Additional Units For Housing Project Bailey County To Be Re-districted 16 More Units

Precincts Face Re-districting

Commissioner's Court of Bailey County plans to re-district the county before primary elections in 1982 according to County Judge Glen Williams. The precinct boundaries will be changed in order to balance the population in each of the four commissioner's precincts.

The county was first redistricted in 1970 as a result of a one man-one vote ruling handed down by the higher courts. "And it has long been the intention of the court to redistrict immediately following the 1980 census."

said Williams. In August of 1978, following the party primaries, the county was sued by Alberto Daniel of Muleshoe. This suit was an effort to force re-districting at that time. The case was

Mr. and Mrs. Arville Wedel and Gail of Minden, Iowa visited in Muleshoe with his cousin, Mrs. Vera Engelking and R. L. Matthiesen, while in route to Tuscon, Arizona. Wedel and Matthiesen has not seen each other since 1933.

Julia Shain, a chemistry major at Midwestern State University, has been nominated Junior Woman of the Year by the American Chemical Society. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta Honorary Society and Alpha Phi Sorority.

Muleshoe Golf Association will hold their regular luncheon and business meeting February 18 at 12 (noon).

Cards and golf will be played in the afternoon. Golfers tee off will be at 1 p.m. There will be two teams with Mrs. Bill St. Clair and Mrs. Ernest Martin as team captains. The losing team gives a party for the winners.

filed in Federal Court, but was not called for trial until March of 1980.

The suit was settled by an agreed judgement entered by Federal Judge Halbert O. Woodward, and the county agreed to redistrict immediately after the general election in 1980.

This suit cost Bailey County $3,690.00 in legal fees and expenses for Daniel's attorneys. But according to Williams, "the court had intended to re-district anyway."

Recently, a house count was made throughout the county which revealed the precincts are unbalanced. The commissioner's court has unofficially discussed this matter in its last two meetings and they are ready to proceed with the necessary changes.

The survey and court discussions reveal changes in the country and rural areas will not be necessary according to Judge Williams and the changes will not affect the city or school elections in any way.

Further information about the changes may be obtained by contacting Judge Williams or any of the Commissioners.

Bailey County Electric Holds Irrigation Conference

Over 130 were in attendance for the Bailey County Electric Co-op Association's Irrigation Conference held in the Bailey County Coliseum Thursday. "We were pleased with the quality information provided by our speakers," said Joe Harbin, public relations manager for the Bailey County Co-op, but we didn't have as many attend as we had hoped."

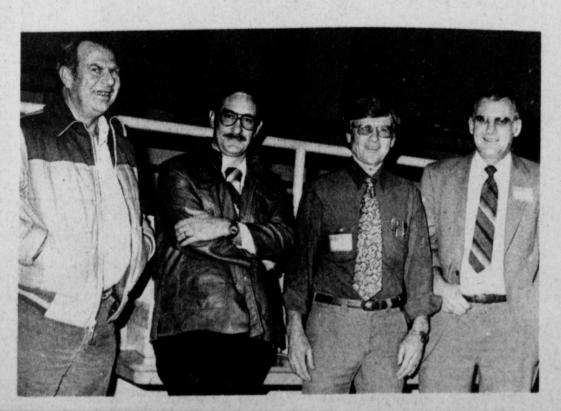

The purpose of the conference was to provide members of the Co-op with information concerning the upcoming contract renewal with Southwestern Public Service. "We want our members to be well informed about our pilot program to reduce the peak demand on our energy system." said Harbin, "and the upcoming cost increases expected with the 1983 contract."

Don Gray, assistant director of the electric division of Hicks and Ragland Engineering in Lubbock, presented the problem and information of the present and projected irrigation rate and management of system load growth.

Wayne Wyatt, Dwight Adams, and Don Smith from the High Plains Underground Water District in Lubbock stressed the importance of water and energy conservation. They also provided statistics on

Mules Lose To Littlefield

The Muleshoe Mules ended the first half of district play Tuesday night with a disappointing 72-62 loss to Littlefield. The defeat placed the Mules third in the district with a 2-2 district record and a season record of 11-14.

The Mules were quick to get on the board with the scoring of Felix Norman and Wesley Rasco and led at the end of the first quarter 14-9. But the Wildcats took the momentum in the second quarter sinking 22 points to the Mules' eight ending the half 31-22.

Hance Schedules Town Hall Meeting In Muleshoe

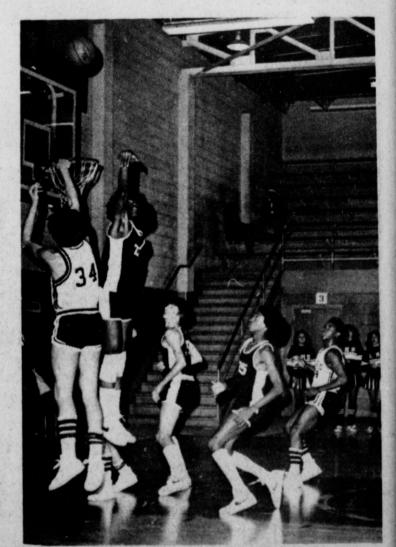

U. S. Representative Kent Hance has scheduled a public Town Hall meeting in Muleshoe for 3:30 p.m. at the Bailey County Civic Center, Thursday, February 19.

The Congressman will discuss many of the issues confronting Congress and the people before opening up the meeting for questions from the public

"I have found that these Town Hall meetings are one of my best sources for finding out the feelings of the people of the 19th Congressional District." said Hance. "Also, it has given the people the opportunity to relate their problems and concerns to someone who has access to the facilities to aid them.

"I also have discovered that some of the answers to legislative problems have come in some fashion or another, through the opinions and suggestions

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philospher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek makes a few final remakrs on the hostage ordeal this week.

Dear editor:

I guess about everything that can be said has been said about Iran and the freed hostages, but a couple of remarks by an Iranian leader have stuck in my mind.

When I say leader I mean whoever claimed to be the leader that week. because not only did Washington not know who was in charge from one week to the next, neither did the Iranians.

Anyway, the leader bragged about defying the United States by holding the hostages a year and two months. "We have rubbed the nose of the United States in the dust," he said.

This is like an underworld character, on sticking up a bank and holding some customers in the vault for ransom, saying "I sure rubbed that bank's nose in the dust."

The other remark by a leader, following release of the Americans, was "There is no proof that we mistreated them."

I believe something must have been lost in the translation. If somebody locked me up for a week, not to mention a year and two months, I'd sure calulate I'd been mistreated.

With such mysterious thinking as that, I won't be surprised if Iran sends us a bill for food and lodging for the hostages, wear and tear on their handcuffs, damage to boots used in kicking shinbones, replacements for blindfolds, time lost from work while demonstrating before TV cameras, and janitorial costs for sweeping up the ashes of burned American flags. The bill will probably come with postage due. Yours faithfully.

Mrs. Burgess quoted the author's statement that the third wave of civilization which the United States is now experiencing will make a greater impact on society than the first wave, the agricultural movement, changes in sowing, reaping, and harvesting; or the second wave, The Industrial Revolution. The third wave will see major changes in the political arena, the social world, the economic realm, the educational system, and the business world.

Many of the changes that Toffler predicted several decades ago have happened and his future predictions cause the reader to ponder seriously.

Judging Calorie Value In Foods

Judging the caloric value of a food can be simple if you keep a few points in mind. Foods high in fats are high in calories. Fat contributes more than twice as many calories per ounce as carbohydrate or protein. High concentrated slick, oily, smooth foods are usually high in calories. Butter and maragine are good examples. A glass of skim milk contains one

· Miss Sowder, Calhoun Exchange Vows

Miss Shannon Kay Sowder became the bride of Powell Thompson Calhoun. Lieutenant, United States Marine Corps, Saturday, January 31 in a six o'clock ceremony in the First United Methodist Church in Muleshoe. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Bill M. Kent.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Sowder, Goodland, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Calhoun of Goliad. Grandmothers of the bride are Ms. Opal Ruth Sowder and Ms. Kathryn Cole, both of Muleshoe. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rigby, Ms. Waldine Rigby, and Mrs. P.T. Calhoun of Goliad are grandparents of the groom.

Spiral candelabra and tall brass urns filled with white mums flanked the altar which was centered by an open Bible. Hurricane lamps stood on each windowsill and pewmarkers and aisle ribbons were white satin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of chiffon and Venise lace featuring a Queen Anne neckline and sheer bishop sleeves. The A-line skirt swept to back fullness forming a modified cathedral-length train. She wore a cathedral-length veil of silk illusion caught to an Alencon lace Camelot capulet. Her cascading bouquet was of white cymbidum orchids and princess Miss Lynn Irwin of Waco served as maid of honor; bridesmaids were Ms. Kay Cole of Dallas, aunt of the bride, Miss Kym Petty of Dallas, cousin of the bride, Miss Debbie Purcell of Arlington and Miss Linda Clements of Lamesa. They wore grey formal gowns and carried white fur muffs topped with red miniature feathered carnations.

Mike Calhoun of Goliad. brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Ensign Randy Williams, USN of Victoria. Jack Johnston, Lt., USMC of Lubbock, Robby Sowder of Goodland, brother of the bride, and Curtis Sielar, Goliad. Jerry Sowder of Enochs and Kevin Petty of Dallas, cousins of the bride were ushers and Madison Sowder and Jarrod Sowder brothers of the bride were candlelighters.

Mrs. Steve Holcomb of Lubbock, organist, played classical selections and the traditional wedding marches. Miss Cheryl Groth of Duncanville, vocalist and guitarist, was accompanied by Miss Julie Striekert of Houston, flautist and Mrs. Tommy Terrell of Morton. pianist.

Miss Barbie Botard of Kingsville registered wedding guests and a reception followed in the fellowship hall. The bride and groom entered under a sword arch formed by officers of the United States Marine Corps, the United States Navy and Texas A&M Cadets. The cakes were cut by the bridal couple with his sword.

Members of the houseparty were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sowder, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wayne Shafer, Mrs. Joe Sowder, Ms. Gayle Simpson, Mrs. Tommy Terrell, Mrs. Dan Simpson, Mrs. Reuel Kirby, Mrs. Arlen Simpson, Ms. Lynda Altman, Mrs. Billy Simpson, Mrs. Freddie Parkman, Miss Julie Striekert, Miss Barbie Botard

Information concerning types of chemicals which limit plant growth, improved varieties, chemical processes designed to retard excessive plant growth and speed upmaturity were presented by Myron Namkey, civil engineer for the S.C.S. office.

"One aspect I found very interesting was studies using beef tallow to speed up the maturity of the plants," said Harbin adding "this is something we don't use that can help us conserve water."

Jim Irwin, assistant county agent, and Joe Denney, field representative for Valley Grain Products. Inc., presented information about instruments which can be and are being used by farmers to measure soil moisture content. Studies from local research reports did show farmers can be aided in planning irrigation conservation.

Evaluations of pivot sprinkler systems was led by speakers Jim Lutz, Ernest Moravac and James Sheer of the Local S.C.S. "We want the farmers to know we are ready and willing to help them by studying their present system and making suggestion so they will have the system they need," said Moravec.

The final presentation was made by Leon New, agriculture engineer for the area extension service. New discussed how pump and power unit performance affects energy costs.

"Leon presented statistics indicating that although pump overhaul is expensive, the repairs increase efficiency and would cut the fuel bill drastically," said Harbin.

"YOU TOOK MY PICTURE ... AND I WASN'T READY!"

How concerned we are with the image we present to others! And it is right that we should be. How mightily we influence others. It is so important that the self we present is one that will influence others for good.

With guidance from God we will be ready to present ourselves to the world in such a manner as to sway others toward God and all that is worthwhile

"That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God," come to His Church

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Tuesday night, February 3, the Muleshoe Mules Varsity basketball team upped their season record to 10-13 with a victory over the River Road Wildcats. The Mules started off slow and fell behind 14-12 in the first quarter. They came back strong in the second quarter and went ahead 22-18 before halftime. In the third quarter. Mules widened their lead to 38-32, and held off the Wildcats in the fourth quarter to win the game by a score of 56-51.

Felix Norman was the high scorer for the Mules with a total of 18 points. He was followed by Wesley Rasco, who had 14, Carrol Precure with 10, Ronnie Angeley with 8, Macario Reyes with 4, and Monty Hysinger, who finished with 2 points.

Donna Horn Area One Candidate

Muleshoe FHA Chapter held a regular meeting Tuesday, February 10. The business focused primarily on the area meeting which is to held in Lubbock, March 27 and 28. Donna Horn, freshman member, will be running for the office of Secretary - Treasurer for Area I. The chapter is very proud of Donna and her accomplishments as well as her willingness to accept this challenge. Donna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hutton. She has received honors this year including Henor Student of the Month and All Region Band. Donna is secretary of the local chapter, and her fellow members wish her the best of luck.

At the meeting on Tuesday, the membership voted to send the top ten high pointers to Lubbock and set March 1 as the dead-line for receiving points.

Friday night the Mules traveled to Olton to take on the Mustangs. The results were not available at press time.

HERO Says Thanks

The Muleshoe HERO Chapter would like to recognize Lori Hartline and Donna Hawkins for their hard work, participation, and planning of the scrapbook, 1980-81. Lori is historian of HERO. She has designed the layout for the serapbook. She is the "official photographer," and has taken special photographs depicting all of HERO's functions this vear. "Action shots" of each member have been made. She plans to do a special page in the scrapbook for each officer.

Donna Hawkins is reporter for HERO. She is responsible for writing all the news stories for the Mule's Tale. Donna is always looking for a "scoop" to write about HERO. She also helps Lori with the scrapbook and photography. Donna and Lori are very much aware that public relations is a big job and a lot of hard work if it is done correctly and professionally.

Thanks again girls from HERO. Congratulations on a job well done. We also would like to thank our Muleshoe High School Annual Staff for all the work they do to make it all possible.

Sophomores Do Research

Mrs. Pat Black's sophomore English II classes have been in the library this week studying the reference book collection.

Librarian, Mrs. Esther Marie Dillman spent Monday acquainting the students with twelve of the most important and commonly used reference books. The students spent the rest of the week studying these books and answering questions about them. After the test next week, it is hope that the English II students will be better prepared to do research for future papers in all subject areas.

The Scientists Tell Me . . .

Only Wise Planning Can Prevent Severe Future Water Shortages

By Robert L. Haney TAES Science Writer

The nation is facing a water crisis in a few years time which may be more severe than the present energy crisis, according to Dr. Jack Runkles, Director of the Texas Water Resources Institute.

This developing water crisis in Texas and the Southwest will be the severest in the Nation, Runkles says, unless we plan now for ways to

A growing population, burgeoning industry, and an increasingly thirsty agriculture are the main factors contributing to the developing problem.

Texas presently is exceeding the safe and firm yield of both ground and surface water resources by about 2.1 million acre-feet per year and is using about 7.1 million acre-feet of gound water per year, more than is being recharged by natural means.

"In short, we're literally mining our water resources,' Runkles says, "and they are going to play out in a few years or become exorbitantly

"We have two major options for preventing a devastating water crisis. One of these that's been widely discussed is for the State to pursue importation of water from other parts of the country. The second is for the State to adjust water use so as to live within the available water re-

"For the next few decades, perhaps the more realistic option is to pursue an active program of conservation and reuse of water and to develop technology to further improve the efficiency of utilization of present water resources.

"Our food supply will be imperiled first by shortages since both industry and urban areas can outbid agriculture for water.

"In fact, in the past decade we've already seen many farms shut down for a time in the Pecos region because of rising energy costs that made irrigated farming unprofit-

"Fortunately, many are back in production now because of revised energyefficient management practices developed by cooperative efforts of the Experiment Station and the Extension Service."

The Pecos example is only a forerunner of things to come, Runkles contends, unless a sustained high-priority coordinated-research effort is launched in the near future.

Water limitations we must learn to live with, but if we devise strategies of conservation, re-use, and high efficiency, we can postpone the developing water shortages or alleviate their effects.

For example, in agricultural irrigation, research has developed the Low Energy Precision Application (LEPA) system which provides for sig-beef raisers - and eaters from the food and nutrition board of the national academy of sciences. Great exception was taken to the Report of Dietary Goals issued by the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Health. That board member, Dr. Robert Olsen, who is also professor of biochemistry at the St. Louis University School of Medicine, said that the report, which downgraded meats - particularly beef - as nutrient sources, was "just not true". Olsen also said that the consumer advocate of the 1970's "set his own rules". According to Olsen, the idea that beef will fall out of favor with the American homemaker during the 1980's is "ridiculous". He stated that beef contains a very small amount of saturated fat, and a small amount of cholesterol, but is a very important source of iron and protein.

And it would extend the expected useful life of the Ogallala Aquifer by at least 10

Associated with the LEPA system is the development of row-damming as a method to conserve and prevent run-off of natural rainfall. Substantial increases in crop yields have been obtained in both cotton and grain sorghum, using the row-damming system on dry-

As the third most-populous state in the nation, Texas faces many problems and challenges. I have stated often during the last two years that providing an adequate water supply for our citizens, our agriculture and our industry, ultimately, may be the most critical issue of all.

If we do not accurately assess our needs in this regard and prepare accordingly, we could be in a crisis situation. That is why I recommended in my January 22 State of the State address to the Legislature establishment of a State Water Trust Fund to hold in reserve anticipated surplus revenues toward meeting our future water needs. Water is not an agricultural problem alone. Neither, contrary to a widely-held view, is it a sectional or region-

Municipal water supplies and sewage treatment capabilities must be assured in the small towns and large cities. Our farms and ranches and industry will continue to demand more water as our population increases from 14.1 million to 22 million by the year 2000.

Already, Texas is classified as a water-short state. That is, we are using our water faster than it is being replaced by nature. According to the Texas Department of Water Resources, we are using statewide 7.1 million acre feet of groundwater per year more than is being replaced.

The withdrawal is causing water level declines, decreasing well yields, land subsidence, movement of geologic faults and saline water encroachment.

This 7.1 million acre feet deficit amounts to 41 per cent of water use in our state annually. And it is twice the amount we can take safely from our 10 largest lakes. In a recent publication, the Department of Water Resources pointed to this long-term water supply outlook:

-Major areas of the State will be limited in growth potential to provide jobs for increasing populations unless additional water supplies are developed.

-Areas where some long-range (20 to 50 years) water shortages are anticipated include Dallas-Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Abilene, San Angelo, Midland-Odes High Plains, Trans-Pecos, El Paso, Lower Rio Grande Valley, Middle Rio Grande, Corpus Christi and the San Antonio area. Implementation of projects can prevent projected shortages in many of these areas.

-The Middle Gulf Coast, Houston, Beaumont, East Texas, Northeast Texas and a part of the Dallas-Fort Worth Central Texas regions can be supplied through intrastate, local area development over the next 50 years if surface-water supplies are developed on a timely schedule as now planned.

All of this led me to the conclusion that establishment of a Water Trust Fund to underwrite water development projects including additional reservoirs and distribution facilities should be a high priority goal.

As I stated in my January 22 speech, this is literally an investment in our future. It will ensure that the state surplus-unlike some in the past-will be spent in an accountable manner on a highly identifiable and critical

It is a form of tax relief, because by putting this money in trust, we are preventing a future onerous tax burden that the State could be forced to levy as our population and water needs increase and our oil and gas revenues

In the long-term sense, the Water Trust Fund would, indeed, amount to a very substantial tax savings, and I support it wholeheartedly.

At the same time, I remain hopeful that we will find a suitable and practical way to return to our citizens in the form of direct tax relief a portion of the surplus which is expected to accrue. I will continue to look for that op-

If this row-damming technology were applied to the dryland cotton and sorghum acres in the High and Rolling Plains of Texas and Oklahoma, it would bolster farm income of the region by $87.5

Off-farm benefits which would accrue each year to agribusiness, as a result of the increased crop production, would amount to $297 mil-

Water conservation technology needs to be developed for the urban sector, Runkles says, to provide for the expected increase in population over the next few decades.

Texas population, presently estimated at 14.1 million, has grown some 25 percent in the past decade and shows no signs of slowing.

Conservation of water, primarily outside the home, would halve the need for additional water supplies by the year 2000.

New technology for reusing water within and outside the home combined with such conservation could limit the need for additional water to only about 25 percent by the end of the century.

Such water conservation in the urban area would reduce the expected competition among industry, agriculture, and municipalities for the limited water resources.

In addition to development of new technology for urban water conservation and reuse, Runkles says new research thrusts are needed to develop technology for (1) integrating LEPA and farming operations to conserve energy and water; (2) improving rainfall utilization on dryland through use of drouth-tolerant crops, rowdamming, water harvesting, growth regulators, and remote sensing of soil moisture; (3) using industrial and municipal effluent water for crop production; and (4) using water of high-salt content for crop pro-

If we effectively coordinate state and regional efforts of conservation and highefficiency utilization, Runkles says, we can postpone and soften the effects of the myriad of demands on one of our most precious natural resources, water.

Doctor's Rx: Walk before you run

COLLEGE STATION - Millions of joggers should learn to walk before they run, advises a cardiovascular researcher and jogging enthusiast.

You should be able to briskly walk for two hours (about six to eight miles) before you begin jogging. Running is really a progression of walking," said Dr. Elvin Smith, associate dean of medicine at Texas A&M University.

Smith says there is still controversy among scientists and physicians as to whether running or walking is better exercise, and no clear-cut answer seems ready to break away from the pack.

So many variables are involved - prior heart damage, individual heart rates, the body's metabolic rate plus the speed and distance traveled that each person has to answer the question for himself or herself, he explained.

Researchers do agree there are two ways of risking your health. Those are either doing nothing at all or starting out on a vigorous plan of excercise without a slow conditioning

"One of the quickest ways to kill yourself is to jog just once a week for two miles as fast as you can," said Smith, a former county president for the American Heart Association.

"The person who enters into a vigorous exercise program with known or unknown previous heart damage runs a higher risk of heart attack. However, I believe you cannot hurt an already healthy heart, no matter how strenuous the exercise."

Walking is certainly better on the feet, heels, ankles, legs and knees than running, Smith

For people concerned that merely walking won't help them shed those extra pounds, Smith has a thought or two. If the variables are nearly equal, a person walking fast requires more energy (translate that to calories burned) than someone jogging slowly, he explained. And if two people - one walking, one jogging, both with equal heart and breathing rates - cover the same length of ground, it's likely the two will derive equal benefits for their cardiopulmonary systems. "It is possible that if you went far enough and fast enough by walking, even though it requires a lot more time, you could get more exercise from that than by moderate jogging," Smith said.

Smith said he was hesitant about making any hard-and-fast production seems to follow a formula of intensity multiplied by duration.

All things being equal, a person would probably get more benefit and produce more HDL (thought to aid in blocking the action of "bad" cholesterol called LDL) by walking briskly for a long period of time than for jogging slowly for a shorter time, he explained.

Getting an early start is just as important in life as it is in racing.

Dear Pat Walker:

I started the Pat Walker program hoping I could lose my weight by Christmas. In just 6 months I lost 511/4 pounds and 65 inches. I now weigh 110 pounds thanks to your wonderful counselors and their support.

My favorite past-time is dancing. Before Pat Walker's I watched a lot - now I dance every dance. Thank you, Pat Walker, for my thin figure. It will be wonderful to wear pretty clothes at Christmas this year.

YMCA Officers Jogging Exercise

Many Clovisite men are very much aware that they have had a terrific holiday season, especially when they check their waistlines. Men are trimming pounds and inches from their bulging middles by participating in some of the YMCA exercise programs.

The YMCA offers a regular jogging exercise program each Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 5:30-6:30 p.m. at the Youth Center, 7th and Sycamore Streets. This class jogs and then goes through a calesthenic routine of total body exercise for increased strength and improved cardio-vascular system on-

Many local men use the Clovis Family YMCA Health Club, also, to trim off those excess pounds and inches. The "Y" Health Club has a 16 station weight machine to make exercising a "joy", a whirlpool, sauna, olympic weights, exercise machines, stationery bikes, vibrating tables, and 2 slim gyms, all to make exercising a real pleasure.

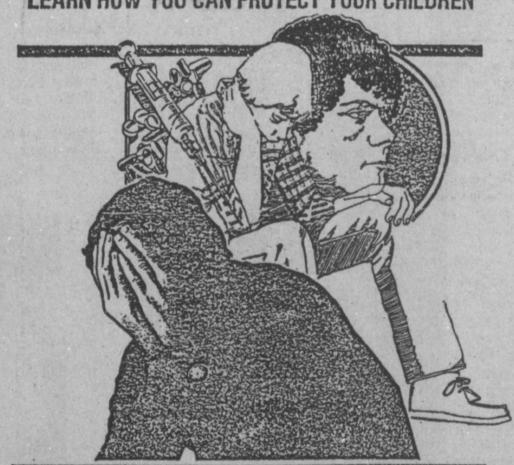

The YMCA's men's physical fitness program will meet the needs of the men wishing to improve their muscle tone, stamina, strength, weight loss, and improve their cardio-vas-

Relatively inactive as a touring band for two years. the Beach Boys began to totally commit themselves to touring again in 1979 and played just under 100 American concerts to audiences totaling well over one million people. A week long tour of Japan saw them play before 200,000 rupling the performance of their previous album. "Good Timin" " made it into the top 30 on the singles charts. The most amazing revelation of 1979 came from the sea of faces in town

"Year after year we were playing to the same people, many of whom were coming to see us in search of fond memories. None of us could believe the number of kids in the audience who weren't even born when we had our first hit records." The resurgence of the Beach Boys came full circle with the making of 'Keepin' The Summer Alive," the band's last release. For the first time in nine years the Beach Boys made a record as a group. Ever since "Surf's Up" they had made albums piece by piece. Often, one or two of the members would go into a studio and perform their parts and then the next member would go into the studio and perform their parts and add his parts.

'Keepin' The Summer Alive" is a Beach Boys album in the truest sense. The vocals were done together in the studio, in true harmony, just as they used to be done on all of the group's hit records. The key songwriting team. Brian Wilson and Michael Love, penned five of the 10 songs on the record.

Just like the title to an carly hit song, the Beach Boys have been the "Spirit of America'
