News From The Center

By Mae Green

Mrs. Ruth Brewster will be resigning the duties of administrator of Cisco Nursing Care Center effective January 1.

She is returning to her home in San Antonio to be near her family. She has two grandsons living there - I know she will enjoy watching them grow up.

Mrs. Brewster will be taking on a new job as administrator of Ratoma South nursing home which is a 160-bed facility.

We at Cisco nursing center love and appreciate her for the caring attitude she has - we will miss her, but we know there is no place like home.

Mrs. Brewster, stated that she will take with her many fond memories, and lasting friendships. We will also have many cherished memories of her too. We know that with the loving care that Mrs. Brewster had for our residents, that she will be an asset where ever she goes.

Mrs. Creida Mosley will take on the duties of administrator of Cisco Nursing Care Center effective January 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Mosley moved back home to Ranger from Bridge City. Mrs. Mosley was administrator of a dual facility there consisting of geriatric and M.H./M.R. patients, which housed 106 patients.

Mrs. Mosley is a registered nurse and administrator. We are looking forward to working with her. With her qualifications, we feel that she is more than capable to see to our residents getting the best of care.

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

A NOTE of thanks was received at The Press office from the Kastner family of Abilene. You may remember that the Kastner youth was lost in a hunting incident near here on Dec. 1 and found by volunteers.

The note is as follows: We would like to express our appreciation to the law enforcement agencies and citizens of this area who assisted us in hunting for our son, Cory Don. On December 1st, your response in helping to locate Cory when he was lost on the Childers ranch was greatly appreciated.

Only at a time such as this does one realize a great need for faith in God and for a community of people who were so willing to give of themselves.

Thanks again and may all of you be blessed with a pro-

Historic District Added To Register

The Cisco Historic District was entered in the National Register of Historic Places on November 20th, 1984 according to Peter Flagg Maxson, Chief Architectural Historian for the Texas Historical Commission in Austin. The nomination, sponsored by the Cisco Historical Society, is the result of a five year effort to gain official recognition of Cisco's historic and cultural resources.

Bounded roughly by Conrad Hilton Avenue, Hwy. 80, Avenue K and 3rd Street, the district contains approximately 275 structures. While some Victorian and some modern structures are found in the district, most buildings date from the City's greatest boom period of the 1920s, when the discovery of oil in Eastland County transformed the quiet railroading town into a bustling commercial center. The advent of the Great Depression and lessening of petroleum-related activities has resulted in relatively little new construction in the last fifty years. As a result, the city retains its 1920s character to an unusual degree and contains a fine collection of bungalows and masonry commercial and religious buildings in popular early 20th century architectural styles. The overall cohesiveness of the district is enhanced by brick streets found in many parts of the area.

The Cisco Historic District is one of nearly a thousand National Register properties found throughout Texas. Created by the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, the Register is a nationwide inventory of those properties especially worthy of preservation and recognition because of their historical, architectural or archeological significance.

That program in Texas is administered by the Texas Historical Commission, the State Agency for Historic Preservation.

The National Register offers a measure of protection from the possible impact of federally funded projects. Register properties may also be considered for grant funds to aid in the restoration and preservation of these important sites. Income-producing historic properties may also qualify for the special 25 percent Investment Tax Credit for rehabilitation work. Persons interested in further information on National Register programs or the tax incentives should contact the National Register Department, Texas Historical Commission, P.O. A Navy Within Our Navy... (1st In A Series)

Texas-Named Ship Series

By
ENS Beth Hutko USNR
LCDR Charles R.B. Stowe USNR
N.R. OFFINFO Detachment 310, Houston

An age-old maritime tradition is that naval war vessels are named after famous people, places or events. This tradition continues in today's highly technical Navy. Within the U.S. Navy is a group of ships that proudly carry the banner of Texas tradition. Of the 595 ships currently commissioned in the United States Navy, three are named after famous Texans, five are named after Texas cities, one bears the name of a famous battle in Texas, and a Navy cruiser bears the name Texas, in honor of the Lone Star State.

Of the "Texas" contingent of U.S. Navy ships, the largest is the USS NIMITZ, an aircraft carrier, named after Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, a Texan. Fleet

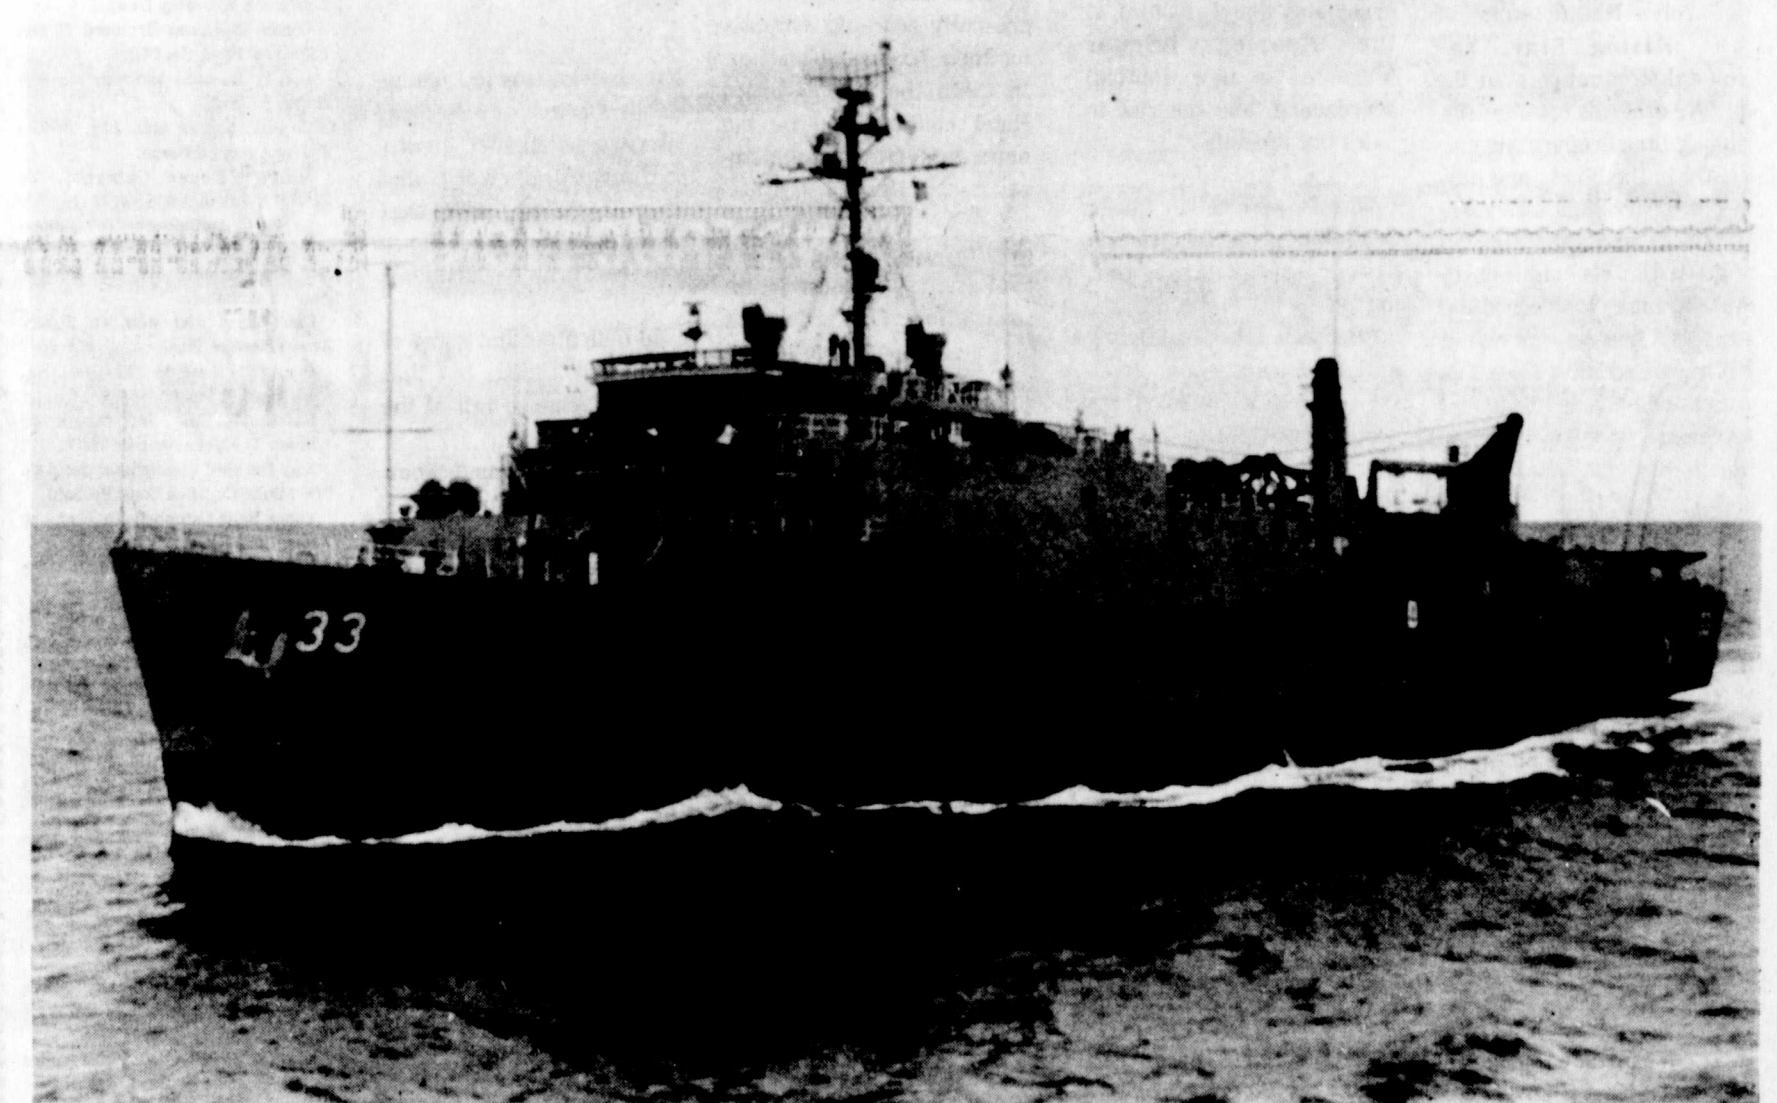

Admiral Nimitz was a famous commander during World War II and was the Navy's last five star admiral. Other famous Texans honored by a ship bearing their name include Sam Houston and Sam Rayburn. Ironically, Sam Houston was a famous Army general and not a Navy hero! Texas history students will recall that Sam Houston commanded the forces that defeated the Mexican Army at the Battle of San Jacinto and served as President of the Republic of Texas. Sam

Rayburn was a more contemporary Texas politician who served as Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives and later as Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Texas history is immortalized by the USS ALAMO, named after that memorable battle in San Antonio in 1836. And, several ships bear the names of major Texas cities: USS CITY OF CORPUS CHRISTI, USS AUSTIN, USS DALLAS, USS EL PASO, and the USS HOUSTON.

Over the next 11 issues, the series "The Navy Within the Navy" will describe the ten ships named after Texas personalities, places and events. These Texas ships represent a diverse group including an aircraft carrier, amphibious landing ship, and submarines. Both peacetime and wartime accomplishments of these "Texas" ships and the history of their predecessors will be covered in future issues.

USS ALAMO (LSD-33)

Remembering The Alamo

Today's Navy has nearly 600 ships in it. Within this number are ten that proudly carry the banner of Texas crowd stormed the jail, took the bandit, tied a rope over a guy wire and lynched him. "His form dangled in the moonlight, and slowly it swung in the chilling wind," the account said, remaining there for 20 minutes before being cut down and taken to the undertakers.

The joy of the Christmas season was dampened that day in Cisco by a robbery described as perhaps the most daring and bloody in the history of bank banditry in Texas. It involved many people - a total of 11 casualties - with violent death and enough high adventure for a metropolis, not to mention the quiet small city of Cisco in Eastland County.

Account of the tragedy by James P. McCracken, late president of the First National Bank, was published in 1958. Dedicating the booklet, he said, "We desire that this booklet shall be dedicated to the memory of those fearless and devoted peace officers who gave their lives in bringing lawlessness before the bar of justice in this unforgettable event." Such bold acts against banks gave substantial public support of the TBA in its crusade for dead bank robbers.

tradition. One of these ships is the USS ALAMO (LSD-33). The ALAMO is a dock landing ship of the Thomaston class, a swift and powerful unit of the U.S. Amphibious Forces in the Pacific. Commissioned in 1956, she was named for the Texas national monument, the Alamo, in San Antonio. She reflects the spirit of the Texas volunteers in 1836.

The ALAMO's primary mission is to transport and control loaded boats, landing craft, vehicles and tanks in early assault waves on enemy beaches. She accomplishes this in a unique manner: the back portion of the ship is lowered into the water a few feet so that the landing craft and other boats, or amphibious tanks, can be floated out and head directly toward the beach.

A secondary mission of the vessel is to act as a boat haven, repairing amphibious craft of all sizes in its after portion (the back) of the ship. This versatility makes the ship in demand by the Marine Corps, and by the Army. Her motto reflects this demand:

"We deliver anything, anytime, anywhere."

The ALAMO was built by Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation in Mississippi. She is 510 feet long, and her well-deck of 395 feet by 48 feet can be flooded to a depth of 10 feet. The ALAMO is able to carry three very large landing craft, known as LCUs, or 20 medium-sized craft (LCM), or 40 smaller craft (LCVP). As many as 100 two-and-one-half ton trucks used in combat, can be transported at one time. The ALAMO carries a crew of 21 officers and 384 enlisted personnel. She is capable of transporting a Marine Corps unit of 29 officers and 272 troops, plus nine staff officers, in addition to the ship's crew.

Navy ships have always played an important role in aiding victims of disaster, and the ALAMO is no exception. In October 1962, she delivered emergency relief supplies to typhoon-stricken Guam.

Similar missions throughout USS ALAMO's 28-year career ensure that, like her namesake, the United States will "Remember the Alamo."

She continues her mission today serving in the Pacific Fleet from her homeport of San Diego, California.

YOUR DECISION IS EASIER NOW ...because Texans have new laws which made the intoxicated driver more responsible for his or her actions. The back doors in the criminal justice system which allowed repeat offenders to escape meaningful punishment have been closed.

The New Year - Another Milestone For County

by Viola Payne
Time is measured by years - so we have to come to another milestone. The ending of 1984, like that of years past, brings up the question of where we have been in the past and where we are going.

To get some of the answers on an area level I checked with community leaders and County Judge Scott Bailey, who stays in touch with a wide scope of activities.

I found everyone generally up-beat, with the feeling that things are going to work out great. The rains which began in October have done a lot to alleviate the water problem, which was of great concern during the summer.

Randy Speegle, manager of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, says that things are looking up for that town.

"We can point to a number of improvements during 1984" he says. "The new water filtration system, for one thing, has made a vast amount of difference.

"The acquiring of a new physician, Dr. Boersma, has been of great benefit to the town. The close ties of Hendricks Hospital in Abilene with our Gram Memorial Hospital has kept our facility one of the best.

"We don't ever forget the importance of Cisco Junior College, which is actually one of the largest industries in Eastland County. The high academic standards at CJC have made it one of the top Junior Colleges anywhere."

Carolyn Ratliff, editor of The Rising Star, has favorable comments on the progress of this town in 1984. Rising Star is operating currently in the black, and paying off past obligations when possible. And the town, in spite of the economic hardships of many farmers in the area, has had a sharp rise in retail sales during 1984. This may be partly tied to the oil business in the vicinity, which has continued to be good.

The erection of a large star on the water tower has been a source of pride and pleasure. This star was decorated for the holidays.

Roy Underwood, city manager of Eastland, has plenty of good news about the growth of Eastland and its potential for the future.

"We had almost a 40% rise in retail sales tax revenue for 1984!" He exclaims. "It's hard to match that. Our big McDonalds came in during the year, and a number of shops in two new shopping centers on East Highway 80. Another shopping center is under construction out there right now.

"Eastland is in excellent financial condition, with no indebtedness. We have been doing a lot of street work in 1984, and will continue with this and with water lines - trying to keep up with growth."

Future plans are very exciting, he says. A community-civic center for Eastland is under consideration. A possible 40 executive-type apartments are in the planning stage. The utility companies and city officials have approved the development of Judge Jim Wright's property off East Highway 80.

"With interest rates coming down, you're going to see things really take off around here," he predicts.

There is such a thing as the Spirit of Ranger! So says Jeanne Mackey, editor of The Ranger Times. That spirit shows itself in such things as the beautiful Christmas decorations throughout the town this season, the fine high school band, the football team and many other ways.

Talented Mrs. Mackey is herself part of the Ranger news for 1984. She became the editor of the Times in September, 1984. She had previously worked on the staff.

She says that probably the biggest news story in Ranger this year was the acquiring of a large grant by the city for the upgrading of water lines. This work is underway.

The Ranger Volunteer Fire Department added to its equipment in 1984. The group purchased a new fire truck, a foam machine, and new uniforms.

Other highlights of the year were Mayor Hart's work toward getting an AM-TRAK train through this area, and many visitors at the Roaring Ranger Museum, a new football scoreboard, and the rise in sales tax receipts.

When I went to see Judge Scott Bailey in his office, a light of warm rain was falling outside.

"Rain is the big story now," he commented, looking up from a stack of correspondence. "It's been a tough past year, and the agricultural outlook is still slim. Our disaster area proclamation has been extended into 1985. But at least we're getting some water in the ground and some in the area lakes. I understand they have a one-year supply at least, with more rain predicted."

Eastland County, Judge Bailey said, is operating in the black, and is continuing to make payments on the new jail. In the year 1990 the building will be completely paid for. The latest inspection, like all others, has found this facility to be in compliance with all state and federal standards.

"The oil business has continued to be a big factor in this county," Judge Bailey noted. "It has brought in a lot of revenue, helping us in various ways.

There has been some depletion in shallow oil, but there's still quite a bit of drilling around Nimrod N.E. of Cisco, north of Olden, and around the edge of old Ranger boom field.

"In this way this has been a bad time for small operators and investors, however, due to the drop in the price of oil. This should begin to stabilize.

"Due to the oil and gas activity," he said, "Eastland County has been less affected than other places by the cutbacks in Federal and State funding on various things. But I believe the time has come when we are going to have to meet our services and needs on a local level as much as possible. This year we established a multi-purpose center just north of oil jail to assist people.

"I am really proud of our Senior Citizens' program here in the county, too. Every major town around here now has a Nutrition Program for the elderly. Our semi-retired people are still active in community and civic affairs, and add a lot to the quality of life here."

Judge Bailey, as chairman of the County Historical Society, hoped that some Eastland County family would qualify during 1984 for the Family Land Heritage Award. None did, however, and none are presently working with him on gathering necessary data.

There was other historical news in the county, however. A Historical Marker was dedicated to the First Methodist Church in Rising Star in 1984, and the Long Branch Baptist Church is presently working on data for their Historical Marker. In Cisco the Mobley-Hilton Hotel continues to be big news, with restoration planned during 1985.

Some of the work around the county has been remodeling rather than restoration. The Eleventh Court of Appeals has refurbished quarters on the 4th and 5th floors of the Courthouse. Personnel has been increased, and data processing added. Judge Bailey noted that this assists in the handling of a bigger work load with more efficiency.

The year 1984 will be remembered for a long time as the year in which a lot of legislation concerning schools was enacted. Judge Bailey's comments on these laws were that they greatly increase paperwork and documentation, and that technical and vocational education may be curtailed.

schools was enacted. Judge Bailey's comments on these laws were that they greatly increase paperwork and documentation, and that technical and vocational education may be curtailed.

He indicated that some of this is surprising, but that life itself can be full of the unexpected.

"We really cannot know what 1985 will hold, he said. "This world is changing, and it is bound to affect us here. But we can take care of what we have, and keep on making this a good place to live. That is bound to bring some results."

Ranger Man Charged With Possession

Sunday, December 30, 1984
Thursday, January 3, 1985

A Ranger man, in his early twenties, has been charged with possession of marijuana after he was stopped by Department of Public Safety Trooper Hernando Hernandez, Jr. about one mile west of Ranger on IH 20 about 9 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 27.

He had been stopped for failure to illuminate license plate.

Upon searching his 1980 Chevrolet pickup, officers found approximately 1 1/2 pounds of marijuana in six clear freezer type plastic bags inside brown paper bag behind the seat.

The subject's name is being withheld pending further investigation. The pickup was also seized.

Many of the bodies are on display in the Naples Museum, they are hard as rock, three were on display in glass cases as we went thru the cities. A dog was also on display.

"I think the majority of Pompeii's victims have not been found," said Dr. DeCaro. "They are still out there waiting, beyond the city gates. They were in flight."

Some excavation is being done, but the government does not have the money to purchase existing homes that were built above Pompeii and Herculaneum.

"My thoughts go back to Herculaneum's buried theatre, and for a moment I sense the thrill that must have greeted those early excavators. Imagine such vivid images emerge as you are scraping in the dark deep underground."

Did the excavators, I wonder, notice the eyes in these paintings, and statues? So many stare vacantly ahead. They remind me of the impassive face imprinted in the pyroclastic flow in the theatre. These faces do not express much joy. Often they seem to be asking whatever gods are listening why there must be such sorrow in the world. From those eyes flow a sadness that sums up the fate of this "loveliest region of the earth" that makes me want to say, Alas poor Portia, alas Pompeio, alas Herculaneum."

First Monday

After leaving Pompeii, we visited a cameo factory, "Torre Del Greco", at Cammel. There were many tourists there, however the show rooms were large, with many display cases down the center of the rooms. The clerks were most helpful, and a few did speak English.

We were told that no two cameos are alike. Many of the cameos in the rings, bracelets, necklaces, earrings, and pins were the pale pink cameos. They are made from the pink seashell. Some are made from glass, onyx, sardonyx, and agate. Cameo is a gem carved with figures that are raised, or in "relief". The term often refers to a gem that has layers of different colors. The figures are cut from one layer against a background layer of another color. A famous example of a cameo in glass is the Barberini Vase in the British museum. It was made in Rome in 100 B.C.

Our next stop was Paestum. In the hauntingly impressive, vast landscape of the plain of the river Silarus, near the southeast coast of the Gulf of Salerno, the ruins of great walls encircle a group of Doric temples, which are among the best-preserved and most majestic of the ancient Greek world. On this site arose "Poseidonia", the city dedicated to Neptune, founded in the 7th century, B.C., by Sbyarite colonists, or as legend would have it, by the hero Jason, leader of the Argonauts.

Poseidonia became one of the most important cities of Magna Graecia, raising within its walls the splendid temples which still today are the fitting monuments of a great metropolis.

In 273 B.C., the Romans conquered the entire peninsula, and the city was renamed Paestum.

Under Rome the city enjoyed a long period of prosperity, and had much commerce in oil and cereals. Many other grand buildings rose such as the Forum, the Baths, the Amphitheatre and the Italic Temple. It was also one of the first centers of Christian faith in Campania.

After the fall of the Roman Empire in 476 it shared the fate of the rest of Italy, conquest and occupation, first by the Germanic tribes, and then by the Saracens.

More than 15 centuries of invasions did not succeed in destroying Paestum; instead this way achieved by an insidious and in those days invincible enemy: malaria.

This was caused by the raising of the coast, causing the mouth of the nearby Sele river to fill with sand, with the result that the water flowing down from the treeless mountains had no access to the sea and remained stagnated behind, creating a marshland.

The people gradually abandoned the water-logged plain for the mountains, out of the reach of the malaria, with only a few resigned to their fate, remaining huddled around the Temple of Ceres which had become a Christian church.

In the 9th century the remaining population deserted the city for the nearby highlands, founding the city of Capaccio, and Paestum became a source of building materials for the new centers of habitation.

Paestum the superb was now a dead city.

Brambles, scrub and the ever-present swamps invaded and covered the remaining stones, and Paestum was completely forgotten by man. Centuries of oblivion.

Until 1746, when the Bourbon Charles III ordered the opening up of a carriage way (now state highway 18) and before the wondering eyes of engineers and workmen there emerged from the tangled scrub marbles, sculptures, great walls, and powerful columns, testimonies of a lost civilization.

Thus the city of Neptune was rediscovered, and the interest of writers, archeologists and artists immediately kindled: Goethe, Paoli, Winkelemann, Souffot, Saint-Nou, Piranesi and many others. The stones were freed from their thick blanket of earth and vegetation, the first timid digs were undertaken, the monuments studied, surveys conducted.

In 1907 excavation was resumed on a more rational basis and continued (except during the wars) until our own times. Thus have come to light, tombs, precious objects, marble articles, to the extent that Paestum now boasts the most important complex of Greek Sculpture in Magna Graecia.

Paestum still remains today one of the most moving archeological sites, one of the most fascinating testimonies to the past in Italy. Surrounded by the sweeping landscape that reaches to the Alburni mountains and the golden sands of the Tyrrenia, it is still worthy of the admiration it instilled in Virgil (the place where the roses bloom twice over) in Ovid, in Propertius, in Martial and Tasso.

MODE O'DAY

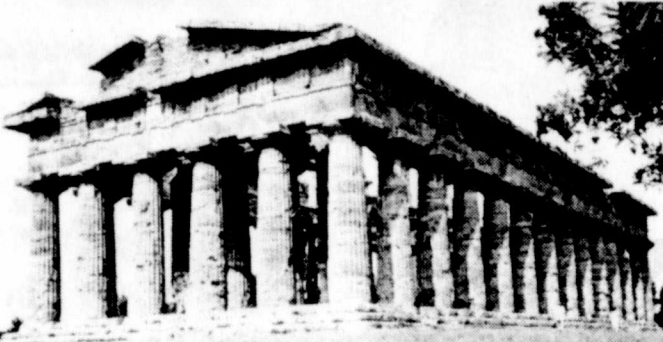

101 Lamar - Eastland

"This morning (March 23, 1787) together with Kniep, a most able draughtsman, I went to Paestum— My first impression and how could it be otherwise? was one of complete amazement. I found myself in a completely alien world, because the eyes of our times are attracted to slender, delicate architectural forms and these great masses of stone and imposing columns have a terribly daunting effect.

But I soon came to myself, thinking back to those far-off times when such an architecture was fitting and proper, and I felt myself reconciled. I thanked my good geni for having brought me to such a place, to see with my own eyes these wonderfully preserved remains, this sense of fullness of life which the architect sought and so admirably created— (Goethe, Journeys in Italy)

Paestum is a magnificent sight from the distance, with its majestic columns and the imposing facades within the enclosing circle of the great walls, one of the most complete and renowned systems of fortification in the ancient world.

There are four gates, still standing, and the fourth gate, called the Porta Marina, is the best preserved. There are two towers while inside are the great vestibule with its powerful walls, and the guards' keep; a stairway leads up to the sentry walks, from which one may see a wide panorama of the Gulf of Salerno.

Next we saw the Gynnasium which contained a huge swimming pool, and a kind of underwater "labyrinth."

The Temple of Neptune and the Basilica can be seen from the west. The monument is of imposing yet so harmonious one is struck more by the elegance of the whole than by its mass.

The Temple of Ceres was constructed a little later than the Basilica, and is the smallest of the three Doric temples of Paestum.

The interior (converted into a Christian church during the middle ages) is very simple.

The Paestum Museum was built in 1952 and much of the materials and furnishings from the temples are on display here. Later that afternoon we attended our first military ceremony honoring members of the 36th Division.

The 6th fleet band furnished military music.

On their first combat mission, 36th Division troops under the command of Major General Fred L. Walker became the first American division to invade the European mainland and test Hitler's continental fortress. Before the dawn of Thursday morning, September 9, 1943, without previous naval or air bombardment, the leading waves stepped ashore on the sandy beaches near ancient Paestum.

Invading troops faced imposing Mount Soprano. In the plain below were olive orchards, orange groves and well-cultivated fields. The Ancient Temple of Neptune marked the only settlement on the plain at Paestum. At the medieval Paestum tower German machine gunners and snipers fired from the balcony

Year-end Review By TP & WD

The weather hit the state's wildlife and fishery resources a vicious one-two punch during 1984, but Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials believe the year was a banner on for the agency's various programs.

Record low temperatures at the turn of the new year followed by a worsening of drought conditions by summer combined to reduce populations of both fish and wildlife in many areas.

Along the coast, the freeze was fatal to thousands of game fish trapped in the shallow bay waters, including an estimated 90,000 redfish and 567,000 spotted seatrout.

This prompted the Parks and Wildlife Commission to adopt emergency regulations reducing bag and possession limits on redfish and trout by half and increasing minimum length limits on redfish from 16 inches to 18 and on trout from 12 to 14 inches.

These emergency regulations were adopted on a permanent basis later in the year after surveys indicated the freeze damage was just as severe as early evaluations indicated.

Wildlife species such as quail also suffered losses, as surveys indicated the statewide quail population plummeted to its lowest ebb in more than 10 years. Turkeys also experienced poor reproductive success, but the bad weather failed to significantly reduce the numbers of mature birds. Pheasant populations in the Panhandle were down as well because of poor nesting success.

The year ended on a positive note, as widespread rains during the fall revitalized the habitat and may have set the stage for a rebound if normal amounts of rainfall occur during the winter and spring.

Officials believe one of the top conservation stories of 1984 was acquisition of the Stofor-McNell Trust, a 1,700-acre marsh area in Clahoun County. It was significant in that it was the first waterfowl habitat acquisition from funds raised through the sale of State Waterfowl Stamps and Prints.

The tract, to be operated as a wildlife management area, provides habitat for a wide variety of aquatic and terrestrial wildlife species in addition to waterfowl.

Another significant accomplishment of 1984 was completion of the department's first Six-Year Plan, designed to provide planning and direction for the agency during that period. Conservation organizations, sportsmen and other interested individuals were given the opportunity to provide input for the plan during public hearings.

The following are some of the other significant news events of 1984 affecting the department's four program divisions -- wildlife, fisheries, law enforcement and parks:

WILDLIFE
--The Stofor-McNell Trust was not the only 1984 habitat acquisition financed by Texas Sportsmen. A 102-acre tract of native brushland in Cameron County was purchased with funds from the sales of White-winged Dove Stamps. This was the fourth whitewing habitat purchase in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and it brings the 12 units of the Las Palomas Wildlife Management Area to a total acreage of 1,314.

--The department conducted the first controlled alligator hunting season in Texas Sept. 7-23, with a total harvest of 437 of the reptiles taken from selected portions of 11 Southeast Texas counties.

--The department accepted a bid during July for production of the state's first Nongame Print, Stamp and Decal program. Patterned after the highly successful state waterfowl stamp, the nongame stamps, prints and decals will provide an exclusive funding source for programs aiding nongame and endangered species in the state. Legislation authorizing the program also empowered the department to accept private contributions and grants for the fund, and to accept income and easements, mineral leases, grazing leases and sale of products from lands purchased with money from the fund.

--The department's desert bighorn sheep restoration program in the Trans-Pecos region of West Texas took a big step forward in 1984 with the birth of 17 lambs in a brood pasture on the Sierra Diablo Wildlife Management Area near Van Horn. Although six lambs died of parainfluenza, the survivors were inoculated and officials are confident the growing herd will eventually provide enough animals for release in the wild. Officials are grateful for the support from the Texas Bighorn Society and several other sportsmen's groups for providing money and manpower to construct the 40-acre brood facility.

--The Wildlife Division provided hunting opportunities for a record number of hunters on its wildlife management area hunts in 1984, with 5,340 permits issued for gun deer hunters on 14 areas, a 61 percent increase in permits over the year before. Hunting also was allowed for a wide variety of other game species on the areas.

FISHERIES
--The department's John Wilson Redfish Hatchery at Flour Bluff had an outstanding year in 1984, producing more than 7,140,000 redfish fingerlings for stocking in Texas bays. A third spawn in late December was expected to push the year's total production well over 7,102,000 fingerlings produced in 1983. The hatchery construction was funded by the Gulf Coast Conservation Association, and the site and heated water were provided by Central Power and Light Co. of Corpus Christi.

--Biologists produced the first-ever hybrid cross between native Texas spotted seatrout (speckled trout) and the orangemouth corvina from California's Salton Sea. During July 12,000 fingerling-sized hybrids were stocked at Calaveras Lake near San Antonio, and within four months fishermen were catching the sporty fish which had grown to a length of as much as 12 inches.

--The department expanded its rainbow trout stocking program to include three additional state park lakes during 1984. State parks currently offering trout fishing are Buescher, Tyler, Meridian, Bonham, Daingerfield and Lake Mineral Wells. In addition to the state parks, trout were placed in five public fishing areas.

--Final plans were approved during 1984 for a $4.8 million renovation project at the department's San Marcos Fish Hatchery. When completed in 1985, the refurbished hatchery will be among the nation's most modern facilities for game fish production. The facility initially will be used to produce rainbow trout, smallmouth bass and catfish.

--The Department's fish hatcheries produced a record 3.5 million striped bass and 2.6 million striped/white bass hybrid fingerlings for stocking in the state's reservoirs during 1984. Officials said improved fish culture techniques, including pond fertilization and monitoring, allowed a more than 300 percent increase in per-acre production from the hatchery ponds. Stripers were stocked in eight large reservoirs, while hybrids were placed in 17 smaller lakes.

--The department obtained two new game fish species for possible future introductions in Texas' freshwater lakes. Biologists are studying 15 summer flounder from Delaware at the Heart O' the Hills Research Station at Ingram. The flounder reportedly grow to large sizes and have high tolerance for both fresh water conditions and cold weather. A fast-growing strain of walleye found in the Tennessee Valley also is under study for possible introduction.

--Department officials were pleased during 1984 that the Texas Water Commission granted their request for 10,000 acre-feet of water to be released from the Lake Texana Dam near Edna. It was the first ever release of impounded water intended solely to benefit a Texas coastal estuarine system. Dry weather had raised salinities to high levels in the Lavaca River marshes and Lavaca Bay, threatening white shrimp and other marine species.

LAW ENFORCEMENT
--The department's Operating Game Thief program completed its third successful year of operation during 1984. OGT gives individuals the opportunity to report game and fish law violators by calling toll-free 1-800-792-GAME, and disburses monetary rewards to callers whose information leads to convictions for flagrant violations. Since the program's inception in 1981, more than 2,000 calls have been received. Of these, 255 resulted in the arrest of 532 violators and 916 convictions were obtained for a total of $114,704 in fines collected.

PARKS
--Brazos Bend State Park opened to the public during 1984. The 4,897-acre park is located near Needville, about 28 miles south of Houston. Formerly known as Hale Ranch, the park offers full picnic and camping facilities as well as trails and fishing piers. Development was tailored to preserve the site's abundant wildlife resources, which include more than 225 species of birds, alligators and a variety of other reptiles, mammals and fish.

--The popular Enchanted Rock State Natural Area between Llano and Fredericksburg was reopened in 1984 after renovation and construction of parking facilities. The 400-foot-tall granite boulder is one of the state's most recognizable landmarks, and a popular gathering for rock climbers.

--An outstanding historic structure also was opened to the public during 1984. The Fulton Mansion State Historic Structure is a three-story mid-Victorian period mansion which overlooks Aransas Bay at Fulton. The house has been restored, and all furnishings are authentic to the period when the house's builder, George Ware Fulton, lived there in the late 1800s.

SOCIAL SECURITY

People planning their family insurance protection should be sure to figure in the value of their Social Security survivors benefits. The program provides partial replacement of the earnings lost because of the death of the working member of the household for the surviving members of the family.

Among those who may qualify for benefits are:

- Unmarried child under 18, or at any age if disabled before age 22.
- Disabled widow or widower or disabled surviving divorcee spouse age 50.
- Dependent surviving parent age 62.
- Widow, widower or divorced spouse at any age with surviving child under 16 or disabled in his or her care.

An aged or disabled surviving divorced spouse can get benefits if the marriage to the deceased lasted 10 years or more. Retroactive benefits may be paid in certain cases where a person does not apply for survivors benefits when he or she first becomes eligible. However, such back benefits are generally limited to 6 months. And people under age 65 cannot usually get back benefits.

A lump-sum benefit of $225 is payable to an eligible widow or widower or to a child entitled to benefits on the deceased's earnings record.

The amount of the benefits depend on the average annual earnings of the wage earner over his or her working life. The average benefit currently being paid to a young surviving family, including a nonworking spouse with two children in his or her care, is $953. The average benefit for an aged widow or widower is $399.

People who need additional information on survivors benefits should be sure to call or visit a Social Security office. The Abilene office is located at 142 S. Pioneer. The Phone Number is 698-1360.

BIBLE STUDY

OFFERED IN CISCO

The Hardin-Simmons University's Lay Academy will offer Old Testament Introduction in Cisco this Spring. The Lay Academy is a program designed specifically for adults who desire to learn more about the Bible, Theology, Christian History, and other aspects of the Christian faith.

The Lay academy is a program of the Logson School of Theology which has come about through the vision and the hard work of Dr. H.K. Neely, dean of the Logson School of Theology and a Cisco native. This program will assist a local church or group of churches to provide educational opportunities for the members and other interested persons which might not be otherwise available. Working with Dr. Neely and Dr. James Shields, director of the Lay Academy, are Cisco pastors Buddy Sipe, Ronnie Shackelford, and Cecil Deadman.

Each course will consist of 12 clock hours of study; for example, two hours per week for six weeks. The student in the Academy should be able to function at high school level competency but there are no other admission requirements since these courses will not lead toward a university degree, but rather toward Lay Academy Awards. When the student has completed the five courses, he will receive a Lay Academy Achievement Award. The Lay Academy Scholars Award will be presented to those who complete ten classes.

The classes will be taught by professors from the Logson School of Theology. The first class to be offered in Cisco, Old Testament Introduction, will meet at the East Cisco Baptist Church on Thursday evening 7-9 p.m., January 24th - February 28th.

Cost for any Lay Academy course is $30.00. There is also

(This column is being reprinted from the Sunday, December 23, 1984 edition of the Eastland Telegram. The column is written by H.V. O'Brien, owner of Eastland County Newspapers, Inc.)

TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE: That's what this issue is -- a combined publication of the Sunday, Dec. 23rd, and Thursday, Dec. 27th, issues... We've elected to take this route for the first time to facilitate: (1) Christmas holidays for employees; and (2) preparations for moving into the new building. We'll repeat the combined process the following week, when we deliver a combined Sunday, Dec. 30 and Thursday, Jan. 3rd issue.

As it now stands, and barring unforeseen difficulties, we'll begin the transfer of front offices, composing room and computer equipment into the new building on Monday, Dec. 31, and proceed with the move AND PUBLISHING PAPERS that week, with the schedule calling for the actual move of the pressroom equipment and presses beginning when we're finished printing on Friday, Jan. 4th. That means that representatives from the NewsKing Press Co. out of Joplin, Mo., will be here to start dismantling the Jolly Green Giant, and a rigging company will be standing by to start the move out of this building, down the alley and into the new building, where the installers will begin immediately levelling, setting, re-installing and testing the press over that weekend and into the next week, hopefully having us ready to print again on Tuesday, Jan. 8. It's a day shorter than they'd like to make the change, but by working over the weekend and nights maybe it can be done without interruption. (Yes, there are back-up plans to print at our neighbors' plant in Graham in case something goes wrong.)

All of this requires careful coordination of craftsmen including electricians, plumbers, and assorted specialists who hopefully will help make it work for us.

So the Telegram will be "open for business" in its present location on the 26th and 28th, even though we may be packing boxes as we do our regular work. Then on New Year's Eve Monday we'll begin the actual transfer, and our phones (same number: 629-1707) will be on at both locations. On New Year's Day (Tuesday) we'll probably move some, watch parades and football some, and eat blackeyed peas some. Beginning the second, we'll still pretty much be between both places with phones working at both sites.

We naturally hope that the sidewalking and curbing can be finished before we move in, but there's still the weather threat. So we'll see.

After we're in and functioning, we have some exciting plans afoot regarding publication schedules and number of editions, but our first goal is to get in.

If all goes well, we want to invite one and all to visit and tour the new building on Sunday, Jan. 27th, when we'll be hosting an open house so everyone can inspect the new publishing and office facilities. We'll keep you posted but you might want to mark the date.

Our late mother was not necessarily superstitious, but she did have a "lot of sayings," one of which was: "What you do on New Year's Day, you'll be doing all year long."

Heaven forbid!

Putnam News
By Mrs. R.B. Taylor

Winter officially came in yesterday, with the temperatures in the 60s. Do you remember a year ago when the temperature was around 0 degrees and everything covered with ice and snow?

I just now went out in my yard and cut a beautiful rose! They keep blooming!! I keep thinking every one will be the last.

No sick folks that I have heard of. But I am so sorry to hear of the death of Ola McCoy who was buried at Belle Plain Cemetery Wednesday. I knew Ola when she was a little country school teacher at Bayou and later married Will McCoy who were our neighbors. My deepest sympathy goes to the family.

Also we heard yesterday that Neil Norred of Big Spring had been killed in a car wreck. His parents ran a Dry Goods store at Putnam during the "Boom" days and Neil grew up here. He will be buried here.

I was happy to meet up with Delores (Sargeant) Star of near Cisco this past week. Delores grew up in Putnam. Gayle and Christi Isenhower of Coleman visited Ollie Burman last Saturday. Ollie is expecting all of her family home this weekend.

Ronald Green and Dale Isenhower of Coleman, Martin Isenhower of Putnam, and Dennis Petty of Eastland, left Wednesday for the ski slopes in Colorado where they will spend a week.

Mrs. Virginia Stephens of Cisco visited Maxie Solomon this week.

John Weeks of Baylor University is home for the holidays. The G.W. Weeks are also expecting all their family home for Christmas in their newly reconstructed home here.

Mrs. Myrtle Wilks spent a few days at Humana Hospital at Abilene for tests. She is with her son Norris at Baird for a while.

Miss Laverne Rutherford, local Postmistress, and John Ila Clark of Abilene, are going to Big Springs Saturday to visit Raymond Clark in the Veterans Hospital there. Raymond grew up in Putnam and lived here for years.

Rev. and Mrs. Jackie Willoughby had lunch with the Calvin Kings Sunday.

Visiting Arnold Pruett recently have been Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Pruett and daughter from San Diego, California and Barbara Hodges from Hurst, Texas. They all enjoyed playing "42".

Most of the Taylor family will be at our home at Putnam Sunday. We all wish for our many friends a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

 Approximately fifty American Legion and Auxiliary members with members of their families enjoyed a Christmas Party at the American Legion Hall on Tuesday night, Dec. 18. A variety of sandwiches, cookies, chips and dip, coffee and punch, was enjoyed, followed by the exchange of gifts from a beautifully decorated Christmas tree. The hall was beautifully decorated carrying out the Christmas Theme.

Old Santa made his appearance, and brought greetings from the North Pole. Popcorn was enjoyed during the exchange of gifts. The Post Commander, Hubert Brewster and Auxiliary President, Shirley Brewster, thanked those present for their attendance and welcomed everyone.

A SIGN in the yard at 1206 West 9th Street on the morning of Christmas Eve said: "Cecil Deadman is 39 today."

That, of course, meant that the Rev. Deadman, pastor of East Cisco Baptist Church, had reached another milestone and friends were reminding one and all that the popular minister had cause for celebration.

Across the street a little later a sign went up that said: "So What - Grandma's 78 today."

And that meant that Mrs. Lillian Hansen, 1205 West 9th Street, had some grandchildren in town who were proud of her long years of good life - of being a good grandmother, a good neighbor and a good citizen.

Here to help celebrate the birthday and Christmas next day were the three Hansen daughters - Dixie Crosby of San Angelo, Jeannette Flood of Seymour and, of course, Jeanne Lee of Cisco. Dixie is married to Lonnie Crosby who is a golf course building contractor, and Jeannette's husband Foy Flood is superintendent of schools at Seymour. And everybody knows the Lees of Cisco.

HOLIDAY VISITORS in the Sutton Crofts home included their two daughters, Dot Mittel of Arlington and Carolyn Webster of Fort Worth... Mrs. Ed Bradshaw's two sisters, from down south came last Tuesday for a holiday season visit in the Bradshaw home... Mrs. Ethel Ellis of Woodson was among holiday guests in the home of her brother, Marshall Jones... Mark Heidenheimer, assistant district attorney of Taylor County (Abilene), spent Saturday and Monday working in his dad's Heidenheimer's Department Store here.

WINTER OFFICIALLY

began Dec. 21st and without the bite that it sometimes has had when it starts... Some 25 inmates ate Christmas dinner at the County Jail last Tuesday noon. And the menu was somewhat better than the usual good meal, our scouts report... The F.W. Burkmans of San Antonio were Christmas visitors with home folks in Cisco, Lueders and Albany. Mr. FWB, retired Army, is doing splendidly after undergoing open heart surgery early in the year. He's real busy a lot of these days as a member of the left-handed golfer's association.

THE STAFF OF the Cisco Nursing Center enjoyed a Christmas party on Thursday night of last week. They enjoyed a dinner and program that featured Mr. Jasper Cook... And old Santa Claus (in the person of Mr. Neal Moore) dropped in last Friday afternoon when residents of Cisco Nursing Center held their Christmas party. A large crowd of relatives and friends of Center residents enjoyed the affair... Mr. O.L. Stamey went over to Abilene for Christmas day with son Joe and family. Mr. OLS's grandson got his college diplomas at mid-term.

CHRISTMAS IN Big D with daughter Ann and family was enjoyed by Mrs. W.B. (Polly) Wright of our town... Hear that both Steve Thomas and Bennie Nichols, who were a basketball refereeing team for a number of years, will be back with their striped shirts and whistles next year. Both were out this year with health problems... Members of the Cisco Lions Club gave President Bob Conner a turkey for Christmas, and Sweetheart Shawn Fisher received a pretty package at the luncheon last week. Lions didn't meet Dec. 26th.

OUTSIDE LIGHTS are real nice these holiday season nights at the Gene Childers home, 1605 Avenue N. Pretty candles glow in all windows... Mrs. Thelma Bosworth, who underwent surgery on a hand at Abilene, got home in time for Christmas... And Mr. Tom Smartt, whose Avenue N home is gaily decorated for the season, got out of an Abilene hospital and home on Christmas Eve. He suffered a heart attack a week or so ago and isn't supposed to have company for a time... Mrs. Bill (Odessa) Collins, who underwent surgery last week, was reported to be doing nicely. Daughters Maedean and Charlotte and families were Christmas visitors in the Collins home.

MR. WALLACE Johnston, the good golfer, underwent surgery over in Big D last week and is reported to be making good progress... Saw Ed Pugliese, junior high school coach at Palmer, visiting his mother, Mrs. Ruth Pugliese, and friends here for Christmas... The Bill Adlings of Lubbock were weekend visitors in the home of his parents, the Harold Adlings, and with her parents in Abilene... Iris Tipton, teacher at Big Spring, and Meg Reynolds, teacher at Childress, are visiting home folks... Saw Mrs. Trixie Whatley with her Hobbs, New Mexico, daughter in town on Christmas Eve.

ONE OF THE prettiest cars in town is the 1958 Edsel convertible that Herman Akers of the Akers Auto Supply Store is driving around town these days. He has been restoring it for some 20 years and it's real spic and span and runs good. Herman collects Edsels and has several others in various states of repair... Mrs. Wesley Valek wears a half dollar on a neck chain that was made in the year of her birth. You will have to ask her the date on it... The Valeks planned a visit with home folks in East Texas for Christmas.

MR. HOWARD Thompson, who runs the farm implement business out on I-20 at the Rising Star Highway, reports that their three sons got home for Christmas. The Thompsons had two beef yearlings butchered a few days ago and divided the meat four ways as a Christmas gift for each family.

Mr. Thompson, who suffered a heart attack last April, reports that he is doing nicely. When he goes for his daily mile walk the three kittens that live at their house go with him. Mr. Thompson tells us that he has figured out the difference between Republicans and Democrats. Republicans think its right to do wrong while Democrats think it wrong to do right. We didn't ask him which side of the fence he lines up on.

THE NEW CAR that was the Christmas present for Derward and Emma Morris talks to you. Shut off the engine and a voice reminds you to take out the key and lock the doors. Start the engine and the same voice tells you to fasten your seat belts and then adds "All systems are go" if there are no problems.

We had been acquainted with cars that make buzzing noises to remind you to fasten up and so forth but this was our first experience with a car that has a voice.

We met Derward's bird dog Ginger who is very obedient, indeed. He puts out her food, for example, and she won't touch it until he gives the signal. And his whistle is her command while out hunting quails.

Christmas visitors in the Morris home included sons Monte and Mike and family and daughter Melody.

THE RICHARD (Butch) Donovans, who live up Washington, D.C., way where he works as a scientist, are Christmas season visitors in the home of his parents, the Dick Donovans, and her parents, the Bernard Campbells of Eastland... Mrs. Kitty McCracken drew a bridge hand with 10 trumps, including 100 honors, at a party the other day... Frank Spangler, who runs the Kamon House Print Shop, is studying with a Baird artist several nights a month to learn more about the air brush, with which he is pretty proficient.

the home of the E.L. Jacksons included daughters Eugenia and Pat and sons Eddie and Robert and a number of grandchildren... The George Callarmans and son Steve of Grand Prairie visited his mother, Mrs. Dovie Callarman, here last Sunday. And the Eldon Callarmans of Big Spring came to see her last Saturday... Mrs. Lois Whitaker visited her children in Dallas and Allen for Christmas... Mr. Ted Rogers, who runs the big press that prints this newspaper, was a day older on Christmas Eve. His present said: "Merry Christmas and Happy Birthday" like always... Mrs. Jack (Fay) Stephenson and son Charles went over to Kentucky to spend Christmas with her son and his brother, Jacky.

PROSPERO Ano Nuevo, you'all!

Taking

Medications Safely

Elderly people who take many medications may be tempted to crush or mix pills so they will be easier to swallow.

But now all medications can be safely treated this way, cautions gerontologist Dr. Judith Warren.

Some tablets are coated to conceal the unpleasant taste of the medication, prevent irritation of the mouth and esophagus, or to delay release of the drug, says Warren, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economics program.

Crushing a coated tablet immediately releases the drug and may cause a bitter taste in the mouth, stomach irritation and nausea. This may cause some elderly to avoid taking the medicine as prescribed, Warren notes.

Drug overdose can also result since some preparations are designed with multiple coatings or beads that permit gradual release and slow absorption of the drug, cautions the specialist.

When time-release capsules are crushed or mixed with a liquid, a greater than normal amount of the drug is released and the symptoms of overdose or intense side-effects can occur, she adds.

Some elderly may prefer to mix their medication with milk or fruit juice, but this is not always safe either, says Warren. These liquids can alter the solubility and absorption of some drugs. Fruit juices can also inhibit drug action, she explains.

Since crushing or dissolving any medication can alter its effects, elderly patients or those who care for them should ask the pharmacist, doctor or nurse whether an alteration will be safe or not, Warren suggests.

Other questions to ask include: Can this drug be taken with fluid? If so, how much? With what food or fluid can this drug be safely mixed?

Taking precautions when crushing or dissolving medication can insure that medicines actually have a chance to do their job, Warren notes.

Farm Bureau Funds Raymond Galvin

4-H Scholarship Appointed To Regional Vice President

The Texas Farm Bureau has funded a 4-H Food and Fiber Development Scholarship through the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation.

The scholarship has been awarded to Darlene Henderson of Porter in Montgomery County, a senior at Texas A&M University majoring in agricultural education. Darlene was active in the Future Farmers of America and 4-H and currently is a member of Texas A&M's Collegiate FFA Chapter.

Purpose of the scholarship is to develop educational materials in food and fiber production that can be used in public schools, said Preston D. Sides, executive director of the 4-H Foundation, the service organization of the 4-H program in Texas.

Sides, who also is a 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System, noted that the educational materials are aimed at sixth, seventh and eighth graders and are designed to give students a better understanding of various agricultural commodities produced in Texas and how these affect their daily lives.

The educational materials will be channeled to county Extension agents who, in turn, will work with 4-H volunteer leaders and classroom teachers in presenting the information to students.

Food and fiber is one of the major emphasis of Extension Service educational programs, noted Sides, and is designed to acquaint the public with the impact of agricultural commodities on daily living. With the state's food and fiber products that contribute so much to our daily lives, Sides said.

In addition to this effort, the Texas Farm Bureau also provides two college scholarships annually through the 4-H Foundation, added Sides.

Appointed To Regional Vice President

SAN FRANCISCO—Raymond E. Galvin, General Manager, Production Operations, Gulf Oil Exploration and Production Company, New Orleans, will be appointed Regional Vice President of the proposed Southern Region of Chevron, U.S.A. Inc., in Houston when the merger of the two companies is implemented early next year, J.R. Sylla, Chevron U.S.A. President, announced today.

Under a general plan announced last week, domestic exploration, land and production activities of the two companies will be merged into four new regions.

The southern region includes southern Arizona, most of New Mexico and Texas, southern Arkansas, northern Louisiana and the states of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia. The region has 18,000 producing wells and a daily gross operated production of 228,000 barrels of oil and one billion cubic feet of natural gas.

Galvin joined Gulf in 1953 and held various engineering and managerial assignments in Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Texas and Louisiana. In 1979, he was appointed Vice President - Production, U.S. Operations for Gulf in Houston. He transferred to New Orleans in his present assignment in 1981.

A native of Cisco, Tx., Galvin earned a bachelor of science degree in Petroleum Engineering from Texas A&M University.

He is a member of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME and the American Petroleum Institute and serves as vice president and board member of the Louisiana Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association and board member of the Chamber/New Orleans and the River Region.

Now that the 98th Congress has drawn to a close and preparations are under way for the start of the 99th Congress in January, I wanted to comment on some of the issues raised in the recent NFIB Mandates. I continue to appreciate receiving Mandate responses and note with interest all opinions expressed.

With the national debt approaching $1.6 trillion and the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) projecting a Fiscal Year 1985 budget deficit of $178 billion (over 19% of total outlays), now is the time to address federal deficits. I strongly favor reducing the deficit by fostering continued economic expansion and cutting spending, not by raising taxes. Realistically, I question whether Congress can agree on spending cuts that are sufficient, by themselves, to sharply lower the deficit.

For example, FY 1985, CBO projects outlays of $262 billion for defense, $417 billion for "entitlements" (Social Security, Medicare, veterans benefits, etc.) and other spending required by current law, and $134 billion for interest on total federal debt. That leaves $164 billion for all non-defense discretionary spending (repairing roads, law enforcement, scientific research, some social programs, running the government, etc.).

While some domestic discretionary programs can be cut further, meaningful deficit reductions can not occur without restraining the growth of entitlements and defense - and probably some tax changes. Deficits hurt our economy, and the taxpayer, just as surely as tax increases. In fact, many economists consider deficit spending to be hidden taxation. I am opposed to any tax increase, unless spending is cut at least $2 for every $1 taxes are raised. I want to assure you, however, that I am directing my every effort toward spending cuts.

Along these lines, I receive many Mandate responses urging that the retirement age for federal employees be raised. I agree that a broad-based, equitable deficit reduction plan should consider changes in the federal retirement system, as well as in many other government "entitlement" programs. This could include changing the retirement age, altering the use of cost of living adjustments (COLAs), and generally bringing federal retirement more in line with private sector programs.

Another topic certain to be discussed in the 99th Congress is the uniformity of FDIC insurance coverage for banks. As you know, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) is obligated by law to insure only the first $100,000 of each depositor's account at insured depository institutions. In practice, the FDIC has arranged for larger accounts to be 100% safeguarded as well. However, on eight separate occasions in the March-May 1984 period, the FDIC experimented with a "modified payoff" policy, under which depositors with more than $100,000 in a failed bank received only a percentage of that coverage. This test ended just before the dramatic FDIC-Federal Reserve "rescue" of Continental.

I sincerely hope that FDIC actions do not portend the adoption of a double standard, under which small banks and their depositors are insulated from market forces. This is contrary to the principle of "equal protection under the law." Such a two-tiered policy, or the lack of certainty as to what federal regulatory policy will be in this area, could lead to a dangerous lack of confidence in the smaller financial institutions that are the economic mainstays of their communities. Similarly, I have doubts as to the wisdom of setting a precedent, as the Continental case appears to be doing, of a federal agency stepping in and actually operating a major bank.

I have contacted Chairmen of both the FDIC and the House Banking Committee to express my concerns to them. Also, the Banking Committee recently held hearings that may provide the basis for new legislation next year.

As the House reviews these and other issues, please know that I am keeping your views in mind and that I look forward to hearing from you in the future on any matter of interest to you. With warm regards, I remain.

Sincerely yours,
Charles W. Stenholm
Member of Congress

Some mighty nice people read the Eastland Telegram.

We were distressed when we wrote a letter about someone stealing traps belonging to my grandson. Then a lady who read the letter was so sympathetic for the boys loss that she game him some traps which had belonged to her husband. They were very good quality traps and the boy thinks it was a fine Christmas present.

Naturally, his joys are shared by myself and I just wanted to express a great big THANK YOU.

The weather may be cold but some hearts are still warm.

Yours truly,
Gordon S. Clark

Tax Simplification Steps Bring Alarm To Some

Tax simplification may sound good to some people, but some independent oil producers and royalty owners are showing alarm over the proposals.

These proposals by the Treasury Department to simplify taxes through the elimination of such incentives as intangible drilling expensing, percentage depletion and investment tax credits can hit independent producers and royalty owners hard, according to TIPRO, (Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn.)

An assessment by TIPRO of these proposals leads them to the conclusion that such action would severely hurt the economics of domestic petroleum production - and this at a time when decreases in the price of oil and gas are underway.

Studies have shown that the elimination of these tax incentives could cause the loss of more than 30 percent of the capital available to independents for exploratory drilling for oil and gas.

With independents drilling some 90 percent of the wells in the United States, the resultant impact on the nation's energy supply could be great. At the same time there would be a serious reduction in jobs for Americans.

This matter is sure to be a topic of major discussion during the months to come. Study the situation and make your wishes known to President Reagan, Edwin Meese III, or James A. Baker, Chief of Staff, The White House, Washington, D.C.

Fishing Report

Terry L. Wilson

"The Great American Hawk Hunt"

With the coming of winter anglers across the state begin having visions of landing a lunker which will place them among the few who possess a trophy of ten pounds plus. A few areas which possess potential for their fish are Monticello, Pinkston, Murvaul, Echo, Welsh, Fayette County, Calveras, Braunig, Nasworthy, just to name the tip of the iceberg. All of the above reservoirs are recognized as also possibly producing the next Texas state record which will probably be caught sometime between now and early March. Anglers will be converging on these lakes in force.

Locally we have been informed of trips planned to Monticello, Welsh, Murvaul, and Pinkston. We shall inform you as to these anglers success as information becomes available. January 3rd at 7:30 p.m. the Eastland County Bass Club would like to extend an open invitation to everyone who would enjoy good fellowship, fun times and some fine fishing to attend our first meeting and join the growing recreation in America today. "Fishing". This meeting shall set our guideline for the 1985 season. Many important items shall be discussed including the election of our officers for the coming term.

All members old and new are asked to attend so we can better align our activities to please the majority. Members are also urged to bring one new member with them to this meeting which will only be the start of an excellent year to come.

Leon-Bosque Resource Held Meeting Dec. 6

The Leon-Bosque Resource, Conservation and Development Project held an executive Council Meeting December 6, 1984.

The minutes for their previous meeting held July 19, 1984 were approved.

A motion was made and approved to present E.L. Rhoades family plaque at the annual meeting.

Ron Bailey reviewed the "Short Term Plan for 1985-87."

Bailey reported that five communities participated in the National Video-Conference held in Cisco in September (Cisco, Ranger, Rising Star, Gorman and

Constables, Commissioners Sworn In To Eastland Office

Three constables and two commissioners were sworn in Thursday during the Eastland County Commissioners meeting.

County clerk Joana Johnson administered the oath of office to Constables Bill Hunter, Precinct 1, Eastland; Teddy J. Parrish, Precinct 4, Cisco; and Gene Hicks, Precinct 3, Rising Star; and County Commissioners Richard Robinson, Precinct 1, Eastland; and L.T. Owen, Precinct 3, Rising Star.

In other business, commissioners voted to approve the payment of $200 to Lanton Battes of Cisco. The money will cover one month's office rent for Justice of the Peace Lois Holder, who closed the office and did not seek to her late husband's office. The building was occupied for five months by Mrs. Holder.

The commissioners failed to second a motion made by Commissioner Robinson to grant an automobile expense increase of $100 per month for Eastland Justice of the Peace R.G. Lyerla. The request to the commissioners was made after a 5-3 vote by the Eastland County Salary Grievance Committee.

Judge Bailey Makes Plans For Sesquicentennial

County Judge Scott Bailey has requested that the Mayors of all Eastland County towns serve on a County-wide Committee to coordinate the activities commemorating the Texas Sesquicentennial.

The Mayors are Ted Hamilton of Carbon, Eris Ritchie of Cisco, Charles Marshall of Eastland, Charlie L. Garrett of Gorman, Raymond Hart of Ranger and Doris Griffin of Rising Star.

Texas will celebrate its 150th birthday in 1986, and a number of events are planned throughout the state.

On further plans for Eastland County, Judge Bailey states that Mrs. Ginger Mangum of the Eastland County Farm Bureau Association has volunteered to coordinate the planning activities of the County-wide committee.

"Mrs. Mangum has experience in this type of activity, and should be able to provide valuable assistance," the Judge said.

"It is felt that each individual city, town and community can plan some activi-

83 Percent Of Students Pass Test For Teacher Education

A total of 83 percent of students taking the first two years of academic work at Hardin-Simmons University passed the Pre-Professional Test for Teacher Education.

The Texas State Board of Education requirements for admission to the teacher education program include achieving passing scores on all three parts of the PPST tests including: reading, writing, and arithmetic.

The state average is 54 percent, according to Dr. Ronald A. Smith, vice president for academic affairs at HSU.

Dr. Peter Gilman, dean of the Irvin School of Education at HSU, said that 20 of 24 HSU "non-transfer" students posted passing scores on the PPST test.

In recent testing, 50 test scores were reported at HSU and 45 persons whose scores were reported took all three tests.

Overall, including post-students who have taken the first two years of education elsewhere, posed a 31 percent passing rate. Only four of 13 successfully passed all three parts of the examination.

One hundred percent of the post graduates, three for three, passed the test, while only one of five or 20 percent of non-HSU students were successful in all three.

We think our HSU students did exceptionally well with the tests," said Dr. Gilman.

New Gas Rates For Unincorporated Areas

AUSTIN--The Railroad Commission has allowed new gas rates for the customers of Lone Star Gas Co. in the unincorporated areas surrounding 24 cities. The new environs rates are identical to those approved by the nearby city governments for customers within their corporate limits.

With the change, an average monthly residential bill for four Mcf (thousand cubic feet) of gas will increase by 87 cents in the environs of Marble Falls, $1.06 in the environs of Holland, 95 cents in the environs of Bertram, 32 cents in the environs of Lipan, and $1.16 in the environs of Llano.

In the environs of Cisco, an average monthly bill for five Mcf of gas will increase by 50 cents. In the environs of Holliday, an average monthly bill for the same amount of gas will increase by 76 cents. The average monthly increase for the environs of Boyd will be $3.10; for Carbon, 40 cents; for Hamilton, $2.13; for Bronte, three cents; and for Iredell, 24 cents.

In the environs of Iowa Park, an average monthly bill for six Mcf of gas will increase by approximately $2.24. The average monthly increase for that amount of gas will be 68 cents in Blanket, 67 cents in Loraine, 30 cents in Merkel and Alvord, 34 cents in Henrietta, Byers and Bridgeport, 37 cents in Chillicothe, 28 cents in Hedley, $1.83 in Abilene, and $3.30 in Prosper.

The changes will be effective Dec. 25 in Boyd, Llano, Carbon, and Alvord; Jan. 2 in Hamilton, Abilene, Bronte, Bertram, and Iredell; Jan. 5 in Prosper; and Dec. 26 in the remaining 14 cities.

The Railroad Commission has the authority to approve gas rates and service charges in unincorporated areas of Texas. Proposed rates are examined in light of the company's operating efficiency and rates that have been approved by nearby cities.

Imitation Cheese Nutrition

It may look and even taste like cheese, but these days, only the label will tell you what you're eating.

Under Food and Drug Administration (FDA) regulations, a dairy product which does not meet the relevant standard of identity must be called "imitation," says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Mary K. Sweeten.

But if the product substitutes for and resembles another food and is not "nutritionally inferior" it does not have to be called imitation, she adds.

Some cheeses are labeled as imitation simply because of a change in ingredients from real cheese. For example, some grated Italian style cheese which contain added whey fall into this category.

Another class of "imitation" cheese is the non-dairy product, made from vegetable oils, sugars, a protein source such as sodium caseinate and other ingredients.

Some of these products, like imitation cream cheese, are not nutritionally equivalent to the products they imitate, says Sweeten. They must be labeled imitation, may be mared "non-dairy product," and may bear a nutrition label.

An "imitation" label also appears on a popular and economical category of substitute cheeses which have been fortified to contain the same amounts of protein and the 19 other ingredients for which U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances have been established, says the nutritionist.

The nutrition labels on these products indicate that they are equal to or better than natural cheese in providing protein, vitamin A, riboflavin and calcium. These products may be equivalent in fat content to natural cheese.

For consumers, the labels on packages of imitation cheese can be confusing, Sweeten maintains. The FDA requires full ingredient listings but nutrition labeling is not normally required.

Shoppers may have even more difficulty identifying imitation cheese in processed foods, she says, since the processor does not always have to state on the label that imitation cheese is being used.

For example, if a pizza is called "cheese" pizza and the processor uses imitation cheese, the word imitation must be stated in the label. When a pizza is called "mushroom pizza," that means mushrooms are the primary topping ingredient and any cheese used is secondary, so the imitation label does not have to appear.

When the cheese is genuine, the word cheese will appear in the ingredient listing. Sweeten says. But the only way a consumer can identify imitation cheese in many processed foods is to look for sodium caseinate and vegetable oil, its two

Extension Launches Integrated Beef Program

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, in intensifying its educational efforts in integrated livestock management.

"Our overall purpose is to develop an integrated approach to on-farm problem solving and advanced production planning as far as the livestock industry of Texas is concerned," points out Dr. John R. Beverly, animal reproduction specialist and supervisor of the Extension animal science project group.

"Basically, we'll be working with livestock producers over the state through our county Extension agents to help them organize their production systems," he says. "Beef cattle producers have been caught in a severe cost-price squeeze for several years and are struggling for economic survival. This means cutting costs while maintaining their level of productivity or increasing productivity while keeping costs in check."

Optimum production efficiency is the direct result of timely decisions and management actions based upon herd management, health programs, forage production, range management, record systems, market information, feed acquisition and financial management, Beverly points out. All these things must mesh together, or be integrated, if production efficiency is to be increased.

Objectives of the integrated livestock management program are fourfold:

1. To effectively accelerate the transfer of technical data to producers to reduce present production inefficiencies.
2. To develop a statewide production and economic database for beef producers to better address and give evidence to the principles, practices and problems which impinge upon optimum production efficiency.
3. To strengthen and develop innovative integrated subject matter methods and management systems to enhance livestock production efficiency. To develop computer software aids to assist producers in the decision-making process as related to overall herd and ranch management.

"Profitability of Texas cattle producers has been greatly affected by continuing increases in production and capital costs," says Beverly. "This has dictated that producers seek greater levels of production efficiency."

"By looking at all production aspects and integrating these into an overall efficient operation, we should be able to help Texas cattle producers become more competitive," says Beverly.

While the Extension Service is taking the leadership in this integrated livestock management program, numerous other groups and organizations will have input.

To boost this programming effort, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has received a $22,500 grant from the Extension Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture. The grant was a direct result of the successful South Central Texas Beef Herd Improvement Program that was launched about a year ago. Funds will be used to support some of the activities of this 17-county area program as well as similar efforts in other parts of the state, Beverly notes.

Other states receiving similar grants to support efforts in integrated livestock management were Kansas, Kentucky and Idaho. Program emphasis will be on a concerted effort to accelerate the adoption of known and newly developed technology for producers.

 CONTEMPORARY PATCHWORK QUILTS *****

The medium is the message—as you can see in these 31 beautiful full-color quilts that reflect our life today. Discover how to make "Solar Energy," "Save the Whales," "Born Again," "No Deposit No Return," "Red Tape," "Morning Coffee," "Dieter's Fruit Plate" and many other contemporary quilts. Designed by Connie Major, who was inspired by today's themes exactly as our ancestors were when they created "The Little Red Schoolhouse" and "Log Cabin." The book is a unique masterpiece.

Fully half the book is devoted to techniques presented so simply even a beginner can understand (templates, yardage, piecing, etc.) plus easy-to-follow plans and patterns for each of the 31 new quilts. Best of all, every technique and pattern described is illustrated by clear diagrams along with full-color photos of every completed quilt. If you want to personalize the quilts you make or design your own contemporary quilts, the author reveals her secrets of design that anyone can master. She offers tips galore on how to design quilts for lawyers, musicians, sports fans, do-it-yourselfers and others, always explaining how to chart repeat patterns to form a design.

So don't delay, create the heirlooms of tomorrow... today—with CONTEMPORARY PATCHWORK QUILTS.
