

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

TODAY IS Mother's Day and each year we try to find an appropriate poem to commemorate the occasion. This year's poem was written by a local young woman, Tami Eudy.

It is as follows:
ONE GIANT JUMP
 By Tami Eudy
 When I was born,
 You were there!
 When I cried,
 You showed that you cared!

When I cut my first tooth,
 You eased the pain,
 As I began to walk, the confidence I needed,
 You helped me to gain!

Then one day I spoke my first word
 And you were so proud of me.
 You laughed with me, you played with me,
 You bounced me on your knee!

As I grew older you taught me more.
 You taught me right from wrong.
 You taught me truth and love and honesty.
 Because of you I got along!

Then one day I grew up.
 I had an answer for everything.
 Patiently, you stood by as I jumped from under your protective wing.

All smart and fancy free
 Ready to be all on my own
 I was scared to death, for Such a feeling, I had never known.

As I jumped, I still loved.
 I thought my leaving would help both of us

 because for some reason,
 our problems
 we couldn't calmly discuss.

And now looking back on that one giant jump
 I regret the pain I caused you!

If I could take back all the wrong that I did
 It would be the best thing I could ever do.

I never meant to hurt you mom,
 I didn't mean to break your heart because the last thing I needed then was for us to be apart!

So for all the pain and heartache
 I caused, I give you a most sincere apology!
 Because now that I am older, I realize you're the best mom there will ever be!

I love you more now and still more each day because I know how special you really are!
 And though there are other moms in this world, you're the best by far!

Happy Mother's Day Mom!
 I Love You Always and Forever!

MR. AND MRS. Bill Hester, owners of the Colony Restaurant, celebrated their 29th wedding anniversary on May 2, 1983.

Good Turn-Out Is Due For Tourney

A good turn-out of golfers from this region was expected for the annual J.L. Stafford Par-Total-Scram partnership golf tournament at the Cisco Country Club this weekend. Play began Friday and the finals were scheduled Sunday.

Cisco Cemetery Association:

Raises Trust Fund Goal And Reelects Officers

The trust fund goal of the Cisco Cemetery Association, which amounted to $101,321 at the end of the fiscal year on March 31, was raised to $200,000 and all officers and directors were re-elected for the coming year at the annual meeting, President Anton White reported Thursday.

To meet the new goals, the association will continue to encourage donations and gifts, the board decided. A $200,000 trust fund would give the association sufficient interest income to meet growing operational costs for the foreseeable future, it was pointed out.

Officers reelected were Mr. White, president; Steve Clary, vice president; Trixie Whatley, secretary and treasurer of the operating fund; and, Louise Karkalits, treasurer of the trust fund. Trustees reelected were Armo Chambers, Velma Joyner, J.D. Yardley, Brad Kimbrough, Reba Merkett, J.H. Penn, Louise Allison and Bos Elliott.

Long range plans as outlined at the meeting call for continued filling curbed lots with surplus dirt from new graves, continued raising and leveling monuments, and studying plans for a chain link fence around the new section of the cemetery. In a progress report, Mr. White gave the following facts about activities during the past year:

1. Water lines were installed in the new section of the cemetery.
2. Curbed lots were filled as surplus dirt from graves became available.
3. Hershell Penn and Steve Clary marked off three additional blocks in the new section - Blocks, F, G and H.
4. Last summer, Mr. Penn made some 300 concrete block markers, 12 inches square, with large numbers stamped in for each block in the cemetery. This makes locating graves easy for visitors.
5. The First National Bank donated a good used desk to the association, and Carl Gorr donated a used safe. Mr. Clary previous had donated a filing cabinet.

6. Grass mowing is in full swing.

7. Some 500 monuments were raised and leveled during the year.

Miss Karkalits made a report on the trust fund, showing a fund balance of $101,321 at the end of the fiscal year. This sum is invested in money market and savings accounts, her report showed. The fund earned $7,015 in interest and had $7,619 in donations during the year.

Mrs. Whatley's report on activities of the operating fund showed receipts of $21,092 and expenses of $20,185 with a balance of $907 at the end of the fiscal year. Receipts included $7,200 from the city and $8,746 from the sale of cemetery lots, Mrs. Whatley's report showed.

Mr. White is scheduled to appear before the City Council on May 10 to make the association's annual report to that body.

New Motions Due In Lundstrom Case

Defense counsel Bill Hart reported Tuesday that he would be filing motions within a week or so for a May 19th District Court in the case of the State of Texas vs. Loyal Lundstrom.

Lundstrom 59, former Cisco business man and official, faces murder charges in the March 3rd shotgun death of his wife Doris at their Cisco Motel apartment. He is free under $100,000 bond pending trial.

Judge Wright ordered District Attorney Emory Walton to turn over to the defense items of evidence that will be used by the state in the prosecution of Lundstrom. A deadline of April 27th was set for the DA to comply with court instruction.

Mr. Hart indicated that he was not "too happy" with evidence released to him. He still wanted more information about an autopsy report due from a Dallas forensic laboratory and about a shotgun found in the apartment.

In a pre-trial hearing April 22nd, Mr. Hart indicated that the defense will seek to prove that the Lundstrom apartment was entered by someone other than the defendant. His request to the state asked for any evidence or fingerprints that might have been found by officers in the apartment. He said this evidence was critical to Lundstrom's defense.

The district attorney and Cisco police reported Thursday that they had not seen a report from the Dallas laboratory.

Lundstrom had disappeared when the body of his 27-year old wife was found March 5th. After an absence of some 11 days, he surrendered to Cisco police at D-FW Airport and was held in the county jail until his release on bond.

Mr. Hart told interviewers at the April 22nd pre-trial that he would probably ask for a change in venue at the May 19th hearing.

"It would be difficult for my client to receive a fair trial in this county due to the unusual amount of newspaper and television coverage given the case," Mr. Hart said.

De Leon Golfer Wins Tourney

Delores Sharp of DeLeon was the winner of the Cisco Country Club's annual ladies invitation golf tournament at the local golf course Thursday. Mrs. Sharp and Lou Grider of Cross Plains tied with 81s and the former won a play off in the championship flight.

Mrs. Grider was given the second place trophy, and Letha Stafford of Cisco won third place with an 82.

In the first flight, Catherine Abbott of Cisco placed first with a score of 85 for 18 holes. Second went to Grace Kaischke of Brownwood who carried an 86. Third place trophy went to June Marks of Baird who had a 90.

The second flight was won by Monte Trice with a 91.

Don Johnson of Athens, former winner of the tournament with the late J.L. Stafford as his partner, was entered with Ralph Glenn of Cisco as his partner.

The format called for qualifying scores to be posted for the first 18 holes after Friday's play. The team totals in 18 hole rounds Saturday were to be added to the Friday scores. A two-man scramble will be played as the finals on Sunday.

The championship and first flights were to tee off at 8:45 a.m. Saturday and at 1:45 p.m. on Sunday with the second and third flights starting at 1:45 p.m. Saturday and 8:45 a.m. on Sunday.

Mattie King and Rene Cloud tied for second with 96s and Mrs. King won a playoff.

Mrs. Sharp won the prize for the longest drive, while Mrs. Grider won the "closest to the pin" on No. 2 contest.

The trophies were presented at a luncheon following the tournament. Mrs. Ed Wende catered the affair. Flo Robinson and Evelyn Daniel were co-chairmen of the tournament.

One Killed, Two Injured In Accident

A Wednesday afternoon accident near Cisco claimed the life of a young woman while her two companions escaped serious injury. The accident occurred when the automobile they were in missed a curve west of Cisco and rolled.

Sherry K. Brown, 22, of Walnut Springs was pronounced dead at the scene by Callahan County Justice of the Peace Bobby Curtis. The Department of Public Safety said she was the driver of the car and she had been thrown through the windshield.

The injured were identified by the DPS as Jeffrey F. Gordon, 18, of Cisco and Patricia Lawson, 17, also a resident of the small Bosque County town of Walnut Springs.

Both were taken to E.L.

Graham Memorial Hospital in Cisco, where they were treated in the emergency room and released. They were never admitted to the hospital, according to a hospital spokesperson.

The DPS said the trio were westbound on FM 2945 about nine miles west of Cisco when Ms. Brown's 1972 Ford missed the curve about 3:35 p.m. and rolled over. The accident scene is in Callahan County.

Funeral services for Ms. Brown were to be at Martin-

Pitts Funeral Home in Glen Rose.

DPS Trooper Phillip Dean of Baird investigated the accident.

Long Distance Calls Expected

Mother's Day

Texans will be making an estimated three million long distance calls to phone home and wish Mom a happy Mother's Day Sunday, May 8.

"Nationally, call volumes will average about 29,000 per minute this Mother's Day. It's always one of our heaviest calling days, and it's Mother's Day in Mexico, too," said Bob Cox, manager for Southwestern Bell.

This year's national projection of 42 million long distance calls is about double the number on an average Sunday. International calls are expected to total 1.2 million.

Cox said that most Mother's Day calls are placed in the late morning and early afternoon and after 6 p.m. "We advise customers to avoid those times and consider calling in the early morning or mid-to-late afternoon to avoid peak calling periods," said Cox.

Cox also suggested customers dial direct or use Calling Cards to speed up calls and save money.

Just as any weekend, discount rates will apply on calls made Mother's Day and the day before. On Saturday, calls within Texas receive a 40 percent discount all day. The 40 percent discount continues until 5 p.m. Sunday. From 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday, the discount is 25 percent, and from 11 to 8 p.m. Monday, the discount is again 40 percent.

Calls placed out-of-state receive a weekend discount of 60 percent all day Saturday and up to 5 p.m. Sunday. At 5 p.m. Sunday, the discount rate changes to 40 percent until 11 p.m., when it goes back to 60 percent until 8 a.m. Monday.

Complete information about long distance calls, discount periods and international dialing can be found in the Customer Guide section in the front of each White Pages directory.

Setting up a still life can be a rewarding, educational experience even for small-format photographers.

Eastland Murder Details Copy Corsicana Death

Investigation intensified this weekend across the state into the mysterious death of G.J. Carter at his home in Eastland last weekend.

Police Chief Bobby Arriola and Texas Ranger Gene Kea were in Corsicana checking out details of a similar murder there about a month ago.

John Tucker of Malakoff, a minister, was killed in a motel room in Corsicana, in late March, the day after he retired as a chaplain at the Veterans Administration Hospital in McKinney.

Carter, 65, was found dead at his home in Eastland Saturday, bound and gagged with two knives protruding from his chest.

Tucker also had been bound and gagged with strips of bed sheets and tape but had not been stabbed. Tucker's death was attributed to strangulation, as was Carter's through autopsies.

Carter has been a security guard at the same hospital until last fall when he retired and moved to the family homeplace in Eastland.

District Attorney Emory Walton and Sheriff John Morren returned from Nashville, Tenn., Thursday with a man they were questioning Friday morning. The man reportedly returned voluntarily and was temporarily in custody.

Reportedly the Eastland man had been in Eastland last Friday, but had gone to Nashville Saturday morning.

Authorities were struck by the number of similarities in between the Corsicana and Eastland murders and were to continue their investigation at the McKinney hospital.

How To... Seal A Leaking Windshield

By Dave Petzal Editor Mechanix Illustrated

SILICONE PASTE WILL DO THE JOB

Water leaking into a car's passenger compartment from around the windshield is a fairly common problem. This condition could cause interior corrosion and even electrical problems. But it can be fixed.

Writing in Mechanix Illustrated, automotive editor Don Chaikin notes that the tricky part of this project is to first find the source of the leak, because the way water flows can be deceiving. Here's how to proceed.

With a helper inside the car to spot the incoming water, take a garden hose without a nozzle and squirt water under moderate pressure at the windshield, starting at the bottom horizontal surface and working up one side at a time. Go slowly; it may take the water time to work its way through. Starting at the bottom is important to eliminate the chance of error from water flowing downward into the car.

If you find a problem with the windshield seal, it's usually at a butt joint. Just pry away the rubber and squirt a thin bead of a suitable flexible sealer. Your auto supply store will have a silicone paste that is ideal for this job.

If the problem is not the windshield itself, check around it for a badly sealed body seam. An occasional entry point is at the front corner of the drip moldings where there may be pinholes visible. To fix a drip molding leak, fill any gap in a joint or the pinholes with the flexible sealer. After the sealer has set and cured, touch-up paint can be applied.

Season Tickets Are Available For Dinner Theatre

Season tickets for the summer performances at the Roof Garden Dinner Theatre in Cisco are available. Season tickets entitle the holder to preferential seating as well as significant savings. Season tickets are being sold for $32 while individual ticket prices will be $12 for the plays and $12.50 for the musical. Starting off with DEATHTRAP, by Ira Levine, theatre goers will be treated to one of the greatest popular successes of recent Broadway history, which offers a rare and skillful blending of gasp-inducing thrills and spontaneous laughter.

Dealing with the devious doings of Sidney Bruhl, a writer of thriller whose recent works have all been flops, and who is prepared to go to any lengths to improve his fortunes, it provides twists and turns and sudden shocks in such abundance that audiences are held spellbound until the very last moment.

FIDDLER ON THE ROOF by Joseph Stein, Jerry Brock, and Sheldon Harnick is quite simply one of the finest and best loved musical plays ever written. Based on the Sholem Aleichem stories, the play centers around Tevye, a simple peasant dairyman, who along with his wife and daughters, comprise one of the hard-working families of the small town of Anatevka. Their lives are filled with simple joys of living guided by their ability to take adversity with gentle humor and an abiding faith in God. Well-known songs from the score include "Matchmaker, Matchmaker", "If I Were a Rich Man", and "Sunrise, Sunset".

TARTUFFE by Moliere is one of the funniest and best known French farces. It is the story of a hypocrit named Tartuffe who manages through deception to gain control of his benefactor Orgon's estate. Not until the

Shooting on the Slopes

Did you ever sit at your desk or in your favorite easy chair and wonder what life was like in, oh, maybe, 1,000 BC? Well, I'm not quite that deep. But I was slouched over my typewriter the other day thinking about the long, cold winter and what life was like in, say, 5 BS. That's five years Before Skiing... not all that many years ago for me.

Anyway, I was thinking about how forboding winter was back then. Now I find myself actually looking forward to it. Or, to be more truthful, to the first month or so of it. After that, it begins to drag out a bit. Sort of like the second minute of a telephone call from your mother-in-law. Or a little bit like the opening to this column.

Ahh, but there is a method to my madness. Just about the time my enthusiasm for skiing takes a downward turn, I find myself spending more and more hours in the darkroom. Doing what? Processing skiing prints and slides, what else?

Taking photos on a ski trip is hardly a revolutionary thought. Why, there must be half a dozen people or more who have already done so... two of them Americans.

If you've never taken your camera out with you on the slopes for some "serious" ski shooting, you're missing out on some fun and good photos... and a chance to do something creative during those last lingering days of winter. If you've already processed photos and have your own darkroom, you're a cinch to enjoy pulling those shots of your spouse or friends schussing down the slopes out of the hypo. If you've never gotten closer to the processing end of photography than handing your exposed film to your favorite lab technician, don't fret.

There are several ways to get into simple darkroom processing. If you're a self-motivator and have access to a knowledgeable photo processor, you can pick up a book, some equipment and chemistry, and enough tips to get you started. If you need more stimulus than that, check out some of the darkroom workshops being offered through a college or university—or independently—near you. Taking a basic darkroom course is another excellent way to utilize those last few weeks of winter.

Of course, you don't have to do your own processing to enjoy shooting on the slopes and reliving the memories of your ski trip for years after. But you do have to get up out of that chair, pack your camera and your skis, and head on out to the slopes.

Once there, follow these tips to help you get the type of shots you'll be proud of.

1) If unfamiliar with the ski area, take some time to ski it, keeping an eye out for suitable photographic locations. Leave your camera in the car or—better yet—in a locker inside the lodge while you check things out. What you're looking for is a nice run with a clear, clean background—like the wide-open sky—against which you can frame your subjects. While you're at it, scout out a place where you can lie in ambush well out of the way of traffic. Remember, not all skiers are good skiers. Creating an obstruction to ski traffic is frowned upon at most ski areas.

2) Use a slow to medium-fast film. Most people want to shoot a 400 ASA film for its action-stopping abilities. But there's so much light bouncing around the slopes that even a 125 ASA film will allow you to shoot at 1/500 second or faster.

3) Use a normal or a wide-angle lens. It's natural to want to slip a 200 mm telephoto on your camera in order to "fill the frame" with skiers way off in the distance. But long lenses are more susceptible to camera motion and shallow depth-of-field, both of which lead to blurred photos. A shorter lens will eliminate both these problems. True, a wide-angle won't fill the frame unless the subject is right on top of you, but with the fine-grained film you'll be using, you can always crop and enlarge the scene in the darkroom... or have a photo processing lab do it for you... with little loss in quality.

4) For the most accurate exposures possible, point the camera in the direction in which you'll be shooting and hold up an 18 percent gray card (or your bare hand or some other average-reflecting surface) about a foot from the lens. Take your light-meter reading from that and set your camera accordingly. Your results should be "right on."

Getting such memorable ski photos as this can be a fun and rewarding way to spend the long winter months.

Calvary Baptist Church Will Celebrate Anniversary May 15

Calvary Baptist Church will celebrate its thirtieth anniversary on Sunday, May 15. Former pastors Ronnie Bostick and Lee Fields will preach during the morning service, which begins at 10:00 a.m. Dinner on the grounds will be served at noon. During the afternoon service, which begins at 2:00, Benny Hagan and C.O. Clement will speak. There will be no evening service.

Calvary first began on May 24, 1953 as a Mission from East Cisco Baptist Church, and the fellowship met in an old store building just a few blocks down the street from the present location at 1800 Conrad Hilton Avenue. Quite a bit of remodeling and addition to the church property has taken place. More room has been made available to ac-comodate an increase in Sunday School enrollment and church membership. The members have done extensive remodeling on the kitchen in the fellowship hall and on the parsonage.

Pastor Ronnie Shackelford extends a warm welcome to the community to attend on May 15 and help Calvary celebrate God's blessings to them over the years.

Jesus' Friends Session Over Until September

Redeemer Lutheran Church has dismissed its Jesus' Friends sessions until next September. "We have enjoyed sharing Jesus with the children. We thank you parents for letting us work with your children. These children are very precious to Jesus and also to us as well as to you parents," stated a church spokesperson.

During the 1982-83 sessions some of the children colored Christian symbols. The symbols were colored with regular crayons on squares of heavy white material. To make the crayon washable, the coloring was ironed in, using wax paper over the coloring. The iron has to be very hot.

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League made the blocks into lap robes. The lap robes were given to residents at the Cisco Care Center.

The children enjoyed taking the lap robes to the residents of the Center. On another occasion the children went to the Center to share the songs they had learned.

"We are looking forward to seeing the children next fall. We hope we will have some of them attending our Vacation Bible School the early part of June. Watch the paper for dates." The spokesperson concluded.

Cancer Answer Line

American Cancer Society

Question "I took DES during pregnancy. Is my daughter in danger of vaginal cancer?"

ANSWERline: This synthetic hormone has been implicated in vaginal cancer among a relatively small number of young women whose mothers took the drug during pregnancy. The risk is small but you should discuss the situation with your physician, especially if your daughter has developed vaginal bleeding or spotting.

Question "What is a biopsy?"

ANSWERline: It is a surgical procedure to obtain tissue which can be examined microscopically. There are three kinds of biopsies: incisional, excisional, and needle. The incisional cuts only a part of a tumor away for examination. The excisional removes the entire tumor, as, for example, a growth on the skin. The needle is used to withdraw fluid or tissue for examination.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Mother's Day is rightfully one of our most significant, sentimental days of the year. It is a day especially set aside to be thankful for her devotion; a special day to express love and gratitude to her. Many men and women for many years have publicly praised their mother. Read some of these quotes for example:

"The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world" . . . Wm. Stewart Ross. Napoleon, when asked what was the greatest need of France, replied "Mothers". Theodore Roosevelt said, "The mother is the one supreme asset of American life. She is more important by far than the successful statesman, or businessman or artist or scientist." Lincoln gave his mother credit for all that he ever was or hoped to become.

Countless other quotes could be mentioned . . . With it all, we sincerely hope all mothers everywhere share a delightfully Happy Mother's Day.

Lights From The Christian World

Josephine Cleveland

The coach was giving final instructions to his team. "You will need to work together as you have never done before since Jim will not be playing tonight. I'm sure it will take a few days for Jim to recover from his father's sudden death."

"You're right, coach," said one of the team members. "Its too bad his father was blind and couldn't see him play. I think all of us agree that he is the star player on our team."

Just as the players begin to leave the locker room Jim arrived. He quickly dressed. Surprised that Jim planned to play, the coach told him, "Jim, we know how much you thought of your father. You need not play tonight. We all understand. We are sorry that your father never had the opportunity to see you play."

"Sir," said Jim, "I want to play tonight. This will be the first game my Dad has had the chance to see me play."

Puzzled, the coach said, "I don't understand, Jim."

"Well sir," Jim explained, "My Dad is now in heaven where there are no infirmities." I believe there is a possibility that my Dad will be sitting in a spectator seat on the front row watching me play tonight."

Meet At Colony

The Bible Baptist Women met at Colony Restaurant for their monthly fellowship meeting and food for body and soul, after Mrs. Louise Sowsels gave the opening prayer and blessing for the food. We surely enjoyed the dining on all the food that was set before us, also visiting.

A short business meeting followed conducted by Mrs. Louise Sowsels. Mrs. Linda Wells read the minutes.

The speaker for the meeting was Miss Tammy Wells on the subject of How great the love and friendship of a good mother is. She paid many great tributes to her Mother. She also read a lovely poem about "The Love of a Mother".

Miss Jenean Wells read a great poem called "But We See Jesus" because we look to Jesus he will forgive our past sins, and God sees the future and he will face with us all our trials, burdens and will lead us home.

Mrs. Louise Sowsels was honored, "Spot Lighted". Miss Ruby Wells spoke of what a lovely person she is and how much we love her. And Miss Tammy Wells presented her a large bouquet of Red Roses from all of us.

Mrs. Nelda Gary lead us in the closing prayer. She also spoke of how much she had enjoyed the meeting.

Those in attendance were Members: Teresa Martin, Linda Wells, Ruby Wells, Wanda Payne, Nelda Gary, Carrie Collier, Tammy Wells, Louise Sowsels, Jenean Wells, Faye Owings, and Elizabeth Lee.

People n Things

MR. JOE COOPER, local CPA, was the speaker at a luncheon of the Eastland Lions Club last Tuesday noon, and he discussed the drug abuse problem in our county. He told about the county-wide hot line program and its results and about the county court watchers project. Work of citizens throughout the county to educate young people about the dangers of drugs is progressing, he said.

There aren't many problems that concerned citizens can't handle if they get involved, Joe concluded.

WITH GRADUATION around the corner, you might like to review the significance of the colors in academic costume (cap and gown). According to the printed program at Friday night's CJC graduation, the color of the velvet edging of the hood indicates the degree, and the color of the lining is the college colors of the institution that conferred the degree.

What is more, the hood for the master of arts has white velvet edging. Both the doctor of divinity and doctor of theology degrees have hoods edged in scarlet while a doctor of laws is purple, the doctor of philosophy is blue, the doctor of literature is white, and music is pink. Others include golden purple, juric doctor; golden yellow, science; drab, business administration.

HSU OF ABILENE had a scheduled graduation program this Saturday at 10 a.m. and Mrs. David (Judy) Callarman of Cisco was among those scheduled to receive a master's degree. Her husband and three children and her parents planned to be in the cheering section.

Mrs. DC has been teaching half time out at CJC and attending graduate school classes at HSU for the past couple of years. She has a BA degree from the UofT in Austin.

DRIVER OF THE ambulance that collided with a bizzard out on I-20 last Monday was Mitch Nichlas, the Patterson Ambulance Company's emergency medical technician and driver in Cisco. David Gill, local fireman, was riding with him.

The bizzard was feasting on a dead armadillo in the traffic lane when he jumped up to meet death against the ambulance windshield. The ambulance windshield was smashed but it was able to complete its emergency run. There were no injuries and the damage was limited to the windshield and a "messed up" ambulance.

MEMBERS OF THE faculty of Cisco Junior High and High School enjoyed their third annual weiner roast Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. June Hicks, special education teacher, southeast of town. And it was a very nice affair, our scout reported. Some 30 folks enjoyed the supper. Understand the CHS Stage Band will go to Austin about the time school is out to play in a festival. CHS commencement takes place May 27th with the baccalaureate on May 22. May 25th will be the last day of school. There are 55 members of the 1983 CHS graduating class. Seniors and their sponsors and administrators enjoyed a breakfast honoring the seniors at First Methodist Church Wednesday morning with eggs and sausage and hot biscuits and cream gravy and the like. Read about it elsewhere in The Press.

MR. B.J. PERRY, who operates a cabinet shop and plays golf quite often at the Cisco Country Club, scored an eagle two on the 300-yard No. 6 hole one day last week. He then parred No. 7 with a four and had birdies on No. 8 and No. 9 for a round of 35, his best outing in several years. He tells us that he's thinking of enrolling in accounting classes at CJC soon. Golfer Roby Robinson has a nice souvenir of his attending a professional golf tournament at Tucson last winter. Asked him to show it to you next time you see him at the golf course.

VISITING HIS mother in Cisco was Mr. Gerald

Merket of Tyler when we met up with him last Tuesday night. He told us that he retired from his oil company job there on April 30th. The honeysuckle will be in full bloom in a week or so out at the L.G. (Tomie) Ball's home, 206 Avenue I, and you'll want to drop by for a look and a smell. They're already eating out of the nice garden there. The fire station rain gauge registered 5.1 inches of rain for the month of April. Folks living out on West 14th Street can probably get set for a fish fry. Mr. Marshall Jones went up to Woodson last Tuesday for two or three days of fishing.

DR. NORMAN Wallace, CJC prexy, was the speaker for the Lions Club at noon Tuesday and his introduction bought out an interesting account of a hunting trip he enjoyed last fall out at the W.H. Cooper Ranch. Several dove hunters were there for the outing and when the hunt was over they all gave Dr. NW their birds.

En route home, a game warden stopped Dr. NW and wanted to see what he had in his game bag. He was over limit, of course, and told his story about the hunt and how the others had given him their birds.

"I'll accept your story," the game warden said.

THINGS GOT A bit sticky, sweet and gooey down at Thornton Feed Mill last Tuesday afternoon. It all began when a two-inch pipe leading from an overhead tank containing some 6,000 pounds of syrup used in making livestock feed was broken when a truck ran into it.

Syrup started spewing and Frank Barrett, mill owner, was in the line of fire. He grabbed a burlap bag and started trying to stop the flow of syrup by stuffing the bag into the hole. This was finally accomplished and while Frank held the temporary stopper in place others hastened to the mill shop and made a wooden tapered block to put in the hole as a stopper until the pipe could be repaired.

In a few minutes, they had the tapered block ready and when Frank held it up to jam into the hole as he took the temporary stopper off, the syrup came out with force enough to knock the new block out of his hand. And he got another drenching with pure syrup.

After a time and a wrestling match they finally got the block in place and stopped the flow of syrup. They probably lost 100 gallons or so, which went down a nearby creek.

Frank was a sticky mess, soaked with syrup from the top of his head to inside his shoes. After a bath and clean clothes, Frank began to see some humor in it all. But he declined with thanks an invitation Wednesday morning to eat pancakes and syrup.

As of Friday, everything was go and running full speed at the mill.

IF LAWYER Truman Kirk seems to walk with a little extra something in his stride, think nothing of it. Riding his Arabian stallion Zadaire in a horse show at Abilene last Saturday, he and Zad won the 4th place ribbon and it was the first outing for both of them in the western pleasure class. Zad later placed first in another event.

There were 19 entries in the class that Truman and Zad entered.

OUR SCOUTS report that the Rev. Wm. C. Weeks, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, has purchased the house that the First Christian Church offered for sale just west of their church. He has also bought the lots that the Howell residence occupied up on 5th Street before it burned a few years ago. The FCC house will be moved there soon. Members of the FCC are making plans to hold a note burning ceremony May 15th. They've paid off debts against their parsonage out on West 6th Street. Sorry to hear that Mrs. Flora Mae Lee, formerly of Cisco, is in St. Luke's Hospital (Room 1564), Houston. Miss Patsy Nance has gone back to Austin for more medical treatment.

THE SITUATION was a bit tense for a time Thursday afternoon at The Press office. Somebody opened the front door and a squirrel ran in with Effie Taylor and Dorothy Jackson squealing and getting out of the way. After a time of reflection, they recruited help and chased the squirrel back into the street.

Understand the squirrel lives in trees back of the Dean Drug. He is a frequent visitor in the area back of the drug store.

CHS Seniors Are Breakfast Guests

Members of the 1983 graduating class of Cisco High School were honored at a breakfast by the Doubles and Singles Sunday School Class of United Methodist Church last Wednesday morning at Fellowship Hall of the church.

The event was sponsored by the United Methodist Women and staged by the class with Mrs. Lela Lloyd, class teacher, as mistress of ceremonies.

Willis Parker gave the invocation, and Mrs. Lloyd made introductions. Mrs. Mary Bob Leveridge, retired member of the faculty and member of the church UMW, gave a welcome talk. She reminded the seniors that she taught many of them in the 6th grade and read a program of an event in which a number of them appeared as 6th graders.

The Rev. David Adkins, pastor, presented a message in music in a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Martha Davis.

"I Give You Cisco High School" was the subject of a talk by Mrs. Lloyd. She mentioned a number of names of Cisco High School graduates who achieve recognition after leaving CHS, including:

Dr. Elwin Skiles, president of H-SU; Dash Crofts, internationally known as a recording and television star; Dick West, Dallas News editor; Frank Langston, Dallas Time-Herald official; Dr. Wilson Elkins, Rhodes scholar who became president of the University of Maryland.

Three Loboos who achieved All-America honors, Bill Smith University of Texas; Leonard Latch, Texas Tech, and Stanley Williams, Baylor; and two Loboos who became professional stars, Hank Erwin for Green Bay and Stanley Williams, Canada, were mentioned.

Three brothers who were elected King Lobo were named by Mrs. Lloyd as the Kents. Two CHS graduates of the Class of 1951 now head departments of Abilene schools - Dr. Joe Stamey, McMurry, and Dr. H.K. Neeley, H-SU.

Others members by Mrs. Lloyd were the late R.N. Cluck, who founded Cisco Junior College; and Scott Bailey, county judge. She noted that a UIL football rule was changed at the suggestion of the late W.B. Chapman, former Lobo coach. He said that tie games should be determined by first downs and penetrations and the rule was written.

Mrs. Lloyd presented copies of her book, "The Best Damn Teacher," to Seniors Terry Allred and Connie Gosnell who were chosen as "good citizens" at the high school.

Dr. Norman Wallace, president of Cisco Junior College, gave the benedictory prayer.

scouts report. He joined the Church of Christ here recently. Dr. E.E. Addys are home after a visit to China. Mrs. Lela Lloyd is making plans for a summer vacation to Talkeetna, Alaska, where she homesteaded some years ago and where her sister Mary Carey lives.

public notices

NOTICE TO WATER CUSTOMERS OF HIGH TURBIDITY

The City of Cisco during the month of March 1983, supplied water that exceeded the Texas Department of Health's "Drinking Water Standards", which were promulgated as required by the "Safe Drinking Water Act", Public Law 93-523 (US), for turbidity. The water supplied failed one or more of the following criteria: (1) the monthly average exceeded 1 turbidity unit (TU). The presence of excessive turbidity or cloudiness in drinking water may interfere with the effectiveness of disinfection of the water. Permitting the turbidity level to exceed the standard may present a risk to the health of persons drinking the water.

However, up to five turbidity units (TU) may be allowed if the supplier can demonstrate that the higher turbidity does not; (1) interfere with disinfection, (2) prevent maintenance of an effective disinfectant agent throughout the distribution system, or (3) interfere with microbiological measurements.

The water system is being studied to correct any high turbidity at any future date.

The notification of the public is in compliance with the Texas "Drinking Water Standards" and the "Safe Drinking Water Act" as a means of keeping the public informed.

Real Estate Consumer

David S. Jones

The Real Estate Consumer is brought to you as a public service by this newspaper and the Texas Real Estate Research Center. Address inquiries to: The Real Estate Consumer, Texas Real Estate Research Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-2115.

If you have financed or are considering financing the sale of your home, then you may be interested in a new financial program which allows you to turn that mortgage into cash.

In the current high-interest-rate market, many home sellers are willing to provide financing on the home they sell by lending on a mortgage. The Federal National Mortgage Association—commonly called Fannie Mae—has a new program whereby it will purchase first mortgages from persons who sold and financed their own homes. To qualify, a loan must have been made on Fannie Mae standard documents, meet Fannie Mae credit and appraisal standards and be serviced by an approved lender. The cash however, received from Fannie Mae is likely to be less than the face amount of the mortgage. For details, check with a lender approved by the Federal National Mortgage Association.

REAL VERSUS PERSONAL PROPERTY

If you are buying or selling a home, be certain you understand the difference between real and personal property.

Real property includes the land and everything affixed to it—buildings, plants, fences and so forth. Inside the home, permanent fixtures such as lights, built-in kitchen appliances and the hot water heater are considered real property. Personal property includes all other items.

But sometimes the definitions are not so clear cut. For instance, curtains are sometimes considered personal property but can be included in the sale of real property. Any items of personal property you want to include or exclude from the sale can be written into the contract.

Before selling your home, have a clear agreement with the purchaser about any items which might cause confusion.

CONSIDER INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES

Are you thinking about investing in real estate? If so, you need to give serious thought to the benefits you expect to receive from the venture.

Some people acquire older rental property because they need a cash income each month to help supplement their other income sources.

Others buy a motel or farm because it is a source of employment for their family members. Still other investors buy unimproved land because of its appreciation potential as a hedge against inflation.

People with substantial incomes from other sources may be most interested in properties which have tax shelter advantages, such as office buildings or apartment complexes. Since each individual has unique investment circumstances and needs, considerable thought should be given to selecting the appropriate type of real estate for acquisition.

IS A CONDO IN YOUR FUTURE?

Condominium ownership is not for everyone. But for some, it offers a pleasant alternative to apartment rental or ownership of a detached home.

Turning A Mortgage Into Cash

In a condominium ownership arrangement, you own a dwelling unit and also a share of the common area, such as walkways and interior streets. You also own a share of the swimming pool, tennis courts and other recreational facilities.

Condominium owners enjoy the gains of property appreciation upon resale. They also qualify for income tax deductions for interest and property taxes. A condominium owner, however, is responsible for the maintenance of the dwelling unit, plus a share of the common area maintenance costs.

Before you purchase a condominium, look at several units and talk with a real estate professional.

TEXAS HOMES GETTING SMALLER

If you have been in the homebuying market several years, you may have noticed houses are getting smaller.

The average size of a Texas home built in 1978 was 1,600 square feet. This compares to almost 1,700 square feet in 1974. As building costs and utility expenses rise and the average household size continues to decline, the size of houses will likely decline further.

This reduction, however, may not mean less space for each person in the household. In 1976, there were almost three persons per Texas household. In 1990, this will decline in about 2.5

persons. What this means is that the size of houses could decline even further—say to 1,400 square feet—without decreasing the average space per person in the year 1990.

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS

START A HOUSE JOURNAL

The practice of writing down the "genealogy" of a house in the form of a house log is a well-established tradition in many parts of Europe. In Canada, too, it's an idea that has begun to flourish, thanks to the Federated Women's Institute, which runs competitions and publishes guidelines on preparing such books. But we're suggesting it here because not only can the research and record-keeping be fun, but the log can serve as a diary of your life in the house (and prove useful to any future residents).

The cover of your history book should be both attractive and durable, but remember that you'll also want to be able to add pages and update information from time to time... so use a ring notebook, a spring binder, or some other arrangement that will make the addition of more paper convenient.

The first page of a house log should be reserved for information describing the precise location of the dwelling. If your home is situated in a rural area, note the lot and concession number, the township, and the county. An urban residence should be pinpointed by lot, street number, town or city, and county.

In addition to providing data about the site, the initial page should include the following statement: "This log is to remain in the house and should be updated by future occupants!"

The body of the book will be devoted to two topics. The first is a record of the construction of the building... the second is the history of its inhabitants.

The amount of construction information available will, of course, vary from house to house. If possible, though, you should document the date of construction, the name of the architect and/or builder, the dates and descriptions of any significant alterations, and the materials used to build and remodel the residence. You'll also want to try to include sketches of the floor plan, as well as design drawings of any major changes made over the years. Finally, it's both interesting and potentially valuable to insert scale diagrams of water lines, sewage systems, and the like in your logbook.

Information about the inhabitants of your house should include such facts as names, dates of birth and death, marriages, occupations, and so forth... and be as complete as possible for all the families that have lived in the residence. Don't be afraid to do some research (check the local registry office, long-time residents of the area, school records, old newspapers, etc.), and to go into as much detail as you like in your mini-biographies.

Photographs or old drawings can often add a lot of interest to a house log, as well. Round up every shot you can find of the interior and exterior of the structure over the years. If you built your own home, be sure to add any step-by-step construction photos, too. And of course, portraits of past and present residents should accompany the stories of those families when possible.

Once your logbook has been assembled, install it in a permanent place in the house. As occupants come and go, as families overcome hardships and experience joys, the log that you start now can become a small but significant part of the history of your area... and help maintain the links to the past that sometimes go a long way toward making life in the present more meaningful.

Eastland Nursing Homes Participate In Sr. Olympics

Senior Olympics

Residents of Eastland Manor and Valley View Lodge Nursing Homes gathered on the grounds of Siebert Elementary School for a very special event, May 4th.

The residents participating from Eastland Manor were: Barney Noble, Alfred Brumbelow, W.T. Lewis, James Stockstill and John Harkins assisted by the Administrator, Phil Dalglish and Social Activities Director, Mary Dunn.

The residents participating from Valley View were: Ruth Carter, Willie Harris, Sue Robertson, Charlie Simmons, Verna Lasater, Ruth Howard and Guy Sherrill assisted by the Administrator, Judy Chaney; assistant Administrator, Mary Wheatley and Social Activities Director, Leta Hogan.

Qualifying trials were held that day to select representatives to go to the Regional Senior Olympics. It is to be held in Abilene on June 4th.

The Senior Olympics, sponsored by Beverly Enterprises, is an annual event with regional meets conducted throughout the state between April 1 and June 30. The state meet will be held in October in Austin. All Nursing Homes in Texas may send representatives to the state meet after participating in a regional meet.

Events for the Senior Olympics include: discus, using a frisbee; shotput, using a softball; wheelchair races and 25, 50 and 100 foot races. Each event has four divisions depending on the individual's physical condition and ability.

The Senior Olympics provide the nursing home residents an opportunity to demonstrate to the community that they are active and very much alive. It also provides for participation in a fun, competitive activity and to meet other Senior Citizens from around the state.

The regional meet will follow the format of the 'Real' Olympics starting with a parade at the ACU track, where each nursing home will display their own banner and outfits. All participants will receive a ribbon whether they win or not.

There will be Gold, Silver and Bronze medals given to first, second and third place winners. A trophy will be awarded to the facility which accumulates the most points in the events, based on: banners, originality, costumes, grandstand decoration and more.

Any one who is interested in volunteering their time to help with decorating the stands, making the banner, helping the residents during the meet, meal time or just helping out please contact Mary Dunn, social activities director at Eastland Manor (629-2686) or Leta Hogan, social activities director at Valley View (629-1779).

A Mother Concerned For Others

By Viola Payne
Feature Writer

The country home of JoAnn Tannich and her husband, Dr. Tim Tannich, is a remote from scenes of alcohol, broken glass and blood as one can get. Their house, six miles south of Eastland, is bordered by serene meadows and hills. Landscaping has begun on the 9 acre property.

Attractive JoAnn is busy with the care of 4 yr. old daughter Erika, with homemaking, Church of Christ attendance, and idyllic pastimes such as flower growing.

But behind the dark brown curls and clear gray eyes of this young Eastland County mother lies a desire to help other people have the same quality of life she enjoys.

And JoAnn is certain that a good life does not include alcohol consumption or the misery which can follow. Especially not if a person gets behind the wheel of a car and kills himself or someone else.

This realization has projected the work of JoAnn Tannich far beyond her own comfortable living room. She recently took time to help organize an Eastland County Chapter of M.A.D.D. (Mothers Against Drunk Driving).

The goals of the group are support for the victims, public awareness of problems associated with drunk drivers, work with the Court-watchers program, and to help pass stricter drunk driving laws.

JoAnn's opinion on drunk driving did not come about by change. For JoAnn is a Respiratory Therapist, and she once worked in the emergency room of Hendrick Memorial Hospital, Abilene. There she saw injured, dying and dead persons who were victims of traffic accidents caused by drunk drivers.

"It was really awful," she says. "So much tragedy - so much waste and suffering. I will never forget those sights - or the smell of liquor mixed with blood.

There were a number of young people involved. Once a drunken driver killed a whole family right near the hospital: mother and father in their 20's, and two small children. The driver of the death car survived - he was reeking with alcohol and obnoxious. I longed for some way to stop this kind of slaughter!"

With her cosmopolitan background, JoAnn Tannich had seen some of the results of alcohol consumption before working at Hendrick Memorial. Fortunately this experience had not come from her own family.

She was born in San Antonio to Air Force Major Joe E. Hunt, Jr. and Marianne Hunt. Later the family had two sons, Eric and Andrew.

Major Hunt served in World War II, the Korean War, and then Viet Nam. He was Head of the Department handling all medical supplies sent to Viet Nam.

JoAnn's family moved a number of times during her years at home. After San Antonio she lived in Tokyo, Japan, Los Angeles, Calif., London, England, Staten Island, N.Y., Valley Forge, Pa., Austin, Texas, and Angeles City, Philippines. Major Hunt died while stationed in the Philippines.

At this time JoAnn's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Lobley, live in Midland. They visit frequently in the Tannich home.

After her graduation from high school JoAnn came to Abilene to attend Abilene Christian University. There she met Tim Tannich, who had lived in various parts of the southwest before moving to Abilene.

JoAnn received a degree in Respiratory Therapy and began work at Hendrick Memorial. In 1974 she and Tim Tannich were married, and moved to Dallas soon afterward. Tim Tannich attended Baylor College of Dentistry, where he received his D.D.S. Degree in 1979.

While living in the Dallas area JoAnn Tannich worked on shifts in the Neo-natal Unit at Rutherford General Hospital, Mesquite.

During these years Tim and JoAnn talked and dreamed about the home they would have in the future. They both wanted a house in the country, near a small town. Finally they began looking around, and decided on Eastland as their home.

"We have been very happy with our choice," smiles JoAnn. "This has been a wonderful place. And the people have been very friendly to us."

Daughter Erika was born in 1978, almost a year before the Tannich's 1979 move to Eastland. JoAnn left her work before the birth of her child, and has not returned to the profession. She keeps her license current, however.

"I do not want to leave my child," she says. "I feel that my most important work is to help make my family a good christian home."

"I knew that motherhood would be an emotional experience - I had worked with sick babies in the hospital and observed their anxious parents."

"But until I had a child of my own, I really didn't understand the effect it would have on me. What could be more important to my husband and I than the health and safety of our child?"

In Eastland JoAnn observed that the Church of Christ and some of the other churches took a stand against the use of alcoholic beverages. She realized that even in Eastland County alcohol abuse could present a problem.

After Dr. Tim Tannich began his dental practice in Eastland, one of the employees in the office was lovely Carrie Hayes of Carbon. When Carrie Hayes and three other Eastland young people were killed in a highway accident last November, the Tannichs were stunned.

JoAnn wished again that something could be done to save the thousands who die on the highways each year. Not only teenagers, but people of all ages from all walks of life.

A Red Rose For Mother

Mrs. Tim Tannich (JoAnn) and daughter Erika made a lovely Mother's Day picture as they relax in the sunshine. JoAnn Tannich's life has not all been relaxation, however. For this young mother and homemaker has been involved in the organization of the Eastland County M.A.D.D. (Mothers Against Drunk Driving).

Spotlights & Sidelights

Julia Woorthy

Motherhood is a natural function which does not come easily to every female, no matter how many children she bears.

Often we become so engrossed in diapering and powdering that we forget the part of TLC that is not one of the five physical senses.

Tender, loving care is an intangible that may be more important to humanity than guarding against diaper rash and cradle cap.

How genuinely loving the mother's emotion is when cuddling an infant in her arms could be the basis upon which empires are founded and fortunes are made.

Every infant is entitled to the basics of food, clothing and shelter, but female or male can supply physical needs equally well and these basics are physical.

Rarely does either parent, holding a squalling baby, think of the enormous potential for good or evil emboldened in that scrap of howling humanity.

Sometimes it is better to have no premonition of what our children will become, but how many of our great people say, "My mother never loved me?"

Days designated for special consideration are fine, but do you ever recall your earliest memories of your mother without finding them based on love?

Although fathers, more than ever before, share in the joys as well as the responsibilities of rearing youngsters, mothers usually sustain a longer effort to coax the first sentences from baby lips and generally spend more time with an infant than the father does.

Your feelings may differ; your experiences negate all of these ideas; but if they do, adopt yourself a mother because everyone needs someone loving him with the uncritical devotion that is a mother's speciality.

Certificate Of Merit Given To Local DAR

The Charles Crawford Chapter, DAR, met in the home of Mrs. Charles Terrell, 910 W. 6th in Cisco, on Monday, April 25, 1983.

Mrs. Joseph Perkins, Regent, called the meeting to order. She led in the pledge to the flag and related that the chapter had received an honorable mention on their report. Mrs. Wallace gave the invocation and Mrs. Bess Francis read the National Defense report. The minutes were approved as read.

A Certificate of Merit was awarded the local Chapter by the Texas Society of the NSDAR for excellence in the DAR magazine. This certificate was presented at the 84th State Conference held March 14, 1983. The chapter is very proud of this recognition and wishes to thank Mrs. Cromwell for all of her hard work in securing subscriptions for the members.

A book, Legendary Ladies of Texas, was presented to Mrs. Allye Terrell, in memory of her sister, Josephine Clements. The book is to be placed in the local library. Mrs. Clements served the local chapter as Regent. In giving the book, Mrs. Clements was commended for her devotion to DAR and it expresses the love of the chapter for her.

Nannette Keith presented the program on good citizenship. The meeting concluded with the singing of "Have You Ever Been to Texas in the Spring", the official state song of the DAR and Garden Clubs and "Love Divine, All Love Excelling".

Refreshments of punch, coffee, spice cake and a variety of cookies and sandwiches were served after the meeting to the eight members and one guest attending.

House Of Representatives

Jim Parker-District 05

This week I attempt to bring you up-to-date on matters that we have discussed in the past, some alive, some dying, and some deceased.

1. The proponents of revision of the Homestead Exemption Law are making every effort to make their legislation more palatable, such as exempting agricultural products, setting minimum amounts a person must borrow to encumber their homestead, and all sorts of rights and rescission, "cooling off periods," etc. My attitude on this is a lot like my attitude on turnips: anyway you fix 'em, I don't think I'm going to like 'em.

2. The "Barton Plan" (sales tax financing of schools in lieu of ad valorem taxes) has been presented in the Ways and Means Committee and, who knows? The committee has not taken any decisive action in regard to tax measures and it is difficult for me to see any conclusion that can be drawn. Hopefully, even in the short time left, the plan has a good chance. I know it does if it is properly understood.

3. The general area of alcohol abuse legislation is in a practical state of flux in committee, but MADD has been able to get the "big eye" of television cameras on committee members which sure makes a lot of difference in how a person behaves. I think the drinking age and open container legislation will come before the House within two weeks and the sheep will be separated from the goats, depending on your individual perception of sheep and goats. I do not know on your individual perception of sheep and goats. I do not know what DWI legislation will ultimately be offered on the Floor of the House, but a vicious and vigorous fight is almost guaranteed.

4. Horse racing has been reported out of the full Senate with a major change that would require a statewide referendum in the November election. If that passes, then the local version is hung up in committee, but even as I write, there is much talking in hushed tones. I think it will come out of the committee, make it the Floor, and be passed by the House. The argument is, if "the people" get to decide, who am I to vote against it?

5. TDC is rolling along collecting $20,000 a year at the rate of $400-$500 a month per inmate, but pieces of legislation too numerous to mention here are passing that, hopefully, will trim and maybe lessen the "bottomless pit" effect insofar as state finances go. In spite of space limitations, I have to tell you that I think the best of these proposals is one that would put DWI offenders on the sides of our public streets and highways picking up trash while a big yellow truck which says "DWI Work Detail" watches on. I do not know about you, but I think that the sheer embarrassment of this would have a much greater effect on my desire not to be a subsequent offender than the virtual anonymity of a relaxing three-day jail stay with meals furnished.

In conclusion, the Legislature is still moving at an absolute snail's pace insofar as substantive matters are concerned. We stay busy, unbelievably busy, but have yet to address the big issues and only 31 more days to go. Of course, I know that you constituents will be more than happy to spend the $60,000 per day necessary for a special session for us to do the things we should have done 90 days ago. If there is a next time for me, I will know better. See you next week.

Gordon Spot County Extension Agent

DeMarquis Gordon

With all the information available on the PIK (payment-in-kind) program and its associated options, there are still confusing aspects. In all instances of doubt, consult the local ASCS office.

In a recent Gordon Spot column a statement was made concerning the grazing or haying of cover crops on conserving-use acreage following the local designated non-use period. Haying or any mechanical harvest is not allowed on this acreage at any time. The cover crop may be plowed under or shredded down to improve the soil. It may be grazed following the restricted period, but no mechanical harvest is permitted.

This may be a point of confusion for some people because of the many acres of small grains planted prior to January, 1983 that were allowed to be harvested for hay. This will not be the case for crops planted after January, 1983. All cover crops planted after January on conserving-use acreage will be subject to the "no mechanical harvest rule."

All questions regarding these types of rules should be referred to the local ASCS office that is responsible for the area where the land is located. That ASCS office will have all the rules and regulations applying to the particular acreage along with appropriate dates for programs.

Spring is the time when many homeowners discover they have termites because winged forms appear and swarm.

Winged termites outdoors are a natural occurrence, so usually there is no problem. But if they are found indoors, usually on a window sill, chances are good that an infestation has established in your home.

Termites can cause extensive damage to wooden parts of your home, so take some precautions.

Quite often termites and certain ants swarm at the same time and it's important to be able to tell the difference between these two insects. Carpenter ants swarm in the springtime and can cause some structural damage to wood. However, termites are much more destructive and require different control measures.

Termites have a broad waist—ants have a narrow, constricted waist; termite wings are the same size and shape—winged ants have a front and back pair of wings of different lengths and shape; termites have straight antennae (feelers on their heads)—ants have elbowed antennae.

Termites may be attracted to your house by dead tree limbs, stumps, old lumber and other sources of termite food. These should be removed. If soil is above the point where wood or bricks meet the foundation, termites have easy access to your home. Anywhere that wood meets dirt (siding, wooden steps) is a potential spot for termite entry into the home.

Payment-In-Kind

Termites also have the ability to build mud tunnels over non-wooden structures. These tunnels (about 1/4-inch wide) may extend several feet up concrete surfaces. On a slab home, these may be seen on foundation concrete between soil and brick. On homes built above the ground, these tunnels can be found on piers or pipes that go from soil to structure. The bath trap in homes built on a slab is another source of entry. Plumbing in this situation has contact with soil under the slab, and termite tunnels may be found in this area.

Although a thorough inspection is best done by a professional, a homeowner can make a quick check for termite infestations. If termites or damage is found, contact a local pest control company. This is one insect pest that should not be handled by a "do-it-yourselfer." Commercial pest control companies have the necessary equipment to effectively rid a home of termites.

The Garden Editor

Ted Brice

Recently your Garden Editor came across a publication called the "Lore of the Purple Martin" and was amazed with this little bird.

The Purple Martin was here long before Columbus discovered America. They lived in old woodpecker holes and in caves. Indians encouraged Purple Martins to live near their wigwams by providing hollowed gourds for their homes. The martins would drive away the hawks that would drop down and steal the Indians chickens. These little birds called Martins were fighters and their name is derived from the Latin word MARTIUS meaning warlike.

We have come a long way in learning about this beautiful little black bird. In addition to protecting the chickens as they fly through the air they snap up mosquitos, leaf hoppers, gnats and wasp. This trait has endeared the Purple Martin to the city dwellers along with their cheerful song and lively aeronautical acrobats. There are people who claim they never to spray their fruit trees against insects. The Martins take care of these insects. Maybe if we had enough Martin colonies

Newspapers Congratulate Winners

The Eastland County Newspapers congratulate Karmen and Jay Hall, Travis and Warren Parson for their recent win at the annual District 8 4-H Round-Up Contest.

Congratulations are also in order for the Jr. Livestock Judging Team, the Sr. Dairy Judging Team, the Jr. Livestock Team, and the Jr. Dairy Judging Team.

Purple Martins

the dangerous chemical insecticides could be completely eliminated.

Once a colony is established in your yard they will return year after year. There are special houses designed for Martins to encourage the colonies to return each year. Martins demand clean houses and will not live in houses that other birds have lived in. The Martins will send an advance scout to inspect the house prior to the arrival of the colony. After the colony leaves in the fall of the year the houses should be cleaned and the holes plugged to keep the sparrows out until the scout arrives next spring.

When the scout arrives remove the plugs where the house can be inspected by the scout. Remember the Purple Martins will eat their weight each day in mosquitos (Approx. 2,000 per day).

The MAC Industries of Oklahoma City has studied the habits of the Purple Martins and has built an ideal Purple Martin House.

POSITIVE SELLING Vs. NEGATIVE HAGGLING

Don't become another victim of negative haggling. Have you noticed how people haggle over the price and try to talk you down when you have something to sell? There is a better way.

Let me sell your items by auction. We're the pros at talking your things up.

A public auction is positive selling at its best. I'll list your items and advertise them properly so crowds of interested people will come to bid.

And when I conduct the bidding the prices increase for you. More bids mean more money for you. It's as simple as that.

I work quickly and can get cash for you right away. Avoid negative haggling by giving me a call now. You'll be pleased at the way my positive auction selling adds up to profits for you.

Oilman Listed On Historical Marker

Frank Kelley, a noted oilman who was in Eastland County during the Ranger Boom Days, has been named on a State Historical Marker dedicated April 30 in Mitchell County.

Around 300 people attended the Marker dedication, which commemorates the discovery well of the Coleman Ranch oil field. The old well, which has been capped, is just off 1229 about 17 mi. northwest of Colorado City.

Kelley came to Eastland County in 1920, and worked with the early oil fields. Then he went to Rockdale, and while there married Mabel Turner.

In 1925 he opened a West Texas office for Magnolia Oil Co. in Colorado City. There, as a landman, he led out in oil exploration in the area. This was climaxed by extensive work during the opening of Sharon Ridge, Canyon Reef, and other Scurry County oil discoveries in the late 1940's and early 1950's.

The Kellyes had two children - Jim, who lives in Colorado City, and Mary Ann, who is the wife of Judge Austin McCloud of Eastland. When Frank Kelley greeted a person he usually asked: "What can I do for you?" He was known as a dedicated and unselfish community worker who put a lot of time and money back into the area where he lived.

He died in 1963, but has been recognized by several memorials. He is named in the Petroleum Hall of Fame at Midland. An International Memorial has been set up in his honor, in which an Award is given each year to a newspaper writer who contributes the most to the oil industry by his work.

The text of the Historical Marker on the Coleman Ranch is as follows:

COLEMAN RANCH FIELD DISCOVERY WELL

Completion of the Westbrook Field T&P No. 1 oil well in 1920 signaled the beginning of commercial oil production in the Permian Basin.

In the rush of oil activity that followed, the P.C. Coleman No. 1 well was drilled on land owned by Dr. Preston C. Coleman, physician, civic leader, and promoter of early oil development in Mitchell County.

Completed in Jan., 1923, the well was a slow production. After nitroglycerine was used to temporarily increase production, the well was capped with a cedar stump.

Frank Kelley, Landman for the Magnolia Oil Co., removed the stump in 1925, and the well began flowing again. When occasional pumping yielded only small amounts of oil, Magnolia abandoned it in 1940. Although not a significant producer, the P.C. Coleman No. 1 well confirmed the possibility of further oil development on the eastern shelf of the Permian Basin.

In 1946, large quantities of oil were found S.W. of the discovery well in former Public School Land filed on in 1900 by Dr. Coleman's son Walter.

Marked today only by a concrete wall cap on a concrete base, the site of the Coleman Ranch Field Discovery well serves as a reminder of the early days of oil production in the Permian Basin.

...give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.

Reflections In Perspective

I.W. Ussery

Have you ever stopped to notice that a not insignificant number of prominent figures in history were somewhat on the short side? George Washington was a classic example to the contrary, but consider Napoleon, "The Little Corporal". Hannibal was said to have been only a tad taller than one of the "mahouts" who goaded his elephants. And while Washington stood well above six feet, Cornwallis, his adversary at the Battle of Yorktown was not all that robust. Heft, but not tall. And Burgoyne; somewhat toward the side of obesity.

John Bagot Glubb, "Glubb Pasha", who had a hand in shaping the modern history of the Arab world was barely five and a half feet tall. "Tug" Wilson, the little major who commanded "A" Squadron of the Trucial Oman Scouts was not even that tall. Is not that tall, for "Tug" is still very much alive.

Colonel Sir Hugh Boustead, K.C.M.G., K.B.E., D.S.O. (and woe is he who drops a single letter from those honors in addressing a letter to the crusty little Knight) is a classic case in point. And again, he should have been referred to as the late Colonel Sir Hugh (Etc). After a long and eventful life of service to the Crown, "Hughie", or "Colonel Hughie", passed on to his eternal reward only recently.

"Colonel Hughie", as he was affectionately referred to by his intimates, had a career somewhat parallel to that of the late Winston Churchill. There was a single difference in that Hughie first enlisted in the Royal Navy and later transferred to the army. Following a few years in the ranks, he attended Sandhurst Academy, the counterpart of our West Point. From his graduation onward, his was a varied career in the military service.

Listed in "Who's Who", he represented Great Britain in the 1928 Olympics where he won the pentathlon...gold medal. From that point on, his service was almost entirely foreign. Having gone through the officer ranks to colonel, he was posted to the Sudan back when that country was under the somewhat tenuous hold of the British Empire. While there, Sir Hugh formed the first Sudanese Camel Corps which won distinction as a desert patrol and fighting force.

Retiring from the British Army, Colonel Boustead entered the Foreign Service as Vice Consul to Yemen. He had long since become a widely recognized authority on Arab affairs, and gradually worked into the position of "Political Adviser" to first one and then another of the several Arab states which were identified as being within "The Protectorate".

Under the majority of the "Treaties of Mutual Protection", Britain handled the foreign affairs of the states within the protectorate system. Quite a satisfactory arrangement, actually. Few of the Bedouin tribal rulers were qualified to handle their affairs with foreign countries. In fact, few if any of them had any desire for such fol-de-rol. They had all they could say grace over, keeping the peace among their constantly feuding "families".

In order to maintain continuous touch with the Protectorate States, The Crown appointed Political Advisers to serve with the local governments. This sort of assignment suited Sir Hugh to "T". He spoke many Arab dialects, and understood the Arab mentality and philosophy as few people outside Glubb and Lawrence ever have. He knew exactly when to cajole, when to display the panopoly of The Court...and when to scold. He enjoyed the respect of Arabs of every station in society. And he had his idiosyncracies.

On a mild early summer's day, with the temperature standing only at something like 108-110F, Sir Hugh could now and then be seen in the company of his faithful orderly, Mustafa (Sudanese) and a couple of camels, strolling outward from the town and into the desert. Now only Hughie and Heaven had the faintest notion of his destination. He would leave in the early morning, and frequently would return in the late evening. And why two camels for only a stroll in the desert? One was for Sir Hugh to ride, in case he tired of walking. The other carried his "kit", which consisted of food, water, a large umbrella, a folding table, a chair, a portable gasoline stove, and linens and silver.

Came lunchtime, Sir Hugh's orderly would set up the umbrella, the chair and the table, in that order. Resting in the shadow of the umbrella, Sir Hugh would wait while Mustafa laid out the table, linens and all and having brewed tea, served the lunch which usually consisted of sandwiches. Promptly at four in the afternoon, the same procedure would be gone through. Tea, y'know.

When I met Sir Hugh, he was Political Adviser to the Trucial States with his residence and principal office, complete with consular staff, in Abu Dhabi. For the years following, I had the extreme good fortune of becoming a close friend to Colonel Hughie. Sheik Shakbut, the then Ruler of Abu Dhabi, had a healthy respect for Sir Hugh. Hugh never asked for an "audience" with the Ruler. He summoned him. And when Shakbut received a summons from Sir Hugh, he went...forthwith. Few people enjoyed that sort of respect. Shakbut knew that when Sir Hugh called him it was usually because Shakbut had done something he shouldn't have done. Or had left undone something which should have been seen to. While Shakbut cracked the whip over practically every British subject residing within his borders, Sir Hugh was the one person who could likewise crack the whip over Shakbut.

Upon the formation of the Abu Dhabi Defence Force, Sir Hugh was promptly made a member of the Officers' mess and took advantage of that membership in keeping his hands in affairs of the military nature. With the Commanding Office of the Force, his Chief of Intelligence, and Sir Hugh, many late hours were spent discussing the problems and developments of affairs within the several States of the Trucial chain of seven which stretched along the Arabian shore of the Persian Gulf from Qatar to Fujeira and Ras al Khaima.

On one occasion, quite a lengthy discussion had taken place in the Officers' Wardroom of the Sea Wing of the Force. With the feeling that we had rather thoroughly thrashed the matter to the bare straws, I departed for my hotel. I had only barely reached the "Al Ain Palace" when the receptionist came to me with the message that "Sir Hugh wishes to speak to you on the telephone". Identifying myself into the instrument, I immediately recognized Sir Hugh's gravelly voice when he said, right out, "Bill. Is John Willoughby there?" He was referring to General (four stars) Sir John Willoughby, Area Military Adviser to the Political Residency in Bahrain. I had seen him going through the lobby and toward the bar only a few minutes before. Upon my having so informed Sir Hugh, he spoke again. "Tell him to come with you, immediately. We must settle this matter".

Approaching Sir John in the bar, I simply told him that we had been summoned, without saying by whom. "So; the little fellow wants to talk? Then we'd better go and talk". That was Colonel (Retired) Sir Hugh Boustead, KCMG, KBE, DSO, MC. A few years later Sir Hugh retired from the Foreign Service at the age of 71. He observed his leaving active service by making a journey into Nepal where he traipsed around through the foothills of the Himalayas for a few months.

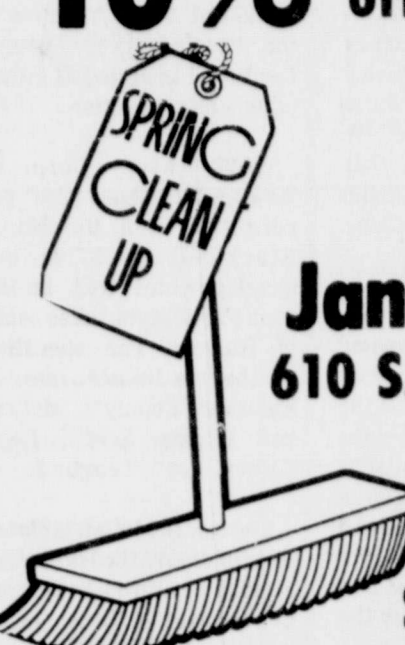

In final epilogue to Sir Hugh's career, it must be said that he spent his last years in the land and among the people whom he loved. Within two years from his retirement, Sheik Zayed bin Sultan al Nahyan, who had succeeded his brother Shakbut as Ruler invited Sir Hugh to accept a modest "palace" he had constructed for the little fellow in the oasis of Al Ain. Knowing that Hughie would not accept an outright gift of that sort, he attached a string. Sir Hugh would oversee Zayed's stable of Arabian ponies. Hughie's comment, upon having accepted the invitation? "I've become the most highly paid stableboy in christendom".
