HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERBERT HALLMARK

ACCORDING TO local school children, the snows came a week late and a few days too early, since they missed Christmas and were too early to delay school re-opening Monday.

Public schools did re-open for the year Monday morning and college students were scheduled to begin registering for the new semester later in the week.

SPEAKING OF snow, wasn't it strange Monday morning as snow fell on the east side of Cisco but none fell on the west side. Residents on the east side of Cisco received a moderate amount of snow during the morning hours Monday and as you moved towards the west side of town it became lighter until it completely stopped a little ways past Conrad Hilton Avenue (Avenue D).

CISCO WAS lucky again with the weather since there were not any really hazardous driving conditions during the snow and freezing temperatures. Most of the roads were not really slick enough to hinder driving during the weekend.

WEATHER FORECASTS called for warmer temperatures during the week and clear skies. Let's hope they are right.

LOCAL CHAMBER officials are making plans now for the Christmas in May project which was started last year and are again asking for volunteer labor and material. Be sure and read the article in this edition of the Press and make plans now to become involved in the project.

Chamber officials are also readying plans for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet set on the 20th of this month. If you have not already done so, be sure and call the CofC office and make your reservations to attend.

CofC Banquet Ticket Sale Is Ready To Start

Tickets will go on sale Monday for the annual banquet of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, which will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 20, at the Cisco Junior College Ag Building, according to an announcement by Manager Randy Speegle.

The tickets are $6.50 each and they may be purchased through January 18th at the CofC offices. A catered dinner will be served to begin the evening's program.

State Representative Jim Parker, who was elected to the office in the 1982 general election, will be the program speaker.

A highlight of the program will be presentation of Cisco's annual community service award, recognition of someone for an "over-due" award, the top two students of Cisco High School and Cisco Junior College, and the city of Cisco's Employee of the Year.

Dr. Norman Wallace and his program committee expect to complete all details of the program within a few days, Mr. Speegle said.

Hatcher Is Church Of Christ Minister

JAMES C. HATCHER

James C. (Jim) Hatcher, a veteran of 10 years in the ministry, has moved his family to Cisco and assumed the duties as minister of the Church of Christ, 1-20 at Avenue N, according to an announcement. He succeeded Jim Reeves who resigned recently to accept a church at Texarkana, Ark.

Mr. Hatcher came to Cisco from Wylie, near Dallas, where he served the Church of Christ congregation for three years. He previously was minister of churches at Glen Rose and in Florida and Alabama. He is a graduate of the Preston Road School of Preaching, Dallas, and of the Dallas Christian College.

A native of Sneads, Fla., where he finished high school, Mr. Hatcher lived in Florida, Alabama and Georgia before moving to Texas. He is a veteran of U.S. Army duty during the Vietnam Era.

Mr. Hatcher and his wife Susie are the parents of four sons and one daughter. Sons Tony, Tim and Terry are grown and married. Son Cliff is a sophomore at Cisco High School and daughter Christy is a 4th grader.

The Hatchers are at home at 1508 Bullard, the minister's home. They were honored at a New Year's Eve party by the congregation at the Family Life Center at the Lake Cisco Christian Camp. Members gave them an old-fashioned "food pounding."

"We are certainly impressed with Cisco and the many friendly people we have met," Mr. Hatcher said. "We are looking forward to living and working in this fine community."

Mangum Baptist Plans Singers For Sunday

Dwayne Clower, Pastor of the Mangum Baptist Church, announces that the Homeward Bound Singers of Wichita Falls will be at the Church for an all-day singing on Sunday, Jan. 9. Singing will begin at 10:00 a.m., and a covered dish meal will be served at noon. The concert will resume at 1:30, and last all afternoon.

The Homeward Bound group, which consists of six singers, is highly acclaimed for both vocal and instrumental presentations. In addition, one of the singers will have a puppet show for the children in the audience.

The public is urged to attend all or part of this day of music and fellowship. Mangum Baptist Church is located south of Eastland, 1 mile to the right off Highway 6.

Fourth Street Church of Christ Will Present Students Of SBI

The Fourth Street Church of Christ will be presenting students of the Southwest Bible Institute in a Gospel Meeting, January 7, 8, 9 of 1983, in Cisco.

On Friday at 7:30 p.m., Don Conner and Ron Carthel will be the speakers. Dan Hallford and Steve Townsend will be the speakers on Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Sunday morning at 10:30, Barry Kaszmaraski and Ken

Graham Hospital Signs As Affiliate Of Abilene Firm

The E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital of Cisco will become an affiliate of Rural Hospital Management, Inc. a subsidiary of Hendrick Medical Development Corporation, Abilene, on Feb. 1, 1983, according to a 20-year lease signed in ceremonies Monday afternoon at the local hospital.

Michael C. Waters, president of HMDC, told some 25 persons that the agreement culminates almost two years of research, planning and clearing legal hurdles to allow the Cisco hospital to be leased by the Abilene corporation. The signing ceremonies at the hospital was attended by Cisco civic leaders, hospital officials, and a group of Hendrick corporation leaders.

Signing the contract were A.E. Fogle, chairman of the RHMI board of directors; Emma Lee Donovan, president of the Graham Hospital District board of directors; and Olin Odom, III, president of the Cisco Hospital Authority board of directors.

Under terms of the contract for total operations and management, RHMI will lease the 30-bed hospital from the Cisco Hospital District for $5,000 a month. William D. (Bill) McKinnon, vice president of Hendrick Medical Development Corporation, oversees all RHMI operations, including the Cisco hospital and a management contract with the hospital in Seymour. He was here for the signing.

No personnel changes are anticipated, Mr. McKinnon said. Mrs. Helen Orr, current administrator, will continue in that role, reporting to McKinnon.

Physician recruitment and retention will be a major emphasis for RHMI, and the outlook is favorable for encouraging staff development in Cisco, Mr. McKinnon said. "We are extremely pleased that this relationship between the Hendrick organization and E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital has developed, and I'm certain it will benefit both communities and both institutions," said Waters. "We intend to build on the strengths of this fine hospital as we become more involved with the citizens of Cisco and meeting their health care needs."

"We are pleased to welcome the hospital staff of employees and such fine physicians as Dr. Ervin E. Addy, Jr. and Dr. Ayres Cermin into our association and look forward to working with them, as well as the hospital auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. Ilene Cotton," said Waters.

RHMI and Cisco authorities first began negotiations for the lease in early 1981, only to discover that state legislation would be needed to cover legal problems associated with the lease.

Governor Bill Clements signed the needed legislation in June of 1981, and in August the Texas Health Facilities Commission granted a declaratory ruling, clearing the way for the lease acquisition.

"We've worked very closely with the boards of directors of the Cisco Hospital Authority and Cisco Hospital District and appreciate the time and effort they have put into this project," said Waters.

Michael C. Waters, president of the Hendrick Medical Development Corp., presided at the signing ceremony. Dignitaries were introduced by Mr. Waters, and those making brief talks included Dr. Ayres Cermin, Olin Odom, Dr. E.E. Addy, and Mrs. Donovan of Cisco. The Rev. Buddy Sipe, local Baptist minister, gave the invocation.

Following the ceremony, wassail and cookies were served to the group by Sharene Richards, staff records technician, and Patsy Hawkins, staff personnel director.

CofC Is Making Plans For 'Christmas In May'

"Christmas in May" is Cisco's annual volunteer housing repair project for the elderly and handicapped. All money is contributed voluntarily by the Cisco community and is spent only for materials to make the repairs. The houses are repaired by volunteer labor (the people are not paid to do the work).

To qualify someone must own their home and live on a small fixed income. If the recipients are not 60 years old or older, they must be physically handicapped whereby they cannot earn a living. Any one fitting these descriptions are encouraged to come by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce at 619 Conrad Hilton Ave., to fill out an application. The board of director's for the "Christmas in May" project will determine from the applications, who will receive this benefit. Dr. Norman Wallace president of Cisco Junior College is the chairman of this committee.

Lions Study Plans For District Meet

Plans for hosting the annual mid-winter conference of District 2-E-1 Lions Clubs in Cisco on Saturday, Jan. 15, were discussed at the meeting of the Evening Lions Club Monday night at the Colony Restaurant.

Presidents Jerry Jeffcoat of the Evening club and Ivan Webb of the Noon club will work with Lieutenant Governor Archie Chamness in making plans for the event, it was decided.

President Webb headed a seven-member group of members of the Noon club that attended the meeting. President Jeffcoat of the Evening club presided.

District Governor Damon Smith of Comanche was a guest. Details of the Jan. 15th conference program will be announced soon.

Louise Taylor Will Be 'Roasted' By Colleagues

Mrs. Louise Taylor, retiring high school English teacher, will be roasted by her colleagues on Saturday, January 8, at the High School cafeteria 6:30 p.m.

James Couch will be master of ceremonies for the "Roast of Mrs. Taylor". Gene Kinser, Al Young, Tom Slagle and others will entertain with musical arrangements. Diane Fisher, and a committee of English teachers, will decorate for the occasion. Oscar's will cater a barbecue dinner.

The public is invited to attend this retirement party for Mrs. Billy Joe Taylor. Tickets, at $5.00, can be bought from Mr. & Sr. High school faculty members or from Carol Ann Slagle at the High School office from Monday, January 3, through Thursday morning, January 6.

GOD OPENS NEW YEAR WITH WINTER PICTURE IN CISCO

INSTEAD OF a white Christmas, Cisco residents were treated to a white New Years since snow began falling in the area early Friday morning (New Year's Eve) and continued to fall throughout most of the weekend. The tree in the above photo was being blanketed against the freezing temperatures Monday morning by a fresh coat of snow and heavy fog which was beginning to lift when the photo was taken. ## Work Is Finished On Sewer Project

Work on a new sewage outfall line has been completed and it is now in use and doing the job, City Manager Mike Moore reported Monday. The 10-inch line was built from West 8th Street along Front Street and northeast to join a large sewer main.

The Rhode Pipe Company of Silvertown served as contractor for the $160,000 project. Work was finished last week. Engineer Billy Jacobs was expected in town this week to conduct a final inspection of the completed project, the city manager said.

Mr. Jacobs is expected to have plans and specifications ready for the City Council to consider repaving Front Street at the regular January 11th meeting, Mr. Moore said. Plans call for paving the street from 8th Street to the cemetery. A ditch was dug along the west side of the brick street for the new sewer line.

Mr. Moore said that since the new sewer line has been in use, manholes along the route and in the west and north areas of town have never been too full. "We feel that our problems are over," he added.

WORD OF GOD

For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. Hebrews 4:12

Majority Believe Natural Gas Transportation Laws Beneficial

Results of a pre-Christmas poll of Texas Natural Gas Producers and royalty owners shows that 97% of respondents believe that changes in laws governing the transportation of natural gas would be beneficial to producers and consumers. The poll addressed the problem of bitter consumer complaints about high natural gas prices. End users have no opportunity to shop for better prices, while producers have inexpensive surplus gas allegedly not being transported by pipeline purchasers. The survey was conducted by Lubbock Independent Oilman Rex Fuller, Chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee of the 5400-member Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

"Pipeline companies have wrongly blamed producers for the huge increases in consumer prices for natural gas," Fuller commented. He noted that the real culprit of higher gas prices is the increased cost of transportation and distribution, which continues to escalate the price of natural gas consumers.

Fuller asked Independent Producers and Royalty Owners to respond "for" or "against" to a policy statement reading:

"To assure that maximum competitive forces work in both the producing and consuming sectors of the gas industry, steps should be taken to review and seek change, as necessary, in laws and regulations to insure that pipelines, as a unique transportation system, do not preclude natural gas producers and consumers from having equal access to whatever market exists."

Harroll E. (Gene) Wright of Gilmer, who is President of the Independents and also immediate past Chairman of the Natural Gas Supply Association in Washington, quoted the recent testimony of the NGSA President Nich Bush to the Senate Energy Committee.

Commenting about reports of gas bills being doubled in a time of natural gas surplus, Bush said the wellhead price of natural gas increased by only 39 cents/mcf in the last 12 months, while the average consumer is paying $5.60/mcf.

"It should be clear to all," he concluded, "that a 39 cent wellhead increase is in no way responsible for doubling anyone's $5.60 gas bill."

Natural gas producer L. Frank Pitts, Dallas, said: "The root cause behind interstate pipeline problems and market disarray is bad legislation. The Fuel Use Act has denied natural gas to many industrial users, and has thus placed a heavier burden of transportation costs on the residential consumer. Pipelines should have to become common carriers.

Pitts continued: "Pipelines should have to become common carriers. Producers should be permitted to sell directly to consumers and distributors, and the gas pipelines required to make the deliveries, as is now done with oil pipelines or interstate trucks."

Farmers To Discuss Income Tax

Farmer's Income Tax Reporting will be the topic of a meeting, Monday, January 10, in Eastland. There are some important changes in the 1982 tax reporting. These and other items of interest concerning tax reporting will be discussed.

DeMarquis Gordon, County Extension Agent.

Dr. Ashley Lovell, Area Extension Economist, will lead the discussion on such items as farm business expenses, income, and depreciation. Gordon invites everyone who has questions about the 1982 farm tax reporting.

The 1982 Farmer's Tax Guides are now available in the County Extension Agent's office. Guides will be distributed at the meeting.

Everyone is welcome to attend all or any part of the meeting.

The meeting sponsored by the Extension Service, will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will be held at the Eastland National Bank meeting room. The meeting will continue until about 2:30 p.m. or as long as there are questions concerning income tax, says

Peanut Growers To Meet January 7

The Southwestern Peanut Growers Association is sponsoring the Fifth Annual Peanut Review and Planning Session on Friday, January 7, 1983. You are invited to join us for this session.

The meeting will get underway at 10:00 a.m. at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center on Highway 281 at the north city limit of Stephenville, Texas.

Again this year we are extending special invitations to officials of the New Mexico Peanut Growers Association, Oklahoma Peanut Commission, Oklahoma Peanut Growers Associations, Texas Peanut Producers Board and Texas Peanut Growers Association.

This meeting, as have previous ones, will consist of an informal review and discussion of items of current interest to producers such as program regulations for 1983-1985, price support provisions and marketing procedures.

Officials of the Peanut Membership Organization and Southwest Peanuts PAC will report on organizational activity and progress and plans will be exchanged for increasing participation in the future.

We have arranged for 17th District Congressman Charles Stenholm to be with us after lunch for a discussion of the agricultural outlook.

The meeting should end by mid-afternoon. We hope to see you on January 7. Please invite your neighbors to attend this meeting that is held for all peanut growers.

Seeds From The Sower

Michael A. Guido

A mother said to two little girls, "There are two apples in the kitchen. Help yourselves."

They ran into the house and saw a big apple and a little one. "Are you a greedy girl?" asked the daughter of the house.

"Oh, no," said the guest. "Then," said the girl, "you choose."

If a person is living for self, he will manifest greediness, pigghishness, and selfishness.

But if a person is living for the Saviour, he will manifest graciousness, pleasantness, and selflessness. When a person lives for self, he produces what he is. But when a person lives for the Saviour, He produces what he is. You become like the person or pleasure you live for.

To live for money is to become miserly and miserable. To live for pleasure is to become empty and giddy. To live for power is to become overbearing and hard. But to live for the Lord is to become loving, happy and whole.

What or whom are you living for?

Photography Club Organizing

Just got a new camera, but have no idea how to work the thing?

Like to take pictures, but they don't turn out so good? Take great pictures and want the world to see them? Have no idea how to go about marketing your fine prints and slides?

Then the newly-forming Eastland County Photography Club is the place for you.

The next meeting of this organization will be on Sunday, January 9, 1983, at 3 p.m. at the Best Western Inn in Eastland. Officers will be elected at this meeting so it is very important that as many interested persons attend as possible. (Especially if you would like to become an officer.)

At the second organizational meeting on Sunday, December 12, 1982, the club was entertained by a slide presentation on flowers and landscapes. Mr. Neal Raney of Eastland presented this entertaining program as well as sharing some of his vast knowledge of photographic skills with those present.

Some discussion was held on various objectives and goals the club would like to achieve. "Competition breeds success" was proposed as a motto for the club and will be voted on at the next meeting.

Also, a regular monthly meeting of the second Sunday of each month at 3 p.m. was established. The location will be the Best Western Inn in Eastland, space permitting.

Following the slide show, guests were served refreshments of cookies, coffee and egg nog.

The Club would like to thank Best Western Inn for the use of the conference room for the meeting and Mrs. Ruth Sheets for the beautiful Christmas decorations she provided.

Each month the club will be featuring a photographer of the month and some of this person's work will be displayed at various public locations in Eastland County. This month's photographer is Susie Oates of Ranger. Her work can be viewed at the Best Western Inn until the next scheduled meeting in January.

The first competition is scheduled for April so you can start shooting now in the following categories: Old things, flowers and insects, old public buildings, water related things and forms of transportation. Each person may enter as many as three prints in color, black and white and slides in each of the categories. The minimum size print that can be entered is an 8x10 and the maximum size is an 11x14. There will be no restrictions on the mat size.

For more information on the club and its activities, call Mrs. Ruth Sheets at 629-2655; Mrs. Neal Raney at 629-2798; or the F Stop at 629-8332.

REMEMBER to mark your calendars for Sunday, January 9, 1983. The time is 3 p.m. and the place is the Best Western Inn in Eastland. We look forward to seeing as many people as possible at the next meeting. Come out and enjoy your hobby as well as meeting new people and making new friends... Everyone is welcome!

Putnam News
By Mrs. R.B. Taylor

How good the sunshine looks this afternoon. And the snow has just about all melted. But wasn't it beautiful. It almost seems a miracle, when a blanket of pure white covers all the dirt and ugliness. I have always loved snow and would have liked to get out in it and help my little neighbors build their snowman, but decided the house was the best place for someone like me. The moisture will be a great boon to the small grain and winter grass and weeds. Seems snow does more than rain to help things grow.

The new year passed very quietly here so far as I know. The youngsters of the Isehnowers connection had their annual bonfire to usher in 1983, approximately 40 relatives attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin King went to Dallas Thursday to visit his son and attend to business.

I failed to get some of the Christmas family gatherings last week. Visiting the Hulen Smiths were their sons, Clifford of Lewisville and Miss Michelle Thompson of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Carrall Smith of Grand Prairie, their grand children, Mr. and Mrs. David Smith and Mr. and Mrs. John Mulder and three children of Grand Prairie. Mr and Mrs. Smith celebrated their 57th Wedding Anniversary the 27th of December.

Visiting Mrs. Ollie Burnam the past week have been the Bill Brown family of Ft. Worth, the James Isehnowers family of Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Herdelbary and son of Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Ritchner and four children of Forney. Mrs. Bill Brown (Retha) celebrated a birthday the 1st and Dale Isehnowers the 2nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hughes of Rankin spent the holidays with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Collinsworth and at their home at Cisco, where they will be moving in the near future.

Visiting Mrs. Edith Ivie were her family, Charles and family of Roscoe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander and children of Houston, Mrs. Nina Lee Burns and children of Valley Mills, Mr. Gordon Ivie and children of Clyde.

Tom Lemmons of Abilene visited his grandmother, Mrs. R.B. Taylor, Thursday.

Dan Sternbridge, Mrs. Marel Lewis' grandson, has just retired from the Navy. He is currently living in Maries house and hoping to get work around Putnam.

108th Birthday Party Mrs. Laura Jobe of the Golden Holiday Nursing Home will celebrate her 108th Birthday Jan. 5th. Mrs. Jobe lived at Putnam until she entered the Nursing home. The Putnam Womens Study Club will sponsor the party. Many more Happy Birthdays Mrs. Jobe!

The Garden Editor

Ted Brice

The Norfolk Island Pine, Araucaria (family Araucariaceae), with its lacy foliage, was originally discovered by the explorer-astronomer-cartographer Captain Cook in the Philippines on his voyage around the world.

Its botanical name, Araucaria Excelsa, "the Exalted" was changed to Araucaria Herterophylla "having different kinds of foliage."

These beautiful evergreens, which also serve as living Christmas trees for many of their owners, require medium light near a sunny window, but can also be maintained in as little as the light needed to cast a faint shadow. Northern light on interior is best, or a shady place under trees in the garden.

Under the proper conditions, these are excellent specimen plants. In their natural environment, they can - and indeed do - grow to a very large size. But as a houseplant the growth rate is much slower. With time, they may become too large for most homes, but not before they've given their owners many years of enjoyment.

Indoors, during summer months, give the pine a northern exposure. If light comes from only one direction, turn the plant frequently to keep it symmetrical. Norfolk Island Pines grow slowly and seldom need repotting. They are the best of the Araucarias for growing in the home.

If they are planted outdoors, they should be placed in a shady spot under other trees. Indoors, they do best when not crowded with other plants.

Keep the soil moderately moist, not wet, at all times. Dry soil at high temperatures will brown lower branches. Water with lukewarm softened water. Feed from May until August

The Norfolk Island Pine

with special liquid rhododendron fertilizer. From October on, put plant in cooler environment and water less often or lower leaves will drop off, leaving a bare trunk where new leaves will never grow.

Propagate the Norfolk Island Pine by seeds and by leader cuttings. The cuttings from the side branches will root and grow, but will never be upright, instead remaining horizontal in growth. The red spider and mites are common dry conditions and heat encourage this problem but it can be controlled by the use of malathion.

So long until next week and good gardening from your garden editor, Ted Brice.

Prevent Chain Saw Accidents

Many Texans will be heading to the woods with their chain saws this fall to cut winter firewood.

Most of these trips will end with a very satisfying stack of fine cut wood ready to warm the hands and hearts of the wood cutter and family back home. However, John Blair, County Extension Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service cautions that unless chain saws are properly used, woodcutting trips can end in tragedy.

Chain saw users should know that approximately 23,000 persons annually require emergency room treatment for chain saw injuries.

According to John Blair, two out of every three serious chain saw injuries involve inadvertent direct contact with the chain saw blade. These accidents may involve an operator reaching across or holding work too near the moving saw, loss of footing, shifting of the chain saw while cutting, or experiencing chain saw "kickback."

keeping a firm two-hand grip on the saw with the thumb under and around the top handle, sawing only with the bottom part of the chain, maintaining high saw speed when entering or leaving a cut, standing to the side of the chain saw cut, and proper saw maintenance.

Mr. Blair adds that chain saw safety also involves knowing good technique for felling trees, limbing, and cutting trunk sections.

According to John Blair, information regarding choosing a chain saw, chain saw maintenance, and recommended chain saw operating techniques is contained in a new publication entitled "Safe Chain Saw Operation" (No. 5-1409) available through the County Extension Office at 629-1093 or call 629-2222.

The Real Estate Consumer is provided as a public service by this newspaper and The Texas Real Estate Research Center. Address inquiries to: The Real Estate Consumer, Texas Real Estate Research Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

A used mobile home can be an inexpensive and satisfying way to attain the status of homeowners. Before buying a used mobile home, however, you should inspect it closely or hire a professional inspector to do the job.

Here are just some of the areas you should look at.

Check the chassis to see if it is straight and level. A home with a bent or twisted frame could spell trouble.

Probe the wooden parts of the home for soft wood, which could indicate the presence of wood rot, wood-boring beetles or even termites.

Inspect the ceilings for water stains. Such stains could indicate a leaking roof.

Check for adequate insulation in the walls and ceiling. Without good insulation, a mobile home can generate large utility bills for heating and cooling.

Exercise caution by careful inspection when buying a used mobile home. You will be repaid with a comfortable shelter which has good resale value.

THE RULE OF 72's
The time period required for an investment to double while earning compound interest can be estimated using the rule of 72's.

Simply divide the interest rate into the number 72. For example, if you invest money at 12 percent compounded interest, it will take six years to double. If it earns 9 percent, it will take eight years to double.

The same technique can be used to forecast home prices: They will double in eight years when compounded at a 9 percent rate.

Since most houses are mortgaged, the equity or value in excess of debt will more than double when the house price doubles. For example, if you bought a home for $40,000 with $10,000 down payment, and its price doubled to $80,000 in six years, your equity will have increased five fold during the at time, from $10,000 to $50,000.

INTEREST RATES AND INFLATION

If you are planning to buy a home, delay in the hope of reduced interest rates may prove fruitless.

The price of the home may escalate to offset any future interest rate reduction. The availability of loanable funds at affordable interest rates is the lifeblood of real estate activity.

Interest rates are set mainly by market forces, through the Federal Reserve Board plays an important role in determining the supply of money. Interest rates generally mirror the rate of inflation, plus 2 to 3 percentage points, though there have been long periods of exceptions.

In the early 1970's, mortgage rates were below the general inflation rate. At the present time, interest rates are above the reported inflation rate.

But, after tax deductions for interest, the cost of money may be considered quite reasonable.

WHAT A PROFESSIONAL CAN DO FOR YOU

If you have ever wondered whether or not to use a professional real estate broker, here's what a broker should be able to perform for you:

- provide up-to-date information on what's available in the market

- show you neighborhoods with homes in your price range

- provide current information on zoning, growth, tax

See M.H. Perry for EDUCATIONAL INSURANCE 629-1556 or 629-1095 104 N. Lamar-Eastland

Inspect Used Mobile Home Before Buying

assessments, schools, availability of stores, services and transportation - arrange appointments - help you evaluate exterior and interior features of various homes—the good and the bad—so you'll find a home that fits your needs and tastes.

A broker also puts you in touch with appraisers, engineers, lawyers and insurance agents, if and when the services are needed.

And finally, a broker can provide information on financing and assistance in arranging your mortgage. Brokers bring buyers and seller together.

BUYING AND SELLING UNDEVELOPED LAND

There are at least six considerations when buying and selling undeveloped land.

They are: selecting a broker, finding the right market, judging the quality of properties, use of professional advisors, negotiating the purchase of sale price and the terms of sale, including financing terms.

When selecting a broker, find someone knowledgeable about land. Reputations are crucial. Honesty and knowledge are invaluable. Your lawyer, CPA or banker can often recommend a good land salesperson.

It is prudent to plot known offerings and sales on a map. Consider what is known about each sale—prices and terms, topography, utilities, flood-prone areas and the like.

And use professional advisors—such as brokers, appraisers and attorneys. They can help you make a wise choice.

Homemaking Hints

Janet Thomas

Happy New Year! With the beginning of a new year we always wish each other good health, wealth and happiness.

I would like to share with you a study on how to have a healthy, happy old age. This study was made of people who were enjoying a longer than average lifespan. They discovered these long-lived people shared seven characteristics: seven or more hours of sleep a day; some type of daily exercise; maintaining moderate weight; eating breakfast each day; avoiding between meal snack; not smoking; and last, avoiding excessive alcohol consumption.

It has been suggested that men who practice at least five of the seven habits might add eleven years to their life expectancy and women, seven years. The thing worth noting is that the seven characteristics suggest a lifelong habit of moderation. Much of our current concern over health in the older adult centers around changes in diet or habits that begin in the older years. Yet by age 45 many Americans are already suffering from ever present and weakening diseases such as hypertension (high blood pressure) cirrhosis of the liver, and diabetes.

Begin now, if you don't already, to practice the seven suggested health habits. By changing or adding a few behaviors you may add years to your life. Be smart about your health and live to a healthy old age.

Many older adults seriously limit the amount of fluid intake because of fear of accidents or the inconvenience of frequent urination. In restricting the amount of fluid consumed, the older population, in particular, tends to develop constipation. An ample increase in fluids along with the use of fiber in the form of whole grains and fresh fruits and vegetables will alleviate such a problem. The importance of ample fluid intake also needs to be stressed since fluids help the kidney to function properly and regulate body temperature.

Sufficiently increasing one's intake of fluid will lessen many health related problems and, thus, lead to a healthier life.

Modern Ceiling Fans Combine The Best Of The Old And New

When ceiling fans were introduced, they were popular for basically one reason - they offered a dependable means of circulating air throughout a room.

Today, nearly 100 years later, they're still popular. In fact, an estimated 3.9

County

Homemakers

To Meet

January 5

The Eastland County Extension Homemakers Council will meet this coming Wednesday, January 5 at 2:00 p.m. in the Eastland National Bank community room.

The new officers will include: Chairman - Mrs. Dorothy Underwood of Morton Valley; Vice-Chairman - Mrs. Murl Campbell of Eastland; Secretary - Mrs. Wynelle Brown of Kokomo; and Treasurer - Mrs. Twila Lee of Cisco.

The 1983 Extension Homemaker Club yearbooks will be distributed. Plans for 1983 will be developed.

million new ceiling fans will be installed in homes across the country this year alone.

Modern ceiling fans combine the best of the old with the best of the new. They still offer nostalgic charm. Even the fine craftsmanship of the past remains. But recent developments in solid-state electronics have made them a lot more versatile.

To begin with, ceiling fans no longer are just for cooling. Some feature a motor reverse switch that provides year-round climate control. During the summer they provide a cool, direct breeze that circulates room and supplements air conditioning. During the winter, they can be used to create an indirect air flow - recirculating warm air trapped at the ceiling to keep the entire room warmer.

For additional energy savings, ceiling fans also can feature a variable speed control. Besides the rate at which the blades turn, the speed control regulates the amount of electricity used by the fan. Even at top speed a good ceiling fan uses only about one-fifth of the electricity needed to run an average air conditioner.

Ceiling fans also are available in a variety of styles, from traditional to contemporary, providing an attractive accent to any room. Many models are available with optional light kits that offer an unusual alternative to ordinary light fixtures.

Fireplaces Can Be Beautiful But Dangerous

WE'VE GOT THE SOLUTION TO YOUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION!

CALL TODAY 705 W Main 629-8361

What is one of the most enjoyable objects in a home? Probably a fireplace, with its crackling, soothing flames. Persons of all ages collect near it to enjoy the warmth and firelight. It is so relaxing that the last thing a person around a fireplace thinks of is an emergency.

But this is an unfortunate possibility, according to Terry Hardin and his wife Tricia of Carbon, owners of Hardin's Chimney Sweep Service. The Hardins have the only such service for the whole Eastland County area. Terry Hardin has cleaned chimneys in Cisco, Eastland and Ranger. Sometimes he goes as far away as Brownwood on calls, for Brownwood has numerous fireplaces but no Chimney Sweep.

Terry Hardin explains that a chimney fire is not only possible, but is quite probable if the creosote density in a chimney has reached a buildup of 1/4 inch or more.

What's it like to have a chimney fire? No fun at all, say people who have experienced one! It always begins with a dirty fireplace. The soot lining the chimney flue is saturated with the flammable residue called creosote. It doesn't take much to ignite creosote; a newspaper fire sending flames up the damper is enough.

Once kindled, creosote fire burns with quite a roar, usually sending the occupants of the house running for cover. They need to put out the fire in the fireplace, however, using a fire extinguisher or sand. The opening should be covered with a wet blanket. The Fire Department should be called, for the intense fire is probably still burning high in the chimney. The mortar of the chimney can actually melt, and fireballs shoot out onto the roof. Obviously the chimney may fall apart, or the house, attic and roof catch on fire.

"Keeping chimneys and stovepipes clean is the best way to avoid chimney fires," states Hardin. "How often should you clean your chimney? There is really no simple answer, for it depends on how often it is used, the type of wood burned, and whether a hot or slow fire is used.

"The National Fire Protection Association recommends that fireplaces be cleaned annually. In much of Northern Europe, two to four cleanings a year are standard today.

"A fireplace owner can take a flashlight and look up inside his chimney and get some idea of how much buildup is on the sides of the chimney. If there is any doubt at all, it would be best to have it inspected by a professional."

Hardin adds that he will go out on call and inspect any chimney free of charge, and give the owner an estimate of other services if they are needed. Charges for a full fireplace cleaning job range from $40.00 for a one-story home to around $55.00 for a two-story residence.

A Chimney Sweep from long-ago Europe would be amazed at the modern equipment Hardin uses in his chimney cleaning operation. He usually works from both the front and top of the fireplace and chimney, using a soot sweeper, wire brushes, flexi-rods and other devices. The soot sweeper draws up all the creosote, soot and debris as it falls down in the fireplace, so that none of it is scattered in the air or house.

Oak and mesquite, which are basically good hardwoods for burning, are the woods most commonly used in this area. Dry wood, says Terry Hardin, leaves less chimney buildup than greenwood. Green wood leaves a residue which is extremely hard to get off - you almost have to reline a chimney after burning too much of it. A smoldering fire will cause more chimney buildup than open flames, and the new heat exchangers cause more buildup than an old fashioned fireplace.

Terry Hardin has cleaned a number of chimneys in the local towns during the past two years - and not one of them had been cleaned before. Several were at the point of extreme danger ready to ignite in a chimney fire. It appears that his services spared these property owners some real difficulty.

With the rising prices of gas, electricity and propane, fireplaces are making a real comeback. They can give a savings in fuel costs along with their elemental beauty.

But they do need proper care. So it is only fitting that the vocation of Chimney Sweep makes a comeback along with the fireplaces. And part of the job of Terry Hardin is to educate the public in the realities of proper fireplace maintenance, eliminating as many house fires as possible.

Spotlights And Sidelights

Julia Worthy

January, And How It Got That Way

As we use the Gregorian calendar (1582 A.D.), which was based on the Julian providing the name for the first month of the year.

The pagan line of reasoning ran along these lines. The Romans who lived on the Palatine Hill and the Sabines who lived on the Quirinal Hill built a temple to Janus literally on the road between Hills.

The temple gates were open in time of war so help could move faster. The gates were closed in peacetime to prevent Romans and Sabines getting too friendly. (Could this be where Robert Frost picked up on, "Good fences make good neighbors?") Janus, as the god of beginnings, presided over all Januae, or gates, and the practice of opening the temple gates in time of war was continued through Rome's period of pagan history.

Janus was represented as having a double head. He could watch the boys go off to war and keep an eye on the girls left in the city at the same time. It was logical to name the month that began the year looking back at winter and forward toward spring for the gent that seemed ideally equipped for such a double-take.

The Romans were really restless about their calendar. The ancient Egyptians had worked out a reasonably accurate calendar about 4241 B.C. It was off a trifle as it was based on the "heliacal rising" of Sirius, but the Egyptians took it calmly. After all, it would complete the "Sothic Cycle" every 1461 years and repeat. Who, in the name of the Pyramids, was in a hurry?

There is an inexactness in all the calendars, whether Egyptian, Babylonian, Aztec, Greek, Jewish, Moslem or Christian. Many scholars have devoted hours of calculations toward perfection, but it is still unachieved.

The early Romans based their dates on a luni-solar calendar that resembled that used by the Greeks. With both priests and public officials "compensating" for the irregularities, the corrections were usually more accommodating than accurate. Months were added or subtracted to lengthen or shorten terms of office.

Julius Caesar was not a patient man when it came to inaccuracies, and the calendar he worked out with the technical aid of Sosigenes, an Alexandrian astronomer, was put into effect January 1, 45 B.C., a year before Caesar's famous last words on the Ides of March.

Of course, even Caesar didn't know the first of January he designated was 45 years before Christ, but that's the way it worked out. However, I recently heard a TV program that said Jesus was born four years before the first year of the first century A.D. (according to the presently used Gregorian calendar, I think). Reminds me of the P-TA conversation I held with the lady regarding Jesus telling her he was born on October 7

It baffles me why dates are so important in religion (or anything else), but that may be a peculiarity I picked up on my own. I cannot convince myself that the various translators and I are on the same wave length - let alone that all-too-fallible mankind got all the i's dotted and the t's crossed! I'm quite willing to agree God made the world in six days and rested on the seventh. It's just that I'm not all that agreeable about measuring the length of his days.

The real problem lies, I expect, in all this educational process. The more I read, the less I know. It might be better if we reverted to primitive man's methods and merely observe the cycles of nature. I don't believe I'd feel quite so old if the calendar didn't insist that it's past time to climb Fool's Hill!

I think it would be all right with God if a worship cycle did not coincide with clock or calendar. I don't even believe Jesus would worry if the gifts in honor of his birthday were bestowed in April or October. My sneaking suspicion is that mankind has created an artificial framework of time. It doesn't quite groove with Nature - hence, Leap Years. No doubt, that's why calendar reform is always a viable subject.

No matter what the future holds, the present Gregorian calendar (1582) differing from the Julian by eleven days, is pretty well international in usage.

Too, no matter what the future holds, January is presently the first month of the year, and if it's all the same to Janus, most of my '83 looking will be forward! Cheers, dears!

When your house is properly insulated you save on energy cost season after season, winter or summer. The difference in heating bills for a poorly insulated house and a well insulated one can be as much as 33% more a year — choose an insulation with recommended "R" value for this area. Proper insulation will help you to save on your energy bill all year round. Savings may vary due to type of construction, family size, or different energy usage habits.

Kodak's new Workshop Series of self-help books is worth exploring.

Okay, sports fans. Quickly, now. What's the name of the athlete who won the most gold, silver, and bronze medals in the 1938 Olympics? Give up?

Well, then, perhaps you can answer this. Who, more than anyone else, is responsible for educating the poor, dumb masses in photography? That one I'll tell you right up front. It's George Eastman, founder of Eastman Kodak Company. I know, because I have a press release from Kodak sitting on my desk. What does it say, you inquire?

"Before George Eastman, photography was cumbersome, laborious and complicated.... But Eastman knew there had to be more when he said, '...even the most intelligent person fails in following the simplest directions—unless he knows the reason why....' With that in mind, he wrote the first of thousands of publications that were to be published by Kodak in the years that followed to help photographers take good pictures."

Okay, so the press release is a little brash, self-serving, and presumptuous. Still, I can't help but like it (maybe it reminds me of someone near and dear to my own humble little heart).

But the truth of the matter is that Kodak has revived its self-help books in the form of The Workshop Series, a new generation of self-teaching publications for the amateur photographer. And, fellow amateur George Eastman would be proud.

The first six books in the series each sell for $8.95. They include Black-and-White Darkroom Techniques, Using Filters, Photographing with Automatic Cameras, Building a Home Darkroom, Electronic Flash, and Color Printing Techniques. All are richly illustrated with plenty of color and black-and-white photos and line drawings. And all are written skillfully, orderly, and with the amateur photographer in mind.

That's not to say that any amateur can pick up these six volumes and breeze through them lightly. I would be very surprised to find that to be so. There are sections—like exposure calculation when using fill flash, for example—which get a bit sticky for many amateur photographers. But, by and large, they're geared to the same market George went after.

Of the six books, my three favorites are Electronic Flash, Black-and-White Darkroom Techniques, and Using Filters. That's probably because I enjoy using electronic flash, do a lot of darkroom work in black-and-white, and like playing around with filters.

Of the remaining titles, Color Printing Techniques seems a bit heavy-handed for the amateur. And, with new color chemicals and equipment being introduced almost monthly, the book was probably out of date before it went to press. It does, however, provide Kodak with an excellent opportunity to peddle its new Ektaflex processing system. Old George would have been proud.

Photographing with Automatic Cameras seems a bit shallow to be a book all its own. Much of the publication is filled with photography techniques and tips in general (like sections on lenses, camera handling, electronic flash, film, etc.). It's more likely this book could have been a chapter or two in a wider-scope book on, say, shooting a 35 mm camera.

And Building a Home Darkroom doesn't appeal much to me because I've already built one. I don't need another, and I'm not particularly interested in reading in a book about the mistakes I know I made in designing and constructing my darkroom, although I confess it's possible others might benefit from this book.

In the final analysis, with the exceptions noted, I think Kodak has done well by introducing their Workshop Series. Look for the books soon at your photo dealer, book store, or library.

Oh, yes. And about the fellow who won the greatest number of medals in the 1938 Olympics...it was no one. The Olympics weren't held in 1938. I'll bet not even George Eastman would have known that.

Election Law Recommendations Being Made

Part two of a two part executive branch of series: VIII The elections of Texas with presidential election

SAVE GREER'S IN EASTLAND January CLEARANCE SALE SHOP NOW AND SAVE!! UP TO 50% OFF

There is no doubt that national politics played a major role in Texas' 1978 and 1982 gubernatorial elections. There is also no doubt that voter turnout is consistently higher in presidential elections than in the state's gubernatorial elections. Therefore, if a major goal of state leaders is to increase voter turnout in elections, the election of Texas' executive branch officeholders should coincide with national presidential elections.

A majority of the voters surveyed after the 1982 May primary elections were in favor of holding statewide elections on the same day as the presidential elections. The state's elected leaders should properly give of its statewide leaders there facilitating maximum participation of the Texas electorate in the election of their state leaders.

IX Political candidates should no longer be permitted to use unexpended campaign contributions for personal use even if income taxes have been paid on these funds.

Political candidates in Texas are currently able to use funds raised for their political campaign for personal use. It is effectively argued that these funds were given in the spirit of assisting in a successful campaign and not for personal use by candidates.

Over 70 percent of the registered voters surveyed after the November 2 general election were opposed to the current practice which allows candidates to use these funds for personal purposes. It is recommended that the state's elected leaders change current Texas law and prohibit personal use of campaign funds by political candidates.

X There should be a single official in each Texas county responsible for administration of all elections in that county.

The Texas Legislature should encourage consolidation of local election administration through either financial incentives or contractual agreements. The myriad of elections conducted at the various local levels of government clearly point to the need for a principal county election official to ensure coordination among the necessary components of the local election system. The responsibility for local elections in Texas is now shared by the state's political parties and election officials at the various levels, and therefore, consistent implementation of cost-efficiency and cost-effective measures are not always achieved. The responsibilities of this office could in fact be combined with the duties of the county clerk, or operate independently.

The creation of a county election administrator's office, would greatly contribute to meeting the goals of reduced election costs, higher voter turnout, and decrease levels of "voter fatigue." An election administrator could ensure that costs were cut where possible and that countywide elections were consolidated where possible, thereby further reducing costs and simultaneously decreasing "voter fatigue" by virtue of fewer elections. The consolidation of elections would also lead to increased voter turnout. The majority of the registered voters surveyed after the 1982 November general election expressing an opinion on the concept favored the creation of an election administrator's office within each Texas county.

The state's elected leaders should give serious consideration to the institutionalization of an election administrator's office in each Texas county, either with an existing officer or by creating a new position—the creation of the this office alone could go a long way toward streamlining the state's electoral process.

XI Texas voters should have the opinions of Initiative and Referendum (I&R) are means by which voters rather than legislators alone can directly participate in the creation of laws. A majority of the registered voters surveyed after the November 1982 general election agreed that Texas should have the options of I&R.

The state's elected leaders should put the question before the voters and allow the Texas electorate to decide this issue. I&R would not only promote a more responsive state legislator, but contribute to the doctrine of popular sovereignty or government by the people. Increased voter participation at the polls would also result as voters should have the opportunity to directly voice their opinions on the future direction of state government.

XII The selection of Texas jurors solely from the state's voter rolls should be expanded to include other sources.

Names of prospective jurors are derived from only one source in Texas; voter registration rolls. In counties using the jury wheel system, once a year, the tax collector, sheriff, county clerk, the district clerk are required by Texas law to meet at the county courthouse to reconstitute the jury wheel. The voter registration lists from all the precincts in a county are mandated as the sole source of names to be used in replenishing a county's jury wheel. Voter registration lists are also the only source from which names are to be taken in the counties which use mechanical or electronic system. Practically speaking then, a person will not be called for jury service in Texas unless he or she registers to vote. Hence, there is a conscious and deliberate motivation for some eligible voters not to vote for fear of being called for jury service.

All of the 50 states use some type of voter list for selection of its jurors. However, most of the states supplement the voter lists with additional sources to complete the master list of prospective jurors. Of the five most populous states, only Texas does not use multiple sources to select jurors. Per capita then, lists of prospective jurors in Texas may be less representative of the eligible jurors than those of other states.

The United States Bureau of the Census projects that 10.8 million Texans were 18 years old or older by November 1, 1982, and therefore eligible to register and vote, however, only 6.4 million Texans are registered to vote. Consequently, 4.4 million Texans who are 18 years old or older are not registered voters. One can only speculate how many of these possible voters were deterred from participating in the electoral system due to the possibility of being called for jury service.

Using voter registration lists as the sole source quite possibly inhibits the workings of the jury duty selection procedure in addition to causing the list of registered voters to be incomplete.

The most effective means of obtaining a complete cross section of the public for jury duty service while not inhibiting voter registration is to use multiple sources in the selection of prospective jurors. Consideration should be given to using lists of licensed drivers, lists of motor vehicle registrants, utility customer lists, and various other sources to supplement voter registration lists. Persons who conscientiously refuse to register to vote because of the attendant possibility of being called for jury duty would no longer evade jury service by not registering to vote. Their names would most likely be obtained from another source. In effect, persons who refuse to register to vote so as to avoid jury service would no longer find it necessary to give up their sacred right to vote.

The state's elected leaders should amend current Texas law and enlarge the pool from which eligible jurors' names are selected. In fact, eligible Texas voters are not registering to vote for fear of repeated jury selection, an impediment to full participation in Texas elections is present and can easily be eliminated through responsive action by the Texas Legislature.

Oil Belt Drilling

Drilling in Eastland County has been pretty active in recent weeks as more and more drilling rigs are being seen in the Oil Belt area. This shot was taken on the Breckenridge-Cisco highway near the Gulf Plant. The rig in the foreground is known as a work-over rig and is reworking an established well. The work-over rig is a Union Exploration rig and is on the Kincaid "A" 40 Acre Lease. In the background is a drilling rig that is drilling for a new well.

...give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.

THIS IS A small world. Dr. Ayres Cermin of our town will tell you. And he bases his statement on the fact that he met a former Ciscoan atop a mountain near Winter Park, Colorado, during a holiday vacation.

Riding the ski lift to the top, Dr. Cermin and a gent started talking and when the man learned that Dr. AC was from Cisco, he observed that he used to attend grade school here. The man, H. Thompson, was a grandson of Norman Carbary, he said, and lived here several years. He now lives in Bakersfield, California.

The Cermin family made the trip as they usually do during the Christmas season, and it was a very nice outing indeed, he reports. Son Jeff, Abilene banker, had to come back a couple of days early to return to work. And Dr. Cermin suffered no broken bones like he has several times on their annual ski trips.

MR. OLIN ODOM, registrar out at Cisco Junior College, had just about thawed out when we met up with him Monday. He and his father-in-law, Dr. S.W. Reynolds of Killeen, joined Olin's brother, Dr. Clark Odom, to see the SMU-Pittsburgh football game in the Cotton Bowl last Saturday.

The temperature was below freezing and rain and sleet fell throughout the game. Those of us who watched the contest on TV in the comfort of our living rooms got occasional glimpses of shivering fans under umbrellas. It was worth all the time and trouble since SMU won, Olin reports. He doesn't think he will need to go to another Cotton Bowl game for at least ten years.

We took a "never again" oath a few years ago when it was 20 degrees with a high north wind as we checked in to the Cotton Bowl.

THE YEAR 1983 will be a good one. That's what the Rev. John Clinton, pastor of Evangelical Methodist Church, told his congregation last Sunday. And he believes every word he said, he assured us.

John reports that his Bible Book Store had the best month ever in December, 1982. And old Santa Claus was good to the folks at his house.

WHEN THE WEST Texas Rehab Center's annual Telethon takes place on Jan. 7-8, Band Director Tim Jones of CJC will appear with the telethon orchestra for the 8th consecutive year. He is a member of an orchestra that played for a number of parties and dances during the holidays in this region. The group played New Year's Eve at Dyess AFB Officers Club.

Our scouts report that the Loyal Lundsstroms of our town went up to their old home country in Minnesota for a Christmas visit. And snow began falling for the first time in weeks as they arrived. The snow was so plentiful they had to delay their trip home. Last we heard, they were stranded again-- this time in Oklahoma City with car trouble.

THE BOB Connors have a Ford Escort with a stick shift. They drove out to Odessa recently and it took four and a half gallons to come home -- a little over 50 miles per gallon! Santa Claus brought our neighbor, Hubert Kennedy, one of these Rubik Cubes for Christmas. He fiddled with it for a time and then went out and bought a book on how to work them. The 40-page book was more complicated than the cube and he laid book and cube on a shelf. Now, he takes them down occasionally and fiddles with the cube for a time. Seeing a lad without fingers work the cube in 30 seconds or so didn't help Hubert much. Another complication at his house is a 1,500-piece jig-saw puzzle that another Santa brought him.

A LADY WE know lives outside of town. A knock at the door the other day was answered. A man wanted to know if somebody he named lived around the neighborhood. She hadn't heard of them, she said. Then the man, who was a pretty rough looking character, wanted to know if her husband was at home.

Fearful that the man might have robbery in mind, she answered: "He's in the back cleaning his deer rifle."

The man left without further questions or statements.

THE CEREMONY in which Cisco and Abilene officials signed agreements Monday for E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital to become an affiliate of Hendrick Medical Center, Abilene, was quite impressive. Two television stations and the Abilene Reporter-News covered the event with reporters and photographers. And the event was on TV Monday at 6 p.m. and 10 p.m. The Abilene newspaper covered it Tuesday morning.

Mr. Bill McKinnon of the Abilene corporation told us that no changes in the local hospital staff were anticipated. He will work as an advisor of Administrator Helen Orr. He said they are very hopeful that another medical doctor will be moving to Cisco soon to join the hospital staff with Dr. E.E. Addy and Dr. Ayres Cermin.

CISCOAN Mark Heidenheimer, who completed SMU law school last spring and devoted the balance of the year to passing the state bar exam, has accepted a position on the staff of the District Attorney George Solis of Taylor County in Abilene. He went to work over there this week. Mark is the son of the Winston Heidenheimers and is a graduate of Cisco High School and the University of Texas as well as SMU law school.

CITY MANAGER Mike Moore and family went up to Amarillo for a holiday season visit with his parents and friends and relatives. He reports that they saw a lot of snow and ice... The Charles Clarks ushered in the New Year at the home of their daughter and family, the Bob Gormans, in Grand Prairie... Robert and Lisa Miller and children of Plainview spent the Christmas holidays with his parents in College Station and her parents, the Ed Bradshaws, in Cisco.
