Huge oil patches pose serious threat to Laguna Madre

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Huge patches of oil neared two entrances to the Laguna Madre today, presenting the biggest threat to the environmentally important inland waterway yet posed by the world's worst oil spill, officials said

A 4-square-mile patch of mousse, an emulsion of heavy oil and sea water, was less than five miles off the Brownsville jetty, the southernmost entrance to the lush lagoon that runs behind the 100-mile-long Padre Island.

A 10-mile-long ribbon of mousse was reported only a mile from the Port Mansfield cut, a 200-foot-wide channel 30 miles up Padre Island.

"This has presented the biggest challenge and threat to the inlets at this time," said Coast Guard Lt. Cmdr. Jim Paskewich, a leader of the defense effort.

The narrow lagoon harbors numerous species of rare wildlife and is the breeding ground and nursery for shrimp and other commercial marine life. Extra anti-oil booms were being installed at the Port Mansfield cut to go with another boom that has been blocking the channel for about two weeks. Paskewich said the Coast Guard would use a skimmer system on the oil off Brownsville to try to scoop it up before it gets dangerously close to the southern entrance.

In another development, Texas Attorney General Mark White said today that his office was still considering the possibility of suing Mexico over the spill despite statements from the governor and the U.S. attorney general that a suit is uncalled for.

He said he was encouraged by reports that the Mexican government night voluntarily pay for damages from the spill but that he had no official word on such a policy.

Nearly 20 miles of scenic Texas beaches have been blackened by oil spewing from a runaway Mexican oil well.

"It's going to worsen in terms of its coverage of the beaches. There will be larger areas every day than we've had, at least for a while," John Robinson, scientific coordinator of the government task force, said Thursday.

"The only thing coming up that will help us is the reversal of the currents and the northerly winds sometime in the fall," he added.

Carter embarks on campaign for energy plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, seeking some solitude and relaxation amid a floating campaign for his energy program, embarks tonight on a seven-day trip down the Mississippi River on an old-fashioned sternwheeler.

He is flying to St. Paul, Minn., in the late afternoon to begin his week-long adventure aboard the Delta Queen, plying the upper reaches of the river along the Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Missouri shores to St. Louis.

Before boarding the 53-year-old steamboat, he will attend an energy briefing this evening in St. Paul, the first of several energy-related appearances he has planned along the river.

The president, who in the last year has taken advantage of some exotic forms of transportation - a raft on a wilderness river, a train through the Egyptian countryside - will be able to take advantage of what is advertised as "the pampered, good life." It is costing him about $1,800, White House officials said

Brochures listing the Delta Queen's features note its "sumptuous dining, exquisite cuisine." Should Carter, his wife and daughter choose, they can sample "riverboat ramblin' at its liveliest 'till the wee hours of the morning.

Not to be overlooked, either, are the "burnished brass railings and trim . rich mahogany ... ornate stained glass windows ... floors of rare Siamese ironbark.

She preserves in grand style the romance and pageantry of a bygone era," the boat's owners advertise. Indeed, she is listed in the Interior Department's National Register of Historic Places.

The boat's diversions include jogging on deck, checkers, cards and kite flying

Carter will go ashore at least four times, stopping in Prairie du Chien, Wis.; Davenport and Burlington, Iowa; and Hannibal, Mo., for a town meeting, a picnic, a radio call-in show and a factory tour to study its energy conservation program

With two stops in Iowa, the trip is likely to carry some political over-

The Ixtoc 1 offshore well near the Yucatan Peninsula blew out June 3 and has since been spewing thousands of barrels of oil a day into the Gulf of Mexico, producing a spill that covers thousands of square miles.

On Thursday, oil rolled in soiling more than six miles of beach in the plush South Padre Island resort area.

The area's multi-million dollar tourist industry is reeling from the oily onslaught.

"What we're looking at is the loss of several million dollars over the next few weeks if this trend continues," said Ralph Thompson, spokesman for the South Padre Island Chamber of Commerce.

Since the spill approached, about 30 percent fewer tourists have visited the luxury hotels and condominiums than did during the same period last year, Thompson added.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Andrew Young said today the debate sparked by his resignation as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations is "probably very good" for the United States in helping decide its relationship with both Israel and the Palestinians.

Young, in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" program, said that without a "reasonable solution to our relationships both with Israel and with the Palestinians...United States foreign policy is going to be seriously hampered."

Again defending his unauthorized meeting with a representative of the Palestine Liberation Organization, Young said that if he made a mistake it was in telling "the whole truth to the Israeli ambassador" to the United Nations, Yehuda Blum.

"And I think the Israelis made a mistake by going public with their protest," he said. He added that he did not think the Israelis understood "the domestic political implications of making a protest over my involvement with the observer for the PLO.

But in a separate interview on NBC, Yigal Yadin, deputy prime minister of Israel, defended the Israeli action. 'If an Israeli ambassador is being told that an American official has done something which is contrary to the American policy, it's obviously our duty to protest to the United ' Yadin said. States.'

Yadin also said; "The real problem for us is whether the United States is going to talk, negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization or not.'

Young, questioned about a possible schism between black and Jewish communities over his resignation. said he did not think there was "any question about the survival or the integrity and security of the nation of Israel.

"What blacks are saying is the survival and integrity and security of Israel should not interfere with similar rights for Palestinians.'

He did not elaborate.

"My remaining in the office would have created such a controversy about whether I was right or wrong, we would not have been able to deal with some of the important issues," he said. "The important issue really is how to find peace in the Middle East.'

The outspoken Young, who made a number of verbal gaffes during his 2½-year tenure as a U.N. diplomat, handed in his resignation to President Carter Wednesday, saying he felt he was "in some ways continuing to jeopardize the administration.'

During the ABC interview, he noted: "The irony of this is I have known for 21/2 years that this is an extremely explosive issue. And I have always said this was not my issue."

Meanwhile, the State Department said it did not "anticipate the need" for Young, while he serves as president of the U.N. Security Council until his replacement is named, "to have other meetings with the PLO."

State Department spokeswoman Maryann Bader said the statement had been cleared with Young.

Two dead, one injured in separate bike mishaps

By MIKE SLATON Staff Writer

Two traffic accidents early today in north Midland resulted in the deaths of two men and in the critical condition of a 15-year-old Dallas girl.

The accidents occurred within 20 minutes of each other. Both involved motorcycles.

Richard Lee Pearson, 20, Route 5, was pronounced dead at the scene about 1:37 a.m. at the intersection of FM 868 and Whitmire Boulevard near Havstack Apartments, according to police reports.

Peace Justice Robert Pine pronounced Pearson dead.

Jerry Ray Woods. 2511 Seaboard Ave., who was with Pearson on the motorcycle, died in Midland Memorial Hospital's emergency room shortly after the accident.

Injured in the other accident was Lisa Luckey, 15, of Dallas.

According to reports, Miss Luckey was listed in critical condition at Midland Memorial Hospital early today. She was injured in a motorcycle mishap about 1:14 a.m in the 3000 block of West Wadley Avenue, two blocks west of Wadley Avenue's intersection with Ward Street.

Driver of that motorcycle was Michael Rayburn, 21, 1800 N. H St., police said.

Rayburn-was treated for cuts and bruises at Midland Memorial Hospital and was released, officials indicated.

According to police officer Gary Painter, who investigated the FM 868 accident, the motorcycle Pearson and Woods were riding apparently was eastbound on FM 868.

Painter said a car driven by Gary James Reagan, 22, 1601 W. Pine Ave., was westbound on that roadway when the two vehicles collided

Both Pearson and Woods were thrown from the motorcycle, and Pearson was struck by a second car, also westbound on FM 868, Painter said.

Driver of the second car was identified as Brent Dotson, 2438 Whitmire "Blvd. An arrest has been made in connection with the FM 868 fatalities. officials said.

About 20 minutes earlier, officials said, Miss Luckey was critically injured when the motorcycle she and Rayburn were riding apparently struck a curb and went out of control.

No other vehicle was involved in that mishap, according to Robert Mosley, police officer who investigated the incident.

Police said none of the riders in the two accidents was wearing a belmet.

tones. Iowa, which holds its caucus to begin choosing Democratic Party convention delegates in January, played a key role in launching Carter's successful 1976 campaign. White House press secretary Jody Powell acknowledged the campaign aspects of the trip, but said that the campaign would be to win public support for the president's energy program.

In between, he said, the president plans to relax. Slowly, for that matter, because the boat's top speed is 10 miles an hour.

Carter has had little time to relax this summer - a period when he has in the past spent time camping or living by a light schedule at Camp David, Md.

Windfall tax called another excise levy By ED TODD Staff Writer

The so-called "windfall profits" tax President Jimmy Carter has proposed on major and independent oil companies is "nothing more than an excise tax," C.R. "Raleigh" Kreuz told the Downtown Midland Rotary Club at Thursday noon in The Midland Hilton.

"Don't let him fool you," cautioned Kruez, a former Midlander who is division environmental and regulatory manager for Mobil Oil Corp.'s Houston E&P (exploration and producing) Division

The windfalls profits-tax proposal emerged last April, when President Carter announced he would permit "gradual decontrol" of domestic oil so its price would rise to the world price by 1981.

"But there was a hook in President Carter's proposal," Kreuz said. "...It was not decontrol at all. He wants to impose a tax on profits."

And in that regard, Kreuz said "profits" perhaps is not the best word to denote returns on investments.

"WE NEED TO PUT profits in perspective," he said. "We need to call them earnings, because profits has almost become a four-letter word.'

He defined profits as a "percentage return on equity" and said that the oil industry's return last year was 14.3 percent, while the average for all U.S. industries was 15.9 percent.

The government's imposition of a"substantial (windfall) tax on the revenues from existing domestic oil and on oil yet to be discovered...amounts to a windfall for the government."

"Kreuz said Mobil has offered a proposal to end debate over "windfalls" and to get the "debate back on the track of how to produce more oil for America.

That proposal would be for the oil industry to "forgo higher prices on domestic crude oil already being produced, except for inflation adjustments, provided the oil industry is allowed to receive the world price for

Midland man files motion against Exxon

A Midland service station operator claims his retail service station lease and sales agreement with Exxon Company, U.S.A., was unlawfully terminated

The operator filed a motion for a temporary restraining order Thursday in U.S. District Court here.

James H. Parrish, who operates Parrish Village Exxon Station, 301 Andrews Highway, filed the motion, asking temporarily to restrain Exxon from terminating its agreement with him and that he be allowed to continue to operate until the suit can be heard in its entirety.

The petition also asks that Exxon be ordered to continue allocating gasoline to Parrish pending a hearing on the temporary injunction.

The petition claims that Parrish has had a retail service station lease and sales agreement with Exxon since June 7, 1978.

On May 4, 1979, according to the petition, Parrish received a letter from the company stating that the agreement would not be renewed as of June 7, 1979.

That termination date later was extended to Aug. 21, 1979, the petition says.

Representatives of Exxon told Parrish the agreement would not be renewed "because of the alleged willful sale by the Plaintiff (Parrish) of non-Exxon gasoline under Exxon's trademark ...," the petition states. According to J.B. Montgomery, Exxon's Midland district manager, "I am not aware that a lawsuit has been actually filed, but, as a matter of fact, a decision was made last week to offer to renew Mr. Parrish's lease. Mr. Parrish is aware of this decision.

No date for a hearing on the temporary restraining order had been set as of Thursday.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Political groups trying to draft Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination may have gotten an important boost from the Federal Election Commission.

DALLAS (AP) - Freedom's doors have slammed again for Billie Sol Estes, but the convicted con man's legal battles are not over.

He was paroled in 1971, after serving six years, on the condition he would not engage in private or promotional business activities.

However, Estes was convicted July 11 for conspiring to conceal assets from the Internal Revenue Service and for scheming to defraud investors by using forged documents.

Earlier this month, Hill sentenced the "Boy Wonder of Abilene" to the maximum 10 years in prison. Estes has appealed the conviction.

Peoples said the warrant was issued for Estes' arrest Dec. 14, pending the outcome of a plea bargain agreement that later fell through.

Peoples said he was notified last week to arrest Estes if Hill denied a new trial, but was ordered to keep the action a secret.

Pat Estes named to position on hospital board of trustees

Pat Estes was chosen to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Michael Burleson Thursday at the regular meeting of the Midland County Hospital District board of trustees.

Burleson, an outspoken critic of the hospital management during his term on the board, resigned last month to move his practice to California.

Mrs. Estes, the runner-up in an at-large election for the hospital district board last April, will serve until the April 1980 election.

A public hearing on the proposed $10.98 million budget drew no response from Midlanders.

Directors approved the budget and set the tax rate at 15 cents per $100 valuation - the same rate as last year - after they were assured the budget was "very good and very tight" by Tevis Hurd, president of the hospital's board of directors.

According to projections by the hospital trustees, no tax funds will be used to fund the operating expenses of the hospital, but $756,000 in depreciation and capital improvements will be taken from district tax funds.

Massachusetts Democrat is not a declared candidate.

"This has profound implications for the movement to draft Teddy Kennedy," said Paul D. Friedman, treasurer for the Miami-based Florida for Kennedy Committee, which sought the opinion.

"Any sizable campaign requires money," he said. "This will make it available to us."

FEC spokeswoman Sharon Snyder said the advisory opinion would apply to similar committees in other states. More than a dozen such committees have filed with the FEC.

Thomas Harris, an FEC member who voted on the ruling, described the effect of the action as "ridiculous." "But it seems mandated by law," he said. "It seems like a big paradox to me."

In the ruling, the commission said individual contributors to the Florida committee are not subject to the $1,-000 limit set for regular contributions to candidates for federal office because the group has no official candidate. Yearly contributions may not exceed more than $5,000, the FEC said.

As for how much money the group may spend statewide, the commission said there are no restrictions.

Jack Walsh, the political director of the Carter re-election committee, described the ruling as "very important.

"It's changed the rules," he said. "Now we'll have to respond to it in a political way.'

Wayne Allgood, the commission's acting administrative director, said a parole revokation hearing will be held within 90 days.

Incentives for industry called for by oil exec

oil it discovers in the future with no special tax beyond the normal federal, state and local taxes the industry already pays

"That way, there could not possibly be any 'windfall,"" he said. "This bogus issue would be removed from the scene, and we could get on with the job of finding more oil."

MOBIL'S PROPOSAL differs from the position taken by others in the oil industry, Kreuz said.

"The industry position calls for decontrol of all domestic oil and no 'windfall profits' tax.'

He said Mobil's position doesn't mean that Mobil has "backed away from seeking decontrol.

"But in our mind, it was more important to give up an immediate gain for the longer-term objective of finding more oil for America."

And Kreuz, in his speech titled "Making Sense Out of the Gasoline Problem," outlined reasons behind the current energy crunch and the needs and means to find, produce and refine more petroleum.

He listed four common causes of the energy problem:

-The revolution in Iran, which interrupted oil production there and put the U.S. in a "bind."

-America's refining capacity is insufficient to produce enough gasoline and heating oil.

-The fuel allocation and distribution system didn't work due to possible mismanagement by the oil companies or the government or both.

Kreuz implied that the fourth answer was most plausible: -"This country has failed to buckle down and implement a sensible energy policy

"AND SO WE'RE IN a whirlwind of confusion stirred up by high-level and often irresponsible and acrimonious talk about obscene profits, monopolies, conspiracies and so forth."

Kreuz said the U.S. government has done "nothing" to cope with the 'potential future (fuel) shortage.

Furthermore, he maintained, the petroleum industry has "not had the proper incentives to drill for (additional) oil and gas."

He pointed to complementary and alternative sources of energy: "--Coal reserves. Kreuz said the U.S. has enough coal to fuel the country for the next 300 years at the present use rate, yet coal supplies only 18 percent of the energy in use now. Holding the brakes on coal production are "regulatory red tape" and "environmental regulations.

Environmentalists object to the scars of strip-mining, and anti-pollution equipment is expensive.

-Nuclear power. "Nuclear power, which once looked like an important alternative to petroleum, has been severely set back by the accident at Three Mile Island.

'We need nuclear power, and we need it most during the coming years until some of the other alternatives - solar energy, synthetic fuel and the rest - become commercial."

UNTIL SOLAR and alternative energy sources become widely implemented, the nation will have to depend on petroleum, said Kreuz. And the oil industry must have "price incentives" before taking on additional "costly exploration" in finding and producing more oil and gas.

The necessary and proper incentives needed to produce more petroleum and energy are not the only thing that should concern the nation, said Kreuz

"It's not only a matter of energy - important as that may be. It's also a matter of keeping our nation's economy growing, and it can be done only if the general climate remains conducive for the private sector to make the investment that create jobs."

Kreuz also noted the "anti-business rumblings these days."

.(Such)...sentiment (abroad and at home) can become highly contagious. And it is precisely the wrong medicine for what ails this nation. "What this country needs is a broadening of its economic base in order to create employment and to redress our dismal balance of payments.

Broadening of that economic base, said Kreuz, requires "confidence in private enterprise and a secure energy supply."

Help of witch doctors sought to cure Africa's ills

MOSCOW (AP) — A Top Soviet medical specialist is urging that regular physicians in the developing nations of black Africa team up with tribal witch doctors to help combat the continent's widespread public health problems.

'The witch doctors should be made a channel for the spread of modern medical knowledge," says Professor Fyodor F. Soprunov, chief of Moscow's Institute of Medical Parasitology and Tropical Medicine.

Soprunov's appeal, voiced in a recent issue of the magazine New Times, contrasts with the usual Soviet official line emphasizing coldly scientific Marxist materialism - while condemning all forms of religious cult and superstition.

It appears to reflect a realistic assessment that in Africa - where hundreds of Russian and Soviet-bloc doctors are working under aid programs - today's thin network of mainly urban-based hospitals and clinics cannot hope to meet overall health care needs. Soprunov argued that enlisting the_ help of "traditional medicine" would make good sense "in the independent countries of Africa which lack the economic means, the necessary personnel and the experience needed to resolve effectively problems of health protection.

The tropical medicine expert's comments came in a New Times article by Soviet journalist Boris Asoyan, who recounted how he himself had sought to visit a witch doctor in Uganda Asoyan conceded that he'd backed out when he was told the local "mganga" (witch doctor) would see him only after he had gone through the standard ritual for all patients having his head shaved and body annoited with special ointments to drive out evil spirits.

Nonetheless, he was even more enthusiastic than Soprunov about the prospects for a "rational combination" of modern medical practice and traditional African folk medicine.

Perhaps the time is not far off when the medic in the white smock and the amulet-bedecked witch doctor will form an alliance in the name of the health of the African people,"

Asoyan declared.

He noted that existing medical facilities, particularly in rural areas, "are unable to serve the growing population. The sight of Africans waiting patiently in endless queues outside hospitals is painful to behold.'

Exploiting the shortage of regular medical personnel, Asoyan said, "unqualified practitioners and outright quacks have built up a lucrative rack-

On the other hand, he cited African medical sources as pointing to the success of witch doctors and other "traditional healers" in treating health problems ranging from chicken pox to various psychosomatic disorders

Such folk medicine can be highly effective because sickness is often related not only to external factors but also to "dis ruption of the harmony of life," the Sciviet journalist wrote.

There is growing scientific interest in fathoming the secrets of the witch doctors' art, as officials explore the possibility of merging some aspects of traditional medicine with the general health service.

In Kenya, the University of Nairobi's pharmacology department has been conducting research for more than a year into folk medicine cures. Also, serninars on witchcraft have been held at Witwasters and University in Johannesburg, South Africa. Dr. Christo van den Heever of township of Soweto outside Johannesburg commented that a witch doctor has about as good a chance as his Western counterparts of curing psychological disorders, particularly those linked to stress and phobia.

Witch doctors also can display com petence in setting fractures and alleviating pain, Dr. van den Heever said.

A survey by South Africa's National Institute for Personnel Research has shown that 85 percent of urban blacks regularly consult traditional practitioners.

Still, witchcraft and witch-doctoring remain officially illegal in many African countries. In Kenya, for example, persons are occasionally jailed for carrying witch charms.

Mini-election ballot

It is doubtful if you have given it much, if any, thought recently, but come November Texans once again will have an opportunity to amend the state constitution.

The matter gained voter attention at Austin Wednesday when Secretary of State George Strake Jr. drew ballot positions for the three constitutional amendments on the Nov. 6 statewide slate.

And it just so happened that the only potentially controversial proposal on the mini-general election ballot landed in last place.

This put the proposed Farm and Ranch Security Loan Fund, Resolution 13, in third place.

First on the ballot is Resolution 108, dealing with notaries public, followed by Resolution 133, giving lawmakers a greater role in state agency rule-making.

The Farm and Ranch Security Loan Fund, if approved by the voters, would set up a $10 million bank - financed by state general obligation bonds - to underwrite mortgages for eligible, nonwealthy families to buy farm and ranch land.

This one perhaps will draw some opposition, but Rep. Luther Jones of El Paso, sponsor of the House measure, has said he will raise funds to finance a voter education effort in favor of the amendment.

The notaries public proposition would give four-year, instead of two-year, terms for persons who notarize document signatures. It also would give them state wide, rather than countywide, juri sdiction.

The proposed amendment on legislative review of the agency rule-making process would remove constitutional separation of powers questions, permitting lawmakers to write the rules under which they oversee executive branch regulations.

It is interesting to note also that the 254 Texas counties will have to absorb the cost of the 1979 election, despite the fact no state issues other than the three constitutional amendments will appear on the ballot. The cost is estimated at $500,000.

That's right expensive voting, and if Texans don't show any more interest than they normally do in constitutional amendment balloting, then the cost per vote will be even higher.

Anyway, this is the way the proposed amendments stack up in the Nov. 6 election. What will YOU do with them?

especially breeder cattle. Even with the spur of higher prices, there were only 111 million cattle on the hoof earlier this year, compared to 132 million in 1974.

Another piece in the jigsaw puzzle is the role of the middleman, that anonymous villain suspected of causing most of our meat-counter melancholy. The Agriculture Department's statistics make him less sinister than he appeared to be.

When beef was $1.48 a pound, the farmer got 83 cents and the retailer 47 house, had been fraudulently labeled "Prime" by Dominick's. This allowed the stores to charge an extra 30 cents a pound at the meat counter.

The Justice Department recommended a $200,000 fine, and Dominick's agreed to pay it the day after the criminal charges were filed. A spokesman for the chain told our associate Tony Capaccio that he was not aware of the findings of the May 18 check

There may be hope, meanwhile, for some price relief. President Carter has put on a big show of jawboning the food industry into lowering prices. This is something, the industry claims, that would happen without the president's intervention because of seasonal fluctuations in supply. Footnote: We reached John Coplin, the Agriculture Department's main station supervisor of Midwest meat graders, but he refused to comment on the Dominick case on the grounds that it may end up in court.

ORLANDO, Fla. - Fidel Castro promised the Sandinistas in Nicaragua plenty of canned milk. What a fake that guy is. His own people can't get canned milk or shoes or clothes or medicine. The Cuban visitors also report seeing large numbers of Africans which lends credence to the charge that Castro is bringing thousands of African youngsters into Cuba by force to work the cane fields.

the Black Silent Majority Committee, has charged that this is a new form of slavery. He estimates there are 30,000 Africans working in the Cuban cane fields and fruit plantations.

"Yankee exploitation," the Cuban people suffer not only from police state brutality and repression with a communist party snoop on every block but also economic depression. In the meantime, Castro plays the stooge for the Russians in Africa and supports revolution in Nicaragua which will follow the same path as Cuba.

The similarities between the two revolutions are striking. In both instances it was the United States which toppled a long time ally and overtly encouraged the rebels and then pretended as long as it could that they were not communists

We don't learn. We have too many fools or worse in the State Department; too many politicians like Sens. Frank Church and George McGovern who are apologists for communist tictators: and too many liberals who swallow communist propaganda as easily as a child swattows Coke. "My God, I go crazy," one Cuban said, "Americans tell me how great things are under Castro. What do they know? Nothing. They have never been to Cuba, they don't speak Spanish, but they are going to tell me how bad Cuba was before Castro and how good it is under communism? My God, they're crazy. Everytime I talk to a Cuban, or a Hungarian, or a Vietnamese, or Czech, or anyone else who has lived through a communist takeover and escaped, I hear the same message in different accents. For some families it could be they haven't gotten in their vacation time. For most it means they haven't gotten around to doing many of the things they had planned to do during the summer.

Here's what has been going on behind the meat counter:

The price gouging began on the range. The rancher's profit, on the average, zoomed from $25 to $50 a head last year. By March of this year, the profit for beef on the hoof hit a temporary high of $114 a head.

Yet the cattlemen can point, with some justice, to other factors beyond their control, which have sent the price of cows jumping over the moon. These include high feed prices caused by the sale of grain to Russia, two successive droughts, an influx of foreign beef and President Nixon's temporary controls on beef prices.

The Nixon move froze producers' prices but did nothing to cut their overhead costs - a situation that drove many cattlemen out of business, with huge financial losses.

Herds that were liquidated during unprofitable years cannot be built up overnight. Cattle take time to grow, cents, leaving 18 cents for the midd man. With beef at an average of $2.31 a pound today, the farmer gets $1.39, the retailer 81 cents and the middleman only 11 cents.

The Agriculture Department's investigators, however, have uncovered profiteering at the retail level. The latest big case, against Domin-ick's Finer Foods of Chicago, demonstrates the need for eternal vigilance.

Even as the Justice Department was preparing a 20-count criminal charge of deliberate mislabeling of meat at 10 of the chain's 69 supermarkets, a compliance check showed that some Dominick's stores were continuing blithely to mislable, Washington officials allege. A check of 16 stores by four teams of Agriculture Department investigators on May 18 turned up evidence of mislabeling at six of the markets. The alleged violations were the same kind as those which had led earlier to the filing of charges.

The investigators found that cuts of meat, originally graded "Choice" by federal inspectors at the packing

TREASURY TIFF: Secret Service agents are furious over a confidential report that's being closely held at the Treasury Deparment. It describes mismanagement and possible corruption in the Treasury office responsible for processing claims for U.S. government checks.

What bugs the professional investigators of the Secret Service is that because of the parent department's bungling, or worse, they aren't being turned loose on the rising number of cases involving forged government checks. On the contrary, Treasury has sharply reduced the number of such cases referred to the Secret Service, which is charged by law to investigate them.

'The incidence of forgery is likely to increase," one portion of the report warns, "if the U.S. Secret Service is not able to effectively deter the crime by investigative efforts.

So while Treasury fiddles and the Secret Service burns, the total of double payments shelled out by Uncle Sam due to loss, theft or forgery has almost tripled - up to $70 million. Sources told us that much of this money will never be recovered now.

Meanwhile, the bureaucrats who could have gotten some of this money back for the taxpayers sat around with virtually nothing to do, adding another million dollars or so in salaries to the waste, our inside sources estimate.

And a number of Treasury Department poohbahs responsible for the multimillion-dollar scandal have been promoted, we've been told.

Footnote: A Treasury spokesman said the investigation is "not complete," so it would be inappropriate to comment.

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK WASHINGTON - John B. Connally is ending his opposition to an anti-abortion constitutional amendment, part of a high-risk operation to broaden his presidential campaign from corporate boardrooms to right-wing populist grassroots.

At a recent secret session at his Texas ranch with conservative evangelical churchmen, Connally broadly hinted a change on abortion. Such a change has been spelled out to close. supporters: while not exactly supporting the "right-to-life" amendment, he will no longer oppose it. But he must delay revealing this change because of a recent magazine interview quoting Connally as flatly opposed to any constitutional amendment dealing with abortion.

This coincides with the anouncement of support for Connally by premier right-wing fund raiser Richard Viguerie, an ardent foe of abortion. While there is no sign Viguerie's support was conditional on Connally softening his-abortion position, Connally's courtship of the "New Right" cannot help but encourage the old complaint that Big John is an opportunist who will go whereever the votes

There was certainly no doubt where Connally stood on abortion March 19 when he was interviewed for Politics Today magazine by Alan Baron, a former aide to Sen. George McGovern: "I am against federal funding of abortions. I'm also against any constitutional amendment relating to the subject in one way or another.

The trouble with that was Connally's inadequate power base. While a lion among the Fortune "500" (who care not at all about abortion), he was of no account among the "New Right" populists (who care deeply about it). Connally campaign manager Eddie Mahe, eager to soften Connally's stand, asked his candidate: since a president is left out of the amendment process constitutionally, why not just say you are "not opposing it?" Connally saw nothing wrong with that.

Inexplicably, however, Connally did not follow that formula when he met privately with "New Right" leaders on Capitol Hill June 28. After first agreeing to give us the record of the meeting, Connally's staff later reneged. After we heard a tape recording, the Connally camp's desire for secrecy became understandable.

The session was a disaster. New Right leaders were displeased with Connally's answers on SALT, Lyndon Johnson's Great Socity, labor relations, and - most important from the standpoint of the militant Christians present - ERA and abortion. It was still no on the "human life" amendment. "LBJ with charisma," snorted one New Rightist.

Today containing the Connally inter-view was published. McGovern himself was so pleasantly surprised by Connally's liberalism that he took the Senate floor to apologize for past attacks on Connally. Nor were Connally's managers upset by the article, expressing interest in getting reprints for mass distribution. Simultaneously, Connally was nego tiating with Viguerie, a fellow Texan and long-time admirer. During their conversations, Connally used the formulation earlier suggested by campaign manager Mahe, saying he neither supported nor opposed a constitu tional amendment. Viguerie passed that word on to New Right friends who had pleaded with him not to join Connally

Cin Aug. 2 at his ranch, Connally met with evangelical leaders (including some who attended the disastrous June 28 meeting in Washington). Connally's aides are reticent to reveal what was said or even say who was in the group.

One conservative who attended both the June 28 and Aug. 2 meetings was Ed McAteer, national field director of the Conservative Caucus. Reached by telephone in Taiwan, he told us Connally said that if convinced of "a biblical basis" for the anti-abortion cause, he would "take another look" at the amendment.

Connally similarly asked the clergymen for biblical citations that might alter his previous support of the ERA, which had been reaffirmed in the Politics Today interview and the June 28 meeting. The visitors left the ranch with a considerably elevated opinion of Connally. Robert Bill-ings, head of the National Christian About this time, the issue of Politics . Action Coalition, told us Connally

John B. Connally said softening his position on abortion "had done his homework this time and knew where we were coming from.

But what should Connafly do now? His managers don't want to publicize a change on abortion so soon after publication of a markedly different position. Furthermore, the anti-abortion movement will never embrace Connally unless he actually endorses their amendment (as Ronald Reagan has). Connally, therefore, has failed to follow the only safe course on abortion: take a clear position quickly, then shutup and don't change it.

Overall, Connally's flirtation with right-wing populism is flopping. Viguerie on board has worried Connally's moderates without bringing along the New Right, including one leader who told us: "Figuratively speaking, Connally wants to sleep in every bed. He cannot be everything to everybody." Even if that was untrue in the Democratic party when Connally helped lead it, its validity in today's Republican party is undeniable.

Metric Board divided over change

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The U.S. Metric Board is at least as divided as the American public over the question of how to change from the decimal system to the metric system of mea; surement

On Thursday, discussion at a public forum disclosed mixed attitudes within the group charged with easing the transition to the system.

Board member Andrew Kenopensky, an auto mechanic and organized labor representative, said the transition is "a long way off," and would require a considerable retooling of American industry.

Tom Hannigan of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said the conversion would hurt his union's membership as "workers, consumers and taxpayers."

"Older workers especially will have to learn a new system, with new tools. They could lose income or simply opt to retire early.' Hannigan said the changeover of government softbare, data and inventory would "cost the taxpayer a tremendous amount of money

But Valerie Amtoine, a Litton Industries engineer warned, "If we don't change, we're going to be saddled with an albatross of a system used only by a few underdeveloped countries

She said conversion would stimulate American exports by making American machine and car parts interchangeable with those used in the rest of the world.

Robert Ivie of Guild Wineries and Distilleries said conversion to the metric system by the California wine industry reduced the number of bottle sizes, made American wine more competitive overseas and standardized volumes for American consumers of foreign wines

Earlier in the day Stewart Brand, editor of Co-Evolutionary Quarterly, a magazine that encourages the humanistic development of technology, told the forum the metric system was not compatible with human experience "The human hand and eye like to take things by halves and doubles gallon, half-gallon, quart, pint, "said Stewart Brand, who also published the Whole Earth Catalog.

"By contrast, metric is a misapplication of our decimal counting system." he said.

Brand is the consumer represena: tive on the California Metric Conversion Council, another body divided on the merits of the system it ostensibly promotes Brand said he favors the use of metric measurements in science and technology, where, he said, "the inconvenience is worth it.

Brand said the "customary" common measurement system "is bloody good," and the introduction of metric was the idea of government departments and those large international corporations who stand to gain from it economically.

He said that in countries which have made a changeover to the metric system, "the populace has devised various outlaw units that are halves, quarters and doubles of the metric units down two El Centro agents before taking his own life last week, was interviewed only once by the FBI - nearly seven years ago.

According to a report of that Oct. 19, 1972, meeting released by the FBI Thursday, the 30-year-old Holtville man was questioned about his possible affiliation with revolutionary organizations following his arrest during a San Francisco anti-war demonstration.

Maloney's friends said the former social worker believed he was the target of continuing harassment by the FBI.

In suicide notes Maloney left his friends and family, he explained that he hoped to strike a blow against capitalism by killing the agents and sacrificing his own life in the process.

Maloney had made an Aug. 8 appointment with El Centro agents Charles Elmore and J. Robert Porter to discuss FBI files on his activities. When the agents answered their office door to his knock, Maloney shot and killed them, then placed his gun inside his mouth and took his own life. Maloney's request for the files had been refused because he had failed to have some of the forms notarized, said Roger Young, special agent in charge of the San Diego and El Centro FBI offices. If the papers had been notarized, Young said, the information Maloney sought would have been turned over to him

water is being flown into the area by helicopter to help firefighters. But, "basically it will be a dry-mop operation. The crews will have to find the hot spots and cool them down. They'll have to stamp out the smouldering ashes and cover them with cool soil. It's a tedious operation."

Hesseldahl said infrared detectors on an aerial flight over the burned area early Thursday showed many "hot spots" smouldering underneath the ground cover. But to the naked eye there are no visible flames.

About 2,200 firefighters were on the fire last Sunday when heavy rains started. Nearly an inch of rain fell by Tuesday, cooling the blaze and halting its spread.

The fire broke out July 26, apparently when a rafting party on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River allowed a campfire to get out of control. The fire, about 84 miles northeast of Boise, started in the area where President Carter and his family floated down the scenic river a year ago.

WORLD NEWS U.S. envoy makes dramatic entrance

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) - U.S. envoy Robert Strauss, flying here to soothe Israeli fears about a reputed shift in U.S. Mideast policy, made a dramatic entrance today when his plane made an emergency landing at Ben-Gurion International Airport.

The pilot of the Boeing 707 from the White House fleet reported possible malfunctions in two hydraulic pumps linked to the plane's brakes, Israel radio said. The plane, carrying Strauss from Washington, landed safely on the airport's longest runway, stretching nearly two miles.

Strauss, President Carter's special Mideast. envoy, was sent to Israel as relations between the two nations plummeted over the Andrew Young resignation and what Jerusalem perceives as a pro-Palestinian tilt by the Carter administration.

U.S. ambassador not reprimanded for PLO contact

WASHINGTON (AP) - The State Department says it is closing the case of a second American ambassador who met with a PLO representative without explaining how the two men wound up together on the same airplane with Austrian Chan cellor Bruno Kreisky.

Spokesman Thomas Reston said the ambassador to Austria, Milton Wolf, was not reprimanded for his contacts with the Palestine Liberation Organization and "we consider the matter to be closed.

Standing U.S. policy prohibits negotiations or even substantive contact with the PLO, an organization committed to the destruction of Israel. Reston said Wolf has been sent a reminder of that policy

Andrew Young, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, resigned Wednesday after disclosure that he met last month with Zehdi Labib Terzi of the PLO to discuss procedures for delaying Security Council debate on the Palestinian issue. Terzi is the PLO's observer at the United Nations

In an NBC-TV interview today, Young was asked about charges by some black leaders that the State Department used a double standard in his case and that of Wolf Young replied: "I really think that is a totally irrelevant question. I think that Ambassador Wolf has been a responsible diplomat.

"The situatuon in Austria is quite different from the situation in many other places, and a good diplomat in order to be informed of the kind of relationship that Austria is developing with the PLO ought to be involved and report back to the secretary of state what is going on.

Wolf, a former Cleveland businessman, met three times with Isa Sartawi, the PLO representative in Vienna, according to the State Department.

But department officials said Wolf did not discuss substantive issues with Sartawi at any of the three meetings, two of which were described as chance encounters.

On June 12, reporters were told, they flew from Paris to Vienna on a plane chartered by Kreisky.

Reston called it a "chance encounter" and said he did not know why Wolf boarded the plane in Paris or how much time the ambassador and the PLO repre sentative spent together.

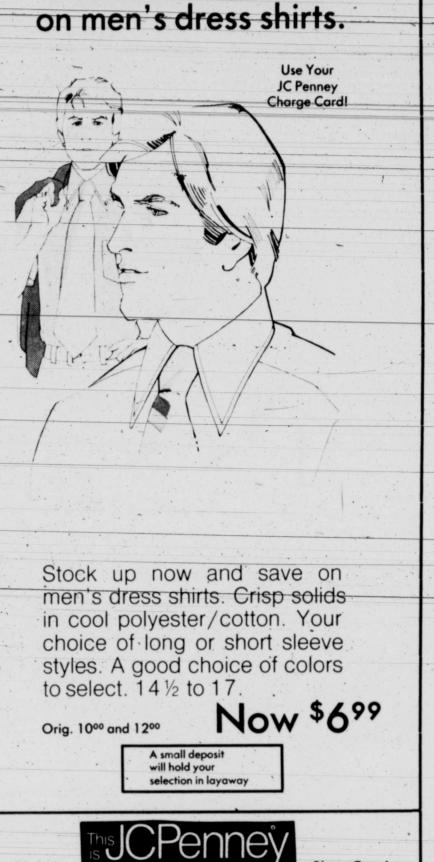

Three weeks later, Yasser Arafat, head of the PLO, met in Vienna with Kreisky to assess prospects for Palestinian statehood and U.S. recognition.

The next week, Wolf met with Sartawi again - this time, Reston said, in response to a telephone call from the PLO official - and they discussed the communique on the windup of the Kreisky-Arafat talks

In between the airplane encounter and the post-Arafat meeting, the State Department said there was another chance encounter between Wolf and Sartawi, but said it had no details of that meeting. Wolf telephoned a report to the State Department of his meeting with Sartawi after the Arafat visit to Austria and cabled reports on his two earlier contacts with Sartawi, the spokesman said.

Of the plane ride, Reston said, "The department does not regard this as contravening our policy with regard to the PLO.

While Wolf and Sartawi were in touch, the Carter administration was trying to determine - through intermediaries, according to U.S. officials - whether the PLO was prepared to accept Israel's right to exist

Iran stages pro-PLO rally

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Hundreds of thousands of Iranians converged on Tehran University today chanting "Israel is dead, Palestine is victorious" in a mass show of solidarity with the Palestinian people.

Demonstrators carried posters of Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat and Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the Moslem patriarch and leader of Iran's revolution who ordered the pro-Palestinian rally.

Participants included women clad in the traditional black chadors, the head-to-toe veil worn as a mark of respect to the Moslem faith, and men who brought along their prayer mats for midday services. Many carried children in their arms.

The crowd was so thick, that many were unable to approach the university campus where speakers attacked Israel and imperialism.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Corporate profits slipped 2.4 percent during the second quarter this year, but the nation's overall economic growth did not fall as abruptly as first thought, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said the Gross National Product, which measures total output of goods and services, declined 2.4 percent from April 1 to June 30. Preliminary estimates released last month had placed the drop at 3.3 percent.

Nevertheless, the two new statistics on profits and GNP offer further evidence of the nation's slide into a recession, economists said.

Corporate profits, after taxes and on an annual basis, totaled $138.6 billion, compared with $142 billion during the first quarter, the Com-

Corporate profits show decline of 2.4 percent

Pre-tax profits, meanwhile, fell from $233.3 billion in the first quarter to $226.9 billion in the April-June period, the department said.

Corporate profits are seen as a key indicator of the economy's growth because it helps determine how much money business has to invest and pay dividends to attract capital.

The revised GNP decline of 2.4 percent compares with a 1.1 percent in-crease in the first three months of 1979.

The Commerce Department attributed the GNP decline primarily to a 4.1 percent drop in final sales. This plunge was partially offset by an increase in accumulation of inventory.

But while rising inventory increases the total dollar value of the GNP, it does not help business during a recession because it represents unsold goods.

Richard Landry, an economist for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said the slippage in profits was expected. "It seems to confirm the accumulating evidence from other indicators that there is a decline in the economy," he said.

While Landry called the decline mild, he said lower profits means insufficient incentive to additional investment needed to raise productivity and thus cut inflation.

The government also said that the annual inflation rate declined from 9.3 percent in the first quarter to 9.2 percent in the second three months of 1979, as measured by a broad national standard called the GNP implicit price deflator.

Today's reports followed announcements that interest rates are rising, housing starts are plunging and industrial production is falling - signs that economists say point to a recession and higher unemployment.

The Federal Reserve Board, indicating it will risk recession to douse inflation, Thursday boosted the discount rate, or interest charged its bank lenders, from 10 percent to a record 10.5 percent.

Meanwhile, the Commerce Department said housing starts fell 7 percent last month, while total industrial output slipped 0.1 percent. Auto production plummeted more than 3 percent.

Texas nuke plant has 'potentially serious' design problem, NRC says

GLEN ROSE, Texas (AP) - The Comanche Peak nuclear power plant under construction has a "potentially serious" design shortcoming that would lead to a shortage of cooling water should a particular accident occur, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission savs.

A six-man committee - set up by Texas Utilities Co., builder of the plant, after the Three Mile Island accident to review the plant design discovered the cooling water design problem.

Dick Ramsey, a spokesman for the company, said it would have been serious if an accident requiring a backup source of cooling water were to occur during a blackout in the plant, which would require the use of emergency generators fueled by diesel fuel.

In such a situation, Ramsey said, there would be insufficient water to use for both the backup cooling and for cooling the diesel generators.

Karl V. Seyfrit, regional director of the NRC, said the problem was poten-tially serious if it had not been caught, but said testing before the plant opened would probably have detected

"The likelihood of this getting to the point where it would be involved in an accident is very remote," Seyfrit said.

The latest commission inspection report, based on June inspections, also said more substandard welding has been found in the plant.

The report said Texas Utilities reported three below-standard welds in the supports of trays on which safetyrelated electrical cables rest.

Faulty welds could cause cable trays to collapse, and that could cause vital safety-related systems to disconnect or short-circuit, Seyfrit said. It is also possible the cables would merely sag but remain intact, he said.

Quality-control supervisors at the site approved the questionable welds, but the deficiencies were caught in a second quality check and were reported by the utility company, the NRC said.

NRC officials said an investigation is under way to see if more deficiencies exist.

Clements should be negotiating for energy, solon charges

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements is getting bad advice in his dealings with Mexican border governors, says Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale

Clements needs to concentrate on getting more oil and gas from Mexico and stop recommending Mexican imports of vegetables, cotton and meat, Kubiak told a Capitol news conference Thursday.

"I think the governor has been badly advised ... he needs to reverse his opinion and negotiate for energy with Mexico," Kubiak said. "Diesel oil costs $1.19 here and it costs 19 cents a gallon in Mexico.'

Kubiak said he took exception to Clements' statements Tuesday on statewide television and radio that Texas needs more Mexican imports of vegetables, cotton and meat.

"Less than 3 percent of the vegetables imported into Texas are inspected and of this amount more than 50 percent fail to pass inspection because of the chemicals used in sprays and such. These things have been banned in the U.S. for many years," Kubiak said.

Kubiak said Mexican cotton is inferior both in growth and in ginning to U.S. cotton. "It is not something we need."

He said imported meat "does not meet our sanitary standards by any means.'

'The governor needs a producers advisory comission. We don't need to import anything we can produce," Kubiak said. "We are good producers but poor traders.

FBI agent faces questions in trial of Cullen Davis

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - FBI agent Ron Jannings, a man under siege, faced a vigorous new round of cross-examination today as testimony in the murder-for-hire trial of millionaire Cullen Davis neared the end of its first week

Jannings headed the summertime 1978 investigation that led to the arrest of Davis on charges he plotted the contract murder of his divorce judge and others.

And now, after three days on the stand, the mustachioed special agent is defending his investigative techniques against a relentless assault from lead defense attorney Richard 'Racehorse'' Haynes

The crafty, tireless Haynes is attempting to convince the jury that Jannings conducted a shoddy, unprofessional investigation and that his testimony is suspect.

To that end, Haynes pointed repeatedly Thursday to inconsistencies in the story Jannings told a Houston jury last November and the account he provided prosecutors earlier this week

The previous trial ended with a hung jury, split 8-4 for conviction. Prosecutors contend Havnes is grasping for straws and that the inconsistencies in Janning's testimony are not uncommon when one has given "several thousand pages of testimony.

After one angry exchange between state attorneys and Haynes, chief prosecutor Jack Strckland declared:

"Now, your honor, we're going to object to Mr. Haynes saying he's notgoing to quibble and then quibbling. We don't mind him quibbling, but we wish he wouldn't say that he's not going to quibble and then quibble."

Clements agrees to new bridge

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) Gov. Bill Clements agreed in principle to a bridge over the Rio Grande. during a visit to the state of Nuevo Leon in northern Mexico, but rejected the possibility Texas might sue Mexico for water pollution caused by a runaway oil well.

Clements also promised to continue supporting his proposed solutions for problems common to both states and agreed to help replenish herds of deer and other wildlife around the border. Nuevo Leon Gov. Alfonso Martinez Dominguez made the surprise suggestion that a bridge be built at Colombia, the northernmost city in the state, during remarks given as a response to Clements' address to the 14-member Congress of Nuevo Leon Thursday.

The Texas governor's visit to this state was the second of four visits planned with the governors of Mexican states bordering the United States.

Clements and Dominguez held a news conference later, and Mexican reporters questioned Clements about the possibility Texas would sue Mexico for damage resulting from the oil spill from the well in the Bay of Campeche

Clements rejected the idea as he had earlier in a stop at Nuevo Leon's ments.

He said the best answer he could give was what Benjamin Civiletti, the new U.S. attorney general, said in response to a similar question Tuesday in Dallas: "That's a silly proposition.

Clements recanted an earlier statement that the oil spill was "much to do about nothing," however, and spoke of "potential damage" the slick posed and steps government agencies were taking to minimize its effects.

jail death suicide

The grand jury, which investigated the death of Sammy Ray Gonzales Wednesday, ruled the death was a suicide.

Gonzales was found hanging from his white, jailissue coveralls about 8 p.m. Aug. 4 by deputies. He was pronounced dead about 8:15 p.m. by Peace Justice Robert Pine.

Gonzales had been arrested earlier in the day Aug. 4 for evading arrest and had been placed in a single padded cell for observation. He was given his supper about 7 p.m. that day and appeared to have eaten, according to Sheriff Dallas Smith.

About 8 p.m., during a regular hourly inspection of the jail, Gonzales' body was found.

The arms of his coveralls were tied to a ceiling vent and the legs were tied around his neck, officials said. His feet were dangling a few inches from the floor of the cell, they said.

Sheriff Smith said Gonzales appeared to have been dead about 10 minutes when his body was found.

Gonzales was arrested here after a woman north of the city called deputies to report a strange man in her front yard.

He reportedly ran from deputies when they arrived to investigate.

Drake had been shot in the abdomen prior to the struggle.

He was in satisfactory condition in Medical Center Hospital today after undergoing surgery last week.

Census Bureau slates economic survey here

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in the Midland area Monday through Thursday as part of a nationwide effort to profile economic characteristics in the United States.

The survey, conducted through the U.S. Department of Labor, is designed as a scientific sample of 76,000 households throughout the United States.

Results from the survey will be used to measure economic health of the nation

The last survey, conducted in June, indicated that 102.5 million men and women comprised the civilian labor force.

Of those, 96.8 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate during that time was 5.6 percent, a drop of .2 percent from previous highs.

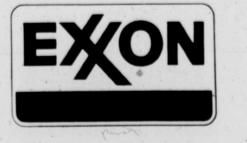

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept confidential by law, officials said. The results will be used to compile statistics.

Hole may solve TMI mystery

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) - A hole drilled through an 8-foot-thick wall at the Three Mile Island nuclear lethal levels of radiation, much of it from cooling power plant soon may provide the answer to water that spewed from the crumbling reactor core e technological mystery of what happened inside the devastated reactor. The wall is part of the huge containment building housing the nuclear plant's reactor and other equipment. The hole was drilled to get a sample of contaminated water inside. "They should get the sample by early next week," said Sandy Polon, spokesman for the Metropolitan Edison Co., operator of the crippled plant. The sample, amounting to about a half pint of water, will be tested at two laboratories to see what sort of radioactive isotopes and other materials it contains. That should give experts an idea of the type and extent of damage in the reactor core, Polon said. There are an estimated 550,000 gallons of water 7 feet deep in the basement of the containment building, the residue of the March 28 accident that overheated the reactor. It is not known had badly the reactor's 100 tons of uranium were damaged because no one will be able to enter the containment building until next year.

Carter wants to import nuclear waste

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite uncertainty over what to do with existing nuclear waste, President Carter wants to take in more highly radioactive spent fuel from foreign countries for storage in the United States.

The administration plan stems from a desire to reduce the ability of a foreign country to divert its fuel to the manufacture of nuclear weapons. India did just that in 1974 and exploded its first nuclear bomb.

Nonetheless, the administration proposal has prompted complaints that Carter wants to make the country "a dumping ground" for the world's nuclear wastes

Small amounts of used fuel originally bought from U.S. companies has been shipped from research reactors in 11 countries back to the United States for storage and reprocessing for nearly two decades under the Atoms for Peace program.

Because the program has been so limited up to now - about one shipment per week - criticism has focused mainly on questions over transportation safeguards.

However, in plans now being developed, the Carter administration wants to expand the U.S. storage program to also include spent fuel from the much larger foreign electric power reactors. The first such shipments would be expected in three to four years.

Such a move, according to Energy Department estimates, could bring anywhere from 2,100 to 13,600 metric tons of spent fuel into the country before the year 2000, depending on the scope of the program and how many countries take up the offer.

By comparison, only about one metric ton of foreign research reactor fuel has been shipped back to the United States. since that program began in the mid-1950s.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance has called the import program "vitally important" to Carter's nuclear weapons non-proliferation policy.

But some critics, including investigators for the General Accounting Office, claim the administration is overstating the program's effect on nuclear weapons proliferation since countries will retain some of the spent fuel anyway.

Officials of the Energy Department and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission said in interviews that probably no spent power reactor fuel will be imported before 1983, even if congressional approval is received.

The administration sought such approval last spring, but the efforts have been largely unsuccessful in both the House and Senate.

"Nobody, I believe, is ready to say at this time, 'Yes, let's ship it (the foreign power reactor fuel) home."" said a Senate energy subcommittee source. "But they want to leave the door open." The source asked not to be identified by name.

U.S. utilities now store spent fuel at their reactor sites, but Energy Department estimates have said by 1983 on-site storage-will be inadequate and off-site storage facilities must be made available.

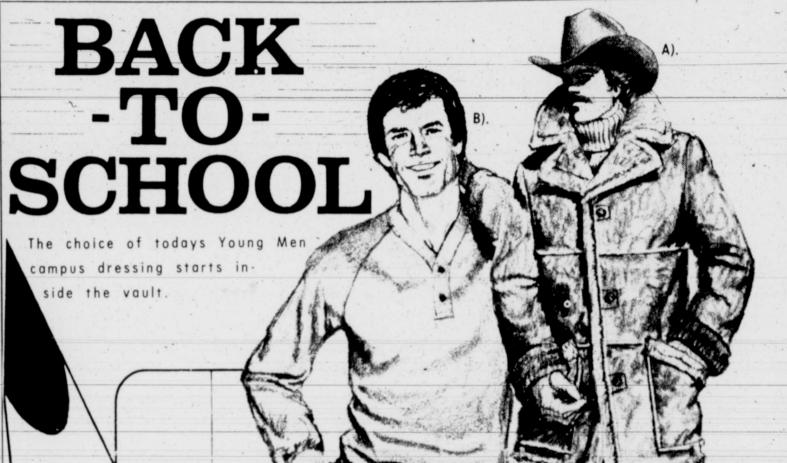

These facilities, said various government officials, would serve as interim storage until a permanent international storage facility - perhaps on an uninhabited Pacific island - can be developed.

'That's the kind of thing that's our real concern and frightens all of us in the public interest community," said Richard Pollock, head of Ralph Nader's anti-nuclear power lobby, Critical Mass. "The Carter administration is laying plans to make the United States the main dumping ground for spent nuclear fuel."

Instead, he said, efforts should be made to strengthen the International Atomic Energy Agency so it can prevent diversion of spent fuel for weapons purposes.

Administration officials could not say which countries would send spent power reactor fuel to the United States under the Carter proposal.

Several government sources said privately, however, that Carter particularly wants to bring back spent fuel from "politically sensitive" nations such as India or Pakistan rather than countries such as France, Britain or Japan, although the latter group also would be allowed to participate.

Polon said the 8-inch hole was drilled through the wall last week and sealed to await insertion of a hose that will suck up the water sample.

The samples will be placed in six 30-milliliter bottles, which will go into lead boxes. The boxes then will be placed in 55-gallon steel drums for shipment to testing labs.

In this often exasperating and frustrating period of time, it is refreshing to become aware of another person's triumph over what seem to be insuperable circumstances to achieve a longtime desire.

Such a person is Duane Snow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Snow of Midland. Being afflicted with severe rheumatoid arthritis since the age of 2 has not prevented this 25-year-old young man from obtaining two college degrees and a position as a counselor with the Texas Rehabilitation Commission in Corpus Christi.

Rheumatoid arthritis is defined as a constitutional disease of unknown cause and progressive course characterized by inflammation and swelling of joint structures. Today Duane, whose case is now diagnosed as "stable, remissive," 'has "shed" wheelchair and crutches, is able to walk on his own and drive his car by himself. in spite of restrictions in neck and both arms. About the only thing he cannot do now, according to his mother, is tie his shoelaces. He uses a special apparatus to don his socks.

DUANE RECEIVED STATE and national awards last year for an essay he wrote on "Arthritic Sexuality: Implications Concerned in the Rehabili tation and Adjustive Processes of Arthritics." The article has been pub-lished in the spring 1979 edition of the National Rehabilitation Counseling Association.

When Duane flew to Salt Lake City, Utah, to receive his award from the NRCA, he was told someone would be at the airport to meet him. He waited quite awhile and was somewhat puzzled and amazed when that someone turned out to be a man paralyzed from the neck down, who arrived at the airport face down on a stretcher. This someone had driven his own specially-adapted van to Salt Lake City, operating the steering wheel with his chin.

Duane obtained a driver's license with the assistance of Lee High School Coach Gil Denny. ### Birth defect test kit may need restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) - Too much reliance on a new test kit might prompt women fearful of having babies with serious birth defects into having unnecessary abortions, a consumer group argues.

Because of that, the Public Citizen Health Research Group asked Thursday that the Federal Drug Administration impose restrictions on making the testing procedure available to hospitals and doc-

The group wants the test kits made available only where follow-up testing using other techniques can be done, where adequate information on the scope of the testing can be provided to women using it, and where laboratory controls are stringent enough to minimize the chance of error.

The FDA has already announced plans to place some restrictions on marketing the kit. Spokesman Wayne Pines said those restrictions, to be drafted this fall, will answer the consumer group's fears and lead to data collection on use of the tests.

A.F. Zobel, a spokesman for Hoffman-LaRoche, one of the companies that wants to market the kit, said there should be no restrictions on the sales if the tests are to be made available nationwide.

"Provided the proper procedure is used, its clinical usefulness has been established in extensive studies," he said. "If its distribution were restricted to a small number of centers, the vast majority of the

Chinese treating cancer with herbs

TOKYO (AP) - Women with cancer of the cervix have been successfully treated with medicinal herbs in China, the official Chinese news agency Xinhua (Hsinhua) reports.

Xinhua said Thursday that 319 cervical cancer patients have been treated with the herbs since 1969, and 169 of them were cured.

The herbs appeared to be about as successful on the group of women treated as the average U.S. treatment for the disease. But since it was not known how women for the Chinese study were selected, a direct comparison of figures was meaningless.

The Chinese said the treatment using herb concentrates was developed by four doctors at the Shanxi Province Institute of Oncology.

"This will be good news for patients who cannot undergo an operation to remove the uterus or are unable to sustain radio therapy, and also for those young patients who wish to remain fertile," it said in a dispatch from Taiyuan, in the southeastern Chinese province.

It said 63 of 83 women with pre-invasive or "in situ" cervical cancer were cured. In situ cancer is that which has not yet spread to other . tissues. It is considered much easier to treat.

The herbs showed "effective results" in 106 cases of invasive cancer, or about 40 percent of the rest of the women in the study, the dispatch said. "Four young women have borne children after recovery from this disease," it added.

In the United States, 16,000 women a year get invasive cervical cancer. and in recent years as many as 40 percent have died of it. Another 45,000 women a year are found to have cervical cancer in situ.

Fortunately, the disease can be spotted early with the Pap smear test. The American Cancer Society says this test makes it possible to detect and cure nearly all women whose cancers have not progressed beyond the in situ stage

Ben Zaricor, a Santa Cruz, Calif., herb dealer who visited China last year, said the Chinese employ 3,000 herbs for flavoring, drugs and other uses but that not more than a few dozen of these are known in the United States.

Zaricor, of the Fmali Herb Co., said extracts of one form of Chinese ginseng is scheduled to be tested by the U.S. government for possible anticancer properties.

Capt. Roy Hansen said crew members had to tell Westendorf to free the hijacker's throat from the wrestling hold. "Maybe I squeezed him a little foo tight," said

Kagan, a lanky, bearded blond, wearing a red hostage bandanna and black pants too short for his 6-foot frame, attracted attention before the flight left Guatemala City for Miami at 3:55 p.m. EDT Thursday, passengers said.

He was playing loud, "spacey electronic music" on a portable radio-cassette player in the departure area, said Gary Shapiro, 25, of Athens, Ga.

The pilot said he was told shortly after takeoff that a passenger claiming to have a bomb in a cassette player was demanding to go to Cuba

Youths drive off with sleeping child in car

SYLMAR, Calif. (AP) - Ten-month-old Casey Grossnickle was sleeping in the back seat of his mother's car when she parked it in the service station and went to pay for her gasoline.

"I was standing just 10 to 12 feet away," Sharon Grossnickle said after the incident Thursday, "and when I turned around, they were just driving away and I started screaming.

A search by police helicopters turned up the car, abandoned on the Golden State Freeway, and the baby unharmed. Sgt. Richard Wells said the thieves probably didn't notice the boy sleeping in the back seat when they jumped in the car. The incident came less than a month after a youth drove off with 5-year-old Caroline Thompson in the back seat of her parents car, which was parked near a Daytona Beach, Fla., motel. Caroline made headlines until she was found unharmed several days later in Myrtle Beach, S.C., and a North Carolina man was charged with kidnapping. Police had said they did not believe the car thief intended to take the child.

ODESSA - Dr. Robert Reeves, chairman of earth science at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin has been named dean of the College of Science and Engineering at the university.

UTPB President V.R. Cardozier noted Reeves was nominated unanimously by the faculty of the College of Science and Engineering.

Reeves has worked as a geologist and staff scientist for the U.S. Geological Survey and as a college professor at South dakota State University and at Colorado School of Mines.

Since airing the song, "I Don't Like Mondays," KGB-AM has received more than 450 calls from listeners and "people are overwhelmingly against the song," said station promotions director Ralph Haberman.

The song, recorded by an Irish group called the Boomtown Rats, is scheduled for release in the United States in about four weeks.

The lyrics parallel news accounts of a sniper attack that left two people dead and nine children injured at a San Diego-elementary school last January.

"The hungry reality of these folks' paychecks is a far cry from the fat cat bureaucratic image that some people try to pin on state workers," Bullock said.

The comptroller has angered other state elected officials by advocating labor unions for state employees. Bullock said his figures from May payroll records show the average gross monthly salary was $963 for 81,000 classified employees, $882 for 8,500 hourly workers and $769 for 30,000 non-academic college employees.

Edison's home identified by pieces of printer's type

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — The discovery of 42 pieces of printer's type in an excavation here was the key to identifying the ruins of Thomas A. Edison's boyhood home, the leader of a team of archeologists said.

'We know that Edison as a young man published a newspaper on the train between Port Huron and Detroit," said Richard Stamps, who led an Oakland University team on a six-week search. "The likelihood of finding printer's type in some other context is really very slim.

Stamps said major portions of a house foundation dating from at least the mid-19th century were found and an estimated quarter million bits and pieces of artifacts were removed from the excavation on the north side of Port Huron

"I feel that I have got enough information to say 'Yes, this is the house'," Stamps said. "The detail we've found is just beautiful."

The remains of the inventor's house had been remarkably well preserved through a "fluke of history," he said.

The house burned in 1867 and was buried - and thereby protected - several years later by workers installing track across the property

"The site has been preserved for about 100 years by the presence of this railroad track," Stamps said. Also found at the site were military buttons dating from the proper period and corresponding to the fact that an earlier occupant of the Edison home was a civilian employee at nearby Fort Gratiot, he said. The artifacts will be turned over to Port Huron's Museum of Arts and History, which sponsored the project. The search, limited by lack of funds, ended last Friday when archeologists filled in the excavation. Stamps said he hoped to be able to resume digging

Farm debt up, but so are equity and assets

WASHINGTON (AP) - Farm debt increased by a record amount last year but so did farmers' equity, producing a record gain in the value of farm assets, the Agriculture Department savs.

The 15 percent gain in net assets, from $713 billion on Jan. 1, 1978, to $820.2 billion a year later, was more than the combined increases for all the years of the 1960s, a department report said Wednesday.

The rate was almost double the 7.6 percent overall rate of inflation faced by urban consumers in 1978.

Owners' equity in those assets was $682.7 billion after accounting for a total farm debt of $137.5 billion, it said.

Farm debt has doubled since 1973 but so has the value of the assets, with Farming Sector" noted that the rate of increase in assets' value almost doubled since 1977 but did not quite match the 1976 pace.

On Jan.<sup>4</sup> 1, agricultural economist Carson D. Evans wrote, "For each dollar of debt, there were nearly $6 in assets.

The value of real-estate assets rose 14 percent; livestock and poultry, 60.4 percent; machinery and vehicles, 8.6

percent; stored crops, 10.2 percent; household furnishings, 16.6 percent; bank deposits, 2.5 percent; savings bonds, 8.4 percent, and investments in cooperatives, 9.5 percent. Real estate debt, at the same time, increased 13.5 percent to $72.2 billion, with outstanding price-support loans up 16.8 percent, debts to banks and other commercial and federal lenders up 16 percent and credit from merchants and others up 23.9 percent.

Evans said the national figures translate into averages of $311,142 in assets, $258,970 in equity and $52,172 in debt per farm.

In more detail, he said that real estate assets averaged $227,442 per farm; livestock and poultry, $19,445; machinery and vehicles, $31,991; stored crops, $10,402; household furnishings, $7,274; bank deposits and cash, $6,350; savings bonds, $1,815; and co-op investments, $6,423.

Average debts per farm included $27,448 owed on real estate, $1,989 due USDA for crop loans and $22,735 owed other creditors, the report said.

"Reports from mortgage lenders indicated only an extremely small number of farm real estate loans in repayment difficulty," it said, in sharp contrast to statements in January and February from members of the American Agriculture protest group.

The averages include financial situations ranging from farms that show a profit every year to those that had a good year after several poor ones to those that went bankrupt.

USDA calls for adoption of new livestock rules

WASHINGTON (AP) - New standards for control and eradication of brucellosis in the nation's cattle and swine herds begin to take effect Sept. 4 and the livestock industry should push for early state adoption of all new procedures, the Agriculture Department says. All the new regulations will be in effect by Jan. 1, 1982, officials said.

'We've honored a moratorium on restrictive rule changes for nearly three years, pending the review of program standards. The time has now come for action," Paul Becton, brucellosis-program director at USDA, said this week as the changes were announced. The new methods involve more flexible use of vaccine, plans for individual herds, dealer registration and record keeping, a permit and retesting system for moving cattle out of states with cases of the disease and an upgrading of technical services, he said.

Strong preventive measures against the infectious disease are especially necessary now that ranchers and feeders are entering a herd-rebuilding phase, Becton said.

Schlesinger backs forces

By STAN BENJAMIN

WASHINGTON (AP) - Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger, who also has experience as head of the CIA and the Pentagon, says the United States must protect its oil interests in the Middle East with a military presence capable of balancing the Soviet Union's nearby forces.

Schlesinger, in a farewell speech Thursday at the National Press Club, warned that "Soviet control of the oil tap in the Middle East would mean the end of the world as we have known it since 1945 and of the association of free nations.

"That quite clearly implies that we cannot for long acquiesce in a regional preponderance of Soviet military power," he said. "A minimum requirement is the establishment within the region of a rough balance of military power.

Schlesinger urged that "no further consideration should be given" to the idea of barring military uses of the Indian Ocean - a step Schlesinger said would keep western naval forces from cruising close enough to the

Unleaded jumps to $1

WASHINGTON (AP) - The national average price of unleaded gasoline has inched across the $1-a-gallon threshold for the first time in history, the American Automobile Association reports.

It's a dubious pricing distinction achieved by premium gasoline two weeks ago.

The AAA's weekly report issued Thursday said the good news is that "fuel remained increasingly available" in its most recent survey of 6,541 service stations along the country's major travel routes. Moreover, the average price increase of slightly more than one-half cent per gallon - lumping all grades together - is the smallest increase of the summer, the AAA said.

Persian Gulf to serve as an effective counterweight to the Soviet landbased forces on the north.

-And Schlesinger warned that he could "sense" preparations in Iran for an eventual coup by left-wing factions sympathetic to the 1soviet. Union.

The dependence of the United States and its industrial allies on Middle Eastern oil has injected a dangerous new element in the long-standing power contest between the United States and the Soviet Union, said Schlesinger.

And he said the United States cannot expect ever again to produce all of the oil and natural gas it needs.

Schlesinger reiterated his position that synthetic fuels should be developed but that they will not make a major contribution to U.S. energy supplies in the next decade.

And he repeated his view that the nation must use more coal and nuclear power if it is to maintain even moderate economic growth.

Schlesinger, a Republican who served in a variety of high-ranking positions under former presidents Richard M. Nixon and Gerald M. Ford, was fired as Defense Secretary by Ford because of policy disagreements.

A year later he returned to government as energy adviser to President Carter and in 1977 became the first secretary of the newly created Energy Department.

Schlesinger was among the five Cabinet members to resign in Carter's recent administration shakeup and will be replaced by Deputy Defense Secretary Charles W. Dun-

Commission sets allowable

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas oil producers have been told for the 31st month in a row to pump as much crude as the market demands.

However, the amount of Texas oil requested for monthly purchase by oil companies will continue to decline in September.

The Texas Railroad Commission on Thursday routinely set the September oil allowable at 100 percent of production, with the exception of the East Texas oil and others under conservation rules.

Company purchase nominations in September totaled 2,719,752 daily, a decrease of 8,983 daily from August. September nominations for Texas natural gas totaled 24,049,049 thousand cubic feet (mcf) daily, up from the 23,559,820 mcf daily in August.

After the 1972 energy crisis and resulting heavy crude oil demand, the commission ordered maximum oil production.

Sorenson registers 13th mound win over Rangers

By The Associated Press Lary Sorenson's 13th victory was a lucky one for him - it kept him from going to the bullpen

That's where Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger had ticketed the right-hander if he had lost Thursday night's game with the Texas Rangers

"The whole staff was going bad for a while, and if i Sorensen to the bullpen probably would have been one of my moves to shake up the staff," said Bamberger after watching Sorensen pitch a 4-1 victory over the Rangers.

Garvey paces LA to win over Cards

By The Associated Press St. Louis Manager Ken Boyer thought the percentages were on his side when the Los Angeles Dodgers were batting in the 15th inning.

Steve Garvey proved him wrong Thursday night. The game was tied 2-2. Derrel Thomas singled with one out and Dave Lopes walked, then both runners advanced on a Bill Russell grounder.

Garvey, a .317 hitter, was the next batter scheduled.

Cardinals hurler George Frazier had first base open, so there was the option of walking Garvey to face Ron Cey - no slouch at .277 - who had homered in the seventh.

This is where the percentages came in. Both Cey and Garvey are righthanded batters, so with the righthanded Frazier pitching, it seemed the Cardinals had the edge.

Beyond that, said Boyer, "Even a strong hitter is going to make an out seven out of 10 times. Beyond that, said Boyer, "Cey had already put a ball in the cheap seats and he's the home run hitter (23) for the Dodgers. And even beyond that, said Boyer,

So Frazier faced Garvey, who drove runs scored, Bob Castillo set down the Cardinals in the bottom of the inning and the Dodgers had a 4-2 victory to West when I saw they were going to pitch to me," said Garvey, now hitting .318. "Although I hadn't faced Frazier before, I knew they were going to come after me. I knew what he was going to throw. I knew he was going to bear down.

"The only thing was, I'd been hitting the ball pretty well.

Which is why a lot of managers have gray hair.

Alex Trevino singled to deliver the tie-breaking run and Joel Youngblood added a two-run double as New York scored five eighth-inning runs to beat Phil Niekro and the Braves.

"We beat their best tonight," said Mets Manager Joe Torre, who poked some friendly fun at the 40-year-old Niekro, 15-16

"He's older than dirt," said Torre. "He's old enough to be most of my players' father, and he probably will be there 10 more years.

"One of his problems seems to be losing his concentration with men on base," said Bamberger. "He starts rushing his delivery. He seemed to be doing that in the first inning tonight, but after that he pitched great."

celebrates birthday

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Sports Illustrated celebrated its 25th birthday Thursday, and the three principals who adorned the magazine's first cover were on hand for the occasion.

The cover of the first issue, dated Aug. 16, 1954, featured a picture of Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves swinging at a pitch during a game at Milwaukee County Stadium.

Shown behind Mathews were caucier Wes Westrum of the New York Giants and National League umpire Augie Donatelli.

All three returned to restage the scene for the benefit of the magazine and numerous other photographers at home plate before Thursday night's game between the Texas Rangers and the Braves' Milwaukee successors, the Brewers.

Mathews, inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame last year, and Westrum wore replicas of their uniforms of 25 vears ago.

Former Braves players Frank Torre, Bob Uecker, Billy Bruton, Andy Pafko and Johnny Logan were introduced in the pre-game festivities.

Riley joins Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) - The Chicago Cubs placed pitcher Ken Holtzman on the 21-day disabled list and called up George Riley, a 22-year-old left-handed pitcher from Wichita of the American Association.

Holtzman, 33, has a 6-9 record but is troubled with a strain in his lower back, the National League club announced Thursday.

HAYS HAS announced four new coaches for his footbal! program to complete his eight-man staff, including Glenn Keller, who is really the only unfamaliar name on the list to Midlanders. Other newcomers are Eddie McHugh, former head football coach at Mart who joined the staff last spring; Don Bates, who has coached at San Jacinto and Edison the past eight years; and Eddie Shirley, who is the Midland High junior varsity basketball coach.

Keller was head baseball coach at Somerset for four years . where his teams were district runnerup in both 1976 and 1979. Keller played baseball at Bee County Junior College and Texas Lutheran where he graduated in 1975. He played one year of pro baseball in the Gulf Coast League for the Seguin Toros as a catcher. He was. also an assistant football coach at Somerset, and will coach the linebackers at Midland High this fall. Keller, 26, and his wife, Trinket, have a daughter, Chris, age 6.

MCHUGH, AN Angelo State graduate in 1969, will be coaching the defensive line and will also serve as the junior varsity baseball coach. McHugh has been a football assistant at Wall, Alice, Bellville and R. L. Turner, and was head coach at Mart last fall. McHugh, 32, and his wife, Nadine, have three children, Shelia, 8; Courtney, 4; and traduate in 1970, has been in the Midland system since coming out of coflege. He has a wide range of coaching experience, coaching football, basketball and track at both San Jacinto and Edison. Bates was a walk on player at UT his freshman year and played two years of Interservice football for the Air Force from 1962 to 1966. He was the MVP in 1965. Bates, 35, and his wife, Welda, have one child, Ryan, 5.

BATES IS also expected to join the Midland High track program next spring. He will coach the offensive line this fall.

Shirley, 34, is well known to Midlanders since he was a former star in both basketball and track at Midland High in the early 1960s. He has also been a very successful junior varsity basketball coach at Midland High since 1976 where his teams have compiled a phenominal 68-18 overall record. His JVs were 26-2 last year. Shirley is a 1969 graduate of the University of Texas at El Paso where he was a tri-captain and winner of three track letters. He also played freshmen basketball at Baylor. Shirley will be coaching the defensive secondary for Hays and will continue to be the JV basketball coach. Shirley has previously coached football at Goddard Junior High.

SHIRLEY AND his wife, Lucinda, have two children, Elizabeth, 4; and Joe Harold, 3.

Returning to Hays' staff will be J. C. Gotcher, offensive line: Eddie Howell, backs; Leonard Boyd, defensive coordinator; and Johnny Williams, defensive ends.

Hays and his staff will begin work with the 1979 Bulldogs Monday when they hold their first practice at 8:30 a.m.

Cubs rip Diablos

EL PASO — The Midland Cubs used a high powered home run attack to take advantage of four El Paso errors. here Thursday to beat the El Paso Diablos, 12-3, and maintain their 11/2game lead over San Antonio in the Texas League West.

The Cubs have now won nine of their last 10 outings, but still only have the meager 11/2-game edge over the Dodgers.

Gary Krug had a field day against the Diablos Thursday. He hit a threerun homer in the second inning and a two-run shot in the eighth to account for five of the Cubs' runs. Javier Fierro hit his second homer in as many nights, a solo blast in the seventh Bill Earley went seven innings to pick up his 10th win in 16 decisions this year, but the homerun bug hit him too. All three of El Paso's runs came on homers off of Earley. Mark Brouhard connected for his 25th of the season in the fourth inning with a man on and Brian Harper hit a solo blast in the first. Otherwise, Earley had little trouble. Henry Mack came in to finish up with two innings of hitless relief.

The contest could have been a different story, however, if the Diablos had been able to field. Four errors really cost El Paso. Only two of the 12 runs were earned, and both of Krug's IRVING, Texas (AP) - Dave Stalls is looking forward to his first starting role as a Dallas Cowboy Saturday night even if he does have to try to tackle Earl Campbell.

'Earl is the toughest runner I've ever tackled. I remember his debut last year," the third-year veteran defensive left tackle said.

Campbell, the former Heisman Trophy winner from the University of Texas, notched his first 100-yard game as a pro last year as the Houston Oilers mauled the Cowboys 27-13 in a National Football League preseason

"We went over the game film from last year and Earl was awesome," Stalls said.

Akers pleased Longhorns picked to win SWC

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer DALLAS (AP) - Most

coaches hate to be picked to win a conference championship, but not the University of Texas' Fred Akers.

"That's what you work for the recognition," says Akers. And the Texas Longhorns have worked themselves right on the hot seat in preseason forecasts in the Southwest Conference.

THE LOADED Longhorns; who return most of the firepower from a 9-3 season including a 42-0 rout of Maryland in the Sun Bowl, face a perilous road and Akers knows it.

"From the top to the bottom this may be the strongest the conference has ever been," says Akers. "There is great balance ... you can get beat just about any Saturday.

Lowly Rice and Texas Christian are moving ahead with vigorous programs while SMU, Houston, Baylor, Texas A&M and Texas Tech should be vastly improved, says Akers. On paper, Arkansas appears the only league team not as strong or stronger this year.

HOUSTON IS the defending SWC champion and Coach Bill Yeoman's crew will again be salty if the Cougars can get over the shock of blowing a threetouchdown lead in the second half to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl Off-season accidents have put a scare into Akers with running back sensation A.J. "Jam' Jones injuring a shoulder and defensive tackle Steve "Bam-Bam" McMichael tangling with an automobile motor fan. Both should be healed for Texas' first game Sept. 22 against Iowa State.

It's no secret that the key to the Texas offense hangs on the 'Horn quarterbacking. Sophomore Donnie Little is one of the finest runners in the country but has shown inconsistent passing at best."

AKERS SAYS of Little: "He has shown significant improvement. His arm is much stronger."

Texas needs to develop running backs other than the slippery Jones. Senior LeRoy King showed signs in spring practice of coming on along with Brad Beck, and Kermit Goode.

Texas has an experienced offensive line and Johnny "Gold Medal" Jones gives the Longhorns Olympic speed at receiver.

Defensively, Texas returns 23 lettermen, including such stars as McMichael, and All-America defensive back Johnnie John-

"Our overall strength will be our defense," says Akers. Houston lost two 1,000-yard rushers in Emmett King and Randy Love plus starting quarterback Danny Davis. However, John Newhouse, the brother of the Dallas Cowboys' Robert Newhouse, will give the Cougars punch overland and Delrick Brown is a most capable quarterback.,

THE COUGAR defense has such terrors as middle linebacker David Hodge and tackles Hosea Taylor and Leonard Mitchell.

Texas and Houston can expect all kinds of trouble from fastrising Southern Methodist, tough Texas Tech, underrated Baylor and the tenacious Texas Aggies.

SMU made one of the best. recruiting hauls in the country to go with quarterback Mike Ford, the nation's total offense leader, and All-America wide receiver Emanuel Tolbert. Bluechip freshmen running backs Eric Dickerson and Craig James give Coach Ron Meyer a ground game for the first time. "If teams load up to pass rush us now they're really going to get burned," says Ford, a junior who is in the best condition of his career.

TEXAS TECH is bouncing back off a 7-4 year in which rookie Coach Rex Dockery's Red Raiders produced surprise after surprise. James Hadnot, who gained 1,300 yards after he was moved from tight end, and Newcomer-of-the-Year quarterback Ron Reeves headline the Tech offense.

Baylor also had a surprise in young Walter Abercrombie, who may be the best back Coach Grant Teaff has unleashed on the SWC. The Bears need to solve their quarterback problems to make a legitimate run

The Texas Aggies have one of the top tailbacks in the country in Curtis Dickey and Coach Tom Wilson recruited another, Johnny Hector of New Iberta, La. If the Aggies can get it together on defense, they could be troublesome. TCU under Coach F.A. Dry and Rice under Ray Alborn are closing fast but are still several years away from SWC first-division status.

There's another pretty decent team in the southwest, the independent North Texas State Mean Green.

New Coach Jerry Moore has an exceptional quarterback, Jordan Case, and tough running tailbacks in Bernard Jackson and Milton Collins.

NTSU was 9-2 last year but didn't get a bowl bid. That's when former Coach Hayden Fry decided to hook it to Iowa.

Cowboys finally break camp

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) -The Dallas Cowboys broke a nearly fruitless training camp and prepared to head for home with some big question marks still unresolved.

Coach Tom Landry said Thursday that the camp was disappointing because the club didn't solve its No. 1 problem — the retirements of Ed Jones and Jethro Pugh on the left side of the defensive line

Dallas got no help from 1978 No. 1 draft pick Larry Bethea, who Landry said was the biggest individual disapprogressed this summer the way we would have liked." Bethea has lost starting jobs at both defensive end and tackle.

'Our major concern was replacing Ed Jones and Jethro Pugh," Landry said. "I'm not sure at this point that we've corrected it completely. I believe the top thing to come out of it is David Stalls (at left tackle). "If he continues to play well against the caliber of competition we face in the next two weeks, then we're in fairly good shape season finale that will be a rematch of last year's Super Bowl, which was won by the Steelers.

Landry said Larry Cole looked good at left end. "But he's at an age where it'll be hard for him to sustain a 16-game schedule," Landry said.

The Oilers will bring their usual tough squad to Dallas in Saturday night's nationally televised game. Dallas will not be in very good shape for the contest. Halfback Tony Dorsett will not play

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - Despite bowling only one game above his qualifying average, Joe Berardi, of Valley Cottage, N.Y., maintained an 87-pin lead after four rounds of play in the $70,000 Greater Buffalo Open.

> A 24-year-old right-hander, Berardi entered match play with a 132-pin margin and won five of eight games Thursday on scores ranging from 180 to 249 after averaging over 225 for 18 qualifying games. With bonus pins, Berardi now has 5,931 for 26 games with two sessions of match play scheduled for today. The top five bowlers go into Saturday's nationally-televised finals.

> Mark Roth, of North Arlington, N.J., closed the gap on the lead, winning all but one match while averaging 218. The 28-year-old PBA Player of the Year is shooting for his fifth title of the season and totals 5,844.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - In a family squabble. Steve Rosenbloom, son of late Los Angeles Rams' owner Carroll Rosenbloom, has been fired by his stepmother as executive vice president of the National Football League team and replaced by Don Klosterman.

Steve, 34, whose father owned the Rams until he drowned last April 2 in Florida, was ousted Thursday by 42year-old Georgia Rosenbloom. She took control of the club when her husband left her a 70 percent majority interest in the team upon his death.

Steve inherited just six percent of the team - the same as four other Rosenbloom children - despite his active role with the Rams in recent years and there reportedly has been much tension at the top levels of the team since Mrs. Rosenbloom took over as owner.

Steve, Carroll's son by a former marriage, had been heavily involved in running the team while his father was alive.

Klosterman served as vice president and general manager under both owners, but his powers were diluted recently when Dick Steinberg, director of player personnel, was given the major say in Rams' drafting and trade moves.

Friction between Georgia - the NFL's first active woman president and owner - and Steve has been reported for some time, but both recently denied there was any rift.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - Michigan heads into the 1979 college football season much like it did during its first season 100 years ago - with a good defense but an unproven offense

THE WOLVERINES defeated Racine, Wis., College 1-0 on May 30, 1879 and in the autumn of that year played Toronto to a 0-0 tie to conclude the season 1-0-1.

"Our defense is going to be good again this year, too," Coach Bo Schembechler said recently, "but we don't have teams like Racine on our schedule anymore "We have a lot of question marks on offense, where we lost eight four-year lettermen.

Last season Michigan's defense was second-best in the nation, allowing just 8 points per game; eighth in rushing defense with 112.7 yards per game and fourth in total defense, allowing 215.6 yards per game.

That Michigan team finished No.5 in the Associated Press' final poll and Schembechler has eight of 11 starters back on defense, plus eight secondline players and Mel Owens, a starting linebacker who was injured in the second game and lost for the season.

THE DEFENSE is built around another linebacker, 6-foot-1, 220-pound Ron Simpkins, a senior who twice has been all-Big Ten and who set a school record with 174 tackles as a sophomore.

"Simpkins is one of the finest linebackers ever to play for Michigan." Schembechler said. "He's smart and he's tough.

Andy Cannavino, who started last year, and letterman Ben Needham round out the linebacking corps.

The three down linemen - tackles Curtis Greer and Dale Keitz plus middle guard Mike Trgovac - return intact. Greer, a fifth-year senior, is 6-4, 236; Keitz also a fifth-year senior, is 6-1, 233, while Trgovac, a junior, is 6-2, 227.

Versatile Mike Harden, who had four interceptions and 57 tackles last season, is the key to an experienced secondary. The 6-foot, 183-pound junior plays free safety while junior Mike Jolly plays wideside halfback. Mark Braman, a 197-pounder, returns on the shortside and Schembechler currently has letterman Stuart Harris listed as his strong safety — a position Michigan calls "wolfman."

"Our defense should be like money in the bank," Schembechler said. The most pressing problem on offense will be replacing All-America

Largest LPGA field set for Plymouth golf play

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (AP) - The prize money has increased and the tournament's name has changed, but the field is the largest ever as the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour makes its sixth annual visit here

A field of 89 pros and five amateurs. including defending champion Pat Bradley, was on hand for today's tee-off of the 54-hole, $100,000 tournament on the 6,156-yard, par 72 Plymouth Country Club course.

For the past five years, the tournament was known as the Hoosier Classic. This year it became the Barth Classic and the new sponsor was responsible for increasing the purse from last year's $60,000

Bradley won the 1978 tournament by 3-strokes over JoAnne Carner. Bradley's 10-under-par 206 was the lowest score in the five years the women have played here

Carner, who won here in 1974 and 1976 and finished second last year, did not figure to be among the contenders. She is recovering from a wrist injury that has kept her out of action since early June

But Bradley has plenty of competition for the $15,000 check the winner is scheduled to receive on Sunday, with six of the top 10 moneywinners on this

Sophomore Butch Woolfolk, a 6-4 195-pound speedster who averaged 4.7 yards in 78 carries as a freshman, is fighting Stanley Edwards for the tailback job. # Mary Meagher breaks butterfly world mark

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) - While other and Saturday's upcoming 100-meter event. swimmers are content to break world records by mere fractions of seconds, 14-year-old butterfly dynamo Mary Meagher destroys them.

Meagher said she "didn't feel that good" last month when she broke Tracy Caulkins' world record in the 200-meter butterfly by one tenth of a second at Goodell, of Mission Viejo, Calif., after he set a meet the Pan Am Games at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

But Thursday night at the National AAU swimming championships, she left no doubt she is the premier performer in the event, breaking her world mark twice in eight hours by a total of 2.76 seconds. In the finals, Meagher, of Louisvile, Ky., trounced second-place finisher Caulkins by four seconds.

Meagher's time of two minutes, 7.01 seconds in the finals was less than a second slower than the men's gold medal winner at the 1964 Olympics and nearly free behind Kim Linehan of Sarasota. Fla., who two seconds faster than the men's at the high altitude Mexico City Olympics in 1968.

'Without Caulkins there I don't think I would be psyched," said Meagher. "Just knowing she can do almost anything in the water was enough to get me going. I broke her world record and I think she was really going after me.'

Meagher attributes her amazing stamina in the grueling 200 butterfly to training at distances more suited to freestyle swimmers. She hasn't been nearly as successful in the 100-meter fly.

"My coach and I feel that I swim better under pressure," she said of the Thursday's performance while world record holder Joe Bottom finished 11th.

Meanwhile, two other world record holders, Brian Goodell and Cynthia Woodhead, were disappointed they didn't join Meagher in setting new marks.

"I'm happy with my time because it was a good one, but I expected more out of myself, " said record of 3: 51.89 in winning the 400-meter freestyle. He missed Russian Vladimir Salnikov's world record by less than half a second.

"I wasn't pleased; I expected a different time up there," said Woodhead, 15, of Riverside, Calif., who won the 100 freestyle in 56.29 seconds.

Woodhead, who had five gold medals in the Pan American Games, set a meet of 55.90 in the preliminaries of the 100-free, and finished third in the 800 established an American 8:24.70, just .08 seconds behind the world record.

Other meet records were set Bill Barrett of Alpharetta, Ga., in the 100 breaststroke with 1:03.98 and Steve Barnicoat of Mission Viejo in the 200-backstroke with a 2:02.40, beating defending Amateur Athletic Union champion Jesse Vassallo.

Seventeen-year-old Torry Blazey of Gainesville. Fla., a competitive swimmer only four years, de feated Pam Am champ Tami Paumier of Columbia Md., in the 100 breaststroke and another newcomer Grant Ostlund of Miami won the 100-meter butterfly.

Denver, San Diego AFC picks

Only one game separated the top four teams in the final standings of the American Football Conference's Western Division in 1978 — a competitive balance which figures to continue this season.

The Denver Broncos earned their second straight AFC West crown last year, compiling a 10-6 record before being knocked out by Pittsburgh in the first round of the playoffs. San Diego, Seattle and Oakland each wound up with 9-7 records.

The Chargers finished with a flurry, winning seven of their last eight games. Seattle was the surprise of the league, and its record was the best ever for a third-year franchise. Oakland, although torn by dissension, just missed making the playoffs for the first time in seven years. Only rebuilding Kansas City was not a factor in the divisional race.

"I really believe the AFC West has returned to its position of being the strongest division in the National Football League," says Bronco Coach Red Mill-

Most experts feel Denver, which relies on a swarming defense, and San Diego, which has an explosive offense, are the top teams to watch in the division in 1979.

The Raiders, with a new head coach and some personnel changes, are more of a question mark, but their record over the past decade indicates they can't be taken lightly. The Seahawks also should be a factor again, especially if they improve their defense. Kansas City still is several years away from being a contender.

"We will be better overall," says Miller. "But San Diego and Seattle will be better, too, and Oakland is always tough. There will be four teams right in there again, with Kansas City not far behind.

'In the past two years, we've established ourselves as a contender. Now we'll have to work our tails off to stay on top."

Denver's major weakness a year ago was in the offensive line. An avoidance of injuries and the addition of new faces such as free-agent tackle Dave Studdard and No.1 draft choice Kelvin Clark will

The and playing well, and talk of a possible trade has was traded to Cleveland after a contract dispute. defense includes four players who appeared in the diminished. Pro Bowl — linebackers Randy Gradishar and Tom Jackson, safety Bill Thompson and cornerback Louis Wright.

Veteran place-kicker Jim Turner, who fought off challenges to his job in the pre-season, hopes for a return to form in 1978.

Few teams strike more fear into opponents than San Diego, who came under the direction of Coach Don Coryell early last season. In their last three games of 1978, the Chargers averaged 41 points and 460 total yards. Coryell's wide-open offensive philosophy was reflected in the club's topping all NFL teams in passing yardage.

Quarterback Dan Fouts finished third in the passer ratings, with 2,999 yards and 24 TDs. Rookie John Jefferson was a favorite receiver, catching 56 for 1,001 yards and 13 TDs. Running back Lydell Mitchell rushed for 830 yards and caught 57 passes to lead the team in both categories. The offensive line, anchored by Pro-Bowl tackle Russ Washington, is huge Defensively, the Chargers are built around their front four. But one of the kingpins, tackle Louie Kelcher, is out for the season with a knee injury. Ex-Packer Willie Buchanon should help bolster the secondary.

'On paper, we have a strong team," says Coryell. "Our goal is to reach the playoffs."

Quarterback Ken Stabler, after a frustrating 1978 season which saw him throw 30 interceptions, is back

The Raiders have strengthened their defense with the acquisition of middle guard Dave Pear from Tampa Bay. Ray Guy is the league's best punter. Seattle's big threat is scrambling, left-handed quarterback Jim Zorn, who completed 248 of 443 passes for 3,283 yards and 15 touchdowns last year. Wide receiver Steve Largent led the AFC with 71 catches for 1,168 yards and eight TDs. Sherman Smith and David Sims are capable running backs.

The Seahawk defense, however, surrendered 345 yards per game in 1978 to rank a dismal 26th in the league. Coach Jack Patera believes the acquisition of 37-year-old Carl Eller from Minnesota will lend stability to the unit.

"We've made good progress each year we've been here," says Patera, "and I don't see us slipping

Second-year Coach Marv Levy feels he has Kansas City on the right track. After a 2-12 season in 1977, Levy's first club went 4-12 and ranked second in the league in rushing yards. The Chiefs will stick with their run-oriented wing-T formation, although there are indications they plan to upgrade the passing attack.

Veteran quarterback Mike Livingston is battling with three others for the starting job. Tony Reed, who rushed for 1,053 yards last year, is back. Top draft choice Mike Bell, a defensive tackle, is a valuable addition to the defense.

Billy Martin ejected from game Swann will return

against Jets today EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - All-Pro wide receiver Lynn Swann may be in the lineup tonight when the Pittsburgh Steelers face the New York Jets in a National Football League preseason game at Giants Stadium Swann reported late to the Steelers' camp after a three-week "technical retirement." During that time, he was involved in a trial in San Francisco.

"I'm unretired and ready to go," he said after reporting to the club last week. "I'm excited about coming back and I'm anxious to play."

Swann missed Pittsburgh's first two games, both victories. He was on the sidelines but did not play in last Saturday night's 10-3 decision over the New York Giants.

"It's going to take some time to get back in shape," Swann said. "But I'm glad to be back."

Meanwhile, the Steelers have done some tinkering in their secondary. Former All-Pro cornerback J.T. Thomas is getting a look at safety. Thomas missed last season with a blood disorder and lost his job to rookie Ron Johnson.

Now Thomas is back but with Johnson still around, Thomas may have to find a new position to play. The Jets are still trying to choose a No.1 quarter-
