

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

THUNDERSTORMS rolled through the Cisco area late Monday afternoon dumping a lot of rain. The rain was welcomed, but most were a bit anxious for awhile about what type of weather might accompany the rain, by the looks of the clouds.

There did not seem to be any damage from the weather, except for possible water damage in low-lying places.

Tuesday morning the temperatures were rather chilly and most persons were wearing long sleeve shirts.

I HOPE YOU had an enjoyable holiday during the Memorial Day weekend.

It really seems nice to get an extra day off from the normal routine of working everyday, in order to relax or even work (if it is something you have been looking forward to doing.)

SPLASH DAYS at the City Park Swimming Pool on Saturday, May 28, and Monday, May 30, were only "a pretty good success," manager Shirley Darr reported. Good Rain Falls Over Area To Brighten Peanut Outlook

Rain measuring up to three inches fell late Monday afternoon and during the night as a cold front thunderstorm moved through this region to provide relief from near drought conditions that had threatened spring crop planting.

High winds, light hail and lightning accompanied the storm, damaging electric power lines in Cisco. Hail was reported in Eastland and elsewhere with no substantial damage.

Manager Jack Kennedy of West Texas Utilities Company said lightning struck a transformer north of Cisco and a primary circuit near Jammie's Motel in south Cisco. About half of the City of Cisco was without power for up to an hour, Mr. Kennedy said. WTU has three circuits serving the city and one was uninterrupted.

Vandell Weathers and Freddie Anderson of the WTU staff in Cisco were able to locate the trouble and restore service without calling in outside assistance, Mr. Kennedy said. High winds and heavy rain hampered their work for a time, he added.

Lake Cisco rain gauges registered three inches or more with rain coming in sheets during the initial storm. High winds damaged tree limbs but no property damage was reported. Lake residents estimated that some 12 inches of new water was in the lake early Monday with the runoff continuing.

Lake Bernie had considerable new water, residents of that area reported.

South of town, rain gauges registered between two and three inches. Peanut farmers, who had been in their fields on a limited basis, were expected to be out in full force with planting equipment as soon as their fields are dry enough.

Forecasters called for possible rain showers through Wednesday.

County Agent Dee Gordon told this newspaper that "everything's 'go' for our farmers as a result of this our first substantial rain in a good many weeks."

He said the county will plant some 24,000 acres of peanuts plus small grains and hay crops.

Mr. Gordon said the outlook was excellent for a pecan crop. So far, there have been only a few signs of case bearers and insects, Mr. Gordon said. He suggested that the best time to spray for case bearers would be this coming weekend.

The county will have a substantial fruit crop despite the 23 degree weather in March, Mr. Gordon said.

CJC Employs Marvin Payne As Chemistry Instructor Here

Marvin Payne, a resident of the Cisco area since 1974, has been employed by Cisco Junior College as Chemistry Instructor for the 1983-84 year.

Mr. Payne received the Associate of Arts degree from Cisco Junior College in 1980. He then attended Tarleton State University and earned Baccalaureate degrees in both biology and chemistry. Mr. Payne will receive the Master of Science Teaching degree from Tarleton in August of recently been employed by Tarleton State University as Graduate Research Assistant, conducting a research project on anaerobic digestion. Prior to that he served as a lab assistant in the Chemistry Department at Tarleton and as a lab assistant in the Biology Department at Cisco Junior College. The College is pleased to welcome Mr. Payne back as a member of the faculty. Marvin Payne is the son of Mrs. Viola M. Payne of Cisco.

'Deathtrap' Will Open Theatre's Summer Run

DEATHTRAP by Ira Levin will be the opening production for the 1983 Summer Season at the Roof Garden Dinner theatre in Cisco. Written by the author of VERONICA'S ROOM, ROSEMARY'S BABY, THE STEPFORD WIVES, and THE BOYS FROM BRAZIL, DEATHTRAP is one of the greatest popular successes of recent Broadway history.

This ingeniously constructed play offers a rare and skillful blending of two priceless theatrical ingredients -- gasp-inducing thrills and spontaneous laughter. Dealing with the devious doings of Sidney Bruhl, a writer of thrillers whose recent works have all been flops, and who is prepared to go to any lengths to improve his fortunes, it provides twists and turns and sudden shocks in such abundance that you will be held spellbound until the very last moment.

T.E. Kalem of Time magazine said, "If you care to assassinate yourself with laughter, try DEATHTRAP!" Walter Kerr of the New York Times wrote, "An absolute knockout of suspense melodrama and fun straight through." Jack Kroll of Newsweek - "DEATHTRAP is like a ride on a good roller-coaster when screams and laughs mingle to form an enjoyable hysteria!"

Managing Director Philip Craik has assembled a cast of 4 professional actors and 1 apprentice for this production Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights on two weekends--June 9-11 and June 16-18. Tickets for dinner and show are $12.; however, season tickets for the Season of DEATHTRAP, FIDDLER ON THE ROOF, and TARTUFFE are only $32. Dinner begins at 7 p.m. and reservations can be

Tribute Paid To Veterans

Tribute was paid to the community's deceased military veterans in a Memorial Day program at 11 a.m. Monday at the American Legion Hall. A large crowd turned out for the event, which was moved indoors because of rainy weather at Oakwood Cemetery.

Jim Hatcher, minister of the Church of Christ, noted that some 1,250,000 men have given their lives to preserve the freedoms enjoyed by residents of the United States in an address that highlighted the program.

"These men died for the greatest country on earth," Mr. Hatcher said. He said

VBS Set At Calvary Baptist June 6 thru 10

Calvary Baptist Church, 1801 Conrad Hilton Avenue, Cisco, will be holding Vacation Bible School June 6-10. The Bible School will be held from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Ages three thru the sixth grade are welcome to attend the Bible School. Any children needing a ride to the church are asked to call 442-3020.

that applications for visas to enter the United States have increased 32 per cent in the past year and that many persons were risking their lives to enter this country illegally each year.

"The United States exports more food than any other 12 nations," Mr. Hatcher said. "We out-produce Japan by 49 per cent, and we give more to benevolent organizations than all of the rest of the world combined."

Mr. Hatcher said that "while we are proud of our heritage and our assets, we must be concerned about the moral direction we are heading." He noted that one of every three marriages now end in failure and that the nation has 10,000,000 alcoholics, including 2,000,000 young people.

"The best advice we can give is that everyone must fight for the principles and the freedoms for which so many of our men have fought and died," Mr. Hatcher said. He complimented community involvement in such projects as MADD and PADD.

Brad Kimbrough, commander of the John William Butts Post 123 of the American Legion, presided at the service. He expressed the post's appreciation to E.L. Jackson for arranging the program and those who helped with other details. He paid tribute to the late Gene Abbott who, he said, "was a leader in these programs for more than 30 years." He led the capacity crowd in the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

John Picklesimer, youth and music director at First Baptist Church, led the singing of two songs. The Rev. Milo Steffen, pastor of First Christian Church, gave the invocation, asking blessings particularly for the families of men missing in action in the Vietnam conflict.

The program was concluded with Buglar Dickie Seider, Cisco Junior College Student, sounding "Taps," Flags flew at half-mast at the Legion Hall and in Oakwood Cemetery in tribute to the war dead.

Following the program, miniature flags were placed on the graves of deceased military veterans and others at the cemetery.

Rally Held At Local Church

Some 60 persons representing a dozen area churches took part in a 5th Sunday rally at the First Christian Church here last Sunday evening, according to a report by the Rev. Milo Steffen, pastor of the local church.

Dr. Earl Bissix of Abilene, area minister, presented a picture slide program on the Holy Land as the program feature. A spaghetti and salad supper was served to the visitors.

Reflections In Perspective

I.W. Ussery

Rudyard Kipling, in his poem in defense of "Tommy Atkins", the typical British soldier, stated it very succinctly when he wrote "An' if our conduct isn't all you fancy paints; Why, single men in barracks don't grow Into plaster saints."

In the course of building the Empire on which the sun never set, the British developed something of "a foreign service type" which extended beyond its colonial armed forces into industry. British-run and-financed construction, exploration and development projects through which that country exported its technology to its holding around the world required skilled craftsmen and management - supervisory personnel. As an incentive to recruiting such personnel, the government offers full personal income tax exemption retroactive to the date of employment to anyone serving more than six months. Also, which is the custom in most instances with other countries, salaries for people engaged in foreign employment are considerably above those at home.

The United States got into the technology export field in earnest when oil was discovered in the far-flung places on the globe. Quite natural, since the petroleum industry began and grew from the first discovery near Bradford, Pennsylvania. The petroleum industry, together with its ancillary operations of construction, exploration and development naturally was dependent largely upon the country in which the industry itself was born.

There is much to be said both for and against the divergent systems of personnel management practiced by the two countries, and by the companies based in the U.S. and in Britain. Rarely was an employee employed in Britain for assignment to a foreign project on a "temporary contract" basis. Liberal "home leave" policies are applied. For many years all employees were assigned to "bachelor status", which meant that they were much like the "Single men in barracks" of Kipling's day.

United States employers for many years assigned their foreign project personnel, as did the British, at bachelor status, but for the most part men were employed under temporary contract on a job-to-job basis. In any case, for the duration of their stay abroad they lived much like men in penal institutions insofar as they were "men without women". Contact with their homes and loved ones depended upon the sometimes somewhat unreliable postal services and on overseas cable messages. Only in recent years has the development of "earth satellite" communications made it possible for employees on foreign assignment to maintain any suitable form of telephone contact with their homes.

While the average U.S. employer paid his employees far more than did their British counterparts, they fell considerably short in providing many of the creature comforts which would tend to make their assignment more like a home away from home. All their basic requirements were taken care of. Food was plentiful and excellent. Quarters, hile in many instances somewhat cramped, were well-kept and comfortable. Medical facilities were furnished. But many of the little things were left out under the guise of their representing "pampering"

The tiny island of Das, off the coast of Abu Dhabi and where I made my "home away from home" on and off for several years was a classic case in point of comparison of the two systems. The client was a British oil company, and its camp was well established on the island when we arrived. Perhaps in anticipation of the possibility of duplication, and to maintain established standards the client provided in our contract that "employees of the contractor shall have full and unimpeded access to all support facilities existing upon the Island of Das".

That meant that the client operated and maintained the messing facilities which consisted of no less than four separate "messes" where food was served to the employees. There was the Senior Staff Mess, the Clerical-Technical Staff Mess, the Junior Staff Mess and the Labourers' Mess. The camps for those classifications were separated, and were identified by the standards of appearance and rates of occupancy. That worked very well.

Movies were shown at the outdoor "cinema" in the Clerical-Technical camp and were open to all employees on the Island, although seating was quite strictly segregated. At one time there were more than 2,100 men on duty on Das.

A six-bed hospital was under the supervision of a fully-qualified British doctor and his assistant, a very high-caste Indian doctor who was a Fellow of the Royal Academy of Surgeons. The male nursing staff consisted of highly trained Indians.

And Das Island had its shopping center. A general-mercantile firm with branches in Bahrain, Abu Dhabi, Dubai, Kuwait and Basra, Iraq opened a branch on Das. Small local merchants, dealing in wares attractive to a bachelor community were allowed to open shop. There was a tailor shop managed and staffed by Indian tailors and where for a mere pittance one could obtain a well-fitted suit made of the finest British worsteds and tweeds. The shop also turned out tailored work suits consisting of shorts and matching shirts. That was sort of the standard uniform on the Island. Quite dressy short suits were worn off-duty, although they were not allowed in the Staff Mess on Thursday evenings nor on Fridays.

Although the sale or gift of alcoholic beverages of any nature was strictly prohibited to "indigenous personnel", which included all except for "Europeans", which included Americans, there was the "Staff Club" where the European Staff could quench its thirst. The bar was tended by well-trained Indian or Goanese, and observed strictly enforced hours of business which did not conflict with the regular working hours of the day. Over-imbibing was frowned upon, and could result in temporary ostracization of the violator. If an individual insisted upon excessive drinking, he could be banned from the Club. And the ban was strictly enforced.

Finally, there was the barber shop. Now it is not uncommon for an average man on bachelor status to neglect his tonsorial grooming. From time to time there were beard-growing contests. But men were encouraged to maintain "home-side" standards of grooming as to hair trims. One could observe that it was a final link in keeping up with the convention.

The barber was Indian, and kept his shop with its makeshift barber's chair in the "shopping center" area and where one could obtain quite an acceptable haircut for the equivalent of twenty one cents. The barber also made house calls! Every Thursday afternoon and throughout the day on Friday he could be seen making his rounds through the Staff Camp, where he had a captive market of more than 250 customers.

Carrying the tools of his trade in a briefcase or in a bag not unlike that carried by a doctor, he would request that his client allow him to bring a chair from inside the quarters and, setting up on the shaded side of the building he would do his work. He would provide the customer with a broken piece of mirror in which the operation could be observed. I established the habit of having a trim every Thursday afternoon. A haircut every week? What the heck! At 21 cents per week, who is going to accuse one of extravagance?

And while we didn't grow into plaster saints, we could at least be a well-groomed lot of castaways. And at no great expense.

Head North, Young Photographer

Sometimes, a fellow's just had it. It happened to me last January. The weather was Frigidaire-cold, there wasn't enough snow at home to make tracks from the house to the barn, and opening day of trout season was still three months off.

So I telephoned a friend who works in a public relations firm in Chicago and asked where on earth I could go to escape from my cabin fever.

"My compadre," he said soberly, "hop an Air Canada jet and head north."

Of course, he was crazy. Head west, maybe. Or south, definitely. But north? The guy had ice cubes in his beanie. That's something like curing a broken arm by breaking your leg.

"I'm not kidding," he insisted. "Grab your skis and head on up to Lake Louise for the ski trip of a lifetime. And don't forget your camera. You won't believe the scenery."

I hung up the receiver and shook my head. Poor guy North. Lake Louise. Canada. Still just to humor him.

The majestic peaks in the background seem to dwarf the Alberta town of Banff.

grabbed my Rand-McNally atlas and searched the numbers until I found it, that little spot nestled neatly in the heart of the Canadian Rockies on the border of Alberta and British Columbia.

Well, to make a long story short, the next week I was winging my way toward Calgary. Once there, I rented a car and drove the hour to Banff, the prettiest little Rockies town I'd ever seen... a wonderful blending of Old World charm and New World technology. A step back into time without feeling like you've fallen into a warp.

I took my friend's advice and brought along several cameras, including a couple SLRs with a fairly good selection of lenses. But, as I moved out and about, I soon found myself leaning toward a small, light, unobtrusive 35 mm compact machine I carry with me nearly always. It takes good, crisp shots with a minimum of effort. Just what the doctor ordered.

Now, traveling with a camera is much the same no matter where you find yourself. There are certain scenes you'll want to capture regardless of location or time of year.

First, I took a few shots of the buildings with the mountains in the background. I looked around for some especially interesting structures to contrast with the awesome beauty of nature. A couple ground-level photos followed by some shots from the fifth story window of my room at the Mount Royal Hotel right on Banff Avenue, the town's main street.

Next, I went out looking for interesting people shots quick "grab" shots when I was sure no one was looking. That's the easiest way to capture the spirit of the locals. For most of these, I set the camera on "auto," pre-focused, and fired as I walked down the street. The bright, high-altitude sun meant a narrow lens aperture and great depth-of-field, so even if my focusing "guesstimate" was off a few feet, the shots came out sharp.

The particular camera I was using had a provision for intentional exposure. Whenever the scene I was shooting contained a disproportionate amount of white snow in it, I set the camera to "overexpose" by one f/stop, and the results were perfect. Not a single accidental silhouette in the lot.

When shooting indoors, I simply attached a small electronic flash unit to the camera. It's an auto-exposure unit, so I had to do little more than aim, focus, and fire. Again, no problems whatsoever.

The next day, I drove out to the slopes. That was the true test of photographic skill. I've taken many shots on the slopes over the years. And, while I have fairly good luck, it's never easy. There are several very important rules to follow when shooting ski shots. I'll share a few of them with you in next week's column.

Levee Singers To Perform At Olney Savings Home Office Celebration On Saturday

Singing and banjo music will fill the air in Olney, Saturday, June 4. The Levee Singers, one of Dallas' premier show acts will be performing at the Olney Savings Home Office Celebration between 10:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. The celebration will take place at 300 Main Street in Olney.

The Levee Singers began back in 1961 when a small nightclub in Dallas opened its doors, featuring the four dynamic singers and showmen. They became one of the most popular groups in Dallas and went on to appear on network television, recorded four albums and shared the stage with Henry Mancini in a number of concerts.

Their fast and moving show is made up of many different kinds of music—sing-alongs, country and western, banjo solos, ballads and comedy numbers. The group features the combined talents of four men—Ed Bernet, an ex-pro football player and Olney Savings' spokesman; Smoky Montgomery, a leader of the famed Light Crust Doughboys; Ralph Sanford, at one time a featured performer with the Light Crust Doughboys; and Bob Christopher, a charter member of the Levee Singers.

Alan D. Myers, Jr., president and chief executive officer of Olney Savings, commented, "We are very happy to have the Levee Singers here to share in our Home Office Celebration. Their style of entertainment makes you feel good that's exactly how we want everyone to feel who supported us through the inconvenient times after the fire. We want to encourage everyone to come take a tour of the facilities and help us celebrate the reopening of our Home Office." Olney Savings is a $528 million savings and loan association with offices in Olney, Seymour, Jacksboro, Bridgeport, Nocona, Archer City, Graham, Bowie, Brownwood, Vernon, Anson, Coleman, Cisco, Albany, Holliday, Throckmorton, Weatherford, Azle, Decatur, Boyd and Wichita Falls. Also Ranger Savings in Ranger, Eastland Savings in Eastland, and Electra Savings in Electra. All are divisions of Olney Savings.

Bass Club Report

Area lakes are all showing some signs of lazy summer days. Leon's bass fishing is good with the better fish being taken early morning or night time. Proctor still holding in there with some fine fish in the 3 to 5 lb. range. Oak Creek is slow with Sweetwater Bass Club Invitational having been held May 21st. Out of 91 entrants there were a mere 22 persons having a fish over 14" to weigh in. There was a real nice fish weighing 6 lbs. 11 oz. brought out of the river section though. June 4 and 5 KEAN will host its Big Bass Classic on Lake Hubbard. 1st place is guaranteed $4,000. Also June 6-12 is National Fishing Week. This years theme is "Take a Kid Fishing." See you all at our meeting Thursday, June 2nd at 7:30. Terry L. Wilson

Davison To Head Texas 4-H Program

COLLEGE STATION--H.T. "Tom" Davison, who has dedicated most of his career to the Texas 4-H program, is assuming the reins of that program on June 1.

Davison, a 25-year veteran of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H, has been named state 4-H program leader. The position was recently vacated by Dr. John Pelham, who joined the Missouri Extension Service.

Davison joined the 4-H staff in 1965 and has had major responsibilities in the 4-H awards and recognition program, record book training and donor relations. In 1967 he took on the added responsibility of serving as executive director of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation, the service organization for 4-H that works to obtain private support for the youth program.

Davison began his Extension Service career in 1958 as an assistant county agent in Hidalgo County where he provided leadership for the 4-H program. He transferred to Floyd County in 1963 to give leadership to agricultural programs.

"We are extremely pleased and proud to have Mr. Davison head our 4-H program in Texas," said Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, Extension Service director. "He has demonstrated a commitment to 4-H throughout his career and has worked long and hard to improve various programs and to gain support from the private sector. Many of the awards programs and scholarships now available to 4-H members are a direct result of his dedication and hard work."

Through Davison's efforts over the past years, the annual budget of the 4-H Foundation to support 4-H programs now exceeds one-half million dollars. These funds go to support 13 major program areas plus the Texas 4-H Center at Brownwood. The Texas 4-H scholarships program now totals almost $350,000 and is the largest in the nation.

Davison has been coordinator of the Texas 4-H Shooting Sports program, one of the newest and fastest growing programs in the state. Organized in 1976, the program now boasts more than 6,000 4-H members and almost 500 volunteer leaders.

The 4-H official was responsible for setting up the annual Texas 4-H Ecology Conference, coordinated the Texas 4-H Center development campaign in which $1.5 million was raised, and headed the state's 4-H Chocolate Sales campaign that netted more than $400,000. He also obtained a grant of $180,000 for a six-year training program for 4-H volunteer leaders.

Davison played a major role in encouraging 4-H member participation in the annual National 4-H Citizenship Short Course in Washington, D.C. and has coordinated a resources development training program for County Extension agents and Extension specialists.

He was the moving force that led to the publication of the first 4-H magazine in the state, "Texas 4-H Standard."

Davison was program chairman of the National 4-H Resource Development Workshop in 1976 and '78 and chaired the National 4-H Shooting Sports Project Development Committee from 1980 to '82. He was program chairman for both the Southern and North Central States Regional Shooting Sports Staff Training Workshops in 1982 and '83.

He has presented numerous papers at national and regional conferences and workshops and is the author of a host of Extension publications on 4-H and 4-H programming.

He is a member of the National Society of Fund Raising Executives, Gamma Sigma Delta, Epsilon Sigma Phi, Texas Agricultural Extension Service Specialists

Association, and National and Texas 4-H Agents Associations, and was a charter member of the Brazos County Youth Livestock Association.

Davison is a native of Reagan in Falls County, where he continues to maintain the family crop and livestock farm. He holds a bachelor's and a master's degree in agricultural education from Texas A&M University and has done additional graduate work.

Davison is married to the former Cadie Fite of Marlin. The couple has a daughter, Mrs. Jill Pittman of Rogers, Ark., and son, Jeff, who was recently graduated from Texas A&M.

New Technology Helps To Solve Soil Erosion

By Ron Bailey
Soil Conservation Service

Soil erosion is one of the farmers' and ranchers' most destructive enemies. It not only steals the most productive soils, rendering large areas of land relatively non-productive, but erosion also deposits large volumes of silt in the creeks and ponds.

In an effort to solve erosion, technology has derived a practice known as Critical Area Treatment. The term refers to areas eroded by water and wind moving soil particles.

The first evidence of soil erosion by water is the development of gullies. Gullies are nature's method, with time, of stowing water to a velocity that will not move soil particles. Gullies begin at the downstream point which has the volume and capacity for water to reach the critical velocity necessary to move soil. They proceed upstream to a point at which the water no longer can move soil and leave behind an area with steep sides and unproductive land. Thus we need to put this unproductive land back into useful production for future generations.

In some locations, this can be accomplished by the use of good conservation practices such as crop rotation, maintaining crop residues on the surface of the soil, terraces, or waterways to reduce the movement of soil.

The best method for preventing erosion is the practice of good conservation, thereby preventing those conditions that start erosion. There are many different types of corrective measures and they vary with the degree of work required and technical difficulties.

For technical assistance on preventing or treating gullies on your land, contact the Soil Conservation Service in Eastland or phone 629-1480.

Closure Period Set For Gulf Shrimping

AUSTIN—Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials have announced dates for the annual closure of Gulf of Mexico waters to shrimping.

The closure will be from 30 minutes after sunset on May 27 until 30 minutes after sunset July 15.

The closure affects Gulf waters out to nine nautical miles. Federal waters, from nine to 200 miles out, traditionally are closed by the National Marine Fisheries Service during the same period. The same cooperative arrangement is expected this year.

C.E. Bryan, shellfish program director for the department, said the closure is a biological measure to protect small brown shrimp during their migration from the bays into the Gulf. This allows the shrimp to grow to a larger, more valuable size and increases the yield from a limited resource.

Law enforcement officials said game wardens will be patrolling the coast for shrimp law violations during the closed season. Violators are subject to fines of $2,500 to $5,000 and/or jail sentences of six months to one year.

Shrimpers also should be aware of requirements for marking their boats with Texas or U.S. Coast Guard identification numbers, officials said.

GUARDIAN'S RESPONSIBILITIES

All of us need help from time to time. But some people such as youngsters not of legal age, or others because of impaired mental or physical function, may need help all the time. When the situation arises that extensive help and management is required the court may appoint a guardian. The person who is appointed guardian is charged with the responsibility to account for and conserve any assets. Assets must be ascertained and in most cases they must be appraised to determine their value. If the guardian determines that any part of the assets should be disposed of to meet expenses, or to facilitate management, court approval is needed. If these responsibilities have fallen on your shoulders you can count on me to help if you need something appraised or sold. House Of Representatives

Jim Parker-District 65

Since my office received such a volume of phone calls and mail on the pari-mutuel betting issue this past week, I feel it is appropriate to once again speak to you on that issue. The pari-mutuel betting bill came before the House on May 18th with both proponents and opponents agreeing that each side would make statements supporting their respective positions on the bill and that a motion to table would then be called for a vote. A motion to table, if it prevails, is equivalent to death of the legislation.

Both sides spoke very elo-quently and, in fact, very persuasively, and then a vote was taken. The vote was 74 opposed to tabling and 72 in favor. Under the Rules of the House a voice verification can be requested and this was, in fact, done. Three members claimed their voting machines did not work. After verification, the vote was 75 to table, 73 not to table, which of course, effectively killed the legislation, leaving us with the significant fact that pari-mutuel betting, at least this biennium is dead.

While I feel no obligation to explain my vote, you have a right to know how I voted and why. But first let me hasten to say that I do not perceive the issue as being a vote for or against pari-mutuel betting because, with the referendum provision built in, each of you, who had an interest to go to the polls in November, 1984 could make your own decision as to whether you did or did not want pari-mutuel wagering in the state of Texas. On an issue of this importance I will always be hard pressed to make your decision for you when there is a means readily available for you to make your own.

Additionally, I thought the significance and importance of the issue was such that it needed to be fully debated by all members and all potential good points and potential bad points should be fully explored.

As I am sure you are able to determine from having read this far, I voted "no" to table the legislation, and I honestly cannot tell you that I know how I would have voted after full debate and after examining any amendments that may have been placed on the bill. So you may better make a decision as to how to approach my candidacy in the future, I will tell you that I was leaning strongly in favor, not of pari-mutuel wagering, but in favor of voting "yes" on the bill so the people's voice could be heard through a statewide referendum process. Many of you from church groups expressed your very strong feelings to me and I am not wholly un-mindful of your ability, as so many of you stated, to defeat me in the next election; but I would think even you who were most adamant would not want someone representing you who would crumble and melt away because of pressures that may be brought to bear. While I know that it is impossible to satisfy all of my 95,000 constituents on any given issue, it is my intention to continue to maintain my personal integrity in the face of any conceivable pressure, so that in the future, even if a vote such as this should cause me to fail in my effort to be reelected, each of you might say that "I sure didn't like Jim Parker, but I really had to respect his integrity."

Thank you for whatever understanding you can extend to me in this most difficult position.

Congressional Comments

Cong. Charles Stenholm

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Thousands of students are graduating from high schools and colleges throughout the 17th Congressional District. I have had the opportunity to speak personally with many of these graduates, but would like to take this means of addressing all of the young people who will be leaving school to make their way in the outside world.

Traditionally, graduates are told their education has prepared graduates to tackle any problem and that the entire universe needs those talents and is eagerly seeking them. "The world is yours," my graduating class was told. Reality soon taught me that the world was not patient and the world would continue on quite well without my services, however eagerly offered, thank you. The world was already in firmly established hands and ideas of how to run that world were firmly entrenched in the minds of those who held it. And they weren't about to just hand it over to any untried, idealistic, green, just-off-the-farm and just-out-of-school young man, no matter how many good ideas he thought he had.

The same world isn't waiting for today's graduate, new diploma in hand, to step in and take control. You are going to have to earn your place in that world, just as those of my generation had to and as the generation before me had to. We will eventually give up our place to you, but don't think it is going to be without a fight.

Oh, I know you are mentally ticking off the list of the things my generation has made a mess of and the problems we have caused and left to you. I could help you write the list. No generation has passed along a perfect world on to their replacements since the descendents of Adam and Eve were given their shot at it.

The world that is waiting for you is not in too much better — or too much worse — shape than the world that was facing that just-off-the-farm and just-out-of-college fellow 20 years ago.

We are running out of natural resources and still polluting some of those that remain. We have not come much closer to eliminating world hunger and yet we now produce more food than we can sell. We have far too many Americans without work and yet, on the other hand, our unemployed are better paid and better fed than half the working people in the world today. We want government out of our hair when things are going well for us, but we run to Uncle Sam for deliverance whenever any problem arises.

So where does that leave the Class of 1983? It leaves you with the challenge to do a better job than those who came before you; to find new answers to old problems and to be better prepared to deal with the world you will someday be responsible for and to.

Have the guts to put what you believe in on the line. Have the initiative to reinvent the wheel if necessary...to build a better mousetrap and then a better way to dispose of the old forms of energy? Then find new sources of energy for your generation. Are we running out of water? Then find new and better ways to use what is left and make it last longer. Are our cities being buried in piles of our own garbage? Then find new uses for garbage. Find a cure for cancer. Write new music and books and poems. Raise better educated and strong and healthier children. Those children may well have to compete in a world that knows how to spell correctly...and can add...and can write...and their competitors will be kids who learned computer sciences while still in their cradles.

You don't like the world as it is today? Work to change it. Develop a political philosophy. Find a candidate and work to elect him or her. Go to your county precinct conventions. Don't know what or where those are? Find out. Run for office yourself...whether for city council or county commissioner or for Congress. Challenge, oppose, grow, and pray. Pray louder and longer.

Whatever you do and however the world responds to your efforts, don't ever lose your aith in your God and in your country.

And then, maybe — just maybe — you will have earned your right to take over from my generation.

Real Estate Consumer

David S. Jones

THE REAL ESTATE CONSUMER is provided as a public service by this newspaper and the Texas Real Estate Research Center. Address inquiries to The Real Estate Consumer, Texas Real Estate Research Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

If you are discouraged about the size of your monthly house payment, consider the cost of ownership in other nations.

The average price of a house in this country is still around $70,000. In Sweden, you would spend about $75,000 for the average house. In Great Britain, the price jumps to more than $103,000.

In France, you'd pay almost $126,000; in West Germany, just under $127,000; in Japan, more than $147,000; and in Switzerland, you would spend right at $181,000.

These figures are based on data gathered in 1976 and adjusted for average annual rates of increase. They may not be precise, but they are accurate enough to show that U.S. housing costs are still a bargain in the world market.

TIPS ON NEGOTIATING PURCHASE

Here are some tips on how to negotiate the purchase of that house in which you are interested.

First, you need not offer the full amount being asked by the owner. Check the newspaper to see if the asking price is in line with those of comparable houses.

When housing sales have been low in the area, you might offer some 10 percent less than the asking price. The owner will then make a counter offer which you can accept or use as the basis for a second offer.

Once you have agreed on a price, make sure your offer to buy is valid only if you can arrange financing. You should also make your offer to buy contingent upon the condition of the house and property.

Real Estate brokers will have standard contract forms which provide for most situations, and they can advise you on negotiating your purchase.

CONSIDERATIONS BEFORE INVESTING

Are you thinking about investing in real estate? If so, there are some questions you need to ask yourself to determine if you are emotionally and financially ready to invest.

First of all, do you have enough insurance? Your family should be protected financially before you divert cash to an investment project.

Next, how much risk and what kinds of risk can you live with? Each person is willing to accept different degrees of risk.

Will you have time to research and manage your investment? Income-producing property requires a great deal of management time.

Finally, how much money do you plan to invest initially, and how much are you willing to set aside to invest in the future? The amount of money you have will limit the kind of property you buy.

Before you invest, answer each of these questions to your satisfaction.

ASSUMPTION POPULARITY GROWING

Current high interest rates have made the assumption

U.S.A. Is Still A Good Buy

of a low-interest-rate mortgage more desirable.

When a loan is assumed, the new purchaser takes on the existing debt. But most loans originated in recent years have a "due-on-sale" clause which allows the lender to call in the loan when the property is sold. The lender can then collect the money and loan it out again at today's higher rates.

Many lenders will still agree to a loan assumption, provided they escalate the interest rate to the prevailing rate.

Other lenders allow loan assumptions upon payment of a fee that is generally 1 percent of the loan balance. FHA and VA loans are not subject to escalation. When purchasing property using a loan assumption, first check with the lender to find out the terms of the assumption.

12 PERCENT 'BARRIER' FALLS BY WAYSIDE

A few years ago, many housing economists felt a 12 percent mortgage rate represented a psychological barrier above which no one would be willing to borrow. Yet, rates have gone well beyond 12 percent without shutting down the housing market.

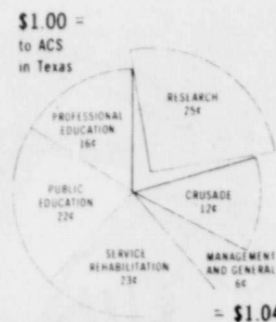

It is true buying has slowed, but this is due not so much to consumer reluctance to take on a high-interest loan as it is to problems in qualifying for the higher monthly payments.

Various new mortgage arrangements are helping alleviate this situation, and borrowers are becoming more aware that interest payments can be offset partially since they are deductible from federal income taxes.

Thus, high monthly payments are not as burdensome as they appear, and 12 percent is no longer the "barrier" it once was.

This is to advise you that the Microplex Photo Club will be conducting a field trip on June 5, 1983, to Fort Worth.

Those desiring to take part should meet at 9:30 a.m. at the Super Value (closed - out of business) parking lot on East Main Street in Eastland or at the Ranger High School parking lot at 10 a.m. You should arrange for your own transportation in your personal cars. Car pooling will be advisable where it can be compatibly arranged. Drivers should allow for several car lengths between vehicles for safety and to permit plenty of room for faster moving vehicles to move in and out of the traffic lane. Speed for the group will be held as close to 55 MPH as possible. Those equipped with citizens band radios and wish to keep in contact with other cars of the group should monitor Channel No. 7.

Points visited will be the Fort Worth Botanical Gardens, The Japanese Sunken Garden and for those who desire, the Fort Worth

Zoo is nearby. Those who have tripods and cable releases will probably be able to utilize them. In the event you should have questions in reference to some procedure, there will probably be some members present who can answer most of them.

You may carry sandwiches for noon lunch or locate a snack stand or restaurant in Fort Worth, whichever you desire. For the evening meal, bring a picnic lunch and the group will meet for this at about 6:30 p.m. at nearby Riverside Park.

During the day, the Field Trip Chairman will locate a desirable point of view in which night photos may be made of the Fort Worth skyline. This is optional and of course those not wishing to remain later for the night photography may return home at any time. For the night photography, a tripod is a must and a cable release is desirable. Bring the amount of film that you think you might want to use as it may not be readily available at the locations you will be visiting.

Non-members are invited to attend as guests.

For more information, please contact President Ron Mouser at 442-3775 or Carl Boustead, Field Trip Committee Chairman, at 629-8332.

Red Cross C.P.R. Course To Be Offered June 21 & 23 que that everyone can learn. An American Red Cross Certification Course in C.P.R. will be offered on

Many Good And Sincere Individuals

...give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.

BUSINESS WILL pick up for Mayor Eris Ritchie come June 6th. That's the date for the opening for Mr. ER's summer camps for cheer leaders, drum majors and majorettes, and band students. The first event will be four weeks of camps on the H-SU campus in Abilene.

This will be followed by two weeks at the UofHouston campus and a camp for young girls at Clear Lake City, near Houston. The biggest event of the season will follow at San Antonio when 700 to 800 youngsters will take part in a clinic and workshop at the Convention Center. A camp for band and choral groups will follow in San Antonio, the season winding down about the end of July.

Summer camps for young folks have been an annual program for Mr. ER for some 20 years now.

MR. STANLEY Pirtle, local oil man, is wearing a big white western straw hat these days. It came as a gift from a man who thought that "no respectable oil man should be without a western straw during the summer," the card that came with it said. Banker Dick Woolley attended a meeting of the Hendrick Foundation Development Company board in Abilene the other day. The firm leases E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital in Cisco and is actively seeking another doctor for our community. Mr. DW learned... Senior Boy Scouts Glen and Dusty Deitiker, Jeff Cathey and Harold Roan will be members of the Camp Billy Gibbons staff for part of the camping season this summer.

A COUPLE OF Sunday mornings ago, Pastor David Adkins of First United Methodist Church suggested on the next Sunday (May 29th) folks move around a bit and not sit in the same pews they usually occupy. You know how it is, people tend to sit in the same area when they go to church each week.

Well, last Sunday people took Pastor Adkins at his word and moved around. After a time, he threw in the towel. "Go back to your regular seats next Sunday and then I'll know who's here."

MR. BRAD Kimbrough of First Baptist Church, who is pretty well acquainted with the Bible, observed that it's scripturally correct to take a back seat in church. By doing so, you can be invited to move up. If you're on the front seat, you could only move backward.

Brad can quote the proper scriptures if you need the correct dope.

GLAD TO HEAR that Richard James, 12-year old son of Judy James of our town, is doing nicely after hospital treatment some weeks ago and more treatment at home for a diabetes problem. He takes two shots daily and can give them to himself.

Lion Archie Charness has arranged for Richard to spend a few weeks at the Lions Camp for Crippled and Diabetic Children at Kerrville, Mrs. James tells us. Next Sunday, Mrs. James and her other children will take Richard to the Lions Camp. She works at the Colony Restaurant where she is one of everybody's favorite waitresses.

BOB BENNIE, manager of the Cisco Country Club golf course, played with former Ciscoan Bob Justice in a Memorial weekend golf tournament over in Abilene.

The Cisco Press
Thursday,

Mrs. Mittie Schlaepfer of our town was honored on her 86th birthday at the First Baptist Church during the morning service last Sunday. She'll be moving to Corpus Christi "because I'm getting a little old to live alone," she said... The E.L. Jacksons attended a grandson's graduation in Garland last Friday night... Tom Collins, who resigned recently to take a senior college basketball coaching job in Houston, has assumed duties there. His wife and two daughters will remain here until their new home is available - probably in a month or so, we hear.

SAW DIRECTOR Gary Adams of the Church of Christ Bible Chair at CJC having breakfast at a restaurant with his four sons Monday morning... Holiday weekend visitors in Cisco were Cathy Crowder Barber of Arlington and her two daughters, Jessica, 3, and Jenny, 9. Husband Deryck had gone to California on business. Mrs. Barber and daughters were visiting her mother, Mrs. Monk Crowder... At City Drug the other morning, Rancher Mart Agnew reached for a cup of coffee, bumped his arm and poured the hot fluid into his open side pocket.

MR. WALLACE Johnson, who is preparing to be ushered into the 80s at a birthday party in a few days, shot a 32 for nine holes at the local golf course the other afternoon... It's Kendall (Not Kyle) Anderson who will begin pre-med studies at CJC soon. Kyle's at CHS and a good student and we'll probably be hearing about more Anderson honors from him before long... Hear that Mr. Fred Oehlke and the Lundstrom children have moved to San Antonio where he has lived for some years. He's their legal guardian... Dr. Robert Sloan, who was in town with his wife Sue and children to visit her mother Lucy Collier, preached at First Baptist Church last Sunday night. Hasn't Mrs. Collier just returned from a vacation trip to Canada?... And hasn't Mrs. Polly Wright just returned from the blue grass country of Kentucky and a vacation?

THE REV. Milo Steffen, pastor of First Christian Church, extends his left hand when you offer to shake hands with him. His right arm and hand is just out of a cast after six weeks of treatment for a broken bone... Saw 10 young fellows, ages 18 to 20, playing golf together at the CCC golf course Sunday afternoon and they seemed to be enjoying it very much.

THAT OLD HOUSE is on its way to a new location to become the retirement home for the Rev. and Mrs. Wm. C. Weeks, pastor of First Presbyterian Church. The Weeks bought the house (see photo) from the First Christian Church and it was moved from the lot just west of the church to make way for a building extension. New location is lots bought from the estate of the late Misses Ora and Eula Howell on West 5th Street. Vernon Honea, contractor, was in charge of moving the house, which he believes to be about 70 years old. - Staff Photo.

The new building will cover 22,000 square feet and will house a worship center accommodating approximately 500 persons as well as educational space for children and adults.

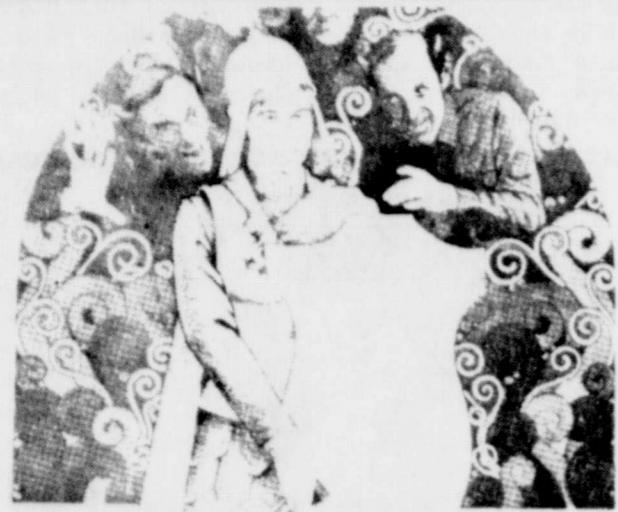

The octagonal shaped worship center combines traditional features with contemporary architecture. It was designed by architect John Sanders of Hurst, Texas.

The educational space will have a fellowship hall and library. The worship center will have an 18-rank pipe organ.

Bill Crowe of Euless has been employed by the church as construction supervisor, and bidding on the project will begin immediately.

The structure, all on ground level, will occupy the space from Seamon to Lamar streets on property currently in use as a parking lot. It is expected that the construction will be completed in twelve to fourteen months at a cost of $1.15 million.

WHITCOMB'S WAR

Film Will Be Shown June 5 At F.E.M.C.

A 65-minute film entitled "Whitcomb's War" will be shown at 11 a.m., Sunday, June 5th, at the First Evangelical Methodist Church on West Highway 80. The film has won two Christian Oscar's.

"Whitcomb's War", the latest release from Heartland Productions, will be enjoyed by all ages, and will find a special place in the hearts of all who believe the church can be a place of joy and laughter.

"Whitcomb's War" is a delightful Christian comedy placing an earnest young pastor into the middle of a lukewarm church. He struggles with his congregation, and with the servants of Satan. The battle ranges from the humorous to the poignant as he leads his sheep to the truth that wins victory over the enemy -

"We are more than conquerors through Him that loved us." Romans 8:37.

Advance publicity of the film states, "Come prepared to arm yourself with laughter, as you aim for the solid scriptural heart of this film. It will delight your community with a look at the results of 'fighting the good fight,' and winning!"
