Lady Wranglers Play Western Oklahoma Here Thursday Night

The Cisco Junior College Lady Wranglers basketball team will play Western Oklahoma State College in the CJC Gym Thursday at 6 p.m. After playing close games against several tough teams away from home recently, the Lady Wranglers are ready for some home games.

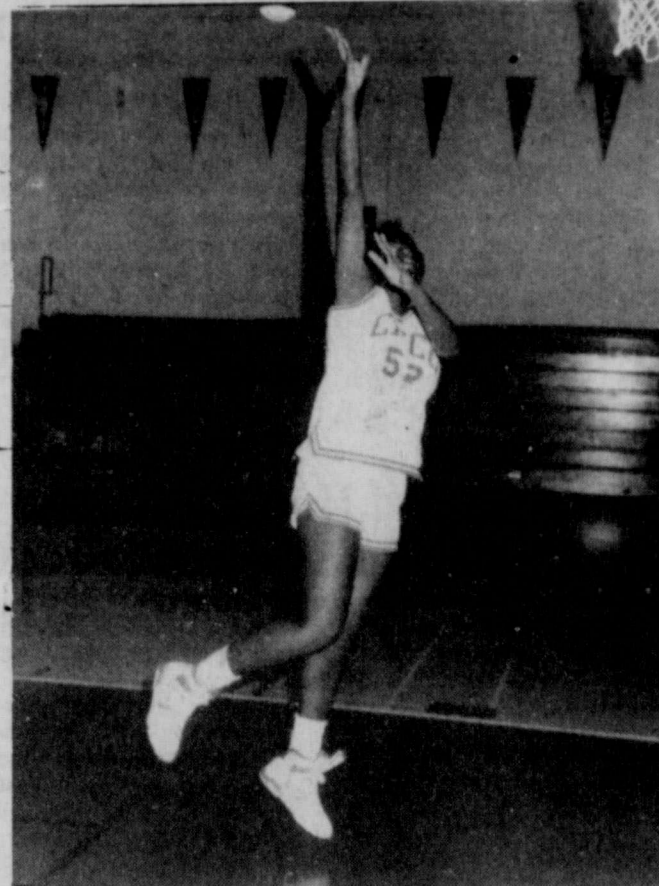

Claudette Ford of Lovington, N.M. and Pam Wilkerson of McGregor are the scoring leaders for CJC with 13 points and 11 points per game. They also lead the team in rebounding with 8 and 7 rebounds per game, respectively. Stacy McPherson and Tiffany Buris have led the team in assists and steals.

Expected to start for the Lady Wranglers against Western Oklahoma are Claudette Ford and Pam Wilkerson at post. Nicole STACY McPHERSON, Lady Wrangler team captain from Godley High School, led CJC to wins over Weatherford College and Tarleton State in the Ranger JC Classic Oct. 30-31.

CLAUDETTE FORD, All-Conference post player from Lovington, N.M., helped the Lady Wranglers to a 78-53 victory over Weatherford and a 66-46 victory over Tarleton in the RJC Classic on Oct. 30-31.

CJC Wranglers Lose Close Battle to RJC Saturday

Cisco Junior College Wranglers lost a close battle with Ranger Junior College Rangers Saturday afternoon in Ranger. Final score was RJC 22, CJC 20.

Cisco finished the season 6-4 and 2-4 in Texas Junior College Football Conference.

Anthony Stinnett scored two of Cisco's touchdowns on passes of 15 and 11 yards from quarterback Jeff Cheatham. Cheatham was 5-of-16 for 82 yards and no interceptions.

The two teams combined for 17 punts, 14 penalties and four turnovers.

Cisco's defense gave the Wranglers a 6-2 lead early in the second half when Mike Flores barged into the Ranger backfield and tipped a pitch intended for Richard Daniels. Trell Payne of Cisco grabbed the ball in mid-air and sailed 23 yards for a touchdown.

The Wranglers rolled 80 yards for a touchdown on their next possession, highlighted by a 56-yard run by Curl. Two plays later, Cheatham hurled a 15-yard TD pass to Stinnett, who beat double coverage in the end zone to get open.

Ranger's reply was an 80 yard drive that took eight plays. After a 28-yard run by Ron Williams, Darrell Williams then broke for 28 yards on the next play. He fumbled the ball as he was being tackled, but teammate Carl Johnson was there to get the bounce at the Cisco 1-yard line. Five plays later, Ron Williams darted in for a 2-yard TD.

Lee Potts of Ranger tied the game at 13-13 with a 27-yard field goal with 13:38 to go in the fourth quarter. Ranger quickly added nine more points by the 9-minute mark.

Cheatham, in shotgun formation at his own 14-yard line, saw the snap from under sail past him and out of the end zone for another Ranger safety. Then, after a Cisco free kick gave Ranger the ball at the Wrangler's 47, two receptions by Burrell helped set up Darrell Williams' 3-yard TD run.

A 52-yard pass completion from Cheatham to Terry Strambler set up Stinnett's 11-yard TD catch, and Eric Torberson's PAT kick shrunk Ranger's lead to 22-20. Torberson's outside kick almost worked, as it bounced off several players from both teams before Ranger's Raymond Massey fell on it near midfield to kill Cisco's hopes.

Cisco Is A-OK

A Thought For The Day...

Thinking and thanking are two words that belong together....Think about this! If you think enough about what you have, instead of complaining about what you don't have; if you think enough about the good that has happened to you, instead of feeling sorry for yourself about all the 'bad luck' you have had, you will thank God for His goodness and His mercy.

Couldn't it be said that it's not so much what happens to us, but how we choose to react and respond? The trouble is that most of us don't do enough positive thinkingWe moan and groan about the bad things, and take the good things for granted....We complain that the cup is half empty, instead of thanking God that it is half full....

Years ago there was popular ballad entitled: 'Aren't You Glad You're You?' It went something like this: 'Every time you're near a rose, aren't you glad you've got a nose When the meadow lark appears, aren't you glad you've got two ears.....And when the dawn is fresh with dew, aren't you glad you're you?'

We think this is a pretty good philosophy.....What do you think?

FOR WOMEN

Q. There have been several problems that seem to persist. Although I have good friends and a strong Christian Faith, there are times when I just want to give up. Could you give me a word of encouragement to keep hangin' on?

A. You are not alone in your feelings in your struggle to survive difficult situations. We all need encouragement from time to time. Recently I came across something that has been inspirational to me, perhaps it will help you too.

In Ann Kaiser Stearn's book Coming Back (Rebuilding Lives After Crisis And Loss) a segment deals with characteristics of survivors. According to Professor Al Siebert of Portland State University, "being flexible and adaptable, more than anything else, is central to being a survivor." People with survivor personalities, Siebert's studies indicate, "have a need to have things work well" both for themselves and others. Those who triumph in adversity yearn for people and events to work together harmoniously. Some characteristics of survivors are as follows:

- Survivors seem to like happy endings, good completions.
- They try to set things right, to clean up bad situations.
- They manage somehow simultaneously to love the world as it is and try to improve it.
- They have some hope that people and nature and society can be improved.
- They change to improve the situation...They enjoy improving things.
- They enjoy bringing about law and order in the chaotic situation, or in the messy confused situation, or in the dirty and unclean situation.
- They enjoy greater efficiency, making things more neat, compact, simple, faster, more foolproof, safer, more elegant, less laborious.--

STOP DRUNK DRIVERS BEFORE THEY STOP YOU

Statistics show, you or someone close to you will one day stop a drunk driver on the road. Whether we like it or not, we are all "under the influence" of people who will drink too much and then get behind the wheel. And even though the laws are cracking down to catch offenders and drinking ages have been raised in most states, your best protection is to know your own limitations with alcohol. Make sure your family and friends are also aware by learning the facts, and not allowing anyone to drive while intoxicated. Don't wait until you or someone you know stops a drunk driver on the road, before you discover the sobering consequences of mixing alcohol and driving.

Manhunt Quickly Apprehends Escapee

by: Richard Kurkin
A police manhunt took place Monday afternoon between Cisco and Eastland. DPS officer Steve Foster and Sandra Adams attempted to arrest two Spanish men after the van they were driving broke down on I-20 about 3 miles east of Cisco. The van had reportedly been stolen in Ft. Worth that morning. One man was cuffed, but the other who reportedly had a knife, broke and ran into the nearby brush. Cisco and Eastland police officers, sheriff's deputies and additional DPS officers joined in the manhunt. Officers advanced into the brush, expecting to have to search the large wooded area as other officers surrounded the area. As the escapee had run toward the nearby house of this reporter, this reporter and deputy Joe Bishop quickly searched around the house and started looking for any sign of the escapee. Bishop saw something behind some brush and prickly pears, so this reporter started running towards it. Deputy Ben Sancillo who was nearby in the road, then saw the escapee run from the brush in front of this reporter and across a field toward more brush where some old turkey feeders were located. Sancillo fired two warning shots and officers attempted to get in front of and surround the escapee as this reporter trailed behind the escapee on foot. Officers spotted the escapee in mesquite brush and moved in on the run. He seemed to disappear, but Cisco police officer Donald Wylie lifted and dropped a turkey feeder lid and reported that the escapee was inside. DPS officer Sandra Adams, who was among those who had gotten a good day's exercise, arrested the escapee, who was joined by his traveling companion who was being held at a nearby home. Both men were placed in the Eastland County jail. It was expected that they would be turned over to Ft. Worth officers. One of the men was on parole from Travis County after serving two terms in prison, the other had served time in a county jail.

Supplemental Feeding Of Deer Draws Interest

A hot topic for sportsmen and others in deer management circles these days is supplemental feeding, since many people view it as an alternative agricultural potential. Dr. Larry Varner, a private wildlife consultant from Uvalde, told listeners at a recent wildlife symposium conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service that the subject is far from being an exact science. When giving answers though, Varner was not just pulling figures out of a hat, he drew his conclusions from more than 15 years of deer feeding experience as a research nutritionist formerly with Texas A & M University.

He said with deer hunting growing steadily as one of the state's highest alternative agricultural income endeavors, ranchers, game managers and hunters alike want to improve the product. Varner said antler development is what sells and proper supplemental feeding is a factor that will help improve antler growth. Varner defined a supplement as a limited amount, about 10 to 20 percent, of the daily intake of feed used to balance deficiencies in the remainder of the deer's diet.

What most hunters think of as supplemental feeding actually is baiting, said Varner. "In other words, they're trying to get that animal out of cover where they can get a shot at him." Varner took dim view of letting hunters near a supplemental feeding area. "You want an era that's off limits to hunters," he said. "Don't allow hunters around your supplemental feeders. After all, one shouldn't shoot turkeys off the roost."

Once the management decision has been made to enter a supplemental feeding program, Varner said success depends on staying with the plan year-round for at least three years. He said it takes at least that long for the animals to become accustomed to using the feeders and derive any real nutritional benefit from the program. Extra feeding also requires more intensive management as do any additional practices to a ranching operation, Varner said.

He said when the deer population improves through feeding, it must be kept under control or the stepped-up reproductive rate of the does will overpopulate the range. "During the hunting season when does are in early gestation and bucks aren't too interested in eating anyway, we drop back to an even cheaper diet," Varner said. "Despite added management headaches involved in a supplemental feeding program, Varner said there are numerous advantages.

While scientific data may be lacking in some instances, it is widely accepted that a strong supplemental feeding program aids in such factors as developing trophy class animals at an earlier age, lowering mortality of bucks after the rut, allowing genetically superior animals to reach their full potential, enabling a given area to carry more quality animals and smoothing out "boom or bust" population swings. For the hunter or manager wishing to start a supplemental feeding program, Varner recommended that each person start conservatively.

"Don't do it unless you're committed," he said. "Supplemental feeding is not a substitute for good management. It's only a part of a total management plan involving marketing, harvesting strategy and your ranch goals."

Wedding Bells

McCreery - Johnson

The First Presbyterian Church of Fairfield, Iowa was the setting for the marriage of Lisa Ann McCreery and Gregory Paul Johnson October 28, 1989 at 6:30 p.m. The Reverend Richard Wallarab performed the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Joan Olson of Fairfield, Iowa and Jack McCreery of Clear Water, Kansas. Parents of the groom are Paul and Roberta Johnson of Slaton, Texas. Grandparents of the groom are Robert and Marie Halbert of Stephenville and Doyle and Lucille Johnson of Desdemona.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown with a Queen Anne neckline accented with Alecon lace and seed pearls. Seed pearls motifs were scattered on the simecathedral train. She wore a fingertip veil of silk illusion featuring a tulle puff at the crown and attached to a headband of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red and white roses accented with a bow and streamers with love knots. Linda Golden of Douds, Iowa, (sister of the bride) was Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Kim Hammen, of St. Louis, Missouri, and Lisa Akerly of Dallas. Their gowns were court length black satin accented with pearls. They each carried a single red rose.

Chad Sikes of Arlington served as best man. Groomsmen were Mike Walker of Fresno, California and Tory Taylor of Lubbock. George Palmer, groom's brother-in-law, of Joshua, Texas, and Bob Golden, bride's brother-in-law, of Douds, Iowa, served as ushers.

Flower girl was Shelby Cunningham and Lane Palmer, groom's nephew, was ring bearer.

Music was provided by Mary Kelly at the organ and soloist Bonnie Bechtel. A dinner-reception followed the ceremony at the Best Western of Fairfield.

The bride is a graduate of Northeast Missouri State University and is employed with American Airlines. Greg is a graduate of Slaton High School and Tarleton State University and is employed as a consultant for IBM.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will make their home in Denton.

A rehearsal brunch was hosted by the parents of the groom at the Best Western in Fairfield.

Fort Worth Basin Subject Of Baylor Geology Research

Matthew J. Pranter, a Baylor University graduate student from Oklahoma City, Okla., recently completed a thesis on the Fort Worth Basin to fulfill requirements for a Master of Science Degree in geology.

Funded by Sun Exploration and Production Company, pranter's research evaluated the geologic history of the Central Texas region located between Fort Worth and Abilene and between Graham and Stephenville.

Under the direction of Dr. Robert C. Grayson Jr., associate professor of geology at Baylor, Pranter attempted to determine the origin of the various rock formations which were deposited within the basin approximately 300 million years ago.

During the Mississippi and Pennsylvanian geologic periods, the collision of the North American and South American continents created the Ouachita Mountain Belt, which is exposed in southeastern Oklahoma, southern Arkansas and now buried within the Central Texas region. Sediment derived from this ancestral mountain range eventually filled the Fort Worth Basin.

As oil and gas become more difficult to discover, a better understanding of subsurface geology, of how basins form and how basinal sedimentary systems originate is crucial in order to determine potential zones where hydrocarbons occur.

Smoking directly affects cholesterol levels, says the American Health Foundation. Tests indicate that each cigarette per day raises total cholesterol by half a point; quitting brings it down again.

People who take aspirin and non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs in arthritis-fighting doses are more likely to be hospitalized for ulcers, the British Medical Journal reports. (The Food and Drug Administration now requires warning of this on labels.)

Instead of surgery to remove gallstones, doctors at Mayo Clinic have been injecting ether into the gallbladder to dissolve the stones.

Combination of medications seems to slow the progress of diabetic kidney failure and may even prevent it. Reported in the British Medical Journal, the treatment uses captopril, an antihypertension drug, and a thiazide diuretic. United States tests are starting.

Liquid dosages of acetaminophen should not be used interchangeably. Drops for babies have 500 mg. per teaspoon, children's elixir only 160 mg.

If you don't, vote No on Saturday, November 18.

On November 8, the Texas Department of Corrections announced that Eastland County will not be considered as a site for a maximum security prison.

But we are still holding an election on Saturday, November 18 to decide if we should give the Commissioners the authority to spend $700,000 in bonds for a prison site.

That's $700,000 of the taxpayers' money.

If the bonds pass:

- we won't have the chance to decide how the money is spent
- we won't know what kind of prison will be coming here
- we won't know who will benefit

The only thing we'll know is that the County Commissioners will have a $700,000 blank check from the taxpayers.

Election

18th election. The canvas of the Nov. 7th State Constitutional Amendment election was on the agenda Monday, and the Commissioners found everything in order. There was total of 2,328 votes cast, out of around 10,000 voters registered.

Some of the Commissioners remarked there were too many names of deceased persons left on the Voters Registration rolls. They wondered if there was some way to get these taken off with more speed.

Another agenda item was brought to court by Tammy Weiser, who reported that County Road 137 in Pct. 3 (south of Scranton) was, "like a freeway for oil tankers." She said that heavy trucks were going back and forth to oil wells on a 24 hr. basis, with heavier traffic at night. Water was being released on the road from tankers, a small bridge was being damaged, and holes knocked in the road. The oil field vehicles were also being operated at high speed, she reported.

"When you call someone on the problem, you hit a dead end street," she added.

Comm. L.T. Owens said they might get A.C. Steele of the DPS to check periodically on the loads of the trucks, and on the bridge. But he said he couldn't guarantee anything on controlling the traffic there or keeping the road repaired at this time.

He had money to repair the road, but did not know where he could get the rock he needed, Owen said.

Several Commissioners remarked that it was against the law to discharge salt water or chemicals on the road at any time.

On another matter, the Commissioners voted to pay a prisoner extradition bill for $982.75 from the general Fund. It was to be counted as "Court Costs."

This individual was reportedly transported from Oregon to Eastland County, 1736 miles, by Interstate Extraditions Inc., a service used by the Sheriff's office.

On other law enforcement matters, Commissioner Billy Bacon reported that 17 prisoners were in the County Jail, with one scheduled for TDC.

On other subjects, Bacon reported that the ambulance bill for his Precinct was down considerably for last month. But he mentioned problems on payment for firefighting. He said he needed to study a copy of the County contract on rural firefighting.

"I thought the $200 from the county to each department each month was for rural firefighting," Bacon remarked. "The Cisco City Manager sounds like he thinks differently."

County Judge Scott Bailey made a report on the status of 9-1-1 Emergency calling system. He said the project was ahead of schedule for eastland County and this area. He said that sooner or later everyone would need an address that could be recorded.

"Sooner or later we'll also need to number the County roads," Comm. Bacon reminded the Court.

There was some discussion on the purchase of a FAX machine for the Courthouse, at a cost of approximately $1900. It was decided to put this on the agenda for the next regular meeting which will be November 27th.

A brief discussion centered on Comp time for the Sheriff's Dept. The Commissioners said they would wait for authorization from the County Sheriff before making any decision on this.

The Court concluded its business by noon - which was quite a change from the day long sessions recently.

Mrs. Patsy Woodard of Abilene and District No. 17, President of the American Legion Auxiliary, was present for the American Legion Auxiliary meeting of the Ernest F.
