School Trustees Study Building Program Plans

Preliminary plans for a school building program were studied, driver's education details were approved, and principals were given contracts for the coming year at the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees of the Cisco Independent School District Monday night.

Architect Lee Stuart, Fort Worth, met with the board with preliminary drawings for new classrooms and other facilities that will enable the present Primary School to move to the Intermediate School campus for the 1985-86 school year, Supt. James Couch reported. Plans call for adding 10 classrooms, a cafeteria that will serve as a combination auditorium and lunch room, and other facilities. The school system has some $700,000.00, including $134,000 in insurance money from a storm that wrecked the school gym last year, in a building fund, Mr. Couch said.

Bidders will also be asked to submit proposals to remove the wreckage caused by the gym collapse as soon as specification are ready, he added.

Grades 1 and 2 and the kindergarten, currently at Primary School, will move to the Intermediate School campus when the new quarters are completed.

The driver's education fee was set at $85 for the course that began Monday, Mr. Couch said. Jimmy Yowell is the instructor of the class of 34 students. The school has leased a Chevrolet car from Fullen Motor Co. of Eastland for the course, he added. Students will receive six hours of driving and observation time in the course and will be eligible for driver's licenses if they meet state requirements.

The contracts of Principals Geneva Webb, Primary School, Bob Lindsey of Intermediate School and Jim Puryear of Junior, Senior High School were extended for the coming year. The board decided to combine the junior and senior principal's jobs as an economy move, the superintendent said.

The contract of Martha Davis, business manager, was also renewed for the coming year.

The resignation of Gene Kinser, business instructor, was accepted by the board. He resigned to accept a job as field representative in this region for the Texas State Teachers Association. Mr. Kinser, a member of the faculty for six years, assumed his duties at Abilene last Monday.

The board approved the employment of Mrs. Louise Chambers of Ranger as Mr. Kinser's replacement to teach business subjects, including typing and shorthand. She is 52 years of age and a native of Texas. She holds a BS degree from Texas Wesleyan College and a master's degree from the University of Michigan. Mrs. Chambers, whose husband is pastor of the First Baptist Church in Ranger, is a veteran of 17 years as a teacher.

CJC And CISD Approve Tax Appraisal Contracts

The official boards of Cisco Junior College and the Cisco Public Schools have approved contracts with the Eastland County Tax Appraisal District to handle tax collections beginning July 1, 1985, according to an announcement Tuesday. The action was taken at the meetings of each board Monday night. As the new tax collection plan becomes operative, the tax office in downtown Cisco will be closed, officials.

Supervisor Steve Thomas of the appraisal district reported that the Cisco college and public schools were the first taxing units in the county to sign contracts with the district to handle their collections. The units will save money under the new plan, he believed.

The county appraisal district handles tax appraising work for all county taxing units. It was organized several years ago under a new state law and supervised the reappraisal of all property in the county.

Fund Set Up At Bank For Jacksons

A fund has been set up at First National Bank in Cisco for Dorothy Jackson. Dorothy is in E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital following surgery on her ankle last Friday. They do not have insurance.

A specialist was called in from Abilene to perform the surgery.

Dorothy is married to Jim Jackson and they have two children at home, Katrina and Kenny.

Dorothy, who lives north of Cisco, was injured last week on their farm, when she was charged by a cow. "Apparently the cow was protecting her young," said Dorothy. "She charged me and knocked me down, and then she must have stepped on my ankle a few times." A

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERBERT HALLMARK

THIS IS the week when you wish your loved ones a Happy Valentines Day and a few of those wishes may be seen in this edition of the newspaper.

"Indeed, we are keeping our eye out for beginning poets - poets who have written only one poem, or have never entered a poetry contest before. We expect our contest to produce some exciting discoveries."

Others may prefer to give their wishes in private to their sweetheart or spouse. At any rate, Thursday, Feb. 14, is the day to do so.

For official rules and entry forms write, World of Poetry, Dept. PR, 2431 Stockton Blvd., Sacramento, California 95817.

SOME VERSES that individuals write on Valentines might be good enough for that person to consider entering the World of Poetry's New Poetry Contest, which is open to all poets. But, best of all, they offer a $1,000 Grand Prize.

MAYBE WE will get to enjoy a few pretty days this week with fairly warm temperatures. After a nice Saturday (although a little windy), Sunday was not very nice since a cold front blew into the area and stuck around through Monday.

There are 100 prizes in all, with a cash value of over $10,000.

Tuesday's temperatures were forecast to be in the 40s with plenty of sunshine. As the week progresses, the temperatures are supposed to warm up and we are still supposed to be able to enjoy the sunshine.

"You need not be a famous poet to enter," says Contest Director Joseph Mellon.

Let's hope the weather predictions are right, since it is really nice to be able to go outside without bundling up against the cold.

Editor
The Cisco Press
Cisco, Texas 76437

Dear Editor:

Last week it was my privilege to be in attendance at the concert given by the Cisco Intermediate School Choir for the Texas Music Educators Association Convention in San Antonio. The performance was on Thursday evening at the Beethoven Concert Hall on the Hemisfair grounds.

All of Cisco can take pride in the performance given by these youngsters, and a special word of gratitude should be expressed to their director, Mrs. Davene Jeffcoat, who prepared them for the tape competition and resulting featured performance.

The Texas Music Educators Association is the largest, and by far the best, of all the music associations of the fifty states, and it was no small honor to win a tape competition and to be invited to perform for a standing-room-only crowd at their annual meeting.

Thanks also to the twenty-plus teachers and parents who accompanied the group. It was a unique experience for the children, and we again congratulate them and their director, as well as the school system which they represent.

Sincerely,

Eris Ritchie

Boats Not Needed For Leaks

WATER LEAK— Although there was water leaking through the pavement along the 700 block of Conrad Hilton Avenue last week, a boat was really not needed in order to go down the street. City crews brought a backhoe to the area and started efforts to repair the leak in the

Sources Say G.M. Plant Will Likely Be In Texas

We're 99 and 44/100 percent sure G.M. will come to Texas — and Eastland County is definitely a "hot spot" — if not for the main plant, at least for one of the major satellite facilities which would serve the main plant.

That's the report from the president of one of the major consulting firms which is working with General Motors in the plant location for its all-new Saturn project.

In a telephone conversation with this newspaper, the consultant inquired of certain factors which are not part of the "public inquiry" being made state-wide through the Texas Economic Development Commission.

Asked what weight "inducements" might have on G.M.'s decision, the consultant suggested that the company probably would be more interested in a "willingness to cooperate" than in the actual short-term gift of land and/or services.

"Geography is definitely in your county's favor," he said.

Told that the county is served by T&P Railway, he said that that wasn't necessarily a major plus, but wasn't too bad a minus. The consultant arranged to forward information to the County Committee and agreed to meet with them soon. He was pleased that the committee was represented at the TEDC seminar in Austin Friday, and indicated that the county and its committee apparently are touching all the bases necessary.

A major article about the GM plant requirements appeared exclusively in the Dallas Morning News last Saturday morning and was carried in other area papers Sunday in an Associated Press re-write. It was obviously written from the TEDC prepared inquiry sheets.

One of the Abilene television stations, which three days earlier had earmarked Eastland County as a possible site, suggested, apparently based on the AP story, that "little Eastland no longer was in the picture," presumably because the story had indicated that the plant would be located in an area with a population of 60,000. The county and the committee has the position, "If not G.M., then whatever."

Eastland County has and is preparing one of the three-page "site selection criteria data sheets" which was distributed by TEDC to eligible prospects. This county is being considered and was given a report to fill out because its committee has been working with the state agency from the beginning.

The consultant told this newspaper that it's a fact that the area and/or the city that's in the forefront of involvement will be the one which is selected, if not for the main plant, at least for one of the satellite installations which could amount to hundreds of payroll jobs.

"It's the same theory as the squeaking wheel gets the grease," he said.

Even if General Motors should decide to go to some other state for whatever reason, the consultant said, I'm convinced, based on what I know of your area that you will be seeing industry moving into your area. "Your mix is right, and you're working for it."

The consultant had just returned to his home in Southern California from a session in Detroit and was scheduled to be in Amarillo early this week on another project and is to contact the locals later in this week.

letters to the editor . . .

Dear Editor,

The letter by the parent of a student who committed suicide was sad indeed. However, unless the girl left a note saying school work caused her to shoot herself I can think of many, many more seeming disasters in the life of a teen which might be overpowering. The slight by a friend, the break-up of a crush, and I am sure you can think of other emotional distresses. Teen agers have even committed suicide because their favorite rock star died. It is not a truly happy age.

As for those who say "Oh to be a boy again", I must reply, "Not on your tin type old buddy. I wouldn't go through all that 'She loves me-she loves me not' for any price."

I have often been surprised by how much some children DON'T learn these days but I don't recall being surprised by what they learned that I didn't. True, some things they "pick up" at school may be shockers.

The girl liked all of her teachers. I wish I could have said the same. In fact, at age 63 I feel that from a certain first grade teacher to an English professor at A&M there are some I would like yet to spit in their eye.

In the state where I started high school you picked one of three courses your freshman year and might have to spend an extra year if you changed your mind. College preparatory, commercial or general were the courses. Two older brothers chose college prep. but one never went to college and the other fulfilled that ambition when was past 50 and died a year later. Myself with general course and younger brother with commercial courses graduated from College, the younger with a M.S. degree. So much for preparation for what your future will be.

I was never a good student. I got by. But as for staying up late with study, my parents remember brother Bill up past midnight crying over grammar school math. It seems the thought problem listed prices of clothing and he knew how to handle all items except there were listed a number of "shirts with collars attached". He had the price of shirts but couldn't figure what to do with "collars attached". Few men wear separate collars now, thank heaven but other confusing things plague students.

How tough was the school I attended? I don't know but my children didn't have to study Silas Marner, the Ballad of Enoch Arden, nor poetry by Whitier, Emerson, and a dozen others. At least I could read small fractions on a tape or scale. Some college grads surprised me by not knowing what the abbreviation cwt meant.

What did I really learn? Again I don't know but when a lady wrote the editor of Abilene Reporter News that the KKK committed sacrilege when they started the practice of burning crosses thus desecrating the symbol of our Lord, I knew that the school she attended didn't require the study of Sir Walter Scott's LADY OF THE LAKE. Therein a fiery cross was carried through the areas of the Douglas Clan as a sign of the rising of the clans against the Saxon overlords.

"Damnant quod non intelligunt" that's Latin for "They condemn what they don't understand" but I dodge Latin by taking that general course because my brothers struggling with it said it was too tough.

It never seems to strike many that H. Ross Perot wants anything good for our young people. Maybe, as a business man, he believes that he should not be required to provide his employees with the education his taxes went to provide while those employees were in high school. At any rate his motivation wouldn't be to cut his taxes since it has resulted in higher taxes before we say any implementation. Nor do I believe he is a sadist bent on inflicting pain on everybody.

Let's face a fact squarely. Academics have many applications in life but sports have ever fewer as we get further up the line. Who needs a 40 yr. old pompom girl?

The productive return for dollar expended should have some relationship.

I enjoyed the games but resented the pressure used to force more support of the teams. I have often been appaled by the violence and fanaticism inspired by supporters of the games. It may well be that earlier stated condemnation arises from my own lack of understanding but vandalizing property, beating of persons and injury of members of another schools band because of how the team scored or how an official called a penalty seems a very undesirable by-product of sports.

In the days of Charles Dickens it seems that motivation to study was too often a "caneing" and I don't believe the razor strap Ike Moore applied to my back side inspired any love of book learning in this hillbilly boy. It did reduce the noggin nocking I engaged in on the school grounds.

Looking back I recall with great admiration an old German shoe cobbler named Dietrich. He was taught shoe making by an uncle in the old guild system. The uncle beat him violently when he didn't seem intent on the work and Dietrich hated the uncle and the cobblers trade. He longed for profession. He loved the violin. All the time he could spend by any means he spent on the violin.

When the day came that the uncle pronounced him a shoemaker and one his teacher could be justly proud of he gave him a set of leather craft tools and let him go his way. Dietrich tossed the hated tools into the bottom of his suitcase and went for a job as concert violinist. He was soon playing in capitol cities of Europe. However, he found that in hard times people could not afford concerts but would pay to have shoes mended. So he hard work anywhere he went.

His scrap book was very large with his name in concert orchestras from news papers in a dozen languages but by the time I saw those yellowing clippings his fingers were stiff with age and though no longer nimble enough for finer music they still did first rate work in the shoe shop.

"Now, that is what I should do," I told myself, "I should learn to excel in both a profession and a trade." However, I never did.

If a teacher were able to present all of his or her knowledge and the student grasped 95% of it what would seem good. But if the student becomes a teacher and teaches from that 95% with student again missing that 5% we become like the problem-atical frog jumping half the remaining distance to the end of the log. Theoretically we never all into the abyss of total ignorance but our position is that close.

So very few teachers inspire more learning than themselves possess and nothing is more self satisfied and determined to protect itself than ignorance.

Don't think for a minute that an ignorant nincompoop can't get a teaching certificate. I have a certificate myself.

Having written too much already I will ask you, "In our desire to make things easier for our children than we had it, should we trust those children who should mean the world and more to us into the hands of well meaning but incompetent teachers?"

Know for certainty that like losing excess weight, the first and greatest requirements in loss of the dead weight of ignorance is a true desire on the part of the individual coupled with determination to ACT. It is only prime suckers who expect it from a magic pill over night.

Yours Truly,

Putnam News

By Mrs. R.B. Taylor

We still continue to be in the grip of severe weather. Last Saturday the thermometer plunged to -7. and was not above 12 degrees all day. The Big Country was also covered with a blanket of snow, which did not all melt for 5 days. Today, (Friday) is a very nice day. Sun shining and temperature in the 50s. We are ready for some warm weather.

As most of you know, Putnam suffered a terrible tragedy Tuesday evening. Carla Burns, daughter of Mrs. Vina Lee Burns and granddaughter of Mrs. Clinton Ivie here, was instantly killed when the car she was driving was struck by a west bound T&P train. Carla was a junior at Baird High school. The Burns family, 2 sisters and one brother and the mother, moved to Putnam about a year ago, and bought the Will Everett house. Family members attending the memorial service at Baird Thursday morning were Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Donaway, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Hazelwood, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Gimer Reese, Scranton; Mrs. Oleta Hale and Bonnie McClesky of Cisco; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Donaway, Putnam; Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Donaway, Albany; The Robert Alexanders, Houston; Charles Ivie and family, Roscoe; Mr. and Mrs. John Ivie, Merkel; Janine Burns, Valley Mills; Wallace Burns, (grandfather) Valley Mills; Earl Kilmer, Aurora, Colo.; Louann Bryan, Waco; and Mr. and Mrs. Dick McGuinn, Abilene. Interment was at Valley Mills.

Our sick folks are all better. Bernice Williams is at home after several days at Humana Hospital. R.D. Williams is back at Baird Nursing Home after a lengthy stay at Humana. Jewel Mobley has been nursing an injured back at home. She is improving.

Mrs. Betty Fraley is a proud grandmother. Kary Lee Burk was born to Kee and Charles Burk of Cottonwood, Feb 3, at Hendrick Hospital.

The Home Coming Committee for Putnam School met at the Community Center Sunday. They will meet again same place at 2 p.m. Feb. 17. all who are interested please come. Maybe the weather will cooperate this time.

John Weeks of Baylor University is home this week end.

Marie and Bill Lewis are spending this week end at San Antonio, attending a bowling tournament. On account of the weather news is scarce this week.

Clarence and Opal Armstrong of Jal, New Mexico, stopped by to visit friends at Putnam Friday. They were on their way to Lewisville. The Armstrongs were long time residents of Putnam.

Severe drought from June 1983 through September 1984 and an extremely cold winter has weakened and damaged coastal bermudagrass stands throughout Eastland County. Because of this loss, certain precautions should be taken prior to the 1985 growing season to allow coastal stands to improve and produce adequate forage.

Since phosphorous moves extremely slow into the soil profile, now would be an excellent time to soil sample and look at phosphorous in detail. A suggested technique for a good soil phosphorous sample would be to take two separate samples: one to a depth of two inches and one from two to six inches. This sample will not only tell how much phosphorous is in the upper six-inch level but will indicate whether it is in the soil surface of the soil with only slight movement into the profile. When dry soils occur the surface does not contain enough moisture to support root activity and phosphorous becomes unavailable to plants. If phosphorous is concentrated in the upper layer, plowing may be advisable.

Another factor that should be considered in planning for this spring, is that the root system of the coastal bermudagrass is weakened and will need to be protected when possible. Leaf growth in early spring depletes the root reserves. Anything that would cause this growth to be excessive for an extended period of time, could be detrimental to the root system and the grass stand. A good idea might be to wait until the grass is green and growing before nitrogen is applied, allowing increased root development. After two weeks leaves should have reached the growth stage at which they are producing their own foodstuff and some for the root systems. Delaying nitrogen fertilizer application could be instrumental in maintaining a healthy root system in 1985.

Another possible management tool would be to allow the initial growth to go to the hay stage rather than be utilized by grazing animals. When coastal bermudagrass is allowed to reach 28 to 35 days of growth, root reserves are being stored in the root system, thereby strengthening the overall plant and stand. If constant defoliation by livestock is allowed in early season, development of the depleted root system could be delayed.

The last factor to consider in improving these damages coastal stands would be to use a preemerge herbicide. Preemerge herbicides kill the seedlings of annual grasses and broadleaves as they germinate. Since the activity of the herbicide is at germination, the herbicide must be applied prior to germination of weed seed and be in contact with the entire soil surface. Because of the favorable rainfall last October, many coastal fields produced a sizeable amount of forage that was not harvested. Now moisture and the relatively warm fall and early winter have allowed the establishment and rapid growth of annual cool season grasses can cause enough competition for water, nutrients and space that they will directly compete with the coastal bermudagrass during the time that coastal is initiating growth. It would be wise to take these winter plants out.

If the dead forage cover is not so extensive that the chemical cannot reach the soil surface, atrazine can be applied in mid-January to control these actively growing winter grasses and serve as a preemerge for annual weeds that will germinate from now through next fall. Simazine is another herbicide that will give preemerge control but since it has no contact activity, the green grass to which it is applied at this time of the year will not be killed. If a clean surface is now present, simazine would be a good material to use.

The presence of excess dead forage suggests waiting until mid-February and burning the coastal field to remove all excessive dead growth. Approximately one to two weeks following burning, atrazine can be applied to the field to kill the green plants and serve as a preemerge for the remainder of this growing season. Atrazine comes in three formulations: 80% wettable powder, 90% water dispersible granules and 4 pounds per gallon liquid. Simazine comes in similar formulations. Wettable powder would need to be strongly agitated during application while either the liquid or the water dispersible granules would not require active agitation.

Each of these preemerge herbicides should be applied in a minimum of 10 gallons of water with ground applicators. A boom sprayer with 20-inch spacings of fan nozzles should be used to give good soil coverage. Atrazine rates start at one pound active ingredients (2 pints 4L, 1.25 pounds 80 W and 1.1 pounds of 90% granules) per acre on sandy soils and increased to two pounds active material on heavy clay soils. Since atrazine can be used on growing green plants, up to one quart of good commercial surfactant or crop soil should be added to the volume of water applied to each acre. Simazine should be applied at a rate of 0.8 to 3.2 pounds active ingredients per acre with the higher rate used on heavy clay soils. Simazine material rates would be 1 to 4 pounds 80W or 0.9 to 3.5 pounds 90% granules per acre.

Lights From The Christian World

by Josephine Cleveland

Critics of lotteries have pointed out that the probability of winning a major lottery prize is more remote than the probability of being struck by lightning. In spite of such odds lottery addicts insist that even the faint possibility of getting wealth makes the gamble worth while.

The philosophy is evident in many people's lives. They are willing to forfeit everything, including their souls, to take a chance of acquiring wealth, prestige and personal gratification.

Jesus exposed the emptiness of that course with the question, "What does it profit a man if he gains that whole world but loses his own soul?"

Jeremiah told of a partridge who sits on eggs and doesn't hatch them. "So is he that gets riches, and not by right methods. He shall leave them in the midst of his life, and at the end shall be a fool." Jer. 17:11

Luke wrote: "Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things he possesseth." Luke 12:15

James added to Luke's message: "For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat but it withered the grass and the flowers thereof fall. James 1:10

David, the great King of Israel learned that "a little that a righteous man had was better than the riches of many wicked." Psalms 37:16 Solomon discovered that "A faithful man shall abound with blessings but he that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent." Proverbs 28:20

In spite of the fact that no amount of wealth or prestige can ever satisfy anyone and the possibility of acquiring them is so remote, many desire to go broke in an all-or-nothing gamble.

At risk is eternal life. Jesus described it as life in all its fullness. John 10:10

The options are clear. God's guaranteed promise of "Laying up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt and where thieves do not break in and steal." Matthew 6:20 Or gamble, losing all on an illusion which if ever realized, never satisfies.

Why gamble? Reach out in faith and receive the full life which God promises to those who trust him.

County Commissioners Discuss Depository

Eastland County Commissioners approved several items and tabled one during meetings on Monday, Feb. 11. Present were County Judge Scott Bailey, and Commissioners Richard Robinson, Pct. 1, Jack Blackwell, Pct. 2, L.T. Owen, Pct. 3, and C.B. Dill, Pct. 4.

The Commissioners received bids for County Depository for County Funds, and for County and District Clerk's Trust Funds.

Those bidding on the Depository were Eastland National Bank and the First National Bank of Cisco, and Eastland Savings (Olney Savings) on Trust Funds. The Gorman Bank, which is the current Depository, did not send a bid.

After consideration of offers, the motion was approved for the County Clerk's Trust Account to be placed in Eastland Savings. As to the other funds, Judge Bailey said he had been advised by the State Comptroller's office that counties would benefit by leaving all their funds at all times in some sort of Savings account.

Dick Wooley of the First National Bank of Cisco, and Grover Hallmark of Eastland National Bank, who were present, indicated that the current bid forms did not fit what the county really needed along that line. They suggested added time for a revision of bids.

The motion was made and carried that all county money be placed in some sort of interest-bearing account.

The Cisco and Eastland banks were then requested to resubmit bids for a called meeting Friday, Feb. 15. At that time a decision on the depository will be made. In other business, completion of a Grievance Committee was made. Public members will be Kenn Norris of Carbon, Dr. R.B. Goleman of Ranger, and Joe Housson of Eastland. Various county officials will also make up the Committee.

The last item for the morning was consideration of Jail Contracts between Eastland County and various cities of the county. Sheriff Don Underwood stated that he had talked with city officials in every town in the county except Rising Star, and would contact them shortly.

He said there appeared to be no problem in the signing of contracts regarding city prisoners - the same contracts as in the past. He stated that he expected to have these contracts signed by the last of February.

On a related matter, the sheriff said that Eastland County may need to look at expanding the new jail. It is now listed as having a capacity of 25 inmates, and these in the right combination of male, female and juveniles. He said that the facility is running 27 to 28 daily at present, which is crowded.

The meeting adjourned for noon.

In the afternoon session, the Commissioners amended some line items for Road and Bridge, Precinct 2. The basic amount of funds was left unchanged.

A called meeting will be held Friday, Feb. 15 at 10 a.m. in the Commissioner's Courtroom.

Comptroller Bob Bullock Sends Checks

AUSTIN--State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday sent checks totaling $111.8 million in local tax payments to the 991 cities that levy the one-percent local sales tax.

"Disappointing Christmas retail sales during the 1984 Christmas season held February payments to a puny 6 percent increase over last February," Bullock said. "And even this little increase is due as much to new items being taxed for the first time as it is to any real sales growth."

City payments compared to last February's checks and total 1985 to-date payments compared with 1984 to-date totals include Houston, $19 million, down 1 percent from last February, up less than a percent from 1984 totals; Dallas, $13.5 million, up 7 percent for the month, up 12 percent for the year; San Antonio, $6.8 million, up 3 percent for the month, up 8 percent for the year; Austin, $5 million, up 22 percent for the month, up 26 percent for the year; Fort Worth, $3.9 million, up 5 percent for the month, up 7 percent for the year; El Paso, $2.4 million, up 9 percent for the month, up 12 percent for the year.

Bullock also sent checks totaling $45.5 million to the state's four Metropolitan Transit Authorities. Houston's MTA received $21.9 million for a 1985 total of $31.9 million. Dallas'

DART check for $18.6 million brought payments this year to $27.3 million. San Antonio's VIA received $3.9 million for a 1985 total of $5.5 million and the Fort Worth Transit Authority's payment of $921,697 brought its 1985 total to $1.3 million.

February checks represent taxes collected on sales made in December and the fourth quarter and reported to the Comptroller by January 20.

Eastland County cities received checks totaling $88,926.51 compared to $89,916.80 received for the same period last year. 1985 payments to date total $130,822.03, down .68% over the 1984 payments to date of $131,778.44.

Cisco's check for $26,705.56 was up from last year's payment of $25,964.30. However, the 1985 payments of $34,255.50 to date is down 6.83% over the 1984 payments of $36,766.78.

Eastland received a check for $37,529.02, down from $41,560.43. 1985 payments to date total $59,843.25, down 4.64% from 1984's $62,752.35.

Gorman's $3,866.95 brought this year's total to $4,849.13, up 12.65% over 1984 total of $4,304.68. For the same period last year Gorman's check was for $3,328.98.

Ranger's check for $17,284.60 compared to $14,296.54 last year. Total for 1985 is $27,497.52 compared to $20,583.63 last year, up 33.59%.

A check for $3,540.38 was mailed to Rising Star, compared to $4,766.55 for the same period last year. 1985 payments to date total $4,436.63, down 39.81% from last year's $7,370.99.

Ruminations

by Julia Worthy

It really didn't gall me particularly that Nancy is rumored to have spent close to fifty thousand dollars for her duds for the inaugural festivities.

It wouldn't bother me even if I believed it. I don't want our First Lady taking second place to any nation's ranking dame when it comes to dressing. We don't have crown jewels, so it must be clothes.

Think of how many people draw wages because of Nancy Reagan's clothing! She could be picky and stick to one designer, or she could employ one person to see she's dolled up for each occasion. She walks a difficult line quite well, and her clothes do not dominate her. Whatever she spends is worth it in my opinion.

Given the fact that the hoop-la celebrated our next four years of government, I can bear with equanimity the thought of what the parties cost the tax payers because it wasn't much. Most of these parties were "private" with individuals or organizations picking up the tabs. The hotels, motels, inns, restaurants, cleaners, caterers, taxi-drivers--well, you name the people who worked like mad to get those parties going! That's in Washington, and parts adjoining; it doesn't count the hustle and bustle as well as cash outflow going on back home to get all those folks headed toward the D. of C.

I am defending these customs, and I can think of nothing I would like less than being in such a crush.

Maybe I was born unappreciative of humanity en masse, and I don't care whether Chanel #5, Old Spice or Eau de Barn pervades the atmosphere. Get more than fifty people in a room, and my urgent need is to reduce the assembly by one.

So the inaugural doings roused no envy in my breast--just Thanksgiving that neither duty nor desire compelled my attendance at any of those bashes.

The itty-bitsy part of my tax dollar expended to pay for the festive togs and the festive foods is not begrudged.

What I do begrudge is the anything-but-itsy-bitsy bite foreign aid takes out of taxes. If our government (duly elected by us, remember) doesn't have enough collective sense to curb profligate generosity, it does seem that the Gimme Nations would exercise enough restraint not to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.

Perhaps I wouldn't mind footing the bills of administering the billions of dollars we pour down the drain were in the hands of some hard-headed capitalists who could realize a return on the investment, but bleeding-heart-dogooders are as harmful to our economy, such as it is, as the Other World "statesman"...and you may finish the sentence with your own opinion!

Yes, I do deplore famine and disease in any place, but what about the population factor? My idea is that the sabre-toothed tiger was meant to become extinct.

If we called in our debts, the budget would be balanced in nothing flat! We'd probably be in such good shape that the IRS could shut down for at least six months!

Well, I lay no claim to "beautiful," but no one can say I'm not a "dreamer."

WARNING TO NON-SUBSCRIBERS . . .

.... A man who was too lazy to subscribe to his hometown newspaper sent his little boy to borrow his neighbor's copy. In his haste the boy ran over an $80 hive of bees and in 10 minutes he looked like a warty squash. His father ran to his assistance and, failing to notice the barbed wire fence, ran into that, cutting a hole in his anatomy as well as ruining a pair of $30 pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing a racket, the wife ran out, upset a four-gallon churn of cream into a basket of chicks, drowning the entire batch. In her haste, she dropped a $300 set of false teeth, which the family dog buried thinking it was a new type of bone.

The baby, having been left alone, crawled through the spilled cream and into the parlor ruining a $400 carpet. During the excitement, the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, a stray dog broke up 11 setting hens, the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts on the clothesline, and the cat had a batch of kittens.

City Helps Handicapped

HANDICAPPED PARKING— Handicapped persons now have their own designated parking place in front of City Hall with a ramp leading from the street to the sidewalk. The ramp has been in place in the curb for years but just last week, the area was designated for the handicapped, and a sign was erected and the parking place was marked off. (staff photo)

WORD of GOD

Thou art my hiding place; thou shalt preserve me from trouble; thou shalt compass me about with songs of deliverance. Selah.

I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go; I will guide thee with mine eye.

Be ye not as the horse, or as the mule, which have no understanding; whose mouth must be held in with bit and bridle, lest they come near unto thee.

Many sorrows shall be to the wicked; but he that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compass him about.

Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice, ye righteous; and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart.

Psalm 32:7-11

Therefore as the fire devoureth the stubble, and the flame consumeth the chaff, so their root shall be as rottenness, and their blossom shall go up as dust; because they have cast away the law of the Lord of hosts, and despised the word of the Holy One of Is'ra-el.

Isaiah 5:24

And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart.

Jeremiah 29:13

The wicked flee when no man pursueth; but the righteous are bold as a lion.

Congressman Charles Stenholm Will Speak At Rising Star CofC Banquet

Highlighting the annual Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture banquet will be guest speaker Congressman Charles W. Stenholm. The banquet will be Friday, February 15, at the Activity Center of First Baptist Church.

Congressman Stenholm is one of the leading conservative voices in Congress today. Now in his fourth term, he has gained national prominence and respect with his knowledge of agriculture and for his endeavors to encourage fiscal responsibility.

A native of Stamford, he is a third generation Texas farmer and livestock producer. He graduated from Tarleton State Junior College in 1959 and later graduated from Texas Tech University. There he received his bachelor's, and in 1962, his master's, both degrees in Agriculture Education. His personal experiences and knowledge of the field have been an asset to him while serving as a member of the U.S. House of Agriculture Committee. He is also a member of the Small Business Committee, of which he is Chairman of the Subcommittee on Energy, Environment and Safety Issues Affecting Small Business.

In his first six years in Washington, he has been present for more than 96% of all votes recorded on Capitol Hill. His concerns about the future of Congress led him, in 1980, to organize the Conservative Democratic Forum, a group of 35 Members of Congress sometimes referred to as the "Boll Weevils." As founder of the group, he has become nationally known as its spokesman. This year, he is once again serving as the CDF's chairman. At 46, Congressman Stenholm has embarked on another two-year term to represent the people of the 17th District of Texas.

The dinner of barbecued beef will be catered by the Senior Class of the high school. Tickets are on sale and will be $6.50.

Eastland Is Contender For G.M.'s Saturn Plant

by Julia Worthly
It is firm that Eastland is a contender for the intravenous injection to our economy that the location here of the General Motors "Saturn" plant will be.

It is axiomatic that the whole (plant) is equal to the sum of its parts (employees).

Eastland knows what the GM plans will do for us.

Does the board of directors of General Motors know what Eastland can do for the people who make up their employment complex?

Are the decision-makers aware that our Golden Corridor on I-20 affords a wide-open growth potential instead of the implied restriction of a triangle, no matter how golden?

H.V. O'Brien, will you update your '83 "Golden Arrow" issue of THE EASTLAND TELEGRAM to put in black and white both the old and the new business establishments in town? It is not easy to capture on paper the pervading sense of optimism, the general feeling of things-are-getting-better, the "up" trend of so many conversations. Does GM know this enthusiasm already exists here?

How about a trip "Around the Square and Along the Street" in a series of pictures, properly captioned, to inform GM, as well as any other industry for a home, of the thriving concerns already located here?

Though our people will augment their work force, GM management will bring in employees from other areas. What will they find?

Will we need new information from our many church denominations? What about the new Baptist sanctuary? And has the scope of the camp facilities at Camp Inspiration been covered adequately?

Shouldn't the account of the schools be current? Wouldn't it be well to note the strictures of new Texas school laws as well as to emphasize the expected upswing in academic excellence?

Should projected school attendance as much as double, "We'd take care of them, one way or another," Superintendent Ray Pruitt declared. There is plenty of room on each campus for temporary buildings, and kindergarten-primary classes might go to the cottage-housing plan. A middle school added to present facilities would be considered.

Do these potential residents know there are two junior colleges about fifteen minutes from Eastland? Do they know that some ten four-year colleges and universities are in reach of a one-to-two hour drive in Abilene, Brownwood, Ft. Worth, Stephenville, Keene...even Big D!

Just a whoop'n a holler down I-20, cut off on Loop 820, drop the kids at Six Flags, Daddy at Texas Stadium, and Mamma can go rummage around Neiman-Marcus...and be back home for a midnight snack.

Do the powers-that-be know that the free flow of traffic along the Golden Corridor of Interstate 20 lets us count distances in minutes instead of miles?

Has anyone told the camping and fishing fans among them that Lakes Leon and Eastland are at our doorsteps? Let us not forget the accessibility of Lakes Cisco, Proctor and Brownwood...and what about Possum Kingdom? Remember: count minutes, not miles!

If hunting and trapping hold more appeal for some rugged individuals, isn't it all to the good to let these folks know we have wolves, coyotes, and bobcats roaming where the deer, if no longer the antelope, play?

Does Junior want to be a cowboy? Do his parents know they can buy a small acreage where Junior can have his horse, Sissy can keep a pony, and the cat can be put outside at night?

If the rural scene is not that appealing to everyone, has management considered that the cost of a company club, complete with swimming pool and golf course, is not that expensive in this land with plenty of wide, open spaces—and without smog?

Are GM officials familiar with Texas Extension Services? Surely, they didn't miss the $50,000.00 steer the youngster sold at the Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show! Is that opportunity? Motivation?

Has anyone clued them in on the local clubs and service organizations—many with national affiliations? The Lions? Kiwanis? Music? Camera? Writers? H.V., do they know you were stopped by an individual on the street who wanted to give you money for a good cause—not to ask, but to give? Do they know the kindness, generosity and friendliness that prompts this kind of action in our part of Texas? Aren't these personnel considerations as vital to the smooth operation of industry as insuring adequate supplies of raw materials? We are on I-20 and the railroad, so mobility is not a prime question.

Though we enjoy our country elbow room, does GM management know we get national coverage every once in a while? Old Rip represented us on national TV. CJC's Wrangler Belles and Band have marched more than once in Macy's parade, and the Roaring Ranger Bowl draws junior college football teams from a nationwide roster.

Has anyone mentioned that the Cisco and Eastland Music Study Clubs are members of the National Federation of Music Clubs?

Do they know that Stacy Blair, internationally acclaimed trumpet player, is at home here?

Does the board of directors know we are much more than a pinhead on their map? People do things—and have done things here. Do they know there are twenty-six historical sites marked in Eastland County? In Cisco, Conrad Hilton's first venture into the hotel business is in the National Registry.

Has anyone called to the attention of the powers-that-be the fact that the Petroleum Building is spaced-out with offices? Would the Village Hotel be available for renovation? How fare the plans for the Civic Center?

Could the Chamber of Commerce in the concerned towns sponsor a "welcome wagon" service slanted toward GM employees? Perhaps realtors could help here as housing is always a big hurdle to clear when coming into a new area...as many of the employees would be.

Would it be possible to set up a twenty-four hour child care center?

Does GM officialdom realize there are senior services and retirement centers available for older persons relocating with the young workers? Do they know how many health care facilities and personnel are already resident in Eastland County?

Could we offer a study on projected labor turnover?

Mr. O'Brien, would your publishing company offer a FREE, full page "GM Journal" for pictures and articles on only GM interests for X-number of issues?

It seems to me that answers to the questions asked would have to be considered by General Motors' directors. In the present day, transportation must be a factor in the location of industry, but humanity should be THE governing factor.

Given this, can General Motors find a better place to build than right here?

Just asking,
Julia Worthly

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Larry Vernon, Network Services Supervisor.

Divestiture revisited: one year later

A little over three years ago — January 8, 1982, to be exact — we were stunned by the announcement that AT&T would divest itself of 22 operating companies, including Southwestern Bell, in exchange for the federal government dropping its 8-year-old anti-trust suit.

Most of us remember that moment: where we were when we heard the news, the looks on the faces around us, the feeling in the pit of the stomach as it slowly dawned on us what it was going to take to dismember the world's largest corporation.

We did what we had to do — all the while wondering if it would work.

Today, it works. Although every one of us is still analyzing divestiture's effects on our responsibility areas and working out the glitches, we've come a long way.

Service has remained at quality levels

A year ago, when divestiture took place, some thought the Bell System breakup would cause local telephone service to deteriorate drastically. But it hasn't.

And the many changes haven't always been easy — on you or on us. We still don't know where some of our longtime work friends in other departments wound up. And I can imagine the consternation of many customers who had been accustomed over the years to one call doing all, being told overnight they would have to get their own telephones.

To help you with your questions, we introduced a series of informational booklets in 1984 called "Tele-Help." And, as a result of your questions, more booklets are coming this year, including a series for small businesses.

New revenues, new services and budget cutting

One of the principal axioms of our business has always been, "to serve well, we must earn well." Since divestiture, that's never been truer in Texas.

It's important to point out we've managed to get through the first year on our own as a stand-alone company without any significant increase in local residence rates. In fact, flat-rate residential service increased only 30 cents per month in 1984 — and that was the result of a rate filing a year earlier.

And despite all the havoc of divestiture, our internal measurements tell us service has never been better in Texas.

But more than ever, we understand that really satisfying customers requires a great deal more than looking good on a monthly service report. We know we have some weak spots, but we're working on them.

You see, the ultimate judge is not what our surveys tell us, but what you tell us.

And serving you is our only business. We appreciate the opportunity to do so.

THE BONUS FOR our vacation trip down south was spending a night and day at the Fish Hook Ranch, five miles east of Round Mountain in the Cypress Mill community of Blanco County. The Fish Hook Ranch is owned by some folks you know—the Sutton Crofts of Cisco.

We were part of a mini caravan with the Ed Bradshaws, also of Cisco, in the leading wagon and the Crofts bringing up the rear. Our caravan stopped for some two weeks at a nice travel trailer park in Almo, near McAllen and the Mexican border. Then, we went to Corpus Christi and parked for several days in the Padre Island area.

IT IS ALWAYS interesting to visit in the Corpus Christi area. A memorable drive is northerly on Padre Island to Port Aransas, take a ferry (Texas Highway Department) to Aransas Pass and then drive on toward Rockport and Fulton.

You pass a good many historical sites and points of interest. At Fulton, we enjoyed lunch at Charlotte Plummer's Restaurant, which has been the subject of articles in Texas Monthly and other publications for the quality of their seafood.

FROM CORPUS, we drove to the Fish Hook Ranch, which recently observed its

For Lewis Weed On Saturday

There will be a memorial service for Lewis Milton Weed on February 16, 1985, at 2:00 p.m. at the Mitchell Baptist Church, Route 4, Cisco, Texas.

Mr. Weed was born in Cisco, Texas, on September 23, 1912. He passed away on December 24, 1984 at the Veterans Nursing Home in Florence, Colorado. Mr. Weed served on the front lines in Europe during World War II. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

He is survived by his former wife, Minah L. Weed of Phoenix, AZ.; two daughters and sons-in-law, Avis L. and Kenneth Dochow of Scottsdale, AZ., and Lou Ann and Thomas Neill of Phoenix, AZ.; three sisters, Nettie Speegle of Baird, Edna King of Lubbock, and Billye Dotson of Cisco; one brother, Ernest Weed of Cisco; six grandchildren, Eddie Irons, Leslie Irons, Deena Bass, Bruce Bass, Desiree Allen, and Amber Dochow.

Services For R.D. Williams Are Monday

Services for R.D. Williams, 90, of Baird, a rancher, were at 11 a.m. Monday at First Baptist Church in Baird.

The Rev. Dan Wooldridge, pastor, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Richard Wood, minister of first Presbyterian Church. Burial was at Ross Cemetery.

Mr. Williams died at 1:10 p.m. Saturday at Golden Holiday Care Center in Baird after a lengthy illness.

Born July 15, 1894, in Putnam, he was a rancher and a lifelong resident of Callahan County. He married Bernice Finley in August 1947 in Merkel. He was a member of Baird Masonic Lodge No. 522, where he was a 50-year member, and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. He was a member of First Presbyterian Church and a World War I veteran.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Ellen Wadzeck of Houston; three sons, Bruce Williams and Gen Finley, both of Baird, and Ross Finley of Farmington, N.M.; two brothers, Matt Williams of Lubbock and Lynn Williams of Cisco; 11 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers will be Joe Harris, John Doyle Isenhower, Benton Pruet, Steve Goldsmith, Bob Dean and Ralph Snyder.

The family requests remembrances be made to West Texas Rehabilitation Center or a favorite charity.

100th anniversary in the Crofts family. Sutton Crofts, long-time Ciscoan, told us that his grandfather settled there in 1883, purchasing part of his land from a relative of President Grover Cleveland.

Sut's dad grew up there as did Sut and his three brothers and a sister. There is a small burial plot near the original ranch house where Sut's grandfather, grandmother, his dad and a brother and a sister have been buried. Also buried nearby was the President Cleveland relative who was the previous owner of the property.

SUT TOOK US for a tour of the ranch. After raising commercial and registered Angus cows for many years, the Crofts sold their herd a few years ago and retired. Sut started in the Angus business with his father and brothers and they had ranches in the home country, near Brady and in the Cisco area.

Driving over the ranch, which is now leased by a Copperas Cove man for his cattle, we saw 30 to 40 deer. They have a deer lodge and a group of Dallas men have had a hunting lease on the property for a number of years.

There are turkey and quail on the ranch.

SUT AND HIS good wife Mary moved a mobile home to their part of the ranch in 1968. It is located on Cypress Creek, where a mill used to turn out lumber from the cypress trees that grow along the creek. There is a small lake along the creek in front of the Crofts place, and the whole area is very picturesque, indeed.

As you might guess, Sut and Mary visit the ranch frequently and enjoy staying in their comfortable home there. (We wondered how the Crofts keep up with their assorted equipment and furnishing with a home in Cisco, a cabin at Lake Cisco, a home at the ranch, and a travel trailer—all nicely furnished. We have a home and a travel trailer and frequently go from one to the other to get something that is needed at the moment.)

ARRIVING BACK home, we got out copies of The Press to "get up to date on the news." And we were shocked to read about the untimely passing of Mr. Frank Barrett, owner of Thornton Feed Mill. Frank had been a good friend almost from the time he arrived in Cisco.

Frank was a graduate engineer who had practiced his profession in New York City and elsewhere. He recently told us that he had completely forgotten about engineering—he was literally happy operating a feed mill in a small Texas town.

Frank was a good citizen. He was active in business and community affairs—a real credit to his family and to his community... the kind of man who will be missed by many friends. His loved ones can hopefully find a measure of comfort in the knowledge that our community is a better place because Frank came our way.

One Dead, Three Injured In One-Vehicle Accident

One man lost his life and three other men sustained injuries in a one-vehicle accident on I-20 two miles east of Cisco at about 5 a.m. Monday, according to a report by local police and DPS troopers. Two of the men were in critical condition at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene Tuesday.

Dead was John Marchi, 23, who passed away at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Abilene hospital. He and his four companions lived at Odessa and, police said, they were en route home after appearing in a Dallas night club over the weekend.

Two Patterson Ambulance Service vehicles answered the call to help. Howard Peters, 23, one of the men in the mishap, was taken to Eastland Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment before being transferred by Patterson to Abilene. His condition was reported as serious.

Bill Davis, 18, the driver, and Ricky Reed, 26, along with Marchi were taken by Patterson Ambulance to E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital in Cisco before being transferred to Hendrick. Davis' condition was reported as serious. Reed's condition was reported as stable.

DPS Trooper Steve Foster reported that the driver apparently fell asleep at the wheel, the car running off the road and hitting a bridge head-on. The car, an Oldsmobile, was picked up by Clay Ingram Wrecker Service of Cisco. Observers said the car was a total loss.

Trooper Foster said that Thomas Miller, Abilene, was driving west on I-20 and saw the wrecked car. He said they saw a hub cap and some glass on the pavement, got out to look and found the wreckage. He and a friend heard calls for help. Two of the victims were unconscious and the other told Miller the mishap had occurred about an hour earlier.

Miller summoned aid. Cisco Firemen Joe Jarvis, Dennis Stovall, Larry Weike, Rex Fields, Richard Connell and Chief C.W. Guthrie took a rescue vehicle to the scene to help Cisco police and the DPS.

CJC Enrollment Is Up This Spring

Cisco Junior College's spring semester enrollment of 1,705 students represents an increase of 200 over the figures for the spring of 1984. Dr. Henry E. McCullough, president, told the board of regents at their regular meeting Monday night.

The spring enrollment break-down showed that there are 558 students on campus in Cisco and 1,417 on the campuses in Clyde, Abilene and Coleman. Clyde has 385, Abilene 646 and Coleman 119, the report showed.

The Coleman campus began at mid-term and there are three computer classes and one class each for English, history and math, according to Dr. McCullough's report. Both Clyde and Abilene had small increases for the spring semester over 1984.

In other action, the board approved the purchase of two new ball returning machines for the college bowling alley. The new equipment for the 16-year old bowling alley cost $9,685. The board also approved the schedule of fees and tuition for the 1985-86 school year. The charges will be basically the same as used for the current year.

Carbon Monoxide - 'The Silent Killer'

COLLEGE STATION-- Because you can't see it, taste it or smell it, carbon monoxide has earned the name, "the silent killer." "Carbon monoxide is not a product of automobile exhaust alone. Whenever any fuel is burned, carbon monoxide is usually one of the by-products. If it escapes into the rooms of your home, the air you breathe can kill you," says Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. "As you breathe, oxygen in the air combines with your blood and is carried to all parts of your body. Because carbon monoxide combines with your blood 200 times more readily than oxygen, a relatively small amount can displace the life-giving oxygen you need," emphasizes Nelson. As carbon monoxide crowds out the oxygen, weakness, dizziness and confusion will result, notes the engineer. Further oxygen starvation will ultimately result in death. Nelson offers these tips for protecting your family from deadly carbon monoxide: --Have your heating systems (furnace, space heater, water heater and fireplace) checked annually to make sure they are operating efficiently and that vents, pipes, flues and chimneys are tight. Never alter or tamper with a heating device. --Since heating devices, especially central furnaces, require a lot of air for proper operation, make certain they are not starved for air.

Check with your heating contractor or fuel supplier to be sure. --Don't close your fireplace damper until you are certain the fire is out. --Make certain your attached garage is well sealed off from the rest of the house. Never run your car engine in a closed garage. --No heating device, designed for venting, should be used until it has been properly vented to the outside. --Use only heating devices that bear the label of the nationally-recognized testing laboratory. Follow the manufacturer's recommendations concerning their installation and use. --When changing from one type of fuel to another, have all appliances involved adjusted by a qualified serviceman. --Use charcoal grills and hibachis only in well ventilated areas. "Remember that any time a fuel-consuming device is used in an enclosed area, it is using up oxygen and may be producing carbon monoxide," says Nelson. "Although you can't smell carbon monoxide, you can often smell the smoke and other products associated with it. Use your nose as a detection device. Track down and correct all unexplained sources of smoke or other smells of heat," he adds.

FARM DEBT PLAGUING AGRICULTURE
COLLEGE STATION-- Farm debt is like a heavy weight on the shoulders of many farmers today and has been the cause of increased farm liquidations, farm bankruptcies and agricultural loan delinquencies the past few years. "Eighteen percent of the nation's farmers and ranchers have debt-asset ratios of more than 40 percent," notes Dr. Forrest Stegelin, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. "The most integrated farming operations have the highest ratios, but they are accepted as normal operating procedures for their businesses and are not typically part of the farm debt problem."

Thirty percent of the farms with annual sales exceeding $100,000 have debt-ratios of more than 40 percent. Farms with less than $40,000 in annual sales usually have a greater off-farm income. Therefore, these operators are not as vulnerable to high farm debts as the larger commercial farms, adds Stegelin. The Great Lakes, Corn Belt and Northern Plains states have the highest concentration of debt-asset ratios greater than 40 percent. The Southern Plains, including Texas, is below the national average, says the economist.

Weak asset values for farmland and farm machinery have not curtailed the problem. Farmers with high debt-asset ratios own 15 to 20 percent of these assets. So, more liquidations and farm debt should be expected in 1985, explains Stegelin. Debt restructuring steps are being taken since farmers are neither borrowing nor buying like they were decade ago, he says.

BRAN ADDS DIETARY FIBER TO SPAGHETTI
COLLEGE STATION-- Bran muffins, breads and cereals are well-known as foods that add fiber to the diet. Now spaghetti made with ten percent bran can be added to that list. "Spaghetti containing bran has more than three times as much dietary fiber and higher mineral content than regular spaghetti," says Marilyn A. Haggard, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Spaghetti with bran also passes the taste test with many consumers. Research conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) found that tasters who prefer whole wheat bread to white bread usually liked bran spaghetti better than spaghetti without bran, Haggard reports.

Pastas, such as spaghetti, are low in sodium, fat and simple carbohydrates and contain a high level of complex carbohydrates, she says.

The ten percent bran spaghetti also contains much higher levels of protein, iron, calcium, manganese, phosphorous and zinc than spaghetti without bran.

"Bran spaghetti may not replace the traditional pasta, but it does offer another selection of products for people seeking a way to increase the level of fiber in their diets," remarks Haggard.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

There is an old proverb that says, "It is better not to be born at all than to be born luckless." But it is not in one's chances but in his choices that hope and happiness come.

The Psalmist chose the Lord, saying, "Thou art my God. My times are in Thy hand" - Psalm 31:14 and 15.

His hand is one of power. It created and controls the universe. And the hand that governs the universe is able to handle our cares.

His hand is one of pity. He desires only good, and nothing but good for His own. Even Stan cannot touch a hair of our heads without His permission, and then only for our good. Not all things are good in themselves, but His hand makes all things work for our good.

In one of his great crises, when he stood alone for his conviction, Luther was threatened by a powerful opponent. "Do you expect any force to take up arms and come to your help?" he was asked. "No," answered Luther. "Then," thundered his adversary, "where will you be?" "I shall be where I have always been," replied Luther, "in the hand of our Almighty God." In what safer place can one be!

GORMAN

There will be a Variety Show held March 1 at the Gorman High School Auditorium. Anyone interested in participating may contact Hershell Cordell at 734-2863 or Barry Crudington at the Bank, Ph. 734-254. All money raised from this show will go toward building tennis courts. Admission will be contributions at the door. So come and play or be entertained while contributing to a worthy cause.

Gorman Care Center has several King and Queen candidates for Valentine's Day. They are Lonnie and Lillian Capers, Ava Mason, Jessue Lemley, Crofford Thurman, and Jess Roberts. A special party will be held on Thursday, Feb. 14.

Gorman citizens are concerned because they feel they may be in for another fight to prevent school consolidation. Some ideas have come up about consolidating schools of less than 500 students. The citizens in the smaller communities in Eastland County say they are proud of their schools, and hope no new state regulations try to move them further away from the homes of the students.

The Youth Valentine Banquet at the Kokomo Baptist Church will be held Feb. 16 at 7 p.m. Richard Simmons of Stephenville will be speaker.

EASTLAND

Eastland County Judge Scott Bailey has signed a proclamation designating Feb. 11-15 as "Farm Bureau Week" in the County. The week is part of a statewide observance during which county Farm Bureaus will make a special effort to enroll new members. Ernest Reich, President of the local Bureau, says that Eastland County has 1,841 member families and is seeking to exceed that. Morris Underwood of Ranger is Chairman of the membership Committee.

Civic leaders of the county are working with the Texas Economic Development Board, making sure that Eastland County's name is under strong consideration by GM for the location of its Saturn plant. In Austin where Carl Conger and Delton Ake, both of Eastland, Ron Butler of Ranger, Monty Montgomery and Tom Clark of Gorman and Dick Wooley of Cisco. The County Council is made of up these plus Tom Brashier of Ranger, Joe Bennett of Gorman, Brad Kimbrough of Cisco, Don Landers of Rising Star and Kenn Norris of Carbon.

Persons in Cisco, Eastland and Carbon who are income-eligible for food commodities but who need recertification are advised to come to the Multipurpose Center, 204 N. Lamar, Eastland and sign up. You must do this to receive the commodities this month.

The Junior Class of 1985 will present "The Whole Truth", a comedy farce, Tuesday, Feb. 19 in the Eastland High School Auditorium. It will begin at 7 p.m. The play is directed by Mrs. Flaire Shumard. Tickets are $3 and will be available at the door. The plays tells a unique story - come out and enjoy it.

RANGER

The Volunteer Fire Department of Ranger will have a Country and Western and Gospel Musical on Saturday, Feb. 23 at the RJC Auditorium. Roy Thackerson, the "Fingerless Fiddler", will be one of the musicians featured. Mark this date on your calendar!

The 4-H-FFA Booster's Garage Sale was snowbound the last time, but has been rescheduled in a bigger and better way. The sale will be in the Old Cafe of the Gholson Building on Main Street. Sale times will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Feb. 15 and 16, and begin again on Feb. 22 and 23. All proceeds go toward the purchase of Ranger animals at the conclusion of the Eastland County Livestock show. Donations are welcome.

CISCO

Tickets are now on sale for the annual Membership Banquet of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce. Reservations can be made by calling the Chamber office at 442-2537. The price is $7.50. The event will be held at the CJC Agricultural Building on Thursday, Feb. 28 at 7 p.m. Bob Bowman of Lufkin will be the featured speaker, and a number of Cisco citizens will be presented special awards.

The new bridge constructed on Battle Creek north of Cisco has been approved by the State Highway Department. The bridge, which consists of tin horns and a concrete structure, replaces a large wooden and steel bridge which used to span the creek. The old bridge was demolished by a large truck carrying salt water. Final figures are not yet in on the cost, but it is expected to run over $100,000.

Bryan Jackson of Cisco has purchased Dixon Auto Supply in Eastland, a business located at 300 South Seaman. The business will be known as Bryan's Auto Supply, and be a family owned and operated business. The firm plans to continue with quality shop work, and the new owner also plans to increase the current inventory. A Grand Opening is planned for a later date.

Long Branch Baptist Church, south of Cisco, has been approved for a Historical Marker by the State Historical Commission. The Church was organized in this rural community in 1885. The Long Branch site will make the 26th State Historical Marker in Eastland County.

Senior Citizens

The monthly nutrition program at the Senior Citizen Center congregate meal sites will be on "Vitamin Requirements for the Elderly." The program will be presented by Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent.

Vegetables and fruits are important in our daily meals because they provide vitamins required for health. Diets of older adults are likely to be lacking in Vitamins C and A if they are not consuming the recommended servings of fruits and vegetables each day.

Mrs. Thomas will present the program at the Rising Star Senior Citizen Center on Monday, February 11; Gorman Senior Citizen Center on Wednesday, February 20; Cisco Senior Citizen Center on Monday, February 25; and Eastland Senior Citizen Center on Wednesday, February 27. All programs will be presented at noon.

CAPITOL UPDATE

by Jim Parker

In further discussion of the state fiscal condition, I would like to briefly discuss the concept of revenue generation through the imposition of "user fees."

I have received a good deal of criticism from some of you as you go about the process of renewing automobile registration fees, routinely using our court system, paying gasoline tax, etc. These fees have been billed and promoted as "user fees" and purport to be a system whereby those persons using a particular state provided services are charged with bearing the burden of a significant amount of the cost of such programs. A simple example of reasoning would be the conclusion that a person who owns no automobile and does not make extensive use of our highway system should not have to pay as much of the cost of that system as a person owning a truck and frequently using our highways and byways.

To some extent the reasoning is sound; however, at some point in logical progression the reasoning commences to become faulty. The person not owning an automobile is, none the less, dependent upon a good highway network so that life's necessities may be transported freely from place to place.

To an extent that I can support the "user fee" in my personal system of logic, I like it. If we subscribe to this theory, it would justify change in many areas which have long been sources of discontent among our citizens. An obvious example is the fact that persons with no children in school pay exactly the same school tax rate as persons having any number of children enrolled in public schools.

I say all of the above to lay predicate for saying this: keep an open mind in such areas as higher education tuition increases, increased court fees, increased license fees, etc. for the very reason that these do, hopefully, to a healthy extent, place a great portion of burden of support of the given service on the person requiring, desiring and using the service.

Bass Club Report

Fishing Outdoors
Sunday's tournament held on Lake Cisco was a difficult test for the 10 anglers entered. High winds and the passage of a low trough and a low pressure front during early morning added some difficulties. But at the final tally our winner was crowned, that being Lake Cisco. That's right folks all anglers present agreed that the lake won this tournament. There were no fish caught large enough to be entered in the tournament, in fact there wasn't even a 10" state legal fish taken. We do want to say thanks to these gentlemen for braving the conditions and giving it that good old American try

These 10 anglers are now all tied for 1st in our race for the 1985 angler of the year. By simply competing they were awarded 1 pound each. Remember this year we shall be paying cash prizes for the top three finishers plus our overall winner shall be awarded a beautiful trophy. So lets all plan to get a good start during the next few weeks, and sharpen up those fishing skills.
We would like to welcome our new readers in Callahan County at this time and invite you one and all to join us in the coming year for some of this areas best fishing, tournament announcements, and hopefully some little extras that might help you catch those monsters.

If you have caught some fish recently whether an exceptional days catch or average, let us hear from you. This may be done by phoning 817-629-3255 or write to Fishing Outdoors Rt. 1 Box 260, Eastland, Texas 76448. When possible please include photos, your trip might be the top trip of the week reported.
Area lakes are shaping up quick. Cisco water temperature was surface 41° three foot 43° bass slow. Brownwood water temperature 40° bass in the creek areas are active with water temperature at Byrds store reported at 46°. Proctors crappie are coming back after the rise with bass slow to good. One anglers catch of 6 fish averaging 2 pounds sound promising. Leon crappie excellent, bass good but scattered. Watch that water temperature, a few sunny days and fishing could get hot.

Upcoming events include The Cowtown 100 Bass Club, Lake Palestine open Bass Tournament, February 23, 1985. $2,500.00 guaranteed cash and merchandise, March 17, Lake Brownwood. Brownwood Bass Club open Tournament. $850.00 1st place guaranteed. Cedar Creek Lake KCKL Big Bass Tournament. $11,600 guaranteed March 20-21. For more information on these events contact Terry Wilson at 629-3255. Good luck and good fishing.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas lawmakers worked steadily in committees last week to reduce the impending state deficit, and a handful of legislation inched closer to passage.

Meanwhile, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals refused to review the commercial bribery indictment of Attorney General Jim Mattox, leaving Feb. 11 intact as the opening day of Mattox's trial.

His lawyers wanted the indictment thrown out on the grounds it is fundamentally defective. Mattox is charged with threatening to use the powers of the Attorney General's office to block the municipal bond business of a Houston law firm.

Parimutuel Betting

Opposition has surfaced to the parimutuel betting bill on three fronts:

—Gov. Mark White last week repeated his pledge to veto the bill unless it contained a state-wide referendum. The version recently introduced calls for voter approval only in affected counties.

—Black legislators, who provided momentum when the bill almost passed last session, withdrew their support last week because the present version does not dedicate proceeds to Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

"Horsing has forgotten who some of their friends are," commented Black caucus chairman Paul Ragsdale, D-Dallas. The caucus wants dedicated revenues to welfare put back into the bill.

—Baylor University chancellor Abner McCall unveiled a list of 200 prominent Texans opposed to the bill. McCall chairs the Anti-Crime Council of Texas which opposes horserace gambling.

Indications are strong that the support of the Black Caucus could be readily regained. Ragsdale, himself, introduced a bill last week to legalize parimutuel betting on dog racing. The bill limits dog tracks to four coastal counties: Jefferson, Galveston, Nueces and Cameron.

Water Legislation

The House is expected to begin debate this week on a water bill stressing development which passed unanimously out of committee last week. A Senate version emphasizing conservation and water for agriculture may reach the debate stage this week.

The water plan issue is complicated to the layman, but fraught with drama for the players involved. Two dominant personalities are Rep. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, who authors the House version, and Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, sponsor of the Senate version, and they are destined to confront one another in a conference committee.

Meanwhile, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower and the man who might run against him next year bumped heads a little last week over the water plan. Hightower, supporting Montford's plan to dedicate a $200 million bond plan to water for agriculture, was rebuked by Sen. Bill Sarpalius who wants a $500 million bond plan. But Hightower, who earlier watched Craddick wipe out all his proposals in the House version, replied he had learned not to expect everything he wanted from the Legislature.

In other Capitol events: —The Court of Criminal Appeals overturned a state law prohibiting sale of beer to intoxicated persons. The law was too vague in establishing guidelines to detect drunkenness.

—Two Democratic senators urged the governor to reappoint Republican attorney Harry Whittington to the Board of Corrections because of his work in initiating prison reforms. Four board positions are available and Gov. White's office said Whittington is in the running for reappointment.

—White met with Pentagon officials for a briefing on the role of 450 Texas Army National Guard troops scheduled for training exercises in Central America. The troops will go to Honduras, bordering the two revolt-torn countries of El Salvador and Nicaragua.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Starr proudly announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Melony Sue, to David Edward Dixon, son of Duke Dixon of Eastland and Ms. Darlene Dixon of Beaverton, Oregon.

The wedding will take place on Friday, May 24, 1985, at 7:30 p.m. at Camp Inspiration Church of God.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

ANIMAL HEALTH

Paul Duncan, D.V.M.

FELINE LEUKEMIA - Protection is now available for dreaded cat disease.

Here in Eastland County only automobile related accidents kill more cats than feline leukemia. We see this disease in city and country cats alike. It is world wide in distribution. It affects everything in the cat family all the way up to lions and tigers. Until recently there has been no means of preventing the disease. An effective vaccine is now available through your veterinarian.

Feline leukemia was discovered to be caused by a virus over 10 years ago. The virus is spread by direct contact mostly through saliva but also urine and feces.

There are 3 syndromes associated with the disease. The least common form is one in which tumors occur in the chest and abdomen. This form usually occurs in cats less than one year of age or greater than ten years of age.

The most common form of the disease is characterized by a wide range of secondary illness that the cat gets because it's white blood cells do not function properly to protect the cat from infection. Anemia, feline infections peritonitis, oral ulcers, gum disease, respiratory infections, infertility and abortions, chronic diarrhea, skin disease, and degenerative wasting are feline leukemia associated diseases.

The third syndrome would be a healthy but infested cat. These cats will either overcome the virus naturally or revert to the tumor form of the disease or break with a secondary disease later in life.

Regardless of what gossip magazines and newspapers might print there is no known relationship between feline leukemia, or contact with cats and humans leukemia. Any evidence to support a relationship with human leukemia is purely circumstantial and without any scientific proof.

It would take 8 pages of newspaper to explain all there is to know about feline leukemia. Consult your veterinarian if you would like to know more about the disease and if you want to protect your cat from leukemia. A negative leukemia test would be a good idea before vaccinating a cat for leukemia. Vaccinations do not help cats that are already leukemia infested.

Veterans Job Training Act

Employers may receive up to $10,000 if they train and hire an eligible veteran through the provisions of The Emergency Veterans Job Training Act of 1983.

Veterans have until Feb. 28, 1985, to apply for certification, and employees must obtain certification and being training an eligible veteran no later than Aug. 31, 1985.

The reimbursement will be 50 percent of the starting wage up to a maximum of $10,000 per veteran. Payments will be made at the end of three-month period of training or can be monthly in the case of employers with less than 75 employees.

While some particulars are involved, employees must design a program and apply to the Veterans Administration for Certification to train an eligible veteran. The training should be approvable for 6 months, but cannot exceed 15 months. Also the employers program should be in one or more of the following categories: a growth industry; an occupation requiring technical skills; or an occupation where demands exceed the supply of workers.

Veterans must also be certified eligible by the V.A. before they enter into training. To be eligible he/she must be a Koren or Vietnam Era Veteran, and must have been employed for at least 15 out of the past 20 weeks immediately preceding his/her application.

BRINGS YOU THESE IMPORTANT TIPS...
YOU AUTO KNOW

Are your car's lights all working well? Remember, you use them a lot more this time of year when the sun rises late and sets early.

You know that jack-rabbits starts waste gasoline. Did you know that starting slowly and lagging too long in low gear hurts mileage, too?

Even when it's not hot, run your air conditioner now and then. A little care now will pay off in better operation when you need it.

Sluggish windshield wiper operation may be caused by a weak battery, a failing engine—or something else entirely. Put an expert Sherlock on the job.

It's a good idea to keep a tire gauge in your glove compartment so you can test tires at least once a month, while they are cold. Price is low compared to cost of worn tires, poor mileage, and bad handling.

NEW-USED CARS
It's a good idea to buy a new (or late-model used) car now, when selections are good. You'll get a top deal at JIM CALDWELL MOTORS, 314 West Main, Eastland. 629-2636.

Rome Falls

Field marshal Kesselring's Tenth and Fourteenth Armies had been whipped on the southern approaches to Rome. To defend the city itself would have been anticlimatic. And so, when the Germans pulled out of the Italian capital, it was not only in the interests of the Pope and the survival of time-worn Roman monuments, but more for the establishment of the hurried defense line to the north.

The Eternal City burst forth in a blaze of glory Sunday, June 5, 1944, just one day before another mighty army sailed against Normandy. Groggy infantrymen, uplifted by the cheers of the hysterical Roman mob, marched in from the Alban Hills, or rode tanks like ancient gladiators on chariots, past the Coliseum and the Forum and on down the Corso Umberto.

Germans Move Out, Allies In
During the night, Division troops mounted armor and trucks, formed a column and moved boldly through the silent, moonlit streets through the heart of the city. At daybreak, the Tiber was crossed and the column headed out past the Vatican into the open country to the north. While Rome cheered its liberation from dawn till dark of June 5th, 142nd Infantrymen fought to reduce the strong German delaying effort outside Rome. Wide-eyed veterans poured through the prizes objective all day. The enemy was on the run.

ROMANS REJOICE

If Rome was still bound by Fascist ties on June 5, hurriedly those ties were tossed into the Tiber River. For on that day the Romans were a mob exultant, passionate and humble and reverently thankful.

before the block was wiped out.

Immediately following, the 141st and 143rd, along with elements of the 1st Armored Division, passed through to follow up the attack. Through Lake Bracciona - Manzina sector the Division plodded on. Swinging west toward the coast, the "Texas" Division mopped up German remnants in its path to Civitavecchi, important Italian port, which has fallen the same day to the 34th Division. In the days that followed, more towns and villages were liberated and the enemy was driven backward another 55 miles.

Piombino marked the goal of the 29-day advance which had covered a road distance of 240 miles and had netted 5,000 enemy prisoners.

Nothing remained to hamper the progress of the 36th as it rolled twenty-five miles into the port of Civitavecchia.

Then they were in the Hills of Tuscany. The Division overpowered the German positions at Orbetello, Capalbio and Magliano.

After a short period of hard fighting the backbone of the enemy defense was broken as the 36th bridged the river, crossed the highway and moved into Grosseto, important Italian trading center on the coast. Still further to the north, the Division repeatedly encountered strong pockets of resistance but they were quickly overcome. The port city of Piombino succumbed after being flanked by one regiment. On 26 June the Division was withdrawn and after a brief stay in Rome returned to Salerno in preparation for another important mission.

Italy Summary

The Italian sun, crisp and not too warm on Invasion Day, had given way to cooler breezes, grayer days, rain, more rain, and snow.

The firm ground and mired into deep mud, turned again to raw dust and freely swirled at the slightest stir. Great mountains and pleasant valleys had played intimate host to many a dispassionate soldier from the far-off Better Land during the eight and one half months campaigning just concluded. Of the Italian fighting, Texans would remember mostly, the weather and terrain. Though the Germans were the real enemy, they had been whipped on the beaches, better in the Merciless wintry months at San Pietro and Cassino, outsmarted at Velletri and failed northward in the running, open-field drive above Rome. In weather, terrain, and fighting, the 36th had experienced a poignant variety, fitting it well for the job next to come.

It required a task force of some 1,000 ships to transport the Seventh Army's mighty armada of men and material to the coast of Southern France. Veterans of the 36th waited, as they had waited before their transfer to Anzio beachhead, on the dirty sands of Possuoli, Italy. Then they lined up in columns, climbed the gangways of the LST's, LCI's, and the larger troop transports, carried their loads across the decks, and went down into stuffy holes, to wait, to rest and to prepare to fight again in France, Germany and Austria.

NORTH FROM ROME

Rome was free! The 36th drove through the city and headed north as enemy rear guards fell back. Early on the morning of June 5th, the 142nd Infantry was fired upon at a turn in the road five miles outside the Italian capital. The 3rd Battalion was brought up from the rear and deployed for the attack.

Companies, K, L and I and M laying down a base of fire, fought until late afternoon
