

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

BY THE TIME you read this column you probably already know whether anything of dramatic importance happened on Wednesday, March 10. If you read this column in Sunday's paper, you should know that I am referring to the "Grand Alignment" of planets where Earth and the other planets would all be on the same side of the sun.

There were conflicting theories whether anything would happen on that date as a result of the alignment. As I said earlier, I believe we should just trust in God and pray that His Will be done.

MRS. BOB Elliott of Cisco sent a copy of the March edition of Natural History to our office this Tuesday. In that magazine it is stated "Exaggerated rumors about a close alignment of planets in 1982 and the possible effects of such an event have been circulated for years. It is not uncommon for all the planets to be on the same side of the sun, but there is no reason to believe the phenomenon would have noticeable effects on the earth. The closest gathering of planets in the 1980s occurs this month on the 10th, when all the planets will be located within an arc of about 98 degrees, measured from the sun. We will not see anything better than this for the rest of the twentieth century."

PERSONS WHO LIKE to watch the skies during the night and early mornings should find the information contained in a column called Celestial Events in the above mentioned magazine of interest.

According to the column, by Thomas D. Nicholson, the moon was to be full on the 9th of March. After that time, "The waning moon then rises later nightly, near Spica, in Virgo, and the three nearby bright planets (Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn) on the 10th to the 13th. Last quarter moon is above the 'teapot' in Sagittarius on March 17. After new moon on the 25th, begin looking in the evening twilight sky for the crescent of the new cycle on the 28th and 29th. Next first-quarter moon is on March 31, full moon on April 8, and last quarter on April 16."

ABOUT THE stars and planets, the column states the following:

Except on the last day of the month, when Mars is in opposition from the sun, all the planets are morning stars in March. Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn are well placed for most of the night all month. Venus, although not at its best, should be very easy to find because of its brightness; it is low in the east at dawn. Mercury, although going through a long and well separated (from the sun) morning, elongation, rises too late and stays too low to be seen.

Don't fail to look for Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn, however, putting on a show even better than those of last summer and fall. A few hours after dark each evening, they are stretched out in line from the eastern horizon upward, with Spica among them. Mars rises first soon after dark, Saturn and Spica follow within an hour, and Jupiter rises about two hours later. During the night they swing upward to the right and then curve down again toward the west as dawn approaches.

No matter when or where you see them during the night, the brightest is Jupiter, Mars is next, and Spica and Saturn (with Spica below the planet) are a poor third, located between the two brighter planets. This month, it's Saturn playing tag with Spica (Jupiter played the game last year). Right now, Saturn is barely to the right (west) of the star, moving slowly away from it because the planet is in the retrograde phase of its motion. But Saturn will move back next summer to pass Spica again from right to left in September.

Mars is also putting on one of its classical opposition shows, brightening very rapidly this month, then dimming just as rapidly in April, as it closes swiftly with the earth and then just as swiftly separates. It doesn't brighten as much during this opposition, however, as when the opposition occurs in early autumn, in a more favorable part of its orbit. At the better oppositions, Mars can become brighter than Jupiter.

March 4: The moon is at perigee, nearest the earth.

March 10: Look at the moon tonight and see Mars, Saturn and Spica, and Jupiter extending out in line to its left (east).

March 11: The gibbous moon is between Mars (to the right) and Saturn (to the left) this evening. Spica is below Saturn.

March 12: The bright object to the moon's left is Jupiter, with Saturn, Spica and Mars farther away to the right. Watch the moon carefully for only a half hour or so, and you can easily see its motion to the left, relative to the bright, nearby planets.

March 14: The moon trails behind Jupiter tonight as the planets parade up the eastern sky a few hours after sunset.

March 17: The moon is at apogee, farthest from the earth.

March 20: The sun arrives at the vernal equinox today at 5:56 p.m., EST, and spring begins in the Northern Hemisphere.

March 21: The waning crescent moon and Venus make a pretty pair in the dawn sky this morning.

March 29: The moon is at perigee again.

March 31: Mars is at opposition from the sun, rising at sundown, setting at sunrise. It now becomes an evening star.

April 1: Venus is at greatest elongation (westerly) in the morning sky. Now at its greatest distance to the sun's right, it is best placed for viewing as a morning star during this cycle. Unfortunately this is not a favorable elongation, the planet remains too low in the sky, but its brightness helps out.

April 5: Mars is closest to the earth during this cycle of configurations (95,010,000 kilometers, or 59,001,210 miles, distant).

April 7-10: The moon again joins the company of Mars, Saturn, and Jupiter in our sky.

April 8: Saturn, at opposition, enters the evening sky.

April 11: Mercury, at inferior conjunction, enters the evening sky.

Plans Made To Support Water and Sewer Bond Issue Project

An organization to support the approval of a revenue bond issue for Cisco water and sewer improvements was created at a meeting of business and civic leaders at the Laguna Hotel Corral Romm Monday night.

Named the Clear Water Association, the some 40 persons elected Joe Wheatley, owner of Cisco Lumber & Supply Co., as chairman and named a steering committee composed of Ken Hammes and John Muller, Cisco Junior College faculty members; Dick Woolley, president of the First National Bank; Gene Abbott, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. James

Ma Bell, Can You Hear Us?

By Viola Payne

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has been making Eastland County news lately, with what plans to close business offices in Ranger, Eastland and Cisco.

The official announcement concerning Eastland has been made, naming March 22 as the permanent closing date. Official announcements for Ranger and Cisco are expected shortly, with one large group of employees in Wichita Falls slated to handle all Residence Customer Service for a wide area.

"This change will benefit our customers by giving them faster and more efficient service," state Bob Cox, local manager.

Will it really? What does the public actually think of Bell Telephone service here?

In an effort to determine the opinions of local citizens, the Eastland County newspapers conducted a survey of area telephone users between Feb. 24th and March 4th. This survey was conducted independently by employees of the newspapers in Cisco, Eastland, and Ranger.

The local telephone directory was used, with each 10th listing contacted. If no answer, the next number was called.

This was continued as long as time permitted. Some businesses, as well as residences, were contacted. It was felt that this random sampling would give an accurate picture of public feeling.

The same questions were asked each telephone user. All did not answer all questions, but there were prac-

McCracken and Mrs. Doug Fry. Mrs. Trixie Whately, manager of the Cisco Credit Bureau, was named treasurer.

Plans call for raising funds for use in various methods of distributing information concerning the April 3rd election proposition and the need for its approval by the voters.

Mayor Eris Ritchie outlined the proposition in detail in a talk that opened the meeting. He said that the project will be presented to the voters on three ballot items: (1) funding for a water filtration plant at Lake Cisco, (2) funding for sewage disposal facilities; and, (3), funding for a new sewer out-fall main line to relieve problems in the west part of town.

Mr. Ritchie noted that the Council and their financial advisors were hopeful that passage of the bond issue would result in the early approval of the city's application for approximately $500,000 in 5.6 per cent state loan funds and for 11 per cent funding on the balance.

Revenue bonds will require an increase of some 50 per cent in the present sewer charges and for an increase of from 75 to 90 per cent on water charges, Mr. Ritchie said.

"The Council is trying very hard to do something about very real problems - problems that could have been solved with a lot less money a good many years ago," Mr. Ritchie said.

Mr. Ritchie read a letter dated Nov. 24, 1981, from State Health Department officials that noted that Cisco has the only unfiltered surface water supply system in Texas, in violation of state laws. The letter noted that Cisco was fortunate that no disease outbreak due to the water has occurred.

"The Council wants to do what our people want done," Mr. Ritchie said. "We have developed what we feel is the best plan for solving our problems."

Councilman Ivan Webb observed that engineering studies show that the projected program would take care of Cisco's water and sewer needs beyond the 40 years needed to mature the debt. The study also concludes that Lake Cisco is an adequate source of water supply, he added.

Mayor Ritchie said the city's engineers, the financial advisor, representatives of the State Health Department, and all members of the Council are expected to be present for a Town Hall meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, March 22, at the high school auditorium. They will be available to answer questions and to discuss any and all phases of the project, he said.

Mr. Wheatley said that anyone wishing to contribute to the Clear Water Association could send a check to Mrs. Whately.

Vehicles Damaged In Mishaps Here

Two motor vehicles had extensive damage in hit-and-run collisions Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning, Acting Police Chief Raymond Blevins reported Tuesday.

A 1974 Chevy Blazer was damaged at Russell Newman Company parking lot Monday. The mishap was investigated by Officer Mike Loudamy.

Chief Blevins and Officer Neal went to 404 West 3rd Street early Tuesday after a hit-and-run driver ran into a 1981 Chevy automobile owned by Dale James.

A cutting torch was stolen from a truck owned by DeWayne Votaw Monday at Cisco Lumber & Supply. The truck had been parked there while the driver went into the store. Returning a few minutes later, he found the equipment missing. Officer Jerry Carter investigated the theft.

"When anything breaks down, it takes a long, long time to fix it. We have to go

POTATOES

With in the last few weeks I have received a lot of questions about different varieties of potatoes from my readers and at various Garden Clubs. Therefore I am devoting this column to potatoes. Potatoes come in white, yellow, red, even blue; in all shapes from short, slender "fingers" to broad, oval tubers six inches long.

VIKING: This red-skinned potato matures earlier than most potatoes producing three to four inch tubers in as few as seventy days. Left to grow, will reach jumbo size. Each hill should yield six to eight smooth-skinned potatoes ranging in size from tennis balls to softball size.

BUTTE: This new long potato is a russet variety and will produce up to twenty-five percent more top quality potatoes with fifty-eight percent more vitamin C and twenty percent more protein than the popular Russet Burbank. Sets sprout well, and produce smooth, flat, oval potatoes measuring about three inches long. They are Flesh yellowish, and tastes bland when baked. They suffer from blight but not scab.

KENNEBEC: This potato taste light and delicate at any size and gives many large, smooth, well-shaped potatoes. They are oval, slightly flat, an all-purpose variety that's good baked, broiled, fried or creamed. It has a smooth texture, thin, with a cream-colored skin for "new Potatoes". It will store well in root cellars. It matures mid to late season and stubbornly resist blight and mild mosaic.

IRISH COBBLER: Many try these in order to get the very earliest white potatoes. The texture is cream-colored with oblong tubers that is characteristically coarse. They do not store as well as Kennebec or Red Pontiac and they adapt to almost every area and resist mild mosaic.

RED PONTIAC: This is a mild to late season potato. It produces many large, rosy-red, smooth-skinned potatoes with crisp white flesh. It matures late in the season but develops tubers early for "new" potatoes. They resist scab well and yield six to eight baseball size potatoes per plant.

ALL BLUE: This is an unusual variety with blue skin and blue flesh. It taste like common potatoes when boiled or baked. The deep blue skins turn purplish brown when baked. The sets germinate poorly. They have oblong tubers that range from one to four inches with smooth skins and resist scabs.

RED NORLAND: This is the best-tasting, early red-skinned potato. It is delicious boiled, moist and smooth-texture when baked. The plants from seeds were small and died off early, but produced as many big potatoes as those from certified sets. They resist scab fairly well, but do not resist most other common potato diseases. This is a thick, white-fleshed variety developed in North Dakota.

WHITE ROSE: This variety will yield six to eight long, flat, elliptical potatoes, that is smooth-skinned, with very little scab. They often grow in irregular shapes, but are right for boiling. The taste is moderately flavorful when baked, but has a tough, rough skin.

This information is offered to help you select the variety for your home garden.

GOOD GARDENING UNTIL NEXT WEEK FROM YOUR GARDEN EDITOR, TED BRICE.

Germans and the Texas Sesquicentennial

Out at Indian Springs Ranch, in far west Texas, the owner of the "Spread" leads an uneven line of horseback riders across the desert. And halfway around the world, deep in the Black Forest of Bavaria, "Der Cowboys" - dressed in full western regalia - are crouched around a campfire.

The members of these groups have several things in common - they are all German, and fascinated with ranch life and the western part of the United States.

Dr. Meredith McClain, Director of the Southwest Center for German Studies at Texas Tech, explains that west Germans are so interested in Texas that special plans are being made to involve them in the Sesquicentennial celebration in 1986.

McClain's paper, "Der Cowboy: Another Look at the German fascination with Our Wild West", further explains the powerful link between Germans and Texans, tracing Germany's wild west origins to Karl May, the country's "Best Seller Author No. 1." May, popular worldwide for his writing during the late 1800's, supplies a clue to German's delight with the western cowboy.

May was the German equivalent of America's Owen Wister and Zane Grey. "Just as all Americans know the names of Tonto and the Lone Ranger," McClain writes, "so Germans recognize Winnetou and Old Shatterhand."

German westerners, according to McClain, no longer accept May's work literally, with his tales immortalizing good and conquering evil, leaving no one in between. But Germans do have authentic details of the American west - perhaps more so than many Americans.

As one German "sheriff" noted, "The authentic cowboy was a poor fellow, who usually did not even own his own horse, who rode for months with the gigantic cattle herds, was under way in blizzards or in scorching heat, and had to swallow a lot of dust before he reached his destination."

Stores in west Germany are cashing in on this preoccupation with the west. One store in Munich is called "The Latest From Texas" offers "Gun-slinging Bavarians...everything from ornamental western saddles to sheriff's stars, and sends clothes to mail-order customers as far away as Hamburg." No wonder autobahn drivers have become hardened to the sight of cowboys in full regalia spurring Porsches toward a weekend roundup!

Why do west Germans find the American cowboy so delightfully appealing? Perhaps it is the thought of independence and freedom, and the image of the vest, open, rolling prairie, where a person can have a self-reliant, simple existence free from the power of the dollar. For the young people of Germany are growing up in a country which was shattered and divided by the last war, and is still threatened by communist domination. It is generally an urban, crowded country, where land is not available for personal ownership. It is also a cold country, where warmth and sunlight and the open air is valued.

It is estimated that more than 3 million persons of German extraction now live in Texas, and most are descendants of colonists who came to the area from the 1830's to about 1900. These people, who were generally hard working and intelligent, have made a tremendous contribution to the state.

McClain's experiences and scholarly research spurred a personal interest in bringing German tour agents to the National Golden Spur Award at Lubbock last September.

"It is an authentic pageant within the ranching heritage tradition," McClain said. "We have a beautiful outdoor museum of old ranches from all over Texas which have been taken apart stick by stick and reconstructed. People are amazed when they come."

The September invitation only began McClain's promotional campaign. "If I can convince German teachers in Texas to cooperate with their local Chambers of Commerce to produce German brochures and organize local tours, we can offer various programs and maybe a general tour from one Texas city to the next.

presently working through the Ranching Heritage Center here in Lubbock so the word can go out."

By 1986 McClain hopes to have tourist channels well organized throughout the state, so that Germans can come to celebrate on a large scale.

Eastland County is definitely an attractive area for German visitors, so perhaps something could be worked out along that line here. Interested persons can reach Dr. McClain at P.O. Box 4579, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, TX 79409.

Cooking for one takes plenty of planning

Cooking for one and finding it rather difficult?

Then plan, plan, plan - your menus, says Dr. Cass Ryan-Crowe, a food and nutrition specialist.

Ryan-Crowe, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says that menu planning is essential for the "single" to survive in the kitchen.

"At first you may think that planning your meals is a waste of time, but in the long run, you'll actually save time and you will definitely save money," she promises.

Meal or menu planning is not hard, either, especially when you have only yourself to please! the specialist notes.

"If you like to eat a big breakfast, plan for it. If you're on a diet, plan low-calorie meals.

"And don't forget to plan for nutritious snacks if you're a between-meal snacker.

Even though she admits it is difficult to cook for just one, Ryan-Crowe says with a plan - and practice and patience, it pays off.

Certainly meals will be more satisfying than warming and eating the same thing day after day, not to mention the higher nutritional value of fresh-food menus each day, she adds.

Champion Chianina Steer of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo was exhibited by Sam Scott, an Eastland County 4-H'er from Rising Star. The 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Payton Scott comes from a family who has a history of winning. Sam exhibited the Reserve Champion Chianina Steer in 1975 and his sister showed the Grand Champion Steer of the Show in 1974. Breeder of the 1245 lb. heavyweight steer, named "Snapper", was Sam's father.

The Reserve Champion Simmental of the Junior Market Simmental Steer Show at the 1982 Houston Livestock Show who was "a close, tough top," is owned by Thad Chambers of Rising Star. The 1,170 pound steer was "an outstanding individual, who was thick through the rump and quarter," Judge Purdy said.

Eighteen-year-old Chambers, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woody Chambers, who spends most of his time playing football, was a newcomer to the steer showing.

"Toby," Chambers' blue ribbon steer, was bred by Payton Scott from Rising Star.

Peanut Markets Dictate Cut In Additional Plantings

After surveying the current export market outlook for U. S. produced peanuts the National Peanut Growers Group Steering Committee has advised growers to make decisions on the planting of additional peanuts in a cautious and deliberate manner.

Ross Wilson, Texas representative on the national organization, said that a delegation of U. S. peanut producers recently visiting European users of U. S. peanuts found marketing opportunities to be in a depressed state. Factors contributing to the poor market outlook include inflation, lack of strength in the dollar and a surplus of peanuts world wide.

Wilson said that prices for shelled goods presently being quoted by foreign users of U. S. peanuts convert to prices on farmers stock substantially below the cost of production. He said therefore, the National Peanut Growers Group has recommended that growers not plant additional peanuts in 1982 unless a contract has been secured that will assure a satisfactory net return to the producer. Wilson stated that growers should remember that additional peanuts not contracted must be placed in the area association pool and that pool dividends depend on both domestic and export edible demand. He said that there currently exists a considerable inventory of 1981 crop segregation 1 peanuts held by handlers and by the three area grower associations under the loan program. "We can only conclude at this point, Wilson said, that any production of 1982 crop additional peanuts without contracts will only add to the oversupply situation and further deteriorate markets. Also, such peanuts going into Association loan pools will have even poorer potential of returning to growers anything over the loan rate for additional peanuts."

The grower spokesman said that in spite of the present dim market outlook for the short range in 1982, the grower team studying the export situation believes there remains a bright future for American peanuts in the European market. He cited as partial reason for his long range optimism the 13 percent increase in peanut butter sales in Europe last year, but the broad development of that market is in its infancy, he said.

For now, Wilson said European buyers are enjoying the prospect of acquiring cheap peanuts, a condition that is being nurtured by the current oversupplied world market.

Elderly Homeowners Have Until April 1 For Exemption Sign-Up

Homeowners who are 65 years of age or older and failed to receive their School District Homestead Exemption in 1979 have until April 1, 1982 to still sign up. In this way, Over-65 homeowners will be able to take advantage of the tax freeze associated with the $10,000 Homestead exemption given by the School Districts of the State.

According to House Bill 885 which was passed by the Special Session of the 67th Legislature, Over-65 homeowners who Qualified for the school homestead "Tax Freeze" in 1979, but did not apply for the limitation, may file an application with the Chief Appraiser of the County Appraisal District in which the home is located.

This application must be made with the Chief Appraiser of the Eastland County Appraisal District before April 1, 1982.

To qualify for the tax limitation, on January 1, 1979 a homeowner must have satisfied these requirements:

- Be 65 years of age or older
- Own his or her home
- Use that home as his or her Principle Residence

The Chief Appraiser will consider all applications and notify each applicant before April 15, 1982. If the application is approved, the Chief Appraiser will make an entry on the appropriate school district's 1982 appraisal records.

This entry will indicate the amount of tax the Over-65 taxpayer should have paid in 1979, had he been granted the $5,000 general homestead exemption and the $10,000 for 1979, 1980, or 1981.

For 1982, the taxpayer's amount of homestead taxes paid may not exceed the amount of taxes the school district would have imposed on the homestead for 1979, had the taxpayer been granted his homestead exemptions. This frozen tax amount will remain in effect as long as the homestead remains the same.

For information and application forms, you may contact the Eastland County Appraisal District office located on the second floor of the Eastland County Courthouse. The mailing address is P.O. Box 914, Eastland, Texas 76448 and the telephone number to call is 629-8597.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

There is a lovely little story about a lock which had no key. In despair it kept going from one person to another saying, "I'm looking for someone to unlock me."

That story is a parable. You are like that lock.

You were made to be led by the Lord, and you will never be all that you ought to be until you are.

He has given you talents, and only He can release the abilities that dwell within you.

This wonderful, matchless, loving, living Lord invites you to come to Him. So move to Him with an air of expectancy, saying, "Lord, I expect something to happen—now." And it will.

When you receive Him as your personal Redeemer, He goes to work in your life. Then His inexhaustible and invincible resources become your very own.

He will turn your fear into faith, your gloom into gladness, your pessimism into power, and your remorse into radiance.

Let Him unlock you, and you will experience a joy-filled life that will contribute to other lives around you.

WORD of GOD

Parable of Jesus

Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a net, that was cast into the sea, and gathered of every kind:

Which, when it was full, they drew to shore, and sat down, and gathered the good into vessels, but cast the bad away.

So shall it be at the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and sever the wicked from among the just,

And shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

Jesus saith unto them, Have ye understood all these things? They say unto him, Yea, Lord.

The story of Andy

By: Thomas W. Pauken

This is a story about a boy named Andy who had everything going for him. At least, that was the way it seemed. His parents were loving, his two sisters and a brother were nice, and there were no economic problems in his home life. The problems were inside himself. Andy was a fine basketball player, but he didn't think he was much good at anything else or that he could measure up to the rest of the family. He began looking for an escape from an illusion which to him was a hard reality. He thought he'd found it in marijuana. He was in the eighth grade and someone told him smoking pot was harmless, and it made you feel groovy. Those first few times, he recalled, he felt "very free and easy. I thought it was just great, just sitting around and feeling strange."

By the time Andy reached ninth grade, he was getting high on marijuana every morning, and some days he never made it to school. His parents, had no idea what he was engaged in, and he bragged to his fellow pot smokers how easy it was to fool the family. Lying was part of his "Mr. Cool" act. Soon thereafter, Andy's life began to go downhill fast. In school his marks were Ds and Fs. Lying, cheating and stealing became routine with him. He sat on the bench during the basketball games, too stoned to play. He got in trouble with the law. The police began picking him up, freaked out. His parents were no longer unaware, but all attempts to reason with him, to point out what he was doing to himself made no impression. He was polluting himself with so many different kinds of drugs, he had lost touch with who or what he was.

It was his parents who acted to save him. One morning they literally dragged him out of bed and took him to the office of Straight, Inc., a drug treatment center. There, they calmly but firmly made him sign a contract to take the treatment program. Andy refused, and his father told him either he would sign voluntarily or they'd get a court order and force him to take the program. Andy signed, figuring he'd get out of it later. He didn't. Instead, for the next 13 months, Straight directed his life.

Except for a small adult staff, Straight is run by teenagers like Andy. There are five phases of training, and Andy started at the bottom under guidance around the clock. There was no moving up to phase two until his fellow teenagers, on a higher phase, voted agreement. For Andy, it was a long, difficult climb back to reality, but every hard step of the way he was supported by his family and constantly aided by those who were going through the program too. Andy had always promised himself that once he was released he would return to drugs. Instead, he discovered the meaning of love and trust. He found real friendship, particularly with a girl who was five months ahead of him in the program, and when he walked out of Straight, there was no longer any need to return to the old ways. "I feel lucky, very lucky," Andy reflected. "I had parents who cared enough to save me. I'm back on the team and my grades are good again. I have a great girlfriend who understands what I've been through...I have a lot more faith in myself now. I don't need my 'tough guy' act. I know the real me can make it." And thanks to things that really count in life, we're sure Andy will make it. (CONTACT: Pete Copp, 202-254-7264)

Congressional Comment

by Charles W. Stenholm, M.C.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Fifty years ago, this country was held in the grips of an economic crisis that still has the ability to make its survivors shudder—The Great Depression.

Today, facing a similar—although not nearly as severe—economic problem, many are quick to make comparisons between these two eras in our country's history and legislative action to correct the situations.

In the 30s, President Franklin D. Roosevelt set in motion a package of federal programs, The New Deal, to counter the economic chaos. The core of many of those programs remains in place today, but the programs themselves are far, far removed from the original FDR concept. I contend that FDR never envisioned nor intended the dependence on federal government by individuals that is commonplace in this country today.

I cannot claim to be a survivor of the Great Depression, but am a product of that period and like many Texans, was raised in the shadow of that destructive period. As many times as I have heard those years described as "hard times," I cannot recall ever hearing any of my elders say it was their "right" that government take care of their problems. Work was the solution and pride came with being able to make it through without government help.

There are countless examples of New Deal programs that remain throughout the 17th District. Through the Works Progress Administration (WPA) parks were built...roads were built...public buildings were built. There was no

"welfare program"; there were "work programs". WPA work was the salvation of many a West Texas family, but as soon as other work was available, participants were quick to return to work in the private sector.

Let's look at just one federal program that, although not one of the New Deal programs, is a good example of a concept that has gone far afield, from its original conception: Food Stamps.

The Food Stamp program was originally a "surplus commodities" program, designed to implement the distribution of surplus farm products among the needy. After recognition of the need for a nutritionally superior program, "food stamps" could be purchased from the government by those meeting requirements. The 1977 Food Stamp Act eliminated the purchase requirement, making food stamps available to any and all who met somewhat more stringent requirements.

Food stamp costs have doubled in the past three years and one out of 10 Americans (22 million people) now participates in the program. The value of food stamp benefits grew from $5.2 billion in 1979 to more than $10.3 billion in 1981 and over 6 million people were added to food stamp rolls over that period. I believe FDR, if alive today, would point out that more emphasis needs to be given to pilot "workfare" programs that require participants to contribute some form of unpaid labor in exchange for food stamps.

I know that there are those who will argue that many of those unemployed would welcome the opportunity to work if "suitable, dignified work was available." WPA workers in Texas built outdoor toilets and I doubt if they questioned whether their labor was "suitable or dignified". Their pay,

YOUR BUDGET DOLLAR

The dollar depicted on the left came out of your pocket.

It will be spent by the federal government in 1983 for programs benefitting millions and millions of Americans. Each of the 36.9 million Social Security recipients receive part of that dollar, as do 22.4 million Medicaid beneficiaries; 21.4 million receiving food stamps; 28.9 million helped under Medicare and the 23.2 million children in school lunch programs, only to name a few. Every American benefits either directly or indirectly from some federal program.

That dollar represents a total of $666.1 billion in receipts expected for FY 1983: $304.5 billion in individual income taxes, an increase of $201.3 billion since 1973 and excise taxes of $41.7 billion, compared to $16.3 billion in 1973. Excise taxes on alcohol and tobacco make up $8.6 billion of that total and have increased only slightly since 1970, up from $7.3 billion. Other tax receipts have increased in far greater proportions.

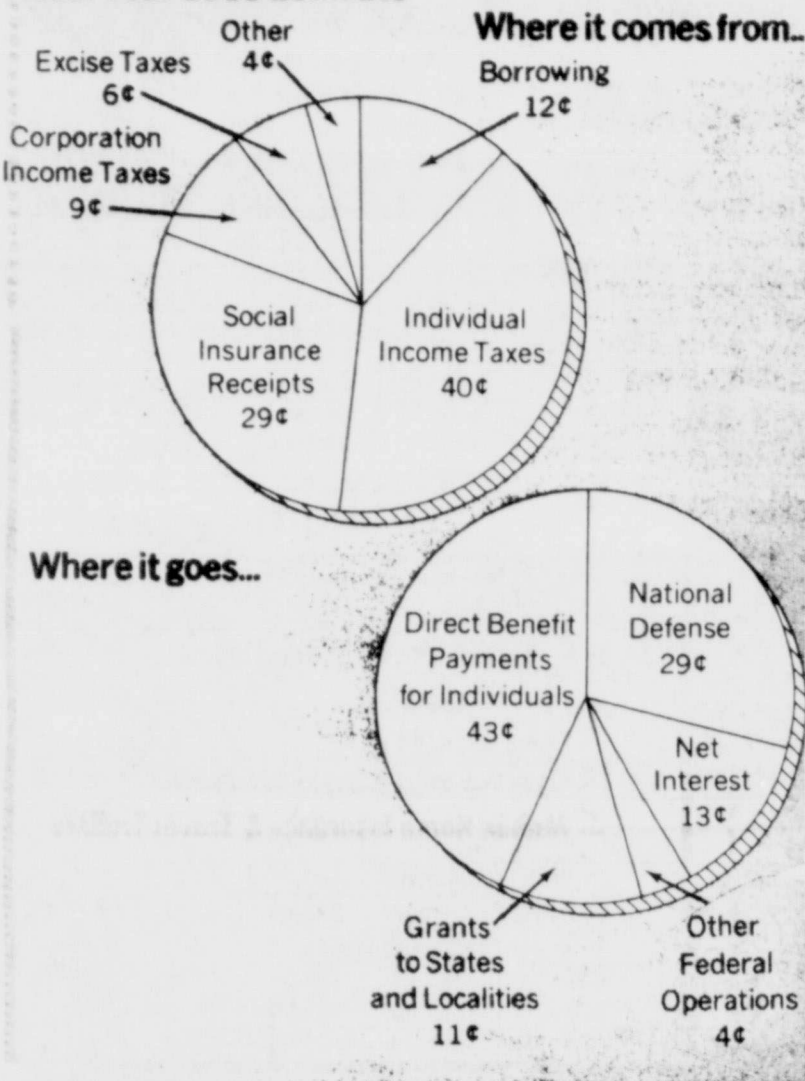

The portion showing "where it goes" is the budget proposed by the President and is one of several plans that Congress will consider before final passage. At this point, it seems unlikely that there is enough support in Congress for the Reagan budget to pass unchanged and careful examination of any and all possibilities will be a top priority during the next few weeks.

In the past month, I have received many comments on the 1983 budget from constituents and hope that if you have not offered your suggestions, you will take the time to do so.

It's your dollar and you should exercise your right to have your say in how it is spent.

The Budget Dollar

Fiscal Year 1983 Estimate

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

As Congress works on the budget for fiscal 1983, I want to make sure that we cut deeply into the federal deficit and that those cuts are fair and even-handed.

We have been making substantial cuts in spending on domestic programs and I'm pushing for the same thing when it comes to spending on foreign aid.

Last year, when we were cutting the 1982 budget by $35 billion, the Administration pushed through Congress an increase in foreign aid spending of almost 14 percent.

The 1983 budget, recently sent to Congress, calls for some $30 billion in spending cuts. But it proposes another increase in foreign aid spending, of nearly 18 percent.

I opposed the increase in foreign aid spending last year and I will oppose it again this year.

No one can fault the United States for generosity. It is an inherent trait of our national character to help out neighbors in need.

however, fed their families.

There is no such thing as "undignified" work, in my opinion. The work ethic evident in the 30s was one of the basic ingredients of this country's success and should be instilled in each and every American citizen today.

After World War II, this country helped our allies regain economic stability. Not stopping there, we also pitched in to help those countries that had been our enemies.

Our aid has continued right up to the present day. But we are beset by troubles of our own right now, not the least of which is a budget deficit of more than $90 billion projected for 1983.

A deficit approaching $100 billion is totally unacceptable. I do not accept it. Congress will not accept it. The American people will not accept it.

I want to see a bipartisan coalition, Democrats and Republicans, working together in Congress to substantially reduce that deficit and to make sure it is done fairly and equitably.

We cannot afford a budget that treats one group of people in this country or one region of this country better than it treats other groups or regions.

We certainly cannot afford a budget that cuts into spending for vital programs directly affecting the American people while at the same time providing more spending for programs in other countries.

Congress made a mistake last year in boosting foreign aid while sharply cutting back spending at home. I said it was a mistake at the time and voted against it. I'll be urging my colleagues this year to not repeat the error.

As we go through the painful process of chopping the federal deficit down to size, one of the first places my axe will fall is on spending for foreign aid.

PUBLIC NOTICE RESCISION OF PSD PERMIT

Enserch Exploration, Inc., P.O. Box 2649, Dallas, Texas, 75221, submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) a request for rescission of the PSD permit (PSD-TX-197) issued on November 29, 1979, by EPA. The permit was issued to the company for the construction and operation of an ethane recovery plant in Eastland County, Texas (the Pueblo Plant). The request was submitted pursuant to Part 52.21 (w) of the Regulations for the Prevention of Significant Deterioration of Air Quality (PSD) as amended on August 7, 1980.

Part 52.21 (w) of the PSD regulations amended on August 7, 1980, states that any owner or operator of a stationary source or modification who holds a permit for the source or modification which was issued under 40 CFR 52.21 as in effect on June 19, 1978, may request that the Administrator rescind the permit if a particular portion of the permit if the applicant shows that the PSD regulations as amended on August 7, 1980, would not apply to the source or modification.

The PSD permit held by Enserch Exploration, Inc. for the ethane recovery plant was issued under 40 CFR 52.21 as in effect on June 19, 1978. The PSD regulations, as amended on August 7, 1980, would not apply to the facility modification. The modification no longer constitutes being major since under the new definition of "potential to emit," the combined controlled emissions due to the modification will be less than 250 tons per year for any pollutant regulated by the Clean Air Act. The Texas Air Control Board (TACB) reviewed the rescission request of Enserch Exploration since they have been delegated the technical review authority for PSD in the State of Texas. The TACB has recommended and EPA agrees that a PSD permit is no longer required for the ethane recovery plant permitted under PSD-TX-197, and is giving notice that it has rescinded the permit.

Copies of all materials submitted by the source are available in the office of the Air Branch, EPA Region 6, First International Building, 28th Floor, 1201 Elm Street, Dallas, Texas, 75270, telephone number 214-767-1594.

Meet the Cisco Service Club Quilters

As their contribution to the 100th birthday celebration of Cisco, Texas, the women of the Cisco Service Club created a special quilt depicting important events in the town during the last ten decades. They were prompted to undertake this project after reading in QUILT about the 350th anniversary commemorative quilt of the First Church of Windsor, Connecticut.

Calling upon husbands and friends to help with the research and design, the group began its project. The quilt was finished in less than six months, just in time for the Centennial Celebration.

Because of the quilt, many members have been brought closer together, instilling in each a sense of pride and unity. They share in the secret knowledge that all quilters have: a quilt is more than pieces of cloth stitched together.

The history of the town of Cisco, Texas, is captured on this quilt.

article about their Centennial Quilt, that was printed in the Spring issue of "Quilt" magazine.

Cisco Service Club is very proud of the above

Poisonous range plants can inflict heavy losses

COLLEGE STATION-- Livestock industry losses from poisonous range plants have tended to increase over the past 50 years, according to one official. Dr. Allan McGinty of Fort Stockton, a range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, believes that the trend over the past 100 years toward higher stocking rates and the change from open ranges to fenced pastures has had a lot to do with present poisonous range plant problems.

"High stocking rates generally have reduced range conditions and the carrying capacity of most Texas rangelands," he points out. "Use of fenced pastures has restricted animal movement and choice of forage. These two things combined have altered the diet selection of livestock so that grazing animals are more likely to consume significant quantities of poisonous plants."

McGinty says that good soil moisture conditions in late winter and early spring can bring an increase in poisonous range plants. If such conditions exist, he cautions ranchers to be on the watch for poisonous plants and to take control measures and follow certain management practices to keep livestock losses to a minimum.

"Control measures include mechanical, biotic and chemical methods," says McGinty.

Mechanical methods include cultivation in restricted areas, mowing, hand pulling, cutting, grubbing or burning. Biotic methods include heavy grazing of limited areas by large numbers of livestock so that none are allowed to get a lethal dose, grazing of different classes of livestock, or deferring infested areas.

Various chemicals are available to control poisonous plants. This type of control is expensive but is effective in controlling large acreage of poisonous plants in a short time, notes the specialist.

Management practices that can influence the severity of livestock losses from grazing poisonous plants, according to McGinty, include the following:

1. Do not overgraze rangeland. Many poisonous plants will increase under low range conditions.
2. Be cautious when bringing in livestock from another county or state. Such stock are more likely to eat toxic plants.
3. Do not put hungry stock on ranges fed with poisonous plants since they will not be as selective in their grazing.
4. Make sure livestock have free access to salt, phosphorous and other needed elements. Deficiencies of any of these will reduce the selective grazing behavior of livestock.
5. Provide adequate water.
6. Do not feed hay cut from areas infested with poisonous plants.

7. Minimize grazing when poisonous plants are the most dangerous. Use flexible grazing systems to avoid high risk areas.

8. Use the proper kind and class of livestock. One class of livestock is often more resistant to toxic plants than another.

9. Move stock carefully through infested areas, avoid crowding them, and make sure they have full stomachs when trailed or penned.

10. Be aware that special environmental conditions, such as periods of drought, extreme cold or wetness, may restrict animal movement or change diet selection.

11. Be cautious with livestock grazing areas recently burned or sprayed with a herbicide. Bot practices can increase the palatability of toxic plants.

12. Be able to recognize toxic plants and watch for grazing use of such plants. Early detection can often keep losses to a minimum.

Judge Bailey coordinator for White

Gubernatorial candidate, Attorney General Mark White has announced that Judge Scott Bailey of Eastland will be the campaign coordinator for the Mark White for Governor Campaign in Eastland County.

"I am pleased and grateful to have Judge Bailey on board with us," said White. "It's going to be a long race and we are going to win it, because we have people with the experience and dedication of Judge Bailey on our team. We want to make sure the voters of Eastland County know what we have to say and that they are organized for this campaign. Judge Bailey and my other supporters in Eastland County are going to see that this organization works and works well."

"We have excellent statewide campaign organization and that organization will be responsible for getting our message across to every Texas in all 254 counties," White added.

Our latest poll, released February 19, shows that I am the front runner in this race. This is a clear signal to our campaign that if we work with resolve and determination it will ensure the primary victory in May and a decisive victory in the November general election. I am confident we will win," said White.

Lee Haney running for House of Rep.

Lee Haney of Brownwood has decided to run for the post in the House of Representatives vacated by Lynn Nabers.

Mr. Haney is a lawyer with the firm of Slagle and Haney and a graduate of Baylor Law School. He served as a Briefing Attorney for the Court of Appeals in Eastland in 1979 and 1980.

He is currently a member of the Jaycees and the Lions Club in Brownwood.

County government all right, says professor

COLLEGE STATION-- There are a lot of things that are good about county government, according to a professor who spends much of his time studying and teaching about the subject. The problem is that county officials are too modest and don't involve the news media enough in telling about the many good things they are doing.

That opinion came from Dr. Willard B. Stouffer, professor of political science at Southwest Texas State University, during an address at the recent 24th annual County Judges and Commissioners Conference here.

Stouffer outlined seven major points that he said were "right" about county government:

1. County government is run by patient, dedicated and dependable people.
2. County government in Texas works.
3. It adapts to changing situations and conditions.
4. County government is run by professionals who take their job seriously.
5. County government is flexible to deal with issues and situations according to the needs of people.
6. It offers a wide range of services depending on needs and capabilities.
7. County government is only beginning to realize its vast potential. It must learn to deal with such major issues as urban sprawl and new federalism in the years ahead.

As far as letting the public know about the good things that county government is involved in, Stouffer urged judges and commissioners to work closely with local newspapers and other media to report to the public about the valuable services they are performing.

"We have not been doing a good job in telling people about county government," Stouffer said. "We need to show people that county government works. It's especially important to help young people understand county government. County officials are often so modest and polite that all the good things that are going on are a secret."

Stouffer also downplayed the recent concern about the indictment of several county officials over the state. "When less than 4 percent of elected officials are indicted, we don't need to get hysterical," he emphasized. "We have no business judging a whole barrel of apples just because of a few of them are bad."

The annual conference for county judges and commissioners are sponsored by the V.G. Young Institute of County Government of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, a part of the Texas A&M University System.

Ma Bell, Can You Hear Us?

through Arlington and Mineral Wells, etc. etc.

On the State Utility Commission - I have always been opposed to the State Utility Commission. This is exactly what the phone Company wants."

A Eastland car dealer had plenty to add. "You can say the service is horrible, both at the Lake and in town. It's hard to believe all the trouble I've had - the business I've lost."

"I've had many tangles with the Company. They recently put a telephone pole right through my sewer line."

A businessman in charge of 4 rural water lines states that he has had much difficulty with Bell Telephone crews tearing up these water lines, and not fixing them properly. "I don't consider that Bell is really in the phone business anymore," he says. "They really don't care about service."

One funeral home in Eastland gets almost every call going to the Victor Cornelius Company, with startling results for some of the Cornelius customers. A director of another funeral home wonders if he will ever grow accustomed to hearing his phone ring at 3:00 a.m., and finding no one on the line when he answers it!

Business people who runs stores in recreational areas have special problems when the phone goes out on weekends. One stated: "You can never get phone service restored between Friday and Monday, no matter what happens."

Other complaints included roads torn up by phone lines, high prices, and tangled up bills, and the inability to get anything repaired. One operator of a cab company said:

"Things were better during World War II than now. I feel the trouble lies with the way the whole company is managed. I hope O'Brien and our local newspapers will have enough 'guts' to stand up for us on this!"

One individual phone customer had a different idea.

"I have lived in a number of places, and I feel the service is very good here. I think Mr. O'Brien is too hard on the phone Company!"

Eastland and Ranger home phone customers outlined a number of troubles, with some of the same difficulties cropping up over and over. Recurring comments included:

"My phone is always dead after wind or rain." "Recordings butt in..." "People put you off when the phone needs repair." "Lots of wrong numbers" "dead phone" "Hard to hear long distance", and "static on the line"

One elderly lady attempted to sun everything up. "I can't believe how poor the quality of my service has been. My phone will go out of order for days at a time. I often have to go out and call my family after coming home from a trip."

Others cited heart problems necessitating phone service - yet no dependable service.

When phone customers were asked whether they considered their problems the fault of poor equipment, personnel, or both, some stated they didn't know what was wrong. The business owners were inclined to blame both, all except one who said: "What personnel? They (we) have no personnel!"

Home phone users were inclined to be more generous toward the personnel, stating that they felt the problems were due to poor equipment.

There is a real feeling of anxiety as the local offices are closed out, with a number of people indicating that they feel they will never be able to actually talk to any concerned person again.

Almost 100% of the persons questioned use their phone service - when they can - and wish to keep it. But they are troubled about how they can continue to pay for it. On the question of pay - an overwhelming number of persons in Eastland feel they are paying far too much for the type of service they get.

This newspaper survey does not claim to be "scientific" in the sense that it is absolute, yet trends can be learned from it.

On the surface, the combined data from all three towns indicate that about half the customers find their telephone service "good", or "adequate", and half rate it from "fair" to "horrible"

If this is the ultimate goal of Southwestern Bell, then there will be no policy changes on services or charges. But newspaper personnel who spoke with dissatisfied customers found a deep-seated bitterness and disgust running through the comments. So there is a question as to how long even a giant company can afford the bad public relations this can engender. For, in the long run, people are important. Like the thorn in the paw of a lion, people have a curious way of finally changing things.

And anyone who doubts this, can take the time to get on the phone and conduct his own questionnaires of 224 Eastland County people!

 Putnam News *****

By Mrs. R.B. Taylor

The weatherman has been very nice to us here at Putnam this past week. Friday was very cold but we missed the snow and freezing rain that meteorologist Bill Rogers at KRBC promised us. Maybe the 20 plus temperature will hold the fruit trees back. However, some are saying they have plum and peach trees already in bloom. The grain fields are looking green since the rain two weeks ago. Some of our area folks are taking advantage of the snow on the mountains of Colorado and New Mexico and are enjoying skiing. Ray Green of Abilene and his sons, Darrell and wife, Kathy of Clyde and Ronald of Putnam went to Ruidoso Wednesday. They reported a lot of snow and very cold. Dale and Christi Isenhower of Coleman are with a group in Colorado.

Our sick folks are about the same. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are at Golden Holiday Nursing Home at Baird.

Mrs. K.V. Riffe is home after surgery and doing fine. We hear that Mrs. Edith Ivie has not let a broken arm slow her down very much. She has been planting a garden and putting out onion plants.

R.D. Threet of Carbon visited his aunt, Maxie Solomon and Jack Ramsey Thursday. Maxie visited her sister-in-law, Mary Threet at Scranton last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J.V. Heyser of Cisco and Mrs. Naomi Heyser of Baird visited Mrs. Shields (Ruby) Heyser at Wichita Falls last Tuesday. Mrs. Shields Heyser is in a nursing home there. She is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Naomi Heyser and an aunt of J.V. Heyser.

Mrs. Jewel Mobley went shopping in Abilene last Monday and visited a friend, Mrs. Opal McGregor.

Three of our local youths apprehended some people who were burglarizing the Putnam school building last Sunday. The boys got the license number of the vehicle they were driving. The burglars were picked up the next day. We want to commend the boys.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Davis is closing her store, the Odum Grocery here. The store has been in operation here since in the 30s when Mrs. Davis and the late Charlie Odum opened it on the west side of the "square." They later moved to the present location. It is the oldest business in Putnam.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guidrey of Lubbock are visiting her aunt, Mrs. Ollie Burnam this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor of Weatherford and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Taylor of Sweetwater visited their mother, Mrs. R.B. Taylor Sunday. Homer and Carolyn also visited her parents, the Arlin Bints near Cisco.

'ROUND AND 'ROUND SHE GOES...
The question is, where will it stop? Many people have no idea. Life can be lived in a flurry of activity -- flitting from person to thing to dream, and back again. Or it can just settle into a monotonous routine. Either way, meaninglessness has taken hold. Lack of meaning in life has been called furious activity around an empty center. That's what a whirlpool is. Activities, meetings, schedules, parties, appointments -- but no direction. The swirling pace can get to you -- especially if there's a hollowness inside. Jesus talked a lot about meaning in life. But he not only talked about it. He gives it! He came to take us out of the whirlpool and set us on course in the Life Stream.

Editor:
There are some lovely people in this world, and I discovered many during my recent trip to Cisco when my mother, Zona Buford, fell and injured her ribs. Mr. Ledbetter and his daughter, I couldn't have done without you. Lois Whitaker, you're priceless, a friend we love. Dr. Germin, my gratitude to you for your counseling and understanding, as well as excellent care of mother. And to that young man who would not accept any pay for helping me get my keys out after I locked them in the car - thank you. (The police car I tried to wave down merely waved back and swerved to miss me in the middle of the street!) Maybe I was lucky at that.

MONDAY WAS the day that SWBell Telephone Co. closed their business office in Cisco. It was the day that Helen Gaeta and Kathy Owen, the last two business office employees, worked for SWBell as they've decided to retire rather than transfer to Wichita Falls or elsewhere.

Mr. Bob Cox, regional manager, was over from Wichita Falls to lock the door at 4:30 p.m. Understand, they'll send in a truck

Big Country Real Estate Helping People Move

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Moore and son of Cisco will make their new residence on the one acre they have purchased from the Frank Wilcoxens east of town. They can hardly wait to get moved and plant their garden. Mr. Edward Moyer, also of Cisco, sold his house on East 6th to Mr. Lon Duncan. The V.L. Thompsons of Cisco are returning to reside on Simms. They have been living in Hobbs and have purchased a brick home from the Ward Arnolds. Youvonne McMillan was the listing broker in the Thompson transaction. All sales were handled through Big Country Real Estate, 509 East 8th, Cisco.

Wednesday to cart away the desks, office machines and the like. Don't know what they'll do with the nice office. An "office closed" sign was on the door Tuesday.

A number of folks have been telling Mrs. Gaeta and Mrs. Owen that they're sorry to see them close up shop. A nice bouquet of flowers was sent to them last Friday by people who have appreciated their good work.

How can we complain about the business office closing, we were asked? If you'll look on page six of the telephone directory, you'll see a paragraph entitled "How to complain." You write the Texas Public Utility Commission in Austin at the address on page six.

SWBell has had a good many local managers on the job here since we began newspapering in Cisco some 34 years ago. The managers as well as other office workers have always been good citizens. And we all hate to see an era pass.

Monday wasn't a real good day for Cisco.

THIS WEEK IS annual spring break for students of the Cisco Public Schools and Cisco Junior College. Classes turned out last Friday until Monday, March 15. And a good many folks are taking mini-vacations during this week.

The weather man promised that spring-like conditions and temperatures would prevail most of the week.

THE HIGH WINDS Monday weren't particularly appreciated by Mrs. Rick Whately who works at First National Indemnity Company. When she got out of her car early Monday to go to work, the wind caught 15 or 20 sheets of paper she was carrying and scattered the papers up and down 7th

Letter to the Editor:
LAST CHANCE?

Some 55 years ago when one was leaving a town in West Texas they would see a sign saying "Last Chance for Gas." Then about a quarter of a mile further on there would be another "Last Chance" sign. My daddy was somewhat of a gambler and many times when we were traveling out of town he would say "I'll bet there is one more 'last chance.'" He really wasn't taking much of a chance because I was the one that got to walk back to the "last chance" or on down the road to the "first chance" to get a gallon or so of gas.

I have lived in Cisco since 1912. Don't feel like an oldtimer, just been here a spell. I'd like to leave it with a little more than I have had. An approved water supply, and a sewer treatment plant that works. Seems like through the years that we have been saying, "Let's let the next bunch of folks take care of our 'today' problems. It's tough, but I believe we have come to the place in time when we can't pass the buck anymore. There has to be a beginning. I wish it had been 30 years ago. We have to start regardless of how much it hurts, and I can't think of a better time right now when we can take advantage of a government grant and some cheap interest money. They tell us that it is our "Last Chance" for grants and 5 1/2% money. The bonds we have been asked to approve are not tax bonds but revenue bonds that let us pay as we go for services that we have to have. All utility bills are much higher than they used to be - water and sewer services can be no different. At least when we pay our water and sewer bills we know that every dime of that money is going toward an investment in Cisco.

Let's take advantage of our "last chance" and get that "approved water supply" sign for Cisco. And also that we will know when we flush our commodes that it is going somewhere. I am going to vote for all these issues.

In Brief

FIRE EXTINGUISHED
Cisco volunteer firemen took a truck to 1206 Avenue F at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday to answer an alarm at the Ott Green residence. A clothes hamper was burning and the blaze was extinguished with little or no damage. Cause of the fire was not known, firemen said.

Street between Avenue E and passed Avenue D.

Last we saw, she had been able to retrieve only three of four of the sheets of paper as the wind seemed to blow stronger and stronger.

OUR TOWN WAS pretty full of junior high band folks last Friday and Saturday. They were participating in the annual festival out at Cisco Junior College. . . . And there were a good many rodeo folks in town Friday and Saturday for the annual CJC rodeo. . . . They're delivering the Girl Scout cookies that you ordered from the little ladies two or three weeks ago. We interviewed Miss Deanna McGrew, daughter of the Lloyd McGrews, and she told us she sold over 200 boxes. She didn't know how she ranked in the number of sales, but her sales seem real good, huh?

PROF GEORGE Brazell of CJC was in Lubbock Tuesday night for a speech at a teacher's banquet. Well known as a humorist, Mr. GB is a frequent speaker at meetings throughout the state and region. . . . Wouldn't East Fork Ranch be a good name for the Dick Woolley place east of town? . . . D.O. Naylor, who has operated a used car business out on West 8th Street (across from Quickway Grocery) for a year or so, has purchased six acres of land just west of the Colony Restaurant on IH-20 access road. He plans to move his business out there in the near future, we understand.

HAVE HEARD several observers express the opinion that our citizens are pleased with the work and dedication of the City Council as evidenced by the fact that there were no opposition candidates filing this year.

and observer, we're in agreement with the above statement. Mayor Eris Ritchie and members of the council work long and hard at the job of looking after our city's affairs. They've earned a "well done" from us all.

THERE WILL be a scramble golf tournament at the Cisco Country Club Saturday afternoon. Understand the CCC's golf committee met recently and made plans for a scramble tournament on the second Saturday of each month.

The annual city golf tournament was scheduled for April 17-18 with qualifying the week before, we were told. CPA Bobby Smith is the current city golf champion.

CITY MANAGER Mike Moore tells us that the city expects to complete the installation of runway lights and the building a fence out at the Cisco Municipal Airport this month. Funds for the project were included in the Texas Aeronautics Commission grant. . . . Mr. Moore is checking into the matter of having aviation gasoline servicing facilities installed at the airport. . . . All of the hangars are full.
