

Annual Combined VBS Concluded July 31 At First Methodist Church

The 14th combined Vacation Bible School sponsored by the First Christian, First Presbyterian and First United Methodist Churches concluded Friday, July 31, with open house, program, and picnic for all participants with their families and friends. The program included songs learned during the week, with the children playing rhythm band instruments and Diana Fraley playing the autoharp.

Music directors for the Bible School this year were Diana Fraley and Betty Odom. Christy Smith played for the fifth and sixth grade classes on the piano.

The program was held in the sanctuary and the picnic was held in Fellowship Hall at the Methodist Church. The children and the families brought sack lunches and the churches provided punch and cookies. Certificates of appreciation were presented to all of the Bible School staff. The Rev. Jim

Purpose Of Social Security Benefit

The general purpose of social security benefit payments is to help replace the loss of income caused by the retirement, death or disability of the wage earner.

Traditionally the male has been the wage earner and the female his dependent. Because of the male's role as the wage earner, the Social Security Administration had provisions which protected or gave special consideration to the female dependent.

Now that females have entered the work force in large numbers they have also become wage earners. Subsequent amendments to the Social Security Act and court actions have resulted in a redefining of the terms wage earner and dependent.

A wage earner is now defined as any individual male or female who works under social security. A dependent is any individual who meets the proper relationship requirement.

Below are some examples of changes that have been made to give equal protection under Social Security: (1) a young spouse, whether male or female, with minor children in his or her care would be eligible to receive benefits; (2) the widower or husband in most cases no longer has to meet the one-half support requirement to be eligible on a female wage earners record; (3) the method of computing benefits is the same for both males and females.

If you think any of these changes would apply to you, call us at 698-1360, or if you're outside of Abilene call toll free 1-800-392-1603.

Allsup's Marathon Slated October 3

The seventh annual Allsup's Marathon is slated to be held in Clovis, New Mexico, on Saturday, October 3.

Those interested in participating are requested to register no later than September 25. Registration fees on or before that date will be $7.00. Registrations after that date will cost $9.00 and will be accepted through Friday, October 2, at the race headquarters in the Holiday Inn, 2700 E. Mabry Drive. All proceeds go to the Clovis Track Club. Marathon activities will begin October 2 with a spaghetti dinner at the Holiday Inn.

The marathon, sanctioned and certified by the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU), will give runners a choice of the full 26.2 mile course, a 13.1 mile course or a 10 kilometer course. The race will start at the Clovis High School track at 7 a.m. According to Lonnie Allsup, president of Allsup's Convenience Stores, Inc. and sponsor of the race, "At 12 noon T-shirts will again be given to all contestants who complete the race and 117 trophies will be awarded to the winners."

The number of trophies in three categories has been expanded this year to reflect the growing number of runners competing in the following age groups: Female 0-15 years; Males 15-29 and 30-39.

Competition reached new heights last year with 440 runners participating, some from as far away as California and Florida. An individual record for the state of New Mexico was set in the half marathon with Al Waquie winning in 1:07:47. In fact, the first five finishers in the half marathon all bettered the old state mark.

Benito Arellano took the marathon with a time of 2:34:27 and Kyle Smith the 10 kilometer in 33:59. A field of over 500 runners is anticipated for this year's race. Persons who desire additional information about the Allsup's Marathon, or who wish to receive a registration form, may do so by writing: Royce Jones, 3532 Brynhurst Ct., Clovis, New Mexico, or by calling (505) 762-5010.

WORD of GOD

Psalm 91:1-7

He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust.

Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence.

He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day;

Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee.

MRS. TOMMY W. POPE

Hoffman And Pope Wed In August 22 Ceremony

Tammie June Hoffman and Tommy Wayne Pope were married August 22 in the Crestview Church of Christ in Waco, Texas, with Bert Mercer officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hoffman of Waco.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Pope of Cisco.

Tammy Pope, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and Mrs. Tom Berry was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Debbie Gromackie, Mrs. Ronald Hicks, Paula Scott, Mrs. Ronnie Snow, Mrs. Terry Barber and Mrs. Junior Thomason. Junior bridesmaid was Heather Cook and flower girls were Bandi Kilpatrick and Kamie Berry.

Candlelighters were Brian Shaw and Matthew Murphy. Ed Rhodes of Abilene was best man and groomsmen were Bill Beazley, David Martin, Rob La Freniere, Barry Adams, Bennie Kilpatrick, Ronnie Snow and Teddy Hoffman, brother of the bride.

Ring bearer was Adam Smith and ushers were Terry Barber, Steve Nicholson and Kevin Hoffman, brother of the bride.

The bride graduated from University High School in Waco and Abilene Christian University with a bachelor of arts degree. She is employed in the Advertising/Display Department of Sears in Abilene.

The groom is a graduate of Cisco High School and Abilene Christian University and is a well tester for Bilbo Wireline Service in Abilene.

Following their honeymoon trip to Ruidoso, New Mexico, the couple will reside at 2601 Nonesuch Road in Abilene.

Life In A 'Residential Thermos Bottle' May Be Hazardous To Your Family's Health

Homeowners who invest in energy-saving additions to their homes without the proper know-how may be exposing their families to a serious health hazard - indoor air pollution.

According to the current issue of National Wildlife magazine, air-tight homes outfitted with triple-glazed windows, air-lock vestibules, weather stripping, and plastic vapor barriers in walls, floors, and ceilings, may be "residential thermos bottles," which trap dangerous pollutants inside. In fact, a report recently released by the National Academy of Sciences concluded that exposure to indoor air pollution is "common enough to account for substantial mortality and premature mortality."

The problem is much more prevalent in newer homes, the National Wildlife Federation's bimonthly publication emphasizes. In older, draftier homes the air is replaced by fresh air about once an hour. But in some of today's tightly-sealed houses the inside air is replaced only about once every ten hours. Because most Americans spend 80 to 90 percent of their time inside rather than out, there is a real health threat. "In some circumstances, there's much more exposure to indoor pollution than outdoor pollution," Yale epidemiologist Dr. Jan Stolwijk told National Wildlife.

The pollutants trapped inside airtight dwellings may include:

- Formaldehyde, which is found in a host of products - particularly board and plywood, insulating foam, adhesives, and household furnishings. The gas given off can cause eye irritation, breathing difficulties, and nausea.

- Carbon Monoxide and oxides of nitrogen, which are mainly generated by gas ranges, heaters, wood stoves, and tobacco smoke. The gasses can cause headaches, dizziness, and are linked to a variety of respiratory ailments.

- Suspended particulates from tobacco - smoking and wood-burning which can be inhaled and lodged in the lungs. The tiny particles of hydrocarbons can cause respiratory ailments.

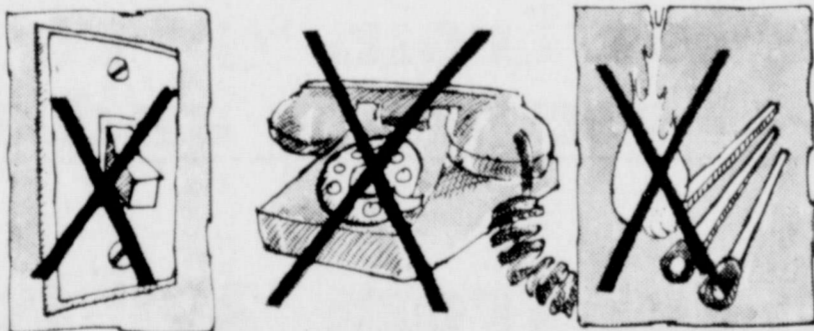

- Radon, a decay product from radium, often found in soil and building materials. Where radon levels are high, the radioactive particles can accumulate in the lungs and may eventually cause cancer.

- Household chemicals, including furniture polish, oven cleaner, hair spray, and air freshener. These products contain organic chemicals that add to indoor smog. Health impacts from these pollutants are not yet known.

Homeowners Hoping to cut down on fuel bills needn't be discouraged. They can still take such energy-saving measures as installing storm windows, insulating ceilings and hot water heaters, and turning down thermostats. They should also be on the alert for warning signs. If the home seems stuffy, if there is excess moisture in the winter, or if family members suffer from frequent headaches or eye irritation, indoor air pollution may be a problem.

NOTICE

IF YOU SMELL NATURAL GAS, FOLLOW THESE 3 STEPS TO SAFETY.

The natural gas industry has an excellent safety record.

The fact that you can smell natural gas is because we add a harmless chemical to it as a safety feature. Otherwise, it would be completely odorless.

If you detect faint whiffs of what you think may be gas, investigate. It may be something that is as easily and safely corrected as a pilot light that has gone out, or a burner valve that's partially open.

If your equipment seems to be working properly and the odor intensifies and seems to be everywhere, please follow these precautions:

1. Do not switch anything electrical on or off. Do not use the telephone in your own home. Do not strike a match. Do not do anything that might cause a spark.

2. Have everyone leave the house immediately, leaving doors open to help ventilate.

3. Go to a nearby telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the source of the odor to determine whether it's safe for you to return to the house.

You may never have a natural gas leak, but we want you to be informed in case one does occur. Please make sure your family is aware of these precautionary steps. And we suggest that you keep this message for future reference.

'Windfall' Tax Cut

By Viola M. Payne

Now that the dust is clearing from the June-July Tax cut battle in the Washington arena, Oil Royalty owners and Independent Producers want to know whether they have any relief from the "Windfall Profit" Tax. (Actually an excise Tax). The results are somewhat complicated (meaning that a citizen needs at least two years of Law School to comply with everything hanging over his head) but the measures are of some real benefit to small Royalty Owners and a few others.

Final changes adopted are:

The excise Tax on new oil will be reduced from 30 to 15 percent on a stair-step scale between now and January 1986.

Stripper oil produced by Independents will be exempted from the Tax on Jan. 1, 1983.

Royalty owners will receive a $2,500 Tax Credit in 1981 which converts to a two barrels of royalty oil per day exemption in 1982, and to three barrels per day beginning in 1985.

Tight sands gas production no longer must depend on virtually unattainable pre-certification requirements for incentive pricing.

Lost in the nine-week battle was any hope of totally abolishing the "Windfall" Tax, or of exempting Independents and Royalty Owners up to 1,000 barrels daily. For it seems that the Windfall Tax, which was first looked on as the worst Tax ever passed in Washington, is now viewed by many Legislators as a necessary underpinning for Federal financing. And restoring the depletion allowance to 22 percent went down the drain, as did partially exempting new oil production. But it is clear that if Texas Independent Oil Producers and friends in Congress had not sought lofty goals, the final results would have been zero.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen apparently deserves much credit for leading out in the fight for oil taxation relief. President Reagan had included a $1500 "Windfall Tax" exemption in his original Tax Cut Measure, but as debates began it became clear that the Administration preferred to delay treatment for the oil tax until another day. Senator Bentsen, however, opened a fight in late June with an effort to have the Finance Committee approve the 1,000 barrel per day independent exemption sought by TIPRO (Texas Independent Oil Producers and Royalty Association) and regional Associations. The effort failed. But it finally led to Committee action adopting the new oil rate reduction which survived in the final bill.

Later, the Senator ran with his exemption amendment on the floor and lost 38-61. But Republican support rose for another amendment to exempt new oil totally. This had majority support, but not enough to head off a disastrous filibuster. So it was reluctantly withdrawn.

The Senate later adopted an amendment by Senator John Tower that corrected the tight gas sand certification problem. In the House, there were nine Texas delegation "Boll weevils," the title granted conservative Democrats who represented the balance of power for final Tax Cut Bill passage. This led to a substantial oil amendment in the Democrat Bill, including treatment of Royalty Owners. (After TIPRO's insistence). One of the so-called "boll weevils" was Congressman Charles Stenholm, who has long been in favor of oil taxation relief. The Bill from the Democrats led, in turn, to a better package in the Republican Bill. This essentially included the final Conference Committee results plus restoration of the depletion allowance.

At this point, the battle escalated into all-out political warfare. In an emergency meeting, TIPRO—under the leadership of President L. Frank Pitts—assumed a non-political stance, authorizing its leaders and staff to pursue the best possible results under the Association's existing mandate for the 1,000 barrel exemption. The Republican version prevailed. The Independent Oil Producers then joined in an all-out effort to reserve its oil provisions, vs the Senate's modest package, in Conference Committee.

Of the fifteen Conference Committee members, three were from the Texas Delegation—Senator Bentsen and Congressmen Bill Archer and Jake Pickle.

During a night-long battle, all three Texans fought for the total House oil package. They were joined by Senator Dole, Senator Russell Long, and the House Republicans serving with Congressman Archer. However, when the vote came for retaining restoration of percentage depletion, they were outnumbered by the remaining House Democrats, Senate Republicans, and Independent Senator Harry Byrd from Virginia. Faced again with unacceptable filibustering in committee, and later in the Senate, the Committee took a final vote at 8:00 a.m. on Saturday morning, August 1. Soon afterward, both houses passed the Bill with overwhelming majorities.

Since most Eastland County oil is produced by Independents and many small oil royalties are individually owned here, this area is bound to benefit by the passage of the Tax Relief measure. In the future, Texans will continue to lead out for further modification—and abolishment—of the so-called "Windfall Profit" excise Tax.

Largest Pumping Unit To Be Exhibited

The world's largest pumping unit manufacturer will exhibit the world's largest oil well pumping unit, equivalent to a five story building, at the World Oil & Gas Show and Conference to be held in Dallas, Texas December 14-17, 1981, according to Martin C. Dwyer, the show's General Manager.

Oil company executives who got their start in the industry operating pumping units in the various oil fields throughout the United States and the world, will be asked to serve as honorary pumpers at various periods during the show, according to Joe Byrd, Chief Engineer for Lufkin Industries and inventor of the Lufkin Mark II unit which will be on display.

The unit will weigh the equivalent of sixteen 2,000 pound automobiles and is pumping oil from depths five miles in the earth.

This is 350 times deeper than the Drake well, the first oil well brought in in the United States in 1869 at Titusville Penn sylvania.

"The nodding horse head of the operating unit will greet every person entering the World Oil & Gas Show. It will be placed outside at the entrance, being too tall for the Dallas Convention Center according to Dwyer.

Dwyer said the Lufkin unit will be one among exhibits covering space large enough to house six regulation sized football fields.

Exhibits will feature the exploration, drilling, production, pipeline, gas processing, refining and petrochemical industries.

"The show will provide much new technology to help the oil and gas industry to become much more efficient in the finding of new energy at greater depths to take care of the crisis needs of the United States and make it less dependent on outside oil.

"New technology will abound among the exhibitors since approximately 80% of the exhibitors say they will have innovations and new technology to show the some 30,000 oil and gas men of titles who are expected to attend".

Time to sign up for federal crop insurance

COLLEGE STATION--Small grain producers in Texas will need to decide soon if they wish to sign up for Federal Crop Insurance.

The insurance, available from any local Federal Crop Insurance Corp. representative, replaces the disaster payment program that has been in effect in recent years. Producers interested in insurance protection should contact local FCIC representatives for the sign-up deadline. The FCIC program is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Federal crop insurance protection is available to all wheat and barley producers in Texas and to oat producers in the northern blacklands and central areas of Texas," points out Dr. James Ahrenholz, economist in management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The economist notes that there are three levels of insurance coverage available to producers. These are based on 50, 65 and 75 percent of the farm's average historical yield.

Producers can also make three price (per bushel) selections: wheat--$2.50, $3.50 and $4.50; barley--$2.00, $2.25 and $2.60; and oats--$1.20, $1.40 and $1.70.

"Premium rates of the 50 and 65 percent level of coverage include a 30 percent reduction as a program subsidy," notes Ahrenholz. "The premium for the 75 percent coverage level includes a reduction which is 30 percent of the 65 percent level premium."

The economist gives this example in explaining the crop insurance program. If a farm in northern Texas has an average historical yield of 25 bushels of wheat per acre, the producer can select coverage levels of either 12.5, 16.5 or 19 bushels (50, 65 or 75 percent of the historical average, respectively). If he chooses the 19 bushels per acre coverage and a price level of $4.50, his premium for example on a Cooke County farm including subsidy, would be $7.75 per acre. Premiums will vary according to the coverage and price level chosen by the farmer as well as by the location of the farm, says Ahrenholz.

For the cost of the premium, the farmer (in the above example) is buying income protection (at the selected price) for himself when his crop yield drops below the 19-bushel level. If his yield is reduced to 10 bushels, then he will receive an indemnity for nine bushels (19 minus 10) at $4.50 each for a total of $40.50 per acre.

"In addition to providing protection from all unavoidable hazards, the crop insurance program offers several other aspects," notes Ahrenholz. "The premiums are tax deductible, they need not be paid until the crop is harvested, and the insurance policy can be used as collateral.

"Crop insurance is one way farmers can protect themselves against some of the adverse financial consequences of a crop loss," says the economist.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

Ten Americans were killed last year and 94 wounded in terrorist attacks around the world; in places like El Salvador, Turkey, the Philippines and on the West Bank.

We live in an age of terrorism, as anyone who went through the decade of the Seventies can testify: the massacre at the Munich Olympics in 1972, the siege at Entebbe, the seizure of embassies in Teheran and Bogota and London, the skyjackings, the bombings.

The Central Intelligence Agency, which is charged with the responsibility for keeping track of international terrorism, recently conducted a comprehensive review of its files and issued a disturbing report.

Since 1968, some 3,668 people have been killed, 7,474 wounded in 6,714 acts of international terrorism.

Things seem to be getting worse. There were more casualties of terrorism in 1980 than in any year since the CIA began its analysis in 1968.

1980 also marked the first time a large number of terrorist assassinations were directly sponsored by governments. "These attacks proved to be an efficient, low-cost method of achieving limited goals," the CIA reports. "Some Third World nations, especially Middle Eastern countries, are likely to continue this practice."

Americans, in 1980, remained the primary targets of international terrorism—as they have since 1968—with nearly two out of every five incidents involving U.S. citizens or property. And there were a record 112 attacks on U.S. diplomats serving at our missions abroad last year.

I have proposed legislation which would demonstrate forcefully to the world that the United States will not bend to the will of senseless violence, and will not tolerate officially-sanctioned terrorism.

The Bentsen Omnibus Antiterrorism Act of 1981 would stiffen criminal penalties for terrorist acts within the United States and also provide sanctions against countries which support terrorism, along with setting up a program of continuous review of U.S. antiterrorism procedures.

Under my bill, judges could deny bail to accused terrorists if the judge thinks they pose a threat to society. A maximum five-year prison term and $5,000 fine would await criminals convicted of threatening or planning to commit terrorist acts.

The President would have the power to cut off a broad range of aid to countries which help out terrorists. We would, for example, send home any students from one of those countries who are enrolled in a U.S. school.

If we're going to end this madness, we'll have to let the terrorists know that we won't tolerate their activities, and that there is no place of refuge on earth for them.

One of the most tangible signs of growing citizen involvement and interest in their government is the increasing volume of mail I receive from my fellow Texans. In recent months, I have received approximately 5,000 letters a week -- plus mass-produced post cards which are part of organized mail campaigns.

I welcome both expressions of opinion, and requests for help in areas in which I am able to provide assistance. Letters are among the best means for me to keep in touch with your views. And, of course, a major part of my job is helping my constituents with federal problems.

Often, I become aware of strong opposition or support among Texans on a particular legislative issue, and I take those views seriously as I examine legislation.

Concerning problems my constituents are having with the federal bureaucracy, I am able to assist in making sure the right person has received all of the relevant information -- and that the matter is receiving timely consideration. These requests for help range from retired persons whose Social Security checks have been delayed to military service members who need hardship discharges to cities applying to federal agencies for grants. Unfortunately, I cannot order a federal agency to decide in someone's favor, but I can make sure it gives careful and full consideration.

In addition, I receive requests for military academy appointments, flags flown over the Capitol, and information about pending legislation.

All of these areas, as well as other federal-related questions, fall within my Senate responsibilities. But my jurisdiction does not extend to state or local matters. Nor am I able to give personal, legal or financial advice.

There are some things you can do to make it easier for me and my staff to answer your letters. If possible, all letters should be typed or printed neatly in ink. If your letter is not legible, we cannot help you. In addition, please include your name and return address on both the envelope and the letter. Often telegrams and mailgrams do not include a complete return address, and that makes response difficult.

When discussing pending legislation, please describe the bill. If you know the bill number, that is helpful information.

If you are writing about a problem you are having with the bureaucracy, please be sure to give complete background on your situation and the steps you have taken before writing me.

A letter you have composed expressing your views on a subject have more impact than a mass-produced postcard. And a letter expressing your views on one or two issues has more impact than a lengthy "laundry list" of subjects.

Letters expressing an opinion or requesting information on legislation should be directed to my Washington office. The address is: Senator John Tower, U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C., 20510.

Many times, it is more convenient for you to contact one of my four state offices. They are located in Houston, Dallas, Austin and Lubbock. You may find such matters as appointments to military academies, assistance in obtaining federal grants and military personnel inquiries can be more conveniently handled from one of these state offices. They are all listed in the telephone book under "United States."

Please feel free to contact either my Washington office, or one of my state offices, any time I can be of assistance to you.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Perhaps the cruelest hoax that the U.S. government participates in is the belief in a free world market as the answer to the nation's agricultural industry.

Let's take a look at that free market. First, let's examine the actions of our own government and see how those actions perpetuate that hoax:

Just last summer, in response to Russia's aggressive actions in Afghanistan, this country announced that we would no longer honor our commitments to sell grain to the Soviet Union. We have just seen an end to that embargo and its effect on grain markets. It was not the first embargo nor will it be the last. Trade embargos are an effective tool in our foreign relations policies. The majority of this country's farmers supported this last embargo, myself included. We questioned this industry being singled out for export restrictions, while other exporting industries went unscathed, but, in general, we supported the move so long as it was effective.

The embargo is not the only government action that interferes with agricultural marketing. Price controls in times of commodity shortages are another. Tell me what is going to happen the first day we get a shortage of any food commodity in this country? Are we still going to sell that commodity to the highest bidder on the free market or are we going to slap price and export controls on that commodity and take care of the American consumer first? You know what we will do. The free market system will go out the window the first time any shortage begins to have a real effect on the American consumer.

Ask any cattleman if he remembers what happened when beef prices went up several years ago in response to cyclical production shortages of beef. No amount of explaining kept our government from opening up the import floodgates, as well as placing price controls on beef to ease that shortage.

Then, let's turn to the actions by other governments operating in this "free world market." Look at the number of Toyotas that come into this country from Japan on an unlimited basis. At the same time do you think we can expand our exports of beef into Japan? No. The Japanese government carefully protects its domestic beef producers and prohibits further imports of American beef.

Statewide average city sales tax up

Austin, Texas—State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday said August City Sales Tax rebate checks to 952 Texas cities will total $95.8 million.

This month's payment brings the cities year-to-date totals to $439.3 million compared to $392.9 million during a comparable period in 1980.

On a statewide average, sales tax payments are up this year by nearly 12 percent over 1980, according to Bullock.

Among the 952 Texas cities were Cisco, Net payment $17,406.70 and 1981 payments to date $114,743.59, percentage 6.21%.

Eastland, net payment $29,754.71, 1981 payments to date $113,432.11, percentage 10.58%.

Ranger, net payment $26,384.33, 1981 payment $89,073.49, percentage to date 29.23%.

Rising Star, net payment $4,292.58, 1981 payment $12,702.53 and percentage -5.62%.

If you've got the gas... We've got the line

Northern Gas Products Company is constructing a low pressure gathering system and 50-mile pipeline to transport gas from a large portion of north central Texas to its processing plant in Hood County. The new pipeline, which originates in southern Eastland County, will be in service by early fall.

Northern Gas Products Company also provides a full range of gas liquids services from transportation to marketing. We can handle all of your gas processing needs.

We're a part of InterNorth, Inc., a $3 billion, energy-based company involved in natural gas, liquid fuels, petrochemicals, oil and gas exploration and coal. We've been in the gas processing business for over 20 years and we operate six gas processing plants in Texas alone.

Call us collect to find out more about what we can do for you. Our Regional Manager is John Hon and he can be reached at 713-940-5264. Or, call Larry Eledge, Director of Gas Liquids Acquisitions, at 713-940-5356.

YOUR LOW-VOLUME GAS CAN MAKE YOU MONEY

A cost-efficient Eliminator 1 gas compressor can make your low volume wells profitable by economically compressing your gas volumes from as low as 20 mcf up to 300 mcf.

And just as importantly, the electrically powered Eliminator 1 lets you sell 100% of your valuable gas, and you have minimum downtime with the automatic on and off feature.

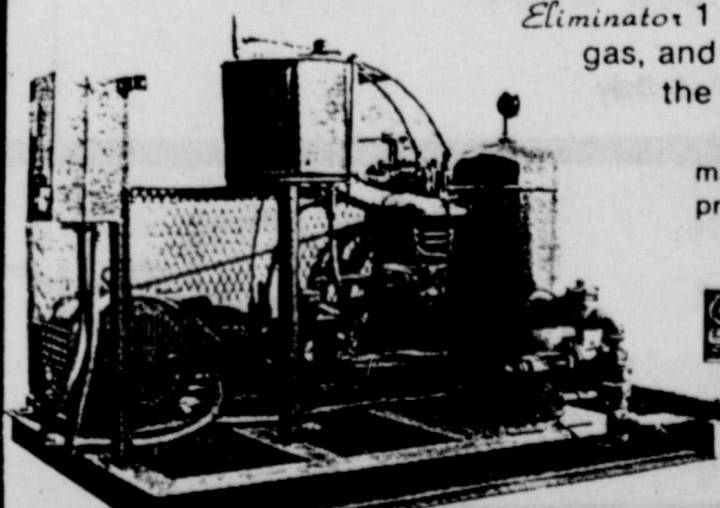

Let Greenbriar Energy show you how to make your low-volume gas operations more profitable.
