WINNER OF THE gift certificate given away at the grand opening of Songs and Psalms Bible Book Store on West 8th Street, was Fred Wheeler, owner of Philpott Florist. The winner's name was drawn from a bunch of names of all those who registered that day.

A SPECIAL Thanks on behalf of the City of Cisco to Sherry Ledbetter was expressed here on Friday by acting city manager Marilyn Abbott-Smith, for her assistance in updating and recording the minutes in the official minutes books.

I UNDERSTAND that Charlene Thomas will be the operator-manager at the new JR's Beauty Salon. Owner Jim Roberts stated that he is still looking for one more operator and anyone interested may apply to him at the Lobo.

IT IS GETTING close to the deadline for this edition of The Cisco Press and I do not really have anything to write about in my column so I am going to borrow the following column from Richard C. Thomas of The Winters Enterprise. I hope you will enjoy it as much as I did.

"When one gets in a hurry, and has no time for originality, one steals from someone else. So, thought I'd steal something from Bob Craig of the Hamlin Herald; who stole it from Wacii McNair at Snyder; who probably stole it from someone else."

Here's how to know your growing older:

-The gleam in your eyes is from the sun hitting your bifocals.

-You feel like the morning after the night before, but you haven't been anywhere.

-Your little black book is filled with names ending in M.D.

-You join a health club and don't have the energy to go.

-You know all the answers but nobody asks you the questions.

-You sit in a rocking chair and can't get it going.

-After painting the town red, you have to take a long rest before applying a second coat.

-Dialing long distance wears you out.

-Your back goes out more than you do.

-A fortune teller offers to read your face.

-You are 17 around the neck, 42 around the waist, and 96 around the golf course.

-You look forward to a dull evening.

-You turn out the light for economic rather than romantic reasons.

-Your pacemaker makes the garage door go up when you watch a pretty girl go by.

-The little gray-haired lady you helped across the street is your wife.

-You sink your teeth into a good steak and they stay there.

-When you can remember when Walter Cronkite didn't have gray hair.

-You can remember when you could fill up the old car with gasoline and get some change back from a $5 bill.

-You could mail a letter with a three-cent stamp.

-You remember when sex education wasn't taught in the classroom, but in the pool hall where it was intended.

-When you realize all of a sudden that Lawrence Welk music is about the best kind on television.

3RD IN STATE

AUSTIN—Eastland County ranked third in the state in 1979 Texas peanut production, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown reports.

Of the top ten counties Eastland carried 9.9% of the state total with 52,824,000 pounds of peanuts produced.

Total state production of peanuts for 1979 was 533,025,000 pounds from 309,000 acres harvested. Of the total peanut production 310,000,000 pounds were irrigated and 223,025,000 pounds were non-irrigated.

Texas ranked third in the U.S. in 1979 peanut production following Georgia and Alabama.

Planting starts in late March and ends in late July with harvesting beginning in early August and ending in late November.

The largest production of peanuts is mostly in the Cross Timbers and South Texas areas.

JODY'S PIZZA ON THE SQUARE IN EASTLAND is getting ready to open up for the Fall Season. The mode of service this year will be all carry-out. Hours will be 5 p.m. til 9 p.m.

The Seventh-Day Adventist Church

Foreword:

During the past months I have written about many Church groups of Eastland County, and have attempted to contact leaders of several more which have not been written up. If you wish an article about a Church which has not been covered, please leave word with the Eastland Telegram where a leader of the group can be reached for information. If no further requests are received, this article about the Seventh-day Adventist Church will conclude the series.

I have not depended just upon my own knowledge for these articles, but have read many, many Church publications and have discussed each article with Pastors and lay leaders who have a background in their faith. I have learned a lot from the writing of these articles, and I hope they have furnished much information for the public. Although individual choice may lead to diversity of religion and it certainly has in Eastland County, I still cherish our heritage of religious freedom.

Viola M. Payne

Mrs. Viola Payne

One day last April the Convention Center at Dallas was suddenly filled with representatives from as many nations as the United Nations—about 200 countries. For this was a General Conference meeting of Seventh-day Adventists, and these delegates—elected from more than 3 million Church members—had come to help plan the work of the Church. But, unlike the United Nations, there was an atmosphere of peace in this medley of languages and national costumes. Elder Neal C. Wilson, General Conference President, was elected for another term, as were most officers.

Noticably missing were the Cuban delegates, who had been waylaid and imprisoned by Castro's police.

But there were members from Russia, the Iron Curtain countries, and Communist China. For many there were emotion-packed reunions with old friends from the vast network of medical, educational, evangelistic, disaster relief, publishing, radio, television, and other humanitarian work of the Church.

Between such large meetings, held each five years in different parts of the world, the overall work is directed from the General Conference Headquarters in Washington, D.C. Under this leadership are Divisions, Unions, Conferences, Districts, and Churches, with each congregation a link in the chain.

All Ministers, from the General Conference President to local Pastors, are paid the same modest salary, and do not handle Church finances. Each local group elects a Treasurer who disperses the tithes and offerings which support the work.

In addition to local Elders, Deacons, and other officers, each Church has a Community Services Director, who leads out in activities to help people of the area. Sometimes this involves assisting persons who need clothing and food, sometimes it is the sponsoring of educational or medical programs. These may include courses in healthful cooking or nutrition, health screening, or Five Day Plans to stop smoking.

In case of a disaster in the Eastland County area, such as a flood or tornado, a Director can call in some of the Church Disaster vans from the Southwest Union. These are fully equipped to feed, clothe, and give other aid to victims. Church members believe this type of work demonstrates the outreach of God's love for all men.

Seventh-day Adventists consider themselves Protestants, in the sense that their organization resurfaced after the Reformation movements begun by Luther, Calvin, John Wesley, and others. They also believe that God has a number of true followers scattered in all Churches at this time—persons who are living up to all the light they have. These faithful ones will be "called out" into one Fold during a tumultuous series of events which have now begun. During this time the True Church will begin a correct and timely message to the world—the Three Angel's Messages of Revelation 14. Another identifying mark of the True Church is believed to be members who "Keep the Commandments of God and the faith of Jesus." (Rev. 14-12)

The present-day organization had its beginning in New England in the 1840's, under revivals of Bible study, prophetic discussions and preaching. A number of early leaders and converts came from the Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, and Christian Churches. By 1863 these leaders had so many points of agreement that they joined together in a Church group. Some of the early pillars of faith were: belief in the Bible as inspired of God, as the rule of faith and conduct, salvation by grace and righteousness by faith in Christ, a distinction between the moral laws stated in the Ten Commandments and the Ceremonial Laws, the belief that immorality is not inherent in man, but will be given at the return of Christ to those who are worthy, and the desire of the Church to bear a timely message of reformation and the return of the Lord. The remarkable unity of the Adventist movement in its scriptural beliefs has continued until this day.

Other basic concepts of the Church concern the nature of God, described as a personal, loving, all-powerful Being who longs to save everyone on earth whom He possibly can. Church members are taught that the work of religion is a right relationship with God, and the restoration of His image in the life. The highest revelation of God is in His Son, Jesus Christ.

The Church teaches that is against the nature of God to force the will of man. Mind control is from an evil Being, called Satan or the Devil. God is not to blame for the evil in this world, for the Devil is responsible for all this. (Matt. 13-28). When the time is right, God will destroy the Devil and eradicate evil.

At the beginning of history the Devil enticed the human family to join him in his rebellion against God. Since then the Devil and his evil angels have remained here on this earth, continuing to deceive God's creation. The Church teaches there is no "Hell" burning somewhere in the Universe, but that evil will finally be destroyed here on this planet, where it is contained.

God devised a plan to win back humanity. The plan involved the gift of His Son, Christ, to die for the human race. This was necessary not only to redeem humanity, but to refute Satan's false charges that God was unfair and unjust. Much of the charges of Satan involved the moral laws of God—the Universal standard of Righteousness. Known by word of mouth before they were written at Mt. Sinai, the first four Commandments set forth man's duty to God. The last six express what his conduct should be toward his fellow man.

It is understood that the Ten Commandments simply define sin—they cannot give salvation. But "New Testament Christians", the Adventist Church believes, will have these laws "written in their hearts", out of love to God and what He has done.

The Church believes that when God intervenes in human history to destroy evil, Christ will make a personal return to earth to take His people to Heaven. This group will include the living persons who have accepted Christ, together with the righteous dead—who will be resurrected. The Bible pictures death as a sleep from which all will be resurrected. (1 Thess. 13:18, 1 Cor. 15:51-54.) Then, one thousand years later, God's people will be returned to live on a recreated earth, from which all traces of evil have been eliminated.

The symbol that shows one has chosen God and wants to be a member of that perfect society is baptism, an act of immersion in water, signifying the burial of the old life and resurrection to the new. And while waiting for the perfect society that God shall establish, a person should live an enlightened, unselfish life for there will be no selfish people in God's Kingdom. There is no better way to spend the time than helping relieve the suffering evil has caused, while at the same time giving the good news that God has an answer to man's problems.

Since no person has the power within himself to live that sort of life, God has a special Helper available in the world—the Holy Spirit—to guide His people. The work of the Holy Spirit is what it has always been—to lead people to follow Christ.

Seventh-day Adventist also believe that God gave the gift of the Sabbath (the 7th day of the week) to man. This is a time of special communion and fellowship with Him—a spiritual rest which links the first Sabbath in Eden to the eternal rest in the Earth Made New. (Heb. 4-9).

There are only a few Seventh-day Adventist members in Eastland County, and one Church building at Rising Star—which is not in regular use. The Rising Star Church was begun in the early 1960's, when a young doctor—Steve Semineuk—came to the town to practice medicine. Medical work is considered very important by the Church, and Dr. Semineuk was apparently a fine example of the Church training schools. His work made many friends, and the town was shocked when the Doctor became ill with a brain tumor.

B.A. Butler, who now lives in Cisco, was the Rising Star newspaperman at that time, and he learned that the Doctor did not have enough money for the medical care he needed. Mr. Butler wrote an editorial about the situation which was extremely effective, for thousands of dollars poured in from all across the country. Unfortunately the Doctor could not be saved, but this kind act meant much to him before his death.

Eventually most Church members moved away from Rising Star, and ones presently there attend the Brownwood Church. Others in the County go to the Church in Breckenridge, which has an attractive new building on the corner of Sunset and Elliot Sts. Pastor Bob Elliott, who lives in Mineral Wells, cares for the Breckenridge Church, assisted by Ed Boyd, local Elder and Administrator of the Town Hall Estates Nursing Home. The Breckenridge Church is planning to open an Elementary School in September, adding to a number of similar schools in the Texas Conference.

Visitors are welcomed to the mid-week Bible Studies or Sabbath Services at the Church. Sabbath School begins on Saturday morning, 9:30 a.m., consisting of music, participation by members in programs, and Bible Study. A number of translations are used in the Church, with the King James and Revised Standard Versions usually preferred.

The 11:00 a.m. Worship Service consists of more music, and a sermon by the Minister or layperson. Communion, which is held quarterly, is open to all who care to participate. New members are accepted into the Church by profession of faith, by transfer, or by baptism. They are encouraged to grow spiritually by Bible study, Church attendance, prayer, and practicing a Christ-like life. Devotion to the family unit is stressed, with unfaithfulness considered the only valid grounds for divorce. Even then it is considered better to restore an erring partner than to abandon him.

The Church believes in total abstinence of alcoholic beverages, but also teaches that true temperance involves choosing what is good, rather than simply avoiding evil things.

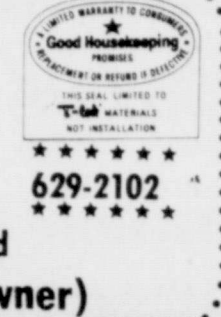

The Church understands that religion should in no way be legislated by the State. Yet the Church owes its religious freedom to this country, and cooperates with it whenever possible. The Church counsels its members against joining Labor Unions or Secret Societies, feeling that these may bind the conscience of Christians.

Doris Franklin Launches Successful Private Business

New Locally Owned Business-TRANS-SEC ANSWERING SERVICES

While many small businesses are being swallowed up by conglomerates these days, Doris Franklin of Cisco has launched a successful, privately-owned Secretarial and Bookkeeping Service called Trans-Sec Answering Services. (Soon to be known as Petroleum Complex). This business, begun in Feb., 1980, is located in a roomy building at 900 W. 8th Street in Cisco. Included in the facilities are three offices for lease, all redecorated with attractive carpeting and other features. A conference room is also furnished for the convenience of customers. Besides the secretarial, answering, and bookkeeping services offered by Trans-Sec, there are a number of other innovative features. These include Records Research, Notary Public Work, Copy Work, Piece or Job Typing, RRC forms, Dictaphone-single mike or conference, Check Collection, Monthly and Qtr. Reports, Sales Tax, Federal Withholding, Federal and State Taxes, Payroll and Customer Billing, W2 forms, Monthly Income and Expense Statements, and General Ledger and Payroll Journal Reports. Doris Franklin has two assistant who work on these various duties as the need arises.

Doris, small, blonde and energetic, is still remembered by many people as the Office and Store Manager of Norvell Miller Grocery of Cisco. During the time she worked there her husband, Bob Franklin, operated Franklin and Sons Roustabout Service, giving him contact with a number of oil companies. After his unexpected death in April, 1979, Doris decided the time had come to establish a business of her own.

"While remembering my husband's realization of the needs of Independent Oil Companies, and after working for oil-related businesses for several months, I understood how many businesses with out-of-town headquarters have a need for an office and part-time services here. This was the beginning of the Trans-Sec business.

At the present two companies, Big Sky Drilling and Alfred Drilling, operate their oil interests from this location. But Doris notes that she also welcomes small accounts, and that all receive personalized services.

"Generally it's the Independent Operator who is exploring and finding oil in this area," she states.

As Doris discusses payrolls or pulling rigs with one of these customers it is hard to realize that her whole life hasn't been related to oil work. It's hard to realize, too, while noticing her blonde hair, that she is part Comanche Indian, and descended from Chief Quannah Parker.

"Some French and Irish got mixed in before I was born," she smiles.

The latest reunion of the Quannah Parker clan was held near the Wichita mountains at Cache, Oklahoma. There Doris ate pound meat, listened to Indian stories and songs, and met scores of relatives. She describes the reunion as "beautiful".

She came back rested for dictaphones and telephones and ready to do battle against the Windfall's Profit Tax, which she says is strangling out the Independent Oil Operators and Royalty Owners.

Doris' birthplace, in 1938, was far from Oklahoma and Eastland County. "At a place called Sebastian, which doesn't even belong to the United States anymore!"

Anyone from El Paso can name that place quickly—a settlement on the Chamaizal Zone, on land deeded to Mexico during the Presidency of Lyndon Johnson.

Doris was one of triplets, with a brother dying at birth. Her surviving sister now lives in Austin, and a brother-Troy Galyean-lives in Cisco.

"My father was a construction foreman who moved all over the State of Texas. I attended seventeen different High Schools before I graduated!"

At this time Doris played the oboe, drums, and piano and was given a Music Scholarship to San Marcus University. But she found the business courses much more interesting, and began to major in them. After two years of college she went to work in retail merchandising.

Soon she married Bob Franklin, a young Army man stationed at Austin. The next 23 years, until Bob's retirement, saw the couple and their children stationed in many parts of the world, including England, Scotland, Germany and Okinawa. Seventeen years, in all, were spent overseas, with Bob-a Spec. 6 in the Army-making two tours of duty to Viet Nam. During the last time he was on the U.S.S. Corpus Christi Bay rescue ship.

The Franklins had six children: Lee, Kenneth, Donnie, Tommie, Tammy, and Robert. Two of the sons are in the Army now, two are with oil companies, and the daughter, Tammy, and 7 year old Robert are at home.

Upon Bob's retirement from the Army, the family moved to Lake Buchanan, where Bob ran a commercial Fishing Boat business for three years. Then they moved to the Cisco area, and purchased a home at Scranton.

"I believe all our moving around," Doris says, "Had a lot of value to myself and the children. We learned a lot of things about life, and how to adapt to any situation. That's what life is all about—and that's what I've had to do.

"This business, when I began it, was totally my own idea." Doris pauses a moment. "And what I was basically aiming at was to encourage oil and gas research and production here.

"I don't see how anything could be more important, with the shape our country is in!"

A number of people with business interests stop by, for Doris maintains an oilfield employment service along with her other activities. In the front room of the building most traffic pauses beside a corner rimmed by desks, office machines, and a switchboard, with Doris calmly stirring around inside. She pauses to discuss matters with persons who come by, and sometimes the people include her own two sons.

Control Armadillos

A very common animal seen in gardens and flower beds is the armadillo. The armadillo is in the anteater family, so it has no front teeth. If you see armadillos in your yard, and you notice scratch marks on your trees, it is a sign that they are digging around for insects in the yard. They will often scratch the base of your trees with their claws.

Armadillos are insect feeders primarily and are seen even more frequently in yards that are infested with grubs. They can sometimes literally tear up flower beds. Freshly watered areas will attract armadillos because the moisture makes the soil loose and causes bugs to come to the surface for air.

Homemaking Hints

By Janet Thomas

Apples are one of America's favorite fruits. I have noticed apples growing in many of the home orchards around Eastland County. Since we did not have any apricots or peaches this year, you might want to take advantage of the apple crop.

Apples are of value in the diet for several reasons. Not only do they contain small amounts of some important vitamins and minerals, they also provide dietary fiber which is necessary for normal functioning of the intestinal tract. Eaten raw after a meal, apples may also aid in removing food particles from the teeth.

The Extension Service office supply of the U.S.D.A. publication entitled "Apples in Appealing Ways". This is a popular publication which is available free and features many good ways to use apples. Apples are a versatile fruit which can be used in main dishes, side dishes, salads, and desserts. Apples also make a delightful low-calorie snack or dessert when eaten out-of-hand.

If you would like to preserve some apples for later use, I would suggest you freeze them. They are easily frozen. To freeze apples, wash, peel, core, and slice. Prevent discoloration by using one-half teaspoon of ascorbic acid per quart of sugar syrup. Cover with cold sugar syrup using 3 cups sugar to 4 cups water. Seal and freeze immediately.

RECIPE FOR THE WEEK

The publication "Apples in Appealing Ways" has some wonderful recipes. The one I am featured for this week's recipe is Apple Turnovers.

Apple Turnovers
Pastry flour, unsifted-1 1/2 cups
salt-3/4 teaspoon shortening 1/2 cup cold water 3 tablespoons butter 2 tablespoons Filling
Apples, tart, pared, sliced 1 1/2 cups (about 2 medium apples) sugar 3/4 cup
salt 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg 1/8 teaspoon

Mix flour and salt thoroughly. Mix in shortening until mixture is crumbly. A pastry blender, two table knives, or a fork may be used. Add water, a little at a time mixing lightly. Dough should be just moist enough to cling together when pressed. Shape dough into ball.

Roll out on a lightly floured surface until dough is about 12 by 12 inches. Dot with butter or margarine.

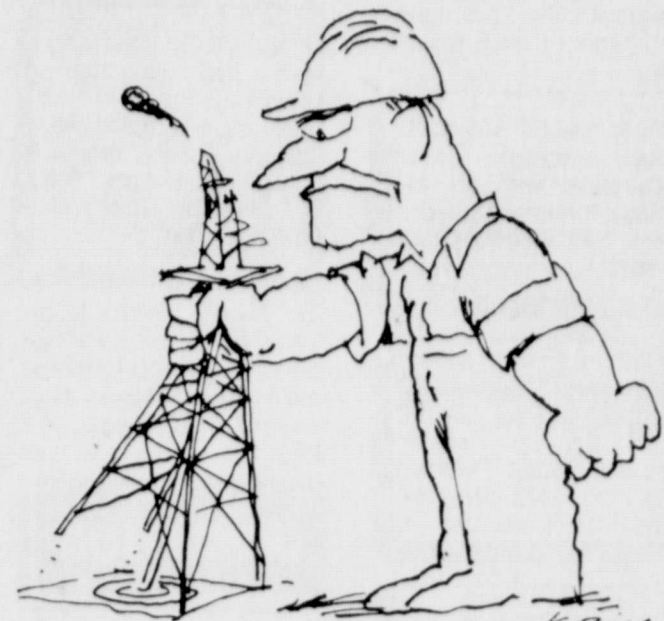

Fold pastry so that two sides meet in center. Press folded pastry with fingers. Fold ends to center and press with fingers. Wrap in waxed paper and chill. Divide pastry into six balls. Roll each ball out on a lightly floured surface to make a 6" square.

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. (hot).

Place about 1/4 cup apples on half of each pastry square about 1/2 inch from edges so that, when top is folded over, the turnover will be triangular.

Mix sugar, salt, cinnamon, and nutmeg. Sprinkle apples with sugar mixture. Moisten edges of pastry squares. Fold pastry diagonally over apple mixture. Seal edges with a fork. Prick tops of turnovers. Place on a baking sheet. Bake until lightly browned, about 25-30 minutes.

Calories per turnover: About 335.

Better Oil Recovery Methods In Development

More than 300 billion barrels of crude oil will remain in known oil fields when they are no longer able to produce with today's methods.

"This is the easiest extra oil to 'find' but the toughest to recover," explains Pete Kelly, Exxon company, U.S.A.'s Production Department engineering manager.

A popular misconception holds that oil exists in large underground pools or lakes and that the wells simply suck the crude from the ground like a straw drawing soda. Unfortunately, oil is trapped in porous rock, and the reservoir holds oil more like a sponge, making recovery of a large percentage of the oil very difficult. Conventional oil production methods, on average, only recover about one-third of the oil in place.

Oil companies have been researching "enhanced recovery" methods for years in hopes of developing processes that will recover additional oil that remains "locked" in fields at the end of their normal productive lives.

Estimates of the amount of oil which can be recovered by enhanced recovery processes vary widely. Kelly estimates that at current world oil prices about 20 billion barrels may be tapped. This extra oil would increase 20 billion barrels may be tapable. This extra oil would increase America's remaining reserves by 70 percent and would help sustain U.S. oil production, which is currently three billion barrels per year, he says.

"But enhanced recovery methods are expensive and high risk investments because they are complex and basically unproven," Kelly says.

Exxon is experimenting with three enhanced recovery methods:

1. Thermal: Steam is injected into the reservoir to heat heavy, molasses-like crude so that it will flow.

Eastland Man Found Shot

An Eastland man who had been shot in the head was found dead in the home of his estranged wife Thursday afternoon.

James Leroy Lynch, 46, was pronounced dead at 4:20 p.m. Thursday by Justice of the Peace R.L. Rowch at the home of Lynch's estranged wife, Shirley, in the Norwood Addition of northeast Eastland. A .357 magnum pistol was found next to the body.

Mrs. Lynch told officers she summoned an ambulance after arriving home and discovering Lynch's body. Rowch made no ruling, but ordered an autopsy, which is being done in Dallas. Eastland County Sheriff's Department personnel are investigating.

According to District Attorney Emory Walton, who is aiding the sheriff's department in the investigation, Lynch had been living in Coleman with his parents since he and his wife had filed for divorce.

Lynch had returned to Eastland Wednesday to visit his children. Officers determined that Lynch had been dead at least two hours before being discovered.

Lynch's death is the fourth fatality in Eastland County in less than a month in which an autopsy was ordered.

One was in Ranger, one in Gorman, one in Cisco and one in Eastland. Sheriff Johnnie Morren and his staff are working the cases in Eastland, Ranger and Gorman.

Cisco officers are working the case at Cisco.

Lights From The Christian World

By Josephine Cleveland

During the Spanish Inquisition a man was placed in a dungeon. Many years later some men were digging in some ruins and discovered far beneath the earth the dungeons where people were confined during this period of history.

In one part was the remains of a skeleton. On the stone wall near where he lay, they found a cross which had been painstakingly carved into the stone. The man had inscribed at top of the cross the word, 'height.' At the bottom of the cross was written the word 'depth.' At the other two ends of the cross were written the words, 'width' and 'breadth.'

Even in the midst of the man's dungeon experience he had discovered the true meaning of the cross of Jesus Christ. He found the brightness of darkness; hope in despair; victory in defeat and serenity in utility.

What more could anyone ask? Friend, Jesus made this possible for all through His meritorious death on the cross. Praise Him for making this possible.

Shaklee Club Meets Aug. 4

On August 4th at 7 p.m. a covered dish supper was held at 712 West 19th Street in Cisco, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Martin. There was a delicious meal and the guest speaker was Mrs. Karen Lien. She was really a dynamic speaker. Her topic was on daily exercise, walking, exercises to tone your stomach muscles, thighs, don't over do them when you first begin, do them gradually in walking also, gradually build up to how much your body can tolerate, in time you can walk one or two miles a day.

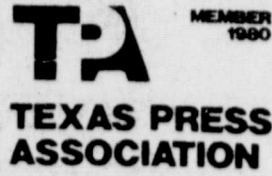

Also, good nutrition is of the utmost importance, and the Shaklee Food Supplements is the best way to supplement a person's diet, there again one needs to read the labels on the food they buy from grocery shelves, nutrition wise. This subject is one that can be quite lengthy so supplement your diet whether its three meals a day, snacks in between as some folks have to do, but take the complete line of Shaklee Food Supplements and in less than 30 days even in two weeks you'll feel 100 percent better, you have to stay with the daily routine, take them three times a day and more than one food supplement of each, first, you must get your body chemistry in balance. Quit the junk food, limit yourself and family to very little carbohydrates, be moderate in the amount of starches you consume daily, eat lots of fresh fruits and vegetables, and raw in both cases. "Your never sick unless your body chemistry is out of balance." There were seven ladies and the guest speaker at this meeting.

Will have more news after the 11th of August meeting time 7:30 p.m. Remember these Shaklee meetings are open to anyone who wants to improve their pocket book, health, plus other wonderful benefits, come and be a part of this great Shaklee business.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Armo Chambers

Lady Luck, Luck of the Irish, Fate - whatever name we call it by - we all seem to be looking for it... Will this "one lucky break" change our lives? Will this "one lucky break" make our lives more exciting - more fulfilling? Is this "one lucky break" just around the corner? So we all hope and believe and eagerly await it - and stand still while we wait! We all know that hard work (usually) results in success. Yet, sometimes the "hardworking" people seem to be lost in the rush of the "lucky" ones passing them by! We are not kidding the hardworking people. On the contrary, without hard work no success story would ever be written. We are saying that rigid engrossment in one area is not enough. We may be deaf to the opportunities that are knocking... The way to accomplishment is to have imagination, awareness of opportunity and the courage to attempt something new... It is said that being in the right place at the right time is the true definition of "luck"... This may be true... BUT... have you ever thought the time and the place may be right - but you may not be ready?... You can't say to opportunity, "If I knew you were coming I'd have baked a pie!" Isn't it true that the "cake" composed of ability, knowledge and courage must always be there and READY to be served?

People Things

IF YOU READ the letters to the editor in the newspapers that circulate in our region, you will recognize the name Gordon S. Clark. After seeing his name in the letters columns for a good many years, we wondered: Who is Gordon S. Clark?

He is a hilly billy from the West Virginia panhandle who wants no part of city living. He is a loafer with an opinion on just about everything. That's how he described himself to us.

Actually, Gordon S. Clark is a WWII Navy CB veteran, age 58 years, who lost an arm and an eye in the Guadalcanal Island fighting. He lives on a small farm in the Morton Valley community two and a half miles north of the Eastland airport. He has a few cattle, an understanding wife, two daughters and a son in Abilene.

Mr. Clark regards letter writing to editors as his hobby - "almost my vocation." He writes on any topic that seems to demand writing on. He gets quite a lot of mail as a result of his letters. And most of the letters he gets are complimentary.

Mr. Clark's good eye was almost lost, too, in the war. Surgery a few years ago allowed him to put away his white cane with a red tip. He has almost 20/20 vision but it's like looking through the hole in a roll of toilet paper, he said. He doesn't drive as a result of his vision.

After getting home from WWII and out of the hospital, Mr. Clark went to Texas A and M and earned a BS degree. (Billy Clayton, the house speaker, was a classmate of Mr. Clark's at A and M.) He has taught school but quit because he couldn't take the superintendent. He worked a few years for the Texas Employment Commission and, again, he quit because he found no challenge in the work.

Mr. Clark reads a lot, watches TV and observes. He is a Baptist deacon (Harmony Baptist Church) and attends church services regularly. If he represents anybody, it's the taxpayer with little or no voice. He writes poetry for his own amusement.

How does he stand in the presidential election? Get

Mass Held For Jack Eldon Page At 3 P.M. Friday

Recitation of the Mass for Jack Eldon Page, 56, of Cisco, was at 3 p.m. Friday at Holy Rosary Catholic Church. The Rev. Dennis Smith, pastor, officiated. The funeral was under the direction of Kimbrough Funeral Home. Burial was in Oakwood Cemetery.

Mr. Page died at 2:45 p.m. Thursday at a local hospital.

He was born July 26, 1924, in Cisco. He was a veteran of World War II with the Eighth Air Force. He met Carolyn Moye while they both were stationed in Stafford, England, and the couple was married June 27, 1945. He was employed by Lone Star Gas Company in pipeline department, having served for 34 years.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Shirley Strother of San Augustine and Sandra Belaire of Fulton; his mother, Lelia Page of Midland; four brothers, Tipton and Dail, both of Midland and Lane of Nipomo, Calif. and Hal of Cisco; two sisters, Helen Burnett of Abilene and Patricia Brown of Houston, Pa. and three grandchildren.

His father and a brother preceded him in death.

one of those questionnaires with blanks to check - a list of presidential prospects and the last blank says "none of the above." That's the one Mr. Clark says he would check right now.

All in all, Mr. Clark enjoys life. We'll wager that he would be a good speaker for club or group meetings.

YOU'LL BE glad to hear that Misses Jackie Euc, and Yolanda Walters, two Cisco young ladies on missionary assignment in Haiti, are safe and sound after Hurricane Allen's trip through there a few days ago. The mission folks telephoned the news to their parents in Cisco.

Mr. J.C. Fletcher shared a letter that Miss Walters wrote the Cisco Lions Club with us. "We've finished plastering the entire church building, have poured three floors (by hand) as well as done a bunch of basic jobs that had to be done before the big jobs. Work remains to be done."

"The team is going to roof another of the missions out in the country. We have been able to hold two open air meetings with a good turnout. In these meetings we share testimonies and perform puppet shows with a Christian message."

SIX CISCO young people are employed this summer as counsellors at the Lions Club Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville, reports Mr. O.L. Stamey who spent last weekend there attending a board meeting. The six are Kevin Holland, Cheri Ward, Oscar Lopez, Clay White, Roger Autrey and Van Reynolds. Several have been there for other summer work.

Profits from the Lions Bowl football game between CJC and RJC at Breckenridge on Sept. 27th will support the children's camp. And local Lions are now selling program ads and game tickets.

Mr. Stamey reports that 776 crippled children enjoyed the camp this summer, and 328 diabetics enrolled in the camping program for them.

OUR SCOUTS report that the Cisco Livestock Show Association, owners of the building formerly used by Pressed Steel Products Co. on the lake road, has been approached by a Dallas firm interested in leasing the property for use in manufacturing steel tanks. The Willard Johnsons spent the past weekend in San Antonio and enjoyed attending the statewide Folk Life Festival. Mr. Gerald Winnett, the oil man, is growing a mustache in preparation for next year's Cisco Centennial. He's on the Centennial committee and is setting an example.

REAL ESTATE Broker Youvonne McMillan reports the sale of the Fay Massey place, nice home with 40 acres, on Highway 80 east of Cisco to Don Hudgins. The residence will become home for Don's son, Bill Hudgins and his wife and their three children very shortly.

The Bill Hudgins, who have been living in California, are moving here so he can enroll next month in the first class of Southwestern Chiropractic College. He already has completed his college education and goes directly into SCC classes.

THE LADIES OF E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital Auxiliary are getting set for another Book Fair. This one begins Sept. 5th in the lobby of the Laguna Hotel. They have a goodly number of paperbacks and hardbound books on hand but can use more.

If you'd like to donate books to the GMHA, collection boxes are located at Thrift Mart, JRB, Dennis Quickway, Allsup's and at The Press.

MR. JIMMY Jeffcoat, who grew up here, is visiting his mother, Mrs. O.C. Jeffcoat, and his brother, Jerry Jeffcoat. Understand Jimmy, a CHS graduate, has been living in Germany for several years. We'll try to contact him for an interview and report to you.

Case Of Burning Van Clearing For Police

The case of the burning van was clearing up this past week for the Cisco Police Department, Chief Kenneth Eaves reported. The vehicle was discovered on fire at the city dump here July 26th.

Chief Eaves said they have been advised that Norville Lee Holley, who is in his early 30s, who was believed to have been the driver, has been reported by the U.S. Navy to be in their custody at Long Beach, Calif. He had been listed as a deserter.

A New Jersey insurance company has made inquiries about the van, which was virtually gutted by the fire, and Chief Eaves believed the firm would eventually claim it. It is owned by a Washington State man and has a Washington license. Police believe the driver hitch-hiked out of Cisco.
