Carter impresses Texas leaders

Most, but not all, at briefing praise the president

WASHINGTON (AP) — A primarily loyalist crowd of Texas civic and community leaders may be spreading the word about the Carter administration's accomplishments after a White House briefing Tuesday.

"I certainly came away impressed with his sincerity," Austin Mayor Carole McClellan said.

"I think the president said some things that needed to be said and he needs to say them more often," state Rep. Bennie Bock II, D-New Braunfels, said. "It's given me renewed hope for the next several months."

Li. Gov. Bill Hobby reacted with more tranquility.

"I can't say I came away with new impressions," he said. "He restated the themes that he stated to the nation."

Not all the Texans at the closed-door session left satisfied.

"This was a good pep talk," said state Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso, laughing. "Not to me."

The legislator, head of the Mexican-American caucus in the House, said Carter's repetition of campaign promises about more Hispanic appointments could not be taken too seriously.

"People turned to me and asked, 'Why isn't he like this on television? He is strong; he is ready for the issues. I think that permeated the group.'" — Texas Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong.

Few dire predictions about Carter's fate with Texas voters in 1980 were voiced.

John Hill, the loser of the gubernatorial race last fall, said Carter has problems in the state but plenty of time remained for a comeback before the 1980 election.

"He'll do a lot better than it appears now," Hill said.

"This is a pretty stout group," state Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, said. "I think quite clearly it (the briefing) enhanced Carter's standing."

Odessa schools to admit alien children without fee

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Staff Writer

Children of undocumented aliens will be admitted to Ector County schools this fall without charge, or at least until a hearing in October decides the issue.

After a three-hour closed session Tuesday in federal district court in Midland, Jack Tidwell, attorney for the Ector County Independent School District, told Odessa school officials that the state attorney general will enjoin a Texas law which prohibits undocumented students from attending public schools tuition free.

Tidwell also mentioned that other school district cases involving similar situations will be consolidated for a hearing set in October — and possibly to be held in Houston.

Last year, the Court of Civil Appeals upheld the Texas law in a suit involving the Houston public school system. But in Tyler, a federal judge declared the Texas law unconstitutional.

That decision is being appealed to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, La.

Houston, Dallas, Odessa, Pasadena and Goose Creek school systems likely will have their cases consolidated for the October hearing.

Undocumented aliens involved in Tuesday's closed hearing had filed a petition with the U.S. District Court contending the Texas law which prohibits undocumented aliens from attending public schools without charge to be unconstitutional.

Harry Hubbard, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, said labor's preference for Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., was no secret but whoever wins the Democratic nomination will get labor's full support.

Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, said the president made some political gains as a result of Texas briefing.

He warned, however, that the president has big problems with Texas voters.

"They wouldn't vote for Carter on a bet," Brooks said.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said Carter came on strong.

"People turned to me and asked, 'Why isn't he like this on television?'" Armstrong said. "He is strong; he is ready for the issues. I think that permeated the group."

It's official School trustees increase taxes, raise salaries of administrators

By SUSAN TOTH
Staff Writer

Midland school trustees Tuesday officially raised taxes six cents for district taxpayers and raised salaries an average of 9 percent for district administrators.

Trustees formally approved an increase in school taxes from $1.20 to $1.26 per $100 valuation.

With the $5,000 school tax exemption granted by the Legislature last session in the Tax Relief Amendment, however, homeowners who signed up for the exemption before the filing deadline will realize an overall 5 percent reduction in school taxes.

Senior citizens who signed up for the total $15,000 school tax exemption will realize a 12 percent decrease. Other property will be taxed at a rate 5 percent above last year, school officials said.

Salaries for central office administrators next year will range from $22,497 to a high of $49,500 for Schools Superintendent Dr. James Malley.

Salaries for principals and coordinators are figured on a formula based on years of experience. The average increase is about 9 percent, school officials said.

Teachers were awarded an average 8.8 percent raise at an earlier meeting.

Trustees also heard a report on the Midland Assessment Program tests, custom-designed to measure selected skills chosen by the district.

The tests, which have been used three years here, are given in reading and math to students in grades three through six. The program will be extended into first and second grades next year.

Individualized printouts showing how each student did in each specific skill is given to both teachers and parents. This allows teachers to work with each student on his level and allows parents to do specific things to help their children in their school work, according to Manuel G. Carrasco, director of elementary education.

In other business, trustees reviewed plans for the teacher in-service days for training in a number of areas, from learning styles to discipline, before school starts Aug. 29.

They also agreed to renew the district's health insurance plan at a 12 percent increase in premiums, and accepted low bids on bakery and dairy products for the coming school year.

Yacht disaster toll now at 13

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — Ships, lifeboats and helicopters searched the Atlantic off southwest England today for bodies and survivors of yachting's worst disaster. One American died, but officials said they had accounted for all U.S. craft in the area.

An American resident of London, Frank Ferris, was among 13 yachtsmen reported killed. By midday, 21 yachts worth an estimated $4.5 million were reported sunk or abandoned in a freak summer storm Tuesday that lashed more than 300 yachts in the international Fastnet Race with 70-mph winds and mountainous seas.

Yachting officials in Providence, R.I., reported all American boats in the race were safe. British racing officials said they had no word from two U.S. boats, but said they apparently were not in danger.

A spokesman for the Royal Ocean Racing Club said the yachtsmen were warned ahead of time about possible high winds, but once the race started "it is their own responsibility to judge the weather as it occurs."

Rescuers pulled more than 125 survivors from the wreckage of their yachts.

Ferris was skipping his yacht Ariadne with a British crew. He was picked up, badly injured, by a Dutch destroyer and died aboard it. Four of his crew also were reported dead.

The other deaths were two British crewmen from the Royal Air Force's Grimalkin, two from the Trophy, two from the Flashlight and one each from the Gunslinger and the Festina Tertia.

Among those reported safe was former Prime Minister Edward Heath, whose boat Morning Cloud was first reported under tow with a broken rudder. Later he reported by radio that he was still in the race, was making good progress and had not lost his rudder.

Earlier reports said there were 336 boats in the race when the storm hit, but today the Royal Ocean Yacht Club reduced the field to 306. The club said 221 of these were accounted for — still racing, reached port, abandoned or sunk — and 60 were still to be heard from.

A spokeswoman said many of these did not have radios, and it might be many hours before the fate of all of them was known.

Among the American boats finishing the race were: Atlanta Braves owner Ted Turner's Tenacious, Californian Jim Kilroy's Kialoa, Stephen Colgate's 54-foot Sleuth, from the New York Yacht Club, and Seymour Sinett's Williwaw from the Raritan, N.J. Yacht Club. Kilroy broke some ribs in the storm.

By midday Wednesday, race officials in London reported these other American entries were reported sighted and safe: Alliance, from the U.S. Naval Academy with 14 men aboard; Imp, owned and skippered by David Allen of Belvedere, Calif., finished the race, and Aries, owned and sailed by Mike Swerdlow of New York, sighted and still racing.

In Providence, R.I., U.S. yachting officials reported the status of the remaining American boats: Boomerang, owned by George Comantaras from the New York Yacht Club, finished the race; Toscana, owned by E. Swenson of New York, sighted and still racing; Carina, sailed by Richard Nye of Greenwich, Conn., finished the race today; Andiamo Robin, owned by J. Harding, Buffalo, N.Y., which dropped out of the race safely; and Acadia, skippered by Burt Keenan of New Orleans, which finished safely.

In London, officials had not heard from the Toscana and the Carina, but said they did not think they were in danger.

The 605-mile race started Saturday from the Isle of Wight, off the south coast of England. The yachts sailed to the Fastnet Rock at the southern tip of Ireland and back to Plymouth, Devon.

Many of the 40- to 70-foot boats had rounded the rock and were bound for Plymouth on the last leg of the race when the storm roared out of the Irish Sea, sending 60-foot waves crashing into the boats, snapping masts and overturning the craft.

"The air waves were thick with distress calls," said an officer at the Royal Naval Air Station at Culdrose, Cornwall.

Royal Navy helicopters, lifeboats, tugs and warships pulled at least 125 sailors to safety and recovered 10 bodies Tuesday. The search continued through the night but was hampered by bad weather.

The weather was improving today.

"There were dozens of empty yachts just drifting about," said British helicopter crewman Alf Topper. "It was spooky — millions of pounds worth of shipping and from what we could see nobody on board."

Swaying masts and tangled rigging hampered pilots and winch operators trying to lower rescue cables, and some crewmen had to jump into the sea to be picked up.

"It was not so much the wind that finished the Camargue, it was the seas," said her British owner Arthur Moss. "The waves were enormous."

Death total from dam now listed at 1,000-plus

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Officials of Gujarat state said today that press estimates that as many as 25,000 people may have died in the Machu River dam disaster appear to be grossly exaggerated.

Chief Minister Babubhai Patel said after a flight over the stricken area he would not estimate the toll at more than 1,000 dead, the figure most often used by officials.

He reported all 7,000 inhabitants of one village isolated by the flood, Malia, were safe.

Agriculture Minister Keshubhai Patel pointed out that the high press estimates had been based on press reports of homes destroyed when the flooded river broke through an earth dam late Saturday night and sent an 18-foot-deep deluge of water and mud down on the city of Morvi and neighboring villages. Patel said in several villages where large numbers of homes were destroyed, everyone survived.

About 500 bodies have been collected, but it will be days before the toll is known, officials said, because access to much of the area is still limited.

Communications lines and the main road and railway bridges to Morvi are washed out. Officials and relief teams entered the stricken city in convoys of jeeps and other military vehicles through water more than three feet deep. Mud was reported to be 19 feet deep in some areas.

Thousands of refugees with their belongings and livestock blocked the main road to the east, making it difficult to move in relief supplies and workers, officials said. Refugee camps were being set up.

Disposal of rotting, unidentified corpses was delayed by legal formalities. The stench brought droves of vultures, circling the town in the moist moonsoon air.

In an Independence Day speech today at Ahmedabad, the state capital, Patel asked the business community to help the relief effort and not to raise prices to take advantage of shortages. But the disaster was not mentioned by Prime Minister Charan Singh in his Independence Day speech in New Delhi.

Housing plan takes another step

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

Revenue bonds to finance a housing program in Midland could be ready to go on the market in six to eight weeks "if everything goes rosy," said a representative of an underwriting firm Tuesday.

Midland City Council in a regular session approved establishing a non-profit corporation known as the Midland Housing Finance Corp. to manage the Single Family Mortgage Revenue Financing Program.

Harry Clark, chairman of the City of Midland Housing Authority, told the council that a clarifying bill passed by the state Legislature that would have allowed the housing authority to conduct the program was vetoed by Gov. Bill Clements.

But the governor signed another bill which allows a different non-profit corporation to carry out the program, Clark said.

As a result, the Midland Housing Finance Corp. will file an application with the state to administer the housing program.

Selected as charter members were Clark, Gene Abbott, also on the Housing Authority, and Fred Kester, secretary of the Housing Authority.

Clark suggested two more charter members be selected from the Midland Housing Association. Selection of those was delayed after Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. said the council needed more time.

Under the financing program, money from the sale of revenue bonds would go to home loans for moderate-income families. Applicants would be processed by local savings and loan institutions.

Interest rates for the loans have been said to hover around 8 to 8½ percent.

Mark Tessier with Howard, Weil, LaBouisse and Friedrichs Inc. in New Orleans, La., said a study showed the maximum limit will be a $33,400 income for a family in Midland to qualify.

The city can sell a maximum of $39 million in revenue bonds, although Clark said the Housing Authority had considered $25 million.

He stipulated that for the city to go ahead with the program the bonds must receive a AA rating.

Tessier said three other cities in the past two weeks have sold revenue bonds for their housing programs. Two received 7½ percent on the mortgage rate, while the third got 7 percent.

He added that large institutions recently have been buying the bonds, illustrating stronger backing of the program.

This housing program is a "one-shot deal," Clark told the council. Any other program the finance corporation may want to undertake would have to receive the council's approval.

Although 18 months probably will be set as the time period during which money will be loaned, Tessier said, funds probably will be depleted very quickly.

"Midland is a very dynamic community," Tessier said. "Thirty million dollars would only be a drop in a bucket. We had one city in which the money was committed for house loans in only one month."

The six-to-eight week time period Tessier mentioned is an optimistic figure, he admitted. But if there are no procedural obstacles, the bonds should be ready to put on the market that soon, he said.

umentation proving American citizenship or legal admittance in the U.S., according to the petition. Students with non-Hispanic surnames did not have to provide this documentation, the petitioners claimed. Until a ruling by federal courts, the state of Texas will reimburse the Ector County school system for the undocumented students, said Shirley Huffaker, president of the ECISD school board. W.M. "Bill" Holm, ECISD superintendent, said the board will abide by the state's request for the temporary injunction. But, he added, the board can take the children out of school should the courts uphold present Texas law. Holm said he believes that probably will not occur in the very near future. This case, he predicted Tuesday, probably will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Mayor Rizzo wants 'day in court' before term ends

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor Frank Rizzo said today he hopes the Justice Department's lawsuit charging Philadelphia with systematically condoning police brutality can be settled before he leaves office because "we want our day in court." "We want no whitewash," Rizzo said in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" show. "We want our day in court so we can wipe out the stigma placed on this city by the Justice Department." City Solicitor Sheldon Albert, who accompanied the mayor to the Philadelphia studio where he was interviewed, hinted at the possibility of a counter-suit. "There's no question that every named officer and the city have been libeled by the federal government," Albert told reporters after the show. Rizzo, who along with 19 other top city and police officials was listed as a defendant in the suit filed Monday, stoutly defended the police department he once headed. "The thin blue line between good and evil is the policeman," said the 55-year-old Democrat, whose eight years in office end in January because he is ineligible under the City Charter to seek a third term. In other developments, a state official said the Philadelphia's police department stands to lose $589,446 in federal grant money because of the suit.

Rizzo had estimated that within 45 days the city could lose about $4 million in federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grants. But on Tuesday, Richard D. Reeser, chief of the grants management division of the Pennsylvania Commission

Clements visits Mexican governor

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he and the governor of Tamaulipas are in accord on the approach to solving the problem of undocumented Mexican workers in Texas and other states.

Clements, obviously in a happy mood, made the statement Tuesday night on the state plane returning from a daylong visit with Tamaulipas Gov. Enrique Cardenas Gonzales in Ciudad Victoria.

He said the Mexican governor was communicating Tuesday night with the other Mexican border governors to tell them of their accord. On Thursday, Clements visits with Gov. Martinez Dominguez of the state of Nuevo Leon, from which many illegal aliens enter the United States each year. The undocumented workers will be at the top of the agenda.

On Aug. 27 he talks with Coahuila

Gov. Oscar Flores Tapia in Saltillo and with Chihuahua Gov. Manuel Bernardo Aguirre in Chihuahua City Aug. 29.

Clements said Tuesday night that he and Cardenas Gonzales discussed the illegal alien problem in detail "and went over the discrimination, the receiving less than a fair wage, having living conditions less than desirable and no protection under the law," Clements said.

"He acknowledged all that and he feels there is no question it should be rectified and controlled both by the United States and Mexico. Workers have to be documented both ways. He is in accord."

Clements said no "mechanics" were involved in the discussion. "This first step is most important," Clements said. "I am not surprised but I am happy about it. It is a foot in the door."

Clements he still was talking "policy" with the Mexican governors, "and until we get a declaration from all four governors, I don't want to talk about details."

Earlier in the day in Ciudad Victoria, a city of about 100,000, the two governors called each other "neighbor" and discussed mutual border problems. There was no passing comment on the Mexican oil spill off each state's coast.

Cardenas Gonzales said in a speech to the 14-member Tamaulipan congress that he felt Clements understood when the Texas governor said there would be no suit against Mexico for any property damages from the Mexican oil spill.

Later, when asked about the statement at a news conference by Mexican reporter, Clements said he meant there would be "no conditions to it at all...what is there to discuss?" The two governors appeared in white Mexican dress shirts as did many of the other U.S. and Mexican officials in the steamy 90-degree temperatures. Crowds of several hundred followed the two governors as they walked down the streets of the city, which is in a predominantly rural area.

Other problems discussed by the two governors included drug trafficking, the possible export of Mexican oil, industrial growth and the exchange of agricultural products.

"Obviously, no definitive answers have been arrived at," Clements said after the talks. "But there is no question that in principle that we are generally in accord on all instances."

Cardenas Gonzales said, "We wish to be your good neighbors but better friends."

Five guards at troubled prison fired

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Five guards at the troubled Washington State Penitentiary were fired because a tactical squad used "unreasonable force" to put down an inmate uprising, state prison officials said.

Seven other guards have been given "personal conduct reports" and have seven days to respond, Warden James Spalding announced Tuesday.

The announcement came as prison officials released a summary of a state investigation into allegations by six maximum-security inmates who said they were beaten by guards in the Walla Walla penitentiary's segregation unit.

Spalding said the firings were "made on the basis of statements by staff and a review of physical evidence." He did not elaborate.

The penitentiary, built while Washington still was a territory, has been the scene of increasing violence. Inmates have been locked in their cells since June 15 when a guard was fatally stabbed.

Overcrowding is the main problem, with the old prison housing as many as 1,400 inmates. In the past 13 months, there have been 40 escapes, 32 serious assaults and six homicides — four inmates and two guards.

On July 8, about 230 men on 8-Wing rioted, ripped their plumbing from their cell walls. The men were escorted to the Big Yard, an outdoor exercise yard where they remain. Many claim guard brutality.

The current investigation was based on the narrower claim that six inmates in segregation were beaten. In an incident that preceded the current troubles, several inmates seized hostages on May 9 to protest prison conditions. The hostages were released unharmed.

The 12 guards involved in the segregation investigation were on leave with pay pending the investigation. The warden gave this account in the release: "On July 8, certain inmates damaged their cells in the segregation unit and officers were called in to stop the disturbance. A squad of officers handcuffed the inmates to their cells and then left the unit."

"A 12-man squad later entered the segregation unit and it was members of this unit who used unreasonable force."

The account did not spell out the "unreasonable force." Previously, the six inmates said they were beaten, shoved and injured with nightsticks.

Two Soviet jets collide

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet jetliners collided over the Ukraine, a Soviet civil aviation official said today, and informed sources said a Soviet soccer team aboard one of the planes was wiped out.

The planes, both twin-engine Aeroflot Tu-134 jets, collided and crashed at about 2 p.m. Sunday near the Ukrainian city of Dneprodzerzhinsk, a secretary to the chief of Soviet Byelorussia's Department of Civil Aviation in Minsk said.

The spokeswoman, reached by telephone from Moscow, confirmed that one of the airliners had been carrying the Pakhtakor soccer team from Tashkent, capital of Uzbekistan in Soviet Central Asia.

She gave no specific casualty figures and declined to say what officials think might have caused the crash.

The Tu-134 normally carries a maximum of about 72 passengers and crew members. It is used by Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, on many domestic runs.

Informed sources reported that the Tashkent soccer squad, en route from the Uzbek capital to play a match in Minsk, had been wiped out in the crash.

The last reported crash of a Soviet airliner occurred March 17 when a Tu-104 jet went down in the vicinity of Moscow's Vnukovo Airport. The official Soviet news agency Tass said only that the crash caused "casualties."

The government-controlled Soviet press takes a very cautious attitude on reporting air crashes and other disasters.

Frequently plane crashes in the Soviet Union go totally unreported in the official news media if they do not involve foreigners as victims or witnesses.

Update of airport facilities due; Council debates buying park site

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Facilities for persons who work in the Midland Regional Airport area should be updated in the future.

Midland City Council on Tuesday, meeting in the Council Chambers at City Hall, approved an engineering firm to advertise for bids on a flight service station facility for the Federal Aviation Administration.

The one-story building will have about 7,900 square feet and will face onto a taxiway. Total cost of the facility would be $684,650, said an engineer with Parkhill, Smith and Cooper Inc.

Aquila, a fixed-base operator, will get new hangars after the council heard a presentation on the need for them. Current facilities are deteriorating and some buildings are from the World War II era, the council was told.

Land designated for a city park in a housing development planned by Feagin Investment Co. caused the council to question whether or not it wants to buy the land. Also involved in the issue was a small one-acre site which the developer would give to the city if it would be maintained.

Wayne Kohout, director of Parks and Recreation Department, explained the four-acre park site would be connected to a new school site. Cost of the land would be $87,000 and would fill a requirement for a park in the area.

Feagin Investment Co. is developing a 79.30-acre tract on the northeast corner of High Sky Drive and Wadley Avenue for apartments, townhouses and single-family residences.

The council approved replatting four units of Industrial Park at Midland Regional Airport which would realign some streets and the Industrial Park boundary, adding about 200 acres.

Also getting an OK were ordinances establishing "no parking" zones in the city and re-establishing school zones through the city limits.

A major thoroughfare plan which would extend some roads to join major streets was adopted.

Fred Baker, director of public works, said, "We need to get a jump on some of these things now with the city's accelerated growth."

Also approved was a rate increase for the Yellow Checker Cab Co. Rates will be 10 cents for each additional tenth mile. It previously had been 10 cents for each additional one-fifth mile. Base rate will remain the same.

Anti-drug campaign begins soon

The Palmer Drug Abuse Program, a plan aimed at getting young people off drugs, is scheduled to get under way in Midland Sept. 1 with four trained counselors ready to work with teenagers with drug and alcohol problems.

The program, roughly patterned after the Alcoholics Anonymous plan, will be supported through community donations.

Program officials plan to work with any community agency they can, from the schools to law enforcement officials, but the major recruitment will be through "a word of mouth campaign among the teenagers themselves," according to Sarah Neisig, a PDAP board member.

The program has worked well in other Texas cities since its founding in 1971, Mrs. Neisig noted, and the counselors here have all been trained through other successful programs.

Senior counselor for the Midland program, Rick Gonzales, has worked as director of the program in San Angelo, she noted.

Each of the counselors is a product of the program, having once been on either alcohol or drugs. "They must each have been free of drugs for at least one year, then they go through the counselor training program."

"The counselors I've seen are all very dedicated. They know what these young people are going through because they've been there themselves," Mrs. Neisig said.

Local organizing committee for the group had hoped to reach its $50,000 first-year goal through local donations by the beginning of the program Sept. 1.

"We've still got $9,000 to go and only two weeks left," Mrs. Neisig said.

The $50,000 is the first-year operating budget for the program. The money will pay salaries for the counselors, office help and the cost of treating each child. Once the family-based program is in effect, "we hope some of the families who get involved will see the benefit and make some contributions," Mrs. Neisig noted.

"But there is no fee for people in the program. No one will ever be turned away because of money," she said.

Two age groups will be targeted initially, officials noted. Teen-agers 13 to 16 will be in one group with those 17 to 25 in another. The groups will meet in two local churches, The Church of the Holy Trinity and First United Methodist Church.

The program has received enthusiastic support in many parts of Midland.

School officials have pledged "to cooperate in any way we can," according to Schools Superintendent Dr. James Mailey.

"We feel it is a worthwhile experiment that deserves a try," he noted. Anyone wishing to contribute to the program can send a check payable to "PDAP-Midland" in care of Western State Bank, Giffert Alstrin, trustee, P.O. Box 4157, Midland, 79701.

Partly cloudy skies, warm weather remain in forecast

Midlanders probably should leave their lawn sprinklers in their yards, but the weatherman today did say there is a possibility of thunderstorms here Thursday.

According to the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport, a 20 percent chance of rain will exist Thursday.

Otherwise, the weatherman said, skies will be partly cloudy and it will continue to be warm.

The thermometer should drop into the upper 60s tonight, but the National Weather Service said it will climb into the low 90s on Thursday.

Winds should blow from the south or southeast tonight at 10-20 mph. High temperature Tuesday was 91 degrees. Record high for that date is 104 degrees set in 1946.

Low reading this morning was 69 degrees, nine degrees shy of the record 60-degree record low set in 1940. Andrews reported receiving a sprinkle of rain Tuesday night, but other communities in the area recorded no moisture.

The "whys" of today's energy crunch and the reasons behind the reappearance of gasoline lines five years after the Arab oil embargo will be discussed by Mobil Oil Corp.'s C.R. Kreuz when he speaks to the Downtown Midland Rotary Club at noon Thursday in The Midland Hilton.

Kreuz is division environmental and regulatory manager for Mobil's Houston Exploration & Producing Division. As such, he is responsible for environmental and regulatory programs associated with drilling and producing operations — both onshore and offshore — in Texas and New Mexico.

Kreuz is chairman of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's Air Task Group, chairman of the New Mexico Oil & Gas Association's Environmental Affairs Committee and a member of the Texas Air Control Board's Technical Advisory Committee.

Midland man charged in house burglary

Benny Earl Taylor, 23, Midland, was charged Tuesday with burglary of a habitation before Peace Justice Robert Pine. Bond was set by Pine at $25,000.

for a gunshot wound to the abdomen, Midland police said. The same night Taylor was treated for his injury, officials said, a woman had called the police department to report she had shot a man who was standing at the foot of her bed when she woke up.

Hearing set on Big Lake S&L branch

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—An application from the Heart O' Texas Savings Association in San Saba to open a branch office in Big Lake has been placed on the Sept. 4 docket call of the Texas Savings and Loan Department.

The meeting will be at 8:30 a.m. in the department offices at 1004 Lavaca in Austin. Protests to the application should be sent to Commissioner L. Alvis Vandygriff, P. O. Box 1089, Austin 78767.

TV sets targets of thieves

Two burglaries were reported to Midland police Tuesday, according to police reports.

In both incidents, a television set was reported taken, officials said. Entry to a home in the 2600 block of North A Street was gained through a window, according to police investigators.

A window was broken to unlock a door at a home in the 500 block of W. Nobles Avenue, officials said. Police today were investigating both incidents, an official said.

Hospital sets hearing

Midlanders will get a chance to say what they think about the proposed budget for the Midland County Hospital District at a public hearing on the matter at 3 p.m. Thursday.

The hearing will be in the board room at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Hospital district directors also are scheduled to set the tax rate for the coming fiscal year and approve the budget Thursday.

Also on the agenda for the regular monthly meeting is consideration of a new director to fill the place left vacant by Dr. Michael Burleson, who resigned recently to move to California.

Directors also are expected to act on bills payable and financial statements and hear reports from the hospital board of trustees, citizens advisory committee and the hospital administrator.

Police chase nets suspect

A short chase of a burglary suspect by Midland police about 1:24 a.m. today resulted in the arrest of a 21-year-old Midland man, officials said.

According to police officer Emmitt Roch, the man was observed by Roch in the offices of Borden Inc., 2405 W. Missouri Ave., opening a soft drink vending machine and removing money from the box, officials said.

Roch, Officer Terry Garner and Cadet Bruce Williams surrounded the building, but the man left the building, officials said.

The officers pursued the man and apprehended him in nearby Dennis the Menace Park.

Police said $30.64 in change was found on the arrested man and $12.42 in change was found in a money bag in a car believed to belong to him.

THE BIGGEST OIL SLICK

Task forces on patrol

Motorists likely will see an increased number of state troopers patrolling highways in a number of Texas counties, including Ector, in the immediate future.

Wilson E. "Pat" Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, after goading from Gov. Bill Clements and the federal government, has announced that task forces of troopers working overtime will crack down on highway speeders in six counties — at federal expense.

He explained that four to 10 DPS units will be added in each county to those normally on duty during periods of high accident frequency. Overtime pay will come from a $509,000 Office of Traffic Safety grant.

The counties named are Bell, Bexar, Ector, Smith, Wise and Williamson.

Speir added that similar, smaller-scale task forces already are working in Denton, Franklin, Hildago, Hopkins, Tarrant and all 21 counties in the Corpus Christi DPS district.

And although the DPS director did not say so, it is quite likely that strict enforcement of the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit will follow in all Texas counties.

Although Texas highways, particularly those in West Texas, were built for much faster speeds, the federal government has established the 55-mph limit and has threatened to withdraw federal highway funds if the various states do not make a serious effort to enforce same. In fact, a time schedule has been set for compliance. And the feds are furnishing funds for the stepped-up effort.

There is no doubt that driving at reduced speeds cuts down on gasoline consumption and lowers the highway accident rate to a degree, but cars and highways built for speed make it difficult to keep from exceeding the speed limit on the Lone Star State's wide-open, super highways. Besides that, it is a long way between given points in West Texas.

Even with strict enforcement, it will take time for Texas motorists to readjust to the established speed limit.

Still, 55-mph is the law of the land, and please don't be surprised or angry if and when picked up by a trooper when exceeding the limit. He merely will be doing his job — and a vast majority of them will at least be friendly and courteous while writing out the ticket.

African zig-zag

Macias Nguema Biyogo, the deposed "president for life" of Equatorial Guinea, never achieved the notoriety of Uganda's Idi Amin. The only explanation for this — and a poor one — is that Macias had a smaller population to brutalize.

During his 11-year reign, Macias subjected the 300,000 citizens of his tiny West African nation to a range of horrors that gave his country a reputation as the "Auschwitz of Africa."

International human rights organizations estimate that the reign of terror imposed by Macias claimed 50,000 lives — one-sixth of the population. Purges wiped out the country's intelligentsia along with anyone else Macias believed capable of challenging his rule.

At least one-third of Equatorial Guinea's population fled to neighboring Gabon and Cameroon. The once-prosperous economy disintegrated under Macias' blend of Marxism and gross mismanagement.

Predictably, the Organization of African Unity never saw fit to decry Macias' grisly dictatorship. That would have breached the OAU's sacrosanct policy of never criticizing a member government.

Just as predictably, the Soviet Union equipped Macias "army," several hundred Cuban soldiers provided additional security, and the country's intelligence service was run by East Germans.

How, in the face of these Soviet-bloc props, Macias could have been deposed in a military coup Aug. 3 is not yet clear. Quite possibly, the strategists in the Kremlin decided that Macias had become too much of an embarrassment and thus sponsored the coup themselves.

For the people of Equatorial Guinea, the Spanish colonial rule which ended in 1968 must seem in retrospect a golden age.

Let not thine heart envy sinners; but be thou in the fear of the Lord all the day long. — Pro. 23:17

NICK THIMMESCH

It's 'Eastward Ho' for former President Richard M. Nixon

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon moves East to shake his boredom with the tranquil life he's known in California. He wants to get back in the Eastern seaboard's intellectual swim. He figures Napoleon only did one year of exile on Elba, so his five at San Clemente means he's paid his dues. Pat Nixon concurs. Besides, she always loved living in Manhattan.

where violins are played. Pat likes window shopping on the better avenues. They entertained in their apartment near Central Park (same building as Nelson Rockefeller), and every once in a while Nixon took the subway to work.

Last winter, during his public appearances in Paris and London, Nixon vowed he wouldn't fade away, that he would speak out on issues affecting America's position in the world. But the only audience he had in the serenity of Casa Pacifica were inattentive ferns.

Nixon reckons that the action is in the East, where he can conveniently see people, give a speech now and then, and get into more book-writing projects. Even in the jet age, to get from San Clemente to somewhere big is akin to riding in a wagon train.

Once some board of owners passes on him, he and Pat will take an apartment in Manhattan, where he took sanctuary in 1963 after losing so dismally to the first Gov. Brown of California. At that time, Nixon proclaimed that "New York, next to Washington, is the best listening place in the world. What bothered me most about California was that there weren't many people I could talk to."

Evidently, Nixon thinks the same today. "Once my father sold Casa Pacifica," Julie Nixon Eisenhower explains, "he realized that he might as well go all the way and follow a different lifestyle, the one he had liked in New York so well. So he'll be moving there by the end of the year."

David and Julie Eisenhower live a few miles from San Clemente, are each writing books and would like to move East in about one year themselves — possibly to the Philadelphia area. Tricia Nixon Cox, her husband and infant child live in New York, so the Nixons would be close to each other.

Nixon's old friends, principally Robert Abplanalp and Bebe Rebozo, have for many months tried to persuade him to leave California and head East, possibly for Connecticut. But Pat Nixon's illness kept her at Casa Pacifica. Her recovery is successful enough now that she is enthusiastic about going to New York. She liked Manhattan when she was a young woman working in a hospital there, and 30 years later when Nixon served in a Wall Street law firm.

In those days, as he mulled running for the Presidency, the Nixons were often seen in Manhattan's better restaurants and at the theater. For some reason, Nixon likes elegant eateries

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — As one of its more intriguing routines, the Central Intelligence Agency compiles psychological profiles on world leaders so that they might be better understood and anticipated. In this spirit, we have prevailed upon two eminent psychoanalysts to conduct a searching examination of Jimmy Carter, the man behind the image.

They are obliged, like their CIA counterparts, to depend upon the public record, particularly Carter's own statements about his private life and innermost feelings.

Both agree that the president is a driving, disciplined leader, deeply private, who suffers inwardly from the political shellfire. They see him as an intense person, firm in his faith, committed to ideals, determined to succeed.

Explains the distinguished psychoanalyst and author Dr. Ted Saretzky of New York: "President Carter's concept of leadership and authority combine the need to have clearly defined goals, to be benevolent in the exercise of power, but ultimately to be relentless, decisive and single-minded in meeting challenges."

The other expert, a Washington psychiatrist who prefers anonymity, adds this: "Carter appears to have a compulsion to excel, a compulsion to have his own way, a compulsion to climb mountains because they are there."

He has endured periods of torment when he has fallen short of his expectations. Suggests Saretzky: "The president seems to undergo periods of intense contemplation, searches for wisdom and inner strength, in the meantime suffering from temporary despair and disillusionment.

"He seems to emerge from these bouts of self-doubt with an almost compensatory aggressive tone. At these times, his humility and blame-taking barely conceal an attitude that the outside world has disappointed him, failed to meet up with his expectations and must make greater sacrifices and try harder."

A serious setback, adds the Washington psychiatrist, is likely to cause Carter "anguished inner suffering." His most shattering setback came in 1966 when he was defeated for governor of Georgia. As he has recalled the experience in an interview, "I considered myself to have failed in a major effort for the first time. I had always been pretty successful in my life. When I did succeed, I didn't get much pleasure out of it. When I failed, I was overly concerned about failure."

He emphasized, "I never did break down or weep or go into an emotional state." Instead, he turned to religion after a long talk with his evangelist-sister, Mrs. Ruth Carter Stapleton. It obviously was an authentic experience which transformed Jimmy Carter's life.

As president, he studies the Scriptures and prays for divine guidance several times daily. The Washington psychiatrist suggests that Carter "may be inclined to regard the ideas that come from his deep contemplation as answer to his prayers."

This expert also sees Carter as "a loner even when he is surrounded by people, an introvert who is comfortable only in the company of intimates."

From the president's statements

ART BUCHWALD

Art advises what to do after World War III hits

WASHINGTON — Anyone who doubts that the federal government is prepared for World War III just doesn't know how organized Washington really is. A short time ago someone who works for the Treasury Department received his instructions in writing on what he has to do in case of enemy attack.

They read as follows, and I haven't made a word of it up. . . . all National Office Employees with or without emergency assignments should follow this procedure. If you are prevented from going to your regular place of work because of an enemy attack, keep this instruction in mind.

GO TO THE NEAREST POST OFFICE. ASK THE POSTMASTER FOR A FEDERAL EMPLOYEE REGISTRATION CARD (sample shown on reverse side). FILL IT OUT AND RETURN IT TO HIM. He will see that it is forwarded to the office of the Civil Service Commission which will maintain the registration file for your area. When the Civil Service Commission receives your card, we will be notified. We can then decide where and when you should report for work. . . . You should obtain and complete your registration card as soon after enemy attack as possible, but not until you are reasonably sure where you will be staying for a few days.

Nobody believes it will ever happen, but let us suppose that Robert Smiley (a fictitious person working for the Treasury Department) has just crawled out of the rubble after an enemy attack, and remembers the instructions concerning civil defense for federal employees.

After walking for four days and 350 miles, Smiley finally finds a post office that is still standing. He staggers up to a window, but just as he gets there, the man behind it says, "Sorry, this window is closed," and slams it down.

Smiley stumbles to the next window and is told to get in line behind 20 other people. Two hours later he gets to the head of the line and croaks, "I want to register."

"I'm sorry," says the post office clerk, "this window is just for stamps. Registered mail is at the next window."

"No, no," says Smiley, "I want a federal employee registration card."

"We don't sell those. Now do you want any stamps or don't you?"

"You see," says Smiley, holding on to the window, "I was instructed to find the nearest post office after the enemy attacked and fill out a card."

"You'd better try the parcel post window," the clerk suggests.

Smiley goes over to the parcel post window and gets in line with 30 people. Four hours later he is informed that the post office has run out of federal employee registration cards. They suggest he try another post office.

Smiley staggers out into the road and starts walking again. Four hundred miles up the highway he finds another post office. After catching his breath, he takes the card shakingly to the counter and starts to fill it out. But the pen won't work. He informs the postmaster of this, and the postmaster replies, "We know it, but there's nothing we can do about it. There's a war on."

"But I've got to register," says Smiley, "or the Civil Service Commission won't know where I am in case the United States Treasury wants to start up again. Couldn't I borrow your pen?"

"What? And ruin the point? Listen, why don't you go over to the Smithsonian post office. I hear their pens are still in working order."

Clutching the card, Smiley walks 60 miles to Smithsonian, where he fills it out. He mails it that very day. Years later, Smiley is still waiting for a reply. For in his haste and fatigue, Smiley had forgotten to write down his return ZIP code.

Winds may blow more crude onto Texas beaches

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Miles of glistening white South Texas beaches could be coated with thick, gummy Mexican crude oil if unpredictable coastal winds don't cooperate, scientists fighting the world's largest oil spill have warned.

Patches of the muck, one 25 feet square and 6 inches deep, soiled parts of Padre and Mustang islands Tuesday and scientists expect more assaults from small drifting patches in the next few days.

"I don't see any relief from it. There's nothing in the foreseeable future to change the situation we have," said John Robinson of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, scientific coordinator of the government's oil spill task force.

Scientists aren't even trying to keep track of countless smaller patches lurking off the coast. It's the big seaborne globs, some several miles long, that worry them the most.

Navy reconnaissance flights Tuesday discovered that the outer edge of the oil from a blown-out Mexican offshore well is 360 miles east of Corpus Christi.

That puts it some 100 miles south of Louisiana's Terrebonne Bay, more than 60 miles southwest of New Orleans. But Coast Guard spokesman Jim McGranachan said the oil isn't expected to hit that coast in the near future, if at all.

The oil has broken off from a gigantic slick growing out of the Mexican well Ixtoc I, which has bled millions of gallons into the Gulf of Mexico since it blew out June 3. The leak in the well, located just off Tampico in the Bay of Campeche probably won't be brought under control for another two months, officials say.

Coast Guard officials said Tuesday night that several of the larger patches menacing the southern third of the 100-mile long Padre Island appear to be consolidating and could form a slick up to 50 miles long and more than a mile wide in some places.

Scientist said the fickle winds pick up in the afternoon, driving some of the scattered patches ashore. Those PORT ARANSAS, Texas (AP) — Chocolate brown oil patches may soil the beaches and draw international attention, but one local beachgoer won't be stopped.

Patsy Hanson and four of her children journeyed Tuesday to their favorite spot — Padre Island about a mile south of Port Aransas — to look for sand dollars and lie in the sun.

"When we got here, it was waiting on us," Mrs. Hanson said, pointing to the blackish-brown goo. "We stayed because this is the place we always come to get our sand dollars. We got 162 of them out here one time."

The Portland, Texas, resident was joined Tuesday afternoon on the beach by the media looking for stories and the curious who wanted a glimpse of Mexican crude.

But Mrs. Hanson did not appreciate the novelty.

"You couldn't print what I think of this oil," she said. "But my kids like to come out here, so this is where we came."

Tourists who came from a bit farther — Frankfurt, Germany — had hoped the oil would not arrive until they left.

"We heard about the slick from news reports before we left Europe," said Charles Berlet, winds could just as easily beach some of the larger concentrations.

If they miss the coast this time, Robinson cautioned, "They still might come ashore somewhere else. It can happen at anytime."

Oil on the hard-packed beaches is easily cleaned and is the least of environmental worries from the spill, Robinson said.

Scientists are most concerned about keeping the slimy assault out of the environmentally fragile Laguna Madre, which runs between Padre Island and the mainland. The waterway is home to several species of wildlife and is a breeding ground for shrimp and other key marine species.

Robinson said tiny sub-surface tar balls continue to sneak into Laguna Madre under Coast Guard booms protecting the two southerly passes into the lagoon. But he dismissed it Tuesday as insignificant.

"The volume of oil is very small, perhaps a few pounds a day. Of course, I might have to take this all back tomorrow if we find something different," he said Tuesday.

Firefighters launch assault on Idaho's Mortar Creek fire

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — About 2,300 firefighters, fresh from a day's rest and backed by reinforcements, are mounting an all-out assault today on the huge Mortar Creek forest fire that has claimed 64,800 acres of timber.

Meanwhile, a special fire command that coordinated the control of 40 major forest fires in the western states in the past 10 days was closed at Boise.

Arnold Hartigan, a spokesman for the Boise Interagency Fire Center, said, "We're past the immediate crisis, but the fire season is not over. We're ready to go back into business at the drop of a hat."

He said about $3.5 million was spent in controlling the fires during the 10-day period.

Firefighting crews hope to hack out about 28 miles of fire lines in central Idaho's Primitive Area to contain the Mortar Creek blaze by Sunday.

The effort was delayed by nearly an inch of rain Sunday and Monday.

"We used the clear skies Tuesday to fly infra-red detectors over the fire," said Norman Hesseldehl, a forest service spokesman. "The fire didn't do anything during the day. The moisture held it down, but the weather is expected to be hot and dry the rest of the week."

Fire bosses relocated their camps and reorganized crews Tuesday for an assault on the blaze. Hesseldehl said the main supply camp was moved from the Bruce Meadows airstrip, about 35 miles from the fire lines, to the Indian Creek airstrip, only four miles away. The Indian Creek strip is smaller, but closer to the fire lines, he said.

"We built a few fire lines Tuesday, but it was mostly a day of planning and organizing," he said. "After a big rain, it takes a day or so for the men to get the cold out of their bones before they can go back to work."

The heavy rainfall and low clouds early this week hampered movement of supplies to the fire lines, but Hesseldehl said clearing skies Tuesday enabled aircraft to bring in food and equipment.

Several hundred fresh firefighters were moved onto the fire lines from Boise on Tuesday. Other men, some of whom had spent nearly two weeks on the fire, got a day of rest in the field.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flaws in a complicated computer system have resulted in $25 million in overpayments to Supplemental Security Income recipients, congressional auditors charge.

The General Accounting Office said Tuesday internal weaknesses in the system allowed auditors to "resurrect a deceased case" and order monthly benefits of $189 for the dead person.

In its report to Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Patricia Roberts Harris, the GAO said auditors also were able to override the system's automated controls and compute individual benefits of up to $2,000 a month, far above legal levels.

The agency urged Mrs. Harris to tighten controls over the computer system.

The auditors ran almost 5,000 test transactions to pinpoint weaknesses and reported the system's safeguards did not work properly in more than 25 percent of those cases.

"More controls are needed over these override capabilities. Their use should be restricted to supervisory personnel," the report said.

Family cat came back

CLARKSTON, Wash. (AP) — The Arnold Davidson family buried their pet kitten, Buddy, beneath an apple tree in the backyard. Five days later, Buddy was back — eight of his nine lives still intact.

"We thought he broke his neck or spine," Jerrie Davidson said. "There was an accident and he was hurt. There was no pulse and no bleeding, so we took him out, put him in a box and buried him, like you do when a cat dies," she explained. The family was so certain Buddy was dead they didn't contact a veterinarian. "The cat showed absolutely no sign of life. In fact, Arnold claims

Buddy was starting to get stiff when he put him in the box," Mrs. Davidson said. The family selected a sturdy box for Buddy's coffin earlier this month. Five days later, 8-year-old Barbetta Davidson said she was picking apples when she heard it — a weak "meow."

"I didn't believe her. I'm out in that area where we buried him several times a day and I heard absolutely nothing," Mrs. Davidson said.

But Barbetta and her sister, Kelly, 12, rushed to the gravesite. They unearthed a wobbly, hungry, thirsty — but alive — yellow kitten.

"Nobody believes me when I tell them about our cat, and I don't blame them," said Mrs. Davidson. But Buddy's resurrection didn't astound veterinary science.

"It's possible, if the cat was in a comatose-type state where breathing and metabolic processes were severely reduced," said Dr. Richard Nelson, in charge of small animals and surgery for the Washington State University Department of Veterinary Medicine.

"It would have been like a bear in hibernation," he said.

The veterinarian added that Buddy probably lived because his injuries produced the comatose state. Had he been healthy when buried, he would have had no chance of surviving.

And Buddy? Mrs. Davidson says he doesn't like to be alone now.

"He's just fine, like he was before, except he acts like he craves human companionship. You sit down and he's just right there. He follows you around and just won't let you alone."

Save at First Savings... and you'll make a friend of time.

Why fight time? Let it work for you with a savings account at First Savings and Loan Association of Midland. Instead of each month becoming a series of dates when bills are due, pay yourself too, and then let time go to work. With one of our many savings plans and by saving regularly, time can become your financial ally. Our dividends are paid quarterly, and the interest is compounded daily which gives you an accurate record of what time is doing to improve your financial future. Stop by either of First Savings locations — downtown at 500 West Wall or in San Miguel Square — today. Remember, there is no time like the present to start building for the uncertain future.

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE OF WHAT DAILY COMPOUNDING CAN DO FOR YOU:

In some regular passbook accounts that pay 5-1/2% yearly interest and are not compounded daily, the yearly dividend paid to a $5000 passbook account would be approximately $275.00. However, with a First Savings Passbook Account that pays 5-1/2% annual interest with daily compounding, the yearly dividend on a $5000 passbook account would be $282.68. There is a difference when you save at FIRST SAVINGS. It pays to let the "Fiscal Fitness People" show you how to make time a friend.

Chagra witness denies she made calls

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The estranged wife of the government's star witness in Las Vegas gambler Jimmy Chagra's dope smuggling trial says Chagra lied when he said she made numerous calls from his Florida home to Colombia in 1977. Betty Wallace's testimony on Tuesday was important because Chagra's defense rests heavily on his credibility versus that of alleged accomplices.

gr's connections, send it to Florida and use the proceeds to buy a shipment of marijuana.

that he was held hostage in Colombia for payment for the cocaine. She said he was allowed to leave with her on Dec. 19, 1977.

ing heavily, consuming 15 vodkas on the rocks over two to two and a half hours and overheard Chagra "mumbling" about Wallace's testimony.

HENRY WALLACE, the chief prosecution witness, testified Tuesday that Chagra offered him $410,000 and some valuable jewelry to recant his testimony that Chagra masterminded a "Colombian Connection" drug venture.

Chagra, 34, is on trial in federal court on charges of conspiracy to import cocaine and marijuana from Colombia and of directing a "continuing criminal enterprise" in the drug traffic.

He could get 15 years' imprisonment on the smuggling charges and life in prison if convicted of continuing criminal enterprise.

Chagra said Monday Mrs. Wallace spent the fall of 1977 in Fort Lauderdale waiting to join her husband in Colombia. Chagra said the couple planned to live there.

CHAGRA explained the numerous calls to Colombia on his Florida telephone bill that fall as having been made by Mrs. Wallace to her husband.

"I made no calls whatever from his home," Mrs. Wallace said.

She said she flew to Fort Lauderdale on Nov. 19, 1977, after Chagra insisted her husband needed her in Colombia. She said Chagra helped her get airline tickets and passports for herself and her 3-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Wallace said she and her daughter flew to Colombia on Nov. 23, 1977, even though "I was very reluctant to go to South America...I was frightened."

Federal prosecutors introduced Mrs. Wallace's passport, bearing a Colombian entry stamp of Nov. 23, 1977, and an exit stamp of Dec. 19, 1977, to prove she was there when she said she was.

SHE REINFORCED Wallace's story that he was in Colombia to obtain cocaine from Chagra's connections, send it to Florida and use the proceeds to buy a shipment of marijuana.

Mrs. Wallace said Chagra tried to convince her the exploit would pay off and "we were all going to be very happy."

"He was the boss," she said of Chagra. Mrs. Wallace said while in Colombia with her husband, she met "Leonel, who was supposed to be Jimmy Chagra's contact in Colombia" and a "man by the name of Raul."

Wallace has testified Chagra's connection was Leonel Gomez but he bought 13.2 pounds of cocaine from Raul Royce because Gomez refused to extend credit.

THE WOMAN confirmed Wallace's story

Mrs. Wallace said she filed for divorce in March or April 1979 but "it is still pending because I couldn't find Henry."

Wallace, 29, followed her to the witness stand to rebut Chagra's testimony of Monday that Wallace offered to recant his testimony in return for $300,000. Chagra said he turned him down.

Wallace said he ran into Chagra outside the Marriott Hotel bar here late on the night of Aug. 5, the Sunday after he testified against him.

He said he been drink-

Catholics to assist in Seadrift

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Catholic leaders from small communities along the Texas coast have agreed to take a more active role in resettling Vietnamese refugees to lessen tensions between the newcomers and native fishermen.

The decision was reached Tuesday at a meeting called by members of the U.S. Catholic Conference and diocesan leaders from San Antonio, Houston, Port Arthur, Beaumont, Rockport and Corpus Christi. "Basically, the meeting was called to assess the refugees' situation and to evaluate how the (Catholic) conference can assist them," said Robert Alexander, a Justice Department community relations expert based in Dallas.

Tensions between the two factions exploded in the tiny fishing village of Seadrift two weeks ago when a crabbing territory argument led to the shooting death of a Seadrift fisherman. Two Vietnamese brothers were charged in the slaying.

Crabbers, shrimpers and fishermen in that Gulf Coast community, about 60 miles northeast of Corpus Christi, contend the Vietnamese have ignored the stern, but unwritten, codes governing territorial fishing rights.

"We're looking for solutions," said Sue Chiolino of the conference regional headquarters in Fort Smith, Ark., who called the meeting.

Alexander, who has spent several days in Seadrift trying to bring the two sides together, said church leaders talked in terms of helping refugees understand local customs and establishing communications lines among local officials, community organizations and the refugees.

Mrs. Odell Heald

VAN — Graveside services for Mrs. Odell Heald, 70, of Van and formerly of Midland, will be at 3 p.m. Friday in Fairview Cemetery in Midland directed by Hilliard Funeral Home of Van.

Mrs. Heald died Tuesday in Van. She was born March 14, 1909, in Anson County. She was a member of the First Christian Church. She had lived six years in Van, moving there from Midland.

Survivors include a daughter, Mary Hubbard of Ben Wheeler; two brothers, Marshall Heald of Seminole and Meryl E. Heald of Midland; two sisters, Onie Feece of Arizona and Mrs. J.W. Bateman of Dallas, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Edith Smith

Edith Smith, 73, of Midland died this morning in a Midland nursing home following a lengthy illness.

Services will be at 4 p.m. Thursday in the First Methodist Church of Alpine with Dr. Spurling, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Elm Grove Cemetery in Alpine directed by Alpine Funeral Home.

She was born Oct. 2, 1905, in Stanton. Mrs. Smith had lived in Alpine since 1936 until last year, when she moved to Midland. She was a member of the First Methodist Church of Alpine.

Survivors include a son, Bill Caldwell of Amarillo; a daughter, Mrs. Tom (Dorothy) Stovell of Midland; a sister, Mrs. Kirby Nutt Jr. of Lubbock, five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The family has requested that memorials be directed to the Big Bend Hospital Auxiliary in Alpine.

Loyd died Monday in a Wichita Falls hospital.

He was born June 9, 1904, in Throckmorton County and had lived in Holliday 20 years. He was married to Ethel Bradley Nov. 15, 1925. He was a retired oil field pumper, a member of First Baptist Church, Holliday Masonic Lodge 994 A.F. & A.M. and a past patron of Eastern Star Chapter 851.

Other survivors include his wife, a daughter, a son, 10 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

John D. Rowe

BIG SPRING — Services for John D. Rowe, 65, of Big Spring will be at 10 a.m. Thursday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel here with burial in Mount Olive Memorial Park.

He died Sunday in a Big Spring hospital.

Rowe was born May 30, 1914, in Delphus, Ohio. He was married to Grace Gimlin in August 1956, in Las Cruces, N.M. She died Feb. 14, 1976.

Rowe retired from the U.S. Air Force after 20 years of service Aug. 30, 1960. He had lived in Big Spring since 1972, moving here from El Paso.

Survivors include a stepson, Gerald Gimlin of Houston; a stepdaughter, Louadah Waggoner of Lubbock, and four sisters, Mrs. Herbert Booher of Linton, Ind., Mrs. Cardell Gunn of Santa Maria and Mrs. W.D. Ertel and Kay Brosius, both of Weslaco.

Neal O. Fulcher

SAN ANGELO — Services for Neal O. Fulcher, 76, of San Angelo, father of Neal Fulcher Jr. of Crane and Jimmy Fulcher of Midland and brother of Thomas Lee Fulcher of Crane, will be at 2 p.m. Thursday in Johnson's Funeral Home chapel.

Officiating will be the Rev. W.W. Worley, pastor of Hope Baptist church. Military graveside rites will follow in Lawnhaven Memorial Gardens.

Rainy Calhoun, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Calhoun of Midland, was first place winner in the girls division of the 1979 J. T. Rutherford award. She was selected in the 24th annual J.T. Rutherford 4-H Achievement Award Program during the District 6 4-H Record Judging held in Fort Stockton July 31.

Thirteen entries came from eight different counties.

Rainy has been in 4-H club work for nine years, with projects that include clothing, horses, steer feeding and junior leadership. She has held all offices in the Cotton Flat 4-H Club and also served as an officer or delegate on the Midland 4-H Council, the District 6 4-H Council and the Texas State 4-H Council.

Her honors include Midland County Gold Star Girl, State Fair of Texas Honor Award, District 6 Dress Revue winner two years and several awards in county, district, state and regional 4-H horse demonstrations.

Miss Calhoun is a 1979 graduate of Midland High School and will attend Tarleton State University to major in accounting.

Rainy is the third Midland County 4-H girl to win the Rutherford award, so now the trophy will remain in the county permanently.

Rutherford, a former United States Congressman from the 16th Congressional District of Texas, has sponsored this achievement program since 1955 to honor outstanding 4-H boys and girls, based upon their 4-H records. Each of the winners receive a 4-H achievement medal and a large rotating trophy is presented to the high achieving 4-H girl and boy...

Manufacture recall often ineffective

DALLAS (AP) — Recalls of unsafe products too often are ineffective due to a need for a better warning system and some consumers' "recall resistance," a U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission member says.

"There is a need for a better warning system once a substantial hazard is discovered," CPSC vice chairman Sam Zagoria said in a speech prepared for delivery this morning to an American Bar Association audience.

He added: "With so many recalls, many adults seem to have become numbed to the hazards; they seem to operate on a premise that in ignorance there is bliss."

Zagoria praised "most manufacturers" for negotiating recalls voluntarily. But he noted that one manufacturer of electric fans that told the commission it could not search its computerized records to determine the identity of at least some purchasers of potentially hazardous fans.

"I wonder why notification of significant consumer product hazards seems to elude corporate capabilities," he said. "Surely there should be a way to alert faithful charge customers about a possible recall."

About what he called recall resistance among some consumers, Zagoria said:

"It is ironic that in a society in which we are willing to spend hundreds and thousands of dollars on medical care...to stretch out life for another year, month or day, so many of us are unwilling to take the trouble to incur the expense of returning a potentially hazardous product for inspection and possible modification."

Quadriplegic continues to help crippled

By BARBARA RIEGELHAUPT
Associated Press Writer

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Some days when Joni Eareckson wakes up unable to bathe or dress herself, the memory of a 1967 swimming accident recurs and "the limitations of my paralysis just smack me in the face."

But the perky Baltimore native, a quadriplegic since she broke her neck that July day diving into Chesapeake Bay, has spent the last few years as counselor, information officer and sympathetic ear to thousands of other handicapped persons around the nation.

"People have asked me everything from how do you face depression to 'Where do I get a good leg bag,'" Miss Eareckson said Tuesday. "People write to me as if I have all the answers."

The letters started pouring in after Miss Eareckson, 29, appeared on NBC TV's "Today" show in 1974 and demonstrated her talent as a painter. She paints with a brush between her teeth and her art is sold throughout the country.

A publisher who saw the TV segment wanted her to write a book. She has since written two, and the mail increased so much that she formed an organization called "Joni and Friends" to "try to share what God has taught me during the years I've been in the (wheel)chair."

Her exposure will increase this fall upon release of a full-length movie entitled "Joni," in which she plays herself. Based on her early experiences as a quadriplegic, the film produced by Billy Graham's movie company is scheduled to premiere Oct. 5 in Baltimore.

"I have been in a chair for 12 years, and a good portion of those years were spent in despair and depression and anger and bitterness," said Miss Eareckson, who opened a Burbank office of her organization in June. "Whatever advice I might share now, it's based on working through a lot of questions and doubts."

She still studies art and is learning to drive a van, and although she says her life has been "agreeable by virtue of the things I've learned," she also says it's not always easy to accept.

"There are still times when I wake up in the morning, because I have to be bathed and dressed, that the limitations of my paralysis just smack me in the face," she said.

Her dreams of running are likely to be crippled

By ROBERT MACY
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Sharon Cobbins' dreams of running and playing like other 8-year-olds suffered a setback when doctors amputated her diseased toes and contemplated removing the tips of her crippled fingers.

"Hopefully she will be able to walk normally if she walks slowly, but running will be difficult," Dr. William Benson said of the plucky youngster who gained national attention earlier this year when a mysterious malady crippled her fingers and toes.

"There's going to be some permanent impairment of dexterity," he said. "Running, pushing off will be a very difficult problem. But I think she will be able to do growth things."

Doctors amputated the little girl's toes Tuesday to the balls of her feet. She will now spend the next three to four weeks at St. Luke's Hospital recuperating and waiting for a decision on amputation of her fingers. If that is done, it will probably be to a point just past the first digit.

"Sharon was just beautiful before surgery," Mrs. Cobbins said Tuesday after her daughter had been returned to her room. "She's tired of the pain, tired of the hospitals, tired of the doctors. She just wants us to hurry up and get it over with so we can go on a vacation...so she can go someplace and swim."

Sharon's ordeal began this spring when she contracted Raynaud's disease. The blood vessels to the fingers and toes went into spasms, preventing oxygen from reaching the tissues. The problem was compounded by infection, which made treatment harder.

Program designed to stop smoking

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Reading, writing and "how to stop smoking" will be on the curriculum for some New Jersey's elementary and high schools this fall.

"You have to tell teens smoking will harm them now, not when they are 60 or 70. Most of them don't think about being 60 or 70," said project director Matt Martin.

In a new approach to combat student smoking, the project will introduce non-smoking courses as part of a state-supported effort to discourage smoking in the home, workplace and schools.

The state's Smoking and Health Project is funded by a one-year $89,000 federal grant. Designed to attack cigarette smoking on a community-wide basis, the program will involve about a dozen municipalities trying to reduce smoking among all residents.

Party honors Mrs. Finley

Mrs. James M. Finley was honored with a prenuptial display shower recently in the home of Mrs. David Schweitzer, 4701 Tattenham Corner.

Other hostesses were Mrs. S. R. McKinney, Mrs. Harold Matthews, Mrs. Bill Traugher, Mrs. Randy Atwood, Mrs. Wayne Cloe, Mrs. Fred Williams and Mrs. W. D. Watson Jr.

The former Vicki Meldrum and James Finley were married recently in Midland.

Silver and crystal appointments were used on a lace cloth imported from Colombia. The bride's chosen colors of mint and burgandy were used in the floral centerpiece.

Special guests were the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. J. B. Roberts, and the bride's grandmother and aunt from Missouri, Mrs. Jewel Christopher and Mrs. Bernice Fitts.

Mrs. Nancy Watts, left, shows examples of her needlepoint to Mrs. James L. Lamb, center, and Mrs. Henry Libby, president of Permian Basin Geological-Geophysical Auxiliary. Mrs. Watts discussed the art of needlepoint at a meeting of the auxiliary held in Ranchland

Hills Country Club. Mrs. Lamb was co-chairman for the meeting with Mrs. Jack G. Jordan, not shown. (Staff Photo)

Needlepoint good for losing pounds, says veteran teacher

"Needlepoint is slenderizing," claimed Nancy Hughston Watts

at a meeting of the Permian Basin Geological-Geophysical Auxiliary. "You can't eat and do needlepoint at the same time." Or, as one of her students described it: "Needlepoint is cold coffee and hot beer." You get so engrossed you forget everything else.

Mrs. Watts, who has taught needlepoint classes in Midland, Lubbock, Austin, Santa Fe and Ruidoso, N.M., explained that it is an ancient art, going back at least 1000 B.C. in Egypt and Babylon. "It was used on horses' gear during the Crusades, and really came into its own during the 16th Century when it was popularized by Henry VIII and Mary Queen of Scots. Needlepoint came to America in the 19th Century and enjoys great popularity to this day," she said.

"It is not necessary to be an artist to design your own needlepoint," emphasized Mrs. Watts. "What is more important is pre-planning and careful transfer of the design to the canvas with acrylic paints. It is fun, it is a pleasure, it is decorative and it gets rid of frustrations."

Mrs. Watts suggested a beginning needlepointer should make her first project something for her husband. "Then he won't object to the time and money spent on your new hobby," she said.

Examples of both antique and modern needlepoint were on display at Ranchland Hills Country Club. Co-chairmen for the meeting were Mrs. James L. Lamb and Mrs. Jack G. Jordan. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert L. Jefferies, Mrs. Lyane King, Mrs. Wayne Iversen, Mrs. Delmer M. Woods, Mrs. Sam Conley, Mrs. Ken Green and Mrs. Dennis Melton.

The membership prize was won by Mrs. William D. Chandler and the special prize by Mrs. Thomas H. Moore. New members attending were Penny Foster and Susan Fulfer.

Women interested in joining the auxiliary may contact Mrs. Will Green at 697-4203.

Hinging a new gate on an old fence

By AL CARRELL

I just saw a clever way to solve the problem of needing an extra gate in a backyard fence or a special entry for kids. The fence was a 6-foot-high board fence. The boards were 6 inches wide. Rather than have to set posts and create a new gate, someone had removed a pair of adjacent boards and reattached them with hinges. The hinges allowed the two boards to swing out from the center to afford a foot wide opening. When the youngsters were not coming through the fence, the boards were held shut by magnetic cabinet catches.

That's a slick idea, and when the kids are grown, the boards can again be nailed in place...or maybe it'll be a place for the grown-ups to sneak out back when the bill collector comes.

Dear Al: Our driveway is beautiful, with a curve and hedges on either side, but with small children it's also dangerous because of the lack of visibility. After I came home from work and had a near accident, I decided to create some protection. Using a carbide drill bit, I drilled three holes spaced along the entry of the concrete drive. The holes accommodate three tall flags designed for use on bikes. Any time the children are playing on the drive, the flags are placed in the holes, and no one will drive into the play area. One of our neighbors who has a circular drive has adapted our idea to prevent the hot rodders from using the drive as a turn around. — B.A.

Dear Al: You have suggested a protective coating of either lacquer or tung oil over newly polished brass. I got an old brass bed and got it all cleaned and polished and would have put such a protective coat on except my visiting uncle-in-law said he used to put a coat of paste wax over the metal. I figured this would just cause me to have to re-clean, but since we're included in his will, I thought I'd pacify him. The wax job turned out to look fine and is protecting my shiny brass. And he pointed out that when I again had to polish the brass, the wax would be much easier to remove than the lacquer or tung oil. — Mrs. H.L.J.

YOUR BIRTHDAY TO-DAY: Business prospects begin to look up in the fall. Hard work will be the key. You must learn to separate fact from fantasy because wishing will not make things happen. Success in romance depends on making wiser choices. You tend to put too much emphasis on physical beauty. Making necessary changes will bring about better family relations. Avoid overeating in order to preserve good health. Finances will improve if you restrain impulse to gamble.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Convince partner, mate to go along with you on personal project. Extra money can be generated if you have plan. Your vitality improves. Action pays off in business.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You are blessed with extra energy now, put it to good use. Overtime at office may upset home relations, but you could reap benefits in promotion or bonus.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Following release of tensions, you feel better and productivity increases. Superior expresses confidence in you. You may gain greater understanding of loved ones.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Good time for sizing up opportunities in your immediate environment. Rely on initiative to complete important tasks. Someone who is near and dear asks special favor, grant it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Exercise your leadership, everyone will benefit from it. Making others aware of creativity, independence and originality may increase earnings. Short trips are favored. Romance looks promising.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take care of regular routine. Permit someone close to you to take initiative. Rely on intuition in business, personal situations. Evening is time for getting your life in order.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Allow head to rule rather than emotions. Wait and observe. Avoid anyone who tries to exert pressure. Improved finances could trigger vacation plans. Mix socially with people who are younger.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Handle business affairs cautiously. A conservative approach will pay dividends. Finish what you start. Visit with an old friend. Be sure to get what you pay for.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Rely on own resources. Tact, diplomacy best way to avert family argument. Money is the root of the problem. You achieve more success through long-distance contacts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Postpone making important financial decisions. Work at family relationships to see if you can mend emotional rifts. Go slowly if you are not prepared to make a permanent commitment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Avoid speculation or gambling. Older person deserves more of your time and energy. Happy period for romance. Visit someone confined to home or hospital.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Efforts to appease authority figure will be looked on with favor. Financial picture brightens. Work and travel questions arise. Do not promise more than you can deliver.

Miss Johnson honored with shower

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Atwood was the setting for a lingerie shower recently honoring Diane Johnson, bride-elect of Mac Broadway.

Hostesses were Nora Atwood, Cheryl Jezisek and Jackie Manning. The refreshment table was set with a red tablecloth and an ivory lace overlay. The bride was presented with a gift of lingerie from the hostesses and a handmade bouquet of poppies and white roses. Special guest was Jan Randolph of Lubbock.

DEAR ABBY

Her exes can be hexes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After two unsuccessful marriages in six years, I have finally met someone with whom I am very much in love and know I could be happy. He is from a socially prominent and well-to-do family. I have never told him about my previous marriages since both were short-lived, each lasting less than a year. His family wants us to have a gala wedding with all the frills, including my wearing his grandmother's gown. There is nothing I would like more than to have this very special wedding, but what kind of wedding may a divorced woman have under the circumstances?

Is it necessary that I disclose my previous mistakes? —KEEPING MY MOUTH SHUT

DEAR KEEPING: Times have changed, and so have the rules about what kind of wedding a divorced woman may have. However, the rules of honest and aboveboard conduct remain the same; if you continue to keep your mouth shut about your two "mistakes," you will have made a third.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say if a guy you were dating rang you up and said, "Hey, if I asked you to marry me last night, forget it. I must have been bombed." —RUTHIE

DEAR RUTHIE: I'd have replied, "If I said 'yes,' forget it. I must have been CRAZY."

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in the hospital and will be there for about three more weeks. Although he is restricted to bed, there are still SOME things he is capable of.

We are practically newlyweds and, since he does have a private room, we feel that what we do behind closed doors is OUR business. But it seems that the nurses want to run our lives. Every time we are alone they find some excuse to come in and interrupt us. We used to be embarrassed, but now we are just plain mad! We spoke to the supervisor, who said it was a hospital room, not a hotel room. For $98 a day, we disagree. What do you think? —FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: I think if prisoners in some states are permitted "conjugal visits," hospital patients who are physically able should be allowed the same. Talk to your husband's doctor.

Consumption of food

COLLEGE STATION — Did you consume 102 pounds of sugar last year and not know it? Or 15 pounds of salt?

Probably you did, says Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Most Americans did — and unknowingly gained weight.

In fact, researchers say we're eating and drinking more sugar, salt, fats and meat each year.

We get much more sugar and salt from processed foods and beverages, Mrs. Sweeten says.

We don't realize how much we're getting, because we don't stop to read labels, she adds.

For example, studies show that each of us consumed about 102 pounds of sugar last year.

That equals about eight or nine pounds of sugar each month — per person.

How can we fight the problem? Read labels, she says.

Read the ingredient listings and the nutrition information on each label, especially if you're on a special diet or trying to lose weight.

BARNES PELLETTIER

Congressional Medal of Honor winner in trouble

Practicing for the Second Annual Dressage Show to be held Aug. 25-26 at the Midland Polo Grounds are Billie Briggs, left, and Chrys Beal, co-chairman. The horse, Daddy Long Legs, is vying for third-level Dressage Horse of the Year title. Money raised by the event will go to the American Heart Association.

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Kenneth Kays, awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor six years ago for heroism as an Army medic in Vietnam, was ordered confined to a mental hospital Tuesday until he is able to stand trial on theft and drug charges.

His parents say his emotional stability has deteriorated since returning from Vietnam, where he lost a leg saving the lives of wounded soldiers.

Kays' friends maintain that his personality has been changed by "survivor's guilt" — a feeling of guilt that he survived the war while some of his buddies died.

Circuit Judge Robert Whitmer ordered Kays, 29, transferred from the Wayne County jail to the Chester Mental Health Center "until such time as he is able to understand charges brought against him."

Kays is charged with auto theft and possession of marijuana.

The unemployed Kays lived in a trailer behind his parents' house. His income came from military disability payments.

His father, John, told the court he had seen "Kenny's condition deteriorate over the past few years. Sometimes we never know what he's liable to do."

State's Attorney Robert Hawkins recommended that Kays be committed for treatment. Kays' attorney, Neal Laws Jr., and Kays' father said they did not believe Kays understood the charges against him.

Kays, who has been given tranquilizers twice weekly at a hospital, sat quietly throughout the hearing. When asked by Whitmer if he had anything to say, he shook his head.

At the close of the hearing Kays extended his hand to his father, who smiled but brushed by him to approach the bench.

"Will they be able to give him what he needs?" the father asked the judge. "We'll give him the best care the state can provide," Whitmer said.

Recently released IRA member taken into custody by Immigration Service

By BETSY KENEDY

NEW YORK (AP) — Kieran Nugent, a member of the Irish Republican Army recently released from a Northern Ireland prison, was arrested Tuesday by immigration officials for being in the United States without a visa.

Officials were waiting for the 21-year-old Belfast man as he walked into the Sheraton Centre Hotel in mid-Manhattan for a news conference where he was to have spoken about his three-year incarceration.

"The British and American governments are collaborating to keep Irish Republicans from telling their side of the story about the war in Northern Ireland!" Nugent yelled as he was led away.

A spokesman for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service office said Nugent recently entered the country before having his visa application approved.

Shortly thereafter, his visa application was denied and a warrant for his arrest was issued Friday, spokesman George Vician said.

The State Department did not immediately say why the visa had been denied.

Nugent was released last May after serving his term.

"What you're seeing is a policy that has been going on in the United States for quite some time," Martin Galvin of the Irish Northern Aid Committee told reporters after Nugent's arrest. "Irish Republican spokesmen are being denied access to the American public."

Members of the mainly Catholic Provisional wing of the IRA are fighting to drive the British from Northern Ireland and unite it with the mostly Roman Catholic Irish Republic.

Man says he was paid to lie about Panama

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unemployed Panamanian says right-wing Americans opposed to the Panama Canal treaties paid him $6,000 to lie about alleged corruption in his country's government at a 1978 news conference, ABC-TV reported Tuesday night.

Those involved contend, however, that Alexis Watson-Castillo is lying now in an effort to make peace in his homeland.

ABC quoted Watson-Castillo as saying he received the money from John Laxalt, brother of Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., and Washington director of the Citizens for the Republic, a political action committee founded by Ronald Reagan with money left from his 1976 presidential bid. Laxalt told ABC he would not "dignify" Watson-Castillo's allegations with a comment.

Watson-Castillo, introduced as a former Panamanian intelligence agent, reportedly accused Panamanian strongman Gen. Omar Torrijos of such corrupt activities as smuggling guns, gambling and prostitution at a Feb. 10, 1978, news conference in Miami organized by the Committee to Save the Panama Canal.

His allegations came up in closed Senate hearings on the treaties, ABC said. The facts were ratified by the Senate on April 18, 1978.

"I lied to the American people," Watson-Castillo said in the ABC interview, adding he agreed to lie because "in that moment, I have a bad situation. I need the American residence. I need the money and that's the reason I made for it."

He also said he was never an intelligence agent.

Retired Army Gen. Daniel Graham, a former director of the U.S. Defense Intelligence Agency and former deputy director of the CIA, vouched for Watson-Castillo's credibility after lengthy questioning and a voice-stress test, ABC reported.

New increase slated in price of newsprint

Price of newsprint The Midland Reporter-Telegram uses in its daily production will be increased by 9 percent per short-ton roll, the newspaper's supplier, Boise Cascade Paper Group, has announced.

But Good said rising cost of producing newsprint hasn't been as severe as that of other consumable products.

With the November increase, this year's newsprint price will have increased by 17 percent.

"There's a tremendously strong demand for newsprint and advertising space," explained Rich Good, communications director for the group, headquartered in Boise, Idaho.

Ten years ago, a short-ton roll of newspaper was priced at $147. Five years later, in 1974, the cost had risen to $235.

The Reporter-Telegram, through circulation growth alone, has increased its quantity of newsprint use in its daily press runs.

"In newsprint, the supply-and-demand imbalance is increasing." He said more and more printers and publishers are in need of newsprint, and the supply is just not there to satisfy the demand. Lately, newsprint has been imported from Canada, Europe and the Scandinavian countries to help close the supply-demand gap, he said.

And by last February, which marked the last increase, the price rose from $320 to $345 per short ton for an 8 percent increase.

Based on the most recent audit, circulation runs 21,684 on weekdays; 21,088 on Saturdays and 23,756 on Sundays.

Texts should show men fairly: inept, senile

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — If textbooks are to depict government realistically, they should say some white, male public officials are inept, senile and criminals, a feminist said Tuesday with tongue in cheek.

"If we're going to present women and minority public officials fairly, we should do the same thing about white males," Linda O'Connell of the National Organization for Women said.

"There are no senile, crooked and incompetent white male officials portrayed yet there are some of those," she said at the State Textbook Committee's annual hearing.

Ms. O'Connell specifically objected to "American Citizenship: The Way We Govern" by Addison Wesley Co. The high school text is one of 44 titles proposed for use in Texas beginning next year.

The book has 1,810 pictures showing men and 208 depicting women, a 12-to-1 ratio, Ms. O'Connell said.

She said the discrepancy amounted to sexism.

Her comments and those of several other NOW members came during the second day of a four-day hearing on $6.8 million worth of new textbooks being reviewed.

No other state conducts such extensive, wide open hearings on proposed textbooks.

Protesters must file detailed objections to books, including page numbers and lines, and publishers must respond. Critics may not praise a book or compare texts.

The 15-member textbook committee of teachers and school administrators will recommend in September which books should be approved for use. The State Board of Education makes final selections in November.

Local school boards

choose which books to use from a state-approved list.

Robert Kelley, Southwest manager for Addison Wesley, said in response to Ms. O'Connell that the text editor was specifically told to eliminate any sexual bias from previous editions.

The same text had been attacked by conservative reviewers for its discussion of the Equal Rights Amendment.

"There is absolutely no balance to show that the vast majority of women are still pro-family and do not want to be reduced to the status of men," Norma Gabler of Longview wrote in her protest.

Ms. O'Connell said the book should explain that Thomas Jefferson and other signers of the Declaration of Independence did not refer to women in the phrase, "All men are created equal."

"The writers of the Declaration of Independence didn't really intend for men and women to have equal rights," she said.

Textbooks using the quote should footnote that it was originally interpreted as applying only to males and that women had to fight for their rights, she said.

The publisher said in written replies, "The writer of the Declaration of Independence used 'men' in a generic sense, and they intended rights for both men and women."

Fugitive hiding or kidnapped?

MILAN, Italy (AP) — The disappearance of fugitive Italian financier Michele Sindona from a New York hotel two weeks ago is having repercussions for Italy's fragile new government.

Sindona's financial dealings spanned the Atlantic and ranged from investment advice to the Vatican to involvement in the biggest bank failure in U.S. history.

He is wanted in Italy to face charges of diverting $264 million from two Milan banks he controlled that failed. And he is alleged to have been a pipeline for secret American funds to the ruling Christian Democrats, with close ties to some of the party's top leaders.

Sindona vanished in New York Aug. 2, five weeks before he was scheduled to go on trial there on charges of misappropriating, stealing or misusing $45 million from the Franklin National Bank, the Long Island bank that collapsed in 1974. Subsequently his lawyer said he received a letter claiming that the 59-year-old financier had been kidnapped and was being held "to answer to proletarian justice."

New York police have not ruled out the possibility of kidnapping, but Italian officials dismiss the disappearance as "one more Sindona scenario." They draw a parallel between his dropping out of sight as his trial got close with his flight from Italy in 1975 just ahead of an arrest warrant.

Sindona's two Milan banks, which merged and then went into bankruptcy in 1974, are charged with illegally exporting millions of dollars in funds to Switzerland at the height of an Italian currency crisis in the early 1970s. Last month the liquidator of the merged Banca Privata, lawyer Giorgio Ambrosoli, who had been digging into Sindona's business ventures, was shot and killed on a Milan street by an unknown assailant.

Ambrosoli's murder and Sindona's disappearance brought renewed demands by the Communist Party for a full-scale investigation by Parliament of Sindona and his links with such Christian Democratic leaders as former Premier Giulio Andreotti and Senate President Amintore Fanfani.

The Christian Democrats, who formed a minority government with the tiny Liberal and Social Democratic parties last weekend, gave lukewarm assent to this. But formation of an investigating commission has been delayed until the fall, and it will take at least six months to complete its work.

At a news conference last week the lawyer representing small stockholders of the bankrupt Banca Privata, Giuseppe Melzi, urged that the investigators call on Graham Martin, a former U.S. ambassador to Italy, to clarify secret American funding of Italian political parties through Sindona banks.

"The Sindona case is a collective phenomenon, not the case of a high-risk financier," Melzi said. "It is a case of economic criminality in very specific circles."

Bell ordered to pay $30 million refund to Iran

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal court of appeals has upheld the Iranian government's claim for a $30.2 million refund from American Bell International.

A three-judge panel of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals voted unanimously Tuesday not to grant Bell's request for a stay.

American Bell, an American Telephone and Telegraph subsidiary based in South Plainfield, N.J., signed contracts totaling $280 million last year to build an extensive communications network. The contract was with the Shah of Iran, who was subsequently deposed.

Iran made a $38.8 million down payment that could be recalled on demand from Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co.

That privilege was exercised in June by the revolutionary government, which subtracted $8.6 million for work already done.

James Blair, attorney for American Bell, had charged the new government committed an "underlying fraud" by repudiating the original contract and blocking the firm's access to Iranian courts to settle the dispute.

Roy Reardon, lawyer for Manufacturers Hanover, argued that the bank's reputation would be harmed if it did not fulfill the demand.

Letters of credit are "literally what make the world go 'round,'" Reardon asserted. "If it is determined at a later date that the bank acted improperly in making the payment, Manufacturers Hanover is here and is good for the money."

Young defends talk with PLO spokesman

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young says he didn't exactly tell the truth about his meeting last month with a representative of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

But, rebuked by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, he defends his talk with the PLO official as in the best interest of the United States.

"I acted as an intelligent ambassador dealing with a difficult situation," Young said in New York Tuesday.

The session was in apparent violation of longstanding U.S. policy to steer clear of substantive discussions with the PLO until it accepts Israel's right to exist.

Based on Young's first and evidently misleading account, the State Department on Monday dismissed his July 23 meeting with Zehdi Labib Terzi, the PLO observer at the United Nations, as involving only "social amenities."

Young had brought his 6-year-old son, Andrew Jr., to the home of Abdala Yaccoub Bishara, the Kuwaiti ambassador, and when Terzi appeared, the U.S. envoy left as quickly as he could, spokesman Thomas Reston had told reporters.

On Tuesday, an embarrassed Reston distributed a statement saying Young and Terzi had discussed the question of postponing a Security Council vote on the Palestinian issue.

At the time of the meeting, Young and other U.S. officials were openly pressing for delay of a new pro-Palestinian resolution — to be offered by Kuwait — in hopes of gaining time for a compromise acceptable to the PLO and Israel.

Debate on that resolution and related issues subsequently was postponed until Aug. 23.

Vance and other department officials, reporters were told, first learned of the meeting last Saturday — more than two weeks after it happened.

"In holding this discussion with Mr. Terzi, Ambassador Young acted on his own initiative and without authorization," the department said in a statement.

President Carter endorsed the statement, Reston said, and Vance expressed his displeasure with the incident and the way it was handled" to Young on the telephone.

Later, in an interview with Israeli television, Young said he had informed the department that his meeting with Terzi was inadvertent.

"That was not quite true," Young said.

But the ambassador also told reporters: "I did what I thought was in the best interests of my country."

Young's action drew a sharp protest from Israel and support from the PLO.

Ephraim Evron, the Israeli ambassador, telephoned Vance to protest the meeting. Evron told Vance it violated U.S. policy against negotiating with the PLO.

But Hatan I. Hussaini, director of the PLO information office, said if U.S. officials are punished for talking to Palestinian leaders "this will further damage the American image abroad and in the Arab world."

The controversy erupted at a time of severe strain in U.S.-Israeli relations.

Carter, Vance, Robert Strauss, the U.S. mediator, and others have offered assurances of constant support for Israel. At the same time, the administration has conducted a delicate probe to see if the PLO is prepared to accept the Jewish state.

Murder charged

A Midland man has been charged with murder following a shooting death near a Midland bar about 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Thirley Freeman, 55, 1501 S. Marshall St., was charged with murder Tuesday before Peace Justice Robert Pine. Freeman remained in City jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Robert Armsted Roseberry, 35, was pronounced dead at the scene in the parking lot of the Texas Street Bar about 9:40 p.m. Monday by Pine.

Roseberry was shot following a series of disturbances at the eastside Midland bar Monday, officials said.

Police originally were summoned to the bar about 4 p.m. Monday to investigate an alleged stabbing.

Freeman was transported to Midland Memorial Hospital shortly after 4 p.m. Monday with a stab wound to the right arm, according to ambulance records.

Freeman was treated and released with minor injuries, according to a hospital spokesman.

A second disturbance at the bar about 6 p.m. involved a gun, according to police records.

According to official reports, Midland police advised the persons causing the disturbance to leave at that time.

The fatal shooting took place about 9:30 p.m. in the parking lot outside the bar, according to police reports.

Banker plays scene

DENVER (AP) — It was like a scene from a Western movie: The bank president races out of his bank, pistol blazing, as a couple of holdup men flee.

But on Tuesday, the dress and the setting was entirely different.

"I'm a pretty good shot but evidently I wasn't good enough today," bank president Mac McCroskie said after police recovered a car punctured by three bullet holes about two blocks away from the bank robbery.

One bullet shattered the car's rear window and two others hit the driver's door. Police said no blood was found inside the car.

The two gunmen entered the bank Tuesday and ordered employees and customers to lie on the floor. They then raided tellers' cash drawers before entering McCroskie's office and firing a shot into his desk.

"I guess he wanted to let me know he wasn't kidding," McCroskie said.

McCroskie said the man ordered him to open the vault, but he refused.

The gunmen grabbed a female employee by the neck and dragged her to an exit before dropping her and fleeing.

McCroskie, an Army veteran who keeps a collection of antique pistols and rifles in the bank's office and lobby, said he grabbed a snub-nosed .38-caliber revolver in his desk, went out a side door and began blasting away at the getaway car.

"I only have a 2 1/2-inch barrel on that pistol and it's kind of hard to shoot real accurately," he said.

The robbery occurred at the Frontier Bank.

McGee wins $54,000 in Hartford tourney

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — There was a lot of "deja vu" in Jerry McGee's victory at the Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open Tuesday. McGee shot a 6-under-par 65 for a 72-hole total of 17-under-par 267 and a one-stroke margin over Jack Renner. It was McGee's second victory of the year and their similarities were not lost on the 36-year-old veteran.

The third place tie for Cadle, whose 69 gave him a four-round total of 270, doubled his winnings this year. Still seeking his first career triumph, Cadle had won $8,221 before the GHO.

Snead, who was the second-round leader, earned $10,950, which leaves the Hot Springs, Va., golfer about $11,000 shy of the $1 million mark in career earnings.

Midland's win streak snapped in 18 innings

EL PASO—El Paso ended Midland's seven-game winning streak, but took 18 innings to pin an 11-10 defeat on the Cubs before 1,664 water-logged fans at Dudley Field here Tuesday night.

The Diablos crept to within a game and a half of the Cubs in the Texas League West which came when pitcher Tom Chevolek, forced into a batting role as a result of a 16th inning substitution, looped a single to left to score Brian Humphrey with the tying run.

By that time it was 2:20 a.m. and most of the crowd had long since departed. The contest not only lasted five hours and 15 minutes, but twice was delayed 40 minutes by rain and a drizzle fell four times during the proceedings.

That may explain why the Cubs found a lead so slippery to hold. Midland led 2-1, 3-2, 7-5, 8-5 during regulation play and 9-8 in the 16th and 10-9 in the 18th inning.

Eric Grandy reached first on a two-out error in the 16th and scored on Mike Turgeon's single only to have El Paso tie it up. Midland regained the lead in the 18th as Turgeon hit his eighth homer to left with two out.

Lee Smith, the third Cubs' pitcher, was tagged with the loss, a game Jon Periman started the day before.

In addition to Turgeon, Dan Rohn hit his fourth homer and Bill Hayes connected for his seventh while Lee Bishop blasted two, No. 13 and 14, to keep the Diablos in the game.

The Cubs and Diablos meet again tonight and play single games Thursday and Friday before Midland returns home for its final 10-game homestand, starting Saturday night...

One of the feature promotions during the stand will be the Cubs Stadium appearance of the Dallas Playboys Club Playboys Bunnies Sunday. The Bunnies will play the KCRS disc jockeys in a benefit softball game. Proceeds will go to the Midland Cerebral Palsy Center and the Parents Auxiliary will handle the advance ticket sale. Tickets may be purchased at the CPC center on Ventura, Rogers Ford, James Braddock in Santa Fe Square, Odessa, or the Cubs' ticket office...

Cowboys trim player roster

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys have released three free agent rookies and placed six others on waivers, bringing the club's roster to the maximum 60 players.

Al LaMura, quarterback from Missouri Valley; Steve Wilson, running back from Howard University; and Mike Kincaid, defensive back from Florida State were released Tuesday by the National Football League team.

Six rookies waived because of injuries included defensive back Greg Alexander of Southern Arkansas, out with a bruised kidney; running back Wayne Russell of Cheyney State, with a broken thumb and offensive tackle David Hudgens of Oklahoma, with a bruised shoulder.

Also waived were offensive tackle Bill Miller of Minnesota, with headaches; offensive guard Brad Hendrix of Northern Alabama, with a broken cheekbone; and Hartmut Strecker of Dayton, with a bruised thigh.

The Cowboys host the Houston Oilers in an exhibition contest Saturday night.

Andujar's homer paces Astro win

By The Associated Press

Of course, the ball had no business going where it did; everyone knew that. After all, this was the Astrodome, and players wearing Houston uniforms do not — as a rule — hit home runs there.

Oh, Jose Cruz hit one, Houston's 12th hometown homer this season. But that was on July 15, and no Astros player had hit one since, much less a pitcher who brought a .044 batting average into Tuesday night's 2-1 victory over the Montreal Expos.

"There's three or four or five guys on our team who would hit 20 or more home runs a year if they were in another park, but why go for homers here when all you end up with is a 390-foot out? It's smarter to go for hits that score runs."

The speaker was Houston's Enos Cabell, who has five home runs this season — all of them on the road. The guy who hit a homer for the Astros Tuesday night was pitcher Joaquin Andujar, who was trying, quite simply, for a hit that would move Art Howe from first base into scoring position in the second inning.

But when the ball kept soaring toward the wall, and Expos center fielder Ellis Valentine kept standing there watching — as if expecting it to clear the fence — people started getting very surprised. Andujar, to be certain, was one of them.

"I was just looking for a base hit," he said. "When I hit it, I was just thinking 'double.'"

"Then I started thinking 'triple.'"

Then the ball was bouncing off the center field wall and Valentine was giving chase and Howe was rounding third and there was Andujar, who found himself staring in disbelief when he looked at the wildly flapping arms of Astros third base coach Bob Lillis.

"I got halfway to third and saw the coach waving me around, and I thought, 'Oh my God! I don't think I'm gonna make it,'" said Andujar, who had scored exactly one other run this season.

Within seconds, though, he had made it. Touching the plate with his arms upraised, Andujar scored the winning run and went on to pitch a four-hitter to beat the Expos for the sixth time in as many lifetime decisions against them.

In the other NL games, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 in 10 innings; the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the San Diego Padres 7-1; the Los Angeles Dodgers bombed the St. Louis Cardinals 9-0; the New York Mets throttled the Atlanta Braves 18-5, and the San Francisco Giants trounced the Chicago Cubs, 8-2.

Afterward, Andujar sat at his locker and held the home run ball. Expos catcher Gary Carter, who had no further use for it, tossed the ball into the Houston dugout.

Then Andujar revealed a pre-game conversation he had shared with Expos pitcher Bill Lee — the victim of his homer.

"I told him, 'Don't throw me a fastball or you're in trouble.' I usually have trouble making contact, but when I do, it's gone."

Reds 2, Phillies 1

Pinch-hitter Vic Correll hit a 10th-inning double — only the Reds' fourth hit of the game off Steve Carlton — to score Ray Knight and give Cincinnati its victory over Philadelphia. Knight started the 10th with a single and was sacrificed to second. Then Paul Blair walked before Correll hit a fly ball that fell between the Phillies' Garry Maddox and Greg Gross to give the Reds their 15th victory in the last 21 games.

Pirates 7, Padres 1

Willie Stargell and Ed Ott drove in two runs each to back the six-hit pitching of John Candelaria and carry Pittsburgh past San Diego.

Stargell cracked a two-run double in the first inning, then Ott started and finished the Pirates' five-run second with RBI hits. He opened the frame with a solo home run and — after Dave Parker and John Milner also drove in runs and another scored on a wild pitch — added a run-scoring single.

Dodgers 9, Cardinals 0

Bill Russell and Joe Ferguson had two-run singles and Gary Thomasson added a two-run homer as Los Angeles scored nine times in the last three innings to support the two-hit pitching of Burt Hooton.

Hooton, pitching his fourth career two-hitter, helped the Dodgers to their 17th victory in the last 25 games. St. Louis pitcher John Denny snapped Hooton's no-hit bid leading off the sixth, and Ken Reitz singled with one out in the eighth for the other Cardinals hit.

Mets 18, Braves 5

New York's Lee Mazzilli hit a two-run homer and a triple and scored five times — much of which was news to him — to lead the Mets' rout of the Braves.

"I did? I scored five tonight? I didn't think it was but three," said Mazzilli. "I was in a coma after the sixth inning. I didn't think the ninth was ever going to come."

Neither did the Atlanta pitching staff, which gave up 17 hits.

Mets starter Dock Ellis, presented with a 10-2 lead, left with the score 10-5 in the third after Bob Horner's second homer of the game — a three-run shot — in the third.

Giants 8, Cubs 2

Greg Johnston, who got into the game after San Francisco's Bill North was ejected for arguing an "out" call on his attempted steal of second base, drove in two runs with his first two major league hits to help the Giants beat the Cubs.

Both of Johnston's hits were RBI singles, and both came in San Francisco's seven-run fifth inning.

Sports in brief

BASEBALL
NEW YORK (AP) — Designated hitter Hal McRae of the Kansas City Royals and outfielder Dan Ford of the California Angels were named co-winners of the Player of the Week Award in the American League for the period Aug. 6-12, the first time two players have shared the award.
During the week, McRae hit .400 and also drove in at least one run in each of the Royals' eight games during that stretch. He had a total of 13 RBI and scored seven runs.
Ford tied two Angels' records during the week, when he accumulated eight consecutive hits and five hits in a game. He also hit for the cycle in a game against Seattle, and batted .318 for the week.

COLLEGE
CENTERVILLE, Mass. (AP) — The number of teams in the annual NCAA basketball tournament will jump to 48 from 40, starting with the 1980 competition next March, the NCAA Executive Committee said.

GOLF
WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Jerry McGee birdied the 17th hole and captured a 1-stroke victory over Jack Renner in the rain-delayed $500,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open.
McGee, who began the day in a tie for second, shot a 6-under-par round of 65 to give him a 72-hole total of 17-under-par 267.
Renner shot a final round 4-under-par 67. Third-round co-leader George Cadle was third at 15-under-par 289 by scoring a 68.
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Maria Anderson pulled off the first major upset of the 790 L.S. Women's Amateur Championship, knocking off former champion Carol Semple, 1-up, in match play.

HORSE RACING
OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP) — Revivalist, $7.80, second under the wire to Nice Catch, moved up to first through disqualification in Monmouth Park's Salvator Mile.

Saccharin dilemma

Dear Dr. Solomon: As a diabetic I feel discriminated against in the proposal to ban saccharin. Why should a product with known benefits be eliminated because of an unproved potential for harm? — Nora.

Dear Nora: There is a dilemma regarding the use of saccharin — whether the last remaining noncaloric sweetener on the market should be banned. For diabetics and others who must avoid sugar, it has been a valuable aid. On the other hand, tests on animals have demonstrated that saccharin is carcinogenic — that is, it can cause cancer. Some of the controversy centers around the fact that it was found to be a "mild" carcinogen. But no one really knows what a safe level of carcinogens may be, and our food additive laws require that such products be removed from the market.

Cancer is presently the second leading cause of death in the United States. It has been pointed out that even a mild carcinogen, if it is used by millions of people, may cause thousands of cases of cancer. So the answer to our dilemma is not a simple one.

The suggestion advanced is that saccharin is made available only by prescriptions. In this way its widespread use would be curtailed, but it could still be purchased by people with health problems who find it necessary.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Since breast-feeding is the "natural" way to feed a baby, wouldn't you assume automatically that it is the best way? — Mrs. E.B.S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Nature sometimes plays tricks on us — but in this case I wholeheartedly agree. Breast-feeding confers a number of advantages on both the child and mother. It protects the infant from intestinal disorders by providing antibodies to some microorganisms that cause intestinal infection. Such protection is not available to babies fed heat-treated cow's milk or substitute formulas.

No less important an advantage is the emotional "bonding" that takes place between the mother and her baby during the process of breast-feeding — a phenomenon that helps the child develop emotionally.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I have a stubborn fungus infection on the inside of my little finger where it meets my ring finger. All kinds of antifungal medications have been tried, but none has helped. It is really driving me batty. Any suggestions? — Mrs. B.R.

Dear Mrs. B.R.: I have found success in some of my patients by having them apply tincture of iodine a few times a day for 10 days. Use the glass applicator that comes with the iodine bottle. It is simple and unless you are allergic to iodine it should not cause you any side effects. But before using it I would double check with your doctor.

(If you have a medical problem, see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal replies but will answer as many questions as possible in his column.)

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Choose Right Finesse

By Alfred Sheinwold

"How many shekels do you want for a Sheinwold's Shilling?" a reader asks. "I need one to choose the right finesse."

Read today's hand first. South took the top spades, discarding a diamond, and ruffed a spade. Since the nine of spades hadn't dropped South could lead a club to the king and ruff another spade safely.

Declarer then led a club to the ace and ruffed a club. Since nothing good had happened, South cashed the ace of diamonds and led a low diamond.

REFUSES FINESSE

Instead of finessing South took the king of diamonds and gave up a diamond. If the finesse was going to work, West would win the third diamond and give South the last three tricks. If the diamond finesse was not going to work, there was no advantage in taking it.

As it happened, West had to ruff the third diamond, and South then easily got the rest. South would have gone down if he had finessed in any of the four suits.

Who wants a Sheinwold Shilling to choose a finesse?

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one spade, you raise to two spades, and partner then bids three diamonds. The opponents pass. You hold: ♠ Q 7 6 3 ♥ 3 0 ♣ 10 8 7 ♠ Q 10 9 6. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four spades. Partner wants you to choose three spades or four spades as the final contract. Since you have help in his side suit (diamonds) and solid values for your raise, answer his question by bidding game.

Assistance offered art students

ODESSA — Two scholarships for Midland art students will be available during the fall semester at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

The Midland Craft Alliance donated $152 for the scholarships. The scholarship recipient must be a Midland resident, senior or graduate student majoring in art with a minimum grade point average of 3.0.

The scholarship is to be divided equally between two qualified applicants for this fall semester. If there are not two qualified applicants during the fall semester, the remaining funds will be awarded in the spring semester.

Joyce Thompson, director of financial aids, explained the scholarship will help art students because of the increased cost of materials and supplies needed.

"Art students have to spend a great deal of money on studio supplies for the variety of mediums needed for the art courses. Hopefully, more scholarships will be available in the future for art students," she said.

Qualified students should contact the financial aids office to apply for the scholarship as soon as possible.

More information may be obtained by calling the financial aids office at 563-2400.

Shell stakes site for Lynn wildcat

Shell Oil Co. spotted location for a 10,250-foot wildcat in Lynn County, Lear Petroleum Exploration, Inc., staked an 8,100-foot explorer in Garza County, and MGF Oil Corp. spotted a 9,800-foot wildcat in Chaves County.

Shell will dig its No. 1 Huffaker three miles southeast of Tahoka, 467 feet from south and west lines of section 469, block 1, EL&RR survey, abstract A-37.

The site is 11 miles northeast of the one-well Lynn (Fusselman) field and 4.5 miles northeast of a 10,448-foot dry hole.

GARZA EXPLORER

Lear Petroleum Exploration No. 1 McArthur is the 8,100-foot project in Garza County.

It is 25 miles northeast of Post and one mile east of an 8,150-foot dry hole and three and one-quarter miles northwest of the Gar-Kent (Strawn oil) pool. Ground elevation is 2,292 feet.

The drillsite is 467 feet from north and west lines of section 72, block 2, H&G survey.

CHAVES AREA

The MGF wildcat in Chaves County is No. 1 Bikar-Federal, 30 miles northeast of Dexter and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 14-10s-29e and 1.5 miles north of the Sand Ranch (Atoka gas) field which produces at 9,263 feet. It also is 1.5 miles southwest of a 9,174-foot unnamed Morrow gas area.

YOAKUM OILER

Hilliard Oil & Gas, Inc., of Midland No. 1-A Webb has been completed as the second well in the Brahaney (Devonian) field of Yoakum County, four miles southwest of Plains.

One location south of the other Devonian well, it finished for a 24-hour pumping potential of 480 barrels of 35.9-gravity oil and no water, through perforations from 11,415 to 11,481 feet.

The gas-oil ratio is 125-1. Total depth is 11,418 feet and 5.5-inch casing is set at 11,415 feet.

The operator's No. 1-X Webb was completed earlier this year to open the field.

The No. 1-A Webb is 853 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of section 513, block D, John H. Gibson survey and four miles southwest of Plains.

ANDREWS WELL

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 2-U-FW-State has been completed as the third well in the Clabberhill (McKnight) pool of Andrews County, 10 miles southwest of Andrews.

It completed for a daily pumping potential of four barrels of 35.2-gravity oil and 180 barrels of water per day, through perforations from 5,375 to 5,409 feet after a 1,500-gallon acid treatment.

A re-entry of a former Pennsylvania well, it is bottomed at 12,500 feet and plugged back to 5,420 feet.

The location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 32, block 9, University Lands survey and one mile southwest of the closest McKnight well.

UPTON STEP-OUT

Union Texas Petroleum Corp. of Midland No. 4 Mary K. Shirk is a new project 5/8 mile southeast of the discovery well of the Mary Shirk (Wolfcamp oil) pool of Upton County.

A north twin to a Bend oil producer in the Amacker-Tippett, South multiphase field, it is 10 miles northwest of Rankin.

Drillsite for the 8,600-foot test is 2,330 feet from south and 2,270 feet from east lines of section 1, block 2, MK&T survey.

SUTTON PROJECT

Robbins Petroleum Corp. of Longview has refilled its application to re-enter a former core test 35 miles southeast of Sonora in Sutton County.

Robbins Petroleum will test at 4,000 feet in an attempt to complete the project as the fourth Strawn gas well in the Seco (Strawn oil and gas) pool.

The test is one mile north of Strawn gas production and 621 feet from north and 520 feet from west lines of section 8, block 7, TW&NG survey. The core test was drilled by Shell Oil Co. Robbins Petroleum originally filed application for the re-entry in December 1977.

TERRY TESTER

NRM Corp. of Midland announced location for a 3,500-foot project in the Becker (Yates gas) area of Terry County, four miles southeast of Wellman.

The project is No. 3 Goodpasture and the site is 5/8 mile southeast of one of the field's two producers.

The location is 1,320 feet from south and 1,700 feet from west lines of section 64, block DD, J. H. Gibson survey, abstract 708.

Four Basin areas gain wildcats; openers final

Wildcat locations have been announced in Ward, Terry, Lea, and Nolan counties, discoveries have been completed in Glasscock and Eddy, and a field has been reopened in Fisher County.

WARD TEST

Coquina Oil Corp. of Midland No. 1 Overthere is a new 4,700-foot wildcat in Ward County, six miles northwest of Barstow.

The prospector is 660 feet from northwest and 1,980 feet from south-west lines of section 228, block 34, H&C survey.

The site is one location north of a 6,200-foot dry hole and one and three-quarter miles east of dual Ellenburger and Fusselman production in the MiVida multiphase pool.

GLASSCOCK STRIKE

Belco Petroleum Co. of Houston No. 4 Edwards has been completed as a flowing Strawn oil discovery in the multiphase Deadwood pool of Glasscock County, nine miles northwest of Sterling City.

The operator reported a daily potential of 126.1 barrels of 45.2-gravity oil, no water, through perforations from 9,418 to 8,426 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 4,885-1.

The pay was acidized with 2,000 gallons.

Total depth is 10,138 feet and 4.5-inch pipe is set on bottom. The plugged back depth is 10,990 feet.

The discovery is one location east of Fusselman production, and 1/2 mile north of Wolfcamp production.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 2,360 feet from west lines of section 46, block 33, T-2-S, T&P survey.

LEA EXPLORER

Holly Energy, Inc., No. 1 Pogo-State is to be drilled as a 10,800-foot wildcat in Lea County, N.M., four miles northeast of Maljamar.

The prospector is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 19-16s-33e.

TERRY WILDCAT

Petroleum Technical Services Co. of Midland No. 4 Brown has been spotted as a 12,300-foot wildcat in Terry County, three miles southeast of Brownfield.

The drillsite is 990 feet from south and 1,650 feet from west lines of section 75, block T, D&W survey.

NOLAN EXPLORER

N&N Energy Resources, Inc., of San Antonio announced location for a 6,650-foot wildcat in Nolan County, five miles southwest of Trent.

Scheduled to drill in the Cambrian, it is No. 1 C.M.W., 2,140 feet from north and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 50, block 20, T&P survey.

The drillsite is 5/8 mile northwest of the Dora, North (Strawn and Odom) fields, and 3/4 mile northeast of the pools Ellenburger and Cambrian production. It also is 1/2 mile southeast of a 6,370-foot dry hole.

EDDY DISCOVERY

Perry R. Bass of Midland No. 72 Big Eddy Unit has been completed as a Morrow gas discovery in Eddy County, 10 miles northeast of Carlsbad.

The operator reported a calculated absolute open flow potential of 2,279,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 12,216 to 12,232 feet after a 2,900-gallon acid treatment.

Total depth is 12,332 feet and 5.5-inch casing is cemented on bottom.

The location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 3-21s-28e and two and one-quarter miles northeast of Perry R. Bass No. 53 Big Eddy, an undesignated Morrow gas discovery.

FISHER REOPNER

Gilling Oil Co. of Midland No. 1 Hale has been completed to reopen the Pescador (Strawn) pool of Fisher County, eight miles southwest of Rotan.

The well finished for a daily pumping potential of five barrels of 40.2-gravity oil and five barrels of water, through perforations from 6,274 to 6,290 feet after 500 gallons of mud acid and 1,500 gallons of regular acid.

The reopener topped the Canyon at 5,350 feet and the Strawn at 6,200 feet on ground elevation of 2,010 feet.

Total depth is 6,411 feet and 4.5-inch casing is set on bottom.

The well is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 4, block 3, H&C survey and three and one-eighth miles east of the depleted Strawn area.

HOWARD WELL

A. K. Guthrie Operating Co. of Big Spring No. 1 Bill Winers has been completed as the ninth well in the Sara-Mag (Canyon) field of Howard County, one mile west of Vincent.

The operator reported a daily flowing potential of 136 barrels of 42-gravity oil and no water, through a 12/64-inch choke and perforations from 7,444 to 7,451 feet after a 500-gallon acid treatment. The gas-oil ratio is 1,115-1.

Total depth is 7,452 feet and 5.5-inch casing is cemented on bottom.

Location is 467 feet from north and 2,144 feet from east lines of the south half of section 10, block 25, H&C survey.

STONEMAN TEST

Luke Grace Oil Co. of Wichita Falls spotted its No. 4-A Brown as a west offset to a recent wo-mile northeast extension to the Bissett, East (Strawn) pool of Stonewall County, 18 miles northeast of Aspermont.

The project will be drilled to 5,275 feet. The site is 3,101 feet from south and 3,175 feet from east lines of section 37, block F, H&C survey.

The extender is Luke Grace Oil No. 1-A Brown.

It completed through perforations from 5,278 to 5,286 feet for a daily pumping potential of 55 barrels of 35.5-gravity oil.

Officials not satisfied with report

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials say they are taking a second look in response to questions about the validity of a Department of Energy report that found no evidence of gasoline hoarding by the oil industry.

"We are... assessing the findings of that report and the methodology," press secretary Jody Powell told reporters Tuesday. "If we determine that there were deficiencies or problems in that interim report, then we will make sure that they are corrected in the final report."

Powell said he did not know who ordered the reassessment, but noted that President Carter has ultimate responsibility for it.

Carter originally ordered the DOE on May 25 to investigate whether the oil industry had created an artificial shortage of gasoline to raise prices. The interim report released last week blamed the Energy Department's own regulations for much of the problem and said there would be further investigations of retailers and jobbers.

The Washington Post has reported that the DOE relied almost entirely on data furnished by the oil industry itself and that the department for weeks "ignored specific orders" of the president to begin an investigation.

The Post quoted one unidentified DOE official as calling the report "a propaganda exercise."

Superport decision due

HOUSTON (AP) — The Transportation Department was expected to decide today whether to grant a license to build a "superport" on the Texas coast, says a spokesman for the Texas Deepwater Port Authority.

"We anticipate they'll meet the deadline," chairman Bob Casey said Tuesday.

The proposal called for a port to be built 26 miles south of Freeport large enough to accommodate oil tankers that are too big to enter conventional ports, Casey said.

In Washington, Ernest Bauer, chief of the Transportation Department's ports division, said a license "probably" will be granted with certain restrictions. However, he added, today's deadline was not binding.

The TDPA was created by Texas Legislature after a previous effort by Seadock collapsed. Seadock was a consortium of oil companies that attempted to build the deepwater port but withdrew complaining of too many government restrictions.

Judge asks government, Exxon to work out deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge is urging Exxon Corp. and the government to work out an agreement that would allow a contested merger to proceed, but under provisions that would make it easy to dissolve later.

U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt made the request Tuesday at the end of two days of hearings on the Federal Trade Commission's challenge to the proposed $1.17 billion merger of Exxon and Reliance Electric Co.

Lawyers agreed to report back to the judge today on the discussions.

Pratt suggested a "hold-separate" agreement whereby Exxon would pay the huge sum for the Reliance shares but keep the Cleveland-based electrical company as a separate entity.

That way, Exxon could be ordered to divest itself of Reliance at the end of proceedings before an FTC administrative law judge — proceedings that will take months to complete.

If the two companies are fully merged and then a divestiture order is issued, Pratt said, "It would be like trying to unscramble eggs."

Reliance and the FTC agreed to an earlier hold-separate arrangement, but Exxon balked.

Addressing Exxon attorneys, Pratt said the company "has something of a public relations problem right now, and this might be the best thing for Exxon as well as everybody else."

The FTC asked Pratt to block the merger on grounds it would eliminate possible competition between Exxon and Reliance. The government antitrust lawyers contended Exxon was on the verge of entering the electronic variable speed drive industry before deciding it was easier to buy Reliance, a leader in the field.

The combined firm would have a dominant place in the industry, the FTC contended. The devices are used by industries to vary the current going into machinery, a

$150 million cash could be available for Carter's plan

By JIM LUTHER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "windfall profits" tax passed by the House would allow a typical oil producer to keep about $18 of each $100 gained from eliminating price controls — but only if that $18 is re-invested in the oil industry.

If the producer spent those profits on anything except oil development, his total take would drop to $11.45.

ENERGY OIL & GAS

Assuming the entire $18 profit was re-invested, the federal government would take nearly $21 of the $100 in income taxes; the windfall tax would take $57; the rest would go to state taxes.

The new figures from the Treasury Department show that because of ending price controls, after-tax profits of the oil industry would increase

$1 gasoline cropping up

HOUSTON (AP) — "Increasingly common" is the way the American Automobile Association describes $1 a gallon gasoline in Texas.

The AAA's Texas division reported Tuesday about 2 percent of the 422 service stations checked in its weekly gasoline availability survey were selling at least one grade of gasoline for $1 or more a gallon.

The report did not include the locations of the stations, but the AAA said most were charging $1 or more for unleaded premium. Included were five stations selling Mobil gasoline, two Texaco and one Shell.

For the third consecutive week, the AAA said, Texas motorists are finding improved gasoline supplies and average prices that, for the most part, continue to record weekly increases of less than a cent a gallon.

The highest statewide average in this week's survey was 95 cents a gallon for full-service premium, up from 94.2 cents a week earlier.

Full service regular averaged 89.6 cents, up from 89.2 cents, while unleaded averaged 93.7 cents a gallon, up from 92.6.

At self-service stations, regular averaged 87 cents, up from 86.8. Unleaded averaged 90.9 cents, up from 90.6, while premium averaged 92.5, up from 92.3.

A second straight week, the diesel fuel average declined, dropping from 92.1 cents a gallon to 91.6 cents.

The AAA said the number of stations out of one or more grades of gasoline remained stable at 5 percent while the number of stations operating 24 hours a day increased from 4 to 5 percent.

NRA approves water purification

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has given tentative approval to a plan to purify 226,000 gallons of contaminated water at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant.

And while federal officials see no danger in the decontamination plan, some Lancaster County residents were not buying their assurances at a briefing Tuesday.

NRC officials held the briefing here, a city located about 20 miles downstream from the crippled plant, to release a report on the purification system and field questions about it. Lancaster depends on the Susquehanna River for much of its water supply, and the reception from a crowd of about 60 area residents was hostile.

The NRC report said, however, that the water treatment system, known as Epicore II, would cause no environmental dangers if it were eventually allowed to purify water now in storage tanks at Three Mile Island.

The report covered only a relatively small part of the $400 million effort to repair the plant, which suffered enormous damage to one of its two nuclear reactors on March 28.

At issue was the environmental impact of Epicore II, constructed at Three Mile Island to decontaminate water that spilled into an auxiliary building from cooling systems in the early stages of the accident.

The NRC said Epicore II water will not be released after it is decontaminated, at least for the time being.

"We have determined...that the proposed use of Epicore II for the processing of contaminated waste from the TMI Unit 2 auxiliary building will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment," the NRC report said.

Richard Vollmer, director of the NRC's Three Mile Island support group, said the maximum total offsite radiation dose from the process will be one millirem. The federal exposure limit for nuclear plant workers is 3,000 millirems.

That didn't mollify the crowd, which hooted, laughed at and jeered the officials.

"I'd like to know why the public should have any faith in this (report)," said Steve Snell, a member of the Susquehanna Valley Alliance, an anti-nuclear group.

"A lot of it is a charade.... The NRC is in bed with, and is acting as proponents of nuclear power in our country.... The public doesn't think that you are acting as our protectors," Snell said as the crowd applauded.

"I don't want to ask any questions because I don't believe anything the NRC will tell me," a woman said. "We want Three Mile Island closed forever," yelled a man.

Another woman, dressed in black and hiding her face with a mime's mask, mocked the officials with cackles through the briefing while holding play money in her outstretched hand.

Hostage 'never wanted to be hero'

KINGSTON, N.Y. (AP) — "I never wanted to be a dead hero," says the last of six hostages freed after an escaped convict held him at gunpoint for more than two days in his own farmhouse.

Richard Gantz, a 28-year-old convicted robber-rape and "trained jungle fighter" was captured Tuesday morning after he had fled from the farmhouse into surrounding underbrush.

Gantz, who escaped Saturday night from a maximum-security state prison in Fishkill, was held without bail in the Ulster County jail until a grand jury could decide what charges he should face.

Gantz had held Lester Cossano hostage since Sunday, but had released five others, including Cossano's pregnant wife unharmed.

In an interview with the New York Daily News, Cossano said, "I wasn't brave, but when I saw him sitting there with the shotgun, my only thought was to try to get him to release my pregnant wife and youngest son...."

"Once I got him to do that, I really wasn't worried anymore," he said. "Then, I thought, he wouldn't hurt anyone."

Cossano said that throughout the two days, Gantz drank "gallons" of coffee and once had Cossano fix him bacon and eggs.

"He wouldn't let me out of his sight," he said. "He even kept the door open when either of us went to the bathroom."

Cossano's 21-year-old son, Lester Jr., who himself had been briefly held hostage along with his fiancée, told reporters, "We're just glad it's over."

Gantz was described by troopers as "a trained jungle fighter" and prison officials said he had served in the Marine Corps from 1969-1973, leaving with an honorable discharge.

The hostages said that the situation was tense inside the house, but that Gantz apparently didn't want to hurt anyone.

"It was like a powder keg," said Genevieve Soto, Mrs. Cossano's mother who was released Sunday night. "He told us he had nothing to lose."

But Mrs. Soto also said Gantz was "a perfect gentleman. He just wants his freedom."

Since Sunday night, a team of specially trained state police negotiators had attempted to convince Gantz to give himself up. At one point, Gantz asked for a helicopter and some parachutes, but he eventually gave up the demand.

Young Carters start search for house

WASHINGTON (AP) — Annette Carter says she and her husband Jeff, the president's youngest son, are looking for a house to rent and hope to move out of the White House by the end of the month.

In a telephone call to The Associated Press Tuesday night, Mrs. Carter said she was looking for "an inexpensive house to rent that has a lot of privacy." Her real estate agent, Beverly Dillaway, estimated it will cost between $500 and $1,000 a month.

The couple has been living in a three-room apartment on the third floor of the White House since the president's inauguration more than 2½ years ago.

Mrs. Carter gave no specific reason for the impending move other than a long-held desire of the couple to have a place of their own.

Except for a brief period right after they were married four years ago, Mrs. Carter said she and her husband have either been on the road campaigning or living at the White House.

Perhaps due to the confinements of the White House, the couple spent much of their free time at the home of a friend and White House employee in Northern Virginia, where there were reports of frequent marijuana use.

"Jeff and I are looking forward to having a place of our own," Mrs. Carter said, adding she would like to plant a garden and perhaps get a dog.

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION STATE OF TEXAS To ROBERT LEE WASHINGTON, Respondent, GREETINGS: YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear and answer before the Honorable Judge Barbara Cuijer, 31st Judicial District Court, Midland County, Texas, at the courthouse of said county in Midland, Texas, at or before 10:00 o'clock a.m. of the Monday next after the expiration of 30 days from the date of service of this citation, then and there to answer the petition of EMMA ALICE SIEKARD, Plaintiff, filed in said Court on the 13th day of August, 1979, against ROBERT LEE WASHINGTON, Respondent, and said suit being number DR-10-173 on the docket of said Court, and entitled "In the Interest of LISA DAWN WASHINGTON, and AURORA DAWN WASHINGTON, Children." The nature of which suit is a request to terminate the parent-child relationship and adopt the children. Said children were born on the 1st day of March, 1962, in Midland, Texas, and the 22nd of November, 1964, in Midland, Texas. The Court has authority in this suit to enter an judgment or decree in the children's interest which will be binding upon you, including, but not necessarily limited to, the termination of the parent-child relationship, the determination of paternity and the appointment of a conservator with authority to consent to the children's adoption. Issued and given under my hand and seal of said Court at Midland, Texas, this 15th day of August, 1979. Madge B. Wallis Clerk of the District Court of Midland County, Texas By Jean Hall, Deputy (August 15, 1979)

NOTICE TO BIDDERS Sealed proposals for the construction of approximately 2,000 line feet of concrete curb and gutter, 12,564 square yards of "caliche base with 2" HMAAC surfacing will be received at the office of the City Secretary, City Hall, Midland, Texas, until 2:30 p.m. on the 17th day of August, 1979, and publicly opened and read aloud at 3:00 p.m. on the same day. Any bid received after closing time as stated above will be returned unopened. Bid envelopes shall be plainly marked "Proposal for Project No. 175." Complete copies of plans, specifications and contract documents may be examined and/or obtained at the office of the City Engineer, City Hall, Midland, Texas. A bid bond or proposal guaranty is to accompany the bid, hereby guaranteeing the good faith of the bidder and that the bidder will enter into the written contract for the work. The amount to amount to five percent (5%) of the total bid and must be in the form of cash or certified check, issued by a bank satisfactory to the City of Midland, or a bid bond. If in the form of cash or certified check, it shall be expressly understood and agreed that the City of Midland is given the right to retain such as liquidated damages if such bidder withdraws his bid anytime after such bid is opened and before official rejection of such bid, or if successful in securing the award thereof, such bidder fails to enter into the contract and furnish satisfactory performance bond and payment bond. If a bid bond is submitted, it shall be executed on forms contained in the contract documents by a corporate surety authorized to do business in the State of Texas, and acceptable to the City of Midland. The City of Midland, Texas, reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals or bids, to waive technicalities, to make any investigation deemed necessary concerning the bidder's ability to perform the work covered by the plans and specifications, and to accept what in the judgment of the Mayor and City Council is the most advantageous bid. City of Midland J. W. McCullough City Secretary (August 15, 1979)

Looking For A Nice Place To Live That Fits Your Lifestyle...

"CHANDELLE" at 2100 West Wadley is the place for you. Our residences have one, two, and three, professionally designed bedroom plans that will allow maximum usage with minimum care.

"CHANDELLE'S" location is one of the most desirable in Midland. You can enjoy elegant living within minutes of downtown, recreational areas, schools, churches, Air Terminal, and Airpark. You can walk to the Midland Community Theatre, Midland College, the Racquet shopping areas, and to some of the finest eating places in town.

At "CHANDELLE" you have all this, plus the financial rewards of home ownership, greater control over your housing costs, and no maintenance worries. "CHANDELLE" is the only real housing alternative for those who enjoy living in luxury at down to earth prices.

"CHANDELLE" is a Winston Property located at 2100 West Wadley... call 684-7884 to find out how you can live in luxury.

Models are open from 12:00 noon until 6:00 p.m. daily, except Monday.

The floorplan above is a 2 bedroom - 2 bath studio "J" model, and it can be yours for $6,750 down and monthly payments of approximately $719. This $719 includes your monthly mortgage charge, taxes, insurance, water, sewage, and association fees.
