Hance blasts windfall profits tax

Congressman also raps synthetic fuel plans

By BILL MODISETT Staff Writer

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock fielded questions from Midlanders on a wide range of state, national and international topics this morning during a Town Hall meeting in Midland National Bank.

About 40 people showed up for the 9:30 a.m. meeting, sponsored by the Midland League of Women Voters, to hear the congressman for the 19th Congressional District blast price controls on oil. 'You cannot increase the supply of

What does it take to get a street light at the intersection of Golf Course Road and Lamesa Road? We have tried to get a light or some type of traffic control at that corner for a couple of years, but no one seems to care about the problem?—Mr. F.C.

ANSWER: Doug Vanover, traffic engineering coordinator for the City of Midland, says that state and federal guidelines for installing a light at this intersection were not met in the last study of the situation made in Vanover says regulations specify that in order for a light to be installed, there should be 600 vehicles an hour on the major street and 150 vehicles an hour on the minor street, occurring during eight separate hourly checks. The study a year ago revealed that this situation only happened during three-hour periods, instead of eight. Vanover also said another study will be made in the next month or so. If regulation requirements are met, a recommendation for installing a light will be made to the City Council.

There are two small children living next door who ring my doorbell and then run off. This happens at least twice every day. I have spoken to the children's parents but they evidently have had no luck stopping them. Is there anything I can do?-Mr. G.N.

ANSWER: Yes, Mr. G.N., contact the Midland Police Department, 683-4281, and tell your problem to the dispatcher. The department will send an officer to your address to discuss the situation, if you wish, and will talk over the problem with the children's parents. Your name will not be mentioned if you request it. If this fails to remedy the problem, a sergeant with the juvenile division will speak to the parents.

Gulf breezes push oil slick to the north

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) -A 40-mile-long tongue of runaway Mexican crude oil drifted ominously offshore of Padre Island as pollution from the world's largest oil spill resumed its northward advance, troubling shrimpers already frightened by a meager harvest.

Gulf breezes that powered the huge. spill from a blown-out Mexican oil well toward the white resort beaches of the Texas Gulf Coast picked up Wednesday. And forecasters said 10knot winds would continue today.

"We knew the winds would kick up again, we just didn't know when," National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration spokesman Carl Posey said Wednesday night.

Though tar balls from the spill have already reached Texas beaches, the oil slick itself had halted its steady advance Tuesday when southeasterly winds diminished, setting up what Coast Guard officials called a "standoff" at best.

The progress of the giant slick, paralleling the island, 75 miles out from about 20 miles to less than 10 miles, and contained several "pancakes and two ribbons of mousse," signifying heavier oil concentrations.

Tar balls carried by the surf contin-ued to dot the high-water line along Padre Island beaches. Posey said the heaviest concentrations were on beaches near the Port Mansfield cut. But he said it was still nothing like the blackened beaches in Mexico.

Scientists studied currents in efforts to predict where the oil might wash ashore, but there were no indi-cations that such predictions would be available before several days.

Coast Guard Capt. Roger Madson said divers found sticky globs of oil suspended 7 to 35 feet below the sur-

'We are not doomsdayist, but realistically, we are concerned," said Ralph Rayburn, executive director of the Texas Shrimp Association. "The shrimp industry has never been exposed to this type of threat.' Julius Collins, president of the association, said that shrimp harvests this year are running at about half the pace of last year's catch. He blamed a combination of environmental factors, including a cold winter and heavy spring and summer rains. Coast Guard reconnaissance flight detected "a tongue of sheen" 15 miles offshore and stretching 40 miles along Padre Island from Brownsville to 20 miles north of the Port Mansfield cut, Posey said. He said the tongue ranged in width huge inlet between the Padre Island and the Texas mainland serving as a breeding ground for oysters, blue crabs and other shellfish and as a food source for dozens of marine species. Posey said divers also would be sent into Laguna Madre near Brownsville to make sure no submerged oil had drifted in.

The Mexican well blew out June 3 in the Bay of Campeche off the Yucatan Peninsula, and began spewing 33,000 barrels of oil a day into the Gulf. Since then, the daily flow has diminished to 20,000 barrels.

PEMEX, Mexico's nationally owned oil company, has offered no explanation pinpointing the cause of the blowout.

The well is in 170 feet of water, and divers face several dangers, including poisonous gas produced by the well.

Oil Slick Soup. "It's sort of a joke," she said, though acknowledging that the new special might not be so funny if the Mexican oil spill now affecting South Padre beaches gets worse. Oil Slick Soup has a chicken base with broccoli providing a seaweed effect and a dash of soy sauce, added at serving time, floating on top, to simulate oil. Earlier creations keyed to news events have included Skylab Soup, with large chunks of squash and broccoli stalks, and Eclipse Soup, a dark brown meatball item.

"You have to do something to add some interest," Mrs. Walker said.

The chief advantage for operators, Doron says, is that the SR-2 is a safe, cheap thrill. A new roller coaster can cost $1 million or more; another major expense for the parks is liability insurance for the occasional death or injury on a ride - an unlikely event in the simulated world of the SR-2.

The ability to switch from a roller coaster one week to a submarine ride the next is one of the device's big selling points. "Amusement parks figure that if they're going to bring back 50 percent of their audience each year, they're going to have to have a new extravaganza each year," Ward

Hance sees tight federal budget By SUSAN TOTH

Staff Writer

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance told 160 elected officials and workers paid through federal grants not to count on any federal program next year.
"Do not write a budget dependent on any federal money," he said Wednesday at the semi-annual meeting of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission. "The (federal) budget is going to be very tight."

The planning commission — made up of elected representatives from city councils and commissioners' courts in 17 counties — plans, reviews and approves ways to spend federal and state grant money.

Hance spoke at a $12-a-plate luncheon in Midland Country Club.

He also reviewed for the officials and employees of grant-supported agencies top issues facing Congress during his first eight months in Wash-

Hance praised President Jimmy Carter's attempts to decontrol oil, but said he would have done better to release controls immediately. He also termed the windfall profits tax as 'contrary to the aims of decontrol."

Hance also told the gathering that there is a new mood in Congress, particularly among new members who don't go along with legislation the president requests unless their constituents also agree. People are more involved in politics now, he said, and the new breed of congressmen adhere to the wishes of a majority of their constituents.

"Ten years ago members of Congress didn't have their voting records published," Hance added.

give Egypt defense aid

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States has agreed to provide Egypt with engineering and technical aid to get Egypt's defense industry back into production of basic weapons, administration sources say.

The sources, asking to remain ano-mymous, described the plan as a "modest program which will not involve much in the way of American personnel or money.'

Basically, the sources said, the Egyptians have a "respectable defense industry that is capable of manufacturing routine weapons" such as field artillery, tanks and trucks.

Administration officials stressed that there is no intention to build up an Egyptian arms industry which would enhance any military threat to Israel, but one that "would make the Egyptians able to stand up to

Egypt's armed forces had been largely equipped over more than 20 years by the Russians, so their home defense industry played a relatively small part in building Egyptian arms strength.

Since Moscow and Cairo split politically over the issue of how to pursue a Mideast peace, the Russians have cut off all new equipment and even spare parts to maintain the thousands of tanks, guns, personnel carriers and weapons and equipment they had provided to the Egyptians.

Administration officials said that as differences developed between Cairo and other Arab countries over Egypt's diplomatic dealings with Israel, the wealthier Arab oil producing countries pulled their financing from Egypt's defense industry and, as one U.S. official put it, "left the Egyptians high and dry" with their plants unable to function.

He also noted legislation is before Congress now to cut the power of the bureaucracy.

Calling the SALT II treaty vote possibly the most important vote in this century," Hance said the treaty should not be ratified if it could not be verified. He called for more defense spending to guarantee the ability to verify treaty compliance.

He also said he had co-sponsored a

The Barker Canyon fire west of Anaconda was contained late Wednesday after easterly winds blew it back to the firelines and away from the city of Anaconda. The fire had burned 2,900 acres, officials said.

In the Lincoln-Scapegoat Wilderness near Ovando, meanwhile, fire crews hacked a fireline through the thick northwest Montana timber and, by Wednesday night, needed only 2 more miles to surround the Cabin Creek fire. It was estimated to have consumed 1,300 acres.

But fire officials reported fires still burning southwest of Pyramid Lake in western Nevada, on the north-facing slopes of the San Bernardino Mountains in California, and in Oregon's Umatilla National Forest, where erratic winds and swarms of stinging bees hampered firefighters.

In its search for a consultant, the state has placed advertisements in Nevada newspapers and national trade journals.

List made his announcement after new figures were released showing casino revenues in April, May and June of $505.2 million, up 10.5 percent over the same period last year.

The fuel-buying plan was approved by the Legislature at the urging of Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., who suggested it as an option to insure the stability of the Nevada economy, which is dependent on tourism. Under the terms of the plan, thought to be the first of its sort in the nation, Nevada could use its credit to buy up to $10 million worth of fuel or oil products anywhere in the world for resale to wholesalers or distributors within the state. The state Energy Department has checked with federal officials, and so far "has found no legal barrier to the purchasing plan," List said. But he added that the consultant will have to do more research in light of President Carter's plan to hold down petroleum

We believe it is imperative that a master plan be drafted in the event that supplies drop to critically low levels and our economy is seriously threatened," said List.

Such a plan, List said, word include an overview of national and international petroleum markets and how they relate to Nevada, along with an analysis of federal rules on imports and allocations.

The plan would also include potential sources of petroleum products and a recommendation on the merits of buying from one source or the other, the governor said.

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements vetoed $300,000 for a South Texas children's heart program — reportedly after he had promised to let it through - and a staffer says it was just a mistake.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, told the Austin American-Statesman Clements endorsed the program in April and specifically promised not to veto the legislative appropriation.

Clements, however, included the item among several hundred million dollars' worth of vetoes. He said it had not been requested by the state health department and added, "it is unclear how this project would relate to the existing programs of the agency."

Jim Kaster of the governor's staff was asked if the governor's office had blundered, and he replied, "Yep."

Welcome, Governor!

Gov. William P. "Bill" Clements Jr., who today is a special guest in the Tall City, has no hesitancy whatsoever in telling it like it is, with substantiating facts and figures, whether speaking in Austin, Washington, Midland or anywhere else.

JAMES N. ALLISON (1902-1975)

His testimony on the SALT II treaty before the Senate Armed Services Committee in Washington recently certainly was no exception. He told the panel that he considers the issue of Senate ratification of the treaty to be the single most important matter to come before the Senate, and in turn before the American public, in many years.

After assuring the committee members that he was not appearing before them in a partisan role, the Texas governor said, " I speak to you as an interested American who feels deeply that this SALT treaty is not in the best interests of our nation." And he went on to explain why. The committee would do well to give serious consideration to his testimony.

Gov. Clements, incidentally, is in Midland to dedicate an antique drilling rig at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum late this afternoon and to address the Midland Desk and Derrick Club's annual Industry Appreciation Banquet tonight. Midlanders always are delighted and honored to have Gov. and Mrs. Clements as guests.

Back to the governor's Washington testimony, he said he considers the issue of Senate ratification of the treaty to be so important because "We are talking about the future of our country. You are voting on the very framework of our national security. We may well be deciding when and how the next world crisis will occur. We may well be setting the stage for an atomic confrontation between the United States and Russia. In my judgment, all of the necessary ingredients are present today to create such a situation in the early 1980s. We in the United States are in greater danger today than we were in December 1941 - after Pearl Harbor."

Gov. Clements knows whereof he speaks, having served as deputy secretary of Defense for four years (1973-77), during which time he was a member of the National Security Council and a member of all six subcommittees of the council. He participated in all SALT discussions during that period.

The governor explained that "I am strongly in favor of arms limitation treaties...I was a strong advocate of the Vladivostok Accord...I strongly advocated 'equal aggregates with freedom to mix,' which I think must be the underlying principle of any treaty."

JAMES N. ALLISON JR. (1931-1978)

He detailed his assessment of the proposed treaty in the context of the world geo-political situation as he sees it today, and the relationship of that geo-political environment to the nation's foreign policy, and in turn how the national security is affected. Geo-politically, he added, the U.S. today finds itself with enormous responsibilities to the Free World but without the means of meeting those responsibilities.

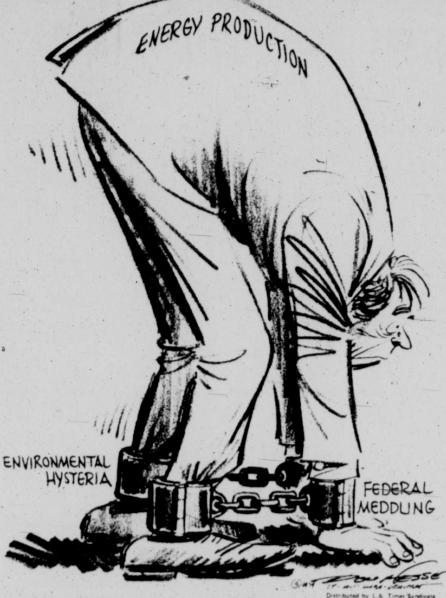

He said that in the geo-political world, "the treaty will further destablize the relationship with our allies. We will lose credibility...our allies will question our strengths, determination and military capability. In questioning, they express their lack of confidence in us."

He said it is the nation's military capability that is falling behind, and that "is what is fundamentally wrong with this SALT treaty. We are making an accommodation to the Russians in this treaty...The failure to ratify this treaty as submitted will really not change the substance of the military relationship between Russia and the U.S. to any significant degree...To the contrary, ratification of SALT II will have a dramatic 'pacifier effect' on both the American people and our allies, as did SALT I."

In order to make the treaty acceptable for ratification, the governor suggested six alterations in the wording: (1) Allow either party to have 308 "heavy" ICBMs or 308 mobile ICBMs of design choice; (2) insist that the USSR "Backfire" bomber must be counted as a strategic nuclear delivery vehicle; (3) replace the treaty "protocol" with a letter stating that the U.S.A. will deploy GLOM and SLOM systems with ranges in excess of 600 km in 1982, but not before 1982; (4) allow either side 308 multiple aim point ICBMs; (5) amend Article IV, 2nd Common Understanding and change to prohibit encryption of telemetry, and (6) include "on site inspection for both parties." Above all, he concluded, "let's give a clear signal to all the nations of the world, our allies and foes alike, that we will never accept a position of weakness."

And on this challenging note, WELCOME to Midland, Gov. Bill Clements! You are among

WASHINGTON - Many air travelers have noticed that their luggage has been getting more of a bashing recently than it has in the past. This is no accident. Most airline luggage handlers must now go to school before an airline will allow them to touch a piece of baggage.

I was fortunate to visit the Dent Airline Luggage and Freight Handlers School in St. Louis last week. The Dent school trains most of the airline baggage handlers in the United States. Dent, the founder and president of the school, took me out on a large playing field the size of a football gridiron. Several classes were in session. The teachers all wore baseball caps and sweat shirts, and had whistles around their necks. The pupils were dressed in white coveralls. The first class we stopped to watch were throwing pieces of luggage to each other.

'Nod' to Peking shocked Taiwan

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Nationalist China's leaders were so determined to suppress pro-Peking sentiment in this country that they seriously considered mailing letter bombs to prominent Americans who spoke favorably about the Red Chinese regime, a secret Senate report reveals.

This criminally insane idea reflected the consternation in Taiwan that followed the Nixon-Kissinger overtures to Peking in 1971 — an initiative that caught the Nationalists completely by surprise. After years of favored treatment, the government on Taiwan evidently felt betrayed,

"At that point, they changed from good guys to bad guys" in the perception of U.S. intelligence agencies, a CIA source told our associate Dale Van Atta. Sensing their new, unfavorable status, the Nationalists' intelligence leaders embarked on a reckless campaign aimed at "actively countering the rise of pro-PRC (People's Republic of China) groups and senti-ment in the United States," the Senate report states. Letter bombs were given "active consideration.

In September of 1974 a top-level meeting of Nationalist China's spy agency, the National Security Bureau, was convened in Taipei to "discuss the possible use of such bombs against the newly-established PRC Liaison Office in Washington and also against individuals in the United States who had shown a strong leaning toward the PRC, particularly those who had previously been pro-

Taiwan," the report discloses. Among the targets discussed at the meeting, the FBI reported later, were several "prominent professors who had recently made trips to the PRC followed by speeches and statements in favor of the PRC Government,"

The letter-bomb suggestion was eventually scotched by Nationalist Premier Chiang Ching-kuo, but not because of squeamishness. Chiang "reportedly refused to authorize such measures because he foresaw that the political backlash against (Nationalist China) would be too great," the Senate report explains.

Although the professors and the Red Chinese mission were spared, Chiang's army of intelligence agents was unleashed for less drastic measures in the United States.

In January 1974, Taipei had assigned Mei K'o-wang, former head of the Taiwan Central Police College, to direct the Nationalists' U.S. intelligence activities. He worked out of the embassy in Washington.

But in the spring of 1975, anticipating the eventual break in diplomatic relations that finally occurred last year, the government on Taiwan ordered Mei and his intelligence agents to adopt "covers" as private businessmen. Mei's front was a New York-based firm called the China Development Corp., with offices at 1825 Connecticut Ave. in Washington, just around the corner from the Red Chinese mission.

But Mei couldn't cut the mustard, in Chiang's judgment. The premier "expressed serious dissatisfaction" with the intelligence operation in this country, and replaced Mei with Wang Hsi-Wang's No. 1 assignment was to infiltrate pro-Peking groups in the United States, planting Nationalist agents as moles to burrow their way up in the organizations.

A stream of Nationalist intelligence officers arrived in the United States starting in 1975-76; they enrolled as graduate students in various universities. The professional agents, who get about $1,100 a month, are supplemented by student volunteers and Chinese-American faculty members. Nationalist agents are believed to have instigated attacks on pro-Peking demonstrators and other acts of vio-

The secret report, prepared by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's counsel, Michael Glennon, at the insistence of Sen. INCREDULOUS KHRUSHCHEV: Nikita Khrushchev, the late Communist Party boss of the Soviet Union, was an early believer in a "conspiracy theory' concerning President John F. Kennedy's assassination. In 1964, when the late Drew Pearson had a conversation with Khrushchev, the Soviet leader asked him, "What really happened?" Pearson told him, in effect, that it was just the way it had been reported by the newspapers and presumably by the Soviet ambassador. Khrushchev was "utterly incredulous," according to a confidential CIA memo.

"When Pearson said it was understandable that foreigners had difficulty comprehending this fantastic episode, but in fact (Lee Harvey) Oswald was mad and had acted on his own, Chairman Khrushchev said flatly he did not believe this," the CIA memo stated. "He said he did not believe that the American security services were this inept." Commented Pearson: "I couldn't make a nickel with Khrushchev on this one.

Khrushchev, of course, professed to believe the assassination was a plot by American right-wingers.

WASHINGTON - Oh, the way of the world, or how political life changes so fast these days, especially when it comes to who is bankrolling it. Which giant - Labor or Corporations raises the most money for candidates? Neither. It is that collection of associations - doctors, lawyers, police chiefs, realtors, undertakers and other bourgeois entrepreneurs which kicks in the most So, it must be Republican and-or conservatives who benefit the most from such political action committees (PACs). No, Democrats got nearly two-thirds of the booty from PACs of associations, unions and corporations in the 1977-78 period. The Democrats got this large share because they dominate the U.S. Congress. Federal Election Commission figures show that associations contributed $11.5 million in this period, 44 percent of the money going to Demo-cratic candidates for the House of Representatives or the U.S. Senate. Labor gave $10.3 million, 95 percent of it to Democrats. And $9.8 million came from corporate PACs, Republicans getting 61 percent of it.

Besides getting the lion's share of PAC money, Democrats got an unre-ported bonanza of $11 million — the amount Michael Malbin of the American Enterprise Institute estimates that labor unions provide in "educational" activities. Now a "political action committee' theoretically is an entity to which people make voluntary contributions, which are then dispensed to candidates the committee decides work best for the special interest in question. The American Medical Association is such a group, and it raised more money than any other PAC in this period - $1.6 million, mostly for Republicans. The biggest labor PACs are the United Auto Workers ($964,-465) and AFL-CIO's COPE ($928,841). The biggest corporate PAC in the republic: International Paper Co.,

Egads, where is the corporate political power of those giants in Fortune magazine's "500"? The PAC of the nation's fourth largest corporation -Mobil - came up with a measly $2,000. Giant Texaco's PAC raised $50,000. No. 1 General Motors, a farflung empire, only $99,000. Exxon, IBM, Gulf, ITT and Du Pont don't even have PACs, so their figures are

So when that noisy tiny minority, the New Left, and even responsible Democrats cry out about the political power of corporations, they certainly can't be referring to the only legal way corporate employees can donate through PACs. The PACs' power really is through associations and unions. Corporations are politically feckless these days.

This is why a strident, militant voice like the New Right Report gets exercised over the small involvement of American corporate life and politics. In its current issue, the New Right selected the 112 largest corporate PACs (there are 607 all told), and listed the 20 "most liberal" and 20

'most conservative.' By New Right reckoning, a Georgia insurance company, American Family Corp., is the champion in giving to liberal candidates in the 1977-78 period, with a record of giving 83 percent to Democrats and 17 percent to Republicans in House and Senate races. But this firm's PAC only gave $113,-650, hardly enough to pay for one candidate's TV schedule. Other lopsided donors to Democrats were Sugar Corp. of U.S. (76 percent); Freeport Minerals (71 per-Winn-Dixie Stores (68 percent); Coca-Cola (66 percent); St. Joe Minerals (65 percent), and Hughes Aircraft, Burlington Northern Inc. and LTV-Vought Corp., all 64 per-

By New Right standards, the corporate PAC heroes - because they gave overwhelmingly to Republicans were Getty Oil Co. (96 percent); Honeywell Inc. (95 percent); Belden Corp. and Pillsbury (94 percent); Fluor Corp. and U.S. Steel's Railroad group (93 percent), and D. Dart Industries (92 percent).

The New Right naturally wants every corporate PAC to display a 100 percent record of giving to conservatives. It laments the fear of companies to even organize PACs. That fear grows out of the Watergate experience, and avoidance of controversy in an era where activists can nail a company to a wall and an aversion to filling out endless forms required by the Federal Elections Commission and-or getting into legal trouble as a

Now just because 39 percent of the corporate PACs give their money to Democrats doesn't mean that they necessarily agree with Democratic Party policy. No, it's more a matter or corporation.

The powerful interests in Washington today, in terms of bankrolling candidates and influencing legislation, are associations, labor unions and corporations - in that order. Today's democracy is conditioned a great deal by money, and look who's giving the money.

Jimmy Chagra's mercy mission ended in jail

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A paramedic and a flyer have testified they were jailed in Colombia with Jimmy Chagra for several weeks in 1977 following a mercy mission squelched by Colombian state po-

Jeffrey Ellis, a paramedic, and Stephen Bolling, a pilot, said they were part of the crew of a chartered jet that flew Chagra into Colombia to rescue a burn victim in June 1977.

They testified in federal court Wednesday as Chagra's trial on narcotics smuggling charges that could result in a life prison sentence went into its second Chagra, 34, a Las Vegas gambler, is charged with conspiring to smuggle cocaine and marijuana from Colombia and with directing a "continuing criminal enterprise" involving at least five people. The continuing criminal enterprise charge carries a prison sentence of 10 years to life, as well as a possible $100,000 fine and confiscation of any illegal profits from the drug trade.

Ellis and Bolling said the jet was chartered in Las Vegas, picked up Chagra in Atlanta and flew to Santa Marta, Colombia, with medical supplies to treat the burn victim - never identified by name for the hours later brought the burned man to the airport in

But Colombian DAS (Department of Administration and Security) officers searched the plane, arrested everyone on board and sent the burn victim back to the hospital, Ellis and Bolling said.

Ellis said he did not know why they were arrested, but Bolling said he was told it was for investigation because Colombian authorities claimed they found cocaine on the jet.

On cross-examination, Ellis was asked if he thought the burn victim could have survived if taken back to the United States for treatment. "From the extent of the burns I saw, I would say no," Ellis said.

He and Bolling said the jet's passengers were joined at DAS headquarters in Santa Marta by a Jerry Wilson, who asked them to tell the Colombians he had flown in with them. Henry Wallace, Chagra's alleged accomplice in a plot to smuggle cocaine from Colombia, testified last week that Wilson was the pilot of a DC-6 that crashed and burned in Colombia while trying to fly out a load of marijuana for Chagra.

He lives alone and is just waiting for time to run out on his life on

"Yeah, I'm sick all the time," he said, as he protectively leaned into the old fence surrounding his home. "The heart, you know - tick, tick, tick, tick. Everybody is going to die. Me, you, everybody.

He didn't appear ready to bow out of this existence, however. The years

His humble casa is protected by lock and fence, good-luck horseshoes on the threshold, chicken wire on the windows and jungle-like growths of tall, lean canes down to the shoreline in his backyard.

That was back in the late 1910s and 1920s, after he, his widowed mother and family moved to Colorado City from Van Horn.

UAW not likely to OK freeze, but may help

CHICAGO (AP) — United Auto Workers officials are considering a two-year wage freeze proposed by Chrysler Corp., and while approval isn't likely, other concessions may be made to the financially troubled No. 3 U.S. automaker.

UAW President Douglas A. Fraser was to tell today's meeting of about 200 delegates to the union's Chrysler Council about the presentation given to UAW bargainers last Friday by Chrysler President Lee A. Iacocca

Chrysler has 124,000 UAW members in the United States and Canada, and about 23,000 of them have been laid off indefinitely. The company reported a record $207-million loss in the first quarter this In addition to asking the union for a freeze on wage and fringe benefits, something no Big Three company has ever done, Chrysler has asked for $1 billion in A white-collar hiring freeze already is in effect, and the company says a handful of managers have been laid off. Fraser called today's meeting because a decision on Chrysler's proposal was too much of a burden for the bargaining committee. He has said he believes a wage and benefit freeze is unacceptable. The union has given concessions to smaller manufacturers in the past, and Volkswagen Manufacturing Corp. in Pennsylvania and American Motors Corp. work under contracts the UAW considers weaker than those given the Big Three automakers

— General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and And Fraser said, "Our leadership has never turned its back on its duty and responsibility." The UAW, which earlier exempted Chrysler from consideration as a strike target, could not make a counterproposal to Chrysler until settlement patterns at GM and Ford become clear, Fraser said.

UAW spokesman Jerry Dale said Wednesday that endorsement of a strategy today is "unlikely. That would be negotiating in public."

"It's possible they could direct special considera-tion be taken for Chrysler when the time comes," Interviews by The Associated Press with several leaders of Chrysler locals around the country earlier this week revealed skepticism that Chrysler needed an outright wage freeze. UAW members believe employees "shouldn't be held responsible for any mismanagement by the corporation," said Carl Burgess, president of Local

371 in New Castle, Ind. Last Friday in Detroit, Iacocca personally attended the bargaining session with the union committee to convey the company's wage-freeze proposal. In a related development, the chairman of Automobile Imports of America, Inc., an import automakers trade group, said Wednesday the government bailout sought by Chrysler "isn't in the interest of free enterprise.

Reunion recalls intellectual giants

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — The best and brightest of the nation's high school class of 1929 reminisced near Thomas Edison's home here about their encounter a half century ago with the intellectual giants of that time.

"I had a chance to talk to Charles Lindbergh. That was a thrill. His fame was fresh at the time," said DuPont chemist Bernie Sturgis, who represented his native Butler, Ind., in the nationwide high school scholastic competition for college science scholarships.

"Seeing Mr. Edison and seeing him in his laboratory was quite a thrill, too. It was the most exciting thing in my whole life," said Sturgis, who now lives in Wilmington, Del. Yet, mingling with geniuses was only part of the glory of winning the competition sponsored by Edis-

"I'd never been out of the state and here I was in New York City and Coney Island - for free, We nearly wore out the roller coaster," said Sturgis. The youngest of the 49 scholarship contestants — one from each state and the District of Columbia was Hugo Spatz, who entered Ohio State University

Unlike most of the winners who returned to the Edison Historic Site Wednesday, Spatz didn't pursue a career in the natural sciences. "I've contributed almost nothing to humanity, but I've had a real good time," said the witty and dapper retired optician from University Heights, Ohio. Four years ago, at age 61, Spatz found the local police department short of funds and officers, so he enrolled in the police academy and earned his badge. Then he volunteered his time.

Nicaraguan government to lift press restrictions

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) -Nicaragua's revolutionary government plans to lift all restrictions on the news media shortly, a government source says.

"All radio stations and newspapers and the non-government television station will be able to operate freely, perhaps early next week," the source said Wednesday.

The government imposed strict controls on the news media for a 30-day emergency period following the Sandinista guerrilla victory over the re-gime of dictator Anastasio Somoza last month.

'The motive was to maintain order and security," said the source who asked to remain anonymous. He added the restrictions had been a safeguard against the publication or transmission of misinformation about the aims of the revolution.

The source said the government and the Sandinistas now plan to adhere strictly to their reconstruction program which calls for complete freedom of the press. He said news media owners had understood the emergency laws and only pressured the government for a date when they could resume normal service.

Under Somoza, radio stations, which provide a majority of news to a country with an illiteracy rate of 55 percent, were prohibited from broadcasting any news "detrimental to the public order."

Opposition newspapers were often shut down or subjected to censorship and their reporters threatened. During the civil war in late May and June, all radio stations were required to broadcast the government's propa-ganda through the national radio system. Opposition newspapers refused to print because of censorship restric-

In the first 30 days of the new government, only the official voices of the Sandinistas, Radio Sandino, Barricadas, a newspaper, and the guerrilla television station were allowed to broadcast and publish. Most of the material was pro-revolutionary propaganda.

But Radio Sandino began to broaden its programming this week in anticipation of the end of press controls and competition from commercial radio stations. It is now an eclectic mix of disco hits and revolutionary

The only television station operating, formerly owned by Somoza, initially played an endless string of interviews with Sandinista leaders. But this weekend the station showed cartoons, disco dancing programs and American TV shows.

Xavier Chamorro, publisher of the national newspaper La Prensa, said his paper would resume publication Aug. 15 despite the total destruction of its plant by a national guard rocket

He said the paper Diaro Centroa-mericano in Leon, had agreed to print La Prensa for the while, and that if his presses could not be salvaged, then he would accept an offer from Newsday in Garden City, N.Y., to send their old presses free of charge.

"We are going to play an independent role," Chamorrow said as he stood among the Centroamericano presses with its publisher Rodolfo Abaunza. "We will give critical support to the government and will emphasize the need for a pluralistic political system.'

Chamorro is the brother of Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, the former publisher of La Prensa killed Jan. 10, 1978. La Prensa was a strong anti-Somoza voice in Nicaragua and many believe Pedro Joaquin's death was the spark for the successful Sandinista revolution.

"In the last regime, everything they did was wrong," Chamorro said. "But things are moving in the right direction and we hope criticism will be at a minimum. We have faith this government will go ahead." "We will make a real effort for reconstruction and real democracy," Abaunza said. "We will try to keep this country on the straight line for democracy until our country is ready and democratically prepared for change. But this will be quite a long

U.S. wholesale prices shoot up

WASHINGTON (AP) - After three months of moderation, wholesale prices shot up 1.1 percent in July, resuming the fast inflationary pace that prevailed at the start of the year, the government said today.

The Labor Department laid much of the blame on rapidly rising energy

The wholesale price of home heating oil rose 9 percent from June to July. The same rate would more than double current prices by mid-1980. Gasoline prices went up 3.9 percent in

The rapidly rising energy prices pushed the cost of all non-food items in the department's wholesale price index up 1.4 percent.

This boost was not offset, as expected, by food prices, which showed no change last month after dropping in the three previous months.

"Energy prices are still going quite strong," said John Early, chief of the Labor Department's division of industgial prices. "But finished goods other than energy and food were up 0.8 percent. The price increases were

Changes in wholesale prices tend to be reflected after a month or two in higher or lower prices at the retail

Early said the effects of four months of moderation in wholesale food prices have begun to appear at grocery store checkout counters. The Carter administration, however, has opened a campaign to make sure that consumers - and not the profits of food processors and distributors benefit from the slackening in food

The Labor Department's wholesale figures reflect prices for food and other products ready for the retail market. The index, formally known as the Producer Price Index, also measures price changes for items with some processing and for items with no processing, such as raw mate-

The index for finished goods stood at 215.8 in July, 10.1 percent ahead of July 1978. The index figure means that goods that cost $100 in the 1967 base period cost $215.80 last month.

Goods at the intermediate level, those with some processing, rose 1.9 percent last month, the largest increase since October 1974, Early said. Higher-priced animal feeds pushed the food component up 6.7 percent in

At the same time, crude goods rose 1.8 percent. Rapid increases in animal feed costs again were blamed.

AFL-CIO official predicts mandatory controls

CHICAGO (AP) — President Carter's failure to stop inflation through voluntary wage-price guidelines is likely to force him to resort to mandatory controls by next year, a top AFL-CIO official predicts.

"We believe the Congress and the executive branch ... may come to the conclusion that their only recourse is mandatory wage and price controls," AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Lane Kirkland said Wednesday as leaders of the labor federation ended a three-day meeting here.

"None of the other alternative methods they're trying to reduce inflation have much relevence on the primary causes of inflation ... the basic necessities," said Kirkland, heir apparent to the labor federation's longtime president George Meany.

Kirkland said Carter's current approach may only "aggravate" inflation, now running at about 13 percent annually.

As the 1980 presidential election draws near and the administration remains "bankrupt of other ideas, I think the likelihood (of mandatory controls) will increase," Kirkland said.

Walter Guevara Arze, elected on Monday by Congress, took office in an emotional and colorful ceremony inside the recently redecorated and painted legislative palace.

He received the red-yellow-and blue presidential sash from Gen. David Padilla, chief of the Junta which seized power in a military coup on Nov. 24, 1978.

Guevara was sworn in as a one-year interim president by Lidia Geiler, president of the congress, who received the sash from Padilla and draped it across Guevara's chest.

The 144 congressmen and hundreds of invited guests applauded as Padilla and Guevara embraced.

The 68-year-old former foreign minister told reporters Tuesday that his first priority will be to establish a stable democracy. He said his second priority would be refinancing the nation's $3 billion foreign debt.

U.S. Navy to stress sea rights

WASHINGTON (AP)

- The Joint Chiefs of Staff have ordered U.S. naval commanders to underscore U.S. rights to sail freely in international waters beyond three miles from any nation's Administration sources who declined to be identified said Wednesday the orders followed a recent White House decision that "we should assert our rights both diplomatically and in fact" to prevent any nation from assuming that the United States accepts claims to waters beyond three miles.

Some nations claim territorial rights up to 12 miles from shore, others as much as 200 miles seaward. A State Depart-ment official stressed that "we recognize three miles."

As administration sources explain the situation, the United States has been exerting "a de-gree of restraint" for a long time while more than 100 nations have been haggling in Law of the Sea negotiations. These negotiations began five years ago.

The Joint Chiefs' orders became known after the Norfolk, Va., Ledger Star published what Defense Department officials said was a follow-up message sent by Adm. Harry Train to his commanders. Train commands the Atlantic

HOUSTON (AP)— Union bus drivers voted Wednesday to strike unless the Houston Metropolitian Transit Authority acted immediately on a list

David Carrington, president of the Transport Workers Union Local, said the the strike vote was "overwhelmingly" and the walkout set for noon Thursday.

But Barry Goodman, MTA executive director, said he doubted if the drivers would strike because Carrington "does not truly represent the vast majority of Metro employees."

Goodman said the MTA is ready to meet with union representatives, but also is keeping open the options of legal action and the firing of the strikers.

'We're gétting tired and irritated by threats through the news media," Goodman said. "Mr. Carrington has repeatedly attempted to utilize the threat of a work stoppage against the MTA and the citizens of this community. Mr. Carrington's behavior has been consistently erractic and, in some cases, irresponsible."

Carrington said the grievances include sick leave, unsafe conditions in maintenance shops, and drivers being forced to drive buses with windows removed because of air conditioning

Vatican officials are not amused this time

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) - Pope John Paul II may or may not have made his first dive into the papal swimming pool, but his vacation has already caused a splash.

Vatican officials used to be relieved when his predecessors went into two months of "summer retreat" at the sprawling estate here in the Alban Hills a half-hour drive from Rome. Now they must contend with photographers in low-flying helicopters looking for shots of the 59-year-old pope trekking through the woods in tennis sneakers, picnicking with friends or doing the backstroke.

The weekly newspaper Domenica del Corriere, in what it billed as a "world exclusive," published photographs of the glass and concrete covered pool deep in the gardens behind the papal palace. According to the magazine, the complex includes not only an Olympic-sized pool but a gym, solarium and sauna. Officially, the Vatican refrains from comment about the private life of the pope, who was a skier, rower and mountain climber in his native Poland and while cardinal of Krakow was photographed in shorts at a picnic with young people. The Rev. Fiorangelo Puzzi, parish priest here, expressed surprise at all the fuss being made about a vacationing pope. "I think that since there is this swimming pool no doubt the pope does go and swim in it," he said.

Tourists stream into Castel Gandolfo each day during the summer months, although the pope's only scheduled public appearance is on Sundays. They snap up picture postcards, ashtrays, medals and framed portraits of the pontiff and line up for snapshots with the Swiss Guards at the entrance to the papal palace. "We've seen more Polish pilgrims this year than ever before, as would be expected, but also many tourists from non-Catholic countries such as Finland and Norway," said a vendor in a souvenir shop in the shadow of the 17th century papal palace. John Paul, who has described his stay here as "working while resting and resting while working," is clearly taking advantange of the sunny days and cool evenings at the estates overlooking Lake Albano. He looks tanned, fit and has put back the few pounds he lost during his trip to Poland in June.

And away from the formality of the Vatican, he has lunched with the families of Vatican workers, spent two hours with Italian teen-agers who succeeded in kicking the drug habit and linked arms with young southern Italians and joined them in a folk

American divers die following desperate fight to save them

LERWICK, Shetland Islands (AP) - A desperate fight to save the lives of two American divers failed when both men died in a decompression chamber after being hauled up in a diving bell that was stranded 500 feet below the North Sea.

The men were identified by a British National Oil Corporation spokesman as Richard Walker, 32, of Santa Barbara, Calif., and Victor S. Guiel, 29, of Springfield, Mass.

Infabco Diving Services of Aberdeen, Scotland, which employed the divers who were working under contract to BNOC, said Guiel had been with them for a year, and Walker since last April.

The mooring cable attaching the bell to the support ship, the Wilddrake, snapped early Wednesday, leaving the pair marooned a few feet from the seabed. Only the "umbilical cord" - the support cable carrying air to the bell - was left intact.

A massive rescue operation, involving a flotilla of support ships plus a team of divers, was mounted and after two attempts another hoisting cable was hitched to the tiny bell only large enough to take two men and the bell was slowly winched to the BNOC at first said there were signs of life aboard, but just before midnight Wednesday issued the terse announcement:

"BNOC regrets to announce they have been advised the two divers · have been confirmed as dead.'

Walker and Guiel had been working near a production platform in the Thistle oilfield 130 miles northeast of the Shetland isles, the cluster of islands off the northernmost tip of Scotland.

Because the support line carrying air to the bell had not snapped, there were hopes the men would be rescued and support divers worked frantically to attach a fresh winching cable from the Wilddrake to the bell. After one abortive attempt they succeeded and the bell was slowly hoisted up as BNOC reported movement had been seen inside.

The bell was hauled aboard the Wilddrake and locked onto the decompression chamber - the chamber where all deep sea divers have to spend some time while their systems recover. Two doctors hastily flown out from Aberdeen entered the chamber but shortly afterwards it was announced the men had died. Their deaths brought to 30 the number of divers killed in the North sea oilfields since operations began eight years ago Meanwhile, BNOC investigators rushed from headquarters in Aberdeen to Lerwick to mount a microscopic examination of the bell and the connections. The investigators will be closely examining the vital umbilical cord carrying life support systems to the bell to see if it was damaged, although it was still connected when the bell was on the seabed. The cord supplies hot water for warmth, a helium-oxygen mix and communication cable. The divers were thought to have had adequate air supplies, but it was feared that without the other systems they could have either frozen to death or died from inhaling carbon dioxide.

Argentina edges back to normal

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) Maria Alicia Mercedes Benitez used to tell visitors to her jail cell here that she was afraid of freedom in military-ruled Argentina. The state-of-siege law under which she was arrested in 1974, when she was 18 and pregnant, is still in force. Security agents could pick her up again, she feared; or worse, she could disappear, as her husband did.

So last March, Maria Alicia, who did not want her real name used, invoked a rare constitutional right - the "right of option" - that is reserved for Argentines in jail without charge. She asked to go into exile in lieu of indefinite detention, a request granted to about 700 prisoners since the state of siege was declared in late 1974. France, one of 21 countries that accepts Argentine prisoners and helps them find housing and jobs, gave Maria Alicia a visa, and a human rights group there agreed to pay air fare for her and her 4-year-

But while the military was reviewing her petition, Maria Alicia suddenly found herself free. She went home in June to her mother and child in Tucuman Province and has not answered queries by the French whether she still wants to come.

Like many still in prison, and others recently released, Maria Alicia apparently has second thoughts about exile from an Argentina that is edging back to normal after a traumatic bout with terrorism.

When she was arrested, hundreds were disappearing, going to prison and dying in political violence each

The government has invited the Inter-American Human Rights Commission to investigate violations in September, and officials have said privately that most of the 1,700 prisoners they now admit holding without charge will be freed or put on trial

"A year or so ago, exile looked like the only hope for a prisoner," said a Belgian diplomat who handles visa requests from the jails. "Now he sees things are moving. His fellow prisoners are going free. Others are going to trial, but in many cases the sentences are no longer than the time already

"If he chooses exile to get out of jail, he could be arrested for coming back home as long as the siege lasts. He applies for a visa to keep his options open, but if there is hope for a normal life here, he will probably stay." France, Belgium and the United States still get visa applications from dozens of Argentine prisoners each month, but other countries, including Sweden, which has granted 314 visas, more than any other nation, report a decline in applications recently.

The group was formed by Mrs. Magee 15 years ago with the goal of furthering the idea of Christian education for young children.

"Most of the members then had small children who are all grown now, but the group continues," said Mrs. Magee. The group's main purpose today is to meet for the serious discussion of current books, she added. "Throughout the years, when things faltered a bit, I just gave a little poke to keep the organization going," she said.

Each person contributing to the quilt made a square that expressed both their personality and something meaningful to Mrs. Magee, a teacher at Midland High School from 1944 to

Women Marines on rifle range

OKINAWA, Japan (AP) - Combat may still be men's work, but the Women Marines stand right along side the male members of the Corps on the rifle ranges on Okinawa.

About 30,000 U.S. military personnel — including nearly 20,000 Marines — are stationed on the island, which military strategists consider a keystone in East Asian defense.

Qualifying with a rifle is required of all Marines on the island, including women. Their regular duties include a number of chores once left to men, such as clerical tasks and some repair

For male Marines the combat training is intense.

In conditions closely resembling the worst of Vietnam's difficult terrain, Marine "grunts" go through a rigor-ous simulation of combat the Corps terms "adventure training."

"It has been established through numerous investigations that the organism's vital functions do not fade out simultaneously: the first to cease is the functioning of the cerebral cortex, then the functions of the stem portions fade out, then respiration, cardiac activity, and other vital functions.'

The more the process is understood, and the more doctors learn to battle it, the less excuse there is for many of the deaths that occur every day, Negovsky said.

"People say a person died of loss of blood," he continued. "In the eyes of reanimators this is a crime. A person cannot die of loss of blood. To save such a person is not complicated.

The first steps in our understanding have been taken. Our studies show that death is not so mysterious as we had thought. Death is a biological phenomenon just like many other biological phenomena. You can study it in detail and learn how to reverse the

'The gent what pays the bills'

By MERLE ELLIS

When Grandma was a girl back on the farm, the pig was fondly referred to as "the gent what pays the bills." Every farmer kept a few on the place to insure a supply of good meat on the table. Times are getting tough as far as keeping meat on the table is concerned. And just as in Grandmother's day, it probably will be the pig that sees us through.

Pig farmers have greatly increased production this year and that means that pork is going to be one of the best meat buys available in the months ahead. We will all undoubtedly be eating more of it - if we're going to eat meat.

Buying pork is quite different from buying beef in terms of what to look for when you look for quality. The cuts are different and the indicators of quality that help you select good beef are not the same as those for

To help you become a better pork buyer, more able to take good advantage of some of the good buys that are likely to be the best meat buys this summer, here are a few tips.

Unlike beef, the wholesale cuts of pork do not bear a USDA quality grade stamp. You can't rely on Prime, Choice or Good stamped on the side of a pork chop as an indication of quality. Without the benefit of grades, you need to familiarize yourself with some of the factors that determine good quality and look for them when you shop. There are four: fat, firmness, color and size.

The outside layer of fat doesn't contribute to quality. But marbling, those little flecks of fat within the lean, does. For the best in flavor and juiciness, pork should have at least a slight amount of marbling.

Firmness, or texture, is somewhat related to marbling. Pork with little or no marbling is often soft and watery. You can expect more cookingshrink and a dry chop if you pick pork that is too lean and soft in texture.

Color is important in determining quality in pork. Normally, a light gravish-pink is the most desirable. Don't worry, though, about a bit of two-toning. It is natural for certain muscles of the same pig to be darker than others. In a pork chop, for exam-ple, the tenderloin, that little finy muscle on the other side of the T-bone, is almost always darker in color than the top loin muscle. The larger top loin is the muscle that should be a nice grayish-pink.

One of the things that often is misleading as a quality indicator for pork is size. In Grandma's day, a large pork chop came from an old hog and was almost certain to be tougher than a small pork chop, which came from a younger animal. That is not true these

Today's pork comes to market at around six months of age, some as young as four-and-a-half months. It is all young and the size is the result of improved breeding and feeding methods rather than the age of the animal. A big ham or pork chop can be just as tender as a small one and may give you more meat and less bone for your

The cut of the pig that provides most of the fresh pork in the marketplace these days is the loin. That's the cut to get to know best. The loin is the whole back section of the pig from the shoulder to the rump. In most markets, it is merchandised in three separate parts, the rib or blade end, the center and the sirloin end. The center section usually is cut into chops and they are always the most expensive. If there is no difference in price between the two, always look for center cut loin chops with the little round tenderloin muscle; that's the most delectable part of the pig.

The bargains in pork loin are usually in the ends. The rib end has a bit more fat and, because of it, a bit more flavor than the sirloin end. The sirloin end, however, has a large portion of the tenderloin. Both ends are usually sold as roasts and chops at considerably less than cuts from the center of the loin, so look to the ends to make some real savings on pork loin. Better yet, buy a whole or half loin.

-Use ample amounts of mayonnaise or salad dressing in recipes like potato salad or cole slaw. In commercially prepared dressings, the presence of vinegar at proper levels keeps the acidity level too high for bacteria to live. ### Bus industry says Carter's on the wrong track have made Amtrak happy by taking the train to Baltimore and declaring it the best way to travel. But he didn't make a lot of friends in the bus

After thinking it over for a day, the American Bus Association decided Wednesday to set him straight. 'That Amtrak Metroliner that you rode, besides being a fuel guzzler, also cost in government subsidy an amount equal to about half of the fare you paid," ABA president Arthur D. Lewis told Carter in a

"Not just your fare," he added, "but also the fares of everyone riding with you."

Carter and his party, which included a pool of reporters and cameramen who paid their own fare, occupied the last car of one of the regular Metroliners that ply the New York-Washington corridor.

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter may Every passenger was charged the regular $17.50 round-trip fare.

In Baltimore, the president declared he was taking the train "not only because it is the best way to come from Washington to Baltimore, but also because I wanted to show my support for a strong mass transportation system.'

A White House spokesman says Carter "obviously meant to include bus travel." But that word hadn't gotten to Lewis.

'If the bus industry last year had carried all of Amtrak's pasengers on its regular operations, it would have used only 36 million gallons of fuel as contrasted to the 101 million gallons that Amtrak used," he wrote. "Further, the bus industry would have carried them at no cost to the federal trea-

Severe Storms Center losing 'Mr. Tornado'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - "Mr. Tornado" is shedding his title and still hasn't seen one

For 14 years, Allen Pearson, has been predicting tornadoes here as director of the nation's Severe Storms Forecast Center. More than 11,000 twisters have been sighted during

In 1965, when he was asked to become the nation's chief tornado forecaster, "it took all of 30 seconds to say 'yes' and then ask, "What the heck is a tornado?"' he said in a recent interview. And the man dubbed "Mr. Tornado" never tires of saying, "I've never even seen a tornado.'

Beginning Monday, the 54-year-old Pearson will keep watch over the National Weather Service's largest region and its second largest office, in Kansas City

Pearson's forte is translating complex weather data into lively language. He explains the relationship between thunderstorms and tornadoes this way: "A severe thunderstorm is like a striptease ... it suggests there might be something

When he first came to the severe storms center, "we had many fine meteorologists who were introverted almost to the point it was painful," he said. "There's no point in making better forecasts if they are not translated into language the person paying the bill can understand."

In his new job, Pearson will supervise 80 weather offices in 14 states. from Colorado to Indiana and north to the Canadian border. He said he's looking forward to getting away from the day-to-day routine of forecasting.

"Now, when the lady comes up to me at a party and asks why we screwed up on that forecast, I'll let her see the new man," he said.

Pearson studied meteorology in college and was a forecaster for the Navy in the Pacific. The weather service hired him in 1951 and he worked in Honolulu and Washington, D.C., before coming to Kansas City.

After a 1965 rash of tornadoes in Indiana claimed 270 lives, Pearson joined a team of meteorologists interviewing witnesses.

He says he "came away with the powerful impression that while the forecasts were good, the overall warning system was pretty bad."

He set out to improve the warning system as head of the Severe Storms Forecast Center. Three years later, the Commerce Department awarded him a medal for developing improved techniques of severe storm predicting and for helping develop strong local tornado warning networks.

For $2 million, U.S. moviemaker allowed to blow up countryside

LANKOVICE, Czechoslovakia (AP) - For something less than $2 million, you can blow up a church in Czechoslovakia.

Norman Rosemont did, and for the same price he got to burn up a field of trees, blast holes in a pasture and turn rats loose in the countryside.

"The Czech cooperation has been tremendous," said Rosemont, walking in his devastated territory in North Bohemia near East Germany.

Rosemont, an American, is producing a remake of the movie version of Erich Maria Remarque's World War I novel "All Quiet on the Western Front" and getting unexpected help from the Czechoslovak strip mine industry.

"I wanted to shoot it in England, but we could not get the military cooperation we wanted," said Rosemont, bouncing out to his private battlefield in a four-wheel drive

"So I took it to Germany, but they said they didn't have anything of the period left, that it had all been destroyed in World War II," he said of his search for a period setting.

The village was vacated two years ago, locals say, its residents packed off to new quarters and given 200,000 crowns (about $20,000) to compensate for loss of their old ones.

"Lots of them wanted to build weekend cottages," said an elderly woman extra standing in front of a house which appeared to have been ripped

"Some of it we dug, some of it we blew up," he says of his scourged countryside, once part of the fields of Lankovice.

"All the trees were blown and burned by us," he adds. "We have a flame thrower. Lots of people don't know they had flame throwers back then, but they did.

"We burn tires constantly to give it that black smoke," he says. "Most of the barbed wire is real, but we also have some plastic wire for throwing people through.

Spend, spend now America's style of living

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Their moods and actions may puzzle the leadership, but there really is no mystery about why Americans do and don't - why they spend or save, believe or disbelieve, have or haven't got At least in matters financial, people think and act in accordance with what they perceive to be their own best interest. What they think or do might not be wise, but it certainly is perceived to be so. And so they spend instead of saving, they avoid the stock market, they buy houses and gold and diamonds, they sell U.S. Savings Bonds, they shun the big cars and wait to buy little ones, they buy term Nothing mysterious about it. Humans in the marketplace have acted in fairly predictable ways since long before Adam Smith or Sigmund Freud. The real mystery is how on earth leaders fail to discern Americans today save relatively little of what they earn because to save is to lose. They earn 5.5 percent interest on passbooks while inflation takes double that. And then they pay taxes on the "gain."

They avoid stocks because stocks haven't kept pace with inflation. And because investors are taxed twice: at the corporate level on their company's profits, and then on the dividends their investments

They've been selling U.S. Savings Bonds all year long because they feel the 6.5 percent return is not "fair," as a Treasury official said recently, espe-cially when other government securities offer

They buy little cars for the obvious reasons of gasoline conservation and lower overall operating costs, a pattern of behavior that Detroit resisted for years - while losing 20 percent of the market to

They buy houses because mortgage interest is tax-deductible, because savings left in paper money lose value, and because they pay off their loans in cheaper dollars so long as inflation persists. They buy gold, diamonds and collectibles because, experience teaches them, the leaders of the nation serve up rhetoric about the need to combat inflation and then spend up an inflationary storm.

They lose confidence in the future, or so the consumer and political polls suggest, when they see leaders complain about consumer habits and then fail to make a change of habits worthwhile.

Two examples are suggestive of many more: -The country, say those who claim to know, faces a severe shortgage of capital with which to modernize its plant and equipment. But every cent of interest earned on savings - and more - is taxed. —Savings Bonds are an essential financing tool of the federal government. But the interest the government pays on Savings Bonds is one-half of one percent below the level authorized by Congress.

Sometimes, the ordinary American feels, the country is at war with itself instead of, as is often expressed by government officials, at war with poverty, with inflation, with the energy problem. The view is frequently shared by corporations, which are given their assignments by federal officials and then shackled by regulations from fulfilling There really isn't much mystery about why

Americans act as they do, even when those actions appear to be at odds with official goals. The mystery is why it seems not to be understood.

Klan camp teaches racism to children

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - In most ways, it looked like any other summer camp - kids munching hot dogs and playing volleyball. But the guard at the gate was dressed in white robes and packed a pistol, and the kids took time from their games for rifle practice.

A counselor at the camp told the youngsters they were being taught how to fire a rifle because, "Some day you'll be Klansmen in robes and you'll be fighting beside us."

The camp, somewhere north of Birmingham, is run by the Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan. The 47-acre site is owned by Roger Handley, Alabama grand dragon of this particular Klan faction. Reporters who visited the camp Sunday, at the Klan's invitation, were taken to it convoy-style, over Bill Wilkinson of Denham Springs, La., imperial wizard of the faction, said in addition to usual summer-camp activities, target practice and karate lessons, campers attend weekly classes on "what it means to be white. We want to make what the liberal media would call racists out of them.'

Tony Anderson, state director for the Klan's Youth Corps program, said after Life magazine printed several pictures of camp activities in its August issue, it was decided that the camp should be opened to other media.

So on Sunday, NBC News showed up. So did a crew from CBS' "60 Minutes," the American correspondent for the Danish national television network and a reporter from a New York newspaper. They waited for hours under a blistering sun to see youngsters heft a rifle and take two shots apiece at paper plates lined up in a ravine.

"There are people, particularly communists, who would stoop to anything, even attacking kids," Wil-Some of the youngsters told reporters that they joined the corps because of harrassment and physical attacks from blacks in schools. "Let's face it," Anderson told the group. "You're Youth Corps. You stand together and you fight together. .

Wilkinson said members of the youth group, which is open to 12-to 18-year-olds, are not Klan members. He added that he expected most would join the Klan when they are grown.

Wilkinson said his Klan group, one of several in the nation, operates 12 such camps in six states. Also, he said, plans are under way to construct a family recreation club for Klan members, with a lake and artificial beach, roller rink, game room and bowling

"We want to interest the big cities in the Klan and we feel this will draw people who want segregated recreation facilities," Wilkinson said.

'We make no bones about it. We're not an equal opportunity employer."

Non-citizens said to own nearly 10 million acres of American farmland

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says close to 10 million acres of American farmland may be owned by non-citizens and the government is checking what can be done about it. "We are studying tax law changes to eliminate any tax advantage these foreign investors have," Bergland told a luncheon audience here

Bergland noted that foreign ownership of farmland is but a small percentage of the nation's 1.4 billion acres being tilled. But he said the foreign speculation may be pushing land values beyond realistic levels. He also reinterated the Carter administration's stand against any revisions of the 1902 Federal Reclamation Act, which would allow big corporate farms to get a larger share of low-cost water from government dam and canal systems.

"It's our position that the historic and social intent of the law, to foster and preserve an agriculture based on the family farm, must be upheld,"

Growing and marketing food takes more than one-fifth of the energy consumed in the nation.

Keeping brood chickens, farrowing. hogs and the resulting offspring warm "appears to be one of the more promising uses of solar energy in agriculture," officials say. Behind drying crops, most USDA research seems to be focused on it.

In the last five days, USDA's Science and Education Administration, partly in tandem with land-grant universities, has handed out almost $250,-000 in new solar research grants.

Under one, scientists at Kansas State University plan to add a greenhouse to a hog-farrowing house.

The greenhouse will collect the sun's energy to heat both facilities. The carbon dioxide-enriched, exhaled air from the animal shelter will be circulated back through the system to the plants to improve their growth, the agency said.

Other one-year projects, ranging from $18,700 to $82,500 in cost, include

-To compare solar systems to a furnace burning farm wastes, as means to both heat swine-farrowing houses and dry grain.

-To develop a cheap solar method of drying common round hay bales that weigh up to 1,500 pounds and sit exposed in many fields. This system is to be designed to dry shelled corn and heat a machine-repair and storage area after the hay is dried.

USDA officials repeatedly have said they are committed financially and philosophically to solar-energy

But three of its economists, in an unpublished recent manuscript, wrote, "Unfortunately, many researchers believe that the overall impact of solar energy use in agriculture will probably be rather limited. Dramatic technical breakthroughs to lower costs are not foreseen.'

Most of the areas in which solar power has strong potential now use relatively little fossil fuel, they found after reviewing the research results

They did note that the greenhouse industry's future health may well depend on this alternative, since a lack of fuel for just a few hours at a crucial juncture can destroy a season's pro-

At his most recent Washington news conference, Carter said he would be going "some-time to Miami and Bangor, Maine, and San Francisco, and perhaps Des Moines, Iowa."

When aides were asked about plans for the travels Carter mentioned, they said there were none. It seems the president should have put the "perhaps" at the start of the sentence.

U.S., Israeli relations strained

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has personally pledged his support to Israel while at the same time calling for progress on Palestinian autonomy.

U.S. officials said Carter made both points in what they termed a cordial 90-minute meeting Wednesday with Ephraim Evron, the Israeli ambassa-

Afterward, it was clear the two governments have their differences, especially on the Palestinian issue. The strained relationship will be tested later this month when the U.N. Security Council renews its Palestinian debate.

Evron left the White House not certain whether the United States would oppose a resolution affirming Palestinian rights.

In Tel Aviv, a government spokesman said Israeli officials were awaiting Evron's report before commenting on the meeting.

Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance have ruled out U.S. support for a Palestinian state. But they reportedly have not offered any commitment beyond that.

Meanwhile, it was learned from sources who asked not to be named that Carter urged Israel, through Evron, to come to an understanding with Egypt on an autonomy plan for Palestinians living on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in Gaza.

For his part, Evron asked that the United States not try to push autonomy beyond limits Israel considers acceptable.

Officials reported the meeting also underscored Israel's flat stand against negotiating with the Palestine Liberation Organization. The Carter administration has raised concerns in Israel with a diplomatic probe of PLO intentions.

Vance, offering a hint of the strains, told reporters Evron "is always strong and clear" in his representation of Israel's interests.

At the same time, the State Department press office issued a statement saying, "Our long-standing support for the security and well-being of Israel is firm and unshakeable."

The statement was in response to a charge by Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan that U.S. policy was changing and that American need for Arab oil was behind the change.

Vance's 75-word statement made no reference to the Palestinian issue or to U.S. oil needs. It said he had seen the Dayan remarks in Israeli newspapers and wanted "to state categorically that there has been no change in our policy toward Israel."

On a related matter, Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said Wednesday in an interview he is acting as an unofficial and informal conduit of information between the Carter administration and the PLO.

"In my own way, I'm trying to form a bridge," said Findley

WASHINGTON (AP)

— West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich
Genscher is meeting with President Carter at a time when the nations' policies toward the Middle East are the center of attention here and in Bonn.

After his call at the White House today, Genscher was having lunch with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance.

Vance issued a statement Wednesday denying that U.S. policy is turning against Israel. He had earlier told Congress that Israel may have violated an agreement with the United States by using F-15 planes built in the United States against targets in Lebanon.

Earlier this week, West German spokesman Klaus Boelling reassured Israelis in a broadcast interview that they had no reason to doubt that his country bases its relations with Israel on principles agreed to years ago by former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)

— Three Americans and 14 other foreigners who work for a U.S. construction firm were held hostage for 12 hours by Iranian workers then released unharmed, Western diplomatic sources reported today.

The sources said the foreigners, employees of the Morrison-Knudson engineering company, were held at a road construction campsite 25 miles west of Tehran on Wednesday.

The sources said the dispute was over severance pay, which was solved, and that the foreigners were released without "any physical violence whatsoever" and were resting at a guest house at an undisclosed location.

The sources said they couldn't provide the names of those involved, but one of them was known to be Frederick Burnett, an Australian.

Burnett's wife, Lesley, spoke with him by telephone from Perth, in western Australia. She said the Iranian workers were armed.

Israeli raid may have broken pact on use of U.S. weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's nothing new about a country using American weapons for purposes the U.S. government disapproves of — as Israel is now accused of doing in Lebanon. The consequences usually have been slight.

Governments that get U.S. arms, either by sale or gift, have to agree that they will not hand them over to anyone else without American consent, and that they will not use them for any purpose except self-defense abroad or security at home.

A government accused of violating these requirements usually argues that it was just defending its own interests. In only one case — Turkey — have there been visibly serious results.

The latest questions concern a recent Israeli foray against what it said were Palestinian strongholds in Lebanon. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance has written of that attack: "Further action on our part will depend on the course of events and our assessment

In 1974, Turkey used much of its military equipment, built in the United States and meant for defense against the Soviet Union, for an invasion of the independent island of Cyprus in the Mediterranean Sea.

The Turks argued that they were defending the Turkish minority there. But Congress reacted sharply and until last year severely limited U.S. arms shipments to Turkey.

The Turks promptly took reprisals against U.S. bases in their country used to keep an eye on Soviet military activity.

Last year, too, the State Department found that Israel may have broken its agreement by sending its troops into Lebanon with American equipment, and giving some of that hardware to the Christian militiamen allied with Israel there.

The Israelis, then as now, took the position that they were only defending themselves against Palestinian Arabs in Lebanon. There was no practical consequence.

Earlier this year, Col. Moammar Khadafy's Libyan government used Boeing jetliners made in America to ferry troops for a futile effort to bolster the weakening forces of Idi Amin in Uganda. U.S. officials explained that these were not military planes.

Although some of them were bought under an agreement banning their use for military purposes, it was never made clear whether Khadafy had sent those particular planes or others he had bought earlier without such conditions.

In 1976, Indonesia, which had received considerable U.S. military equipment, took over the eastern part of the island of Timor, formerly a Portuguese colony.

A State Department legal expert said no complaint was made in that case because the United States recognized the Indonesian claim to the area.

Midlander sponsors '79 4-H beef awards event

COLLEGE STATION — Clayton W. Williams Jr., West Texas rancher-oil operator who is based in Midland, is sponsoring the 1979 4-H Beef Awards Program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The new program will permit the TAES to recognize the top four 4-H Club members with beef projects in each of Texas' 254 counties.

"Recognition is an important part of each 4-H project," said Dr. John Pelham, Texas 4-H and youth leader with TAES, "and we are indeed fortunate to have secured the sponsorship" of Williams.

The 4-H beef project is designed to teach young people the principles of animal husbandry — including feeding, management and marketing while at the same time developing leadership skills, family unity and an understanding of the free-enterprise

Bob Smith, a spokesman for Williams, said Williams is pleased to assist in the 4-H program and looks

NOTICE TO PARENTS OF ELEMENTARY PUPILS

The majority to minority pupil transfer policy provision is an important part of the desegregation plan of Midland elementary schools. This transfer policy allows eligible young children to attend the same school as older brothers and sisters in grades 4,5, and 6. The majority to minority transfer policy states:

A primary level pupil (grades 1,2, or 3) may transfer from a school in which the pupil's race or ethnic background is the majority to another school in the assigned elementary school cluster, serving the residence, in which the pupil's race is the minority. Transportation is provided by regularly scheduled bus routes which transport intermediate level pupils (grades 4, 5, and 6) within the elementary cluster.

Pupils in grades 1, 2, and 3 may transfer to another school in the elementary cluster when their race or ethnic background is a majority in the home school. Also, the race or ethnic background must be in a minority in the receiving school. Transportation is provided by regularly scheduled bus routes within the elementary cluster.

You may receive more information by contacting the principal of any elementary school. Application forms are available from any elementary school principal or may be obtained at the central administration office at 702 North "N" Street

Two NFL exhibitions are scheduled tonight

By The Associated Press

The Atlanta Falcons and St. Louis Cardinals have extra incentive to improve their running games when they meet in one of tonight's two National Football League preseason clashes.

They'll want to keep moving because of the oven-like artificial surface at Busch Memorial Stadium, where temperatures are expected to reach

"I'd say it's 10 to 15 degrees hotter on on the field," said Cardinals owner Bill Bidwill. "The real problem is the heat it puts on the players" feet. We use charcoal-type pads inside shoes, just like baseball teams do. How much good it will do, I really can't say."

THE KANSAS CITY Chiefs will host the Philadelphia Eagles in the St. Louis' efforts to establish a better running attack to mesh with with the passing of Jim Hart - who, like Atlanta's Steve Bartkowski, is expected to start — will be hampered by the continued absence of injured rookies Theotis Brown and Thomas Lott.

"If we had all our running backs healthy, we wmuld be — as we're expected to be - an outstanding running team," said Jim Sweeney, the Cards' offensive backfield coach. "This (injuries) is hampering our development more than anything else."

Although Brown and Lott will not be available, rookies O.J. Anderson and Bobby Trudeau will be available to spell veterans Jim Otis and Wayne Morris on occasion.

We would like Atlanta not to be running blitz patterns against us all the time, so that we can be honing our running game into the kind of shape we would like to see it in at this stage," Sweeney said. "It really is more difficult to run against a blitz than it is to throw against it."

Meanwhile, the Atlanta ground game, which ranked 27th among 28 NFL teams in per-carry average in 1978, showed signs of improving during last week's 37-14 loss to New England.

ROOKIES WILLIAM ANDREWS and James Mayberry, for example, combined to gain 99 yards on 14 carries. "I think we saw a lot of progress," Atlanta Coach Leeman Bennett said.

There has been no progress, however, in talks between the Washington Redskins and running back Benny Malone, who walked out of camp Wednesday after the Redskins refused to discuss the renegotiation of his

THE GREEN BAY Packers announced Wednesday that Steve Odom will rejoin the club following a 56-day retirement. The receiver had left pro football to study for a doctorate in clinical psychology.

The Miami Dolphins announced that halfback Delvin Williams may miss Saturday night's game at Tampa Bay due to a sprained ankle suffered in Tuesday's practice. Other preseason games Saturday will include Chicago at New Orleans, Detroit at Buffalo, the New York Giants at Pittsburgh, Baltimore at Cleveland, Green Bay at Cincinnati, Minnesota at San Diego, San Francisco at Oakland and Washington at Denver.

Sunday's games will feature Los Angeles at New England, the New York Jets at Houton and Dallas at Seattle.

Richard beats Dodgers again

By The Associated Press

The question puzzled Houston's J.R. Richard as much as he had puzzled Los Angeles batters: "Can you name a reason why you've beaten the Dodgers 10 times in a row?'

"If I knew what I was doing to beat L.A., I'd use it to beat other clubs," he replied. "I wouldn't have 11 losses.

One explanation was pure power pitching, which was what Richard used to beat the Dodgers 4-1 Wednesday night. He allowed just six hits, struck out 12 to improve his major league-leading total to 209, and walked just two while squaring his record at 11-11. "I've had a great deal of luck against the Dodgers," added the 6foot-8 right-hander, who hasn't lost to Los Angeles since June 23, 1976 and extended his overall winning streak to

"I had a lot of tough breaks early in the season, and I also was pitching erratically," said Richard. "When I pitched well, I didn't get the sup-

In five of his losses, the Astros managed one run, and in three others, Houston scored twice. Richard made sure that wouldn't happen Wednesday night, cracking a two-run single in the three-run fifth that capped the scoring and raised his batting average to

"I take pride in my pitching and my hitting," said Richard, who certainly can be proud of his last 10 decisions over Los Angeles.

In the other National League games Wednesday, the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 in 10 innings, the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Atlanta Braves 3-1, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the New York Mets 8-4, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Montreal Expos 4-3 and the San Francisco Giants held off the San Diego Padres, 10-7.

In his 10-game streak against Los Angeles, Richard has started 13 times, recording three shutouts, surrendering just 21 earned runs in 111 innings for a 1.70 ERA, and has beaten Burt Hooton five times.

'One reason he's so effective against us is that we are predominantly a right-handed hitting lineup,' said Los Angeles second baseman Dave Lopes, who went 0-for-3. "He has good stuff — good as anybody in the league, and I'm sure he gets a little more motivated each time he

"He has the nastiest slider in the league," said third baseman Ron Cey, 1-for-4 including a run-scoring double in the first inning

"He's just wild enough that you don't dig in on him," said Bill Russell (0-for-3). "You sure don't want to get hit by him.'

The Astros, who have won seven of their last eight games, went ahead 1-0 on Terry Puhl's homer - only the 40th of the season for Houston, as compared to the 130 hit by Los Angeles.

Cey's double tied it in the bottom of the inning, but the Astros put the game away when Enos Cabell reached on an error by Russell at short, Jeff Leonard hit an infield single and Alan Ashby was walked intentionally to load the bases before Richard lined his single and Craig Reynolds hit another

Pirates 5, Cubs 2

Phil Garner's three-run homer off Dick Tidrow in the 10th inning carried the Pirates past the Cubs for their sixth triumph in seven games. A fifthinning homer by Bill Madlock and a seventh-inning shot by John Milner had given the Pirates a 2-1 lead, but Chicago tied it against Kent Tekulve in the ninth when Barry Foote's single scored Jerry Martin from second. Reds 3, Braves 1 Bill Bonham, relegated to the Cincinnati bullpen in recent weeks, needed just 101 pitches to hurl a two-hitter and help the Reds beat the Braves. One of those hits was an RBI double by Barry Bonnell in the Atlanta fifth, but Cincinnati went ahead in the sixth on a two-run homer by Dave Concepcion and got insurance on Cesar Geronimo's homer in the seventh. Cardinals 8, Mets 4

Pete Vuckovich pitched a complete game, thanks to Ken Reitz' three-run homer in the St. Louis second inning. Reitz' homer brought St. Louis within 4-3 and removed the possibility that Manager Ken Boyer would pinch-hit for Vuckovich when his pitcher's turn came to bat.

Vuckovich, 11-8, went on to retire 14 of the last 16 batters he faced. Lou Brock, eight hits short of 3,000, did not play Phillies 4, Expos 3

Montreal first baseman Tony Perez fumbled a bases-loaded grounder by Bake McBride with two out in the ninth inning, allowing Larry Bowa to score the run that carried the Phillies past the Expos.

Bowa beat out a bunt to open the inning and stole second before Pete Rose walked. One out later Mike Schmidt was walked intentionally to load the bases for McBride.

Schmidt hit his major league-leading 39th homer of the season in the third inning to tie the game 2-2. Giants 10, Padres 7

Left-hander John Curtis knocked in three runs with a pair of singles and Mike Ivie added two home runs for San Francisco, which built an 8-0 lead, then survived a late San Diego

Tired Lloyd captures two more victories

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A tired sovec, who has lost all six previous Chris Evert Lloyd, still weakened by times she has played Lloyd, advanced the flu, is praying the steamy weather will cool down a bit before tonight's quarterfinals in the U.S. Clay Court tennis tournament.

LLOYD, A four-time winner and seeded No. 1, survived her thirdround match in 90-plus degree heat on Tuesday, but she was forced to go to three sets for just the second time in 23 matches here since 1972.

"I feel a little better than I did last night," she said after the 4-6, 6-1, 6-2 victory over Czechoslovakia's Renata Tomanova. "The virus is still hitting me. It's just going to take a couple days. In the meantime, I'm still in the tourney and if I lose, I lose.'

The 24-year-old Lloyd has won 46 of 48 sets in the U.S. Clay Court tourney. She won the singles championship from 1972 through 1975 but bypassed the tourney the past three years to play on the now-defunct World Team Tennis circuit.

'The first set I felt tired and she was just moving me around the court," Lloyd said of her match with

"I just hung in there and got the ball back. I didn't do anything specific. In the second set, I thought if she moved me around the way she did in first set she would win. That's what takes the steam out of me and makes me tired. I felt better in second and third set, which I don't understand."

LLOYD'S SECOND-ROUND victory Tuesday night over Wendy White also was a struggle. She won the first set 6-2 but was taken to 7-5 in the second set.

'That was the closest I've ever come to defaulting," Lloyd said. "If she had won the second set, I proba-bly would have quit the match."

The only other time she was forced to go three sets here was in the 1975 semifinals against Nancy Richey

Lloyd will play Yugoslavia's Mima Jausovec tonight in the feature match on the 10,000-seat stadium court at the new Indianapolis Sports Center. Jautaped.

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Star tailback Tony Dorsett probably will miss the Dallas Cowboys' regular season opener Sept. 2 against St. Louis because of a fractured toe, the Cowboys' team physician said Wednesday.

Dr. Marvin Knight said that Dorsett's lower right leg and foot would be in a cast for 10 days to two weeks before additional x-rays are made.

Cowboy Coach Tom Landry said of Dorsett - the breakaway back who averaged more than 1,000 yards in each of his first two professional seasons -"This would hurt anybody. He's worked hard but he-hasn't played much at all."

A hyper-extended knee kept the former Heisman Trophy winner from Pittsburgh out of last Saturday's National Football League exhibition game against Denver.

The injury came to light dur-

Daniel the next Lopez?

JERICHO, N.Y. (AP)

Beth Daniel, in her rookie season on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, figures she is a far cry from being the next Nancy Lopez. That was the kind of praise being heaped on the 22-year-old graduate of Furman University after she left the amateur ranks last year.

The praise was deserved. The Charleston, S.C. native captured the U.S. Women's Amateur title in 1975 and again in '77. She was rated No.1 in the world in 1977, and the following year won the Western Amateur

In 17 appearances on the pro circuit this year, Daniel has yet to win she does have an unofficial victory in a tourney in Japan — and she has collected $41,277. That puts her 18th on the list of money winners. She's hoping to improve this week in the WUI Clas-"Being compared in the same class as Nancy Lopez put a lot of pressure on me," Daniels said. "Frankly, that kind of pressure is unfair. After all, Nancy had just won five tournaments in a row, nine overall and was Rookie of the Year.

"In a way it was flattering to hear that I was going to wreck the tour. However, the pressure was too much and I let it get to me."

Daniel, who has finished in a tie for third both in Detroit and Orlando, Fla., for her best showings thus far, is playing a more conservative style of golf as a pro as she did as an ama-

"Mainly because you are playing golf day in and day out," said Dan-iel, who led the United States to an easy victory over Great Britain in last year's Curtis Cup.

"This is stroke play as compared to match play as an amateur. If I take chances, I stand the possibility of losing anywhere from two to four strokes a round. If I can get a round by that many, then I might be a winner instead of a "It's eating at me that I haven't won. That has been the only disappointment this year. When I get into contention, I put the pres mysRp-%in. That's when it doesn't happen. You can't win that way. You just have to let it happen natural-

"There always seems to be one round out of the four that will kill me. In England last week I was fifth going into the final day and wound up 14th. One day always seems to be pitiful. You never know when it's going to happen, but it does. I can't wait until it doesn't.

Judy Rankin, ninth on the tour in earnings this season with $77,287, is the defender in the WUI Classic. Nancy Lopez, leading money winner with $156,200, is not playing in the four-day tour-

Gordon believes Ham is the best

MIAMI (AP) - Ask Larry Gordon who's the best outside linebacker in football and he answers quickly: "Jack Ham of Pittsburgh." Ask how Larry Gordon stacks up against Ham, and the answer comes just as quickly: "Side by Ham, a 9th-year pro, has been a consensus All-Pro the past five seasons. Gordon, nick-named "A-P" by his teammates because of his goal, is ready to challenge Ham's domination as he begins his fourth season with the Miami Dolphins.

'Take Jack Ham, he's rated over everybody. I think the first thing I have going over him is that I'm younger. And I think that my ability is greater than his. I don't mean that I'm already greater than him, maybe I haven't reached where he's at right now," Gordon said

'He's been around a lot longer. Quite naturally, people have him in their mind more. But at the stage I'm at now, it's taken Jack Ham six years to reach. I figure we're side by side. "I don't put anybody down. I respect the other pretty nice, pretty nice, guys at the position who he said.

work hard. But I'm saying don't short me. Let's all get the credit," Gordon said.

Gordon, an Arizona State player who lives with his wife in Phoenix, was a standout in a sometimes-inconsistent Dolphin defense last season. He was overlooked on the All-Pro teams, but he and others feel that could change this year.

"For the last three years, one of my goals has been being All-Pro. Last year, I was disappointed. What was really disturbing to me was that none of the defense made All-Pro. I thought we did great. We led the NFL in interceptions.

'Maybe it was because people said, 'They're having problems with their defense,' maybe because they said there's nobody there exciting to watch. Maybe if we had gone to the Super Bowl, or farther in the playoffs. I don't know.

'That's my goal this year, to be All-Pro. If I can do that, I feel that I will have more or less mastered the position."

The big, bearded man smiled as he puffed a cigarette. He enjoyed the subject. "All-Pro ... it's really

Gordon said his personal goals are linked to the Dolphins' success, since important games mean more attention. He recalled fondly last season's next-to-last game, against the Oakland Raiders with the Dolphins needing a victory

"I concentrated extra hard. I had never been in a playoff, and this was the closest I had been. This was chance to show what I could really do in a situation where the team really needed to get into the playoffs.

Gordon almost singlehandedly shut down the Raiders' offense. He intercepted three passes, blocked an extra point kick, and made eight tackles in a 23-6 victory.

Coach Don Shula said after that game: "Larry Gordon played the greatest game I've ever seen a linebacker play. How can a linebacker play better than that?"

Gordon likes compliments, but he said he doesn't want any false build-ups.

"I like publicity and I appreciate it, but I want it to be fair. I don't want anybody to write I'm 'super, super, super.' If I am super, nobody will have to say it.

Colts may move next to Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) -Baltimore Colts owner Robert Irsay is thinking about moving his National Football League team to Jacksonville, the Florida Times-Union said today.

Irsay told the newspaper he was interested in moving the Colts to Jacksonville's 72,000-seat Gator Bowl if the city provided certain facilities and services he said were necessary for an NFL team.

City officials also expressed interest, the Times-Union reported.

"I'm very serious," Irsay said. "I'd say it's a good possibility of moving to Jacksonville, based on what I've been told the city can produce.

"Jacksonville is one of several cities I'm looking at. I love Florida. In fact, I have a home at Bal Harbour," a city north of Miami Beach.

The Colts owner has talked to officials of the Los Angeles Coliseum about moving his club to that stadium when the Rams move south to Anaheim after the 1980 season. Irsay said he also was interested in Indianapolis, Phoenix, Ariz., and Memphis,

Jacksonville Mayor Jake Godbold said he is "primed and ready" to go to Baltimore and try to bring home the

"I'm prepared to do whatever it takes — as long as it's feasible and reasonable," Godbold said. "I think we can meet their requests. I'm absolutely sure we could sell out the Gator Bowl for every game. The attendance guarantee would be no problem.

Irsay told the Times-Union he would need a guarantee of 65,000 season tickets sold for 10 years, the use of 40 acres of land near the Gator Bowl for training and office facilities, a percentage of concession and parking revenues and assurance of a profitable radio network.

Cubs snuff out Gold Sox, 3-0

AMARILLO-Midland's Cubs remained a half game out of first place in the Texas League West with a 3-0 win over the Amarillo Gold Sox in the opener of a five-game series. San' Antonio remained in first by defeating El Paso 9-5 in the Border City

Wednesday night. Mark Parker, going the first 8 1/3 innings for his ninth win, combined with Bill Earley and Darrell Turner to blank the Sox on six hits as Brian Rosinski singled home a run in the second and Eric Grandy tripled home two more in the eighth. The Cubs then staved off impending disaster in the ninth by squirming out of a bases loaded situation.

The Cubs have won only eight of their last 20, but have won three of their last four, so with any kind of streak could run off and hide. While Midland has been slumping, no one else has been hot.

Amarillo's Tim Flannery opened the ninth with a single and Dick Walterhouse walked prompting acting manager Bobby Adams to bring in lefty Bill Earley from the bullpen to face lefthanded hitting Kirk Reed, only Tom Vessy was brought in to pinch hit. It didn't make any difference. Earley got the batter on a fly to center. Earl Battey reached first on shortstop Javier Fierro's error to load the bases, but Turner relieved Earley Midland's run in the second game when Carlos Lezcano walked, stole second and scored on Rosinski's single. Amarillo starter John Armstrong, 1-1, stayed out of trouble until the eighth when Fierro was safe on an error and Jared Martin walked with one out. John Yandell relieved and got Darrell Woodard to ground into a force play, but Grandy, emerging from a slump, rattled the boards in right-center with a triple.

For Parker, it was his seventh complete game and squared his record against the Gold Sox. Parker whiffed five and walked only one in raising his record to 9-7.

Keough owns longest loss streak on mound

By The Associated Press

What do you do with a pitcher who is still looking for his first victory this late in the baseball season? Oakland Manager Jim Marshall is finally doing something — he's sending Matt Keough to the bullpen. "This has really become a strain on him," said Marshall. "Maybe he's a little bit afraid of losing now and that only compounds his problems."

Keough's problems include the longest losing streak in major league baseball, which reached 18 Wednesday with an 8-1 loss to the California

His 0-14 record thus far this season tied Joe Harris' major league record for the worst start by a pitcher. And the tough-luck right-hander now is one short of the American League record for consecutive losses, 19, shared by two pitchers from the early killed last year, I realize baseball is an important part of a player's life—but not all his life," said Keough.

Early last season, Keough was the top pitcher for the A's, who led the American League West as late as July 5, and he represented them in the All-Star game. A knee injury ham-pered him later and he finished with an 8-15 record, starting the current losing streak last Sept. 11.

In his last start before Wednesday, Keough pitched a three-hitter but lost 1-0 to Seattle.

"I'm afraid the three-hitter he pitched last week in Seattle was a breaking point," said Marshall of Keough. "The effect on him, not winning the game, seemed to show in this

Elsewhere in the American League, the Cleveland Indians swept a day-night double-header from the Boston Red Sox 6-4 and 8-2; the Texas Rangers beat the Detroit Tigers 16-9 in the first game of a double-header before losing the second game 10-4; the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the Baltimore Orioles 8-4; the New York Yankees whipped the Chicago White Sox 4-3 and the Minnesota Twins turned back the Seattle Mariners 3-1.

Don Baylor was one of Keough's biggest problems Wednesday, pacing a 21-hit attack with four hits and three runs batted in. Baylor raised his RBI total to 101.

California's Dave Frost, 11-7, pitched a six-hitter and lost his shutout in the eighth on Dwayne Murphy's home run.

"I've lost some tough games this season," said the disappointed Keough. "But if I was moaning after every game I lost, it wouldn't accomplish anything.

He added: "Obviously, I wasn't throwing the ball well today.

Indians 6-8, Red Sox 4-2 Bobby Bonds and Toby Harrah smashed three hits apiece to help Cleveland beat Boston in their afternoon game. Rick Wise allowed 11 hits but picked up his ninth victory in the last 10 decisions with four innings of relief help from Sid Monge.

Dan Spillner, normally a relief pitcher, hurled a six-hitter for his first complete game in four seasons as Cleveland won the night game. Spillner, making only his third American League start, was in command all the way for his first complete-game victory since 1975, when he was with San Diego.

Rangers 16-4, Tigers 9-10

Eric Soderholm drove in six runs with a pair of homers and a single to power Texas over Detroit in the first game of their double-header.

"I'm a hot-and-cold hitter," said Soderholm. "When I'm hot, I can carry a club for a month. I carried the White Sox (before his trade to Texas) for the first month of this season. Then I slumped a little."

John Wockenfuss drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a solo shot and rookie Bruce Robbins pitched no-hit ball through six innings as the Tigers defeated the Rangers in the second game.

Brewers 8, Orioles 4 Gorman Thomas snapped a ninth-inning tie with a sacrifice fly and Sixto Lezcano added a two-run double as Milwaukee defeated Baltimore, handing the Orioles their fourth straight loss.

The Brewers, who have beaten Baltimore twice after losing seven straight to the Orioles, took a 4-3 lead in the eighth on Ben Oglivie's 21st homer. The Orioles tied it in the bottom of the inning on Ken Singleton's 29th homer before the Brewers came back to score four runs in the ninth.

Yankees 4, White Sox 3 Chris Chambliss' three-run, eighthinning homer capped a four-run rally that led Luis Tiant and New York past Chicago. Detroit's Steve Trout had given up only five hits through seven innings, but Willie Randolph and Bobby Murcer opened the Yankee eighth with singles. They moved up on wild pitch and Lou Piniella singled Randolph home before Chambliss slammed his 14th homer one out

Tiant allowed only four hits, all of them in the fourth inning, before needing relief help from Ron Davis in

"It was a slider," Chambliss said of the home run pitch from Trout. "He really came in to me with that pitch. Twins 3, Mariners 1

Ken Landreaux drove in the winning run with a fifth-inning single and relief star Mike Marshall notched his 24th save of the season as Minnesota beat Seattle.

Winner Dave Goltz scattered eight hits and struck out seven in a pitching duel with Seattle's Floyd Bannister before needing ninth-inning relief help from Marshall.

Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals is fast approaching the 4,-000-hit mark. The 41-year-old outfielder didn't play Wednesday night in St. Louis, however. (AP Laserphoto).

Rockies

MONTREAL (AP) -The Colorado Rockies, one of the worst defensive clubs in the National Hockey League last season even before they lost several defensemen to injuries, were expected to select Rob Ramage as their first pick in today's NHL entry draft.

Club course.

The 6-foot-2, 195-pound defender, one of the underage players who played for the Birming-ham Bulls last season, had 12 goals and 36 assists and sat out 165 penalty minutes last season in the World Hockey Association.

Players such as Ramage usually weren't selected until they reached the age of 20, but 19year-olds are eligible this year because of the availability of several underage players signed by the WHA.

We are working in two different countries with different laws concerning the legal work ing age," explained NHL President John Ziegler. 'We are trying in a reasonable fashion to conform to those laws."

Several former members of the Birmingham Bulls have privately agreed to join NHL clubs for the coming campaign, and an NHL spokesman said the enyet been resolved. The NHL's position is that the players are eligible for the draft by any club in its turn.

Today's selections were based on the reverse order of finish during the 1978-79 season, with the four former WHA teams last. Thus Colorado had the first choice.

After the Rockies, the order of selection in the first round was St. Louis, Detroit, Washington, Vancouver, Minnesota, Chicago, Boston, Toronto, Minnesota, Buffalo, Atlanta, the New York Rangers, Philadelphia, Boston, Montreal, the New York Islanders, Hartford, Winnipeg, Quebec and Edmonton.

Gas rationing divides House Texans evenly

WASHINGTON - Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes July 26 through August 1.

GAS RATIONING: The House voted, 234 for and 189 against, to give a president standby authority to ration gasoline, subject to several conditions. One condition is that either house can veto the rationing plan, but not until after the president announces it. In June, before communities in the Northeast and elsewhere experienced long gasoline lines, the House refused to give the President standby rationing authority. This vote came during debate on an emergency energy bill (S 1030), later passed and sent to the Senate.

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., the sponsor, said his measure would "fully preserve the right of a congressional veto over rationing" while not restricting the president's ability to respond to an emergency.

Rep. Dave Stockman, R-Mich., said Congress should have more time than this measure permits to veto a rationing plan that requires "a massive THERMOSTAT CONTROL: The House adopted. 267 for and 152 against, an amendment to soften the current federal rule requiring non-residential thermostats to be set not lower than 78 degrees in summer or higher than 65 degrees in winter. The amendment, attached to S 1030 (see vote above), needs further congressional approval before it can take effect. It would let businesses disregard the 78-65 rule if they save a comparable amount of energy by other means - for example, a restaurant could be cooler than 78 degrees during business hours if it kept its temperature quite hot during non-occupancy hours.

Members voting "nay" wanted to leave the exist-ing thermostat rules unchanged.

Eckhardt, Brooks, Wright and Leland voted "nay."

CHARLES DIGGS: By a vote of 205 for and 197 against, House members tabled and thus killed an attempt to expel Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., from the House. Expulsion was the strongest possible House punishment of Diggs, convicted in federal court last year of pocketing some $60,000 of his staff members' salaries. He has appealed his three-year prison sentence. Later, the House voted unanimously in favor of censuring Diggs, the second most severe penalty it could have imposed.

Most members voting "yea" were Democrats who thought expulsion of Diggs too drastic a step. Most members voting "nay" were Republicans who felt their Democratic colleague no longer deserved to sit AMTRAK: The Senate rejected, 35 for and 65 against, an amendment to keep all Amtrak passenger trains operating at least until Sept. 30, 1980.

The Senate thus agreed with the House that the six most unprofitable trains (whose mileage makes up about 20 percent of the Amtrak system) whould be discontinued. The Amtrak authorization bill (S 712) was later approved and sent back to the House.

Sen. James Sasser, D-Tenn., a supporter of the amendment, said that due to the energy shortage "the American people are coming to realize the importance of mass transportation for intercity trav-

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., an opponent, said the Senate should think of "the 99 percent of the people who are paying taxes to support something that is an overall money loser."

Sen. John Tower, R, voted "yea." Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D, voted "nay."

REVENUE SHARING: The Senate rejected, 31 for and 59 against, an amendment to cut by 10 percent ($684 million) the fiscal 1980 general revenue-sharing allotment to the states. The bill (HR 4394) was later passed and sent to conference with the House. Senators voting "yea" favored a ten percent cut in revenue-sharing outlays. Bentsen voted "yea." Tower voted "nay."

HOUSING AID: By a vote of 36 for and 52 against, the Senate rejected an amendment to cut $34 million from the government's $1.1 billion subsidized low-income housing program for 1980. The amendment was proposed to a Department of Housing and Urban Development spending bill (see vote above).

Senators voting "yea" wanted to cut the public housing budget.

Bentsen and Tower voted "yea."

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Testing essential

Dear Dr. Solomon: Isn't it possible that the Food and Drug Administration, in its diligence in keeping harmful drugs off the market, is also depriving the public of some very useful drugs? — Mrs. A.V.J.

Dear Mrs. J.: It is understandable that people suffering from some illness, or their families, may become impatient when they perceive the government as withholding a drug they feel may cure them. But as in so many things in life, trade-offs sometimes are necessary. Some delay in the marketing of a drug is inevitable if its safety and effectiveness are first to be established.

Remember the thalidomide tragedy? Thalidomide was distributed in 46 countries throughout the world but, thanks to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), it never was sold in the United States. (However, at last 20,000 Americans were given the drug by physicians who obtained it under an "investigation of the state of the s tigational program" from a company that sought FDA approval to market it.)

A team of writers from the Sunday Times of London has written about the thalidomide tragedy in a book entitled "Suffer the Children." They challenge the contention that the drug was adequately tested before being placed on the market, and that its effects were unpredictable because of the difficulty in demonstrating that it causes birth defects in laboratory animals.

According to the authors, thalidomide was not tested adquately, and it does cause birth defects, similar to those found in humans, when given to pregnant rabbits or monkeys. Nevertheless, the German firm that produced the drug claimed it was completely safe regardless of dosage, and launched an advertising campaign to sell it on that basis. Moreover, early reports of serious adverse side effects either were ignored or denied. Eventually, the evidence that thalidomide was associated with serious birth defects became so overwhelming that the company was obliged to take the drug off the

The FDA may need a streamlining of some of its procedures, but clearly some government agency is needed to review the safety and effectiveness of drugs before they are released to the public.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Although I have sufficient milk to nurse my baby, our pediatrician prescribed a supplement because the birth was premature.

Doesn't breast-feeding provide all the nutrition a newborn baby needs? — Mrs. S.L.

Dear Mrs. L.: While mothers milk can provide all the nutrients necessary for full-term babies, it may lack sufficient phosphorus for premature infants whose bones are still developing rather quickly. Physicians at the University of Connecticut Health Contex recently reported that it might be necessary Center recently reported that it might be necessary to provide phosphorus supplements to premature infants who are being breast fed, in order to promote the development of strong bones.

Hospital rush takes five persons' lives

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — A car rushing a pregnant woman to a hospital smashed into a parked truck, killing the woman and four other persons, police said Wednesday. The unborn child also died.

Investigating officer Randy Canady said that the car was traveling about 90 mph shortly before midnight Tuesday when it ran out of control and hit a parked tree-trimming truck, knocking the truck 24 feet from its position.

The victims were identified as Carrie Mae Oxen-dine, 25; her children, Ricky, 8, and Steven Ray, 2; her sister, Diane Locklear, 23; and her mother, Merelda Locklear, 47. All were from Lumberton.

Three persons, including the driver of the car and two children, were hospitalized. Henry Lee Callahan, 25, of Bladenboro and Terry Wayne Oxendine, 4, were listed in guarded condition at Cape Fear Valley Hospital in Fayetteville. Linda Locklear, 4, was hospitalized in stable condition at Southeastern General Hospital in Lumber-

Canady said the accident occurred on Godwin Avenue, a newly paved four-lane road that was virtually traffic-free.

He said the car ran off the road into a field where it struck a tree-trimming truck. Shortly before it crashed, the car passed a cruising patrol car, which turned to give chase. Canady said the crash had occurred by the time the patrol car reached the Canady said several motorists reported seeing the car speeding.

Courageous Hold-Up

By Alfred Sheinwold

It's easy to hold up the ace of the enemy's long suit, but you need more courage to hold up the king: if you don't take your king you may never get a trick with it.

Today's South may go down if he takes the king of hearts at the first trick. South may misguess the diamonds, losing a diamond and four hearts.

South should refuse the first heart. If West continues hearts, South gets his king and finesses diamonds through West. East gets the queen of diamonds but cannot lead a heart, and South wins ten tricks in comfort.

IF WEST SWITCHES

If West switches at the second trick, South must get to dummy to lead the nine of diamonds for a finesse. If this lost, West could do no harm. As the cards lie, declarer can repeat the diamond finesse through East to win all five

What if East had three hearts? Then the hold-up play would accomplish nothing, but South would lose only three hearts.

'Shooting Star," a 1974 biography of Wayne by Maurice Zolotow, has been acquired by Warner Bros. Television and producer Paul R. Picard as the basis of the film. The book was recently released in paperback with added material concerning Wayne's decline and death.

"It was fortuitous circumstance," said Picard, who related the string of events. Production manager Albert Selzer bought the "Shooting Star" film rights from his friend Zolotow and consulted Picard on what to do with them. The producer suggested his own agent, and deals were swiftly made with Warner Bros. and then Writer-producer Paul Monash is already well along on the script. That's how fast things go in television.

"The very name of John Wayne conjures memories for all Americans," remarked producer Picard. "Even we middle-aged liberals had a mellow point of view toward him at the end. As Paul Monash said, 'He didn't change; we did,'" uestion everyone asks: How can they find an actor to portray John Wayne?

'The three-hour show will start with him as a boy in Iowa," Picard explained. "Then we'll pick him up at U.S.C., when John Ford hired him as a prop man. In the last hour he'll be seen as an older man, and we'll deal with his politics and his illness.

"Thus we will need three actors: The boy, the young man, the older man. The last bit of casting will be the toughest. Should you go for a John Wayne impersonator or an actor who is physically big and commanding and can give an impression of Wayne? I think we will try not to impersonate Wayne.'

'There are not a lot of available subjects for TV biographies," observed Gimbel. "You need an important figure whose life can be dramatized to appeal to a mass audience. Being famous is not enough. ### Agency says that only five new series have chance of being hits

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Perhaps as few as five new series will emerge as hits in the fall television season, according to an analysis by a major adver-

The Dancer Fitzgerald Sample agency of New York sees only CBS' "Trapper John" and four new shows on ABC, "Benson," "The Lazarus Syndrome," "Nobody's Perfect" and "The Associates," as having clear shots in the ratings competition.

Four other shows among the 25 new series were given potential for emerging as hits if their creative execution allows them to survive stiff competition. Those shows are ABC's "Hart to Hart," CBS' "Paris" and NBC's "Eischied" and "The Man

The DFS report estimated that 45 per cent of the new series probably would be early casualties in the face of established competition.

Since the start of the last season, NBC has re-placed half of its series, ABC 34 per cent of its shows and CBS 36 per cent of its series.

In its analysis, the ad agency weighed the strengths of each show, its competition, its flow of audience from the preceding show and demographic factors such as age and sex appeal.

Four shows were considered long shots: CBS' "The Last Resort," ABC's "20-20" and NBC's "Real People," "Kate Columbo" and "The Misadventures of Sheriff Lobo." For the report, series introduced in the late spring or summer were counted as new shows, such as "Real People" and "Kate Colum-

Little chance was given to the other shows, such as "Out of the Blue," "Big Shamus, Little Shamus,"
"Struck by Lightning," "Shirley," "From Here to Eternity" and "Buck Rogers." The DFS analysis called "Benson" a "well-constructed character comedy ... with brilliant writing by Susan Harris." Robert Guillaume stars in the ABC show, a spinoff from "Soap." It airs Thursdays, following "Laverne and Shirley," moved from Tuesdays. The report said it "could serve as an effective hope of salvation.

shut-out to the competition;" which includes CBS' "The Waltons" and NBC's "Buck Rogers."

Louis Gossett Jr. and Ron Hunter, a newcomer from Broadway, stars in the ABC medical drama "The Lazarus Syndrome." The report said the show is marked by strong character development, crisp writing and plots that do not follow the predictable patient-medic relationship.
In "Nobody's Perfect," British actor Ron Moody

plays a bumbling detective in the mold of Peter Sellers' Inspector Clouseau. The DFS report said Moody could "emerge as a media star playing the competent innocent, victimized by fate to his eventual mastery of the weekly mystery muddle.'

"The Associates" is more difficult to assess because there is no pilot, but the report said that based on the past success of its creators and its "golden time" period following "Mork and Mindy" on Sundays, it should emerge as a hit.

DFS said "Trapper John" could become "a keystone in the CBS search for properties that represent long-term success." Pernell Roberts plays Trapper John McIntyre 25 years after "M-A-S-H" and the Korean War. Greg Garrison is a young resident in the hospital where Trapper John is chief surgeon. The report said, "A highly likable combination of story elements and casting leads to the aroma of sweet success.'

The agency saw little hope for "240 Robert," an ABC rescue-adventure saga from Rick Rosner, the creator of "CHiPs." It said the major obstacle was the formidable competition for the young audience from NBC's "Little House on the Prairie" and CBS' "White Shadow."

It saw CBS' "California Fever" in "competitive suicide" against ABC's "Happy Days" and "Nobody's Perfect." It gave only a slightly better chance to NBC's "Sheriff Lobo," in the same Tuesday time slot. Although it called it "mindless adventure," it said its clear-cut counterprogramming to the youthful audience sought by the other shows was its only

The two agree this will become "the punch line" the last line of each verse. Putman, a masterful journeyman songwriter, then produces a melody to fit the punch line. It seems to roll automatically off his guitar from the music storehouse of his mind. "It's pretty much a stock melody," he tells a visitor to his office.

After 30 minutes, the two have written the first two lines of the first verse. "Now we have to set up the punch line," Cook says.

After 15 unproductive minutes, he says, "I'm going to the bathroom and think of it.'

Five minutes later, he returns and the third line

"I used to do this in math in school," he says, laughing. "When I couldn't figure something out, I'd go to the bathroom.

Then it's on to the second verse. Cook remains seated in the chair facing Putman, leaving only to get another beer from the refrigerator in the room. Putman stays behind the desk, jotting down lines in pen on the legal pad.

The session continues as a systematic search for short words of emotion: alone, sad, cry, gone.

As the second verse falls into place, Cook exclaims: "I just got a great idea for another song; something like, 'What used to be OUR song is just MY song.'

Putman writes the idea down so it won't be forgotten. It'll be pursued during another session. At one point, they consider a line with the word "damned." But it's rejected because it might be offensive, especially to some radio stations.

At another point, Putman cautions: "We've got to keep it in the same tense.'

The two struggle with the last verse, and admit some frustration.

"You can call this song 'Miracle of Birth' because we're both having labor pains," Cook says. Putman, whose walls are lined with certificates of achievement, asks the visitor: "See how hard we have to work? Finally, the song is done. Minor revisions may be made in a day or two, but the major work is "It's pretty fair," Putman says. "It's record-

Drifting oil patch isn't biggest worry for Texas shrimpers

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - As a threatening patch of Mexican oil floats dangerously near the coast, some South Texas shrimpers say the drifting crude is not their biggest worry.

Joe Gayman said as he gazed toward federal inspeccommercial fisherman Pat Pace asked the federal officials.

About 150 shrimpers gathered in a hotel meeting room here Wednesday night to talk about the spill that threatens their industry. Ralph Rayburn, executive director of the Texas Shrimp Association, said the state's shrimpers last year brought in $140 million worth of catch. The Brownsville fleet brought in about $36 million.

But now the shrimpers and fishermen are concerned that overzealous federal inspectors may unnecessarily keep parts of the catch from the Victor Casper of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration insisted that the inspectors will play fair. Casper said the inspectons will be intensified as the oil drifts near the shore.

But there will be no action taken until a significant and very detectable odor and flavor to the shrimp is noticed," Casper said.

Hector Herrera of the Texas Health Department also said inspection efforts will be increased. Herrera said his agency will try to work with the shrimpers to make sure the only good quality shrimp

Julius Collins, president of the association, said the shrimpers can prevent problems with the inspecinland waters. He said oil in the bays could have a 10-year effect on the shrimping industry if the spawning areas are damaged.

MEN, Mexico (AP) -Oil workers are cramming steel and lead balls into the tubing of the runaway I-XTOC 1 oil well in the Bay of Cam-peche north of here, trying to slow the flow of oil enough so that the well can be plugged.

The balls, about the size of a tennis ball, are being forced into the four-inch-wide pipe at the rate of about eight a Engineer J. Jesus

Gaytan Rangel, who is overseeing the operation for PEMEX, the Mexican state-controlled oil monopoly, said at least 50,000 of the balls will have to be forced down the well before the flow can be sufficiently reduced, if it can be done that way at all,

Engineers said they should know in eight to ten days whether the effort will work.

Work continues on two angular relief wells being drilled into the runaway well to seal it off. All the while, crude oil continues to flow into the sea at the rate of about 20,000 barrels a day.

PEMEX says about half of the off is being burned by the fire that leaps out of the ocean over the ruptured well. About 2,000 barrels more, they say, is being scooped up by specially and that it is about one

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is washing some dirty laundry in public under a new program. First to flutter is a charge by a deputy U.S. marshal that he was ordered to remove the shackles from prisoners transported by air so other passengers would be unaware dangerous men were aboard.

The rest fled in fear after a Seadrift fisherman was slain last week in a territorial dispute with the newcomers, and Police Chief Bill Lindsey says his two-man force will be hardpressed to protect those who remain. An 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew is in effect for the 900 residents of the tension-ridden town, but Lindsey said his jurisdiction doesn't extend to the Gulf fishing waters where the refugees go to earn a living. "We heard there had been some threats of trying to run them out.

They (the Vietnamese) said they didn't really know what to do. They wanted to go out to their jobs again, but someone told them there could be someone out there waiting for them," Lindsey said.

Billy Joe Aplin was killed Friday after arguing with his Vietnamese counterparts that their crab traps were too close to his:

BIG SPRING - Howard County commissioners and Big Spring city council members Tuesday agreed to a trade of services that will see county workmen putting sealers on city roads and city firefighters serving county fires.

Last Friday, during another confrontation with the Vietnamese, Aplin was shot to death. The Vietnamese told Lindsey that Aplin provoked an argument and then began the fight that led to the shooting. Sau Van Nguyen, 21, fled after the shooting. Three days later, he gave himself up in Port Arthur, 280 miles up the coast. He was arraigned Tuesday on a murder warrant and held on $100,000 bond. His brother, Chinh Van Nguyen, 20, was arrested Friday night and charged as an accomplice to murder.

He was taken to the Calhoun County

Jail in Port Lavaca and held on $75,-000 bond. After Aplin was killed, a Vietnamese residence and three Vietnamese boats docked at Aplin's slip were firebombed Friday night, prompting Seadrift and Calhoun County officials to impose the curfew Late Monday night, a boat at an unoccupied Vietnamese residence was set on fire.

"It's just one small group one each side," Mayor Rayburn Haynie said Wednesday. "It's a communications they just crowded each problem ... other and it got out of hand."

Lindsey visited early this week with the five Vietnamese families who remain in the village "There's an awful lot of water out there, and there's no way we could put somebody out there on patrol.

The plan now nearing final decision would deploy the 200 MX missiles in a series of closedcourse patterns that look roughly like angular racetracks.

There would be 23 "hardened" shelters in each racetrack pattern, built on side spur roads. Each missile would be moved about inside its series of shelters, so the Russians would be unable to tell where the missiles are at any given

The shelters, half above and half below the earth's surface, would be fitted with verification doors that could be opened periodically to permit Russian spy satellites to "look" inside for assurance the United States is not cheating on the SALT agreement by hiding extra missiles, officials said.

The missiles would be carried aboard huge 700,-000-pound transporter vehicles which would move on surface roads and could "dash" from one shelter to another in emergencies. The missiles also could be fired from these giant vehi-

Many Customers Think It's Just Sound Business To Buy A Used Car.

Year in and year out, we have certain steady customers who buy nothing but used cars.

To them, it makes good business sense to buy a good used car. In many cases, aside from the mileage...the only difference between a new car and a late model used car is the price!

And if you'd like to pay hundreds of dollars less, we'll be glad to show you how.
