U.S. mobilizes to combat oil slick near Texas coast

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) - Coast Guard officials, surprised by thick balls of oil that washed up on a Mexican beach, have called for immediate mobilization of massive equipment to combat the world's largest oil spill.

Coast Guard Capt. Roger Madson, who is directing the spill containment operation, has ordered "strike teams" and equipment to battle the spill from North Carolina and California Coast Guard spokesman Richard Griggs said Wednesday that six 15,-000-pound "floating fences" were being shipped here. The mobilization was called for after the unexpected discovery of "tar balls" on a Mexican beach about 60 miles south of Brownsville. "It was a surprise that it washed up that far north. It was sooner than we anticipated," Griggs said. The oil is flowing at a rate of 20,000 barrels a day from the runaway Ixtoc

I oil well in Mexico's Bay of Campeche, said Coast Guard Lt. John The thick oil has been flowing out of control since the well blew out June 3.

Experts have projected it my take until October to cap the well. The 612-foot floating fences - called booms - are made of rubberized material and float two feet below the water and two feet above. They can be used either close to the coastline or offshore. Previous projections have said traces of the oil may turn up about 40 to 50 miles off the Texas coast this weekend.

A six-hour Coast Guard flight from here Wednesday charted the northernmost evidence of the slick about 70 to 80 miles southeast of Brownsville. Griggs said the slow northward movement of the oil is apparently continu-

But Craig Hooper, a National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration scientist aboard the flight, said there was no evidence of any patches of oil in that general area.

The oil that washed ashore and left a five- to 10-foot wide strip along the Mexican beach may have floated north undetected beneath the Gulf's surface, experts said.

A NOAA plane was scheduled to make a reconaissance flight today to again track the northern edge of the oil.

The officials gathered here to monitor the massive slick are now actually dealing with a series of smaller slicks. The northernmost oil is merely a thin sheen on the water's surface. Further south, however, the oil is still in thick patches that officials call "mousse" because of the density.

A streamer of "mousse" has been spotted about 120 miles south on U.S. waters. That patch is about 12 miles long and up to 200 yards wide.

U.S. has permission to enter Mexican water

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The U.S. Coast Guard has permission to enter Mexican waters to clean up the oil slick from the runaway oil well in the Gulf of Mexico if the slick moves north of the 25th parallel, according to a Mexican government official.

Capt. Americo Flores Nava of the subcommission for prevention and control of ocean pollution said Wednesday such a cleanup operation would be authorized only if the slick pased the parallel, which is near Brownsville. Flores Nava said the extreme northern end of the spill has advanced to the 21st parallel, off Tuxpan in the state of Veracruz, about 125 miles south of the 25th parallel.

The U.S. Coast Guard reported Wednesday the unexpected discovery of "tar balls" on a Mexican beach about 60 miles south of Brownsville.

The northernmost portion of the slick, according to the U.S. Coast Guard, is about 70 to 80 miles southeast of Brownsville, a great deal closer to the Texas coast than the location reported by Flores Nava.

He said the slick is only in small, finger-like streaks. "Many people think it involves huge black slicks. . .

but there is none of that," he said. The well, a test hole being drilled in the Gulf of Mexico about 50 miles offshore from the fishing village of Ciudad del Carmen, went out of control and caught fire June 3. PEMEX, the Mexican national oil company, has hired a team of international specialists to try to stop the flow.

Methods include drilling a relief well at an angle into IXTOC-1 to milk off the flow, which has been reduced from its original 30,000 barrels a day to 20,000 a day.

PEMEX hopes the relief well will reduce the pressure enough to permit divers to plug up the runaway hole with cement. PEMEX says it is putting everything it has into stopping the flow but says the best bet appears to be the relief well, which may not be completed until sometime in Septem-

PEMEX Director Jorge Diaz Serrano said he considers the spill "a serious accident but not a catastrophe." However the ultimate effect of the spill on the region's sea live, including the rich shrimp fishing grounds near the spill, is not yet

Hospital terminates 22

Also places freeze on hiring to reduce costs

In an effort to reduce costs, Midland Memorial Hospital has terminated as least 22 employees and placed a freeze on hiring which could reduce the staff by as many as 115 workers during the next few months.

The hiring freeze went into effect last week, Hospital Administrator

Wayne Ulrich said today. The action was taken, he said, after contractors told him completion of the east wing of the hospital could be delayed until May or June of next

Sadler accuses oil companies

AUSTIN (AP) - Former Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler said Thursday Alaska has more known oil reserves than the "entire OPEC cartel." but oil companies are waiting for $2 a gallon gasoline before they produce it.

'A government that represents the people should not allow this 'travesty of greed' to continue and should take steps to see that this oil reserve is properly used to alleviate our 'artificial oil crisis'," Sadler said in a statement.

wing starting in early October will be offset by the addition of only 52 beds in the central wings scheduled for completion by mid-October, Ulrich

The original schedule had called for the west wing to be remodeled during the slack summer period and completed by February.

February and March are traditionally peak admitting times for the hospital, Ulrich said.

After talking to the contractor, "we recognized that we had a surplus of personnel in relation to the number of beds available. We were forced through sound management practices to carefully examine our staffing patterns," Ulrich said.

Scrutiny of the staff led to three actions, including an immediate freeze on all hiring for unfilled positions, an order to examine each future vacancy as it is created to determine whether it will be filled and how, and termination of 22 to 24 employees.

None of the terminations were from the professional or nursing staffs, Ulrich stressed, but future vacancies in those areas will be examined on an individual basis along with all Terminations were in departments such as dietary, housekeeping, medical records and purchasing, Ulrich

Midland Memorial historically has had a high ratio of employees to patients. Past reports to the hospital's board of trustees showed MMH had

Loss of the 86 beds in the east slightly more employees per patient than the national or state average and that difference was adding to the strain on the budget of the tax supported facility.

The move last week, Ulrich said, will help bring the hospital closer to state and national averages for staffing, but he noted some areas will remain higher than average, "because we feel it's necessary for quality health care.'

No changes in staffing were made in the emergency room, critical care and post critical care units or obstetrical wing, Ulrich said, "because we are the sole providers of those services in the community. Also, personnel in those units have skills that are not easily replaced.

Actions taken thus far, Ulrich said, "are management of changes in the number of beds available within the hospital and responding to those changes to hold down the cost of health care in the community.

"No hospital," he said, "can afford to warehouse personnel.'

Federal funds OK'd for housing

Midland County has been approved for 20 units of rent-subsidized housing, according to County Judge

William Anders Ahders said his office received the letter of approval Wednesday from the Dallas office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development for the housing under Section 8 for low income residents.

Proposed county budget won't require tax hike

By BILL MODISETT Staff Writer -

Midland County taxes likely won't increase if a budget proposed for 1980 is adopted by county commissioners. County Judge Bill Ahders said Wednesday. Ahders said he is "optimistic" the proposed budget, filed Tuesday with County Clerk Rosenelle Cherry, will be adopted. The budget proposal calls for total expenditures and balances in 1980 in excess of $9.5 million.

"I think we took a close look at each department, and each department head was most cooperative when we asked them to take a second look at their budget and to cut it some." Ahders said Wednesday.
"I will be pleased if the commissioners' court accepts this budget," Commissioners will meet Aug. 13 in regular session, Ahders said, and they are expected to announce that a public hearing on the proposed budget will be held Aug. 27. The budget could be approved at that meeting. The proposed budget calls for expenditures of $5,693,160.50. Anticipated ending balances in county funds of $3,899,121.14 boost the total budget figure for 1980 to $9,592,281.64, according to a summary sheet attached to the budget proposal.

The budget is less than the current total 1979 budget of $9,900,001.14 and only slightly more than the total 1978 budget of $9,512,289.05.

Total receipts for the county in 1980 are anticipated to be $4,886,875, with the bulk of that amount coming from ad valorem taxes. More than $1.6 million in receipts is expected from other sources, including revenue sharing funds, the budget indicates.

Ad valorem tax receipts for 1980 are expected to increase by $275,848 over the 1979 figures, while total expenditures by the county are expected to climb by $498,566.

Overall, however, total expendi-tures and balances in funds are expected to decrease by $307,719.50 from the current year's budget.

Ahders said he personally does not believe an increase in county taxes will be needed. Current county tax rate is $1.05, with 95 cents being charged for county taxes and 10 cents for state taxes, per $100 in assessed valuation. The assessed valuation is based on 32 percent of the full value of

The budget proposed also incorporates a 10 percent cost-of-living increase for county employees and officials, and provisions for changes in puties of the Midland County Sheriff's Department.

Earlier in the year, commissioners appointed a committee to study county salaries and to make recommendations for increases, if needed.

That group, the Midland County Salary Evaluation Committee, recommended an amount representing 6.26 percent of the total employee payroll be budgeted for individual salary adjustment in 1980 in addition to a cost-of-living increase, the employment of a full-time personnel director-purchasing agent and that salaries of elected officials be raised to the 1971 levels of buying power.

However, commissioners essential-

Federal felony drug charges filed against five persons

Federal felony drug charges were filed Wednesday in Midland against three men and two women arrested in Odessa Tuesday.

Charges of conspiracy to manufacture methamphetamines were lodged against Paul Lee Scott, 28, of Andrews, Calvin Wayne Crisp, 48, of Dumas and Dennis Rus Kent, 24, Jackie Ann Taylor, 21, and Becky Ann Hamm, 27, all of Lubbock. The charges were filed at a 1:30 p.m. U.S. magistrate's hearing in Midland's

U.S. Courthouse Wednesday.
U.S. magistrate Mike Cuningham set bonds of $200,000 for Scott, $35,000 for Kent and $10,000 each for Crisp, Ms. Taylor and Ms. Hamm.

Attorneys for three of the defendents will be provided by the court. Area law enforcement officers and special agents from the Drug Enforcement Agency served a search warrant at a West Odessa mobile home at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

During the search of the mobile home, a laboratory suspected of being used for manufacturing methamphetamines was seized, officials said.

Indictments returned in shootings

Three separate attempted murder indictments stemming from the Sunday shootings at Our Lady Guadalupe Church were returned Wednesday by a Midland County grand jury.

The three indictments name Ricky Baeza, 20, 705 N. Lincoln St., as the defendant.

Baeza remained in custody of the Midland County Sheriff's Department early today at Midland Memorial Hospital, where he was listed in fair condition with a gunshot wound to his right side.

Bond for Baeza was set at $10,000 for each of the indictments, but officials said he would not be released until a matter involving the revocation of a probation for a previous offense was resolved.

The probation was revoked due to incidents surrounding the Sunday shootings, officials said Two other men believed to have been involved in the Sunday incidents, in which six men were wounded, were being sought by deputies today, according to Lt. John Klein-

The two related shooting incidents occurred at the 19th Annual Family Fair in the church parking lot at 1301 Cherry Lane.

The shootings were the apparent culmination of a "long-standing feud," according to Kleinhans.

Baeza apparently became involved in an argument with Henry Sanchez, 24, 1811 E. Spruce Ave., about 12:30 a.m. Sunday at the fair, Kleinhans night shooting apparently were by-standers, said Kleinhans. One of the men, John Ceballos, 20, 2302 N. Main St., was released Monday from Medical Center Hospital in Odessa. The second man believed by authorities to have been a bystander, Ricky Rayos, 17, was listed in fair condition early today at Midland Memorial According to witness, Ceballos and Rayos were 15 to 20 feet from Sanchez

18-year-old man indicted

Eighteen-year-old Sammy Jurado, Route 3, Midland, was indicted on a charge of murder Wednesday by a Midland County Grand Jury, according to a spokesman for the Midland County Sheriff's Department.

The murder indictment stems from the death of Jurado's uncle, Felix Bermea, 32, who was shot at least five times at his home Tuesday night,

According to officials, the shooting allegedly grew out of an argument Jurado and Bermea had concerning

The argument reportedly took place about 9:30 p.m. between the houses of the two men and was continued at the front of Bermea's home, where ambulance attendants found his body, officials said. Peace Justice Robert Pine ruled

Work on jury wheel begun

Midland County officials Wednesday began "reconstituting" the county's jury wheel for the coming year, according to District Clerk Madge

According to Mrs. Wallis, statute requires the county's jury wheel to be reconstituted between Aug. 1 and Aug. 15 each year. Officials participating in the process, as required by law, are Mrs. Wallis, the county clerk, county-tax assessor-collector and the sheriff, or deputies of those officials.

The officials Wednesday began verifying jury tabs against voter registration lists, a process Mrs. Wallis estimated will take several days. When that action is completed, the jury tabs - or names of prospective jurors - will be placed in the jury Names are drawn from the jury wheel during the year for jury panels for the county courts and district courts, Mrs. Wallis said.

Mishap preventable, NRC panel says

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Three Mile Island nuclear power plant accident last March might have been prevented if only the plant operators had allowed safety equipment to function as planned, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff said today.

The NRC Office of Inspection and Enforcement, in a report more than two inches thick, said it was still investigating some 35 possible violations of federal operating rules and radiation protection limits in connection with the accident last March 28 near Harris-

But Victor Stello Jr., director of inspection and enforcement, wrote in a summary of the report, "Perhaps the most disturbing results of the...Investigation is

"Perhaps the most disturbing results of the...investigation is confirmation of earlier conclusions that the Three Mile Island Unit 2 accident could have been prevented, in spite of the inadequacies" that investigators found.

The plant's design, equipment, accident analyses and emergency procedures "were adequate to have prevented the serious consequences of the accident, if they had been permitted to function or be carried out as planned."

confirmation of earlier conclusions that the Three Mile Island Unit 2 accident could have been prevented, in spite of the inadequacies" that investigators found.

Stello said the plant's design, equipment, accident analyses and emergency procedures "were adequate to have prevented the serious consequences of the accident, if they had been permitted to function or be carried out as planned.'

"For example, had the operators allowed the emergency core cooling system to perform its intended function, damage to the core would most likely have been prevented." he sad.
Instead, the core of the reactor, containing its radioactive fuel rods, was severely damaged by overheating and released so much radiation inside the reactor building that the operators are still unable to enter it for inspection and clean-up operations and the building may remain sealed at least through this year.

The report said the operators were probably not alone in holding some responsibility for the accident.

"On the other hand," Stello wrote, "had certain equipment been designed differently, it too could have prevented or reduced the consequences of the acci-

"The results of the investigation make it difficult to fault only the actions of the operating staff."

And Stello said some of the operating mistakes were made because operators had been taught to draw conclusions from instrument readings and to take certain actions that turned out unexpectedly to be wrong in the conditions that developed at Three Mile Island, a type of accident which had not been fore-

The report did not allege any violations of NRC rules but said that "potential items of non-compliance were identified during this investigation and...are under review and will be handled through the enforcement channels of the Office of Inspection and Enforcement.

A staff briefing given the NRC commissioners today listed 19 potential items of non-compliance in the operation of the plant. These included the fact that valves had been left closed when they should have been open, taking out of operation emergency feedwater systems that might have prevented the accident if they

The list also noted that the plant's owner, Metropolitan Edison Co., failed to report an earlier incident somewhat similar to the early stages of the Three Mile Island accident

The staff also listed 16 possible violations of radiation protection standards, including the release of 11 times as much radioactive gas outside the plant as regula-tions allowed from March 28 through April 30 this

And the report noted a number of cases in which persons inside the plant were exposed to excessive doses of radiation.

"Less than half of the portable radiation survey instruments were operational," the investigation report said. But it agreed with earlier reports that the public was exposed only to a small amount of radiation, which "represents minimal risks...to the offsite population."

The report said plant operators failed to declare an emergency on the plant site within minutes after the acident began although they should have because of a pressure rise in the reactor building.

"Subsequently, there were several radiation monitor alarms indicative of an emergency situation but no emergency was declared," the report said. It said a radiation instrument reading caused by the beginnings of fuel damage was registered at 6:22 a.m. on March 28 and radiation levels continued to in-The operators finally declared a site emergency

Proposed housing board would administer mortgage program

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Midland Housing Finance Corp. may be the name of a new organization designed to deal specifically with administering a Single Family Mortgage Revenue Financing Program in

During a meeting Wednesday of the Housing Authority of the City of Midland, Chairman Harry Clark proposed organization of the new group to be composed of three members of the Housing Authority and two mem-bers from the Midland Housing Association

The Housing Authority had been pursuing the home loan program until a bill passed by the State Legislature to clarify the group's role was vetoed by Gov. Bill Clements.

The governor charged that another bill, HB1876, allows a non-profit corporation to do the same thing, but a housing authority can't undertake the program.

To meet the requirements under HB1876, Clark said he will propose to the Midland City Council during its Aug. 14 meeting that the third organization be approved to administer the

At least three persons are required to be charter members of the organization and the number can go up to nine. Clark is proposing the City Council approve himself, Gene Abbott and Fred Kester of the Housing Authority and two members of the Midland Housing Association comprise the charter board of the Midland Housing Finance Corp.

The home mortgage program would allow the city to sell revenue bonds to provide money for home loans to middle income families. The loans would be administered by local savings and loan institutions to applicants who The Housing Authority began pursuing the program in early 1979 and went so far as to select an underwriter, who then conducted a feasibility study of the program in Mid-But the governor's veto put a hitch in the organization's schedule. Another slowdown came with the introduction of a bill into the U.S. House of Representatives. The bill was passed out of the House Ways and Means Committee Monday. If approved by Congress, it would set regulations on the amount of bonds which could be sold and the maximum limits on family income and Mark Tessier of Howard, Weil, Labouisse, Friedrichs, Inc., the underwriting firm of New Orleans, La., reviewed a market analysis on Midland for the Housing Authority mem-He said maximum amount of bonds which could be sold is $39,700,000. Applicants could have a family income as high as $35,000 and get a loan for a home costing as much as $65,-Clark later pointed out these are the maximum limits allowable for the Tall City. If approved, the new corporation could establish maximums below these numbers to deal with more "moderate income" families He also said the Housing Authority had been considering about $25 million in bonds, with $20 million going for home loans and the other $5 million for insurance and other fees. Tessier remarked that bonds for two cities had been sold on a 71/4 percent interest rate. By the time each city would add fees for local savings and loan institutions to process the applicants and loans, final interest would be about 81/4 percent. Although the Housing Authority was questioned about the program competing with the home loan programs of the savings and loan institutions, Clark said the two would not be in competition. Those who can afford would not be the type to qualify for the lower interest program, he noted. One man in the audience remarked that this program "is a good selling point for the demand on housing. The money hasn't been available here for homes. Tessier said the program is a one-time only thing and should be reserved for bad times. "What are bad times?" he asked.

"I think double digit inflation like we have now is bad times for home The bonds would be sold in the name of the city of Midland. Tessier said many people like to buy munici-pal bonds because they are exempt from income tax. Meanwhile, the large amount probably would not affect the city's bond rating or the city's ability to sell bonds for other projects, he added.

In other action, the Housing Authority reviewed the financial statements for fiscal year 1978-79. The authority administers Hillcrest Manor, a lowincome high rise housing unit for handicapped or elderly persons.

For the last fiscal year, the authority recorded $6,300 more in receipts and $4,000 more in expenditures, leaving it at least $2,000 in the black.

Commissioners also did not view favorably the committee's suggestion that the county hire a personnel director-purchasing agent.

Ahders also noted Wednesday that the proposed budget does not allow funds for either a new courthouse annex or an expansion of the county library, two items of construction he Evenings and Sunday said he believes are needed. The judge said he favors construction of a new courthouse annex to replace the aging facility located about a block from the courthouse on Illinois Avenue. Construction of a new annex, he said, would give the courthouse needed space and ease crowded downtown parking conditions.

The library also needs more space, the judge said.

However, county officials decided not to include those two items in the budget proposal.

Midland City Council today in a special session voted to go with an advance refunding method on the proposed revenue bonds for the water and sewer projects to be included in an early September bond election.

By virtue of the council choosing that route, water and sewer users will have their rates increased 10 percent, instead of an alternative 25 percent if the council had chosen a different

The other method is known as junior lien and would have enabled the city to pay off a large portion of the bonds in a few years.

Assistant City Manager Fred Poe said financial picture of the city would be better by 1985 if they chose the junior lien method, "but you really pay for it with the higher rates." Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr.

said Midland's water rates currently are below those of surrounding The 10 percent increase will put the Tall City's rates on an equal level with other towns, but the 25 percent jump would put rates far above the other cities, he said.

Councilman Carroll Thomas registered the only negative vote on the advanced refunding, saying he pre-ferred to pay off the bonds as soon as

The city probably will need another major project by 1985, and the junior lien system would leave the city in a

But Poe pointed out that with advance refunding, those benefitting most from the projects in a few years would be the ones paying for it.

City Attorney Joe Nuessle informed the council the $7.8 million for water and sewer projects would not have to go before the public for a vote.

The council could go ahead with the. revenue bonds because of recent state legislation which would allow it, said

However, Angelo said he preferred to have the projects approved by the voters. And if the issues fail in the election - scheduled in early September — he said the council will bring it before the voters again.

"I have a lot of confidence in the judgment of the people of Midland," Angelo said. "I believe we'll get a favorable judgment. If not, then it's our (City Council's) obligation to sell it to the public and come back with another bond issue.'

The advance refunding method lets the council avoid a 30-year-old requirement that the city's net revenues from water and sewer rates would have to be twice the repayment amount on the bonds, said the

Angelo said another advantage is "if you believe inflation is going to continue, the city will be repaying current debts with cheaper dollars. The council will meet in special session at 10 a.m. Monday in City Hall Council Chambers to decide on the exact date for the bond election and to consider ordinances for calling the better position to do it, said Thomas. Utility inflation blamed on Washington policies

A financial expert asked to testify on behalf of Texas Electric Service Co.'s request for $88 million in additional revenues, maintains that inflation in electric rates is the result of federal policies in Washington. Eugene W. Meyer, a director for the New York banking and securities brokerage firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., said "as long as the federal government insists on running up huge government deficits and papering them over with 'funny money,' we'll have inflation.

He testified today at the state Public Utiltities Commission hearing in Austin on the revenue hike request.

TESCO is seeking to raise average monthly bills about 16 percent systemwide. The average increase for residential bills would be 18 percent if the full revenue request is granted, according to information released previously by the company.

Testimony in the hearing began Monday and is expected to continue

The PUC staff is recommending that the request be trimmed to $30.3 million. Originally, the PUC staff sought to have the case dismissed, claiming that TESCO's request was merely a restatement of its 1978 pro-

The PUC granted the utility, which services Midland, Odessa and other cities, a $40-million increase in revenues following an October 1978 hearing. The company originally asked for $110 million.

Meyer contended that the utility is having to seek capital for its contruction program "under adverse market conditions" extant since 1972.

"Seven years of momentary aberration almost leads me to believe it's a trend," Meyer said. Meyer said TESCO's AAA bond rating is "highly advantageous" under the current money market conditions because "it allows the company to obtain capital at the lowest interest rates, which means lower rates to its customers.'

2 mattresses

Meyer asked the PUC to "set rates that will help the company maintain that bond rating.' Texas Power and Light Company, TESCO's sister company, furnishes electricity throughout central Texas.

It also has an AAA bond rating Meyer said Texas Utilities, TESCO's parent company, was forced to sell new common stock below book value for the first time in its history.

Meyer claimed that if nothing is done to correct the financial conditions that made the below-book sale necessary, the value of the company's stock "is likely to continue declining," resulting in higher rates for TESCO is requesting that it be authorized a return on equity for stockholders of 15.5 percent. The company presently authorized a return of 13.75 percent. The company maintains it has not been able to earn the return because of inflation and unexected costs from the company's construction program.

The PUC staff, meanwhile, is recommending that the return be raised to 14.25 percent.

Meyer followed the testimony of TESCO Treasurer Dave Kelch. Kelch said, "It appears to me that there'a a benefit today in the customer knowing that he will have electricity at some time in the future, even in the face of this energy problem or crisis we have in the country."

During cross examination Wednesday, Texas Muncipal League Attorney Don Butler noted "if history repeats itself, it seems that there is always something else that you're asking the ratepayer to pay for today that's going to benefit him or her in the future. When the future gets here, it seems there's some other project that has to be paid for at that time.'

Museum expansion

Maurice R. Bullock, chairman of the board of executors of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame, in disclosing plans for a $1 million museum expansion project, said, "The time has come to do something we couldn't do at the beginning.

"We have a proven record, have established ourselves in the Basin as something to take pride in, and are ready to do more.'

We agree wholeheartedly with the chairman in his observations and it appears that this is the general feeling throughout the vast Permian Basin Empire.

The expansion plans as envisioned by Bullock, Museum President Russell J. Ramsland and others are exciting ones, indeed.

They call for the erection of a 9,000-square-foot addition to the existing building. Designs for the exhibits include a simulated flight by the museum's 1948 pipeline patrol plane. The display will use a huge mirror to give an impression of a flight over a moving landscape. This thrilling display will be right in line with the museum's famous, almost unbelievable marine exhibit which never fails to impress museum visitors.

Other exhibits which are bound to interest visitors, involve a fiery blow-out of an oil well, to be built with help from the Red Adair well firefighting organization, and a "nitro-shot" in which visitors will feel the "thwump" of imagined explosives.

If these thrilling projections don't whet your appetite for prompt museum expansion, we don't know what will.

It is "action-packed" displays like these and others now in existence in the museum which make it stand out above other facilities of similar nature anywhere.

It is interesting to note also that the museum will offer sponsorship of exhibits in the new addition to companies in the petroleum industry - relating to well completions, well stimulation and servicing, recovery methods and pipelining. All of this is intended to give the viewing public an authentic, yet readily understandable, picture of petroleum industry operations from start to finish. Public education, then, is a key word in the overall presentation.

Although Bullock's-encouraging revelation that the museum already has $448,000 to apply toward cost of the project as outlined, some of it earmarked by donors for specific uses, it still is urgent that all residents of Midland and other Permian Basin cities consider donating to this most worthy

This is something in which all of us could and should have a part. It is our museum and it is up to us to support it in every way possible. Many of the previous contributions have been large, or comparatively large, but right now an appeal is being sounded for donations small as well as large for this particular project.

The Permian Basin Petroleum Museum has proved a tremendous success from its beginning, reaching heights far beyond the fondest initial expectations. Thousands upon thousands of visitors from far and near already have viewed the impressive exhibits in the present facility, and steppedup attendance is expected as word of its fame continues to spread at home and abroad.

And, as stated by Ramsland and Bullock, plans for the addition as proposed are "even more exciting and fascinating than our present building turned out to be."

Permian Basin Empire residents have every reason to be proud of this tremendous facility and all that it means to the city, region, industry and public in general.

And now, as proclaimed by Chairman Bullock, "The time has come to do some of the things we couldn't do at the beginning."

This means, as we view it, the time has come for us - all of us to lend support to the expansion project. Hopefully, the response from the public will be prompt and generous. All of us then can be even more proud that we had a part in it. It is private enterprise at its best.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Hit man ring is based in Chile

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - It reads like a paperback thriller or the script for a Hollywood suspense flick, but it is frighteningly, incredibly real. The secret police of at least six south American military regimes have been running a joint undercover operation whose function is to assassinate common enemies in foreign

The secret organization is called "Operation Condor," after the bald-headed vulture of the Andes. Its headquarters is located in Chile. Though membership has varied since Condor's formation in 1976, other member nations have included Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Paraguay and Uru-

Although Condor functions as an intelligence-gathering organization to keep track of "leftist" exiles and other opponents of the ruling juntas, its "Phase Three" section is the, Mafia-like enforcement arm, according to top-secret documents and other sources.

The special section "involves the formation of special teams from member countries assigned to travel anywhere in the world to non-member countries to carry out 'sanctions' including assassination — against Condor enemies," according to a 'Top Secret-Sensitive" report of the Senate Foreign Relations Commit-

One "Phase Three" team is charged with drawing up the Condor "hit list" in a particular country. Then a second team is dispatched to locate the targeted victims and conduct surveillance on them. Finally, a third team, drawn from one or more member police agencies, is sent to carry out the "sanction" decided

So far, apparently, Condor has failed to establish an outpost in the United States, but an attempt was made at one point to open a station in Miami, according to the secret report. The CIA got wind of the plan and notified the State Department. A formal protest to the governments involved was considered, but was vetoed by then-Secretary of State Henry

Instead, U.S. disapproval of the proposed Condor station was quietly relayed to the Chilean secret police, DINA, which seemed to be the moving force behind Condor

The outpost was never set up, but this may not have stopped Condor from doing its dirty work in the United States. In September 1976, the prominent Chilean exile, Orlando Letelier, was blown to bits with a young American associate as they were driving past the Chilean chancery on Washington's Embassy Row.

The confessed hit man claimed DINA had hired him, and a secret FBI report at the time states: "It is not beyond the realm of possibility that the recent assassination of Orlando Letelier...may have been carried out as a third phase of 'Operation'

Quick action by the CIA and the French and Portuguese governments prevented similar Condor strikes on another occasion, sources told our associate Dale Van Atta. Following the assassinations of the Bolivian ambassador and a Uruguayan attache in Paris, and a Chilean diplomat in the Middle East, a Condor first team had selected three prominent European leftists as targets for retaliation.

But while the second team was looking for the targets, the CIA discovered that the assassinations were to occur in France and Portugal and urgently notified those governments. French and Portuguese authorities tipped off the intended victims, then called the Condor nations' representatives on the carpet "to warn them to call off the action," according to the secret report. It added: "They did after denying that it had ever been planned.

Because of worldwide outrage at the Letelier murder - three top officials of DINA were indicted in the United States, but extradition has been refused - the Chilean president, Gen. Augusto Pinochet, dissolved the sinister police force in 1977. Its replacement agency is primarily an intelligence-gathering agency, CIA sources said. But others are not so sure that DINA's ghost has been laid to rest. Chilean undercover agents have still been able to enter the United states on false passports to buy electronic eavesdropping equipment and the secret report notes that "persons ac-companying President Pinochet to the signing of the Panama Canal Treaty used false passports."

The report concluded, "What is clear, is that DINA and Condor possess both the motive and capability to harm United States residents."

you had no chauffeur you were condemned

"Couldn't you offer some excuse for not having a chauffeur?"

"In those days in England," Mr. Ustinov said sadly, "there was absolutely no excuse for not having a chauffeur.

"You can't imagine the anguish I went through. I begged my father — I said: 'I don't want a car, father, I just want a chauffeur.' Today, of course, you could rent one from Hertz to run in the 100-yard dash, but in those days a rented cahffeur was not allowed to qualify. Some of the boys in our school were so rich they had enough chauffeurs to field a relay team.' "Did the chauffeurs race in uni-

"Always," Mr. Ustinov said, "but the one liberty they were permitted was that they were able to wear sneakers. It wasn't that I didn't have a chauffeur alone that was so humiliating, it was also that my father wouldn't run in the fathers' race. Father was a former German diplomat and he wore a monocle. He felt it was beneath his dignity to race the 100-yard dash, and he also had a fear of losing his monocle. So while the other boys at school had their mothers, fathers, and chauffeurs to cheer on, all my marbles were on my mother, and she turned out to be a lousy sprinter."

'What was wrong?'

"Her start was very bad, and she preferred to go off from a standing position, while all the other mothers crouched. Time and time again I told my mother she would never get a good start from a standing position, but she was very stubborn and wouldn't listen. Naturally, Mother always came in last and since she was the only one I had in the competitions I had to apologize for her bad form to the other boys - a most terrible experience. To make matters worse the boys at Mr. Gibb's knew my father was German and, to be unkind, they said I lost the First World War. There were only a few who were pleasant, and they said that their fathers had told them that whenever they overran a German trench they found the sanitary conditions immaculate as compared to those of the French. But since I had a French mother, even this was not consoling.

"So Olympics may mean something to other people," Mr. Ustinov said, "but all they do for me is remind me of my mother puffing down the 100yard track, suffering from bad acceleration and trying so desperately to make up to me for the fact her husband wouldn't run and we didn't have chauffeur."

Mr. Ustinov wiped a tear from his eye. "Maybe she was a lousy sprinter - but she was my mother.

Saudi official speaks bluntly on Middle East peace

WASHINGTON — Saudi Arabia is not the most often heard voice in the Middle East and is often ignored when speaking on matters other than, oil. For example, was anybody listen-ing when a top Saudi official spoke bluntly in Los Angeles recently on the Palestinians and Middle East peace? Addressing the Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Ghazi A. Algosaibi, minister of industry, made it clear that the Saudis feel that the United States has the responsibility to create justice for the Palestinians and insure peace in Any other "peace," Algosaibi declared, with Camp David in mind, is "humiliation by a different name." He said when Hitler dominated Europe, and Japan was conquering the Far East, peace was "out of the question" and was not a popular word in "Those who advocated peace in the West in those days," Algosaibi argued, "were not called peacemakers and given prizes. They were called traitors. Sometimes they were shot by terrorists who, in those days, were called the resistance. Why should the situation in the Arab world be any different? Why are you shocked when Arabs react to the arrogant, illegal occupations of their land as any other self-respecting nation would react?"

He said as long as Israel holds Arab. lands and Palestinians remain dispossessed and homeless, "the angel of peace will not visit our shores." He claimed "relentless brainwashing" makes many Americans think of Palestinians as terrorists, but that Arabs regard them as three million people scattered over the world without a flag. It is Palestinian children, he said, "who occasionally get burnt to death in air raids, Israel's 'civilized' answer to guerrilla raids.

"Human life, Israeli and Palestinian, is sacred," Algosaibi argued. "Security is essential for all parties — Israelis as well as Palestinians. Those who believe an Israeli state is wonderful but a Palestinian state is terrible are racists. Anti-Semitism works in many directions...The Holocaust was the horrible culmination of racism in Europe. Let us try to avoid a new Holocaust in the Arab world." Terrorism, the minister declared, is "indefensible," nor should it be acceptable when "performed, efficiently and dazzlingly, by a modern militaristic state. How can we condemn today's terrorists and hail the terrorists of yesterday?. The Palestinians are victims of deliberate acts of terrorism on a massive scale. It is surprising that some of them find violence the only appropriate answer?" A tough, controversial speech, indeed, laced with admonitions to the West such as to quit explaining Islam "in terms of women without souls, harems and barbaric punishments (mostly) biblical anyway. It is amusing to see biblical punishments ridiculed as savage, while vague biblical promises are presented as divine truths and title deeds for countries in the 20th century. The "New Arab World" Algosaibi spoke of is one of "more schools, hospitals, better public services and the eradication of illiteracy and poverty," a "caravan of lean camels, not a fleet of magic carpets.' Algosaibi expressed resentment of Western "cultural imperialism" over Arabs. He remarked that just as his Jewish friends say only a Jew can be sensitive to all manifestations of anti-Semitism, so only an Arab can feel the full impact of "anti-Arab anti-Semitism. "In novels, films and TV programs," he argued, "Arabs are inevitably stupid, evil and lazy. When an Arab buys a property in America, it is a minor scandal; when a non-Arab buys the same property it is a sound business investment. When an Ameri-

Arab does it, he is decadent or "In cartoons, foreign nations are represented by their leaders, while Arabs are represented by monsters that would put Frankenstein to shame. He has published five volumes of poetry, one in English, and comes from an old family whose good reputation predates oil. So often we pay attention to Saudis only when they talk oil supply and prices. Once in a while we should listen to the lively, debatable and more profound views of officials like Algosaibi. He'd be great on a TV panel, flanked by a Zionist and a PLO

Oil holdings seizures overshadow conterence

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP)—The dispute between Britain and Nigeria over Nigeria's seizure of British oil holdings overshadowed the Commonwealth Conference as it turned today to world economic and political problems and Southeast Asia.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington confronted Nigerian For-eign Minister H.E.O. Adelope at an outdoor reception Wednesday and displayed his anger over the Nigerian government's seizure of British Petroleum's holdings in the West African country.

British officials were convinced that Nigeria's purpose was to warn Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher against recognizing the elected new biracial government in Zimbabwe Rhodesia, and Carrington told report-

"Nothing could be more counterproductive and less likely to succeed than an action of this kind to move the government's policy on southern Africa. This will have a serious affect on Anglo-Nigerian relations."

He strongly denied Nigeria's allegation that Britain was supplying oil to South Africa, which Nigeria said was the reason for the takeover. Adefope told reporters the takeover was "not necessarily linked with Zim-babwe," but added, "We must get Britain to look at Zimbabwe in a different light ... No black African can consider himself free until southern Africa is free.

Zimbabwe Rhodesia hasa new black-majority government led by Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa, but Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe. co-leaders of the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance, and many members of the Commonwealth regard it as a facade for continued domination of the country by former Prime Minister Ian Smith and the white minority.

Nkomo, who has 15,000 fighters in camps in Zambia, was an invited guest at the opening of the conference Wednesday and sat about 12 feet behind Mrs. Thatcher. He listened impassively as she said her Conservative government was "wholly committed to gentine black majority rule in Rhodesia."

The guerrilla chief later told reporters: "Mrs. Thatcher has learned something in the past 24 hours if she really meant what she said about genuine black majority rule.'

He also said he would meet Mrs. Thatcher only if she accepted the Patriotic Front as "the, not a, factor in Zimbabwe." But British sources said such a condition was unlikely to be met, and there was no indication Mrs. Thatcher wanted to meet him.

BP said the nationalization of its holdings in Nigeria would cut off about an eighth of the company's total supplies, roughly 9.6 million gallons daily. It predicted this would upset the world oil market and force up spot

Haig renews plea for increased military spending

WASHINGTON (AP) - Gen. Alexander Haig, the former supreme allied commander in Europe, today renewed his call for the Senate to set the SALT II treaty aside while it works to bolster the nation's nuclear and conventional defenses.

Pleas from Haig and others for more defense spending as a price for ratifying SALT II appear to have picked up significant Senate support.

Sen. Alan Cranston, the Senate's No. 2 Democratic leader, predicted Wednesday the treaty will be ratified after a compromise involving increased military spending and a com-mitment to seek far deeper reductions in nuclear weapons in the SALT III negotiations.

Haig told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee an unchecked drive by the Soviet Union to increase its nuclear might has placed it on the verge of achieving strategic superior-

He made a virtually identical appeal last week to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

"A firm, unambiguous demonstration of renewed U.S. strength and ability to lead is long overdue," Haig said. "The global power balance is viewed in Europe as shifting against it and we can ignore it no longer.

"It is essential that this debate result in a demonstration of our resolve to redress this imbalance by an immediate and unequivocal commitment of greater resources to our de-

· At a news conference Wednesday, Cranston contended that the debate over the treaty is shifting away from the specific provisions of the pact because opponents have failed to win converts with their claim that SALT

II is fatally flawed.

He said the new focus, on America's overall defense posture, results from warnings that the Soviet Union is seeking nuclear superiority and from demands that defense spending be substantially increased to meet te

"The way I see things falling together, is a commitment that we will do what is necessary for our national defense, combined with a very strong statement instructing the U.S. delegates to SALT°III that their No. 1 business is to seek and achieve simificant cuts" Cranston said.

Appeals for increased deleise spending to counter the Soviet buldup have come from Haig, and fromfar. mer Secretary of State Henry A. issinger, the Joint Chiefs of Staff ac Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., who says n increase of from 4 percent to 5 percet is required after taking inflation in account.

On the other hand, the entire SALT process has come under attack from critics such as Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., who say it results in higher military spending and ever-increasing levels of nuclear arms.

The SALT II treaty sets equal limits on long-range missiles and heavy bombers at a relatively high level of 2,250 for each side. The Carter administration defends it as a neccessary first step toward achieving deeper cuts later in the negotiating process.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance says the Carter administration will keep its pledge to increase defense spending by 3 percent in the 1981 budget, after accounting for infla-

Cranston said a compromise is 'clearly reachable.'

He predicted the administration will agree to an increase of more than 3 percent and that advocates of more military spending will accept a boost of less than 5 percent.

And he said he believes senators dvocating substantial arms control sps can be won over by a commitment to seek substantial arms cuts in SALT III.

Cranston pointed out that under its own terms the SALT II treaty can be terminated by the United States after giving six months advance notice "if we find the Soviets are intransigent to significant cutbacks in SALT III." As to the treaty's opponents, Cran-ston said, "I think its very plain they are unable to find a flaw that has won widespread support in the Senate."

Cranston said he counts no more. than 12 senators firmly committed to voting against the treaty and at least 34 committed to voting in favor. And he said the trends have been shifting in favor of the pact since public hearings began last month.

Financial gunboats

By PETER ARNETT

NEW YORK (AP) - Iran was a disaster. Nicaragua remains a cliffhanger. China promises the best opportunity in ages but also the greatest

That is the American businessman's sober view of recent political developments in a changing world where it is becoming increasingly difficult for the safety of foreign investment to be guaranteed.

"We don't use gunboats anymore, and the Marines aren't available either," said Alexander Lotocki, an underwriter with a large insurer, the American International Group, who commented that U.S. assets have been expropriated by 24 countries, most of them in the Third World, in recent years.

But increasing numbers of businessmen are turning to "financial gunboats" — or political risk insurance — to bail them out of serious trouble abroad and protect their American investment overseas, now estimated at $160 billion."

"The phones really began to ring when Nicaragua started to collapse, said underwriter Lotocki. With the new regime still sorting out policy, American businessmen with millions invested in Nicaragua are waiting anxiously for word. Very few had

"Iran is the excellent example how American companies wer caught short without adequate pol cal risk insurance," said Jay A. Sa pro, president of the JLS Group, an surance broker based in New York hat specializes in political risk poli-

Many sophisticated U.S. companhe were deeply injured when the sah's regime was toppled. It was a bacle. American business might se billions there," Shapiro said.

The Iran collapse, along with the Nicaraguan conflict and the U.S. trade opening in China, "have raised the sensitivity of the American business to risk aspects," said Harvey Mallement, a JLS vice president. As much as $30 million will be written in political risk premiums this year, he said, averaging around 1 percent of contracts valued at $3 billion in nearly 30 foreign countries. The insurers are selling to businessmen generally outside the Fortune 500 giants who can absorb losses or are covered by the U.S. government foreign investment insurer, the Over-seas Private Investment Corp. The problems for smaller businesses is that Overseas requires a long lead time and a three-year minimum. "Coverage can be found in the private marketplace in a week," said broker Shapiro. The JLS Group, one of the most aggressive in the field, tells business that its assets abroad are as valuable as in the United States. "We point out that losses by expropriation are as devastating as loss by fire," Shapiro said. He notes that "10 years ago people did not think you could buy flood insurance in flood areas. But you businesses

"But expropriation has become more subtle today," Shapiro said. "Countries are more concerned about their image. They might draw up a set of operating conditions that are almost unacceptable under which to do business. They may insist a majority share be sold to locals, and this usually means selling under duress," he said.

Or the foreign country may make payments in full in local currency and not allow it to be converted to another , currency.

Even China, with its enormous potential, has an equally great risk for American businessmen, Shapiro said. What if the Chinese run out of hard currency and put contracts on hold? If the suppliers don't get their money from the exporter, they'll take him to court. But you can't take the Chinese to court.' Shapiro and the others, of course, sell their insurance by convincing business they cannot afford to be without it. "We measure the possibilities of loss in economic terms, our judgments reflecting intelligence we gather from around the world," Shapiro said. "We try to take the mystery out of dealing overseas. Getting insurance for Libya is a problem, so is the

New census to bring reshuffling of many congressional districts

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine of every 10 congressional districts across the nation may be altered following next year's census, the Census Bureau predicts.

The expected changes reflect the movement of Americans to warm, sunny states and away from industri-

As a result, California, Texas and Florida may gain two congressmen each, and Utah, Oregon, Tennessee, Washington and Arizona each may get one more, according to a census report released Tuesday.

New York may lose four congressio-nal seats, while Ohio and Illinois may lose two each, according to the bureau's predictions. One seat may be taken away from Pennsylvania, nal district as of 1978.

In 1981, following next year's census, the 435 seats in the House of Representatives will be redistributed among the states. State legislators will draw new district lines seeking to keep all the districts about equal to one another in size.

Bitter political battles are likely in some areas as the legislators try to draw districts that will benefit their parties. Major efforts are expected by both Republicans and Democrats.

Some courts have held that district populations within a state should not vary by more than 1 percent from the state average, although, because congressional districts cannot cross state lines, some states will have districts larger than the national average and others will have smaller ones.

The Census Bureau report said the nation's population grew 7.3 percent were equal, the average would be about 500,000 people per district.

This means some voters will find themselves in newly created districts, while others will be shifted from one district to another.

The 1978 estimates indicate that only 40 of the nation's 435 districts were within 1 percent of their state average, and more than 100 varied by 10 percent or more.

Census officials declined to estimate the exact number of districts that will be changed, however, noting that many states will have to redistrict because they will gain or lose congressmen.

Fastest growing of the nation's congressional districts between 1970 and 1978 was California's 43rd district in the San Diego area, climbing nearly 64 percent to 761,000 people, the report said. The average district in Califor-

At the other end of the scale, New York's 21st district in the South Bronx has declined to only 285,000 people, a drop of nearly 40 percent since 1970. This was the only district in the nation listed as having fewer than 300,000 people. The average district in New York had 455,000. Overall, 106 of the nation's 435 districts lost population between 1970 and 1978, most of them in big cities. Fifteen are in New York, seven in Chicago, seven in Los Angeles and five each in Philadelphia and De-

SHAFTER LAKE — They drifted away.

In their abandonment, they left behind the tombstones and shallow lake of clear brine to mark the site of "The City of a Thousand Wonders."

Anyway, that's how promoters in the early 1900s had described this desolate prairie land, where Indians camped out and where Col. William Rufus Shafter in 1875 rode in a rugged expedition into West Texas.

Anglo settlers moved into this semi-arid land and drove out the Apache and Comanche Indians. Open ranches cropped up; cattlemen and farmers moved

Then came the 20th century and the drifting of settlers to the north side of the lake. By 1906, Shafter Lake City was established and its population grew from 87 in 1900 to 975 by 1910. The Commercial Club of Shafter Lake published a booklet describing the promises of "The City of a Thousand Wonders"

Promoters lured with wondrous promises and dreams.

Their dreams mostly were in vain.

But before the dreamers became deluded by reality, they had started putting a town together.

There were the Cowboy State Bank, a school, post office, mercantile store and other busineses, homes, windmill and "The Shafter Lake Herald" to tout the promising town's present and future.

Today, the past is brought into the present by the five families who live at the old townsite, which now serves as headquarters for the Gene Irwin Ranch.

Across the lake and on the southside is the old

The Shafter Lake City's nemesis was the hearty band of settlers in a fledging spot several miles to the southeast.

They called it Andrews. The town still survives and is thriving, but mainly due to the production of petroleum from oilfields discovered in Andrews County since the 1930s.

Touters from each settlement solicited votes in an election in 1910 to determine the county seat.

Shafter Lake City lost and gradually began its passage into near oblivion, as most of the the folks made their exodus.

Shafter Lake City today is no more as a city, but has turned into a community for those five remaining families.

The neglected graveyard, barren of daisies and other ornamentals, instead is cropping up with weeds, wild flowers and mesquite.

The shallow waters of salty Shafter Lake was one of the drawing cards promoters in the early 1900s used in luring settlers to Shafter Lake City — "The

Vandals shun atomic archaeology site

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Dr. Lonnie Pippin doesn't have to worry about scavengers looting the archaeological sites he's studying. The desert vegetation and artifacts have been undisturbed for almost 30 years. The radioactive debris scattered about doesn't bother him, either.

The Nevada Test Site, where the nation tests its nuclear weaponry, 'really is an ideal place to do research," according to Pippin.

The archaeologist from the University of Nevada's Desert Research Institute is supervising a study to gather information on Indians who lived on the land as much as 10,000 years ago. The U.S. Department of Energy, which is paying $20,000 a year for the five-year project.

The archaeologist said he hopes to trace the mi-gratory path of the Indians who once lived in the area.

Pippin said the test site of roughly 150 square miles "has been protected since the 1950s - and even before then."

While vegetation in other parts of the West has been overgrazed, on the test site, "it is pristine," the scientist said. Pippin and his three assistants have made some promising finds in

NEW YORK (AP) - Residents of an exclusive Manhattan apartment building say half of them don't want former President Richard Nixon to move into their building.

Jane Maynard, who lives in the resident-owned building, says she conducted a poll showing half of the 34 residents don't want Nixon and his wife, Pat, to move in because they fear commotion and security

The status of Nixon's application to move in this fall is unclear. He is believed to have purchased an apartment for $750,000, and a majority of the co-op's nine-member board of directors is said to have held a telephone poll and approved the purchase.

But Leonard Henry, a board member, said he believed it was "not settled yet. We're familiar with the unhappiness, and I think that will be part of our discussion.'

The board is scheduled to meet soon. But Nixon had some support. "I'm totally in favor of them moving in." said one resident who declined to be identified. "I think New York should welcome them back."

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - Police Chief William Obanhein, known to many through Arlo Guthrie's film "Alice's Restaurant," has clashed again with the son of a famous musician.

Obanhein has apologized in writing to the son of former Boston Symphony Orchestra Music Director Erich Leinsdorf for allegedly hitting the young man outside a concert last week.

Obanhein apologized to Gregor J. Leinsdorf, one of two persons he allegedly struck when they attempted to enter a restricted parking lot on the concert site's grounds Friday night, said John Beacco, chairman of the city's governing board.

"I personally want to make it clear Mr. Leinsdorf did absolutely nothing to provoke Chief Obanhein," he added. Beacco said Obanhein had gone on vacation "to take care of personal business."

Obanhein came to prominence 10 years ago when Arthur Penn's film about the little Stockbridge restaurant run by Alice Brock told of the chief's arresting Guthrie for littering.

Texans supporting proposal for initiative and referendum

Texans upset over taxes chewing away nearly half of every $1 they earn have joined in supporting a proposal to give citizens authority to bypass the Legislature in making laws.

Representatives of 20 local taxpayer associations voted unanimously Wednesday to organize a statewide effort in favor of initiative and referen-

Former Attorney General Waggoner Carr of Texas 13, Inc., a non-profit tax relief group, said the campaign is expected to cost at least $125,000.

The goal is to gain legislative approval of a proposed constitutional amendment whenever Gov. Bill Clements calls a special session.
The 1979 regular session rejected the proposal, which was the cornerstone of Clements' "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights." Lt. Go. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton opposed the measure. Carr told a news conference the associations, meeting for the first time Wednesday, supported "direct" initiative and referendum, which means voters could bypass the Legislature through peititions and elections in making

Carr said the associations represent 45,000 Texans in Gonzales, Tyler, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Austin, Houston, Waco, Yoakum, Lub-bock, Weslaco, Plain-view, Runge, Galveston and Irving.

Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, and, according to Carr, some dozen House members also were present.

The purpose of the statewide campaign, Carr said, is to "gain power to control our tax destiny in the gears ahead." "Government has grown too large, it is costing too much money and taxes do not leave enough in our pockets to maintain our desired standard of living." Carr

He said the U.S. Department of Commerce estimates the average American pays 45 cents out of every dollar he or she earns in taxes. "The feudal serfs were required to give their feudal lords one-third of quired to give his government almost one-half of all he makes," Carr

Based on current trends, Carr added, the commerce department has stated the taxes will claim 85 cents out of their labor. The average every $1 in 20 years.

Shortage won't decrease insurance claims

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Contrary to what some consumers might believe, the current gasoline shortage will not decrease auto insurance claims, says an insurance company spokesman.

Inflation has increased the costs of automobile repairs and other things that insurance pays for, J.M. Eddins, vice president of Maryland Casualty Companies, said in prepared remarks today.

Eddins and others testified at a State Insurance Board hearing on the industry's request for a 21.7 percent average statewide hike in automobile insur-

"Under the current situation, we cannot expect any added advantage from a change in speed limits, as was the case in 1974," Eddins said, referring to the drop in speed laws from 70 miles per hour

The subcompacts that consumers buy for better gasoline mileage are higher accident risks and cost more to repair, Eddins added.

'Also, when accidents do occur in these smaller automobiles, the bodily injury implication is much greater than if the same accident had occurred in a heavier automobile," he said.

Eddins represented the Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office, which files rate recommendations for car insurance companies.

The insurance board staff has recommended an 8.9 percent rate increase. Board Chairman William Daves safd Wednesday the panel will rule on the ratehike request in about a month.

On Wednesday, the insurance board heard comments on possibly reducing collision insurance costs

Breast removal ... women have a choice

By SANDI BREEDEN Lifestyle Writer

double masectomy, discussing women who will not go to the doctor if they find a lump in their breast.

Betty Kilpatrick, 1909 McDonald, had one breast removed January, 1978, after she found an unusual lump on her breast during her monthly examination. Being the no-nonsense person she is, Mrs. Kilpatrick went to her doctor right away, who did the biopsy and found the malignancy.

"I had been going once a year for a check-up," Mrs Kilpatrick said. "One year from my last check-up, I had surgery to remove my breast."

She was lucky; her cancer did not spread to the lymph nodes. "Maybe it's because I went to the doctor right after I found the lump that the cancer had not spread to the lymph nodes," she stated.

However, six months later Mrs. Kilpatrick noticed a discharge from the nipple of her other breast.

"I went back to the doctor and he did a biopsy," she said. "Although it wasn't acutally malignant, it was in the stages of becoming malignant. So, in September, the other breast was removed.

"I went to the doctor for a check-up every three months for the first year after my mastectomies," she stated. "Now I go every six months. After five years if there is no reoccurence of cancer, then, according to the doctor, there's not likely to be a reoccurence."

Mrs. Kilpatrick says if she inherited the cancer it had to be from her father's side of the family. "I had two aunts on my father's side of the family to die of cancer and one was of breast cancer," she said.

Although some physicians say that women who breast feed their children have a better chance of not getting breast cancer, Mrs. Kilpatrick said she did breast feed her two children. "But my mother breast fed all seven of her kids, and she never had breast

Contrary to popular belief that women go into a deep depression when they have a breast removed, this did not happend with Mrs. Kilpatrick. "I am a strong Christian," the lively woman said. "The first thing I thought of (after finding out she did have a malignancy in her breast) was asking God to take care of my family If you put your faith in God, you won't have any problem. We don't know why these things happen, but He does. If He lets these things happen for a reason, why question the reason?

A breast check...so simple, yet so important

Here are three simple steps every woman should do to check her breast for unusual lumps at least once a month according to the American Cancer Society.

First, lie down. Put one hand behind your head. With the other hand, fingers flattened, gently feel your breast. Press ever so lightly. Now examine the other

Second, with your hand behind your head (this hand should be on the same side of your body as the breast your examining is), start on the outside of your breast, going in a rotation movement toward the nipple, gently feeling your breast for a lump or Third, repeast the same procedure as number two, only do it sitting up with the hand still behind your head.

Most women discover breast changes by themselves. But some of them are late in making the discovery. You can avoid that mistake by checking your breasts once a month after your menstrual period.

Shanghai is changed, but romance continues

By ROY ESSOYAN

SHANGHAI, China (AP)— The bright lights of Avenue Joffre have long been dimmed and there isn't a single beautiful White Russian bargirl left in town, but sex appears to be alive and well in Communist China.

There never was any doubt about that, of course, otherwise they couldn't have doubled the opulation in 30 years, to the present 800 million. But this is a sober and moral society that frowns on sexual display, in posters or parks or anywhere public.

All the night clubs, bars and cabarets of colonial Shanghai are gone. And gone with them is the promiscu-the Orient. But these days the flowers are in full bloom in the public parks of Shanghai and Peking, and love is not

While the public address system delivers a lengthy report on the weather and the tides, couples stroll hand-in-hand and here and there, on a park bench, you see them locked in romantic embrace. Under the rule of chairman Mao Tse-tung's autocratic widow and the so-called "Gang of Four," such scandalous behavior was not permitted.

Guards patrolled the leafy paths and, after sunset, turned their flashlights on any couple that dared to sit to close to each other.

Avenue Joffre, one of the gay white way of pre-Communist Shanghai which has been re-christened Huai Hai Road, looks like the main street of a Chinese country town today.

Sycamores in full leaf line the sidewalks crowded with shoppers in the daytime. But at night, when Avenue Joffre used to burst into bright neon-lit life, the whole boulevord is dark,

Their premises now are occupied by a proletarian clothing store a Chinese restaurant, a barbershop and a store that sells Chinese sausages.

Downtown, the area around the waterfront bund was the financial heart of Shanghai in its prerevolutionary

All the great solid stone and brick buildings where colonial Shanghai's financial and political potentates ruled ar still there. But they are relics of a bygone civilization.

The buildings facing the bund show 30 years of wear and tear, though they are still in fair shape. But a few steps in from the bund these once-proud edifices of colonial rule are coated with grime, their stonework blotched and chipped, their hallways dark and dank even at high noon.

Many of the windows are caked with dust. Some are broken or boarded up. You can tell people live there or work there by the washing hanging out. Shops have sprung up and street stalls peddle bowls of noodles, Chi-nese bread and cookies and cakes. And the streets are alive with pedestrians and bicycles jostling each other in the daytime. By night, downtown Shanghai is a ghost town peopled only by a few passersby.

The bar, deserted length of Nanking Road, the once-glittering main artery leading up from the bund, is broken by one lighted store front, a proletarian-looking parlor dispensing warm, chicory-tasting coffee and Chinese

Couples sit at plain weathered tables, passing the early evening hours. At 10 p.m., when the parlor closes, some of them stroll out into the night, hand-in-hand, heading for the public gardens along the bend.

Many don't qualify to bear the HOROSCOPE name, as far as this butcher is concerned. Some of the pressed and formed, pumped and processed stuff that some call ham, I call a crime. Bits and pieces of stuff is a far cry from the hind leg of a pig.

The best ham you're apt to find in most superbuy as far as value for cerned, is a whole ham.

The whole hind leg of the pig, shank and butt and bone and all, all cured and smoked, that's your best ham buy. Most people, however, pass this up because it's bigger than they can handle, or so it seems. They select, instead, just the "butt end" or "shank end," and in doing so they lose. I'll tell you

There are dozens of delicious things to be done with any ham leftovers you may have, do don't worry about buying a bigger piece than you can consume at one meal. You'll save money in the long run if you stay away from those tiny little canned hams. Buy instead a whole ham.

Angel Chocolate-Pear Pie a delicious dessert

SACRAMENTO, CA.—There's a candy called "Divinity Puff," deceptively light and fluffy considering the entire outer coating of white chocolate. There's also a rich dessert pudding named "Food for the Gods" that's almost always overdressed with a generous dollop of whipped cream right on top. There's a coffee that's been advertised for years as the "heavenly coffee," presumably to be served with mere mortal food. (What one wonders about all these delights is how they achieve such a lofty distinction)?

Here to join the ranks of light, absolutely delicious and good enough for the immortal is Angel Chocolate-Pear Pie. It's a melt-in-your-mouth fantasy. Rich with chocolate, whipped with cream and topped with buttery pears, this unearthly concoction sits in a shell of fluffy meringue. Somehow it's awfully easy to cut the pieces too big, but nobody seems to complain much. There's a curious perversion, though, in the name "Angel Chocolate-Pear Pie." You get

ANGEL CHOCOLATE PEAR-PIE

2 egg whites 1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar 1/8 teaspoon salt

1/3 cup granulated sugar 1/3 cup sifted powdered sugar 1 package (1/4 lb.) sweet cooking chocolate 3 tablespoons water

1 cup whipping cream 1 teaspoon vanilla

2 fresh pears Chocolate curls

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add cream of tartar and salt; beat to mix well. Add granulated sugar, then powdered sugar, a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Turn off mixture and scrape bowl as needed. Beat until all sugar is dissolved and mixture stands in very stiff peaks. Spoon into lightly greased 8inch pie plate. Shape into "nest," building sides up 1/2 inch above edge of plate. Bake in 275 degree F. (very slow) oven 1 hour. Turn off heat and cool pie shell in oven 30 to 45 minutes. Place sweet cooking chocolate and water in saucepan. Heat and stir over low heat until chocolate is melted.

Cool to room temperature. Whip cream with vanilla. Fold in cooled: chocolate. Pare, core and slice pears. Cover bottom of pie shell with some of pear slices. Heap chocolate mixture lightly into shell. Arrange remaining pear slices on top. Garnish with chocolate curls. Chill about 2 hours. Makes

Stock market mixed

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices were mixed today after the government reported the United States trade deficit widened in the second quarter, due largely to increased imports of oil and fuel-saving small cars.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up 11.60 in the two previous days, slipped .60 to 849.74 in the first two hours of trading. But advancers led gainers by a 7-5 margin in New York Stock Exchange trading.

The Commerce Department said the nation's merchandise trade deficit in the second quarter was $7.64 bil-lion, up from $6.1 billion in the first quarter.

Ramada Inn, which received approval from the New Jersey Casino Control Commission for an Atlantic City casino, led the NYSE active list and was up 3/8 to 12%.

Resorts International A stock fell % to 46% on the American Stock Exchange: Resorts operates a casino in Atlantic City.

Chrysler, which is seeking government aid after reporting massive losses, was down ¼ to 8.

Banking issues were strong. Bankamerica rose ½ to 291/2 and Citicorp was up

½ to 24¼. The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was up .07 at 59.43. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .57 to 199.11. Volume in the firstttwo hours of NYSE trading was 16.38 million shares, up from 15.88 million shares at the same time Wednesday.

Workaholics rate self-worth greater than net worth

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Although they really can't spare the time, workaholics are speaking up in their own defense. Their habits, they say, are not indicative of emotional weakness. Instead, they personify

The attitude quickly surfaces in conversations with workaholics, who resent the word as perjorative. They are tired of being considered psychological misfits, of being poor family people, of being And they have defenders. "What's wrong with this country," said Eugene Jennings, a counselor to many executives, "is that we have too few workaho-lics and too many part-time executives play acting a Marilyn Machlowitz, who dealt with the subject in her doctoral dissertation at Yale, comments that "practicing pscyhologists do not so much define workaholism as they denigrate workaholics." Jennings, a professor who not only instructs budding workaholics in his Michigan State management courses but who acts as a confidential adviser to corporation chiefs, maintains the word is loaded with

"The large majority of chief executive officers of major industrial corporations who worked their way from the bottom are workaholics," he states flatly. He feels they might not have got there otherwise.

"In science and the arts we admire workaholics," he states. But in business — well, that's another story, one often associated with a variety of negative personality traits, which Jennings calls nonsense. He maintains that highly successful, self-propelled executives do not have an unusually high divorce rate. He claims that on average they do not die prematurely. And he insists they are seldom alchoholics.

Some, he suspects, might have better marriages and better health, because they must tend to such matters or see their goals undermined. For the same reason they may be inclined to avoid heavy drink-

Miss Machlowitz also sees constructive attitudes in the workaholic personality. "What causes workaholism?" she asks rhetorically. "Obvious prerequisites are energy, optimism and drive," she an-

Odessa police 9th Texas force to get IBPOA charter

ODESSA - The Odessa Police Department Wednesday became the ninth city police department in Texas to be granted a charter by the International Brotherhood of Police Officers Association, Richard Kesselus, IBPOA technical adviser, saidtoday in Del Rio.

At least 95 officers of the 134-member force joined the association within two days after Odessa policemen contacted the IBPOA state office in Austin Monday following the forced resignation July 26

Odessa Police Chief Jack Tomlin asked Callendar to resigned after Callendar reportedly told two police officers they were not to appear to testify in a probation revocation hearing in El Paso unless they were subpoenaed. The hearing was dismissed after the officers did not appear to testify.

Kesselus said the resignation of Callendar prompted the officers to request membership in the organi-

He claimed Callendar's resignation gave the officers the distinct impression that their jobs, too, might not be all that secure. They felt that the case again Callendar was not strong enough to warrant his effective dismissal, Kesselus said.

"In Odessa, the (police) department does not have civil service," Kesselus said.
"They (the officers) were of the assumption that they had fairly good job security" until Callendar was forced out. "It scared them." However, Kesselus said that Callendar's ousting was "not the whole thing" behind the officers' motivation to seek IBPOA membership. "The first thing I will do," he said, "is to get a confidential survey out to determine a lot of things" concerning the police matters.

IBPOA nationally has a staff of 36 full-time lawyers to represent and advise officers in matters possibly requiring litigation, to make their jobs more secure and to negotiate in wage hijes. He said 50,000 officers in 600 police departments across the country belong to the organization.

In addition to Odessa, police department having IBPOA membership are Midland, Big Spring, San Angelo, Laredo, Waco, Beaumont, Victoria and Port The U.S. Border Patrol also is is chartered by the association. The Midland Police Department received its charter three years ago. The Odessa IBPOA chapter is chartered as Odessa Police Department Local 478.

"We (IBPOA) are not considered radical," Kesselus said. "We're conservative." He said the association "won't stand for a strike or a slowdown" within its membership.

Hiding in the bathroom with her son's two children, Lola Rodriguez, 3112-A W. Kansas St., listened as a burglar wandered through the house about 8 a.m. Wednesday, police said.

When police arrived, they found a Midland man in the house's kitchen.

Mark Robert Cavin, 17, remained in the city jail today under $7,500 bond. He was charged Wednesday in Peace Justice Bob Pine's court with burglary of a habitation.

According to police, Mrs. Rodriguez was home with the children when a man came to the door, gave a name and asked if she knew that person. Mrs. Rodriguez did not recognize the name, she told police, and tried to shut the door. When the door would not lock, she ran with the children to a bathroom, where the family stayed for some time until she heard a door open and close.

police were told. Thinking the man had left, Mrs. Rodriguez told police, she ran to a phone in the bedroom and called the operator, who called the police. She said she then returned to the bathroom.

When police arrived at the residence, they heard Mrs. Rodriguez calling for help and kicked open the back door and found the man still inside the house,

Bandidos member sought

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — All-points bulletins were broadcast Wednesday on San Antonio police radio channels, seeking a member of the Bandidos motorcycle club for questioning in connection with the May 29 assassination of a federal judge.

FBI Special Agent Manuel Marquez refused to comment on why agents wanted to talk to the 20-year-old man, but one federal investigator said it was not a significant development.

U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., 63, known as "Maximum John" for his stiff sentences in drug cases, was killed by a single .243-caliber shot fired by a sniper as he left his home for work.

No arrests have been made in that case. Wood was the second Western District of Texas official connected to a massive El Paso-based federal drug investigation to be ambushed within seven Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr escaped serious injury here Nov. 21 when he ducked behind the dash board of his car to evade a hail of bullets.

Several Bandidos took lie detector tests and participated in a police lineup viewed by Kerr last March. An F'BI agent has identified a former Bandido as "a prime suspect" in the case. No arrests have been macle, however.

Police probe 'suspicious' fire

HOUSTON (AP) — Fire investigators looked for clues and residents searched for belongings as they picked through 41/2 blocks of rubble left by a "suspicious" seven-alarm fire that destroyed more than 300 apartments.

"We're still treating it as a suspicious fire," said H.G. Torres, the Houston arson officer in charge of investigating the fire that raced through the Woodway Square Apartments on Houston's near west

He said about 20 more witnesses were to make statements. "We've been taking statements all day," he said. "Until we decipher all the infor-mation, we won't know. It's one giant, ugly puzzle we have to put together.'

By late Wednesday, about 1,500 Houston residents had offered aid to the hundreds of victims ranging from food and clothing to low-cost apartments, loans

According to fire officials, the blaze, the worst Houston fire in decades, spread because of the wood-shingle roofs. It was Houston's seventh major apartment complex fire within three years and the fourth involving wood shingles.

Houston Fire Chief V.E. Rogers said more than 400 firefighters from Houston and a dozen surrounding towns brought the blaze under control after about three hours. There were no fatalities

The fire apparently prompted the Houston City Council to give unanimous approval Wednesday to an ordinance strengthening standards for use of wood shingles — a proposal that had been tabled just as the wind-whipped blaze erupted Tuesday after-

Fire department spokesman Dale Everitt said more than 1,000 persons were displaced and that 457 units were damaged to some extent by fire.

Lowell Ferguson may be in hot water with his employer, but they love him at "Buffalo International Airport.'

"He's the guy who put Buffalo on the map," said Jim Hicks, editor of the weekly Buffalo Bulletin. "He's a regular hero up here." Ferguson made Buffalo Airport history Tuesday night by giving the 3,500-population northern Wyoming community its first - and presumbably last - commercial jet service. He thought he was landing at his scheduled destination, Sheridan, 35 miles north.

The Boeing 737 jet landed safely on Buffalo's tiny 4,500-foot runway — where its nosegear sank through the asphalt. It took off for Sheridan Wednesday, minus passengers and Ferguson, who was routinely suspended pending investigation.

Western officials said later the landing apparently was a "case of mistaken identity," but it didn't bother most of the 94 passengers aboard Flight 44. Some, like Theo Hirschfeld, wanted to go to Buffa-

Others took advantage of Western hospitality while waiting to be bused to Sheridan. The Los Angeles-based airline, which features in-flight champagne, served post-flight champagne and cocktails, and some of the passengers helped flight attendants

"When they started coming out of the plane, it was a pretty mellow group," Hicks said. "The people were in the best mood."

A few of those arriving from Sheridan to pick up friends and relatives were irritated, he said, but most caught the spirit of the night and began enjoying themselves, too.

Dolly Brodock, returning home to Great Falls, Mont., from Denver, said landing in Buffalo was "a complete surprise to everyone. "But after the shock, it was a feeling of amuse-

WASHINGTON (AP) - If you doubt that President Carter's dramatic facelifting of his administration caused wear Friday question-and-anand tear on his close as- swer sessions with invited journalists from out of sociates, ask press secretary Jody Powell.

As Carter's search for Cabinet replacements tary Patricia Bario said neared an end last week, Powell was stricken with sharp chest pains. Fearing the worst, he summoned the president's personal physician, Rear Adm. William Lukash.

After administering two electrocardiograms in as many days, plus other tests, Lukash reached a tentative diagnosis: Powell had experienced muscle spasms in the chest triggered by tension and fatigue.

as Indira Gandhi stands trial

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - Club-swinging police arrested more than 700 supporters of Indira Gandhi outside a court today as the former prime minister challenged the legality of criminal proceedings against her in a special tribunal set up by India's previous government.

Those arrested were among 1,000 members of the youth wing of the Indira Congress Party.

Inside the courtroom, Mrs. Gandhi's attorney, Madan Bhatia, told Judge M.S. Joshi, "This court is not competent to hear this case." Joshi presides over one of two special courts set up under an act of Parliament last April. Mrs. Gandhi, who ruled India from 1966 to 1977, listened silently, her face grim. Cain still on minds of St. Louis Card football team

By The Associated Press

The preseason schedule has the St. Louis Cardinals in the Astrodome tonight opposing the Houston Oilers. But the hearts of the Cardinal coaches and players will remain on a practice field in St. Charles, Mo.

That's where they lost their teammate J.V. Cain 11 days

THE LATE tight end also will be on the minds of everyone else under the Dome tonight when there is a moment of silence prior to the kickoff for the Houston native, who died after collapsing during a pass pattern drill at practice.

"I doubt if the team will ever really put it (Cain's death) behind them," said Cardinal Vice President Bing Devine. "But life goes on and I think they are responding. We had a scrim-mage on Saturday and that was a benefit. It gave the team some action and something to relate COACH BUD Wilkinson had been banking on Cain's return from Achilles tendon surgery to pay dividends this season. The torch now falls to Al Chandler and Eason Ramson, who filled in for Cain last season.

Houston will start backup quarterback Gifford Nielsen while starter Dan Pastorini continues to recover from a sore shoulder, and Jim Hart will take the first snap for St. Louis.

THE CARDINALS' first two draft picks, running backs Ottis Anderson of Miami and Theotis Brown of UCLA, also will be on display tonight.

Meanwhile, Carl Eller will face his former Minnesota Vikings teammates tonight in the first preseason encounter for his new club, the Seattle Seahawks.

The Seahawks, who obtained the 37-year-old defensive end this week for 24-year-old defensive tackle Steve Niehaus, have been trying since then to justify

"It is a trade I normally wouldn't make," said Seattle head Coach Jack Patera, who coached Eller's defensive line in Minnesota before the Seahawks hired him in 1976. He explained that Niehaus, the club's No.1 pick that first year, hadn't lived up to his potential, and that Eller "was Minnesota's best defensive lineman last season."

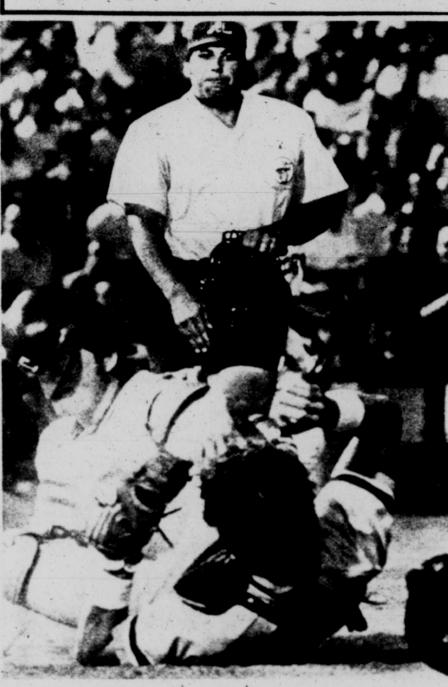

The New York Giants also will meet a recently traded ex-teammate Saturday when they host the Cleveland Browns at the Meadowlands.

THE GIANTS traded Jack Gregory to the Browns Wednesday after the defensive end walked out of camp Monday and threatened to retire unless the Giants worked out a suitable and earned All-Pro honors... The Giants also lost four-year veteran tackle Bill Bain to the Washington Redskins, who acquired him on waivers Wednesday along with guard Gary Anderson from the New Orleans Saints.

The San Francisco 49ers received encouraging news on running back James Owens, their first draft choice out of UCLA, who was reported in good condition Wednesday after being hospitalized in Palo Alto, Calif., for non-contagious meningitis. The 49ers expect him to miss only about a week of

For Midland, it was a frustrating night. Jared Martin was the only Cub to get past second base, and in the sixth, he was called out while trying to steal home.

Elcor bombards

TYLER - Elcor combined strong hitting with solid pitching here Wednesday as the Chems defeated Baird, 16-1, in a loser's bracket contest of the Texas Teen-Age Senior State Baseball tournament.

Baird in tourney

Elcor lashed 12 hits while Chem pitchers Jay Doeling and DeWayne Holmes checked Baird on just three safeties.

Brian Cantrell powered a grand-slam homer to pace the Elcor offense while Doug Schmidt, John White and Doeling each doubled.

Elcor's other Wednesday assignment was postponed because of rain. They're scheduled to play a double header today in the double elimination tourney with still a shot at the championship trophy.

Bill Earley went the distance for Midland as his record dipped to 9-4.

Dorsett changes mind over curfew fines

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) -Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett says he has had a change of heart about his threat to file a formal grievance with the NFL Players Association if his $1,200 fine stands.

"If all this is taken the wrong way, it could be a disruptive thing and I don't want that," he said Wednesday. "Right now the rapport of the players and coaches is excellent and it is important that we keep that."

Dorsett said he would be "unhappy" if he had to pay the fine, for not returningto the Cal Luheran campus until 7:30 a.m. Sunday after the Hall of Fame Game against Oakland in Canton, Ohio. But he added he would not take the matter "that far" - which he indicated referred to filing a grievance. Dorsett and Thomas Henderson led a group of Cowboys players Tuesday in asking the players union to clear up a "free time" contract clause. Henderson was penalized $300 for the same offense as Dorsett the same morning, but said he was only one The players interpret the clause to mean that for one 24-hour period each week, they will have no practices, meetings or curfews. Drew Pearson, Cowboys player representative, said Wednesday: "It's my understanding that the wording of the rule states that once preseason games are under way, the team must be given a minimum of four days off per month. During the 24 hours you have off there are to be no practices, no meetings and no curfews. Coach Landry evidently interprets it to mean just no meetings and no practices. He suggested that we get a clarification."

Dick Bethelson, staff counsel for the NFLPA, said he agrees with the players' perspective and has in-formed Landry of his opinion.

Landry, who has insisted he will continue to enforce curfew until ordered by the league commissioner to do' otherwise, apparently made his stand clear in a meeting with players Tuesday night.

Dorsett described the meeting as "Coach said what he had to say and there were a couple of questions. No one got heated up at all. It's just an issue that's not particularly clear. The players and coaches just need to come to an understanding. Once things are spelled out clearly, everything will be OK," Dorsett said.

Landry says the $1,200 fine was the result of Dorsett's being on a "double" because he already had been fined for being late the previous Wednesday. The amount of the fine reportedly doubled with each hour Dorsett remained away from camp.

Baltimore ready for series with Yankees

By The Associated Press

Now that the Baltimore Ori-oles have proved to the Milwaukee Brewers who's boss in the American League East, they'll try to show the New York Yankees the same thing.

Baltimore swept three games from the previously red-hot Brewers in Milwaukee, climaxing the rout with a 5-2 victory Wednesday. The Orioles lead second-place Boston by 7½ games, are 9½ ahead of Milwaukee and 14 in front of the two-time defending World Champion Yankees. The Orioles invade Yankee Stadium Friday for a four-game series.

Al Bumbry extended his hitting streak to 13 games, opening the contest with a single that spurred a three-run Baltimore first inning off Lary Sorensen. 12-11. Dennis Martinez, 14-8, coasted home with an eighthitter as the Orioles won for the 13th time in 15 games.

"It wasn't do or die, but it certainly was crucial," said Bumbry. "We came here feeling we had to win two out of three. Winning all three means now we know we can beat Milwaukee.

"We've beaten them six straight now, three at our place and now three here after they embarrassed us in three games here early in the year.'

Milaukee beat the Yankees three times over the weekend for a sweep of their own but those victories had little meaning following Baltimore's dev-astation of the Brewers.

'Now we have to sweep them three straight in Baltimore next week," said Sorensen. "It's either that or play .800 ball the rest of the way. And the way Baltimore is playing, they might do that, anyway.'

Rangers top Tigers with Kern

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Rangers reliever Jim Kern earned his 18th save and preserved Steve Comer's 12th victory of the season while Jim Sundberg's two-run triple provided the game-winning run Wednesday night in a 4-3 victory over the Detroit

Gamble trade is puzzling

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Al Oliver calls them a revolving door. Jim Kern calls them a shambles. Doc Medich calls them embarrassing.

The "them" is the Texas Rangers front office, which apparently lost Oscar Gamble to the New York Yankees in the Mickey Rivers' deal Wednesday because they don't understand baseball's rules.

Rangers fans bombarded a local radio station with calls, the majority saying the Yankees had taken the Rangers in a trade that had taken quite a few twists and turns since its original announcement.

Texas announced "completion" of the trade late Wednesday, sending the contract of Gamble to the Yankees in exchange for Rivers' contract - plus third baseman Amos Lewis, a minor leaguer hitting .282 with 20 home runs and two players to be named later.
The Rangers will receive three players to be named. On Monday, the Rangers and Yankees announced that Rivers had been traded to Texas for minor leaguers Gary Gray, Mike Hart, Domingo Ramos and a player to be named However, Texas failed to obtain waivers on Gray and Hart and could not send them to the Yankees' AAA farm team in Columbus. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn noticed the failure to clear waivers and voided the deal.

The Rangers' Chairman of the Board Brad Corbett and executive vice president Eddie Robinson swung into action, again. Robinson and the Yankees agreed to an even-up trade Gamble fr Rivers and Gamble was pulled from the starting lineup Tuesday night. However, Corbett said no deal and ordered Robinson to get an alternate plan.

By then it was too late and Gamble, who had just bought a new home in Arlington, was sent to the Yanks.

"It seems kind of funny that they would want to trade the leading hitter on the team," said Gamble. "All I know is that the Ranger front office is acting like it messed up. but I don't mind going to the Yanks.'

Medich said: "They (the front office) messed up. They are trying to pass the buck off to the American League. How can you have any confidence in them after you've seen this fiasco. They (the front office) have been put in a very embarrassing situ-

"He's one of the best fast ball pitchers in the major leagues and hes got a lt of stats," Walling said. "He's had the 300 strike outs, the 24-8 record and the Cy Young Award. I'll admit it, I was nervous the first time. That strikeout was a donation.

But when the collection plate came around the second time, Walling was not nearly as generous, blasting a two-run triple to highlight a four-run Houston fourth inning that paced the Astros to a 5-4 victory.

"He pitched to me pretty good all night," Walling said. "I just hap-pened to be looking for a fast ball when he threw one.

The Astros, struggling to hold onto their lead in the National League's Western Division, needed every bit of their fourth inning uprising to hold off the desperate Giants, who felt they needed to win the three-game series.

Swann's backup is anxious to play in exhibition tilt

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) - All-Pro wide receiver Lynn Swann's announcement that he's closed the door on his pro football career with the Pittsburgh Steelers has opened one opportunity for his backup, Jim

"I just want to play more," said the 24-year-old reserve wide receiver, who is slated to start in Swann's place when the Buffalo Bills host Pittsburgh Saturday night in the National Football League preseason opener for both

Swann, absent from the three-time Super Bowl champions' training camp here to pursue a civil rights suit against San Francisco authorities, said Tuesday he has retired from

Team officials don't believe him, however, and expect Swann to play for Pittsburgh.

'Lynn's had ... great years here," Smith said Wednesday as he prepared to make his first start ever for the Steelers. "To write him off on the exhibition season wouldn't be totally fair," Smith added.

Still, the former University of Michigan standout is looking forward to being in a starting lineup for the first time since playing in the Rose Bowl

"I think I can do the job. I've got all the confidence in the world," the fourth round draft pick said.

Swann is attending a trial in San Francisco in which he, two brothers and a cousin are demanding $2 million in damages because city policemen allegedly roughed them up while looking for the so-called Zodiac Killer

Swann, considered the best receiver on the Steelers, if not in all professional football, said emphatically Tuesday he has retired.

But his status could be more a matter of semantics than reality. Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll said Swann called him before the trial began, asking for permission to report late for camp. Noll said he re-fused and added, "We'll just assume you're retired."

Swann's announcement also could be a way out of the fines that could be levied for being tardy. A retired player technically cannot be considered

Steelers President Dan Rooney predicted Swann's return, and a team spokesman discounted the retirement announcement.

But those issues are academic to Smith. "I want to stay healthy and play more whether he's here or he's

Track payoffs getting attention

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) Opening up track and field to some form of professionalism for the athletes would end the present system of "under-the-table" payments that now exist in the sport, say a top-flight athlete and a highly regarded coach.

The two, who asked that their names not be used, both agreed in separate interviews with The Associated Press that as the sport now stands, it is very "hypocritical."

At present, the sport is considered strictly amateur. But that obviously is a misnomer, since it is well known that an exorbitant amount of money exchanges hands between promoters and athletes, between television sponsors and promoters, between corporate investors and promoters, etc.

The athlete and the coach both agreed that so far, most of the "onus" has centered on the athletes, because they are the most prominent of the individuals. They are the ones who run, jump or throw, win the gold medals and set the records. But the athlete and the coach also agreed that the promoters, the TV people and the corporate sponsors, the ones footing the bills for the meets, should be just as much to blame for any wrongdoings in the

The athlete said that in the recent Golden Mile in Oslo, where Britisher Sebastian Coe set his world record, "I accidentally saw the books ... and the cheapest guy in it (the meet) got $2,000. Even the 'no-names.' The top price was $4,000."

"If we can get track and field opened up, these kinds of 'under-thetable' payments wouldn't be necessary," he said. "I think we will have open track eventually, but the IAAF (International Amateur Athletic Federation, the governing body of track and field) and the AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) will have to get together first."

The coach pointed out that the IAAF was "in control" of the Oslo meet, sponsored by Dubai.

"Dubai is the one with money to back it," he explained, "and the IAAF is going to help them spend it." Dubai sponsored its first meet in Tokyo last year and has another meet upcoming in Zurich shortly. The coach compared staging a meet to putting up a Christmas tree. "You want to decorate it with the nicest ornaments you have," he said, in reference to the promoters trying to grab the top athletes.

But in addition to the money given the athletes, he questioned where a lot of the other money goes.
"Who benefits?" he asked. "A lot of the money is supposed to go to charitable organizations, such as the CYO, and other groups. But does it?

"I'd like to see some of these promoters open up their books and let them give us an accounting," said the

Connors pulls out of tourney

NORTH CONWAY, N.H. (AP) Top-seeded Jimmy Connors has informed tournament officials he will not be returning for the remainder of the $175,000 international tournament at the Mount Cranmore Tennis Club.

Connors made a dramatic exit after his first-round match Tuesday to join his wife. Patti. in Los Angeles for the birth of their first child. The seven pound, 14-ounce boy arived eary Wednesday

Connors had defeated Eliot Tetscher 6-2, 6-4 and was scheduled to meet Franciso Gonzalez of Puerto Rico.

The default advanced Gonzalez to a third-round match against No.13 seed. Balazc Taroczy of Hungary.

Pearson replacement

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) - Veteran stock car driver David Pearson, an unexpected entry in the Talladega 500, says he's ready to renew old friendships during today's time triats for the $231,000 Winston Cup on Sun-

Pearson stepped in to replace injured rookie driver Dale Earnhardt now hospitalized in Pennsylvania. Earnhardt broke his collar bones in a crash during the recent Coca-Cola 500 at Pocono

The Talladega race marks Pearson's first NASCAR Winston Cup race since the Rebel 500 at Darlington, S.C. in April. He was replaced in the Wood Brothers Mercury, a car he had driven successfully for seven years, by young Neil Bonnett of Hueytown,

"I've said all along I wouldn't get in a car that I didn't figure was competitive and I know the car prepared by Jake Elder will be capable of winning at Talladega," said Pearson. "Me and Jake aren't strangers. We had some pretty good years together at Holman-Moody.'

Pearson won the 1968 and 1969 NA-SCAR points championship at the wheel of a Holman-Moody ford. Elder was the crew chief on the car. Elder has prepared an Oldsmobile for Pearson's run Sunday." During activities Wednesday at the speedway, Phil Finney of Merritt Island, Fla., drove his Chevy to a speed of 185.508 mph as warmups for Saturday's ARCA 200 preliminary event began.

In another development Wednes-day, car owner Ken Childers announced defending Talladega 500 champ Lennie Pond has been re-placed in the Childers Olds by veteran short-track driver Jack ngram of she-

Childers said he has not been pleased with the car's performance this season and felt a driver change was necessary.

Colquitt hearing postponed

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - A court hearing on drunken driving charges against Pittsburgh Steelers punter Craig Colquitt has been postponed for a third time after the former University of Tennessee football star failed to appear in court.

Judge Harold Kimberly, noting the repeated continuances requested by Colquitt's attorney, rescheduled the case for Aug. 31 and said Wednesday it would not be postponed again.

Kimberly denied Assistant District Attorney Jim Pryor's motion that Colquitt be required to forfeit the $200 bond he posted after his arrest May 7 after an accident in which a former University of Tennesseecoed suffered permanent brain injuries.

Pryor said he would try to have the case bound over to the Knox County grand jury rather than disposed of in

"I feel I'm hitting the ball reasonably well but I have trouble putting it all together," he said after a practice round over the 7,014-yard, par 70 Oakland Hills Country Club course, site of the 61st PGA Championship that opened today.

"I get anxious out there, swing a don't do it soon, there won't be much little fast and as a result, I get myself Palmer, who has 61 tour victories

Still, Arnie's Army remains loyal, following his foursome despite a steady drizzle. "It's always nice to have the gallery rooting for you," he said, "But the competition keeps me going. I would enjoy it more if I were playing a little better: I'm always charged up. I would like to be more charged up, so I could win this tournament.'

PGA crown

Palmer also said he thinks par 280 for the four-day tournament might be broken because of the slowness of the course, which has been caused by the rains in this Detroit suburb in recent "If I were to pick a score, I would pick something under 280," he said. Palmer also said the course favors the long hitters, such as George Burns and Andy Bean, two of the players in his practice foursome.

"They are a very definite threat to this golf course," he said, reminding everyone that par has not been broken during the four U.S. Opens and one PGA Championship played here. "Anyone who hits the ball as long as Burns and is putting as well as he is can win this tournament."

And he knows time is fleeting.

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) - Gary Player has fond memories of the Oakland Hills Country Club, site of the 61st PGA Championship that opened today Player won the PGA title here seven years ago, hitting a magnificant nine-iron 150 yards on the 408-vard 16th hole to within four feet and a birdie to

'Anytime you win a great championship like the PGA on a great golf course, you have nice me-mories," said Player after finishing a practice round Wednesday in a steady drizzle.

'The course played a little longer due to the fact that they had so much rain. There is not as much rough asin previos championships. Still, it is going to be a great test becaue it is ne of the great golf courses in the world."

Player said if he had to pick a favorite in the field of 150, he would name Jack Nicklaus, winner of four PGA titles and runnerup three times

"I know he hasn't been playing well," said Player, 'but he has been improving and he will be tough.' Nicklaus, himself, admitted that he's in the proper frame of mind to win another title.

"I think they're right," said Nicklaus when told of the comments by Player and others who predicted that the Golden Bear would take home his first championship of 1978. "I've been hitting the ball reasonably well but I haven't been able to make a putt. However, I have been making some putts in the last few weeks.

'As for this course, it will be a good test of golf. You've got to hit the ball long and straight, put your irons around the pin and putt. Even though it will be soft, it still will be a test."

Nicklaus said he thought there might be some subpar rounds — he played in a practice round Wednesday with Ray Floyd, who shot a 63, with seven birdies and no bogeys. But he doesn't think anyone will put together four of them. 'To break par on this course, you've got to play very well," he said. "If par were 72, I would say 'Yes.' But it's 70. You can get a good round on this course when conditions are soft, but I don't know if it Of course, there are several others in the field who stand a chance of breaking par 280 over the 7,014-yard, par 70 course, most of whom are long The lineup includes leading money-winner Tom

Watson, who has been having trouble with his driver of late, defending PGA champion John Mahaffey. U.S. Open champion Hale-Irwin, Floyd, Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, Ben Crenshaw, Jerry Pate and Lanny Wadkins. "If I were to pick a score, I would pick something under 280," said Arnold Palmer, whose list of 61

course favors the big hitters. If you hit the ball long and can putt, you are a very definite threat on this Mahaffey, who says he's completely healed from a hand injury suffered earlier this year, also says that par will be broken this year, which hasn't been done in a major tournament here through four U.S. Opens and the 1972 PGA championship. 'The wet weather will make it play longer-but I think par will be broken," he said, echoing just about every one in the field with the exception of Hubie Green, who said the so-called "monster" will not be brought to its knees. Another tour regular, Lee Elder, said, "You definitely will see a lot of 65s here because of the conditions. These guys will really chew it up. If it stays overcast and the sun doesn't come out and bake the course, there is no doubt that 280 will be broken. We don't have the severe rough that we have had in the PGA championship and the U.S. Open." In 1972, Player was tied for the lead with Jim Jamieson whn he slied his drive behind some willow things, he had to shoot over the trees and a pond that was in front of the green 150 yards away. He used a nine-iron because a less lofted club would not have cleared the trees. He put everything trees on the 16th hole. To get back into the thick of

he had into the 9-iron and the ball landed next to the "One of the men came out of the gallery and took the divot and planted it in his garden," recalled

Player this week. "He wrote me a letter, asking me if I wanted a piece of the divot. I told him I wouldn't mind a piece of the divot as long as I didn't have to mow his yard."

Lopez favorite

SUNNINGDALE, England (AP) - British bookmakers will tell you there can be only one winner of the European LPGA championship, which was scheduled to begin at Sunningdale today

The lady golfer in question is the inimitable Nancy Lopez, the 22-year-old second-year tour regular from New Mexico.

Lopez won this tournament by 3 strokes last year. It was one of nine tournament victories, and she has already won six - and $150,000 - this year. All of which prompts the bookies to make Lopez a

2-1 favorite to retain her title. Second favorite Judy Rankin is a 7-1 choice and you can get 12-1 on experienced professionals like Jane Blalock and Sandra Post, second on the money list behind Lopez.

The attention that Lopez gets on the American tourrankles the other women golfers. They all want to beat her. But Nancy, who is being watched here by father Domingo, just goes on making money.

Lopez has shown before that she can tame the 6,174-yard, par-74 Old Course. In heading off Sally Little last year, she looked a winner from the second round on. The South African could be one of Lopez's major challengers again this year, along with former champions Rankin and Donna Young and young Argentine star Silvia Bertolaccini.

The tournament, which finishes Sunday, is worth $100,000, with $16,500 going to the winner.

Sports in brief

TENNIS
NORTH CONWAY, N.H. (AP) — Jimmy Connors informed officials at an international tournament that he would not be returning for the remainder of the tournament, as his wife, Patti, gave birth to a 7-pound, 14-ounce boy in Los Anonless geles.
Connors thus defaulted to Franciso Gonzalez of Puerto Rico in the second round.

On the court, Raul Ramirez of Mexico ousted Manuel Orantes of Spain 6-4, 6-0; Guillermo Vilas of Argentina defeated Butch Walts 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; Harold Solomon fought off Bruce Manson 7-6, 4-6, 6-3; and Brian Gottfried downed Colin Dowdeswell of Switzerland 6-2, 6-4. SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Vitas Gerulaitis opened his run for the $75,000 Grand Prix Open tille with a 6-1, 6-4 victory over Robin Drysdale of Great Britain at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club.

Britaín at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club.
In other matches, John Lloyd of Great Britain won 6-4, 6-2 over Andres Maurer, John McEnroe defeated David Carter 6-3, 6-1; Anand Amritraj downed Fernando Dalla Fontanna 6-3, 6-4; Chris Kachel beat Rick Meyer 4-6, 6-4, 6-4; Fred McNair beat Bruce Nichols 6-3, 6-4; and Jay Lapidus scored a 7-6, 7-2, 6-4 victory over Gene Malin.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Unseeded Anne Smith moved into the quarterfinals of a 575,000 tournament with a 6-3, 4-6, 6-2 victory over Laura DuPont.

Joining Smith in the quarterfinals was Ann Kiyomura, who won in straigh sets 6-2 6-2, over Sharon Walsh.

GOLF
PHOENIX (AP) — Tom Sieckmann carded a four-under-par 6s for a 131 total and the half-way lead in the 344,000 National Golfers of America tournament.

Sieckmann, 13 under par for 36 holes, picked up a stroke on John Stark, who shot a 69 after an opening-round 64. Tied at 133 were Scott Walkins and Larry Collins. Collins had the best second round — a 63, and Watkins shot 65.

RASKETBALL.

BASKETBALL BASKETBALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The state court order halting the New Orleans Jazz move to Salt Lake City was dissolved by a judge who ruled that the move could not be prevented.

a judge who ruled that the move could not be prevented.

The 30-page ruling by Civil District Judge Stephen Plotkin said the city and state had no grounds for entering the legal fight and that National Basketball Association should not be a defendant.

YACHTING

COWES, Isle of Wight (AP) — The American-built, British yacht Blizzard won the Admiral's Cup opening race over the U.S. Williwaw, but it was the Hong Kong team that led the 18-nation points table.

By RANDY ISENBERG

Ty Bowling recorded another excellent week of bowling, rolling back-toback 600s on Wednesday evening. His performances were 655 and 677.

Meanwhile, Mark Sandberg strummed a 254 game and completed his evening in the Busy Men's league with a 634 series.

MIKE VELASCO paced youth

bowling activity with a 625 series on a

Bank teller fulfills her fondest dream

By LIZ NEWLIN

HOUSTON (AP) — She has fulfilled every little kid's dream, this bank teller from Houston.

At age 25 she ran away to join the circus.

And it's the biggest circus in the world - the Ringling Brothes and Barnum & Bailey Circus - with two units touring the United States this summer. Now Debbie Lusk is a part of it - a sequined showgirl with the Blue Unit, apearing in her home-

The Red Unit, also with about 300 people and 200 animals, is performing in California.

But Ms. Lusk didn't just join the show on a whim. For three summers she worked part-time as an usher in the Summit, the circus' base for much of July.

"I'd met a number of people with both circuses," she said in an interview before a performance. "It wasn't a fantasy.

She auditioned last summer when the circus was here and began the season in January.

"Very aware" of being young and single, she wanted to do something different.

Her younger brother, 23-year-old Chuck Lusk of Houston, explains:

'She has sort of a free spirit, and bank work was getting pretty boring after five years.

"She was attracted to the atmosphere, the friendly people from all the different states working the same place."

The family, he said, supported her decision.
"If somebody in the family wants to do something bad enough, we all say go for it, especially our "She's really helpd us reach our goals."
The younger Lusk, who plans to travel in Austrai-lia after he learns carpentry, has received another benefit from his sister's job — meeting some of the showgirls and clowns.

And he says the rest of the family "loves" the fact Debbie is in the circus. Ms. Lusk says she also wanted the job to travel.

"One of the biggest drives I have is to travel," the 5-foot-3, 108-pound dancer said. And the circus travels; for all but 10 off-season days a year, the circus is performing or on its way to a performance with its 30-car train.

Ms. Lusk says she wants to stay in the show at least one more year, when the tour will take her to New York and Los Angeles - big cities - in her little

"I had seen the small quarters on the train," she said, before joining. Most prospective showgirls don't know they'll live in a roomette about 4 feet wide, 6 feet long and 9 feet high.

One woman who joined the circus at mid-season saw the quarters and left the next day, she said, but

The low living cost ($10 per week for the room) makes her salary seem more like a raise than the cut it was, she says. After five years as a teller at Houston National Bank, Ms. Lusk was making a bit more than her current $215 a week. Not just a teller, she was training tellers in the downtown bank, moving up and learning to use But she didn't want to "sit in the bank for the next 30 years."

And she doesn't foresee a return to banks. "That's why I want to go back to college."

After her circus days, she plans to complete a degree in German at the University of Texas at Austin and then become a translator for an international company.

What about her friends in Houston, outside the Big

"Oh, they all think I'm the one who ran off and joined the circus," she says, smiling through thick makeup and two-inch, $3 eyelashes.

Following the initial shock, though, they have another reaction.

"They express envy that I would actually do something I wanted to," she explained, even if it was joining Ringling Brothers.

"They tell me they wouldn't have that much

"But I didn't think it was courage. It was just something I wanted to do."

NEW REGULATORS ICC changing its image slowly

By MIKE FEINSILBER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anyone can buy or rent a truck and go into the trucking business. But if he wants to carry computers or clothespins across state lines, the government will tell him what he can haul, how it can be hauled, where his truck can go and what rates he can charge.

At the Interstate Commerce Commission, which administers a law passed in 1887 from a headquarters whose cornerstone was laid by Herbert Hoover, truckers' petitions to go into business or to expand or to charge more or less arrive in a daily flood.

They come in by the truckload. No one knows the volume. But a month's worth of rate filings alone fills

Applications for authority to operate arrive at the rate of 1,500 or so a month, and require nine months to process — a big speedup over the recent past. A major railroad merger case can generate 20 or 30 shelf feet of paperwork and a 30-month delay before a decision is rendered.

TWO THOUSAND employees are required to cope with this river of paper.

Small wonder that at a time when hostility to the idea of government regulation is running strong, the ICC is public enemy No. 1 on many reformers' lists. They say market forces working alone would do a better job of running the $56 billion trucking indus-

ICC Chairman A. Daniel O'Neal is not so sure of that. He is not ready to abandon the idea of government regulation of railroads, trucks, buses, barge lines and coal slurries.

"At this stage I don't see it as a viable answer," he says. "I'm open-minded, but I don't think the case has been made."

But O'Neal has reformed ICC procedures, moving fast enough to antagonize the industry, which portrays him as a wild zealot. He also has prompted Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons to urge President Carter to fire O'Neal and curb his "zeal to swiftly deregulate the trucking industry regardless of consequences."

THE TEAMSTERS apparently fear an unregulated industry might employ fewer drivers and more non-union drivers.

O'Neal is a native of Bremerton, Wash., where his father operated a shoe repair shop. He worked his way through college and law school by working on a ranch and as a logger. He came to Washington as a young lawyer and learned about transportation issues on the Senate Commerce Committee staff.

President Gerald R. Ford, an advocate of transportation deregulation, named O'Neal to a Democratic seat at the ICC and Carter, sharing Ford's goal, elevated O'Neal to the $52,000-a-year chair-

O'Neal spends 11 hours a day at his desk and often eats lunch from a cafeteria tray. Colleagues call him

UNDER O'NEIL, the commission started approving 96 percent of the applications that arrive in the laily deluge of paperwork and promised to give preference to applicants who pledged to give cut-rate service.

The agency stopped protecting those already in the business. It allowed companies that haul their own goods to carry freight for others on return trips, eliminating the need for trucks to travel empty. It dropped a rule permitting a contract trucker to carry goods for only eight shippers.

And the commission has started to scrutinize rate increases that are proposed by carriers jointly under an antitrust exemption which permits them to get together and agree on rates.

IN AN INTERVIEW, O'Neal said truckers — and even shippers, who sometimes prefer stability to the promise of lower rates through increased competition — were angry with what he's done.

"They're very upset," he said. "I know I'm characterized as a radical deregulator. I have problems with that characterization. I'm just trying to be objective and prodent."

objective and prudent."

But O'Neal is not yet ready to go as far as the administration in advocating the dismantling of his agency.

Wayne Granquist, who advises Carter on regulatory matters, predicts that Carter will call for complete deregulation before his term ends.

At the Civil Aeronautics Board, where airline deregulation has been hailed as a Carter administration.

tration success story, chairman Marvin Cohen says, "The same things that made it advisable and helpful and good for society to deregulate airlines apply to trucks in spades."

ECONOMIST JAMES C. Miller III at the American Enterprise Institute praises O'Neal for bucking "some very powerful interests" but says of the reforms to date: "We're getting some baby steps being taken."

O'Neal's moment of truth is coming. He will be invited to give the commission's position on a bill proposed by Carter and backed by Sen. Edward M.

Kennedy, D-Mass., which would deregulate large segments of the trucking industry.

So far, O'Neal says, the commission hasn't taken a position on the bill. Because every congressman has trucking firms and Teamsters in his district, the pressure for the status quo can be enormous.

Airline passengers constitute a vocal constituency for airline deregulation and the fare reductions it brought. Airlines profited when lower fares generat-ed more traffic. But people are unlikely to ship more freight if rates drop. And because the cost of freight is hidden in the prices of things people buy, there is no consumer constituency for reducing freight costs. These are arguments O'Neal is familiar with.

Moreover, he professes to see some merit in the arguments advanced in favor of retaining regula-

HE CITES A SENATE study which said deregula-tion could reduce 12,000 small trucking firms to 12 national firms and leave small communities, diffi-cult to serve profitably, with poor service at high

"We've lived under this system," O'Neal says.
"We know that the trucking industry hasn't done a bad job of providing service. It's been pretty good. It's been good enough to cause the railroads tremendous headaches, that's for sure."

'Dallas' not realistic image of city

DALLAS (AP) - Texans who cried "stereotype" two years ago when CBS Television aired its series about a wealthy, and often careless, Texas oil family seem to have taken the Ewing clan to heart and now enjoy the continuing saga known as 'Dallas."

ENTERTAINMENT

When the soap-opera-like drama first aired as a limited series in 1977, it was not received well by critics or Dallasites who thought the five episodes about the intimacies and intrigues of a family whose wealth and power spanned oil fields and cattle ranches was not particularily flattering to the city.

But now, producer Leonard Katzman says, most Texans apparently realize the show is purely for enter-tainment and by no means depicts what is considered to be the "real"

"I think the city was chosen because no one has ever done a series in the Southwest," said Katzman, who has also produced "Logan's Run,"
"Hawaii Five-O," "Wild Wild West" and "Gunsmoke.

"In Texas, you have the size and the openness, the highly-developed urban areas surrounded by the farms and the oil that you don't have in Boston or

All Quiet on the Western Front' not his only film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Lewis Milestone has sometimes complained: 'People seem to think I directed only one film of merit — 'All Quiet on the Western Front.'''

That misconception should have een laid to rest with a tribute paid to Milestone by the Directors Guild of America last weekend. The Guild's theater was filled with industry leaders who watched scenes from a wide variety of films by the Russian-born director who was the first to win an Academy award (for "Two Arabian

An invalid at 83, Milestone listened to the parade of encomiums and anecdotes and the end responded in his usual puckish style: "Fine thing you invite me here tonight and then you take away everything I had to

His films said it best. They displayed the variety of his talent; the melodrama of "The General Died at Dawn,""The Strange Love of Martha Ivers" and "Arch of Triumph" ... a pair of musicals: "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum" (Al Jolson, Harry Langdon) and "Anything Goes" (Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman,) ... Steinbeck classics: "Of Mice and Men" and "The Red Pony," ... Comedy: "The Front Page" ... Caper: "Ocean's Eleven" .. Spectacle: "Kangaroo.

The dominant element in his work is the bitterness of war: "All Quiet,""A Walk in the Sun,""Pork Chop Hill."

Not shown was Milestone's final movie, the 1962 "Mutiny on the Bounty." He replaced Carol Reed, who resigned after trying to cope with Marlon Brando. Milly (his nickname) stuck it out but fared no better. "At least I made enough money to retire," he has remarked.

The program was introduced by Robert Aldrich ("The Dirty Dozen"), past president of the guild and assistant to Milestone on three films. Aldrich had worked for a number of directors and remarked that his most important lesson from them was "to understand what the game of being a director is: The game is power." He added: "Milly had all the tools for being a director, above all, an innate sense of power. Lew Ayres moderated the panel, after appearing on the screen as the disillusioned "All Quiet" hero of 50 years ago. "I was incredibly lucky to be chosen to be in 'All Quiet," said. "I also had a confidence that was overwhelming; I tried every possible way to get a test."

George Cukor, just out from Broadway, directed Ayre's test. "Vision, guts and talent — that was all Milly,'

"I worked for a genius," commented Pat O'Brien, who came out from Broadway to play Hildy Johnson in "The Front Page" under Milestone's direction. Howard Hughes had bought O'Brien's play contract for $10,000 and apparently assumed the actor had originated the role as Hildy.

"Yes, I had been in 'The Front Page,' but nobody asked me where or in what role," said O'Brien. "Actually I had played Walter Burns - in Cleveland. Lee Tracy played Hildy on Broadway.' Dana Andrews, touring in a play, sent a message of greetings. He worked for Milestone in three films, notably "A Walk in the Sun." The intimate war film, said Andrews, was made special by 'the interplay of characters which is the hallmark of the House of Milestone."

Burgess Meredith, on location on Malta, relayed memories from "Of Mice and Men." Anna Lee told of being chosen to play opposite Ronald Colman in "My Life with Caroline." Director Richard Benedict recalled that Milestone declined an offer as studio production head. Why? "Because he couldn't be a hatchet man.'

Director-actor Norman Lloyd pointed out that Milestone's "spirit of rebellion drew to him many young people with talent." Milestone's politics caused him to be blacklisted during the 1950s, when he made five films

"Milly remains to this day a rebel," observed Lloyd.

Waylon Jennings, Crickets to pay tribute to Buddy Holly

AP) — Waylon Jennings and the original Crickets will headline a "giant concert tribute" to Buddy Holly next month at Lubbock's Civic Center Exhibition Hall.

All proceeds from the Sept. 7 concert will go toward an 8½-foot bronze statue of Holly and a Walk of Fame honoring West Texas personalities who have become famous in the entertainment industry.

Miniatures of the stat-ue also will be sold to finance the project, which will be self-liquidating, promoter Larry Corbin said. He said negotiations are being completed with a nationally recognized artist to sculpt the statue, which is expected to cost more than $70,000.

'No one is being paid to perform at this concert," Corbin said. "In fact, Waylon may have to take a $4,000 loss."

Jennings, who began his musical career playing bass for Holly, also will produce the show, Corbin said.

Earlier attempts to book Paul McCartney, who owns the rights to Holly's music, fell through when McCartney was confirmed to play during Buddy Holly Week in London.

'This is not a one-time event. This is an annual event that should be carried on," Lubbock Mayor Dirk West said. "We've had letters come in at my office from Australia and England and other places asking what they could see concerning Buddy when they visited Lubbock, and sadly enough, too often we've had to tell them there's Triumph. Only 3 mg. tar. And a taste good enough to stay with.

Read how new Flavor-Intensified Triumph gives you surprisingly satisfying taste at only 3 mg. tar...one of the lowest tar levels in cigarettes.

Triumph. The first and only cigarette that delivers good taste with only 3 mg. tar.

If you've ever been disappointed by one of the very low tar cigarettes, you will understand why Triumph is quite an achievement.

Even the draw is a surprise.

The smoke comes through abundantly. The taste reaches you smoothly. Effortlessly. With none of the struggle you may have experienced in other very low tar brands. You don't have to pull—you just puff on Triumph.

No gimmicks, no miracles.

No less remarkable than Triumph itself, is the technology that enabled us to build it.

The crux of it: Instead of searching for some yet unimagined answer, Lorillard scientists took a more sensible tack.

Why not, they said, take everything we've learned about cigarettes, and push that technology further than we've ever pushed it before.

Delivering taste, limiting tar.

We found, for example, that combining two types of filter fiber produces the best combination of taste and draw.

That tiny "vents" in the rim of the filter work to smooth the taste.

> That lower-leaf tobaccos (shaded from the heat of the sun) tend to be milder and lower in tar than those at the top of the plant.

In short, everything we could find that might intensify flavor at 3 mg. tar, was built into Triumph.

Taste you won't get tired of.

What it all comes down to is this: Triumph is not one of those ultra low tars that spoil your pleasure by shortchanging you on taste.

Triumph, at only 3 mg. tar, is a cigarette with a taste you can stay with. A taste so good, we believe you'll never want to go back to your old cigarette.

One of the lowest tar cigarettes you can smoke. The one with taste enough to stay with.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Marketbasket survey confirms fears: Grocery prices still rising

By the Associated Press

Supermarket shoppers had to stretch their dollars still further last month as grocery bills measured by an Associated Press marketbasket survey rose by more than half a percent.

At the start of August, the average cost of a random selection of food and non-food items was about 5 percent higher than it was seven months earlier. One out of four products checked by the AP went up during July.

The AP survey covers 14 commonly purchased food and non-food items. The price of the items was checked at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has been rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. A 15th item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped at the end of November 1977 because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

—The marketbasket bill went up at the checklist store in seven cities and down in six cities during July. On an overall basis, the average marketbasket was seven-tenths of a percent higher at the end of the month than it was at the start. During June, in contrast, the average marketbasket bill dropped by seven-tenths of a percent.

—Comparing prices today with those at the start of the year, the AP found that the average marketbasket bill at the checklist store has increased by 4.9 percent.

—The price of food has been rising much more than the price of other supemarket items. During July, for example, non-foods accounted for only 9 percent of the increases, although they represented 21 percent of the items surveyed. When non-food items were removed from the marketbasket totals, the AP found that the average bill at the checklist store had increased by 6.2 percent in the first seven months of 1979. The government is now predicting that food prices alone will rise by nearly 11 percent this year.

—Coffee and milk led the list of items increasing in price last month. The price of a pound of coffee increased at the checklist store in 11 cities, to an average of $3.03. Coffee prices have been rising since a frost in Brazil wiped out hopes of a crop surplus. The price of a quart of milk went up last month at the checklist store in seven cities, reflecting higher prices paid to farmers.

-Eggs decreased in price in seven cities at the checklist store, offering bargains to consumers looking for non-meat sources of protein. There also were some specials on meat — the price of chopped chuck went down at the checklist store in five cities during July, while frankfurters declined in six

A look at the overall number of items in the AP survey showed slightly fewer increases during July than during June. Here are the percentages of increases and decreases:

	June July
Up	26.9 24.7
Down	21.4 22.0
Unchanged	47.3 47.3

Deeper recession forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)

— An internal Carter administration document predicts Americans will face a deeper recession with higher unemployment next year than the White House has forecast publicly, according to a

The internal assessment says the jobless rate will hit 8.2 percent in the fall of 1980, meaning a total of 8.2 million Americans could be out of work. In June, the unemployment rate stood at 5.6 percent.

A source, who asked not to be identified, said Wednesday night the projections are contained in "an internal document" that probably was never intended to be made public.

The predictions were prepared by a joint task force that included senior staffers from the Treasury Department and Council of Economic Advisers, the source said

The internal forecast differs sharply from the economy outlook the Carter administration released July 12.

At that time, the administration was projecting an unemployment rate next year of only 6.9 percent. The latest Labor Department figures, for June, show 5.6 million Americans were out of work. The internal projection means an additional 2.6 million Americans could be out of work next

The figures in the more pessimistic forecast closely parallel predictions being made by the Federal Reserve Board. The board chairman, G. William Miller, will soon move into the administration as secretary of the treasury.

It was expected that the internal document would increase pressure on President Carter to propose a tax cut for 1980 to give the economy a

The internal document made the following predictions:

—Economic output: A decline in the gross national product of 1.4 percent this year, rather than the milder 0.5 percent dip in real terms the administration predicted July 12. Also, recovery will be weaker in 1980 than that forecast predicted. The administration said three weeks ago output would grow by 2 percent in 1980, while the internal document predicts a 1.1 percent rise.

—Unemployment: The nation's jobless rate will rise in the remaining months of this year and hit 8.2 percent by the end of 1980, not the 6.9 percent forecast earlier.

—Inflation: The inflation rate for the economy as a whole will be 8.8 percent in 1980, compared with the July 12 figure of 8.1 percent. These figures include a variety of goods outside the Consumer Price Index, which has been climbing at a 13 percent annual rate this year.

Without making a roommendaton, the economists also included estimates of how various tax cuts and anti-recession spending programs would affect the economy.

They said combining a $25 billion cut in Social Security taxes and a $5 billion increase in government spending would slow the inflation rate to 8.5 percent in 1980.

WASHINGTON (ZP) -The Energy Department is allowing service stations to charge extra if motorists pay by credit card, but a House subcommittee chairman says that's against

"It is unfair to put the service sta-tion operator in the middle on this Illinois Democrat Frank Annunzio, chairman of the House consumer affairs subcommittee, said Wednesday.

"On one hand, the Department of Energy leads the operator to believe that there is nothing wrong with surcharging a credit card, when such an action could land the service station operator in jail," he said.

Under federal law, Annunzio said, anyone adding a surcharge to a credit card purchase can be sentenced to up to a year in jail or fined $5,000, or both.

The Energy Department said its lawyers were studying Annunzio's

Even before the congressman's warning, independent dealers were lambasting Energy Department rules that let them charge extra for such services as washing windshields, checking oil and filling tires, as well as honoring credit cards.

Charging extra will only alienate customers, station owners claimed. About 700 dealers who own their own stations invaded Washington on foot and in horn-tooting tow trucks Wednesday to protest the rules.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation faces a "very uncomfortable adjustment" to a new age of energy scarcity, Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger said in his parting words to Con-

Schlesinger told the House Budget Committee Wednesday that, for the next decade, the United States will suffer chronic fuel shortages, recessions and possibly political turmoil.

"There will be more than a decade when we'll be on the ragged edge of the supply of oil," Schlesinger said in his last scheduled congressional testimony as energy secretary.

Incoming Energy Secretary Charles Duncan, confirmed by the Senate this week, is expected to formally succeed Schle-singer later this month while Congress is on a month-long recess that starts at the close of business Thursday.

"The responsibility of all of us is to face up to these real world conditions," Schlesinger said. 'Time is running out on the United States in terms of energy supply. ... The notion that there is a plentiful supply of oil is a mirage. The American people alone in the world believe that.'

The departing energy secretary also told the committee that an administration-backed "windfall profits" tax would generate more than enough money for President Carter's proposed $142 billion, 10-year energy program.

The president has proposed creating an energy security fund to develop synthetic fuels, expand mass transit and help low-income Americans pay their higher fuel bills.

Schlesinger said the windfall tax on oil companies would generate surpluses for the proposed fund at least through 1985, with the annual surpluses peaking at $14.3 billion in 1982.

'The windfall tax will more than amply fund these programs," Schlesinger said, adding that depending on how much oil prices increase, the tax could rise from $146 billion to $270 billion over the next 10

Talks on gas deal collapse

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Negotiations by U.S. officials to buy natural gas from Mexico reportedly have collapsed, bringing into doubt whether President Carter and Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo will meet in September, the Los Angeles Times

The Times said the talks fell apart last Friday, only a few days after members of the American team had announced a price agreement was

"This deal has become so politicized, it's difficult to imagine how it can ever be solved," the Times quoted one unidentified source as saying.

The newspaper said the Mexican delegation went to Washington last week with new demands calling for a price range between $3.60 and $4.18 per thousand cubic feet of gas, "and they made it clear that anything below $4 had little chance of being accepted," the Times quoted a source close to the negotiations as saying.

The new position appears to set back a near agreement drawn up in three sessions on a price range between $3.40 and $3.60, U.S. producers currently charge about $2 per thousand cubic feet for gas

The Times reported its sources as saying a previously scheduled meeting for next month between Carter and Portill may be abortd.

"Perhaps President Lopez Portillo wants to come to the summit and make the final deal himself at about $360," the Times quoted one source. "If not, and the Mexicans are really serious about a $4 price, President Carter will have to decide if he is willing for American consumers to pay

Members of the U.S. negotiating team, including representatives from the State Department, the White House and the Department of Energy, were reluctant to comment on the report, the Times said.

Leslie Goldman, a deputy assistant secretary of energy and a member of the negotiating team, confirmed that the fourth meeting of U.S. and Mexican officials had ended Friday, and no new discussions were planned.

Democrat leaders say ration bill chances slim

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democratic congressional leaders are making one last bid to rush a standby gaso-line-rationing bill to President Carter's desk, but they claim their chances are slim.

It was more likely that Congress would begin its month-long recess at the close of business today without producing the rationing bill Carter

The Senate was expected today to formally reject the rationing bill the House passed late Wednesday and thus set off the search for a compromise version.

The House passed its bill by a 263-159 vote, but ladened it with so many amendments Senate leaders immediately pronounced it unacceptable. Finding a compromise that can be enacted before the recess "would be very difficult," concluded Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., the main House sponsor of the rationing bill. However, he said the attempt will be made. "It won't be easy," he

House leaders had hoped to give the president at least this piece of his new energy plan before beginning their

Many of the amendments tacked on in the House did not concern rationing. One would weaken the new federal order requiring thermostats in non-residential buildings to be set at an energy-saving 78 degrees. Others would set aside special reserves of tractor fuel for farmers and heating oil for homes in cold-weather re-

"It looks like we're going to have an impasse," said Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate

He said the amendment exempting businesses from the 78-degree thermostat law if they save an equivalent amount of energy through other means was especially objectionable to senators, one the Senate would "absolutely not" accept.

White House officials also indicated the president has serious reservations about the bill as it emerged from the House

Following Wednesday's vote, the White House press office issued a statement that called the bill "a modest beginning" but said, "We are disappointed that the House has been

Scientists against breeders

LONDON (AP) - The fast breeder nuclear reactor is too temperamental to be a commercial success until the next century, and energy planners should rely on conventional reactors until then, a prominent British scien-

Theoretical physicist Norman Dombey of the University of Sussex made the argument in a lengthy article in this week's issue of Nature, Britain's top scientific journal.

Dombey said things can go wrong more quickly in a fast breeder reactor, and engineers will need to perfect rapid-acting safety systems to ensure their safe operation. That, he said, will drive their cost up to five times that of a conventional thermal reac-

'There can be no urgency about developing a commercial fast reactor for economic reasons; it would be more cost effective to spend money on improving the present designs of thermal reactors," Dombey wrote.

unable to agree on a direct and clearcut bill that contains a set of measures that would enable the president to protect the country from the kinds of problems we have been experiencing this summer. The bill clearly needs improvement before the president can sign it."

House Democratic leaders blamed partisan politics for the hodge-podge bill that finally emerged from the

The House's 159 Republicans were almost unanimous in supporting many of the amendments sponsors claimed damaged the bill the most. That prompted House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill and Majority Leader Jim Wright to accuse Republicans of trying to emasculate the bill to embarrass the president. But House Republican Leader John

Rhodes of Arizona took to the floor to call the claims by the Democratic leaders "completely unsound." He also noted that Republicans were unable to get any amendments adopted without the help of Democrats, who hold a two-thirds majority. The bill that passed the House would allow the president to invoke thinking about meeting in Septem-

"Contacts between several members of OPEC have taken place recently about the necessity of holding an emergency meeting of the organization owing to the new decrease in the value of the dollar and its reflection on oil prices," the newspaper

OPEC is worried about the dollar because it does its business in dollars, and as it falls, the real value of the cartel's oil declines. The dollar's slide in recent years has been cited by OPEC members as a reason for raising the base price of oil this year by a total of 42 percent.

OPEC warned at its June meeting that it would hold an emergency meeting to discuss prices and its re-liance on the dollar if the currency fell another 5 percent or more. "If the dollar devalues, then (the price of oil) is going to increase," Ali Khalifa Al-Sabah, Kuwait's oil minister, said at that meeting.

The dollar has fallen as much as 3.5 percent against other currencies since then, according to Bank of England trade-weighted statistics. Although it has recovered much of that ground in recent days, some analysts fear it soon will resume its fall.

Unsettled conditions in world oil markets could also force a meeting even if the dollar stabilizes. Although Saudi Arabia, OPEC's largest member, is increasing its daily oil production from 8.5 million barrels to 9.5 million, the increase has been virtually offset by production cuts made or planned by several OPEC members.

That will keep oil supplies tight and prevent a possible "glut" that could erode prices, analysts say. And experts say that tight supplies will support higher prices in the spot market, where the small amount of oil not sold under contract is traded. OPEC's pricing actions have been heavily influenced recently by actions on the spot market.

While spot prices have retreated to about $33 a barrel since OPEC's last meeting from a pre-meeting high of $40 a barrel, analysts say supply cuts could push the price up again.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Mexican-American spokesmen say discriminatory tactics, blatant and subtle, are frequently employed to reduce their clout four years after the inclusion of language minorities in the Voting Rights Act.

Vilma Martinez, president of the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund, said a polling place in one Houston district was

She said the new location, however, moved the polling place from a Chicano to an Anglo neighborhood, placing it across the freeway and reachable to poorer voters from the Chicano neighborhood only by public

Willie Velasquez, director of the Southwest Voter Registration Project, told of a Chicano worker in a small West Texas town who said he would be fired if his name appeared on a voter registration roll.

Nor is it unusual for Mexican-American voting rights activists to be ordered out of town, he said. 'West Texas politicos are not housebroken," Velasquez said.

The organizations held a news conference Wednesday to mark the fourth anniversary of the language minorities amendments to the Voting

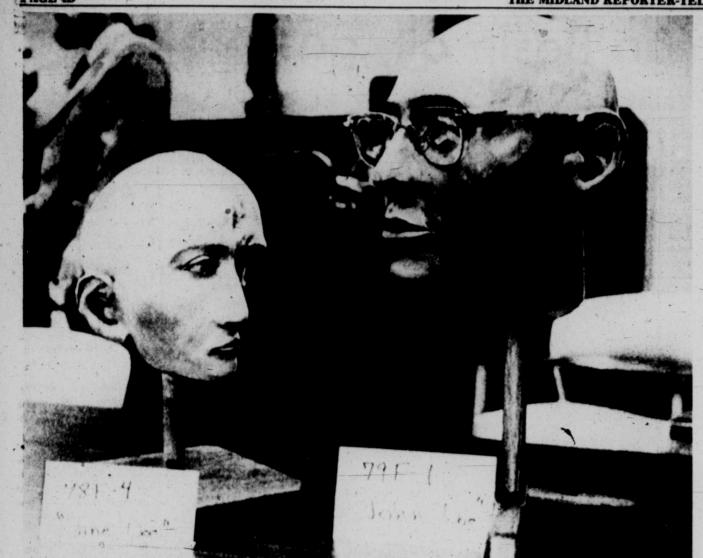

Joaquin Avila of MALDEF said a legal drive is under way to bring county governments in line with the act's provisions. The San Antonio, Texas, staffer predicted suits to force redistricting of gerrymandered county precincts would dramatically increase the number of Mexican-Americans elected to county governments in 1980.

Special targets are 99 counties in Texas, six in Arizona and 23 in Cali-

Inflation in Jamaica continues to grow at a rate of 40 percent per year and the gross national product has The destruction of tourism, industry and foreign exchange has resulted five years, said Singh.

"Who gains from such things?" asked Singh. "Are these situations resulting from stupidity or plan?

"I think it is part of a Communist plan" to destroy respect for capitalism through the destruction of an economy that was based on capitalism, suggested Singh.

Despite the 1976 "free" elections in which a state of emergency was declared by the government and most of the opposition party was arrested or detained, Singh said he believes the Socialist Party will be defeated soon.

"When the next election comes around," declared Singh, "labor will

Watson approved by Senate WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate has approved Benjamin R. Civiletti RESERVED DOWNTOWN PARKING

as the new U.S. attorney general and Thomas J. Watson Jr. as the new American ambassador to Moscow. Civiletti succeeds Griffin Bell, who resigned voluntarily during the recent Cabinet shake-up. A Maryland lawyer, Civiletti has served under Bell as deputy attorney general for the last 14 months

Watson, former IBM president and board chairman, will succeed Malcolm Toon in Moscow A Justice Department spokesman said Civiletti was "gratified and honored" by his confirmation Wednes-day. Tentative plans call for him to be sworn in Aug. 16. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

said Civiletti "has done honor to his government, his profession." Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., said Civiletti would bring the "toughness and fairness of a seasoned prosecutor" to

Other nominations approved Wednesday included Douglas Bennet Jr. as administrator of the Agency for International Development; Harvey J. Feldman as ambassador to the Solomon Islands and Frank Wisner II as ambassador to Zambia.
