JANA MULLER

Jana Muller Finalist For 1990 National Merit Scholarship

Jana Muller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Muller and a senior at Cisco High that she had achieved finalist standing in the 1990 National Merit Scholarship Competition. This is the most prestigious national standing that can be achieved by a graduating senior. Jana joins a distinct group representing less than onehalf of one percent of the top American high school seniors.

The process of selecting National Merit Scholars takes into account many factors. Jana entered the scholarship competition in 1988 when she took the PSAT/NMSQT test as a junior. More than one million other students from 19,000 U.S. high schools entered at the same time. Jana's score on the PSAT test qualified her as a National Merit Semifinalist.

To qualify as a finalist,

Jana was required to take the nationally administered SAT test during the first ester of her senior year and repeat her performance of scoring in the top one-half of one percent of the students taking the test.

In addition, Jana was required to submit detailed information about her scholastic and extracurricular accompplishments and be recommended by school officials. Taken into consideration are the student's academic course load and difficulty level, grades earned, test scores, demonstrated leadership, contributions to the school and community, and the student's plans and goals.

As a National Merit Scholar, Jana is eligible to receive a coveted National Merit Scholarship to continue her education. Jana is considering attending Princeton, Yale, or Texas A&M University.

A Thought For The Day

Conscience is usually described as an inner voice that tells us what is right and what is wrong.

It is claimed there are many people these days who are seemingly not bothered by conscience. We doubt that. Whatever belittling of conscience seems to be on the surface, we believe most people know the difference between right and wrong. Most people realize spiritual factors do count. No matter what effort of self-deception is made, sooner or later the inner conflict of conscience must be faced.

Daytime difficulties and sleepless nights can be minimized and perhaps totally eliminated when that fact is realized, accepted, and acted upon. An acute conscience is not harmful, it is helpful - providing corrections are made in structuring a life to do those things know to be right and refusing to do those things know to be wrong. A good conscience does not just happen. It has to be earned. Once earned, a clear conscience need never fear midnight knocking...

County Commissioners Consider Request of South Hospital Dist.

Eastland County Commissioners Monday were told by Hershall Cordell of Gorman that the South Eastland County Hospital District had been officially dissolved.

Cordell said the Hospital Board was making arrangements to settle all claims against the bankrupt District. Arrangements will also be made to transfer all indigent Health Care cases from that area to the County.

ing statement" to the South Eastland County Hospital District.

There is some confusion over $68,000 which the District has been billed for, he explained. The amount has bee paid twice, but each time the check was returned with the notation that the District "doesn't owe" it.

Cordell requested that the Commissioners consider signing an agreement setting aside the $68,000 in an escrow account until the matter is resolved. He said if the money is spent the I.R.S. might come back later and make the Board members of South Eastland County Hospital District personally responsible for paying it.

The Commissioners said they would consider the request, and check with legal counsel on the handling of the money.

In other business, Ken Parker brought an Audit report on county finances. His figures showed that the County was in good shape, with the General Revenue fund up from last year. Some revenues for the county were down, but tax collection was up-bringing in more funds for operation.

Parker also stated that every "almost department"stayed within their budget last year.

More news on the jail came from Billy Bacon, Commissioner of Pct. 4. He reported that 20 prisoners were currently incacerated, with three on "blue" warrants, four belonging to the Probation Dept., and one scheduled for T.D.C.

The official inspection of the jail by the Texas Jail Standards Commission is now scheduled for April, Bacon said. He reported that "everything was in great shape", and the Sheriff had invited the Commission to come any time they wished.

On other law enforcement matters, the Commissioner's opened bids on a Lease Car for the Sheriff. They approved a bid from Hood-King Motor Co. on a 1990 Ford Crown Victoria Sedan at $405.65 per month. There will be $800. trade-in allowance on an old Another agenda item dealt with the installation of a new elevator in the Courthouse. Representatives of the Esco Elevator Co. Discussed details of the installation, then decided to call in sub-contractor Sam Justice for more information.

One of the final items dealt with policies concerning track or lug-type equipment on county roads - and the collection of damages. Bacon said this type of equipment had recently used a county road in Pct. 4, and he intended to send the Company a bill for dam-

Mary Martha Sunday School Class Holds Regular Meeting Feb. 13

The Mary Martha Sunday school class had a Valentine social Tuesday, February 13, 1990, in the home of Lucy Hogan. The hostesses for the social were Lucy Hogan, Laverne Ivie and Lela Bri-

There were lots of delicious food: chicken salad, gelitan salad, dips, chips, nuts, pickles, olives, meat balls and a heart shaped cake. Louise Pryor gave the blessing. The class ate, then had a short business meeting, the devotional was given by Frances Strother. She took her devotional from Romans. The class played a game and enjoyed it very much. The class visited a while and Lela Britian dismissed us. We had a very enjoyable time. Those unable to attend were missed very much.

Those attending were Lucy Hogan, Lela Britian, Chrystine Nance, Mildred Foster, Louise Pryor. Frances Strother, Lois Holt and Ann Goodman.

According to one informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calories, especially those from fats, suppressing their absorption.

A significant portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the digestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to burn stored fat, which can result in rapid body weight loss. Clinical testing has verified the safety of this formula for long-term use.

of this formula for long-term use.

The formula is marketed in capsule form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of the customer files of this company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost as much as 20, 40 or 80 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This appears to be a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $19,95 for a 3-week supply and $38,95 for a 6-week supply and $38,95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. Studies Show Many Are Unware Of Social Security Benefits For Those Under 62

There is more to Social Security than benefits for persons over 62 and, surprisingly, the average age is only about 30.

Robert L. Berko, consumer writer and executive director of the Center, says the organization has been publishing and updating a complete list of available benefits (and how to qualify for them) for the pest 16 sumers of all ages an awareness of the benefits they are entitled to under the atest laws The 12th update (a complete revision) is now available.

The book contains a form to get a copy of your Social Security account showing all credits to your account and an estimate of the amount you will get upon retirement or disability. Workers must check their Social Security accounts frequently since any errors more than three years old will not be corrected. Often, the study found, workers have had too much deducted from their wages and were due a refund. In other cases, employers had not sent the correct amount to be credited to accounts. If you have records of the amount earnings and deductions, you will be credited with that money and the employer's share whether or not he ever sent the money to the government.

"Billions of dollars go unclaimed," says Mr. Berko, "because many workers do not realize they are eligible for benefits,' Among the findings of the study group and included in the Guide are:

-In some cases parents of a deceased worker are eligible for benefits even if they never paid into the system. -Many children are eligible for benefits even though their parents never paid into the system.

-Minor children and surviving spouse of a person who has worked under the SS system for as little as one day in each of six annual quarters can collect -Income from in-

continued to flow year round.

There are many chemicals on the market today. There is a chemical to kill almost any species of brush. In picking a chemical you must consider the species of brush to be killed, how the chemical is to be applied, and the time of year the chemical is to be applied or the stage of growth the brush should be in. When using a chemical always read and follow the label directions for your safety as well as the safety of others.

Mechanical brush control can be as simple as shredding or chopping or as advanced as rootplowing. Mechanical methods can be a very effective control for most brush species in our area.

A prescribed burn is somewhere between a mechanical and biological control for brush. When small brush is presenta prescribed burn done under proper conditions can give very good brush control.

In the age of machines and chemicals biological controls have not been used much. Sheep and goats can be a good brush control if coyotes are

Crime Stoppers Receive Calls

The Eastland County Crime Stoppers, Inc., received four calls during the month of February.

One call was information unrelated to the case.

Another individual called twice about a case involving drugs and theft. The person waited a little to long to call or a search warrant could have been used to check out the information. If someone sees evidence, a search warrant can only be obtained within 72 hours of the time the person sees it. However, local officers are investigating what may be a good lead.

Another call relating to drugs is being checked out, but officers have yet to confirm the information.

Crime Stoppers is beginning to get more calls, and better information from the callers. At first most of the information was already known by investigators.

Crime Stoppers hopes that a conviction will soon result from a call, and that the Eastland County Crime Stoppers will be able to convey a nice reward to the caller.

If you have information about a crime, call 629-TIPS. You don't have to identify yourself and you may receive a reward of up to $1000.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00.

Community Colleges Work To Curb Drop Outs

When the bell rings ending another school day, more than 500 students from grades 7 through 12 will have decided to drop out of schools across Texas.

An estimated 88,000 public school pupils will opt to quit school this year for a multitude of reasons that run the gamut of socio-economic reasons.

WEBICAN CANCER SOCIETY school officials and state leaders, they have also raised the eyebrows of administrators and faculty at the state's 64 public community college campuses. "The current high school drop-out rate constitutes a national and Texas crisis," believes Dr. Wright L. Lassiter, Jr., president of El Centro College in Dallas, who like other community college presidents across the state has turned his attention and some of his college's resources toward the pro-

Texas ranks 41st among all states in its ability to retain students in school through graduation. It is estimated that one out of three, and in some areas, one out of two public school students are "at risk" of calling it quits on their education.

"In economic and human terms, these numbers have the potential to be a true tragedy," said Dr. Lassiter.

The state's community colleges are playing an increasing leadership role in addressing the public school drop-out problem in their communities, and are developing innovative programs to help keep students in school through gradua-

More than anything else, community college personnel are working hand-inhand with their public school counterparts to curb the problem. According to Dr. Lassiter, it will take a broadbased partnership among many entities to develop viable solutions.

"To hope to solve the dropout problem solely through public school efforts will not solve the problem quickly," he said. "Texas' community colleges just happen to be located at the most appropriate level to interface with public schools. In terms of community service, it seems like a natural thing to

The concept of "building broad-based partnerships' has prompted El Centro College to embark on an alternative high school venture with the Dallas Independent School District. El Centro and DISD have established Middle College which takes "at risk" ninth- and 10th graders out of their former urban high school environments and places them on the El Centro College campus.

Middle College students have a different class schedule and arrangement from traditional high school students. Plus, they are hooked into the world of work through mandatory job internship experience each term at school.

The change in environment, coupled with the selfesteem of attending classes on a college campus, has boosted the achievement levels of the participants, Dr. Lassiter said. Over the next two years, plans are underway to add the 11th and 12th grades to the school. Eventually it will be possible for a senior to earn up to 30 hours of college level work which will also count toward high school graduation.

Community colleges and public school districts are utilizing dual credit agreements to help break down artificial barriers that exist between and among educational institutions in the state, said Dr. Marvin L. Baker, president of South Plains College in Levelland.

"Early admission programs and dual credit articulation agreements provide greater opportunities for community college curricula to interface with that of public schools," said Dr. Baker. "These efforts pave the way for more open communications and an understanding of the high school drop-out problem."

Some of the state's community colleges are offering college-level courses in the high school setting, contracting with local school district faculty to teach the course. More are allowing students to enroll concurrently during their junior and senior year and take honors or remedial classes on college campuses. The courses are counted toward the students' high school graduation and give them a head start on a college career at the same

"Many times if students see a clearer path to a college education, they are further motivated to stay in school and graduate," said Dr. Baker.

While the list of innovative drop-out prevention programs is as diverse as the state's community college districts and the constituents they serve, Dr. Lassiter wonders if community colleges are doing all that can

"Everything that you do in this arena is an add-on," he said. "It requires funds and resources that in many instances are already taxed. Many of our colleges are working with limited resources in addressing this statewide concern.'

When state appropriations are not available, community colleges turn to grants and private sources to fund these

We have the concern; we have the innovative ideas already in place on our college campuses," said Dr. Lassiter. "This effort is an investment for the future of our young people and for our

Texas' Silver Anniversary

"TEXAS" rings in the new year with shining plans for the 25th silver anniversary season of the famous musical drama set beneath the towering cliffs of Palo Duro Canyon State Park near Amarillo and Canyon.

In honor of the occasion Director Neil Hess with the help of Disney consultants has added new surprises whose mysteries are not yet unveiled.

Instead of just one opening night, four nights of celebration will kick off the 1990 season from June 13 through June 16. "TEXAS" will continue June 18 and play nightly except Sundays through August 25, 1990.

Special events and receptions will include the dedication of a new silver anniversary patio honoring all donors who are helping with the half million dollar restoration of the theatre

Splashed into the season is a medley of festivities including a cast reunion, fourth of July extravaganza, a time capsule burial and a tribute to media.

A chow-call triangle traditionally given to the visitor from the farthest distance will appear silver this year, and every 250th, ever 2,500th, and ever 25,000th guest will discover an assortment of prizes to take home. The triangle has not been awarded to anyone in the continental United States since the show's beginning in

Over two million people have seen "TEXAS". They came from every state and over 100 different foreign countries each summer. Half have seen the production but return to catch the unusual musical drama whose star remains the 600 foot cliff backdrop that is scaled, ridden, spotlighted

Institute Of Texas Cultures Changes Dome Screens

The Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio will be replacing the 38 projection screens and 254 projection surfaces located in the dome theater area from late December through mid-February. These screens have been used to poject the audiovisual presentation Faces and Places of Texas" since the Institute opened in 1968. It is estimated that 5.5 million people have viewed this production during the 21 years.

The preparation for the construction activities began with the installation of protective materials on portions of the Institute's exhibit floor December 18 and the actual screen replacement process starts in early January. The dome show, which is seen four times daily, will resume its regular schedule by midFebruary, according to Institute officials.

Even though the dome theater area will be closed during the six weeks of construction and Faces and Places of Texas" will not be available for viewing, the Institute will continue to remain open to the public with individual and group tours available, and all usual activities being conducted during the regular hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday.

The University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio is a statewide research, education and communication center focusing on the history and diverse culture of Texans and is located on HemisFair Park in downtown San Antonio. Admission is free, with donations welcome.

Neglected Car Harmful To Your Health

Environmental issues promise to take center stage among Americans as we enter the '90's. A Washington Post survey shows nearly 2 out of 3 respondents feel the top priority for governmental action should be to clean up our air and water.

Clean air is a key issue in the opinion of American Lung Association's Ronald White, who told a conference of automotive executives that a poorly tuned vehicle or one whose emission controls have been tampered with will put out 2 to 8 times more emissions than one that is properly maintained.

Addressing the Tune-up Manufacturers Institute sponsored symposium. White said the motor vehicle is responsible for about 70 percent of the carbon monoxide, 50 percent of the unburned hydrocarbons and 50 percent of the oxides of nitrogen in the air we

These numbers could be drastically reduced through improved maintenance practices," he emphasized. New cars are supposed to put out 98 percent less harmful emissions than those of 1968. This is in theory only because of tampering and trant/enance neglect."

In addition to the ecological benefits of well reamtained engines, the consciencious owner saves gas and drives a mere dependable venicle. Beyond that, by reducing automotive et assists, the driving public way be able to forestall curailed use of their vehicles in set, e urban areas.

Congressman Charles Stenholm Speaks At Majestic Historical Marker Dedication Sun.

By Richard Kurklin & Viola Payne

The weather didn't seem to want to co-operate Sunday as thunderstorms continued to build, a tomado watch was in effect, and rain poured down in Eastland before the Majestic Historical Marker Dedication was to begin at 2 p.m.

Speaker Congressman Charlie Stenholm was at the historic theater along with those who had arranged for the event to be a memorable one. But who else would brave the weather?

The dedication was to be in front of the Majestic where the coveted markers, their wording covered with paper, were positioned for all to see. Three individual castings had been mounted to remind us of the significant and colorful past of the theater and the county in which it resides.

As the scheduled time approached, the rain slack-ened and the front of the theater became packed with people from throughout the county who wanted to be a part of the historic moment, and to honor the area's congressman.

Spectators crowded under the awning and some stood in the light rain still falling as Eastland Fine Arts Association President Steve Haines emceed the dedication.

State Historical Commission Representative Betty Hanna of Breckenridge and Eastland County Judge Scott Bailey commented on the significance of the markers and Judge Bailey read the inscription on the state marker after the paper was removed.

Haines than asked Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bradley, who made the initial donation to get the theater restoration under way, to come forward and be recognized as a second marker honoring the Fine Arts Association members who were responsible for the theater's rebirth was unwrapped. The names were then read by John Berry who was EFAA President at the time of the restoration

After the Dedication the large crowd moved to the Auditorium, where a program combined patriotism with appreciation for Congressman Stenholm.

Community leaders from across Eastland County and others involved in the program were seated with Congressman Stenholm on the stage. A colorful floral arrangement highlighted the Speaker's stand, where Master of Ceremonies Eris Ritchie Richard Watson of Gorman gave an impressive Invocation, setting a tone for the event. Ed Allcorn, Manager of the Majestic, led the singing of the "The Star Spangled Banner." Jerry Edwards of Ranger led out with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

The mood of reverence continued as Donna DeLuca gave a beautiful vocal solo of "God Bless America." She was accompained on the piano by Carolyn Bolt.

Then Steve Haines, President of the Eastland Fine Arts
Association, welcomed all on behalf of this group. He said that the restoration of the Majestic had been an area project from the start (in 1987) and how pleased he was now to have such a representative crowd present.

He recognized people who had been special help to the restoration and others for the Dedication and Appreciation Day - Ed Allcorn for his Assistance, and H. V. O'Brien for helping plan the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Van Hoy were asked to stand. Mr. Van Hoy is a former Manager of the historic Theatre.

Mayor C. W. Hoffman of Eastland then introduced those on stage, beginning with the other Mayors. These included Joe Wheatley of Cisco, Henry Burke of Rising Star, Ken Parrick of Ranger, Dale Waker of the Carbon City Commission, and Tom, Birdsong - representing the City of Gorman and the Peanut Association.

Also welcomed was Dr.
Jack Elsom, President of Ranger Junior College, and
Ruth Stewart of Cisco, representing her husband, sculptor
Dale Stewart.

Jim Keffer and Mary Bailey, Republican and Democratic County Chairs, were introduced.

The introduction of Congressman Stenholm came from MC Ritchie, who said it was a great pleasure for him to recognize a person who had served his District so honorably in Washington, D. C. He told of a number of contacts with the Congress-

Mr. Ritchie then called on Tim Webb, ballad singer, to express some of the feelings people have about the work of a Congressman. Tim sang a number called "Sincerely, For Charlie," which was composed by Viola Payne for this occasion. The audience applauded Tim Webb's fine presentation.

There was more applause as other words of salute to "Charlie" came from various people. County Judge Bailey gave a moving tribute. The Judge also stated how important it was for a community to preserve a cultural center such as the Majestic.

Several gifts were then presented to the Congressman. An engraved plaque noted his years of dedicated service.

"This is for your office," Stenholm was told.

Roy Lee Smith, Editor of the Eastland County History Book, handed Stenholm a copy of this volume. Then the Congressman was reminded of plans for Dale Stewart to create a bronze bust of him -

Eastland County.

Stenholm said he was overwhelmed by this show of support. "It's good that you didn't give me a hat," he remarked. "If you had, my head would be too big now to wear it!"

as a gift from the people of

He then spoke earnestly to the crowd - without notes simply telling how much he appreciated what had been done for him here.

He said he wouldn't trade jobs for anything in the world, for he and his wife, Cindy, had seen history in the making.

He said he would "walk those great halls of Congress" on Monday, and would remember the dreams people gave him, just as his song asked him to.

After a rousing ovation for

After a rousing ovation for Stenholm, Donna DeLuca led the audience in "Texas Our Texas." The curtains behind her, parted, revealing the giant Texas flag. It was a fitting climax for this memorable event.

Many members of the audience stayed after the program for a Reception in the mezzanine. There they enjoyed punch and cookies and had another chance to greet Congressman Stenbalm.
