

Weekend Rains Measure 3 Inches

Weekend rains measuring some three inches were expected to increase the water level at Lake Cisco approximately two feet, City Manager Mike Moore reported Monday.

Lake Bernie was "fuller than it has been in several years," the city manager said. Water was spilling from Lake Bernie into the creek that connects to Lake Cisco.

Rainfall north of town was considerably light and Battle Creek did not have enough runoff for the city's pumps there to operate, Mr. Moore said. The pumps send water via pipeline to Lake Cisco when the creek flow is sufficient.

Forecasts called for possible rain through midweek "and we are hopeful that a good rain will fall on the Lake Cisco watershed," Mr. Moore said.

The rain was general over this section of West Central Texas. In addition to the three inches last weekend, several showers earlier last week produced some two inches of rain. The ground is wet and ready for a good runoff if rainfall of any significance falls, Mr. Moore said.

There were reports that Highway 490, which runs between Highway 80 and I-20 east of Cisco, was closed for a time Sunday due to high water. No storm damage was reported in this area.

Rainfall measuring up to 1.5 inches fell Monday night in the Cisco area. Cisco police reported a high water problem at West 9th and Avenue M early Tuesday. Avenue B had high water during the early morning hours, police said.

Lake Cisco rain gauges had less than an inch early Tuesday, and the rain was reported somewhat lighter north of town than in Cisco and to the south and west.

The area was under a flash flood alert Tuesday morning as more rain was in the forecast.

Mr. Moore reported Tuesday morning that rain was sufficient north of town and that Battle Creek was running and the city pumps were in operation.

Report Cards Ready

Parents or students can pick up report cards for this year the the Cisco Public Schools during this week. The school offices will be open Monday thru Friday, 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

Around Town

By Duke Dixon

Here it is primary runoff time. Saturday June 7, is the day. There are three contests of interest to the residents of Cisco and this area - The County Treasurers race with Ruth Pugliese and Betty Cross vying for that office; the office of County Commissioner Pct. 4, with Danny Claborn and Billy Bacon Jr., seeking that seat on the Commissioners Court; and the Justice of the Peace, with J.V. Heyser and Bruce Speegle seeking that office.

There are some state offices also up for nomination - Railroad Commissioner; Justice, Supreme Court, Place 1; Justice, Supreme Court, Place 2; Justice, Supreme Court, Place 4 (unexpired term); and Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 1.

These are the runoff places on the Democratic ballot. The Republicans also have a runoff election scheduled where it is needed to complete nomination of a slate of candidates for the November general election.

In this area, only the Republican state wide offices are still awaiting decisions. There are no local runoff offices.

I was talking with Mr. Henry Schaefer the other day, he was telling me about Lori Lopez; the fact that she is in need of a motorized wheel chair. There is a story elsewhere in the Press telling about a fund started for Lori's wheel chair. If you feel that you want to help, the fund has been established at Olney Savings for her. She has been paralyzed for approximately 13 years. She goes to West Texas Rehabilitation Center for treatment on a regular basis and the wheel chair would help her to go around better, both here and at the center.

I see where the Scranton Reunion was well attended in spite of the rain. I'm sure most folks were just so proud to see the rain, they were willing to get wet for any occasion.

Mr. Larry King is an interesting speaker, and enlightened all those who attended the reunion.

Week end rains kept the city pool's splash day from being well attended. Understand there is another splash day scheduled for Saturday.

I had a very interesting visit with Mrs. Josephine Cleveland last Thursday. We discussed many subjects. One concern we both have is the problem across this nation of the Humanistic movement. She has written articles on this subject and this paper printed them about two years ago.

Today we are reprinting one of these articles for your consideration. Mrs. Cleveland has a regular column in the Press entitled "Lights From the Christian World."

Rain has been the order of the week. Let's all be thankful and keep praying for enough to fill Lake Cisco. The water shortage we face this summer is very serious. Rain now would help the shortage.

On thing I try not to do is complain about too much rain. Water is too precious. It's the staff of life. Without it nothing lives. I realize it can be destructive, but again without it there is no life.

Be sure and vote Saturday, June 7.

Negotiations Underway

Negotiations were underway Monday between the Cisco Independent School District and Thompson Construction Company for a contract to rebuild a large portion of the Intermediate School Building, Supt. Ray Saunders reported.

The board of trustees felt that the bid was about $100,000 too high, Mr.

Gordon Senior Dies Before Graduation

An 18 year old Gordon High School Senior, Beverly Ann Johnston, died only two hours prior to the Gordon graduation ceremonies.

The incident occurred about three miles from Gordon on state Highway 193. Miss Johnston died after leaving a moving pickup truck, which was traveling at approximately 55 miles per hour.

According to reports, doubts about her planned marriage to her high school sweetheart of 3 years was what caused her deadly fall. Stacey Len Kelleher, 19, was engaged to Miss Johnston. He said Miss Johnston was talking about getting cold feet concerning their marriage, prior to the accident.

Kelleher graduated from Gordon High School last year. He worked at General Dynamics in Fort Worth and was preparing a home for the couple in Weatherford. Kelleher said that the last thing Miss Johnston had said was that she didn't think it (the marriage) would work out, (or words to that nature). "As soon as I heard that latch open (the door latch), I hit the brakes. I wish she'd grabbed my hand, or something," Kelleher stated. Miss Johnston pushed open the passenger's door and either jumped or fell from the cab, witnesses said.

A DPS report said Miss Johnston struck the pavement and rolled several times before dying of apparent head injuries. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Ranger General Hospital at 7:06 p.m., on Friday, May 30, 1986, by Justice of the Peace R. G.

Lyerla.

An autopsy was ordered by Emory Walton, District Attorney, at the request of Judge Lyerla.

Randy Savage, Gordon's superintendent of schools, said Miss Johnston was a consistent honor roll student, involved in the Beta Club, an honor society, and was a basketball team member. "She was a natural leader and super human being," said Savage. "She worked in the superintendent's office this past year, and I got to know her quite well. She was one of my favorite people in the whole world," Savage stated.

After learning of Miss Johnston's death, her graduating class of 16 voted to cancel the ceremony. Gordon's graduation exercises have been rescheduled for June 7 at 8 p.m.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
Over the past few weeks I have been asked by several my opinion concerning the choices for some of the less-publicized races in the June 7 run-off.

Based upon their qualifications, I would endorse Judge Robert M. Campbell for the Texas Supreme Court, Place 2, Rusty Duncan for the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 1 and John Sharpe for the Railroad Commission.

Judge Campbell has presided as a Supreme Court Justice for eight years and is seeking his third term. He is a competent and well-qualified jurist. I agree with former Chief Justice Joe Greenhill who described Judge Campbell as, "a able and fairminded Judge with personal and judicial integrity."

As a candidate for the Court of Criminal Appeals, Rusty Duncan has been endorsed by both the officers of the Texas District Attorneys Association and the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Association. This shows the respect for his capabilities as a trial and appellate attorney held by those that come in contact with Rusty. He would make an excellent Judge.

I have had the pleasure of serving in the Texas Senate for four years with John Sharp. He is well-respected and did an excellent job of representing his constituents and I know he would do the same outstanding job as a member of the Railroad Commission.

It is of the utmost importance that we elect qualified persons to public office. I urge your support for these individuals.

Very truly yours,
Bob Glasgow

BEANFEST
Saturday is the day Eastland has been working up to for weeks and weeks! The rehearsing for the drama, the tuning up for the music, the touches of history showing up in windows and displays, the black bean activities -- all of it will culminate in a full day's program, come June 7.

It is certain the course of history would not be the same if logic had anything to do with it. Reason by any name would have told the doughty members of the Mier Expedition that they had about as much chance of whipping the Mexican Army as a snowball in the nether regions.

Reason would have wiped out the stand at the Alamo, and the battle of San Jacinto never would have been fought.

It isn't always the reasonable events that make history, is it.

To Whom It May Concern: Please, no rain dance for next weekend!

NEEDLEWORK
The quilters have begun on the big quilt for CARROLL BROWN'S CJC players' production of "QUILTERS."

I am pleased that I "did" a block for the big quilt, but I would have passed if I had known before I opened my big mouth that I'd be trying to do applique.

About the only thing I've applied prior to "my" butterfly quilt block has been knee patches on blue jeans. That's not exactly the smoothest kind of practice for making beautiful quilt blocks. At least, I didn't have to sign it.

SCHOOL'S OUT!
And Labor Day seems a long time off at the moment, but it will be here rapidly. Summers used to stretch into a lo-o-o-ng time, but not at this end of the stick!

Report cards went home Friday (5 30) and SRA results, too. MANDI will be in the third grade next fall. I will have to find out more than I now know about SRA -- and CAT -- and TEAMS (which used to be TABS) -- and what second graders did or didn't take.

Perhaps I should be vitally concerned about how the kids in Maine and California stack up against our Texas troops. After all, presidents, generals, and Strategic Air Command pilots come from lots of places besides Texas.

However, I expect I may be selfish in keeping my concern close to home. What I want to know is if Mandi can "read'n rite'n figger." Maybe it's not all that

New Child Care Food Program Offered To Registered Family Homes

Any registered family home or group day care home may now participate in the Child Care Food Program sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture.

There are at least 29 registered centers in Eastland County.

The purpose of this program is to ensure that children in day care home receives nutritious, well-balanced meals. It also provides training in nutrition for the day care providers.

Those enrolling in the program will be allowed to claim a maximum of two meals and one snack for each child per day. Total reimbursement will depend on the number in care as well as the number of meals and snacks served, but the average reimbursement exceeds $40.00 per child per month.

There are no eligibility requirements for the children, but to participate in the program a provider must be a registered family home or a licensed group day care home, serve nutritious meals and keep a simple record of menus and attendance on forms which are provided.

This is a government-sponsored program designed to assist in providing quality nutrition for children for which there is no charge to the provider. No predetermined menus are provided, only guidelines for serving different food groups. Youngcare, Inc. is a private, non-profit corporation with the responsibility of enrolling homes, monitoring the food service, and administering the program. Homes are currently being enrolled in this area of North Texas. For more information on becoming registered, contact the local office of the Department of Human Services. To obtain more information about this new Child Care Food Program, write to Youngcare, Inc., P.O. Box 38393, Dallas, Texas 75238, or call (214) 47-9026 collect. Thousands of homes are participating in this program nationwide. Join us today.

Fish Now Being Lauded

As "Heart Food"

Fish has long been hailed as "brain food," but now it is also being lauded as food to help protect your heart.

Most kinds of fish are low in cholesterol, fat and calories as well as some oils that may help to prevent heart attacks, says Annette Reddell Hegen, a seafood consumer education specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

These special polyunsaturated oils, different from those of vegetable origin, are called omega-3 fatty acids. All fish and shellfish contain them, she says, but oilier, fattier fish are the richest sources of the fatty acids. Marine fish have more of the omega-3 fatty acids than freshwater fish.

Some research studies have shown that eating large amounts of omega-3 fatty acids can decrease the tendency of blood platelet cells, involved with clotting, to stick or clump together, reports the specialist.

This may decrease the likelihood of forming clots that can block blood flow to the heart and result in a heart attack, says Hegen.

Omega-3 fatty acids may also decrease blood levels of fatty triglycerides and cholesterol. As a result, some heart disease experts are encouraging greater consumption of fish, particularly the oily kinds.

Salmon, tuna, mackerel and herring are all rich in omega-3 fatty acids. Fatty acids are not affected by processing, so canned, fresh or frozen fish all contain the oils.

For a variety of free seafood recipes, Hegen suggests writing the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Seafood Marketing, P.O. Box 158, Port Aransas, Texas 78373.

selfish. If we take care of our own Mandis, Jasons, Laras, our own Monicas, Jimmys and Chads-- if parents everywhere keep pushing the homework, the presidents and the generals will take care of themselves.

It makes me unhappy to read so much criticism of teachers, though I know in some places about some teachers some of it is justified (No wonder logic is not popular.), but I don't think it's true here.

Mandi's progress is very important to all of us, and she has made progress. No, she is not doing all I think she can, but I doubt it is her teacher's fault. Learning is a two-way street.

Thanks to Loys Allmand and all the personell of Siebert Elementary School for another good year.

Now, it is time for swimming, for camp, for picnics, for ballgames, for pop-calls and vacations-- no unexcused absences hanging over anyone's head.

Get off to a good start! Spend Saturday in Eastland!

THANK YOU

The family of C. M. (Bud) Gibbs wants to thank Dr. Gohlke and the staff at Ranger General Hospital for their helpfulness and kindness in our time of trouble.

We especially thank Nettie Lee Grissom, our neighbor, who was with us at our home, for her advise and care.

To all our neighbors we say "thank you" for the visits, food, flowers, and cards.

We want to thank our friends from the First Baptist Church, Second Baptist Church, the Church of God, the Kokomo Baptist Church, and the United Pentecostal Church for the prayers you prayed for us. This is what got us through in such a peaceful manner, because His hand was placed upon us.

Memorial Day Services

Jack Clack was the guest speaker for the Memorial Service at the American Legion Hall in Moran Saturday, March 31. He stressed three things that people should consider in keeping in mind those who have lost their lives for our freedom and those who are living. He stressed "Remembering," "Honor," and "Prayer," discussing each one individually.

The color bearers, Bob Cate and Maurice Newton, presented the flags. The 17th district Chaplain led the opening prayer. The Auxiliary president, Lucille Forbess was introduced. Fred Wylie a charter member of the Ernest F. Pettit Post was recognized and given a welcome. Mr. Wylie, Walter McCollum, and R.K. Larry King Writes About Home Folks

Writing about the home folks has been the key to success for Larry L. King, author of a dozen books plus a number of plays including the highly successful "Best Little Whorehouse in Texas." That was a statement by the nationally known writer in a homecoming address to more than 200 former students of Scranton School at their annual gathering last Sunday. And, the author said, he hopes they don't mind being written about. The weekend event was a homecoming for more than 100 others who live out-of-town as well as for the Washington, D. C., writer, who said that he attended Grades 3 to 8 at Scranton before moving in 1942 to Jal, New Mexico, and later to Midland where he finished high school. Hugh Shrader, president of the Scranton exes and a 1942 classmate of Mr. King, introduced the speaker as "the ex-quarterback of the Scranton Antelope grade school football team." He noted that "we played a two-game schedule each year — at home with Putnam and a road game at Putnam."

Mr. King, discussing his football career, reported that at Midland he played on the football team and that their schedule included a game with Cisco "that we lost 47-to-0."

After high school and WWII duty, Mr. King worked for a time for the Hobbs, N.M., newspaper and then on newspapers in Midland and Odessa. Then, he went to Washington to work as a secretary and assistant to Congressman J. T. Rutherford and Jim Wright.

Mr. King said his mother never quite became happy with him after he went into free lance writing. She felt he should have a job with a regular pay check, he said. He said he left the family farm because he thought "there ought to be an easier way."

His early writing wasn't very productive, he said, because he was writing about people and places he had never seen. When he decided to write about his own people and their locale, his work began to sell. An early book, "Requiem for a West Texas Town," concerning life in Putnam where he was born and lived for some 10 years, and it is considered a classic.

Over the years, Mr. King has won national honors with his books and plays. Currently, he has an "off Broadway" play, "The Night Hank Williams Died," that he scheduled to open in October. His plays have been produced in London and elsewhere abroad.

Mr. King recalled that in 1976, he brought his late father, Clyde King, back to Putnam and Scranton for a "last look" at the elder King's childhood home and surroundings. Clyde King, as well as his late wife, settled in this region in the 1880s. Both are buried in Midland where they lived the last few decades of their lives. Larry King's grandparents are buried in the Scranton Cemetery, he noted.

The speaker quoted the late Lyndon Johnson who, said, once observed, "Home is where they know when you're sick and care when you die."

Mr. King's writing has been rewarded with television "Emmys" and narrated for "CBS Reports." He has won journalism school awards, lectured at several universities, and has won a Mark Twain Association citation for humor.

A new book, "None But a Blockhead," a hilarious reflection on writing, has been announced by Mr. King's publishers.

The weekend program included a musical Saturday night at the old school, which is now the community center at Scranton. The Sunday program included a devotional, election of officers for next year and other matters. Rev. Joe Ray conducted the devotional with his family pro-

Special Wheel Chair Account Established

A special account has been set up at Olney Savings, 701 Conrad Hilton Avenue, Cisco, for Lori Lopez a sophomore at Cisco High School.

Lori is the daughter of Sefrino and Elena Lopez.

When Lori was 3-years old, she was with her mother in a fruit stand, when her legs became very weak and she was not able to stand up.

He mother took her to a nearby hospital and she was then taken to Baylor hospital in Dallas. Lori had developed a severe illness and it in turn caused a spinal injury that paralyzed her from the neck down.

Lori went to West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene regularly until she was 8 or 9 years old. At the present time she just goes in for a check-up.

During one of these check-ups a man from a wheelchair manufacturer was at the center and a doctor asked if there was a motor-driven wheel chair small enough for her. (Lori is a very petite young lady). The man told WTRC he had one for the factory price of $2700.

Henry Schaefer, owner of Schaefer TV in Cisco and a very good friend of Lori's, was asked by WTRC to help get the wheelchair for her.

He started a fund for Lori at Olney Savings last Monday. He has also approached the Kiwanis and Lions Clubs of Cisco and they have given donations to the fund.

Mr. Schaefer, who has been in business in Cisco for the past 50 years also uses a wheelchair.

Henry Schaefer is a member of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center; a member of American Coalition of Citizens with Disabilities; a member of the Department of Health and Human Service, Washington, D.C.; a board member of Special Education in three counties; and a member of ADVOCACY, Incorporated, advocating the Legal Rights of Developmentally Disabled Texans and implementing the Client Assistance Program for Rehabilitation Clients.

Lori is the sister of Vela Conger of Cisco, Delia Lopez of Austin, Hector of Cisco, Joe of Odessa, Jammie of Lubbock and Oscar of Austin.

All six brothers and sisters graduated from Cisco High School and from Cisco Junior College. Lori plans to continue the tradition.

Donations can be made Monday thru Thursday, 9 a.m. till 4 p.m. and Friday, 9 a.m. till 6 p.m.

50th Wedding Anniversary

All of their friends are invited to help them celebrate.

Their children are Jerry and Joan McBeth of Cisco, W. L. "Jeep" and Brenda Butler of Springtown, and Neil and Pat McBeth of Albuquerque, N.M.

Grandchildren are Mrs. Judy Rather of Springtown, Wade McBeth of US Navy at San Diego, Ca., Greg McBeth of Albuquerque, and Bobby Butler of Springtown. They were married June 6, 1936, in Cisco and lived here until 1952 when they moved to Denver City, Tx., where he worked for Shell Oil Co. until his retirement in 1975. They moved to Jacksboro and lived there for six years before moving to Springtown in 1981.

Hwy. 80 To Be Widened

The last two-lane section of US 80 in Cisco will be widened and improved as a result of action taken by the highway commission in its May meeting.

Widening of a three-quarter-mile stretch at the western end of Cisco will complete the US 80 expansion. US 80 became the business route when Interstate 20 bypassed Eastland and Cisco, said R.P. Haun Jr., resident engineer in charge of the project. With expansion to four lanes, this stretch will match the rest of US 80 and better accommodate the increase in traffic as vehicles come off the interstate. About 7,000 vehicles a day use the roadway.

The highway commission approved funding at an estimated $495,000, and a contract is expected to be awarded in July. Work should begin in mid-August and be completed about the end of October, Haun said.

In addition to the reconstruction, the project provides for resurfacing 1.6 miles between I-20 and US 183. "The surface is very irregular. Nothing's been done to it for 25 years," Haun said.

Under the project, workers will remove part of the old surface -- "like sanding your floors, only deeper," Haun said -- and apply a mixture of rock, sand and asphalt to restore a smooth, skid-resistant driving surface.

Tornado Tips

As we come to the end of tips on tornado safety it is hoped that the information provided will help you make the correct decisions during a storm. Tornadoes are the most violent of all windstorms, but they are usually local storms of short duration.

The average tornado travels about 30 miles per hour along a path about an eighth of a mile wide and seldom more than five miles long. There have been cases, however, in which tornadoes have cut a path more than mile wide and 300 miles long and moved at speeds up to 70 miles per hour. So the unpredictability of a storm of this nature must always be taken into account.

In conclusion it might be well to review some of the safety rules when a tornado approaches, and to illustrate tornado safety in the home.

Safety Rules When a Tornado Approaches

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a tornado cellar, underground excavation, or a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building of substantial construction. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!
2. In OFFICE BUILDINGS, stand in an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably in the basement.
3. In FACTORIES, post a lookout upon receiving a tornado warning. Workers should move quickly to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection in accordance with advance plans.
4. In HOMES, the basement usually offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under a sturdy workbench or heavy table if possible. In a home with no basement, take cover under heavy furniture in the center part of the house. Keep some windows open, but stay away from them.
5. HOUSE TRAILERS are vulnerable to overturning during strong winds. Trailer parks should have a community shelter. Appoint a community leader responsible for constant radio monitoring during threatening weather or during watch periods.
6. In SCHOOLS, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor whenever possible. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS or other structures with wide, free-span roofs.
7. In OPEN COUNTRY, move away from the tornadoes path at a right angle. If there is not time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.
8. KEEP LISTENING to your radio and television stations. They will broadcast the latest tornado advisory information. Call the National Weather Service only to report a tornado.

ACU Computer

Camp Teaches

Computer Literacy

Programming, applications, computer games and simulations will be among the practical skills learned by young CompuCats who participate in Computer Camp '86 this summer at Abilene Christian University.

Students who were enrolled in grades 4-9 during the 1985-86 school year may participate in one of two camps scheduled during ACU's 1986 Summer.

Camp I, for beginners, is June 9-13. Camp II, for those with intermediate or advanced skills, is set June 16-20.

Campers learn basic computer literacy, microcomputer programming in BASIC, computer applications, games and simulations during a minimum of 40 hours hands-on experience with a popular microcomputer.

Teaching the camps will be Wynetta Blackburn, Abilene Christian High School math, physics and computer science teacher, and Keith Caughfield, first-year medical student at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

Campus activities are planned from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1:45 p.m. each day, including a one-hour period of supervised recreation. Those campers staying in the ACU dormitory will have supervised activity in the evenings.

The camp instructional fee is $200. For those who stay in the dormitory, room and meal expenses are $100. Campers who commute each day to ACU may purchase a meal ticket for lunch only. Deposits are the same for both camps, $75 for instructional fees and $50 for room and meal expense.

Campers who will be staying in the dorm should check in from 7:30-8:30 p.m. on Sunday preceding the first Monday of each camp. All campers will complete final registration at 8:30 a.m. on the first Monday of camp.

For more information, contact Dr. Jeri Pfeifer, ACU Department of Education, ACU Station, Box 8195, Abilene, Texas 79699. Or call (915) 674-2125.

Fishing Outdoors

By Terry Wilson

Lake Leon is becoming known statewide, just as it did when it was first impounded. The big news in today's times are lunkier bass. With the present lake record of 11 pounds 13 1/2 ounces and many 9 pound fish to its credit also.

But the new mold or weight which has been set for a true Leon hawg is 8 pounds plus. If you don't believe this reporter just ask Jim Williamson of Eastland. 8 pounds 11 hundredths, that's right, folks, here at the end of May just when you think the major spawning is over boom up jumps a big old sow like this gal. Jim's fish was caught Monday at approximately 5 p.m. The big sow was in around 2 feet of water and fell pray to a black and chartreuse worm. Of course the question I'm sure most of you are asking by now is where. Well I'm sure you will all understand when we tell you that only a general area of the lake was given. This being the mid-lake area. We realize this is a very large area, but just as all fishermen and women realize when you find a big one odds are there are at least one more around. Congratulations Jim, but now this puts you in the position that your next one should be 9 pounds or over.

May 24th the Eastland County Bass Club held an open jackpot bass tournament on Lake Brownwood. There were 7 entrants with the following results: 1st Trace Duplap, 2 fish 2.99 pounds; 2nd Bob Green, 2 fish 2.36 pounds, and 3rd Will Johnson, 1 fish 1.35 pounds.

June 21, 1986 on Lake Leon Open to the public Jackpot Bass Tournament. Entry fee $10.00 per person. Headquarters Chock-O-Block. Fishing hours 6:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Many Texas fishermen, especially bass tournament participants, have inquired by "culling" of fish to obtain the largest, string of fish within the bag limit is a legal practice.

David Palmer, director of the field operations for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said that any fish placed in the live well of a boat or on a stringer or other holding device has in effect been retained by the fisherman. "This means that if the bag limit on a particular lake is five bass per day, and a fisherman has five bass in his live well, he cannot take a fish out and add another," Palmer said.

Thus, "culling down" in order to retain the largest fish is illegal, he said. "However, having a daily limit of bass in the live well does not mean the angler has to stop fishing." He can continue to catch fish as long as he returns any bass he catches.

June 1-7 has been proclaimed National Fishing Week, and also Governor Mark White has declared this time as Texas Safe

Bowling Report

The Class B Team Event always proves to be the hottest competition in the TWBA Championship Tournament and this year is no exception. Only four pins separate the first and third place teams. Rolling with an entering team average of 775 the Arlington Nomads racked the pins with a total of 2616 to take over first place in this Division. Nomads' team with members Dottie Hughes (573), Clara Dodd (544), Priscilla Russell (524), Captain Patsy Mead (502) and Clara Jankowiak (473) could do no wrong as they moved to that coveted spot in the standings.

A fifteen year old Open Division Singles Record (695) set by Myrt Defily, San Antonio, was in jeopardy as Jody Puckett, Dallas, took to the lanes in her singles competition. With games of 231, 207 and needing a 258 for a state record could only manage a 253 (691 series) to take the lead in Open Division Singles. With her 691, 620 Doubles and 631 Team scores she moved to the third slot in Open Division All Events.

Two new leaders emerged in the Novice Division Doubles when Penny Hummel and Helen Willige, Kilgore, completed their event. With an entering doubles average of 225, Hummel (131) and Willige (94) burned the lanes up with their sizzling series of 527 (Hummel) and 404 (Willige).

Only one Century Award (100 pins over entering average) was rolled this weekend. Martha Macias, El Paso, was very impressive when she rolled a beautiful 257 game. One hundred four pins over her average.

All Spare Performance was turned in by Jean Peddy (185) Carthage, Linda Larson (183) Fort Worth, JoAnn Pavlovich (184) Fort Worth, Nina Campos (186) Hondo, and Ida Wolfford (176) Houston.

Original Ballads To Be Featured At Discovery-Fest '86

ORIGINAL BALLADS, sung by local talent will be heard in the historic reenactment of the Drawing of the Black Beans as part of Eastland County's Discovery-Fest '86 which will unfold the first week in June and culminate in a day of special activities on Saturday, June 7.

Drama Director Kathi Stapp in an effort to bring more life to the drama, asked for original pieces to be included. The writers got busy and with the musical help of Mrs. Viola Payne who did the words and her Musician Son Marvin, who did the arrangements, have come up with some classic numbers to liven the offering.

And soloists have already begun work.

Lyndell Cockburn of Ranger, a professional singer in her own right, will do the Pioneer Women bit. "We can't reveal the entire content, but the gist of the message is that the "lot of the pioneer woman, wasn't a lot."

Richard Rossander, another professional singer of note, will do the part which backs up the scenes of Texas a building as a new nation.

may be asking yourself. Well, by helping spread the word to friends and loves ones far and near to plan to be in Eastland County the first weekend in June for the County Sesquicentennial Celebration. You'll be glad and so will they. Texas Highways magazine has it listed as a special event.

THE ALL-DAY Saturday celebration is stacking up big - During the day, each town in the county will be given time to present their talent and their own messages as part of the event. Monday, the Cisco Chamber of Commerce called to say that they didn't think they could get all their material in an hour, so it looks as though the day will be expanding.

Word is that there will be an outstanding presentation by the folks in Gorman. We won't tip the performance, but from what we hear it's a historic event, and if it's the one we remember seeing a Gorman man do a few years back, it'll be worth the whole day just to see it. You won't want to miss a thing.

There'll also be Mexican Fiesta Music on fiddles and guitars to back up the speeches of Santa Anna to his subjects.

These are just a few of the new developments in the ever-expanding production which promises to be one of the best free Historical Events ever.

TEXAS BIRTHDAY CHOIR began practice sessions Monday night and have more scheduled. Wylie Peebles of Cisco Junior College is director and every church choir in Eastland County is invited to participate. For information and rehearsal times and places, you could call Wayne Ashlock at 629-1436 for details. Individual singers are also welcome. It's hoped that there'll be 150 choir members - one for every year of Texas' birthday.

THERE ARE many, many surprises already being planned and it's hoped that they will be participation throughout the county. Many, many merchants are already setting up "black bean drawings" and planning to give 17 prizes for the lucky winners in their stores.

THE ENTIRE event is to mark Texas' 150th birthday and to pay tribute to Capt. William M. Eastland, the man for whom we're named.

Fifty-one of the 90 booths available around the square for Discovery Fest '86 have been reserved, according to Clara White of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce.

Anyone or any organization wanting to reserve a space should contact Mrs. White at 629-2332. She also said that merchants who want to have a part in the Black Bean Drawings should contact her immediately so their names and gifts can be released to the news media.

Drilling Bits

The No. 2 Dawson has been fabled by Sierra Special Oil. It is a developmental well in the Eastland Regular Field, five miles southeast of Ranger. Drillsite is in Eastland County's McLennan CSL Survey.

Daily potential of 10 barrels 38-gravity oil and 30 barrels water was posted with the Railroad Commission. The well went to a 1,204-ft. bottom and was plugged back to 1,148 feet. Production will be from perforations in the Strawn Formation, 1,126 to 1,130 feet into the wellbore.

Three 800-ft. developmental wells are planned by Lynn Birt Petroleum Co. of Graham at drillsites six miles west of Cisco, Eastland County. The locations are in a 110-acre lease in the BBB&C Survey, A-994. The wells' designations are the No. 13 Agnew, the No. 14 Agnew, and the No. 15 Agnew. They are in the Eastland Regular Field.

Expanding Energy of Midland has filed for permit for re-entry and workover operation in Eastland County's Lee Ray Field. The operation will be located in a 320-acre lease eight miles north of Cisco in the SPRR Survey, A-451. The well originally bottomed at 4,130 feet. The operator will be seeking Duffer Lime Formation production at about 3,900 feet.

At a location one mile east of Desdemona, Sun Exploration & Production Co. has fabled a new gas producer in Eastland County's Desdemona Field.

The well is designated as the No. 21 Lane, flowing 22,000 CF gas per day on an 80/64-in. choke. Tubing pressure was 3 PSI. The absolute open flow rating registered 22,000 CFD.

Location is in the L. Ellison Survey, A-115. Bottomed at 3,260 feet and plugged back to 3,214 feet, the well will produce from perforations in the Duke Formation, 2,715 to 2,785 feet into the hole.

The No. 1 City of Eastland-Cain Unit, a 4,000 ft. wildcat well, is scheduled to be drilled in Eastland County. Northridge Corp. of Dunbarville is the operator. The well will be spudded in a 40-acre lease one half mile north of Eastland in the H&T Survey, A-307.

A Cisco-based operator has staked location for the No. 3 Irwin, a developmental well to be located three miles northwest of Rising Star. With projected total depth of 1,500 feet, the well is in a 25-acre lease in the Eastland Regular Field, ETRR Survey. The operator is Yellow Mound Oil Co. of Cisco.

At a location six miles southwest of Eolian, Southeastern Resources has finalized a new gas producer in the Stephens Regular Field.

The well is designated as the No. 1-A R. Elliott, flowing 196,000 CF gas per day on a 24/64-inch choke with tubing pressure at 64 PSI. The absolute open flow came in at 425,000 CFD.

Location is in Stephens County's T&P Survey. Bottomed at 345 feet and plugged back to 343 feet, the well will produce from perforations in the Wolfcamp Formation, 294 to 298 feet into the hole.

Buck Petroleum Co. of Bedford has revealed plans to drill a 4,150-ft. wildcat well. The operator has 351 acres under lease with drillsite in Stephens County's E. Chambliss Survey No. 1, A-2511 and has designated the venture as the No. 1 Macker. Drillsite is three miles southeast of LaCasa.

An unsuccessful developmental venture in the Stephens Regular Field has been written off as a dry hole by Otto Bendorf. Located two miles southeast of Eolian, Stephens County, the well was drilled to a total depth of 3,960 feet. The No. 6 W.T. Moore will be plugged and abandoned.

A new producer has been brought on line in Stephens County's Taylor-Wilson Field with HM Oil Co. as the operator.

Located four miles northwest of Necessity, the well is in the TE&L Survey, A-831. It is designated as the No. 1 H. Wilson "I".

It flowed 31,000 CF gas per day on absolute open flow with tubing pressure at 35 PSI. The well bottomed at 4,150 feet, was plugged back to 4,101 feet, and will produce from a set of perforations in the Duffer Formation, 3,978 to 3,996 feet into the hole.

Cal Energy Properties has given up on its efforts to make a producer of the No. 1 Tremmel. It was a wildcat try in Stephens County. The location was two miles northeast of Eolian. Spudded on February 1, 1986, the well has reached 4,350 feet total depth.

Brings You These Important Tips...
YOU AUTO KNOW
Come see us in our new location Hwy. 80 East in Eastland...

Transmission fluid should be reddish. If it's turned brown, replace it--and the filter.

The "eye" on many auto batteries is a hydrometer, which alerts owners to a change in the charge. If this "window" becomes dark in color, the battery needs recharging or replacement.

To keep your car's finish in good shape, wash it frequently, letting plenty of water play over the surface to rinse off any abrasive dirt. Wash only with gentle car-wash detergent, rinsing constantly.

Pothole up ahead? Slow down BEFORE you get there, then let off the brake as you reach the danger spot.

Old car, new car, jackrabbit start waste gas and damage the car, too.

THE CATALOG for the 1912 Scranton Academy had this to say about the community:

Scranton is eight miles southeast of Putnam, 12 miles southwest of Cisco, a small inland town. It is an ideal location for a school — two hours drive from Cisco and one and a half hours from Putnam. (Times have changed, huh?)

The 1912 catalog was on display for viewing by one and all who attended the annual homecoming at the Scranton School last Sunday. Other interesting facts about the old Scranton Academy and the community were on display.

THERE'S A story elsewhere about the homecoming where Mr. Larry L. King, nationally known author and playwright, was the speaker. Mr. King, who lives in Washington, D.C., was met at the DFW Airport last Friday by Mr. Hugh Shrader of Houston, president of the 1986 homecoming and a classmate of Mr. King's back in the 1940s.

Mr. King spent the weekend at the Shrader's home-place residence west of Scranton... He and the Shraders and others were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Webbin Cisco last Friday night... An open house at the Shrader place was held Saturday afternoon and many old friends dropped in to visit. Mr. King autographed books and things for a goodly number... There was a musical at the Scranton School last Saturday night and Mr. King was a guest... Mr. Shrader, an official with Shell Oil Corporation in Houston, took Mr. King back to DFW airport early Monday and returned to Houston from there.

MRS. EVELYN Bailey, retired Cisco Junior College teacher, was Mr. King's 7th grade English teacher at Scranton, and they enjoyed a visit at the Sunday reunion. Mrs. FB recalled that Mr. King was a good student in her English class... Prof Wesley Valek of CJC, who writes for the CJC-sponsored Big Country Review Magazine, dropped in Sunday afternoon to meet Mr. King and hear him talk... Bill Hart, sports editor of the Abilene Reporter-News, interviewed Mr. King and had a nice article with a picture in the Sunday edition... William Carl Bailey, a Scranton classmate of Mr. King and Mr. Shrader, joined them for the Saturday open house and the weekend festivities.

Rain fell much of the day at Scranton and a number of motor vehicles had to be pulled from mud in the school yard parking lot.

ENJOYED LOOKING through the 1986 LOBO, the yearbook published by the students of Cisco High School. The attractive book is dedicated to Mr. Russell McLesley of the CHS faculty... Members of the Senior Class appear in a two-page color picture taken in the front yard at the home of Mrs. Kitty McCracken on West 6th Street... The yearbook reveals class favorites as follows: Senior—Jeff Kinser and Brenda Ayala; Juniors—Renee Dillard and Chris Ledbetter; Sophomores—Roy Boykin and Angela Nichols; and Freshmen—Kody Wallace and Aki Kleiner.

The book is a real credit to the school and to the editors — Jeff Kinser, Kevin Kirk, Leigh Callarman, Janice Woolley and Sampy Sipe. Mrs. Lou Jane Qualls was the yearbook sponsor.

Local merchants were generous with their support in the form of advertisements in the yearbook.

THE DR. TIM Boersma family has moved into and is happy in their new home out in West Cisco, the doctor reports... Mrs. C.M. Cleveland went to Chicago this week to visit with an old school friend for a few days... Mrs. Harry (Doris) Garvin was the speaker for a joint meeting of the Women's Missionary Societies of East Cisco and First Baptist Churches Tuesday morning at ECBC. Mrs. Garvin talked about the years the Garvins spent in Uganda as missionaries... Mrs. Marshall Jones, who underwent eye surgery recently, reports that the stitches are out and that she is seeing better every day.

WEREN'T THE rains nice this past week? Three inches or more fell in our area, including about two inches over the weekend... Mr. Gid Bowers, who lives out on the north shore of Lake Cisco, reported they received 2.2 inches Sunday and an inch last Friday... The rain caused a halt in street paving work out on Beech Street, reports Supervisor Frank Young. Nobody is complaining, however. They had completed paving work south to 16th Street when it started raining... Little Leaguers got in their games last Friday and Saturday, playing between rain showers. Chris Begley, one of the league's top pitcher, hit his 4th over-the-fence home run of the season Friday night and they gave him the ball. The Texas Rangers or the Houston Astros might be sending scouts to see him, huh?

CISCO LIONS Club members were expecting Abilene TV Weatherman Charlie Jordan to be the speaker for their noon luncheon this Wednesday, June 4... Glad to hear that Mrs. Carolyn (Doug) White is back home and doing nicely following surgery at Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene. The Whites operate a hardware store in Eastland... The congregation of First United Methodist Church honored the Rev. Frank Williams and wife and son at a luncheon May 18th and presented them a beautiful lamp. The Williamses, you know, are being transferred by the Methodist Conference after four years here.

SPLASH DAY at the City Park Swimming Pool was a dismal failure last Saturday, reports Manager Shirley Darr. Virtually nobody went swimming due to the rain and cool weather. Business was so bad, Mrs. Darr reported, that they closed down at 3 p.m.

Sunday, which was expected to be a big day, wasn't. Rainy weather with afternoon thunder and lightning caused a shutdown again. They're not giving up. The sun always shines and the temperatures get warm and folks like to cool off in the pool.

Vandals Hit Royal Oaks Apartments

Vandals cut a water hose in the laundry room of Royal Oaks Apartments sometime last Friday night and damages to carpets and floors were expected to run about $1,500.00, according to a report Tuesday by Police Chief Billy Rains.

The water line was cut during the night and was discovered by Manager Bob Bennie of the apartment house early Saturday morning, the report said. Water had covered the floors of two apartments, the office and a storage room, soaking carpets and damaging some furnishings.

Chief Rains said the case of malicious mischief was being investigated.

A POEM

CONSOLATION
When sorrows rise to mountain heights
And your heart breaks from your loss,
Sleep fails to come on endless nights
And you roll, tumble and toss,

Friends come in to console you,
No greater act could be shown,
"Time will heal", they tell you,
But soon they forget you're alone.

Oh! how you long for a visitor,
Just someone to knock on the door;
A friend, a brother or sister,
And have the silence broken once more.

Then you stop to think of others,
Who also tread this lonely road,
That have lost a companion or brother,
They too, carry a heavy load.

Then where can you find consolation
Though living alone seems so hard,
There is One who knows your situation,
So direct all your love to the Lord.

Central America Through The Eyes Of A Reporter

(by Richard Kurkin)

Tourists visiting Mexico and Central America will find some nice and sometimes expensive places to stop, some bargains, and some places they would rather not stop. Cars should be kept in protected or fenced yards at night.

One cannot realize what was accomplished by the early Spanish explorers until you see the huge mountains and vast wilderness areas and wind blown plains of Mexico. It looks almost impossible to cross them on foot and horseback as the explorers did.

Densely covered with cacti and arid brush and plants, much of the wilderness land of Mexico is useless until cleared, then it becomes very good farm land. A lack of bulldozers prevents more clearing. Much of the ranchland in Mexico is very beautiful with carpets of Bermuda grass growing wild and covering the rolling hills which are dotted with pine trees and palm trees. The vegetation is healthier and neater than in most parks here.

Entering Guatemala from Mexico is more like driving back into south Texas. There are nice Texaco and Esso (Exxon) service stations along the highways and neat and clean motels and restaurants that serve Texas style meals at bargain prices.

North America factories are a common sight in Guatemala and they have names that can be seen on factories in the 'Big Country'.

Guatemala City, the capital, is the biggest city in Central America and is

Governor White

Considering Changes

In Fishing Regulation

Governor Mark White is asking the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission to reconsider recent changes it made in the 1986-87 statewide fishing regulations.

In a letter mailed Commission Chairman Ed Cox, Governor White urged the Commission to give East Texas fishermen another opportunity to speak out regarding the new Texas catch limit of five 14-inch bass.

Two Texas lakes -- Toledo Bend and Caddo Lake -- straddle the Texas-Louisiana border. Because the State of Louisiana imposes no size limits on the fish catch in its lakes, I am concerned about the potentially adverse impact the Texas fishing limits could have on our border lakes," Governor White said.

uniquely situated on top of flat topped mountains. These mountains are then surrounded by taller mountain peaks, but are separated from them by deep narrow valleys that surround the city. The high mountain top elevation keeps the city cool.

Active volcanoes can be found in Guatemala with smoke rising from tall and huge, perfectly shaped mountain combs. Smoke also rises from cracks in the group close to the cone. An eruption happened in the sixteenth century and resulted in the capital being moved.

There are signs of wealth in Guatemala City that rarely are seen in Central America. Many people of America and Northern European descent of citizenship live in the city and you can even stop by the local McDonald's. I was surprised at the percentage of 'white' people there and how much the people looked like North Americans. They are Americans too and they call us North Americans. Sometimes we are called Gringos.

Honduras is much like Guatemala, but much poorer. It seems to rain more in Honduras and there are more pine forests there whereas there is some more arid looking land in Guatemala and Southwestern Honduras, which are farther from the Atlantic Ocean.

The lumber industry, cattle, ranching and plantations that grow coffee and bananas are the main industries of Honduras with manufacturing almost nonexistent.

The Governor said he is also concerned that persons under age 17 or age 65 and older are still required to obtain a fishing license, although the Commission voted earlier this month not to charge these individuals for a license. He is asking the Commission to review this practice along with the ine-

Agriculture and petroleum seem to be the main industries of Mexico.

Cars, usually pickups or four wheel drive models or trucks are regularly seen in Central America, but most of the people do not have them. Since the people travel anyway, public buses are very important. Buses run routes regularly down highways and dirt roads. At most any time of the day or night, even 4 a.m., people, sometimes children, can be seen walking along the roads or waiting for the next bus. The road sides seem to be a social center with people spending much of their time there visiting, dating, showing off their Sunday clothes, and working on crafts. Cars often honk for people and animals to make way or get off the pavement.

People have to travel to large cities to do much shopping and they like to dress up on Sundays. There is often a Catholic church building on town square, but most of the people do not belong to or attend church services. However the people are very open to the gospel and believe in God. I've seen people walk to crusades by the hundreds and stand for hours to hear the gospel, and many have not heard it. The Catholic church has had a historical influence on the people whether the local building's doors are ever opened or not. Catholic churches are more active in very large cities. Many other denominations also have active churches in the countries.

Besides church and shopping, soccer and baseball games are popular Sunday events.

quity of charging children and senior citizens for saltwater sportfishing stamps.

Governor White praised the Commission for establishing a culling policy that allows Texas fishermen to release small fish while keeping the larger ones to fill out an individual's legal limit.

Big Country Firm

Charges For Free

Service

Responding to numerous inquiries, Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene, said today that a firm operating in the Big Country area solicits people through direct mail. This firm is selling a service which is provided at no charge by every Social Security office.

The company obtains information from local birth records and then mails new parents an offer to get a Social Security number for their child for a $10 fee. This service can be obtained without charge at any Social Security office. In addition, the parent has to do everything for the company he or she would have to do if he or she contacted Social Security in the first place.

For a parent to obtain a Social Security number for a child, the parent needs evidence of the child's date of birth, citizenship, and identity. The parent will also need evidence of his or her own identity.

The direct mail advertisement indicates that new legislation may require that children be listed by Social Security number on the parents' tax return. There is no such legislation, Hammons said. In addition, Social Security does not provide counties with information about which children have Social Security numbers.

The Abilene Social Security office is located at 142 W. Pioneer and the telephone number is (915) 698-1360.

At 1:15 p.m. there will be a short business meeting of Extension Homemakers Council Delegates will be elected for the State TEHA meeting to be in McAllen during September.

Weather Update

Late Monday brought more rain to the county. The first wave of clouds hit Cisco at 6:30 p.m., bringing a hard shower. This veered off to the northeast towards Stephens County.

By 9:30 p.m., however, lightning again flashed across the west, riding on a stormy "West Texas rain". This general rain hit the county an hour later. A total of 2.7 inches fell southeast of Cisco, and in Cisco 1.5 inches.

There was some flooding in residential areas. Water was also high downtown, but Main Street was passable. Less than an inch, however, was reported out at Lake Cisco.

Eastland received 1.88 in this rain, and this amount seemed to be general across to Carbon. High water flooded roads in the Okra Community, south of town. Ranger got .8 inch, with minor flooding.

People around the county are asking: "When is this going to end." For the stock tanks are running over, the ground is saturated, and gardens could use some sunshine. But predictions are for more rain, possibly until the end of the week.

HEAVY RAINS COME TO AREA SUNDAY

Eastland County, a crossroads area, has been known to get rain from almost every direction. On Sunday, June 1, it got what could be called an "East Texas rain". About 12:45 p.m. the clouds came up from every direction at once, and sheets of rain fell straight down. There was little wind, and only an occasional roll of thunder.

Reports are that the heaviest rain in the county - about 4 inches - fell from around where Spur 490 joins I-20 west of Eastland southwest to Highway 183, south of Cisco. This took in the Sneed land, the J.B. Autry and McCracken ranches and a number of other places north of the Pleasant Hill Church. This rain fell in less than two hours, flowing over county roads in several places, and putting creeks out of banks.

Bill Claborn, supervisor of the State Highway Department in Eastland, says there was high water over about 100 yards of the south Frontage Road where Spur 490 joins I-20. It ran about a foot deep. About three fourths of a mile south on 490 a creek ran deep, swift water across the road.

Another impassable spot on a county road was at a creek between the Britain and McKinney land southeast of Cisco. Rain gauges in this vicinity showed 4 inches in less than two hours on the Autry land, and 3.7 inches at the Berry place.

There was considerably less rain in Cisco Sunday, with reports of a little over an inch being common. Mike Moore, city manager, reported that Lake Cisco received 1.2 inches. The lake has caught 12ft. of water from runoff in the last three or four days.

Moore is still concerned about the lake, however. "It's as low as it has been in the last 20 years," he says. "What we need is a good 4 to 6 inch rain right up on the watershed. The ground is prime for it."

Eastland received 1.53 inches from 1 to 2 p.m. Sunday, according to Ron Bailey of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. It was a good steady rain, a real benefit. That brought the total up to a little over three inches during the week.

Lake Leon also got more than an inch Sunday afternoon, and two inches fell in Carbon. Lake Leon caught six inches of water on Sunday, mainly from the South Fork of the Leon River. The lake is still rising and may gain several inches more. This brings the total up to 8 inches caught during May and the first day of June. The lake only lacks 18 inches being full.

Around Rising Star the farmers want the fields to dry up so they can get to work in them. This area has had from seven to 15 inches of rain during the past two weeks.

On Sunday Rising Star got only one-half inch, but both north and east of the town the totals were 2 1/2 inches.

Over in Gorman the rain gauges showed 1.10 for Sunday, but rainfall totals were heavier toward Desdemona and Erath County. One traveler reported seeing fields flooded near Desdemona. Dry weather is wanted in all this area too, although the early hay grazer is doing great.

Ranger caught a total 1.2 inches on Sunday, making a total of more than five inches during the past two weeks. Pastures are looking great in this area, as they are in most of the county.

Weather forecasters are predicting more rain for several days, so this is certainly not the end

CJC Presents The Quilters Registration For

As Tribute To Pioneers

As their Sesquicentennial production of the CJC Summer Dinner Theatre presents The Quilters, a joyous and moving celebration of American womanhood paying high tribute to the courage and spirit of pioneer women. This musical drama revolves around Sarah McKendree Bonham, a pioneer woman who decides to make a legacy quilt for her six daughters because, she says, "Most all of women's work is the kind that perishes with the using." The seven actresses take on many roles during the telling of a life story on the American frontier and the ways in which quilts are interwoven into that struggle for survival. Sixteen different traditional quilt blocks help to set the scenes that stitch the story together, and they provide a visual testament to the spirit, strength, and creativity of all pioneer women. Finally, the quilt is finished and raised for all to see. Sarah's last request to her daughters is, "Don't bury me in my best quilt," for she wants it to be passed among them and succeeding generations to remind them that she has been there.

The Quilters runs June 19-22 and 26-28 at the Roof Garden Theatre of the Laguna Hotel. For more information or to make reservations call 442-2567.

Registration For Summer Classes

Registration is under way and will continue through June 5 at the Cisco campus and all off-campus centers. Though there will be no problem in registering as late as June 5, all students are urged to register now in order to begin attending classes. Classes begin June 3 and a minimum of missed time is beneficial to the student.

Students may register at the main campus in Cisco, at the Clyde Educational Center, or at the Abilene Center in Office Park West, Building B at anytime during regular office hours, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Discovery-Fest '86 To Be Held In Eastland

Eastland County is inviting everyone to join in a special Sesquicentennial Celebration on Saturday, June 7th.

A day-long arts and crafts fair, complete with food and entertainment will be held on the town square in Eastland. All the towns in Eastland County will be sharing in Discovery-Fest '86 honoring the man for whom the county and city are named.

The highlight of the day's activities will be the presentation of an original historical drama re-enacting the story of Captain William M. Eastland, the first man to draw a black bean for death as part of the ill-fated Mier Expedition during Texas' days as a republic. The pageant is set to original music, and will feature a cast of some 150 including Sam Houston, Santa Anna and Captain Eastland, as well as a vivid black powder firing squad sequence.

The presentation begins at 7:30 p.m. at Maverick Stadium and will include a patriotic concert by the Texas Birthday Choir, made up of church and individual singers from throughout the County. A 135 member band will help during the historical story to entertaining life.

The climax to the program will be the unfurling of a locally made 30x50 foot Texas flag.

Come to Eastland and relive a part of Texas history. For more information call the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, 817-629-2332.

ARDUTH BEEN of Carbon was in this week and reminded us that her maiden name was Black. She says she's probably the only BLACK BEEN in Texas.

WHICH PROMPTS us to report that everything seems to be falling into place for the County's Sesquicentennial Celebration which will climax with the Saturday, June 7 program. Choir Director Wylie Peebles reports that the TEXAS BIRTHDAY CHOIR is already doing outstanding work in their rehearsals and that there's still room for more singers. (There's hope that this will evolve into a permanent county-wide choral program which will entertain for us in year-round programs.)

Kathi Stapp reports that drama rehearsals begin Monday night and that ALL participants should report to the football stadium at 7 so that work can get done on this part of the program. Volunteers are still welcome to join for participation. (There's not going to be lines to learn so it can be a fun-thing for everybody.)

The entire celebration is to honor the man for whom the county and city are named, and there's "black-bean drawings" all week in stores all over and the prizes to be awarded are really fantastic. Among the many we've seen announced are computers, plane trips, savings bonds and lots of other good things with "drawing beans for."

Guess you know there'll be original music included in the drama with soloists set for special production numbers. Sets are under the direction of Ginger Mangum and Gayle Jennings is heading up the costume department.

Time being announced for the Saturday night stadium show is 7:30 p.m., but since that many be a bit before dark, there probably will be special announcement and also the introduction of special visitors including Eastland family members whose ancestor was the original Capt. William M. Eastland.

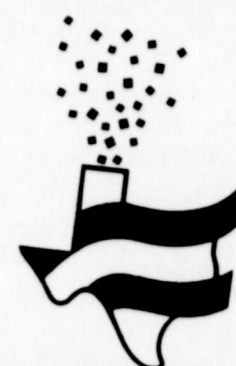

Also due to be recognized will be the R.P. (Buddy) Haun family whose ancestor Mack Thompson was one of the unfortunates who also drew a black bean for death at Salado.

There's to be art exhibits, photo, and other exhibits the week and on Saturday, a lot of dignitaries are expected for the events.

It's a shame to have to mention it, but in the event there's rain on the Saturday, the 7th, an alternate date has been set for the following Saturday, on the 14th. But let's not talk of that.

Giant Texas Flag To Be Unfurled During "17 Were Chosen" Re-Enactment

The huge 34 pound Texas flag that will be featured Saturday night, June 7, at

"17 Were Chosen" was sewn by several members of the Eastland County Extension Clubs.

They were Dorothy Underwood, Edith Wilson, Helen Phillips, and Eddie Greer of

Morton Valley; Arieta Shirey, Matty Rose and Murl Campbell of Pleasant Hill, Wynelle Brown and Ava

Rodgers of Kokomo; and Ardythe Caldwell, Annie Williams and Edna Bint of Lake Cisco. Sally Thomas of Ranger was a volunteer who also helped with the flag, which contains 1500 square feet of material.

Merchants To Feature Art Work

The following is a list of merchants who are featuring art work of elementary school children in their window decorations for Discovery Fest '86. Everyone is invited to view the beautifully decorated windows around Eastland.

Super Duper, Wal-Mart, H&R Lumber, Ken's Fish & Chicken, Poe Floral, Accents & Ann H. Folsom's, Dairy Queen, Eastland Glass, Eastland National Bank, Olney Savings, Eastland Telegram, Jay-Way, White's Ace Hardware, McDonalds, Pizza Inn, Mode O'Day, Pulido's.

The Happy Times

PICKING THE NEIGHBOR'S GEESE

When geese picking time came around the Pittman neighbors called me to come help pluck the nice, soft, white feathers.

There is a certain way to do this job. First, you catch a goose. Then you hold both feet with one of your hands, and with your free hand tuck the goose's head under your arm. Then you clamp down good and tight on the goose's body. Mrs. Goose's head will be behind you, near your hip, and that's what you've got to watch out for.

Now, you pull her feathers out with your free hand - if you have one. The feathers go into a special bag you have strapped over your shoulder. Oh, it's a real fun job, but if you don't hold the goose's head just right she will pinch a plug out of your backside! Oh well, we thought that was kind of fun, too.

By Lillian Cogburn Price

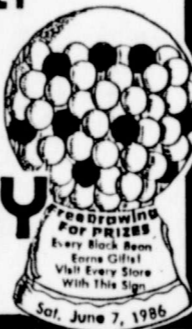

Mrs. Pittman aired and dried the feathers, then put them in a strong, heavyweight bag the size of a bed. The bag was made of "feather-ticking" duck cloth. Pittman's feather beds were fat and full and very soft and comfortable.

Each week these were aired and sunned in the yard on scaffold-like frames so that fresh air and sunshine could penetrate through and through. A feather bed is free from lumps and sags; the most wonderful bed I ever slept on!

Descendants

To Attend

Charles Eastland of Angleton, Texas, a descendant of the family of Captain William M. Eastland, hopes to be here for the Discovery-Fest June 7. This was the word the Eastland Telegram received by phone this week.

Eastland, who will be accompanied by his wife and 13 yr. old son Mark, plans to arrive in town on Friday, June 6. Once here, the family will stay over for the Saturday night re-enactment of the Black Bean Drawing, in which their famous Great-great Uncle drew the black bean of death.

The Eastlands are quite excited and pleased over the Eastland County Sesquicentennial plans, Mrs. Eastland reported. They have never been in the County named for their ancestor, and are looking forward to it.

The Charles Eastlands are in touch with other family members, but do not know at this time of any more who can make the trip. The father of Charles Eastland, Lewis W. Eastland, lives in Longview. A brother, Robert Eastland, lives in Houston.

Each year the Eastland descendants meet in LaGrange, Texas for a family reunion. They visit the tomb on Monument Hill where Captain Eastland and other martyrs from the Texas Mexican War are buried.

Late word has been received that more Eastland descendants will be here for the Sesquicentennial program. Eva Eastland Watterson writes from Pasadena, Texas that she and her sister, Mattie Eastland Craft, will arrive by Friday night, June 6. They are Great-great nieces of Capt. William Mosby Eastland.

Mrs. Watterson says she has given information about the Eastland event to her cousins, and they will be contacting the Chamber of Commerce as to plans.

Bronze Sculpture of "Old Rip" Completed

Dale Stewart, Cisco sculptor, and his wife Ruth show a bronze horned toad Stewart has created for the Eastland County Sesquicentennial celebration. The replica is titled "Old Rip".

Dale Stewart of Cisco has created a sculpture that will have a special meaning to people in this area - especially as the Eastland County Sesquicentennial Celebration begins.

It is a bronze replica of a horned toad - a faithful and detailed life-sized piece. Stewart has titled it "Old Rip", and can customize the pieces to suit individual buyers.

The first pieces of the edition have either a brown or gray patina. There are several other options on the sculptures. A plain toad without a base is expected to sell at $75, with the toad on a metal base around $110. The toad on a metal base mounted on oak with a turntable will sell for $125.

Of course any of these pieces would make a great gift, or would be a nice souvenir of the Discovery-Fest Celebration. Further information on the sculptures may be obtained by calling Dale Stewart at 442-4280 in Cisco.

This "Old Rip" will even outlast the original. Dale Stewart, Cisco sculptor, cast this horned toad in bronze. An edition of these fine pieces is now available - just in time for the Eastland County Sesquicentennial celebration.

Eastland County History

INDIANS!

By Maybelle Trout

Our founding fathers had to overcome floods and droughts, insects and wild animals, illnesses and loneliness that hovered snug as a shroud to settle in newly created Eastland County. As terrible as these ordeals were, nothing compared with another real threat...Indians. From about 1858 to 1871, raids on white settlers were frequent...especially in the light of the moon. The red man did most of his mischief when the moon was full.

The Comanche and their allies, the Kiowas, controlled the western two thirds of the county during its first twenty years. Between the boundaries of the settlers and Indians the Texas Rangers rode day and night in defense of the white man.

In 1865, the United States placed the Comanche on a reservation on the Brazos River near Fort Griffin. Five hundred Indians were fed and given horses by the government, but 2,000 others roamed the western plains...including Eastland County.

Those on the reservation were difficult to restrain and longed for freedom. They also missed the importance of bringing scalps back to camp to prove their bravery. A few daring braves stole away from the reservation to make daring raids against the enemy.

Indians were almost as wild and much fiercer than untamed animals. The white man was trespassing on lands they had always hunted and roamed freely on. Instincts probably warned this was the beginning of the end for them. White man's diseases such as smallpox greatly reduced their numbers. As herds of buffalo thinned, so did they. Buffalo was their 'staff of life.' They used its meat for food. Brains and liver softened leather. Horns and skulls were turned into ladels and vessels. Shoulder blades made hoes, picks and knives. Tendons ended up as bow strings, tail hair served as ropes and belts. Hides made bridles, saddles, shields, moccasins, bags, shirts, beds, ropes etc.

The bow and arrow seemed primitive compared to the white man's weapon. In close encounters, they were sometimes superior. Heads of rattlesnakes were boiled and the top of the arrow dipped into this brew to make a poison point.

Indian horses were of poor quality compared to the white man's steed. Aim of the most raids against the settlers was to steal stock. However, with the slightest provocation, a scalp or two was also added to his trophies.

A few of early raids recorded. Some were never authenticated. These stories are supposed to be true:

Early in February of 1860, Indians surrounded a little one room house near the eastern edge of the county. Inside, two young girls carded and the woman of the house worked at the spinning wheel. The red men began to plunder the place...stealing harness, saddles, buckets, pans...anything they liked.

They kept up a heinous yelling...thinking the women inside would run outside. Men, working across a ravine, heard the noise and made a bigger noise as they ran toward the cabin, they reached the Wood's house.

Inside, they found the bodies of Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Lemley. Fearing a terrible fate had also befallen the two missing Lemley girls, they redoubled their efforts to catch the Indians. They failed. The girls were kept by their captors overnight, robbed of their clothing and turned loose. The girls wandered, frightened half to death, and finally came upon a settlement five miles north of Stephenville.

In the southeastern part of the county, eight families were fortified at C.C. Blair's Ranch (Desdemona today.) The houses were built and tents stretched around an open square and these were enclosed by a close picket fence eight or ten feet high. This was a frequent stopping place for Texas Rangers as large supplies of ammunition and bread stuff was kept here. When Indians became especially active, settlers brought their families here. Other forts served the settlers all over the state and Eastland County.

In December of 1860, Joe Smith and Golston Flannigan left Flannigan's Ranch...now called Merriman, to go to Blair's Fort for supplies. They were in a wagon to which was hitched a yoke of young steers. About a mile south of Merriman, they were fired on by Indians. The steers reversed their course and started running wildly thru the timber. Young Flannigan was fatally injured and his body fell from the wagon. Smith leaped from the wagon and hid awhile in the brush. He then made his way back to the ranch and reported the raid to others.

They found Flannigan's scalped body and buried him in a little knoll south of the bridge spanning Colony Creek at Merriman. When an arrow which had struck Smith was jerked out, it was presumed the head came out with the shaft. Some twenty years later he felt a sharp pain in his knee. He was surprised to see a sharp black point sticking through the skin. The arrow was hardly altered from the many years in his body.

About 1860, Indian raids became so frequent, families went to Stephenville for six weeks. At this time, Stephenville had a store, a drug store, and blacksmith shop.

The Billy Cross family lived at Mansker's Lake. Indians stole sixty of Mr. Mansker's horses. They were pursued by Mansker and his son, Tom and Billy Cross. They overtook the Indians on Flat Creek and had a furious fight. Cross was killed and Mansker and Tom had their mounts shot from under them. The Indians escaped with all the horses and none were ever found.

In Steve Brandon's house, everything was going wrong. His wife had been ill two days. The four grown boys in the family could turn flap jacks and make corn dodgers, but their big hands were too clumsy to "Pat-up" Ma's pillow or give her a dose of medicine. I'm going for Mrs. Kohen", Mr. Brandon announced. The woman was visiting a neighbor five or six miles away. Brandon told the boys to look after their ma and to watch out for Indians. Buckling on a six shooter, he left. He was very uneasy because it was the light of the moon...when red skins grew restless. Mrs. Kohen agreed to 'help out' at the Brandons, and was helped up behind him on his trusty black steed. About half way home, an arrow whizzed thru the air and lodged in a tree directly in front of them! Glancing back, Brandon was filled with horror. He saw not one, but twenty Indians, yelling like demons. With arrows playing around the thick and fast, Brandon leaned forward, urging the horses on. The woman's grip tightened. He suddenly realized she was shielding him! He urged his horse to "Haul!" "Wheel!" and it obeyed. He fired twice at the startled Indians, then rode on. Recovering quickly, the Indians again took up the chase. On they came! Like a horde of devils, they were. Their infernal yells and hissing arrows filled the air.

Mrs. Kohen cried out, "I'm shot!" Brandon wheeled again and fired at the Indians. Not a moan escaped the lips of the woman as she pleaded: "My back is full of arrows...I'm killed already. Think of your sick wife...drop me and save yourself." With a shout of defiance, that startled the woman into tightening her hold, he sent six bullets on errands of fate.

Gaining on the Indians, he got to within shouting distance of his house. With all the breath he had left, he yelled to his sons...and they heard! The boys made a big hullabaloo and the Indians turned tail and ran.

Brandon was hit six times but lived. They pulled seven arrows from the back of poor Mrs. Kohen, and she rapidly recovered.

The Ellison's Springs fight is the Indians encounter best remembered.

About the first of February, 1864, Eastland County organized under the Conscription Law for military purposes. Forty men were required to form a company. It took every man between the ages of eighteen and forty-five in the counties of Eastland, Callahan and Shackelford to muster that number. The strife caused by the Civil War was not the first order of business. Instead, protection against the red man was their duty. The white man has settled as far west in the county as McGough Springs, Flannigan's Ranch and Jewell...West of where Gorman is today.

On the eighth day of August, 1864, J.L. Head, corporal in the military, led eight men on a scouting party. About three miles east of Carbon, they found a trail of at least 35 Indians. A beef had been killed for their breakfast. Head knew they were out to steal horses. The trail led south, and a half mile north of Jewell, they overtook the red skins. One horse had given out, so that left seven white men. They fought the Indians 'long range' for awhile. With no showing, they headed for a nearby ranch where five reinforcement joined the military. The twelve men traveled about twelve miles east where, three hundred yards south of Ellison's Spring, they encountered the Indians again.

The captain ordered a change and the twelve men charged up to the line of forty Indians! They fired, but the Indians kept coming! The men were ordered to fall back and the Indians did their dirty work. Wearing shields that turned bullets, their bows and arrows were more accurate and deadly than rifles and six shooters.

The Captain was shot in the neck and died. Another man's horse fell and the man was killed right there. James Ellison received a deep arrow wound in the hip that disabled him for life. Another man was shot twice thru the arms. And another was shot below the hip joint and pinned to the saddle. Five men killed or disabled and not a load left in a gun!

The decision was made; survivors outran the savages to Ellison's house. Indians followed to within a few yards.

Runners were sent to Stephenville to have graves prepared for the dead. A distance of thirty five miles and not one settler between the two places. When the runner arrived in Stephenville, he heard bells tied to horses and knew Indians had reached there ahead of him. They aimed to steal the horses, and he gave the alarm. Shots were fired and the Indians fled. They left behind guns they had picked up at Ellison's Spring...proving they were same Indians!

On the eleventh day of August, the dead were buried in Stephenville, dropping the curtain on the bloodiest battle fought in Eastland County.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffey lived on the J.T. Duffer place about three miles from Mansker's Lake on the Leon River.

Coffey had been ill with a fever; he was confined to his bed and his wife had to perform all the chores. The family had a nice young mare which they had staked near the house to prevent her from being stolen by Indians.

The grass became short and Mrs. Coffey decided to take her farther from the house and return her at night.

Mrs. Coffey failed to return from bringing the mare to the house. A neighbor, who came to sit with Mr. Coffey, found her dead and scalped...the mare stolen, also.

Mrs. Coffey was buried on a gravel knoll which afterward became the Alameda Cemetery.

Years afterward, a white headed man, Mr. Coffey, visited the munity seeking his wife's grave. Among the graves marked by rocks, he felt satisfied he had found her last resting place.

Indian fights were recorded near Cisco and other communities.

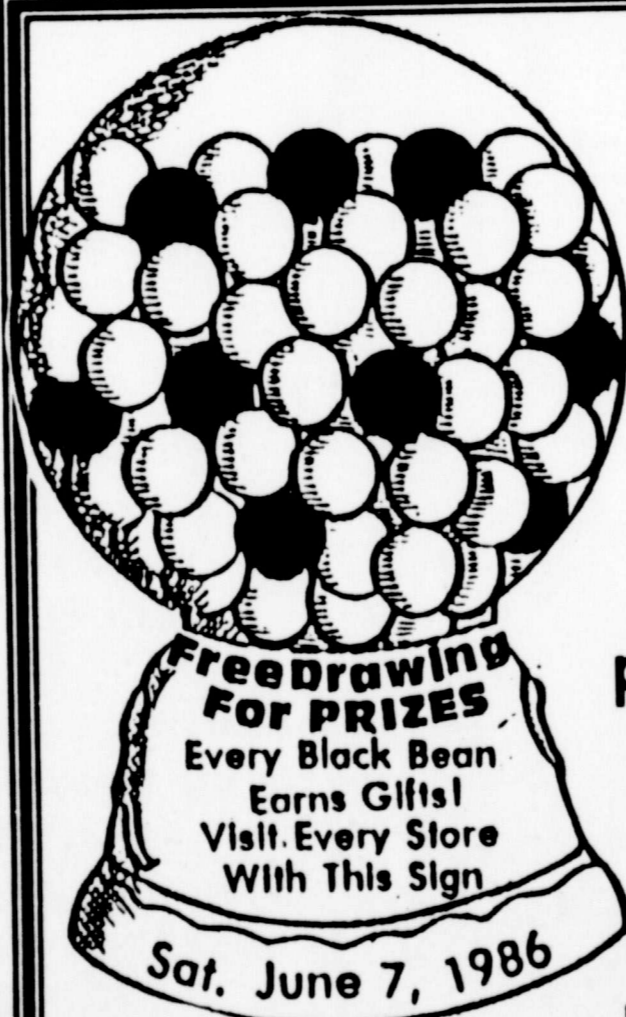

The last person killed by Indians in Eastland County was Henry Martin, son-in-law of W.H. Mansker, in 1871. Martin fell after being attacked by a band of Indians. His death occurred about two miles east of where the Cheaney School House once stood.

Spotlights & Sidelights

By Julia Worth

WHAT NOW Many people must have subscribed to, "Stop the world! I want to get off."

However, they haven't found the right button yet, so they pull themselves out of the doldrums or the sulks, the griefs or the desperation and go on about their businesses.

There's little argument with the words of that old song, "Life gets tee-jus, don't hit." It does get tedious for practically everyone in different ways and at different times-- which is a good thing.

The different timing-- if all of us felt a mind-sag at the same time, the world might as well stop. "Gloom, despair and agony on end" wouldn't take care of it anymore.

However, from news reports, television programs and movies, it seems to me that increasing numbers of people become suicide statistics.

They can't stop the world, so they stop themselves. In the equally unstoppable world in which I grew up, suicide was not one of our options.

Your life was not from your choice, so you did not get rid of it just because you were disappointed or disgruntled.

If you got to the end of your rope, you tied a knot and hung on. Someone would show you up with some more rope, or you'd adjust to the knot. "One day at a time" sort of thing. Did you ever notice how often a song has been written about an emotion you feel or a problem you have. You are not alone.

Of course, the point of view is the deciding factor, but I have suspect our society may no longer have such a widespread, positive perspective on the inadvisability of taking one's own life.

Other cultures have various attitudes. Hari-kari, or suicide to the Japanese, may be the only "honorable" way to solve a problem.

I always considered hari-kari as a cop-out, a refusal to face the trial-and-punishment of wrong-doing. While I still hold this concept, I have come to recognize such self-disposal saves the government (taxpayers) a great deal of money on court cases.

However, I don't know that a choice between self-destruction or incarceration would clear U.S. dockets much.

A person who kills wantonly and at random is not likely to have enough intestinal fortitude, conscience or remorse to eliminate himself when caught.

Too, a lot of jobs depend on the killer's staying alive. For one, his lawyer, who may offer, "This man has never killed before." Yep, I read that defense only last week. I can't help thinking this could mean that everybody is entitled to one murder before things get serious about slapping hands and saying, "No, no!"

Would this sympathetic lawyer care to be a target for a first-time murderer? Would he be any less dead?

We won't get into the other jobs-- the judges, the jailers, the contractors who build the jails and the courthouses-- all kinds of people draw salaries depending on how many murderers and other miscreants. If we continue at this rate, we can consider criminals as public benefactors -- just have to rationalize enough.

Governor Proclaims Awareness Week

The victims... Victims do get a little more consideration of late, but it seems to me the preponderance of hearts bleed for the perpetrators of crime who "don't know any better and have such poor backgrounds." Sad... Oh, wow.

Well, there are still a lot of us "socially disadvantaged and economically deprived", Depression-Era (1930s) representatives around. We didn't have a lot of parties, and we did eat a lot of beans.

What we didn't do for the most part was kill someone or chicken out on our own life.

We read Dorothy Parker: "Razors pain you Rivers are Damp. Acids stain you Drugs cause cramp. Guns aren't lawful And nooses give. Gas smells awful. You might as well live."

We laughed a little, and most of us kept on keeping on.

Most of us played it straight. Some of us did commit suicide -- also, arson, robbery and murder. Then there was WWII-- the Korean conflict -- The Viet Nam debacle -- I can almost understand the plea, "Stop the world! I want to get off!"

But suicide... I don't know whether I'm curious, conservative or plain cowardly, but suicide is not for me.

Too permanent.

Christian Scientists

Gather In Boston The Church of Christ, Scientist, convening its 91st Annual Meeting in Boston June 2, focused its attention on fulfilling the denomination's "mission of Christ-healing."

The theme was traditional for Christian Scientists, but the meeting was not.

In a pre-taped video, the five-member Board of Directors stressed the church's founding purpose, dating from 1879, to commemorate the teachings and life of Christ Jesus "which should reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing."

For the first time, videotapes of the Boston meeting will be shown at Christian Science churches around the world, enabling members of the century-old denomination to be part of the meeting in their respective cities and countries. Here in Eastland member of Christian Science Society have scheduled a meeting later in the summer for this purpose.

Reports from the field -- from Christian Scientists around the world -- were also delivered via video recordings.

A speaker from New York state described a healing "through prayer" of a toxic condition that doctors feared would endanger her unborn child; a woman from New England told of being lifted from destitution and suicidal tendencies to hope and new purpose; a man from the Philippines recounted his recovery from a serious gunshot wound. Asked what he felt was the most im-

EASTLAND

Eastland will be turned into a Sesquicentennial town on Saturday, June 7. A day-long arts, crafts and entertainment Fest will be available on the Square, with all the towns in Eastland County sharing in the program. At 7:30 p.m. the public is invited to a free spectacular at Maverick Stadium, where the county-wide choir will present a patriotic concert. Climax of the day will be the presentation of an original historical drama re-enacting the story of Capt. William M. Eastland, first man to draw a black bean for death in the infamous Mier Expedition. Around 150 people will be in this cast, and it should be something to remember.

The Maintenance Division of the Texas Highway Dept. in Eastland has gone to a ten-hour, four-day week. Supervisor Bill Claborn reports. This is in effort to reduce expenses and help increase production. Some 24 employees will work from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., with a 30 minute lunch break. These workers will be off on Fridays, but the local offices will have crews available for emergencies. Also providing assistance in the volunteer efforts of two county organizations which have "adopted highways" in a program to reduce litter and costs. The Rising Star FFA and FFA has adopted a mile each side of town on State Highway 183 and 36.

"Friends of the Library" was formed May 27 at the Eastland Centennial Memorial Library. Officers elected were Carl Conger, president; Venita Roach, vice-president; T. G. CISCO

Reports are that there was a big turnout for the Scranton Homecoming on Sunday, in spite of heavy rains in the area. There was a covered-dish luncheon at noon, with Ex-Students bringing home-cooked food. The afternoon program began at 1:15 p.m. with Hugh Shrader of Scranton introducing noted writer Larry King, the speaker. King, now of Washington, D.C., was born in Putnam. His parents, the late Clyde Kings, moved to a farm near Scranton, where he lived until he was 14 years old. Later the family moved to Jal, New Mexico and Midland. Larry King is the author of 11 books and three plays.

City Manager Mike Moore reports that work has begun on 13 more wheel chair ramps on downtown streets. The new ramps will be built mostly at alley ways in mid-block to service streets in both directions. Five ramps were built recently. The current cost of $2,400, of which the Cisco Civic League is paying $1,900. Contractors for the ramps are Bill Rucker of Rising Star and Ollie Moran of Cisco.

Two local contractors will share street grading work under an agreement reached after bids were opened. United Energex and Don Wallace submitted identical bids of $42 per hour to furnish men and equipment for street work. Each will receive approximately half of the work on summer projects.

The Cisco City Council, in a unanimous decision, decided not to allow city police to use radar equipment to work traffic on I-20 through town. The police chief had requested that authority recently. City Manager Mike Moore stated that the council was not waiving any of the city's rights of jurisdiction over traffic on the three-mile route across the city. "The city does not wish to use radar to clock motor vehicle speed," he added.

Cisco's Shopping Center in the 200 block of East 8th Street needs to have a name, according to the merchants who make up the center. A "Name the Center" Contest is being held, with prizes and gifts to be awarded to the person submitting the winning title. Entry forms are available from any of the merchants in the center, and the deadline for returning the completed entry form is June 14.

GORMAN

Gorman, like the other area schools, has been involved in graduations during the past week. Honor graduates at the high school were Randy Anderson, valedictorian; Traci Burns, salutatorian. Both of these students have attended Gorman since Kindergarten, and both have won a number of honors in UIL and other activities. Randy plans to enter the College of Business Administration at Texas Tech University in Lubbock this fall, and Traci will attend Tarleton State University in Stephenville. She plans to transfer to A. M. in about two years and major in Accounting.

The Gorman Fire Department will hold a Chinese Auction, Bake and Rummage Sale Saturday afternoon, May 7 in front of Foster Floral. The Chinese Auction will be on a new TV, new waffle iron and coffee maker. Bidding will be on a time-clock basis, and the last bidder when the clock stops will be the winner. All proceeds will go to the Fire Department's Miss Gorman candidate - Kathy Dixon.

The Junior Choir of First Baptist Church will present a musical called "Down By The Creek Bank" on Thursday, June 5, at 7 p.m. at the church. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

RANGER

This is possibly a record for Eastland County, and a lot of other places too! Mr. and Mrs. B.A. Highsmith of Ranger will be observing their 70th Wedding Anniversary on Wednesday, June 4. The Highsmiths still take care of their own home in Ranger. Congratulations on a long and successful marriage.

Steve Thomas, chief appraiser for the Eastland County Appraisal office, has informed the local taxing bodies of losses in property values. The actual amount of loss for each taxing entity won't be determined until after the Board of Reviews meets on June 13. The Ranger Schools is estimated to be the biggest loser in Ranger, since the school's mineral values are down about 16 million dollars on valuation. Supt. Jerry Jackson said that this would mean around $134,000 less in local revenue. The school district is in good financial shape, however, and hopes to avoid tax raises. Other area schools are also victims of the slow oil economy.

Hendrick League House is becoming a reality... but we still need your help to finish this home away from home for outpatients and families of patients at Hendrick Medical Center. With your support neighbors will have a place to stay when family members are critically ill. Show your love and concern with a donation to Hendrick League House. Pledges and donations from outside the city of Abilene received by March 1 will be matched by a $50,000 anonymous challenge grant. Please help us reach that goal. HUMANISM OR ABSOLUTES - WHICH SHALL IT BE.

Recently, I heard a television commentator say, "A man was observing a class of teen-agers. The instructor asked, 'Who can tell us the answer to nine-times-nine...'"

A student quickly responded, "Eighty-one." The teacher shook his head, "Wrong, young man," as he asked another student the question.

"Seventy-eight," the second student responded. "Right, young man. You had to think to give that answer. You estimated the answer and that is better than the rote learning that is mistakenly taught. It requires no thinking to memorize multiplication tables."

In our so called "New Age" movement humanistics are expounding the idea that there are no absolutes. They believe that nothing is solely good or bad, right or wrong. It is evident that their teaching has taken root in our society as it is producing more robberies, rapes, drug addicts, child abuse, broken homes, and other such problems than in any other period in our history.

Our government and other organizations are spending billions in an attempt to find a solution to society's problems. Rock stars and nightclub entertainers are attempting to "help society" by holding well-meant concerts to help those unfortunates who were trapped and enslaved by the same life style which the stars are using in an attempt to rescue them. How sad: The blind are leading the blind.

Our government is funding abortions to keep children from being born. Various reasons for this are given by the pro-abortionists. Some believe that it is best to do away with the unborn in order to eliminate the problem of caring for the child. Has our society deteriorated to the point that we cannot think of a better way to solve the problem of caring and feeding the child other than killing him.

We are now spending more money to build bigger and better prisons and jails to house these unfortunate people who commit crimes in order to indulge in the life style they have chosen.

Is the answer too simplistic for us to see the solution... It is almost too late. Should we not once again teach absolutes - and give to our youth the understanding that there is good and a bad, right and wrong.
