DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — President Carter used a radio call-in microphone today to tell the folks along the Mississippi River in Iowa and Illinois that "we're all in it together" and he needs their help on energy.

Carter walked a block from the riverfront to the radio station. After the show, he attended a reception for local officials at the home of an early Carter supporter in 1976 and headed for a John Deere farm implement plant in Moline, Ill., across the Mississippi, to inspect an energy-saving project.

Answering telephoned questions at radio stations WXLV-FM and KSST-AM in Davenport, Carter told Keith Royal of Davenport that his is the first administration to challenge the enormous power of the oil lobby in Congress.

"If the consumers of the country, including people like you, Keith, will speak up ... then we'll have a windfall profits tax," he said.

He told another caller that public officials need the support of the people. "It's very encouraging to a president to come to a place like Davenport, Moline — the Quad Cities area — and have someone like you express your support in me," Carter said.

"I thank you very much. I'll try to do you a good job."

"The government can't do it alone," he said in concluding the show. "There must be a dedication and a determination on the part of every single American to do one's part."

The program couldn't have been more folksy. When a little girl named Mary called in, Carter told her, "I wish you could come and see (his daughter) Amy before we leave here."

The president put his comments on a first-name, person-to-person basis. He wound up by saying, as it was time to go, "I see Amy peeking through the door."

Carter also promised to keep pressing for enactment of the Equal Rights Amendment and rejoiced in the crowds he's been seeing along the course of his Mississippi River cruise.

"I just saw you down at the dock and it was wonderful," said a woman from Rock Island, Ill.

"That was a very large and a very enthusiastic crowd," Carter replied.

He announced earlier today a $29.7 million federal program designed to encourage conservation and use of renewable energy resources, and he took the occasion to say what that will mean for Iowa and Illinois if Congress agrees.

He said of the $29.7 million to be distributed nationwide Illinois would be getting $980,000 and Iowa $430,000 under a subsidy formula based on population.

"Out of this money will come advice for you and other families on how you can meet this added burden and save energy," he told listener Leon King of Burlington, Iowa.

Another caller, Cindy Wolf of Davenport, asked Carter what the average person could do about rising energy prices.

She told the president: "I'm just a little person. OPEC (the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) is simply a four-letter word that we talk about at the dinner table. I need to know something I can do very simply ..."

American strength still on the farm — Reagan Brown

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

ST. LAWRENCE — America's strength lies in its rural areas, where agriculture is foremost, Reagan Brown, commissioner of the Texas Agriculture Department, told an estimated 500 farmers and their families here Monday night.

"We need to build (more) St. Lawrences — the little communities. That's where our strength is," Brown said.

He was feature speaker at the annual barbecue supper-meeting of the St. Lawrence Cotton Growers Association, made up of some 200 fami-

California is ahead of us, and they've got lots of English walnuts," he said.

Brown's spirited talk, except for the jokes, bordered on an old-fashioned tent-revival preaching in its enthusiasm.

"The Holy Bible says, 'Stir the spirit,'" and Brown said he was out to do just that in the name of Texas agriculture.

He said he and his staff are flying to California this week to see what farmers in that state are doing in terms of production.

"We're going to be No. 1 in agriculture," he said. "Agriculture is our No. 1 strength."

"Nothing ever happens in America

Brown said his intent is to make Texas No. 1 in agricultural production. "We're going to be No. 1, maybe this year. We passed Iowa... and only California is ahead of us, and they've got lots of English walnuts."

U.S. may not offer resolution

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Carter vacationing on the Mississippi River, his senior advisers gathered at the White House today to plan American strategy for the U.N. debate on the Palestinian issue.

That strategy, admitted Robert Strauss, the president's special Mideast negotiator, may be to offer no U.S. proposal whatsoever.

Strauss told reporters on his return from Israel and Egypt Monday that he found "considerable hesitation" in both countries about a number of possible American approaches he suggested in talks with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

"We might conclude to do nothing," Strauss said.

This would appear to be in accord with Israel's strong resistance to any U.S.-led effort to modify longstanding Security Council resolutions on the Mideast. Somewhat surprisingly, Strauss found Egypt backing the Israeli view, possibly because a U.S. split with the Begin government could upset continuing peace talks.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale chaired the meeting with Strauss, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Zbigniew Brzezinski, the president's national security adviser. Vance interrupted his vacation at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., to try to settle on a U.S. position in time for the opening of the U.N. debate Thursday in New York.

Strauss ended his mission without blaming either Israel or Egypt for the U.S. dilemma. He called them "good and strong partners" in the peace process and said he found they were making even more progress in their own negotiations than he had expected.

But as to the Security Council debate, where the United States is likely to face strong Arab demands to acknowledge Palestinian "rights," Strauss said he returned without any recommendation for Carter.

"I do not know what he is going to decide," the special envoy said. The goal of the White House meeting is to produce recommendations for Carter's approval by Thursday morning.

Already ruled out is any U.S. support for Palestinian statehood. Carter is on record against it and, in any event, the administration would risk a break with Israel if it did not veto any resolution calling for a Palestinian state.

However, one approach weighed by Strauss in the Middle East was a U.S. resolution supporting Palestinian "rights" but not defining them. Statehood proponents could then claim U.S. backing, but that would be a matter of their own interpretation.

Security Council resolutions on the Middle East implicitly recognize Israel's right to exist within defensible borders and deal with the Palestinian issue wholly as a refugee problem.

Official U.S. policy since 1975 has prohibited any negotiations with the Palestine Liberation Organization, seen by most Arab nations as the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinians, until the PLO recognizes Israel's right to exist. The policy was adopted at Israel's insistence.

lies in and around the St. Lawrence, Midkiff, Stiles, Garden City and Benedum communities.

St. Lawrence is about 45 miles southeast of Midland.

Brown, who peppered his comments with country-humor jokes about preachers, Aggies, farmers, a Monsignor and a dead turtle, said Texas farmers personify the work ethic.

"If you don't work, you don't eat," said the 57-year-old commissioner. "I believe that."

"If you're farmers, you've got to produce, to sell," Brown said. "There are hungry people in this world, and they've got our dollars."

Brown said his intent is to make Texas No. 1 in agricultural production. Currently, the state is in the No. 2 slot in agricultural output behind California.

"We're going to be No. 1, maybe this year. We passed Iowa... and only unless we sell something."

Brown lauded rural residents. "And common folks like you and me are builders of eternity."

Brown classified humanity in groups: "You are either a stepping stone or you are a stumbling block."

Brown, who grew up on a farm in East Texas, said he felt comfortable mingling with country people.

"If I didn't fit in with you farmers and your kind of people, I don't know where I would fit in."

Despite what economists and seers predict, Brown said he envisions a bright future for America.

"We've got the greatest country in the world. We've got the greatest strength. We got the greatest military (force). The only one thing that can beat us is ourselves."

Brown said he views America's future optimistically.

"If you get to the point in your life where you think there's not a future — only the past — you're in sad shape."

Brown said the country is not in trouble as concerns pollution.

"We've got clean air and water," Brown related that to his multiple functions as Texas' agriculture commissioner.

"We are guarding our environ-

Second oil slick assault expected

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Leaders of an oil spill task force say they'll use an expected two-day "cease-fire" in the advance of history's largest oil spill to prepare for a second assault.

Coast Guard officials Monday night said reconnaissance flights showed only "a couple" of patches of sheen within 80 miles of the 100-mile-long Padre Island, which took a major greasing last week.

Huge concentrations of the crude oil from a crippled Mexican offshore well cover thousands of square miles of the western Gulf of Mexico, but remain more than 100 miles south of Texas. The northerly flow of the oil is expected to stall at least until Wednesday as winds and currents calm.

"It looks like we may be in for a period of two to three days with nothing significant coming out to the beaches," said Coast Guard Capt. Roger Madson, commander of the task force.

An official of Pemex, the Mexican government oil company that was drilling the Ixtoc I well in the Bay of Campeche, said Monday that the company hopes to cap the well this week — more than three weeks ahead of schedule. The well blew out June 3.

On Padre Island, more than 100 laborers, armed with rakes, shovels and plastic trash bags, worked Monday to clean the goo from dozens of miles of multi-million-dollar Texas tourist beaches fouled last week.

The oil has washed up on more than 50 miles of the glistening white beaches, cutting tourism by about 50 percent during peak vacation time, according to Chamber of Commerce officials.

The Coast Guard is taking initial steps toward defending the difficult two-mile-wide Cavallo Pass into Matagorda Bay, some 100 miles up the coast from Corpus Christi. Officials have also begun strategy for the defense of Galveston Bay, just southeast of Houston.

The defense strategy is to sacrifice beaches on the barrier islands and protect the inlets into fertile bays and lagoons, which could be devastated by the oil. The inland bays harbor many rare species of wildlife and are breeding grounds for shrimp and other key commercial marine life.

Why the high cost of the Emergency Medical Service operated by the city of Midland? — S.E.S.

ANSWER: According to Glen Harris, training chief of the Midland Fire Department, officer in charge of the Emergency Medical Service, cost is determined by the operational expenses of the service, including the cost of drugs, fuel, maintenance, salaries, etc.

"Due to the expense involved, the city is unable to operate free ambulance service, unfortunately," Harris said.

Charge for an ambulance trip to the hospital in Midland is $40. The charge is the same for transfer from, say, one hospital to another. For out-of-city transfers, the cost remains at $40, plus $1 for every mile to the destination, with a $15 charge for the return trip, said Harris.

"In cases where the ambulance is contacted for a trip to a local doctor's office, in situations when the ambulance is asked to stand by, there is a $25 per hour waiting fee," he said.

The city currently has five ambulances, with one smaller model designated exclusively for transfers because of its fuel economy. There are 18 staff members, including paramedics or emergency medical technicians, who operate on three shifts.

Collections for the ambulance services are made by the city of Midland, not by the Emergency Medical Service staff.

My neighbors next door have two large dogs, they look like Great Danes. They are huge and they have five puppies, which are almost as large as an average dog.

And these dogs jump upon my fence and they are sleeping on my side and have dug the dirt out from under the fence. I am a widow woman and cannot get anyone to do work for me, and if I could, it costs money.

They let the pups out at night and you should see the mess. I can't go on that side of the house. They jump up on my fence and act like they could eat me up. The fence is swaying now.

Please tell me what to do. I'm not picky, but I am neat, and these dogs should be in the country. — I.M.

ANSWER: Suggest you contact the Midland Police Department, 683-4281, and relate your problem to the dispatcher. The department will send an officer to talk with the neighbors in question and attempt to remedy the situation. There is a city ordinance which prohibits owners of dogs from allowing them to run free. They are to be kept in the yards or homes or on leashes.

I have noticed children hitting tennis balls against a chain link fence surrounding tennis courts at Ulmer Park.

Are the city tennis courts locked for security or other reasons? Seems that if the courts are for public use, the gates should not be locked to prevent children from using the backboard and courts inside. — T.N.

ANSWER: Wayne Kohout, director of the city of Midland Parks and Recreation Department, was contacted and he sent a man immediately to check the gates at the Ulmer Park courts, and they were unlocked.

Kohout said the courts are locked only when there has to be maintenance work done, and it has been a year since the gates at Ulmer were locked for this reason. Maybe the gates just appeared to be locked to the children, or, maybe, they prefer the volley returns from a chain link fence.

"We certainly don't want any of the gates to city tennis courts locked to prevent their use. However, there are some courts located next to Wadley-Barron Park which are locked, but these are privately owned," Kohout said.

$4 million hail damage reported to cotton crop in Stanton area

By BILL MODISETT and DAVID CAMPBELL
Staff Writers

Hail battered farmlands near Stanton late Monday afternoon, causing an estimated $4 million in damage to the farmers' cotton crop there.

Rain and hail also hit Midland, Garden City, Andrews and Lamesa, reports this morning indicated.

Hail in the Stanton area followed a one-inch rainfall that began about 5:25 p.m. Monday, according to reports.

Bob Deavenport, manager of the Farm Bureau Insurance Service in Stanton, today said the hail — reportedly ranging from marble-size to golf ball-size — damaged cotton on some 10,000 to 15,000 acres in Martin County.

The hail reportedly followed a path starting at Stanton and moving northwest.

Deavenport said the cotton crop was extremely good before the hail-storm and estimated losses due to the hail at $400 per acre.

A Stanton city official said hail and high wind in that community caused damage to rooftops, fences and trees, and blew down a construction project on the city's north side.

Winds were estimated at 60-70 mph.

Three storms actually hit the city, the official said. Storms came from the east, west and south, the official recalled, bringing rain, high winds and hail. The storms subsided about 10 or 10:30 p.m.

Roy Gossett, a Stanton cotton farmer, today said the hail hurt most cotton crops in that area including his.

"I had some hail insurance," said

Gossett, "but it's not like making money."

A spokesman for the Dawson County Farm Bureau said a hailstorm in the northwestern part of that county early Monday morning caused severe damage to crops.

No estimates on monetary value of the damage had been given by this

Tarzan store, customers still 'a little bit country'

TARZAN — Bonnie "Bon" White had the plain markings of a farmer when he leisurely made his way into the grocery-hardware store to pick up the afternoon newspaper.

He was dressed in his everyday wear: striped overalls, long-sleeve shirt, blue denim cap and soft-soled shoes.

He seemed at home. The farm land he has lived on for the past half century is his type of country.

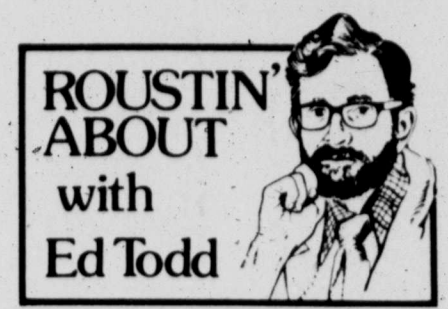

White appeared in no particular hurry for a 79-year-old farmer who laid down the plow six years ago and quit working.

He had tilled the land season after season, but its year-to-year resilience had outlasted his.

"I'm retired," White said, after he had rolled up the newspaper and was heading back home to Nova, his wife of 40-odd years. "I'm not only retired; I'm tired."

The store, Tarzan Oil & Gas, is a cross between a cified convenience store and a country hardware store; it's more city than country.

The place is operated by J.B. Shewmake, who is known as "The Little Dutchman." He is also the Lenorah Baptist Church preacher, a bus driver, attendance officer and occasional substitute teacher for the Grady Independent School District midway between Lenorah and Tarzan, and proprietor of the Little Dutchman antique store at Tarzan, which is northwest of Stanton in Martin County.

ROUSTIN ABOUT with Ed Todd

"we got by."

GETTING BY in this relatively wet season is Gleen Holloway, who has lived at Tarzan all of his life.

"I was born and raised here. I haven't been here as long as Bon (White), though," he said.

He raises "straight cotton."

Holloway, generally speaking, said rains this year have been timely before and after planting, and crop prospects appear profitable.

"It's looking real good. Looks like we might make a little," he said.

"In spots," murmured White.

"Yeah, in spots," Holloway agreed.

The rains, though they may not have fully blanketed the countryside, were welcomed.

"It's not too often that rain hurts us, but occasionally it does," White allowed. "It's usually the lack of rain that hurts us."

"It's been a good year, so far," commented Holloway. "Some of us got hailed out."

BEGINNING IN 1936, farmers in this part of the country began switching their teams of mules and work horses and started driving tractors. Instead of growing fodder for their beasts of burden, they bought fuel for their chugging machines.

"Tractors were unknown in this country," he said. But when the green John Deere and the red McCormick (International Harvester) Farmall and other tractors started breaking into the farm market here, they caught on like wildfire.

"And they got to running (selling) awfully fast when they got to this part of the country," said White.

"Why sure, I think we've got as good a country as you can find," he said.

"Listen, I'm not bragging. People come through here and wonder how we can make a living, and I think the same thing when I go through their country."

"There's no perfect country, in my opinion, and there's a lot worse than this country."

White recalled the imperfect years of the 1950s, when the seven-year drought hit the Southwest.

"It's the dry years that always hurt this country, and not just this place, but everywhere."

"Well," White said after a pause,

AFTER AWHILE, White and Holloway left the store. Nelson had already headed home.

It was getting toward supper time, and farm workers, fresh from chopping (hoeing) cotton, flocked into the store to buy soft drinks and sweets.

They left as soon as Shewmake, the preaching "Little Dutchman," could check them out with his electronic cash register.

And in came Albert Rivas, a slender backhoe operator wearing a black Western hat. He picked up a can of cola and a package of cookies at the store.

"Thank you, Brother Shewmake," said Rivas.

"See you again, son," said the merchant.

Shewmake checked out, locked up and, like the others, went home.

Second victim in four days killed as bank robbery rate increases

NEW YORK (AP) — A 23-year-old bank teller is the latest fatality in an exploding New York City bank robbery rate. Holdups have occurred recently at the rate of five a day — more than 100 in three weeks.

Daniel Tishman was gunned down Monday during the sixth robbery in three years at the same branch of the European American Bank, police said. The robber, who wore a monkey mask, got away with $2,435.

He was the second victim of a bank robbery suspect here in four days. A police officer was gunned down Friday. Two other policemen have been wounded this month.

Meanwhile, across town on Monday, a gun-wielding bandit walked out of a Citibank branch with $2,600, police said, and about $1,800 from a Chemical Bank branch was handed over to a man who had written on a paper bag: "Would you like to cash this check?"

Two other attempts were unsuccessful — one leading to the arrest of a suspect and the other abruptly ending when a teller fell to the floor after reading the would-be robber's note.

The sharp upsurge in bank robberies in New York, which has outpaced the escalating robbery rate across the nation, led the FBI and city police to form a 30-man task force to deal with bank heists.

The unit was set up this month following a record-breaking 125 bank robberies here in July, including 14 in one day. The previous one-month record was 84 in August 1977. More than 100 have occurred already this month, according to police.

Nationwide, the bank robbery rate has been climbing for years, but the increases are getting steeper — 12 percent for 1978 and a projected 12 percent for this year, the FBI says.

The FBI said there were 456 bank robberies in New York in the first seven months of this year compared with 358 for the same period in 1978 — a 27.3 increase.

Tishman was the third bank employee shot in New York in three years. Across the nation, 13 persons were killed in holdups last year, four of them bank employees.

Police theorized Tishman may have been moving too slowly for the robber, who became impatient and shot him. Others said the sound of a bank security camera recording the robbery may have startled the bandit into pulling the trigger.

"No one knows why he shot him," said bank spokeswoman Betsy Goldsmith. "The young man was doing exactly as he was told, but he may not have moved fast enough."

A police officer chasing a robbery suspect Friday was the second New York City officer killed in the line of duty this year.

Officer Thomas Schimenti, 35, was fatally wounded, and a detective, Gregory Demetriou, 31, was seriously wounded in an exchange of gunfire before the suspect was arrested.

Police said Peter Donohue, 37, was suspected of involvement in two bank heists within an hour of the shootings. Donohue, a convicted bank robber who had been living at a halfway house while awaiting parole, has been charged with murder.

On Aug. 3, Officer John Snidersich, 29, was wounded by gunfire from a bank robbery suspect who was captured after he was shot by Snidersich's partner. The suspect later died.

That shooting occurred on the same day that the city's biggest cash bank haul was taken from a vault in a Bankers Trust branch in Rockefeller Center. Four men and a woman teller at the bank have been charged in connection with that holdup.

Reasons for the upsurge, according to authorities, range from the economic situation to drugs, but many say a lack of security measures on the part of the banks is the principal reason bank robbery is attractive to thieves.

They cite the opening of small branches in shopping centers, along highways that provide quick get-aways; steps to improve the banking "image" by removing wire-mesh barriers, teller windows and other old-fashioned security measures; and the fact that fewer and fewer banks have armed guards.

Divers recover several items from sand-covered Monitor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Divers have claimed their biggest bag of artifacts — a pepper shaker, a soap dish and a brass hinge — from the wreckage of the Civil War ironclad Monitor.

Expedition officials reported here Monday the items were sifted out of the three-foot layer of sand that has drifted over sections of the vessel, lying 220 feet deep in the Atlantic Ocean off Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Archeologists have made almost daily dives to the 172-foot ship since the current expedition began Aug. 1. They have been methodical in vacuuming away the sand, and before the latest finds, they had located only a glass mustard bottle. But last week, officials said they were close to what they believed would be a major artifact layer.

The excavation is concentrated in a 25-foot-square area of the captain's cabin, an area that is accessible because the hull there has been ripped away, apparently by depth charges dropped by Navy ships hunting German submarines during World War II.

The divers hope to find a paymaster's safe, personal items of the captain, cabin furnishings and other items that will tell more about Navy life a century ago.

The glass pepper shaker is about five inches high and has "U.S. Navy" on one side and "pepper" on the other. The soap dish is made of porcelain, and the brass hinge is of a type that might have been on a cabinet.

Governor of Illinois signs legislation to raise state's legal drinking age

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Ending a six-year experiment, Gov. James R. Thompson has signed legislation that will return the state's legal drinking age for beer and wine from 19 to 21 at midnight Dec. 31.

The action, announced Monday by the governor's office, will make New Year's Eve the last night that 19- and 20-year-olds can legally purchase and consume beer and wine in Illinois.

"They'll be in violation (if they drink) after midnight," said Rep. Ralph Dunn, House sponsor of the measure.

The law also bars the state's 92 "home rule" local units of government, which normally have special governing powers under the Illinois Constitution, from establishing their own alternate legal drinking ages.

The legal drinking age for beer and wine will thus return to where it was in 1973, before it was lowered by the Legislature amid pressure to give the right to drink to young men old enough to serve in Vietnam.

The following is a timetable listing neighborhood loading points, destinations, bus designations and times of morning departure and afternoon arrival back at home neighborhood. Not listed are rural bus schedules.

Real homicide problem

"Houston goes a day without a killing" said the headline on a Houston datelined story stating that for the first time in six days Houston went through a 24-hour period without a slaying.

But then only two or three days later another news release out of Houston reported that Mayor Jim McConn, shocked at the death of four young children, said that Houston's murder statistics are "completely out of hand."

The children, three of them bound hand and foot, were found in a southeast Houston home-investigators said had been set afire deliberately.

An arson investigator was quoted as saying, "It was definitely arson and they were definitely killed."

Houston, incidentally, has had 388 murders this year compared with 265 during the same period last year.

And all this has taken place in Houston, right here in the Lone Star State — not in some big city in the North or East. No wonder the mayor of Houston is shocked. All residents of Houston — and of Texas, for that matter — undoubtedly are shocked at this development.

It also was reported that the nude, headless body of a woman was found July 27 in a southwest Houston complex where a second woman was found murdered the previous week.

The rash of killings has prompted the Houston chief of police to bolster the city's overworked homicide division and to devise plans to strengthen the division. He said, however, that police cannot control the murder rate because the city is growing rapidly and because many of the victims are killed by friends or relatives during quarrels. He said 13 of the 17 victims during a recent week-end were minorities. He described the situation as a "tragic indictment of the subculture of violence in our city."

Mayor McConn, however, said he is not ready to seek state police help as did the city government of Atlanta, Ga.

"First of all, we are trying something inside the city," he explained.

He said a group of behavioral scientists from area universities is preparing to work with the police chief to analyze the city's murder problems.

Hopefully, Houston can and will come up with a plan to curb this most disturbing problem — disturbing not only to the people of Houston but to all Texans as well.

CHARLEY REESE

Judges who think they are God 'cause the trouble'

By CHARLEY REESE
Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. — I think we had better amend the Constitution and shorten the term of federal judges.

When you look at the situation without any pretenses, you can see the truth and that is that federal judgeships are just another case of political patronage. It's the only lifetime political job available.

Furthermore, the country has changed. It used to be that courts used a strict construction of the law approach. In those days, all you had to worry about was whether the guy was honest and reasonably intelligent. Today, however, judges make decisions on the basis of what is socially desirable and since that's a matter of pure opinion, you have to worry about the guy's ideology and other quirky beliefs.

For example, some judges in some areas have recently ruled that prison officials have to provide special diets for Jewish and Muslim convicts. Now that's a dumb decision, for by being prisoners, they stand convicted of having violated their own religion's laws.

One especially dumb judge even ruled that prison officials had to recognize a church the cons made up all by themselves, the purpose of which is obviously to disrupt the prison system.

Charley Reese

One reason our society isn't functioning too well these days is that federal judges have not shown much discrimination in deciding which cases they will hear and have played it deuces wild interpreting the Constitution.

States are hampered in applying the death penalty because federal judges issue last minute stays on the flimsiest excuses in cases which have been up and down the appeal process 85 times.

When you have judges who decide that a crowded prison constitutes cruel and inhuman punishment and then take it upon themselves to decide precisely how many prisoners a state can house, then you have government by whim and fantasy to say nothing of usurpation of the principle of separation of power.

A strict constructionist judge would have quite reasonably ruled that the men who wrote in the prohibition against cruel and inhuman punishment clearly had in mind torture and bizarre forms of execution, not forcing a man to sleep on a cot in a tent which millions of Americans do voluntarily as a form of recreation.

In short, the quality of the appointments to the federal bench has declined greatly in the last few years since the quality of the recommenders and appointers has declined considerably in the last few years.

President Carter, for example, will have a chance to appoint over 150 judges thanks to a new law the Congress passed — a law, by the way, the Democrats kept bottled up all the years Republicans controlled the White House.

Mr. Carter, of course, does not have a shining record in personnel matters. Anybody whose first choices are Andy Young, Bam Jordan, Jody Powell, and Bert Lance is apt to appoint anybody to the federal bench and I, for one, don't fancy facing 40 years of Carterite judicial power.

We could amend the Constitution so that supreme court and appellate judges have to be reconfirmed every six years or they're out. We could also provide that in the case of district judges, that the people in their district could have an opportunity to vote a binding yes or no every six years.

Most reformists talk about taking politics out of the judicial process, but that is pure hogwash. There's no way to do it so long as a politician is doing the appointing. These so-called judicial qualifications outfits which screen applicants and recommend nominees are just eyewash for the common people.

Besides there's nothing wrong with a judge being a politician just as long as the people have a chance to throw him out. It's not the politicians on the bench who cause the trouble; it's the ones who think they are God.

IT HAPPENED HERE

30 YEARS AGO (August 21, 1949):

Emil C. Rassman, Midland attorney, will leave Sunday for Washington, D.C., where he will appear as counsel for the states of Texas and California in hearings before congressional committees upon the Tidelands bills which have been introduced in Congress.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Peace Corpsman held by guerrillas

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The pre-dawn stillness of Feb. 14, 1977, in the tiny Colombian village of La Macarena was shattered by the staccato crack of automatic rifle fire and the deeper concussion of exploding hand grenades. Richard Starr, a blond, 29-year-old Peace Corps botanist, was awakened by the frightening racket.

Guerrillas of the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia (FARC) had attacked La Macarena and overpowered the village's small police garrison. "Don't make a move or we'll kill you!" the rebel troops — some no more than adolescents — shouted repeatedly in approved movie-land bandito style.

But their melodramatic technique was no adolescent game — they had real guns. When they learned that Starr was an American, they brusquely ordered him to get into his hiking gear; he was going with them.

It was months before their bewildered captive was heard from, and he is still, apparently, being held by the guerrillas in hopes that they can extract some ransom for his release. What the FARC doesn't realize is that while, by their standards of poverty, any American can be considered worth holding for ransom, Starr does not come from a wealthy family.

His 65-year-old mother, Charlotte Jensen of Edmonds, Wash., told our associate Jack Mitchell that she had to sell her car and other possessions to raise several thousand dollars she spent on four trips to Colombia hoping in vain to gain her son's release. Starr's Peace Corps employers have now agreed to reimburse Mrs. Jensen for the costly trips.

Communications from Starr, presumably being held deep in the mountain jungles of Colombia, have been infrequent in the two and a half years he has been kept prisoner. Mrs. Jensen last heard from him on March 23 of this year, when he wrote to ask for medicine and reading matter.

"My situation here is very difficult," Starr wrote his mother. "I'm losing my sense of reality."

Having failed to make any progress through official U.S. and Colombian channels, Mrs. Jensen appealed to us for help. She hopes that somehow the guerrillas will read this. She wants to emphasize that she is in no position to raise a substantial ransom for her son — which intermediaries make clear the FARC hopes to get.

It is the absence of hard information that bothers Mrs. Jensen the most at this point. She asked us to convey this message to her son's kidnappers: "Please give me some assurance or proof that Richard is still alive and well. Surely you can do that much for a mother."

Starr's predicament parallels that of Ohio businessman William Niehous, who was held for more than three years in the jungles of Venezuela by leftist revolutionaries. The Niehous ordeal ended happily: Shortly after his abductors contacted us with proof of his well-being, he was rescued by Venezuelan police who inadvertently stumbled on his kidnappers' hideaway by accident.

Niehous is now home with his family in Toledo, recovering from his 40-month ordeal.

But the chances of a happy ending for Starr are complicated by the differences in the two men's situation. Niehous was an executive of a large American corporation that was willing to pay an exorbitant sum to get him back safely. Mrs. Jensen is even more anxious to help her son, but she is in no position to pay the kind of ransom the guerrillas seem to want.

As in the Niehous case, we have been asked to act as intermediaries for the safe return of Richard Starr. We want the FARC to know that we will travel anywhere in the world to meet with them — no governments involved — in hopes of negotiating Starr's release.

SOVIET GIVEAWAY: We recently wrote that the Russians had been able to purchase multimillion-dollar American computers for a truck plant that was probably also turning out military hardware in contravention of U.S. export controls.

Secret testimony of a top Commerce Department official indicated that the Nixon administration had winked at the violation because of Henry Kissinger's desire for detente with the Soviet Union.

Shortly after the column appeared, Jimmy Carter's commerce secretary, Juanita Kreps, confirmed the facts in a letter to Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., chairman of the House subcommittee that had heard the testimony.

But like a lioness protecting a threatened cub, Kreps sprang to the defense of her department. She complained that the committee testimony had led to stories "implying that Soviet military capability has been helped as a result of an apparent lack of vigilance by this department."

This, Kreps said, "is in error."

No "diversion" of the plant's operation had occurred, she pointed out with unarguable bureaucratic logic, because the export license issued by Commerce "contained no restrictions which we can identify limiting the use of trucks and engines produced at the factory."

Because of this paperwork oversight, the Soviets' use of the plant for military purposes did not constitute a "violation."

What Kreps did not deal with in her letter was the heart of the testimony by Lawrence Brady, then acting director of Commerce's Office of Export Control — that the office was "a total shambles" and the export controls aren't "worth the paper they're written on." And she denied that Brady had been "demoted" as a result of his explosive testimony, despite the fact that he was reprimanded and removed from his position as acting director.

A mighty long time

Spending half a century in the newspaper profession is quite an achievement in itself, but being associated with one newspaper for almost 51 years is even more significant.

Yet this is exactly what James B. "Jim" Oswald accomplished prior to his recent retirement as general manager of the Plainview Daily Herald.

His associates on the Plainview newspaper honored him at a retirement party last Wednesday. Jim Oswald most certainly merit ed the special recognition.

Jim Oswald's life, as stated in a Daily Herald editorial, has been the Plainview Daily Herald. He joined the newspaper's staff on March 15, 1929, as an advertising salesman, later serving as advertising manager, business manager, and, for the last five years, general manager.

And through the years, he had found time to devote to civic affairs and community progress.

All best wishes are directed to Jim Oswald in his well-earned retirement.

Good news, indeed

Believe-it-or-not, good news can and does come out of Washington, D.C., on occasion.

For instance, Congress established a highly commendable record in the first quarter of 1979. It passed only eight bills — the smallest number in any comparable period in 40 years. This is great!

INSIDE REPORT:

Soviet naval task force said steaming toward Cuban waters

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Moscow is about to drop another Caribbean bombshell on Jimmy Carter, proving that the Kremlin has few worries that its increasingly aggressive posture south of the U.S. border will cost it presidential goodwill or Senate ratification of the new strategic arms treaty (SALT II).

Now steaming toward Cuban and Central American waters, a Soviet naval task force — considered the most provocative yet to cross the Atlantic and enter the Caribbean Sea — is due in Cuba's port of Cienfuegos this week. Military intelligence officers believe the task force, including a guided missile cruiser of the Cresta II class and a Krivak class guided missile frigate, will show the communist flag in a series of port calls including Nicaragua. Post-revolutionary Nicaragua is now under left-wing political control.

Moscow is clearly aiming at a worldwide political coup: humiliate the U.S. That will surely happen if Moscow is right in assuming the Carter administration will turn a blind eye and do nothing. Moscow sees Carter as too weak to risk confrontation that could blow the new SALT treaty out of the Senate.

Indeed, Soviet leaders seem to be following a prepared script of even less cautious escalation in army, naval and air penetration of the Caribbean through its ally Cuba. Pausing for the expected angry U.S. reaction after each step in the escalation, the Kremlin gets none. The blind eye turned by Washington leads to the next step of escalation.

What makes the Soviet naval task force particularly intriguing is the impossibility of concealment and the plans, suspected but not yet proved, to move it around the sea from Cuba's Cienfuegos to the other new island countries under anti-capitalist, left-wing rule, including Grenada.

That could be more provocation than President Carter cares to take. But worried Democrats are far from certain. Sen. Richard Stone of Florida, whose vote on SALT II could go either way without damaging his reelection campaign, warned the president in a private Aug. 10 letter that Cuba has boasted of its plans "to export revolution" throughout the Caribbean. Stone's letter was delivered to the White House before U.S. intelligence knew about the Soviet naval task force.

Stone has carefully studied the Caibbean crisis. He says privately that Carter will gain far more SALT II votes in the Senate, including his own, by standing up publicly to Soviet provocations in the Caribbean than by pretending there are none. A strong demonstration by the president that the U.S. will not tolerate free-wheeling Soviet political aggression in the U.S. backyard would reassure SALT skeptics, not turn them against the treaty, in Stone's view.

So far, Carter has passed up one chance after another to put the U.S. spine on display, including the Soviet dispatch to Cuba of some two dozen Antonov-26 transport planes, reported here for the first time. These troop carriers are known to have been delivered recently to Fidel Castro's Cuba, possibly flown in by Soviet pilots. Their highly restricted range — around 600 miles without refueling — rules them out for any imaginable service in Cuba's far-flung African adventures.

That leaves only two foreseeable uses: to ferry Cuba's own military and the growing force of Soviet military planners, advisers and possibly combat-ready troops around the inside of Cuba; to ferry them from Cuba to tempting political targets outside Cuba. These include anti-communist Central American countries El Salvador, Honduras, Guatemala and Costa Rica.

Pentagon analysts and some other key presidential advisers see only one possible explanation: a joint Moscow-Havana decision to be ready when the right moment comes to strike another blow for communism anywhere in the Caribbean.

The steady, escalating buildup of Soviet-Cuban army, navy and air (plus a new, first-ever commercial air route between Moscow and Jamaica) has proceeded without any public sign that the Carter White House will soon call a halt. Instead, presidential rhetoric seems stuck on a different needle: to persuade American voters, and the world, that the buildup is not what it seems to be and must not be allowed to lead to provocative American response.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

New drug may dissolve gallstones

Dear Dr. Solomon: My sister had x-rays taken recently for an unrelated condition and they showed that she has gallstones. Her doctor says that surgery is not indicated at present. He also told her that it may soon be possible to get rid of gallstones without surgery. Would you know what he is referring to?—Ms. K.M.

Dear Ms. M.: A drug called chenodeoxycholic acid (chenic acid, for short), which is a natural component of bile, is currently being tested in this country to see if it can dissolve gallstones composed of cholesterol (the most common type of gallstones). Although the drug is not now available in the United States, it has already been approved for use in 25 different countries around the world.

Removal of the gallbladder (cholecystectomy), like any surgery, involves a certain amount of risk. It is hoped that this risk can be avoided if an alternative treatment can be found that proves effective and safe. Moreover, surgery does not guarantee a cure, since as many as 15 percent of patients may still have symptoms after the operation.

Early results of the study being done in this country indicate that chenic acid can dissolve stones within six to 18 months in about 60 percent of patients; however, in some patients the stones reformed after the drug was discontinued. One favorable finding is that adverse side effects are rare, the only one noted so far being a mild diarrhea.

While these studies continue, a second drug, ursodeoxycholic acid, which also is a natural component of bile, has been found to be as effective as chenic acid. It also appears that even the mild diarrhea is not a factor when this drug is used. One drawback to the use of either drug is a lack of knowledge about their long-term effectiveness and possible hazards.

Still another new method for the nonsurgical treatment of gallstones involves insertion of a flexible scope through the digestive tract. With this procedure, called endoscopic papillotomy, stones are grasped and removed from the bile duct. The technique was developed by German and Japanese researchers, and only a handful of physicians in the United States are trained to use it.

Endoscopy is indicated primarily for patients too sick to have surgery, and for those who have already had surgery but in whom stones have reappeared or reformed in the bile duct.

Dear Dr. Solomon: My husband has hay fever, and his father had it too. Is it probable that our children will suffer from it?—Mrs. E.L.

Dear Mrs. L.: Hay fever is caused by an allergic reaction, and allergies do appear to run in families. If a parent has allergies, there is an increased chance (though by no means a certainty) that their children may also develop them.

Legal experts seek solution to India's latest political crisis

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — President Neelam Sanjiva Reddy began rounds of meetings with legal experts today to find a solution to the political crisis touched off by Prime Minister Charan Singh's resignation.

Reddy's main choices are between ordering a mid-term election, as requested by Singh, and asking former Defense Minister Jagjivan Ram, leader of the single largest party, to try to form a government, a source in the president's office said.

The source, who asked not to be named, said a decision was expected by Wednesday morning.

Reddy consulted first with Attorney General Lalnarayan Sinha and was scheduled to meet later with Nani Palkivala, the constitutional lawyer who until recently was an ambassador to Washington, a presidential aide said. Palkivala has told the press that Singh's advice was not binding in the given situation.

While resigning, Singh claimed that Reddy was still constitutionally bound to his advice that a mid-term poll be called. Although now a caretaker prime minister, appointed by the president, Singh said that the constitution makes no distinction between an elected prime minister and a caretaker one.

Singh stepped down Monday before a confidence vote which would have led to certain defeat since former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's party decided to oppose the 23-day-old government. He said he would rather quit than submit to Mrs. Gandhi's "black-mail."

Singh accused followers of Mrs. Gandhi of offering to swap their parliamentary support for a halt in prosecution of her son, Sanjay, and other figures of the 1975-77 state of emergency.

"Some things are more valuable than a mere prime ministership," Singh said. "We had no choice but to reject support from quarters which sought interference in the normal functioning of the judiciary."

Substitute for Brains

By Alfred Sheinwold
Moderation is a good substitute for brains. You can't fall down if you stay on the floor.

South used the Blackwood Convention to learn that North had an ace and a king, but then South still didn't know how high to bid. If South had bid a moderate six spades, North could go on to seven or pass, depending on his strength, but when South jumped to seven North was just a bystander.

Playing as he had bid, South ran five rounds of trumps in the hope of inducing a bad discard or two. Actually, East had no trouble deciding to save clubs; and West was equally determined to save hearts. Down one.

SHOULD MAKE SLAM
South should draw two rounds of trumps, cash the top clubs and run the diamonds to discard a club. He then ruffs a club, returns to dummy with the king of spades and cashes the last club to discard his losing heart.

Even a bad contract deserves a reasonable line of play.

COSTA RICA
SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Costa Rica's government is considering plans to round up terrorists and subversive foreigners and throw them out of the country after expelling a Soviet diplomat and barring another from returning.

There are a large number of Chileans, Argentines, Brazilians and Salvadorans in Costa Rica who have participated in terrorist activities and subversion in their own countries, a government official who asked not to be identified said Monday.

The detention of these foreigners would be the second step the government of President Rodrigo Carazo has taken to stop subversives who allegedly have been infiltrating a strike by some 5,000 public employees in the Atlantic port city of Limon.

Carazo announced Sunday that Yuri Chernich, first secretary at the Soviet Embassy, and Alexander Mordovets, the agricultural attache, had been declared persona non grata.

Although the president did not specifically tie the Russians to the strike, the government has been complaining during the last several days that foreign governments have been helping to incite port workers.

Israel violates visa agreement: minister

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Israel has slowed down processing visa applications by Egyptians and banned Egyptian publications and records in violation of an open-border agreement, Deputy Foreign Minister Butros Ghali said today.

"While Egypt granted visas to 343 Israelis and is currently examining another 150 applications, Israel had only admitted one Egyptian Jew who wanted to visit his relatives in Israel," Ghali told the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram.

"Egypt envisioned that if (the) open border was to lead to building credibility, it should include exchanging thoughts and ideas before individuals so that a current of mutual understanding could be established."

"But despite a several months-old agreement between me and (Israeli Lee High School's 1979 yearbook, "The Rebelee," will be distributed Monday and Tuesday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. only.

Distribution will be made at the outside loading dock at Room 320 which faces the east parking lot.

All students who purchased yearbooks during the preceding school year should remember to bring their receipts when they pick up their yearbooks. No yearbooks will be sold at this time, as only the number of books paid for are ordered from the publisher, according to P. C. Foraker, publications advisor.

Those who do not pick up their "Rebelee" next week may do so for about one week at 3 p.m. each day after school begins Aug. 29, said Foraker.

WILLIAM DAVID MCLAUGHLIN, 2103 Whitney St., and Krystal Lark Koch, 2808 Durant St., were named to the spring semester honor roll in the College of Natural Sciences at The University of Texas at Austin.

McLaughlin was named to the Magna Cum Laude list and Koch to the Ampla Cum Laude list. To be eligible for the roll, students must earn at least 52 grade points during the semester, passing all courses undertaken.

AN OPEN HOUSE is scheduled to honor Mrs. C. E. "Bud" Bissell to commemorate her late husband's contribution to Texas pre-history.

The event is set for 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday in the Museum of the Southwest.

MIDLAND ASSOCIATION FOR RETARDED CITIZENS will sponsor a meeting Thursday and scheduled to speak is Roger Blue.

As executive director of the Tennessee Association for Retarded Citizens, Blue will be talking on sex education for the retarded. He has said that he wants this to be an informal talk, with open discussion and feedback from those present. He is especially eager for parents to express their feelings on the subject.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Opportunity Center. It is emphasized that this does not mean sex education will be taught in city schools.

Blue has worked extensively with the mentally retarded, specializing in sex education. On Friday, he will lead the in-service workshop for teachers of EMR and TMR classes. This will be held at Sam Houston School and all interested persons are invited to attend at 8:30 a.m.

ORDERS ARE STILL BEING TAKEN by Boy Scout Troop #152 for fall fertilizer.

The troop is sponsored by the First United Methodist Church and holds the sale annually.

The fertilizer formula is 16-8-8 with mineral traces and is manufactured by Occidental Chemical Company. The price for a 50 pound bag is $6.

Delivery day is Saturday. Orders can be taken by any scout of Troop #152 or call 683-3548 or 694-3446.

Fall fashions are dressier

NEW YORK (AP) — Women's fashions have grown up — and dressed up — for fall, and the savvy woman will own at least one shaped suit with wider shoulders, along with a slimmer, shorter skirt and narrower trousers.

There's new fashion afoot, too, says the Footwear Council, which points out that the discerning shopper can purchase a wealth of shoe styles without exceeding her budget.

Now is the time, it advises, to build a shoe wardrobe in suedes and satins, metallics and leather-like synthetics, to fit fashion's many moods.

For fall, the Council says, daytime elegance means closed-up pumps, the No. 1 item to complement the season's fitted suit or soignée dress.

Last year's slouchy oversized boots have been pared down; shoe-boots, Western clogs and ankle-strapped shoes and sandals are polished and sleek, whether teamed with textured hose — matching the shoe color, of course — or shorter, tapered pants.

Shimmering evenings will be reflected in dressy shoes of shiny metallics and satins or interpreted in plushy suedes as women step out in sleek sandals or "come hither" open-toed pumps.

Vamps will be flowered, appliqued or curved for extra dash.

Mid-high heels and closed-up shoes in solid moccasins or spectator pumps set off the clean tailoring of fall ready-to-wear, while the preppy look is a winner with tweed skirts and beefy sweaters or lean-look trousers.

For striding around town without breaking the bank, nothing beats the stitched Western clog with stacked heel, the Council notes.

The Footwear Council offers these tips for keeping your best foot forward:

— Look for cone-shaped heels or Western styles — stacked and underslung.

— T-straps, ankle-straps and scalloped or sweetheart throats make alluring evening wear.

Midland girl crowned Miss Texas-USA 1980

By PATSY GORDON
Lifestyle Writer

Barbara Buckley played her star performance Monday night when she was crowned Miss Texas-USA 1980 in the El Paso Civic Center.

Miss Buckley, a 21-year-old brunette beauty from Midland, represented West Texas and now will represent Texas in the Miss USA contest in April, where the winner has a chance at the Miss Universe title.

Miss Buckley, daughter of Rita Buckley of Midland, in a telephone interview this morning with The Reporter-Telegram, said she was "tired," but will be home "in a couple of days."

Miss Buckley, a graduate of Angelo State University at San Angelo with a degree in drama and music, said the key to success is to be considerate—keep pushing to what your dream is and you will be successful if you keep going forward. Those persons viewing the pageant on television know she had some competition from a squawking parrot that was on stage. But Miss Buckley kept her poise and came through with flying colors.

She was unable to make any comments concerning her future plans to the media prior to a press conference that was to be held later this morning. The beauty, whose brother Steve also lives in Midland, wants to be a musical comedy actress.

First runnerup was Kathy Patrick, 19, a University of Texas-El Paso pre-law student from Anthony.

Second runnerup was Miss El Paso, 20 year old Diana Dunford. Third runnerup was Juanita Vasquez, 23, of Cleburne. Fourth was 20-year-old Staci Simmons of Lubbock.

Miss Buckley, who claims this as her "first pageant ever," has appeared with the Midland Community Theatre. Her first performance was in "Sound of Music" as one of the children in the cast.

The 90 contestants in the pageant were vying for, in addition to the title and crown, more than $30,000 in cash and prizes including a complete day and evening wardrobe, a fur jacket, a motorcycle, a full year's use of a new automobile and a luxury furnished apartment, in addition to a year of travel and personal appearances.

Celebrity judges for the event included Robert Salvatore, head makeup artist for Max Factor;

Pat Wolfe of Austin, head of the Texas Film Commission; Julie Adams, Hollywood actress; Mrs. Marilyn Monroe, head of the Texas Society of Association Executives; George Gray of San Antonio, vice president in charge of sales promotion for the Texas Division of Dillard's Department Stores; Al Onorato of Los Angeles, vice president and head casting director for Columbia Pictures Television; Robert Ginty of Hollywood, regular star on both television shows, "Baa, Baa Black Sheep" and "Paper Chase"; and Sylvia Hitchcock Carson of Winterhaven, Fla., Miss USA and Miss Universe of 1967.

DEAR ABBY

Sex machine in demand

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please tell EXHAUSTED IN HONOLULU — the 63-year-old wife who complained that her 58-year-old husband of only five-months was an "absolute sex machine" and that his demands were exhausting — to send him out my way.

I live in Waipahu, Hawaii, and I would certainly appreciate a man with his drive.

LIFESTYLE

My husband of 37 years doesn't believe in romantic buildups, candle-light dinners or wine. Just "Boom!" (And his "booms" come about as often as World Wars!)

Just tell EXHAUSTED to put her husband in a car and drive down Waipahu Street and I'll be waiting for him along with my two little ones — one kid from each World War! — WAITING IN WAIPAHU.

DEAR WAITING: Although your offer was one of the first, I received many. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: This is for EXHAUSTED IN HONOLULU. Our bride club of three tables meets every Thursday. We are between 40 and 75 years old. We would be very happy to help this woman solve her problem by offering our assistance on an odd-even basis every day except Thursday, our club day.

Each of us could rotate on eight-hour shifts, or be available four days on and four days off — like firemen.

We all lead very active lives, but can manage most any schedule to help a sister in distress.

Bless that poor unfulfilled man. He's only 58. May he have many more happy years and die with a smile on his face. Sign us... — LAKKA-LUVA-WAUNA-MANNA.

DEAR ABBY: EXHAUSTED IN HONOLULU should be married to my husband. He's a nice looking man, 49, and he's been too tired for lovemaking for as long as I can remember. But he's not too tired to play tennis, jog, ski, cross-country, and disco-dance by the hour.

We sleep in a king-size bed and he stays as far away from me as he can get without falling off the edge. I'm 45, neat and clean, have a nice figure and not obnoxious in any way.

Tell EXHAUSTED she would love this guy. I can guarantee that he won't bother her from one year to the next. And if her husband wants to meet a woman who wouldn't mind being bothered night and day, I'll be glad to send him plane are. — A HUNGRE FOR LOVE IN COLORADO.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for printing that letter from EXHAUSTED IN HONOLULU. Her letter made my day. At last an honest woman who isn't ashamed to admit that he could do with a lot less sex than her husband. I thought I was the only woman in the world who felt that way.

I'm a widow, but when my husband was living I thought sex was one of the most overrated things in the world. What a lot of mess and bother for something that lasts 10 seconds!

If EXHAUSTED would like to meet a 64-year-old woman who shares her love for Hawaiian music and island flowers, please give her my address. I live in Hilo, and we have a lot in common. — NO LONGER EXHAUSTED.

Kelly Jeanette Fitting and Larry Dean Stewart Sunday exchanged wedding vows in Grace Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Donald Hafemann officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph U. Fitting, 704 Dellwood St., and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stewart of San Angelo.

Jackie Wedgeworth of Carthage was maid of honor and Randy Harris of San Angelo was best man.

Bridesmaids were Khristi Fitting of Midland, sister of the bride; Paula Stewart of San Angelo, sister of the bridegroom, and Cindy Feemster, also of Midland.

Groomsmen were Kent Coker, Bruce Linn and Bryan Stewart, brother of the bridegroom, all of San Angelo, and James Fitting of Midland.

Jaycee chapter goes to court to keep name

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The local Jaycees chapter, ousted by the national organization for admitting women, has gone to federal court to defend its use of the name "Jaycees."

A lawyer for the local chapter Monday told U.S. District Court Judge

Edward N. Cahn that he would be helping the national organization discriminate against women if he barred the Philadelphia group from using the name.

The national organization contends the name Jaycees is a registered trademark and that the local group no longer has any right to use it.

The U.S. Jaycees revoked the Philadelphia chapter's charter in 1973 after the local organization defied national policy by admitting women. The U.S. organization has filed suit in U.S. District Court seeking to force the local group to stop using the name Jaycees.

"The U.S. Jaycees is asking the court to use its power to enforce the policies of discrimination," argued Bruce A. Cohen, lawyer for the Philadelphia chapter.

Victims no longer suffer abuse

DETROIT (AP) — Rape victims aren't suffering as much abuse from officials and more offenders are being prosecuted and convicted under Michigan's new Criminal Sexual Conduct Statute, according to a recently completed survey.

The 1974 law "has definitely improved things, but the battle is still far from won," said Jeanne Marsh, an associate professor at the University of Michigan and principal author of the $100,000, two-year study.

Police received special praise for their increasing sensitivity to victims of sexual assault.

"There were some police who conformed to the villain stereotype, but there were many others, who, if I were a victim of rape, I'd be happy to have them take my case," said Marsh.

Based on data from 1972-77, the study said prosecution for first-degree criminal sexual conduct increased by 30 percent under the new law. Convictions jumped from 62 percent in 1972 to 90 percent in 1977, the researchers reported.

The statute classifies rape as a violent crime rather than a crime of passion and expands the categories from one to four, thereby allowing more types of assault to be prosecuted.

It removes life imprisonment as the maximum penalty for conviction, in response to judges and juries who found that sentence too severe.

The law was intended to shift the burden of proof from the victim to the suspect, eliminating the life-endangering provision that the victim must "resist to the utmost."

"In the past, defense attorneys raked women over the coals," Marsh said. "Thus, anyone whose judgment wasn't impeccable — someone who hitchhiked, for instance — was viewed with skepticism by law enforcement officials. She couldn't hope to get any justice.

"Now these cases are less likely to be dropped. As one prosecutor in the study said, 'It's no longer a crime to be stupid.'"

In addition, the survey of 170 police officers, judges, prosecutors and defense attorneys reported that 27 percent of those questioned think rape charges are more often fabricated than other criminal charges.

Half the defense attorneys and 29 percent of the officers agreed with that contention, Marsh said.

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY:

Success this year depends largely on your ability to remain in one place. It is a time for old projects to pay off, not for starting new things. Short trips could be productive, but you need to be near home as much as possible. Friends are likely to influence your financial decisions. Your health will be fine if you keep diet resolutions. Changes should be avoided at work. Love plays important role in overall business. You should be blessed with good luck. Consolidate your resources and watch them grow.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Improve security by tightening regulations. Take action with people who are not shouldering their share of load. Financial gains should follow completion of business agreement.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Refuse to be sidetracked by someone who tries to use red tape to slow you down. Be pleasant, but firm. Mate, partner may want to talk about money. Accent on partnership, marriage.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Maintain balance in business dealings. You will end up in winner's circle if you persevere. Some inquisitive people will insist on questions and answers now. Be prepared for them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Influential people are in your corner. Be frank with superiors. Heed advice of close friend. Practical affairs are in the forefront. Money matters can be openly planned, talked about.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Good working day. Teamwork favored. Business expansion or career advancement possible. Ration energy, time carefully. Loved ones deserve more attention. Be careful of how you present new ideas.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Showcase talents, ideas. It is possible to reap golden opportunity. Meet deadlines. Emphasis now on reliability, efficiency.

ency. Show more affection toward loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): New ideas abound. Personal magnetism, enthusiasm of major importance. Now is time to attain goals. Chance to increase salary real possibility. Harmonious situation at home is relaxing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Put well-laid plans into action to reap profits. Personal goals take lead. Influential people are impressed. Ability to cut through red tape will raise your self-esteem. Personal popularity increases.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Come to grips with important facts. Study situation before setting priorities. Surprise developments may catch you off guard, work things out to your advantage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Bold approach is best one now. Competitors will lose. Your creativity, imagination are spotlighted. Do not wait to ask important questions. Vitality is high now. Seek answer to delicate matter.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Excellent time to make new alliances. Technical knowledge will give you the upper hand. Be specific in requirements. Work procedures are emphasized. Happy time for romance. You may be thinking of marriage.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Mental powers run strong. Friends display new loyalty. Originality, independence are vital to success in professional, personal matters. Keep in good shape mentally, physically.

One killed, one injured as line ruptures, explodes

ORANGE, Texas (AP) — Authorities worked early today to stop the flow of propane gas to a ruptured pipeline that exploded, killing one man and injuring another.

Two men operating a bulldozer accidentally struck the pipe Monday. One was thrown off the machine by the force of the blast and injured.

The bulldozer operator, Roy David Hunter, 36, of Orange died in the explosion and fire. Authorities, kept by intense heat from getting near the bulldozer for hours, found Hunter's charred skeletal remains shortly after midnight.

Officials said his body was near the center of the explosion, 75 feet from the bulldozer.

Floyd Grasty, also of Orange, was reported in good condition at Orange Memorial Hospital.

Intense heat kept authorities from recovering the body of the man believed killed, said sheriff's Capt. Joe Freeman.

Orange County deputies said three homes in the area were evacuated due to danger of another explosion. Freeman said another pipeline was within 10 feet of the crippled line.

Gas to the Cities Service line was cut off at Orange and Vidor, but enough propane remained in the pipe to keep the blaze burning out of control. Gas technicians worked into the night trying to plug the pipe three miles on either side of the blaze.

Cities Service connection foreman Willis Wyche said that once the special plugs were in place, it would take five to six hours more before the fire would burn itself out.

One witness to the blast said flames shot 400 feet into the air.

Panel approves one, denies one application

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Savings and Loan Commissioner Alvis Vandygriff has approved an application by Home Savings Association of Odessa for a branch office, but denied a similar application by First Savings and Loan of Midland.

Home Savings' application was to establish a branch office at Parkway Boulevard and East 42nd Street in Odessa.

First Savings had sought to establish a branch office in Stanton.

Priest's supporters not surprised man confessed

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Supporters of the Rev. Bernard T. Pagano gasped as Judge Andrew D. Christie announced that another man had confessed to the armed robberies for which the Roman Catholic priest is being tried. But they said later they were not surprised.

Pagano's friends, who have packed the small Wilmington Superior Court room during his two-week trial on charges of being Northern Delaware's "Gentleman Bandit," say they expected something like this all along.

"I'm not the least bit surprised," said Marge Seebode of Cambridge, Md., where Pagano was assistant pastor at St. Mary Refuge of Sinners Church when he was arrested in February on five armed robbery charges and one of attempted robbery.

Pagano was accused then of being the mild-mannered, well-dressed robber who used a small chrome-plated handgun during the heists that netted the robber $1,185.

Mrs. Seebode is a leader of the Friends of Father Pagano group that claims to have raised nearly $12,000 toward his defense with the help of Wilmington attorney Carl Schnee.

"We knew something like this would happen. My faith was never shaken all along," said Mrs. Seebode, who admitted she "collapsed at my desk and cried" when she heard the news.

Attorneys for the 53-year-old priest were preparing to present their defense Monday, a week and a half after testimony began, when Christie made his announcement.

"An unexpected development was learned a few minutes ago that a man in Pennsylvania confessed to committing all six crimes," Christie said.

"The court will need some time to evaluate whether to interrupt this trial," he said before excusing jurors until Wednesday.

Supporters of the priest, many of whom have made the 160-mile round trip between Wilmington and Cambridge daily during the trial, broke into cheers and sobs and crowded around him.

But before the court recessed, Ronald W. Clouser, 39, of Brookhaven, Pa., appeared with his attorney, Saul Segan of Philadelphia.

"I'm authorized to say by my client that he has admitted involvement in those acts with which Father Pagano... was wrongly charged," Segan said.

Clouser, who identified himself as an industrial engineering coordinator, has not been placed under arrest in Delaware, but is free on $5,000 bail in Pennsylvania pending sentencing for three armed robberies to which he pleaded guilty.

Attorneys were scheduled to meet with Christie late today to discuss whether Pagano's trial would proceed or if the charges against Pagano would be dropped and filed against Clouser instead.

During Clouser's courtroom appearance Monday, Pagano leaned over and chatted briefly with the man who, despite being 14 years his junior, closely resembles him.

The case against Pagano, now free on $30,000 bond, depends heavily on eyewitness identification, and all seven robbery victims called to testify in the trial have pointed to Pagano as the bandit.

Maturity boosts Little to victory

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (AP) — Sally Little, looking forward to becoming an American citizen, says maturity is helping her produce the type of golf others anticipated when she left her native South Africa for the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour in 1971.

Little, 27, said she is starting to believe in herself after scoring her fourth pro victory in nine years Monday at Plymouth Country Club.

Little made a 3-foot putt for par on the final hole to edge defending champion Pat Bradley by one stroke. The putt gave Little a 71 for the final round and an 8-under-par 208 for the 54 holes on the 6,156-yard, par-72 course.

The victory in the Barth Classic was worth $15,000 to Little, the tour's most consistent performer recently with 11 consecutive finishes in the Top 10.

"I feel like I'm maturing. I'm coming of age. It's like every week I set goals for myself," she said. "In the past, I used to tee it up without any goals. I'd just go out and try and win, win, win."

"You can't do that. You've got to be in a position to win, and that's being in the Top 10 every week."

Little, who has earned a career high $97,392 in climbing to the No. 6 spot on the tour's money list this year, credits new confidence in her recent performance.

"Ability doesn't mean a thing unless you believe within yourself. It's not a cockiness or anything. It's a very comfortable feeling," she said.

"It's taken me longer than expected to become consistent. There were a lot of things I had to adjust to after coming from a foreign country, but I think I've matured to where I can compete as an equal."

Midland's Judy Rankin finished at 214 to tie for tenth place. She won $2,046.

Little, who moved from Dallas to Delray Beach, Fla., earlier this year, plans to become a naturalized citizen in 1981. She said she hopes to eventually have her parents, sister and brother join her in this country.

Little began the final round protecting a 1-stroke edge over Amy Alcott and Dot Germain. She made putts of 10 and 3 feet for birdies on her first two holes to pull away.

But Bradley, who began her defense with an opening round 73, kept charging, and the two were even at 8-under when Little bogeyed the 191-yard par 3 No. 14 hole.

"I had a bad shot off the tee. I made a bad swing, chipped up and then missed a 15-footer. It upset me," Little said.

Cubs, Gold Sox to try it again

By TED BATTLES
Sports Editor

The small crowd was huddled under the roof over the third base side stands and Jon Perlman was just completing his warm up throws to catcher Bill Hayes while Brian Greer was ready to step into the batter's box for the game's first pitch. That's when the dark, brooding and party-spoiling intruder struck from out of the west, sending players on both teams scurrying for the dugouts.

After Sunday's rain, it didn't take much to make the Cubs Stadium diamond unplayable, so the Midland Cubs and Amarillo Gold Sox, twice victims of rainouts, will try again, not only with a Reporter-Telegram doubleheader at 6:30 p.m. tonight, but with another to follow Wednesday at 6:30. The teams have no choice. They meet no more this season.

Manager Randy Hundley wasn't too happy over the sudden shower, since it scrambles his pitching rotation with El Paso's Diablos scheduled into the Tall City for five games starting Thursday.

Perlman, 3-6, and Herman Segelke, 11-7, are scheduled to go tonight while lefthander Bill Earley, 11-6, and Henry Mack, 9-4, go Wednesday.

Segelke has won his last four decisions and gone the route three times in the process. Earley has been a winner the last two times out while Mack is coming off an injury. He pitched two innings of relief, but had been idle since injuring his back after 1 2/3 innings at Shreveport July 31.

Another reason Hundley hates to see the rainout is that the Cubs have been hot and the former major league catcher wants to keep the momentum going. Midland has won 10 of its last 12 and one of the two losses was an 18-inning affair.

CUB QUICKIES—Carlos Lezcano's dad arrived from Puerto Rico Saturday just in time to see his son go 4-for-5 and then spike himself going for a flyball in the eighth inning of Midland's 20-2 win...Gary Krug's parents also are visiting Midland from Colorado Springs...Bill Earley's folks were with the team when it was in El Paso...Eric Grandy has an 11-game winning streak has raised his average to .299 after it slipped to .286...Krug has a 10-game streak going and is flirting with the 400 mark...Ex-Texas Aggie Mark Thurmond, 2-4, will start one of tonight's games against Midland. Thurmond and Perlman (Bay-lor) were scheduled to throw the first game Monday night...

Lions obtain Elam in trade

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Lions defensive line will have golden threads among the silver with the acquisition of tackle Cleveland Elam from the San Francisco 49ers.

The Lions, whose front four has been wracked with injuries, picked up Elam on Monday in exchange for their second-round draft choice in 1980.

Lions' Coach Monte Clark coached Elam at San Francisco in 1976 when Elam earned all-pro status as a defensive tackle.

"I'm really delighted to be reunited with Cleveland," Clark said. "He played very well for me in San Francisco in 1976."

Elam, who lettered four years at Tennessee State, is beginning his fifth season in the National Football League. The 6-foot-4, 250-pound tackle was part of San Francisco's famed "Gold Rush" front four that led the NFL with 61 sacks in 1976.

Elam alone had 14 sacks that year and came back the following year with 18 sacks. The 49ers' defensive coordinator during those years was Floyd Peters, who now holds that same job with the Lions.

Dallas fans can breathe easier

IRVING — Charlie Waters, Too Tall Jones and Jehro Pugh may have been missing Saturday night, but there still wasn't anything wrong with the Dallas defense.

Of course, Jones and Pugh no longer are part of the Cowboys' Doomsday Defense and for all likely purposes, Waters is out for at least three months, maybe all season. Anyway, the way that Bob Breunig, Randy White, Cliff Harris and D.D. Lewis played in Dallas' 16-13 victory over the Houston Oilers, Cowboy fans have got to be breathing a lot easier this week than last when Seattle blitzed their favorites, 27-17 in Seattle.

HARVEY MARTIN and Randy Hughes also performed well for the Cowboy defense. Martin came up with a pair of sacks on quarterback Gifford Nielsen and after some poor tackling in the first half, the Cowboy defense jelled and played superbly in the second half.

Houston led 13-0 midway in the third period before the defense began to do things like the past two Super Bowl editions, much to the delight of the 60,000-plus crowd.

White feels like the entire unit was hitting a lot better against the Oilers than the week before in Seattle. "I think we were hitting, hustling and making some big plays against the Oilers and that's something we were not doing against the Seahawks."

"We were a lot better coordinated on our defense and we were out there playing to win. We weren't just playing or going through the motions this week and it made a lot of difference. We made a big move in the right direction and need to continue to do so against Pittsburgh Saturday night," added White.

HARRIS AGREED, but felt that the defense played much sharper in the second half when it really counted. "We played the best we have this exhibition season in the second half, but the heat did manage to get to some of us. I guess coming in from California where it was cooler made a difference."

Lewis was also pleased over the way the Cowboys came back after a poor showing in Seattle. "Well, the good thing about it was that we played good defense this week against a good football team. We did manage to let Earl Campbell get loose once, but we kept them from scoring outside of the two early field goals in the first two quarters and of course that touchdown pass." D.D. startled some of the working press when he said that he thinks more exhibition games are needed, especially since the Cowboys have so many key injuries.

"I THINK we need at least three more exhibition games to really get things together, so maybe against the Steelers we can get going against their tough running game." Lewis does feel like Houston is much more explosive when regular Dan Pastorini is at the controls. "They establish the running game early and then Pastorini can burn you with the long bomb," added Lewis.

Breunig, who had been a visitor in Midland earlier in the summer, was well pleased and encouraged over the defense. "The defense was a little erratic in the first half, but we made the plays necessary to stop them in the second half and that was really a plus for us. When it got crucial and they were in a position to score, we stopped them," exclaimed the five-year veteran from Arizona State.

"OUR MENTAL attitude was so much better this week and it paid off for us. We worked hard this past week to improve and we still have a lot more improving to do, because we have a lot of new people coming in and out of the game now, but I have a feeling against Pittsburgh, we will go out with the set unit and get even more continuity."

The 225-pounder agreed with Lewis that Pastorini would have made a difference, but then so would Tony Dorsett in the Cowboy offensive attack. "Dan is a seasoned veteran quarterback that we respect a great deal. I am sure that Nielsen is a good quarterback and did a good job, especially in the first half, but we can say, hey, Pastorini is not in there and then we can do just about what we want to on defense."

Cappelletti out again

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — John Cappelletti, the bull-like running back of the Los Angeles Rams who played in four games last year after suffering a groin muscle tear, will sit out the entire 1979 season in hopes the injury will heal.

Dick Steinberg, Rams' director of player personnel, said Monday the Rams would wait until today before formal action to put Cappelletti on the injured reserve list.

Aiming for a 1980 return to the Rams, the 220-pound Cappelletti was the Heisman Trophy winner at Penn State in 1973. He had two seasons of schooling with the Rams as a backup before becoming the team's most versatile back the past three years.

Cappelletti has been second on the Rams in rushing each of the last three years and averaged 33 pass receptions per year for that period.

"I've had a lot of tests and they show no degenerative disease. I have pretty good movement, but I still think it's slightly torn," Cappelletti said of the injury suffered in a 10-7 Rams victory over Pittsburgh Nov. 12, 1978.

Dr. Robert Kerlan, a Los Angeles orthopedic surgeon who has treated many famous athletes, said when Cappelletti left training camp in July that it normally takes six months to two years to recover from that kind of abdominal tissue tear.

However, Cappelletti undoubtedly aggravated the injury by continuing to play.

"If I didn't have this injury, sure I would miss football," Cappelletti said Monday. "But it comes down to whether I want to go four or five games, tear this thing up and probably never play again, or whether I try to rehabilitate and play effectively in the near future."

Former Steeler stable after attack

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore city police have charged one man and are looking for three others in connection with the beating of Joe Gilliam, a quarterback for the semipro Baltimore Eagles and former Pittsburgh Steeler.

Gilliam was found beaten in the head Monday night on the city's west side, police said. He remains in stable condition today at the University of Maryland's Shock Trauma Unit.

Police Lt. Marcellus Boles said Timothy Mathews, 19, of Baltimore, was charged early this morning with assault with intent to murder, possession of heroin with intent to distribute and possession of marijuana.

Mathews was being held at Western District and no bond had been set.

Boles said police have leads on three other men, but he did not have their names. He added that he did not know if the men knew Gilliam, who has been plagued with drug problems over the years.

According to the police report, Gilliam's car, a 1977 Buick, registered to the Royal Oil Corp., where he works, was parked on a vacant lot with all the windows smashed. The report said the attack occurred in an alley adjacent to where the car was found.

Dennis Hill, a police spokesman, said Gilliam was found bleeding from head wounds. He added that two men reportedly smashed out the windows of the car with two-by-fours.

Gilliam was rushed to Provident Hospital and then transferred to the shock trauma unit.

"There was some beating around the head with a blunt instrument," said John Ashworth, administrator of the shock trauma unit. "There may be a slight concussion."

Ashworth said Gilliam, who was responding positively to all neurological tests, was being kept for observation for 24 to 48 hours.

"With a head injury, we don't take chances," Ashworth said. "But the injury won't hurt his football abilities."

The quarterback was either cut by breaking glass or injured with the wood clubs, Hill said.

Gilliam, a former star at Tennessee State where his father is defensive coordinator of the football team, was drafted by the Steelers and beat out Terry Bradshaw for the National Football League's starting quarterback duties in 1974.

Gilliam lasted six weeks at the Steeler helm and was placed on waivers two years later when the New Orleans Saints claimed him. Gilliam, however, walked out of spring training camp without any explanation.

After being released from a Virginia drug rehabilitation center in 1977, Gilliam was invited to the Saints' spring training camp in Vero Beach, Fla., by former coach Hank Stram. Gilliam did not make the club.

In June 1978, Criminal Court Judge John Draper in Nashville sentenced Gilliam to 45 days in the workhouse on drug possession charges, but suspended the term and placed him on two years probation.

Krog talks, burns Kroc

CHICAGO (AP) — Saying he's "tired of hearing Ray Kroc's lies," Chicago Cubs' star Dave Kingman — baseball's silent slugger — has decided to speak his piece on how the San Diego Padres let him get away.
Kingman, who shares the National League home run lead with 39, was a member of the Padres for a portion of the 1977 season and was mysteriously waived.
Kroc, multi-millionaire owner of the Padres, recently suggested that then-general manager Buzzie Bavasi failed to close a deal with the 6-foot-6 outfielder.
"In a roundabout way, I've heard about some of the things Kroc has been saying lately," said Kingman, "and I think it's time to get the truth out in the open."
"I've been with several teams during my career and I've never said anything negative about them after I've left. When lies are made up involving me personally, though, I feel I have to say something on my own behalf."

Borg obliterated net foe

TORONTO (AP) — When Bjorn Borg speaks, words such as perfect, right and pleased flow freely from his mouth.
Usually, the 23-year-old is referring to his tennis game. It was no different Monday following his 6-3, 6-3 victory over second-seeded John McEnroe in the men's singles final of the Canadian Open championships.
"I think I played well," said the machine-like Borg, echoing similar comments from last week when he all but obliterated his opponents in earlier rounds of the $210,000 Grand Prix tournament.
"I did the right things. I returned low and I always got a second chance on my passing shot. I was pleased."
The same words, or lack of them, come from his opponents.
"I made too many mistakes out there early in the match," said the 20-year-old McEnroe. "You can't do that against a player like Bjorn and he's a P.I.C.D. American stayed back and played Borg's game at the baseline, the top-seeded Swede eventually blasted a winner.

Borg took home $28,000 for the win while McEnroe won $14,000. The final had been put off to Monday because rain Saturday postponed the semifinals to Sunday.
The victory evened their career mark at 3-3. In February, Borg beat McEnroe at Richmond, Va., in a three-set semifinal in which the Swede had saved eight match points. A month later, McEnroe beat Borg in a new Orleans semifinal in which the American saved two match points.
Borg beat McEnroe in the Rotterdam final in April but McEnroe came back to beat the Swede in the World Championship Tennis final at Dallas in four sets. McEnroe also had beaten Jimmy Connors in the semifinals and thus became the first player to beat both Connors and Borg in the same tournament since Arthur Ashe turned the trick at Wimbledon in 1975.
In their first meeting between the two last November, McEnroe beat Borg in the final of the Stockholm Open.
Borg started quickly Monday by breaking McEnroe in the first game of the match. With McEnroe up 30-15, both players engaged in some comic relief.
Borg dropped his racket after hitting a shot and when McEnroe returned it, the Swede kicked it soccer style over the net. McEnroe dropped his racket and batted the ball back with his hand, much to the delight of the 7,200 fans.
It was all downhill for McEnroe after that. Borg fought back to deuce, took the advantage to break the American in that game and again in the third to go ahead 3-0.
McEnroe staged a comeback when he held service in the fifth game to pull to 4-1, then broke Borg in the sixth game. The two players held service the next two game before Borg broke his opponent in the ninth game to take the set.
The second set was marked by two controversial line calls, one in favor of each player. In the seventh game, the line judge called a Borg shot in, but the umpire overruled and called it out.
Borg seemed mildly perturbed by the call and held the game despite it, going to deuce five times after leading 40-0.

Six WT counties get wildcat sites

Six West Texas counties have gained wildcat locations. Estoril Producing Corp. of Midland spotted location for an 11,500-foot wildcat in Gaines County, 22 miles west of Seminole. The project is No. 1-18 Collett, 2,394 feet from south and 250 feet from east lines of section 18, block A-10, ps1 survey. It is in the depleted Hobbs, Southeast (Devonian) area and one and seven-eighths miles northeast of the field's depleted San Andres discovery.

KENT EXPLORER
Arden Oil Corp. of Midland will drill its No. 1 Williams as an 8,000-foot wildcat in Kent County, 10 miles east of Justiceburg. The location is 1,900 feet from south and 2,000 feet from west lines of section 57, block 5, H&GN survey and one and three-quarter miles north of the Pollan (Ellenburger) field discovery.

BORDEN WILDCATS
A pair of wildcats have been staked in Borden County. Westland Oil Development Corp. of Houston No. 1 Bert Dennis and others has been staked as an 8,500-foot wildcat seven miles northeast of Gall. The prospector is 467 feet from south and 1,320 feet from east lines of section 14, block 30, T-5-N, T&P survey. It is 3/8 mile northwest of the Rafter Cross (Wolfcamp oil) pool and 1/4 mile northwest of depleted Ellenburger production. Laguna Petroleum Co. of Midland No. 1 Arba Lura is a new 7,600-foot wildcat in Borden County, nine miles northwest of Gall. Operator will spend 933 feet from south and 2,000 feet from west lines of section 38, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey. The site is 5/8 mile northwest of the Borden (Carmack) pool discovery and 5/8 mile east of the Borden (Spraberry) pool.

CROCKETT TESTER
Texasgulf, Inc., of Houston staked its No. 1 University as a 10,000-foot wildcat nine miles southwest of Big Lake in Crockett County. It is 2,980 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 23, block 12, University Lands survey

Port work remains

HOUSTON (AP)— The Texas Deepwater Port Authority was told today much work remains to be done but an offshore crude oil terminal could be in operation 26 miles south of Freeport by late 1982. Directors of the authority studied a proposed license from the Department of Transportation and prepared to start negotiations with oil companies for agreements to make use of the $1.2 billion facility that would be state-owned. Bob Casey, authority chairman, said the use agreements must be in hand before the DOT license can be formally accepted. Tom Hines, engineer with Brown & Root, Inc., told the board that if all goes well the first revenue bonds could be sold in the first quarter of 1980. Under such a schedule the port could be in operation in the third quarter of 1982, he said. "That is faster than I've been telling everybody," Casey said. "I'm not complaining, I'm very pleased." Lawyers have been studying the document since Wednesday when it was granted, subject to assurances involving financing and oil spill liability, by the Department of Transportation. The 2.5 million barrels a day terminal would be used by supertankers too large to enter U.S. harbors. The port authority applied for a license to build a state-owned terminal last August, less than five months after Seadock, a consortium of private companies, terminated a six-year, $20 million effort to build the terminal. Seadock lost 52 percent of its financial backing when Exxon, Mobil and Gulf withdrew, blaming too much federal regulation under the license DOT offered to private industry in early 1977. If all goes well, however, Seadock's work could expedite construction of a state facility. The port authority has negotiated an agreement under which it will pay Seadock $11.1 million for the engineering data and construction plans it had developed before closing shop. WASHINGTON (AP) — The government, instead of private oil companies, should produce and distribute energy resources found on public land, a group of consumer and labor leaders say. Eight leaders signed a letter to President Carter Monday calling for a government energy corporation. Consumer activist Ralph Nader wrote the letter and obtained the other signatures. "Much of the nation's proven and potential energy resources, particu-

"The great energy wealth of the federal lands should redound to the people who own it, not the corporations who lease it, largely on their conditions," it said. Asked for a response, spokesman Jim Dailey of the American Petroleum Institute said: "We're against government interference in any guise or government operations in the petroleum industry because their record hasn't been too good in fields like Amtrak and the Post Office."

Government issues gas price guide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Motorists in 20 major U.S. cities who suspect their local service stations of price-gouging now have a rough government guide to legal gasoline prices in 20 major U.S. cities. The Energy Department released the price list Monday, cautioning that the figures were valid as of Aug. 6 and were subject to change since then. Some stations may have general special exemptions to the general pricing rules as well, it said. The list is part of the department's effort to monitor the prices of gasoline being charged by the nation's more than 175,000 service stations. But Michael Podhorzer of the Consumer Federation of America charged that penalties for pricing violations and the chances of being discovered are so remote "people are not afraid of being found in violation." And the department itself acknowledged it has had only 50 auditors working on complaints of retail gas prices. However, the department added that an additional 150 should be in the field soon in response to President Carter's recent order to increase the size of the auditing staff. Federal rules have regulated the price of gas at retail stations for the past five years. The latest reported ceilings range from a low of 86.2 cents a gallon for regular in Dallas to almost $1.15 a gallon for premium in New York. The maximum prices are based on the wholesale gasoline price paid by the station operator plus taxes and a maximum margin of 15.4 cents a gallon to cover overhead and profit. Despite the federal controls, government officials say it would be virtually impossible to conduct widespread monitoring of prices for possible violations. "It would be just like auditing every taxpayer," said Dianne Novick, a spokeswoman for the Energy Department. With the releasing of the maximum price list, the Energy Department's David J. Bardin urged motorists to notify the department if their gasoline costs more than the legal ceilings. "We can now provide consumers with a more accurate guide to the maximum legal prices that may be charged for gasoline in various parts of the country," said Bardin, administrator of the department's Economic Regulatory Administration. The department's toll-free telephone hotline for consumers to pass on their price complaints is: 800-424-9246. Consumers who use the list to try to spot price gouging will find prices vary widely from city to city and among the 10 oil companies included. For example, the difference in the legal ceiling on a gallon of regular gasoline in Chicago varied earlier this month from $1.0057 for Shell to $1.0813 for Mobil, a variation of about seven cents. Shipping and other cost variables cause the ceiling on regular to differ by as much as 17 cents from city to city. And, some stations — in fact, some states — can boost prices an addition-

Lo-Vaca report due

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. and its customers have worked for a year adding final details to a complex settlement of more than $1.6 billion in suits against the natural gas supplier. The Texas Railroad Commission scheduled a progress report today on the agreement that was worked out after Lo-Vaca customers filed suit to block skyrocketing prices the company charged for gas. Under the plan, Lo-Vaca will be spun off from its parent company, Coastal States Gas Corp., and renamed Valero Energy Corp. The new company would be headquartered in San Antonio.

Field work announced

Mobil Oil Corp. spotted location for a pair of Delaware oil projects in the Coyanosa, North (Delaware) pool of Pecos County, 21 miles northwest of Fort Stockton. The No. 7 James O. Neal, scheduled for a 5,500-foot bottom, is one location northeast of production and 1,935 feet from north and east lines of section 47, block OW, TTRR survey. The No. 8 James O. Neal, also scheduled for a 5,500-foot bottom, is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 27, block OW, TTRR survey. It is one location east of No. 7 Neal.

CRANE RE-ENTRY
Gulf Oil Corp. will re-enter a former Waddell producer in the Running W multipool of Crane County and attempt completion in the Tubb. It is No. 284 W. N. Waddell and others, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 24, block B-21, ps1 survey and 19 miles northwest of Crane. It is one location west of Tubb production.

ECTOR WELL
Amoco Production Co. No. 2-AM David Fasken has been completed as the fourth well in the Fasken, South (Fusselman) pool of Ector County, 15 miles north of Odessa. The operator reported a daily pumping potential of 33 barrels of 41.5-gravity oil and 18 barrels of water, through perforations from 12,308 to 12,368 feet. Stimulation, if any, was not reported. The gas-oil ratio is 5,424-1. Total depth is 12,515 feet and 5.5-inch pipe is set at 12,498 feet. The plugged back depth is 12,475 feet. The well is one location north of other Fusselman production and 660 feet from south and 2,050 feet from east lines of section 13, block 42, T-1-N, G&MMB&A survey.

OPEC wins first round

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries has won the first round of a price-fixing suit against it without appearing in court. As hearings on the suit began Monday, U.S. District Judge A. Andrew Hauk ruled that OPEC could not be a defendant and declared it was not liable for damages under United States antitrust laws. The oil cartel had no representatives present in court. Hauk left OPEC's 13 member nations as defendants, but expressed doubts as to whether they are subject to U.S. laws or the authority of his court.

Tests, openers reported

Wildcat operations have been announced in Chaves and Eddy counties in southeast New Mexico, and discoveries have been reported in Lubbock and Nolan counties, and a wildcat has been spotted in Kimble County. The Coronado Exploration Co. of Albuquerque, N. M., No. 1 Corthel-Federal has been staked as a 13,400-foot Morrow wildcat seven miles northeast of Loving in Eddy County. The project is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 5-23s-29e. It is two miles north of Amoco Production Co.'s No. 1-17 Teledyne, an unnamed Morrow gas discovery which produces from 12,534 to 12,552 feet.

CHAVES WILDCATS
A new wildcat and a wildcat entry have been reported in Chaves County. The Eastland Oil Co. of Midland No. 1-J Barnes-State will be drilled 25 miles east of Roswell. It is contracted to 2,250 feet. The location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 33-10s-27e.

LUBBOCK STRIKE
New Reserves Group, Inc., of Midland announced completion of a Tubb oil discovery in Lubbock County, five miles northwest of Idalou. The strike, No. 1 Texas Tech, finished on the pump for 13 barrels of 32-gravity oil and 100 barrels of water, through perforations from 5,585 to 5,650 feet after a 9,000-gallon acid treatment. The gas-oil ratio is 95-1. Total depth is 5,750 feet and 4.5-inch casing is set at 5,759 feet. The strike is 1.5 miles northeast of the Hickville (Strawn) field, eight miles northeast of the Lee Harrison (Clear Fork) field, and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 20, block X, John H. Gibson survey.

against the remaining 713. Another complaint by consumer activists is that current guidelines do not require station operators to post their price ceilings as long as they prominently display a statement saying their prices are under the limit. Consumer groups want the actual ceiling price placed on pumps. Cities on the department's list are: Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Dallas, Denver, Detroit, Houston, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Miami, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, Portland, Ore., San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle and St. Louis.

Young supporters urge rapprochement

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Black supporters of Andrew Young are meeting with an Israeli official today to urge recognition of Palestinian rights after saying they support the rights of both Jews and Palestinians to national homelands.

Campaigning for Israeli-Palestinian rapprochement in the wake of Young's resignation as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, officials of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference were to meet with Israeli U.N. Ambassador Yehuda Z. Blum. They were also to hold a news conference, meet with New York Jewish leaders and address a rally of black groups at a Manhattan church.

Nachum Shai, a spokesman for Blum, told a reporter the SCLC delegation sent word to the ambassador that it wanted to "clarify our support for the PLO's human rights to establish a state." But at a news conference Monday SCLC president Joseph E. Lowery would not go beyond endorsement of the Palestinians' right to a homeland.

The SCLC leaders had lunch Monday with the Palestine Liberation Organization's U.N. observer, Zehdi Labib Terzi. Lowery told reporters: "We communicated to Mr. Terzi and his associates our support for the human rights of all Palestinians, including the right of self-determination involving among other things their homeland."

Lowery said they urged that PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat "give consideration to the recognition of the nationhood of Israel...whereby steps can be taken that would lead to peace and reconciliation."

He said his delegation also asked the PLO to consider "a halt to the violence that has inflicted hurt, death, destruction upon far too many of God's children in the Middle East."

"We think," he declared, "that God is moving in this whole situation to lead us to peace and reconciliation."

Lowery conceded that Young's resignation was the "catalyst" for his group's attempt to bring the Israelis and Palestinians together. But he said American blacks are concerned about the Israeli-Palestinian stalemate because a cutoff of Arab oil shipments to the United States "will have a devastating effect on everybody but it may have a fatal effect on black areas."

Young, who was administrative assistant to SCLC founder Martin Luther King Jr., said on Sunday that the U.S. government's refusal to deal with the PLO was "kind of ridiculous" because communication with it is essential to advance the cause of peace in the Middle East.

Shai said Israel would continue to reject any PLO participation in the Middle East peace process and would insist that the U.S. government live up to its commitment to have no dealings with PLO representatives until the PLO recognizes Israel's right to exist.

Young was forced to resign after the Israelis leaked word of a meeting between him and Terzi which he tried to pass off as an unplanned social encounter. Later, he admitted that he had arranged the meeting to get the PLO's consent to postponement of a pro-Palestinian resolution that Kuwait is bringing before the Security Council.

Israel rejected U.S. proposals to try to head off the resolution with an amendment to Security Council Resolution 242, the basis for all Middle East peace negotiations, and the Kuwaiti resolution is expected to be introduced in the council Thursday.

The U.S. amendment would have recognized the "legitimate rights" of the Palestinians, the language of the Camp David agreement, while the Kuwaiti resolution calls for recognition of the Palestinians' "rights of self-determination, national independence and sovereignty in Palestine."

Young will be presiding at the council meeting as Security Council president for August, and a vote on the Kuwaiti resolution is expected Friday. The State Department is certain to instruct him to veto it.

Freight train rams commuter; At least 50 dead, 170 hurt

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A freight train rammed into a commuter train south of Bangkok early today, killing at least 50 persons and injuring more than 170, railway officials reported. They said a switchman failed to signal the freight train to stop and that he fled. Most of the dead were children on their way to school and women taking fruits and vegetables to the Bangkok markets for sale. Rescue workers said when they lifted the last passenger car they found broken bodies covered with produce.

Thai radio put the death toll at 51, and rescue workers said all bodies were recovered from the wreckage by evening.

The officials said the six-car passenger train was being diverted onto a side track about 18 miles south of Bangkok so the freight train could pass, but the freight got no stop signal and slammed into the second car, sending it and the cars behind it crashing from the tracks.

An estimated 300 persons were packed into the commuter train. Officials said it was the worst train wreck in Thailand in memory.

A resident near the scene said she saw a small girl who was thrown from the train lying near her house and went to rescue her. She said the girl came to, took a few steps and then fell dead.

Sritha Nitluan, a passenger whose sister was killed in the crash, was standing near the rear of the train when she the collision occurred.

"I saw the people spilling out of the car like leaves falling down from the tree," she said.

Mrs. Sritha said she tried to pull her sister from the wreckage but couldn't.

Death of Wrigley heiress ruled as 'an act of suicide'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wrigley chewing gum heiress Carlisle Higholt, described by neighbors as having been despondent and reclusive since the death of her son, apparently committed suicide, authorities said.

"The coroner's report shows that she died of a single wound, apparently self-inflicted, and that the death was an act of suicide," said county sheriff's spokesman Mike Santander, adding, "sheriff's investigators have found nothing to conflict with that finding."

On Friday, a maid and Mrs. High-olt's 4-year-old adopted son discovered her pajama-clad body slumped on a bathroom floor, a single stab wound in her chest. Investigators found no evidence of robbery or break-in at the home, located in the wealthy seaside suburb of Rolling Hills.

Neighbors described the 40-year-old heiress as a shy, fearful woman who became reclusive after her 2-year-old son died four years ago of apparent heart problems. Shortly after his death, Mrs. Higholt and her husband, Howard, a radiologist, adopted another son and moved a mile away.

New state law to give Midland jurors double pay

Inflation has boosted the price of nearly everything in recent months, but it's a new state law that will give jurors an increase in the salary they receive for serving on a jury.

Midland's jurors and grand jurors will get a raise next Monday. How much their fee will be hiked hasn't been determined yet, according to County Judge Bill Ahders, but it will be at least double what it currently is.

The new state law governing salaries for jurors becomes effective Monday. It requires that jurors be paid $6 to $30 for their services.

County commissioners discussed the impending change at their Aug. 13 meeting, but postponed action when Judge Ahders suggested that he solicit suggestions on a pay scale from the county's prosecutors and judges.

Monday, Judge Ahders said he had talked with most prosecutors and judges here and that he will recommend a salary of $10 per day for jurors who actually serve on a jury and $6 for those who are called on a jury panel, but not chosen to serve for one reason or another.

He said he also will recommend that grand jurors' salaries be increased to $10 per day.

Currently, in Midland, petit jurors who serve and those who are called but not chosen for a jury get the same across-the-board salary — $3 per day. Grand jurors are paid $5 per day.

Judge Ahders said he believes jurors who actually serve on a jury should be paid more than those who are called on a jury panel but not chosen.

Many employers in Midland pay an employee's salary while that employee serves on a jury. Other employers pay the difference between what the county pays for jury service and the employee's salary.

But, the judge noted, a self-employed person called to serve on a jury actually loses money while serving. In effect, that individual actually pays to serve on a jury, he noted.

Attorney general settles $4 million price-fixing suit with steel companies

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Mark White said today his department has made a $4 million settlement with nine steel companies who fixed prices for steel bars used in state construction projects.

"This settlement is the largest in the history of Texas," White told a news conference.

He said the state originally asked $10 million in a suit filed in 1974 for price-fixing violations alleged in 1969 to 1972. Negotiations toward the settlement began last February.

White said the state treasury would receive most of the money with allocations being made to about 25 state agencies involved, particularly the highway department.

"These companies would get together in a hotel room before a contract letting and allocate the percentage that each firm would bid on the projects," White said. "A lot of this involved highway work but not all of it."

He said there was no way to determine how much the state actually overpaid for the reinforced steel bars used in construction work.

White said there was no evidence there was a conspiracy at the highest level of management of the companies but rather price fixing at the lower level of management because of the pressure of competition.

Clements doesn't know what's happening: White

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Mark White said today that if Gov. Bill Clements thinks there has been no damage to the Texas coast from the Mexican oil spill he just doesn't know what is happening.

"To turn your back on the damage is terrible neglect," White told a news conference. "Ask the people who have lost money and they will tell you there has been damage."

White, who visited the Corpus Christi area Monday, said there was no way a dollar figure could be put to the damage.

"But anyone who does not think there has been damage down there is just not aware of the situation. The potential for damage is enormous." White repeated that he believed Texas has a right to sue Mexico for property damage suffered by Texans. "Yes, sir. Texas has the same right to sue as the federal government does," he said.

White said he had not been in touch with PEMEX, the Mexican oil monopoly. "I don't know if I am the proper party. We will be working through the State Department."

Magazine editor, director honored

NEW YORK — Marcus Morris, managing director and editor-in-chief of the National Magazine Co., Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of The Hearst Corporation, is the recipient of the Periodical Publishers Association Presidential Award.

The PPA is the British equivalent of the Magazine Publishers Association in the United States.

Morris was voted the award "in recognition of distinguished editorial and business achievements over 30 years of magazine publishing."

He joined Hearst in 1960 as National Magazine's editorial director. In 1963, he was named managing director and editor-in-chief.

Morris and his wife, the former Jessica Dunning, reside in London.

Executions continue; 22 publications closed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolutionary regime executed 18 more Kurdish rebels early today, closed down 22 publications and expelled three more foreign correspondents.

It also said two German correspondents have been recalled to Tehran from assignments in the provinces and will be ordered out of the country.

The execution of the Kurds raised to 29 the number put to death in a crackdown by the fundamentalist Moslem strongman on the fight by Iran's ethnic minorities for autonomous home rule.

Radio Tehran said 13 men were executed in the western town of Paveh, where Kurdish rebels and government forces fought for three days last week.

The broadcast said Ayatollah Sadeq Khalkali, sent to the Paveh region to try the rebels, found them guilty of "corruption on earth and fighting against God and his prophet."

A firing squad executed five others in a prison courtyard in Kermanshah, south of Paveh, after an Islamic tribunal convicted them of taking part in the fighting, the radio report said.

Eleven other Kurds were executed Saturday night a few hours after government reinforcements regained control of Paveh from armed Kurds who took over the city five days before.

Radio Tehran also reported the execution in Khoramshahr, the Persian Gulf port, of two former agents of SAVAK, Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's secret police. This raised to 445 the number of executions announced since the overthrow of the shah in February.

Khomeini ordered more army reinforcements to Kurdistan Province to bolster undermanned garrisons as Kurdish attacks were reported on government installations in several towns in West Azerbaijan in the north.

The ayatollah attacked the Kurdish Democratic Party, which he banned Sunday, as "the party of the devil" and charged it was "in collusion with the United States and international Zionism."

"It is your religious duty to abstain from joining or assisting the Kurdish Democratic Party and it is also your religious duty to support the armed forces of the country," he told the country's four million Kurds.

The Kurds are Sunni Moslems, the majority sect in the Moslem world, while Khomeini and most of Iran's Persian majority are members of the rival Shiite sect. But the ayatollah assured the Kurds: "In the Islamic Republic of Iran there will be no difference between Shiite and Sunni believers."

Meanwhile, Tehran's Islamic prosecutor ordered 22 newspapers and magazines closed for failing to follow an Islamic line or criticizing religious leaders. Among them were Mardom, the Communist Party paper, other leftist papers and satirical weeklies.

Two leading Tehran dailies were closed two weeks ago when the stringent new press code went into effect. The press law is expected to affect hundreds of publications in the provinces.

Three more foreign correspondents also were ordered to leave the country and two German reporters, who were not identified, will be told to leave, the Ministry of National Guidance said.

Those expelled were Townyn Mason of the British Broadcasting Corp., Andrew Whitley of the Financial Times of London, and Jerome Dumoulin of the French newsweekly L'Express.

A Ministry official said the expulsion was the result of Khomeini's recent order for the provisional government to act in a more revolutionary manner.

Dumoulin said he was expelled for an article he wrote about the wave of executions and the political climate in Iran. He said the officials called the article "insulting to the revolution and the people of Iran."

David Lamb of The Los Angeles Times, Yousef Ibrahim of The New York Times and an NBC-TV crew were expelled from Iran earlier.

Bishop will fight stay of execution

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Confessed murderer Jesse Bishop says he's passed his most recent psychiatric examination and is ready to fight lawyers trying to stop his Aug. 27 execution.

Bishop said in an interview Monday that he underwent lengthy psychiatric examinations over the weekend and got "the green light" from a psychiatrist called in by prison officials.

A federal judge has scheduled a hearing Thursday in Las Vegas on a public defenders' petition to block Bishop's trip to the gas chamber, and Bishop said he will be there to oppose the petition.

A prison spokesman confirmed Bishop, 46, sentenced to death for killing a Las Vegas casino patron, would be flown from the Maximum Security Prison in Carson City to Las Vegas for the hearing.

Acting Prison Superintendent Howard Pyle also said Bishop's spirits and appetite are good, adding that he is smoking cigars, eating meals such as a lunch Monday of corn beef hash and oysters, and is taking "light" tranquilizers.

"This hasn't changed me mentally. It hasn't affected me at all," Bishop said.

"I don't really give a damn about their gas chamber," he said. "I can think of things I'd rather do... but the point is, I can accept this, too."

Bishop said he still feels it would be more "cruel" to stay his execution than to let it proceed on schedule. He said he would prefer a life prison term but doesn't see how he could get a commutation.

The admitted slayer, heroin addict and robber said he was "guilty beyond all doubt" and he wouldn't ask the state Pardons Board to commute his sentence because "I won't beg and that'd be begging."

The Clark County Public Defender's Office contends Bishop was illegally sentenced to death and that the execution should be blocked. The gas chamber here hasn't been used since 1961.

Rebecca Choir to give concert

The Rebecca Choir from the Roloff Home for Girls in Corpus Christi will give a concert at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Oaklawn Park Baptist Church, 3001 N. A St.

The girls will be singing and giving their testimonies. Most of the girls were placed in Roloff's home by parents and judges.

The Rev. David Pearcey, pastor, said, "There have been a lot of controversy, charges and counter-charges about this home. This is an opportunity for local people to get a first-hand report."

The Roloff home was in the news recently when the Rev. Roloff refused to allow his homes to be licensed by the State Department of Human Resources. He contends that licensing is in violation of the constitutional issue of separation of church and state.

The public is invited to the performance, said Rev. Pearcey.

Orientation to be held on mortgages

The Midland Housing Finance Corp. will sponsor an orientation session at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in City Hall on the Single Family Mortgage Revenue Financing Program.

Those interested in the program can hear the details at the meeting in City Hall's Conference Room located in the basement.

Purpose of the session will be to give the full background and requirements relative to possible participation of financial institutions, such as savings and loan institutions, mortgage companies and banks in the program. There will be a full discussion on all phases of the program by financial and legal representatives who are familiar with the program.

Midland Housing Finance Corp. is a non-profit organization approved by the city of Midland and recommended by the Midland Housing Authority to assist middle income families in securing mortgage funds at lower than existing interest rates.

Charter members of the group are Harry Clark, Fred Kester and Gene Abbott.

Potential heads of lending organizations who would be interested in participating and who have not received an invitation should telephone Fred Kester, 682-0011.

Police seeking heavyset man in alleged laundry robbery

A heavyset man walked into the Snowwhite Cleaners and Laundry No. 3, 3413 Thomason Drive, Monday and demanded cash from an employee, according to a spokesman for the Midland Police Department.

An undetermined amount of cash was taken in the incident, which occurred about 5:30 p.m., according to police reports.

According to the police spokesman, the man kept his hand in his pocket, indicating to laundry employees that he had a gun.

No weapon was seen in the incident, however.

The man left on foot with the money following the incident, the spokesman said.

The incident Monday marks the third armed robbery in Midland during the last 10 days.

A local convenience store was robbed Saturday and another laundry was robbed 10 days ago, the police spokesman said.

Police theorized today that the same person may be involved in all three robberies.

"We feel like it's the same one. But we have nothing to indicate it other than his mode of operation," the spokesman said.

He added that descriptions given at the scene of the three incidents indicate a man between the ages of 25 and 35, of medium height and heavyset build was involved.

Monday, the man reportedly was wearing jeans and a dark, long-sleeve shirt.

No arrests have been made following any of the three incidents.

Police conducted an extensive search of the area surrounding the 300 block of North Midland Drive Saturday following an armed robbery at Speedy Pak No. 3.

A small amount of cash was taken during that incident.
