Carter's energy campaign puts ashore in lowa

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Declaring "Thank you farmers from the bottom of my heart!" President Carter praised America's farmers today for their productivity and promised them all the fuel they need to harvest this fall's crops and plant next year's.

At an outdoor town meeting in this Corn Belt city on the Missisippi River, Carter also announced that he will support a move by farm-state congressmen to provide low-interest loans to farmers who install gasohol plants to stretch existing gasoline supplies.

Gasohol is a mixture of gasoline and alcohol, often made from corn and other grain crops. Its use, which farm interests hope will become widespread, help create a new market for the nation's bountiful grain crops

Standing on a park bandshell in front of a huge American flag, Carter told his 7,000 listeners that the warmth of his welcome as he cruised down the Mississippi has restored his spirit.

Giving farmers the word they wanted to hear on diesel supplies for planting and harvesting, Carter said, "The production of food in our country is a top

Carter said commercial fishermen also would be given the fuel they need to conduct their business.

Responding to questions, the president made his strongest plea yet for Americans to accept refugees from Indochina.

Someone asked whether admitting thousands of boat people amounted to importing unemployment and inflation.

"How many people here have ancestors that were native Americans?" the president responded, adding:

"I see two or three hands... Let me remind you that we are a nation of immigrants, we are a nation of refugees...The refugees who are now leaving Southeast Asia were our allies in the recent Vietnamese war.

He said the 220,000 boat people accepted to date by the United States amounts to about one refugee for every 1,000 Americans. 'They are entrepreneurs. They work hard...They are more philosophically attuned to us then they are to the communist regime which they left," Carter said, pleading with that his listeners keep America "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

On other subjects Carter said:

 He was proceeding "very cautiously" in assisting a financially troubled Chrysler Corp., limiting the possibility of federal aid to a loan guarantee. He wanted those who heard him to write members of Congress in support of his proposed tax on oil company revenues which he intends to use to finance alternative energy sources, mass transit and aid to the poor.

- Powerful oil company lobbies are now in a "very close match" with consumers for influence in Congress.

Carter calling this area "the breadbasket of the world," and said the increasing output of U.S. farmers brings "a better life" for the farmer and also

The farmers' improvements in productivity, he said, are holding down the rate of inflation and helping to relieve the U.S. balance of payment problem. But, Carter said, "The middleman is getting too much" of food prices as crops move from the farmer to the consumer.

He pledged, "There will be an adequate supply of fuel for the farmer," but that it will become increasingly expensive. Carter said he has been inspired by the crowds that have come to the banks of the Mississippi at all hours of the day and night to meet and cheer him on his week-long voyage aboard the paddleboat Delta Queen.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland flew here to be with Carter and offered an upbeat analysis of the president's political fortunes among farmers.

A 22-year-old Junction man died Tuesday night at Midland Memorial Hospital after he was shot several times by an assailant almost in front of the Midland Police Department offices.

Daniel Nixon died in the emergency room of Midland Memorial Hospital about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, officials

He had received shotgun wounds to both shoulders and small caliber gunshot wounds to the head, according to ambulance reports. Betty Sue Preece, 304 1/2 W. California Ave., a passenger in Nixon's car, was uninjured in the shooting incident, officials said. San Angelo authorities arrested a man believed by police to be Mrs. Preece's husband or former husband about 1:30 a.m. today in connection with the shooting, Coy Preece Jr., 22, was arrested by Tom Green County sheriff's deputies in San Angelo after they received a call from Preece's father, officials said.

A warrant charging Preece with murder was issued by Midland County Peace Justice John Biggs Tuesday night, officials said.

The last moments of the chase and the shooting were witnessed by several members of the Midland Fire Department and one police officer as they stood in front of Central Fire Station.

Vernon McNew, an emergency medical technician, today said the car driven by Nixon turned on to Fort Worth Street from either Wall Street or Front Street and Nixon's car struck a van parked on the west side of Fort Worth Street and continued north, said McNew. At that time, a pickup pulled alongside the Nixon vehicle, McNew McNew said he heard at least two shots fired as a man in the pickup leaned out the window and pointed a pistol at the Nixon car. The pickup turned east on to Texas Avenue as the police officer who had been standing in front of the fire station reached his patrol car and began to follow it, officials said.

The officer lost sight of the pickup at the intersection of Texas Avenue and East Front Street, officials said.

The car driven by Nixon came to rest against a stop sign on the northwest corner of Texas Avenue and Fort Worth Street, officials said.

Police officers were driving to San Angelo early today to transport Preece to Midland, officials said.

U.S. will not sponsor resolution for PLO

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States will not sponsor any resolution in the United Nations Security Council supporting Palestinian "rights" and is prepared to use its veto power to block any such measure, special Mideast envoy Robert Strauss said

In a television interview, Strauss said he and other senior advisers unanimously recommended to President Carter on Tuesday that the U.S. position be against passing a new resolution now because of the "hesitation" he found in both Israel and Egypt during recent talks.

Strauss said he expected Carter to endorse the recommendation "that we not go forward" with a resolution. The president, taking a vacation cruise on the Mississippi River, has not announced his decision. If such a resolution is introduced in the Security Council debate that begins Thursday, the U.S. response will be "negative," Strauss said on NBC-TV's "Today" program.

In the council, the United States has the power, through its veto, to kill any modification of the longstanding U.N. resolutions affirming Israel's right to exist within defensible borders and dealing with the Palestinian issue strictly as a refugee problem.

While reaffirming those resolutions, a U.N. committee's draft resolution scheduled for debate Thursday would have the council "affirm that the Palestinian people should be enabled to exercise its inalienable rights of self-determination, national independence and sovereignty in Pa-

In the interview today, Strauss hinted that he had not been enthusiastic, in the first place, about sounding out Israel Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat on possible U.S.-sponsored resolutions supporting the "rights" of the Palestinians

In shaping policies, he said, "you don't always get there down a common road.'

However, Strauss said, the decision that he go to the Middle East with the proposals last week was reached unanimously and, as a presidential adviser, he gave his full support.

Strauss denied reports of disarray in shaping U.S. policy toward the Middle East. He said he and Vance were good friends and that Carter was in overall charge of U.S. foreign relations.

However, he acknowledged there is 'a bit of awkwardness," stemming I from the fact that Vance directs policy and that Strauss in in charge of American mediation efforts. On a related issue, Strauss firmly opposed U.S. negotiations with the Palestine Liberation Organization until that group is willing to give up its stated goal of destroying Israel.

Abandonment of that goal is a precondition to talks, he said. "We can't negotiate or talk with someone about whether or not Israel exists," he said. They are there.

This put Strauss in a position directly opposite to that of outgoing U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, who already has met with a PLO representative and has called U.S. policy of shunning the PLO "a bit

"Among the range of options, post-ponement (until mid-September) is far and away the most likely one," one official said of the U.S. position after Tuesday's strategy meeting. He and the other sources asked not to be identified because Carter had yet to reach a decision on the touchy issue.

By mid-September, Sadat and Begin will have met again and Strauss will have completed another Mideast trip, one that might take him to Jordan and Saudi Arabia, as well as to Egypt and Israel.

The U.S. approach to the debate had initially been to promote a resolution supporting Palestinian "rights" without defining them or supporting statehood.

House meeting of his recent talks with Begin and Sadat, said he found both leaders opposed any such move.

They were said to be convinced the peace negotiations between their two nations could be hampered by a row over the Palestinian issue. The presidential envoy also found, however, that those negotiations hold out more hope for progress on Palestinian autonomy than he had antici-

Too much rain causes road problems in area

By BILL MODISETT Staff Writer

Most Midlanders realize it isn't wise to complain about the rain. Reason for that is simple: it might stop and a more or less standard drought might resume.

But too much rain can create problems — and additional expense — for road and highway maintenance personnel.

That's exactly what's happening this year in the Tall City and surrounding Midland County, according to officials.

An extraordinarily wet year now looms as a reality, statistics from the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport indicate. In fact, through Tuesday morning, Midland had received 12.04 inches of rain so far this year. Rainfall through August for Midland averages only 9.58 inches and average yearly rainfall stands at 13.51 inches. With more than four months remaining in 1979, Midland already threatens the annual rainfall figure.

WHILE MOST PEOPLE are pleased to see the rain falling, officials of the city of Midland and Midland County noted Tuesday that rain and runoff can be problems. Extremely wet years undermine paving on streets and highways, wash out caliche roads, create delays for road and street crews and boost the price tag on road, street and highway Midland's Public Works Department already has experienced chughment already had experienced chuckhole problems created by the above-average rainfall, said Public Works Director Fred Baker.

"We're noticing a few more holes," he said, noting that the situation is not as bad as it may become if rainfall continues into the fall and winter

Problems result on city thoroughfares when water soaks into the crushed caliche base of the road, disintegrating the caliche. Vehicles on the streets then break through the asphalt, creating potholes, he said.

Baker pointed out, however, that the city's massive seal-coating project to fill in cracks and potholes in

MMH to mail amended cancer center application

Midland Memorial Hospital officials expect to have an amended application for the proposed Allison Permian Basin Radiation Therapy Center in the mail to Austin by Fri-

They had expected to mail the apolication, which has been amended to include more powerful cancer treatment equipment, last week, but a suggestion to rearrange one section of the center caused another delay.

New architects drawings for the center, to be built primarily from a $2 million donation from Midlander Helon Y. Allison, were expected to arrive today, a hospital spokesman

The change was approved by the hospital building committee at a meeting last Friday with the archiects and equipment consultant H.O.

McKinzie was recommended to the hospital by officials at M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston. The changes recommended by McKinzie, which added another $1.3 million to the original price tag of the facility, are expected to smooth the way for approval from the Texas Health Facilities Commission in Aus-

The state agency must issue a certificate of need before the facility can be built. Once the amendments to the application are received and get an initial review to make sure there are no omissions or errors in the paperwork, the agency has 90 days to make a final determination on the matter.

During that time, the Permian Basin Health Systems Agency will hold local hearings on the application and make a recommendation to the state agency.

The local HSA gave its approval to the original application, but that approval was challenged by officials of Odessa's Medical Center Hospital on procedural grounds.

Before the process of local hearings could be repeated, MMH withdrew the application to make the changes in hopes of eliminating Odessa's objection that the Midland center would only duplicate facilities already available in Odessa.

Senators called 'baby-killers' seek inspection of mailing

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two senafors, labeled "baby-killers" in a mass mailing by an anti-abortion group, are supporting a call for investigation of the material by the U.S. Postal Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., wrote the Postal Service earlier this summer, according to Bayh's press secretary, Jim Barrett. Their letter supports an investigation request from the National Abortion Rights Action League, Barrett said Tuesday.

Bayh told the Postal Service he felt the material was misleading and thus in violation of postal laws, Barrett

The material repeatedly uses the phrase, "Stop the Baby Killers" and contains "some very inflammatory language" about abortion procedures, Barrett said.

The anti-abortion letter, signed by Ohio State Sen. Donald E. Lukens, asks contributions to a "$275,000 anti-abortion political war chest." The letter says the money will be used to campaign in 1980 against Bayh, McGovern and three other members of Congress - Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho; Sen. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, and Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass. - who allegedly have supported legislation that would allow abortions in some cases.

Lukens, who served two terms in Congress in the 1960s, was quoted as saying, "Basically, this letter represents my honest, sincere, hard-core feelings on this whole topic.

Lukens also was quoted as saying he doubted any action would be taken by the Postal Service.

The letter is being circulated by an anti-abortion group called Americans for Life and lists Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, as honorary chairman. Hansen has acknowledged lending his name to the project, but has said he was not involved in preparing the letter. Earlier this year, another anti-abortion group, the Life Amendment Political Action Committee, released a "hit list" of 12 members of Congress it will try to unseat next year. In response, leaders of such groups as the National Abortion Rights Action League have said they will try to raise $1 million to help re-elect those senators and congressmen.

Rainfall is blessing and curse

water from getting into the streets' ONE PROBLEM AREA, he said, has been along Scharbauer Drive, where water has seeped into an old sanitary sewer line ditch, causing the covering over the ditch to cave in. Newcomers to Midland also may be confused by low portions in the center of some streets where water collects during rainy periods. Baker said such streets are called "inverted crown" streets. These streets are designed so the center of the street can serve as drainage, he said.

Although such streets may create a temporary inconvenience for motorists when it rains, Baker claimed inverted crown streets are less expensive than storm sewers.

Baker said this year's rainfall has boosted cost of street repair for the city although "it has not increased it dramatically.

What will happen if the rain continues in Midland?

'The more we get, there will be more cracks with water getting to the base, and I would expect more repair costs," said Baker.

The rain has caused a dilemma in another way for Midland County's Road and Bridge Department, noted Albert Stewart, road superintendent.

HE SAID THE rain has caused delays for the department. When it rains, road crews must grade - and sometimes "re-caliche" - county roads before the caliche dries.

So department personnel who normally would be assigned to other projects have to be put to work grading roads, while other projects are put on "hold" for awhile. That particularly has been the case this year.

County Commissioner Win Brown noted, "You can't very well grade a caliche road after it's dry. The rains also have washed out some roads in the county, said Stewart. "We've had a minimum amount of washing. But we have had some problems with standing water,"

While standing water doesn't particularly damage a caliche road, "it's mostly a bother to the traveling public," Stewart said. The unusual amount of rain this year is increasing maintenance costs somewhat in the county, said Stewart. "Of course, all materials are going

Hardest hit areas in the county, he said, are the east and northeast por-

THE STATE DEPARTMENT of Highways and Public Transportation office here hasn't experienced many cracking or potholing because of the rainfall this year, said maintenance and construction supervisor Cecil

But, he noted, drainage has presented a problem.

"About the biggest problem we've had is drainage into our ditches,"

Since highways don't have curbs and gutters like city streets do, they don't hold water, said Watkins. But water washing out of fields and off the roadways pours into the highway ditches, clogging them with sand and debris, he said.

A lot of maintenance is needed to keep the ditches clear of debris, which can cause water to back up on the highways, he said. So the rain may keep Midlanders' yards green and nice-looking, but road and street maintenance personnel aren't altogether sure that every raincloud has a silver lining.

Nevada's gas chamber, idle 18 years, prepared for execution

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) - A prison official says the Nevada gas chamber, idle since 1961, has passed a final readiness test in advance of the scheduled execution of admitted killer Jesse Bishop.

Howard Pyle, acting superintendent of the Maximum Security Prison where the gas chamber is located, also said Tuesday three guards have been chosen to turn switches, one of which will drop a cyanide pellet in the chamber. None of the men will know who flipped the live switch if the execution is carried out Monday.

Bishop will be flown Thursday to Las Vegas where a U.S. District Court hearing is scheduled on a Clark County public defender's effort to stop what would be Nevada's 32nd execution by lethal gas.

Bishop said in an interview Monday that he's sane and "I don't give a damn about their gas chamber. He said he would strongly oppose the defenders' effort to block his execu-

Bishop pleaded guilty and was sentenced to death for the killing of David Ballard of Baltimore, Md., who attempted to stop a December 1977 robbery in a Las Vegas casino. Bishop said he was "guilty beyond all doubt" of killing Ballard.

He also said he agrees with the Attorney General's office that the public defenders lack standing to bring their court action. He had dismissed them from his case.

Bishop says a stay of execution only postpones the inevitable and that's worse than going to the gas chamber on schedule. He said he sees no point in asking the state Pardons Board to commute his sentence.

Once Thursday's court proceedings in Las Vegas before U.S. District Court Judge Harry Claiborne are completed, Bishop, 46, will be flown back to the Maximum Security Prison in Carson City.

If no stay is granted, preparations for the execution will be completed and final visits from his family will be allowed. Pyle said Bishop can talk at anytime to the prison chaplain and will be allowed final meals of "anything he wants.

Bishop says he'll walk into the gas chamber on his own and is not afraid. Once he's in the chamber, a stethoscope will be attached to Bishop's chest to help a prison physician determine when he is dead.

Besides a federal court stay, the Nevada Pardons Board could also get into the case. But odds of a Pardons

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - A stuffed with cotton before he was two-man team has begun investigating allegations that John Spenkelink suffered inhumane treatment before he was executed May 25.

Inspector General Dick Williams and Irwin Block, a Miami attorney, were to conduct a public hearing today on alleged irregularities in Florida's first execution in 15 years. The two, appointed by Gov. Bob

The Florida Flambeau, a Florida State University student newspaper, published an unsigned letter from a Death Row inmate, who claimed the action was taken to prevent Spenkelink's bowels from evacuating when he was jolted by 2,500 volts of electric-

The inmate's letter said Spenkelink's mouth was also sealed shut with "layer upon layer of two-inch adhesive tape.

The St. Petersburg Times reported Spenkelink was denied an opportunity to deliver a last statement to official witnesses even though Department of Corrections rules require it.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors have set the stage to play the first of several hours of tapes the most damaging evidence the state has against millioniare Cullen Davis, being tried here on murder conspiracy charges.

Dallas-based FBI agent Jerry Hubbell laid the foundation for the introduction of the tapes Tuesday, demonstrating the $3,000 body microphone used to recorded meetings between Davis and informant David McCrory on Aug. 18 and Aug. 20, 1978.

McCrory, Davis' one-time pool shooting buddy, is the state's star witness in its second attempt to convict the industrialist.

New rice varieties said posing threat of sudden, universal crop destruction

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The rapid and wide-spread adoption of improved, high-yielding varieties of rice may lead to its sudden destruction, according to agricultural scientists.

The warning was sounded by specialists at the International Rice Research Institute at Los Banos in the Philippines.

They said the adoption of new rice varieties was leading to genetic uniformity which could make the world's most commonly used staple cereal vulnerable to destruction by blight, virus or insect infesta-

Several primitive and wild varieties of Asian rice have already become extinct, they said, and many others are facing extinction in Southeast Asia.

Genetic diversity of a cereal provides a natural safeguard against total crop loss due to environmental factors, it was explained.

If one variety of rice, for example, becomes infected by a virus or is attacked by a fungus disease called blast, other varieties are used by rice breeders to develop new strains.

Rice scientists are concerned about the rapid disappearance of genetic resources in many parts of the world, and as a hedge against the future threat to the sudden destruction of rice, the research institute is undertaking a five-year plan for germ plasm collection in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

The institute already has a collection of more than 45,000 rice strains, but scientists say this is only a fraction of the known rice germ plasm in the

Some 100,000 varieties of Asian rice alone are grown in more than 100 countries. With funds provided by the United Nations Development Program, the institute will provide facilities for storing the germ plasm on a long-term basis.

Nationalize oil? NO!

Good grief! And what in the world could the AFL-CIO's executive council be thinking about in even considering nationalization of the oil companies as one possible solution to the energy crisis.

This certainly is no great tribute to Lane Kirkland that such would take place at the first meeting of the council under his leadership. But that's the way the action

Kirkland told a news conference the AFL-CIO is prepared to advocate nationalization if it becomes clear that the oil companies have abandoned the public interest and become mere agents for oil exporting countries.

Now that is assinine, muddled thinking any way you look at it. And surely the AFL-CIO's overall membership would not go for nationalization, which would work against their best interests. And who in the world is the AFL-CIO to charge someone else with abandoning the public interest?

Yes, it could be that the oil companies have been manipulated to a degree by the OPEC nations. And there is no doubt they have done a bit of manipulating of their own, both at home and abroad, to maximize their prof-

But one must not overlook the fact that it has been U.S. tax laws combined with a worldwide oil shortage and cartel control of oil supplies by the OPEC countries which have made such manipulations profitable.

Let's reform the tax laws, curb the gluttony which has helped bring about the shortage, check the cartel's tyranny. But nationalize domestic oil companies? NEVER!!

And no matter how skeptical some American people may be, there very definitely is competition between American oil firms. Conspiracy theories seem to be the easiest way to explain anything which goes wrong, and the oil companies are ready targets. So much so that a relatively unknown candidate for state comptroller in California won statewide election a few years ago by running on the slogan, "The man the oil companies fear most."

It is competition that has held oil company profits to less than average in percentage of equity and percentage of sales, the only significant ways in which profits can be measured. Sure, we've seen the headlines about the percentage in the increase of oil company profits in the last quarter or the last six months over the profits of the same periods in 1978. But these stories don't prove much, if anything. Year-to-year comparisons are significant for wage earners but not for business firms whose earnings are subject to wild fluctuations.

This was pointed out clearly here last week by C.R. Kreuz of Houston in an address before the Downtown Rotary Club.

"We need to put profits in perspective," he said. "We need to call them earnings, because profits has almost become a dirty

Kreuz defined profits as a "percentage return on equity" and said that the oil industry's return last year was 14.3 percent, while the average for all U.S. industries was 15.9 percent.

This is the message which somehow must be gotten across to residents of this great land from coast

Kreuz went on to say, "And so we're in a whirlwind of confusion stirred up by high-level and often irresponsible and acrimonious talk about obscene profits, monopolies, conspiracies and so forth." And all too many Americans have accepted much of this irresponsible talk, mainly from Washington, without further investigation. In other words, they have been brainwashed.

It most certainly is time right now "to put profits in perspective" and get off the backs of the oil companies, which are doing their very best to whip the energy crisis and overcome the nation's dependence on foreign oil.

The spur of competition is what keeps the oil companies sharp and efficient. And do not think for one minute that this competition does not remain keen, just as it always Merge the oil companies into one big national combine administered by the Department of Energy in Washington, destroy the profit motive, eliminate competition and put bureaucrats in charge and what will you have? Heaven forbid!

As someone has said, "If you liked the gasoline panic, you'll love a state oil monopoly.

ART BUCHWALD

Destinies yet dependent on 'Great Retailer in the Sky'

WASHINGTON - Montgomery Ward and Company came under attack recently for an insurance plan it has instituted for its charge account customers. The insurance automatically covers charge account bills up to $3,000 in case of the death of the person holding the account. The premiums are charged to the customer unless he specifically writes to the company and says he doesn't want

What annoyed many customers was that they were paying premiums on a life insurance policy they didn't ask for or know they had.

The only one who wasn't too bothered by the Montgomery Ward insurance ploy was my friend Spritzer. who loves to match wits with some of the largest corporations of this na-

As soon as Spritzer heard that he was being charged for a life insurance policy he had neither applied for nor wanted, he wrote the powers at Montgomery Ward a letter: Dear Sirs:

life insurance policy just in case something happens to me before I make all the payments on my new washing machine. This is good thinking, as you never know when I'm going to pop off and you're going to be stuck with the bill. I think you're wise to worry about me, particularly since with all the aggravation my kids are giving me, I could have a heart attack any day.

But the thought occurred to me, when I heard about your insurance policy, that I had no protection in case something happened to Montgomery Ward and Company.

I'm not wishing you any worse luck than you're wishing me, but through the years I notice that Montgomery Ward has had some very big ups and downs, and I've started to get a little nervous about what would happen to my washing machine if, God forbid. Montgomery Ward should have a heart attack.

I'm sure it couldn't because I know that at the moment you're in excellent health, but as business people, you must understand I have to prepare for the worst.

If something happened to you, I couldn't very well go to Sears, Roebuck and say, "Hey, would you come out and fix my washing machine?" any more than you could say to my loved ones, "Sorry about Spritzer passing away, but he still owes us money on his appliance.

So I have decided to do the only honorable thing and take out an insurance policy to protect me from Montgomery Ward going out of business. You, of course, will have to pay the premium on it, since I'm taking the big risk by owning one of your applicances. But in order to save you the time and trouble of paying on the policy, I will deduct the premium from my payments on the washing Unless I hear from you to the contrary, this insurance policy goes into effect immediately. As long as Montgomery Ward remains in good health, you have nothing to worry about. But if something comes up - and believe me, I'm not predicting trouble - you can rest easy in the knowledge that there will be enough money left over from your estate to take care of my washing machine.

Please understand there is nothing personal in this, and I wish Montgomery Ward a long and happy life, but let's face it, all our destinies are still dependent on that "great retailer in

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - President Nixon's solution to the Vietnam war was to replace American soldiers with quantities of modern weaponry, which would in theory enable the South Vietnamese to defend themselves without U.S. troops.

In practice, of course, the theory failed miserably. And when our puppets in Saigon collapsed, some $5 billion worth of U.S. armaments fell into the hands of the North Vietnamese victory, leaving them with one of the largest arsenals in the world.

This potential for international mischief was a nightmare for U.S. policymakers, as we have learned from secret documents and interviews with officials who were in power at the time. Would the Vietnamese communists turn their deadly booty over to other revolutionary forces or terrorist groups unable to purchase weapons through other channels?

It was no idle worry; that much was made clear by an inventory of captured armaments the Centeral Intelligence Agency compiled shortly after the fall of Saigon in the spring of 1975. The wealth of military equipment turned over to the South Vietnamese by the Pentagon - and subsequently lost to the communists included 1,100 aircraft, 400 naval vessels, 50,000 motor vehicles and millions of small arms and ammunition.

While the CIA tried to keep tabs on the whereabouts of the captured hardware, officials in Washington frantically tried to decide what to do if Hanoi started peddling the lethal bonanza on the world market. 'A number of countries in southeast Asia, the Middle East and Africa are reportedly interested in obtaining the U.S. equipment," one CIA report warned. "The Nigerians are said to be interested in F-5s, helicopters, 105mm howitzers and M-16 rifles." Libya was also interested in the purchase of M-16s. One CIA report noted the presence of a landing craft loaded with U.S. howitzers tied up in Haiphong harbor, apparently ready for ship-

"There were fairly hard indications that Hanoi was thinking of turning it into hard cash," a State Department official said of the captured arma-

What were the U.S. options? "We would have bought the stuff back ourselves if they wanted to sell it, one high-level planner told our associate Peter Grant. "But we were very worried that Hanoi would fund every insurgency in Asia.

If it seemed likely that insurgents or terrorists might wind up with the U.S. munitions, the source said, "we would have taken pretty stringent measures" to prevent the transfer. The options that were considered, we were told, included the use of military

Another possibility was purchase of the U.S. arms by friendly governments. Brent Scowcroft, National Security Council director, suggested that this might be a development to be encouraged as a way of keeping the arms out of unfriendly hands, according to the confidential transcript of a meeting of top officials in the Ford administration.

might be a good thing to encourage friendly governments to buy the captured arms. But Morton Abromowitz, deputy assistant defense secretary for East Asian affairs, raised an ob-"If the president gets asked at a news conference about supplying spare parts to a country which has purchased these captured weapons...(he'd) have to say no. It is a public relations question. Politically he would have to say no.

In the end, Jerry Ford's advisers. decided that the best course would be to discourage purchase of the captured arms and to give no assurance of spare-parts supply. As it turned out, the options never had to be called into play: the North Vietnamese decided to hang onto most of the arms themselves. We'll report what happened to some of the booty in a future column.

SOUND OFF: Q. Why can't the government turn over some of its huge surplus of sugar for the production of gasohol? - Ronald Scioneaux, Vacherie, La.

A. As a matter of fact, Publicker Industries of Greenwich, Conn., has already offered to exchange alcohol fuel to raw sugar. This would saye millions and reduce oil consumption. The offer is entangled somewhere in the red tape at the Agriculture Department. Discouraged over the delay, Publicker resubmitted the offer to the Energy Department. So far, the company hasn't even received a response. There seems to be no problem that the bureaucrats cannot prolong. Apparently, they would rather study problems than solve

Q. Please check into the use of jeeps by the Postal Service. The city letter carrier should be put back on his feet. - John J. McGuire, retired letter carrier, Buffalo, N.Y.

A. In city traffic, jeep mail not only is costly but slow. Every one-cent rise in gasoline prices costs the Postal Service a whopping $3 million. To save on money and fuel, the Postal Service has already promised to put thousands of carriers back on their feet. Mailmen often can deliver the mail faster on foot than in jeeps stalled in heavy traffic.

Q. It is true convicted criminals can draw government salaries while they serve time in prison? - John Kearns, Springfield, Ohio.

A. True. Uncle Sam regards inmates as an underprivileged minority. They are, therefore, eligible for federal earn-while-you-learn pay. They can collect limited paychecks as long as they're learning new skills.

ic expediency, the hard-line, rightwing Begin administration would cry bloody murder if the United States put out public feelers to the PLO in an effort to address itself to the Palestinian question. Israel, its lobby here and the terrorist units in the PLO have sufficiently defamed the Palestinian movement so that the American people have difficulty understanding it. The facts are that Yasser Arafat is more a spiritual and media force than he is leader of the Palestinians. Despite his chest-beating and gusto, Arafat has limited control, at best, over what the modest but potent collection of Palestinian terrorists do. What they do is often horrible, but it is not representative of all 3.2 million Palestinians. Those against Palestinian justice, however, have created the false notion that PLO equals terrorism, therefore, Palestinian equals terror-

Anyway, for the United States to push Egypt and Israel toward fulfilling their peace treaty, it is necessary for the United States to have some contact with the Palestinians. Andy Young was trying to do that when he met with the PLO's observer at the United Nations, Zehdi Labib Terzi, a mild-mannered, good-natured Palestinian-Christian

Young was doing essentially what U.S. Ambassador to Austria Milton A. Wolf (who is Jewish) was doing when he met with PLO officials three times recently in Vienna. That's what U.S. diplomats were doing in one of the Lebanese crises when they met with PLO representatives. That's what Sens. George McGovern (D-S.D.), Howard Baker (R-Tenn.), Charles Percy (R-Ill.), James Abourezk (D-S.D.), Adlai Stevenson (D-Ill.) and Charles Mathias (R-Md.) did when they met at various times with Arafat. That's what other senators were doing when they lunched with a PLO official here. Palestinians are not

I was at a party given by a U.S. senator this year, where among the many guests were three other senators and a PLO official. The host made it clear I was not to mention these senators by name in anything I might write one day, because they feared reprisal by Jewish groups. Now, what kind of atmosphere is it in this town, where a U.S. senator cannot look over a Palestinian?

After all, PLO people have met in Paris with respected Israelis such as Uri Avnery, editor of Haolam-Haze (a Hebrewer magazine) and Mati Peled. a retired Israeli general-turned-dove. There have been meetings in other countries between Israelis and PLO

So why did Andy Young get into the mess which led to his resignation? Because Israel's right-wing government is scared to death that the United States might tilt toward the Palestinians in an effort to force Israel to make concessions on Palestinian autorsomy on the occupied West Bank. Since Andy Young is controversial anyway, he was regarded as vulnerable by Israel to being exposed if he met with the PLO. One published account claimed Young's meeting with Terzi was bugged by Israeli intelligence agents. Young said he assumes that the Israelis monitored this meeting. Israel is unsurpassed in its intelligence activities, though it insists that the FBI and the CIA are enough to keep it informed about what the PLO is doing in the United States. I doubt whether Israel had to "bug" Andy's meeting. The substance of that meeting, however, was thrown to the Israelis, who leaked it to Newsweek magazine. When Newsweek queried the State Department, the chain of disastrous

Texas Tech student is fifth murder victim in five days

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - A Texas Tech graduate student became the fifth murder victim in five days here when he was sexually abused and beaten to death at his home.

The latest victim, 31-year-old Claude Ventry Bridges, was found lying on the floor of his home Tuesday by a professor concerned because Bridges had missed an oral test on his dissertation to receive his doctorate in education

Preliminary autopsy reports showed Bridges' larnyx was crushed. Furniture was overturned in his house, and he was found clad only in his underwear.

Bridges' wife, Mary Louise, was out of town. Late Monday, police found Paul Raymond Benton, 74, lying face down at his home with his throat cut ear to ear. Benton, a landlord, died at a local hospital shortly after he arrived. Police briefly questioned a former tenant of Benton's, but released

Ralph Baragel Perez, 33, of Littlefield, Texas, was shot and killed late Sunday as he stood in the door to a Lubbock club. Police said the .38-caliber gun was fired from a car that pulled up to the club. A second shot injured a security guard in the wrist.

Friday afternoon, 59-year-old Marcus Holmes was killed when he was hit in the chest by a shot from a .22-caliber pistol. Police said a neighbor fired the gun after Holmes threatened him with a blackjack.

Preliminary results of a study made at 20 schools across the nation, including one in Houston, were presented to Houston and Harris County school officials.

10 more New York banks hit; Authorities blame statistics on 'cafeteria-style banking'

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten more New York banks were hit by armed robbers, and gunmen pulled off a $2 million Brink's truck heist, authorities said, as police declared war against the daring daylight raids with the formation of a 30-man shotgun squad.

Within four hours Tuesday, robbers attempted to hold up 10 banks in Manhattan, the Bronx and Queens, raising to 120 the number of bank jobs in the city since Aug. 1. The old August record was 84

In another holdup, three ski-mask hooded gunmen using a fish delivery truck scooped up money bags being loaded into a Brink's armored truck at the Chase Manhattan Bank's main headquarters in the city's Financial District. They took two hostages, a Brink's security guard and a restaurant employee, who later were released unharmed near the Brooklyn Bridge.

Brink's offered a $100,000 reward for information leading to recovery of the money, which police estimated totaled $2 million. Bank spokesman Fraser Seitel described the cash as new money that had just been signed over to the bank.

Tuesday's bank robbery total was three short of the city record for robberies in one day - 13, set July 27. Authorities say there have been 575 bank robberies in New York so far this year.

'There is a sense on the street that it's open season on banks. We have to turn that around," said Police Commissioner Robert McGuire, who promised to commit "a substantial amount of our resources" to the burgeoning bank robbery problem.

A Police Department spokesman said a special shotgun squad probably would be on the streets in about two weeks. Meanwhile, "the entire detective division has been put on the alert," he said.

McGuire said the "apprehension" squad would consist of shotgun-armed detectives riding in unmarked vans. They would anticipate likely targets in hopes of stopping robberies in progress.

A 23-year-old teller at a European American Bank was killed Monday in a holdup, and the bank Tues-day offered a $25,000 reward for information leading A police officer shot Friday while chasing a bank robber was buried Tuesday. Two other officers have been wounded this month.

Two men were arrested in attempted robberies Tuesday. There were no injuries reported in any of the holdups.

Authorities blame the soaring bank robbery statistics on a variety of factors, including excess publici-ty, inflation and what McGuire labeled "cafeteria-style" banking - no bars in front of bank tellers and often no armed guard in the bank.

John Robert James of the Risk Insurance Management Society said banks are not insured against small robberies, so most try to minimize their

Boat with man's body found after distress call

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) - Sheriff's deputies and Coast Guardsmen responding to a Mayday distress signal by a man who claimed he was being tortured and shot found a boat off Santa Cruz Island with a man's body in it.

The dead man, who authorities say had been shot, was not immediately identified.

The boat was found late Tuesday night at Scorpio Cove, about 20 miles off the Santa Barbara coast, according to sheriff's Deputy Patrick McCarthy.

The Santa Barbara harbormaster received a distress call about 6 p.m. and the boat was found four hours later after a search by helicopter, McCarthy

He said the boat was towed to the mainland by the Coast Guard and would be inspected in the harbor. Boats in the area reportedly heard two distress calls from a man who said he had been kidnapped, tortured and then shot on a boat. McCarthy could not confirm how many calls were picked up, but he said

Settlement reached with goose-beater

WASHINGTON (AP) - An out-of-court settlement reportedly has been reached in the case of a physician who beat a Canada goose to death with his putter on the 17th green of a local golf course. Lawyers for Dr. Sherman A. Thomas, 67, of Washington, have accepted a plea bargain under which the doctor would pay a fine but would not serve any time in jail, Washington newspapers said today. The proposed settlement requires approval by U.S. District Judge Joseph Young, who was to preside over Thomas' trial in Baltimore Thurs-

Investigators have said Thomas contends he performed a "mercy killing" with his putter last May 3 after finding the bird severely injured, apparently by an errant approach shot, at the Congressional Country Club in nearby Bethesda, Md.

Dioxin confirmed at Love Canal site

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) - The state Health Department has confirmed that highly toxic dioxin has been found in surface soil at the southern end of the former Love Canal chemical dump site.

Last year, Hooker Chemicals & Plastics Corp. said it had buried as much as 250 tons of trichlorophenol in the canal, which the firm used as a dump between 1943 and 1953. When trichlorophenol breaks down, one byproduct often is dioxin.

Residents of areas near the former dump were upset, if not surprised by the news.

"How much evidence do they need before they'll get us out of here?" asked Lois Gibbs, president of the Love Canal Homeowners Association.

Last fall and winter, the state paid more than $20 million to install a drainage system and evacuate about 230 families from the inner ring of streets around the 1,000-yard-long canal.

Some living outside the ring who were not moved, including Mrs. Gibb, say the health of these families is still being threatened by the remaining chemi-

About 50 of these angry residents met with state Health Commissioner David Axelrod and other members of the state's Love Canal Task Force late Tuesday afternoon.

"Are you going to tell me as a mother that I have to spend one more night with my children in my home?" cried Marie Pozniak, whose son has a severe respiratory ailment.

According to state scientists, soil samples taken last October about a foot below the surface contained 5.3 parts per billion of dioxin.

At a canal site chemical holding tank, a reading of 176 parts per billion was confirmed. Previously, dioxin readings in collection facilities and waterways here were measured in parts per trillion, a thousand times less.

Axelrod said the department would attempt to minimize human exposure to the Love Canal chemicals while taking new soil samples in the north and central sections of the canal.

Police continue search for vial of rare poison

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - A vial of deadly poison stolen last week is still the object of a search by police, who warn residents not to touch the container if it is found.

The vial of Compound 1080, a rare and potent rat poison, was one of eight stolen along with a safe from the Fort Worth Exterminating Co. last week. Seven vials were found at a Fort Worth residence, two of them still inside the safe. The other five were in a trash bag that contained the remains of papers also taken from the safe and burned.

Police have acknowledged the missing vial may have been burned.

Dr. Gary Windish, chairman of the toxicology department at Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine, said Tuesday he was surprised to hear Compound 1080 still is on the market. He emphasized that no antidote is known for the poison.

'Grandparents Day' due

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Grandparents Day is on the way, and this year Congress has boosted its status to put Grampa and Grandma right up there with Dad and Mom.

Starting Sept. 9, Grandparents Day becomes a continuing day of observance, like Father's Day and Mother's Day. A joint House-Senate resolution has established it on the first Sunday after Labor Day.

Reconnaissance flights Tuesday showed little oil was within 80 miles of the South Texas coast already stained by the brownish-black goo.

A 30-mile area of sheen, with small concentrations of thicker oil, was spotted near the Port Mansfield channel in the southern half of 100-milelong Padre Island and scientists predicted oil would come ashore by Thursday on a remote beach of the National Seashore.

tally delicate Laguna Madre that runs behind Padre Island already are being protected and the Coast Guard is defending two other passes into bays north of Corpus Christi. Officials plan to allow the oil to hit the beaches, centering their defense on lagoons and bays where important wildlife and marine species live. University of Texas scientists in Port Aransas are preparing a report outlining the oil's long-term effects on the Texas coast.

Dr. Patrick Parker, director of the University's marine laboratory, has found in early lab tests that the oil isn't toxic enough to kill adult fish and shrimp, but is strong enough to kill fish eggs and hatchlings.

"We need to find out what the oil is like after 96 days, not 96 hours, " said Parker, referring to the short time adult species were exposed to the oil in the initial lab tests.

Parker said the study will attempt to outline where the oil will go and what will finally happen to it if it stays offshore. Scientists are concerned that the oil will stay offshore, sink, and ultimately find its way into the

Oil hasn't tainted seafood yet, Department of Health reports

AUSTIN (AP) - So far, there has been no pollution of seafood from the Mexican oil spill, the Texas Department of Health reported Tuesday.

'We have not found contamination from the oil slick on any shrimp we've inspected," said Robert L. Henna, director of the food and drugs division. Neil B. Travis, director of the shellfish sanitation control division, said there was no evidence of contamination on oysters in South Bay, which is open all

Travis said the department would continue collecting samples of fish, crabs, shrimp and oysters along the length of the coast, in addition to gathering water and sediment samples in coastal waters. He said the collection of samples would provide a background for the seafood under normal conditions.

Bizarre remedies offered for spill

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) - Should the latest technology fail in the battle against the world's largest oil spill, the Coast Guard can always turn the oil into dough with millions of pounds of flour - that's right,

Or they could simply cover hundreds of miles of Texas beaches with plastic sheeting, allowing the goo to wash onto the plastic and making cleanup a snap. No muss; no fuss.

If scientists were to find something impractical in those two plans, the Coast Guard could use the monstrous plastic sheet. That sheet would be towed out to sea and submerged so the runaway Mexican crude oil could float over it. Helicopters would then pick up the sheet and haul the oil away.

The Coast Guard has dozens of other bizarre home remedies to choose from.

Well intentioned, but woefully misinformed citizens concerned about the oil's threat to the Texas coast are sending the unusual suggestions at the rate of about 20 a day.

The usually comical proposals have thus far only served to improve the morale of Coast Guard officials forced to work 16 hours a day to battle the oil from a crippled Mexican offshore well. But the officials listened patiently and politely to each one, because "sooner or later, we might get an idea we can use," said Lt. Ed Thompson. One woman called from wisconsin, chastising the Coast Guard for spending $2 million to protect the Texas coast when all they had to do was buy $2 million worth of flour and dump it on the massive

That, she said, would turn it into easily retrieve-able dough balls. She knows it works, she said, because she tried it one day with kitchen flour and some of her husband's refined motor oil in the garage.

Chestnut said he had only one thing in mind as he quietly freed himself after being tied up, took the shotgun from under his bed, crept to within a few feet of the burglar and fired.

"I wasn't trying to scare him or anything," Chestnut said. "If a man comes in your home and pushes you around and treats you like a dog, then it's time to do something about it.

Police believe the same armed robber broke into the Chestnut's home three weeks earlier, bound the couple, ransacked their home and left.

STANTON - There are whispers in Martin County this summer about two-bale-an-acre cotton following better-than-average precipitation. And some of 165,000 acres of cotton planted in the county is dryland acre-

But for an estimated 50 to 75 Martin County farmers Tuesday, those whispers grew into earnest conversation. A five-minute hailstorm accompanied by high winds Monday evening damaged an estimated 10,000 acres of cotton in a southeastward arc from Tarzan to Stanton 'We won't know for sure until the smoke clears in three or four months," said Bob Deavenport, manager of the Farm Bureau Insurance Service in Stanton.

The destructive swath of hail was gauged at one mile wide and nearly 20 miles long by agricultural officials. For the area around Tarzan, it was the second heavy hailstorm this

A storm July 9 caused an estimated $1 million damage to the cotton crop in that area alone, according to Deavenport.

Brunt of Monday's storm, however, apparently struck just northwest of Fields of thigh-high cotton plants were stripped bare and the bolls damaged from hail pushed horizontally by winds estimated at more than 50

One county agricultural official said there was a twister in the wind. "There had to be a small twister," said Herb Sorley, chief field assistant

"We had the best one (cotton crop) we've ever had out there," Billy Mims said."The rain beat it into the ground after it hailed it out," he said.

"It was a fantastic cotton crop and it all happened in five minutes' time. I've seen more hail, but it was moving with such velocity that it just chopped that cotton off," said Roy Gossett.

for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee. County farmers who suffered from the storm spent time Tuesday sipping coffee and allowing the aftermath to sink in.

Only about 20 percent of county residents have hail insurance, Dea-

Crop damage from the second storm was estimated at $4 million by Deavenport, who had received 200 calls from county residents shortly after noon Tuesday Several farmers suffered a 100 percent loss from the storm, he said.

Until Monday, most farmers had been hoping for a late frost. Still, talk in Stanton Tuesday centered around the cotton's progress even before the "We had the best one (cotton crop) we've ever had out there," Billy Mims said. Mims, 54, farms the land he was raised on five miles northwest of Stanton. He stopped in at the Farm Bureau Tuesday to report the damage to his crops. Over a cup of coffee, he discussed the storm's extent with Deavenport and several other farmers.

'The rain beat it into the ground after it hailed it out," he said. Earlier, Roy Gossett drove his mud-splattered car along county roads just northwest of Stanton and pointing out the damage to his own crop. In his hands were pictures of fields waist-deep with cotton. Those fields Tuesday were stripped clean. "I even lost my black-eye pea patch, and that hurt more than anything," he said.

Gossett shook his head in disbelief. "It was a fantastic cotton crop and it all happened in five minutes' time. I've seen more hail, but it was moving with such velocity that it just chopped that cotton off," he said. Despite the damage, Martin County residents are facing a good some say bumper - cotton crop. While 75 farms were damaged, the county has an estimated 1,150 farms in operation, according to ASCS's Deavenport said if beneficial weather continued, the county could expect 128,000 bales this fall. Even with fluctuating cotton prices, the total value of the remaining crop is in the $28-million range, he added.

By comparison, the estimated value of the cotton crop this year in Midland County is $4.5 million, according to local agricultural officials. Gossett, who has farmed in the Stanton area for the last six years, lost 70 percent of his crop. The rest stood nearly thigh-high just beyond the outer boundaries of the hail damage.

He said he'll try it again. "I can't afford to get out of the business," he said.

Farmer Mims commented on the bountiful agricultural conditions this "Since I've been farming, we have never had the moisture conditions as good as they are this year," he said.

Out of 800 acres of cotton, he said he had 80 left.

Mims' worn straw hat was pushed back on his forehead. He held a cup of coffee in one hand, as he discussed the course of this year's cotton crop.

"That's farming," he said.

1.5 million UAW members to join in postcard-writing protest

DETROIT (AP) - As many as 1.5 million members of the United Auto Workers union are interrupting their work for six minutes today to write postcards to their congressmen and the president in a unique UAW-sponsored

Their chief employers, the nation's Big Three automakers, plan to dock the workers' pay for the time spent writing the cards — which for six minutes

And the auto companies refused to permit reporters and photographers into the plants to watch the "tools down" demonstration, although some supplier plants did agree to permit coverage.

"I'm tired of being ripped off by the oil companies, OPEC (the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) and the lack of an energy program," the cards say. "When Congress returns, I want them to enact an effective energy program."

"There was a lot of talk about this at the time of the President's energy." speech, then Congress went home essentially without doing anything. We're hopeful of stirring things up again," said UAW spokesman Don Stillman.

In a full-page ad in the New York Times today, the UAW said more than 70,000 workers in the auto industry are now on indefinite layoffs due to a gasoline-shortage inspired sales slump. A coupon offered readers a chance to join the protest.

The union had expected "at least a little sympathy" from the automakers because of the sales decline, Stillman said.

The UAW is plugging its own energy proposals — reimposition of price controls on crude oil and heating oil, a "windfall profits" tax on increased revenues from phasing out of domestic price controls on crude oil and establishment of public corporations to compete with private energy pro-

General Motors Corp., employer of 460,000 UAW members, said in a statement it believed its workers had "ample time off the job during their work day to express such views." GM said it had told top UAW officials it would dock the pay of participants because a work stoppage would be "a violation of the GM-UAW national agreement."

Ford Motor Co.'s similar statement said it expected its employees to "live up to the agreement." A Chrysler spokesman who asked not to be named said, "We don't believe workers should get paid for time they don't work."

Ohio Gov. James Rhodes today issued a statement supporting the UAW's call for an energy program, although he did not say he supports the

"On behalf of Ohio's 200,000 autoworkers whose jobs are threatened by the current energy shortage I offer my full support to the United Auto Workers call for a national energy policy that will assure adequate supplies of gasoline at reasonable prices," said Rhodes. "Skyrocketing prices and short supplies are the direct cause of the slump in auto sales which has resulted in 60,000 When the UAW announced its plans for the demonstration, officials said privately they expected other unions to join in. None have, but two private organizations are backing it.

Jerry Tucker, a spokesman for the Progressive Alliance, a group of about 100 organizations put together by the UAW last fall, said the alliance hoped the demonstration would grow into a "long-term, major protest against energy

The other organization, the Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition headed by Machinists' Union President William Winpisinger, is running its own "Stop Big Oil Day," collecting signatures on the street on cards similar to the UAW's.

'Mini-strikes' could begin against GM YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — The United Auto Workers union tactic of "mini-strikes" could get under way Aug. 30 at seven General Motors plants around the country.

The authorization of strikes affecting 31,000 workers came Tuesday and union sources said strikes could be used to put pressure on the company in negotiations for a local contract at the new GM assembly plant in Oklahoma City.

The UAW is also bargaining for a new national contract to replace one expiring Sept. 14. The union used the "mini-strike" tactic in 1972 and 1976.

Local strikes require five working days notice to the company. Letters giving the notice were delivered to GM at the national bargaining session

The letters covered assembly plants at Ypsilanti and Lakewood, Ga.; the Rochester Products division at Rochester, N.Y.; the Fisher Body division at Mansfield, Ohio and three Chevrolet operations at GM's complex at Flint, Mich. - the engine plant, stamping plant and pressed metal plant.

"Let me point out that a strike does not necessarily have to occur at the end of the five-day period. There have been instances in the past where days or weeks have gone by without a strike," said UAW spokesman Howard Lipton.

But at the Ypsilanti plant, Richard Debs, president of Local 1776, said his 6,200-member local was preparing for a two-day strike on Aug. 30 and 31 because of the 70-car-per-hour pace of the assembly

Energy Department stirs protest from dealers with gas price list

WASHINGTON (AP) - Gasoline dealers say wholesale prices are changing so fast any govern-ment attempt to compile a list of maximum permissible retail prices would be fruitless because it would

The Energy Department's first foray into arming consumers with an estimated maximum retail price list brought howls of protests from dealers across the

The dealers, some of whom were besieged with calls from irate motorists claiming they were being overcharged for gas, complained that the figures issued Monday were outdated and did not reflect latest wholesale price increases.

Nevertheless, Energy Department officials said Tuesday they will have such lists, perhaps every month, giving consumers estimates "within several cents" of what the legal gas price ceilings are in 20 metropolitan areas.

And, said the department's Jay Thompson, whose office is responsible for compiling the list, if wholesale gasoline prices are changing so rapidly a list cannot be compiled, the department may take a closer look at wholesale pricing.

Energy Department officials conceded the first list, compiled Aug. 6, was old by the time it was issued Monday and said an updated version would be made available today.

"It took a while for us to get our act together," said Thompson.

Although prices on the government survey are broken down to the nearest hundredth of a cent, Thompson and other department officials emphasized they are only estimates and may change slightly from day to day. Some stations — and even entire states — might be exempted for some reason, officials said, because of unusual operator

Under new government regulations, the country's more than 175,000 gasoline station operators are limited to a profit margin, from which they must pay their own overhead and labor costs, of 15.4 cents a gallon. They may pass wholesale price increases and taxes along to their customers.

The change in regulations was intended to make it easier to determine retail ceilings, and the Energy Department's Economic Regulatory Administration urged in a news release Monday that customers call a toll-free telephone line to inform officials of dealers they believe are selling above the legal maximum. Dealers across the country complained of being swamped with complaints they considered unjustified because the figures issued by the Energy Department were out of date. A station operator in Massachusetts got 65 calls from angry customers, said Paul Marron of the Bay State Gasoline Retailers

And Vic Rasheed, executive director of the Greater Washington Area Service Station Association, called for those who compiled the list to be

Midland College Board of Trustees bypasses tax-rate hikes this year

By DAVID CAMPBELL Staff Writer

There is some good news for Midland taxpayers: The Midland College Board of Trustees on Tuesday bypassed any new tax-rate increases to operate Midland College this year.

Reason for the hold-back in tax relates to Midland's growth and a resultant increase in revenue without a tax-rate hike, according to H.A. Tuck, the college's public relations Present tax rate of 22 cents per $100 valuation at a 75 percent assessment remains unchanged because more new people in the community will help share the tax burden, officials said.

Next year, when the assessment value goes up to 100 percent in accordance with state law, the possibility exists that the tax rate for the college could be lowered. Tuck predicted.

In other actions Tuesday, the board approved a $5,056,584 operating budget for the 1979-1980 fiscal year.

This represents a $716,068 increase over last year's operating budget.

Robert Phillips, vice-president for fiscal affairs, noted in a report concerning amendments to last year's budget an approximate $55,000 increase in income producing areas. He also reported a decrease of about $118,000 in last year's expendi-

"It was tough then," he recalls. Dobson, now 73, and his wife, Ila, lived in the Midland area while he was employed with Atlantic-Richfield Oil Co. in the oilfield when the Depression began its attack on the nation in 1929.

While others were being laid off in droves, Dobson said that the only reason he didn't lose his job was that he could do more jobs.

"I was an electrician and communications man and could fix leaking pipelines. Besides, my wife could serve as night watchman at the camp," he was quoted as saying.

During that time, Dobson also had a small farm near Stanton. He remembers that things were especially tough for the fulltime farmers and that a good 500-pound calf would only bring $11 to $12. He said that cotton brought four cents a pound and milo maize sold for $4 to $4.50 per con.

Dobson said that everything was cheap, but the problem was in finding a buyer. Dobson believes that he and others who survived the Depression made it because most of those affected were originally from rural areas and knew how to grow food. "There's no excuse for a person not making a good living if they are willing to work," concluded Dobson...

Scientists start preliminary mapping of sunken Confederate Civil War ship

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — The first lines are in place in what eventually will become a map of the wreck of the CSS Georgia, an ironclad Confederate warship preserved since the Civil War in the Savannah River mud

Tantalizingly close to the surface - only 35 feet down - the Georgia is shielded by strong tidal currents and water so muddy that divers can barely see their hands in front of their faces.

But on Sunday they succeeded in taking television pictures and laying a transect line, a rope across the wreck, which will be the base line of a grid overlying the ironclad warship.

Divers then will systematically scan by hand and with television cameras each section of the grid to

Junta reveals constitution; Guarantees political freedom

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - The revolutionary junta unveiled a provisional constitution that guarantees Nicaraguans broad political freedom and equal treatment under the law.

The charter, announced Tuesday, provides for freedom of the press and the right of Nicaraguans to associate freely with organizations and political groups regardless of ideology It also abolishes cruel and unusual treatment of prisoners and the death penalty and limits jail sentences to no more than 30 years. Other clauses guarantee working mothers the right to state-supported child care and bar authorities from drafting citizens without pay for construction

However, the junta that ousted dictator Anastasio Somoza last month after a seven-week Sandinista guerrilla offensive, extended its state of emergency for 30 days.

Junta spokesman Manuel Espinoza said the provisional charter would be in effect until a new one is written by a state council. He did not say when the council would be named, but that its 33 members would be appointed by the Sandinista National Liberation Front, whose guerrillas led the revolt that ended 42 years of Somoza family rule. The Sandinistas took their name from a Nicaraguan rebel who fought the U.S. Marines who put Somoza's father into power in the 1930s. The presidency then descended from father to son. Somoza fled to Florida after his regime fell, then went to the Bahamas. He arrived in Paraguay Sunday and was granted a residency visa by the government of dictator Alfredo Stroessner.

Vietnam to launch new campaign

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - Vietnam is expected to launch a new campaign in Cambodia against former Premier Pol Pot's Khmer Rouge guerrillas after the monsoon rains end in October, and 100,000 Cambodians will probably seek refuge in Thailand, Secretary-General Prasong Sunsiri of the National Security Council told a panel discussion.

Former Foreign Minister Bhichai Rattakul, another panelist at the meeting

Tuesday, said the number could reach a million. The Thai government is the unwilling host to about 200,000 Indochinese refugees. Hordes of Cambodians crossed the border in May and June when the Vietnamese tried to crush the guerrillas in northwest Cambodia. The Thai army drove about 45,000 of them back across the border.

Greek government freezes wages

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek government announced an anti-inflation program including a wage freeze until the end of the year, strict price controls, a reduction in government spending and big increases in interest rates on both deposits and loans.

Government spending will be cut initially more than $400 million, a statement said. Interest rates on deposits, which now range between 7.5 and 12.5 percent, will be increased four percentage points and those on loans will increase three to four points.

Turkey extends martial law

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) - The Turkish Parliament approved extension of martial law for two more months in 19 of Turkey's 67 provinces. Interior Minister Hasan Fehmi Gunes said the extension was needed to continue the campaign against political terrorism and protect campaigners and voters during parliamentary elections Oct. 14.

Martial law was proclaimed eight months ago in 13 provinces and extended to six others two months ago. Thousands of suspected terrorists have been jailed, and comparative calm has been restored on the university campuses. But an average of five persons a day are still being killed in the gang war between leftist and rightist groups.

Political violence has taken about 2,000 lives in the past 20 months.

Public's fear of cancer growing

But surgeon general says Americans healthier than ever

WASHINGTON (AP) - The fear of cancer is looming larger in the public's perception now that medical science has reduced the rate of heart disease and lengthened life expectancy, the surgeon general says.

Dr. Julius B. Richmond said in an interview Tuesday that although Americans are healthier today than ever before, most don't realize it.

He noted that fewer Americans are dying from the nation's leading killer. heart disease, and life expectancy is more than 73 years.

But those advances mean the public is becoming more fearful of cancer, the surgeon general said.

"Cancer relatively assumes a more prominent role. If people live longer, the likelihood of dying of cancers is going to become greater," said the 62-year-old pediatrician. "But that's counterbalanced by the fact that those who have cancer diagnosed under age 45 are living longer.'

Richmond, who recently toured China with Joseph A. Califano Jr., the former secretary of health, education and welfare, said, "If we still had children - as we saw in China dying of infectious diseases, we wouldn't be worrying so much about cancer in the elderly.

"When I was a pediatric resident (in the 1940s), I spent 25 to 50 percent of my time taking care of polio pa-tients," he recalled. "Now, in the last 15 years that I taught medical students, I didn't have a case to show

"So we have made that kind of progress. Now I think society can attend more to what you might say are the tougher problems of cancer causation," said Richmond.

The surgeon general published a report last month urging Americans to take better care of their own health. Unhealthy behavior or lifes-tyles may be to blame for as much as half of all deaths in the United States, his report said. High on Richmond's list of medical do's and don't's is: stop smoking. Other tips: reduce alcohol abuse; eat fewer calories, fat, sugar and salt; exercise moderately; undergo periodic screening for high blood pressure and other major disorders; and obey speed laws and wear seat belts

Richmond believes that the preventive health message is starting to sink

"If we hadn't seen a 22 percent drop in heart disease over the past decade, I don't think people would be jogging as much, or worrying about diet quite as much, or about hypertension detection or stopping smoking," he

"It takes hold in better-educated, upper economic groups first and is working its way down," said Richmond.

One exception has been a rise in smoking among college-educated women, but he expects these women soon will join the trend away from cigarettes.

Adult smoking has dropped from 42 percent in 1964, when a predecessor issued the first surgeon general's report on smoking, to 33 percent now.

Richmond hopes that ultimately the rate will fall as low as the 2 to 5 percent that a few colleges have found among their students.

The soft-spoken Richmond, who was the first director of the Head Start program in 1965, is concerned that children and teen-agers are not taught enough about health.

"It's a period of life in which risktaking is fairly common," he said. Such risks he noted were experimenting with cigarettes and alcohol to speeding and not using motorcycle helmets.

"But that's why most societies provide athletic opportunities for young-sters to engage in," he said.

"Why not build in health habits that will maximize their intellectual development and their physical development. I'm not suggesting that we want to see them all stamped out of cookie cutters. There's a great room for diversity in a reasonably safe context," he said.

These doctors speed to save lives—their own

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Doctors and others working at Martin Luther King Jr. Hospital in southeast Los Angeles say they speed through yellow lights to reach the hospital and save lives — their own.

They say they have to speed to keep from being attacked by young thieves who prey on motorists stopped at intersections, smashing car windows with bricks or rocks and snatching women's purses.

Authorities say the problem has reached epidemic proportions — with 41 such incidents reported in July alone. The youths normally work in large groups and scatter in all directions toward housing projects after robbing their victims, most of whom are women.

In the past six months, a police officer and a sheriff's deputy have died while attempting to combat the problem along the Imperial Highway. Although most of the robberies occur near a housing project on the highway, hospital employees say they also speed along other nearby routes, such as 120th Avenue.

"Rumor has it that when the police increase their patrols on the Imperial Highway, the thieves move to 120th," said Dr. Jack Maidman, who recently was cited for speeding in the area.

The county Board of Supervisors urged Tuesday that a task force be established to help end the crime spree. The board unanimously approved a motion to ask city officials and police officials to form the Law enforcement efforts at eliminating the problem so far have been unsuccessful.

"We've tried just about everything," said police Sgt. Robert Flanagan. "We've sent task forces down there, the sheriff has sent task forces. Because of the expense, we have to pull our men off and it starts right up again. It doesn't happen anywhere else in the city.'

Brown keeps subsidiary

Tom Brown Inc. of Midland has announced that its board of directors has decided not to dispose of its drilling tool and drill collar subsidiary, Oncor Corp.

The decision to keep Oncor was based on re-evaluation of the Houston-based firm's earnings potential in relation to revised future budgeted capital outlays, improved operating results since March 31 and changes in the outlook for the domestic oil and gas industry, a spokesman said.

Tom Brown Inc. also announced that its income for the first quarter ended March 31 reflect the reclassification of Oncor as a continuing sub-

By SUSAN STOLER

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - After a five-year fight over skyrocketing natural gas prices, a settlement by Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. and its wholesale customers promises consumers higher utility bills.

The Houston-based natural gas supplier and buyers representing 99.8 percent of its sales volume asked the Texas Railroad Commission on Tuesday to approve final wording of the mammouth agreement.

One in four Texans likely will feel effects of the settlement since Lo-Vaca supplies virtually all of Central and South Texas and sells to electric and natural gas companies serving Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and other areas.

Rates for direct customers will rise less than 1 percent if the plan takes effect, said Lo-Vaca President Bill Greehey. He could not predict new rates for customers of electric or natural gas companies that buy from Lo-Vaca.

"There isn't any question that for Lo-Vaca to be a viable company the rates are going to be increased," Greehey said.

Ratepayers, not big utilities like Lone Star Gas Co., should benefit from the settlement, says one consumer group spokesman.

"Those are the people who paid the money to begin with," said Peggy Buchorn, executive director of Citizens for Equitable Utilities Inc. Lo-Vaca was sued for $1.6 billion in

"There's absolutely no doubt in my mind that they're (consumers) going to get the short end of the stick. They'll be paying through the nose,' said Ms. Buchorn. "There's going to be a lot of rhetoric that this is going to benefit the ratepayers because they're going to get gas. Bull."

No one testified against the settleplan's progress. Lo-Vaca and its large customers asked for a commission decision by Sept. 4 in order to activate the plan before 1980.

Under the settlement plan, Lo-Vaca and several smaller Coastal-owned pipelines would be renamed Valero Energy Corp. with headquarters in San Antonio. Coastal-Lo-Vaca's old contracts would be void and the $1.6 billion in suits dropped.

The new company would be allowed to continue passing 100 percent of its gas aquisition costs to customers, as it has done pending the settlement. An additional five-cent charge per thousand cubic feet (mcf) would rise to 10 cents the first year and 15 cents the second year of the settlement.

Dying woman nervous now that paroled husband is home

LONG BRANCH, N.J. (AP) - A woman dying of cancer says she's a little nervous now that her paroled husband is home after her two-year battle to release him from prison.

'We're OK," said Linda Kotun, 28, after she brought her husband, Michael, home Tuesday from Rahway State Prison. "The kids are excited, but we're a little nervous. We have to get used to each other again.

Kotun was paroled after serving 21/2 years of a 7-10 year sentence for his 1977 conviction on charges that he held up a motorist at knifepoint at a traffic light and took $28. No one was injured in the robbery.

Three months later, Mrs. Kotun learned that cancer she had been fighting for some time was threatening her life.

The disease had spread from her thigh to her lungs. Her right hip, leg and pelvis were removed by doctors in an effort to stem the spread of the

Faced with the threat of death, Mrs. Kotun, a mother of four, began a two-year battle to win her husband's release. She and a friend, Pat Gigante, began a petition drive aimed at obtaining executive clemency from Gov. Brendan T. Byrne.

The effort attracted public support for the Kotuns, who were living on welfare, but Byrne rejected the appeal without explanation in Septem The New Jersey Parole Board last

Nigeria tells Russia to reduce mission

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. intelligence officials say Nigeria, one of Africa's most important countries, has told Russia to reduce sharply the size of its military training mission

This is regarded as a significant setback for the Russians in a country that is a major source of oil for the United States.

Intelligence specialists who asked not to be named said the development is the result of long-festering Nigerian military discontent with the Soviet mission, whose members were described as "condescending" to-ward their African hosts.

According to a recent intelligence report, the Russians have been ordered to cut back the size of that mission from 38 to 5 advisers next

Also galling to the Nigerians, the report said, was a chronic failure by Russia to send enough spare parts and to provide adequate help in maintaining Nigeria's Soviet-supplied MiG-21 jet fighters.

The Nigerian air force was said to be satisfied with the planes them-

The reported Nigerian complaints about Soviet military aid are very similar to those which have occurred previously in Egypt, Syria, Iraq, India, Guinea and other Third World

In general, it was said, those complaints have centered on alleged Soviet failure to follow up supplies of new weapons with adequate support.

A U.S. specialist said Nigeria may ask help from India, which manufactures its own MiG-21s, and possibly may be impelled to buy warplanes from Western countries arrested in Sanandaj and that "other counter-revolutionary elements in Kurdistan are being sought." The Islamic Republican, the newspaper of the fundamentalist Islamic Republican Party, said those arrested were members of the Kurdish Democratic Party, which Khomeini banned last weekend, the People's Fedayeen and other leftist groups.

It said a large number of weapons, passports and mimeograph machines were seized, but the leaders of the Kurdish Party still eluded capture. Meanwhile, a married woman was executed today in the northern town of Behshahr for having illicit rela-tions with a man and her lover received 100 lashes in public, the official Pars news agency reported.

A second execution - of an official of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's - was reported in central regime

The woman put to death was Narges Jabari. Pars said her husband was healthy so there was no excuse for her having sexual relations with another man.

The news agency said Capt. Parviz Shams, former chief of the state police in the central Iranian town of Arkan, died before a firing squad after an Islamic revolutionary court found him guilty of torture.

The executions raised to 448 the number of Iranians known to have been put to death since the overthrow of the shah in February.

Pars also reported that three men were given 105 lashes each in Ker-

Corps offers new plan for Trinity River Project

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has recommended a $783 million version of the Trinity River Project which "contains some severe environmental trade-offs," corps officials said.

A seven-year, $7.5 million study released Tuesday comprised six volumes of recommendations concerning a three-pronged plan for flood control, electricity production and recreation along the river as it meanders from Dallas-Fort Worth area to the Gulf of Mexico.

Texas voters the past three years have voted down proposals to widen, straighten and dam the river for such purposes. Business and industry interests also envisioned a Trinity River barge canal from the Dallas area to the Gulf, which had a billiondollar-plus price tag.

The corps' latest proposal supports three major projects - building a 68,000-acre lake with electric generating plant at Tennessee Colony in Anderson County, a 45-mile navigation and flood control channel from the Houston Ship Channel to Liberty and a nine-mile floodway extension project along Five Mile and White

Ray filed the lawsuit Tuesday in U.S. District Court from Brushy Mountain State Prison in Petros,

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray has filed a libel suit against

U.S. Rep. Harold Ford for saying that

Ray was responsible for the death of civil rights leader Martin Luther King

Ray, serving a 99-year sentence

Ray asked for a jury trial and said, if a jury should find Ford innocent of libel, Ray "would ... accept full responsibility for the MLK homicide and abort efforts to gain a trial in the criminal case, which would resolve the matter permanently.

Ford was quoted July 19 as saying, 'We can say once and for all ... we can eliminate from our minds .. James Earl Ray did kill Martin Luther King Jr., he did fire the rifle ... and he acted alone in pulling the

The lawsuit said Ford made the comments after completion of a report on the King and John F. Kennedy slayings by the House Select Committee on Assassinations. Ford was a committee member.

Ector schools adopt $41.2 million budget

ODESSA - Ector County school trustees Monday adopted a $41.2 million no-tax-increase budget over the protests of a citizens' group that wanted a tax cut and higher teacher salaries. The 1979-80 fiscal year budget re-

Members of the Concerned Taxpay ers of Ector County, however, contended trustees could cut the tax rate to $1.09 per $100 and, using the state funds and part of the fund balance left from last year, still maintain the $41.2 million budget.

They also urged trustees to give teachers a larger salary increase, pointing out that teacher salaries had not increased at the same rate as other school district employees.

$500 taken in Odessa robbery

ODESSA - Investigation into an early Tuesday morning truck stop robbery here was continuing today with no arrests made.

According to an Ector County Sheriff's Department spokesman, two men walked into the Red X Truck Terminal, 6100 West Highway 80, at 3:30 a.m. Tuesday and took nearly $500 from the truck stop.

During the robbery, one of the men indicated he had a weapon in his coat pocket, the report said.

It was not known how the men left the station, sheriff's officials said. Sheriff's officials said they are also investigating the possibility that the two men also had robbed Albertson's in Odessa early Sunday morning.

Arabian American Oil Company, the world's largest oil-producing company, is constantly expanding existing oil sources and developing new fields. Right now we are filling a variety of jobs which offer tremendous opportunities for excellent income and rapid professional advancement.

If you have a bachelor's degree in petroleum engineering with a minimum of 3 years' experience, one of the jobs described below could be the challenge you have been waiting for.

Drilling and Workover Engineers

There's a great chance for career development here as you prepare drilling and workover programs and rig schedules, conduct technical studies and cost analyses, and provide field assistance. You'll evaluate new equipment, materials and techniques. Also develop optimum methods for drilling various types of onshore/offshore wells, including mud and casing programs. Field and office assignments.

Production Engineers You can demonstrate your expertise as you handle technical responsibility for maintaining oil production, and gas and water injection rates in all existing facilities. Also the coordination of new development projects, review of operating performance, streamlining of existing facilities, planning and monitoring of testing work, and provision of technical guidance in such specialist areas as corrosion, desalting/dehydration, well equipment, artificial lift production control and allocation.

Reservoir Development Engineers

Challenging jobs now being filled in: Reservoir Engineering, Reservoir Systems, Field Development Planning, and Well Logging.

1) Reservoir Engineers are responsible for evaluating past performance and predicting future performance of approximately 150 reservoirs in 45

2) Reservoir Systems Engineers are in charge of data handling programs for production, pressures, well status, drilling statistics, reservoir simulation systems, linear programming.

CHALLENGE BY CHOICE

3) Field Development Planning Engineers are responsible for determining the size, location, and basic facilities design for new oil increments.

4) Well Logging Engineers will coordinate development of new survey methods and new analytical techniques, including computerized log processing, and participate in reservoir description and formation evaluation activities.

40% tax-protected premium You earn more in Saudi Arabia because you're worth more-a tax-protected premium of up to 40%. For example, if you're making $25,000 a year before taxes in the U.S., you can make a $10,000 tax-protected premium in Saudi Arabia. That adds up to an additional $50,000 over the next 5 years.

Aramco schools are excellent Aramco communities have their own modern, air conditioned schools. They're staffed by highly qualified teachers, 85% of whom have master's

In comparison to top U.S. private and public schools, the scholastic performance of Aramco children exceeds that of their U.S. peers over 95% of the time.

40 days' paid vacation With Aramco, you get 40 days' paid vacation every 121/2 months, plus an average of 12 paid holidays a year. We also pay vacation transportation and travel expenses to the States and back for your entire family every year.

Interested? Call Bob Shannon at (915) 683-6131 for an interview at The Hilton. If you can't make the interview, send your résumé in confidence to: Aramco Services Company, Department MRT0826RSA, 1100 Milam Building, Houston, Texas 77002.

GEOPHYSICISTS

Earn more, advance rapidly, work with newest technology at Aramco. Interviews here August 27, 28.

While demonstrating your expertise as a processing geophysicist, geophysical interpreter or seismic stratigrapher, you'll have many opportunities for career advancement. Plus a lot more money, a fine education for the children, long vacations, world travel. For an interview with Aramco's Bob Shannon at The Hilton, August 27, 28, call (915) 683-6131.

Aramco, the world's largest oilproducing company, is also the key firm involved in the development of the energy resources of Saudi Arabia.

Some of the projects are the world's largest-staggering in scope, complexity and imagination. Nowhere else is advanced technology being applied so widely.

of benefits

needed can earn many benefits. There are financial incentives that include a substantial tax-protected expatriate premium for overseas assignment. (For example, if you are earning $30,000 in the States, your equivalent salary in Saudi Arabia might be $42,000, depending on family status.) You get 40 days' paid vacation every 121/2 months. Plus good family and bachelor living conditions, and excellent schools for children.

Also keep in mind that your employment in the progressive, expanding work environment of Saudi Arabia could lead to good career advancement opportunities.

You might be exactly right for one of these challenging jobs. You'll need at least a bachelor's related science. Oil company experience helpful but not required, as is a well-rounded exploration background. WANTED secretary for law firm, must type 65 wpm. Have own transpor-tation. Must be bilingual. Call 683-5446 for interview.

What our geophysicists will do We are currently planning a new office building and data processing facility in Dhahran to be completed in the fall of 1981. In it will be housed the very latest equipment available. You'll be working with the most modern technology available with the leader in program development for static corrections. Initially, you'll work in Croydon, England, a suburb of London. After the completion of the building, you'll move to Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, where you'll work with some of the most highly qualified professionals in the industry. Plus you'll be responsible for your own work, and you'll present it to management yourself, not through committee. Take a look at our specific disciplines.

Cubs divide pair with Amarillo Gold Sox

Cubs at home

Tonight-Gold Sox vs. Cubs, 2 games, 6:30 p.m. at Cubs Sta-

Thursday-El Paso Diablos vs. Midland Cubs, 7:30 p.m., Cubs Stadium.

BY TED BATTLES R-T Sports Editor

Rainouts Sunday and Monday upset Midland Cubs Manager Randy Hundley because it raised havoc with his pitching rotation in the heat of the Texas League West pennant race, necessitating baseball doubleheaders Tuesday and Wednesday against Amarillo. Hundley could have been disturbed for another reason. The Cubs haven't won a doubleheader all

Midland didn't break its record, splitting a pair with the last place Gold Sox, winning the opener 7-3 on the seven-hit pitching of lefthander Bill Earley and the hitting of Eric Grandy and losing the nightcap 6-3 as the Gold Sox unloaded for 14 hits, including homers by Gary Ashby and Brian Greer

It was a doubleheader that was almost never played. A heavy rainstorm Tuesday morning left the skin part of infield a swampland that could never be readied by game time, un-

Before game time, the entire infield, three to four inches deep, was replaced as the city of Midland hauled in truck loads of dirt. "It may produce a lot of bad hops," GM Bill Rigney, Jr., predicted, "But we had to do

GRANDY, WHO produced the game-winning hit in Saturday's game, did it again in the first game Tuesday, leading off the fifth with a solo homer to give the Cubs a never-to-be-topped 4-3 lead. The Cubs added two more in the inning, but Grandy's 10th homer was enough.

Earley raised his record to 12-6, giving up a couple of unearned runs in the second and another tally in the fifth as Ashby walked, stole second and scored on Tim Flannery's single to give the Gold Sox a 3-2 lead. Javier

Bill Earley

Fierro promptly tied it, homering with one out in the home fourth.

For Fierro, it was his third home run of the series and fifth homer in his last five games.

Midland scored in the first when Grandy lifted a sacrifice fly to center after Dan Rohn and Rocky Thompson opened the game with singles. After Rohn doubled in the third and scored on a wild pitch, Grandy tripled to extend his streak to 13 straight games, but alas Stablien blanked the lanky outfielder in the nightcap.

THANKS TO Grandy, Gary Krug kept his streak alive in the first game. The first baseman had gone 0-for-3 and two were out in the sixth when Grandy coaxed a walk out of relief pitcher Floyd Chiffer, giving Gary one more chance. He made the most of it with a single to left.

Krug then beat out a deflected infield hit in the third inning of the second game to make it 12 straight, but that's about all the Cubs salvaged losing streak. When he record his last victory back in June, it made him 6-3.

Stablien broke a personal 11-game

Amarillo won the second game on a couple of prodigious home runs off Midland starter Herman Segelke, 12-8, as the Gold Sox broke out of a 3-3 tie in the fourth. Ashby led off the inning, swung took two steps and broke into a home run trot as the ball was just peaking when it reached the right field fence. With two out, Greer poled his 18th of the year over the fence in center, to the left of the double deck. No one was aboard.

That made it 5-3 and the Sox added insurance in the seventh when Earl Battey singled and Dane Ilertsen followed with an infield hit. Mike Allen relieved Segelke and got Curt Reed on a force at second as Battey moved to third and scored on Dick Walterhouse's suicide squeeze bunt, so perfect he beat it out for a hit.

Cowboys favored to win NFC East

DALLAS (AP) - There is a swing of power in the National Conference Eastern Division, but it's not at the top where the Dallas Cowboys' title flag remains firmly implanted.

Charlie Waters may be out for the regular season with a knee injury and Tony Dorsett may be hobbling around on a broken toe but Coach Tom Landry somehow prevails.
"Tom likes it when the going gets gritty," says a front office worker.

"He really has his game face on now." The Cowboys, who have made the playoffs 12 out of the last 13 years good for five tickets to the Super Bowl, are deep enough for two National Football League teams. What team can put a five-year veteran like Randy Hughes at strong safety for Waters? Or trot out a 14-year vet like Preston Pearson for

What team can lose Ed (Too Tall) Jones and Jethro Pugh to retirement and still have athletes like Larry Cole, Dave Stalls and Larry Bethea to

The Cowboy flex has looked like paper mache in the preseason, but

"Our defense can look awful bad early when we're not coordinated, especially if you don't have the right people in the right spots," says Landry. "We like to look at a lot of rookies and you pay the price."

If there is an heir apparent in the NFC East, it could be the young Philadelphia Eagles, who made the playoffs as a wild card team last year, losing to the Atlanta Falcons.

But Eagle Coach Dick Vermeil figures Philadelphia is still three or four years away from the Super Bowl. Landry says look out for the Eagles.

"When a team comes into the playoffs for the first time and then has some 35 players working out in the offseason, which is unheard of in Philadelphia, you have a positive situation," says Landry. "They have enough talent to win our division.

The Eagle rise comes as Washington washes out its "Over-The-Hill" gang, Bud Wilkinson tries to rebuild at St. Louis, and Ray Perkins takes over a struggling New York Giant team.

The Eagles still don't have the offense to match the Cowboys, who were No.1 in the NFL last year with quarterback Roger Staubach leading the league in touchdown passes. Fullback Mike Hogan and reserve running back Jim Betterson were lost in the offseason to the Eagles when they were charged with violations of cocaine possession laws. Vermeil is hoping for young Cleveland Franklin, third-year vet Larry Barnes or Billy Campbell to come

The Eagles are high on rookie placekicker Tony Franklin of Texas A&M, who gives them more of a field goal threat than the departed Nick

China wanting in Olympics

PEKING (AP) - West German Interior Secretary Gerhart Baum Tuesday discussed the International Olympic Committee with the Chinese minister in charge of physical culture and sports, Wang Meng.

The subject is one in which both are keenly interested, but no details were immediately forthcoming.

China hopes to participate in the 1980 Olympic Games in Moscow and is willing to compete alongside a team from Taiwan. Hesitancy on the part of the Nationalist Chinese over what flag to carry and what national anthem to play at the Games have blocked a solution to the problem of Chinese representation in the Olympic Committee.

The subject may come up again today when Baum meets with Vice Premier Keng Piao.

Tuesday, Coach Tom Landry decided that Waters would be out for the entire year, opening up a spot on the team for someone else - whoever it may be Only hours before announcing that Waters would sit out the current campaign, Landry said, "The decision on Waters hasn't been made yet. It's my decision ... mine and Dr. (Marvin) Knight's."

LANDRY, WHOSE imaginative offenses somehow spring from a nevertheless conservative mind, had given a hint as to what he might do. "The conservative thing to do would be to put him (Waters) off for a year,"

Landry said. The decision on Waters was just one item on Landry's worry list as Saturday's final preseason contest loomed against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Super Bowl rematch will be played minus Waters and running back Tony Dorsett, who's out with a broken toe. There was some good news at running back. Scott Laidlaw's hamstring troubles have cleared up enough for a return to action.

BACKUP QUARTERBACK and punter Danny White will be there, but only as a punter, thanks to a broken thumb. Landry cut punter Duane Carrell Tuesday, saying that White would be able to kick but would not be ready to steer the team for several

Falcone handcuffs Houston Astros in bizarre game

By The Associated Press

In their wild and woolly, daffy and wacky history, only the New York Mets could prove that a baseball game isn't over even AFTER the last

There have been some weird happenings in the Mets' 19-year history and they have won and lost games in some strange ways, but never before have they had to go through a do-over to end a ballgame. Suffice to say that Doug Flynn drove in three runs with a single and double and Pete Falcone pitched a 41/2-hitter Tuesday night all right, it was really a four-hitter as the Mets defeated the Houston Astros 5-0. Falcone's toughest chore was recording the final out.

The fun started when Houston's Jeff Leonard fouled a ball into the stands. Right fielder Dan Norman, who had given chase, was slow returning to his position so umpire Doug Harvey called time but Falcone released the next pitch anyway and Leonard flied out to center fielder Lee Mazzilli.

Or so it seemed. Harvey ruled that time was out and sent Leonard back to the plate. Two pitches later he singled to center.

Or so it seemed. The Mets had no first baseman on the field since Ed Kranepool had gone to the clubhouse thinking the game was over.

New York Manager Joe Torre argued that the rules call for all fielders other than the catcher to be in fair territory for a play to count. The umpires agreed and The Jeff Leonard Hour continued.

But first a word from Houston Manager Bill Virdon, who claimed that if Kranepool was not in position the intervening pitches to Leonard shouldn't count. Again the umpires agreed, but Virdon said he was playing the game under protest.

Two pitches later Leonard hit another fly ball which left fielder Joel Youngblood caught to officially end the game.

The setback, Houston's fifth in the last six games, trimmed the Astros' lead in the National League West to 11/2 games over the second-place Cincinnati Reds, who edged Montreal 3-2. The Expos thus remained two games in back of Pittsburgh in the NL East as the Pirates dropped a 6-1 decision to the San Francisco Giants.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Chicago Cubs 4-2, the Atlanta Braves nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 and the San Diego Padres shaded the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 in 11 innings.

was confusing, try and decipher this explanation from Virdon:

'They (the umpires) made the mistake and they penalized us for it. They took a base hit away from us. Harvey called time before the batter hit the ball because the outfielder was not in position. The second time, after they threw two pitches with nobody on first, they ruled the play was off because the Mets didn't have nine men in the field. 'If that's the case, those two pitches didn't count. They screwed up and I'd like to see if I can get another out out of this. They would have to start again with Leonard on first and two men out. But they won't."

Said Torre, "That's the first time

I've ever seen a guy go 1-for-3 in the ninth inning."

Reds 3, Expos 2 Pinch-hitter Heity Cruz' infield single drove in the winning run in the seventh inning and gave Tom Seaver his 10th consecutive triumph as Cincinnati snapped Montreal's five-game winning streak. Dan Driessen led off the seventh with a single, stole second and went to third on an infield out before Cruz, batting for Seaver, chopped an infield hit on which third baseman Larry Parrish was unable to Seaver, who allowed a game-tying two-run homer to Rusty Staub in the top of the seventh, struck out two Expos to pass Jim Bunning for fifth place on the all-time list with 2,856. The man in front of him is Nolan Ryan of the California Angels with 2,865.

Giants 6, Pirates 1

Jack Clark's tie-breaking three-run homer highlighted a four-run sixth inning and Dennis Littlejohn hit his first major league homer in the ninth as San Francisco ended a six-game losing streak. Giants pitcher Bob Knepper, who scattered six hits, including Dave Parker's first-inning homer, started the sixth-inning rally with a single, only San Francisco's second hit off Bruce Kison.

Dodgers 4, Cubs 2

Ron Cey's three-run homer followed by a solo blast from Dusty Baker and powered Don Sutton and the Dodgers to a 4-2 victory that snapped Chicago's six-game winning streak. Sutton notched six strikeouts to become the 15th pitcher in major league history to reach 2,500 strikeouts.

Sutton reached his strikeout milestone despite being checked by the umpires in the sixth inning for possible use of a foreign substance on the ball. Cubs Manager Herman Franks demanded a check of Sutton in the sixth inning despite protests from Dodgers Manager Tom Lasorda. Plate umpire Terry Tata checked Sutton's glove and third base umpire John Kibler got a towel and had Sutton wipe his arms, hands and face.

"I had been the on-deck hitter and had some pine tar on my hands," said Sutton. "They asked me to wipe it off to make everyone happy, so I did."

Padres 3, Cardinals 2

Paul Dade opened the San Diego 11th with a double, beat the throw to third on a sacrifice and scored the winning run on Kurt Bevacqua's single as the Padres ended a seven-game losing streak. Dade was batting for winner Bob Shirley, who allowed six hits in 10 innings. The Padres tied the score in the ninth when Ozzie Smith singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Dave Winfield.

Braves 5, Phils 4

Gary Matthews hit his 25th home run of the season in the seventh inning to break a tie and give rookie Larry Bradford his first major league victory. The Phillies had tied the score with three runs in the sixth. Atlanta took a 3-0 lead in the first inning, which Matthews started with a single and Barry Bonnell capped with a

North Little Rock takes opening round victory in Little League Series

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Big league cool. You'll find it as surely as bubble gum in back pockets at the Little League World Series.

'We've played really tough teams before. We're getting used to it," said 12-year-old Jon Jones after he pitched North Little Rock, Ark., to a 3-1 victory over Ridgewood, N.J., in the opening round of the eight-team tournament Tuesday.

Jones, a 5-foot-8, 140 pounder, yielded two hits and struck out 15 batters in the biggest six innings of his baseball life. Afterward, Jones shook hands and handled questions as calmly as if he had spent the day mowing the North Little Rock moved to Thursday's semifinal against the winner of today's game between Campbell, Calif., and Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich. That bracket will put a U.S. team in Saturday's final with either Pu-tzu, Taiwan, or Santurce, Puerto

The winner of today's Pu-tzu-Santurce game wasn't officially assured a title game berth, but it was a virtual certainty. The only obstacle would be a Thursday semifinal game against the overmatched Aviano, Italy, Air Force base team, which beat Sherbrooke-Lennoxville, Quebec, 4-3.

The mathematically precise Taiwan players walked together in uniform to a practice field Tuesday morning each carrying a white tote bag containing their gloves and base-play pepper. One row had bats, the other gloves. One line delivered letter-high pitches, the batters poked them back into the thrower's chest. Precise throws, precise bat contact, precise catches.

"They're beautiful. They're a show said Larry Kremers, the team. North Little Rock manager. "They play year round and they're drilled, and drilled, and drilled, while our kids drop off to play football and basketball. But I have no animosity. I love to see them play."

On a nearby practice field, the Puerto Rican players shedded their warmup jackets at random and loped onto the field in T-shirts and jeans for their practice.

Their tallest player, 5-foot-10 Ulises Sierra, wore no shirt as he pranced around the field smiling and chatting with teammates. Sierra is 21-0 this season.

Luis Acosta, a coach with the Puerto Rican team, watched the Taiwan players smack fastballs in practice.

"Our pitcher won't throw them that way." Acosta said with a confident smile. "He throws a curve - a real hard curve — and that's what they're going to see."

Taiwan has won the title seven times in nine years.

Gerela waived by Pittsburgh

By the Associated Press Somewhere in Pittsburgh, an empty gorilla suit will be stored away in mothballs this season. "Gerela's Gorillas" lost their favorite kicker Tuesday when the Steelers placed their all-time leading scorer on irrevocable waivers. Roy Gerela, who suffered through the worst of his eight National Football League seasons as a Steeler last year, felt at the beginning of training camp that his days in Pittsburgh were numbered. Even a pair of 48-yard field goals in a Steelers win over the New York Jets last Sunday didn't

"It's a hazardous occupation," said Gerela, whom Pittsburgh unsuccessfully had tried to trade. "What's to worry? That makes for ill health. You just do the best you can.'

Gerela, whose longest field goal (50 yards) came 10 years ago in his rookie season with the Houston Oilers, led the American Conference in field goals three times and ranks 13th on the all-time pro scoring list with 894 points - 731 of them in Pittsburgh.

The Steelers, who, like every other NFL club, reduced their roster to the 50-player maximum Tuesday, also traded veteran defensive back Tony Dungy to the San Francisco 49ers for an undisclosed draft choice. They must make five more deletions before the regular season opener on Sept. 2.

Anthony Davis was among a host of players who managed to last only until the latest day of cuts. The former star running back at Southern Cal, who suffered a broken rib during the preseason, was placed on the waived-injured list by the Los Angeles Rams, who also cut running back Rod Phillips and five others.

The Dallas Cowboys waived running back Doug Dennison and punter Duane Carrell, cut four others, and formally placed strong safety Charlie Waters on the injured reserve list. Coach Tom Landry also announced that reserve quarterback Danny White will be punting, since he can't throw with his broken thumb.

Running back Dan Doornick, who started the preseason No. 1 on the New York Giants' depth chart, was traded to the Seattle Seahawks for an unspecified 1980 draft choice. The second-year pro from Washington State. drafted seventh by the Giants in 1978, has rushed for 34 yards on nine pre-their roster to 48 with nine cuts, and placed tight end John Sawyer on injured reserve.

The Seahawks, meanwhile, reduced

Punter Bucky Dilts was traded by the Denver Broncos to the Baltimore Colts for an undisclosed future draft choice as the Broncos made the limit by cutting five other players. The Broncos made four cuts, including 13-year veteran Dave Rowe who played defensive tackle for the Oakland Raiders when they won the 1977 Super Bowl.

Joe Restic Jr., the son of the Harvard football coach, was among eight rookies waived by the Chicago Bears, who also cut veterans Chris Devlin, a linebacker, and guard Jeff Sevy.

Former Chicago Bears quarterback Gary Huff joined six other players placed on non-recallable waivers by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Gold buyers well borne out by experience

By CHET CURRIER AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If the description of today's Americans as the "me generation" is indeed accurate, then gold is the perfect investment for the First of all, it is a "winner." Inflation may be making a hash out of other people's finances, but if you own gold, you're staying ahead of the game.

Like many of today's other avenues toward self-improvement, gold is solitary. There's no part ownership in a larger venture, no dependency on what some hired management or elected board of direc-

As a protest against big government and big-government spending, gold makes as clear a statement as any tax-cutting proposition on any ballot. The government can print all the excess dollars it wants, the gold bugs say, but it can't print gold.

Nobody seems to be more aware of this than the government itself. When a law was passed five years ago to permit private ownership of gold in this country, the government began regularly selling gold from the Treasury.

Whatever the intent of that action, it effectively set the government and some of its citizens on opposite sides in a financial struggle. By increasing the supply available on the market, the government was acting to depress gold's price, or at least to keep it from rising as much as it otherwise might. "Sell all you want," tacitly replied the buyers who came to the government auctions. "You may depress the price temporarily, but in the long run even you don't have the power to discredit gold as a store To date, the buyers have been borne out. After a decline from about $200 an ounce to just above $100 in the early days of the gold sales by the Treasury, the price of gold has tripled in the past three years, passing $300 this summer. But the bull market in gold is somehow a joyless one. Recollections of the skyrocketing stock market in the 1960s, with all its speculative excesses and subsequent exposures of corporate chicanery, evoke images of brass bands and celebrations of prosperi-

The mood is much different now. One long-time gold bug lamented in his newsletter recently that, despite the clear-cut success of his forecasts, he was still widely described as a crank. "How could it be," he mused, "that our predic-tions, even after they have already come true, are still so disbelieved by certain segments of the press and the vast majority of investors?"

One possible answer is that Americans aren't used to gold, the way Europeans are supposed to be. There is a bet-against-the-future aspect to gold that grates on the old all-American ideals, like growth.

If you advocate gold, in a sense you are urging an anti-social act - akin to making for the lifeboats before the other passengers find out that the ship might sink. Gold-buyers also can be seen as contributing to the problem from which they are trying to protect themselves. Gold is, after all, a non-productive investment. It builds no factories, creates no jobs, doesn't even pay any dividends.

The gold bugs have been right in the past, and those who now predict that gold prices will go higher still may be right again.

It may turn out that they have done a great service for their customers, more than earning their sub-scription fees, book royalties and seminar admission charges by helping many people preserve their assets in a time of economic trouble.

But popularity, acclaim? For the bringers of bad news, that may be too much to expect.

Board votes teachers must punch time clock

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) - The school board has voted to require teachers in rural Pueblo School District 70 to start punching a time clock.

"Staff members have abused the lenient sgstem

We just want to make sure they're there," Pueblo County High School Principal John Klohp following the board's 4-1 vote Monday night. Superintendent Harry Allen said principals and some teachers requested the time clocks. He said teachers "have been working more than their share, and then they see others not even working the minimum. That's frustrating.' Klohp told the board that teachers by contract are required to report 30 minutes before school and remain 30 minutes after for student counseling. Livestock auction report

The Southwestern Livestock Auction Co. ran through 948 head of cattle in a market that was steady to $2 lower on 375- to 450-pound feeder cattle. Heavyweight utility cattle were steady to $2 higher. Packer cows and bulls were steady to $2 higher. Bred cows and cow-and-calf pairs were steady. Here's the rundown on the market: Steers weighing 600 to 700 pounds were auctioned for $76 to $78.50 per hundredweight; 500 to 600 pounds, $82.50 to $88; 400 to 500 pounds, $87.50 to $91; 300 to 400 pounds, $92.50 to $105; under 300 pounds, $100 to $135. Heifers weighing 600 to 700 pounds sold for $67.50 to $70 per hundredweight; 500 to 600 pounds, $73 to $75: 400 to 500, $77.50 to $82.50; 300 to 400, $88 to $90; under

House Republicans plan battle

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) House Republicans are girding for a fight in September over what they see as a double-barreled challenge of near- business. constitutional proportions.

"Americans will not stand for it, nor will I," proclaimed an agitated Added Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., "It is only natural that the majority leadership should be concocting these reactionary schemes while the House is not in session." Just what "reactionary schemes" are the Democrats brewing?

One proposal being reviewed would limit television coverage of House proceedings. Another would make it harder to load a bill with unrelated amendments.

Many Republicans see the proposals as an attempt at retribution an attempt to punish them for gumming up President Carter's standby gasoline rationing bill.

For largely symbolic purposes, Democratic leaders had hoped to get this piece of the president's energy program to Carter's desk before the August recess.

But their goal was frustrated when Republicans, in an overwhelming display of unity, managed to push through the House more than a dozen amendments to the bill amendments Democratic leaders said emasculated the legislation.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., accused Republicans of obstructionism. And Majority Whip John Brademas, D-Ind., said things would change in September.

There may be sanctions - but they're not going to be imposed on Democrats," Brademas told a group of reporters. His wording may have been vague, but the implication was clear - at least to Republicans.

Brademas followed up by suggesting that the leadership in the future might utilize parliamentary procedures to restrict the type of amendments that could be offered to major bills.

RINGING THE BELL

Government will reinstate funding for Bishop College

With BOB TIEUEL

From a Black College Point of View: New Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Patricia Harris has decided to resume federal funding to debt-ridden Bishop College, a move school officials say will mean the difference between life and death of the predominantly black college in Dallas. Washington sources said Mrs. Harris plans to start sending federal dollars to Bishop as soon as a negotiating team irons out the details.

Dr. Milton K. Curry, former president of Bishop, and his two top assistants were indicted in May and again in August on charges of embezzling federal funds. Development director John Dvorak of Bishop said resumption of federal funding will provide the boost the college needs to come back on its feet.

According to one source at HEW, the support of the college obtained from the Ford Foundation, the Dallas Citizens Council and the United Negro College Fund was important in convincing the department to resume funding. Another source indicated that more than 1,000 students are expected to enroll in Bishop this fall.

HEW OFFICIALS cut off Bishop's federal funds last March after the college failed to account for about $890,000, thus deepening the school's financial crisis. Bishop now has accounted for most of the money and explained why it is unable to account for the rest, sources reported.

According to a report from Washington, Assistant HEW Secretary Mary Berry will head the negotiating team that will decide how much money the department owes Bishop and how much Bishop owes the department. HEW officials charged that the college owed the department $2.8 million, while college trustee chairman J.K. Haynes said HEW owed Bishop $472,000 as of June 30, 1979.

THIS DEPARTMENT is receiving reports of increasing activities by blacks in the Republican Party goings-on throughout West Texas and New Mexico. Popular George Bush Jr. was a recent guest speaker at an East Lubbock Republican meeting and, as Jesse Jackson recently advised: "We don't want Democrats to think they have us in the bag."

A BLACK conservative writes: "Dear Bob: I am reluctant to respond to all the bad press that St. Paul Industrial Training School has received in the last few weeks. (Note: Clay Smothers of Dallas, writer of the letter, is a state legislator and a coadministrator of the school. He gained national publicity - bad press? - when he labeled U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young a s.o.b.)

"My salary is $750 a month. That should not cause me to remain quiet while St. Paul school is clobbered by those on the left interested only in ending the political career of a conservative black. 'St. Paul was founded 52 years ago by my mother and father. It is the only black poverty program in the country that survives without federal funding. We have been dogmatic in our attitude toward the federal government. We simply let the government know that we do not want any advice whatever. So the road has been rocky all the way. (Note: The school has been charged with numerous state violations of laws regarding care of children and has been given a limited time to correct alleged violations or face closure.)

"WE HAVE PICKED up children from the most disadvantaged backgrounds in the state. Many of these children today are successful housswives, military personnel, businessmen, teachers, laborers, construction workers and professionals.

"The truth of the matter is that we are not in compliance with many state regulations. We do not keep good records. St. Paul has always been a home and not a penal institution. . . Admittedly, St. Paul cannot be the effective institution it once was. The reason: To keep the school open I must comply with the regulations. The press will see to that. What the liberal press wants is to see me dead politically. If St. Paul must go, then so be it. Bishop Fulton Sheen once said: Defeat is not final, humiliation is not ultimate and insult is not decisive.'

"I am still alive and kicking. Only death can stop this black conservative from having his say. Keep ringing the bell, Bob, and pray that God's will be done. Yours fraternally, (signed) Clay Smothers.

Putting up a new building too often means paying more than you expected and taking longer than you thought.

The most frequent reason? No one person is clearly in control. That can cause a basic communication breakdown among all parties involved, resulting in confusion, cost overruns and missed deadlines.

But we offer you a team of construction professionals capable of controlling your entire project ... concept to completion.

We can handle all the details-planning. rights-of-way, permits, construction, even landscaping. We'll make sure you get your building on-time and on-budget. And we'll do it using construction methods and building systems that can cut up to 40% off some conventional building timetables.

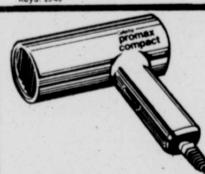

So if your next building has time and budget limitations, call us. We'll give you both the building and the control you need.

Jaycee charter hassle rests in judge's hands

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - After hearing arguments for both sides, a federal judge must now decide if a local Jaycees chapter has the right to use the name "Jaycees" even though it lost its charter for admitting

The national organization, which filed the suit, contends that "Jaycees" is a registered trademark and the local group cannot use the name because its charter was revoked in

But a lawyer for the local chapter told U.S. District Judge Edward Cahn on Monday that he would be helping the national organization discriminate against women if he barred the Philadelphia group from using the

"The U.S. Jaycees is asking the court to use its power to enforce the policies of discrimination," argued Bruce A. Cohen, lawyer for the Philadelphia chapter.

Cohen contends the suit is more than a simple trademark case. He called the action another step in the U.S. Jaycees' efforts to punish the Philadelphia chapter for refusing to exclude women

The national Jaycees sued only the Philadelphia organization, but as many as 80 other chapters also have female members, he said.

Robert B. Washburn, lawyer for the national Jaycees, argued that since the U.S. Jaycees had no control over the Philadelphia group's programs and activities, it should have a right to protect its name and goodwill.

Allowing the Philadelphia chapter to continue using the name Jaycees when it no longer is affiliated with the national organization would create 'confusion to the general public," he

Cahn said he would make no immediate ruling.

Water district income tops expenses

BIG SPRING - Officials from the Colorado River Municipal Water District say income exceded expenses and debts for the water district by $8,000 during the first seven months of this year.

Income from all sources was $4 million, according to a press release issued by the water district. At the same time, expenses were $2 million.

More than $1.9 million was used for debt service, the press release

Revenues were based on the sale of 9 billion gallons of water, about 1.15 billion gallons less than sold one year ago at the same time.

Water district officials blame a decline in deliveries to oil companies for the smaller sales.

Effects of caffeine remain controversial

Dear Dr. Solomon: Our whole country seems to be on a gigantic coffee binge. Just let the office coffee machine break down for a day and everyone is frantic. Isn't caffeine as dangerous an addiction as nicotine? -Bruce.

Dear Bruce: While cigarette smoking is known to be detrimental to health, the case against coffee is still somewhat clouded. Caffeine is present not only in coffee; it is found as well in tea, chocolate and cola beverages. It is also sold over the counter as a stimulant drug, and is sometimes added to other drugs to prevent

Dr. Michael Jacobson, co-director of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, wants the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to require warning labels for pregnant women on all foods and medicines containing caffeine. He says a number of studies show that the equivalent of three or four cups of coffee a day can cause birth defects such as cleft palate and missing bones. Others have expressed concern about caffeine. claiming that it is habit-forming, that it stimulates the central nervous system, thus affecting motor ability, and that it may increase the risk of heart

On the other hand, a report prepared for the FDA by the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology noted that available information provides no evidence that the caffeine in cola-type beverages represents a hazard to health. However, there are still uncertainties about its use that can be clarified only through additional studies.

Dear Dr. Solomon: What is the caloric content of the more common vitamins? - Mrs. G.P.F.

Dear Mrs. F.: Vitamins do not have any caloric or direct dietary value. However, they are essential for prop-er growth and health, and, with few exceptions, must be supplied in the Dear Dr. Solomon: I'm not clear about what is meant by the four food groups. Can you explain? - Ms.

Dear Ms. L.: The four food groups - milk, meat, bread-cereal and vegetable-fruit - are broad categories from which to choose specific foods that would constitute a balanced diet. Such a diet should provide a variety of nutrients - protein for growth and for repair of muscle, organs, blood, skin and hair; minerals and vitamins for growth and proper body functions, and fat and carbohydrate for energy. Most foods contain more than one nutrient; however, no single food contains all the nutrients a person needs each day. Specific serving sizes are recommended within each group. By planning meals which include a minimum number of servings from each category, and adding other foods as needed to make meals more appealing and satisfying, one can be assured of a nutritionally balanced, healthy diet.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Hoechst that his name not be used, said the company "will Corp. of Somerville, N.J., was told by the Council on request the Council on Wage and Price Stability to reconsider its decision.'

He said the company's problems relate to "sub-stantial losses suffered by its fibers division" in past years. To comply with the council's request, he said, American Hoechst either would have to continue suffering losses or reduce the profitability of the firm's other divisions. If the council refuses the company's appeal, American Hoechst could be barred from future federal contracts of $5 million or more. It was not immediately known if the firm has any government
