Roof Garden Theatre To Open ?

Kay L. Woods

The major Fall production for the Roof Garden Theatre will be THE SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL by Richard Brinsley Sheridan. Preview performances without dinner will be given Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday, October 22-24 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets for the previews will be $3.00 for general admission and $1.00 for students. Dinner Theatre performances will be held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights October 25-27 with dinner served at 7:00 p.m. Dinner theatre tickets will be $8.50

THE SCHOOL FOR SCAN-DAL has come to be regarded as one of the theatre's greatest comic masterpieces. Written in 1776, it tells the story of Lady Sneerwell and her society of gossips and scandal mongers. According to director Philip Craik, "School for Scandal is the most challenging play we have ever attempted during the regular school year. Technically it is difficult because we are using period costumes and furniture which are hard to come up with when you consider the year of the play is 1776. It is also an acting challenge for our students who are having to learn the style and accents of the 18th century English nobility. We are also presenting the play "in the round" in which the audience completely surrounds the stage area. Regular Roof Garden theatre goers should find this an interesting twist."

Reservations are required and may be made by calling (817) 442-2567 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, or (817) 442-2589 after hours and on weekends. All reservations and/or cancellations must be made by noon of the day of performance. The Roof Garden Theatre is part of the Fine Arts Department of Cisco Junior College.

ANSWER TO BIBLE TRIVIA

The Bible says concerning

Job: "There is no one like him in the earth, a man blameless and upright, fearing God and turning aside from bad." (JOB 1:8) It was likely during the period of time between Joseph and Moses that the conversations involving Job took place between Jehovah & Satan. (JOB 1:6-12; 2:1-7) God permitted Satan to test Job's integrity to the limit, but not allowing Job to be killed. Satan, through various means, took away first Job's livestock and servants, then his children. Job never turned away from God, even when pressure was brought upon him by his own wife and his friends. (JOB 1:20-22) By showing true love to his creator he was restored to his former status as a wealthy man. He again had a fine family (apparently by the same wife) and his material possessions doubled. His patient endurance of suffering is set before Christians as a pattern, and his happy outcome proves that God is a God of love and mercy. (Jas. 5:11) True Christians today receive great comfort and strength from the experiences of Job. Reference see: "aid to Bible understanding" page 939.

"Windfall" Taxes On The Way Out

Yes, the Windfall Tax is still in the news.

From the time it was first voted in during the Carter-Mondale Administration, this Tax was described by independent oil producers and royalty owners as the worst piece of legislation ever enacted in Washington.

It was also described as an excise tax, in which a single industry was targeted for funds, with to run the government.

In the summer of 1981 Senator Llody Bentsen of Texas led out in a fight to force repeal or modification of this Act, but the best he could ever get were a number of Windfall Tax exemptions.

He was joined in this fight by all the Texas representatives in Washington - Sen. John Tower, Bill Archer, Jake Pickle, Phil Gramm, Hance, and Stenholm. A few other southwestern Senators and Congressmen joined in the modification.

They were faced with unacceptable filibustering in committee, and later in the Senate, and a compromise accepted. The Republican Administration went along with this compromise, and it became law. In June, 1983 the U.S.

Supreme Court ruled that the Windfall Tax was constitutional. Then most producers and royalty owners reluctantly gave up the fight for repeal, deciding that it was simply no use.

But now, ironically enough, the so-called "windfall profits" in the production of new oil discovered since 1978 is expected to disappear by next spring!

"Windfall Profits" is essentially defined as that portion of wellhead price that exceeds a tax-free base price established by the act. The act then taxes a portion of that amount away, currently 22.5 percent.

By next spring, however, the average U.S. price for domestic crude may be no more equal to the tax-free base, and possibly lower if erosion in crude prices continue. This may occur, since the tax-free base price allowed to rise to cover inflation and other factors authorized by the act.

It appears that even designers and proponents of windfall taxation, even by their own definitions, have run out of windfall to be tax-

This is what concerns oil producers and royalty owners - will someone begin stirring up a new energy tax to fill the revenue gap? What kind of friends will the oil industry have in Washington next year? Will the ability of the petroleum industry to displace foreign imports be further curtailed? Hopefully, a solution to the Federal dificit can be found elsewhere.

'Tides Of Time, Wares Of Life'

by Vera Wheat

Tide of time, the wares of life, leave little hope for us as humans. Seems it is a struggle from the craddle, to the grave!! Some less fortunate, than we seem to have manage the problems. It may appear to some like money is the answer to a healthy, happy life.

Yet, let us look closer. Is it? Let's take the tide of time, and the wares of life, as these poor unfortunate folk may see this life - working, struggling, never having any part of their pay checks to save. Never having the cash to add or redo their humble homes. Trying to keep food on the table for their children whom are depending on them for their survival!

Hoping to keep them dressed at least to where they will feel neat. Not have to hand their little head in shame. Shoes on their young, and growing feet!

A few toys to keep them happy, and content - A home warm with love, also with heat when necessry. A cooling system when the summers are so long, and hot.

Understanding them is their childish ways, accepting their friends, as they are. Hoping they are wholesome children, being

The Cisco Intermediate students were treated to a visit by Ms. Ele'Anore Grogan, a Navaho Indian, on Tuesday, October 9th.

Living in Ranger now, Ms. Grogan still visits the reservation each year. Her other travels take her to places like Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Deleware and California, where she performs in gospel music con-possible drought.

The correct plant in the proper location is important but equally important is proper soil preparation prior to planting. The key to successful plant growth is a well prepared garden soil.

Just as a person could not remain healthy on a starvation diet, even the best plant cannot thrive in poor soil. Yet, many people will place plants in soil so hard it would make a good substitute for concrete and without enough nutrients to keep a goat alive and then are suprised when the plant dies. Time spent in soil preparation prior to planting will reduce later maintenance of watering and difficult soil condition-

Poor internal soil drainage is harmful to the roots of almost all plants. Soil drainage refers not only to the surface slope, but also to the downward movement of water through the soil. Drainage is often poor in heavy clay soils.

Soil where water stands for a day or two following a rain indicates a poor internal drainage. This type of soil indicates low oxygen supply, and oxygen is essential for good root growth. When water is trapped in soil due to poor drainage, the roots of the plant will finally rot.

If your soil drainage is poor, try raising your plant beds above the surrounding level. Or if you are planting trees or large shrubs, raise the rootball one to three inches above the original soil's level. This will greatly aid in the drainage of excess soil water away from the plant.

It may be necessary in soil that is very heavy, or one containing mostly clay, to dig all the soil out and Sometimes tight soils can be satisfactorily improved by mixing sand, peatmoss, well rooted manure or compost material. But at times, soi replacement is the best solution. This method is only for total bed preparation.

Winter is probably the best season of the year to plant

Prepare For Deregulation

* Price controls will be removed from about 60% of the country's natural gas on Jan. 1, 1985. But several categories will not be deregulated. These are: old flowing interstate gas, intrastate contracts existing on Nov. 9, 1978 that, on Dec. 31, 1984 are priced below $1/MMBtu: incentive high cost (tight gas), and stripper

Any of these categories except old flowing interstate can be made eligible by qualifying for other decontrolled categories. But many wells which could qualify are not because the operators have not applied for an appropriate category determination.

This is especially common among operators of intrastate wells priced below a dollar. Failure to qualify such a well for decontrolled category can create pro-

Our hotel in Lausanne was the Royal Savoy Hotel. It was nice, quaint and furnished with lovely antiques. Our dinner in the hotel was of hot bacon tart, pork roast, new potatoes, beans and fruit salad.

After dinner we walked down the hill to Lake Geneva. I was surprised that it was very warm. There was no air conditioning and some of our group spent an uncomfortable night because of the

Included in our large buffet breakfast the next morning was "musely". Musely is cereal with fresh fruit. Some of us did not know what it was, as it was very thin; we put it on our dry cereal. It was good that way, but Sepp told us what it was and after that we enjoyed it properly when it served as part of our

We left Lausanne at about 7:45 a.m. on July 25th and enjoyed seeing the vineyards growing on the steep mountainsides. Rock walls were built to keep the mountains from eroding. We passed through Vervey where Charlie Chaplin lived the last years of his life.

We boarded a modern Swiss train at Vervey for a two-hour ride through some of the most fantastic scenery. We traveled through a succession of steep-sided valleys. The quaint little villages looked just exactly like the pictures I had seen of Switzerland. The train stopped at nearly all the stations as local people got on and off the train. Some of us had a nice visit with some of the natives who were riding the train. Willie met us as Zweisimmen with our coach and he drove us far up in the Alps over some unbelievable roads to the Buehler Farm in the Sim-helpers. Before lunch Freida, a young woman, played the Alp horn for us. We were then served a small mountain meal of cheese and sausage, which were both made on the farm, potatoes, salad, bread, apple juice, wine, and a meringue dessert. The house in which we ate was 200 years old and the barn where the cows were kept was part of the house. Peter, an old man who lived in the house where we ate, told us how he made the cheese we had for lunch and showed us a room filled with cheese which he had

Simmental cows. The mountain farms have a short growing season: therefore. farming is predominantly based on cattle breeding. The Buehlers have two main barns in the bottom of the Simmen Valley. The farm house was built in 1831. They keep 20 to 30 cows, yearlings and calves in these barns from the end of October until the end of April. During the winter period they have their calving season. In the summer they keep approximately 80 cows on two different mountain pastures. They move the herds up to the summer pastures in spring and back down to the valley in the fall. Bringing the cows down in the fall is a great event with cowbells, traditional costumes, flowers and yodeling. The Buehler family has been breeding Simmental cattle for ten generations. The family also raises Herens, which is a dual purpose breed. The Herens have been bred for centuries in Switzerland with great success, mainly because of their ability to graze in extreme conditions above the. treeline, resistance to extreme temperatures and

We also saw hay drying on small racks in the fields and women in dresses were tossing the hay to help dry it. And Sepp was again imparting to us information on the country in general: he told us that farmers are paid a subsidy by the government to get them to stay high up in the Alps

He also said there are 24 small districts called 'cantoons' Almost everything is taken care of by the cantoons. Even schools do not have the same requirements. The president is not elected by the people: Parliament is elected by the people and when the members of parliament rotate as president, having a new president each year. local elections. A local custom is that when a new house is finished, neighbors put up a decorated "Christmas" tree in front of the house to wish the family good luck. The owner is to then invite the friends to a big dinner. If he doesn't, the friends then put a broomstick on the house to show they have not been invited to dinner!

We decided that while we were enjoying seeing something on one side of the road we were missing something on the other side. I have never seen so many anywhere. Geraniums and petunias were in flower boxes in every house. We passed a chicken farm where the chickens were running loose.

We enjoyed a very delicious meal that evening in our hotel. It consisted of oxtail soup, salad, zucchini, carrots, potatoes, apple pie, ice cream and coffee. We looked around at the stores and shopped a little in Interlaken before ending a day that had been a very impressive adventure.

On Thursday, July 26, we enjoyed the big buffet breakfast and left at about 8:00 to go spend the day in Lucerne. It was raining, but it didn't dampen our spirits a bit. As a result of the rain we saw many beautiful waterfalls on our drive, and fresh snow high in the Alps. The sign "zimmer" which we saw in front of some houses meant that they would take travelers into their homes for the night.

We passed through Breunig Pass, which is 3300 ft. above sea level, and by Lake Lucerne, which is made by a 25-year-old dam and provides electricity. Switzerland has no nuclear House fires are often starting by lightning and the volunteer fire departments have little chance to save the homes because they are often hard to reach.

Open spaces in the forests in the mountains are caused by avalanches which push trees down. People know where avalanches are likely to be so they do not build homes in that area. 90% of the people who are killed in avalanches are tourists because they do not listen to the natives.

Lucerne means "Town of Light". The legend is that when the town was founded a light appeared over the mountain. Lucerne, with its 75,000 inhabitants (90,000 including the outskirts), is Roman Catholic. There are only 2 Protestant churches.

We shopped in Lucerne. Several bought jewelry at Bucherer's and others bought linens and souvenirs. Our lunch was very interesting in a beautiful old Swiss building. We had a choice of fish or sausage (both were very good) and were entertained by a very good group of Swiss entertainers. Gilbert, along with others from the crowd, was taken to the stage and given a lesson in yodeling. He said the reason he did so well was that the woman was stepping on his in-growing toenail! We crossed the 15th century wooden footbridge which crosses the Reuss River and enjoyed the beautiful art work all across it.

We rode by cable car high into the Alps, switched to a larger cable car and rode to 7000 ft. Mt. Pilatus, the most famous and highest mountain in Switzerland. We admired the scenery with ease from the spacious terraces of the restaurant and station of the summit of Pilatus. We descended the mountain by cog-wheel train to Alphachstad with a maximum gradient of 48 degrees, making it the steepest cogwheel railway in the world. The scenery was breathtaking. We saw cows grazing high in the Alps and, when we rolled the window down on our car, we enjoyed the beautiful sound of the cows'

Burglars Look For Least Risk And Easy Entry

What does a burglar look for when he's looking for an easy target? Homes that present the least risk of detection and the greatest opportunity for easy entry, according to the information presented at a recent Green Thumb training seminar.

Over 100 Green Thumb workers from thirteen counties learned to look at their homes through a burglar's eyes when they met at Brownwood, Texas on October 9, 1984.

Homes that appear unoccupied and unprotected; homes without adequate locks and lighting; open or unlocked doors and windows; and home sites which provide easy concealment from neighbors and passing motorists wear "Welcome Burglar" signs.

J.D. Chastain, formerly with the State of Texas, gave crime safety tips to participants and talked about the Regional Crime Lab.

Also on the program was Byron Sansom who talked to the group of seniors about e in Social Security.

State Green Thumb Director Diane Parrish talked with the group about administrative matters and resented a film from the Central Texas Chapter of the Red Cross that dealt with personal safety and fire prevention.

Green Thumb is an employment program for seniors that is sponsored by Farmers Union and funded by the Department of Labor under Title V of the Older Americans Act. Rural residents who are over 55 years of age and income eligible are hired by the program and placed with nonprofit organizations where they provide services to their home communities. Green Thumb is an equal employment opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Those from this area attending the session were: Alexene Garlitz from Shackelford County, Viola Dennis from Cisco, J.O. Elmore from Eastland, Ruth Kendrick from Eastland, Nila Jones from Cisco, Elva Notgrass from Cisco, Leora Wooten from Cisco, Leora Bean from Cisco.

The Director of Senior Centers, Ruth Cartee, also attended.

WHAT ABOUT THE SIMP-SON MAZZOLI BILL?

The Simpson Mazolli Bill is an attempt to find a solution to the problem of aliens who enter our country illegally. Since 1952 this problem was ignored by previous administrations. It has become such a threatening situation to the U.S., it can no longer be ignored. Both the House and Senate must consider this bill and reach a compromise or reject it.

In formulating this bill. it was necessary to consider what to do with the aliens already here, what to do with their children who were born on our soil, whether we could afford to hire enough people to guard our borders, what steps could we take to help the border patrol in such an endeavor?

The bill presented to Congress allows aliens who have been living continuously in the U.S. before a certain date to claim legal status with full rights of U.S. Citizenship. The Senate bill specified the date as Jan. 1. 1980. It is estimated that 1.6 million aliens might qualify. The House set Jan. 1, 1982 as the cut-off date. It is thought this would allow 1.3 million more to enter than the Senate allowed. The obvious compromise has to be to make the cut-off date Jan. 1. 1981. Some think this would affect about 2.2 million.

Some calulate that the total population of these aliens to be about 6 million. The question is would they sive standouts were Chad Flores, Gary Byars and Phillip Shackelford.

The 8th grade team is now would have to show rent receipts, bank pass books, paycheck stubs to prove their length of residence. Would they want their length of residence to be know? They might even be dunned for back taxes. Those who had insufficient documention might in effect be volunteering for deportation. Those who came to the come forward? They would have to be identified. They

U.S. to qualify for citizenship could use false documents. Allen Kaye, a Manhatten immigration lawyer, Time July, 1984) predicts that there would be an unpresdented level of trading in bank deposits and receipts.

Like an occupying army, they take over American jobs. New jobs can't be created fast enough to absorb this army. Texas must also seek means for handling those who cross our borders unlawfully.

Since children born on our soil are citizens there is the probelm of supplying more teachers and teaching them our English language. The children must be fed and clothed, often given government social services.

Some of these aliens bring with them dangerous contagious diseases.

Others of these aliens have brought waves of violence. The communistic country, Cuba, under Fidel Castro saw how easy these illegal aliens can cross our borders, so they have sent hundreds of spies and terrorists into the U.S. Our local state and national governments must cope with these crimes while citizens lives are often endangered.

Once here, many of these aliens get welfare. The money for their support comes from the pocket of the work force in our country. Either we must pay more taxes or make cuts in some of our govenment programs. Once people find they can receive social benefits, they often resist any cuts in their welfare benefits. A more liberal government would give them free social services and place the burden of these services upon thsoe who pay taxes rather than attempt to curtail more free social programs. Should our government take the socialistic idea of taking income from those who work and distribute it more evenly among the people? Aliens who entered our country illegally would benefit from such a policy. Would such a policy in time evolve into bigger government, more control of people's lives, a move away from free enterprise upon which our constitution was formulated? It is something all citizens need to consider.

One of the biggest problems facing the U.S. regarding illegal aliens is providing and also funding the U.S. Border Patrol Because of the many people entering our borders along the 1,800 miles of the border this is of special concern. These Mexican are fleeing poverty and oppression. Can we blame them for seeing U.S. as a land of opportunity?

The House bill says that aliens who qualify for temporary legal residents could claim legal status if they can prove they had learned English and were studying History and Civics. It has not vet been determined how that provision would be enforced.

Aliens given legal status would have to wait five or six years to qualify for most federally funded welfare benefits, such as food stamps and free Medicaid, but they would immediately become eligible for some other Social services. The working estimate of the cost of the Simpson-Mazzol is over $8 billion over five years, but the real figure could go higher. The administration is worried that the cost could exceed $13 billion in only four years.

The most bitterly disputed part of the bill is employer sanctions. Business people would be required to make every applicant produce a passport, birth certificate or Social Security card to prove they are a legal resident in the U.S. Would you mind proving your citizenship in order to be employed? This is one of the ways our government would attempt to control the hiring of illegal aliens. The backers of the bill did withdraw the part of the bill that would fine employers for hiring these unlawful aliens. But the House wants some kind of criminal sanctions in any bill that clears the Senate. Some critics of the Simpson-Mazzoli bill seriously doubt that its approach can work. Some employers, they believe, would pay the fines in order to hire cheap labor and the aliens could easily buy forged legal documents. Some think that even limited amnesty would lure even more aliens across our border in the hope that they could become legal residents in some manner. Immigration experts in Texas note that in the past false rumors of amnesty have brought more over our borders.

Those who oppose the bill, have been unable to come up with a convincing alternatives. Some suggested tighter enforcement by our border patrol. This requires money and possibly a full scale militarization of the border. Many oppose this.

Others suggest we build up the Mexican economy so it could provide security for its citizens. But that is wishful thinking. American voters are in no mood to provide the money. There is no guarantee that the Mexican government would spend the money for their people.

Even though the Simpson Mazzoli approach lacks much to be desired, right or wrong, something has to be done, and nobody can think of anything better. President Reagan is likely to sign it after the House and Senate debate and reach a compromise.

You can make your opinion known to your representatives by calling: Senator Tower at 202-224-2934 or Senator Bensten at 202-224-5922. The White House Opinion number is 202-224-7391

Geologist and photographer, Jim Clark of Abilene, critiqued and judged with unparalleled tact and expertise. Mr. Clark had high praise for all of this year's entries. I think I speak for all those involved in this year's competition in saying Mr. Clark did a fine job juding our contest. Thanks a lot, Mr. Clark!

Although the quantity of entries was small compared to previous years, the quality was excellent. We hope to have a larger turnout next

EASTLAND

EBAA Iron, an Eastland industry which manufactures and sells water supply line couplings to cities and industries around the world, will begin construction of a new 120 ft. by 125 ft. building to house part of its operation. The company employs a total of 65 people at the plant S.E. of Eastland and the branch plant at Frisco. Plans call for the new building to be completed by Jan. 15, 1985, and for more expansion to follow in the years to come. Bob Carroll Co. is presently preparing the site for the new building, and Earl Thompson of Breckenridge will erect it.

Recent traffic surveys made by the State Highway Department have indicated ways of handling traffic congestion in downtown Eastland. Being considered right now is the establishment of marked lanes in the traffic-light area to provide restricted lanes for left turns, right turns, and straight-ahead traffic. This should move traffic through quicker.

Commodities will be distributed in Eastland on Wednesday, Oct. 17. The location will be the Senior Citizen's Center on Park Hill. Distribution will begin at 10 a.m., but from 10 until 12 noon it will be for Senior Citizens only. From 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. all others may come. Cheese and butter will be the only commodities available this time.

GORMAN

Art classes begin the week of Oct. 15 in Gorman. Separate classes will be available for children, teenagers and adults. There will be both daytime and night classes. Lavelle Jobe of Gorman will be the instructor.

Commodities will be distributed in Gorman on Wednesday, Oct. 17 at the Senior Citizen's Center. The time will be 2:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. This time cheese and butter will be the only commodities.

CARBON

The Carbon Golden Exes are having their annual Homecoming this Saturday, Oct. 13. Former students who graduated from or attended school in Carbon fifty or more years ago make up this group. Each year the class who graduated fifty years earlier is the "new" group. This year the Class of 1934 is specially honored. Registration and visitation began at 9:30 Saturday morning.

There will be a distribution of food commodities in Carbon on Thursday, Oct. 18 from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. The place will be at Granny's Grocery. This time the only available commodities will be cheese and butter.

RISING STAR

Rising Star now has its star on top of the city water tower. Contributions are coming in to pay for it, and all are appreciated.

The peanut harvest has begun in the Rising Star area, with Wilburn Caudle bringing the first load to Winfrey Feed and Peanut Co. About 15 to 20 loads have now come in, with the first peanuts looking pretty good. Because of the poor weather conditions, this year's crop will probably be a light one.

Health Care Facility Gets UB-82 Form

For the first time in history, health care facilities have access to a single form which standardizes claims for all major third party payers. It is called UB-82, a comprehensive billing form.

The UB-82 should provide for a quicker processing and dramatic reductions in claims processing costs. Between 80 and 90 percent of health care costs are reimbursed by third party payors, such as Medicare. Medicard, Blue Cross, Blue Shield, etc. Delays in processing such claims can cost a facility from $1,000 to $100,000 per day. The balancing of books also further complicates the

After the more than 25 years of research, health care has found a way to make the system more efficient. Form UB-82 has been adopted by all major payors.

One page in length, the UB-82 answers 96 questions. The completion of the form involves the work of many, since every bit of patient care from diagnosis to recovery is entered on UB-82.

Three sections on the form provide the following information: 1) Provider, patient
