

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

SOMETHING OF interest brought into the Press office Tuesday morning was a large (7 1/2 inches) centipede-looking creature. It appears to have a stinger on the end and hooks on the front part of its body.

Frank Wilcoxon of Cisco brought the specimen in and said he had never seen one before in his life, until he saw this one crawling across the carpet in his home Monday night. He killed it and placed it in a jar to try and find out what it is. At press time, we still did not know anything about it, but have several calls in to other people who hopefully will be able to give us some information.

We will have a photo and information in Sunday's edition.

MORE HOT weather is what Cisco is experiencing this week. Hot, dry wind seems to blast you in the face when you walk outside in the middle of the day.

Even the nights are not cool. Wouldn't a nice, cool, lengthy rain be really welcome now?

WORK SEEMS to be progressing nicely along the north part of Front Street. As you probably know the street is being repaved from 8th to 2nd Street. The new curbs have been poured and gravel had been hauled into the area by Tuesday morning to begin making the base for the paving.

Pretty soon, the north part of Front Street should be as nice and smooth as the south part which goes in front of the Junior-Senior High School and Cisco Nursing Center.

SPEAKING OF the schools, local students were busy registering this week for the upcoming school year at their respective schools. It seems as though the summer has been especially short this year in reference to the amount of time school was out for the summer.

Some students seem happy to be getting ready for another school year, while others seem to dread it. I think the same holds true for the teachers.

A GOOD NUMBER of interested fans turned out Saturday morning at the Community Gym to watch the Cisco High School Lobos have an inter-squad scrimmage. The youths were real-

Cisco Pool Will Be Open Friday Night

The Cisco swimming pool will be open again this Friday night from 8 to 10 p.m. Ms. Shirley Darr, manager of the Cisco Swimming Pool, said that she appreciates the people for such a good turnout last Friday night.

Bring your family to the swimming pool and have an enjoyable time.

Lobo Season Tickets Are On Sale Now

Season tickets for the Cisco Lobos football games are on sale at the Cisco ISD tax office on Conrad Hilton Avenue in Cisco. Tickets are $15 each and need to be picked up by September 9.

All previous season ticket holders, if they wish the same seats this year, are urged to claim their reserved seats as the waiting lists for seats is growing daily.

ly committed to their scrimmage and some good hits and good runs were broken during the scrimmage.

It really looks as though Cisco should have some good football teams this year, from Junior High thru High School.

Persons interested in seeing the Lobos first scrimmage with another town might like to travel to Merkel this Friday and watch the scrimmage there. It begins at 6:00 p.m.

City Council Takes Steps For Waste Water Facility

The Cisco City Council, at full strength after swearing in a newly elected member, took steps to solve their waste water treatment facility problems at a special meeting Monday night at City Hall.

Roy Dennis, local business man, was certified as the winner of the August 13th special election to fill Place III on the Council as votes were canvassed. Election Judge Carl Gorr reported that there were 94 votes, including two absentee, cast in the election and that Mr. Dennis received all of them.

Following the official vote canvass, Mr. Dennis was given the oath of office by Mayor Eris Ritchie and took his seat with other Councilmen. The owner of Quickway Grocery, Mr. Dennis is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Cisco Junior College Board of Regents, a member of the Cisco Lions Club and active in community and church affairs. He filled the place that had been vacant since the resignation of Loyal Lundstrom last April.

City Manager Mike Moore reported that a conference scheduled last week with representatives of the Texas Attorney General's office will be held here Tuesday, Aug. 23, when the state proposal to file suit against the City of Cisco for violation of regulations governing waste water disposal will be discussed.

The Council voted to prepare plans to remedy the sewage plant problems as soon as their option to buy a site for a new plant can be executed and approved by state agencies. Engineering details and paper work will be ready for the city to move with all speed as soon as possible, it was decided.

Councilmen expect to assure the attorney general at the Aug. 23 meeting that Cisco is working hard to correct waste water problems, Mayor Ritchie said. The mayor, city manager, Engineer Billy Jacob, City Attorney Billy Wright and others are expected to attend the meeting.

Present at Monday night's special meeting were Mayor Ritchie, Councilmen Bobby Ingram, Ivan Webb, Bobby Rains, Roy Dennis, Brad Kimbrough and Linton Batteas, City Manager Moore, City Attorney Wright, Engineer Jacob and City Secretary Ginger Johnson.

Lundstrom Trial Will Begin Monday

The trial of Loyal Lundstrom of Cisco, who has been indicted in connection with the slaying March 6 of his wife, Doris, will begin Monday, August 22, 9:30 a.m. in the District Courtroom, Eastland.

tion will begin when the Court convenes.

Bill Hart, Eastland Attorney, will represent the defendant. Emery Walton, District Attorney, will prosecute the case. Both defendant and prosecutor state that they are ready to begin the trial.

Luncheon Planned To Honor Teachers

Administrators and members of the faculties of the Cisco Public Schools will be entertained at a luncheon at noon Thursday, August 17, at the First Baptist Church, according to a report by the Rev. Buddy Sipe, pastor.

Rev. Sipe said the informal program would include a report to the school leaders on the First Baptist Church's tutoring ministry, which was started last year. In this program, church volunteers meet with students needing help at 6 p.m. each Wednesday. Some 45 students were enrolled in the program last year, Rev. Sipe said.

Arrangements for the affair were being made by a committee headed by Mrs. Sipe. Some 70 guests were expected to attend the luncheon.

The program is open to students who are recommended by their teachers.

'Old Fashioned Revival' Set

An "Old-Fashioned Tabernacle Revival" will be held August 24-27 at the Long Branch Baptist Church. Nightly services will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Jane Wilson of Cisco will be the pianist and Jim John, "California Kid", of Howard Payne University will be song leader.

Evangelist will be Ronnie Shackelford, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Cisco. Rev. Shackelford is being billed as a "former

A spokesperson for the church says there will be a "lot of good ole gospel singing!"

CISCO HIGH School Lobos were holding their first scrimmage Saturday morning when the above photos were taken. The Lobo varsity and junior varsity had an inter-squad scrimmage on Saturday. They will travel to Merkel this Friday for their first scrimmage against another team. (staff photo)

CHS Football Squad Will Scrimmage Merkel Friday

Members of the Cisco High School football squad continued two-day workouts this week as they prepared for a scrimmage program at Merkel at 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 19. Coach John Parchman and his staff had some 45 players in their fall training camp as the second week began.

The Lobos went through a scrimmage session for the first time last Saturday morning to climax their first week of practice. Scrimmage work was continuing this week as the team worked on plays and basics.

A probable starting lineup was beginning to take shape as the tempo of the training program was stepped up. Starting offense and defense eleveners for the Merkel scrimmage were expected to look like this:

Center-Craig Foster, 170, senior; guards-Johnny Seabourn, 187, junior, and Willard Johnson, 210, junior; tackles-Daryl Stuart, 180, senior, and Robert Sherman, 170, senior; tight end-Butch Jessup, 175, senior; split end-Glen Starr, 160, senior, or Tommy Elrod, 145, junior.

The quarterback will be Joe Perry, 165-pound senior, with Johnny Ramirez, 170, junior, at fullback; David Seabourn, 150, junior, at tailback and Frankie Seabourn, 145, senior, at halfback.

The defense will have Willard Johnson and Johnny Seabourn at defensive tackles; Butch Jessup and Daryl Stuart, defensive ends; Travis Long, 175, junior, and Robert Sherman, outside linebackers; Glen Starr and Tommy Elrod, corner backs; Joe Perry, strong safety; and David Seabourn, free safety.

Coach Parchman said that both Cisco and Merkel will substitute frequently in the controlled scrimmage. Another scrimmage program is set with Ballinger on August 25th.

Plans call for two-day workouts to continue through Thursday and for a light workout Friday morning before the Merkel trip. With the opening of school next week, workouts will be held after classes each afternoon.

Coach Parchman said the Lobo staff was "pretty well pleased" with progress. "Our physical conditioning is coming along nicely. We have a lot of hustle and a fine attitude in our camp," he added.

Membership Deadline For Ambulance Is Extended Here

The deadline for membership in the Eastland and Cisco Patterson Ambulance Service has been extended until September 3 due to failure to meet the goal of 850.

The Cisco drive for Patterson Ambulance Service was 280 short as of late Sunday; the Eastland drive was 257 short as of the same date.

To boost membership pledges the Service under director Tom Patterson has successfully requested that the Cisco mayor and city council suggest to the local ministerial alliance that the ministers address to the congregation the importance of the ambulance service to the community as an aid to the diseased and disabled.

The Cisco city council has tabled until September a request for a subsidy to allow the service to continue, in addition to the membership fees.

The combined total membership pledges in Eastland and Cisco is presently 1163. Eastland has 583 pledges; Cisco, 570.

Though there had been no decisive action by the Eastland city commission due to the obligatory absence of Mr. Patterson who was called out at each meeting previously, on Monday night the commissioners agreed to pay the salary of a telephone solicitor whose job it will be to drum up subscribers to Patterson Ambulance Service.

The move came after Tom Patterson told the commission he needs to recruit more than 1,700 subscribers if he is to keep his service in operation.

Current membership from last year is 1,180 subscribers who pay $39 annually, but Patterson says he needs at least 280 more in Cisco and more than 253 in Eastland.

The deadline had previously been extended until August 15 in order to solicit memberships from senior citizens, because of the early-August check receiving time for many senior citizens.

The deadline has again been extended until September 3 for Eastland and Cisco.

Memberships for the 1983 year which are valid 24 hours after purchase are in effect until July 31, 1984. Cost is $39 for family, $39 for husband and wife, and $39 for an individual. Membership provides ambulance service to any hospital (for admittance only) within a 60-mile radius of Eastland, as many times as necessary with no further financial obligation to the patient or guardians and will accept third-party assignments.

Reduced rates are available to members for clinical or medical facilities requiring an ambulance locally or out of town.

Important Meet Set For Band Boosters

A very important meeting of the Cisco High School Lobo Band Booster Club will be held at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 22, in the Band Hall.

All members of the club are urged to attend. Plans for the 1983-84 school year will be discussed.

Club President La Nelle Anderson will be in charge.

Texans Increase Spending On Local Public Schools

AUSTIN—Texans increased spending on local public schools by $900 million last year, as trustees in 1,071 school districts adopted school budgets totaling $8.5 billion. That provided more than $300 in additional funds for each of the 2,678,000 students in the state, according to the Texas Research League.

State foundation school aid was upped by $345 million, but local property taxpayers were tagged for an additional $425 million to pay for the increase. The remainder was funded by increases in special state and federal aid programs and by higher local fees and other revenue. The figures come from the latest issue of Benchmarks for 1983-84 School District Budgets in Texas, an annual publication of the League.

The Texas Research League is a private, nonprofit, Austin-based, educational corporation engaged in governmental research.

Trash Dumping Being Probed

Constable S.E. Parkinson reported this week that he is investigating several incidents of trash dumping in roadside ditches in the Cisco area and that anyone caught in the matter will be prosecuted.

"Present laws provide for a penalty of $200 fine for illegal trash dumping," Mr. Parkinson said. "Every effort is being made to determine the guilty parties."

1982-83 called for spending $2,610.23 per student for current operations. Cisco ISD's budget provided for $1,753.65 per student based on the 898 students in average daily attendance in 1981-82.

Locally, the Cisco ISD's tax levy was increased by 25.2 percent for 1982-83 as compared to a 14.8 percent increase for the average school district in Texas.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by Cisco ISD in 1981-82 was $14,507.00 which was 2.3 percent above the minimum salary prescribed by the state. The average among all school districts in Texas was $17,537 per classroom teacher, or 20.6 percent over the minimum. The legislature further increased the state minimum schedule by $88 - $196 a month for 1982-83.

There was an average of one teacher for 20.1 students in Cisco ISD compared to a statewide pupil-teacher ratio of 1 to 16.4. The pupil-teacher ratio is not the same thing as the average class size because teachers and students are not necessarily in class the same number hours each day.

The report noted that the share of the total school payroll paid to classroom teachers has dropped from 73.4 percent of the total in 1969-70 to 60.4 cents of each payroll dollar last year as many more nonteaching personnel have been hired. Locally, classroom teachers were paid 62.4 percent of the school payroll in 1981-82.

The average school property tax rate in 1981-82 was $0.531 per $100 of market value (selling price) so that the school tax on a property selling for $100,000 was $531 in the average school district. Locally, the rate on market value in Cisco ISD was $0.231 or $231.00 on a property selling for $100,000.

If the property were a homestead or owned by a senior citizen, the school tax would be less because of various exemptions. Open-space land if qualifying would be valued on productivity value rather than market value and would be taxed less.

The report noted that the 68th Legislature increased appropriations for public schools by almost a billion dollars ($962 million) for the next biennium. However, only an additional $192 million increase (5.4 percent) in foundation aid to local school districts will be available for 1983-84 school budgets that school trustees are now working on.

Local Resident Returns From Orient

Climaxing a visit to the Orient, Josephine Cleveland of Cisco, journeyed behind the Bamboo Curtain for a first hand look at the state of the Christian Church in Mainland China.

Travelling more than twenty thousand miles during July 19 through August 4, Ms. Cleveland also visited Taiwan, Hong Kong, and the Philippines and participated in a number of evangelistic crusades in Kaohsiung and Manila.

Besides the crusades Ms. Cleveland was a speaker in churches and to other groups. In Manila she, along with eleven team members spent two days visiting and sharing the gospel with prisoners in the New Bilibid Prison located on the largest of the Philippine Islands, Mindanao. This is the world's largest prison. Accompanied by Ms. Oglia Robertson who is "Mommie" to thousands of prisoners. Ms. Cleveland visited death row and other barred chambers to share the gospel. She was greeted eagerly by a group of prisoners as they waited for her arrival past the steel-mesh barriers of the prison. Having visited this compound for several years they requested she accompany them to the chapel and Bible School within their complex. Here she had the privilege of speaking and sharing the gospel.

From Hong Kong, the team traveled by train into the Peoples Republic of China. Here they were able to observe the state of the Christian church and also successfully complete their mission to the people's behind the Bamboo Curtain.

The team's crusade leader, Dr. Nora Lam Sung, is acclaimed as one of the Orient's most respected and best known evangelists. Ms. Cleveland has traveled with Dr. Nora Sung and her husband, S.K. Sung, for five years taking the gospel message to the Orient.

The team attempts to show the Asian people that Americans have interest and true concern for the one billion people who live there.

Management Is Key For Farm Profits

Farm records summaries from farmers who participated in Production Credit Association's Agrifax computerized record keeping program in 1982 indicate how difficult the farm economy has been. Net farm earnings of 1,150 farmers from Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky, who kept Agrifax records averaged minus $800 last year.

These are among the findings reported in the July-August issue of PCA FARMING, which is sent to area farmers as a service of their local Production Credit Association. The records were tabulated and analyzed by Jim Weaver, Agrifax records coordinator from Louisville, Kentucky.

In spite of poor prices which continue to plague farmers, some farmers involved in the records analysis made a profit in 1982. Weaver compared these top profit groups of farmers with low profit groups. After analyzing other factors such as farm size and equity levels, he concludes that differences in profitability can be attributed largely to differences in management ability.

These comparisons show, for example, that the upper half profit group of cattle feeders had net farm earnings of $7,900 despite low cattle prices, while the lower half profit group averaged net farm earnings of minus $79,100. The upper third profit group among dairy farmers had net farm earnings of $32,800, while the lower third had earnings of minus $33,600. Cash crop farmers in the upper third profit group had net farm earnings of $25,100, while the lower third profit group had earnings of minus $41,000. Farrow-to-finish hog operations in the top third profit group had net farm earnings of $90,300, reflecting strong hog prices in 1982. But the lower third group had net earnings of minus $54,400.

Management problems can often be traced to value of farm production that is too low, and or expenses that are too high. Therefore, Weaver says it is essential that farmers have a good record-keeping system that identifies all areas of income and expense. This will show farmers currently having financial difficulty where they need to improve.

Weaver also urges farmers to realistically assess their management ability at a time when he needs an even higher level of profitability to handle the increased debt load. Weaver notes that many well-managed smaller operations he's analyzed have much higher net farm earnings than larger operations where the manager is spread too thin.

Bass Club Report

Results of the August tournament, which we held on Saturday the 13th went as follows. Butch Willingham 1st, Herman Dunlap 2nd and Bobby Maynard 3rd. Lots of fish were caught, but most couldn't make our 14" minimum.

On Sunday, August 21st there shall be an open tournament on Lake Cisco. Registration will be at 5:30 a.m. and we will begin at 6 a.m. This is a two man team tournament for 3 fish. For more information contact Butch Williamson 442-3142.

Leon recently produced a new lake record. Odell Taylor of Abilene landed a 9 lb., 11 oz. hybrid black bass. More details Sunday.

Crop Insurance Director Gives Final 1984 Application Date

The final application date for Federal Crop Insurance on 1984-crop wheat in Eastland County is August 31st, according to Ardell M. Kalmbach, district director of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. Kalmbach adds, however, that wheat growers interested in participating in the special Individual Yield Coverage Program should apply for the necessary yield certification at least 15 days prior to that date.

Farmers who can qualify for the IYC plan are offered higher yield guarantees at no additional cost. To be eligible, Kalmbach explains, producers must have records to show that average wheat yields during the three most recent crop years have been above the average for the area.

Yield records should be submitted to the ASCS Office in Eastland County for certification. Kalmbach suggests that interested producers may want to contact the ASCS Office in advance to determine the kinds of acreage and production records that are needed.

Once a certification of above-average yields has been obtained, it should be given to the insurance agent who is writing the policy.

The additional coverage will be added automatically. For each bushel that an IYC participant's yields are above the local average, Kalmbach explains, up to $3.00 per acre of additional protection can be obtained with no increase in the premium.

Federal Crop Insurance policies, which provide coverage against most unavoidable causes of crop loss, are sold by independent insurance agents and private insurance companies. A list of those authorized to sell insurance in Eastland County is available from the ASCS Office.

The Garden Editor

Ted Brice

Some twenty-five years ago I was involved in the eradication of weeds from a one-hundred acre fishing lake. We tried various chemicals that would not harm the fish but to no avail. Then we imported a little animal called NUTRI that was supposed to eat the weeds. None of these methods were successful. We finally used a chemical that killed all the fish.

I have just recently come across a book entitled "How To Identify And Control Water Weeds And Algae." If this book had been available we could have eradicated our fishing lake years ago without killing the fish.

Some of the more enlightening facts about controlling the weeds in your lake or pond learned from this book is as follows. Timing is an important consideration in the successful and economical vegetation control. As a general rule, the best time to treat is when growth first begins to appear and create a potential nuisance.

Water temperatures should be a minimum of sixty degrees. Often, this means in the Spring since germination and active growth of many aquatic plants and algae coincides with warming water temperatures and increased sunlight duration and intensity. However, some species of plants may not develop until mid-summer. Therefore, it is important to keep a watchful eye out for new problem growth.

There are a number of reasons for early detection and treatment of aquatic plants. Young, tender and actively growing plants are more susceptible to chemical control. This is particularly true of those treated with systemic herbicides. As certain plants mature, they develop "protective barriers" to the chemicals. Water Shield, for example, secretes a gelatinous substance which coats its stem and the undersides of its leaf. Similarly, the outer surfaces of Chara and several other aquatic plants accumulate calcium deposits forming a whitish layer.

Aquatic plants such as filamentous algae, planktonic algae, duckweed, and watermeal can develop any time during the season. They grow and multiply very rapidly and may take over a pond if not treated soon after they appear.

Procrastination is a major mistake when it comes to implementing an aquatic weed and algae control program. The benefits of being prepared at the first signs of trouble are well worth the effort. First, it is more economical. If treatments are made before the problem spreads, there will be less treatment area and less chemical required. Smaller, and fewer plants dying and decaying means less oxygen demand and reduced nutrient release into the water. Eliminating plants before they go to seed might also mean fewer plants next year.

Early detection and treatment of potential noxious aquatic vegetation growth will allow you to enjoy a full season of fishing, swimming, boating, and the beauty of your pond.

To further facilitate a clearer, easier understanding for readers, a revision of chemicals recommendations and an explanation of their application rates is now included in this book.

Experts provide all the answers to the most frequently asked questions about chemical formulations, dilutions and tank mixing.

This book was written and produced by Applied Biochemists, Inc., pioneers in the aquatic nuisance control field with over fifty years of research and experience. If you would like additional information about this wonderful book write "The Garden Editor" care of this newspaper.

Good Gardening Until Next Week From Your Garden Editor, Ted Brice.

RETIRING OR MOVING?

At least 18 per cent of the people in America will move this year. And many of you are thinking about retiring. These decisions are a part of your life and will affect at least one out of every five of your family and friends soon.

When making your retiring and moving decisions you'll soon discover that you've really accumulated a lot of possessions in the last few years. And you'll quickly see that it will be very difficult, time consuming and quite expensive to haul your possessions across the country or even around town.

But, you can turn these accumulated possessions into quick cash by holding an auction. A well planned auction can cash out your entire household in just a few short hours. And, I provide complete auction service so you don't have to worry about a single detail.

It's a whole lot easier to have an auction and put cash in your wallet than it is to put your piano, refrigerator & hide a bed in a truck. And remember, when it comes to buying or selling AUCTION'S BEST (SM).

Bailey Represents County Aging

By Viola Payne
Feature Writer

When County Judge Scott Bailey was elected Vice-Chairman of the Citizen's Advisory Committee of the Texas Department on Aging recently, Eastland County became directly represented in this type of state policy-making.

"This Department has a number of goals," states Judge Bailey. "They have been developed under the Older Americans Act of Congress, and compiled together as a State Plan on Aging. These goals evolved after a number of public hearings."

"The aim is to improve the quality of life for senior citizens."

Judge Bailey explains that the West Central Texas Council of Governments Aging Department is the area agency for 19 counties around here, and the job of this group is to work out details of services and deliver them to citizens who are most needy.

The Judge has long been involved with the problems of Senior Citizens.

"My concern probably started when my Grandmother, Melinda Arnold, came to live with my family (the M.D. Baileys) in Cisco when I was a child," he explains. "She was in ill health, but my family cared for her the best they could."

"I remember what a positive outlook this Grandmother had, in spite of her situation. She was still interested in a lot of things - including the Church. And no matter how bad she felt, she would tell me stories of her life as a pioneer in Mitchell and Eastland Counties."

"You remember that kind of thing all your life."

Judge Bailey's 93 yr. old mother, Maude Arnold Bailey is an example of how times have changed for Senior Citizens. She maintains her own home, goes out to Senior Citizen's programs, and is interested in Church and community affairs. She also takes trips to visit her children.

"Older people are living more independent lives now," states the Judge. "The 1980 census showed that we have 5,635 persons in Eastland County above age 60, out of a population of 19,480."

That's 28.9 percent of the total population - among the top four percentages in the 19 counties of the WCTCOG group. So there are a lot of single-member homes in this county."

Judge Bailey notes the changes in public attitude toward the aged during his lifetime.

"The shift seemed to come in the '30's and '40's. Before then, when an old person could no longer work and produce, he was generally regarded in this country as useless."

"This was similar to some primitive people, who discarded their old when they could no longer keep up with the tribe."

"This was certainly contrary to Christian ethics, which taught that parents should be honored and appreciated, and that wisdom had value."

"In the 1930's the 'Poor Farm' gradually gave way to 'Old Age Assistance' and Social Security, as a way of providing minimum care."

"In World War II the younger people went to the army, and older citizens were brought out of retirement to run farms and factories. Now they could still feel useful! And they made a tremendous contribution, too."

"Since then there has been more willingness to spend public tax money on Old Age Assistance and other programs."

"Undoubtedly the Seniors are in a better position than they once were. But too many of them still live below the poverty level, and some are in ill health."

When asked some of the major problems of older people in Eastland County, Judge Bailey listed a number.

"The sheer cost of utilities needed to maintain a home or apartment is one of the most pressing problems. Utilities are going up - there seems to be no end to it. The cost of medical care, too, is a constant dilemma for the ill."

"Transportation is a problem for many of the Senior Citizens - it leaves some of them almost homebound. And the care of yards and households is something that must be dealt with."

"A number of our people could work - at least part time - if jobs were available. Lots of skills and brains are wasted because there seems to be no need for them in the area."

"Another basic need is more low-cost, convenient housing for the elderly."

"We are fortunate here to have Ranger Junior College and Cisco Junior College, with their sponsorship of the Nutrition Program for Senior Citizens."

"This fills a real need - not simply for the good meals, but for the social life and all the extra programs involved."

"The Colleges also render a public service with ideas that education is not just for young people, but available for anyone who wishes to attend. Senior Citizens also find the libraries open to them, and other resources."

"So we have a lot to be thankful for - but plenty more that can be done. I hope my services on this State Agency will be of some benefit. For all of us - if we live long enough - will be Senior Citizens some day."

Real Estate Consumer

David S. Jones

The Real Estate Consumer is provided as a public service by this newspaper and the Texas Real Estate Research Center. Address inquiries to The Texas Real Estate Research Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

Before you buy a home anywhere in Texas, it is a good idea to find out what type of soil it is on.

Expansive soils cause hundreds of millions of dollars in property damage annually in Texas. Clay soils are the main culprit. They crack buildings, crumble highways and destroy underground utilities.

You can find out if the area in which you want to buy is composed of clay soils by checking with the district office of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS). The SCS has extensive soil surveys available free of charge.

If you must buy in an area with expansive soils, ask the builder if the ground was treated prior to erecting the home. If you are buying a previously owned home, ask the owner or find and ask the builder. By asking a few questions now, you may save yourself money in years ahead.

MORE WOMEN BUYING HOMES

Don't be surprised if your new neighbor turns out to be a 25-year-old working woman.

Experts agree that in the 1980s women may become one of the significant factors in the home buying market. A major portion of this group is single, in the mid-20s to mid-30s and is buying mainly townhouses and single-family detached homes.

Women are buying because of the income tax advantages of homeownership and the realization that housing likely will appreciate in value. A second group of women is composed of widows and divorcees who seem to prefer duplexes or townhouses.

This trend is not expected to slow any time soon. More employed women, later marriages and high divorce rates are expected to provide greater demand among women homebuyers.

HOW MUCH HOME CAN YOU AFFORD?

Would you like to buy a house, but do not know where to start? The first step in purchasing a home is to decide how much home you can afford.

Most lending institutions will limit a mortgage loan to about two times your yearly income. If you earn $24,000 a year, you could possibly obtain a loan of $48,000. In this example, by making a down payment of 20 percent of the price of a house, you could qualify for a home costing up to $60,000.

Another way of figuring how much house you can afford is to multiply your monthly household income by 28 percent. This figure is about what a lending institution would estimate you could afford for monthly payments. If you earn $2,000 a month, you could spend about $560 on monthly payments.

CONSIDER LOCATION BEFORE PURCHASE

Before you sign a contract for a house, it pays to know more than just the price. Think about location.

Before buying a home, learn what taxing jurisdiction it comes under. Significant variations in tax rates or assessed valuations may occur among jurisdictions.

Expansive Soils Expensive

Examine the quality and locations of the schools your children would attend. Discover how far you would have to drive to get groceries or go to work. Explore the possibility that property use in the area might change. Perhaps that nearby vacant lot will become the site of a hamburger stand instead of a home or apartment.

Ask the neighbors about hazards or nuisances in the area. You may not notice a nearby stream until it floods your living room.

USE LEVERAGE FOR INVESTMENT

One of the biggest advantages of investing in real estate is that you can use other people's money to acquire property. This use of borrowed funds can result in significant financial leverage and can magnify returns on an investor's funds.

For instance, say you buy an old house and restore it using $10,000 for your own money and $30,000 in borrowed funds. If you can sell the restored house for $50,000 a year later, you can repay the loan with interest and still obtain nearly double your original investment of $10,000.

Of course, this is just an example. Most investments are not nearly so profitable, and there is always the risk of losing money. But the financial leverage which comes with borrowed funds does allow you to increase your potential for profit in a real estate investment.

Spotlights & Sidelights

Julia Worthy

"School days, school days! Dear old Golden Rule Days..."

When I retired in '80, I thought school days (also spelled "daze") were behind me unless I choose to go.

Not so. Once again I am gathering birth certificate, shot records, allergy notes, sharp-pointed scissors, construction paper, tissues, and my nerves to launch Mandi on the uncertain seas of education.

The beginning of school as student, parent or teacher always found me a little queasy. Ready, even eager, but queasy.

As grandmother I am not only queasy but questioning. What do Mandi and all the other five-year-olds face as they begin the navigation toward the harbor of higher education? How will they handle what comes?

I don't mean just in their kindergarten classrooms. I am concerned about the world beyond the classroom walls. I'll probably get an ulcer out of Mandi's schooling as I do not want her to know I am fretting. (She can't read yet, and this column will be long gone before she does begin.)

Why am I uptight about the ding-dong of school bells now? Could be several reasons.

When I started school, I was almost-eight instead of the week-past-five Mandi will be. I tried starting a year earlier because I was big enough, goodness knows! I could already read—my parents taught me in self-defense and I was a fair hand at counting. I was ready for new worlds to conquer, so I went to school.

I might have managed to stay—if my parents had respected their comfort more and the truth less. We had a family discussion on whether to change my birthdate or not. I didn't have to have a birth certificate—obviously, I was here. The time I got there was the problem. Well, I went to school, but as all of us told the truth, I sweated out another year at home.

My Cousin George, who had the same birthdate problem I had, was not as careful about the true time he was born, so he started the first grade. However, George was not exactly a scholar. He surveyed the halls of learning and found them lacking. He spilled the beans on his real birthdate, and he went home. He never did like school.

This troubled beginning should have given me an inkling of what might be ahead, for I was not through with "beginning." I started school the next year in the first grade, lasted a week and was moved to "low" second. "Low" stung a little bit, but I loved it. What I loved was my teacher. There never has been such a beautiful, curly-haired, blue-eyed, tiny, blonde since-probably not then either.

Three weeks with my love, and I went to "high." Yep. I cried. One of my grandmother's friends (same vintage) presided over high second, and I had to spend the rest of the year with this estimable lady who had a wart on her chin and chewed cloves.

When our children began school, I suppose, is "put it on the computer." I am reasonably sure that Mandi will survive whatever comes her way. She will cope with these things because she and her peers are growing up within the framework of computers and super-sonic planes and instant replays. They are facts of life.

These things impinged on my life styles and that of my contemporaries. We had to adjust. Therein lies the difference between my reactions and Mandi's. Hers are matter-of-fact. Mine? Well, maybe I won't develop that ulcer after all. I will be calm; I will rely on Mandi's confidence—and go to P-TA as long as I have to.

Letter To The Editor

Letter to the Editor:

It is the general consensus of the Communication Workers of America and myself that we are involved in a strike we never wanted, and one we hope can be ended quickly.

On Saturday at midnight, we were forced to strike the Bell System. Almost 700,000 people who are out of work on a strike that would not have happened if AT&T had bargained seriously.

We feel a responsibility to inform the public of the facts about these negotiations, and, since reliable telephone service is so vital, what people can expect while the strike is in progress.

First of all, we were negotiating with a robust, financially-healthy company. While most of the economy was in trouble in 1982, AT&T rang up record profits of $7.2 billion. And in the second quarter of 1983 its profits were $1.93 billion - up to 10.5% from the same quarter in 1982.

A major factor in these profits was the very high productivity of the Bell System employees represented by CWA. Their annual increase in productivity is about 7%, compared to 2% for the rest of the economy.

In recent months, many Bell System companies have filed for huge rate increases. This is not due to wages. In fact, the share of the industry expenses by wages decreased from 45% in 1981 to 29% in 1981.

Against this background, last January we made AT&T aware of our bargaining goals for these negotiations. Formal bargaining began on May 19. From the beginning, the company refused to bargain realistically.

They waited until last week, just days before our contract was to expire, to make their first wage proposal. It was no inadequate that it was insulting - ranging from no increase at all in some categories to very minimal ones in others. That first offer was never significantly improved.

The company's proposals on pensions followed that same pattern.

The telecommunications industry is undergoing explosive technological change. We had proposed joint management-labor programs to train or retrain present workers for the new jobs which are being created. We also asked for certain other sensible and humane programs in the areas of employment security.

In other areas, despite its booming profits, AT&T demanded give-backs characteristic of economically-sick industries.

Faced by this harsh and unyielding attitude of the company, and backed by an over-whelming strike authorization by our members, CWA regretfully called the strike which is now in progress.

While the strike is going on, we would like for the public to know what to expect. After all, there have been only two national telephone strikes in the last 36 years.

Since telephone service is so automated, calls which can be dialed directly should go through without much difficulty in the early stages of the strike. Directory assistance and operator-assisted calls will be handled by supervisory personnel who, unlike CWA members, will not be limited to 30 seconds to help you.

Installation of new residential and commercial telephone equipment will be slowed.

Service will not be restored as expeditiously following interruption by storms or other problems.

As the strike progresses, service will deteriorate as sophisticated, high-tech equipment suffers from the lack of expert attention. Because back-up systems are in place, there will be no adverse effect on national defense.

In case of a natural disaster or other catastrophe, our members have always helped the public.

We take our obligations to our members and our responsibility to the public seriously. We have not broken off talks with the company, and for our part we intend to continue to negotiate vigorously. Certainly we hope for an early agreement, but we are prepared to do what is required - however long it takes - to achieve economic justice for our members.

We ask for the understanding and support of the public.

Sincerely,
N.B. Starr

Commission Announces State Highway Goals

AUSTIN--The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission has announced goals for contracting highway construction projects with disadvantaged businesses and women-owned businesses for Fiscal Year 1984.

The Commission increased its goal for disadvantaged businesses (formerly called minority-owned businesses) to 10.0 percent, up significantly from the FY '83 goal of 7.9 percent. Mark

Goode, engineer-director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT), said the department would meet the 7.9 percent goal, "but with very little margin" and noted that meeting the increased goal would be "challenging, but achievable."

Goode noted that the new goal would make a significant increase in contract work available to disadvantaged businesses. Approximately $80 million in contract work would be available for such businesses in FY '84. The sum for FY '83 was $65 million.

The Commission also announced its goal for women-owned businesses would remain at the 0.5 percent level for FY '84 and noted that there had not been a major increase in the number of certified women-owned businesses. Approximately $4.7 million dollars of contract work will be available to women-owned businesses.

The goals for disadvantaged and women-owned businesses were included in provisions of the Surface

Transportation Act of 1982. Under regulations issued by the U.S. Department of Transportation, states must file their goals for the next fiscal year by August 1. The methods used to determine the goals will be open to public inspection for 30 days and DHT will accept public comments on the goals for 45 days after the date of this notice.

Comments may be mailed to the Construction Division, Department of Highways and Public Transportation, 11th and Brazos Streets, Austin, Texas 78701. Information on the disadvantaged and women-owned business program may be obtained from the above address.

Committee Plans Women Veterans Needs

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Harry Walters has appointed and 18-member Advisory Committee to counsel him in planning for special needs of women veterans.

A San Antonio resident, Carlos Martinez, executive director of the G.I. Forum, National Veterans Outreach Program, is member of the committee.

The committee, scheduled to hold its first meeting in Washington, D.C., on September 14-16, has been established to consult with the Administrator on the needs of women veterans concerning health care, rehabilitation, benefits, compensation, outreach programs and other Veterans Administration programs.

Administrator Walters named Colonel Lorraine Rossi, U.S. Army (Ret.) as chairperson. The majority of the committee are women veterans from World War II, Korea and Vietnam. One member, Staff Sergeant Cherylne Galligan, is an active duty non-commissioned officer in the U.S. Army.

"I look forward to working with this dynamic committee in planning for the increased number of women veterans who will use the services of the Veterans Administration in the future," Walters said.

Administrator Walters emphasized that the members of the committee were recommended by veterans organizations, womens' groups, professional associations and government agencies and were chosen from throughout the United States.

Eastland Brothers

Remain In County Jail

Two Eastland brothers remained in Eastland County Jail in lieu of 7,500 bond each Saturday on charges stemmed from an Aug. 5 burglary here.

Justice of the peace R.G. Lyerla set bonds for the men, 20 year old Jeffrey Robert Milnes and 22 year old Todd Edward Milnes.

The younger Milnes already was in jail on another felony warrant. He was arrested and charged earlier this week for hindering a secured creditor, officials said.

The elder Milnes was arrested Friday night on the burglary charge.

They are charged with breaking into the home of L.J. Kitchens, Ringling Lake Rd., Aug. 5. Several appliances were stolen, said Don Underwood, Eastland police officer.

Roaring Ranger Museum Receives Gifts

Roaring Ranger Museum was the scene of much activity this week as Sun Exploration and Production Company financed a new look outside the depot museum. They had the grounds landscaped and a sidewalk, from old Thurber brick, laid from the gate to the marker Sun installed a few months ago. Then a cyclone fence was put around the north end of the building. Will Johnson, production foreman for Sun, with the help of Jerry Wilson of Wilson Oilfield Services Company in Ranger, erected the historical old Fort Worth Sputter donated by M.M. White some months ago. "A simple thank you is not enough to express the gratitude the citizens of

Ranger feel for the donations made by Sun Exploration and Production Company," Tom Brashier, museum director, said. "The money, equipment and labor amounts to several thousand dollars to the Roaring Ranger Museum. We, of the Museum Board, wish to join the citizens of Ranger in saying thanks to this company and their employees for all they've done," Brashier concluded. Roaring Ranger Museum is open daily and a guide is on duty to help explain the artifacts on display.

FOCUS

Q: I read somewhere that to be effective, a photographer should vary his camera angles from time to time, depending upon the situation. About the only time I do that is when I'm standing on the ground shooting up at a tall building... or standing high up in a tall building shooting down on a city. When are some other times to use high or low camera angles, and is doing so really that important?

A: Right. And that just goes to show you that everything is subjective. That's what separates fair photographers from great photographers — knowing the rules and when to break them.

Basically, shooting every subject from one camera angle — from standing-up height, for example — can result in a very subtle form of monotony. Often, when shooting small children and animals or reclining persons, getting down low for a "nose-to-nose" camera angle works best. Likewise with many low-growing plants, like lilies-of-the-valley and most mushrooms and toadstools. But low camera angles pointed up at higher subjects can be equally effective. While a straight-on camera angle gives a convenient and natural look to a scene, shifting the camera angle often adds visual drama and excitement. Low-to-high camera angles, especially when using a wide-angle lens, also tend to produce a certain amount of distortion, which can also add visually to a scene's effectiveness while exaggerating the size and importance of the subject.

High-to-low camera angles, on the other hand, produce the opposite effect, lessening the individual significance of the subject while increasing visual impact. Time and experience will tell you when to use one or the other. Experiment. You may be delighted with finding a whole new angle on life.

Q: I have one of those sonar-focusing instant-print cameras which I really enjoy, except for one thing. Whenever I try photographing the birds at the feeder outside my kitchen window, the shots come out blurry. What am I doing wrong?

A: Oops! You didn't read the camera's instruction manual or you'd know that sonar doesn't penetrate glass and some other materials (like window screens, etc.). For a properly focused shot, either turn the sonar off and focus manually or open the window when using the sonar. But don't let the birds in, or you'll be faced with another problem altogether!

Q: Is a film's ASA rating the same as its ISO rating?

A: Precisely

Letters to the editor . . .

Letter to the Editor:

To Whom It May Concern: On the Seventh day of March, 1982 my wife suffered a crippling stroke which after being bed fast for 10 1/2 months after which time we were both admitted to the Eastland Hospital where we remained for nine days. We went to the hospital on Patterson Ambulance. We were members of the Patterson Ambulance Club. After nine days at the Hospital we were transferred to Eastland Manor Nursing Home in a Patterson Ambulance. After nine days at the nursing home my wife suffered a severe heart attack. The Patterson Ambulance was called again. In a matter of about 12 minutes after being called, she was in the Emergency Room of Eastland Hospital, with the Pattersons assisting the nurse on duty until the doctor arrived. She was in intensive care five days, in a semi-private room for four days. She was again transferred to Eastland Manor by Patterson Ambulance where she remained for five days. She was taken back to the emergency room of the hospital by Patterson Ambulance where she only lived two days. She passed away on the Twentieth of January, 1983 in the emergency room. I understand that the Patterson Ambulance Club is in danger of not raising its quota. If that were to happen the service would be very expensive to a non-member that had to use the ambulance. I would not attempt to say what a trip might cost a non-member.

What I have taken time to tell, is that in our case it cost us thirty-six dollars and that was the COST for the membership fee. Think it over neighbor.

Respectfully,
B.C.Naron

Dear Editor,

Dear Editor,

It is a strike we never wanted, and one we hope can be ended quickly.

On Saturday at midnight, we were forced to strike the Bell System. We are the Communications Workers of America-$25,000 people who are out of work on a strike that would not have happened if AT&T had bargained seriously.

We feel a responsibility to inform the public of the facts about these negotiations, and, since reliable telephone service is so vital, what people can expect while the strike is in progress.

First of all, we were negotiating with a robust, financially-healthy company. While most of the economy was in trouble in 1982, AT&T rang up record profits of $7.2 billion. And in the second quarter of 1983 its profits were $1.93 billion-up 10.5% from the same quarter in 1982.

A major factor in these profits was the very high productivity of the Bell System employees represented by CWA. Their annual increase in productivity is about 7%, compared to 2% for the rest of the economy.

In recent months, many Bell System companies have filed for huge rate increases. This is not due to wages. In fact, the share of industry expenses represented by wages decreased from 45% in 1961 to 29% in 1981.

Against this background, last January we made AT&T aware of our bargaining goals for these negotiations. Formal bargaining began on May 19. From the beginning, the company refused to bargain realistically.

They waited until last week, just days before our contract was to expire, to make their first wage proposal. It was so inadequate that it was insulting-ranging from no increase at all in some categories to very minimal ones in others. That first offer was never significantly improved.

The company's proposals on pensions followed that same pattern.

The telecommunications industry is undergoing explosive technological change. We had proposed joint management-labor programs to train or retrain present workers for the new jobs which are being created. We also asked for certain other sensible and humane programs in the areas of employment security.

In other areas, despite its booming profits, AT&T demanded give backs characteristic of economically-sick industries.

Faced by this harsh and unyielding attitude of the company, and backed by an overwhelming strike authorization by our members, CWA regretfully called the strike which is now in progress.

While the strike is going on, we would like for the public to know what to expect. After all, there have been only two national telephone strikes in the last 36 years.

%Since telephone service is so automated, calls which can be dialed directly should go through without much difficulty in the early stages of the strike. Directory assistance and operator-assisted calls will be handled by supervisory personnel who, unlike CWA members, will not be limited to 30 seconds to help you.

%Installation of new residential and commercial telephone equipment will be slowed.

%Service will not be restored as expeditiously following interruption by storms or other problems.

%As the strike progresses, service will deteriorate as sophisticated, high-tech equipment suffers from the lack of expert attention.

%Because back-up systems are in place, there will be no adverse effect on national defense.

%In case of a natural disaster or other catastrophe, our members have always helped the public.

We take our obligations to our members and our responsibility to the public seriously. We have not broken off talks with the company, and for our part we intend to continue to negotiate vigorously. Certainly we hope for an early agreement, but we are prepared to do what is required - however long it takes, to achieve economic justice for our members.

We ask for the understanding and support of the public.

Thank you,
Bill Kendall

Kiwanis Ready For Rummage Sale Donations

The Kiwanis Club of Cisco is now accepting donations for their annual Rummage Sale, according to an announcement this week by Chairman Joe Wheatley. The sale will be held in early October.

The club will accept anything of value - clothes, furniture, tools, toys, dishes, cookware and so forth - for the sale. Donations are being accepted at Cisco Lumber and Supply and at Bateas Builders, 203 East 8th.

Mr. Wheatley said that those unable to deliver their donations may call 442-2320 and leave their names and addresses. Collections will be made each Tuesday afternoon after 5 p.m. beginning August 23 through the end of September.

"Clean out your attics, closets and garages and support local Kiwanis Club projects," Mr. Wheatley suggested. He said that those who desire it will be given receipts for their donations, which are tax deductible.

Proceeds from the rummage sale will be used to pay off the indebtedness of the miniature golf course and to finance other Kiwanis Club community projects, Mr. Wheatley said.

COMING TO THE 310-yard No. 9 hole at the Breckenridge Country Club last Sunday afternoon, George and Tracy Owens of Cisco, one of the area's top father-son golfing teams, learned that they had one hole to go and were one shot down. "We need an eagle two on this par four hole," George told Tracy.

Tracy's drive was a nice long one - about 30 yards short of the green. And Tracy then hit a pitch shot to the green and he and George watch with mouths open as the ball rolled into the cup - for an eagle!

The Owens partnership won the second flight and brought home a set of golf irons each.

Bennie Nichols of Cisco played with Scott Powers of Breckenridge. They were in the championship flight and came in 4th. Some 55 teams were in the tournament.

Two area tournaments are on the schedule this coming weekend. Lone Cedar CC is having a partnership scramble. Bobby Smith and Delbert Schaefer are scheduled to play, and Bennie Nichols and a partner are due to enter. And there will probably be others.

The other tournament is a couple's event at Lake Proctor CC. Understand George and Pat Owens plan to play, as do Robbie and Flo Robinson and Major and Dorothy Farnsworth.

Reduced Price Or Free Meals Will Be Available

The Cisco Independent School District serves nutritious meals every school day. Students may buy lunch for $1.00 and breakfast for 35c.

Children from families whose income falls within the level shown on the attached scale are eligible for either free meals or reduced price meals at 40c for lunch and 30c for breakfast.

To apply for free or reduced-price meals, please fill out an application as soon as possible, sign it, and return it to the school. Please answer all questions on the form. An application which does not contain the total household income, the names of all household members, social security numbers of all household members 21 years or older or a statement that the household member does not have one, and the signature of an adult household member cannot be processed by the school.

The information on the application may be checked by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If your child is approved for meal benefits, you must tell the school when your household income increases by more than $50 per month ($600 per year) or when your household size decreases.

You may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If you are not eligible now, but have a decrease in household income, become unemployed, or have an increase in family size, fill out an application at that time.

If you have foster children living with you, they may be eligible for these benefits. If you wish to apply for these benefits for them, please contact the school and they will help you complete the application.

Children who receive free or reduced-price meal benefits are treated the same as children who pay for meals. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin, age, or handicap. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

If you do not agree with the school's decision on your application or the result of verification, you may wish to discuss it with the school. You also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official: James Couch, Superintendent, P.O.

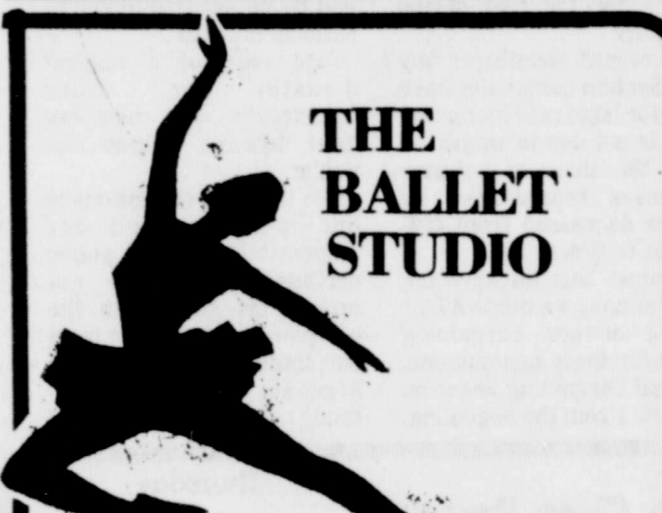

Box 1645, Cisco, 442-3066. The information you provide will be treated confidentially and will be used only for eligibility determinations and verification of data.
