

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

MAKE PLANS now to be in Cisco this Saturday, August 27th for the big Retail Trade Day sales planned by local merchants. Advertisements from several of the participating stores may be found elsewhere in this edition.

Be sure and hang on to this paper so you will know which sale you want to attend on Saturday. The Retail Trade Day is being sponsored by Cisco's Chamber of Commerce Retail Trade Committee.

I know you will want to be on hand that afternoon for the "Little Mr. Cisco" contest in front of the First National Bank building. It should prove to be an interesting affair.

YOU MAY also want to mark your calendar for Friday night at 8 p.m. in Cisco City Park where the Glory-Heirs will be performing.

The gospel group will present a concert in the open-air pavilion recently built there.

The concert is being sponsored by the Cisco Ministerial Association. They urge everyone to attend and bring their lawn chairs or folding chairs to sit on in the park.

REVERTING BACK to the "good old days" seems to be the theme at the Lobo and J.R.'s in Cisco. They are adding a complete shoe-shining service for men and also offer manicures and sculptured nails for women.

As you probably know, the J.R. division of the hair service has recently moved into the section of the building next door to the Lobo. It has been completely remodeled and both sides of the shop have had a facelift. They really look nice.

'Little Mr. Cisco' Contest Will Highlight Trade Day

A "Little Mr. Cisco" contest will be the highlight of Saturday's Retail Trade Day in Cisco. The contest is being sponsored by Merle Norman Cosmetics of Cisco.

The contest is scheduled for August 27 at 2:00 p.m. in front of the First National Bank. Bill Chaney, T.V. personality from KTAB Channel 32, will be master of ceremonies.

All preschool boys are eligible for the contest and may enter at Merle Norman Cosmetics, 614 Conrad Hilton Avenue, Cisco.

A sidewalk sale by local merchants will be going on all day Saturday, as well as

Half Lundstrom Jury Seated

Two jurors were picked and five released Monday during individual questioning in the Loyal Lundstrom murder trial in 91st District Court.

Jury selection continued Tuesday morning with three jurors reported being selected Tuesday morning. Selection is expected to take several days.

Stewart Mack Farguhar, a retired Cisco man, was the first juror picked. Also picked Monday was Jack Lindsey of Eastland.

Presiding Judge Jim Wright Monday reversed an earlier ruling on individual questioning after Defense Attorney Bill B. Hart entered a motion asking to quash the present jury panel and grant a continuance until a new panel could be called.

This motion was denied but Judge Wright did grant individual questioning (the same procedure used in the last murder trial held in the court).

Judge Wright had ruled last Friday that prospective jurors would be questioned in groups - not individually as requested by Defense Counsel Bill Hart. Mr. Hart filed a motion Monday morning for individual questioning and offered copies of Sunday's editions of Cisco, Eastland and Ranger newspapers for the court's consideration.

Hart entered as evidence local newspapers which carried the complete list of prospective jurors (a matter of public record) in the Sunday editions, which also carried a front page article about the trial.

The newspapers had printed the list of some 350 persons summoned for jury duty and gave their home towns. This fact plus a front page story in the papers would acquaint the prospective jurors with information about the case, Mr. Hart said. He asked that the panel of 350 persons be dismissed and the case continued until a new panel could be drawn or, if this wasn't granted, that the prospective jurors be questioned individually. Judge Wright approved the motion for individual questioning.

H.V. O'Brien, publisher of the three newspapers displayed in court by Attorney Hart, said that the lists were released to them by court authorities and that such lists were always matters of public information.

"All a prospective juror had to do is see his name and read all about the case on the front page," Hart argued. (All prospective jurors are advised of their possible service by individual summons).

At a pre-trial hearing Friday, Judge Wright denied a defense motion to "lock up" the jurors after a jury is seated.

Lundstrom, 59, is being tried for the murder of his wife, Doris Lundstrom, 27, who was last seen alive March 3. Lundstrom surrendered to authorities at DFW Airport on March 16 after disappearing from Cisco for 13 days.

He was later released on a $200,000 property bond posted by Fort Worth Oilman Coke Gage. Lundstrom and his wife had operated a motel and bus station.

Twenty men and women from the list were asked to return at 1 p.m. Monday and another 20 at 8 a.m. Tuesday as jury selection work continued. District Attorney Emory Walton, opposing individual questioning at a final pre-trial hearing last Friday afternoon, said this plan might require a week or more for jury selection.

Only about 200 of the 300 persons named as prospective jurors were in the courtroom Monday, and Judge

Wright asked Sheriff Johnny Morren and his deputies to check on absentes.

Now On Trial

Attorney Bill Hart (r) and Loyal Lundstrom (l) exit the elevator at the Eastland County Courthouse Monday on their way to the courtroom. The trial was scheduled to get underway Monday.

GLORY-HEIRS

Glory-Heirs Will Perform In City Park Friday Night

The Glory-Heirs will be in concert at Cisco City Park, near the High School on Friday, August 26, 1983. The concert will be held in the open air pavilion, recently built there by the Lions Club. The concert is being sponsored by the Cisco Ministerial Association.

The full concert will begin at 8 p.m. No admission will be charged, but a free will offering will be taken. The members of this gospel group come from widely ranging backgrounds but share a commitment to serving the Lord artistically through music.

The male quartet is accompanied by a pianist and bass guitar player in music which is largely southern gospel but also includes a smooth blend of country gospel, inspirational, middle of the road, and traditional selections.

The Glory-Heirs have a

Gospel Sing Set Sunday

The regular monthly gospel singing will be Sunday, August 28, at 2:00 p.m. at the First Evangelical Methodist Church, located on Hwy. 80 W. across from the hospital in Cisco.

John Clinton is the pastor. Any church who would like to have the singing at their church, contact Jack Robertson, 442-3999 full-time weekend ministry and travel by private bus. It relies upon love-offerings and the proceeds from record sales for its financial support. They have recently appeared at Six Flags, fairs, with the nationally known Happy Goodman Family, and in churches throughout the south. The Glory-Heirs have recorded two albums ("Now I Have Everything" and "Reach Out").

The gospel group has also performed at several Cisco, and area churches, as well as the Cisco Folklife Festival.

The public is invited to attend and encouraged to bring their lawn or folding chairs for the concert.

Booster Club Will Meet Here

The Cisco Booster Club will hold its first meeting Tuesday, August 30, 1983 at the High School Cafeteria at 7:00 p.m.

Carp Tourney Set At Lake Cisco

Due to great response from the last tournament, and to help rid Lake Cisco of its rough fish, Cisco Pipe and EnRe Corporation are sponsoring another 24-hour Carp Tournament to be held at Lake Cisco.

The tournament starts at 3:00 p.m. Saturday, August 27. Weigh-in will be at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, August 28 at the point at Lake Cisco. Entrants may fish anywhere on the lake. They may use live bait or dough bait.

There is a $5 entry fee and an optional $1 Calcutta fee.

There will be three place winners. 50% for 1st place, 30% for 2nd place and 20% for 3rd place. On the Calcutta entry, big fish takes all.

Entries close at noon Saturday, August 27. Entry can be obtained at Mary's Fishing Hole inside EnRe Corporation building, located across the street from the White Elephant Restaurant.

There will be an estimated 75 to 100 entries for this tournament.

Loboes Look Good In Merkel Outing

The Cisco High School Lobo offense scored three times while the defense was keeping their goal line uncrossed in a controlled scrimmage last Friday night at Merkel. Performance of the Lobo team as a whole brought a "well done" from Coach John Parchman and his staff.

The Loboes, who began working out once a day as school began this week, will go to Brownwood for a controlled scrimmage with Ballinger at 6 p.m. Friday at Old Lion Stadium. This will complete inter-squad scrimmage activities for the training season.

At Merkel, the Loboes ran 20 plays when they went on offense each time. The first time out, Cisco scored three times with Johnny Ramirez going up the middle for 10 yards, David Seabourn breading through for 25 yards, and QB Joe Perry circling an end for six yards on a keeper.

After the first time with the ball, the Loboes moved the ball well but did not score again. The Lobo defense handled Merkel's offensive efforts in good style with Butch Jessup and Johnny Seabourn standing out.

The Lobo second unit worked two 20-play drives with Wade Shackelford at quarterback. They moved the ball but were unable to score. Quarterbacks Perry and Shackelford passed for 106 yards as they hit seven of 14 passes.

Perry suffered a deep thigh bruise and it appeared doubtful that he would be ready for the Ballinger scrimmage. The Loboes will go to Brownwood around 4 p.m. and return home after the game by school bus.

The 1983 season will open at DeLeon at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 2, as the Loboes tangle with the Class AA Bear Cat team in non-conference play. The junior varsity teams of both schools will meet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 1, at Chesley Field in Cisco.

Changes Hours

Cisco Swimming Pool at City Park has announced its new hours following the beginning of school Monday. Mrs. Shirley Darr, pool manager, said the pool will still be closed on Mondays.

New hours will be from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. on weekdays and 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. on weekends.

Saturday, August 27, will be a free day for swimming, courtesy of KROO-FM of Breckenridge and KEAS-AM of Eastland.

Monday, Sept. 5th, is scheduled to be the last day the pool will be open. It will be a splash day with free swimming.

CofC Breakfast Meeting Is Set

New teachers at Cisco Junior College and in the Cisco Public School System will be special guests at the quarterly breakfast meeting of Chamber of Commerce members at 7 a.m.; Thursday, Sept. 1, according to an announcement.

The breakfast will be held at the Elephant Room at the White Elephant Restaurant. Anyone interested in attending the event was invited to contact the CofC office (442-2537) for reservations.

President Robert Dudley, who will preside, said that reports on CofC activities would be included on the program.

Rotary Club District Governor Due Here

Rotary Club District Governor Stone Risinger will be speaking to the local Rotary Club at their weekly noon luncheon Thursday at the Colony Restaurant. District Governor Risinger will be accompanied on his visit by his wife, Jodie.

The District Governor and his wife are from Arlington where he is senior minister of the Northwest Christian Church. He was named Minister of the Arlington church in 1967.

He joined the Arlington Rotary Club in 1970 and served as Director, Vice-President, and 1981-82 President of Arlington Rotary Club. He is currently on the Board of Directors of the Arlington Rotary Club.

Mr. Risinger walked three miles to school until he was in the fifth grade and he graduated from Edinburg High School, third in his class in 1940. He is an honor graduate of the University of San Antonio and has a BD from Perkins Theological Seminary.

Recognitions bestowed upon Governor Risinger include two terms as vice-president of Arlington

Ministers Association; two terms as president of Arlington Ministers Association; served as vice-president and president of Disciples Minister Fellowship of Greater Fort Worth area; named Minister of Year by Arlington Downtown Kiwanis in 1970 and also by Sundown Kiwanis in 1982; and vice-chairman of Arlington Bicentennial Observance.

District Governor Risinger's hobbies include photography and woodworking. He and his wife have two children and two grandsons.

The public is invited to attend the noon meeting and hear District Governor Risinger.

letters to the editor ...

Dear Friends,
In the past year God has richly blessed our congregation. A new west wing addition to our present facility has long been in the hearts and dreams of our members. The Lord has abundantly provided, and our vision will soon become a tangible reality.

You are cordially invited to a ground breaking ceremony for the new west wing of the First Christian Church of Cisco, Texas.

Ceremonies will begin at 12:15 p.m. on Sunday, August 28, 1983.

We could not have reached this victorious mark without the gracious support of our many brothers and sisters in Christ who are members of other congregations. We hope you will join us now in celebrating the beginning of our building project.

In the Spirit of our one Lord, Members of the First Christian Church

Real Estate Consumer

David S. Jones

THE REAL ESTATE CONSUMER is provided as a public service by this newspaper and the Texas Real Estate Research Center. Address inquiries to: The Real Estate Consumer, Texas Real Estate Research Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

Real estate brokers can help you find the right house if you are prepared to use their services wisely.

First, check the reputations and licenses of brokers you might use. Then visit several of them to find out what houses are available in your price range. Let them know what you want in a house—its size, cost, quality and neighborhood.

Review their listings and take notes on the houses you like. Visit as many houses and necessary and, most importantly, ask plenty of questions. Professional brokers will tell you about the faults of a house as well as its good points, but it helps to ask knowledgeable questions.

A broker gets paid a percentage of the sales price and is willing to provide many services for this commission. Even though the commission is paid by the seller, the buyer benefits from many of these services.

LOOKING AT ROOFING

The roof on a house offers a great potential for creating eye appeal.

A white roof adds height to a one-story house, while a dark color can bring a tall, steep-roofed house down to size. If you are planning to install a new roof, you might consider asphalt shingles which offer a variety of special effects and come in earthtone shades of brown, beige and buff.

Asphalt shingles are fire resistant and are designed to last many years with very little maintenance. They also are easy to install because they often can be applied over the previous roof material, eliminating the time and cost involved in tearing off the old shingles.

A roof protects and beautifies your home, so your choice of material to put on it deserves careful attention.

RENTAL RATES RISING

Many renters have experienced substantial rental increases in the past year.

Nationwide residential rents were almost 9 percent higher in March 1981 than they were a year earlier. In Texas, the rate of increase was only half that much.

The average monthly rent during the first quarter of 1981 in the major Texas cities was $287. That is for a "desirably located," two bedroom, one-bath, unfurnished apartment with tenant paying for utilities.

Midland, Odessa and Beaumont had average rents of $350. The lowest rents were reported to be in Grand Prairie, Pasadena and Texarkana where the average was less than $250.

With multifamily building activity in a slump and more people moving into Texas, rents are likely to continue upward.

REVALUATION CAN BE A TAXING MATTER

Don't let a property tax increase catch you by surprise.

Remember, the portion of your monthly house payment which covers property taxes can vary substantially. It all depends on the revaluation policies of the local taxing authorities.

If the tax value of your home is low in relation to that of other properties, a revaluation may lead to an increase in your taxes, and if your taxes increase, you may have to make a substantial, lump-sum payment when your taxes becomes due.

In addition, your monthly deposit to cover taxes will increase. Also, you should ask your tax office about any homestead exemptions which may lessen the increases. By keeping abreast of revaluation activities, you can avoid the sting of an unexpected increase in your monthly house payment.

HOME PRICES IN 1990

What will your home be worth in 1990? Projections for home prices at the end of the decade are that the average home will cost more than twice its 1980 price.

The average sales price of a single-family Texas home in early 1980 was $54,000. When compounded annually, that is a yearly appreciation of more than 12 percent since 1976. The National Association of Homebuilders estimates the median price of an existing home sold in the United States in 1989 will be $136,000. That is based on a 9 1/3 percent annual compound rate.

Experts attribute these increases to several factors, including increased demand and continuing inflation. In short, ownership of a home should continue to be a successful hedge against inflation.

Last Respects To Edith Pearl Donaway

EDITH PEARL DONAWAY

Pearl Donaway a lifelong resident of the Dothan Community, west of Cisco, Texas, died on Sunday July 3, 1983, at the age of 82 years, nine months, and one day. She was survived by five nephews and six nieces: Milton Donaway of Putnam, Texas, Gerald Donaway of Crane, Texas, Boyce Donaway of Dothan, Texas, Harlan Donaway of Odessa, Texas, Gordon Donaway of El Paso, Texas, Edith Ivie of Putnam, Texas, Gertrude Reese of Scranton, Texas, Ida Hazelwood of Midland, Texas, Oleta Hale of Cisco, Texas, Bonnie McCleskey of Cisco, Texas, and Mary Lou Clark of Cherokee, Oklahoma. Her sister-in-law the former Era Donaway lives in Cisco also.

Levi Doris Donaway moved to Cisco from Faulkville, Alabama, in 1890 with his wife Ida Ann Hoke Donaway and two young children-

Daniel Luther (five) and Joe (one). They lived in Cisco one year, then lived in Callahan County four years, before locating in the Dothan community. L.D. Donaway was one of the founders of Dothan, where he farmed, ran a blacksmith shop, and was a leader in church and civic affairs. Ida was pregnant with Myrtle when they moved to Texas—she was born in Cisco on April 29, 1890.

Pearl was born to L.D. and Ida Donaway on October 2, 1900, after the couple were in their forties. It was only natural that they treat her as something special, for she was the joy of their later years. Nothing was too good for Miss Pearl, and as the relatives struggled to make a living by farming in the dry West Texas area, she was provide with the best of opportunities.

Pearl Donaway finished high school at Abilene Christian Academy and then attended Abilene Christian College, where she graduated about 1924. She attended the school while it was located near the old Coca-Cola Bottling Plant in Abilene. Her friends and classmates included some of the later leaders of the college—Don Morris, Paul Witt, etc. Many of her acquaintances and friends would come to the Dothan Community and preach on Sundays, they would then eat and visit with her parents. Paul Witt came often to preach, as did W.R. Smith, later vice-president of Abilene Christian.

Although Pearl had many boy friends in those days, she never married. One of the young preachers whom she especially liked was Ben Holland. He went to A.C.C. just one year and then transferred to the University of Texas. Perhaps this was why Pearl interrupted her studies before finishing at A.C.C. to take a year at the University in Austin.

Something kept her close to home, however, and she returned to her home area to spend most of her life teaching. She lived at the Dothan homestead for most of the period after her graduation from college until the late 1950's, when she moved to Bay City, Texas. When she retired in 1964, she moved back to her home in Dothan.

Her parents had died earlier—the first in 1946 and the other in 1952. And, too, her brother and sister who had remained in the home all their lives were deceased; Myrtle died in 1929 at the age of 39 years, and Joe died in 1959. Although most of her reason for returning to Dothan to retire was seemingly to recapture memories, regardless this again emphasized her love for home.

Myrtle, who was about 10 years older than Pearl, had always petted Pearl, as did her parents. Then there had been a very close relationship between Pearl and her brother Joe; he was 11 years older than Pearl.

The elder brother, Daniel Luther, was 15 years older than Pearl, and had married in 1904, when Pearl was only four years old, which would seem to explain why he and Pearl were not as close as her other brother and sister. However, Levi Doris was too old to farm by the 1930's, as well as having become almost completely blind. Myrtle had been sickly for several years before her death in 1929. Joe as a young boy had reached down from the table for a dropped spoon, complained of his arm, and later learned that some type of paralysis would give him a withered limb for the rest of his life. Consequently, Daniel Luther always lived close by to help his family.

Before Myrtle died, sometime about 1926, Daniel Luther's oldest child, Edith, went to stay with Doris and Ida. Edith took up where Myrtle had left off on chores—she took care of the milking, as well as all the other necessary tasks. Edith had struggled to finish high school since Dothan didn't have any school past the 9th grade. She rode to Cisco for two years with Edna Bint, then stayed with an elderly couple in Ranger, Texas, doing housework, so that she could finish her senior year. Edith stayed in the Dothan home for 15 years, from the time she was 20 until she was 35 years old.

Meanwhile Pearl had taught in the Dothan school so that she could stay close to home. She taught in other small country schools in the area after the Dothan school closed down, Bluff Branch, Moran, Union, etc. Finally, she began her teaching career at Cisco, where she taught the second grade for many years.

Because Pearl was educated, her parents wanted the best for her; most of the chores at home would have to be done by someone else. When Edith married in 1941 and was leaving, it was necessary to find a hired maid to replace her. This was when Joe's future wife, Era, came upon the scene, first as the hired help and then as a member of the family.

To Joe and Era were later born two boys, Gerald and Boyce. Pearl always treated them like they were her own children, an affection which she had transferred from her brother Joe to them. This seemed to be a repetition of how her parents had treated her, she was much younger than her brothers and sister, and she received special attention. Gerald and Boyce were much younger than Pearl's other nephews and nieces and likewise received special attention. Nothing was too good for the boys as she called them.

Some resentment was later built up between Luther's children and Joe's boys. This developed not so much because they disliked each other, but because of the unequal treatment which they were receiving. Luther's then grown children could well remember having to work their own crops when growing up, then having to work the crops on the Levi Doris place as well; all this was done for no pay. It seemed that all this had gone unappreciated, especially when it was learned in 1952, at the death of Ida Donaway, that Levi and Ida had deeded all their land to Joe and Pearl years earlier. Luther and his children had been completely left out of the estate. Although there was no will and the personal part of the estate was never divided, Luther would not contest the situation. He always said that he didn't want outsiders to know what had happened. It all was kept quiet until after Luther's death in 1966, after which time his children began to ask questions.

When Pearl moved back to Dothan in 1964 after retirement, she tried to patch up some of the hard feelings. Daniel Luther's wife had just died, and he lived two more years. All that was left of her family after 1966 were the nephews and nieces, some were descendants of Luther and some of Joe.

Her time was split between visiting with Joe's boys and Luther's then grown children. It was Gerald and Boyce Donaway who continued to receive special attention from Pearl, however. While some of Luther's children saw her only on occasion, others tried to forgive and forget.

Pearl came for Sunday dinner to the old Luther Donaway homestead many times during her later years, where she ate with Milton Donaway, Oleta Hale, and Bonnie McClesky.

Although two nephews and one niece (Daniel Donaway, 1944, Lorraine Donaway Perrine, 1967, and Vernon Donaway, 1977) had preceded her in death, of the eleven surviving nephews and nieces, eight of them attended her funeral and burial at the Dothan Cemetery. Many of the pall-bearers at Pearl's funeral were great-nephews: Sherrell Hazelwood of Dothan, John Ivie of Putnam, L.C. Donaway of Albany, and Duane Hale, of Norman, Oklahoma. In addition, Gerald Bint and Bill Cozart, both of Cisco, served in that same capacity.

Some of them had not seen Pearl much in the last few years, but all came to pay their last respects. In the midst of this sorrow, it was heard said, that Pearl had had a good life. She had been given the best of everything, a good education, and supposed happiness. Jim Hatcher, the Church of Christ preacher, commented that Miss Pearl had touched the lives of many school children. It seems sad that she never knew what it was like to have children of her own.

Pearl had sort of held the older nephews and nieces at arms length in those early years, showing affection if it seemed to suit her. She left the impression that she was a cut above them; this was how she had been brought up to think of herself. Whether they realized it or not she had had a strong influence on all of their lives.

Pearl had been the first of the family to get a college education. Of the fourteen nephews and nieces, only one later finished college, Gordon Donaway of El Paso. However, in most cases it was money and not the lack of ability which prevented them from going to college, and they in turn determined that their children would receive college training. Of the great-nephews and great-nieces, ten went to college and became teachers. Several others received college degrees in other fields of study. Six finished at Abilene Christian.

Edith, for example, who had stayed at Pearl's old home place for 15 years, could have gone to business college, but she didn't have the $200 to go. It seems ironic, however, that she had three children graduate from Abilene Christian and become teachers, following much in the footsteps of Pearl.

Pearl was this writer's second grade teacher, as well as being his great-aunt. Although she was not the primary cause for my decision to attend Abilene Christian College, I too finished there and became a teacher. I am thankful that Pearl invited me to attend a gospel meeting at the Church of Christ in Cisco when I was about 12 years old; I later became a member of that church and have attended ever since. It has had a profound influence on my life.

Pearl and I visited often about the family's history, trying to trace the family tree. She had an intense interest in this, and always hoped that we could trace it back to the American Revolution. Most of our visits and discussions in later years centered around this topic.

Our visit the middle of May centered around a different topic, her health. She had had respiratory problems the last two years, and had been in and out of the hospital since March; I was trying to talk her into going into a rest home for a few weeks until she got better. I asked her if she had a will, and she said yes, and that she was leaving everything to Gerald and Boyce, Joe's sons. She said, "I hope the rest will not be resentful." The problem being that since the household items were never divided at her mother's death in 1952, much of the L.D. Donaway estate remained in tact. Pearl could not will what was not hers.

Therefore as an act of good faith Joe's boys invited Luther's children to come to the home on July 9, 1983, to divide the personal family things which had been kept together as the family removed from Pennsylvania in 1820, then from Ohio by covered wagon to Alabama in 1878, and finally to Cisco by train in 1890.

I think Pearl would have liked for me to end this by talking a little about the family history, as we often did. When Levi and Ida Donaway came to Cisco by train in 1890, he already had an older brother who had located there, Uncle Jim Donaway, who donated the land for the present Dothan

The Garden Editor

Ted Brice

Nestled in the tall pines of deep East Texas is the Hilltop Herb Farm North of Cleveland, Texas. The Hilltop Herb Farm has become a Texas institution and a legend in the Herb World. Recently your Garden Editor visited this most unusual place and visited with Madalene Hill. The Hilltop Herb Farm was founded by Madalene Hill and her late husband, Madalene has continued to operate the Herb farm with the help of her daughter and the many loyal employees.

The name Hilltop Herb Farm does not begin to describe all the various activity that goes on there each day. Mrs. Hill grows most of the herbs that she sells at the Herb Farm however there are some herbs that can not be grown there and she imports these herbs in order to have them available for her customers. She sells her herbs and plants there at Hilltop herb farm but she also does a very large mail order business not only on herbs but gift boxes of her many different products. She makes many different kinds of food products from the herbs and offers them for sale packaged in glass containers. One of the many products I tried was Jalapeno Jelly and it was fantastic. Each year many thousands visit the Hilltop Herb Farm from every state in the Union as well as from many foreign countries.

Many miles before you arrive at Hilltop Herb Farm you will be able to pick up the aroma of the different herbs such as mint, etc., if you have the windows of your car open.

It is just impossible to begin to name all the Herbs that are available at this marvelous place but to name just a few, Rosemary, Savory, Tarragon, Thyme, Basil, Dill, Marjoram and Oregano.

The Hilltop Herb Farm has available many recipe sheets using the different Herbs. How about Black Olive Soup, Squash Soup, Ice Cucumber Soup or Watercress Soup, maybe your taste would prefer Chutney, a Basil Dip or a Cucumber Mousse. The recipes are too numerous to mention all of them here. The Hilltop Herb Farm also has a chart showing what type of food various herb can be used with. I found this chart to be most interesting. Have you ever heard of or eaten an Herb Candy? They have this product and it is most unusual and very good.

In addition to all this activity outlined above the Hilltop Herb Farm has a restaurant that is set in the rustic tradition of the East Texas Herb Farm. It is a must to have reservations to dine here since they have visitors to the farm from all over the world. The popularity of the restaurant at the farm has been so great that Mrs. Hill is opening a similar restaurant in West Houston this fall. They will be serving the same home style undulated foods that the restaurant at the farm has become famous for serving throughout out the many years.

There is one additional item that I shall mention which is available at the Hilltop Herb Farm and that is the books and literature about herbs and the many ways to use them. The books of Herbs that they have available is most complete in everyway. The visit with Madalene Hill was a most enlightening visit to Herb world as she is a most charming and knowledgeable lady.

Any time you are in the area of Cleveland, Texas, you must take time to visit the Hilltop Herb Farm. Please remember that reservations are a must for the restaurant. If you would like more information about this marvelous place you may write to Mrs. Madalene Hill, Hilltop Herb Farm, Cleveland, Texas 77327.

Gardening's Future Offers Interesting Possibilities

COLLEGE STATION-- Looking ahead and speculating about the future of gardening offers a lot of interesting possibilities.

Plant scientists and researchers have made great strides in improving methods and making the gardener's lot in life a little easier. But the future holds even more innovative time- and labor-saving ideas that will make landscape and garden maintenance easier, believes a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

For instance, plant breeders are developing smaller, more compact plants to satisfy the landscape requirements of smaller homes and residential lots, says Everett E. Janne. Smaller plants will mean less need for pruning and easier care, such as insect and disease control.

Breeders are also working on vegetable and flower varieties which will be resistant to diseases, such as the new tomato varieties that are resistant to verticillium wilt, fusarium wilt and nematodes, Janne points out.

More biological controls are being developed as a safer means for homeowners to control insects, says the horticulturist. One, usually referred to as B.T. (bacillus thuringiensis), is already on the market and is being used to control loopers and caterpillars in home gardens. Use of sterile males to reduce populations is also being developed. This technique has reduced and almost eliminated the screwworms and mediterranean fruit fly.

Plant breeders have also developed sterile lines of bedding plants, such as tetraploid or mule marigolds, which produce only flowers and no seeds.

Growth-regulating chemicals are also being researched, notes Janne, but because of the minute quantities and close tolerances of these chemicals, they cannot yet be releases for general distribution. But the potential exists for replacing lawn mowers and hedge trimmers by simply spraying with growth regulator.

Biodegradable containers which will disintegrate when buried in the soil are being developed. Some, such as peat pots and paper pots, have been available for years but often fail to decompose if allowed to dry out before planting.

Slow-release fertilizers are another innovation and are constantly being improved, says the horticulturist. Someday it may be possible to combine a slow-release fertilizer with a growth regulator, apply the mix to the lawn in early spring, and keep the grass green all summer with little or no mowing, Janne predicts.

The future may also hold some interesting soil preparations. A gelatin-like powder is already available, which when mixed with soil, would hold many times its weight in water and then release the moisture to plant roots as needed. This would allow the soil to store some of the excess winter and spring rains until the moisture was needed in the summer, suggests the horticulturist.

These are just a few of the futuristic possibilities that gardeners may be dealing with in the years ahead, notes Janne.

Using Vegetable Plants As Landscape Decoration

Many vegetables can add color to the home landscape as well as provide food.

For example, try mixing vegetable plants with ornamentals, suggests Dr. Bill Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Lettuce makes an effective border and can be spruced up by combining with a flowering annual. Other vegetable crops such as banana peppers, hybrid spinach, ornamental kale and cabbage provide a spectacular diversity of foliage colors. Asparagus has attractive foliage that can be used in flower arranging from late spring until the first frost.

If you have a bare fence or wall, plant pole bean for a seasonal covering of green, says Welch.

Other possibilities, even for apartment dwellers who don't have access to a garden plot, include container-grown vegetables and herbs. Onions grown in a container offer unusual tolerance and convenient access. Parsley is also an attractive plant in the landscape or in a container or hanging basket.

Another interesting edible plant is nasturtium, notes the horticulturist. It's easily grown even in poor soil and the leaves, stem and flowers of nasturtiums can be used in salads and dressings.

With a little imagination, you can enjoy the beauty of vegetables and other edible plants in your home landscape as well as the freshness of home-grown food, says Welch.

What you should know about buying a telephone

- It's legal. In 1977, the Federal government ruled that consumers can own, rather than rent, their phones. You can buy any phone that is FCC approved. All ITT phones sold in our store are labeled with their FCC registration numbers.
- It's practical. When you own your phones, you no longer have to pay a monthly rental fee to the phone company. With the money you save, your new ITT phone can actually pay for itself in the long run.
- It's easy to install. Just plug your new phone into the modular jack. Old-style, 4-prong jacks are easily converted with an inexpensive adaptor. If your home does not have jacks, ask the phone company to install USOC Jack Type RJ11C.

We carry the ITT OWN-A-PHONE® line, with exciting features you won't find on other phones. All are backed by ITT's one-year limited warranty on parts and service. Come in and see our ITT phones soon.

Families Taking New Forms

By the year 2000, if current trends continue, families will come in three major forms: first-marriage families, single-parent families, and remarriage families.

"First-marriage families are not predicted to die out, but they will not necessarily predominate either," says Dr. Delores Stegelin, a family life education specialist.

These marriages will have one, two, or less frequently, three children. A sizable minority will remain childless.

The greatest problem facing first-marriage families will continue to be the balance of work and family responsibilities, says Stegelin, who is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

With one out of two married women now working outside the home, and a projected increase of working mothers by the end of the century, the issues of childcare and housework in families will be increasingly important, she says.

If current divorce rates remain the same, half of all marriages begun in the early 1980's will end in divorce. Since divorce tends to occur early in marriage, three-fifths of all divorces involve couples with children living at home.

Divorce, along with births to unmarried women, has led to a steady and continuing increase in the number of single-parent families. The result is that about half of all children will spend some time in a single-parent family before they reach 18.

According to Stegelin, the most significant problem for single-parent families will probably continue to be income. Less than half of the divorced women receive child support payments, and those who do receive an average of about $1,900 per year.

Although a great deal of publicity has been given to joint-custody arrangements, it is still uncommon. As the wife retains custody in nine out of ten cases, the lack of a male figure in the home is also a significant problem for single-parent families, notes the home economist.

Remarriage families will be increasingly common as three out of four divorced people remarry and half of these remarriages take place within three years of divorce. While remarriage solves many of the economic problems associated with single parenthood, it also requires blending two families together into one.

The remarriage family faces complex interactions and adjustments blending children from either or both spouses, grandparents and other extended relatives, says Stegelin.

Even though many Americans will live in nuclear families themselves, they will be involved with single-parent and blended families formed by their relatives or friends.

Although the divorce rate is expected to remain high, Americans seem to hold the institution of marriage in high esteem. "The question," says Stegelin, "is whether we as a society can find ways to support families-no matter what form they take."

Reflections In Perspective

I.W. Ussery

Since the advent of running water in just about every village, hamlet and town across the country, we have to an increasingly nonchalant attitude taken water for granted. When many farmhouses, and not a few homes in small towns depend upon rainwater collected in cisterns for their water supply, a prolonged drought amounted to a minor disaster. Notwithstanding the warnings which are constantly sounded by conservationists, we just keep using about half again as much water as the amount we could get along with quite comfortably.

When setting up a project which is to require the operation of a labour camp, about the first consideration is water. Where is the nearest reliable supply? What mode of transport and storage will be used? In accordance with engineering estimates, how much water will be required, daily, to keep the camp going? The answers to those questions have a distinct bearing and effect on the bid price of the project, and adherence to the estimates is strictly enforced, wherever possible. Jobs have lost money because of the injudicious, wasteful attitude toward simple water.

Jebel Dhanna, on the coast of the Arab state of Abu Dhabi near the Qatar border was a case in point. Although a distillation unit was provided for emergency backup only; the estimate of the cost of the project included the cost of water. And the nearest reliable source of supply of potable water Dubai, 300 miles away...as the raven flies. The sea lane to Dubai from Jebel Dhanna was much longer than the flight of a raven.

For reserve and working storage, a 200-foot barge with its compartments "cement-washed" for water storage was beached below the sand dune on which the staff camp was located. Two 100-ton barges were fitted for hauling water from Dubai, and arrangements were made with the Port Authority of Dubai for the purchase and the loading of the water on the barges. A tugboat, flying the Dubai flag and skippered by about the most ferocious Arab captain you can imagine was contracted to tow the water barges. He, the captain, was at least ferocious-looking. No one ever challenged his fierce countenance which was adorned with the bushiest beard you can imagine. And the bearded was so black it was almost blue in the sunlight. And the sun always shone. He was far above average in size, for an Arab. And he screamed his orders to his deck hands in stentorian tones that I firmly believe could have been heard a quarter mile. With the wind or across the wind.

He'd tow a bargeload of water to Jebel Dhanna, pump it into the storage barge and immediately return to Dubai for the other. He was constantly on the move, hauling water, for more than a year. Quite a lucrative contract it was, by local standards. But we never knew when he sailed over the horizon with an empty barge when we could expect to see him coming with his life-sustaining cargo. And life-sustaining it was. With 37 "staff" and more than 300 labourers of all classifications; Jebel Dhanna required as much if not more water than the average crossroads towns. Not infrequently we'd be on the verge of drawing on our reserve when he would make his appearance. He always had the same explanation... "Shamal". That meant that he'd run into "shamal", the strong, stormy northwesterly wind which was common to the area. No one could dispute him, whether he was lying or not.

We were about three months into the first nine-month phase of the project when the inevitable happened; the water barge did not show. We went into our reserve. And when, by our calculations, there was water enough in the reserve tanks to supply the staff camp for a week, under strict rationing, we closed the job down, loaded all the labourers into the dump trucks which were used to haul the stone from the quarry to the causeway which was under construction, and sent them to Abu Dhabi, 180 miles down the Persian Gulf Coast. Only those coolies who were employed in the staff mess were required to stay in camp. The departure of the others was quite a festive occasion.

We'd committed a grave tactical blunder. We had failed to check with Abu Dhabi! When we notified the Abu Dhabi State Police by radio of our action, long after the last of the trucks were loaded and away, we were informed that we were tossing the labourers out of the frying pan into the fire. Abu Dhabi's seawater distillation plant, upon which the thriving little city depended for all its potable water, had given way under the strain of the summer's heat. Abu Dhabi, under the strictest of rationing measures, was shipping water from the large distillation plant operated by the oil company on Das Island, 80 miles offshore!

Well; what's done is done. No one took the trouble to try to decide which was to be desired; whether to have kept the men in Jebel Dhanna to die of dehydration to send them to Abu Dhabi where they could at least starve to death with their loved ones.

We were in the process of preparing to break camp and to fly all members of the staff (leaving only the police and a couple of mess hands) to Bahrain when on the northeastern horizon appeared the unmistakable smudge of black which heralded the approach of the water-towing tug.

To say that the black-bearded captain arrived in the nick of time is to indulge in a masterpiece of understatement. We immediately called Abu Dhabi Police and instructed them to round up our coolies and to get them on their way...with enough water for them to make it, please...to Jebel Dhanna.

And the explanation of the tug captain? One word...Shamal!

Jim Mattox In The News Again

AUSTIN — Investigative journalism's spotlight again shined on embattled Texas Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox last week, this time focusing on his beneficial intervention in a Galveston multi-millionaire's bankruptcy lawsuit.

Mattox stepped into the private lawsuit during his first month in office, and reversed a 12-year history of state litigation against Galveston financier Shearn Moody, Jr.

Ten days after his action, reports show Moody paid $20,000 in legal fees to Mattox's former law partner and current business associate Don Crowder.

Moody was accused of fraud in connection with the 1971 bankruptcy of his Alabama-based insurance firm, and in 1979 a Dallas federal jury returned a $5.3 million judgment against him.

Moody was appealing the decision to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals when Mattox stepped in, filing a "friend of the court" brief arguing that certain legal decisions rendered in the Moody case would impair the decision-making power of Texas state agencies.

The Circuit Court affirmed the Dallas decision, but Mattox apparently is considering filing a similar brief on Moody's behalf before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Phone Conversation

Both Mattox and Crowder have acknowledged they discussed the Moody case by telephone, but denied any conflict of interest. Mattox also said he never benefited in any way from Moody's payment to Crowder.

Mattox also said he turned back a campaign contribution from Moody prior to his election because of possible conflict of interest.

The court incident is the latest of a series of Mattox miscues and eye-lifters.

Last week a grand jury continued its investigation of alleged misdemeanor violations in Mattox campaign funds report.

Voter Registration
Vice President George Bush represented Republicans while Democrats Ted Kennedy and Charles Manatt sought to capitalize on Texas' growing Hispanic bloc.

The trio spoke to more than 200 Hispanic activists in San Antonio last week during the Southwest Voter Registration Project.

The project aims to add 1 million Hispanic votes to the rolls in 23 states, including 200,000 in Texas.

Bush criticized the Carter-Mondale contributions to a poor economy that he said offered no opportunity for minorities, and Democrats countered by pointing out the high unemployment rate along the Rio Grande Valley.

Drought Aid
Meanwhile, both Gov. Mark White and Agriculture

Commissioner Jim Hightower continued to blast the Reagan Administration for failing to provide federal drought relief to a group of 27 West Texas counties. In the past half-year, the counties have received only a little over an inch of rain.

Both White and Hightower, Democrats, want U.S. Agriculture Sec. John Block to implement the federal Emergency Feed Program for livestock in the area.

White said stockpiles of corn in the Panhandle, left over from the 1980 grain embargo, could be used to provide relief.

Cattle, sheep and goat ranchers are already liquidating their herds.

Manges Lawsuit

The State, Exxon Corp. and south Texas multimillionaire Clinton Manges apparently are about to settle the controversial oil and gas royalties suit on Duval County land.

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro expects Exxon to pay the State some $4 million, but part of that sum, perhaps as much as a million, will go to Manges, owner of the land.

Mauro's attorneys are advising him to let the Attorney General decide Manges share. Both Mauro and Mattox received over $50,000 each in campaign contributions from Manges, and Mauro's handlers are advising him to avoid potential conflict of interest.

Property Purchased

Summer revelations by the Capitol press corps have caused state officials to think harder before entering into situations which might put profit into their hands or those of their friends.

Last week Gov. Mark White dropped his opposition to the state purchase of land across the street from the Governor's Mansion, even though his campaign treasurer was representing a group of developers bidding against the state.

The developers wanted to build a luxury hotel on the site, which had driven up the asking price of $2.5 million for the choice half-acre.

White's predecessor had agreed for the state to pay the price which White thought was too high, but the state Purchasing and General Services Commission voted Thursday to purchase the property.

Be careful. All the time.

CHRISTMAS IS A-COMING

School's starting, football season is upon us, and we have Halloween and Thanksgiving before jolly, old St. Nick is due.

Yes, I know, but when I've left Christmas crafts and gift suggestions until December, I have heard, "I loved the idea, but I didn't have time..."

So-o-o...you may have no use for these ideas, but never let it be said you didn't get 'em in time!

If you're into mudpies, the ceramic scene offers a wide choice of Christmas possibilities. These can be figurines from molds, cups and saucers—even a whole holiday table service. One of my favorites that can be freeform or molded is a mobile made from thin clay. Angels, stars, cookies, dollies or teddy bears hung in the right draft provide a pleasant background of musical tones.

There are molds in different sizes for the pieces of the Nativity Scene. You can paint these with individual colors, but one of the most beautiful scenes I ever saw was finished in ivory and displayed on blue velvet.

Candies are another favorite-to make or to get. Even if your giftee doesn't appreciate the aesthetic qualities, when the electricity goes off (as it sometimes does, no matter how soon you pay your less-than-modest bill), a candle is appropriate.

Your imagination is your only limitation on candles. You can dip as your ancestors did, use commercial molds, or you can make a mold of almost anything you choose as long as you can remove the candle when it is set. If you have a pretty bowl, glass, or jar that is only a dustcatcher, make it useful with a wick and some scented wax for both candle and holder. You don't have to restrict yourself to gifts, you know. Make yourself some pretties.

To decorate plain candles, there are sheets of soft wax from which to cut figures or flowers. Wax can be whipped into snow drifts, too, but be sure the area around your beater is covered. This kind of snow does not melt easily.

Caution: Always put the container in which you melt your wax in water or use a double boiler. Never, and this means NOT EVER, do you melt wax over a direct flame. What goes up in smoke does not come down.

Christmas tree decorations are always treasured gifts. A start now gives plenty of time to crochet snowflakes, to stitch felt into Santas, angels, reindeer or camels, or to cover styrofoam balls with straw or satin ribbons.

Aluminum soft drink cans yield to ordinary scissors, and here again your imagination is your only limitation...if you are patient enough to be working with metal strips at all. Those edges can give you nasty little jabs and cuts. Some people can wear thin gloves to work with metal, but I usually pay for stars in my eyes with cuts on my fingers—all in various stages of healing until I finish metal snipping.

Doll clothes for the youngster's best-beloved are still high on the favored gift list. As happy as stuffed toys make children, you might want to tackle making a doll yourself. You can get easy-to-follow patterns for dolls, elephants, teddy bears, owls, and rabbits—and a giraffe, too. Pick your pattern, but don't forget stuffing is a chore, and if it is not done well, it might as well not be done at all...imagine a giraffe with a limp neck.

The hammer-and-nail set has many possibilities. A domino box can be elegantly simple and depend upon the wood used for its decorative quality. Or it can be elegantly ornate with inlays of designs, initials or names.

If there are teenagers on your list, surprise them with boxes big enough to hold a diary, notes from the one-and-only, or for just anything to be regarded as public property. Of course, these boxes must have a lock and key.

These ideas are only starters for the crafters, most of whom only need reminding that "Christmas is a coming," and it is later than we think. Those among us who only get snarls from yarn and blue fingernails from hammers will get a choice list next—that's a promise.

Bass Club Report

Odell Taylor of Abilene recently set a new lake record on beautiful Lake Leon Friday night around 11:10. Mr. Taylor was using a black worm in about 13' of water. The bass was confirmed to be a native bass; not one of the Florida strain which has been introduced in the past. This monster measured 26½ inches in length and 21¼ inches in the girth. Mr. Taylor was fishing in the dam region on one of the many ledges located in the lake. This, plus some nice four and five pound fish certainly makes our Open Invitational September 18 look very interesting.

Sunday, August 21 there was an Open Jackpot Tournament held on Lake Cisco. There were five teams competing. First place went to the team of Bobby Maynard and Terry Wilson who caught three fish, at seven pounds each. In second place was Herman and Trace Dunlap with one fish weighing four pounds, eight ounces. Trace, who is 14 years old also won the big bass pot with the one fish at four pounds, eight ounces. Third place was Melvin Wendy and J.V. Ryne with one fish weighing three pounds, six ounces. Some real fine fish, gentleman.

Cisco Lake is low as well as many in our area. There is very little visible structure in the main lake region, and only a small amount of tree structure in the creek areas. Leon is low also but is beginning to stabilize now that the flats are about drained. Proctor has produced two fish in the six pound range this month. Eastland Lake is probably falling faster than most of the area lakes due to the large amount of water being trucked out for oilfield use. Such a waste, for Eastland does produce some convenient recreation for many people. Good fishing, remember to keep what you can use and release the rest.

...Who Died July 3, 1983

Cemetery. A half-brother, Henry Donoho, also came to Texas and lived at Roesser, his son, John lived at Moran for many years, the father of Johnny Donoho Adams of Cisco (Mrs. Gary Adams).

Levi Doris Donaway and brother and half brothers were the children of Synthia Christina (Hunter) Dunaway of Faulkville, Alabama. Her first husband was Israel Dunaway, who died about 1860; then she married John Donoho, a red-headed Irish immigrant.

Other descendants, according to a deed of 1917, were Dan Dunahoo and Tim Dunahoo of Jasper, Alabama, as well as a sister Betty King. At that time J.E. (Jim) and L.D. (Doris) resided near present Dothan, Texas, and John Dunahoo lived in Arkansas, and Henry Dunahoo lived in Scurry County, Texas. No one knows who the father of Israel Dunaway was, but certainly the Dunaways were related to the William, John, and Samuel who fought for Virginia in the American Revolution. Note the spelling of Donaway has been and still is used by the relatives in different ways, as is Donaho.

Israel dunaway was born in Alabama between 1814-19, died there about 1860, and is buried in Providence Cemetery—two miles northwest of Faulkville, Alabama. He married Synthia Christina Hunter, March 9, 1846. She was born in Alabama between 1831-33, and she later married John Donoho on May 31, 1862. Her second husband followed her in death, dying there October 8, 1895.

More is known about the ancestry of Pearl Donaway's mother, Ida Ann Hoke Donaway. Her parents were David E. and Elizabeth Prill Hoke, who married near Miami, Ohio, February 8, 1857. David E. Hoke was born in Ohio on March 8, 1821, and died near Faulkville, Alabama, July 29, 1887. His first wife was Catherine Abernathy whom he married in 1847, she was born in 1827 and died July 24, 1864. David E. Hoke's father was also named David Hoke. David Hoke, Sr., was born in Lancaster, Pa., in 1783, and he married Barbara Sease, who was born February 12, 1785, and died April 29, 1878. She is buried at the Sugar Grove Cemetery in Miami County, Ohio. David Hoke, Sr.'s father was George Hoke, born in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. Elizabeth Prill Hoke was born June 3, 1824, and died January 6, 1876. She is buried at the Pleasant Hill Cemetery in Ohio. Her father was Michael Prill, born May 5, 1777, and died in Ohio on March 20, 1851. Michael Prill married Elizabeth Wagner Abernathy on March 16, 1806; she was born November 18, 1782, in Greenbriar County, West Virginia, and died August 29, 1871, in Ohio. Michael Prill was from Morgan County, Virginia.

David E. Hoke's parents, as well as his second wife, Elizabeth Prill, had all died by 1878, so he took his two daughters, and a son named John (John died shortly thereafter) and traveled by wagon train to Alabama. The daughters were, Ida Ann and Aunt Sarah Shaneyfelt.

Ida Ann Hoke married Levi Doris Donaway near Faulkville, Alabama, on November 8, 1883. She was born October 16, 1859, in Ohio, and died at Dothan, Texas, November 11, 1946. Their eldest son, Daniel Luther Donaway, was born in Faulkville, Alabama, August 29, 1885, and died at Dothan, Texas, September 16, 1966. Joe Donaway was also born in Faulkville, on May 18, 1889, and died at Dothan, January 8, 1959. Myrtle Donaway was born at Cisco, April 29, 1890, and died at Dothan, January 22, 1929. Pearl Donaway was the last of that generation of the Donaway family.

When I heard about the dividing of the old family things where Pearl had been living, and that after these were disposed of the house would be torn down, it seemed sad. I can still remember the dining area, which you entered by way of a porch on the south side of the house. To your left as you entered the door was a big round table covered with many papers and books, to the right was a small window by which food could be passed from the kitchen to the dining area. It hadn't been used for this for many years, for a big ceramic statue of a hereford bull was perched on the ledge. Around the room were numerous paintings, many done by Pearl Donaway. The one which I will always remember was a cowboy watering his horse in a big concrete watering trough; he was bent over getting himself a drink and nearly falling inside. Across the room on the north wall was a framed penmanship, recording the birth of Elizabeth Prill, Ida Donaway's mother. Behind the dining table was a raised door, leading up into the attic area. In the attic were several trunks filled with ancient materials, one was filled with the clothes of Pearl's sister, Myrtle, who died in 1929.

The next room to the west was the fireplace room, which had been combined with the parlor on its south in recent years. The fireplace was made of natural rocks, interspersed with big chunks of green obsidian, or glass. On the mantel was a clock, but also curios from many many different places, which Joe, Pearl, and later Era and the boys visited. On the wall adjoining the closet behind the stairwell, were pictures of David and Elizabeth Hoke, as well as some of Levi and Ida Donaway. One was a photograph of Luther, Joe, and Myrtle Donaway.

In the parlor area was an old piano, a stool with claw feet, and on top of the piano was a wooden replica of the Battleship Maine, obtained at the Chicago World's Fair in 1898, it spanned the length of the piano. The old wooden-sectioned book case, contained a multi-volume set of Texas Under Many Flags, volume three of which contained an article on Levi Doris Donaway. Another book which Pearl prized was one entitled Shanghai Pierce. A musical picture album was also in the case. Nearby was an old glassed secretary desk; underneath was an old violin which David Hoke had obtained about 1850. One of the paintings on the wall was a girl getting a drink at a running fountain.

Pearl's bedroom adjoined on the west, and near the door on the right as you entered was a trunk which contained Pearl's most prized possessions. There were many things which recorded her teaching career, many photographs of former students. The thing I remember most was the old wooden carved chair, which had been carved from a broom handle.

On the back porch, was an old pie-safe; in it was a cup, plate, and saucer with which David Hoke and Elizabeth Prill had started housekeeping in Ohio in the 1850's. Every closet, and every corner were filled with things of the past, many old books, many old photographs, all collected since the house was built in 1895.

Although it is sad to see change and it seems almost sacrilegious to destroy what others have worked so hard to obtain, a scripture in II Corinthians, chapter five, verse one, seems to explain it all here: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." Pearl's resting place is 880 yards WNW of her old home, the house in which she was born.

County Commissioners Hold Regular Meeting

In a short regular scheduled meeting the Eastland County commissioners met in their regular session and took action on budget needs after hearing a report.

The report stated that revenues would be approximately $125,000 below the estimated budget needs. The commissioners then agreed to send a letter to each county office asking them to submit a revised budget and deleting approximately 10 percent of the office's spending from their budget.

An Austin firm, hired last month by the commissioners, has already started collecting on some delinquent taxes which will help drop the projected $125,000 loss.

In other action the commission:

- Approved a request by Enserch Exploration, near Morton Valley, to Cross County Road 337 in Precinct 1 with a pipeline.
- Approved the hiring of Jessie Brown of Ranger as the constable for Precinct 2.
- Approved the witness expense for felony trials.
- Approved the minutes and payment of the bills as presented.

If you've ever taken photographs out on the ski slopes, the chances are good you were disappointed. I know working pros who have considered themselves lucky to find half a dozen salvageable frames out of several hundred they shot.

Why the big problem? After all, taking photos is taking photos. Why should shooting on the slopes be about the trickiest type of photography imaginable?

WORD of GOD

10th Commandment

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maid-servant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbor's.

Exodus 20:17

WORD of GOD

Verily I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.

Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven.

For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them.

Set Meeting

The annual meeting of contributors to Eastland Memorial Hospital will be held at 11:00 a.m., September 14, at the Hospital Board Room for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year and any other business that may come before such meeting. R.P. Haun, Jr., secretary, has announced.

Crop Insurance Deadline August 31

August 31 is the last day to apply for crop insurance for Barley and wheat in Eastland County, Texas, according to Ardell Kalmbach, director for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

Crop Insurance covers unavoidable loss of production from damage caused by adverse weather conditions, insects, plant disease, wildlife, earthquake or fire. Insurance begins when the crop is planted.

Producers may choose from three coverage levels: 50-, 65-, or 75-percent of the established farm yield for insurance protection. "Three optional price elections for valuing production lost or damaged also are available," Dalmbach says.

Plans For Cancer Course Announced

The American Cancer Society and Upjohn Health Care Services announces a patient education course for persons with cancer. The course will provide you with the opportunity to study and share problems and concerns encountered in living with cancer.

There is no charge for the course.

It will be held Monday, September 19 in the Conference Room of the First National Bank of Cisco. To register contact Lanelle Arnold at 442-4348.

"Producers of wheat, barley, and oats who can qualify for a new Individual Yield Coverage (IYC) plan are offered higher yield guarantees at no additional cost," Kalmbach says. For information about eligibility under the IYC plan, producers should contact an authorized crop insurance agent well in advance of the August 31 deadline.

To select an agent, producers should check the list of agents available at their county ASCS office.

OT Killion Injured

The Rev. O.T. Killion of Eastland, retired pastor of the Assemblies of God, injured a leg by a fall on August 5. He was admitted to the Emergency Room, Hendrick Memorial Hospital, Abilene, on August 11. Surgery was performed on his leg August 17, and he is feeling some better at this time.

Rev. Killion, who served as Cisco City Judge from 1974-82, is Chaplain of the Eastland County Law Enforcement Association. He is in Room 4720 at Hendrick Memorial.

1983 Loboos Are 'Giants'

by Bill Manire
"Hoo-hoo, hoo-hoo, the smurfs are coming. Hoo-hoo, hoo-hoo, the smurfs are coming, the smurfs are COMING."

This may well be the battle cry of the 1983 Loboos team. They are small in size, but they are giants in heart, desire, and dedication.

Friday night, our Loboos varsity team looked like a Jr. High team up beside Merkel Badgers varsity team. But Merkel wasn't ready for the smurfs. These pint size Loboos not only dominated the Badgers statistically, but physically as well. The Loboos scored three times to the Badgers zero and gained over 340 yards to under 90 for Merkel.

One of the Loboos was overheard after the scrimmage to say "We put that 230 pounds on his backside three straight times, after that he was grabbing grass. So we just rolled him out of the way then."

Another Loboos said, "We're not even tired. Those magic miles the coaches have had us run and run are paying off already." A chorus of agreement came from those Loboos around him.

In fact the Loboos were the noisiest thing at Badger Stadium. The Badger team was demoralized and quiet, the Badger fans were stunned and silent, and the Loboos fans were awed into silence.

The Loboos are looking forward to next Friday's scrimmage in Brownwood. They know they face a tough team in the number 7 ranked 3A Ballenger team. But, hoo-hoo, hoo-hoo, the smurfs are coming, the smurfs are COMING!

opens this year, September 1, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Warden Kenneth Payne.

This year, Interstate 20 is the boundary line between two regions, each with the same starting date, but with different closing dates.

North of I-20 season is from September 1 through November 9.

South of I-20 season is from September 1 through October 30 with a supplementary season in January from Jan. 7 to Jan. 16.

A new stipulation sets a maximum of two white wings out of the daily bag limit of 12.

Hunting is allowed from 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset.

Other county hunting seasons: DEER-Archery, October 1-October 30, regular. November 12-January 1; three deer, limit two bucks (archery either sex, no antlerless permits required; regular, buck or antlerless, antlerless by permit).

SQUIRREL- No closed season, no bag limit.

QUAIL- November 12-February 12.

TURKEY-Archery, October 1-October 30; regular, November 12-January 1; two gobblers or bearded hens; spring season, April 29; one gobbler.

Putnam News

By Mrs. R.B. Taylor

Last week we said we hoped we would be able to report a good rain, but not so. The country east of us got rain-Cisco 2 inches. Ollie Burman had a shower at her place but none at Putnam. We did have two days of cooler weather due to Alicia and did you see the gorgeous rain bow Thursday evening as the clouds from Alicia formed east of us. I believe it was the most perfect rainbow I have ever seen. We are glad we did not have the destruction that Houston and Galveston had, but do wish we could have gotten some rain. Charlie says we are not due any soon but hope you are wrong Charlie.

There are several in our area who are in hospitals. Gayle Isenhower is recovering from surgery at Hendrick. She hopes to go home to Coleman Tuesday. Loren Everett is in Cisco Hospital following surgery. He is doing very well. Clara Cunningham of Baird is a patient at Cisco Hospital and Mrs. Stella Hughes of Cisco is a patient at Hendrick at Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Gatewood of Sylvester visited Mrs. R.B. Taylor last Sunday. Waldo grew up out in the Leon Hill Community.

Visiting Mrs. R.C. Speegle have been Mr. and Mrs. Lenin Baird of Cisco. Chloe Bostick and Burt Blackburn of Lisbon.

Mrs. R.B. Taylor spent Wednesday night with Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Mobley and visited friends at Baird.

Mrs. Dianne Heidelberg and son of Breckenridge visited her grandmothers Ollie Burnam and also Mrs. James Isenhower in the hospital at Abilene Thursday.

The Ray Maxwells attended church at Baird Sunday.

Visiting Mrs. Clinton Ivie have been Mr. and Mrs. "Cobbie" Colwell of Houston. They were returning home from Salt Lake City. Also visiting Mrs. Ivie are her granddaughters Sharon and Carmen Burns of Valley Mills, and Ida Hazelwood of Midland.

Mrs. and Mrs. Joe Fiore of Houston are announcing the birth of a son Mark Stephen on August 18. Mark is the grandson of the John D. Isenhowers and rode in with Alicia.

The vacation Bible School sponsored by Putnam Church of Christ was thoroughly enjoyed by the youngsters of Putnam. There was a good attendance every day. Those out of town helping, were the pastors mother Peggy Pemberton of Cleburn, Glenn Pemberton, Abilene also Doyle Colium and Laura Massagale of Abilene.

There was a nice crowd at the Baptist Church Sunday. We are proud of the few loyal members who have worked so hard to hold the church here. The pastor Jackie Willoughby and his wife Stacie are doing a wonderful job.

The Putnam youngsters who play at the park want to thank Mr. J.G. Mobley for the donation of a new baseball. The park really has been a great benefit to the Putnam youngsters. Mr. Milton Donaway is the sponsor and deserves thanks also.

FOCUS

Q: I recently bought a sturdy tripod in order to support my camera on those critical shots where even the slightest motion can cause blurring. While the tripod works well in and around the house, I find it a real pain in the neck when out backpacking or just walking down the street. It's somewhat heavy, very cumbersome, and awkward. It's also difficult to use for "grab shots." You can hardly walk up to someone you want to photograph and ask them to wait 15 minutes while you set up your tripod.

I know there are other camera-support systems available, and I wonder if you can shed some light on them and whether or not any of them would be better for me than my tripod.

J. W., Appleton, WI

A: First, let's review just what a camera support is. Basically, it's a device used to hold a camera firmly and steadily in order to avoid the effects of vibration or camera movement during the act of making an exposure. While some cameras can be used only on a support because of their size, weight, bulk, or complex operation, this isn't the case with most of the smaller, more popular cameras in general use today.

Most often, these smaller, lighter cameras may be used handheld — that is, without the help of a camera support — as long as the shutter speed is fast enough to minimize any inadvertent camera motion and resulting blur. As a general rule, always use a shutter speed at least as fast as the reciprocal of the focal length of the lens. A 200mm lens requires a speed of at least 1/200 second handheld, while a 500mm lens requires a speed of at least 1/500 second. This is only a general guide, of course, as some photographers are more jittery than others, and some cameras are easier to hold still while making the exposure than others.

Whenever light or other factors necessitate using a shutter speed slower than the reciprocal of the focal length of the lens being used, a camera support is called for. While a tripod is unquestionably the best support you can provide for your camera, other support systems have been developed for precisely the reasons you indicated your displeasure with your tripod.

A monopod is similar in construction to a tripod, but having one leg instead of three. It features a tripod thread at the top on which the camera mounts and is useful with lightweight cameras, including some twin-lens reflex roll cameras. It's quicker to use, more portable, and lighter in weight, and it often folds into a compact, portable "stick." To use it, keep it vertical, directly below the camera, with its "foot" between your two feet, thus creating a tripod-type support between your body and its leg.

A chainpod is another hand camera device. It features a length of chain with a crossbar on which you stand. The other end screws into the camera's tripod socket. As you pull up, placing tension against the chain, the tautness provides some degree of stability. A similar device can be made from rope or nylon cord.

A chestpod is a short monopod that fits into a socket hanging around your neck. It provides a great degree of portability and ease of operation.

A gunstock allows you to hold and aim a camera as if it were a rifle. It's especially useful when you need to handhold extra long focal length lenses or very heavy lenses.

Other camera support systems have come and gone over the years, and more are being introduced annually. Check with your photo dealer for additional information on what's available.

Mechanix Illustrated

Protect Your New Car Investment

Unless you suddenly inherit a computer company, vicid, have the mechanic hit the jackpot or otherwise come into a windfall, you are going to have to live with your new car for quite some time... say, seven to ten years. Even with regular maintenance, there are some overlooked items which can make a difference in how well your car will weather the test of time. And even if you're not a mechanic, there are a few simple steps you can take to protect this major investment.

Writing in Mechanix Illustrated magazine, Julie Chandler offers these suggestions. First, no matter what anyone says, antifreeze is not permanent. It needs to be changed every 18 months at least, and once a year is better. The new antifreeze should contain silicone silicate to inhibit rust. This is also a must in cars with aluminum engine parts. The aluminum won't rust, but it can be ruined by non-silicone antifreeze.

Many new cars come with a glycol fluid in the hydraulic brake system. Next time your brakes are serviced, have the mechanic flush out the glycol fluid and replace it with silicone brake fluid. This costs more, but unlike glycol, it does not absorb water, and will prevent the rust which could otherwise attack your brake lines.

A common garden hose can do wonders for your car's body... a frequent source of rapid depreciation of your new car investment. Most of us wash our cars regularly, but while you're at it you also should sluice out the wheel wells and rocker panels. Check all the drain holes at the bottom of doors, rocker panels and the spare tire well to make sure they're clear. If they're not, ream them out with a pen-knife blade. These steps will be a big help in cutting down on the body rust which can literally eat into your investment.

Finally, it's a good idea to make a small investment in mud flaps for the front and rear wheel wells. They will cut down on the beating the underside of your car takes from flying gravel, mud, salt and mud.

LOCAL RAIN gauges measured up to three inches during a thunderstorm last Friday night. A man living five miles west of town told us that they received no rain. And Lake Cisco folks reported less than two inches.

Mrs. Betty Alford of Olney Savings was out of town and she got home Sunday night. She hooked up and started watering her lawn early Monday and her neighbors told her about the rain. So she turned the faucet off.

In any event, the rain was most appreciated where ever it fell.

WE MISSED the rain as we went over to Fort Worth Friday afternoon to be on hand for an all day gathering of "the cousins of four families" at Burleson on Saturday. A lady recently retired began researching her family tree and found that four families that came to the USA from England in the 1700s have the same roots - the Culpeppers, the Rogerses, the Wilsons and the Paynes.

The researching committee that kept growing found that our paternal grandmother was a Wilson and that there were connections with the other families; hence, we got invited to the gathering of the cousins. There were 150 or so folks present. A program had a speaker from each of the four families and it all was very interesting indeed.

Our paternal grandmother, it was pointed out, lost her husband when she was in her early thirties. And a few months later, her home in Georgia burned. She loaded up her children and headed to Texas in a covered wagon, arriving with eight children and eight dollars.

Settling near Burleson, she managed to do a good job of raising her children by running a boarding house for railroad men and selling life insurance. We visited her grave at the Burleson cemetery.

It was a rewarding day and we learned a lot about our heritage and will be looking forward to further gatherings of the cousins.

THE WRANGLER Belles of Cisco Junior College met Monday to begin working out for fall semester activities, and former Director Pat Owens didn't have to go out and watch. She was too busy getting son Tracy ready to leave Monday afternoon for Waco and Baylor University. He will be a junior there this fall and is all set to go out for the golf team.

Pat and husband George improved their score eight strokes Sunday but could do no better than win second place in the 4th flight of the couple's golf tournament at Lake Proctor. Pat's shooting scored three birdies for the team Sunday.

THE LONE Cedar Country Club partnership last Sunday concluded Tracy Owens' local golfing activities for some time. He teamed up with Bob Bennie and they won the 4th flight. Several teams tied for first place in this flight and Tracy and Bob won in a playoff.

Ciscoans Bobby Smith and Delbert Schaefer came in 2nd in the championship flight, and the team of Bennie Nichols and Ralph Glenn came in third. A team of Dallas men won the title.

Ralph Glenn and Bobby Smith will be a team in the annual Brownwood Country Club partnership tournament Labor Day weekend.

DIRECTOR OF the Wrangler Belles this year is Nicki Harle of Baird who has worked with them a couple of years in teaching aerobic dancing and physical conditioning. Mrs. Harle's husband is a veterinarian who works in the Baird and Callahan County area. Linda and Joe Walton and their son are back on the job after vacationing. Their out-of-town activities included seeing the Texas Rangers play at Arlington and visiting with her sister in Plano.

BRIAN FLEMING, track and football star at CHS last year, will go to Tarleton State University with a part scholarship, he tells us. He will go out for track and continue working at pole vaulting. Brian has been working for Tri-Tex Energy and, he says, he had to take an exam with some 300 questions before qualifying to handle propane and butane gas.

City Manager Mike Moore reports that good progress is being made on the new playground over near East 14th Street. Playground equipment will be installed out there soon.

BANKER DICK Woolley and wife and daughter are back from vacationing with his parents at Fort Davis and Mrs. DW's parents at El Paso and, he says, he had time to catch up on some farming work at their place east of town. Isn't the shrub in front of Lawyer Billy Wright's office attractive? Bet his wife Sherry, who has a green thumb, is the head gardener there.

Church Plans Breaking

Ground breaking ceremonies will be held at 12:15 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 28, for a 3,200 square foot addition to the First Christian Church building at 303 West 8th Street, according to an announcement Friday.

Steve Cozart Construction Co. of Cisco was the successful bidder for a contract to build the church addition, according to Chairman Standee McCracken of the building committee. The addition will join the church building on the west.

The addition will include five Sunday School classrooms, a youth activities room, a utility room for use by a group of women who make quilts for their annual bazaar, and rest rooms, Mr. McCracken said.

Dr. Earl Bissex of Abilene, area minister of Christian churches, has been invited to preside at the ground breaking ceremonies. He also was invited to be the church's speaker for the Sunday morning services. The Rev. Milo Steffen, church pastor, will assist in the ceremonies.

Mr. McCracken said the addition, including furnishings, would represent an investment of about $100,000.

To make room for the addition, the church recently purchased a lot just west of the building and sold the residence that occupied it.
