Lobos Still Tied For District Following 54-0 Win Over Ranger

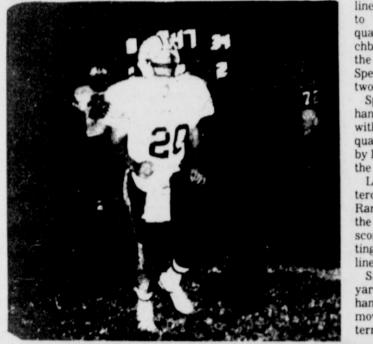

The Cisco High School Lobos remained in a three way tie for District 10-AA champions following their 54-0 defeat of the Ranger Bulldogs Friday night.

The Lobos are tied for first place with Eastland and DeLeon. San Saba was knocked out of a four-way tie when they were defeated by Eastland Friday night 28-13. The Lobos are now 5-3-1 for the season and 5-1 in district play while Ranger is 2-7 for the year and 1-5 in district.

Cisco scored in every quarter to spoil the Bulldogs homecoming game in Ranger High School's football stadium. The Bulldogs were unable to get any points on the scoreboard.

The Lobos first_touchdown came on the first play of their second possession of the ball. They received a Bulldog punt and started their first scoring drive from the Ranger 30 yard line. Jason Potter took the handoff from quarterback Randall Rattan and ran it in for the touchdown. The extra point kick by Kenneth Preston was blocked by Ranger to make the score 6 to 0 with 7:28 left in the first quarter.

On the Bulldogs next possession of the ball, Lobo Brian Fleming intercepted a pass at Cisco's 40 yard line to set up Cisco's second scoring drive.

Starting on Cisco's 43-yard line, QB Rattan connected with a pass to Larry Adams at Ranger's 46 yard line. A handoff to Gary Speegle covered 38 yards setting up the Lobos on Ranger's eight yard line. Frank Seabourn took the next handoff to Ranger's three yard line and Speegle then moved the ball down to the one. Another handoff to Speegle got the touchdown with 4:40 left in the first quarter. A pitchout from QB Rattan to Potter added two extra points to the score, making it 14 to 0.

The Bulldogs were unable to make a first down on their next possession and had to punt to Cisco. The Lobos started their third scoring drive from the Ranger 40-yard line.

Again QB Rattan connected with a pass to Adams on the first play to put the ball on the Bulldogs 22-yard line. Rattan moved the ball to the 16-yard line on a quarterback keeper. A pitchback to Seabourn moved the ball to the six and Speegle took a handoff to the two-yard line. Speegle then took the next handoff in for the touchdown with 2:09 left in the first quarter. The extra point kick by Preston was good making the score 21 to 0.

Lobo Danny Garcia intercepted a Bulldog pass on Ranger's next possession of the ball to set up another scoring drive, this one starting from Cisco's 39-yard

Speegle scampered 15 yards on the first play, a handoff from QB Rattan, to move the ball into Bulldog territory. Speegle and Potter continued digging out yardage for the Lobos moving the ball to the three-yard line in five plays.

Potter took the next handoff in for the touchdown and Preston added the extra point. With only 56 seconds used up in the second quarter, the score was 28 to 0 with Cisco in the lead.

The Lobos scored one more time in the first half, beginning the drive on Cisco's 30-yard line.

On the first play, Speegle was stopped at the line of scrimmage for no gain. On his next carry he gained eleven yards and on his third try he busted loose for 45 yards, moving the ball to Ranger's 16-yard line.

QB Rattan lost four yards on a keeper play and an incomplete pass to Adams in the end zone brought about a third down needing 14 yards for a first. A handoff to Speegle moved the ball back to the original line of scrimmage bringing about a fourth down.

With the ball resting 16 yards from the goal and needing ten yards for a first down, the Lobos elected to go for it. A pitchback to Potter. who scooted around the right side, netted the Lobo touchdown. With 2:59 left in the first half, the try for two extra points was no good leaving the half-time score at 34 to 0. The Bulldogs received the second half kick, but after three plays they were faced with a fourth down and 14 yards situation. Bulldog Barry Eddleman punted the ball to Cisco's 40-yard line.

On the first play, QB Rattan handed off to Speegle who moved the ball 20 yards to Ranger's 40 yard line. Fleming took the next handoff and scampered all the way for the touchdown. The extra point kick by Preston was good making the score 41 to 0 with 9:24 left in the third quarter. On Ranger's first play of their next possession, Lobo Speegle intercepted a pass at Ranger's 30 yard line. Cisco started their next scoring drive following the interception. Potter, Speegle and Rattan moved the ball to Ranger's six yard line in three plays. On a fourth down, needing two yards for a first, Speegle took the handoff in for a touchdown. The extra point kick by Preston was good making the score 48 to 0 with 7:16 left in the third quarter.

Cisco's final touchdown came in the last two minutes of the game. The Lobos took possession of the ball at Ranger's 15 yard line following a fourth down fake by the Bulldogs.

All of us have heard stories about the homeless child who, because of a handicap, is having a hard time finding adoptive parents. We have seen instances where brothers and sisters who have lost their parents are unable to find a (817) 442-3772 and sisters who have lost their parents are unable to find a new home together. We know of the young person who, because of age, is difficult to place in an adoptive home. These, and others, are the "special needs" children, numbering about 100,000 in the United States.

It's a heart-rendering situation, but recent action by : the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) may make it a little less difficult for these "special needs" children to find new parents and families to love and care for them.

In the Federal Register this month, HHS has released its revised Model State Adoption Act, containing many excellent recommendations for State legislature, governors and adoption agencies. The model act is not a "federal f regulation," nor a law. It merely puts the Federal government "on record" with specific recommendations to the States.

The publication of the Model State Adoption Act is the result of over a year's work on the original draft model which was published in February 1980. In my opinion, that draft model went far beyond the original desire of the Congress to help place "special needs" children in adoptive homes.

In fact, I found it to create the potential for a number of new problems. That's why I introduced a "Sense of the Senate" resolution against the draft model and testified before the Child and Human Development Subcommittee.

Among my concerns was one provision which would have allowed any so-called biological father, including rapists, incestuous family members, and others, veto power over a proposed adoption. I also objected to provisions which would set less stringent standards for individuals arranging adoptions than for licensed agencies; allow parents to retract adoption releases within 2 weeks; open records to adult adoptees, and make it easier for biological parents to intrude into adult adoptees' lives.

I am very pleased the Reagan Administration has now developed a Model State Adoption Act which will truly assist States by providing a useful legal framework for the cstablishment of State laws eliminating barriers to adoption for "special needs" children who would otherwise be cared for by the government through foster

The new Model Act addresses itself strictly to the 'special needs'' children. It retains the confidentiality of adoption records, drops unduly long relinquishment procedures, does not extend the rights of putative fathers, and non-agency adoption is not endorsed.

Now, state governments may act to add parts or all of the recommendations to their existing adoption laws. When that is accomplished, more doors will be opened to the homeless children in our count: . in order that they can receive the type of care which they both need and deserve.

Coach a Good Team' Can Anderson: Anyone for the school.

By SCOTT KIRK Sports Writer

CISCO - Bill Anderson seems to spend quite a bit of effort perputating an image that his friends say isn't true. "I've never been around anyone who worked harder than Coach Anderson," said Jerry Taylor, the former Stamford coach who played and coached under Anderson. "I know he gives the impression that he doesn't work very hard, but you try to keep up with him sometime. Coach Anderson will be out watering the field at two in the morning. He'll probably die on a football field.

Anderson leans back in the chair in the rather plain office Cisco Junior College has afforded its football coach. He grins and denies Taylor's charge.

'Oh. I don't work that hard," he said. In fact, he contends that the Wranglers lost to Ranger Junior College, Cisco's arch rival, because the coaching staff didn't work hard enough.

"This team had the best chance of any of our teams to beat Ranger." said Anderson. "They probably deserved better coaching.

Anderson is an anamoly in the coaching field. Not many men aspire to rebuilding jobs when they reach their mid-30s, especially after a history of heart troubi.

"There's not many older guys coaching." said Anderson. "Most everybody wants to hire young coaches. I just don't want to work. It's a cold cruei world out there. You have to produce out there."

Bill Anderson is different from most coaches in another way. His philosophy is closer to Robert Browning's that it is to Vince Lombardi's.

Winning isn't the only thing for Anderson. Although this line probably has never been pronounced by the Stephenville native, Anderson would agree with Browning that "a man's reach should exceed his grasp," or "what's a heaven

"I don't particularly like coaching a real good team with a lot of talent " he said, not even pausing for dramatic effect. "Anyone can coach a good team. But you go to Palestine Westwood. buddy, and you'll find out how good a coach you are.

Anderson has found out that he has been a pretty good coach. The job has taken him to Rising Star, Tuscola, Stamford (for 17 years), Cisco Junior College, Graham, back to Stamford, to Palestine Westwood and back to Cisco. It would appear that he's going in circles

"Well, Graham hasn't asked me back yet," he joked. "I don't know, the people here are nice. But, evidently there is something in his character that enjoys embracing a

"There aren't many people who would have taken that job at Graham," Taylor said. "They were in the same district with Brownwood and Brownwood was up at the top in enrollment while Graham was near the bottom.

Anderson took the job at Graham after spending the 1970 season as a graduate assistant at Abilene Christian. Taking another graduate assistant named Bob Keys (who is his top assistant at Cisco) and Jerry Wilson, who had just graduated from ACU, Anderson went to a school where success was measured by two wins in a season.

Anderson didn't win more games there, but he thinks that may have been the best job he has done as a coach.

"I think it was, in terms of getting the kids out there," he said. "It's hard to go out there and play when you've been getting beat every week.'

For that reason, he downgrades the success he had at Stamford for the better part of 20 years. "Anyone could have won over there.

That Anderson has moved around a lot as a coach shouldn't come as a big surprise. He did the same as a young man

After graduating from Stephenville High School, he went one year to Tarleton State before he married a California girl who is still his wife. After talking with some friends at the Texas Relays in 1945, he decided to transfer to Pepperdine in Los Angeles.

The school still played football then, and Anderson played on the small college championship team in 1947. The campus has moved from the city to Malibu, and Anderson retains few close ties. "I was pretty mad when they dropped football," he said.

He immediately returned to Texas to begin coaching, and he has no intention to quitting, although he doesn't go so far as to say that he'll retire as the Cisco Junior College coach.

"If you get good assistants, you can coach for a long time," he said. "Look at Gordon (Brownwood Coach Gordon Wood). He could coach forever."

And he knows the secret to coaching: "You need to learn how to live on a small salary.

He is content at Cisco, where the pace is suited perfectly for him. "There's nothing to do in Cisco but make friends and be a friend," he is fond of saying. The only thing he would like to do is coach college-aged players for four years. "But, I don't know, coaching freshmen is a lot of fun, too," he said.

Not only is the city ideal for Anderson, but the job is much like the man. There's nothing fancy about the Cisco Junior College football program. Anderson doesn't have to spend half of his time on the road trying to raise money disagreeing in the background

"It's the same old kind of program. I think us and Howard Payne may be the only schools left with the old-fashioned football programs," Anderson said.

The school has upgraded the facilities, but not much else has changed for the football program. Anderson maintains that for a young man wanting to play football, Cisco and Ranger Junior College are the best places.

"We still do not steal anybody from other schools." he said. "We can't go up against Kilgore and Tyler. Their players go both ways and kids go for that. Bu! I think you're getting just half the coaching that way. I know there are other reasons for going to a junior college. They may be closer to home or the girls are prettier there, and I can go along with that But if a guy is just looking at a football program. Ranger's program and ours is better any day of the week."

Anderson doesn't see much reason to change the program, even though he'll insist that he doesn't do a good job of coaching. And he won't change his style of coaching, either. "I think every young coach ought to take a clinic from Coach Anderson to learn how not to use the kid just to help the coach," said Jerry Taylor You can almost hear Bill Anderson

The membership of the two Eastland County churches has just been advised of a generous gift to each church by a former member.

a backhoe blundering into such an installation." "By 1990," said the speaker, "the company's Cisco installation will become an electronic control office," adding immeasurably to the variety and complexity of the communications services available through it.

One development, he said, scheduled for reality by 1985, is the availability of punch button phones whereby a customer may "punch" a rerouting of incoming telephone calls to another station where the subscriber may be temporarily. "But when the customer returns to his home unit he had sure better cancel that re-routing or he'll never get another call there," said Cox.

Another service to be provided by this system is a recording of calls at the telephone office for delayed transmission. This will take the place of individual recorders, Cox explained. It amounts to a convenient and economical answering service, according to his description.

Paying tribute to the dedication of the company employes as distributed in the Breckenridge crisis, Cox expressed a hope that as present employes retire, replacements in the future will measure up to the standards of dedication and willingness shown by present workers.

Carlton.

Several years ago Mrs. Carlton gave each of the local churches a generous gift.

The ministers in their joint announcement commented on the nobility of such longrange planning in remembering the congregations of worship.

The will of Mrs. Dave (Norma) Carlton left a substantial amount of Exxon Oil Corporation stock to her home Baptist church in Houston and to the First Baptist Churches of Cisco and Eastland. Each of the three churches share equally in the stock that will be delivered in two parts - the first and largest before the end of 1981 and the other before the end of 1982.

Norma Carlton, who died last June, was the daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. B.W. Patterson and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John F. Patterson, Cisco area pioneers.

Mrs. Carlton was born in Cisco and grew up in Cisco and was a graduate of Cisco High School. Her father, a former Eastland County attorney and district judge, was a member and deacon of both the First Baptist Church in Cisco and in Eastland where they lived while he was on the court bench. Mrs. Carlton was baptized at the First Baptist Church in Cisco.

Mrs. Carlton married her husband, who died five years ago, in Cisco at the First Baptist Church. He was an employee of Humble Pipe Line Company in Cisco and worked for Exxon for many years in Houston before he retired. They had no children.

Shelter Seeking Wildlife Causes spread more rapidly in high Problems

Cool, wet fall weather means predators and furbearing animals are on the move, searching for food and denning areas.

"Young coyotes, foxes, bobcats and raccoons are among animals that leave their area of birth and search out new places in which to live, particularly in the fall," points out Dr. Dale Wade of San Angelo, a wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Some species, such as skunks, opossums and raccoons, may only move short distances-some less than a mile, notes Wade. Others, particularly, coyotes and foxes, may travel many miles before they stop. Through tagging and radio telemetry studies, some foxes have been found to move 40 miles or more while some coyotes have traveled up to 400 miles. "During this annual movement, foxes and coyotes often move into areas where food and cover may be scarce or difficult to secure. In many such instances they turn to livestock, poultry and crops as a source of food and often cause serious economic losses to farmers and ranchers," points out Wade.

Skunks, raccoons and opossums also are noted for moving into farmsteads and urban areas. They frequently occupy barns, haystacks and garages as well as crawl spaces under houses and in attics.

"Harvesting these animls for fur during the winter can their job of breaking down serve several purposes," and removing drugs from notes the specialist.

First of all, it can reduce damage in both urban and rural areas. Also, harvesting of problem animals and others in excess numbers can benefit other wild in taking drugs is necessary, species by preventing the spread of disease and excessive competition for food and shelter. Rabies, populations of flesh-eating animals and may cause serious hazards to humans and domestic animals.

"As a consequence, short hunting and trapping can be beneficial for a number of reasons beyond the harvest of valuable furs," notes Wade. "They can improve relationships with livestock producers and urban residents by reducing wild animal damage, assisting in management of natural resources, and providing excellent opportunities for education in wildlife behavior and managment." The Texas Agricultural Extension Service can provide information on types of damage caused by wild animals and methods to control and harvest such species, adds Wade. Slide sets on identification of predator kills, control methods and related information are available from Extension wildlife specialists. County Extension agents also can provide more information.

Irespassing Law Changed In Texas

With the approach of hunting season in Texas. both property owners and sportsmen should be aware of recent changes in state law regarding trespassing, the Texas Farmers Union states.

A person has committed criminal trespass if he has entered or remains on property or in a building and was notified that entry was forbidden or received notice and failed to leave the premises. The law states the notice can be any oral or written communication from the property owner or a person who is acting under the owner's authority. Also, any fence which is designed to contain livestock is described under Texas law as a notice to a potential trespasser.

Signs which are posted on property or a building indicating trespassing is not allowed is sufficient notice of a violation.

Persons who violate the trespassing law are subject to a Class B misdemeanor if found guilty. However. if a person carries a deadly weapon in his possession and found guilty of trespassing, that violation is elevated to a Class A misdemeanor.

These changes in the trespassing law became effective September 1, 1981.

This information was brought as a courtesy to both property owners and sportsmen by the Texas Farmers Union.

Bell Telephone Plans To Improve Service

Acting District Manager R.R. (Bob) Cox of Mineral Wells has released the following information to this newspaper concerning Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. service in Cisco, Eastland and Ranger for the near future.

Definite dates are not known, he says, but probability is that this measure might be implemented in the first half of 1982.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT We are planning to reorganize our business office operations to improve service for Eastland customers. Though the plans are still tentative and may change, I will give you all the information I have available

Basically, the plans are to provide one large group of employees, in Wichita Falls, specialized in Residence Customer Serivce. It will be their job to provide fast, efficient handling of customer requests ranging from billing to telephone installation. This group of specialist will replace Business office operation in Eastland.

This will be an improvement over the traditional way of handling customer services in a two person office. First, the centralized group will be able to efficiently handle numerous customers at the same time, with help from computor technology. In a small office, long waiting lines are common, and we have received numerous complaints from customers who have had to wait in a long line. Eastland customers will be able to call a toll free number and get their business done quickly and efficiently. Not only will this change give customer faster, more convenient service, it will help us control our operating expense which will help hold down local rates.

IF YOU'RE deer or turkey hunters, you'll be oiling up your shooting irons and getting ready for a new season that opens Saturday, Nov. 14. Prospects for a good season are better than usual, according to reports. Both deer and turkey are more plentiful and in good condition, the reports say.

Quail season opens Dec. 1st and, we hear, the outlook is also good.

THE BIG GAME season opened last week for five Ciscoans. Jimmie Lee, Tommy Lee, Keith Bailey, Jack Speegle and Danny Speegle drove up to Pagosa Springs, Colorado, and bagged four elk cows the first day.

The Ciscoans dressed their elks and packed them in ice for the trip home. And now they're enjoying good elk steaks. It was a fine outing in good weather, reports Jimmie Lee. Mr. Lee, who works for West Texas Utilities, is winding up a vacation.

THEY'VE GOT A new man on the job out at the E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital. Mr. Phil Schaefer went to work Monday as the maintenance engineer. He resigned as head of the electrical department at the mobile home factory at Eastland to take the job at the hospital.

Phil is the son of the Henry Schaefers of our town, and his wife is one of the assistant CPAs at Mr. Bobby Smith's offices.

THE ROY HATHAWAYS are back home after being away most of the summer, visiting children and relatives, vacationing seven weeks in Colorado and that sort of thing . . . Understand the First Christian Church Bazaar netted something over $2,000 for the ladies there. They will use their money to help expand the church's education department to the west. The FCC recently purchased the home and the building that's Southern TV's offices a few weeks ago. They served real good stew and cornbread at noon during the Friday and Saturday Bazaar.

LAST SUMMER, Prof Wesley Valek of CJC bought some pepper plants that day morning for New York City to complete final details for the Thanksgiving trip there by the CJC group. He'll be gone two or three days Mr. Ritchie reports that Missouri-Pacific Railroad officials have told Cisco folks that they have materials on hand to repair the North Avenue D railroad crossing that is so rough . . . Glad to hear that Misses Mayme and Letha Estes, long-time Ciscoans who moved to Stanton a few years ago, have moved back to Cisco and are at home at the Royal Oak Apartments.

THEY'RE ALREADY beginning to book and hold holiday season parties out at the Colony Restaurant. Pengo Completions held a dinner for 90 there Saturday night, and the First Christian Church of Ranger was to have 30 senior citizens over for a dinner this week . . . The Permian Corporation had 50 people there for a dinner on Nov. 5th, and the area Florist Association had 30 folks in for a Nov. 10th dinner . . . The Sun Belt Oil Company entertained some 200 stock holders and others at a barbecue catered by Oscar of Cisco last Sunday afternoon at their cabin at Lake Leon. CofC Manager Gene Abbott attended from Cisco.

IN CASE YOU missed it, light snow fell briefly Sunday night between 10 and 10:30 p.m. And local water gauges caught about a quarter of an inch as a thunderstorm moved through town last Saturday night . . . Heard and finally saw a huge flock of geese flying south the other late afternoon . . . The Texas Wildlife Agency delivered fingerling catfish, crappie and bass to area stock tank owners at the football field in Eastland Monday afternoon.

MET UP WITH Mr. Ben Wilson, formerly of Lake Cisco, in town Monday. He and his missus were vacationing in their travel trailer up Wisconsin way when they read about the big rains recently. They telephoned home and learned that their brand new house near Breckenridge had flood
