional amendments election includes measures that would raise the salaries of state legislators, the lieutenant governor and Texas House speaker; authorize the issuance of bonds for water projects and state prison expansion; let the Legislature pass laws permitting courts to instruct juries on good conduct time and parole eligibility for defendants; allow state lawmakers to sanction and regulate raffles conducted by non-profit organizations; and several other issues.

"It's difficult to predict what this year's turnout will be," Bayoud said. "We're anxious to see how much of an impact the in-person absentee voting option will have."

Records show that of the estimated 12.3 million Texans eligible to vote, about 8.2 million are registered.

The Secretary of State's toll free number for election information is 1-800-252-8683. For information on local absentee voting hours, call your county voter registrar.

Grand Jury Returns 24 Indictments

One for escape from a Penal Institution.

Two unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Four burglary of a building.

Three felony D.W.I.

One felony retaliation.

Two forgery by making.

Two possession of amphetamine.

Two securing execution of documents by deception.

Three forgery by passing.

One possession of L.S.D.

One aggravated assault.

Two burglary of vehicles.

Indictments included: the water going to come from? You are adding a "city" of about 3000 persons to Eastland and Ranger's water supply. Can you handle another city with the water you have, or can we expect to have to pay to pipe water in? With Cisco already under hardship with its own water supply problem, where are you going to recommend these new people live? Or will you tell them at all the truth of each city's problems? We know you will extol the "good" points, so we won't ask about that.

As I said at the beginning, I am a business man; I could sure use a lot more work and income. But I will not want it at the expense of my neighbors right to speak out their objections and to get a fair hearing and honest answer. Those for the prison are going to sell it to you by painting the rosier picture they can; that is their "job," to sell, sell, sell. At least let those who see honest disadvantages have their say also. Clifton W. Lacy

Two Drug Labs Seized In Area

NOTE: (This article was written by Richard Kurklin also using information and pictures furnished by the Breckenridge American.)

The pressure the large city crime task forces have been able to bring against organized crime's manufacture and distribution of illegal drugs in the large cities has resulted in illegal drug operations moving their expensive drug labs, which can often be detected by the odor they produce, into more secluded rural areas. And for some years, the Eastland and Stephens County areas have been used by drug manufacturers, who have been able to hide labs in heavily wooded and sparsely populated rural areas of the county while staying within 100 miles of the Metroplex market.

Earlier in the year, the Eastland County Sheriff's Dept. captured some drug labs west of Ranger.

Apparently trying to avoid the loss of more labs, drug labs were then set up just across the Eastland County line in Stephens County.

The Tarrant County Drug Task Force, which has been working with local and area law enforcement officers assisted in locating drug labs north of Ranger. Reportedly illegal drugs from the labs were being transported to Tarrant County for sale with some of them returning to Eastland and Stephens Counties.

The drug raid was turned over to Stephens County Sheriff James Cain after Eastland County officers decided that the location was in Stephens County. Cain was assisted by Ranger Police Chief Vernon Caughron, Tarrant Task Force Officers, D.P.S. troopers, Breckenridge Police Officers, West Central Interlocal Crime Task Force Officers, and Stephens County Deputies.

A large quantity of amphetamine oil with an estimated street value of $2 to $3 million along with enough chemicals to produce millions worth of drugs was confiscated along with some drug labs. It was described as Stephens County's biggest drug bust. A Stephens County man and a Ft. Worth man were arrested at the site and their bonds were set at $350,000 each.

Another raid was made possible when Ranger Police Officer Virginia Skaggs stopped a car and did a routine check on its occupants, who reportedly smelled like a drug lab. Aliases given the officer cleared so they were not detained.

Further checking by Officer Skaggs revealed that the car's occupants were wanted on felony warrants. And they had told her they were moving to Gunsight. Skaggs then contacted a D.P.S. Narcotics Officer and Sheriff Cain as Gunsight is in Stephens County.

While looking for the wanted people in Gunsight they discovered a working drug lab at the residence which was giving off the usual odor. They had received consent from the suspects to search the premises. Money, guns, and cars were seized along with $30,000 worth of phenylacetone and the labs. The land and house may also be seized.

Three Dallas men were arrested, of which two were wanted on felony warrants and the third had been paroled from a life sentence.

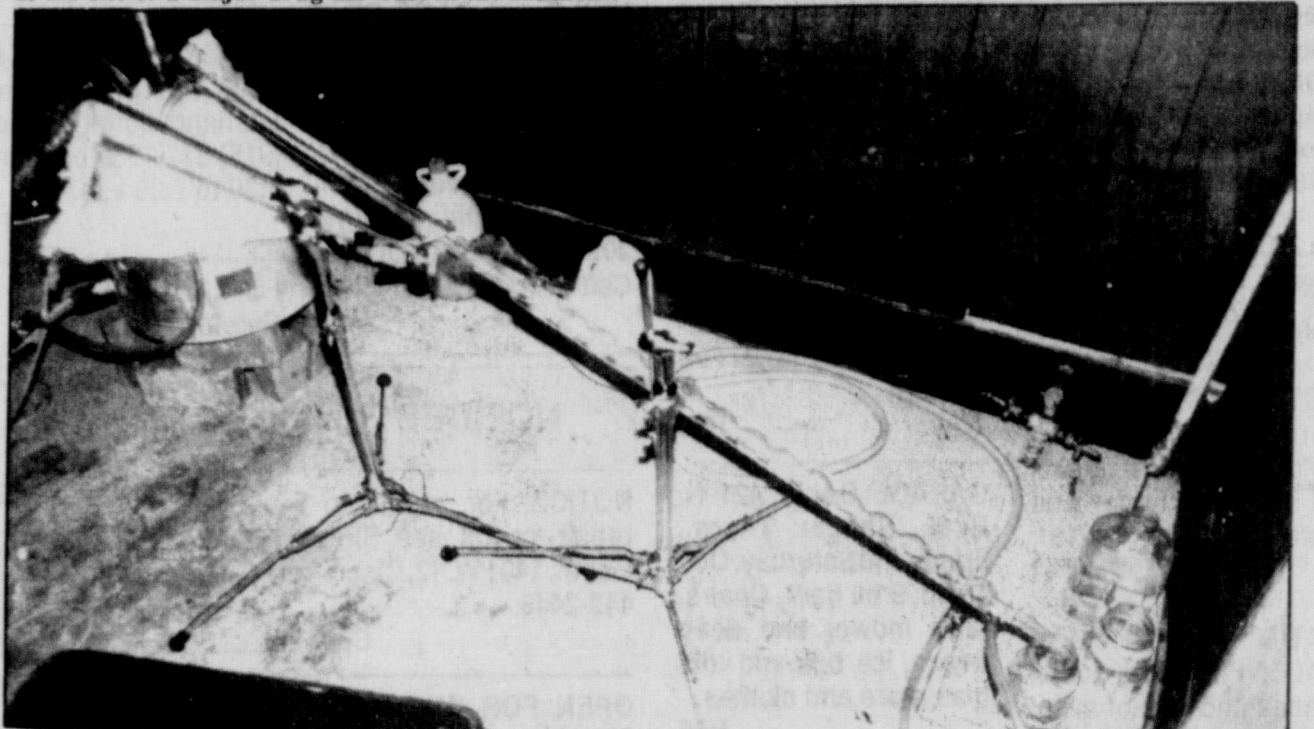

Breckenridge Police, D.P.S. Officers, and Stephens County Deputies assisted.

It often seems to be harder to get the evidence needed for a search to confiscate the illegal labs than to locate where the drugs are coming from and that makes alert action like that of Officer Skaggs even more important.

There may be more drug manufacturers out there, but if those who are arrested are convicted and large amounts of property are seized, maybe they will get the message.

EXTRA CHEMICALS—A room filled with enough chemicals to manufacture several million in amphetamine was confiscated Wednesday by lawmen at the site of a major drug lab bust in the southeast portion of Stephens County. Among the chemicals used in "cooking" the drug were lacquer thinner, lye, and acid. (American Staff Photo)

DRUG LAB—When law officers searched a residence in the Gunsight community Monday afternoon they discovered this drug lab set up and in full operation. Officers believe the chemicals being produced were phenylacetone, which is a controlled substance used in the manufacture of amphetamine. (American Staff Photo)

MORE DRUG LAB EQUIPMENT—In addition to the operating drug lab found by law officers at a residence in Gunsight Monday afternoon, additional glassware and equipment were discovered at the residence for use in drug labs. Some of the materials are shown on a bed in the room where the operational drug lab was found. (American Staff Photo)

The Texas State Library and Archives Commission has approved a total of $1,426,499 in public library construction grants to fifteen qualifying libraries.

The grants, issued from federal Library Services and Construction Act Title II funds, will be distributed during the 1990 fiscal year beginning September 1.

The libraries and grant amounts are as follows: Boerne Public Library, $26,499 (partial grant); Cedar Park Public Library, $100,000; Corpus Christi Public Library $100,000; Donna Public Library $100,000; El Paso Public Library, $100,000; Fort Hancock Public Library, $100,000; Goliad County Library $100,000; Hawkins Public Library, $100,000; Mason Public Library, $100,000; Pearsall Public Library, $200,000; Port Isabel Public Library, $50,000; Sachse Public Library $100,000; Willis Public Library $100,000; Yoakum Public Library, $100,000; Zapata County Public Library, $50,000.

Selections of Title II grants are based on library space needs, types of construction requested, and amount of local funding available. Applicants must meet minimal criteria and must be able to match grants with at least an equal amount of local funding. Grants will be available to individuals, corporations or non-profit organizations. Those grants of less than $20,000 would be awarded subject to regulations governing sole source awards.

"In summary, H.R. 2884 is a comprehensive revision of the present legal services system, and merits your co-sponsorship," True wrote.

Some Texas Business To Be Given Tax Breaks

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that businesses that buy and store materials in Texas will be given a tax break beginning October 1 as long as the materials are only used out of state.

"Basically, the Legislature brought back an exemption it did away with in 1987," Bullock said. "It's a favorable change for businesses and one that won't affect the state's budget."

Bullock said that the exemption will affect the 600 Texas businesses that hold a direct pay permit which allows them to pay state and local sales taxes directly to the state. The main requirement for the permit is annual purchases of materials totaling $800,000 or more. The business must buy the materials for its own use.

Bullock said that since the exemption was repealed two years ago, businesses have owed tax on materials that were bought and stored in Texas even if those materials were used outside of the state. However, state tax wasn't due if businesses bought materials in another state, stored them here and then used the materials outside of Texas.

"We had a situation that hurt Texas suppliers," Bullock said. "The Legislature recognized that and changed it."

For more information about this tax or other state taxes, call the Comptroller's office toll free at 1-800-252-5555.

Texas State Library And Archives Commission Approves Library Construction Grants

Residents of West Central Texas are invited to say what they think about the priorities and programs offered by the Texas Department of Human Services, according to Ray Dunavant, department regional administrator. A public hearing on the department's budget request to the Legislature will be held Wednesday, October 25, at 5:00 p.m. at 4280 Spindletop, Door 5, Bluebonnet Room, in Abilene. "We will talk about our tentative plans for the direction of our services and lay out our budget priorities," Dunavant said. "We also will discuss the use of state money and federal block grants, including Title 20 and home energy assistance for low-income families."

"Public comments on our plan will influence the final request we send to state lawmakers when they convene at their regular session in January 1991."

Dunavant said that the department's programs are designed to help needy families and children, as well as people who are aged or disabled. Assistance includes financial grants, health care, day care, family planning information, employment services, nursing home care, community care, licensing of child-care facilities, and protective services for children and for disabled or elderly adults.

Dunavant said the meeting site will be accessible to people with disabilities, and interpreters will be provided for deaf or Spanish-speaking people.

Sea World Of Texas To Host 2nd Annual Deaf Awareness Day

Hearing impaired individuals will have the opportunity to enjoy a specialized visit to the world's largest marine life park during the second annual "Deaf Awareness Day at Sea World of Texas," Saturday, Oct. 21.

On "Deaf Awareness Day", all shows at Sea World will be interpreted in sign language for hearing-impaired guests. Volunteers from the Professional Interpreters of Texas will interpret at show areas, Sea World's Main Entrance and at all show areas except Water Ski Stadium to ensure that hearing-impaired guests will be able to see the interpreters.

"Because of the tremendous positive response to last year's Deaf Awareness Day, we decided to make it an annual event," said George J. Becker Jr., chairman of Sea World of Texas. "It is rewarding to see all park guests being able to fully enjoy our shows. We are pleased to present this daylong program that recognizes and addresses the special needs of the hearing-impaired."

As an added treat, the Texas School for the Deaf Drama Troupe will put on two performances at the U.S. Map Stage — using both sign and voice — of Brian Wags' "The Princess and the Pea" and "The Shoemaker and the Elves" will be presented at 1:30 p.m., followed by "The Emperor and the Nightingale" at 5 p.m.

Flyers inviting the hearing-impaired and their families to participate in this special program have been distributed throughout the deaf community statewide.

Each hearing-impaired individual will be eligible for a special 50 percent discount off the regular single-day admission to Sea World. A 20 percent admission discount for accompanying family members and friends also will be offered during Deaf Awareness Day. To receive the special discounts, tickets must be purchased at ticket booths 1 and 2 at the Main Entrance on the day of the event.

For more information on

"Deaf Awareness Day at Sea World of Texas," call (800) 422-SWTX or, in San Antonio, 523-3611. For TTY/TTD calls, contact Lonna Ayers at (512) 531-3514 from 1 to 5 p.m.

In addition to "Deaf Awareness Day," other activities at Sea World of Texas the weekend of Oct. 21-22 include musical performances at A Place To Meet, Sea World's special events pavilion. On Saturday, Nobuko, a jazz trio group, will perform from 12 to 4 p.m., followed by ball room dancing to the music of Julio Dominguez and His Orchestra from 5 to 8 p.m. On Sunday, Bobby Har-garther and Kalico will play jazz music from 2 to 6 p.m.

A Place To Meet also will be the site of free health screenings from 12 to 6 p.m. Dental screenings will be offered on Saturday, and various other health screenings will be held on Sunday.

Southwest States Poolin Resources For Improving Food Stamp Program

Five Southwest states are pooling resources and exchanging information to bring about improved quality of service in the Food Stamp Program. State administrators from five states—Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas—have formed a task force to work on improving client services while increasing accuracy in the delivery of benefits.

"By improving accuracy in the certification and issuance of food stamps and by striving for excellence in all areas of administration, we're helping to ensure that food stamp dollars are directed only to those who truly need them," says task force member Ernest Schmid, Assistant Commissioner of Income Assistance Services, Texas Department of Human Services, about the program which in Fiscal Year 1988 provided more than $984 million in benefits to Texas participants.

"The idea is that, under this endeavor, an environment will be created for state leaders to come together and share ideas, then carry those ideas home and successfully develop them," says Gene Dickey, Southwest regional administrator, U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service, which administers the program nationally. The task force will rotate its meeting among the five states with the intent of focusing on successful initiatives and procedures that can be adapted from one state to another.

In addition to improving the quality of service, state administrators also want to ensure that their states are not sanctioned for errors in the program. A quality control system monitors the accuracy of the food stamp eligibility and benefit determinations made by the states. A weighted sum of all states' error rates is then used to establish a payment error tolerance level. If an individual state agency's error rate exceeds the tolerance level, that state agency is assessed a sanction.

Food Stamps are used to supplement the food buying power of eligible low income households with the intent of improving their level of nutrition.

Counties Receive Disbursement For Lateral Road Program

The State Treasurer is sending checks totaling $7.3 million to Texas' 254 counties for lateral road construction and maintenance.

The Treasurer each year disburses money appropriated by the Legislature for the Lateral Road Program. The grants may be used by counties for the purchase of right-of-way and for construction and maintenance of lateral roads, farm-to-market roads or state highways.

The money is allocated to each county under a formula based on the county's area, rural population and lateral road mileage.

Allocation for counties in this area:

Brown, $24,845,824; Erath, $25,427,464.06; Palo Pinto, $41,222,992.99; Stephens, $46,116,124.38.

A good deal on a great tire. KELLY TIRES

STOP DRUNK DRIVERS BEFORE THEY STOP YOU

Statistics show, you or someone close to you will one day stop a drunk driver on the road. Whether we like it or not, we are all "under the influence" of people who will drink too much and then get behind the wheel. And even though the laws are cracking down to catch offenders and drinking ages have been raised in most states, your best protection is to know your own limitations with alcohol. Make sure your family and friends are also aware by learning the facts, and not allowing anyone to drive while intoxicated. Don't wait until you or someone you know stops a drunk driver on the road, before you discover the sobering consequences of mixing alcohol and driving.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Friends,
It makes me sad when I hear people wanting to close the hospital as if we are not financially able to keep it. Do you remember the little story we read as children about the people in the Swiss Alps being without food and the people below didn't know how to reach them? There were three engines in the Engine Yard - a big engine, a middle sized engine and a little engine. It was suggested that maybe the big engine could get over the mountain and get food to the people, but the big engine said that it was too slick and didn't think he could make it. He agreed to try and the food was started off to the starving people, but with every roll of the wheel he said, "I don't think I can," and before long he came back and said, "I didn't think I could."

Friends below said, "The people will die if we don't get food to them and maybe the Middle sized engine can get more grip on the rails," but the Middle sized engine said, "I don't think I can if the big engine couldn't." He started out, but kept saying, "I don't think I can since the big engine couldn't." Pretty soon he rolled back into the Engine Yard saying, "I didn't think I could."

The little engine was stomping at the bit saying, "I think I can," but of course, people didn't think it could. The little engine kept saying, "I think I can," over and over, and finally because the situation was so desperate, they loaded the food on the little engine that was still purring "I think I can." He started out slowly still repeating "I think I can." The mountain was so steep and slick and at times he could barely gasp "I think I can." Place after place it seemed he just couldn't go any farther, but he kept inching along all the time saying, "I think I can." Finally, he said, "I think I can because the people will die if I don't." He was working so hard he did not realize when he rolled into the town until he saw the people waiting for the food he was bringing to them. He began to sing "I thought I could."

The people were saved, and the little engine sang merrily all the way home, "I thought I could."

I think Cisco voters will save our hospital and I feel we will get another doctor because I have hope. We need the hospital because it is a hard trip to Abilene when you are sick. It is harder for people that live alone and do not drive and have to depend on others.

The hospital is a chance for Christian people to show love for others as well as a chance to help oneself. We don't give to our church expecting a big return for our money, but that lost people will have a chance to hear how Jesus died for their sins and how much he loves them and wants to save them.

"I THINK I CAN," so let's do it! The little additional tax you will pay could save a life - even yours or mine! Besides we will be unable to carry anything out of this life except what we have given away.

Odesa Collins
Cisco

County. We even had Advanced Life Support abilities!

Now an article has come out in the Abilene paper stating that we are taking the people for a ride. Mr. Bacon seems to be misinformed. Cisco EMS has never picked up nurses for work, nor do we blow up balloons with oxygen. I believe Eastland EMS blew up rubber glove balloons that were the property of L. Maxwell and B. Davis, not the ambulance, with the generous lung capacity of Buddy Davis, EMT. Also let me point out, Cisco's supposedly large oxygen bill for September was less than $50.00 and less than $40.00 in August. Moreover, the Cisco ambulance bill to the County of Eastland for September was less than $4,000. (You may need to know where my figures come from: I do all of the bookkeeping for Cisco EMS. I typed the bill sent to the county myself.)

It has been said that we drive the ambulance around too much and that we are wasting gas. So we park the ambulance at the hospital all day and night. What happens if your father, husband, mother, sister, or best friend has a heart attack in the middle of the night, two blocks from my house? We have to dress, drive to the hospital and then proceed to your house ... maybe ten minutes later. Let me remind you the brain begins to die 4-6 minutes without oxygen. Because we are always near the ambulance, our average response time anywhere in Cisco, day or night, is 4 minutes.

Let me conclude with these thoughts:
Friends and family may say they understand what our job involves: "You drive the ambulance, bandage a cut, splint an arm, administer oxygen, and transport the patient to the hospital." Oh, if only it were that simple! How many times have we heard: "I could never do what you do, I can't stand the sight of blood," "You're cold-hearted," "How morbid" or "What's the goriest thing you've ever seen?" We enter EMS with the idea that we're going to save the world, but we are soon slapped in the face by the raw, merciless reality of death. We struggle with our emotions and fears, wondering why we became involved in EMS in the first place. In spite of it all, we wouldn't do anything else. We realize it takes special people to be good EMT's and to survive.

The longer we work in EMS, the stronger our instincts seem to become. We arrive on scene, a tearful woman answers the door and immediately we know this is going to be A BAD ONE. We know at a glance that the woman's husband is in full cardiac arrest as she leads us into the living room where he is lying on the floor. We begin working as we get a quick history from his wife. No one is there to comfort her. Our minds are racing. Intubate. Oxygen. IV. No change.

A young woman rushes into the house and the two women embrace. I've been aware of the woman crying, but because of my immediate concerns, I could offer no help at the time. I am glad to see someone there to comfort her. We lift the patient onto the cot. CPR is in progress, but there has been no change in the patient. As we stand to take the patient to the ambulance, a hand touches my sleeve. "He's going to be OK, isn't he?" I glance at his wife, tears running down her face. I know his chances aren't good. "We're doing everything we can." I know the words offer little comfort to her, but they're all I have to offer. She says thank you and turns to her daughter.

At the hospital, we transfer the patient to the Emergency Room Staff. He is asystole now and not responding to any treatment. We leave the room so a new group of medical professionals can continue the efforts to revive him. I sit down quickly at the desk with a heavy sigh. I quickly run over the call in my mind, I think of my own parents. "If only" run through my mind. We know we did everything we could. I write my report as my partner prepares the rig for the next call. The Emergency Room door opens and the physician and nurses file out. They called the code.

I gather my paperwork together. The nurse is leading the man's wife and the other family members to see him one more time before they go home without him. They don't see us as we walk out the door. We'll probably never see them again. It helps to know that the widow has family to take care of her. Silently we wish them the best.

Our thoughts change to preparing ourselves for the next call. I know my partner and I will discuss this call later, but right now, someone else needs help - and that's the reason we're here.

ers' compensation system. I learned much about the problems facing both injured workers and employers from those people who generously gave of their own time to testify. I also learned a great deal from the research of the Joint Select Committee. That Committee produced over 1500 pages of the original research documenting the workings of the Texas system, its problems and recommended solutions.

Based on that research, I sponsored legislation during the Regular Session of the Texas Legislature to address the problems and needed changes identified through the research and testimony. That legislation provided mechanisms to control the workers' compensation system to ensure reduction of the excess costs of the system that Texas employers must pay. Additionally, that legislation ensured expeditious provision of sure, adequate, and equitable benefits to injured workers, which in turn reduces the litigation costs that are so damaging to any workers' compensation system.

The legislation I introduced was substantially the same as the legislation authored by State Representative Richard Smith. In fact, Representative Smith used my legislation as the basis for the House Proposed Conference Committee Report in the Regular Session and for House Bill I introduced in the Special Session.

As we all know, my legislation, along with that introduced by Representative Richard Smith, was not supported by the Senate majority, but it was supported by the Texas Association of Business, the Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Texas Association of Compensation Consumers, and other business organizations.

My position on reform of the Texas workers' compensation system has been strong and consistent. I truly believe that comprehensive reform of the Texas workers' compensation system is critical for the economic well-being of our State and the vitality of Texas business. I will continue to support reform that will relieve the unreasonable financial burden on Texas employers and provide adequate and equitable benefits to our injured workers in a manner that is timely, humane, and cost-effective.

Very truly yours,
Bob Glasgow

Dear Editor:
I am dismayed at the number of letters and telephone calls I am receiving that indicate a misunderstanding of my position on the issue of workers' compensation reform. Even a cursory examination of my record on this issue will show that I have consistently shown an understanding of the ills of the Texas workers' compensation system and an unwavering commitment to meaningful reform to address those ills.

I served as the Senate Co-Chair of the Joint Select Committee on Workers' Compensation Insurance. During my tenure on that Committee, I heard testimony from employers and injured workers about their experiences with the Texas work-

Every wall, every barrier, every bridge has at least two purposes. A wall may be to you a thing of confinement, of limitation, or of handicap; and yet to someone else it may be a means of protection, of privacy, or of seclusion. A barrier may be to you an assurance of shelter or possession and to another a frustration or even a challenge. To one a bridge is a blessing; to another a curse.

The wall can either keep some out or keep some in. It is just there; it does nothing but one's approach, one's outlook, one's desire determines the usefulness or the futility to be endured. Couldn't it be said that most things in life can be broken down in such a way?... An hour in waiting can be a stressful or grueling experience to the impatient and the nervous, but that same hour can be a pleasant hour of repose, learning, or meditation. To one an endurance; to another a delight...

If things that beset you seem to be insurmountable obstacles, take another look, realize that which is good and go on. Remember an obstacle is often an unrecognized opportunity.

Akiko Kleiner Speaks to 20th Century Club On European Trip and Studies

The 20th Century Club convened Friday, Oct. 13, 1989, at 2:30 p.m. at the Cisco Public Library with President Mrs. Lloyd London presiding. Mrs. Carl Kleiner was introduced as a new member.

The members were reminded of the club's bake sale at the First National Bank November 15 beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing until sold out.

The library circulation for the month of September was 356.

After a brief business meeting, President London introduced Akiko Kleiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kleiner and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd London. Miss Kleiner is a freshman at Cisco Junior College and this past summer was one of a group of 200 students from Texas, Louisiana and other southern states to attend a study program in Innsbruck, Austria. With great enthusiasm, Akiko shared her experiences with a very attentive audience. Flying from New York City, they arrived at Heathrow Airport outside of London where the group spent three days sightseeing. After which their chartered bus crossed on a ferry from Dover, England, to Calais, France, where they proceeded to Paris. Again three days were spent seeing the Louvre, Versailles, Eiffel Tower, Notre Dame Cathedral and other points of interest. Then on to Italy and its cities - Rome, Vatican City, Florence, Venice and its streets of artisans, taking in sights and feelings of long ago cultures and of history being made which have had such an impact in the making of our own country.

The group finally arrived in Innsbruck, Austria. There was a get acquainted ball the first night to meet other students from parts of Europe. The weeks were busy with classes but the weekends were spent in more sightseeing - a trip to Vienna to attend a Mozart concert, skiing in the middle of August, and finally saying "goodbye" to their new friends and returning to New York City and home.

The experiences the group shared and the people from other countries they met will always stay with them. Their horizons have been widened and their understanding of other cultures has become broader with less prejudice. The club members wish to thank Akiko for sharing her experience with us.

Refreshments were served by Mmes. Ruth Cartee and Alberta Sims.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.
