Mr. Muleshoe

Editor H. S. Hilburn, in The Plainview Evening Herald:

We cast a vote of thanks to Jesse Osborn, Muleshoe banker, who acted as secretary-treasurer of the High Plains Water Use and Conservation Association for its first year of existence. It has taken a lot of work, and these bankers in towns like Muleshoe are work horses and don't have large staffs of assistants to aid them... Jesse has done a mighty good job... Muleshoe sure is growing! Chas. Schuler of Petersburg is his successor, and he's another wheelhorse.

Of course what's unusual in the above is that about Muleshoe's growth. We all know Jesse is a wheel horse—but we sometimes lose sight of the fact that Muleshoe is growing, being so close to it that we can't see the forest for the trees as the saying is. But go to any town, like Plainview, Lubbock, or Amarillo, and let a man know where you're from and he will begin at once to tell you about Muleshoe. Yes, sir, Muleshoe is a growing town in a growing territory.

J. S. Pollard, of Jordan, N. M., came into The Journal office Monday to gloat about the great snow that has fallen in his neighborhood, "setting up" the wheat crop there. Mr. Pollard said they were snow-bound for four weeks and the field is still too boggy to walk over. He lives about twenty five miles northwest of Clovis, or about north of Melrose. The Pollards resided for many years in Goodland community in this county and still have three sons living here. The snow was estimated at 15 to 18 inches. His wheat is looking good, but has not furnished the grazing for cattle that they usually have there because of late plowing, consequently his usually large herd of Shorthorns has dwindled. He had been to Littlefield, where he found a few sacks of cottonseed cake to balance the animals' diet.

Wayland Band Is Coming To Progress

The Wayland College Band will be guests of the newly formed Progress Baptist Church the coming week end, services to be held in the school auditorium.

Everyone is invited to come and enjoy the fellowship of others, especially these fine young folks from Wayland.

"HAPPY" HAPPY SUNDAY

C. L. "Happy" Dyer, sr., was made happier Sunday because all four of his children were here with him to enjoy services held during the opening day of the Church of Christ building. They include: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Edwards and children, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Baker of Levelland; Minister and Mrs. Hershel Dyer, Lubbock; and C. L. "Bud" Dyer, jr., of Muleshoe.

TO CONDUCT GOSPEL SERVICES AT GLEN ROSE

Minister Ebb Randol and Mrs. Randol will leave this week for Glen Rose, Texas, where he will preach in a gospel meeting at that place.

Minister E. Debs Smith, head of the Church of Christ Bible Chair in Eastern New Mexico College, Portales, will preach at the church services of the Church of Christ in Muleshoe during the absence of the local minister on February 29 and March 7. You are invited to come and hear Bro. Smith and to worship with us.—Ebb Randol.

MULESHOE PUBLIC LIBRARY NEWS

Muleshoe public library now has on its shelves a book that would be enjoyed by everyone that likes an adventuresome book. "Happy the Land" by Louise Dickinson Rich is a book written about the lakes, forests, and mountains of western Maine, where the author makes her home. It is an account of life in the woods, full of wit and wisdom and lots of interesting tales about the woods.

We are sure this book would keep you interested, as well as the author's other interesting books, which are also about the Maine country.

Members of the Lions Club in one hour Wednesday morning raised more money than they had set as a goal and assured this community of the construction of suitable meeting places for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts groups in the near future. They went out after $2,000, got $2,058.

The Lions met at Cross Roads cafe for a breakfast at which the drive for funds was launched. Virtually 100 per cent of the membership was on hand. They were divided into teams for canvassing.

The task was made easier by the fact that everybody was ready for this sort of drive, a move to provide better quarters for the boys and girls in Scouting, and to develop a tract of land at the city limits recently given by the Muleshoe Ranch owners. Many business firms had their checks already made out; employees immediately came forward with their donations, also, the Lions said and for this they were grateful, for it enabled these busy businessmen to get back on the job quicker.

The Lions Club, through the committee, expressed their thanks to all who assisted in any way with this drive. They were enthusiastic in their praise of the spirit of the people of Muleshoe who gave cheerfully and generously.

Well, the people of Muleshoe ought to be thankful to the Lions Club, which is composed of a group of men who sacrifice their time to help when things need to be done.

Some few were missed Wednesday morning. Those who failed to get in on this drive can still give, and should mail their checks to one of the steering committee: Sam E. Fox, Irvin St. Clair, Fred Johnson, or Rufus Gilbreath.

FISH WERE NOT BITING AT LAKE KEMP, WICHITA

A group of Maple and Morton men returned at the week end from a fishing trip to Lake Kemp, Wichita Falls, to report that it was too cold and windy for fish to be biting. They caught very few. In the group were Carey Stafford, Pete Tarlton and D. V. St. Clair, all of Maple, and Bill Williamson, Morton.

E. B. GERMANY
E. B. Germany, above, well known Masonic leader, was recently elected president of the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children. The Dallas hospital gave 5,000 free treatments in 1947 to crippled children for whom proper medical attention was otherwise unobtainable.

D. K. Brummett Of Lubbock Is In Race For Senate

Dudley K. Brummett, Lubbock attorney and Army Air Corps command veteran of World War II, announced Saturday that he is a candidate for State Senator from the 30th Senatorial District.

DUDLEY K. BRUMMETT
Brummett is 28 years of age and married. He is a former member of the Attorney General's Department of Texas under Gerald C. Mann. He served as an Attorney with the Supreme Court of Texas following his release from military service in October, 1945. Since September, 1946, he has been actively engaged in the general practice of law at Lubbock and an instructor of Government at Texas Tech. He is an ex-student of Texas Tech and the University of Texas Law School.

Brummett volunteered for the Army in May, 1942, as a buck private. After training at Miral Wells, Texas, he was transferred to the Air Corps and trained as an aviation cadet. He later was commissioned a Lieutenant. Brummett flew a bomber plane from the United States across the ocean to England. From there he participated in bombing raids over Germany. He piloted a B-17 Flying Fortress, and together with his eight crew members, was shot down on his sixth mission, over Hamburg, Germany. All crew members parachuted from ten thousand feet, though one crew member was jerked unconscious when his parachute opened had one leg and seven ribs broken. All members on landing were scattered over a distance of about twenty miles. When Brummett hit the ground he attempted to escape into a nearby forest. He was pursued and fired upon by German soldiers who had seen him come down. Brummett and all crew members were gathered up and became Prisoners of War until the end of hostilities. Brummett, together with several thousand Air Corps Prisoners of War participated in the January snow-zero march on foot through deep snow from Sagan, in the east part of Germany to Spremberg, Germany.

The Prisoners of War were being moved out of east Germany to prevent their liberation by the approaching Russian Army invading Germany from the east. They were there crowded into box cars and carried to Mooseburg, in southern Germany, a crowded, infamous and filthy Prisoner of War camp, without fuel or heat, and there kept on a starvation diet. They were there liberated by General Patton's 3rd Army on the 29th day of April, 1945. Brummett and his entire crew were immediately flown out of Germany and returned to the United States, which all agreed was the most blessed country on earth. Brummett was awarded the Air Medal for his bombing missions over Germany.

Brummett stated that in seeking

DOLLAR DAY SALE MONDAY

Muleshoe merchants are launching a Dollar Day special sales event that they expect to make a regular monthly feature, planned for the first Monday of each month.

They will offer the people of this territory some outstanding special prices to make their trip to Muleshoe stores more and more worth while.

In this issue of The Journal, the reader will find the advertisements of several stores giving special prices for the coming Monday, March 1. (In some stores the special prices will be good for Friday and Saturday also.)

This paper urges that each person read these special prices on needed articles and take advantage of the savings that will be offered.

Remember — Muleshoe is a good place to trade.

Local Loan Ass'n. Fifth In State

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Woodley last week attended the annual convention of stockholder associations in the Houston Land Bank, Houston being the host city. Mr. Woodley is secretary and treasurer of the Western Farm Loan Association, with headquarters in Muleshoe and operating in Parmer and Bailey counties.

It was announced at the meeting that the Western Association was fifth among the 143 associations in Texas in point of new business in 1947.

There are some 425 members in the local association, farmers living in the two counties. Mr. Woodley said. The association has paid a 10 per cent dividend each year for the last two.

Farmers who borrow money from the association become stockholders in the same way. Each association owns stock in the Federal Land Bank in Houston.

BASKETBALL BOYS RECEIVED LETTERS

Muleshoe boys basketballers met Bula Friday night, February 20, at Bula. Muleshoe won over the Bula team with a score of 21 to 24. This game ended the season of basketball for the year.

Muleshoe seniors and juniors have been awarded their letters and will receive their sweaters in the near future. The boys that have received their letters are the following: Don Sanders, forward; Don Barbour, center; Dean Williams, guard; David Weyer, guard; Jack DeShazo, forward; Bobbie Wallace, guard; Preston Williams, guard; Joe Bob Horsley, center; Donald Fudge, forward; Weldon McCarty, forward; and Curtis Goss, forward.

FIRE DEPARTMENT WILL MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHTS

Change of regular meeting dates for the Muleshoe volunteer fire department was announced this week. Hereafter meetings will be held each second and fourth Wednesday nights in each month, instead of on the second and fourth Monday nights. Of this change each fire department member will take due notice.

"I desire to serve my fellow man in the Senate Hall of Texas. It has been my life ambition to serve in public life." Brummett stated further, "I have but one promise to make in offering myself as a candidate for State Senator, and that is, that when elected I will represent all the people of my district to the best of my ability on every legislative matter that shall come before the Senate of Texas."

Brummett was born and reared in Dickens County. He moved with his parents to Lubbock in 1932. He attended the Lubbock public schools and Texas Tech, working his way through school as a grocery clerk with Furr Food Stores for three years of this time. He later attended the University of Texas Law School.

Brummett is a vice-president of the Junior Bar of Texas, member of the State Bar of Texas, member Lions Club, member Junior Chamber of Commerce, member Methodist Church, member Texas Prisoner of War Club, member Caterpillar Club, and a Reserve officer in the Air Corps of the United States Army.

St. Clair Will Run For Precinct 3 Commissioner

One man withdrew from the race for commissioner in Precinct 3, Bailey county, this week, and said that a neighbor had agreed to serve if elected.

E. M. "Buddy" Lowe withdrew, and he said the man who would make the race is Dave St. Clair of Maple, a widely known citizen of that neighborhood. Mr. Lowe's private business and the state of his health made a race for commissioner inadvisable, he said.

This paper did not contact Mr. St. Clair but has Mr. Lowe's word that he will make the race. Mr. St. Clair has farmed in the Maple community since 1934 and has always taken a part in all community activities. He is widely known in the precinct, but will make an effort to see and talk to each and every voter before the Democratic party primary to be held in July.

Glenn Williams, who is at present the commissioner in this precinct, has not announced for reelection.

Cox Radio Will Move By March 1

Cox Radio & Electric Shop will move March 1 to a room they have leased in the newly completed addition to the Muleshoe State Bank building, Howard Cox, proprietor, said today.

The shop has been operating from the same building as the Harper Appliance company and will have much more space, Mr. Cox said. The Harper Appliance will continue business at the same stand.

Mr. Cox said his firm will continue its radio sales and service, electrical contracting, REA wiring and its record sales. The company is GE radio dealer and stocks popular records of several leading record making companies.

In addition, Mr. Cox operates the Muleshoe studio of radio broadcasting station KVOW, broadcasting a program from 3 to 4 p.m. each Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

He said that he expects to be able to offer the people of the Muleshoe territory a better service in the new quarters, which are more spacious and have an advantageous location.

First Services In New Church

First services in the newly completed Church of Christ building were held Sunday with members of the congregation and guests enjoying a full day of worship and a basket dinner at noon.

Minister Ebb Randol preached at the morning worship hour. All seats that could be crowded into the building were occupied.

After the lunch, served in the old church building, the crowd enjoyed singing in the afternoon and talks by visiting ministers, and the regular worship service was conducted in the evening.

The seats ordered for the new building had not arrived but plenty of old seats were brought in from the old building. The congregation has completed the new edifice without placing any debt upon it or other property of the church.

The following communities were represented in the services of the opening day.

Clovis, Portales and Texico, N. M., Farwell, Larlat, Bovina, Friona, Lazbuddie, Springlake, Sudan, Lubbock, Crosbyton, Friendship, Maple, Morton and Levelland.

The following ministers were present and made brief talks in the afternoon: W. A. Brown, Morton; Lewis C. Cox, Farwell; S. W. Sanders, Bovina; Hershel Dyer, Lubbock; R. L. Allen and Willford McKenzie, Portales, N. M.

Lions To Banquet Teachers, Trustees

The Muleshoe Lions Club will be hosts Wednesday night, March 10, to Muleshoe school teachers and members of the board of trustees, in a banquet to be served at Fellowship Hall, Glenn Rockey of the club announced today.

Members of Muleshoe Rebekah lodge will serve the meal. The club had in mind the observance of National Teachers Week, and thought this would be a good time for a get-acquainted session. There are about 40 teachers in the Muleshoe school system, many of whom are new to the community.

Rockey said an invitation has been given to a well known after dinner speaker to make the address.

McMurry Head A Speaker Here

A group of Muleshoe people Tuesday night heard Dr. Harold Cook, president of McMurry College, Abilene, give a graphic account of the sensational developments that have taken place on the campus of that Methodist institution in a short five year period.

The Muleshoe Methodist Church was host and tendered a dinner at Fellowship hall, which was the scene of Dr. Cook's talk. Dr. E. D. Landreth, superintendent of the Amarillo Methodist district, accompanied the educator and introduced him to the Muleshoe audience. Rev. T. G. Craft, pastor of the local church, opened the meeting and named Dr. Landreth to preside. Among out of town people here for the meeting were Rev. and Mrs. Blaylock of the Earth Methodist church.

In the five years since he has been president, Dr. Cook said, the physical assets of the school have increased four-fold. Faculty members and number of students enrolled have vastly increased, new buildings have been erected, and an endowment fund of $750,000 has been amassed. Church and school leaders of the denomination in Texas have declared that what has happened at McMurry is the most significant development, perhaps in history, for this region.

Dr. Cook pointed out that from meager beginnings, with limited funds and equipment, McMurry has steadily carried on magnificently through the years, evidenced by the fact that in this conference one fourth of the Methodist ministers are McMurry men; one third in New Mexico studied at McMurry.

The Amarillo district is assisting in raising money to help complete Gold Star Memorial Dormitory for Men, now going up on the McMurry campus. This district's quota is about $40,000. Dr. Landreth reminded the group present that this church in Muleshoe already has, through its budget, given $800 for this purpose. Rev. Craft said that he is sure the membership are determined to raise this to about $2,000, estimated as this congregation's quota.

Dr. Cook is determined that the new dormitory, on the walls of whose reception room will be inscribed the names of 700 West Texas Methodist youths who gave their lives for liberty in the last war, shall be completed in time for school opening next fall. Dr. Landreth said this will be the last college building to be built there by subscriptions of the people; so many wealthy men and women are giving large sums for special development aims that no future subscription is foreseeable.

Dr. Cook believes that Christian education, with its expressed goal of developing the character of young men and women, has a tremendous part to play in the coming battle of the peoples of the world to establish and maintain world peace. For that reason, he is devoting his entire time and talents to the enlargement and betterment of McMurry, so that more and more young people may be brought there for this training.

It was a bad night for any sort of meeting, with a strong wind and icy conditions that precluded trav-

50 Schoolboys Are Entered For Bouts

Bill Gipson, well known referee of Clovis, N. M., will be the third man in the ring when schoolboys square away tonight in the Muleshoe Lions Club's first annual invitational boxing tournament.

Members of the committee directing the tournament said 50 Plains and New Mexico school boys had entered the tournament up to Wednesday night. The tournament will continue through Friday night, with some 20 to 25 bouts on the card for each night.

Grade school boys will fight 3 one minute rounds. Older boys matches will go the same distance, using 2 minute rounds.

Jack Lenderson is chairman of the tournament committee, while Bill Moore and Tye Young have charge of matching. Edward White was in charge of invitations.

Randy Johnson placed tickets on sale last Saturday afternoon. Adult tickets are $1 each and student or youth tickets are 50 cents each; but since funds netted in the tournament will be used for the school athletic fund and the club's youth program, the words "or more" appear on the pastebord. Any amount over the admission price will be accepted and will go to a worthy cause.

Bob Kindie Is In Race For Precinct 3 Commissioner

Bob Kindie, of Maple, this week announced that he is a candidate for Bailey county commissioner for Precinct No. 3, subject to action of the Democratic July primary.

Mr. Kindie is at present employed as maintainer operator for Glenn Williams, who is commissioner for Prec. 3. He has been with Mr. Williams about four years, prior to which he was farming in the neighborhood.

He has lived in the southwest part of the county for twelve years and is well known to the people of the precinct.

Mr. Kindie believes that his experience in maintaining and building roads has given him the experience required to supervise roads of the precinct; and that his business experience has qualified him to make the county and precinct an efficient commissioner.

He said that if elected it will be his aim always to work for the best interest of his precinct and of all the people of Bailey county. He will make an active campaign, and it is his intention to see personally all of the people in Precinct before the coming election.

ATTEND FUNERAL RITES FOR MRS. T. J. RANDOL

Douglass, sr., Mr. and Mrs. John Engram, sr., Mr. and Mrs. E. Bartlett, C. L. Dyer, sr. and Mrs. S. C. Caldwell, Mrs. Ruth Holland, Mrs. Maxine Gouer, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jarman.

JUVENILES ON CARPET

A group of teen age boys, all of Cochran county, were on the carpet in the Bailey county courthouse this week in connection with disappearance of junk iron from farms. Sheriff Buchanan said some of the junk iron was used as farm implements. The boys and their parents made good the losses, he said.

Vegetables Pay Well In Bailey

College Station, Feb. 24—In sections of the High Plains where deep irrigation wells have been dug to bring in the necessary water for truck crops, farmers are finding a new source of income, says J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College. This area of Texas has been very successful with its production of truck crops.

Lubbock county came out with a brand new truck crop last year; 1947 was the first year that lettuce had been tried. Several farmers in the Monroe community grew a potato crop using intensive fertilizer and irrigation methods; the potatoes were followed by lettuce, grossing $600 per acre. The truck crops in Lubbock county included 1000 acres of potatoes with a yield of 130 sacks per acre; 230 acres of lettuce yielding 230 crates per acre; 360 acres of sugar beets, 14 tons per acre; 150 acres of sweet potatoes at 400 bushels per acre; and 400 acres of blackeyed peas.

Vegetable farming in 1947 paid high gross returns per acre in Bailey county. Two hundred and fifty acres of green beans were planted, producing a little over 30,000 cases—30 train carloads—for the crop. One venture in tomato growing aroused much enthusiasm throughout the county. Seventy acres of tomatoes were planted with an ordinary grain sorghum planter, and germination results were high. Five tons of "green pack" tomatoes per acre were shipped out to a ready market, and about 10 tons of tomatoes per acre could have been produced if they had ripened for canning.

Hale county reports that vegetable production in that area is new, but such crops as carrots, onions, lettuce, beets, tomatoes, sweet potatoes and Irish potatoes have been grown in sufficient quantities to show that exceptionally good yields may be produced.

BERT MATHIS AND FAMILY BACK IN BAILEY COUNTY

Bert Mathis and family came in Friday night to make their home in Bailey county again. During the last two years they have lived at Center Point where he operated a tailoring shop.

He will operate the farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mathis, 6 miles south of Muleshoe. They expect to move a house to the farm to provide living quarters. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mathis will continue to reside at the farm.

Renewing their subscription to The Journal, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce writes:

"Our copy of your paper is always welcome as it keeps us informed as to your community's activities, and is a definite aid to us in our effort to promote the section as a whole rather than Lubbock alone.

"We will appreciate very, very much the opportunity of rendering any assistance possible to you and your community.

Where Does Your Money Go?

Read the other day where country folks and farmers spend more money, proportionately, on their homes than city dwellers do.

Doesn't seem hard to believe when you think it over. Take the folks in our town, for instance: They're home-loving people—who'd rather spend an evening by the fire with a mellow glass of beer than go out in search of entertainment or diversion.

So it's only natural they put more into what means most to them and to their children: their homes. They may not have too much to spend—but it goes for those permanent abiding comforts that make home a nicer place to be.

And from where I sit, that budget calls for some of the niceties of home life too—like elder and pecan for the kids from time to time, and a friendly glass of beer for Mom and Dad... things that help with what we mean when we say "Home."

are going to need 100,000 bushels of wheat to make that flour. And there's the big stumbling block. You can't buy all that wheat now, for you simply don't have room to store more than 25,000 bushels at a time. Furthermore, you haven't got the cash to put up and you don't want to borrow that much. Obviously, you are going to have to buy wheat from time to time as you need it and as you can handle it. Maybe you are going to go into the cash market four times in the next three months to buy wheat. But suppose the price rises in the meantime. That's going to be tough, isn't it? Here you've agreed on a set price for the flour, but you don't know what you are going to have to pay for wheat. If it goes up 5c a bushel on the average over the next three months, you stand to lose $5,000 (100,000 bushels at 5c). If it goes up a dime, you lose $10,000. You could lose the whole profit on the flour contract. You could lose your shirt.

That's the point at which you decide to buy "insurance." And you buy it in the futures market by a process known as "hedging".

Hedging Insures Against Loss

You tell your broker to buy you 100,000 bushels of May wheat, which is now about 10c a bushel cheaper than cash wheat. (It wouldn't matter if May wheat were higher than cash wheat; the hedging operation would be exactly the same.)

To buy the futures, you don't have to put up all cash, only a part of it—or what's called margin. You pay your broker $300 commission for handling the transaction for you (about 1-10 or 1% of what the wheat is worth), and you now have contracts guaranteeing you 100,000 bushels of wheat to be delivered in May. As the trade puts it, you are "long 100,000 bushels of May wheat futures."

Next week or next month you need cash wheat to start work on the bakery's flour order. So you buy 25,000 bushels, and simultaneously you tell your broker to sell 25,000 bushels of the May wheat futures you bought.

Why? Here why. Suppose the price of cash wheat has gone up 10c a bushel, just as you feared. On 25,000 bushels of cash wheat you lose $2,500. But since the cash and futures markets almost always move up or down together, the price of May wheat has also gone up 10c a bushel. You make $2,500 on the futures and come out even. You repeat the operation till you get the 100,000 bushels you need—buying cash wheat and selling equivalent amount of May futures—and you protect yourself against a price rise all the way along.

Hedging Works Regardless of Price Changes

Suppose the price of wheat drops 10c. You do exactly the same thing. Every time you buy 25,000 bushels of cash wheat, you sell 25,000 bushels of your May futures. But this time you save $2,500 on the cash wheat and lose $2,500 on your futures.

No matter which way the market moves—up or down—you end up with just what you figured on in the first place: your manufacturing profit. That has been insured by hedging. You've taken a big risk out of your business.

Hedging has other uses, too. For instance, if you were a big miller far from the source of supply with lots of storage capacity, you might want to be protected against a price drop, which would cut the value of the wheat you own and store.

Here you just reverse the process. You begin by selling 100,000 May futures. Now if the price of cash wheat rises, you make a "profit" on the actual wheat you bought originally, since it's worth more now, but you have lost a corresponding amount on your futures. If the price drops, you gain on the futures and lose on the wheat you have on hand. Again, you have been insured against price fluctuations. Again, you end up with just your manufacturing profit, no more, no less.

Hedging Cuts Costs Down

The Line
Farmers, processors, distributors, everybody in a trade that deals with a commodity like wheat, where there are always price fluctuations, can take a large measure of risk out of their business by hedging in the futures markets. That's why everybody, government officials as well as businessmen, acknowledge the value of hedging—particularly bankers who lend money more readily on inventories that are protected by hedging.

It's beneficial right down the line—right down to the ultimate consumer. For if the miller couldn't hedge his position in the futures market, he'd have to get a higher price for flour in order to protect himself more adequately against a price rise. That means the baker would have to charge more for bread.

Futures Markets Need Speculators

Without the speculator, futures markets just couldn't operate effectively. And for a very simple reason. In any market there has to be a buyer for every seller, if a sale is going to be made. In the futures market, there has to be somebody who wants to go long on May wheat (buy it, that is) for everyone who wants to go short on it (or sell it), if any hedging is going to be done.

That's where the speculator plays his vital role. If it weren't for him hedging wouldn't work satisfactorily. By buying and selling, first on one side of the market, then the other, he keeps the market active and liquid, keeps the longs and shorts in balance.

Speculators Aren't Gamblers

A gambler is a man who takes an artificial risk; in fact, he creates a risk for the sake of a gamble. He says, "I'll bet the next flip of a coin is heads." He doesn't have to flip that coin; he does it because he wants to make a wager.

A speculator is a man who takes a risk that is inherent in a situation. In wheat, that risk lies in the grain itself. Somebody has to be a speculator in wheat.

If a farmer holds his wheat, he is speculating—hoping for a price rise, running the risk of a price decline. And when the farmer sells his wheat, the miller takes over the speculation. He takes the risk that prices might drop, that he might have been able to buy at a lower price later.

Wheat is harvested in about three months, but it is used over a period of twelve months. For nine months of the year somebody has to hold the price tag. Somebody HAS to speculate.

Often that man is the speculator on the exchanges. The farmer or miller who wants to unload his risk can transfer it to the speculator through the medium of the Chicago Board of Trade, the Kansas City Board of Trade, or the Minneapolis Grain Exchange, the three principal markets in the United States dealing in wheat futures.

Speculators Render Vital Service
Speculators fill an important economic function. Economists generally are agreed on that. Not even the Commodity Exchange Authority, which is the government agency charged with overseeing operations on the exchanges, would argue with that.

Nevertheless, so few people understand the job he does that he is always regarded with suspicion. If he buys a futures contract, he may sell it out rather than take delivery of the wheat; if he sells a contract, he may square his position by buying back in again later, for chances are he has no wheat to deliver, and penalties for failing to fulfill a contract are severe.

He's blamed, too, by those who don't understand his function, for "selling the nation's wheat crop eight or ten times over." If he does it's all to the good, because it makes for broader markets, without which farmer and miller couldn't hedge their positions effectively.

The number of times that a crop is sold and resold in the futures markets is without meaning as far as the price of actual wheat is concerned. That will always be determined by the size of the crop and the demand for it. In effect, the futures markets are places where business insurance policies are bought and sold.

Openings For Men On Texas Hiway Patrol Announced

Young men of the Muleshoe country who would like to try for a position with the Texas Highway Patrol, are advised that examinations for entrance into the next recruit schools will be held soon at Lubbock. The first recruit training school for the patrol, as authorized by the last Legislature, now has been completed and graduates have been assigned effective March 1.

The second recruit school will begin April 1 at Camp Mabry, with about 50 recruit patrolmen in attendance. Other recruit schools will open August 1 and December 1, and young men who wish may apply for entrance to one of the later schools. If they desire, they may get in touch with Highway Patrol headquarters for this district at Lubbock. Graduates of the first school assigned to this territory include: Jack Alfred Taylor, of Mason, to Lubbock; Noel James Newberry, of Amarillo, to Plainview; John Abner McVean, of Decatur, to Lubbock. Regular patrols from Lubbock to Muleshoe are made by Patrolman T. A. Rowland and J. R. Whitmire, and occasional visits are made by patrolmen from Hereford and Plainview.

Officer Rowland visited The Journal office and turned in this information, together with the following outline of qualifications for recruit patrolmen, as issued by Chief W. J. Elliott, Texas Highway Patrol, Austin:

Must be between 21 and 35 years of age; must be at least 5 ft. 8 in. tall, without shoes, and must weigh not less than 2 pounds per inch of height nor more than three and one-half; must be of excellent moral character; must be physically

SAVE THE SOIL AND YOU SAVE ALL

This statement often has been made but experience in agricultural areas of the United States makes it more and more obviously true.

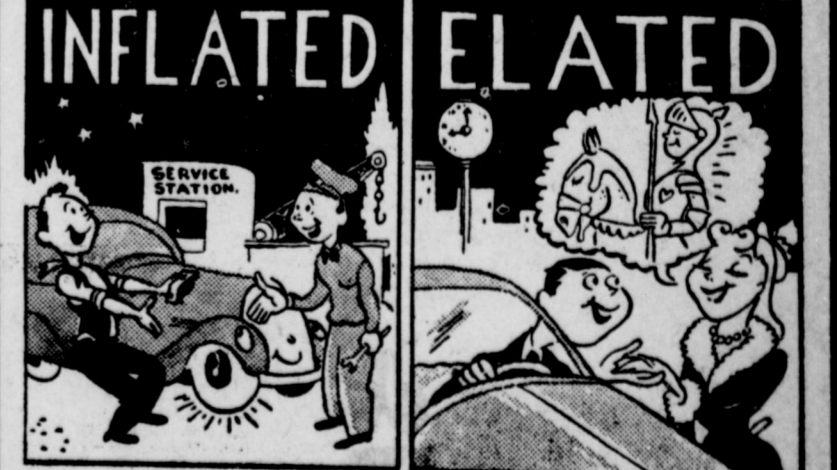

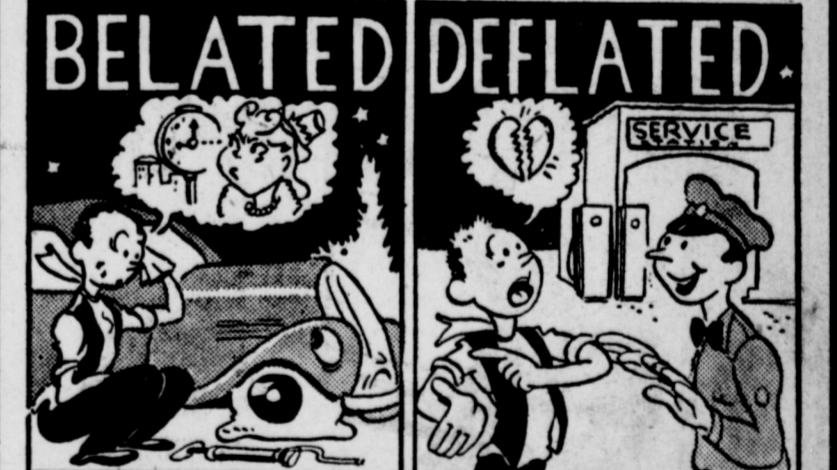

Our soil is all we have. Everything in the nation, all business, industry, our institutions and our very lives depend in the final analysis upon the condition of our land.

Soil conservation cannot be considered in the light of a hobby. It must be considered that this land is given to this generation to use as a sacred trust—to be handed down to future generations in the best possible shape. All that we have and all that we will be in the future hinges upon what we do with the land now.

Fixing Up the Farm

Cart Eases Work

THERE'S an old saying that the easiest way to do a thing also is usually the best and most efficient way. That certainly holds true of many a laborious and time-consuming farm chore. Despite our modern mechanization, there still are various little jobs around a farm that can be made easier by taking a leaf out of the book of that worthy ancient who first struck upon the idea of the wheel.

6 Counties Have 5,000 SS Workers

Over 5,000 workers are employed in the six county area, including Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Lamb, Lynn and Terry counties, on jobs covered by the federal social security program. Ray L. Miller, Dallas regional director of the Department of Commerce reported today. The report made public by the Department of Commerce reveals the annual pay roll in the six counties covered by social security taxes amounts to $7,400,000.

The figures do not include non-taxable wages, nor do they include wages drawn by workers in industries or occupations outside the social security law. (Taxable wages under the old-age and survivors insurance program are limited to the first $3,000 which a worker received in a year from any one employer in covered industries.)

The report was the first made available on social security tax data broken down in detail by states and counties. Mr. Miller said the basic data presented in the bulletins are "of prime value in deriving and analyzing market potentials and sales quotas, in the measurement of efficiency and effectiveness of sales operation and advertising efforts, and in the planning of sales territories."

In Texas 1,224,135 workers are employed in jobs covered by social security. The total pay roll in the state from which social security taxes are drawn amounts to nearly $2,250,000,000 a year.

The statistics were compiled as a joint project by the Department of Commerce, Federal Security Agency, U. S. Employment Service and other interested government agencies. The information was taken from social security reports by 2,544,445 American employers in 1946. Throughout the nation almost 31,000,000 workers are employed on jobs which fall under the social security law. Their pay roll, from which taxes were deducted in 1946, amounted to more than $65 billion. Of 991 employers in the six counties making reports for social security tax purposes, only one had more than 100 employees from which the tax was deducted, and only four had more than 50 employees. 957 employers, or 96 per cent of the total had fewer than 20 employees. The reports may be consulted by businessmen, at the field offices of the Department of Commerce and at business libraries.

Our Commodity Exchanges Play A Vital Role, Render Needed Service

How They Function Told In Bulletin Of Big Grain Firm

Editor's Note: Since the recent flurry in prices in U. S. commodities markets, more people than ever have interested themselves in the whys and wherefores of the markets and have asked their grain dealer friends many questions.

Uhlmann Grain Co., of Chicago, Kansas City and Fort Worth, recently mailed their elevator friends a small pamphlet dealing with many phases of the markets and explaining points that to the layman all seem obscure. H. D. King, of King Bros. Grain & Seed Company, has suggested that readers of The Journal would be interested in reading this educational article. It seemed very common sense and informative and therefore it is being printed here in full:

Last October President Truman blasted away at the "gambling" of speculators on the commodity exchanges, blaming them for high food prices.

Soon political opponents came up with a hot retort. They charged that some of the biggest speculators were "Administration insiders" who used their privileged information to reap big profits.

Political slugging started. Since the going has been hot and heavy, each side a new charge, each morning a new denial.

But the whole row—a typical election-year brawl—is really only a sideshow that has served to divert attention from the main show and to confuse public thinking about the basic issue.

That issue is clear cut. It can be stated in two simple questions:

(1) What is causing high food prices?
(2) Are transactions on the commodity exchanges responsible?
The answers are just as simple.

(1) Increased demand for food particularly from Europe, causes high prices.

(2) Transactions on the commodity exchanges are in no way responsible for the price rise.

We don't expect you, to take these answers on our say so. You want to know why those are the right answers and how we arrived at them.

Prices Are Not Fixed by Exchanges
First, a definition. What are commodity exchanges?

They are simply market places where buyers and sellers meet, where commodities like wheat and corn are bought and sold. The sellers naturally want to sell at the highest possible price, and the buyers naturally want to buy at the lowest price. When a sale is made, the price is registered on the exchange's quotation board. No prices are "fixed" by the exchange itself; they are all arrived at by open bidding and offering.

The transactions are generally handled by brokers who act as agents, either for a buyer or seller. They make bids or offers on orders from their principals. The actual seller may be in Seattle, the buyer in Philadelphia, and their trade concluded on the floor of the Board of Trade in Chicago.

Exchanges Safeguard the Consumer

If it weren't for the exchanges, a state of confusion would exist. Nobody would know what the right price was for wheat or corn or cotton, and if the buyer didn't know, it's safe to say many a seller would be asking—and getting—prices that are a lot higher than they are now. That means you would be paying a lot more for bread and milk and eggs and clothes—practically everything you eat or wear. It means, too, that the price of those products would fluctuate widely from time to time and place to place, except for the stabilizing effect of commodity trading.

It's precisely because exchanges are so basic to our whole system of living in that they frequently find themselves on the spot. When there is an oversupply of wheat, the price naturally goes down—and the farmer just as naturally complains. When there isn't as much wheat as people want, the price goes up and housewives . . . consumers . . . you and I . . . complain. Either way, "the Exchange" is blamed, even though it is no more at fault than the thermometer which tells you that your child has a fever.

Sometimes the rise or fall of prices is blamed on "insiders." We're not talking here about the alleged "Administration insiders," who have been so much in the headlines lately, but about the old stock character, the professional insider, that mythical man who is always supposed to have special information about what's going to happen.

If you were to analyze such "inside" information, you'd find that almost invariably it was nothing more than what you or I could get by a close study of readily available facts. That is especially true of the commodity markets, for here there is no "inside." Here the essential news is in the newspapers. That news comes from regular public reports of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, supplemented by surveys of crop-forecasting agencies. Here is a business that is really done in a goldfish bowl.

World Demand Makes High Prices

Right now, the world wants a lot more food than we have to offer, a whole lot more. Never in history have supply and demand been so badly out of gear. In this country alone, according to the Department of Agriculture, we are eating on the average 18 per cent more food per person than before the war.

What's really upsetting the price apple cart, however, is the need for food abroad—for every kind of food, but particularly wheat. Crops in Europe failed badly last summer, disastrously so in France. Result: Out of U. S. wheat crop of 1,408,000,000 bushels, we're shipping abroad 450,000,000 or just about one-third of it. That's eight times our average annual exports in the five years before the war. In just two weeks last fall, our government bought 40,000,000 bushels for Europe, more than we often shipped abroad in a full year before the war.

Now do you still wonder why the price has gone up?
But what about the speculators, you ask. Haven't they been bidding the price up beyond its natural level?

Futures Markets Are Essential

First, we must distinguish between two types of transactions on the exchanges. The one involves wheat for immediate delivery. That's called the "cash" market, and the wheat is called "cash" wheat. The other type of transaction involves wheat for delivery in May, July, September, or December, sometimes other future months. That's called the "futures" market, and what you do when you buy May futures is to enter into a contract guaranteeing you delivery of so much wheat in May.

Speculation is concentrated in the futures market. If speculators were bidding futures up, you might expect futures to be higher-priced than cash wheat. And yet, exactly the reverse is true. Cash wheat is the higher-priced, has been for some time.

The futures market performs a vital function. In fact, it is the very mainspring of the whole mechanism by which farm products go to market in orderly fashion. The cost of distributing commodities in which there is a futures market is much less than otherwise would be the case. And for one fundamental reason: The futures market offers the buyer and seller—and the ultimate consumer, too—a vitally needed insurance against radical price swings.

Futures Are Used To Cut Business Risks
Here's how that works.

Suppose you are a flour miller and you accept an order from a bakery for a lot of flour to be delivered three months from now. The baker naturally wants to know what that flour is going to cost him. So you agree on a price. But let's say you

Farm Bureau Calls Water Hearing To Be Held In Plainview March 8

The Texas Farm Bureau Federation will sponsor a water hearing to be held at Plainview on March 8 it was announced today by J. Walter Hammond of Tye, state Farm Bureau president. The hearing is scheduled for the purpose of studying the underground and surface water situation in Texas and to discuss the desirability of underground water control legislation, Hammond said. The meeting will begin at 10 a. m. in the City Auditorium. W. R. Tilson of Meadow, state Farm Bureau director of the Plains area, will be host for the hearing. Farm Bureau Directors Joe M. Hatton of Amarillo and C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma will be co-chairmen, with Hatton presiding during the morning session and DeVaney at the afternoon session.

The meeting is expected to draw a large attendance of farmers from all sections of the state. State legislators and representatives from other interested groups will participate, and water engineers and geologists have been invited to furnish information on the surface and underground water situation in the state.

In explaining the purpose of the hearing, Hammond said, "In the last session of the legislature, there was an effort made to pass legislation to regulate the use of underground water. The measure failed of passage because there was insufficient information to determine what legislation, if any, should be enacted. Therefore, the board of directors of the Texas Farm Bureau believe it advisable to sponsor a hearing to seek information as to the available supply of surface and underground water, with an eye to making the best possible use of the water supply to meet the approval of the present and potential water users."

ARMY TECHNICAL SCHOOLS OFFER OPPORTUNITIES

The Army Technical Schools Plan is one of today's great opportunities for the veteran and the non-veteran, too, who wants to choose his education and be paid well while learning. Any high school graduate can

Along with a fine education, you get good Army pay, good steady work, and do a job that's important to your country. Get the facts from Sgt. Reynolds when he is in town on March 3. He will be able to give you valuable information as to the new advantages available to strong intelligent men.

Methods Suggested For Treating Lice Second Application Is Generally Necessary

The poultry grower has a choice of several effective methods for treating lice. Which one he uses will depend on his preference or the availability of remedies, according to Washington State college. Whatever method is used, birds should be examined 10 days to two weeks after treatment to see if any lice still are present.

Louse eggs are not always destroyed by the treatment used, and these will hatch later. A second treatment usually is necessary and should be applied about two weeks after the first treatment.

One method is to fumigate with a 40 per cent nicotine sulfate solution. In this case directions of the manufacturer should be followed.

Lice powder also is effective. These may be DDT, nicotine sulfate or commercial sodium fluoride or sodium fluosulfate. These may be applied by the pinch method. It consists of placing on the skin of each fowl about 10 pinches, rubbing into the breast, each thigh, below the vent, on each side of the back, on the neck and head and on the underside of each outspread wing. The fowls also may be dusted, sprayed with dusting material or dipped in a solution. In some parts of the country louse ointments are widely used.

Corn Production

Many things are required to produce 100 bushels of corn per acre. The growing crop must have plenty of nitrogen, phosphate, potash and other plant nutrients. A shortage of any will hold down yields and lower the quality and feeding value of the crop. So the use of fertilizer is vital. For high corn yields, the soil must store water for drought periods. The accompanying chart shows how much of these it takes to produce 100 bushels of corn. Organic matter is especially important. While not a plant food, it is essential to crop production. Organic matter improves tilth and keeps the soil loose and open. It is a sponge that soaks up water readily for crops to "drink" in dry spells. It allows air to reach roots and soil bacteria. Organic matter can be built up by growing deep-rooted legumes and grasses frequently in the rotation. To get good stands, liming based on soil tests and a generous feeding of phosphate and potash are needed. Organic matter can be replenished, too, by returning barnyard manure, straw and corn stalks to the land. When plant food, good tilth, organic matter and other soil conservation measures are combined into a team, maximum corn production per acre is assured.

Rice as Poultry Feed Proves Satisfactory

Whole and ground rice, rice bran and rice polish are excellent feeds for egg production and growth in chickens when they are adequately supplemented with vitamin A, and reasonably free from rancidity. Whole rough rice proves to be a satisfactory substitute for whole yellow corn when included to the extent of 75 per cent of the grain feed and ground rough rice replaces ground yellow corn.

CADET-KENNETH F. HITE ON WEST POINT TEAM

West Point, N. Y., Feb. 27—Cadet Kenneth F. Hite, son of Mrs. Lena Hite of Earth, is a member of the United States Military Academy "C" squad track team. Hite, a fourth classman or freshman, has won the 60 yard dash in his team's two meets; also on his record, he has a second in the 440 yard dash, and is a member of the twice winning mile relay team.

The "C" squad track team is a corps squad composed of freshmen, designated for training and play in intercollegiate athletics. There are "C" squad teams in every major sport at West Point. Hite is not new to athletics, having participated in basketball and track at Springlake High school and was a member of the Texas Tech track squad for two years.

A statesman thinks he belongs to the state, but after the election, some of the politicians seem to think the state belongs to them.

One of our customers says a statesman attempts to rouse the people while many politicians try to lull them to sleep.

With so much dissension apparent in the ranks, it proves that even if a political machine is well oiled, it develops friction. Well, there will always be a United States—in spite of politics.
