

Santa Claus Bank Robbery Set For Film

The Santa Claus Bank Robbery, a novel written by A.C. Greene, will be the basis of an $8 million film to be made in this area by Buddy Boren, a Dallas film maker. Filming is scheduled to start in the fall with a 10-week shooting schedule anticipated.

The story, well-known to Ciscoans, deals with the actual robbery, on December 23, 1927, of the First National Bank of Cisco, by four armed men. One of the robbers, Charles Ratliff, was disguised as a department-store Santa Claus. He was eventually taken from his jail cell in Eastland and hanged by an angry mob in the alley near the present day Majestic Theater.

Besides filming in Cisco, locations will include Merkel, Eastland, Ranger, South Bend, Moran and Albany. According to the Dallas Morning News, "Boren will produce the film, while Stuart Margolin will direct and play one of the lead roles. Margolin, featured in Blake Edwards' upcoming film S.O.B. with William Holden and Julie Andrews, is best known for his role as Angel in television's The Rockford Files."

"Greene previously had been approached by Stanley Jaffe, producer of The Bad News Bears and Goodbye, Columbus, and Martin Bregman, producer of Dog Day Afternoon and The Four Seasons, for the film rights to his book, published in 1972 by A.A. Knopf.

"Boren previously produced Wheels of Fire, a documentary about drag racing, to be released later this summer."

Cisco Fourth Of July Plans Are Underway

Plans for the Fourth of July celebration, sponsored by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, are underway with

Senior Citizens

The Senior Center will be closed July 3, thus enabling the staff to have a long weekend to celebrate the Fourth of July.

Last week we were discussing the subject of retired people being worth more than a mint, and we will continue that discussion!

Time is something the interested retiree does not have much of, contrary to common belief. Time speeds ever so quickly and seems to pulse far into the night because sleep is scarce and the brain keeps busy. Unlike youth, the aged find the body a drag! Although the pains and aches seem to multiply, they are taken for granted and ignored. The retiree seems to move in a bodyless fashion. Business of the body is pushed aside but not completely.

In the realm of the elders, patience and tolerance lie abundant. The dangling threads of covetousness have long been stripped. The fires of faith, hope and charity flame the brightest. For these are the measuring years taken in harvest time where only the good crop shall be stored and stacked in the vineyard to be counted.

To those who have faith and love for their supreme God, the days are given one at a time like pearls to be treasured. Unlike youth, they are held fast and made good and worthy. For these are measured steps worth their weight in gold in the good works being done, and will be on the credit side of our ledger when work is done and toll ceases completely.

Our programs for the week were: Roland Smith, the famous country and western singer; local singers-Winnie Pippen, Jack Robinson, Vernon Hagar, Plez Ray, Lorene Williams and Ruby Dunlap; and the dinner was provided by Vida Killion, Billie Wood, Addie Mae Cooper and A.E. McNeely.

Tell all of your friends that the Senior Center will be closed Friday, July 3. In the meantime why don't you and your friends call 442-1557 or 442-2263 and make reservations for luncheons which are served on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The menu for the week are: Monday-german sausage, steamed cabbage, tomato wedges, pineapple upside down cake (birthday cake), bread, butter and drink.

Wednesday--chopped steak, turnip greens, pickled beets, sugar cookies, bread, butter and drink.

Friday--The Center will be closed so we may celebrate the Fourth of July.

'On Golden Pond' Is Second Production Of Dinner Theater

"On Golden Pond," by Ernest Thompson is the second production of the summer season at the Roof Garden Dinner Theater in Cisco. This comedy will be presented at 7:00 p.m., July 9-11 and again July 16-18. A matinee is scheduled for Saturday, July 11, at 1:30 p.m.

"On Golden Pond" is the comic love story of an elderly couple facing their twilight years, which will be released as a movie in the fall featuring Kathryn Hepburn and Henry Fonda. Ethel and Norman Thayer are returning to Golden Pond for the forty-eighth summer. Norman is a retired professor, nearing eighty, with heart palpitations and a failing memory, but he is still as tart-tongued and eager for life as ever. Ethel, ten years younger, delights in all the small things which have enriched their long life together.

The elderly couple's divorced, middle-aged daughter and her dentist fiance go off to Europe, leaving his teenage son behind for the summer. The boy quickly becomes the "grandchild" the elderly couple have longed for, and Norman revels in taking his ward fishing and thrusting good books at him. He also learns some lessons about modern teenage awareness--

Appraisal Crews At Work In Cisco

The various appraisal crews of McMorries and Company have been busy for the last several days in the Cisco area. Work is being done in both the city and the rural areas, and is expected to take several months.

The work is being done in compliance with State Tax Laws requiring equalization of property by 1982 in each county in the state. The work being done will not effect the values to be used for the 1981 statements this fall.

This same type of appraisal work has already been done in Rising Star and Carbon. Following the work in Cisco, the areas of

Country Club To Host July 4th Tournament

The Cisco Country Club will host its seventh annual July 4th special golf scramble, pro-am and mixed partnership tournament July 3, 4 and 5.

The scramble will be Friday, July 3, at 1:30 p.m. Entry fee is $3.00 for members and $6.00 for non-members.

The pro-am will be Saturday, July 4, with $3.00 entry fee. Participants do not have to play in the tournament to play in the pro-am.

Entry fee is $10.00 per person for the mixed partnership tournament. Teams may be made up of two men, two women or a man and a woman. Participants may have as many partners as they want, but will have to pay an entry fee for each partner.

Scoring will be by the point system with no HDCP. Both scores will count toward the total points. Flights will be determined by Saturday's points.

Tea off times will be anytime Saturday and Sunday at 1:30 p.m. with a shotgun start.

Prizes will be golf balls for pro-am and scramble and cash for mixed partnership.

Mail entry fee of $20.00 per team to: Lake Cisco Country Club, Box 389, Cisco, Texas 76437. Bob Bennie, John Schaal and James Cotton are in charge of the tournament.

throwing and spoon races.

The Lions Club carnival will be in operation that day. The Lions Club will have food and drink concession stands open serving barbecue all day.

A baseball game will be played that day. Teams will be announced later.

The finale of the day will be the fireworks display, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Bruce Smith will be the firing director.

Lions Club Hears About Dinner Theater

The Cisco Lions Club heard three actors and the director of the Roof Garden Theater at their regular Wednesday meeting. The group was introduced by Dr. Wyley Peebles, chairman of the CJC Fine Arts Department. In his introduction Peebles said that the charge against Abilene newspapers to the effect that they print only bad news about Cisco "just isn't true." "Over the past two years," he continued, "they have given the Roof Garden Theater plenty of publicity, and it has all been good."

Janis Myer, CJC drama instructor, was presented first, as the director of the Colleen Altfer Smith will play Ethel Thayer with Norman Thayer portrayed by Billy Smith. Tom Jones plays Charlie the mailman, and Jarred Jeffcoat will perform the role of the teenage boy.

"On Golden Pond" opens July 9 and runs through July 11, then again July 16-18. Tickets are $11 for dinner and the show, $4.50 for the Saturday matinee with special rates for groups of 20 or more. Reservations may be obtained by calling (817) 442-2567 on weekdays or 442-2589 after hours and on Saturdays.

theater. In the year that she has been at CJC Peebles said that Ms. Myer has proven herself as a very capable director. He quoted from the text of a review given by Dr. Jack Boyd, arts critic of KRBC-TV, which was aired June 16. Of the Roof Garden's first play this summer Dr. Boyd said that it had "some of the best character acting I've seen in a long time." Dr. Boyd concluded that review by stating, "I've got to take a minute to congratulate Cisco Junior College and the individuals and businesses of the Cisco area for sponsoring the Roof Garden Dinner Theater. The whole Big Country benefits from your gifts."

Ms. Myer conducted the program in the form of an interview with each of the three actors. Colleen Altfer and Billy Smith, who have been real-life husband and wife for a month, described the elderly couple they portray in the Roof Garden's next production, "On Golden Pond," by Ernest Thompson. Colleen and Billy are returnees to the summer program from last year. Tom Jones, new in the ranks of the theater's Artists-in-Residence, described his role as a mailman that delivers mail by motor boat. There was considerable interest in Jones' experience as a stunt coordinator at Six Flags Over Texas. He also told the audience of his experience touring Texas prison facilities with a Shakespeare company

Pafford Ambulance Service Begins Membership Drive

Call 629-1728 For Ambulance

The Pafford Ambulance Service began a membership drive for subscribers here this week, following its approval for Cisco's official ambulance service by the City Council Tuesday night at the regular meeting.

The council approved a motion by council member Bobby Ingram to accept Pafford's bid and temporarily subsidize the company with $425 a week during its six-week membership drive. Council members Linton Batteas, Loyal Lundstrom, Bobby Rains and Ingram voted for the motion, while Brad Kimbrough and Mayor Eris Ritchie abstained. Council member Ivan Webb was absent.

The company began providing the service Thursday afternoon.

The membership drive for the service is to last until July 31. By that time, ambulance service officials need to have 850 memberships to continue the service, according to Larry Clark, manager of the service in Cisco and Eastland. Subscribers to the service in Cisco may pay an annual fee of $36 for the service. According to acting city manager Doug Fry, this will entitle a couple and any children under 19 still living at home with an unlimited number of emergency trips to any hospital within a 60-mile radius of Cisco.

Hospitals in Abilene and Brownwood would come within the 60-mile area. The subscription fee also includes non-emergency transfers of patients from a nursing home to a hospital or vice versa, Clark said.

Non-members will be charged a $70 base fee for ambulance service, plus an additional $15 if it is an emergency call. Non-members must also pay $1.50 for each loaded mile and for any supplies, such as oxygen, etc., which are used. Since both Cisco and Eastland city councils have approved the use of Pafford Ambulance Service, a backup system between the two

Each member of the theater group had something to say about the up-coming production of the classic melodrama, "The Drunkard." This play will be performed by the student apprentices in the summer program, but it will be directed and supervised by the Artists-in-Residence.

At the conclusion of the program Lion Archie Chamness gave a report of the Lions International Convention in Phoenix. Among other things he reported that the District Lions Honor Band from the local district won first place among U.S. bands. The parade was so large that it lasted two and a half hours. This band organized and rehearsed on the CJC campus.

cities will be used. An ambulance will be stationed in each city and if one city's ambulance is on call, the other city's ambulance will be placed on a stand-by basis.

Persons in Cisco may call 629-2882 for more information on the program offered by the Eastland based service. James and Carol Pafford of Eastland are owners of the ambulance service.

Directories To Be Delivered On Different Schedule

Southwestern Bell today announced that telephone directories in Cisco will be delivered on a different schedule.

The next directory will be distributed in January, 1982, instead of the traditional July date. Donna Morton, local manager, said the change is caused by a complete restructuring of telephone directories in the North Texas area.

"We will be distributing Business-to-Business and Home Edition Yellow Pages directories in Dallas and Fort Worth in addition to

Sunday Singing Set At Assembly Of God Church

The fourth Sunday singing will meet Sunday, June 28, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church, 308 West 7th Street, Cisco.

Come and join in the singspiration.

Country Club To Have Men's Steak Night

The Cisco Country Club will have a men's steak night, Tuesday, June 30, at 6:30 p.m. Tickets must be purchased in advance at the Cisco Chamber of Commerce by Monday afternoon. Tickets are $8.00 for non-members and $5.00 for country club members.

Bobby Maynard Receives 6-Year Probated Sentence

Bobby Maynard, 37, of Cisco, received a six-year probated sentence after being convicted Tuesday in 91st District Court for possession of a prohibited weapon, according to District Attorney Emory Walton.

Citizens are encouraged to study the system and subscribe, if they are interested, before July 31.

If enough residents subscribe, costs of the service will be paid entirely by subscribers and non-members who use the ambulance.

If too few residents subscribe, the city council will have to look at other alternatives.

Mayor Ritchie expressed his thanks to the Chamber of Commerce committee headed by Bill Roberts, which polled Ciscoans to find out which service they preferred for the provision of an ambulance service.

In other council activities, Mayor Ritchie expressed appreciation to the volunteers who have operated a temporary ambulance service in Cisco since June 1. C.W. Guthrie gave a report on that service, saying a few trips were made to Abilene with no charge to those using the ambulance; however, some contributions were promised to compensate the fire department for the use of its rescue vehicle.

The council heard a report by acting city manager Fry in which he said Lipham Construction has finished the paper work necessary to be sent to Texas Aeronautics Commission (TAC) in order to start work on the airport. He said dirt work and a seal coat should be started at the airport within the next two weeks.

Mr. Fry also reported the North Central Texas Fireman's Association will have its district meet in Cisco July 11. He also said the city would probably start spraying for mosquitoes within the week.

The council approved the minutes of previous meetings and accepted the financial report and bills for May.

Troy Hightower requested the council's approval on land development to open a sub-division 8/10 of a mile east of Cisco along the north access road of I-20. His request was brought to the council since subdivisions within five miles of the city must be approved by the city council. Mr. Hightower's request was approved unanimously.

City engineer Billy Jacobs reviewed the city's contracts and proposed projects with Yeatts and Decker Engineers for the new council. Mr. Jacobs was instructed by the council to apply for a FHA loan for a proposed 10-inch sewer line in the western part of Cisco and to pursue a comprehensive HUD grant for street, water and sewer improvements. Mr. Jacobs said the HUD grant could take about three years before completion.

Council members accepted the 1981 Tax Assessment Roll as per the Board of Equalization Tuesday night. The total 100% assessed value was $18,504,632.18.

Council members reviewed applications for city manager Tuesday night during an executive session and two persons were interviewed Thursday night. No action was taken by the council on either night.

IWU Reflections in Perspective

By I. W. Ussery

"Why, single men in barracks don't grow into plaster saints"....So wrote Rudyard Kipling in his ode, "Tommy," which was a defence of the British soldier who was known generally as... "Tommy Adkins."

And single men in barracks, in male-only construction camps strewn around the world are beset with a multitude of problems. It is interesting sometimes almost frightening to observe the psychological changes men go through when they are stationed thousands of miles from their homes and loved ones. In the space of two years I observed no less than seven full-grown men flown back to the U.S., the most of them under heavy sedation and at least two of whom were accompanied by a male nurse. It simply takes a lot of adjustment for men who have always known the security of a stable family life to accept the trauma of sudden bachelorhood in a strange land. Surrounded by people who speak a strange language, and not infrequently met with a hostile climate of either heat, constant rain, drought...or a combination of any two of the three, many men sort of go to pieces, psychologically or psychiatrically. And it is no indictment of their character to observe this. Some can take...some cannot.

One the tiny sand spit island of Khargu, on the Iranian side of the Persian Gulf we established a construction camp. Uninhabited except for a few weeks immediately following the late-winter rains when herdsmen would ferry their flocks across to graze, Khargu was just over a quarter mile in width and a little over a mile long and as its center it rose a bare eight feet above extreme high tide. A severe storm would infrequently put the entire island awash. And hot! As one man described the climate... "There are two seasons; Christmas and Summer."

The labour camp was inhabited by almost four hundred Iranian nationals, and was situated a half mile from the Staff Camp which contained about the most hodge-podge collection of nationalities I've been associated with. Some forty men were in that camp and were housed in comfortable portable barracks not unlike mobile homes. Air conditioned, they were quite comfortable. The food was good, and ample. But associating every day with fellow captives of the job can be trying. There were two Germans, two Czechoslovakians, eight Italians, eleven Americans, and the remainder were Venezuelans. The common language on the project was Spanish, which in itself worked something of a hardship on the boys from Oklahoma.

On Khargu, I established an early-morning routine. Aboard my little three-wheeled scooter, I would tour the entire jobsite, making mental note of the status of progress of each phase. The tour would end at the water distillation plant (all our potable water had to be distilled from sea water) where the level of water in the storage tank would be checked, as would be the manner in which the unit was working. Then I'd return to the mess hall for breakfast at 0600. The entire staff would be at breakfast by the time I appeared.

Now the coolies in the labour camp were allowed a maximum of five days' leave each calendar month, and not infrequently when they would return from the mainland they would bring along foods to supplement the rather stern menu provided by the labour contractor who operated the camp. And at times this supplement would consist of live chickens or animals to be butchered and cooked over charcoal fires inside their camp.

One morning as I ended my regular tour at the distillation plant I espied a large white rabbit in a hollowed-out basin underneath the edge of the storage tank. It could have come from only one source; some coolie had brought the rabbit along and it has escaped, finally finding a cool spot underneath the water tank. I was somewhat amused by the discovery, but made a show of it when I entered the mess hall.

Walking slowly down the aisle to my table, I kept muttering things like... "No; I didn't see a rabbit. That couldn't have been a rabbit. Now why would I think I saw a rabbit?" I took my place at the table and had my breakfast in total silence. The other men looked at me with sidelong glances, but not a word was spoken. "Old Mr. Bill has finally flipped." They were thinking.

Just at sunset, as the Welder Foreman (a fine older man from Oklahoma) was passing my quarters on his way to the shower he called to me. "Bill, come here quick! Is that the rabbit you thought you saw?" He asked, pointing to a large snow white rabbit sitting quite upright atop a sand dune some fifty yards from the camp. "What Rabbit?" I replied. "I don't see any rabbit." Pat approached, slowly, and said very soberly. "Now, Bill, You'd darned well better see that rabbit." Laughing, I confessed that we were both seeing the same rabbit, but that I'd seen it first...that morning underneath the water tank.

You cannot imagine the tension relief provided by discussions of "Mr. Bill's rabbit."

Throwaway society spends billions

COLLEGE STATION-- Americans use 100,000 acres of land to dump their garbage and trash, and they spend $4 billion a year to get it there.

Do we really want to dump our trash and garbage, and do we really need to spend $4 billion a year on it?

Americans throw away enough organic wastes each year to produce the energy equivalent of 80 million barrels of oil.

In addition, the American consumer spends about nine percent of his food budget on packaging he will throw away.

Some say America's throwaway attitudes may leave us chipping away at our resources and smothering under our own trash.

What do Texas residents say about the subject?

Some tell you there's enough land to handle "our share" of the approximately 16 billions of trash produced daily in this country.

Others see a need for conservation of Texas land and water resources, the wellspring of the state's significant impact on the national economy through agriculture.

One Texas resident sees hope for the future resting with the people themselves.

"As Texas residents, we share the burden of this nation's tremendous waste problem, along with the responsibility to 'maximize' our precious land and water resources," says Dr. Betty Jo Smith.

"At the heart of maximizing these resources is an attitudinal change - moving from irresponsible wastefulness to a more conservative, low-waste society," she says.

"A conservative, low-waste society is based on the belief that we wisely use resources we have - and that we recognize the wasteful use of resources as harmful and detrimental to each and every individual's quality of life," she explains.

Dr. Smith, a family life education specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says most people just don't realize there's a waste problem.

"Few citizens consider what happens to the trash after it is hauled away from their curbs.

"Most Americans don't see the nearly 100,000 acres of land used as a place to get trash out of our way.

"And people seldom think about the health hazards associated with waste."

As technology has improved food safety and made packaging an element of convenience, safety and enjoyment, people have assumed these advances to be positive - with few, if any, negative returns, the specialist says.

"Consumers have forgotten, or at least pushed to the back of their minds, the fact that paper plates, aluminum pie tins and plastic forks are wasteful," Dr. Smith adds.

"These items, while convenient and economical in the short run, will be cumbersome and expensive in the long run - unless we decided to curb our appetite for waste," she concludes.

Alot of Good Places To Quit

By Michelle Lindsey
As we come in contact with people daily, we seldom know the inner struggles each has or the determination it takes to succeed.
County Judge Scott Bailey is such a man.
Much can be said about this man but we will focus on May 26, 1980.
In a quiet ceremony at Austin along with several others, Judge Bailey was admitted to the Bar Association and given a license to practice law.
He is very proud of the fact that his mother, then age 90, was able to be there with him as he was sworn in.
According to Judge Bailey, he has been sworn in many times for different reasons, but this time was very special.

In 1962, Scott Bailey was sworn in as County Judge and has been elected every term since to serve the people of Eastland County.
While serving in this capacity, Judge Bailey was told that a bill had been proposed in the state legislation that would require all county judges in the state of Texas to be licensed attorneys. At that time only about ten percent of Texas county judges were lawyers.
He also learned that since he had been a judge of a court of records for ten consecutive years he was allowed to petition the bar association to take their exam.
The exam consists of four-teen subjects of law and a person must make a grade of 75 or above to pass.
With the knowledge of the task before him, Judge Bailey set out to learn all he could to pass the exam. His studies included six weeks at Austin, going to classes from 6:00-10:00 p.m. five nights a week while holding court in Eastland on Mondays and Fridays.
Judge Bailey says "there were a lot of good places to quit" and then he quickly adds "But thanks to all the encouragement I received from my family and friends I continued."
That continuation took him to May 26th when he took the oath and was admitted to the Bar.

Real Estate Section Coming

High interest rates and the soaring cost of houses make looking for a new home a difficult decision.
When the decision is made, a person usually turns to their local real estate agencies, and this takes them to the newspaper.
Advertisers in the Eastland County Papers include the leading real estate firms.
If all these Real Estates are scattered throughout the paper it can become a tricky job to locate the home of your choice. Paper goes all over the room while the buyer is trying to keep straight where each house is located that sounds appealing.
To make our customers' home buying more convenient, the Eastland County Papers will begin a real estate section with all the real estate ads together. We hope this decision will be of benefit to our customers.

Bass Club

The Eastland County Bass Club held its monthly bass tournament this month June 13th on Lake Cisco.
Twelve men and women showed for their monthly event and a good time shared by all. The three top fishermen were first place with five pounds and 13 ounces to Will Johnson, also Will won big bass of the event with the same fish five pounds and 13 ounces. Nice catch, Will. Second place with two pounds and eight ounces went to Bobby Maynard of Eastland. Third place to Cisco fisherman Bobby Rains with one fish weighing one pound and 13 ounces. Congratulations to these men.

The Eastland County Bass Club will hold its next monthly meeting July 2 in the Cisco Community Room above the First National Bank in Cisco at 7:30 p.m. Be sure to attend and everyone is welcome. The program for July will consist of films and educational material. Hope to see you all then.

Lights from the Christian World

By: Josephine Cleveland

"Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest"-Matthew 11:28.
"I just do the best I can." With faith and trust radiating from her countenance she continued, "Then I pray." These words spoken by a devout Christian woman sustained her through many tribulations and difficulties during her long life.

Him. Talk to Him. Let Him talk to you, so that He may make clear to your heart what now seems purposeless. He extends an invitation to you, "Come to me and I will give you rest."

WORD of GOD

I will declare the decree: the Lord hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee.
Psalms 2:7

Colony Community held reunion in Ranger

The cafeteria at the Ranger School resounded with greetings on Saturday night, June 20 and Sunday, June 21, as old and new friends of the Colony Community gathered to exchange news and happenings since they had last seen each other.

On Saturday night over 100 persons consumed eleven freezers of ice cream, and cakes too numerous to count.

At the brief business meeting Bailey Hagar was elected president for 1982 and J.D. Eakin was elected vice president. Mae Isabell was again elected secretary-treasurer. Without hesitation the group voted to meet again next year at the same time and same place.

It was agreed that the Colony Cemetery needed a chain length fence on the north and west side and that work will soon be underway. For persons wishing to contribute to the fund for the fence, funds may be turned in at the First State Bank of Ranger, earmarked "Colony Cemetery Fund".

Mr. H.G. Ramsey and Johnnie Laughlin were the oldest persons present. E.T. Boyd was the oldest student, having started to school about the year 1912.

Those having attended the original school, a one-room school across the road from the cemetery, were E.T. Boyd, Faye Kirk, Bill Barnes, Eugene Hennon, Mae Isabell and Earl Ivy.

Mrs. Lillie Robinson and Cecil Townsend were the only ex-teachers present.

On Sunday a lovely luncheon was enjoyed by a slightly smaller crowd.

Those registering were: From Fort Worth, Mary Ann

Hathcock Guess, Raymond Tarrant and Selmar and Myrl Jordan. From Lubbock, Jo Kirk King and Mike King. From Amarillo, Hattie Lou Kirk Richardson. Mr. and Mrs. George D. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Odis Smith attended from Borger. Allan Tarrant of Abilene, Elaine Wesley of Big Spring, Johnnie Laughlin, Selton and Elois Smith, and Jack and Patsy Wheat of Herington of Dallas, Bailey and Nona Diamond Hagar of Weatherford, Bessie McDaris of Breckenridge, Hubert Anderson of Stephenville, Eugene Hennon of Odessa, Pete and Pauline Pickett Fund of Lawn were also registered.

Otis and Mildred Anderson of Gainesville, Lillie Anderson Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Hagar of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Willie D. Poyner of Kingsland, W.H. and Verna Bearden of Aledo, Johnnie Wheat and Dale and Bessie Wheat of Austin, Guy and Bessie Ashcraft Thomason of Moran, Jerry and Gaye Loyd of View, Hazel Eakin King of Oklahoma City, Melvin and Inez Briden Daniel of De Leon and Bart Frasier of Stamford were among those registering.

Registering from Ranger were Jesse Hathcock, Reuben and Elfreda Beck, Cecil and Maxelle Townsend, George and Lillie Robinson, Lee Wheat, Dorothy Carr, Lillian Smith, L.D. and Mary Morre Tarrant, Alfred and Jacqueline Bowen Bush, Ronnie and Jason, Reese and Ruth Poyner Franklin, J.D. and Mona Eakin, Arthur and Una Bowen Beck, Kenneth and Faye Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. H.G. Ramsey, Mayme Lee Davis Wyatt, Mae Bowen Isabell, Bob and Joyce Alderson Ivy, Earl Ivy, T.J. and Bodeca Eakin Boyd, Holcomb and Minerva King Greer, E.T. and Flo Boyd, Georgia Mae Baggett Langford, Ed and Salley Danley, Paul and Willa King Wallen, Joe and Barbara Isabell King, Joe, Jr. and Jimmy, Bill Barnes, Fred and Mary Moseley, Otie and Ola Frasier, Mel and Kelli Scaife, Debi and Bret Rees, Jerry Stroud and Wesley and Johnnie Poyner.

Senator Glasgow Reports

By Senator Doug Glasgow

As you all know, the regular session of the 67th Legislature recently came to an end. While the legislature passed nine hundred and one bills, there were at least five measures that failed to pass necessitating a thirty day special session beginning on July 13th.

The topics set by the Governor in his message calling the special session are congressional redistricting, repeal of the state ad valorem tax, creation of a water trust fund, passage of a medical practices act and revisions of the state property tax code dealing with county wide appraisal districts.

The format for a special session requires that on each bill you start over from scratch. A new bill has to be filed on each subject, and the bill is referred to committee. The measure then goes through the committee process and then is to go to the floor of the respective body that it was filed in.

If the bill passes that body, then it goes to the other body for its consideration through the same process.

Each body will begin anew with separate bills on congressional redistricting. The conflict in conference committee during the last day revolved around the structure of the Dallas County Congressional districts and congressional districts in the South Texas and Valley areas.

Governor Clements and the Republicans had taken a special interest in creation of a minority district in Dallas County much to the detriment of incumbent Democratic Congressmen Mattox and Frost.

The South Texas and Valley controversy centered around Congressman Bill Patman's district and a district including part of Corpus Christi and south of the gulf coast city.

Abolition of the state ad valorem tax also included the problem of financing college construction. The funds raised through the ten cent levy were used for college building construction. The consensus in the legislature is for repeal of the tax, but the disagreement is over how to fund the construction.

One proposal was to create a permanently endowed fund, similar to the Permanent University Fund that helps the University of Texas and Texas A&M.

The other major proposal was to establish a constitutional fund, put a little money into it and wait until the next session of the Legislature in 1983 to choose a permanent method of funding college construction. In the meantime, if college building needs exceeded the size of the fund, the Legislature would make up the difference through special appropriations.

Speaker Clayton's project, the Water Trust Fund, failed to be considered because of failure to have posted the bill on the "intent" calendar in the Senate for the last day.

Clayton's proposal, HJR 33, would have sent to the voters in November a resolution to create a special water trust fund using "excess" state revenues and obligate up to $500 million of the credit of the State to back water development bonds of local government.

The medical practices act failed to come out of conference committee after the conferees failed to agree on certain aspects of the bill. Unless the act is passed, the licensing board for doctors will go out of existence September 1 because of the Sunset laws. Thus, doctors will no longer be required to have a license to practice. Everyone is optimistic that a practices act can be passed by September 1.

Also to be considered in special session is revision of the property tax code dealing with county wide tax appraisal districts. As has been the history of this controversial measure, the legislature was split on how to deal with the subject, and we'll be facing it again in special session.

We are excited and want you to know about a new computer program that will be coming to Eastland County on October 2!

What kind of computer program will this be? A computer terminal will be available and the computer will prepare a family budget for your family. The computer program is called "Dollar Watch".

The computer budget program "Dollar Watch" is being sponsored by the Family Living Committee of the Eastland County Extension Service. The program will be sponsored free to the public.

Helping families know the strong and weak points in their budgets is the focus of the new computer budgeting program.

"Dollar Watch" will provide a free personalized budget for each family based on their spending needs.

This computer budget program responds to a need expressed by many Texas families who are seeking help with financial management.

A recent survey found that over half the families in the United States feel insecure about their economic future.

More than half the families argue about money, and half do not have any sort of a budget, either formal or informal.

In "Dollar Watch" we will be using a computer terminal that is connected via telephone to a large computer system in Minneapolis.

If you are interested in having a computer budget prepared for your family, be watching the local papers for more details in the future. The Family Living Committee members met this week and some exciting, worthwhile programs will also be sponsored for you on October 2nd.

Oil and Gas Contract Inked

Command Energy Corporation out of Fort Worth, and Northern Liquid Fuels

Company with home office in Omaha, Neb., along with several other oil and gas companies signed a purchase contract Monday afternoon. Mike White at Buffalo Mud in Eastland, a part of Ramco Resource acted as host of the meeting.

Upon the signing of this contract Northern will begin construction of a pipeline to Eastland County from its Lipan Plant, located in Hood County. Also a pre-payment equal to fifty percent of the allowable for each well was begun until the pipeline construction is completed and gas is on stream.

Command Energy Corporation has initiated a 12-well drilling program in Eastland County, the first phase of a fifty-four well program planned for the remainder of 1981 and twenty wells during the first quarter of 1982.

Some of the wells have a high oil/gas ratio and the oil is not being produced pending the pipeline construction to eliminate the waste of gas.

Fred C. Mergner, President of Command Energy Corporation has been active in the Texas oil and gas industry since 1960. He was instrumental in securing the contract mentioned with Northern Liquid Fuels Company and in negotiations with them acted as spokesman for the producers and operators in the area.

These negotiations are a culmination of six months work reviewing offers from seventeen gas purchasers.

Other companies signing are:

- Lewis Petroleum Inc.
- Diverse Inc.
- McMillan Operating Co.
- Wilbrook Exploration, Inc.
- Interior Energy Inc.
- U.S. Exploration
- Jay Brothers Inc.
- RGD Inc.
- Nationwide Oil & Gas

Local Women Attend Meeting

Flora Mae Lee and Virginia Pingleton attended the Assembly of Women of the Christian Church in the Southwest at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth this past weekend. The theme of the meeting was "God's Partners...in New Possibilities."

Dr. Toni Craven of Brite Divinity School delivered the Bible lectures on the books of Ezra and Nehemiah. Ralph Stone of Dallas presented the drama "Only the Ark Has Changed." Nell Carlson of Washington, D.C., spoke at the Saturday night banquet on "The Church in Germany." The highlight of the banquet was the dedication of the hundreds of sewing kits that the women of Texas and New Mexico had prepared to be used by Church World Service around the world.

The meeting closed on Sunday with a communion service in Robert Carr Chapel on the campus.

Mrs. Pingleton is currently serving as a vice president of the Department of Church Women of the Christian Church in the Southwest.

GORDON SPOT

By DeMarquis Gordon

The insects are really working on the trees and other ornamentals throughout Eastland County.

Bagworms are destructive pests on many evergreen and deciduous shrubs and trees. April and May is the best time to treat ornamentals to control bagworms. However, if you have not sprayed and you see the bagworms on your plants you should spray now.

Several insecticides are effective. These include Sevin, Dursban, Dylox, Diazinon, and Orthene. Be sure to use spray equipment that gives complete coverage of all foliage.

The young worms or caterpillars construct a small tapered bag of silk-like material and attach to it pieces of bark and foliage. The bag turns brown in color.

A bagworm protrudes its head and front feet from the bag as it moves about the plant feeding but will withdraw into the bag when disturbed. In late summer the bag is attached to a branch and the mature caterpillar pupates within the bag.

The feeding worms, when infestation is heavy, will remove all parts of a tree or shrub, resulting in the death of the plant or heavily damaged parts.

The worms are easier to control when they are young and control measures should be applied as soon as an infestation is discovered.

The elm leaf beetles are destructive to elm trees. They should also be sprayed now if elm trees are infested. Many insecticides will kill the adult and larvae beetles, the major problem is thorough coverage of infested trees. Trees often have to be sprayed several times because there are at least three or more generations of beetles a year.

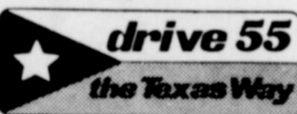

High pressure, high volume sprayers are necessary to completely cover the foliage.

Now that hot, dry weather is with us the lawns will need to be watered in order to keep them green. We were fortunate to have 4 inches of rain in early June and little watering was necessary.

Timely applications of water are required for effective and efficient water use. Apply water just as the grass begins to discolor and wilt. Most grasses take on a dark, dull appearance and the leaf blades begin to fold or roll when the grass goes into water stress. Grass under water stress also shows evidence of tracks after someone walks across the lawn. If dry conditions persist, the grass wilts, turns yellow and straw-colored. As a practice, observe that portion of the lawn that usually wilts first. Water the entire lawn when this area shows signs of stress.

When water is applied also influences the effectiveness of watering. Early morning is considered the best time to water. The wind is calm and the temperature is lower, thus water loss from evaporation is low. Early morning watering helps to wash dew off leaves which reduces the incidence of diseases. Late evening is considered the worst time to water as grass which remains wet throughout the night is more susceptible to disease.

Apply enough water to a lawn to wet the top 4 to 6 inches of soil. Light, frequent applications of water produce, weak, shallow-rooted turf highly susceptible to stress conditions of heat and drought. The application of 1 inch of water on most soils will adequately wet the soil. Less water is required on a sandy soil. The time required to wet the soil to this depth depends on the type of sprinkler used, the water pressure available and the rate at which water moves into the soil.

Cut irrigation fuel costs

A fuel bill of $10,000 or more to operate an irrigation pumping plant for a crop season is not unusual. It also dramatically illustrates the fact that fuel is a major cost of producing irrigated crops. So cutting irrigation costs can boost profits.

Wayne Keese, an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, recommends several steps to minimize irrigation fuel costs.

"Three main factors affect the amount of fuel used to pump water," Keese says. "These are water management practices, the pressure requirement and efficiency of the application system, and the efficiency of the pumping plant."

"In many cases, irrigation could be reduced without hurting yields or profits," says Keese. "Many crops have critical periods when yields would be drastically cut by lack of water. Then there are other growth periods when the need for water is not as critical."

According to Keese, crops should be irrigated only when yields will be increased enough to pay irrigation costs. "Never apply more water than can be held in the crop's root zone unless excess water is needed for leaching to control soil salinity," he points out.

Keese also suggests considering a low pressure application system. "Higher pressure means higher fuel use. Low pressure sprinklers could reduce fuel consumption, but at the same time, it's important to prevent water runoff," says Keese.

He explains that low pressure sprinklers usually increase the rate of water application. "An application rate that exceeds the soil's absorption rate is self-defeating unless furrow dikes or dams or some other practice is adopted to prevent runoff."

Research and demonstration results indicate the average pumping plant uses about 35 percent more fuel than a plant operating at an accepted, standard level of efficiency. The low efficiency of some pumps costs their owners thousands of dollars every year in excess fuel bills, notes the engineer.

Keese likens the evaluation of a pumping plant to determining the mileage performance of an automobile. However, acre inches of water are calculated instead of miles per gallon. It's a matter of comparing actual fuel use (gallons of diesel, kilowatt hours of electricity or thousand cubic feet of natural gas) per acre inch of water to a standard performance rate.

To follow Keese's evaluation procedures, first determine the plant's pumping rate (gallons per minute), pumping lift (number of feet from ground surface of the well's water level), discharge head or pressure (feet or pounds per square inch), fuel use and operating time (in hours).

Convert the pumping rate to total acre inches pumped by dividing by 450 and multiplying by the operating time.

Determine the fuel use by checking the gas or electric meter or measuring the amount of diesel fuel used from the storage tank during the operating time.

Divide fuel use by acre inches pumped to determine fuel use per acre inch of water.

Then figure the accepted standard performance rate for your plant and compare it to the plant's actual fuel consumption.

Fuel requirements for a plant operating at standard efficiency are:

- for each 100 feet of pumping lift: 1.046 gallons diesel, 12.92 Kwh electricity or 0.171 Mcf natural gas.

- for each 10 pounds per square inch of discharge pressure: 0.24 gallons diesel, 2.98 Kwh electricity or 0.0396 Mcf natural gas.

"Repair or replacement of inefficient engines and pumps may cost several thousand dollars, but annual fuel savings may amortize the capital investment in a short time," says Keese. He advises that careful record keeping is an important aspect of evaluating pumping plant efficiency, irrigation system operation and water management practices.

Olney Savings opens Wichita Falls office

WICHITA FALLS - The newest office of Olney Savings Association opened Monday in Wichita Falls. After the branch application was approved by the Commissioner of the Texas Savings and Loan Department in January, 1981, Olney Savings immediately began to prepare for their opening here and those efforts are now coming to fruition.

The new temporary office is located at Midwestern Parkway and Gayle Avenue in a former residence across the street from the main entrance of Sikes Center. According to Don McClatchy, president and chief executive officer, application has been made to the Commissioner's office to locate the Olney Savings permanent office at this same address.

Olney Savings Association is a $258 million savings and loan with fifteen offices serving almost thirty Texas cities. Texas lawmakers with oil & gas officials initiates anti-theft program

Texas lawmakers and oil and gas officials have initiated a statewide anti-theft program aimed at combating thieves that steal an estimated $100 million worth of oil field equipment yearly in the United States.

Officials from six oil and gas trade organizations will put into effect on July 1 a theft reporting system where individuals can call collect to report a theft or information regarding a theft. The telephone number is 817-723-1114.

Prompt reporting of an oil field theft increases the chance of getting the property returned by 10 fold.

This is the first statewide reporting system for equipment stolen from the oil patch.

This reporting system - coupled with the passage of two new laws passed by the 67th Texas Legislature and signed into law by Governor William P. Clements - was devised to stop the growing crime wave in the oil patch.

The new laws increase the penalty for stealing oil field equipment, and require more detailed recordkeeping on the sale and exchange of used oil field equipment.

The theft-reporting system will be based in Wichita Falls. After the information regarding the theft has been taken, the proper law enforcement officials and area news media will be notified.

Several associations have established a reward program of up to $2,500 for the arrest and conviction of a person or persons who have stolen oil field equipment.

The organizations involved in the theft reporting system includes the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association in Austin; North Texas Oil and Gas Association in Wichita Falls; West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association in Abilene; Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association in Amarillo; Permian Basin Petroleum Association in Midland and the Petroleum Committee of East Texas Chamber of Commerce in Longview.

These organizations urge land owners and royalty owners to take note of suspicious-looking vehicles or persons on oil and gas leases, and report these citations via the anti-theft telephone number.

The two new laws state:

*Individuals whose primary business is dealing in used oil and gas equipment must keep records when they obtain used equipment. These requirements include name and address of dealer; serial number if any; kind, make, size, weight, length and quantity of the used materials purchased or acquired by exchange; date obtained; name and address of seller or person who exchanged the materials; the location of the property at the time of sale or exchange; license number of vehicle used to transport the item to the dealer; and the driver's license number of the seller of person who exchanged the materials. These records must be kept for two years. Failure to comply could result in a fine of not less than $500 per violation.

*Theft of oil and gas equipment or petroleum itself, regardless of price, was raised from a third degree felony to a second degree felony. Previously, theft of material worth less than $10,000 was a third degree felony in Texas is punishable by two to ten years in prison and a fine of up to $5,000. A second degree felony is punishable by two to 20 years in prison and a fine up to $10,000. This law does not increase the minimum penalty for oil field thieves. It does, however, give prosecutors more discretion concerning the punishment which can be sought. The revision also simplifies the law by removing the need to establish the precise value of the material stolen.

The reporting system via telephone and subsequent notification of law enforcement officials and the news media will be on a six-month trial basis beginning July 1 and ending December 31.

Seller financing offers benefits

Recently many people have found it necessary to provide a portion of the financing when selling a home.

Instead of receiving the full value of the equity in cash, the seller receives some cash and lends the remainder to the buyer. This often allows the buyer to assume an existing mortgage at an interest rate which is less than that available for new financing. In many instances, however, the interest rate on the existing loan will be escalated to the current rate when the house is sold.

In addition to offering the possibility of a lower interest rate, seller financing benefits the buyer by reducing the cash down payment required to purchase the home. The seller benefits by the greater likelihood of a fast sale.

Seller financing can be a good deal for both buyers and sellers, but remember, proper legal advice is essential in a transaction as complex as the sale of a home.

VACATIONS BY THE ELICE

If you want a vacation home but do not want to be burdened with the expenses of owning a second home, resort time-sharing may be the answer.

In the present market, a one-time purchase price may be no greater than the cost of a new car. This enables middle-income families to "own a slice" of a resort with furnished accommodations and full facilities. If you want to combine a vacation and an investment, look into resort time-sharing.

As a time-share owner, you can purchase the right to occupy a vacation dwelling for a specified time period, such as your normal two-week vacation each year.

Resort time-sharing can be looked on as a hedge against inflation. Also, it offers potential vacation savings. As resort hotel rates continue to increase, the mortgage payment remains fixed.

WHAT IS MORTGAGE INSURANCE?

Buying mortgage insurance? Sometimes the term "mortgage insurance" can be confusing. One type of mortgage insurance is really life insurance which pays off the home loan if the breadwinner dies. Before buying, compare premiums to those available on similar amounts of declining term life insurance.

Another type of mortgage insurance protects your lender in the event you default on the mortgage. When you borrow more than 80 percent of the value of a home using a conventional loan, your lender will probably require you to obtain mortgage insurance.

The cost is usually a one-time fee of 1 percent of the mortgage balance. Each year thereafter you will have to pay one-quarter of 1 percent of the mortgage balance until the loan balance is under 80 percent of the home's purchase price. After that, the mortgage insurance is no longer required.

REAL ESTATE OFFERS INVESTMENT ADVANTAGES

Are you considering purchasing real estate as an investment? Then you should be aware that real estate provides many advantages in addition to an immediate cash return.

Sunday, June 28, 1981

The use of borrowed funds allows the investor to increase the return on the amount of money taken out of the investor's own pocket. Interest payments and depreciation are deductible from the income tax and often provide a tax shelter to the small investor.

Appreciation in real estate values and equity build-up often provide handsome returns upon the sale of the property. And the small investor in real estate can easily obtain investment information regarding both the market in which property is traded and the data on the property's income and expenses.

"The Rural Church where the City Folks Attend"

People Things

GUATEMALA, C.A.—Our trip to this Central American country began at 7 a.m. June 15th at Abilene airport. It took about 35 minutes to fly to Dallas-Fort Worth airport and, after a 30-minute stop, another 50 minutes to fly to Houston.

At Houston International Airport, we had to change to an airliner that left from another terminal. This meant carrying two bags to a shuttle bus and into another terminal. After a delay of nearly five hours, the two and a half hour flight to Guatemala began.

All of the flying was in daylight in good weather with only an occasional few minutes in clouds. The trip through customs took about five seconds as the folks who met us were acquainted with the officials who didn't require our bags to be opened.

WE REPORTED in Tuesday to the newspaper that the International Executive Service Corps recruited us to work with, and we spent the day meeting folks and inspecting La Prensa Libre (free press) and its facilities. The newspaper is the country's leading publication with some 300 employees. Our job is to study the plant from bottom to top for a couple of months and make any recommendations we can for improvements.

We were pleased to hear that a newspaper man we met a few years ago in El Salvador is recovering nicely from injuries he received when attacked by terrorists.

Family Purchases

Dwelling in Cisco

Betty Burton and family are proud of their purchase in buying the attractive three bedroom brick dwelling located at 1410 Avenue O. Mrs. Burton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Audie Moore of our town. The Garl D. Gorr Real Estate Brokerage handled the sale.

a few months ago. He is in Miami, Fla., and hopes to return to his work before long.

FOLKS AT THE newspaper tell us that tourism is suffering here — off about 86 percent from normal — due to stories of terrorism. They credit these stories to the Miami, Fla., Herald and the New York Times and say the situation has been greatly overplayed. They affirm that it is no more dangerous here than in New York City or Miami.

The newspaper people tell us that the general economy and security outlook has improved materially since the inauguration of Mr. Reagan. When the president was shot recently, Guatemalans were genuinely alarmed and, we were told, many thousands kept prayer vigils in churches.

GUATEMALA CITY has seven television stations — all Spanish language. There is one lone FM radio station that plays soft music and gives news reports in English. You can buy the Miami Herald in the late afternoon of publication day and the New York Times the next day. Local newspapers are Spanish language. Many people speak English from fair to good, so you have no trouble making your wants known.

Prices of food are a bit higher than in the USA. Gasoline sells for about $2.30 per gallon here. Most of their oil is imported. In the past few years, they've discovered oil in the north part of the country. Understand they now produce about 6,000 barrels per day in this country and are hopeful of increasing this. (We learned some time ago that the oil companies out at Kameron House in Cisco have substantial royalty interests in Guatemala.)

OUR HOME HERE is the Camino Real Hotel, which is very nice indeed. They have two heated swimming pools, a large gym with sauna for guests, tennis courts and the like... King Carlos and his Queen of Spain spent a weekend at the hotel two years ago and they are shown in a huge painting on the lobby wall.

The temperature is pretty ideal — up to around 75 degrees during the daytime and to about 65 degrees at night. This is the rainy season, which means that showers are liable to fall during the afternoons. So far we've seen only a few sprinkles. The rainy season runs from May to October and their agricultural crops are planted and grow during that period.

Leading exports are coffee and beef. Coffee prices are depressed right now — about 95 cents per pounds to the growers and they must pay an export tax.

We're looking forward to a pleasant and interesting stay here.

Morgan Family To Gather For Annual Reunion

Members of the Morgan family will gather for their annual reunion at the Scranton Community Center Sunday, June 28. The gathering will be an all day affair. All relatives, friends and neighbors of the family are invited to attend the event.

Harwell, Cisco; Sheila and Tracy Walton, Cisco; O.O. Mobley, Cisco; Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Harwell, Denton; Kelly Harwell and fiancée, Donna Schenk, Waco.

Those attending from Breckenridge were Flossie McConnell, Connie McConnell, Royce and Helen Morton, Mrs. Hettie Beggs and the host and hostess, Berle and Dora Harwell.

"LIFE IS GOOD TO US... Be Good to Life," is the theme of the above drawing by Patricia Ray. Patricia, the daughter of Earl and Jane Ray of Cisco, will be a seventh grader in the coming school year and says she is interested in art. She said there was no special reason why she drew the picture. Patricia moved to Cisco with her parents last summer.

Highway accidents are one of the leading causes of injury and death. Home is not a haven for immunity. The rate of domestic accidents is high, not to mention the frequency of strokes and heart attacks. To meet these emergencies, Pafford Ambulance Service deploys an Emergency Medical Care Technician on every emergency call, and vehicles are equipped with life-supportive systems and radio communications.

Pafford Ambulance Service has been endorsed by the City of Cisco and County Commissioner Richard Robinson.

Pafford Ambulance Service has a goal of 850 members. If this goal is not reached, Pafford Ambulance Service has the option to refund your membership money and cease ambulance service. If the goal is met, operations will continue.

Your endorsement of PAFFORD AMBULANCE SERVICE, a private service in the public interest, through purchases of MEMBERSHIPS will attest to its worth to you and the community. Cisco needs your help!
