Afghan Government Stymied By Strikes, Continued Violence

Street Fighting Kills Hundreds

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — The Soviet-backed government appeared Monday to have virtually broken down in the face of strikes and violence protesting the Russian presence in Afghanistan. Medical sources said more than 300 civilians died in street fighting.

Striking civil servants and office workers ignored repeated official broadcasts ordering them to return to work and Afghan government ministries were paralyzed for a third day. A general strike of shopkeepers continued into its fifth day.

Heavily armed Soviet and Afghan troops, backed by submachine gun-toting civilian members of the ruling Khalq (People's) Party, maintained patrols throughout the city.

Soviets Running Government
 There were indications the Soviet military commander in Kabul was, in effect, acting as head of the government.

—In Washington, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said later Monday that most Afghan civil servants had returned to their jobs but that the shopkeepers' strike was continuing. He said fighting was still going on in parts of Kabul.

(Reports from elsewhere indicated fighting that raged in Kabul on Friday had slowed considerably. One report reaching New Delhi said gunfire rattled through the streets of Kabul through Sunday night, but a Frenchman in Kabul told a Paris radio station during a telephone interview that the center of the city was calm.)

(Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said "life in Kabul is now gradually coming back to normal," and claimed an "armed sortie of agents trained by the special services of Western countries led by the CIA" were responsible for heavy street fighting that erupted last Thursday.)

(A Kabul Radio report monitored in Islamabad, Pakistan, said "the citizens of Kabul have returned to their work and all shops in the city remained open." But diplomatic sources there disputed the report and said the strikes were continuing.)

An Associated Press reporter and another Western correspondent in Kabul observed the effectiveness of the general strike, destruction from the street fighting and heavily armed patrols after scaling the wall outside their guarded hotel Sunday. They were back in the hotel before the 8 p.m. curfew.

Only a few stores were open, and those were the ones selling perishable foodstuffs.

Tanks Guard Airport
 Soviet soldiers in heavy T-55 and T-62 tanks stood guard at the airport, at key bridges over the Kabul River, at the Russian civilian "ghetto" of Microrayon and at the approaches to the Soviet Embassy and government and Khalq Party offices.

Afghan tanks and armored cars patrolled the streets and guarded large intersections, and several Afghan armored cars cruised with heavy machineguns trained at the heads of pedestrians.

Civilian members of the Khalq Party, carrying Kalashnikov submachineguns, helped control crowds, set up road blocks, searched private homes for arms and made arrests. Reliable informants said the Afghan government appeared to have little control over the Khalq militia — or anything else.

The martial law proclamation issued Friday placed the still-undefined Soviet military commander in charge, and Soviet and Afghan troops apparently were put under a joint command in the face of the continuing rebellion.

That gave the Soviets the last word on See STRIKES Page 16

New Hampshire Voters' Day Of Reckoning Here

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — After months of being wooed, badgered, lectured and surveyed, the people of New Hampshire take part, Tuesday, in their final poll — the primary election that could reshape the field of presidential contenders.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, though running nearly 2-1 behind President Carter in some polls, predicted "we're going to make a strong showing" in the Democratic primary. Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California was rated a distant third.

On the Republican side, bitterness turned to acrimony in the final hours of the campaign because of the exclusion of four candidates from a debate, Saturday night, between Ronald Reagan and George Bush, considered the GOP front-runners.

Accusation Hurled
 Former Gov. Hugh Gregg, state campaign chairman for Bush, accused Reagan of "a calculated strategy" to use the four other candidates to try to embarrass Bush.

"There are many people in our operation who are quite incensed to think we've been sandbagged by Mr. Reagan," Gregg told reporters.

"That's ridiculous," countered Reagan. "If anyone was sandbagged, the four gentlemen who were excluded from the debate were, and I probably was, to a certain extent," Reagan said. "Mr. Gregg knows that is a lie."

Since they left the debating stage to Bush and Reagan, the four candidates blamed Bush for their exclusion. The Nashua Telegraph, sponsor of the debate, assumed sole responsibility for insisting on a Bush-Reagan format and said Bush was totally blameless.

Letters From Bush
 Bush sent letters, Monday, to the four excluded candidates, giving his version of what happened, Saturday night. Bush said he had no idea when he entered Nashua High School for the debate that the other candidates had been invited by Reagan and were in the building.

"There are many people who perceive the behavior of Governor Reagan as perhaps not being presidential at the debate," Gregg said Monday, as he released a chronology of the events. He said the incident probably won't affect the election.

Reagan said he hoped the incident would help his chances, Tuesday.

Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois, one of the non-debating four, cast blame in both directions. "George Bush showed bad form by not meeting with us," he said in Nashua. "In addition to that, I think the Reagan people boggled the whole thing by telling all of us that we were on a format that hadn't been resolved."

Baker Predicts
 Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee predicted in Manchester that "George Bush will suffer" from the incident. "You're choosing not a front-runner but a president. New Hampshire will have more to say than almost anybody about the nature and type of your next president," Baker said.

But, he told a reception, "... it's time to quiet the harsh words and proceed with the election."

A poll, conducted by the Boston Globe before the debate, said 35 percent of Republican voters were for Bush, 34 percent for Reagan, 12 percent for Baker and eight percent for Rep. John Anderson of Illinois, with Crane, John B. Connally, and Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas trailing.

Considering the margin of error in such polls, the Bush and Reagan results were regarded as an even split.

Carter Leads Poll
 The poll said Carter was preferred over Kennedy, 55 percent to 30 percent. Brown got only eight percent. Lyndon LaRouche and Richard Kay are the others on the Democratic ballot.

As supporters carrying placards fanned out across New Hampshire for the last time, most of the candidates did some last-minute campaigning of their own.

Secretary of State William Gardner said that, as of last June, there were 172,769 registered Republicans, 146,026 Democrats and 159,620 independents in the state. Independents, the fastest growing category in New Hampshire, can vote in See VOTING DAY Page 16

All but Ross were arrested late Sunday at a makeshift airstrip southeast of Odessa, authorities said. Hoss, pilot of the plane, was arrested early Monday at an east Odessa motel. Authorities said the airstrip had been completed within the last two weeks.

Ector County Sheriff Elton Faught said a truck driver saw a large plane descending toward a field, Sunday, near the intersection of U.S. 385 and FM 1787, south of Odessa.

The driver notified Crane County Sheriff Ray Weatherby, who sought help from Ector County, Ector County deputies, Odessa police and Department of Public Safety troopers responded.

Roadblocks were set up around the area and New, Nunez and Stewart were arrested without incident a short time later near a rental trailer.

Seats Removed
 Authorities said the blue-and-white plane, dubbed "The Flying Forester," had been stripped of its seats and modified to hold extra fuel.

The plane reportedly had been refueled and was ready for takeoff, Sunday, when the arrests were made. U.S. Customs officials in Houston had tracked the aircraft on radar since its departure from Colombia in South America, but reportedly had lost it during its descent.

Authorities recovered 106 burlap-and-plastic-wrapped bales of suspected marijuana that weighed a total of 6,332 pounds. Officers said the bales ranged in weight from 32 to 106 pounds.

"This is the biggest (load) we've seen in Ector County," Faught said.

Five Soldiers Die In 'Copter Crash
 SCHWABISCH HALL, West Germany (AP) — A U.S. Army CH-47 Chinook helicopter plunged into a forest Monday in southern Germany, killing all five soldiers aboard, a military spokesman said.

The helicopter was assigned to the 180th Aviation Company. The military withheld names of the dead until their families, some living in the United States, had been notified.

The giant cargo carrier crashed some 10 miles from its home base at Schwabisch Hall during a routine maintenance flight, the spokesman said.

A four-man crew of two warrant officers and two enlisted men, plus a ground mechanic riding on the flight, perished in the wreckage, which burned on impact in a wooded area off the Heilbronn-Nuremberg highway, the spokesman said. There were no reports of civilian injuries.

German police said the helicopter went down in flames.

Ector Officials Seize $5 Million In Dope

ODESSA (UPI) — A truck driver's tip led to the seizure of more than $5 million worth of marijuana and the recovery of a DC-3 airplane, authorities said, and described it as the biggest drug bust in Ector County history.

Bonds of $75,000 each were set, Monday, for four men charged with engaging in organized criminal activity by unlawful delivery, dispensation, distribution and possession of a controlled substance.

The suspects were identified as Jesse David New, 33, of McAllen, Humberto Pablo Nunez, 46, of North Bergen, N.J., originally from Havana, Cuba, Richard Morley Stewart, 42, of Norman, Ark., Robert Lee Ross, 39, of Harlingen.

Top Carriers Honored At A-J Banquet

KARLON WEST, who has delivered The Avalanche-Journal for two of his dozen years, was named 1979 Carrier of the Year at the 21st annual carrier banquet Monday.

More than 100 carriers and parents gathered at K-Bob's Steak House in Terrace Shopping Center for the event at which star carriers also were announced.

Speaker for the banquet was Roger Jones, outside linebacker for the Texas Tech Red Raiders, who urged the group to achieve personal goals in life as they had in their first business venture as newspaper carriers.

Blake Smith, 1978 carrier, assisted Dale Miller, A-J city circulation manager, with presentation of the awards.

West, son of Mrs. Beverly West of 4807 16th St., is a student at Mackenzie Junior High School where he is involved with school sports and with soccer outside school hours.

His route, where he has exhibited the best record of delivery and also payment for papers purchased, includes 4700-5100 blocks of Ninth and 10th Streets.

Runners-up for the award were Mike Cagle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cagle of 6913 Freemont Ave.; Mike Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stephens of 3433 53rd St.; and Paul Farr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben M. Farr of 2317 54th St.

West received a $200 savings bond, a plaque and a chance for further honors in state competition. Runners-up won $50 bonds and plaques.

A star carrier jacket, collection pouch and paper bag went to star carriers, who, for the first time this year, included adults in competition. Two of 10 carriers See TOP CARRIERS Page 16

Sergeants Take Over Surinam Government

PARAMARIBO, Surinam (AP) — Army sergeants disgruntled over pay and working conditions seized power in this small South American nation, Monday, striking swiftly behind a gunboat barrage in a pre-dawn coup. Local reporters said up to 15 persons were killed in the shelling and gunfights.

The rebels issued a communique saying they would abide by the democratic principles of this former Dutch colony, a Florida-size nation of 450,000 people.

The whereabouts of Prime Minister Henck Arron, leader of the moderate National Party, and most of his cabinet ministers could not be determined immediately. A report that could not be confirmed, said Arron fled to Paramaribo, 20 miles south of the capital.

Attorney General Maurice de Miranda was reported wounded in the side and undergoing surgery at a hospital.

Radio stations broadcast the communique issued by the sergeants' National Military Council. It said the army commander-in-chief, Col. Y. Elstak, and Justice and Police Minister S. Badrishing had been taken into custody by the insurgents. The council's communique also announced a curfew from 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. and placed the one government and three private radio stations under censorship.

Some police and a number of officers in Surinam's 800-man army fought the rebels, according to Paramaribo reporters, who said one of the persons slain was a lieutenant on duty at the main sentry post at the military headquarters. The army has about 100 officers and 200-300 sergeants and sergeants major.

(Reports reaching The Hague, Netherlands, said the dead included two soldiers and two policemen.)

It was not immediately clear whether the rebellion stemmed from racial rivalry between East Indians and African-descended Creoles, which has troubled Surinam since independence, four years ago. Arron's government was Creole-dominated.

Year Of Tension
 The early-morning coup in this sleepy tropical capital climaxed a year of growing tension between the Arron government and the non-commissioned officers.

Some of the sergeants had formed the National Military Council, months ago, as a collective bargaining agent to negotiate with the government for better pay and promotion opportunities and improved relations with the officer corps. Many of the non-commissioned officers had been virtually on strike for the last month.

The rebels apparently struck when they did because their jailed leaders, Sgts. B.E. Sital and L. Neede, and a Sgt. Abrahams were to be sentenced Tuesday on mutiny charges. Sital is president of the National Military Council and Neede is vice president.

Sital and Neede signed the communique read over the radio stations.

Automatic-weapons and bazooka fire erupted at about 3 a.m. as the rebels attacked army headquarters at the Memre See SERGEANTS Page 16

Phoenix Papers Publish Sans Ads
 PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Tuesday's editions of The Arizona Republic and The Phoenix Gazette will contain no advertising because of a shortage of newspaper.

Publisher Mason Walsh said each issue will consist only of one 20-page section of news and features.

He said the reasons are a critical shortage of newsprint and bad weather, which has restricted deliveries of newsprint that is available.

"We regret the need for such drastic action," Walsh said, "but it is necessitated not only by the shortage of newsprint but also by inability to obtain delivery of newsprint because of adverse weather conditions."

"We will devote essentially the normal amount of space to news and features."

Publication of the newspapers with advertising will resume Wednesday, but efforts to restrict newsprint consumption will continue, he said.

Panel To Meet Alleged Victims

By United Press International
 THE U.N. Commission of inquiry met twice with Iranian jurists, Monday, and Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini ordered a meeting be set up at once between the panel and Iranians allegedly crippled by the ousted shah's secret police.

But Khomeini, viewed by diplomats as the ultimate key to the release of the American hostages, said nothing about a meeting between the five-man panel and the 50 Americans who have been held captive at the U.S. Embassy for 114 days.

In a statement issued from his office Monday night and reported by Tehran radio monitored in London, Khomeini announced that he had instructed the Revolutionary Council and the Iranian foreign ministry to arrange "without delay" a meeting between the U.N. commission and "invalids of the Islamic revolution."

Khomeini, who with his statement injected himself into the work of the commission for the first time, said such a meeting would make the shah's and America's crimes clearer.

He did not spell out what he meant by "invalids," but his statement came at the same time as reports that the U.N. panel might give a hearing, Tuesday, to victims of the SAVAK, the shah's secret police.

Despite the hard-line statements of recent days, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter cautioned against putting too much weight on any single statement coming from Iranian officials.

"I would remind you that we have seen days when official statements have covered 360 degrees," he said.

His comments indicated the Carter administration has not abandoned hopes that the visit to Iran of the commission of inquiry will eventually lead to the hostages' release.

Carter would not directly comment on a statement by Khomeini saying there could be no release of the hostages until at least after the election of the Iranian parliament in April.

He said, however, "One of the points of reference (of the five-man commission) is the resolution of the crisis between Iran and the United States. Our position is that one of the things at the heart of the crisis involves the release of the hostages."

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim's spokesman, Rudolf Staudhar, again denied reports that Iran is reneging

SMU Paper Turns Down Playboy Ad

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University's student newspaper Monday refused to accept an advertisement from a Playboy Magazine photographer who was seeking student models for a pictorial feature.
 David Chan, soliciting SMU women to pose for a feature called "Girls of the Southwest Conference," was told he could place the ad in the Daily Campus.
 In a Daily Campus article Feb. 8, the director of student publications, Frank Ragulsky, was quoted as saying the proposed ad was "not consistent with existing policy regarding modeling advertising."
 In the same issue, the newspaper published an advertisement seeking "tons of beautiful girls" to pose for the campus yearbook, the Rotunda. The models would be charged a $12.50 sitting fee, the advertisement said.
 Chan told advertising director Melanie Marshall the anti-Playboy decision represented "a double standard."
 "I don't understand," Chan said angrily. "You're exploiting these women by not paying them. Playboy at least pays for services rendered."
 "We have decided not to be involved with any advertising dealing directly or indirectly with nudity," Ms. Marshall replied.
 Chan said Playboy has run similar ads in 33 campus newspapers the past four years, and the only other newspaper to reject the advertising was the Harvard Crimson.
 Chan told reporters the initial sessions would involve fully-clothed Polaroid photographs.
 Those chosen for the feature, he said, would receive $100 for fully-clothed pictures, $200 for semi-nude photos and $300 for fully nude shots.

Suspect Accused Of Using Phantom Women In Frauds

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A fraud which led a man to pay $34,400 to help a supposedly beautiful, tragically ill young woman who did not exist may have victimized several other persons as well, police said Monday.
 Police revealed last week that a Toledo man had been persuaded to pay the $34,400 for medical care for a non-existent person known as "Kyle Stratton."
 Carolyn Matuszak, 38, of Toledo, was arrested Wednesday in the case and charged with grand theft by deception. She later was released on her own recognizance and is to appear Wednesday in Toledo municipal court.
 The victim said he had heard of "Miss Stratton's" plight from Mrs. Matuszak, fell in love with the myth, and supplied Mrs. Matuszak with the money over the last four or five years.
 But another man later told police he had been "introduced" to Miss Stratton through Mrs. Matuszak and had become engaged to marry the fictional woman.
 And police said complaints of still other apparent victims during the 1960s were being reviewed.

Officials Charge U.S. Oil Refiners With Excessive Mark-Ups

WASHINGTON (AP) — Excessive price mark-ups by 11 major U.S. oil refiners may have added $286 million to consumers' bills for gasoline, home heating oil and other oil products last year, the Carter administration charged on Monday.

The Council on Wage and Price Stability identified one of the alleged violators of the voluntary anti-inflation program as Mobil Oil, the nation's seventh largest refiner.

The New York-based company immediately denied the allegation and termed the council's ruling "obviously political." A Mobil official, who asked not to be identified by name, said the ruling would be appealed.

The council, which oversees the anti-inflation effort, also said that seven other refiners had been told they probably were violating the price rules and that an additional three companies likely would get similar notices in the near future.

The council refused to identify the other refiners, saying that the companies would be given time to respond to the allegations before their names were made public.

R. Robert Russell, director of the council, denied at a news conference that release of the Mobil decision and the overall refinery report was timed to influence voting Tuesday in the New Hampshire presidential primary.

The primary is an important step in President Carter's effort to gain re-nomination against the challenge of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

"I don't know whether this is good or bad," Russell said. "It was totally coincidental."

The investigation into the pricing practices of 27 major oil companies was begun last October when the industry reported third-quarter profit figures which, in some cases, were up 100 percent or more.

It covered the first year of the anti-inflation program, which ended Sept. 30. That date also marked the end of the third quarter of the business year for the oil firms.

In a 39-page report, the council admitted that violations of the voluntary guidelines "accounted for only 0.4 cents of the 4.5 cents-per-gallon increase in refinery margins during the first program year." A refinery's gross margin is the difference between the cost of petroleum that goes into the system and sales.

This non-compliance "added about $286 million to (oil company) earnings," the report said. That would be about 1 percent of the industry's total earnings in 1979, according to industry data.

The major cause of consumer price increases for petroleum products was "substantially higher crude oil prices," the report showed.

In fact, the report indicated that gasoline prices rose 30.2 cents per gallon from the third quarter of 1978 to the third quarter of 1979.

Of that amount, 17.6 cents (about 58 percent) was due to higher crude-oil prices, which can be passed on by the oil companies to consumers.

Another major contributor was retailer price margins, up 6.3 cents per gallon over the year. The council said it had insufficient staff to oversee retail gasoline pricing activities, which were under Department of Energy control.

"Why are oil profits soaring if they (refiners) are in general complying with the standards?" Russell asked rhetorically at a news conference. "Because increases are coming not from domestic refinery operations but rather from production of crude oil and from foreign refinery operations," he answered.

He added that it was possible that oil companies were diverting lower-priced crude to foreign markets and bringing higher-priced crude into the United States for refining. "We have no evidence that that is the case," Russell said.

The council has only two methods for enforcing the guidelines: publicity and submission of a company's name to the Office of Federal Procurement Policy, which can deny future government contracts to violators.

Mobil was the third oil company publicly identified as a violator. Last year the Charter Co. of Jacksonville, Fla., and Amerada Hess of New York were cited for price violations. Amerada Hess later changed its practices and was ruled back in compliance.

The council said Mobil "exceeded its allowable gross margin" during the third quarter last year.

"Under the standard, a company's gross margin in any quarter may exceed its base quarter margin by no more than 6.5 percent," the council said. It declined, however, to say how much above 6.5 percent Mobil's gross margin had risen.

Mobil Oil Marketing and Refining denied the council's allegation in a statement released at its headquarters in New York City.

"The council ruling is 'so silly that it is patently and obviously political,' the statement said.

Local Man Charged With Murder Here

Richard Charles Johnson, 20, of 2803 Juniper Ave., Apt. 5, Monday was charged with murder in connection with the shooting death of a 63-year-old Lubbock man Sunday night.

The criminal district attorney's office recommended $25,000 bond for Johnson, who remained in the Lubbock County Jail late Monday. Johnson is scheduled to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy this morning.

Leroy Perkins of 820 Ave. C, apparently an innocent victim of a fracas at a pool hall next to his house, was fatally wounded in the chest while standing on his front porch. Justice of the Peace L.J. Blalock pronounced the victim dead at the scene and ordered an autopsy.

Johnson turned himself in to the Lubbock criminal district attorney's office about 10 a.m. Monday.

After the suspect walked into the district attorney's office, police went to the man's residence and confiscated a .22-caliber pistol thought to have been used in the 7 p.m. shooting.

The bullet that downed Perkins reportedly was fired from inside a black-over-gold Chrysler which was leaving a pool hall at 816 Ave. C. The suspect was sitting in the front passenger seat of the car, which also contained several other men and a woman, police were told.

The suspect allegedly was the only person wielding a weapon in the club, where the first shots were fired.

Reports indicate the suspect and three companions then ran out of the club and got into their car. Perkins apparently was shot after hearing gunfire inside the club and walking out onto the porch.

Perkins is the city's third murder victim of the year. Police also have identified two additional negligent homicide victims.

Canterbury Archbishop Appointed In Ceremony

LONDON (AP) — In a small, quiet ceremony Monday in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral, Robert Runcie became the 102nd Archbishop of Canterbury and spiritual leader of the world's 65 million Anglicans.

In the lower regions of London's great cathedral, near the tomb of the Duke of Wellington, a royal commission of eight bishops of the Protestant Church of England confirmed the 58-year-old ex-tank commander as the new primate and metropolitan of all England.

As such, he is spiritual leader of the Church of England — whose temporal head is Queen Elizabeth II — and of the worldwide Anglican Communion, which includes three million Episcopalians in the United States.

The 50-minute ceremony, attended by fewer than 100 persons, including Runcie's wife Lindy, was confined to the reading and signing of documents in legal wording drafted in 1534. The proceedings were witnessed by the bewigged principal registrar of Canterbury.

There was almost none of the ecclesiastical pomp and circumstance that will accompany Runcie's formal installment as archbishop in Canterbury Cathedral on March 25.

Wearing simple black and white vestments, Runcie knelt before the bishops seated at a table covered with green baize, on which lay the primatial cross — a solid gold staff and crucifix that is the archbishop's symbol of office.

On his knees, he recited an oath of allegiance to the queen, then stood to declare his acceptance, of the office.

It was at that point — about 6:30 a.m. CST — that Runcie became the 102nd Archbishop of Canterbury since the Benedictine missionary Augustine was sent to England by Pope Gregory I in the 6th century. Augustine became archbishop in 597 and was canonized after his death.

Alleged Assault Sees Man Jailed

Lubbock police said they confronted a 23-year-old man Sunday who had his wife by the hair and was banging her head against a bathtub.

The suspect was taken into custody about 5:15 p.m. at the couple's house and was booked into the county jail on suspicion of aggravated assault.

Police said they were met at the front door of the 33rd Street residence by a witness who said, "Please come in, she needs help." Officers said they heard screams coming from the bathroom and forced open the bathroom door.

Reports indicate that after officers grabbed the suspect he still wouldn't let his 23-year-old wife out of the bathroom and managed to slug her in the face when she tried to walk past him.

The woman suffered multiple injuries, but she reportedly was undecided whether she would go to a hospital. Two small children were at the residence when the assault occurred, according to reports.

In other activity, a 25-year-old Lubbock man was arrested about 12:30 a.m. Monday after he allegedly threatened his 81-year-old mother. The man reportedly had been told to leave his mother's house late Sunday, but police were called back early Monday when the man tried to get back into the woman's home.

FIRE INVESTIGATED WYOMING, Mich. (AP) — Investigators on Monday were trying to determine the cause of a fire at a restaurant that left two volunteer firemen dead, officials said. Ronald Fryling and Lester Yonkers, both volunteers with the Wyoming Fire Department, died Sunday.

Allen McKiesky, 20, of Farwell was in serious condition Monday at Methodist Hospital with injuries suffered Sunday in a traffic accident near Farwell.

Billie Jo Hedrick, 52, of Post was in serious condition Monday at Methodist Hospital with injuries suffered Wednesday in a traffic accident.

A portion of the interchange at North U.S. 87 and Loop 289 will be closed beginning today, the highway department has announced. Through southbound traffic along the west frontage road of U.S. 87 and through eastbound traffic along the south frontage road of Loop 289 will be routed around the intersection.

Services for "Buster" Morgan, 68, of DeSoto will be at 2 p.m. today in Spur's First United Methodist Church. Burial will be in Spur Cemetery under the direction of West Funeral Home in DeSoto. He died Friday in Dallas.

Services for retired Texas Tech professor Dr. Raymond E. Garlin, 87, of 3008 59th St., are pending with Rix Funeral Directors. Garlin died Sunday.

Policeman Sees Comedy In Job

By SHARON COHEN

CHICAGO (AP) — Phil Centracchio laughed when he met the kid who tried to swipe a pot roast by tucking it under his hat. Then he arrested him.

And he chuckled when a police officer confused a can of mace with hairspray and knocked himself out. Then he took the cop to a hospital.

Police work and crime, Centracchio says, are often good for a laugh. So when Centracchio leaves his daytime job as a cop and heads to his occasional nighttime job as a comedian, he always has plenty of material.

One day, Centracchio recalls, a guy robbed a couple of gas stations and barricaded himself in an apartment building. "We must have had 200 police around the building," he said.

A lieutenant, using a directory that traces phone numbers through addresses, called the apartment, and said, "This is it. I want you to come out in two minutes with your hands up."

Sure enough, Centracchio said, a man came out screaming, "I didn't do it. I didn't do it." The lieutenant had the wrong number.

An officer for 22 years, Centracchio — who has spent most of his career in the juvenile division — has a lot of crime stories, including the one about the pot-roast thief who was stopped by a supermarket cashier who thought his head was bleeding. It was the melting roast leaking down his face.

Centracchio has no trouble poking fun at serious situations. "Human nature is funny," he said. "Humor can be found in anything."

Centracchio was born 45 years ago in a gritty area of the city dotted with neighborhood bars and bordered by steel mills, where he says, you get "a stain instead of a tan in the summer."

During college, Centracchio — whose stage name is Phil Rossi — began playing and singing with a band. He started doing comedy a few years ago and has performed in clubs from Hawaii to Florida.

But home still is Chicago, where Centracchio remains loyal to his community, visiting schools as a cop and performing at local fundraisers, often accompanied by his wife, Diane.

He also keeps in touch with some of the roughest kids he met on the job, who are now family men. "They call me up," he said, "and say, 'We've got some rough kids who are throwing rocks at our car.'"

Centracchio says he hides them, saying "The things you did — and now you're calling me."

And after facing drug abusers, thieves and runaways day after day, Centracchio — whose routine includes imitations of Peter Falk as Lt. Columbo — says his comedy appearances are therapy.

"If I wasn't able to take my mind completely off police work," he said, "I think I'd end up in a mental ward."

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

How do you keep cheese from getting moldy?

I throw away more cheese. I even bought an airtight plastic container — no luck. Wrapping it in foil doesn't seem to do the trick, either.

There are only the two of us and we don't use cheese but maybe once a month. But when I do want to use it, it's all green with mold. — Ann K

When you bring that hunk of cheese home from the store, if you'll grate it or cut it in small pieces and put it into a tight container or plastic bag and FREEZE it, I'll bet your worries will be over.

You can then take out whatever portion you need, and it'll thaw quickly. — Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I thought everyone who wore pantyhose knew about this wonderful hint —

but some girls in my auxiliary thought it was really neat and suggested I send it to you.

Don't throw away pantyhose that have a runner in one leg. Simply cut off the ruined leg and then the ruined leg of a matching pair. Put both pairs on at the same time, one left, one right.

You'll have a double thickness for the panty — but they're sometimes too thin anyway. — Sally Heffernan

DEAR HELOISE:

After years of chasing whole peppercorns over the floor and cabinet top when filling a pepper mill, I got smart.

I take a paper cup, pour the peppercorns in it, crease it to make a spout and fill my pepper mill. You can reuse the cup over and over.

Love your column. After 32 years of a career, I'm a housewife and I've got lots of things to learn. — Mrs. D.R. Johnson

Welcome to the club! But you never learn it all, no matter how many years you've been at it.

Just bet there's a lot more you could teach us from those 32 years of experience "out there." — Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

My widowed mother lives out of state.

Since she likes to knit, I pack any gift I might be sending her with knitting yarn.

It's soft, lightweight, and packs in easily around odd sizes and shapes.

It's also a help to her budget. Her knitted goodies have been, and still are, a joy for her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and friends to receive. — Geraldine Olynick

DEAR HELOISE:

The best cleaner to remove "stubborn" tea or coffee stains from dishes is baking soda.

Sprinkle a small amount on the stain and rub with nylon net or even a cotton dish cloth.

A little rubbing will remove the stains thoroughly and completely. — I. Learned

One of the really fascinating things about bridge is that the worst overbidders are frequently the worst players. The correct policy is that if you want to overbid you should play well enough to make up for the overbidding.

South let the spade lead ride to his ace and promptly cashed the ace and king of trumps. Then he stopped to think before leading a third trump to dummy's jack. Next came a losing diamond finesse.

Now West played his ace of hearts. South ruffed and played his ace of diamonds. West showed out and the hand had collapsed. When South recovered from the wreck he had gone down three.

"Played like a plumber," chortled North. "The hand was a lay down after the spade lead."

North was right. After the spade lead, South should have made his contract and still lost the diamond finesse.

All South had to do was to play safe. He should win the spade in dummy and draw four rounds of trumps. Then he could lead a low diamond. It wouldn't matter who held the diamond king as long as all five weren't in the same hand. South would have the fifth trump to ruff with and the ace of spades to get to his hand to run diamonds after cashing dummy's diamond jack.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: The enclosed appeared in the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle under "Letters to the Editor." It seems you have some explaining to do. You appear to be speaking out of both sides of your mouth, Ann. How about it? — M. In Henrietta, N.Y.

"How can she advocate that persons who have severe personality disorders be permitted to teach school?"

"I agree with Miss Landers that homosexuals should have the opportunity to work — however, I firmly believe they should not be permitted to teach school or direct youngsters in any capacity." — D.S.

boys is untrue. Some do — but the overwhelming majority of child molesters are heterosexuals. This is a matter of record. Ask any criminologist. A far more frequent problem is male teachers who attempt to seduce female students.

The personality disorder of the homosexual has to do with his choice of sexual partners. Many straight people have personality disorders also, such as a deep-seated hatred for people of another color or religion, alcoholism and drug addiction. And some teachers just plain don't like kids. They went into teaching because it was the only job around. I stand by my statements. All of them.

To Your Good Health

By PAUL DONOHUE, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What's your opinion about the treadmill stress test? I am 63 and have had an irregular heartbeat for years. At my last two annual check-ups the doctor asked me to take the stress test, since my ECG always shows irregular. I have heard so many pros and cons about the stress test that I'm afraid to have it. My weight is 118 and my blood pressure is normal. — M.B.B.

The routine ECG (electrocardiogram) is taken with the person lying down and the heart at rest. Abnormalities that may be occurring when you are active might not show on such "resting" ECGs. A stress test, as the name implies, is an ECG taken during exercise, when the heart is working harder. This is the value of such a test.

A doctor is present while a stress test is being given. A preliminary examination is given first to determine the person's general resistance to stress. The test is stopped if the patient complains of chest pain, if changes are noted on the ECG or if there is a significant rise or drop in blood pressure.

Serious complications from a stress test are very rare. It is a helpful tool in determining heart disease, when the resting ECG is normal. You should not be afraid of the test. You seem to be in pretty good health. Doctors are being urged to use the stress test in selected patients.

uses on my feet? They are painful. — V.S.

Friction and pressure cause calluses, the piling up of the outer horny layer of skin. This makes for a hard mass between the shoe and the bones of the feet. It can feel like walking on a stone. Dr. George Sheehan in his book, "Medical Advice for Runners," speaks of calluses, calling them evil forces at work. He means there is an imbalance of pressures on the foot.

Those areas where calluses form need to be protected from pressure. Padding that part of the foot might help you. If you are not able to reduce callus formation with padding or better shoes, then advice from a foot expert should be sought. It's not a great idea (as some readers suggest) to try to remove the callus with a sharp edge on your own. A pumice stone should be the sharpest instrument used. If that does not work, then removal of a callus should be undertaken only by a properly-trained person. I get cold shivers when I think of those readers who tell me they try it on their own with razor blades. Brrrrrrrr.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In one of your articles you made the remark that you liked the word "hernia" and would even consider naming a daughter that. Please, for the daughter's sake, don't do anything so drastic. I understand you are single, so maybe there's hope. When my older girls were teenagers, one of their expressions was "she's having a hernia, etc." I read your articles daily and enjoy them. I learn a good bit, too. — Mrs. O.G.

For your sake, Mrs. O.G., I make this vow. If I ever have a daughter I will not name her Hernia.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please explain in everyday language what chemotherapy treatment is. — L.S.

Chemotherapy is nothing more than "therapy" with "chemicals." The word is usually reserved for treatment of infections with antibiotics or cancer with anticancer drugs. More narrowly, the term is used in speaking about drugs for cancer. In cancer treatment the three chief forms of treatment are surgical, radiation and chemotherapy. More often a combination of these is used.

FOR MRS. R.R. — Please believe me, my dear, when I tell you you won't get pregnant again while you are pregnant. I have heard of only one case of this happening.

A Moscow physician has been given a two-year suspended sentence for cutting off the wrong big toe of a woman patient. The doctor was suffering from a five-day alcoholic hangover.

Copyright 1980 Field Enterprises, Inc.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been told I have diverticulitis. Will you please give me advice on a diet to follow with this? — R.Y.P.

A bland diet, as one for ulcers, is appropriate for diverticulitis, which is inflammation of the abdominal outpouchings in the wall of the intestines (diverticulosis). Note the different word endings! You seem confused. I am sending along the booklet you asked for on the subject. It will clear some misunderstandings. Other readers can order a copy by mailing 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Writer Says U.S. Strength Rests In Soils

PERRY, Ga. (UPI) — During the Great Depression, Arthur Burnett Kennerly tried to make a living growing beef in Texas and lost all his money. He got a job with the U. S. Department of Agriculture making loans to farmers in hard times made even harder by the coming of the Dust Bowl in 1934-37.

Kennerly believes it's a mistake for the United States to try to feed the rest of the world. "My little garden out there tells me it's the wrong thing to do," he said, gesturing toward his garden spot behind his mobile home in this central Georgia city.

Kennerly has been studying the relation of organic matter to the soil since 1945 and says the soil should be made up of 2 to 2.5 percent of organic material to produce satisfactory crops. The average in the South, according to Kennerly, is 1.7 and getting down to the vanishing point.

"I was in a pretty good position to help those people weather the Depression. They were well fed but half naked. Now it seems that a lot of people are half naked by choice."

Soviets Contract To Buy Thai Rice, Maize

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Soviet purchase contracts for 160,000 metric tons of Thai rice and maize have been arranged during the past two months by Thai exporters and Soviet embassy representatives.

The U.S.S.R. started lining up 10,000 tons of high quality Thai rice (five percent broken grains) valued at about $40 million with shipment scheduled between January and April 1980, which was granted an export license.

Soviet freighters making their return trip after discharging aid shipments in Kampuchea and Vietnam are already in Bangkok loading Thai maize in bags, which must be delivered by end February, the review said.

PLAINS AGRICULTURE

CHINA'S 1980-81 COTTON OUTPUT is likely to exceed the 1979-80 level of 10.18 million bales (480 pounds net) because of a projected 4 percent increase in cotton area, according to the agricultural attaché in Beijing.

THE SOVIET UNION'S 1979-80 COTTON exports are forecast at 3.9 million bales, compared with an estimated 3.7 million in 1978-79, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says in a new report.

THE OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH Administration has asked for information on grain handling safety and health hazards. The agency said it is seeking input by May 5 as a prelude to writing possible regulations.

Democratic Chairman Urges Party Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Democratic Chairman John C. White urged Democratic governors Monday to help pull the party through a potentially divisive election year, and the governors responded with plans to help.

"It's going to depend on you to hold this party together, to make it work," White said at a caucus of Democrats attending the annual winter meeting of the National Governors' Association.

"I think that his theme of unity is one that is reflected in the consciousness of all of us," said Connecticut Gov. Ella Grasso, chairman of the Democratic governors. "We are going to be a united party even though we have differences. And we will be victorious because we are."

The Democratic governors announced plans to coordinate campaign activities including fund raising and speaking engagements across the country.

American wheat producers harvested a 1979 crop of 2.11 billion bushels, 18 percent more than 1978 and the second largest crop on record, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

'Kramer Vs. Kramer,' 'All That Jazz' Garner Most Nominations

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "All That Jazz," Bob Fosse's controversial musical version of his own heart attack, scored a surprising nine nominations in the Oscar preliminaries Monday, tying "Kramer vs. Kramer," the much-praised story of a child custody battle.

The massive Vietnam War epic "Apocalypse Now" placed third with eight nominations for the 52nd Academy Awards. Next came "Breaking Away" with five, then "The China Syndrome," "Norma Rae" and "The Rose" with four apiece.

Winners will be announced April 14. Reviews were decidedly mixed for "All That Jazz," and it was mostly overlooked in early-season awards. But Academy voters were obviously more impressed with Fosse's mixture of death and entertainment, nominating the film for best picture.

Other best-picture nominees were "Kramer vs. Kramer," "Apocalypse Now," "Breaking Away," a modestly budgeted comedy about four youths reaching maturity at Bloomington, Ind., and "Norma Rae," a story of labor organizing at a Southern textile mill.

"The China Syndrome," which proved an amazing parallel to events at Three Mile Island, was unexpectedly omitted as a best picture contender. But the film brought nominations for stars Jane Fonda and Jack Lemmon. They are the only previous winners among the 10 mentioned for top acting honors.

Also named for best actress: Jill Clayburgh, "Starting Over"; Sally Field, "Norma Rae"; Marsha Mason, "Chapter Two"; and Bette Midler, "The Rose."

Besides Lemmon, the best actor nominees were: Dustin Hoffman, "Kramer vs. Kramer"; Al Pacino, "An Officer and a Gentleman"; and Justice for All; Roy Scheider, "All That Jazz"; and Peter Sellers, "Being There."

For supporting actress: Jane Alexander, "Kramer vs. Kramer"; Barbara Barrie, "Breaking Away"; Candice Bergen, "Starting Over"; Mariel Hemingway, "Manhattan"; and Meryl Streep, "Kramer vs. Kramer."

For supporting actor: Melvyn Douglas, "Being There"; Robert Duvall, "Apocalypse Now"; Frederic Forrest, "The Rose"; Justin Henry, "Kramer vs. Kramer"; and Mickey Rooney, "The Black Stallion."

Henry, the pawn in the divorce battle of "Kramer vs. Kramer," became at age 8 the youngest candidate for an Oscar. Jackie Cooper was nominated for best actor in "The Champ" in 1931 when he was 9.

The nominations were announced Monday morning with the usual media hoopla. Two hundred press people were admitted to the Samuel Goldwyn Theater in the Academy's Beverly Hills headquarters, where Yvette Mimieux, Ed Asner and Academy President Fay Kanin read the major nominations for benefit of the electronic media. The ceremonies took less than 10 minutes.

"La Cage aux Folles," the French-language farce, provided an upset with the nomination of Edouard Molinaro as best director. Other nominees: Bob Fosse, "All That Jazz"; Francis Coppola, "Apocalypse Now"; Peter Yates, "Breaking Away"; and Robert Benton, "Kramer vs. Kramer."

Baylor Newspaper Staff Threatens To Resign

WACO (AP) — Student newspaper staffers at Baylor University have voted to resign if the administration follows through with threats to quash stories about nude posing.

While Baylor President Abner McCall says he won't censor The Baylor Lariat, he has reiterated his threat to halt the stories "one way or another."

Playboy magazine announced plans last month to photograph "The Girls of the Southwest Conference" — in the buff. McCall quickly warned that any Baylor women posing for the magazine would be expelled immediately.

Last week, The Lariat printed an editorial, signed by three editors, advocating personal choice in the matter. A guest editorial encouraging coeds to de-line the offer appeared alongside the article.

The next day, McCall said he told the newspaper's faculty advisers and staff that editorials "attacking any position that emanates from the basic nature of Baylor as a church-related university" would not be tolerated.

Lariat editor-in-chief Jeff Barton said Sunday that the 30-member staff voted "almost unanimously" to resign if McCall carries out his threat.

McCall said he had no objections to news stories as long as they do not "advocate" issues that go against accepted Baptist positions.

President Admits Crisis Of Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reflecting growing concern over the nation's worsening inflation rate, President Carter said Monday that inflation, along with the nation's energy supply, had reached "the crisis stage."

Domestically, the most significant challenge I face is a high inflation rate," Carter told a group of editors at the White House.

The president said he attributes inflation to "a major degree to the fact that after all these years, we still do not have a comprehensive energy policy."

And even after we have reached a crisis stage in energy supplies and inflation, the three major bills that will help resolve the issue still languish in congressional conference committees," he said.

Carter may have elaborated on his remarks during his talk with editors, but reporters were allowed to attend only for a few minutes at the beginning of the meeting.

Meanwhile, White House press secretary Jody Powell said the administration is unlikely to announce any new economic policies this week to combat inflation.

Earlier, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Paul A. Volcker, called for "an aggressive national effort" to combat inflation, but said wage and price controls are not the answer.

"We have reached the point in this inflationary situation where decisive action is necessary," he told the Senate Banking Committee. He said inflation is likely to get even worse in months ahead and urged that the government trim spending as one way of improving the outlook.

He also said he personally would favor a 50-cent per gallon tax on gasoline, which is opposed by the Carter administration.

In answer to a question, Volcker said he would consider strengthening the Council on Wage and Price Stability and might favor giving it authority to require businesses to provide pre-notification of price increases and to delay those it considered inflationary.

Although Volcker insisted that controls wouldn't work, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said the Senate Banking Committee will hold hearings in early March on various anti-inflation policies, including mandatory controls.

Support Seen

Proxmire said he personally is opposed to controls "but there may be strong support for this on the floor of the Senate and House."

However, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., said he finds little sentiment in the House for controls and questioned whether they would work, although he has advocated them in the past. Only a strong push by President Carter would get Congress to approve them, he said.

"We should have done it years ago," O'Neill said in a statement. "I don't know if it's too late."

Speculation over whether the Carter administration might reverse its opposition to controls has arisen in recent days in the wake of evidence that inflation is worsening. The government reported Friday that consumer prices increased 14 percent in January, the most in 6 1/2 years.

Worse Than 1979

At that rate, inflation would end the year at about 18 percent, worse than the 13.3 percent last year, which was the highest in 33 years.

Volcker said the price reports "certainly do carry the danger that inflationary expectations will accelerate."

Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, told Volcker he favors calling an economic summit conference to discuss ways of dealing with inflation. Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, made a similar proposal, Sunday.

The idea of a summit is not new. Former President Gerald R. Ford convened an inflation summit soon after taking office in 1974. The most visible result was Ford's much-ridiculed Whip Inflation Now, or WIN, program, although inflation did cool down in 1975 and 1976.

Unscheduled Meeting

President Carter held an unscheduled meeting with his economic advisers, Sunday night, as part of a review of his economic policies. Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, told reporters afterward that there would be "no wage and price controls."

Volcker stopped short in his testimony of declaring his outright opposition to controls under any circumstances. But he said repeatedly that he feared controls would be used as an excuse for not doing other things that need to be done to deal with inflation in the long run.

He also said the prospect for controls being successful is less now than when former President Richard Nixon imposed them in 1971. The economy is expanding now and the inflation rate is much higher, he explained.

But he said the nation is at "a very crucial juncture" in coping with inflation. "There is no question... that coherent action is urgently needed," he said.

SOVIETS REPORT PULLOUT

MOSCOW (AP) — The official Tass news agency reported on Monday a further withdrawal of Soviet tank units from East Germany, but gave no figures. Tass said "a new group of Soviet tank units, together with their tanks," began withdrawing to the European part of the Soviet Union. The withdrawal was part of the pullout of 10,000 Soviet troops and 1,000 tanks from East Germany announced by President Leonid I. Brezhnev last October. Tass said, Soviet troops have been in East Germany since the end of World War II.

all military and civilian matters affecting Afghanistan.

President Babrak Karmal, who took power in a Soviet-backed coup on Dec. 27, has not been seen in public in three weeks. Unconfirmed reports said he took refuge in the heavily guarded Soviet embassy during fighting that medical sources said resulted in the deaths of 300 civilians and an undetermined number of Afghan and Soviet troops.

In an area of the city where fighting was heavy Friday, a six-story house had crumbled after being hit by tank shells. Nearby, workmen removed the charred wreckage of trucks and cars including a gasoline tanker, which inexplicably had not exploded.

A Khalq Party bookshop near the municipal building was wrecked by rioters. The Jamil Hotel, near the municipal building was closed and its front door secured with an iron chain. An official said authorities there found 17 Pakistanis, who, they claimed, started the uprising with the help of the CIA.

In the Kabul Hotel, generally used by Soviet and East European official visitors, Soviet soldiers on guard in the lobby and on each staircase landing appeared to outnumber guests.

In the heart of the old city, out of sight of troops, Afghans surrounded the AP correspondent and expressed contempt for the Soviets and what they called the Afghan "puppet" regime.

They applauded an old man who said: "Please tell people in the West that we will go on killing the Russians as long as a single one remains here."

A short time later, the two reporters were seized by a youth with a submachinegun who marched them into the nearby local party offices, repeatedly sticking the weapon into their backs on the way.

Reporters Get Apology — Once inside the offices, however, an official sitting under a portrait of Lenin apologized, explaining the youth could not read the reporters' passports.

American embassy sources in Kabul said they knew nothing about Robert Lee, an American reported arrested as a CIA agent.

The State Department spokesman said the U.S. government had not confirmed Lee's arrest but was seeking information about him. He said Afghanistan was bound by international law to inform the United States if an American citizen has been arrested.

Irish Archbishop Offers IRA Talks — DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Church of Ireland bishops elected the Rt. Rev. John Ward Armstrong as their archbishop, Monday. His first act as head of Ireland's biggest Protestant church was to offer to meet with representatives of the overwhelmingly Roman Catholic Irish Republican Army.

The selection of Armstrong, 64, by 10 other bishops of the Irish branch of the Anglican Church was welcomed by his Catholic counterpart, Cardinal Tomas O'Fiaich, who had requested prayers, Sunday, at Irish Catholic churches for the Protestant leaders as they deliberated their choice.

Armstrong, born in Northern Ireland and a strong supporter of the ecumenical movement, said that in the cause of peace for the strife-torn British province he would talk with representatives of the IRA's violent Provisional wing "if they are willing to talk to me."

U.N. Panel To Meet 'Victims'

He said Iran had reconfirmed that it would let the U.N. group see the captive Americans. "There is a clear agreement for the commission to see the hostages," he said. "The secretary general stands by this agreement."

When announcing the appointment of the panel, Feb. 20, Waldheim identified as one element of the agreement Iran's desire "to have the commission speak to each of the hostages."

"Encouraging"

Stajduhar said the commission's two meetings Sunday with President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr and Foreign Minister Sadeq Ghotbzadeh "were encouraging."

"The operation is on track and the commission will now intensify its work," Stajduhar said the group met behind closed doors with members of the Association of Iranian Jurists "to hear Iran's grievances, particularly regarding human rights violations."

President Abolhassan BaniSadr told a Hong Kong newspaper, Monday, that he was "mazed at the naivete" of U.S. officials, and said America has failed to understand the revolution that overthrew the shah.

"They attributed the seizure of the hostages to what they described as fanatical Iranians. Then they interpreted my election as a victory for moderates against the clergy. They are wrong on both counts."

Three Demands

He said the United States "could clear the unfavorable climate" between Iran and the United States by conceding to Iran's three main demands — that the U.S. admit past wrongs in Iran, pledge not to interfere in Iran's internal affairs, and agree "not to block our efforts to get the back the shah and the wealth of Iran he embezzled."

On this point, Bani-Sadr appeared to return to the more moderate stance he adopted earlier this month. But other statements in the interim from Khomeini, the militants and Bani-Sadr himself have been more uncompromising.

The State Department notified New York lawyer Paul O'Dwyer, representing the Iranian government, that it recognized Iran's right to sue in court for the release of funds moved to the United States by the deposed shah.

O'Dwyer told UPI the department statement said, "The U.S. Government recognizes the right of Iran to bring legal action in the courts of the United States to account for the assets within the custody or control of the former shah that may be judged to belong to the national treasury of Iran."

O'Dwyer said he filed suit in the Supreme Court of New York County in November to have a total of $56 billion transferred to the Islamic nation. He said he will leave for Tehran, Monday night.

Sergeants Stage Coup In Surinam

Boekoe camp, witnesses said. They said the rebels also opened fire on police headquarters from a patrol boat on the Surinam River, blasting away part of an upper floor, setting fire to the headquarters and nearby buildings. The police station burned to the ground.

Police resistance to the non-coms crumbled after about eight hours, and the policemen were disarmed, the witnesses said. The rebels then turned their attention to the city's business district, where looters had begun plundering shuttered shops.

By early afternoon, soldiers were patrolling deserted streets, and this Dutch-style, canal-laced city of 150,000 people was quiet, the sources said.

The insurgents were in firm control of the airport and the national arsenal. Telephone and telegraph communications were restricted, but some telephone calls managed to get through.

It was the first coup in this young nation, and the communique said the rebels would respect "the democratic principles of the lawful state of Surinam" and "the national interests of the total Surinam population."

Coastal Population — Surinam is sandwiched between Guyana and French Guiana on the northeastern shoulder of South America. Most Surinamese live in the coastal area — Paramaribo is 15 miles upriver from the Atlantic — and the dense interior jungle remains a forbidding barrier to settlement. Bauxite is the primary export.

It was the second coup in South America in less than a year. An army colonel staged a short-lived takeover in Bolivia, last November. In the Caribbean area and Central America, there were coups in Grenada and El Salvador in the last year.

DESERT MANEUVERS BEGIN — WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 25,000 U.S. soldiers, airmen and Marines opened a month of desert warfare training in California, Monday, the Pentagon announced. Pentagon officials said the exercise, called Gallant Eagle 80, is a routine maneuver similar to others held in the past year and has nothing to do with the crisis in the Persian Gulf area. The exercise will be conducted until March 28 at Fort Irwin, Calif.

U.S. Agrees To Sell Arms To Egyptians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration has agreed to arm Egypt with 40 F-16 jet fighter planes and 250 M-60 tanks as "a friend committed to the peace process."

The State Department put no price tag on the program, in making the announcement Monday, but it is likely to involve at least $4 billion in military credits over five years. American training and other gear would be included.

Egypt also asked for F-15 Eagle jet-fighters, probably the most advanced warplane in the world. President Carter is prepared to offer them for sale as well, but Egypt decided to "devote resources" to other weapons, said Hodding Carter, the department spokesman.

"The Egyptian government hopes in due course to order such F-15 aircraft as may be necessary for its defense needs," he said.

Controversy Feared

Pentagon officials hinted strongly, however, that the United States persuaded Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to postpone his request for F-15s because it could cause controversy in Congress.

Key Primary Voting Day Arrives

New Hampshire ranks 42nd in population among the states and will send only 19 delegates to the Democrats' convention in New York City next August and 22 to the Republicans' convention in Detroit in July.

Changes Expected

However, that does not reflect the importance of the primary, the first of 36 in the country. When the storefront campaign headquarters in Concord and Manchester are closed, Wednesday, the Republican field is expected to be smaller and the Democratic race clearer.

Kennedy has conceded, in recent days, that he trails the president. A big loss in the state next door to his native Massachusetts, which holds its primary next Tuesday, would be a major embarrassment and would serve further to dry up his campaign funds.

In Nashua, Kennedy compared himself to the U.S. Olympic hockey team that won an unexpected gold medal at Lake Placid, N.Y. "I'm glad to be an underdog," Kennedy said.

Just remember the U.S. hockey team," he said in a speech at River College. "They were underdogs and they pulled it out, and we're going to do it, too."

In a separate interview, the Massachusetts senator said "We've had a strong campaign in the state of New Hampshire, and I think we're going to make a strong showing up there."

The poll that counts is the one on election day," he said. "The final poll that counts will be the one in New York at the Democratic convention."

Bush has refused to assess his chances, but counts on a victory to add to the momentum he gained by winning the Iowa caucuses and the Puerto Rican primary.

PRESIDENT INVITED

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The South Carolina Democratic Party has invited President Carter to attend its annual governors' dinner here March 7.

Local Educators, Parents Testify At Public Education Hearing

By LISA PAIKOWSKI
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Concerns ranging from poor teacher salaries to sex education in the classroom were expressed by approximately 35 local educators, parents and business representatives Monday at a public education hearing.

A crowd of about 200 that slowly dwindled toward the end of the afternoon sat in on the forum conducted by the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education.

The committee, chaired by Dr. Willis M. Tate, president emeritus of Southern Methodist University, was created by Gov. Bill Clements to seek input on recommendations for improvement of the state public school system.

One of the issues voiced repeatedly by those who testified was the need for increased teacher pay, a concern that was most emphatically demonstrated by a Lubbock public school teacher and coach.

Jerry Yarbrough, a teacher at Slaton Junior High, described himself as "the little man" in public education who can barely get by on a teacher's salary.

Yarbrough told the committee that despite the combined income from his job and his wife's job, that he cannot afford to have children. He noted that practically all of his take-home pay goes toward car and house payments, and that he recently took the coaching job at Slaton to make some extra money.

"I like my kids (students). I think I'm a good teacher. But I can't afford to do it on my salary," Yarbrough said.

The emotional plea for higher teacher salaries by Yarbrough drew praise from several members of the audience following his testimony, with Lubbock Superintendent Ed Irons noting that the speech was one of the most effective contributions to the public forum.

June Cox, president-elect for the Lubbock Educators Association, also addressed the issue of educator salaries, saying, "People in Texas get what they pay for." She said that with the current inadequate pay scales for teachers, "There is little reason to expect competent people to enter or remain in the teaching profession."

Parents' concerns also were represented at the hearing where a contingent of mothers, mostly from Plainview voiced their opposition to "humanist" teachings in the classroom and their opinion that sex education should be eliminated from public school curriculum.

Mrs. De Juan Strickland of Plainview told the committee that sex education is "the supreme right and responsibility of the parents whether or not they choose to teach it." She added that if the subject is taught, then moral responsibility also ought to be taught.

Mrs. Strickland said that sex education is "forced on us by humanists."

Mrs. Eugene Johnson of Plainview and Skeet Workman, active in a local anti-feminist group, also complained of the teaching of values clarification in schools.

Mrs. Johnson said that the teaching of values should be left to the parents and that teachers attempt to instruct children to make decisions "about life changing values" before they are ready. "Teaching children rights instead of responsibility breeds rebellion," she said.

Mrs. Workman said the humanistic emphasis on the "social and psychological growth" of children has wrongly replaced the role of basic academics in school.

Plainview teacher Kent Snodgrass also criticized the decline in emphasis on the basics, noting that drug education and crime education should be removed from the curriculum. "My kids can teach drug education better than I can," Snodgrass said.

A West Texas State University educator also spoke about the back to the basics movement, criticizing the new state-mandated competency tests for their failure to assess oral communication abilities.

Virginia Myers, assistant professor of speech at the college and a former Lubbock public school speech teacher, said, "By identifying minimum competencies as reading, writing and math, we have designed a three-legged stool."

Mrs. Myers said that students should be tested for oral communication competencies, which, she said, "are one of the most severe deficiencies exhibited by high school students today."

However, fine arts supporters got in their two cents, also, with requests that art and music be considered on a level with basic subjects.

"I urge you not to yield to pressure of back to the basics at the expense of fine arts," said Wayne Stevens, music consultant for the Lubbock school district.

He told the committee that the arts "lend strength and support to other subjects" and that they "make life more worthwhile."

UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, has announced the purchase of an additional 10,000 blankets and 250 large family tents to protect Afghan refugee mothers and children who fled from their own country to Pakistan.

in other parts of the state. She said the governor will consider the committee recommendations for use in the next legislative session.

Tech Heads For Tourney

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
 Senior Thad Sanders is the first to admit his career at Texas Tech has often resembled a roller coaster ride — plenty of ups and downs.

Monday night, before a meager Municipal Coliseum crowd of 2,537, Sanders finished his Lubbock cage career with a flourish. The 6-4 senior scored a career high 18 points — 12 in the critical second half — hauled down seven rebounds and even blocked a shot as the Raiders caught fire in the final 20 minutes and cruised to a 71-52 victory over TCU in opening-round action of the Southwest Conference postseason tournament.

With Sanders leading the way, the Raiders now advance to San Antonio where they'll meet SMU, an 86-83 winner over Baylor Monday night, at 9 p.m. Thursday in the HemisFair Arena. In the first game Thursday, Texas will face Houston. The Coogs advanced with a 92-80 win over Rice Monday night.

The Raiders will take a 15-12 season record to San Antonio while the Frogs close out the year with a 7-19 slate.

The Raiders looked sluggish in the first half, but led 31-27 at the intermission. Quickly though, they took control in the second half as Ben Hill, Sanders, Ralph Brewster, Jeff Taylor, Joe Washington, Kent Williams — and finally Sanders again — broke loose for easy buckets underneath the TCU zone.

When Sanders hit his second layup of the second half at the 13:58 mark, the Raiders led 45-33 and they coasted home from there.

"In spots, we looked like our old ballclub," said Tech coach Gerald Myers. "We showed a little zip out there. We needed one like this going into San Antonio — it's been a long time since we've played with any kind of cushion."

"Sanders and Joe Washinton both came off the bench and sparked us," Myers added. "And Brewster played his best game in quite awhile. Overall, it was probably the best second half we've played since the (Texas) A&M game a couple of weeks ago (Feb. 4)."

Myers was right. In the second half, Tech looked like the Raiders of old. They shot 64 percent from the field (16 of 25 attempts), dominated the boards, got balanced scoring and even had their fast-break working.

"It felt like our old team in spots," said Brewster who had 12 points, 10 rebounds and two blocked shots in the game. "Of course that was TCU, I just hope we can do that against some other team."

Brewster left the game in the first half when he came down hard on his ankle, but returned in the second half to play his best game in several weeks. Both of his blocks sparked Tech fastbreak baskets.

David Little was also in double figures, scoring 12 points in 19 minutes of playing time. Hill added 11 for the Raiders. But it was Sanders who stood out both offensively and defensively for Tech.

"We wanted this one real bad," said Sanders. "I played with everything I had in me tonight. It's a new season for us now. We've just got to play our game in San Antonio."

"It was a beautiful way to end a career here," he added. "It couldn't have been any better."

Sanders wasn't the only one happy to be headed to San Antonio.

"It's a relief to get into the tournament," said Myers. "We sold a lot of tickets and it would be a shame if our fans didn't have a team down there. As inconsistently as we've been playing, I can't be real optimistic."

"But in the back of my mind," he added, "I've got to feel like we can make a good showing."

While Myers and the Raiders were talking about San Antonio and a new season, TCU coach Jim Killingsworth spoke about the end of a tough year.

"We're still a couple of players away," said the first-year coach. "I'm disappointed that this one got out of hand — we'd been playing close the last few games."

"We just let them get a couple of backdoors on us in the second half and they got things going. When you lose as much as we have, I think you get worse rather than get better in the situation we got into at the start of the second half."

Deckery Johnson and Darrell Brewer paced the Frogs with 13 points apiece and Eric Summers added 10. As a team though, the Frogs connected on only 40 percent of their field goal attempts.

The Frogs played well in the first half though, when the game was tied 10 times. Trailing 27-25, Tech scored the final six points of the opening half when Sanders hit a short bank shot. Little got a fast break dunk and then hit from 18 feet out to make it 31-27 at the half.

Whatever Myers told the Raiders in the dressing room at the half, obviously worked. TCU never got in the game.

Williams scored eight points, pulled down four rebounds and dished out eight assists in the game.

Euphoric U.S. Reacts To Win

By The Associated Press
 Nothing since the landing of Americans on the moon has so caught the imagination of the people of this country.

And never in the history of the United States have so many people been carried away with euphoria and pride over the success of a hockey team — a group of unheralded amateurs at that.

The underdog U.S. hockey team won the gold medal at the XIII Winter Olympic Games at Lake Placid, N.Y., and, for a little while at least, the nation is glowing with a warm feeling of triumph.

Following the nationally televised gold-clinching victory over Finland Sunday, unusual things began happening throughout the country.

The crowds at National Basketball Association games in Kansas City, Landover, Md., and Piscataway, N.J., stood and cheered, sang the National Anthem or began a spontaneous chant of "U-S-A! U-S-A!" in response to the announcement of the 4-2 victory over the Finns.

Stock car driving star Darrell Waltrip, after winning the Richmond 400, stood before the media and said, "I'd like to congratulate the U.S. hockey team. I'd like to dedicate this win to them."

Television station WNBQ, the American Broadcasting Co. affiliate in Memphis, Tenn., was besieged with calls from irate viewers after deciding to preempt ABC's live coverage of the U.S.-Finland game with local religious programming. Others picketed the station and the owner of a local helicopter leasing firm flew a helicopter over Memphis trailing a 100-foot banner which read, "WHBQ — What Happened To Our Hockey Game?"

The game began at 10 a.m. local time in Memphis and Bob Lewis, the station's program director, said, "We misread the situation. Obviously, in hindsight, I would have taken another look."

In places where the game was shown, there were impromptu parties in homes, bars opened early and were filled to overflowing, ministers let their congregations leave services early, and many people were up unusually early for a Sunday.

Al Christensen, owner of a bar in Madison, Wis., opened the place to serve coffee during the game even though he could serve no liquor until noon on Sunday.

"I thought the Olympics were okay," Christensen said, "but taking the gold medal in hockey IS the Olympics."

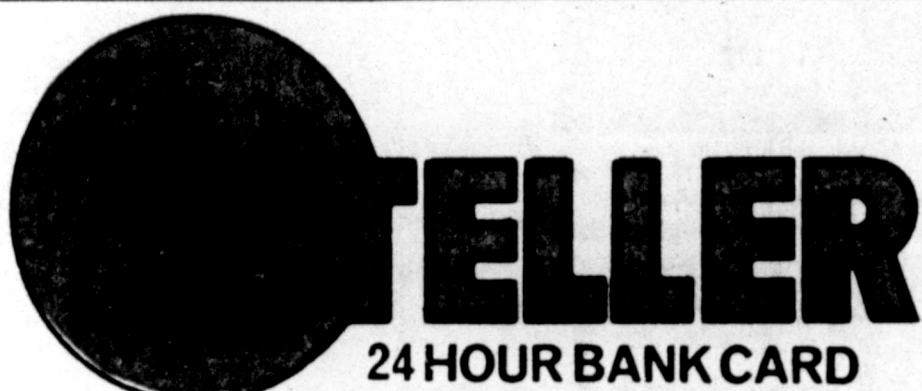

While all the U.S. Olympic team members flew to Washington, D.C., Monday to have lunch with President Carter, plans were being made in cities all over the country to honor the youngsters who represented them at Lake Placid.

In Davidson, Mich., plans were well under way for a "Ken Morrow Day," honoring the 23-year-old who was one of the 20 members of the U.S. hockey team. Not far away, in St. Clair Shores, Mich., banners proclaiming "Welcome Home, Mark Wells" were being erected at the city limits in greeting for that 22-year-old hockey star.

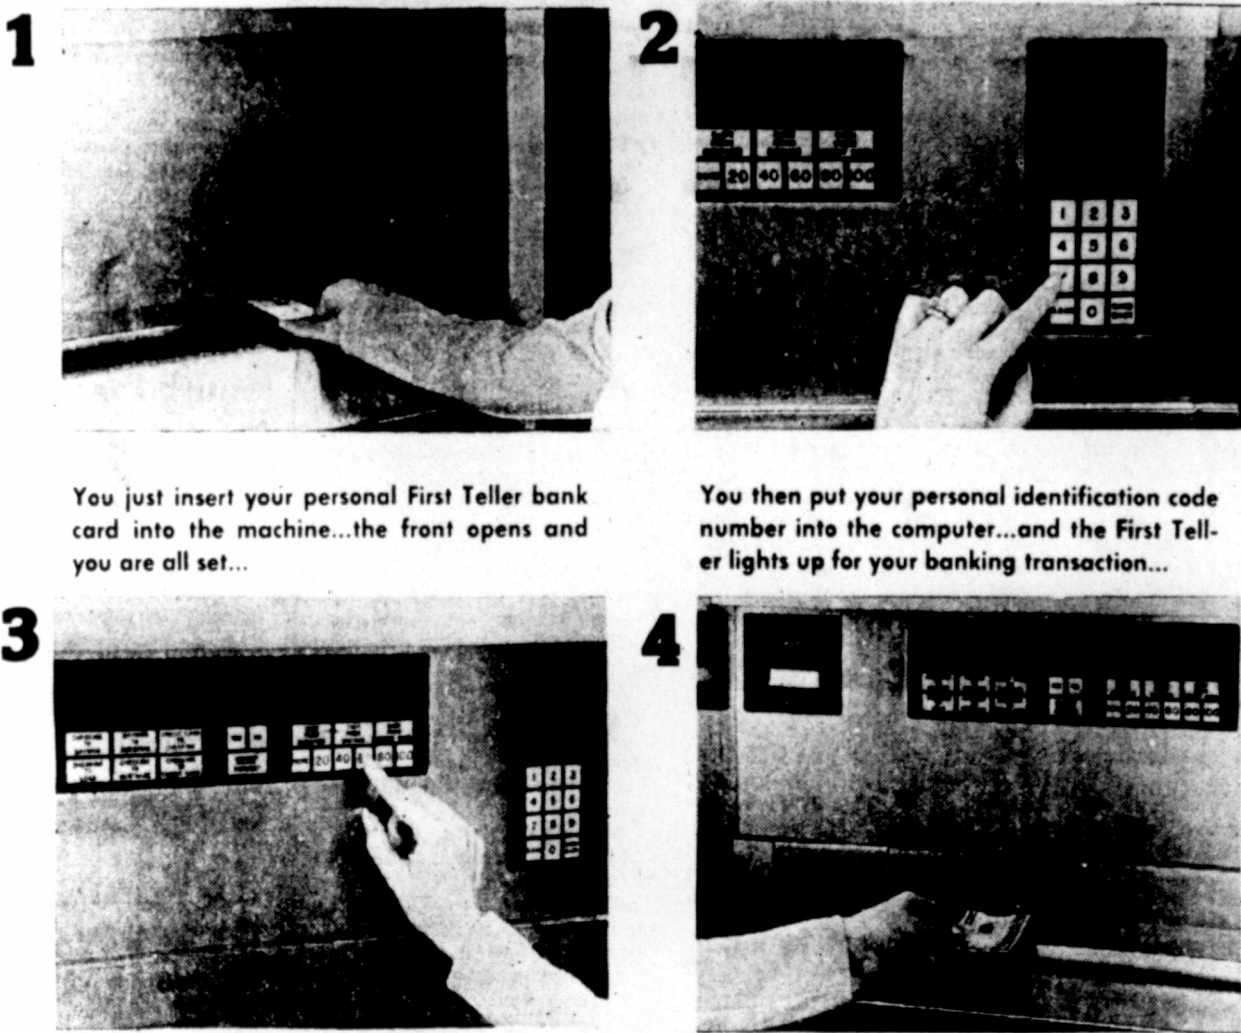

Although nobody on the hockey team was from Iowa, the 100-member Iowa House of Representatives heard praise of the hockey players from Speaker Pro Tem William Harbor, then stood and applauded their accomplishments on Monday.

Ethridge Sisters Work As Team

By JIM FERGUSON

Avalanche Journal Sports Staff
Over at Monterey, the Ethridge girls would beat the Oak Ridge Boys in a popularity contest any day of the week and twice on Tuesday and Friday nights.

And that's not whistling "The Ya'll Come Back Saloon," either. With a combined scoring average of 29.1 points per game, the Ethridge girls — Kriss and Kamie — are perhaps the premier sister act ever to hit the Lubbock high school basketball scene. Breaking those 29.1 points down to size, junior Kriss boasts a 15.8 average, while sophomore Kamie is only a bucket or so back at 13.3. And those averages rank the Ethridges No. 1 and No. 2 in scoring on a Plainsmen team that last weekend clinched a state-playoff berth by winning the Region I-AAAA tournament in Abilene.

Outsiders might think there's some kind of intense sibling rivalry that motivates the two sisters. But, according to both Kriss and Kamie, that's just a bunch of malarkey.

"We really enjoy playing together," commented Kriss. "That's because we get along fine."

But Kamie quickly interrupted. "Sometimes."

However, they do admit tempers do flare every now and then. After all, they're only human, and sisters at that.

"But it's because we want each other to do well," stressed Kriss.

According to head coach Tim Tasker, the "Bully-Jody" act isn't a simply a facade. "I've seen teams where they (sisters or brothers) couldn't get a long at all," said Tasker. "It can happen without any trouble. But that's not the case with Kriss and Kamie. They really do get along that well. They're both hard workers that would do anything for each other and the team."

This isn't the first time the girls ever played on the same team. When they were younger, the two were Little Dribblers together. But that's been a while back. From the rough-and-tumble world of junior league basketball, the girls advanced to their respective seventh, eighth and ninth grade teams and finally the MHS varsity. Neither Kami nor Kriss spent much time on the Plainsmen's junior varsity as a sophomore. It was first cabin all the way.

So apparently both girls are superb athletes. Both handle the ball with authority and shoot jump shots that hit nothing but the net most of the time. But which one is the best player? Kami didn't hesitate; she pointed at Kriss and replied: "She is."

There was no argument from older sis on that subject.

"I've got more experience in all," said Kriss, an all-district performer last year as a sophomore.

Both girls agree that Tasker's run-oriented offense and full-court pressing defense has had a lot to do with their development as cagers. They step off the bus in a dead run and shoot the ball everytime the top of the key comes into sight.

"He's made all the difference," said Kriss. "Everybody likes his style of play. I know I do. He gives you a chance to play."

Kriss also credits Tasker with the success of this year's Monterey team, which is currently ranked second in the state with a 30-2 record.

"I don't think we could have done it without him," said Kriss. "It would have been hard."

Monterey begins its quest of a state title Thursday night at 8 p.m. against Austin Lanier. The finals are set for 3:05 Saturday afternoon, with the Monterey-Lanier winner facing either Pearland or the state's top-ranked team, Dallas South Oak Cliff.

"I don't know how we'll do," said Kriss. "We have a lot of confidence. I think that will help."

Plainsmen Seek To Snap Jinx With Bi-District Win Tonight

CANYON — There's no need to remind Joe Michalka about the cursed "third-time ain't necessarily a charm" jinx. He's well aware of the problem, its symptoms and the end result.

Some call it a mental lapse. Michalka uses that expression, too, with a few other adjectives thrown in for emphasis sake.

Early in the season Monterey drilled Dunbar by counts of 68-47 and 74-52. But the third game saw the Plainsmen bow to the Class AAA Panthers, 58-57 in overtime. And against Estacado, MHS ran up scores of 74-68 and 50-40. But in the rubber game, you guessed it, Michalka's crew lost 57-52.

So what's all of this leading up to? The inevitable, perhaps.

Monterey's bi-district opponent, Pampa, has lost to the Plainsmen twice already this year, 58-42 in the second round of the Hereford tournament and 49-40 in the Harvester's backyard.

Tonight at 8 in the Canyon High gym, the Plainsmen will attempt to run their record against PHS to 3-0. But Michalka says that might not be so easy.

In other Region I-AAAA contests tonight, Forth Worth Dunbar meets FW Richard at 7:30 p.m. at Daniel Meyer Coliseum. Wichita Falls plays Odessa Permian at 8 p.m. in Abilene, and El Paso Coronado goes against EP Eastwood at 7:30 p.m. (MST) at UTEP. The winners of these games will advance to the regional tournament Friday and Saturday in Abilene.

"I don't know what our problem is. I guess we get too complacent," said Michalka. "But if that happens (against Pampa) we can just sack 'em up and go home."

Monterey moved into the bi-district round for the third straight year after winning the District 4-AAAA title with ease. On the other hand, Pampa had to knock off Palo Duro 60-39 in a post-season playoff after both teams tied for the 3-AAAA title with identical records. As far as the season goes, Monterey is 25-6, Pampa 16-13.

According to Michalka, the Plainsmen must "cut out all of those turnovers" tonight or suffer the consequences, which is, elimination from the statewide tournament.

Turnovers have been the Plainsmen Achilles' heel all season. For the year, MHS has averaged over 20 mistakes per game.

"I'd like to see us get it down to just 15," said Michalka. "That would take a little pressure off us. But we haven't been able to do that.

"I don't know what the problem is," continued Michalka. "We're not being pressed all the way down the floor. A lot of times, we use very poor judgment. We pass the ball inside (to bigmen Trav Clardy, Ian Hyslop or Gary Hodges) instead of keeping it."

Although not blessed with an overabundance of talent, the Harvesters won the conference title with — as one Amarillo sports writer put it — "rebounding, aggressiveness and defense." And that worries Michalka considerably.

"They hustle for that loose ball like I haven't seen teams do in a long time," pointed out Michalka. "And because of that they get a lot of what I call trash buckets. And they end up beating you because of that."

In the win over Palo Duro, Ronnie Faggins poured in 19 points and yanked down another 12 rebounds. He was nine of 13 from the floor. Cedric Parker was the only other Harvester in double figures with 14 points.

Michalka will counter the PHS attack with guards Steve Wooten and Greg Thomason, and insiders Hyslop, Clardy, and Hodges.

With that front line that averages right at 6.6, Michalka hopes to control both the offensive and defensive boards against the Harvester — and, in turn, control the ballgame.

Team Fails To Show Up

The Texas Tech men's and women's tennis teams were to play dual matches Monday at the Tech varsity courts, but their opponents from Midwestern University never made it.

Richland Takes Wrestling Meet

EL PASO (Special) — Richland College of Dallas won its second consecutive Texas wrestling championship at UTEP's Memorial Gym Saturday.

Texas A&M took second place, North Texas State, finished third, host UTEP was fourth and the Texas Tech Red Raiders finished in fifth place.

For Tech, Les Davis lost in the finals of the 126-pound division to Ruben Rebollo of El Paso Community College by a score of 7-1. In the 158-pound division, Tech's Rick Alder was decisioned 5-2 by Richland's Pat Potts. Keith Walker lost a 33-2 decision to Richland's Dave Deatherage in the 190-pound division. Billy Pier, another Tech wrestler, lost an 8-3 decision to Kelly Wornell of North Texas in the heavyweight division.

Tech had two wrestlers in the consolation rounds. Barry Roberts lost a 10-4 decision to UTEP's Bob Gutman in the 118-pound division and Bret Chomer of Tech lost a narrow 7-6 decision to Richland's John Fisher in the 150-pound division.

Pop Warner coached 313 winning college-football games, one less than the record-holder, Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Area Basketball Teams Clash In Boys' Bi-District Games

The girls played some wild bi-district and regional playoff games last week, but now it's the boys' turn.

District 5-AA winner Seminole will play 6-AA champion Ballinger tonight at 8 in Snyder.

Vega, winner of District 3-A, will clash with 4-A's Cinderella champion Shallowater tonight at 7:30 in Muleshoe. District 5-A champion Seagraves will be in action against 6-A winner Marfa in Monahans tonight at 7:30.

Nazareth, champion of District 5-B, will play area rival Spade, winner of District 6-B, tonight at 8 in Levelland. That game will be preceded by the bi-district clash between District 7-B champion Sundown and 8-B representative Southland Sands, the 9-B winner, will play District 11-B champion Ira tonight at 7:30 in Lamesa. And Harrold, the District 27-B winner, will play 12-B representative Motley County tonight at 7:30 in Crowell.

Seminole will put its 23-8 record on the line against the 22-7 Ballinger Bears. Seminole won the 5-AA title with a victory over Frenship Friday night.

Vega coach Wayne Potter is respectful of Keith Kitchens' Shallowater Mustangs. His 19-11 Longhorns will be facing a 23-5 Mustang team that finished third in the regular season district standings, but beat Hale Center in the post-season tournament to move into bi-district competition.

"They have an awful good team," Potter said. "They're well-disciplined, well-coached and are balanced. We're just going to stay with our usual game plan — pressure the man with the ball and try to force turnovers so we can run. We're healthy and I think we're ready to play."

Kitchens is wary of Vega's pressing defense. He also knows the Longhorns play well together.

"I'm confident though," Kitchens said. "We've been playing well lately and have gotten Randy Middlebrook, a senior forward, back from a knee injury. We're probably in our best physical shape of the year."

Seagraves coach Jim Eddins was unavailable for comment, but assistant coach Otis Summers said his Eagle squad is ready to go.

"We've been playing well in spurts lately," Summers said. "Everybody on our team must play well for us to win tonight, because we have 10 players who play an equal amount of time. We play them, but everybody is ready to play."

Seagraves has a 14-1 record, while their Marfa opponents are 22-7.

Nazareth, which beat out Valley for the 5-B championship last week by a score of 55-37, has a record of 23-6 going into tonight's clash with state-ranked Spade.

"I'll just be glad if we can play with them," coach Bud Birks said. "We'll try to counteract their two big posts and good outside shooting guards with our two big posts and defensive pressure outside."

Spade, 27-5, has had hard time in its three practice games leading up to tonight's bi-district clash, but coach Bill Wallace believes his team will win if it plays like it is capable of doing.

"We've been practicing well," Wallace said. "I think it will boil down to who wins the battle under the boards."

Southland coach Keith Gast says his team will have to overcome Sundown's different defensive alignments and play like it did Friday when it beat Western Hills 78-38. "We're all healthy and have been playing well lately," Gast said.

Southland goes into the game with a 23-4 record.

Sands coach Stan Pulliam is wary of Ira's two big men Steve Mitchell (6-7) and Dave Bryant (6-3), but has high-scoring David Long who has been averaging 25 points a game in the last three practice contests.

"We're just going to have to block out and try to control the boards," Pulliam said. "We're healthy and have been playing well lately, so I think we're ready."

Another player the 30-3 Sands team will be depending on will be point guard Phil Wigginton, who is averaging 10 assists per game.

The 21-1 Motley County Matadors beat the state's fourth-ranked Class A team Memphis 41-38 recently, which pleases coach Danny James.

"Harrold likes to run and gun with their excellent outside shooters, so we're going to have to go to work on the boards," James said. "We're a little taller at the front line positions, but we'll still have to work hard to win."

In another area bi-district encounter, 1-AAA champion Borger will take on 2-AAA representative Andrews tonight at 8 at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

In that clash, even Mustang coach Frank Bice agrees the Bulldogs are favored.

"From what I hear, I guess they have to be," said Bice, bossman of the 28-4 Andrews bunch. "Most coaches regard them as heavy favorites. I have to regard them as favorites because of their style of play. I'm not going to stay heavy favorites though."

The problem, in a word, is height.

Andrews starts a squad that stands 5-8 (junior Jerry Alaniz), 5-9 (senior Robbie Jones), two 5-11s (senior Brian Templeton and sophomore Keith Brooks) and a 6-2 (junior Van Peary).

Borger has three players as tall or taller than Andrews' biggest man. And they're not stiff either. 6-2 senior Gary Ray starts at one forward and twin giants Brett Smith (6-4 senior) and Greg Belton (6-5 junior) start at the posts.

Smith is averaging 20.5 points and 11.5 boards a game, Belton is getting 8.8 boards and 10.4 points. When you combine that with fiery spark plug guard Chester Williams, who's averaging 17 points a game, and that's some volatile mixture.

Andrews has been getting good play out of its two forwards, Templeton and Brooks. Templeton is averaging 19.3 points and nine rebounds a game while Brooks is getting 13.4 and 10. Alaniz is scoring 16 a game.

"We're going to hustle and hope," said Bice. "The tempo is going to be the key factor. They've got so much size. They've got quickness, I'm not saying they don't, but we've got to be quicker than they are."

Also, district 3-AAA champion Snyder will be in Abilene tonight to play 4-AAA representative Weatherford in a 8 p.m. bi-district clash.

CU Under Investigation

DENVER (AP) — The football program at the University of Colorado is under investigation by the NCAA for a "significant" number of alleged recruiting, financial aid and academic violations. CU President Arnold Weber said Monday.

The alleged infractions took place between 1970 and February 1979 and have been under investigation by the NCAA for nearly four years, Weber said.

Weber declined to provide specifics of the allegations, saying it would be inappropriate to do so at this time, but said there were "a significant number of alleged infractions."

There is a common sense reaction that there are a fair number of allegations of a technical nature. Some others go to actions that I think reasonable people would view with concern," Weber said.

Weber said that Colorado, which plays in the Big Eight, was notified last October that the NCAA's infraction committee had begun an official inquiry. At a news conference on Monday, he announced the formation of a committee to investigate the allegations and prepare a response for the NCAA that must be delivered by early June.

The NCAA infractions committee will meet 30 to 45 days after submission of the CU report and could impose penalties ranging from probation to reprimand. A team on probation can be barred from post-season and television games.

Two Big Eight schools, Oklahoma State and Oklahoma, have been put on probation by the NCAA in the last decade, and two others, Missouri and Nebraska, were reprimanded.

The inquiry spans a nine-year period and focuses largely on recruiting practices, financial assistance and academic matter involving student athletes," Weber said of the NCAA probe.

Eddie Crowder, CU athletic director, also declined comment on the specifics of the NCAA probe.

Asked if he expected CU to be put on probation by the NCAA, Crowder replied, "I don't expect anything."

Critic Calls 'Foolin' Around' Lightweight, Poorly Written

"Foolin' Around," directed by Richard T. Helton. Screenplay by Mike Kane and David Swift. Based on a story by Swift. Music by Charles Bernstein. Songs: "Foolin' Around" and "These Moments Never Lie Again" (song by Sean & Crofts). Edited by Peter Zinner. Photographed by Philip Lathrop. Starring Gary Busey, Annette O'Toole, Cloris Leachman, Eddie Albert and Tony Randall. Rated PG. At the Fox Fourplex.

By WILLIAM D. KERNS
A-J Entertainment Editor

Not since John Travolta followed "Saturday Night Fever" with the horrendous "Moment By Moment" has an Academy Award nominee regressed as much as Gary Busey. An unexpected household word after the release of "The Buddy Holly Story," Busey now finds himself mired in a lightweight, semi-slapstick, often tasteless matinee aimed at the kiddos called "Foolin' Around." Mind you, in all fairness we should note that "Foolin' Around" is neither as bad nor as boring as "Moment By Moment" (but then, few movies are), and "Busey" signed for this film before his prior hit went into release.

GARY BUSEY

Even so, the scriptwriters for "Foolin' Around" never really decide on a direction, a mistake which could doom the efforts of any fine cast. The basic storyline is as overused as it is ancient. Poor but goodhearted underdog wins the love of a rich person and, despite the efforts of the latter's pompous family and fiancée, lives happily ever after. Heck, if Tammy can leave the swamp and land a doctor, I suppose we can stand for a naive Oklahoman (Busey) hitchhiking to the University of Minnesota, where he wins the affection of heiress Annette O'Toole. In fact, even though he appears too old for college antics, Busey possesses an extremely likeable air which occasionally helps transcend the material.

His efforts do not go totally unrewarded, as we laugh at his mutterings through an air conditioning vent and are even touched by his conversations with the heiress' grandfather, played in grand style by Eddie Albert. But with practically everyone else asked to overact, with a plot that moves from campus theatrics to romance to satire and on to pre-pubescent silliness, there is no way Busey can maintain his effort.

After all, this is a movie which seeks laughs through curse words and below-the-belt pain. Tony Randall is the heiress' butler, and we're supposed to think he's funny simply because he retains his prim and proper manner while muttering four-letter words under his breath. It's hard to believe this script drew Randall back to film after a seven year absence. And along with the Disneyesque pratfalls, we have no less than three cheap shots where we're expected to laugh because either Busey or snobby John Calvin are struck in the groin by cleaning machines, ladders or tennis balls.

Cloris Leachman's agent got her special billing in the credits as the heiress' mother, but her character is of the same frantic cattiness as the rest she's been overacting of late.

Sure, the relationship between Busey and pretty Annette O'Toole is a sweet one, and even manages to make us care for awhile. But it is constantly interrupted by idiocies. At one point, director Richard T. Helton interrupts the action to offer a dream sequence which satirizes "Rocky," wiping vaseline on the lens and filming Busey downing raw eggs, then jogging at dawn and working out on the meat carcasses with a tennis racket. It just doesn't fit. And when he winds down his overlong, obligatory chase scene — involving vans, hydraulic lifts, cars in the shape of hot dogs and multiple collisions — the entire film falls apart.

There is no denying the talent of Gary Busey, Annette O'Toole, Eddie Albert and Cloris Leachman, all have impressed us in the past and all will no doubt go on to better things. But "Foolin' Around" simply offers no challenge and not one well-written part. It is to Busey's and Albert's credit that we laugh at all. Without their contributions, this film would be notable only for its location filming in the Minneapolis area, with cinematographer Philip Lathrop highlighting the city's skylarks, beautiful landscapes and serene lakes.

Sadly, however, scenery cannot carry this sort of comedy. NEW BOOKING: "Norma Rae" is a surprise nominee for Best Picture of the Year, though Sally Field has to be considered the leading contender for the Best Actress award. Many Lubbock moviegoers have mentioned they missed seeing the film earlier, so take note it will return Friday for a one-week run. It is presently booked at both the Mann Fourplex and the South Plains Cinema, but one of the theaters may drop it before Friday.

Texas Instruments President To Speak At Tahoka Banquet

A man who grew up in Tahoka and went on to become president of one of the largest corporations in the world will be principal speaker at his hometown's annual chamber of commerce banquet.

J. Fred Bucey, president and chief operating officer of Texas Instruments Inc., will speak at the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce banquet March 6 in the high school cafeteria.

Bucey is married to the former Odetta Greer of Grassland. The Bucys were honored at a reception at Texas Tech Feb. 7 for establishing the J. Fred Bucey Jr. and Odetta Greer Bucey Chair in Electrical Engineering.

Bucey, a graduate of Texas Tech in physics in 1951, is vice chairman of the Tech board of regents and has an international reputation in the fields of electronics and business finance.

He is a member of the National Academy of Engineering, the Council of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, the President's Commission for the '80s and the Technology Assessment Advisory Council of the Office of Technology Assessment of the U.S. Congress and of other prestigious groups.

Born in Tahoka, Bucey graduated from Tahoka High School in 1946. When he was in high school, he worked for the late Wynne Collier at the drugstore soda fountain. After graduating, he entered Tech where he earned his bachelors degree, and later earned a masters degree at the University of Texas in Austin in 1953.

Bucey's father, the late Fred Bucey Sr., moved his family to Brownfield after Fred Jr. finished school in Tahoka. The elder Bucey sold insurance and farmed in this area, and reportedly was somewhat disappointed when his son decided to join Texas Instruments after finishing college, rather than going into farming.

Bucey's first work with TI was with the Central Research Laboratories in Dallas where he did research in instrumentation for oil exploration. He holds seven patents.

Christian Club Slates Meeting

The Lubbock Christian Men's Club will meet at noon today at the Memorial Civic Center with Mike Tuttle as featured speaker at the luncheon session.

Tuttle is a regional vice president with A.L. Williams and Associates. He is a graduate of Mississippi State University and spent five years on the staff of Campus Crusade for Christ. More than three of those years were on the Texas Tech campus.

The meeting is open to the public.

BOY SCOUTS SYMBOL
The Boy Scouts' symbol, the fleur-de-lis, is based on the design of an ornate pointer on a compass. The fleur-de-lis in history stood for France, but the Boy Scout version has an American eagle superimposed in the design.

J. FRED BUCEY

In 1963, Bucey was promoted to corporate vice president and assumed responsibility for TI's government products.

In 1966, in addition to government products, he was given responsibility for materials and electrical products.

A year later, he headed up the semiconductor components division, including its international manufacturing operations. He retained responsibility for materials and electrical products.

In May 1972, he was elected executive vice president of Texas Instruments, with responsibility for 49 TI plants in 19 countries.

He was elected to the board of directors of Texas Instruments in October 1974 and the next year was named chief operating officer, making him responsible for all operations of Texas Instruments Incorporated, reporting to TI president and chief executive officer, Mark Shepherd, Jr.

Bucey was elected president of Texas Instruments on April 22, 1976.

Bucey also serves as a director of Texas Instruments organizations in Germany, Japan, Indonesia, Nigeria, France, Holland, South America, Italy, Singapore and Taiwan.

He holds the grade of Fellow in the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, is a member of the Cosmos Club of Washington, D.C., the Dallas Petroleum Club, and the Northwood Club of Dallas. He is a member of the Technology Assessment Advisory Council of the Office of Technology Assessment of the Congress of the United States. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, a member of the Comptroller General's Consultant Panel, and is also a member of the National Academy of Engineering, Sigma Pi Sigma and Tau Beta Pi.

In addition to being a board member of Texas Instruments, he also is a member of the President's Commission for a National Agenda for the '80s. He received the Distinguished Engineers Award from Texas Tech University in April 1972.

Mr. and Mrs. Bucey have three children.

After the chamber banquet there will be an informal reception for the Bucys at the Pioneer Museum.

Morton To Honor Citizens' For Achievements

MORTON (Special) — The Morton Chamber of Commerce honored Dorothy Jerden, Louis Bays and the Loy Kern family Monday night as the Woman of the Year, Man of the Year and Farm Family of the Year.

About 175 chamber members gathered in the high school cafeteria for the annual dinner at which Kenneth Wyatt, a western artist from Tulsa, was the featured speaker.

As Woman of the Year, Mrs. Jerden was honored for her community work and Sunday School service. The Morton native, who works in the school tax office, has held several Sunday school offices, has been a nursery worker and is known for the flower arrangements she provides several civic groups.

Bays, a Lingleville native, has lived in Morton since 1974, moving from Jal, N.M. The current manager of Cochran Power and Light was district representative and then district manager of New Mexico Electric while he lived in Jal from 1961 to 1974. Bays currently is a member of the chamber board of directors.

Loy and Vivian Kern and their three children, Rachel, Holly and Doug, were named Farm Family of the Year. Loy, a native of Brownfield, moved to Cochran County in 1943. He graduated from Morton High and married the former Vivian Ledbetter in 1962.

In addition to farming, Kern also is a musician, a stained glass artist and a metal sculptor. He is a member of the Lions Club, Little League and the Cochran County ASCS. He and his wife have been involved in farming since their marriage.

New chamber officers also were presented at the banquet. They are Charles Minnick, president; Ray Bradley, vice president; and Micheline Crockett, secretary-treasurer.

Peking Mayor Signs Agreement

PEKING (AP) — Peking Mayor Lin Hujia, sporting an "I Love New York" button, signed an agreement with New York City Mayor Edward I. Koch on Monday making their cities sister cities committed to expanded cultural and economic contacts.

During the signing ceremony in the Peking Room of the Great Hall of the People, the two mayors shook hands and hugged.

"To the steady growth of the relations between our two cities, ganbei (bottoms up)," Lin said as the two toasted with champagne.

"To two great countries and two great cities," replied Koch.

Then the New York mayor added, "That was super."

Earlier Monday, Koch told Lin he would like to see more American hotels built in Peking and said he hoped discussions with Sheraton and Pan Am would be successful.

In a meeting in the Great Hall of the People, Koch also said he hoped China would build hotels in New York City. He urged a permanent trade office for Peking in New York and later told aviation officials the city would try its utmost to help the Chinese carrier CAAC make regular flights to New York.

New York Comptroller Harrison Goldin said Lin expressed hope that hotels will be built in Peking and said "a number of companies are interested."

Lin, however, said it was premature to talk about China building hotels in New York. "I think he has his hands full with construction in Peking," Goldin said.

Restaurant Closed Down

WELLS, Maine (AP) — The last supper is over. But the operator of the Temple of Bacchus hopes it will be reborn as an antique shop.

Vincent J. Morino is seeking Zoning Board of Appeals permission to run an antique business from his 200-year-old home on U.S. 1. The case will be heard next week.

The Temple of Bacchus, named for the Roman god of wine and revelry, opened in 1978 after the zoning board denied a bid by Morino and H. Carlisle Estes to convert the home into a restaurant.

Estes and Morino founded the temple, offering lavish church suppers in return for $15 donations. Morino is a cardinal and Estes a bishop — having obtained religious titles by mail from the Universal Life Church of Modesto, Calif.

Town fathers went to court, saying the "divine feasts" were a ruse to circumvent zoning laws. Estes and Morino said the case raised the constitutional issue of religious freedom.

An agreement was worked out to allow the temple to hold 12 feasts a year. The most recent was last May, and the temple did not renew its lease on Morino's house when it expired last October.

Morino said he will stay in Wells even if his latest attempt to set up a home business is denied. "This is my home," he said. "I refuse to move again. I'm settled here."

Man Owns Umbrella Factory

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Visit Ray Sharp's workshop cluttered with thousands of springs, ribs, shafts and curved handles, and you'll know why they call him the "Umbrella Man."

"I'm up to my ears in umbrellas," said the 74-year-old repairman, who claims to be one of the last of his breed in the nation. "Only a darn fool would get into the business."

His umbrella factory, located in a spare bedroom of his bungalow, is the oldest businesses in Oakland, licensed in 1872.

Sharp, a native of St. Louis, Mich., worked as a carpenter, millwright and contractor before he bought the shop 20 years ago. It had only about 4,000 parts then, he said.

"I must have 100,000 parts sitting around," he said in a recent interview. "I've got 1,000 yards of covering in the closet."

Sharp has to be a mechanic, seamstress and sometimes an artist to make his repairs.

You can't get parts for something that's made in 1930."

he said. So often he makes his own parts. "That's the fun part of it," he said, "making a sick umbrella well with spare parts."

Senator To Run Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacob Javits, the 75-year-old senator from New York, ended months of speculation about his political future Monday by announcing that he will try for a fifth term.

The veteran Republican called it a "momentous and an agonizing decision" reached after many talks with his wife and children. "I cannot take a walk now," he said. "We must see through what we must all face together."

Javits disclosed that although his health generally is in "great shape" doctors have told him he has a muscular condition that forces him to limit walking. Nevertheless, he said his reelection campaign will be "conducted the only way I know how, at top speed."

Javits has served 32 years in Congress, first for eight years as a representative of a heavily Democratic district on Manhattan's West Side. His service in Congress was interrupted in 1954, when he was elected state attorney general, but in 1956 he defeated New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. for the Senate.

Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, former Miss America Bess Myerson and former New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay either have announced or are prominently mentioned as Democratic candidates.

Among those mentioned as Republican candidates are Rep. Jack Kemp, former Rep. Bruce Caputo and former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Taxi Ride Recognized

LANETT, Ala. (AP) — Three men who took a 6,753.3-mile taxi ride from Alabama to South Dakota in 1978 finally have the recognition they wanted. Their feat is recorded in the 1980 edition of the Guinness Book of World Records.

And even though his name and hometown were misspelled, Charles "Seagull" Dailey of Lanett said, "It's the biggest thing that ever happened to me."

Dailey and his fellow adventurers, Freddie Hamby of Lanett and Herbert Sedinger of Opelika, found out Monday that their feat was accepted by Guinness. They got the good news from their public relations manager, Harlan Parks, who had picked up a copy of the Guinness book at a bookstore.

The cab trip began Sept. 9, 1978, at West Point Dam near Lanett. It officially ended 16 days later in Kadoka, S.D., when the 1974 Plymouth taxi pulled to a stop on Main Street.

The cab fare was $3,800, which went to Wadkins Cab Co. Sedinger bartered his fare in return for services as a mechanic.

A fourth traveler, 82-year-old Johnny Wadkins of Langdale, bowed out Sept. 18 in Chico, Calif., when he decided to visit his daughter.

The previous record of 6,752 miles was set in 1976 by two women, Ann Darhe and Nesta Sgro, who started from Hoboken, N.J., and traveled through 15 states for a cab fare of $2,500.

Goat Visits Governor

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Larry Seale, Idaho's budget director, was delivering papers to the governor Sunday night when he noticed another visitor peering at him through a glass door.

Upon investigation, he discovered a little brown and black goat tied to a door near the office of Gov. John Evans.

Having no apparent pressing business with the governor, the goat received a police escort from the State Capitol.

Justices Refuse To Hear Texas Woman's Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas woman, stripped of parental rights to five of her nine children, lost her bid Monday for the Supreme Court to review her case.

The justices left intact state court rulings that Guadalupe H. Gonzalez no longer is legally the mother of her five youngest children.

The woman's appeal to the Supreme Court attacked the constitutionality of the Texas law that was used to take away her parental rights.

A Cameron County judge ruled in 1978 that terminating the family relationship would be in the children's best interests.

In another Texas case, the Supreme Court turned down arguments by atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair that her trial on charges of disrupting an Austin city council meeting should take place in a federal, not a state, court.

The action clears the way for a state court trial stemming from Mrs. O'Hair's Nov. 3, 1977, arrest.

She was charged with disrupting a public meeting after protesting the unconstitutionality of an invocation prayer used at the meeting. The maximum penalty for the misdemeanor would be 180 days in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Mrs. O'Hair, an Austin resident, contended the case should not be tried in Texas courts because atheists are "systematically excluded from participation in any judicial proceeding in the state of Texas."

U.S. District Judge Jack Newman rejected last March Mrs. O'Hair's attempt to have the case transferred to federal court, and his ruling was upheld by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in November.

Mrs. Guadalupe's children have not lived with her since early 1976, when state officials placed them in foster homes after finding that they had been neglected.

Health officials stated that the young children were dressed in dirty clothes, had lice and were often left alone at home. One child was reported to have internal parasites and bodily sores.

Mrs. Gonzalez' lawyers, from Texas Rural Legal Aid in Weslaco, claimed the state law is too vague to be held up as constitutional.
