Regents May Reveal Tech Choice Today

By RUTHANNE BROCKWAY

Avalanche-Journal Staff A NEW President of Texas Tech University is expected to be named today and it either will be a Dallas university president, a Boston medical school dean or the Tech engineering dean.

Regents will meet in executive ses-interviewed on campus Friday by regents and the faculty selection committee. The man selected for the position will be Tech's 10th president, taking the place of Dr. Cecil Mackey, who resigned last summer to accept the presidency of Michigan State University.

Although during the morning session news media members were locked outside the hallway that leads to the regents' boardroom, Dr. Lauro Cavazos, 53, dean of Tufts University School of Medicine, was seen entering and leaving the room. He was interviewed by presidential search officials for about an hour and a lon. A random sampling in Lubbock shows all five oil companies are selling the unleaded grade for more than $1 a gallon, with Texaco the highest at 114.8 for full service at one station.

And those who want someone else to pump the regular grade into their cars will also be paying more than $1 a gallon. Full-service regular prices of the five companies ranged from 100.9 cents to 110.4 in the local survey.

Of the various stations polled, only one dealer said he might not go up in price, because of local competition.

The latest price increases can be reflected at the pumps almost immediately after a wholesale increase is announced because the Energy Department permits dealers to pass their wholesale buying costs directly along to the motorist. Exxon and Phillips also boosted home heating oil prices by 3 cents a gallon. along with Shell, which raised its cost between 5 and 6 cents a gallon, depending

Shell also raised its aviation turbine fuel by 5 cents a gallon. As with gasoline, heating oil bills also will reflect the newest hike soon because home heating oil no longer falls under government price controls.

The U.S. oil industry last raised gaso-line prices by between 3 and 6 cents a gallon and increased home heating oil prices by an average 3 cents a gallon in mid-December as a result of crude oil price boosts by Saudi Arabia and three other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

OPEC failed to agree on a uniform oil price at its Dec. 18-21 meeting in Caracas, and most other tartel members raised their oil prices - some retroactively to Nov. 1 or Dec. 1.

Exxon, Chevron, Texaco, Phillips and Shell blamed the latest increase on foreign crude-oil price increases.

As a noble experiment, the program warrants close monitoring to see how it works out in practice

The state Legislature passed Senate Bill 21 last year in response to public indignation over perceived coddling of criminals while mnocent victims suffer

In principle, the new bill goes back to the ancient practice of requiring perpetrators of crime to reimburse their victims

NO STATE GENERAL revenues would be used for payments and money for the fund would be generated by adding $15 to the court costs for any felony conviction in the state and $10 to the court cost for any misdemeanor conviction punishable by imprisonment or a fine of more than $200." He estimated that about 3,000 claims will be filed the first year, that about 1,200 of these will result in awards, and that the average award will be about $2,400.

VICTIMS WILL NOT receive compensation for pain or suffering nor for loss of property, only for actual financial losses due to injury or death, Clower pointed out.

This would include medical, hospital, nursing and psychiatric care or counseling. physical therapy, reimbursement for lost carnings not to exceed $150 per week, care of minor children up to a maximum of $75 a week and for loss of support by dependent and funeral and burial expenses if the victim

Certainly no one can argue with Clower when he says. "This law will not eliminate crime but it should help eliminate some of the problems and distress a criminal all too often inflicts on his innocent victims.

Gold Bugs Must March To Different Drummer

WASHINGTON The people who speculate on the price of gold are a weird lot. They're actually betting on disaster. Any bad news which drives up the price of gold is good news to them, and whether they want to or not, they have to root for wars, pestilence, droughts and revolution.

When news of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan first broke. I had a call from Doomsday

"I TOLD YOU that you should have bought gold months ago." he shouted over the phone. With Afghanistan and Iran in turmoil, the price

These checks are supposed to be for heating bills, not an allowance for them to spend on candy and pop. I don't care if I get it or not. I just don't think taxpayers ought to have to pay this.

Crash programs to meet a specific need, tion. such as the rapid rise in fuel costs, result in enormous waste for every dollar that actually reaches the needy.

It is not going out on a limb to predict that, in the coming months, there will be reports of scandal and waste from all over the country in the expensive programs to help the needy with their fuel bills.

Representing a mixture of good intentions and a blatant attempt to influence votes, such programs would not be necessary or justitiable if Congress would help the poor—and the rest of the people-by curbing inflation and alleviating the fuel crisis.

And it would do that, not by spending his position in the free enterprise system. I more money and levying windfall taxes, but by balancing the budget and spending and

That's the only way you can drive up the price of gold Every time someone predicts there is going to be a recession I feel great. But when the recession doesn't come. I get sick.

You must understand that gold bugs have to march to a different drummer

I DO UNDERSTAND it, and I envy you. Your fortune depends on chaos. The more catastrophies there are in the world, the more secure you feel. "But isn't there some point when things could get so out of hand that even gold won't save you?" I didn't plan the invasion of Afghanistan, and I had nothing to do with oil prices going out of sight. But as long as it happened, somebody had to Let me ask you something. Don't you feel the slightest twinge of guilt about making money from everybody else's misery? Isn't it difficult to wake up in the morning and say, 'I hope the rice crops failed in India?

I NEVER SAY that What I say is. 'I wonder how many dollars the Japanese are going to sell today?' If the answer is 'a lot,' I call my broker and tell him to buy more gold.

The worst thing a gold speculator can do is get emotional about his investment. If I worried about all the people who get hurt when gold goes up. I'd be in nothing but pork bellies."

You can't talk to a person when he has gold fever, so I decided to end the conversation. "Goodbye Doomsday-and peace

Time is measured since last Nov. 4. when Iranian "students" seized the American Embassy in Tehran and took those hostages. The question now is whether the voters will decide the hostages have been held too long, and that Carter's policy of patience is to blame.

Ted Kennedy was wrong when he tried to divert attention from efforts to free the hostages by castigating the Shah and, by implication, America's long-time support of the deposed tyrant.

BUT BILL BROCK, the Republican National Chairman, reflected the view of millions of Americans when he attacked Carter for "a policy of deception aimed at using national unity to divert attention from what he perceived as foreign policy weaknesses that had invited the Embassy takeover and Soviet intervention in Afghanistan.

He was saying that a stronger policy around the world would have given America the international respect to forestall the present mess.

Brock did not disown his support of the President in trying to free the hostages. "The unity of the American people is not now in question." he

But availed himself of the ethical right to criticize Carter's foreign policies in general.

THAT IS something Jimmy Carter will have to live with from here in. His ratings in the polls went up as he struggled to free the hostages by negotiation and through the United Nations and the World Court. But time has tarnished his escutch-

TO TAKE just the Louis Harris Poll. Carter's 58 to 38 percent lead over Kennedy was produced between December 14 and 16. At that time, Carter was a virtual hero.

A 66 to 29 percent majority said that "after a bad start, he now seems to have caught hold of the job and it looks like he'll do a good job."

Today, we have the Republicans and Ted Kennedy sniping at Carter's job performance, comforted by the feeling that they are addressing a growing public impatience with the situation in from the business of shoring up a dictator." More pointed has been the about-face in Moscow. On Dec. 5, two days after Kennedy's attack on the shah. Tass called the shah a "criminal.

Referring to U.S. assistance that helped restore the shah to his throne in 1953. Tass asked: "For was not international law also flouted by the actions of the U.S. special services (meaning the Central Intelligence Agency), which organized the overthrow of the legitimate government in Iran and foisted the shah's lawlessness on the Iranian people (for) a quarter of a century?"

FOR 15 YEARS before that knock at the shah. Moscow nurtured him with a benign public attitude and a plethora of economic goodies.

On Nov. 18, 1963, Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev said in a speech during a state visit by the "criminal" and his wife that "I would like to stress that the distinguished and respected visitors will be received in our country with joy and hospitality.

In words that gushed with affection, the late Soviet leader Nicolai Podgorny on Nov. 18, 1974, at the end of another state visit from the shah. praised "the strengthening of trust" with the criminal of five years later.

Such reversals of field following political upheavals in foreign countries have less to do with facts than with the hope of reward. In Kennedy's case, he was judged guilty of overkill immediately after his Dec. 2 outburst and was widely criticized.

THE UNCOVERING of the June 3 diplomatic cable seems to confirm that criticism.

It was signed by then Ambassador Richard Helms. Helms had arrived in Tehran from Washington during Kennedy's last day there and, other than having Kennedy for dinner that evening, took no part in the visit and did not write the routine cable describing the senator's visit.

Messages from a U.S. Embassy are invariably igned with the ambassador's name

The special treatment accorded Kennedy by the shah, with no indication of on-the-scene remorse by Kennedy, included his 80-minute audience with the shah; two sessions with "representative" groups of students at the University of Tehran: a dinner at the house of Ardeshir Zahedi, Iran's ambassador to the U.S., "hosted by his daughter. VIRGINIA PAYETTE: Over 65 Jet Set

WASHINGTON-Those New Year's Day cartoons of the diapered toddler taking over from a doddering oldster have it backwards: It's the old folks who are edging out the kids.

America. in just a few short years, has changed from a country top-heavy with young whippersnappers to one dominated by folks over 65. Right now, there are 24 million of them; by 1990 there will be almost 29 million. And a lot of them are swingers.

They refuse (much to the whippersnappers' consternation) to lie down and die, or even crawl into a wheelchair. Wrinkled and toothless they may be, but they're out there jogging and playing tennis and taking trips and spending money.

Crazed Gunman Kills Two, Commits Suicide Infant Delivered After Mother Freed

PITTSBURGH (AP) - A crazed gunman who said he feared evil spirits killed the two children he had been holding hostage, wounded their pregnant mother and shot himself to death Friday to end a 38-hour siege, police said. Police, who heard shots rings out, stormed the house in a cloud of tear gas to find that Samuel Andrews, 27, who called himself the Muslim prophet had shot himself in the head. He also had seriously wounded his 6-months pregnant girlfriend, Arlene Ware, 22. Doctors performed a Caesarean section on Miss Ware to deliver a female infant weighing less than 2 pounds. The baby was in critical condition, hospital authorities said. Miss Ware, whom police said lived with Andrews the past 18 months, also was in critical condition at Mercy Hospital following four hours of surgery.

Miss Ware escaped when the gas canisters ignited a fire in the frame 21/2-story structure in the city's Beltzhoover sec-

"Help! Help!" Miss Ware screamed before plunging through a front window

Police Superintendent Robert Coll said police stormed the house because Andrews told them by telephone about 5:30 a.m. that he had killed Miss Ware's

4-year-old daughter, Kimberly. Later, police learned that Fred Ware, 2, also had been killed when five shots rang out in the predawn darkness.

Coll said Andrews believed from the beginning of the siege Wednesday afternoon the girl was "evil." He said he did not know what caused Andrews to begin

'I can only speculate he became totally deranged, and became determined to kill the evil spirits around him," Coll

Earlier, police said Andrews referred to his girlfriend as the daughter of the Yakuub, the Islamic word for Satan. Andrews' demands ranged from a ship to take him to Iran and a mass gathering of Jehovah's Witnesses at Three Rivers

Coll said police were willing to continue their vigil as long as no one was hurt, but decided to attack once they knew one child was dead to try to save the other

"We believe the fire probably saved her (Miss Ware's) life. She was isolated from him because of the blaze. We're just sorry the children were the ones that got hurt," Coll said.

He said Andrews also held women and children as hostages in the Bahamas earlier this year, but was unarmed in that "The economy remained must stronger (last year) than anybody anticipated, he said. "It showed surprising resiliency against the shocks that it suffered."

One shock was the doubling of crude oil prices charged by Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, Gramley said. Another was high interest rates following the Federal Reserve Board's Oct. 6 move to restrain inflation by tightening

"We don't know for certain yet whether the economy is weathering that blow well," Gramley said of the high interest rates.

Both actions had led the Carter administration to predict that unemployment would average 6.6 percent in the final quarter of 1979.

But the jobless rate did not go up, in large part because business remained strong and industries created more than 2.1 million jobs last year.

Whether the pattern will continue in 1980 remains to be seen.

Most economists are predicting the recession that didn't occur in 1979 will hit in the first half of 1980. The decline in business activity could boost unemployment from the 6 million jobless figure at the end of 1979 to nearly 8 million by the end of 1980, some forecasters say.

Gramley declined to speculate, however, saying the administration's new forecast would be released on Jan. 28. He did say the fact that inflation was at a five-year high in 1979 and unemployment was at a five-year low were compatible economic concepts. Inflation is measured by the government's Producer Price Index Productivity (which is the measure of goods and services that the economy turns out per working hour) was worse than anyone anticipated," Gramley said. That translated to a greater demand for labor but "made the inflation problem much worse" because output per man-corporate revisions through 1975 that reflect new seasonal adjustment data. Most noticable were downward revisions of unemployment rates for August and October from 6 percent to 5.9 percent.

The report showed that total employment rose by 300 000 from November's 97.6 million to 97.9 million in December.

Bregger termed this "amazingly strong" but said that recent layoffs in the automobile industry could be "reflective of things in the future.

He added that the increase of 300,000 persons on involuntary parttime employment in the final quarter of 1979 also signaled possible problems because it is a step that normally accompanies a business slowdown.

The 6 million unemployed persons in December were about 250,000 more than were on lavoff at the end of 1978, the report said.

The civilian workforce averaged 103.7 million persons in the final three months of 1979, compared with about 101.5 million in the fourth quarter of 1978, the report showed. Women accounted for most of the increase.

Other breakdowns for December: •Adult men: 4.2 percent, down from up from 32.8 percent. Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported that sales at the nation's retail stores rose 1.1 percent in December to $77 billion. Sales had risen 0.7 percent in November after falling 1.7 percent in October.

The December sales volume pushed sales for all of 1979 to $884.5 billion, or 11 percent above the 1978 level.

Excluding autos, where sales have been sluggish in the wake of spring gas lines and increasing gasoline prices, sales were $712.3 billion, up 12 percent for the year, the report showed.

Carter Calls For Fewer State, Local Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter said Friday there is a "pressing need" to abolish unwarranted regulations that fuel double-digit inflation.

While very little can be done to avoid oil price increases by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, Carter said. "We do have some control over regulation. Stressing one of his key domestic themes, deregulation, the president addressed a meeting of state and local officials from across the nation.

hile pointing to major deregulation efforts by his administration, Carter said much more must be accomplished. "It's not easy," he said, adding that a new profession has built up just to deal with regulation at the federal, state and local levels. Carter said many regulations must be retained to protect the public, but added that "they can be simplified and adminis-Earlier, Alfred E. Kahn, Carter's chief inflation fighter urged states and localities to cut costly regulations that he more than 13 percent. His point was echoed at the conference by home builders who claimed that regulations, particularly at local levels, are creating a housing cost nightmare.

The cost of building new housing is not likely to recede or even moderate during the year ahead, even in the event of a major recession," said Vondal Gravlee, president of the National Association of Home Builders.

"If present trends persist," he said, "the median price of a new home will reach $100,000 by 1984, severely limiting.

housing opportunities.' A White House background paper acknowledges that federal laws frequently bind state and local regulators.

"Increasingly, state and local governments regulate because of and in ways specified by the federal government," it said. "In fact, the federal government now has 90 regulatory offices issuing around 7,000 rules a year. While there are no reliable figures on the total cost of federal regulation, environmental rules alone imposed direct costs of about $25 billion last year, the administration says. Economists estimate that the total burden of federal regulation comes to anywhere between $50 billion and $150 billion a year, roughly 5 percent of the nation's gross national product. Apart from the cost, the sheer mass of regulation has become a serious problem. Dozens of regulatory horror stories have come to the public's attention. Among them:

•The Rudd, Iowa, public library was nearly forced to install ramps for the handicapped at a cost almost equal the library's annual budget, even though no handicapped people lived in the com-

•Until recently, the government regulated the design of toilet seats and the height of fire extinguishers off the floor. •The U.S. steel industry, confronting severe economic strains, has to comply with 5,600 regulations administered by 25 federal agencies, in addition to state and local rules. ·An unregulated trucker may haul

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) - Comedian Jimmy Durante, 86, suffering from a form of pneumonia, was reported in satisfactory condition Friday at St. John's Hospital.

Joseph Lucero, a hospital spokesman, said the Durante was admitted to the hospital Tuesday with pneumonitis.

Durante, whose career spanned vaudeville to television, retired in November 1972 after suffering a stroke that left him partially paralyzed.

Man Sells Utility Poles

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) - Ever wonder about the poles that hold up all those electrical wires?

"A lot of people think poles just grow there," says Ed Theobald. But he knows better. He sells them. And if money doesn't grow on trees, it may grow on his

this year are $15 million, he said. And demand for utility poles is growing as dozens of countries begin to electrify. "As the standard of living rises in each country and the need for more electric power increases," Theobald said, "the demand for poles has virtually

In the past four months, the company has shipped 100,-000 poles to developing nations at an average cost of $200 each.

Theobald said he isn't worried about running out of trees to make the poles. He said it takes 30 years for the trees to grow, and once they're made into the poles, they last 60

Comedian Gets Bar Mitzvahed

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - It's no joke. Comedian Henny Youngman is finally coming of age — 60 years late — according to the tenets of his Jewish faith.

The 73-year-old "king of the one-liners" will be bar mitzvahed in a special ceremony Saturday afternoon with opera singer Jan Peerce serving as cantor.

Youngman's bar mitzvah was canceled 60 years ago because his cousin died the day the ceremony was scheduled

Youngman recently mentioned this to a reporter for The Press of Atlantic City, who arranged for the ceremony at Resorts International Hotel Casino, where Youngman is

"I'm being bar mitzvahed now because it took me 60 years to memorize the speech," Youngman commented

Soviet Director Cancels Plans

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Soviet play director Anatoly Efros has canceled plans to work at the Guthrie Theater here without offering an explanation.

A spokesman for the theater said Efros's cancellation may result from tensions between his country and the United States.

Efros was a visiting director at the Guthrie during the last two seasons. He was scheduled to direct "Don Juan" in

The Guthrie spokesman said Efros' announcement was "brief, with no explanation. It's pretty clear that the current situation is behind it all. Obviously he has been told he was

Warbler Seen Far From Home

DANSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — It gave Mary bilgard a real start. After all, painted redstarts are more at nome in oak trees of New Mexico, Arizona and Central America than in a snowy yard in western New York.

In fact, it's the first sighting ever of the red, white and black bird in New York State, according to Richard Guthrie, a regional editor for Kingbird, the Audubon Society's news-

The only other painted redstart spotted in the Northeast was sighted in Marblehead Neck, Mass., in 1947.

'We don't really know what might have brought it here,"

The 41/2-inch bird took up residence in the Dilgard's yard Dec. 22, and so far about 85 birdwatchers have visited. "He's been very cooperative, posing for the photogra-phers and then flying around — up on the roof and down to the feeder," Mrs. Dilgard said.

But the Audubon Society is warning birdwatchers not to be too eager, lest they create an "ornitholical disaster" in their enthusiasm to catch a glimpse of the Central American

Candidates To Be Rated

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - A state senator has proposed a new way to help voters rate political candidates: listing their smarts" right on the ballot.

Democrat Tony Gabaldon of Flagstaff wants candidates to file results of a reading and Intelligence Quotient test with their nominating petitions.

The scores would be recorded by the secretary of state, and placed on the ballot next to the candidate's name. It's not my intent to set minimum scores for candidates to achieve," said Gabaldon. "My only intent is to give the voter as much information as possibl "I'm sure the public would go for it if it ever got on the

Toma Gets Larger Pension

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The cop whose exploits inspired two television series should receive a larger pension, says a New Jersey court that found that David Toma's career rendered him "an unmistakable psychoneurotic."

A state appeals court Thursday upgraded the former Newark detective's pension to "accidental disability," making him eligible for two-thirds the salary he earned when he took a leave of absence in 1973.

Formerly, the 46-year-old Toma, whose undercover career inspired the "Baretta" and "Toma" TV series, received a pension of 40 percent of his last salary under an "ordinary' disability classification

Callaway May Seek Senate Seat

DENVER (AP) — Former Army Secretary Howard "Bo" Callaway says he may seek the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Gary Callaway, who owns a ski resort in Crested Butte, said there are people urging him to run. He said he is discussing that prospect with Republican leaders.

'It's premature to say that I'm running," he said. "I'm not that far into it.

Callaway was the first manager of President Gerald Ford's 1976 campaign, but resigned after allegations surfaced that he had used his influence as Army secretary to get federal permission to expand his ski resort. The U.S. Justice Department later cleared him of criminal wrongdo-

Sextuplets Born On Anniversary Of Equal Birth

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) -Friday provided a humdinger for those who take note of infrequent happenings in unusual numbers: Six babies were born to a woman on the sixth anniversary of the birth of six infants to another mother.

A 28-year-old woman who had taken fertility drugs gave birth here to sextuplets and doctors said the infants, four boys and two girls, had an "excellent" chance of surviving

Rosanna Cavigli Giannini of Bibbiena, outside Florence, gave birth by Cae-sarian section in the 35th week of pregnancy. The babies, weighing between 2.2 And 4.4 pounds each, were named Linda, Letizia, Giorgio, Francesco, Mario and Roberto, a brief hospital statement said. The births of the Giannini sextuplets occurred on the exact date that the Rosenkowitz sextuplets, also four boys and two girls, were born in South Africa six years ago. The six Rosenkowitz children are the only other set of sextuplets believed alive in the world.

A family friend said the Gianninis had expected sextuplets because "they had all sorts of tests before, including an Xray examination."

Reporters and photographers were barred from the hospital and medical and family sources declined to answer reporters' questions. A hospital official said the family had requested silence because it signed an exclusive right to a magazine "to take care of the big fami-

It was the second multiple birth in Italy in six months. On Aug. 16, Pasqualina Chianese, a Naples housewife who had taken fertility drugs, gave birth to octuplets, two months prematurely. Six died within two weeks. The two surviving girls, Silvana and Anna, left the hospital late last year. Both weight about seven pounds and are doing "very well," according to a family source.

In Cape Town, the Rosenkowitz sexuplets celebrated their sixth birthday Friday with separate cakes decorated with cartoon characters depicting their own personalities.

Nation's Leaders Mourn Death Of George Meany

leaders Friday mourned the death of George Meany as a giant who shaped American society and world opinion as "Mr. Labor" for a quarter-century.

"George Meany was an American institution," President Carter said after the death Thursday night of the 85-yearold labor patriarch, who resigned just two months ago as the first president of the AFL-CIO. Meany's health had been deteriorating for months.

'George Meany ... was one of the greatest forces of our time for social justice and freedom," said Vice President Walter F. Mondale.

"A giant has fallen," said Labor Secretary Ray Marshall. "George Meany was my friend and a giant for American labor," Sen. Edward Kennedy said in Iowa, where he was campaigning.

Lane Kirkland, who succeeded Meany barely two months ago as president of the 14 million-member labor federation, hailed his long-time mentor for forging "the strongest, the most independent, the most democratic labor movement in the world

"His legacy is the AFL-CIO itself." a grim-faced Kirkland said as he read a short statement to reporters.

The Soviet news agency Tass called Meany "an apologist of the capitalist system, a rapid anti-communist," a description that Meany would surely have accepted with pride. Meany vigorously opposed communist influence in labor movements around the world.

A private requiem Mass will be celebrated at Tuesday morning at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral here, with burial at Gate of Heaven Cemetery in suburban Silver Spring, Md. Meany's body will lie in the lobby of AFL-CIO headquarters Sunday and Monday for public viewing.

The cigar-smoking, blunt-spoken former plumber from the Bronx who put a bickering labor movement together in 1955 and held it together for the next 24 years, died at 8:55 p.m. CST Thursday at George Washington University Hospital.

Meany was admitted to the hospital Sunday for tests and treatment of a painful buildup of fluid in his legs. About nine hours before his death he was rushed to the intensive care unit because of a sudden drop in his vital signs. Death was attributed to cardiac arrest.

He had been confined to a wheelchair with arthritis since last spring, following a golfing accident, and was frequently in immediate tasks that need attention.

An unflinching support of the American capitalist system, Meany fought to make the system give workers a better shake. In the process, he was at times both friend and foe to the nation's political and business leaders. No one was immune from his sharp tongue, including presidents. During his tenure, organized workers achieved unprecedented prosperity that allowed them to join the ranks of the American middle class economically. But critics complained that the labor movement's prosperity came at the expense of declining membership and dy-His outspoken views against the Sovi-

Working men and women around the world will mourn his loss," said Carter, who had tangled frequently with

Meany over economic policy. "He changed the shape of our nation for the better in hundreds of ways, great and small, through the force of his character and the integrity of his beliefs," the president said. "Like seven of my predecessors, I was privileged to benefit from his straightforward counsel."

Kirkland said American workers, whether they carried a union card or not, considered George Meany their spokesman, and he was." And in every country ruled by dictators, he said, George Meany was hated by the oppressors because he was a beacon of hope for the oppressed."

Gov. Hugh Carey of Meany's home state of New York ordered all flags on state buildings flown at half-staff Friday. Jewish leaders hailed him for his de-

Minister Set To Challenge Incumbent For District 75-B Seat

Avalanche-Journal Staff A Lubbock minister Friday opened a campaign to become the first black Republican since Reconstruction to be elected to the Texas Legislature.

SHEPHARD

Announcing for the District 75-B seat of State Rep. Froy Salinas, the Rev. McKinley Shephard indicated he will attack the relationship Salinas has had with constituents and with other legislators Shephard is the first announced candidate for the office, but Salinas is expected to run for re-election.

"In the last campaign, my opponent said he ran to give the people a choice,' Shephard said. "I am seeking the office of state representative not just to offer the people a choice, but to offer the

"I am that alternative, an alternative to ineffective representation in Austin, an alternative to unwillingness to listen to the people, an alternative to non-cooperation, an alternative to non-compatibility with fellow representatives in the legislature.

The candidate said the issues of a state income tax, water in West Texas and the possibility that a depository for nuclear waste could be located in West Texas will be important issues for area legislators in the next legislative session. He said he is opposed to a state income tax.

Asked his position on nuclear waste, he said, "Whenever you have a nuclear waste dump, there is always the possibility that something will happen. Shephard, 32, is a native of Hobbs, N.M., who attended Shephard and his wife Frances have two children, Sephanie, 6, and Russell, 3. They live at 3417 E. 16th.St.

He was introduced at a 10 a.m. news conference at St Matthew's Baptist Church at 2020 E. 14th St. by Dr. C.E. Menendez, a Texas Tech Medical School professor who is chairman of his campaign steering committee.

David Hester, Salinas' opponent in the 1978 election, was introduced as Shephard's campaign treasurer.

Asked if black people are ready to change their traditional bloc support of Democratic candidates, Shephard said the Republican Party "has a lot to offer black people" and said its new effort to attract more of the black vote will be successful this year.

Calling the 1980s "the decade of destiny," Shephard said he would "tear down the walls of division and schism that have so handicapped the effectiveness of this office since its inception. 'As we enter into the '80s," he said, "I feel that in order for us to be successful in sustaining our economic stability, we need to have a sense of unity, a oneness of purpose, and that should be the betterment of the quality of life for all people of the district and the City of Lubbock.

Catholic Church Serving Texas Tech Students

St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church became the University Church serving the Catholic students attending Texas Tech University on Jan. 5, according to an announcement by the pastor. the Rev. Bill Hanly. Because there is no bishop of the Diocese of Amarillo (of which Lubbock is a part), St. Elizabeth's cannot formally be recognized as a parish, Hanly said. However, the new status marks the separation of St. Elizabeth's and St. John Neumann Church.

St. Elizabeth's was built in 1935 and for many years was the only Roman Catholic parish in Lubbock. St. Joseph's Church was its mission.

In 1961 St. Elizabeth's, St. Joseph's, Christ the King, Our Lady of Grace and St. Patrick's were established as five seplic churches in Lubbock, St. John Neumann's and Our Lady of Guadalupe. Hanley said another priest, the Rev. Michael O' Dwyer, will join him on the staff of St. Elizabeth's. The Rev. Vincent Calderon, a student at Texas Tech Law School, presently is also in residence at St. Elizabeth's rectory.

Lubbock Christian College To Host Choral Festival

Lubbock Christian College will host the annual Christian College Choral Festival this weekend. Some 450 singers representing seven states and nine colleges

The climax to the festival will be Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Green Lawn Church of Christ. At that time, each of the choruses will perform individually.

To close the concert, all 12 choruses will be performing together. Charles Nelson, former of the Madison, Tenn., Church of Christ will serve as guest conductor. Nelson is well-known for his guest appearances with civic symphony orchestras and as a recitalist

As an added feature, the audience will join with the choruses to sing several congregational songs.

The concert is open to the public and no admission will be charged. The festival was started in 1965 and

County Jail Status, Telephone System To Be Discussed

The status of Lubbock County jail construction and public complaints about the new courthouse telephone system will be among business in a 10 a.m. Monday county commissioners meeting

County engineer Arnold Maeker said Friday there has been no change in plans for the $3 1 2-million jail to be finished in late February.

He said inmates probably will be moved from the old county jail a few weeks later when the new jail has been thoroughly checked out and jailers have become accustomed to its operation.

County Judge Rodrick Shaw said discussion of the phone system was schedaled because of "numerous complaints" from the public

The system was installed late last year with different numbers for each of the county departments and the elimination of a central switchboard.

The original jury pool included 247 persons, but another panel of 140 was called for Monday morning, in case enough prospects could not be selected from the first group.

Loy Dean Stone and his wife. Louise, both self-professed witches, are charged with the slaying of a 15-year-old girl on Halloween 1977. Mrs. Stone will be tried

To Wait To Purchase

Home Buyers Urged Not

By SYLVIA TEAGUE

Avalanche-Journal Staff Despite mortgage interest rates approaching 13 percent, it is less expensive to buy a house now instead of in the future, a panel of four Lubbock lenders said Friday.

Speaking to a crowd of about 500 persons attending a special meeting of the Lubbock Board of Realtors, the lenders predicted housing costs will continue to increase faster than interest rates and urged prospective homebuyers not to wait to purchase a house.

Coffee Conner, president of Sentry Savings Association, gave the example of a person waiting one year for interest to decrease one percent on the purchase of a $50,000 house

Although the buyer would save $500 on interest costs, the house could increase in price 12 percent to $56,000 during that year. And, Conner noted, "Interest is deductible, inflation is not deductible. Conner urged the real estate agents to get out and merchandize the product (houses) and sell at today's cost:" What better time to buy a house than right now?" he asked rhetorically. Jim Shearer, Plains National Bank vice president, said income tax deductions for interest paid on a home loan reduce the actual amount of interest paid.

Bob Edwards, president of First Federal Savings and Loan, said adjusting to the higher interest rates is "a matter of getting things in perspective.

drop in the high interest rates. If inflation continues at the same rate, we can expect double-digit interest for at least five years, and possibly throughout the decade," Conner said. He welcomed as a "breath of fresh air" recent federal legislation suspending mortgage interest ceilings, including that

The legislation will permit lenders to charge the market rate for funds, Conner said, and may eventually lead to freefloating rates which lenders have been advocating. Carlos Thornton, Lubbock National Bank vice president, said the legislation was needed because "we don't have the money in Lubbock. Texas, to finance housing. It's a capital short area." Suspension of the interest ceiling will permit lenders to seek funds in the secondary money market, where rates have exceeded the ceiling on interest in Texas for months

However. Thornton said lenders are ready to "accept the challenge of getting the funds into Lubbock so you can sell Recent changes in the availability of mortgage funds "are telling us the business we've known in the past is going to be different in the 1980s," Edwards said. We need to get in tune with that and help the buyer in Lubbock own the home

Tech Conference Will Focus On Dealing With Depression

Depression is a perfectly normal reaction to upsetting events, the experts say. but depression at its unhealthy extreme can be a real problem.

Dealing with that problem - extreme depression and possible suicide - is the topic of a conference scheduled Jan. 26 at the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center. Topics on the program will be especially relevant to primary care physicians in such fields as family practice, internal medicine, obstetrics and gynecology and pediatrics.

The conference is sponsored by the TTUHSC Department of Psychiatry and Office of Continuing Education.

"Everybody feels depressed sometimes, but it's the prolonged or clinically severe periods of depression we worry most about," Stephen P. Farr, assistant professor in psychiatry at TTUHSC said.

"In extreme cases, medical complaints may occur, lifestyle and day-today functioning may be severely disrupted and the possibility of a suicidal attempt may exist. Therefore, we want to use the most appropriate diagnostic and treatment methods as quickly as possible." Farr said.

The conference is geared to psychiatrists, family practitioners, clinical psychologists, nurses and allied health care professionals. The program starts at 8

cal continuing education programs. Invited speakers include: William

Henry Anderson, M.D., director of postgraduate education for the Department of Psychiatry at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston: and Joseph Talley, M.D., clinical assistant professor of famipractice at the University of North Carolina as well as a family practitioner.

Further information is available by contacting Rita Chrane in the TTUHCS Office of Continuing Education or through Farr at 743-2809

Mayor Dirk West said Thursday he will not seek another term and the council terms of Carolyn Jordan and Bill McAlister end in April. Mrs. Jordan has announced she will run for state representative and McAlister is contemplating a face for mayor.

Contrary to some speculation, Councilman Alan Henry said Friday he will not seek the mayor's job. "I was elected two years ago to serve a four-year term and I intend to serve the four-year term.

Civilians Storm Prison To Free Relatives

Hundreds of angry Afghans shouting "Russians Get Out!" stormed a prison 15 miles outside Afghanistan's capital city of Kabul Friday in a bid to free relatives held as political prisoners by the Sovietbacked government. One civilian and one Afghan solider were reported killed.

About 12 inmates were freed before Soviet and Afghan troops quelled the disturbance at the walled compound about 15 miles east of the capital city of Kabul. It was not clear if Soviet or Afghan troops fired what sounded like short bursts of automatic weapons to end the

Heavy Fighting Rages

In battlefield action, reports reaching Karachi, Pakistan, said heavy fighting was continuing around the eastern Afghan city of Jalalabad, 50 miles from the border with Pakistan. A guerrilla leader told Pakistan Press International that 50 Soviet soldiers were killed there Thursday. The guerrillas also claimed to have shot down a Soviet bomber.

The report could not be independently confirmed.

The official Chinese Communist Party newspaper, the People's Daily, predicted the Soviets would "continue to use 'detente' as a shield and its strength as a backing and strive to achieve its objective of expansion without entering

The Soviet Union has sent up to 100,-000 troops into Afghanistan since Dec. 27, when a Soviet-backed coup ousted the government of Hafizullah Amin, who was subsequently reported executed.

There since have been reports of fighting throughout the Central Asian nation, where Moslem Afghan guerrillas have been waging a holy war against a succession of three Marxist governments that have ruled the country since April, Troyanovsky claimed "imperialist and reactionary circles" had tried to undermine the Afghan revolution of 1978 that installed a leftist government prompting the Afghan government to seek Soviet aid. He added:

The Soviet Union vigorously condemns the attempts of the American politicians and Peking leaders artificially to heat up the so-called Afghan situation so that under cover of this they can turn the wheel of international affairs backward to the time when emnity between countries and military hysteria was insitagted and whipped up.

Despite this, he said, "The Soviet Union intends to steer a course of peaceful co-existence and detente, convinced this will overcome all barriers and will ultimately once again become the prevailing trend in international affairs.

Action On Economic Sanctions Against Iran Delayed By U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - The Security Council postponed any action on America's request for economic sanctions against Iran during a Friday night meeting that lasted only five minutes.

one by Moscow's delegation this week. On Monday, the Soviets killed a Security Council resolution protesting Moscow's military intervention in Afghanistan.

A draft resolution prepared by the United States asks all shipments to Iran, except food and medical supplies, be halted. It also calls for restrictions on transportation to Iran by land, sea and air, and on new credits and banking facilities extended to that country. Moslem militants holding the Ameri-

Proposed New Slaton Hospital Draws Affirmative Response

SLATON (Special) - Slaton Hospital demorial Foundation Board members the answer they were looking for at a town meeting here Friday night when more than 150 people greeted their proposal to build a new, one-story hospital with a noisy and long round of applause.

Residents gathered at the junior high here appeared to be solidly in favor of constructing a proposed $600,000 medical facility through a Farmers Home Admintration loan to run 33 years.

Hospital Administrator Bob Manley explained to the assembly that the new, energy-efficient, single-story building ould be paid for out of savings from present costs of maintaining the 50-year-old Mercy Hospital, which has four floors and 40 beds.

The new 10,000 square-foot facility would have 30 beds. Mercy Hospital has an average of 11 patients

Board members Bill Sewell and Bill Alspaugh also spoke to the residents before Sewell finally asked if it was the consensus of the gathering to go ahead with the plans as outlined for the new hospital in an effort to keep medical facilities in

There were no evident dissenters during a question and answer session and there appeared to be none in response to Sewell's question.

bargaining might not be necessary if the city would agree to some plan that would allow officers of the association to meet on a regular basis with the city manager to discuss problems "Nearly two years ago, fire fighters proposed semi-annual meetings with city management for the purpose of discussing issues of mutual interest as an alternative to statutory collective bargaining," Brightwell said. "This proposal has gone completely unheeded.

Brightwell said firemen's representatives in cities that don't have collective bargaining are able to meet periodically with city officials to discuss issues. Houston has used this type of plan, he said. noting that Houston firemen are the best paid in the state.

If city officials would propose a plan that would allow association representatives to meet with the city manager on a regular basis, Brightwell hinted that firemen might discontinue their push for passage of the collective bargaining rights measure in the special election.

However, he added, it probably would be difficult for city officials to come up with a plan that would be approved by the firemen's group.

City Manager Larry Cunningham appeared somewhat puzzled by the challenge. "I will need a better understanding of what the fire fighters are suggesting before I could consider a response to their proposal," Cunningham said. "Once I receive some first-hand explanation, I'll be able to respond."

By late Friday, Cunningham had not received any official word from the association regarding the proposal.

Brightwell said that if the city does not offer a realistic alternative to collective bargaining, the city council should rescind its resolution and cease all opposition to the issue.

In the White House statements, Carter proposed the additional $3 billion in loans and loan guarantees to aid construction of small and medium-sized facilities to produce alcohol and other fuels from plant and animal matter.

However, while administration officials indicated earlier that some of the grain embargoed for shipment to the Soviet Union would be used in making gasohol, statements issued by the White House that announced the new program did not specify the embargoed grain

Eizenstat said in explaining the program that the administration was not earmarking grain withheld from the Soviet Union, or setting up any specific grain serve, for alcohol production.

But Daly said there were doubts that U.S. distillery capacity could handle that large a production goal.

As a result, the Energy Department surveyed distillery capacity in an effort to estimate achievable production goals and to develop its policy for increasing that capacity.

U.S. Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis. went so far as to suggest Monday that the government impose gasoline rationing from which the alcohol fraction of gasohol would be exempt, providing a strong demand by motorists for this new mixed fuel. However, that would require congressional amendment of present law which allows the president to impose ra-tioning only during a severe shortage.

SAVES WOMAN FROM ATTACKERS - When trucker Dick Cockrell saw three men trying to pull a screaming woman and two children into a car at an East Texas roadside park, he just couldn't stand and watch as others did. So, the 245 lb. knight in shining armor took a knife away from one man and broke his jaw, broke the second man's arm and kicked the third man in the groin. He then escorted the woman and her children safely into Dallas, (AP Laserphoto)

Trucker Teaches Attackers Painful Lesson

CANTON (AP) - Dick Cockrell is just one of those guys who can't leave a lady in distress.

The burly ex-Marine, now a truck driver for Kroger grocery stores, spotted a woman and her two children screaming for help as three men dragged them into a car at a roadside park near here. She was screaming her head off, but nobody was doing anything, said the soft-spoken Cockrell. "When I walked up, she said. 'Please help,' and that's all it took.

Cockrell said one of the men, carrying a knife, said, "You don't worry about what's going on here, just get your -in the truck and go on."

I went for him first ... I could feel his jaw break," said the 32-year-old trucker. "They taught me a long time ago where to hit a man to break his jaw.

Then a second man came at Cockrell. He caught me on the left side of the face with a punch.

"Hell, I'm 245 pounds. It didn't knock me down. He threw a second punch, but I backed off and caught his fist in my hand, then I use my left hand to pop his elbow (break his

Mrs. Allen pulled off to let her 6-and 7-year-old daughters use the restroom Tuesday evening, but her husband did not see them and drove on:

Cockrell said Mrs. Allen told him the men said they were going to rape her and threatened to rape her daughters. 'He saved their lives,' I know he did," Allen said. "He should receive some recognition for what he did. There were a lot of people around the rest area and he was the only one to help.

Cockrell said he escorted the woman to Dallas, and radioed truckers down the road to locate her husband.

"When he stopped with my family, he didn't talk about what happened." Allen said. "He just said. 'Here's your family. Follow me and I'll take you through Dallas.'

Cockrell said he called Tyler police, who told him the park was under the jurisdiction of the Van Zandt County Sheriff's office, but he didn't call the sheriff.

"I figured they (the three men) would be long gone anyway." he said. "And so what if you do call the cops. Some judge would just let them off with a hand-spanking and tell them not to do it again. So you might as well whip their -before you send them to court."

Iran's 'Invincible' Kurds Posing Potential Threat To Khomeini By Robert C. Radeliffe

National Geographic News Service WASHINGTON — The Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini may turn his back on world protests over holding those Americans hostage, but he can't risk ignoring a smoldering fire that could ignite all of

The fire burns in the hearts of the large ethnic minorities of Iran, peoples opposing the absolute rule of the new Islamic constitution that has side-stepped their hopes of self-determination.

They are the Kurds and the ethnic Azerbaijani Turks who share Iran's northwest corridor bordering Iraq and leading to Turkey and the U.S.S.R. They

But nowhere in Iran is there greater resentment as a result of ignoring minorities' self-determination than among the Kurdish tribesmen who periodically since biblical days have taken up arms to defend their fiercely independent ways.

"On their own ground and when not overwhelmed by firepower, they are pretty much invincible," according to LeRoy Woodson Jr., a Washington, D.C., photographer who spent nine weeks with Kurdish guerrillas in Iraq while on assignment for National Geographic.

The Kurds, he said, slip like shadows through the mountain crags of the rug-ged terrain they know better than anyone else. "They know where to mount their snipers, where to set up the ambushes."

They are fantastic marksmen." Woodson went on. Their favorite weapon is the Czech Brno rifle, with an accuracy range of 800 yards, far superior in the mountains to the 300-yard range of the Russian AK-47 assault rifle of the Iraquis, a gun that confronted Americans in these days. More and more lenders are using statistical scoring systems rather than personal interviews to decide whose applications for credit will be granted.

Here's how it works, according to Citibank, the nation's second-biggest commercial bank

A sample of a lender's experience with a particular type of loan is fed into a computer, along with the information provided on the borrowers' application forms. The sample might, for example, include information on car loans. How many borrowers became delinquent? How many never paid off the loan at all? How many made payments on time?

The computer then figures out which characteristics are shared by the good repayers and which ones the delinquent borrowers have in common. Each characteristic is given a number value in points.

It is the total that counts; you won't be turned down because you have a low score in one particular category. Suppose, for example, a lender finds that the good repayers in its sample have total scores of 16 or more. You will need 16 points to get credit. You could score four points for each of four characteristics. You could also score 12 points in one area, 2 points in each of two others and 0 in the fourth. Any combination that adds up to 16 will work.

REMINDER: The Citibank economists note that not all lenders use credit scoring. Mortgage loans, for example, are based on a lot of personal information that doesn't always Lenders generally say they are pleased with the way credit scoring works. Morton Schwartz, the general credit manager of J.C. Penney, said that the company is rejecting fewer applicants for credit than it did before it switched to a scoring system. At the same time, he said, the delinquency rate has decreased.

Schwartz said Penney worked out its scoring system based on a sample of 4,500 people — 1,500 who paid their debts as agreed, 1,500 who became seriously delinquent and

If you use cream, sugar or artificial sweetener, put it in the cup first, then pour the coffee over it.

I do this with a few drips of sweetener and a dash of low fat milk - and I don't even have to exert the effort needed to dig out a spoon and stir. No sireee! I can your and sip that life-giving serum pronto to get those old wheels turning.

Dear Ann Landers: We've all heard the expression, "Nobody's perfect." Well, when are we going to believe it? Everyone is a little bit crazy in one way or another. The sooner people accept this, the happier they will be. You seem to get lots of beefs from women who are married to "TV Sports Nuts." Would these wives be happier with a "Booze Nut" or a "Racetrack Nut" or a "Ham Radio Nut" or a "Golf Nut" or a "Health Club Nut"?

Why don't you tell the gripers that so long as the old man isn't a "Skirt Nut," they are lucky. The best thing they can do for themselves (and their husbands) is to find a hobby and shut up.

A well-ordered, friendly atmosphere in the classroom and in the school is essential - for the well being of the students, teachers and community.

The Lubbock Educational Para Professional Association offers guidelines for pupil conduct and discipline. Good discipline originates in the home because the parents are the first teachers of their children. It is the parent's obligation, by teaching and by example, to develop their children's good habits of behavior as well as proper attitudes toward the school. To help their children's progress in school, a parent

1. Recognize that the teacher takes the place of the parent while they are in

2. Teach and require of the student respect for law, authority and the rights

3. Talk with your children about school activities, share with them and with the teacher and active interest in report cards and in the progress of the

4. Arrange for prompt and regular school attendance and comply with atttendance rules and procedures. 5. Safeguard the physical and mental health of the child and be responsible for a periodic health examination.

6. Attend individual or group parent conferences

7. Attend special school programs, if possible 8. Arrange for a time and place for homework assignments and for supervision of them. 9. Work with the school in carrying out recommendations made in the best interests of your children. 10. Encourage and guide wholesome friendships, interests, and activities.

11. Understand and comply with the rules of the school concerning pupil conduct and cooperate with the school in carrying out disciplinary action taken by the school.

Students attend school so that they may develop their individual capacities to their fullest and become, for their own benefit and that of others, the best persons that it is possible for them to become. To do this, the students should:

1. Make a sincere effort to do their

2. Develop standards of personal conduct that are reflected in socially approved behavior. 3. Accept responsibility for their own

Respect the rights of others. 5. Comply with the authority of teachers and administrators. 6. Obey school rules and regulations, those made both by the school authorities and by the student governing body.

7. Be regular and punctual in meeting all school obligations. 8. Help maintain school property free from damage and defacement. Teaching involves providing a stimulating and effective program of instruction and establising an maintaining an atmosphere conducive to learning and to the development of sound social attitudes and habits. This is a cooperative effort in which the teachers, with the assistance of the principal, should: 1. Approach their assignments with enthusiasm and regard each student as a worthy individual working with them in a mutual endeavor.

2. Plan and conduct a program of instruction which will make each student eager to learn and which will enable students to achieve their full potential.

3. Manage classroom routines so that they contribute to the total instructional program and to the development of civic responsibility on the part of the student.

4. Teach the student what is expected of him in terms of conduct in and out the school.

5. Enforce the rules of the school system and of the school courteously, consistently, and justly.

6. Inform parents, in accordance with school procedures, about the academic progress and the general deportment of heir children.

7. Distinguish between student misconduct which should be handled by the teacher and that which requires the assistance of the principal.

8. Report to the principal all students who are defiant, behave in an immoral manner, use profane language, are physically violent, or are in possession of a potentially dangerous weapon; or who, in the opinion of the teacher, jeopardize their own safety, the safety of other students or of the teacher

9. Be sensitive to the behavior of all students in the class and alert to characteristics or changes which may indicate a need for assistance. 10. Report promptly any situation in or around the school that might encourage undersirable behavior. 11. Be conscious of professional ethics in relationships with fellow teachers and with administrators.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 80 years old Dear Dr. Donohue: Please tell me and am able to do all my housework. But my legs swell so every day, especially around the ankles. Do I need water pills? What causes the swelling? I noticed that in the morning the swelling is not there.

> You must find why your ankles are swelling. It may be a simple problem, like poor flow of blood back to the heart from the veins in your legs. It may mean a more important problem with your heart. Ankle swelling often disappears after a night's rest because the fluid is distributed to other areas of the body. The same thing would happen if you found an hour or two during the day to lie down and rest from your housework. You may very well need water pills, which are often used for edema. However, you should not use them unless you have been examined and they have been

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is there a test to find 'out if one is a "typhoid Mary" . that is, a carrier of one of the intestinal bacteria? - Mrs. R.J.

I think we can discard the term 'typhoid Mary," since the disease is not at all limited to females. In any event the typhoid germ (salmonella typhi) can be identified in the stool of people who may carry it but not suffer any of the symptoms of typhoid fever. In those carriers, the germ often resides in the gall bladder. Removing the gall bladder can end the carrier state.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 82. An x-ray reveals I have a calcium deposit that causes me constant though bearable pain. Would exercise of the right arm in pingpong, which brings pain, eventually remove the troublesome calcium in the joint? - Mr J W

Exercise will not remove calcium. Steroid injections help alleviate the problems caused by the calcium. Removal must be by surgery, when needed.

The state of the s Recognition Of Indian Tribe May Lead To Other Benefits

the Ramapough Mountain People, who live within commuting distance of Manhattan and trace their ancestry to the Iroquois and Algonquin Indian nations. were considered "an unholy conglomeration of strange people.

Theirs was a forgotten tribe, a community of 3,000 people who lived on Stag Hill, an economically depressed area 20 miles from New York City.

But today the Ramapough have been given official status by the state of NewJersey. A resolution passed by the Legislature this week makes the group the first Indian tribe to be recognized by the state since 1802.

The mountain people hope that will lead to similar recognition by the federal Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Also, the legislative action will make it easier for the Ramapough to apply for federal funds to implement education and heritage awareness programs, the resolution's sponsors said Friday "More important than funding is the matter of personal pride," said Assemblyman W. Cary Edwards, a co-sponsor of the resolution. They had been looked upon very unfavorably in this community. They were called Jackson Whites and considered to be an unholy conglomeration of strange

'Jackson Whites" is a derogatory colloquialism that first came into use in northern New Jersey 200 years ago as a reference to persons of mixed blood, Edwards said. He said he did not know the origin of the term.

Edwards, a Republican legislator from Bergen County, said, "The learning of their heritage has given them an identity they can be proud of. They are not just a disjointed group of malcontents as others around here believed.

The mountain people believe they are predominantly Indian, with some racial mixture from other groups. They believe some Hessians may have come to live on the mountain - called Stag Hill - but they say the basic community was founded by Lenni Lenape Indians native to New Jersey. The group grew when Tuscarora Indians migrated north to join the Iroquois Confederation before the American Revolution

School officials in Mahwah say there has been a vast improvement in Indian participation and community activities in the past few years," said Republican Assemblyman Walter Kern of Bergen County, who co-sponsored the resolution.

An application by the Indian group, which recently incorporated, to be officially recognized by the federal Bureau of Indian Affairs is pending. But the federal agency is aware of the community and pushed to have the Department of Health, Education and Welfare channel $35,000 into the Mahwah school system for Indian heritage awareness programs.

They don't want any handouts." he said. "The state recognition of them will make it easier for the Bureau of Indian Affairs to provide the kind of expertise they need for true independence as a people. The state designation means the tribe now has the capacity to qualify for the kind of assistance that will result in them becoming an agressively contributing part of our society.

Stag Hill is a poor area and most tribe members work within the community. Others work in other Bergen County towns in a wide variety of jobs, Edwards mingle with the other people of the community and they are wary of the news media

A spokeswoman for the tribe declined to answer questions about the state reso-

70-Year-Old Uses Umbrella As Weapon In Bank Heist

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) - A 70-year-old woman from an adult foster care home robbed a bank at umbrella-point Friday and later told officers, "The Lord made me do it," police said.

Police said Vera Haire was arrested minutes after she fled the City Bank and Trust Co. in downtown Jackson with $2,082 stashed in her umbrella. Bank teller Deborah Field said the woman came up to her window, pointed the umbrella at her and demanded some money.

"I asked her if she had an account here to stall for time," said Miss Field. She poked the umbrella at me and said in an irate manner, 'This is a robbery.' I gave her some money and she walked away."

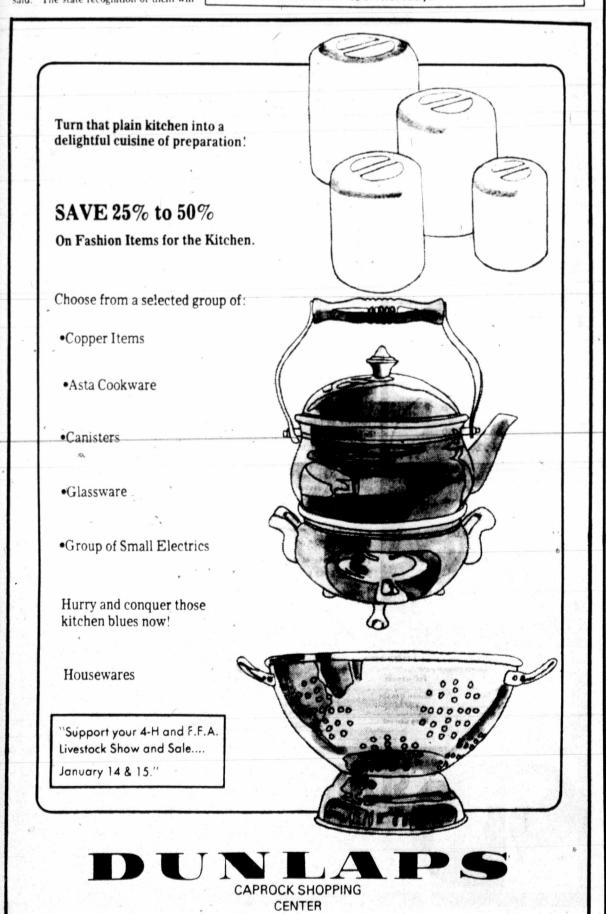

Mrs. Haire was arrested a few minutes later in the lobby of the Jackson Sheraton Inn by a Jackson police officer and a Jackson County sheriff's deputy. Police said the money was found inside the umbrella, clearly visible through the clear plastic.

When police asked Mrs. Haire why she robbed the bank, she answered, 'The Lord made me do it," officers said.

Mrs. Haire was a resident of the Flint Care Home in Jackson, an adult foster care home which includes mentally and emotionally handicapped persons among its residents, police said.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) - An adver-

sive" and should be scrapped, says May-ter issue of Association and Society Managers magazine, a convention-trade publication. 'We can advertise San Jose as a great city and a center of entertainment without that kind of ad," Mrs. Hayes said this

Mrs. Hayes said she wants the ad replaced by a more sedate pitch and has asked the city women's commission to monitor future promotion campaigns.

The advertisement was created by the Wilkinson and Kavish Advertising Agency as part of a city-requested series boosting culture and entertainment in San Jose, a growing community of 600 -000 about 50 miles south of San Francis-

It shows a bosomy woman in a tank top singing in a nightclub with the words Sizzling, Sassy, Sensational" describing the scene. The copy calls San Jose a "city of sensations.

A similar flap in Miami in November ended when the Dade County Commission withdrew a poster featuring a topless woman in snorkling gear. The poster was aimed at promoting tourism in the San Jose budgeted $528,000 to promote its image in 1980 through the Chamber of Commerce. One city official estimated the ad in question cost between $2,000 and $3,000 to produce and market.

"I'm the one, it's my fault," Saunders said of the selection. "But in retrospect, I wouldn't have done it - not unless I had a bullet-proof vest on.

Advertising executive Harvey Wilkinson said he does not believe the ad, created by his staff, is distasteful.

We're a little surprised at the flap this has created," he said. "I think people are taking it out of context. They don't realize the kind of audience we were aiming at - a predominantly male audience and conventioners - and we had to gear the theme accordingly.

People often miss the point of advertising, which is to sell a product. You can't sell anything unless you get the mule's attention first.

The ad was scheduled to appear in one other convention trade magazine, according to Wilkinson. He said he had not received word from any city official on withdrawing the ad but added, "They are our clients, and if they wish us to substitute the ad with something else, we

He said the agency had drawn up three ads promoting the city. One showed a photograph of the city's skyline, and a second showed a ballerina in a dance pose. The ballerina apparently will appear in future ads in place of the brunette, although the skyline shot still is being considered. Wilkinson said

Actor Gives 'Incredible' Performance In Movie

NEW RELEASES

ALL THAT JAZZ (R) - Roy Scheider, Ann Reinking, Jessica Lange. (Drama) Bob Fosse takes a lot of chances in his "8 1/2." Intense characterizations and an incredible performance by Roy Scheider. Dazzling dance sequences. But don't go expecting to see Bobb Fosse's "A Chorus Line." This is a movie.

GENERAL RELEASES

BLACK HOLE, THE (PG) - Maximillian Schell, Anthony Perkins, Robert Forster. (Sci-fi) This is Disney's attempt to do a big, lavish space film, and millions were spent on remarkable special effects. But they use a story they probably got for $2.98. And the actors ham it up dreadfully, so the whole thing is absurd, when they intended it to be amazing. The robots are cute, though. GRADE: C-minus

CHAPTER TWO (PG) - Marsha Mason, James Caan. Romantic Comedy/Drama. Neil Simon's play, somewhat autobiographical, about a widower who finds a new love but has problems laying to rest his late wife's memory. It sounds somber but it isn't. It has some very funny moments, as well as some that will touch your heart. Lovingly acted, directed and produced. GRADE: B

ELECTRIC HORSEMAN, THE (PG) - Robert Redford, Jane Fonda, (Romantic drama) A textbook case of much ado about nothing, this is a lavish and loving production, nicely acted, artistically photographed, with great stuntsall tacked onto a flimsy, wispy story. A famous cowboy befriends a horse. And a female TV reporter (Jane Fonda plays it again) tags along. GRADE: B

GOING IN STYLE (PG) — George Burns, Art Carney, Lee Strasberg. Drama/Comedy. Much talent is wasted on this tasteless film about three old men who turn from boredom to bank robbery. Poorly written and directed, and amateurishly edited, it has some good moments because of the cast. But it can't make up its mind what it intends to do, or to be. GRADE: C

HEAD OVER HEELS (PG) - John Heard, Mary Beth Hurt. (Comedy-Drama) On-again, off-again romance between a confused young woman and a flakey young man. Film is uneven but the performances are a constant delight. Heard is once again brilliant. GRADE: B

KRAMER VS. KRAMER (PG) - Dustin Hoffman, Meryl Streep. (Drama) A faithful adapation of Avery Corman's novel, this is basically the story of a court battle over custody of a young boy, and wht went before and came after that battle. No villains here, merely human beings with flaws. Magnificent performances including one by a great new child actor, Justin Henry. But it does have a tendency to poke along in spots. GRADE: A-.

"1941" (PG) - An all-star cast. "A comedy spectacle" Universal and Columbia call it. It may be the biggest disappointment in recent years. It's Steven Spielberg's attempt at comedy, set in panicky California a'few days after Pearl Harbor. But the comedy, is cartoon-style, done slapstick and with heavy-handed dabsurdities. There is no wit, style, grace. The real war was funnier. GRADE: C-minus

ONION FIELD, THE (R) - James Woods, John Savage. (Drama) The true story of two hoodlums and two cops. One is killed in the inevitable confrontation, and we learn what effect that has on the three survivors. Well acted, but slow. It is based on Joseph Wambaugh's book, which was plodding, in the movie, the plod thickens. GRADE: B

QUADROPHENIA (R) - Phil Daniels, Leslie Ash. (Drama) Teen alienation in mid-60s British mod garb, but a good treatment of an old and troubling theme. Taking its cue from a powerful concept and score by the Who, the film portrays a youth wrestling with his sense of identity. Cast and crew of relative unknowns turn in a movie which is exciting, turbulent, yet touching. GRADE:

ter is a rough, cold-blooded business, so when the critics didn't rave about a revival of Lillian Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine," the play's backers were businesslike: they gave up.

They planned to fold the show last Sunday, just four days after the 39-yearold anti-Nazi play opened in Broadway's Golden Theater

Then the crew volunteered to help; they took pay cuts.

Next the director said he'd work for free. Then the producers waived their fees, pumped in some money and agreed to continue a $40,000 bond required to keep the show on stage.

Next, Lillian Hellman waived her royalties. The Shubert Organization said they'd charge only their costs for use of their Golden Theater.

Enough money was raised to keep Watch on the Rhine" playing through this Sunday. Maybe longer

"The crew likes the company, likes the management," said production electrician Lowell Sherman. "They're lovely people. We wanted to help, too.

Sure, it's probably hopeless. I can't debate that." said director Arvin Brown. 'It's all very Don Quixote. But we're going to feel so much better closing this way than we would have slinking out of town last Sunday

It's probably hopeless because the hard facts haven't changed: the critics were tepid and the box office reacted.

'It won't work. People follow the critics. They don't make their own decisions about theater," said Joe Kipness, a veteran producer who was asked about

The cast disagrees. They say audiences love it. They say its warning against complacent isolationism and against tyranny is not dated. "It's good theater. Men are crying at the end - grown men sitting there unabashedly with handkerchiefs, crying," said Jan Miner, one of the actresses.

The cast and crew hope to buy time so that audiences will build. The heavy pub-

Part of the publicity came when Harris Yulin, the actor who started the resuscitation efforts, collapsed offstage during Tuesday's show.

"I think it was exhaustion," said Brown. "The poor guy just knocked himself out. He even squeezed in a fast trip to Washington, trying to raise money.

Yulin was back for the Wednesday Along with crew and cast and backers, donations have come from actors like Frank Converse and Henry Winkler. "Depending on how you add it up, people are either risking or contributing about $100,000," said Osterman. "There's still money coming in."

Audiences have grown this week, but Brown said it's too soon to know if the box office has increased enough to continue. "We have enough money to continue through Sunday afternoon, no matter what. Then we'll take a hard look at it," Brown said.

"I have never seen anything like this in my whole life," said Miss Miner.

The crew and cast are going out to dinner Saturday between the matinee and evening performance. I've never heard of such a thing. The cast and crew hardly ever even know each other. It's just wonderful.

Resentful Kurds Call For Autonomy

ulation that the minorities' demands for autonomy are underminig Iran's fragile government and ethnic stability.

For centuries self-determination has been a dream of the Kurdish people. Some still talk of a Kurdish nation that would be sandwiched between the oil fields of the Middle East and the Soviet

But most Kurds probably see nationhood as too wild a dream. Instead, they raise their voices for autonomy, saying that all they want is to live as Kurds, no matter what flag they happen to be under. They say they seek autonomy, not sovereignty. They wish to be left alone, protecting their own culture.

Today the Kurds are spread over some 74,000 square miles of mountain and valley in Iraq, Iran, Turkey, Syria and the Soviet Union - the historic region of Kurdistan that fathered the name of the homeland province of Iran's Kurds.

In a 1965 census the number of Kurds was put at about 7 million. current population estimates run to as many as 16 mil-

Mother, Playground Safety Consultant Seeking Warnings

NEW YORK (UPI) - The federal government should require warning labels on swings, slides, monkey bars and seesaws to stop "the playground game of Russian roulette," a crusading mother of four said Wednesday.

Such equipmnt ranks fifth on the consumer product hazard list

Peppery Theodora Briggs Sweeney. whose report on "X-rated playgrounds" appears in the current journal of the American Academy of Pediatrics, said the label from the Consumer Product Safety Commission should read:

'WARNING - Serious injury may result if installed over hard surface such as ashphalt, concrete or packed earth."

Mrs. Sweeny, a playground safety consultant from John Carrol University in Cleveland, said she already asked the commission to call for warning labels on equipment for public and backyard play

She urged others concerned with playground safety to write the commission.

"The deadline is Feb. 1," she said. "Address the letters to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207

In a related report in Pediatrics," the Academy's Accident and Poison Prevention Committee said there are 167,000 annual injuries requiring hospital attention and involving playground equipment. Most victims are between 5 and 10. In a 15-month period, 23 children died from such injuries.

Mrs. Sweeney said the warning label is about all she can hope for at this point in her crusade aimed at stopping "the playground game of Russian roulette. with the child as unsuspecting victim."

"Industry has put a lot of pressure on the commission," said Mrs. Sweeney, who first went to bat for playgound safe-

"Safety recommendations with teeth in them have been watered down to 'suggestions' in a handbook for manufacturers rather than mandatory require ments

The Accident Prevention Committee of pediatricians said children aren't treated as well as workers, noting:

The pediatricians said the highest number of injuries in a year - 72,000 involved swings and swing sets.

mountain fighters: Proudly, they call themselves Pesh Mergas - "we who face death." It's a salute to a legendary reputation won through history

The suicidal fury of the Kurds was recorded by the Greek general Xenophon as early as 401 B.C. The Kurds -- probably the ones then known as the Kardouchoi - rolled boulders down the cliffs and devastated the ranks of his 10,000 solders.

The Roman Emperor Valerian came to grief from a Kurdish army fighting for the Persians in A.D. 260. Legend has him skinned and stuffed as a tribal souvenir.

Richard the Lionhearted, England's crusading King Richard I, met his match in the Holy Land in the 12th century when he came up against the most famous of all Kurdish warriors, the great Moslem leader Saladin, whom he was never able to defeat conclusively.

world again chose to drop the question of Kurkish nationalism.

The Kurds fought the Turks in 1925 and the 1930s and were defeated. In 1941 they proclaimed a "Free Kurdish State" in the mountains of northwest Iran, but soon were overcome by Iranian army artillery and motorized infantry.

In January 1946 a "Kurdish Autonomous Republic" was established at the fortified city of Mahabad in northwestern Iran, with the backing of the Soviet Union. However, with the verbal support of the United States, forces of the shah entered the city and hanged the leaders heading the Kurdish regime.

The Iraqui army, with bombers and tanks, also put down the Kurds in the 1960s and again in 1975 - but only after Iran stopped arming the Kurds. Survivors of these years of vicious fighting, plus newly recruited guerrillas reportedly numbering in the thousands, now are holed up in the mountains of both Iran

THE PARTIAL U. S. EMBARGO OF GRAIN shipments to the Soviet Union was an expensive and poorly planned action which will impact minimally on the Soviet Union, some analysts and economists said this week.

Economist Milton Friedman said President Carter's embargo is a political maneuver that will have little effect on the Soviet Union.

"I believe that this is an action which is primarily for domestic political purposes and will have next to no deterrent effect on the Russians," Friedman said

"I do not believe economic sanctions are an effective weapon of political warfare. I don't mean to say there aren't some actions that might do a little harm to Russia, but almost all such actions are of a kind that do more harm to us than they do to them.

Friedman said the Soviet Union might be hurt "a tiny bit" by the cutoff of U.S. grain, but added that "anybody who thinks we are going to be able to prevent grain from getting to Russia has a very good imagination."

EVEN ASSUMING THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT will purchase and store an amount of corn and wheat equal to the entire net shortfall in exports to the U.S.S.R., the excess stocks still will act as a price depressant, said Dean Chen, director of the Wharton Agricultural Forecasting Service.

The embargo will lower the average Chicago cash corn price in 1980 by 8 percent to $2.49 per bushel. Chen said. The Kansas City wheat price is estimated to average $3.92, or 11 percent below its projected level without the embargo. The Chicago soybean price is projected at an average of $6.02, a 3 percent

Wharton economists said the embargo will have almost no effect on the level of retail food prices. Because grain prices play only a small role in the retail food price level, the Wharton economists said, the embargo should not cause any reduction in the 8 1/2 percent increase they currently predict for the 1980 consumer food price index.

Mike Hinebaugh, research director for ACLI International Commodities at Chicago, said he believes the embargo was largely a political maneuver because of many loopholes in the presidential directive.

For instance, he noted, shipments continue to Eastern Bloc countries. To be effective at all, he said, an embargo would have to include those countries and thereby prevent the possibility of transshipment of grain to the U.S.S.R.

HOWEVER, THE CAPACITY OF EASTERN BLOC countries to ship grain to the U.S.S.R. is limited, Hinebaugh said. While the actual capacity for such activity is not known, he said, it probably is about 5 million metric tons.

The only reason I say that is in the past Russia has exported 5 million tons to the Eastern Bloc," he said. "I don't really know whether they could boost it up to more massive levels or not.

Hinebaugh said the embargo will have little or no effect on the Soviet Union for a number of reasons. Long-term dietary goals could be disrupted, but 1985 goals were practically unattainable before the embargo, he said. And this should be a good production year in the U.S.S.R., he said, based on an historical pattern of biannual swings.

They won't starve," he said. "The effect of this thing is all on the United States, not the Soviet Union. Soviet people don't even understand they are supposed to have X amount of animal numbers five years from now

Larry Johnson, manager of the commodity branch of Merrill Lynch at Kansas City, said the specter of grain hanging over farmers' heads and the disruption of U. S.-U.S.S.R. long-term trade relations present grave questions.

Johnson questioned whether the Soviets would resume exports at previous levels. "Maybe they will find it more convenient to buy elsewhere." he added.

THE GOVERNMENT MAY FIND THE GRAIN embargo to be one of the most expensive propositions in U. S. history, said Joe Geisel, president of Geisel Grain Co. at Kansas City.

I don't think the administration realized the full impact or the money involved," Geisel said. "I think they're amazed at the ripple effects. Like Johnson, Geisel is concerned about the long-term implications. In the short term, he said, it has changed the freight rate structure and sharply deteriorated the basis. But he said the political implications throughout the world

To re-establish trade with the Soviet Union may be like trying to reopen the doors of China, he said.

Our reputation with the rest of the world is tenuous at this point as well, he said. "This is the third time we have cut across contracts.

Burton Joseph, president of the Minneapolis-based I. S. Joseph Co., said he was surprised by the lack of foresight by the administration.

Gilbert Vigier, president of Garnac Grain Co. and a participant in Washington discussions over the weekend with executives of international export firms on the government's bail-out plan, agreed.

Vigier said his impression was that the government started to worry very much when the implications of the move became known shortly after the action was announced.

COTTON FUTURES SOARED ON LATE-SESSION local and commisssion house buying, making new life of contract highs in the three front months, as the market closed up 114 to 132 points in nearbys.

The market opened lower and traded down 40 to 61 points on commission house and local selling in moderate early act juity. Brokers said pressure came from the unexpectedly large U.S. Department of Agriculture crop report which was released after the close Thursday

By mid-session, however, the market had posted 48 to 78-point gains in nearbys after commission house stop loss buying followed merchant purchases at the lows. Estimated volume for the day was 14,500 lots.

Brokers said buying interest stemmed from the strength of precious metals. higher grain prices, record-breaking weekly export shipments, and reports of strong export demand for U.S. cotton this week.

THERE WAS SPECULATION EARLIER in the week that China had bought around 70,000 bales of U. S. cotton in recent days. Although the reports were unconfirmed, some informed sources said the sale probably had been made

Most Far Eastern countries also were said to have bought cotton this week. Telcot trading totaled a heavy 39,402 bales on an average price of 52.41 cents and an average over the loan of 1,036 points. The national average base quotation in the 10 spot markets reached a new high for the season of 70.67 cents.

Cattle Futures Close Lower

By Reuters

CHICAGO - Cattle futures closed 45 to 135 points lower paced by February in active trade Friday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Sales totaled 23,008 lots. All months posted daily lows in the closing range

Active local and commission house selling was encouraged by the lack of follow through on the upside earlier and anticipation of lower live prices next week. Beef prices were higher at noon but traders noted adequate supply of beef in storage and slow retail demand.

There have been 251 deliveries thus far. Wholesale beef was up 1 at 10314 to 1041/4 cents a pound, f.o.b. river. Cash cattle were steady to up 50 cents with the best top $68.50 per hundredweight at Illinois Direct. Slaughter was 118,000 head. About 16,900 head are expected today at the major markets on Monday

Iowa Beef Processors Inc. president Robert Peterson said he did not expect the U.S. grain embargo against Russia to have a major affect on the U.S. cattle industry if the cutoff is short.

He said, however, that if the embargo is protracted farmers will use the excess corn for cattle, increasing beef supplies and lowering prices somewhat from 1979 peak levels.

Feeder cattle futures closed unchanged to 110 lower on sales of 2,955 cars. November paced the decline with only October at previous levels.

Lack of follow through on early highs and spillover selling from the cattle pit sent futures to new lows for the day by

Country Music To Dominate, Says Singer terested in helping juveniles so they Haggard, who overcame the stigma of a term in prison to become country music's top male star of the 1970s, believes hard-core country music will dominate the next decade.

"Country music is off and running now," said Haggard, who spent two years and nine months in San Quentin for burglarizing a cafe in 1957. "True country music will be the big thing in the 1980s. It's what people want to hear."

Haggard, who was paroled in 1960, launched the past decade by winning the Country Music Association's prestigious entertainer of the year award in 1970. As the decade approached an end, he had been nominated for more CMA awards - 31 - than anyone except for Loretta Lynn. She also was nominated for 31.

With hits like "Okie from Muskogee," which became an anthem for workingclass Americans during the peak of campus turmoil in 1969, Haggard became a symbol as a proletarian poet. He cultivated a genius for gauging the mood of the country and expressing it through songs he wrote and sang.

"I've felt an upsurge in patriotism in the last year or so," Haggard, 42, said by telephone in a rare interview. "The Iranian crisis verified that; people spoke up. It may take this to gauge what Americans feel - how much we'll take and what we'll do if they (Iranians) do too much.

"I feel a better mood in the country as far as America being America," he said. "I don't know why it happened; maybe it was the energy crunch. A probof life today. He wants a new Riviera, probably a good shotgun, his job with a couple of weeks off, a good retirement plan and in-

He just did a small part in a Clint Eastwood movie "Bronco Billy." He also had roles in the television movies "Centennial" and "Huckleberry Finn

In addition, he's making plans for an album of gospel music. He'd like to do it at Oral Roberts University

'My goal is to maintain the level of success I've had over the past 12 or 15 years," he said. "It's a new business now, and it gets more difficult every year. You must stay on top of things and keep doing good albums. Maybe I'll come up with some good concepts for albums

Regardless, he doesn't believe that country *music is losing its identity through country hits by artists like Kenny Rogers who also are successful in the pop field

Ice Hockey Violence Under Investigation

By the Editors of Psychology Today

When the level of violence in ice hockey goes up is it because pathologicallyviolent players are provoking fights? Because the deprived economic backgrounds from which many players come somehow increase their tolerance for Those theories are periodically dusted off by fans and social scientists alike and area of dubious value, according to a study by Jean Poupart, a hockey tan who is a criminologist at Montreal University. Poupart has provided fresh proof that players are encouraged to be violent by the economic and recruiting policies of the organizations that finance the teams.

Poupart looked at players while they were still young amateurs in the association, which is the main recruiting ground for the National Hockey League, the Ligue Junior Majeure du Quebec. The Ligue meets its expenses and hires professional coaches through admission fees, and during Poupart's investigation in the mid-'70s, violence in the Ligue had escalated dramatically.

In lengthy interviews, Poupart asked 30 players and eight trainers to tell him about their lives in hockey - and without prompting almost everyone brought up a distaste for violence. The players had all been playing since childhood and all said they wree less violent on the ice before playing for the league.

What indirectly caused fracases, Poupart concluded, was the Ligue's belief that violence is the best draw for paying crowds. As the leagues became more commercialized, trainers and players felt pressured to make violence a drawing

In addition, Poupart found trainers and players well aware of a system by which the NHL pays Ligue teams a fee if a player makes it to the majors. Again, the players and trainers believed that tough quarrelsome players were more desirable to scouts, so trainers made sure that new players know how to

Poupart's study was under way while a government commission on hockey violence was also holding hearings, and since its critical report, Poupart's impression is that hockey organizations have passed the word to hold down mayhem in the amateur league

Still, he says, "the point is that the overall level of hockey violence does not come from individual players but from the social circumstances in which the game is played. Now that the adverse publicity has died down, if one team starts to count on violence again, it could start the cycle all over.

The stereotype that childless women are neurotic is as old as Freud and Ibsen's character Hedda Gabler. But, these days, at least whey they are of childbearing age, middle-class women who plan not to have children seem to be as well-adjusted as women who plan to be mothers.

Psychologist Judith Teicholz at the Harvard Medical School studied over 75 married women in their 20s and 30s. Half were already planning a first child; the others firmly intended to remain childless. In addition to interviews, Teicholz used varius standardized tests to measure the women's emotional adjustment and femininity.

The women planning not to have children turned out to be just as well-adjusted and just as feminine as the women planning babies. Both groups described their marriages as happy and both seemed successful in their careers.

Eighty percent of the women in both groups had college degrees and even more had attained positions of responsibility in professional fields or in management. The women planning to be childless, Teicholz speculates, may simply find their lives rich enough without offspring.

An obsession with alcohol had caused him to lose family, friends, money and position.

"I went from a banker to a skid-row bum," he reveals. "The idea of a drink was the most important thing in my life

Now he is a highly respected member of the community. Many consider him a legend in his time.

Innumberable lives throughout the world have been touched by his efforts as organizer of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Snyder says he hasn't touched alcohol since he turned his life and will over to God. Alcohol has remained foremost on drink. his mind, however, as he has spent his life helping others as he himself was helped.

As his modest Florida home, Snyder recalls how he helped form the organization that has ministered to millions of alcoholics

Snyder says that at 35, after 10 years of drinking, he had been "completely divested of everything worthwhile in life.' He was introduced to the Oxford movement after he had "dried out" at the city hospital in Akron, Ohio.

It was there that he met "Dr. Bob." his sponsor.

"He told me I would have to spend the rest of my life "fixing drunks as an avocation," recalls Snyder. "He told me to go back to Cleveland and get busy. which I did.

Zealously he invaded the haunts of alcoholics. He remembers telling them that "they should be like me and forget

'You can imagine the response I got from those people," he laughs. However, he managed to interest 14 men in his project. That's when he encountered his first real problem: Seven of the men were Catholic while the Oxford group had a strong Protestant orientation. The Catholics told Snyder they could not attend the Determined, Snyder suggested to his sponsor that they needed something with more universality - only to be told that nothing could be done.

That's when he decided to organize his own group. He called it Alcoholics nonymous. It was for alcoholics only.

The group met for the first time in May 1939 at the suburban Cleveland home of a lawyer recovering from alcoholism. Snyder recalls thinking at the time. "If we only had 35 members, wouldn't this be a fine group?' Now AA has more than 20,000 groups. Snyder estimates that "a couple of million people have been exposed to this

Snyder's calendar is booked months in advance as he contines to travel throughout the world carrying his message - without remuneration - to suffering alcoholics.

"Our percentage of recovery is fantastic," says Snyder. "We kept accurate records.

Out of the first 260 people who joined AA in Cleveland, for example, 93 percent were still sober when surveyed 2 1/2 vears later. Snyder has no idea of the success rate

a member chooses to reveal his or her full identity. Life has been good to Snyder after all. Healthy and vibrant, the recent retiree enjoys a good life with Grace, his wife of nine years. People are always coming and going at the Snyder home. The telephone rings constantly. Snyder says they have friends everywhere" - and they love it. But Snyder doesn't forget once standing on the New York waterfront and thinking that "there wasn't one person in the world who cared whether I was dead While those days are far behind him, Snyder is driven to continue to help those still in the bondage of alcohol. And he has no plans of slowing down.

Afghan President Avoids Questions During Tense Meeting With Reporters

KABUL, Afghanistan (UPI) — Afghn President Babrak Karmal stonewalled the Western press in his first open news conference Thursday, accusing them of being imperialists and repeatedly dodging their questions.

Karmal, who chain-smoked his way through the stormy 90-minute news conference, denied that 85,000 Soviet troops were in his country, insisted he had been elected to office democraticlly and blamed his nation's troubles on a conspiracy by the United States, China and three Moslem ntions - Egypt, Saudi Arbia and Pakistan.

The Soviet Union's Tass was the only news agency allowed to file the story di-rectly from Kabul. As a result, this dispatch could not be transmitted until Fri-

Canada Plans Economic Measures Against Russia

Ottawa (upi) - Prime Minister Joe Clark Friday announced a strong series of economic measures by Canada against the Soviet Union, matching the United States' retalitory moves over the invasion of Afghanistan. Canada has cut off the Soviet Union's credit, halted high technology exports, and reaffirmed it will not sell the Soviet Union extra grain, Clark said. Clark said cultural exchanges with the Soviet Union had been halted, talks aimed at increasing Soviet flights into Canada had been canceled: He said Canada "will take a lead" in trying to move the Summer Olympics from Moscow to an alternate site. He also announced that Canada would provide aid for Afghan refugees forced to flee from their homeland to Pakistan. Following a lengthy cabinet meeting. Clark said further sanctions might be announced later.

Canada's move - the strongest to date against the Soviet Union by a major Western ally - matched President Carter's sanctions against Moscow virtually Clark said Canada would continue to sell grain to the Soviet Union at the rate of about 300,000 metric tons annually, but that level would not be increased. "With respect to the Olympic Games,

I have noted the suggestion made by Mr. (Walter) Mondale that perhaps there might be some possibility of establishing the Olympic Games, or moving them to

"This is something that we would be ready to consider if there is a request which is made by the International Olympic Committee," he said. Clark's announcement came as eastern Canadian merchant seamen announced a boycott of Soviet ships, supporting a move taken by American longshoremen on the East and Gulf coasts.

"Concerning the question of relations with the Soviet Union with regard to the situation in Afghanistan, Canada believes that effective action is going to be concerted action involving all of the nations interested in the withdrawal of the Soviet presence in Afghanistan," Clark told a news conference.

"Canada supports the decision that was announced by President Carter last Friday to restrict grain sales to the Soviet Union. There must be concerted action by the major grain exporting countries and we will be seeking the support of those countries."

"Canada will refrain from grain sales above the normal and traditional export levels," Clark said

He said Canada would not try to take advantage of the United States' position by offering an alternate source of exports to the Soviet Union, and that Canadian officials would meet Saturday in Washington with other grain-producing countries to study the impact of the U.S. Canadian move.

Canadian grain producers will be compensated by the federal government for any loss they might incur because of the sanctions, Clark said.

The problems resolution departments have been set up in 58 offices across the country, and last year they handled more than 72,000 problems.

While these district-level offices will continue to handle individual taxpayer problems, the job of the new ombudsman will be to serve as the taxpayer's admired in anticipating problems.

ing licenses for specific shipments of high technology and strategic goods to the Soviet Union - a move Carter ordered earlier this week.

The suspended products cannot be shipped until the Commerce Department completes a review of them.

The department denied outright eight applications for export licenses estimated to involve more than $1 billion in products over several years.

Klutznick said the law prevented him from publicly naming the companies involved, but products included yarns used for high-strength military structures, digital compiting systems and equipment re-lated to seismic data processing, research in microwave semiconductors and telecommunications.

Klutznick said some of these would have been denied even if Carter was not embarked on a retalitory campaign against the Soviets. He noted there are differing viws on how much these actions will hurt the Soviet Union — some say significantly, some say hardly t all."

Kennedy Not Bothered By Results Of Poll

IOWA CITY, IOWA (AP) - Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, confronted by a new opinion survey showing his popularity continuing to decline in lowa, expressed confidence Friday that he would do well in the state's Jan. 21 precinct caucus-

President Carter has to do considerly better than 50 percent in the caucus vote. The Massachusetts Democrat told reporters when asked about the latest poll results published Friday in the Des Moines Register. That survey of Iowa Democrats showed 57 percent supporting Carter for the party's 1980 presidential nomination and 25 percent backing Kennedy, Another percent indicated they support California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California, and 14 percent were undecided. A survey a month earlier showed Kennedy and Carter tied at 40 percent each with Brown supported by 9 percent. The latest survey was taken Jan. 7-9, before the grain markets had reacted negatively to Carter's decision to embargo grain shipments to the Soviet Union in retaliation for its intervention in Afghanistan.

Prices of corn, soybeans and wheat have declined on the commodity markets, and the embargo is a major issue in the presidential campaign in this farm

Kennedy, who led Carter 2-1 in most opinion polls when he declared his candidacy on Nov. 7, noted that "this is a time of considerable volatility in the I'm satisfied that we'll have strength here," he said. Kennedy said Carter's decision to pull out of the debate scheduled for last Monday in Des Moines has harmed his own ability to get a discussion of issues.

"I can't believe the American people are going to permit 1980 to go by without a debate on the issues," the senator said. Later, Kennedy told reporters it would be difficult "to overcome the lead of Kennedy began the day with a trip to the farm home of Gerry and Sharon McIntosh in Mills City.

The grandfather clock in the dining room read 8:10 a.m., CST, when Kennedy sat down with Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh and some of their neighbors for colfee, doughnuts and a discussion of the problems of the farmers.

Talking about the embargo, McIntosh said the government "wanted us to plant and raise all that we could raise. Now we've done it and we can't get rid.

In Iowa City, Kennedy toured the University of Iowa hospital complex and spoke in support of his health insurance program.

After the speech, during a question and answer period, Kennedy was asked about proposals to boycott or move the 1980 Olympic Games from Moscow.

Ite said the best response is for American athletes to go to the Olympics and win the gold medals.

Anti-Crime Program Netting Results In Southwestern Section Of County

By MARY ALICE ROBBINS

Avalanche-Journal Staff Residents of a southwestern section of Lubbock County believe their neighborhood anti-crime program has made burglars think twice about striking in that part of the county Neighbors in that rural area decided about four months ago to organize themselves into a vigilante-style group to put an end to a rash of house burglaries. Before the group organized, the rural community located just southwest of Lubbock had been hit by 11 house burglaries in a two-week period, according to T.W. Kirkpatrick, a resident of the area.

Emmett Rogers, one of the group's organizers, said publicity about the recently formed protection program apparently has served as a warning to wouldbe thieves to steer clear of the area. Since our first meeting, we have not had a single house burglary in our part of the county." Rogers told The Avalanche-

Rogers, whose own home has been hit twice by burglars, said he was prompted to organize the neighborhood protection program after learning that a friend's home "just across the cotton field" also had been burglarized. If he and other nearby neighbors had been more observant. Rogers said, that break-in possibly could have been stopped.

Keeping a watchful eye on a neighbor's property is one of the chief tenets of the protection program, Rogers noted. He encourages residents to be observant of what's going on at their neighbors' houses and the surrounding area. If they see a strange car in the area, they should jot down the license plate and the time of day the vehicle was spotted, Rog-

The second most important part of the program, according to Rogers, is marking one's personal property so that it can be identified. The Lubbock County Crime Prevention Council started a property identification project last spring, and Rogers has encouraged residents in his area to participate in it.

Rogers also has encouraged his neighbors to make their homes less accessible for burglars. He said that for $20, an average house can be made nearly burglary

At the community protection group's three meetings, residents have been shown how to seal windows, nail down sliding glass doors and install locks designed to make break-ins more difficult. Rogers said.

Crime prevention needs to be pushed in the county," Rogers observed. And he wants to see other area communities try the protection program ap-

Approximately 100 persons, including Criminal District Attorney John Montford, attended the organizational meeting for the community protection program in southwestern Lubbock County. Since that first meeting, Rogers has met with residents from the Woodrow area and has scheduled additional meetings with Shallowater and Idalou residents.

Rogers said he is willing to meet with residents from other communities in the county. Interested persons or groups can phone him at 794-5050."All I do is talk about what people can do themselves to discourage burglars," Rogers said. "We feel pretty good about our program.

White Says City May Not Withhold Rental Information

A-J Austin Bureau

AUSTIN-Attorney General Mark White has issued an opinion that the City of Lubbock may not withhold information on monthly rental paid by car rental agencies at the city airport.

White ruled that provisions of the Open Records Act require government bodies to disclose "information in any account, voucher, or contract dealing with the receipt or expenditure of public or other funds by governmental bodies, not otherwise made confidential by law.

The opinion was requested by Lubbock City Attorney John C. Ross Jr. Ross sought the opinion after a car rental agency, which does not rent space at the airport, requested the information.

The city had argued that the rental figures were excepted under provisions of the Open Records Act and that disclosure of the information would reveal the actual income of each of the car rental companies operating out of the airport and would provide a market share analysis for competitors of those companies.

White ruled that the city's arguments did not constitute specific harms that might occur from disclosure and, therefore, the information could not be with-

Radio, TV Stations

Not Exempt From Taxes

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - Okla homa radio and television stations are not exempt from city and state sales taxes on local advertising sales. Attorney General Jan Eric Cartwright ruled.

The opinion issued Thursday applies to local advertising sales only, but may mean the broadcast stations are liable for millions of dollars in sales taxes.

But state Sen. Finis Smith said he expects the Legislature to consider a state law exempting broadcasters from paying the 2 percent city and 2 percent state sales taxes. Newspapers and other media are exempt by law.

Tech Seeks Improved Record At TCU

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

FORT WORTH - No one ever said it would be easy, but good golly, did it really have to be like this?

Under new head coach Jim Killingsworth, the TCU Horned Frogs went 5-3 in pre-season play but then the schedule called for them to open Southwest Conference action with games against Texas A&M. Arkansas, Texas Tech and Texas - easily the four best teams in the league.

And just for grins, sandwich a nationally televised tilt with Notre Dame in between the Tech and Texas games. That is a killer lineup.

Boy, isn't that a great welcome to the Southwest Con-better talent this year." Myers said of the Frogs. "but the big difference is that they're better organized, they play sounder basketball, have better morale and a

Isn't that kind of like saying that they're just better coached than in the past?

Well." Myers admitted, "in a beating around the bush kinda' way - that's what it amounts to.

As proof of that better coaching, the Horned Frogs are the No. 2 team in the conference in field goal percentage — hitting 49 percent of their shots. But the No. 1 team is Texas

- hitting 54.6. That figure ranks fifth nationally. The Frogs also boast one of the league's top scorers in 6-terence," says Killingsworth - who goes by "Killer." "And that Notre Dame game, well, I inherited that. Let's just say it wasn't my idea.

"But right now the big game is with Tech," he added. hat's the one we'd like to win.

Tech and TCU will square off at 2 p.m. today in Daniel-leyes Coliseum. The Raiders will take a 2-1 loop record (8-5 overall) into the tilt, the Frogs are 0-3 (5-6) after losses to A &M. Rice and Arkansas. Sunday, TCU will meet the Fighting Irish in San Antonio in their "violence on television" special.

"We're playing fairly well right now," Killingsworth ac-knowledged. "But it's a tough situation, the players are all new to each other and so are the coaches. We're trying to blend together and be a good team but it's just not that easy.

"We're so new to each other," added Killingsworth with tongue firmly implanted in cheek, "that we don't recognize each other in airports.

But Tech coach Gerald Myers has plenty of confidence in Killer's" ability to turn things around. After all, Killingsworth has 29 years of head-coaching experience behind foot-5 Deckery Johnson, who is averaging 16.3 points and 6.3 rebounds an outing. Johnson, a junior college transfer, is joined by another transfer, 6-5 Eric Summers, who averages 12.9 points a game.

The Frogs other new addition is 6-1 freshman Darrell Browder. Browder is hitting 9.3 points per game as TCU's point guard.

Those three players have given them a new dimension ... Myers stated. "I've been impressed reading the accounts of their games because they've been in the games all the way. Nobody has really blown them out.

"Deckery (Johnson) has played well," Killingsworth admitted. "And Darrell (Browder) is a good athlete — but he's still a freshman. He reminds me of Jeff Taylor last year.

"But." added the TCU coach, "look how well Taylor is playing this year. We expect the same kind of improvement

The other two Frog starters are 6-9 junior Larry Frevert at the low post and 6-3 Ed Wineinger on the wing. Jon Mansbury. Jeff Baker and Warren Bridges will be the first men See FROGS, Page 2

One of those home losses was suffered by the Texas Longhorns only the second one ever for Texas in the Special Events Center - and Coach Abe Lemons' bunch will have its hands full again at home Saturday.
The Arkansas Razorbacks come to call for a regionally televised game that tips off at 1:10 p.m., and when these two teams gather, something dramatic has a chance to happen.

It was at the Special Events Center - better known as the Super Drum - that Lemons and Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton had their brief shoving incident at the halftime of last year's game.

Arkansas brings a 2-0 SWC Record into the game while Texas is 2-1. The Longhorns two wins have been on the road - at SMU and Houston - while their only loss has been at home against Texas

But even thought the setback against the Red Raiders was only the second loss in their home arena for the Longhorns, Lemons feels that statistic is not worth How you do at home depends on how good a basketball team you are," Lemons said last week. "How long do you think people are going to keep track? After a while it won't make any difference."

Arnwine pointed to Levelland's style of play - which could only be described as futility in motion - as the reason the Ponies played so hot and cold. "It doesn't look good but that's the kind of ball they play," noted Arnwine.

"They forced us to play their kind (of basketball) at times." For about the umpteenth time, Arn-

Since, much to Matador coach J.J. Wood's relief, it won't be playing at a theater near you, here's the shooker -Estacado blew a seven-point fourth quarter lead to fall to Lamesa 72-71.

Only game before last, the Matadors had followed a similar script in taking a 77-76 overtime win over the Golden Tornadoes in Lamesa.

Before the game, Wood said the Tors' strong point was their deliberate, steady style of play. And, according to the early reviews, that was what did in the Mata-

Deliberate Lamesa had struggled back from deficits of as much as 13 points to tie the score at 65 with 3:55 remaining. Streaky Estacado did well for a while, swapping buckets in a war of nerves until the score was again knotted at 71 with 1:30 to show.

But then the spurty Matadors threw the ball away twice in the last minute and gave up a couple of costly fouls to enable the Tors' steady Joey Froman to sink a free throw for the 72-71 win.

And that, in a nutshell, is a synopsis of the game. Estacado was whistled for 20 only two minutes under the one-and-one during the whole game) and Lamesa capitalized, hitting 20 of 23 free throws to the Matadors' three of six.

The Mats looked like they were going to notch another victory until late in the game. Their scurrying press forced Lamesa into 27 turnovers, 16 in the first

Estacado jumped out to a 12-0 lead with 4:15 left in the first quarter after converting four Lamesa turnovers into points. But the Tors didn't crumble. creeping back to within five (22-17) with less than a minute gone in the second pe-

The streaky Mats ballooned the lead back to 10 on a three-point play by Preston Davis, saw it cut to six and then four before finally taking flight again.

And that was the way it went throughout the game. Estacado opened leads as big as 13 points (43-30 with 1:33 left in the second) only to see it cut to three with 5:27 left in the third.

Lamesa's tying run came with Estacado leading 65-60 and 4:25 remaining in the game. Pepe Lucio put together a field goal and a three-point play within 30 seconds to knot the game at 65.

The teams swapped buckets until there were only 90 seconds showing and the score was tied at 71.

Lamesa brought the ball down and went into a pattern offense. Estacado guard Ken Cade fouled Froman out front, sending the hot-shooting point man to the line for a one and one.

Froman, who had missed little if anything all night, blew the shot and Estacado came down with the rebound and a points to lead the Lakers to an easy 123-100 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

The crowd of 28,146 in Detroit was on hand to worship former Michigan State University star Earvin Johnson, who was making his first and only appearance in Michigan this season.

The fans, many of whom traveled to the Silverdome in chartered buses from East Lansing, helped eclipse the Pistons' old record of 14,404 who saw them play Philadelphia Oct. 20, 1978.

The Lakers blew out to a 36-23 lead at the end of the first quarter, led 56-47 at the half and coasted to the triumph.

Spencer Haywood, the former University of Detroit star who drew nearly as much applause as Johnson, scored 25 points while Kareem Abdul-Jabbar add-

Former Chicago Bull Mickey Johnson scored 28 points and rookie Dudley Bradley made two key steals and hit two fourth-quarter layups as the Indiana Pacers beat the Bulls 110-105.

Kings 112, Nuggets 99

Reserve Bill Robinzine plunked in 18 points in 29 minutes, helping to fuel surges in the second and fourth quarters which carried the Kansas City Kings to a 112-99 victory over the Denver Nuggets.

The victory by Kansas City was its 15th in 19 games and second in a row. Denver has lost four in a row, including 14 straight on the road. It left the Nuggets 0-4 against the Kings this year.

Kansas City grabbed a 30-16 command at the 12-minute mark on the by a groin pull and obviously favored his strength of a 10-3 spree which erased a two-point Denver advantage.

Stingley Blasts Tatum

CHICAGO (AP) - Darryl Stingley said Friday that Jack Tatum is "con-trolled by evil forces" and that his new book is "like a slap in everybody's face."

On Aug. 12, 1978 in a pre-season National Football League game between Oakland and New England, safety Tatum's tackle of Stingley left the Patriots' wide receiver paralyzed from the neck

Tatum describes that briefly in his autobiography, "They Call Me Assassin." He also relates other incidents in which players he has hit were injured.

He said in the book that "I never make a tackle just to bring someone down. I want to punish the man I'm going after and I want him to know that it's going to hurt every time he comes my Jack Sands, Stingley's attorney in Boston, said in an interview Friday that he wants Tatum banned for life from football. He said he sent a letter Thursday night to NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle asking him to suspend Tatum indefinitely.

"I'm writing not only as Darryl's attorney but also in behalf of all Americans who are outraged" by statements in the book. Sands said.

"His admission of his conduct strikes at the foundation of the integrity of the game," he wrote to Rozelle. "Furthermore, by allowing him to continue his style of play, you will seriously erode all public confidence in the game of profeshasn't read the book but that he is "very very sad and disheartened about this whole thing."

Tatum was quoted as saying the book "pretty honest and basically true. Rozelle and his people know what goes on, so what can they say? This is the way the game is played."

Stingley said he was reluctant to discuss the book because it would promote

"I don't have anything to say for or against it (the book). I just really feel sorfor him. His attitude on life will really do him in and when the final judgment is passed by the Creator above. I'm sure he Tatum) won't be as arrogant or cocky about what he says.

"It appears to me he doesn't have any respect toward life itself. Football is a game. Life is a game. He's not playing fair at either one," Stingley added.

Rozelle was quoted as saying Tatum "has really put himself in a vulnerable position.

Tatum's book describes the play on which Stingley was injured.

"I could have attempted to intercept," the book said, "but because of what the owners expect of me when they give me my paycheck, I automatically reacted to the situation by going for an in-Sands disagreed with that philosophy and said, "Any defensive player will tell you that the number one criterion of all defensive players is to create a turnover. He is admitting that instead of going for a turnover he was going to hit a player.'

Solomon's victory over Vilas had assured Gerulaitis a spot in the semis because the No. 5 seed from Queens, N.Y., had a better percentage of sets won out of those he played than did Vilas or Solo-

But Gerulaitis fought tenaciously. After McEnroe had little trouble winning the first set, the second set see-sawed.

Gerulaitis broke first in the fourth game, then McEnroe took Gerulaitis' erve in the next game.

Both served well throughout the second set, holding into the tie-breaker. Gerulaitis took a 4-1 lead, but McEnroe stormed back to earn a match point at 6-5 in the tie-breaker. The 1979 Italian Open titlist saved that with a service winner. With the crowd solidly behind him, Gerulaitis won the tie-breaker when he hit a forehand pass, then McEnroe's forehand service return went long.

Each held serve through eight games of the third set before Gerulaitis broke, thanks to a backhand that hit the net cord and fell over. But McEnroe immediately got the break back and they both held to force another tie-breaker.

"Winning today is a good boost, a good way to start off the year," said Gerulaitis. "But I've still got to win tomorrow. I'm sure John won't worry about this loss if he wins tomorrow. This win does't mean anything if I don't win the Gerulaitis will be an underdog against Connors, who holds a 16-1 advantage over Gerulaitis in past matches. Borg holds a 14-0 domination over Gerulaitis.

Players Up Status At Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) - Sixty-six collegiate seniors make their final bid to impress National Football League scouts today when the North All-Stars meet the South in the 31st Senior Bowl game.

A sellout crowd of more than 40,000 is expected in Ladd Memorial Stadium for the game that will be televised nationally (by CBS).

The South, coached by Ray Perkins of the New York Giants, carries a 15-12-3 series edge into the game that will mark the professional debut of the 66 players. Members of the winning team receive $1,500 and the losers get $1,250.

The North, featuring All-American quarterback Marc Wilson of Brigham Young University in a backup role, is coached by Bud Grant of the Minnesota threw for more than 4,000 career yards and 39 TDs despite dividing playing time with Wally Woodham. The South's backup quarterback is Gene Bradley of Arkansas State, a professional pitcher in the Boston Red Sox' chain.

The South appears to have an edge at running back with Auburn's Joe Cribbs, Alabama's Steve Whitman, Rice's Earl Cooper and Texas Tech's James Hadnot. who also will see action at tight end. Cribbs and Hadnot each gained over 1,-000 yards last season

The North edge at the position dwindled when 1978 Heisman Trophy winner Billy Sims of Oklahoma withdrew from the game. He was replaced by Utah State's Rick Parros, who will be a backup to Jewerl Thomas of San Jose State and Gerry Ellis of Missouri.

Sellout Crowd Expected At Fifth Japan Bowl

TOKYO (AP) - Despite the relative. limited appeal of American college football in Japan, where baseball is the undisputed king of sports, the fifth Japan Bowl football game is expected to attract a sellout crowd of 55,000.

Sixty-six players from 39 American schools, including defensive back Larry Flowers of Texas Tech, will participate in the game - an East vs. West contest sponsored by a Japanese sports newspaper - to be played in Yokohama Stadium Sunday at 1:30 p.m. (10:30 p.m. CST Saturday)

It will be the second look at the American college game for Japanese fans in two months. Last month. 60,000 sat in a driving rain and watched Notre Dame beat Miami, Fla. 40-15.

Ohio State coach Earle Bruce. who along with Pittsburgh's Jackie Sherrill, will coach the East squad, predicts a wide-open offensive passing game in a rematch of Sugar Bowl quarterbacks Steadman Shealy of Alabama and Kevin Scanlon of Arkansas. Alabama beat Arkansas 34-9 in the Sugar Bowl Jan 1.

With the pro draft coming up in May, there will be scouts in the stands and the boys will be playing their best, said Bruce, whose Buckeyes suffered their only regular-season loss, 17-16, to Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

Bo Rein, the new football coach at Louisiana State University who was presumed killed Friday in a crash of a private plane off the Atlantic coast, was the sports world's latest victim of air trage-

Last August, Thurman Munson, allstar catcher for the New York Yankees, was killed when the plane he was piloting crashed during practice runs near the Akron-Canton Airport. Munson was like many athletes today. As their interests off the field grow, athletes are finding they need private planes so they can better budget their time and keep their business appointments.

The same need to budget their time has forced many coaches to turn to private planes, rather than commercial airlines, as recruiting has become more time consuming and important. Rein was on such a recruiting mission Thursday.

Other sports air tragedies include Roberto Clemente, Hall of Fame outfielder for the Pittsburgh Pirates, and four companions who were killed Dec. 31, 1972 when a plane loaded with relief supplies for victims of an earthquake in Nicaragua crashed after takeoff from San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Second baseman Ken Hubbs of the Chicago Cubs died in a private plane crash near Provo, Utah, on Feb. 13, 1964. He had been named National League Rookie of the Year in 1962. On Sept. 20, 1954, catcher Tommy Gastall of the Baltimore Orioles died in a private plane crash over Chesapeake Bay. He was 24 and in only his second year in the major Golf pro Tony Lema, known as "Champagne Tony", was killed July 24, 1966 when his plane went down in Lansing, Mich.

Middleweight boxing champion Marcel Cerdan and auto racing driver Graham Hill were other airline crash victims. Eight officials of the U.S. Auto Club were killed near Indianapolis in a 1978 crash.

Wendell Ladner, a basketball player for the New York Nets, was on a commercial airline that crashed at New York's Kennedy Airport in 1975. Bill Gibbs, an assistant basketball coach for the University of Tennessee, lost his life in a 1964 plane accident.

Peers, Players Stunned By Tragic Death

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) - His describing how he felt when he learned peers and prospective players admired the style of Bo Rein, even though he had yet to coach a football game at Louisiana State University.

"In a conversation only two days ago, he said something which endeared him to me," said LSU Chancellor Paul Mur-

"He said, 'Contrary to what seems to be the prevailing notion, I don't believe that it is necessary to compromise your personal integrity or your institutional integrity in order to be successful in modern intercollegiate athletics."

"I am utterly stunned by this bizarre tragedy, which has taken the life of Bo Rein," said Murrill. "All of us at LSU are in a state of shock. In the short time he has been with us, I have been most impressed withh this young man."

Rein was presumed dead Friday after the plane in which he was a passenger crashed into the Atlantic Ocean off Cape Charles, Va. The aircraft was pushed more than a 1,000 miles off course by severe weather on Rein's return from a recruiting trip to Shreveport, La.

"A strange feeling came over me," said Shreveport teen-ager Alvin Burns in sports world."

of the crash. "I really would have loved to have seen the man coach, to see his performance proved."

Thursday, the LSU coach had met for the fourth time with Burns, a star center at $hreveport's Fair Park High School, and for the first time with Burns' par

"He was a good man," said young Burns. "He came straight out and didn't beat around the bushes with you. There was no hiding in the bushes. He would tell you what you needed to know.'

Athletic Director Paul Dietzel, whose recommendation got Rein the job at LSU, said, "The shock of this tragedy is almost beyond comprehension. There is, no way to measure the extent of his death. The loss is irreplaceable. The football staff has lost not only their head coach, but a dear personal friend. LSU has sustained a loss which will be sorely

"It came as a tremendous shock," said Charles McClendon, whom Rein replaced as coach.

Louisiana State Pressed To Fill Coaching Vacancy

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) - Six weeks after a year-long search brought Robert "Bo" Rein to head the Louisiana State University football program, the Southeastern Conference school must begin a new search.

And the somber task couldn't come at a more inopportune time - six weeks before the national date begins for signing

To whom the university would turn to fill the sudden vacancy was uncertain

Athletic Director Paul Dietzel, who hand-picked Rein to replace fired Charlie McClendon, briefed the LSU Board of Supervisors on the situation Friday, discussing possible options.

Afterwards, Dietzel said the ninemember executive committee would meet today to get an update on the situation. He said he would make a recommendation at that time.

"It's a very difficult circumstance, of course, but we'll have some kind of recommendation," he said.

Rein was hired Nov. 30 to replace McClendon, the winningest coach in LSU history, and had put together a staff and signed 19 preps to letters of intent.

Several paths were open to filling the head coaching spot. Immediately, speculation turned to McClendon, the Tigers' head coach for 18 years. His 1979 team finished 7-5, including a victory in the Tangerine Bowl. In New Orleans, McClendon said it was a valid question - but not the time to ask it.

There also was talk that Dietzel who took LSU to the national championship in 1958 - would move in as interim coach, but that appeared unlikely.

If the tragedy forces Dietzel to change his criteria, the door could be opened to former LSU assistant Lynn Amedee, quarterback coach at the University of Tennessee, and Jerry Stovall, a former assistant under McClendon and now administrative assistant to Dietzel.

Coach Missing, Believed Dead

Capt. Jim Schmeltzer, one of the pilots, said he received no response to the standard radio or visual intercept signals. That's when Zoerb took over tracking the plane "I tried to contact them by radio ... I used the standard escort signal but got no reponse," Zoerb said. "They couldn't miss my big, noisy jet plane with fire shooting out its tail."

He said the Cessna probably was on autopilot because it was traveling in a dead straight line north.

He flew within 500 feet of the plane during three passes and could see the Cessna's instrument panel lit up but said he could not spot any passengers inside the cockpit because moonlight was re-flected off the smaller plane's window.

'It's the first time I've ever escorted plane to a crash," Zoerb said.

Worry Kills Mart Rally

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market struggled to sustain a rally Friday, but faltered amid worries over U.S. inflation and internation-

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up by 8.87 points Thursday and ahead by nearly 9 at Friday's opening, lost ground throughout the day and despite a flurry of buying near the close ended off by .43 at at 858.53.

Bache Halsey Stuart Shields analyst Larry Wachtel said that as the weekend approached, 'after five consecutive days with more than 1,000 advances a day, there was bound to be some profit-

"It would not be surprising to see the market stall here," with the Dow ahead by 29.69 points for the week, and then retreat a bit, said Charles Jensen of MKI Securi-
