Evacuation ordered ahead of Frederic

MIAMI (AP) — At least 340,000 persons were ordered evacuated today in four states as Hurricane Frederic, described as "extremely dangerous," roared toward the central Gulf of Mexico coast with winds of 130 mph pushing tides of 10 to 15 feet.

Forecasters warned it could become the most vicious hurricane to hit the area since Camille caused widespread death and destruction a decade ago.

The hurricane was expected to sweep ashore tonight. Forecasters said winds of 60 mph were likely in the area of Pensacola, Fla., by sunset and would increase to hurricane force later.

Civil defense officials said about 100,000 persons were being evacuated along the Mississippi coast where Camille left 250 dead and millions of dollars in damage in 1969.

In neighboring Alabama, an additional 70,000 were ordered to leave and urged to go to one of about 40 emergency shelters set up at schools and National Guard armories in Mobile and Baldwin County.

The National Guard was called out in the Florida Panhandle where civil defense officials said about 150,000 were being evacuated from five counties.

Louisiana officials reported about 20,000 persons were ordered out of the danger area, mainly in Plaquemine Parish.

Officials pointed out, however, they could not force people to leave their homes.

At 10 a.m. EDT, Frederic's 130-mph winds were centered about 160 miles south of Pensacola, Fla., and about 230 miles southeast of New Orleans, near latitude 27.8 north, longitude 87.3 west. The storm was moving northwest at 12 mph and was expected to veer slightly to the north-northwest at 12 to 15 mph during the day.

The wall of the hurricane's eye varied from 20 to 40 miles in width, said forecaster Vaughn Carmichael. Gales extend out 150 to the north and south of the eye. Tides of 10 to 15 feet above normal are predicted up to 50 miles to the east of where the eye crosses the coast.

Hurricane warnings were posted from Panama City, Fla., to Grand Isle, La. A hurricane watch was in effect west of Grand Isle to Vermilion Bay, and small craft from Venice, Fla., to Vermilion Bay were advised to stay in port.

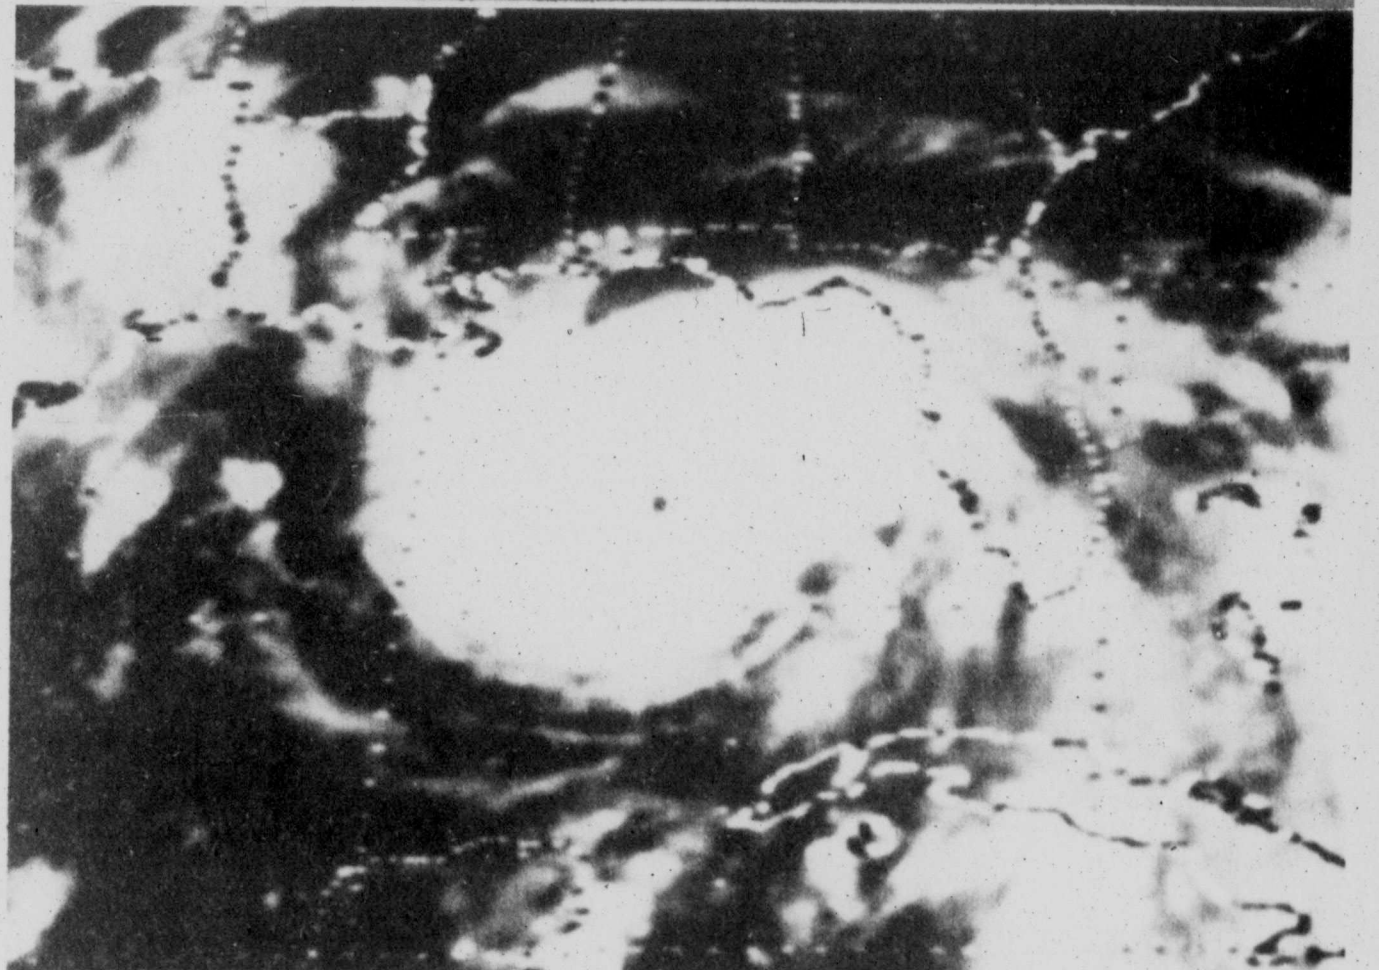

Forecasters said the storm was "extremely dangerous."

"We're intentionally not indicating specific area. The track indicates a little bit more turn towards the north-northwest," forecaster Vaughn Carmichael said. "Of course, the central portion of that warning area is the most likely to be affected but a slight jog could do anything to the storm."

One man was killed and another was reported missing as 2,500 offshore oil-field workers were leaving their rigs to the storm.

The hurricane passed directly over the 230-foot crippled

Murder trial defendant says the other guy did it

By BILL MODISSETT
Staff Writer

In a statement by Raymond Wesley Mathis that was read to the jury today during his murder trial, the defendant claimed a 17-year-old co-defendant in the case, Kelly Joe Chamblis, shot Army Sgt. J.B. Mathis July 18 about 10 miles east of Midland on Interstate 20.

Mathis, 20, of Midland is on trial in 238th District Court. He has pleaded innocent to the charge.

Chamblis, the co-defendant, today remained in Midland County Jail in lieu of $150,000 bond pending his trial on a charge of murder in connection with England's death.

Testimony ended the third day in Mathis' trial and is expected to continue until later this week. This morning, the state still was presenting its case.

Assistant District Attorney Charles Seltzer today read to the jury a statement Mathis gave to sheriff's deputies on the night of July 18 following his arrest.

ACCORDING TO the statement, Mathis and Chamblis were "driving around" on the morning of July 18. The two had some weapons with them because they were going rabbit hunting, Mathis said in the statement.

As they drove down I-20, "Kelly shot this man," the statement indicated.

Mathis' statement indicated the two men continued down the highway with Mathis driving the car.

According to Mathis' statement, Chamblis told Mathis to return to the scene where the man had been shot. When they returned, Chamblis shot England again, the statement continued.

Mathis said they went to his parents' house, where he told them a man had been shot and that he and Chamblis were leaving town.

The statement was given to Capt. Linda Petree of the Midland County Sheriff's Department, she testified.

Defense attorney Rusty Wall questioned Capt. Petree at length this morning, attacking incorrectly spelled words and crossed-out sections in the statement.

"THERE ARE SEVERAL mistakes or we have found two already, haven't we?" Wall asked the captain.

She replied that the statement does contain some typographical errors.

But in re-direct examination by Seltzer, Capt. Petree said misspelling of a name in the statement does not affect the content.

Some testimony concerning the statement centered on a section in which the word "I" had been crossed out and changed to "we."

The change was made, Capt. Petree said, because Mathis had changed his mind about what he wanted to say.

When the statement was given, Capt. Petree testified, Mathis appeared to know what he was doing and had waived his rights.

QUESTIONED BY SELTZER, she said Mathis did not indicate he had been frightened by Chamblis or forced by Chamblis to return to the scene of the shooting.

In testimony given Tuesday, the pathologist who performed an autopsy on England testified the victim drowned in his own blood after being shot.

Dr. David W. Shneidman, a Midland pathologist, testified that the autopsy performed on England revealed four bullet wounds, three in the face and one in the arm.

Blood from one of the wounds, Dr. Shneidman said, flowed into England's air passage. The human body does not repel blood as it does foreign substances, and the sergeant literally drowned in his own blood, according to Dr. Shneidman.

Under questioning by defense attorney Wall of Midland, the pathologist said he couldn't determine in what order the wounds occurred. He also testified only fragments of bullets were found in the sergeant's body.

DR. SHNEIDMAN SAID he couldn't determine from how far away the bullets were fired, but that he found no powder burns on England's body.

Earlier Tuesday afternoon, testimony dealt with the "chain of custody" of evidence entered into the trial, including bullet fragments analyzed by the Department of Public Safety laboratory.

House bogs down on efforts to approve energy program

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee bogged down today in its attempt to complete work on legislation that would speed development of high-priority energy projects.

Committee aides had indicated the panel could complete work swiftly on the bill, backed by President Carter, that would establish an energy mobilization board. But committee members, as they have frequently in more than two weeks of debate on the measure, became embroiled in a lengthy debate over proposed amendments.

As a result, it was not clear when the committee would complete work on the measure, part of the president's program to reduce American dependence on foreign oil.

The committee resumed its work on the bill a day after Carter made concessions on his energy proposals, leading to a prediction that Congress will give him much of what he's seeking on energy.

The proposed mobilization board would have strong powers to cut through red tape blocking completion of high-priority energy projects. The board would have authority to recommend waivers of federal, state or local laws.

While only the president would have the actual authority to waive a law — subject to a veto by either house of Congress — the provision has drawn strong objection from groups including environmentalists, governors and some liberal members of the committee.

Elsewhere on Capitol Hill today, the Senate Finance Committee tentatively rejected a proposed $3-a-barrel tax credit as an incentive for producing oil from shale and natural gas from exotic sources.

The credit, sponsored by Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., and backed in part by the administration, failed on a 6-5 vote. But the result could change when nine members who were absent cast their votes.

The committee did agree unanimously to exempt from Carter's proposed "windfall profits" tax on oil revenues any petroleum owned by a state or local government. That proposal, which would benefit mainly Alaska, California, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, is a broader exemption than was approved by the House.

At Hartford, Conn., today, the president announced an expanded program to provide $2.4 billion a year in federal allowances to help the poor and other disadvantaged Americans cope with rising energy costs, starting with $1.6 billion this winter. The average for individuals would be about $100 a year, and double that for families.

Carter, meeting at the White House Tuesday with members of the Senate Energy Committee, said he wants the mobilization board's authority limited to assuring that decisions relating to construction are made promptly.

The president told the senators, as well as a group of governors in a second session, that he does not want the board to run roughshod over state laws or rights.

Carter's position conflicts with the word put out by Energy Department lobbyists who have been working hard to defeat amendments that would water down the waiver provision in the measure.

In his discussion with the senators, Carter also agreed to scale down significantly his $88 billion plan for development of a synthetic fuels industry.

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, declared after the meeting that Carter was "more cooperative than I have seen him in a long time."

As a result, Jackson said, "He's going to get the bulk of what he's asked for."

During his meeting with the governors, Carter assured them that his goal of stockpiling 240 million barrels of heating oil and diesel fuel before winter is ahead of schedule.

And in a later meeting with the executive committee of the National Governors' Association, Energy Secretary Charles W. Duncan promised to see that the heating oil gets delivered to those who need it.

School bond plan pared to just over $10 million

By SUSAN TOTH
Staff Writer

They had to cut and scrape, but Midland school trustees Tuesday presented a preliminary bond plan that kept their promise of staying in the neighborhood of $10 million.

About 30 persons attended the meeting.

The $10.26 million proposal will get another reworking before the Oct. 23 bond election formally is called in a special meeting at 5 p.m. next Tuesday.

Half the bond money — with the issue to be presented to voters in a one-vote, all-or-nothing format — is earmarked for improvements at Midland High School, including building a new athletic facility and remodeling the old gym into a new learning resources center or library.

Expanding library facilities at the 50-year-old building is one of the major purposes of the MHS renovation, trustees said.

Of the $5.3 million set aside for MHS, $1 million will be used to purchase land adjacent to the campus for new athletic fields, the new athletic facility and parking lots.

Trustees removed a strip of houses on Tennessee Street from the area to be purchased, reducing the number of homes displaced in the area from 21 to 13.

The area they plan to purchase now includes lots between Illinois Avenue and the alley behind Tennessee Avenue from the MHS campus to F Street.

The physical education facility will cost about $2.2 million, with the library-learning center getting a $500,000 renovation.

Other major items included in the "draft" bond issue are:

—$1.27 million for improvements at Lee High School, including $500,000 for a vocational agriculture farm project area and $313,000 for air conditioning and boiler replacements.

—$431,000 for other vocational facilities, including a building trades facility to be shared by the two high schools and improvements at two junior high schools.

—$797,400 for other capital improvements, including maintenance and upkeep projects at most of the schools in the district, the largest single expenditure being $210,500 for re-roofing three elementary schools and Alamo Junior High School.

—$2.1 million for a new elementary school in the growing northwest section of Midland and related costs.

Effect of passage of the bonds on the school tax rate — now at $1.26 per $100 valuation — was not known Tuesday, trustees said.

A rough estimate of a 10 percent increase was offered, but trustees stressed final figures would not be ready until next Tuesday's meeting. The district is in very good shape financially, Trustee Joe Dominey noted, "and personally, I think the increase is going to be a nominal amount. With our growing tax base, the effect on homeowners will be almost negligible."

Trustees heard a variety of opinions on their bond package from the assembled citizens, many of whom own homes next to Midland High School.

Most prevalent opinion was "you're biting off too much."

But at least two members wanted something added to the package.

A member of the Lee Band Boosters, noting an expenditure for expanding the MHS band hall, put in a pitch for similar expansion of the Lee facility.

"We've got kids sitting elbow to elbow trying to blow their horns," she noted.

"This is the kind of thing we've been faced with all along," said Trustee Ed Runyan, one of a two-man committee that prepared the preliminary bond plans. "We've tried to keep this to a bare minimum."

Lee's head basketball coach Paul Stuckler made a plea for a new workout facility at that school to take some of the load off the gym so boys and girls teams could practice.

He presented plans for a $300,000 fully equipped metal building he said would serve the needs of the school

Oil tax credit incentive rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee today tentatively rejected a proposed $3-a-barrel tax credit as an incentive for producing oil from shale and natural gas from exotic sources.

Shale, which occurs in massive deposits in the Rocky Mountain area, is considered a source of huge amounts of oil if environmental problems with extraction can be overcome.

The proposed credit, sponsored by Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., and backed in part by the Carter administration, failed on a 6-5 vote. But the result could change when nine members who were absent cast their votes.

The action came as the panel continued debating President Carter's proposed "windfall-profits" tax on the oil industry.

The tax, which would apply to a portion of industry revenues that are rising because of the gradual removal of federal price controls, would be used to finance the president's long-range energy program. It also would pay for such incentives as the shale-oil credit, if that becomes law.

The committee gave no indication as to what type of tax it will approve, although the result is expected to be a smaller levy than proposed by Carter or than passed by the House.

The committee did agree unanimously to exempt from the tax any oil owned by a state or local government. That proposal, which would benefit mainly Alaska, California, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, is a broader exemption than was approved by the House.

Efforts to approve a special income-tax credit to encourage production of oil from shale and of natural gas from unconventional sources ran into unexpected opposition from Republicans. They argued that giving such an advantage to some alternative fuels would "stack the deck" against other energy sources.

Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., offered a substitute that would have allowed a $3-per-barrel credit for producing fuels from virtually any source, including garbage, wood and alcohol.

Donald Lubick, an assistant treasury secretary, said the idea of a credit should be to provide start-up incentives for infant industries. Providing the credit for all energy sources, he said, would not give any edge where it was needed.

Final consideration of that amendment was delayed until next week. The Senate passed last year, but House conferees rejected, a $3-per-barrel income-tax credit for shale oil.

Council to canvass results of election

Results of the Sept. 4 bond election will be canvassed when the Midland City Council meets at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the City Hall Council Chambers.

Out of the nine proposals in the bond election, three passed — $7.8 million in revenue bonds for expanding the sewer plant and water system and $6 million in general obligation bonds for street improvements.

The council also will consider a letter agreement with the First Southwest Co. on water and sewer revenue refunding bonds.

Carrying through on the Aug. 14 decision to construct a new Federal Aviation Administration building, the council on Tuesday will consider purchase of $500,000 in airport revenue bonds and an ordinance authorizing issuance of those bonds.

Assistant City Manager Fred Poe said the new building, including a parking area at Midland Regional Airport, will cost close to $700,000. But revenue bonds left over when new hangars and facilities for Rich-Air Co. will complete the amount needed for the FAA building.

Rent paid by the FAA on the building will pay off the bonds, Poe said.

A second reading on an ordinance approving increasing water, sewer and garbage rates by 10 percent is on the agenda.

The council also will consider a resolution appropriating about $200,000 to purchase rights of way for Loop 250, or North Loop. The money will come from the 1975 street improvement bond issue, Poe said. Part of it will be reimbursed by the state after the city can show proof the land was purchased and for how much.

A resolution to change the number and method for selecting directors of Midland County Appraisal District will be discussed by the council. Under new state law, all taxing bodies within a county can be combined into one office.

Green fees and rule changes at Hogan Park Golf Course will be discussed.

The council also should award a contract on constructing a fence around Hogan Park.

Midland Boxing Club, Inc., is requesting to lease a portion of the old Girl Scouts Building at Elkin Park.

The council is scheduled to consider authorizing Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, Inc. to update a study on runway 7-25 at Midland Air Park, prepare plans and specifications on it and advertise for bids. A grant agreement with General Aviation Taxiway for construction at Midland Regional Airport will be considered.

Parking along Neely Avenue in front of Lee High School will be reviewed by the public works department. Also under that division is the acceptance of three units of assessment paving.

Various public hearings on requests for zoning changes are scheduled with the first beginning at 1:35 p.m.

Driver denies blaming bus maker

COLORADO CITY, Texas (AP) — A school bus driver testified he received a settlement from the owners of a truck involved in a fatal collision with the bus, but he denied blaming his injuries partly on the manufacturer of the bus.

William Clarence Dixon Jr., driver of the oil field servicing truck for Cardinal Surveys Co. of Odessa at the time of the accident, is charged with three counts of involuntary manslaughter in connection with that crash last December that killed four and injured 20.

If convicted, Dixon faces 10 years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine. Former McCaulley School Superintendent Edd Farmer, driver of the bus, said Tuesday he signed a settlement with Cardinal Survey Co. of Odessa, which owned the truck.

However, he hedged when asked about statements in the documents accompanying the settlement that alleged his injuries may have been blamed partly on the manufacturer of the bus.

"Did you make the statement (in the document) that the primary cause of your injuries was in the manufacturing of the bus?" asked defense attorney Malcolm Shultz.

"I did not make that statement," replied Farmer, who also said he could not remember how much money he received.

Shultz then asked Farmer to read a figure from the document that U.S. District Judge Weldon Kirk allowed into evidence over the fierce protests of prosecutors.

Farmer read, "$163,835."

Farmer testified that an attorney prepared the document and it was explained to him "in general details."

The bus driver also said he remembered nothing of the accident or events just before or after it.

"I just don't remember," he said. "I just don't want to think about it."

He said he did not remember how fast he was going or whether he saw a flashing yellow signal above the intersection of U.S. 180 and FM 611.

Farmer also said he didn't remember "for sure" how many days he was in the hospital after the crash.

A co-worker of Dixon's, who was following the truck driver when the crash occurred, was recalled to the stand.

William English earlier testified he and Dixon had discussed maintenance of the truck's brakes and throttle a week before the collision.

Later, he said the truck was in good mechanical condition on Dec. 8.

English said earlier he and Dixon each drank two beers before the collision.

He testified Dixon was traveling at about 55 mph as he approached the intersection. Then, "he suddenly hit his brakes and the truck jerked to the left-hand side of the road" to pass another vehicle that was stopping at the intersection. He said Dixon never stopped in the intersection.

Connie Tutt, who lives on land adjacent to the intersection, testified she was driving east on U.S. 180 when the accident occurred.

"He (Dixon) was going pretty fast and I thought to myself if he doesn't start slowing down he's not going to be able to stop at that intersection," Mrs. Tutt said.

She added, however, she is "very poor" at judging other vehicles' speed.

Midland LWV slates tour of vocational ed facilities

Midland League of Women Voters has slated tours of the vocational education facilities of Lee and Midland High Schools this week.

League members and all other interested persons are asked to meet at 9:15 a.m. Thursday in the lobby of Lee High School auditorium.

Following this tour, the group will assemble at 10:15 a.m. at the Midland High School auditorium lobby.

These tours are an introduction to the league's local program, which is a study of special services in the Midland Independent School District.

Carolyn Wallace is chairman of that study.

Persons wanting to know more about the tours may telephone Charleen Rosebery, 685-05634, or Mickie

Waters, 683-9304.

A review of Thursday's tours will be given by Mrs. Rosebery, league president, when the league meets at 7:30 p.m. that day in the home of Ms. Waters, 3002-B N. Pecos St.

Also speaking will be Jim Leeper, president of the Midland chapter of the Texas State Teachers Association. Leeper will review the upcoming school bond election and education in general.

The league is planning a public forum for early October on the upcoming school bond election.

Continuing its study of education, the league will hear Dr. Ruby Morris, coordinator of special education for MISD, during its Sept. 27 meeting.

School may be caught in taxing 'power play'

By SUSAN TOTH Staff Writer

Midland school trustees may be caught in the middle of a "power play" by three other taxing districts in the county, but they're working on a solution.

Under a new law passed by the Texas Legislature last session, cities and school districts within a county must establish a joint tax appraisal district.

Since the Midland school district already uses the city's tax office, that's no real problem.

The appraisal district will be administered by a board with representatives from each of the taxing bodies, with the votes weighted on the basis of the amount of money each district raises.

Using that system, MISD, with the largest budget in the county, would control about four-fifths of the votes on the board.

The law also gives county governments the option of joining the appraisal district this year.

Midland County agreed to do that this week, but only if the voting procedures are changed to give each entity only one vote regardless of its budget.

That would reduce MISD's voting power from a four-fifths majority to a one-sixth minority.

The city of Midland and Greenwood school district have already agreed to the county's plan, trustees noted Tuesday, leaving MISD and its big budget out in the cold.

"If we're going to get the blame (for taking the largest tax bite)," Trustee Parker Humcs protested, "I'd like to have some say."

"I think we should express our concern to the city and the county," Trustee Johnny Warren noted. "A power play of this nature is not going to be in the best interest of the taxpayers in the long run."

But trustees were left facing a possibility of the three other taxing agencies lining up in favor of the one-district, one-vote rule, in which case MISD can't overrule them.

"Let's go on the 'reasonable man' theory," Trustee Ed Runyan put in, and explain the district's feelings to the others.

And if that doesn't work, Warren added in an aside, "tell the city we'll give them an extra vote" if they change their minds.

Hospital to hold teleconferences

Midland Memorial Hospital will present a series of 90-minute medical teleconferences beginning today, according to Ellen Kennedy, RN, hospital inservice director.

The weekly programs will be broadcast from 2 to 3:30 p.m. at MMH, 2200 W. Illinois Ave. The faculty of The University of Texas Health Service Center in San Antonio will present the programs via Teleconference Network of Texas.

This network is a two-way audio system with reception and transmission the quality of radio.

Special equipment connecting the hospital to telephone lines in the medical network allows participants to ask questions and hear answers from others around the state, Mrs. Kennedy explained.

Focus of the programs will be on the special health considerations of persons over 55. Topics will cover a wide range of health problems.

There is no fee for the series, but interested persons are asked to register by calling Mrs. Kennedy at 682-7381 to assure space and brochure study materials are available.

Program dates and topics include Life Patterns for Good Health, today; Skin Diseases, Sept. 19; Back Trouble Including Spine Deterioration, Sept. 26; Sex and the Senior Citizen, Oct. 10; Depression, Oct. 17; Lung Disorders, Oct. 24; Prostate Problems, Oct. 31, and Hysterectomy, Dec. 5.

Other programs are to be announced.

Law school professor appointed to head panel on nuclear waste

AUSTIN — Professor Robert Hamilton of The University of Texas Law School has been named

GM strikers in Texas

ARLINGTON (AP) — About 4,700 workers at General Motors' assembly plant in Arlington and the parts depots in Dallas and Houston are among workers poised to strike at midnight Friday if a new contract is not negotiated, union officials said.

chairman of a three-member panel to conduct hearings on a proposal to store nuclear wastes in the salt beds of southeastern New Mexico.

The hearings will be on the draft environmental impact statement for the Waste Isolation Pilot Project, a proposal that would store militarily-produced nuclear wastes about one-half mile underground.

Hearings on the impact statement were held earlier this year in Albuquerque, N.M.

The appointment of Hamilton was made by the U.S. Department of Energy.

The hearings are scheduled for Odessa, Oct. 1; Hobbs, N.M., Oct. 2; and Sante Fe, N.M., Oct. 5.

Opponents to the project have scheduled a counter-demonstration Sept. 28-30 near Loving, N.M.

The proposed underground storage site is 12 miles southwest of Loving, N.M. The Pecos River flows near Loving and into Texas.

Eggs, chicken destroyed

FRANKLIN, Idaho (AP) — More than 360,000 eggs and 79,000 chickens were destroyed by Ritewood Egg Co., a major egg producer for Idaho, Utah and California, after it was learned some chickens were contaminated with a chemical suspected of causing cancer.

He said the source of the contamination is not yet known, but that Food and Drug Administration and Environmental Protection Agency officials have ruled out water and air as possible sources. He said if the origin turns out to be the chickens' feed, other egg producers might be affected.

"Ritewood is temporarily out of the egg production business," Marlow Woodward, a co-owner of the Franklin firm, said Tuesday.

Paul Woodward, another owner, said the firm also voluntarily ended further shipments of eggs after the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Safety Division found more than 15 parts per million of polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) in hens the firm was shipping to Utah.

Marlow Woodward said the company would have to destroy more chickens, but he did not know how many. He said the firm is staying in business by obtaining eggs from other ranches

McCrary admits he lied to attorney

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Prosecution witness David McCrary says he lied to a defense attorney last August to curb demands by Cullen Davis that he hire an assassin to commit mass murder.

McCrary's testimony tends to blunt the impact of a "dynamite" tape recording of the meeting which the millionaire defendant's lawyers contend plunges to the heart of the defense theory.

During a long, angry exchange Tuesday afternoon, lead defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes questioned McCrary repeatedly about threats the witness said Davis made.

"What I had in mind was telling (defense attorney) Steve Sumner things he would take back to Cullen and he would really believe I could help in the divorce trial," McCrary said of the Aug. 7, 1978, meeting.

"I was scared," McCrary said.

"You were scared?" Haynes asked, raising an eyebrow.

"There'd been a man threatening to kill me and my family," McCrary snapped back. "Certainly I was scared, Mr. Haynes."

SHORTLY AFTER the exchange, McCrary angrily crushed a styrofoam drinking cup and threw it to the floor.

The 41-year-old witness has told jurors Davis threatened him beginning in May of 1978 if McCrary did not carry out the defendant's orders to hire a killer. Davis is standing trial on charges he tried to buy the murder of his divorcee, Joe Eidson.

Tuesday, jurors heard a recording of the Aug. 7 meeting during which Sumner asked McCrary what he knew that might aid Davis' multi-million dollar divorce from Priscilla Davis.

McCrary testified he lied to Sumner about certain things on the tape to boost his position with Davis.

"I was between a rock and a hard place, so I told Steve Sumner everything. I thought he would go back to Cullen with and Cullen would not be angry with me," he said.

"Did you know the Aug. 7 meeting with Steve Sumner was being recorded?" Haynes asked later.

"I had to assume he was. He always did," McCrary said.

MCCRARY ADMITTED, however, that he did not see a recorder. Sumner testified Monday he hid the machine in his briefcase and turned it on before meeting with McCrary.

"Why did you tell Steve Sumner a lie?" Haynes asked.

"I thought it might give me a little breathing room and not put quite as much pressure on me," McCrary said. "I decided I could bolster my own position a little bit."

"Why did you tell Steve Sumner that (Priscilla Davis' divorce attorney) Jerry Loftin wanted you?" Haynes continued.

"That would mean that I would be subject to be put on the witness stand in Judge Eidson's court," McCrary said. "That would mean I wouldn't have anything else to do with spying on Judge Eidson's house and trying to hire somebody to kill someone."

DEFENSE ATTORNEYS heralded admission of the tape before jurors a major coup for their client. But Judge Gordon Gray, by sustaining numerous prosecution objections, restricted defense exploration of several matters discussed in the tape.

Among the items restricted by Gray were the Davis divorce trial, two conflicting and damaging statements by McCrary relating to a 1976 murder trial and purported threats by the Tarrant County district attorney's office involving one of the 1976 statements.

Gray also halted queries into the relationship between former Fort Worth karate instructor Pat Burleson and Priscilla Davis.

THE TAPE TENDS to impeach prior testimony of McCrary, Burleson and Priscilla, a trio the defense claims framed Davis on the murder solicitation charge. The tape was not used during the first trial in Houston, a proceeding which ended in a mistrial.

"I wanted to use it in Houston, but Racehorse didn't," Sumner said. "He just had a different trial strategy. What this gets to is who was the moving party in this whole matter and why Cullen would have anything to do with McCrary."

"McCrary enticed Davis by saying that he could save his fortune and his life and those things are very near and dear to people."

Haynes, who called the tape "dynamite," said it was McCrary's testimony last week that changed his mind.

"We didn't think we needed it at the time (in Houston) because of the way the case was going and the court's rulings," he said. "But this witness...

now remembers things he didn't before and we thought a refresher of the memory may be called for at this time."

PROSECUTOR JACK STRICKLAND had a different interpretation of the 40-minute tape.

"I don't think Haynes hurt us a bit. It was much ado about nothing," he said. "I really believe it was a last-ditch effort."

"They weren't as desperate in Houston as they are here. They had threatened him (McCrary) by this time in Houston. They haven't here."

McCrary told Sumner he had been threatened in 1976 and he thought of several "persons who could have been having someone do something."

"And what were the names of those persons?" Haynes asked.

"Priscilla Davis... you, Priscilla Davis' attorneys and I asked Steve if he had anything to do with it," McCrary replied.

David Kennedy, 24, hospitalized

BOSTON (AP) — David Kennedy, 24-year-old son of the late Robert F. Kennedy, has been admitted to Massachusetts General Hospital, The Boston Globe reported today.

Hospital spokesman Martin Bander would neither confirm nor deny the report this morning. An official announcement was expected at 9 a.m. from Kennedy's uncle, Stephen Smith of New York City.

The New York Daily News reported today the family planned to admit Kennedy to a metropolitan hospital for "long-term treatment" of his drug addiction problem.

The News said Kennedy returned to the family compound at Hyannis Port on Tuesday after fleeing for about 36 hours.

Kennedy's drug problem was revealed last week after he apparently was mugged at a Harlem hotel frequented by drug users. Police said he went there to buy cocaine.

Pride is the answer

A Midland resident, who prefers to remain anonymous, has broached a subject which should be of special interest to every resident of the Tall City. It is a subject on which we have expounded on frequent occasions. It is a subject which requires frequent reminders in order to arouse the public to action.

It has to do with the city's general appearance—city beautification, if you please.

"There was a time," the Midlander wrote, "when Midland was one of the cleanest cities anywhere. The streets, parks, alleys, parking lots were sources of pride for those of us who lived here and showed our city to visitors. Now the situation has changed. In all these places we have to step around or at least look at discarded beer cans, paper cups, milk cartons, a public garbage dump scattered throughout Midland.

"I know that there are cities of similar size both in this country and certainly in others which are virtually free of litter. Perhaps someone has an idea how we can restore Midland to its former clean appearance. Maybe a city ordinance or law carrying a stiff penalty for anyone caught throwing trash out of a car window or for not keeping the area around his home or business neat and clean. We all live here, so, like many things, I suppose it is everyone's individual responsibility if there is to be any change."

The problem—and it is a very definite problem—is well presented in the above paragraphs.

Certainly, all of us would like to present our Tall City as clean, bright and attractive as possible. And it can be done. But it is up to the residents of the community to achieve such a goal. It matters not how many ordinances regarding littering are on the books, the public must want to do something about it before enforcement can become effective.

Actually, it is a matter of pride—individual and community—and if we have this we will not need ordinances in order to get the job done.

Perhaps we have been somewhat lax in stressing and developing community pride in recent months and even years. It is something which must be cultivated, particularly in the fast-growing community. And it perhaps should be started in the city's schools. We wonder if community pride ever is mentioned in the classrooms. Observing some of the litter on school parking lots and on adjacent streets makes one wonder. School students could do more perhaps in developing community pride in this respect than anyone else.

But littering isn't limited to school students by any means. Glance at most any parking lot, private or public, late in the afternoon or early in the morning, and you will see any and all types of litter dumped out of cars during the period of occupancy. The same thing occurs on public streets, with trash accumulating in the gutters. And cans, bottles and other litter yet are tossed from cars traversing the streets in the residential sections.

Although there are those persons who simply don't care, we prefer to think that much of the littering is done by persons through carelessness—not thinking about what they are doing or the resulting ill effects.

Well, it is time for all of us to start thinking about this important matter, and of calling it to the attention of friends, neighbors, business associates—and, above all—violators.

It is encouraging to note that a number of vacant lots and alleys are being cleared of weeds, brush and rubbish. Hopefully, this will spread throughout the community.

There was a time, when the city was smaller, that community-wide, clean-up, fix-up and paint-up campaigns were held in the spring and fall, sponsored by interested organizations and groups, backed by the city government. This fall would be a mighty good time to revive such a program, particularly since many visitors will be attending various meetings, including the Permian Basin Petroleum Pioneers, scheduled here in the next several weeks.

It is well to remember that it isn't merely a matter of appearance. Health, sanitation and fire hazards are involved.

But it all goes back to individual responsibility and pride in community. Are you willing to do your part?

violence as a solution to their problems.

Mitchell's visit came in a period of relative calm and hope for compromise. But while leaders and ordinary citizens on both sides were expressing guarded optimism, the IRA was busily working to rebuild its depleted and demoralized forces.

What isn't generally known is that the IRA, in its desperation to become a force to be reckoned with, has turned for help to a more successful gang of international terrorists—the Palestinian Liberation Organization.

The IRA's top strategists have been taking instruction—and getting military supplies—from the PLO, according to intelligence sources. And the results have been written in blood. Earlier this year, a Marxist group linked to the IRA claimed "credit" for the bold, daylight bombing assassination of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's confidant Airey Neave outside Parliament. A week earlier, Sir Richard Sykes, British ambassador to the Netherlands, was murdered by suspected IRA gunmen.

Supplied with Soviet-made weapons, the PLO has provided guns and sabotage devices to its IRA friends. The PLO is also giving special training to IRA members in terrorist schools in the Middle East, intelligence sources have confirmed.

Indeed, knowledgeable sources speculate that the IRA's apparently new communist-style, cell-like organizational structure is a direct result of its close ties with far-left terrorist groups like the PLO. The Irish fanatics' relationship with the Palestinian terrorists goes back at least seven

ART BUCHWALD

Why would Carter's staff doubt his rabbit story?

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — By now most people know the story about the President and the Rabbit. For those who don't, it seems the President of the United States was out in a fishing boat alone and was attacked by a ferocious rabbit. The President splashed his oar at the rabbit and drove it away.

When he got back to shore he told his White House staff about the incident but they wouldn't believe him.

Now if this was just the story of a President and a bunny it would be none of the public's business. But the tale does have political implications and it says quite a bit about Mr. Carter's way of running the White House.

In previous administrations it is hard to imagine anybody on the President's staff doubting the word of his boss.

If Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, or even Nixon had said they had been attacked by a rabbit on a pond a staffer's reaction would have been "Thank God you're safe, Mr. President." Or in the case of President Johnson, Jack Valenti or Joe Califano would have said, "Please tell us about it, sir, and don't leave out one detail."

Even Jerry Ford's staff would have taken the Chief Executive at his word.

But such was not the case with President Carter. When he got back to shore with what he thought was a good tale to recount, his people refused to believe him.

As far as it could be learned not one person said, "Well done, Mr. President. That rabbit will think twice next time before he attacks the leader of the most powerful country in the world" or "If this doesn't show you can row and hit a rabbit at the same time, nothing will."

Instead he found nothing but skepticism when he related the story amongst his advisors and friends. Some insisted that rabbits could not swim; others doubted that, even if they could swim, they would attack a person holding an oar in his hand. Still others showed by their silence just how far morale in the Administration had declined.

It is rumored that Ham Jordan had even considered giving everyone who worked for Mr. Carter a loyalty test to find out who believed the President's bunny story and who didn't.

President Carter, who never shows his emotions, was crestfallen. The credibility of the Presidency had reached such a low point that, even when Mr. Carter said he had been attacked by a swimming rabbit, no one would take him at his word. Mr. Carter chalked it up to the malaise in the country that had now infected even his own staff.

Fortunately for Mr. Carter, a White House photographer, who was on a bluff overlooking the pond, had taken a picture of the battle. Carter showed the photo to his staff who studied it, but they were still skeptical. Someone said, "It's an animal but how do we know it is a rabbit?"

For the first time since he took office Mr. Carter stopped smiling. He ordered Jody Powell to blow up the part of the photo which highlighted the thing in the water. Then he called in the staff again. "Well, is it a rabbit or isn't it?"

They finally decided by a vote of 5 to 4 that it was a rabbit. Jody Powell, who voted with the majority, went ahead and released the story.

Thus the country was assured that a President who had promised Americans when he took office that he would never lie to them had once again kept his word.

But the real question that goes begging is: "Why wouldn't Mr. Carter's people believe him in the first place?"

Doctors report that women are having abortions because the pre-determined sex of the fetus is not what they wanted. Some might call this a refinement of the right to choose—I call it fetus roulette.

At least it will remove some of the suspense expectant fathers must endure in the waiting room as the doctor says—"Congratulations, it's a boy—but, of course, you knew that."

It's a pity that hospitals can't advertise and use the sales pitch of that fast-food chain and proclaim—"You get things your way at Riverdale General."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's budget discipline put to the test

WASHINGTON — All year Congress has prescribed fiscal restraint, budget cutting and program elimination as the strong medicines the republic needs to cope with the fevers and rheums of inflation. This week there will be a showdown on whether the Senate half of Congress wants to take its own medicine.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie (D-Me.), chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, is determined that several Senate committees live up to their pledges to cut $4 billion from a 1980 budget already altered upward because of a wrong reckoning on inflation.

Muskie, a proud and impassioned man, took the thankless chore of chairing this new committee five years ago and has become a fiscal taskmaster to his colleagues, especially those who once joined him in the liberal funding of social programs. He and the committee's ranking Republican, Sen. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, were generally pleased that the Senate was tending toward fiscal responsibility, had decided on $5.6 billion in cuts for 1980 and a balanced budget in 1981.

But by the time Congress recessed in August, $5 billion was added to the budget because the committee had figured on 7.5 percent inflation in 1980 instead of the current projection of 9.8 percent. Another $1 billion was tacked on for energy and counter-cyclical revenue-sharing programs. And $4 billion more appeared, thus causing Muskie to gasp and set his jaw, the unexpected $4 billion representing the failure of Senate committees to make the promised cuts.

Muskie and Bellmon were hoping for a $532 billion outlay budget for 1980 but, because of fate and Senate backsliding, now face $542 billion. What really bothers them, though, is that the deficit which they had resolved would not exceed $28 billion, will hit $32 billion, if the cuts aren't made.

The annual budget deficit, as a percent of the gross national product, has declined steadily since congressional budget committees were established in 1974. This trend will be reversed if the 1980 budget deficit reaches $32 billion.

The failures to cut resulted from intensive lobbying by special interest groups. For example, every citizen wants children to have a good lunch at school. But this program has become a middle-class bonanza, so President Carter and Senate budget cutters recommended that the federal contribution to the school lunch for children from middle-income families be cut from 33 cents to 28 cents. Total savings for the government: $100 million. When you consider how much middle-class kids spent on candy bars, that nickel cut isn't unreasonable.

But oh, no, we can't deny schoolchildren a nourishing lunch, cry the food equipment manufacturers, unions representing kitchen workers, food suppliers and others fearful that the first cut will only be the first.

Another example is that legion of retired civilian and military employees who enjoy generous pensions, now indexed twice a year for inflation. By indexing them once a year—as Social Security payments are—the government would save $200 million annually. Inflation indexing prompts some high-ranked civil servants to retire early because they can earn as much or more in retirement than by working. According to John McEvoy, committee staff director, there are now 2,000 such retired civil service employees drawing $47,500 and more in annual pension. But the pension lobby stands like Horatius at the bridge against taking even a crumb from this ample pie.

Then there's the $200 million that private insurance companies do not reimburse the government when their policyholders use Veterans' hospitals. If these companies reimburse other hospitals used by veterans, why not a federally run hospital? But the insurance lobby has prevailed so far in persuading Congress not to pass a law ending this discriminatory exclusion.

These and other budget-cutting measures are not cruel by any means, but they are stopped because the committees headed by Sens. Russell Long (D-La.) and Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.) have been hit by scores of lobbyists. There is no comparable organized constituency lobbying for the general public, meaning the taxpayer.

"The vote on the (budget) resolution will plainly show the country whether the Senate is serious about balancing the federal budget and bringing inflation under control," says Sen. Bellmon.

"Our only weapon is public opinion," says Muskie. "To shift to a stimulative policy now is going to look like the same old Congress going for the first excuse to run up the deficit."

Muskie, 20 years in the Senate, would like to be remembered for bringing a responsible budgetary process to that august body. Bellmon, about to retire, wants to be a dollar-saving farmer to the end. We're fortunate these two are working hard on this little crisis, because they're doing it straight out, without pressure from special interest groups.

20-month-old Chantek 'starring' in televised kid's science show

By JOHN NOLAN
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Civilization has been good to Chantek. First he learned sign language, and now he's on a nationally televised children's science show. Not bad for a 20-month-old orangutan.
Lyn Miles, a University of Tennessee at Chattanooga anthropology professor who began Chantek's instruction last October, said Tuesday she is elated with his progress.
"It's wonderfully successful. We're really very pleased," she said. "He'll offer his hands to us to be molded. He's recognized that signs have meaning, and he wants guidance from us."
Chantek is trained in a trailer on the university's urban campus. Inside, he has toys with which he learns various skills. Ms. Miles and her assistants are currently analyzing Chantek's intelligence and comparing his progress with that of human children.
Clad in diapers "for convenience's sake," Chantek was center stage Tuesday as a crew from the Children's Television Workshop filmed him in trees, showing off on the "monkey" bars and signing words with his handlers. The program, "Three, Two, One, Contact," is for airing in January.
But Ms. Miles said her small hairy charge, whose wardrobe includes a custom-made ski jacket and snowsuit, is not always so well received — like the times he goes shopping.
"Most everybody is just thrilled with him," she said. On the other hand, she said, "Some of them ask him to leave. They think he's a pet."
The Children's Television Workshop has been filming at the university for the past two days. The workshop is already known for producing the Sesame Street program brought to young viewers over the Public Broadcasting System.
Ms. Miles said Chantek first displayed his sign language ability last December, moving his right hand up to his chin to indicate "food-eat." A day later, he began signing for "drink."
Now, he knows 11 signs, including those meaning tickle, come gimme, open, up, brush, chase and more. Some involve two-sign combinations.
"He's not doing human language. We can't claim that," she said. "It seems like a technical distinction, but it's really important."

Football players seek strike's end; Teachers picketing in 14 states

By The Associated Press
High school football players in Pasco, Wash., say they want their coaches back after suffering a humiliating shutout and a judge has threatened to jail strikers in Anchorage, Alaska, as nearly 50,000 teachers carry picket signs today in 14 states.
An Associated Press survey showed that more than 860,000 pupils are affected by teacher walkouts.
The opening of classes was canceled for 60,000 pupils today in San Francisco after the city's 3,800 teachers voted by a 2-to-1 margin to strike.
"Public education in this country is in real trouble," said Superintendent Robert Alioto as he announced Tuesday that the city's 120 schools would be shut down at least until Monday.
The teachers are demanding a 15.7 percent pay increase over two years. They also want reinstatement of 1,200 regular teachers laid off last year for budgetary reasons.
In the nation's largest strike this year, a three-day walkout by 12,000 Detroit teachers is keeping 213,000 pupils out of school.
Alabama joined the strike roll when 569 teachers walked picket lines in Jasper on Tuesday in a dispute over reinstatement of 42 dismissed teachers.
Paterson, N.J., teachers vote today on a proposed contract after a tentative settlement for the 1,700 teachers was reached Tuesday. Picketing continued in Woodbridge and Perth Amboy, N.J., but schools remained open.
Elsewhere, walkouts were under way in Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.
In Pasco, more than 100 high school students demonstrated outside administrative offices Tuesday demanding an end to a strike by 223 teachers. Many of the demonstrators were football players, who want their coaches back after being shellacked 25-0 last weekend by Richland High School with administrators acting as coaches.
Superior Court Judge Victor Carlson in Anchorage found 1,400 striking teachers in contempt of court Tuesday for staying off the job in violation of a back-to-work order issued Monday.
Carlson said that if union leadership did not order teachers back into the classroom, they would be jailed until pickets are removed.
Anchorage Education Association spokesman David Kleinstuber said teachers in and around the courtroom stood and cheered and said they would continue the strike.
In other developments:
—Teachers in Crown Point, Ind., reached tentative agreement on a contract, opening the way for the start of classes for 5,800 pupils. But 1,150 teachers in Indianapolis remained off the job while a judge considered a request by five parents for a back-to-work order.
—Walkouts by some 2,600 teachers were under way in seven Illinois districts, including Springfield's 940 teachers and Champaign's 650 teachers.
—A two-week strike by 160 teachers in the South Butler County district in Pennsylvania ended Tuesday, but classes for some 47,000 students in 14 other districts were still delayed or interrupted.
—Teachers in Marietta, Ohio, tentatively settled their strike early today, but some 1,300 teachers remained on strike against four other Ohio districts.
—A walkout by 1,200 teachers at Eugene, Ore., was in its second week; in Jefferson Parish, La., about 2,000 teachers were off the job; some 3,100 students were idled by a strike of nearly 200 teachers in Portsmouth, R.I.; and no new negotiations were scheduled in a strike affecting 2,700 students in Miller Place on Long Island, New York.

CBS shows opposed in Amarillo

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — About 300 protesters sang and prayed outside an Amarillo television station, but the station manager said he had not decided whether to air the shows that inspired the pray-in.
Tuesday's protest was conceived when CBS announced it would air "Flesh and Blood," a two-part program dealing with incest. The protesters called the show evidence of TV's "moral decay."
The group, led by Judy and Jimmy Mamou, carried signs and Bibles to the station's grounds and prayed and sang for almost an hour. They presented KFDA station manager Harry Neuhardt with silk flowers, a Bible and brownies.
Neuhardt said Tuesday he still had not decided whether to air the programs scheduled to be shown Oct. 14 and 16.
Debra Lane, co-anchorwoman and reporter for the CBS-TV affiliate, said a group of nuns carried a sign reading: "Repent, the kingdom is at hand."
Mrs. Mamou, who said she was an incest victim claimed CBS was exploiting the subject. "If they were going to show the terrible trauma and how it survive incest, that would be different," she said.
Neuhardt said he would "continue to consider what she had to say in the meeting with her in my office after the prayer meeting."
Neuhardt had previewed the program and earlier called it a "fine piece of dramatic work." He said it was not offensive.
Ms. Lane said Neuhardt told the group that "an adult would have to watch the entire program to get the gist of what's going on. There is very little chance a child would pick up on it. If these people think that is wrong, they should not watch it. Not to air it simply because some people consider it objectionable would be unfair to the rights of other people."
She added that Neuhardt planned to "wait till all the ballots are in — see what kind of reaction he gets in the mail."
The group also opposes airing of "30 Minutes," a children's program based on "60 Minutes" that deals with topics such as homosexuality, drugs and venereal disease.
Neuhardt said the station "undoubtedly" would continue the series.
He added, however, that he has asked CBS for a print on the segment on homosexuality — scheduled to air in late October — so he could preview it.
The protesters are asking KFDA not to air either "Flesh and Blood" or "30 Minutes." If the station refuses, Mrs. Mamou said, they will ask local sponsors to pressure the station, possibly with a boycott.

GM contract talks 'in danger zone'

DETROIT (AP) — Contract talks for 460,000 General Motors Corp. workers are now "in the danger zone" with only secondary issues being settled, says the head of the United Auto Workers union.
Time runs out on contracts for the Big Three companies at midnight Friday. "The timing is in the hands of the company," said UAW President Douglas A. Fraser after his report of progress Tuesday. "We'll get control of the timing in a couple of days."
The UAW says it will not extend the contract but will strike 13 of 26 GM assembly plants, 32 parts warehouses and a diesel locomotive plant if no agreement is concluded.
UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone said despite the initialing of "quite a few" agreements in bargaining subcommittees, "there has been no response on the major economic issues."
Once the company responds to the union's latest proposals, "things can be accomplished relatively quickly," Fraser said. "We don't know what separates us."
Company bargainers declined to meet reporters. The major issue this year is pensions. The union is insisting on protection against inflation for retired workers. Details of the union's latest proposal, made over the weekend, were not revealed.

Carter takes health plan to 'Kennedy territory'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is invading the home territory of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to address an audience of retired people considered more receptive to Kennedy's health insurance plan than to his own.

The occasion for Carter's speech today in Hartford, Conn., was a health care forum sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons and the National Retired Teachers Association.

Bush sees troops as 'provocation'

HOUSTON (AP) — George Bush said Tuesday President Carter should demand that the Russian troops in Cuba be removed immediately.

The Republican presidential hopeful said the stationing of the troops "is a clear provocation, a test of our will."

"The President must meet this test with resolve," Bush said.

"If the Soviets did not feel this brigade level force was a provocation, it would not have been surreptitiously placed in Cuba."

Bush said Carter has failed to tell the American people he cancelled reconnaissance flights over Cuba, flights Bush said would have alerted the administration to any buildup of Soviet military forces in Cuba.

"He should resume SR 71 flights to monitor the withdrawal of the troops," Bush said.

"The president should demand the Soviet troops be removed immediately. The Russians are breaking the spirit of the agreement entered into by Presidents Kennedy and Nixon and Mr. Carter should tell the Russians the United States will not only pull back the SALT treaty but also that we will review seriously our wide range of technological and economic agreements."

Bush said he resents attempts by President Carter to blame the Ford and Nixon administrations.

"One of the most disturbing elements of the controversy is the President's attempt to shift the responsibility to past administrations rather than to move ahead to solve the problem," said the former CIA director.

"Past administrations did not know there were brigade level forces in Cuba. This administration does know it."

between them — favor the health insurance program proposed by Kennedy, the Democrat from neighboring Massachusetts who has been hinting he might challenge Carter for their party's presidential nomination.

In advance of his foray into Connecticut, Gov. Ella Grasso said Carter, her announced choice for the presidency in 1980, would "receive his usual courteous greeting and enthusiastic response."

From Hartford, Carter was bound for Steubenville, Ohio, and a "town hall meeting" on energy in coal and steel country. The Ohio city is the seat of predominantly Democratic Jefferson County, which gave Carter a 7,567-vote edge in 1976.

Mrs. Grasso, who participated in a group meeting with Carter at the White House Tuesday, was asked by a reporter whether her reference to Carter's likely reception was not "dampening with faint praise."

"No, I'm not dampening with faint praise," she replied. "It's very clear to anyone who lives in Connecticut... that there is great affection for Teddy Kennedy. I have great affection for Teddy Kennedy. I support the president."

"I made my commitment to the president and I intend to fulfill my commitment to the president as long as he is a potential candidate for renomination," Mrs. Grasso added.

In Steubenville, officials have spruced up the eastern Ohio industrial city with a thorough street sweeping in preparation for Carter's visit.

City crews have been busy all week cleaning up debris, cutting grass and trimming foliage to make a good impression.

"If President Carter wanted me to stand on my head on a flagpole, I'd do it. That's how important this visit is," said Mayor William Crabbe, a political independent.

Carter will drive from Pittsburgh's airport for an hour-long meeting with citizens at Steubenville High School, which will be followed by a private reception with state Democratic party officials.

The region's economy is almost totally dependent on factories and power plants lining both the Ohio and West Virginia banks of the Ohio River in a nearly unbroken chain stretching 20 miles north and south of the city.

Both steel mills and power plants use the high-sulfur coal found in abundance in eastern Ohio and residents fear continued use of that coal will be hampered by federal clean air restrictions.

"They're hoping the president will let area industries continue to use Ohio coal without having to install costly scrubbers designed to clean plant emissions."

Talking to reporters Tuesday night outside the Kennedy Center in Washington is Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. Kennedy said that during the past weeks, many of his colleagues in the House and Senate have asked him to consider running for president. He was attending a Bob Hope benefit for the "boat people." # Kennedy 'not sure' about 1980

WASHINGTON (AP) — His supporters are bubbling with optimism, but Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he's not sure he'd be a shoo-in for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination.

There will be no easy victory if he decides to challenge President Carter in the primaries, Kennedy said Tuesday. "I think it would be a hard-fought battle, both the nomination and the election," he told reporters at a Kennedy Center charity benefit.

Kennedy acknowledged that in recent weeks, "there have been a number of my colleagues in the Congress and Senate who have asked me to give consideration" to running.

Neither Kennedy nor Carter has declared himself a candidate. Speculation about a Kennedy candidacy has been rampant since the Massachusetts senator announced recently that his family had no objections to his entering the race.

Meanwhile, The Washington Post offered its own version in today's editions of what Kennedy and Carter discussed at their private lunch last Friday. Earlier reports on that luncheon, quoting political sources, were published in Sunday editions of The Atlanta Journal and Constitution.

Quoting a "knowledgeable source," The Post said Kennedy told Carter he was thinking about entering the race. Previously, Kennedy had said he would support a Carter bid for re-election.

Kennedy told Carter he was being urged to run by a number of Democrats who feared for their own re-election chances with a Carter candidacy, the newspaper said. The Post quoted sources close to Kennedy as saying that 11 of 24 Senate Democrats up for re-election had spoken to him about running.

Meanwhile, White House officials continued Tuesday to portray Carter as a man more concerned about critical issues facing the nation than his chances for re-election.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said the president had decided to delay any announcement of his own candidacy until Congress has dealt with the strategic arms limitation treaty and his energy legislation.

"That will be our effort to do everything we can to avoid taking action that would jeopardize energy legislation or SALT," Powell said.

Brown has 'good foundation,' plans to enter many primaries

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. claims he has a "good foundation" in New Hampshire and will take his campaign for president into "as many primaries as I possibly can."

And Brown added at a news conference Tuesday, the prospective entry of Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts in the Democratic primaries against President Carter doesn't change his plans to wage an all-out campaign.

"My chances for the nomination are substantial," Brown said. "I don't minimize the difficulty of the obstacles in my way... There is an incumbent president whom I in no way underestimate... and Sen. Kennedy" is also formidable opposition.

"But I intend to throw myself into it and base my challenge principally on what I consider to be the myths and the anachronisms that are dragging the Democratic Party down to defeat. I intend to point these out, and also to offer some alternatives," Brown said.

"I laid a good foundation in New Hampshire. I expect to go back very soon," Brown added. "I intend to go to other states very frequently."

Brown spent two days last weekend in New Hampshire, site of the first presidential primary next February, and said he would return there in about three weeks.

The 41-year-old governor did not name any other state where he planned to campaign, but aides have listed Massachusetts, New York and Illinois among other states where they expect Brown to focus his efforts.

Carter 'in trouble,' Mansfield says

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Mike Mansfield said today that President Carter "is in trouble" but still has a chance to be nominated for a second term even though "Ted Kennedy is breathing down his neck."

That was Mansfield's reply when asked, following a speech to a Japanese businessmen's group, for his assessment of the current political situation in the United States.

"I am a Carter man, but he is in trouble," the Montana Democrat and former U.S. Senate majority leader said. "He still has a chance at the nomination, but Ted Kennedy is breathing down his neck."

Zimbabwe guerrilla movement split; Many killed

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — Robert Mugabe's branch of the Zimbabwe guerrilla movement is badly split, many have been killed in party purges and nearly 100 political and military leaders are imprisoned in Mozambique, according to a document attributed to four of the jailed men.

"Differences of opinion ... are dealt with by summary methods (including) brutalization, incarceration for indefinite periods, and, in some cases, physical elimination of many leading cadres," said the 11-page document which purportedly was written by Rugare Gumbo, Matuku Hamadziripi, Crispin Mandizvidza and Ray Musikavanhu, all former central committee members of Mugabe's Zimbabwe African National Union.

The statement, which reportedly was smuggled out of a Mozambique prison, also highlights the possibility of civil war with Joshua Nkomo's branch of the Patriotic Front if the guerrillas take power in Zimbabwe Rhodesia.

It says the ZANU central committee voted in 1977 to unite politically with Nkomo's Zimbabwe African People's Union, or ZAPU, but the ZANU executive committee decided in October of that year "never to unite with ZAPU."

"The failure to merge the two organizations politically ... centers largely on the desire to preserve personal power," the document said. "People took a definite stand of 'no unity with ZAPU." "Unity between ZAPU and ZANU would eliminate the seeds of civil war and increase material and diplomatic support from the international community."

The document was made available to foreign correspondents as Mugabe and Nkomo attended British-sponsored peace talks in London aimed at ending the seven-year-old war in what is now Zimbabwe Rhodesia against the white regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith and its successor, the biracial government of black Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa. ZANU is based in Mozambique, Zimbabwe Rhodesia's eastern neighbor, while ZAPU is based in Zambia, northwest of Zimbabwe Rhodesia.

Although no independent confirmation of the document's authenticity is available, British officials who have seen it generally seem to think it is reliable.

The document says the divisions within ZANU extend from the grassroots level to the central and executive committees and adversely affect the ability of the party's military arm, the Zimbabwe African National Liberation Army, to wage war against the forces of the Zimbabwe Rhodesian government.

It said 45 military commanders and seven members of the military committee were arrested in January 1977 in an attempt by civilian party officials to assert authority over the armed forces, and the commanders were expelled from the party. "Efforts by other members of the central committee to have the commanders brought back to the party were resisted, and led to our imprisonment, torture and isolation," the document said. "This was accompanied by massive victimization, demotion, etc., of a large number of fighters both in the camps and in the operational areas."

However, it said the party now "has only nominal control over the army. To all intents and purposes, the army is an autonomous body. Within the army totally fascist methods of control have been intensified ... calculated to instill a spirit of permanent fear among the fighters."

The document charged that ZANU's present leaders use methods which "result in the elimination of internal democracy, stifle criticism, and introduce military methods into the leadership which in turn introduce a sense of fear and a state of siege in the movement."

It said promotions to the central committee are "based on personal friendship and whim. There is no accounting to the people at all."

It accused the party leadership of being seriously deficient in the "ability to distinguish good from bad, minor errors from major ones, to give examples of maturity (and) authoritative, broad, clear views."

Two to die by Israeli court order

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The West German embassy today confirmed that an Israeli military court has sentenced two young Germans to 10 years imprisonment for attempting to shoot down an Israeli El Al airliner in Kenya in January 1976.

Israel television broke the story late Tuesday, after more than three years of secret proceedings against Brigitte Schulz, 28, Thomas Reuter, 27, and three Arabs. The separate trial of the Arabs is continuing.

Embassy spokesman Ruediger Reyels said the 10-year sentences were imposed on Tuesday, and will run from Jan. 27, 1976, when the pair was arrested. He referred all other questions to the German Foreign Ministry in Bonn.

Israeli television reported the sentencing came after the two confessed.

The sentencing did not end the mystery in the Schulz-Reuter case, because Israel has never published an indictment detailing the alleged conspiracy, and the secret trial was shrouded by Israeli military censorship.

An Israeli army spokesman today refused to release any information on the trial or the sentences imposed on the two leftists.

But Ms. Schulz's parents, who visited their daughter in prison four times, said Israeli authorities alleged the two were caught with an anti-aircraft missile near the Nairobi airport, and had agreed to give three Arabs information about El Al arrival and departure times.

The wall of secrecy contributed to a series of West German protests about the legal proceedings, and last month Amnesty International complained about the secrecy and the long period of 3½ years without a resolution of the case.

Russians leave 27 refugees

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Russian sailors apparently checked out a boat loaded with 27 starving Vietnamese refugees then left the area, the U.S. Navy said today.

The U.S. 7th Fleet cruiser Jouett, already carrying 89 refugees from two previous rescues, went to the scene from 150 miles away in the South China Sea and took the 27 aboard, a spokesman at Subic Naval Base said.

"Reports indicate that the 27 refugees ... are severely dehydrated, nearly starved and in as poor physical condition as any group thus far rescued," the spokesman said.

He said their boat was amid three Soviet warships when it was spotted by the crew of a U.S. Navy patrol plane. The plane's crew saw a small boat from one of the Russian ships approach the refugee boat, remain alongside for a few minutes, then leave.

"I can't say if they (the Russians) did anything or not," said the spokesman, Petty Officer 1st Class Jim Giusti. He said information was sketchy from the Jouett, due at Subic later today with the 16 Vietnamese men, five women and six children.

Israel needs increased U.S. aid but has little chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing rising costs of weapons and oil, Israel says it needs nearly twice as much U.S. aid in fiscal year 1981 as it is getting in 1980. But U.S. officials indicate chances for such a hefty increase are poor.

Israeli Ambassador Ephraim Evron presented a memo Tuesday to Secretary of State Cyrus Vance on his country's $3.45 billion "requirement" for 1981.

He said the additional money is needed to help Israel cope with the rising cost of oil imports, which are attributed to the OPEC price increase and to Israel's return of the Sinai oil fields to Egypt.

Israel also must pay for weapons which the United States has determined that it needs, Evron said.

Nixon leaves for China

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon is embarking today on a 10-day trip to China — his second visit since the historic 1972 presidential trip in which Nixon reopened U.S.-China ties after 20 years of cold war animosity.

The former president will stop in Hawaii and Hong Kong en route to China, spokesman Jack Brennan said Tuesday.

Chinese leaders originally extended the invitation to Nixon a year and a half ago, but the visit was postponed due to conflicts with President Carter's announcement that the United States and China had normalized relations.

Nixon's most recent visit was in February 1976, when he arrived in Peking as an official guest of the Chinese people aboard a Chinese government jet. This time, Nixon will travel on commercial jetliners at his own expense, Brennan said.

Nicaraguans fire at Hondurans

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Some 600 Honduran troops were rushed to the Nicaraguan border Tuesday after Nicaraguan troops fired on the customs post at Guasaca for four hours and wounded two truck drivers, military sources reported.

In Managua, the Nicaraguan capital, the military chief of staff, denied the report. He said shots were heard in the area but "we sent a mission to investigate and ascertained that our men did not fire a single shot into Honduran territory."

$28 million in cocaine seized

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Colombian authorities have seized more than 1,500 pounds of cocaine worth an estimated $28 million on the streets of New York, the largest amount of the drug ever confiscated in Latin America, investigations chief Miguel Mesa announced.

Mesa said the cocaine was seized in raids Monday night on three houses, six laboratories and 15 vehicles operated by a smuggling ring in the Colombian capital. Seven men and four women were arrested and charged with possession of cocaine, he said.

Portuguese to elect assembly

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese will elect a new National Assembly a year early on Dec. 2. President Antonio Ramalho Eanes dissolved the parliament Tuesday and set the election date after 14 months of political deadlock.

Maria de Lourdes Pintassilgo, an independent, has headed an interim government since Eanes announced two months ago he would call early elections because the major political parties have been unable to break the stalemate. Portugal has had three minority governments since the fall of the Socialist Party cabinet of Mario Soares in December 1977.

Malaysia bans report

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia has banned a report by Amnesty International calling for repeal of the country's internal security law, alleging that more than 1,000 persons are being held without trial and charges that some of them have been tortured.

Amnesty International, the London-based winner of the 1977 Nobel Peace Prize, mailed copies of the 67-page report to newspapers and correspondents in the country, but a government decree dated Aug. 30 banned its publication or possession, sources say. Newspapers have not published accounts of the report, the first on Malaysia.

Jackson to meet with Arafat

CHICAGO (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson says he plans to meet soon with PLO leader Yasser Arafat "to contribute as a private citizen" to help resolve the Middle East conflict.

Jackson, national president of Operation PUSH, said Tuesday in a statement he would set a time and place for the meeting as soon as he receives a written invitation from the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Reached by telephone in Denver, Jackson would not divulge details regarding the proposed meeting, saying "our offices are in contact, trying to work out the details."

On Monday, Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., revealed that he was contacted by Mahomoud Labadi, an Arafat deputy, extending the suggestion of a meeting.

Labadi told Findley that Arafat was interested in meeting with Jackson at an unspecified time and location, but indicated the meeting probably would take place in the next month outside the United States.

Jackson's wife, Jacqueline, met Arafat in Lebanon twice during June as part of a delegation of U.S. citizens arranged by a group of people of Palestinian descent who are graduates of American universities.

Mrs. Jackson declined comment about the sessions.

In the statement, Jackson said PUSH, a Chicago-based civil rights organization, "is concerned about both the security of Israel and the human rights of the Palestinians."

Jackson also said a written invitation from Arafat would be necessary before he could respond formally.

Government trying to keep San Salvador situation from exploding

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Leftist demonstrations in El Salvador's capital are increasing in size but the military government is standing back in an apparent attempt to keep the situation from exploding.

Some 800 marched Monday, 4,000 demonstrated Tuesday and President Carlos Humberto Romero's regime expects as many as 30,000 Saturday as El Salvador celebrates 138 years of independence from Spain.

The leftists say they have no faith in government pledges to hold free congressional and mayoral elections in March, but Romero's regime has vowed not to be provoked into turning the demonstrations into violent showdowns.

About 2,500 masked, chanting demonstrators, many of them armed, poured through the streets of San Salvador Tuesday afternoon demanding an end to Romero's government.

Another 1,500 left the University of El Salvador campus Tuesday evening on what was to have been a torchlight parade to the American Embassy. But a pouring rain drenched the marchers half way, and by the time they finished the 30-minute trek to the embassy their flaming torches were reduced to bundles of smoldering rags on sticks.

Several firebombs were hurled into one intersection to stop traffic but there were no other incidents and no injuries.

The daytime march started in the eastern industrial suburb of Soyapango and wound into the city, stopping first at the Labor Ministry.

Demonstrators ripped blue and white Salvadorean flags from buildings along the march route, set them afire and dragged them burning through the streets.

"They shouted, 'Death to Romero the Assassin!' 'No to Elections!' 'Long Live Insurrection!' and other slogans."

Youths with cans of spray paint plastered walls, lamp posts and windows with rebel initials and slogans.

The march ended at the National Cathedral, which had been occupied for the past 2½ weeks by members of the leftist Popular Unified Action Front.

As the marchers arrived, the Front announced an end to the occupation, claiming a victory on the basis of the release of one of its members from government detention.

It was not immediately clear why the prisoner was released or why he had been detained in the first place.

However, most of the other churches in the country remained occupied, mostly by the peasant-labor Popular Revolutionary Bloc, El Salvador's other major activist organization.

Four months ago government forces opened fire on Salvadoreans bringing food to Bloc demonstrators occupying the National Cathedral, killing 25 and wounding about 60.

Sporadic violence has continued since then. On Thursday, the president's brother, Jose Javier Romero, was shot to death by guerrillas who broke into his house in Apopo, 15 miles north of El Salvador.

Over the weekend, seven leftist students were killed in an ambush in eastern El Salvador and four policemen were slain by leftist guerrillas in two separate attacks.

Soviet-backed Afghanistan regime routs Moslem rebels

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Afghanistan's Soviet-backed regime has scored its biggest victory in months over the Moslem rebels fighting to overthrow it, reliable Afghan sources said today.

The rebels were crushed in the 45-mile-long Panjshir Valley, north of Kabul, in a rout so complete that it touched off a flurry of unconfirmed rumors that Afghan soldiers had resorted to chemical warfare.

Panjshir, the eastward-jutting panhandle of Parwan Province, had been held three months by Moslem tribesmen fighting to topple President Nur Mohammed Taraki's Marxist regime. The government took it last week.

Analysts believe the powerful strike against guerrillas in the Panjshir Valley was mounted because of the threat they posed to Bagram Air Base, about 50 miles north of Kabul, which was recently taken over by 1,400 Soviets.

crossing over in brigade strength as the entire Asmar garrison in Kunar province did last month. These troops brought with them badly-needed anti-aircraft guns, an authoritative source said.

Morale is believed extremely low in the 80,000-man Afghan army, reflected in the defections and the Aug. 5 revolt by the 44 Commando Regiment at Kabul's Bala Hissar Fort which left at least 400 persons dead.

Loyal forces put down the mutiny with ruthless force and Kabul remains firmly in the 16-month-old regime's control.

On Saturday, the rebels ambushed a military convoy in Loghar Province, south of the Afghan capital, killing the commanding officer of the elite Central Corps, three bodyguards and the driver of his Russian jeep, the sources said.

One report said there were 300 soldiers in the convoy and that they suffered numerous casualties. Rebel losses were not known.

Until last month the corps commander, normally based in Kabul, was Maj. Mohammed Dost, 37. However, there have been many recent transfers and the sources could not confirm the identity of the slain commander.

The Moslem tribesmen have fought Taraki's regime since August 1978, claiming the Kabul government is trying to implant "Godless" communism in the 99 percent Moslem country.

The insurgents were believed responsible for the late July dynamiting of two strategic bridges on the main supply route from the Soviet border to Kabul.

A foreign military attache who visited the sites said the destructive blasts apparently were the work of a demolition expert, possibly a career army officer who had defected to the rebel side.

Army engineers reopened traffic four days later by constructing a bypass. Repair work on the two damaged bridges was expected to be finished by winter, a source said.

Insurgent ranks reportedly have swelled in recent months with defecting government soldiers, some

...Ah, to return to the simple life...no family budgets to balance...no gas shortages to endure...no inflation to battle. Life could be so sweet.

Don't bet on it. Your over-civilized existence is probably a lot better than you think, says the American Council of Life Insurance.

For example, try comparing yourself to the more than 3.1 billion people — almost two-thirds of the world's population — who live that "simple life" in less developed countries.

To give you an idea of what it could be like, the council suggests you try the following:

—Remove all furniture and utensils from your home. Keep only a few old blankets, a kitchen table, a chair, a few pots.

—Discard all clothing. Keep only a few of the oldest for each member of the family.

—For food, keep only a small sack of sugar, some salt, onions and a small bowl of chick peas.

—Remove all sinks and toilets. Cut off your water and electricity.

Now comes the tough part. Demolish your home and move your family into a hut you've built yourself. No television. But there will be one radio in town you can listen to.

Of course, you will have to throw away all newspapers, magazines and books. And discard all your insurance policies—if anything happens, you're strictly on your own.

Finally, set up the nearest hospital no closer than 12 miles away and replace the chief physician with a midwife.

Ah, the simple life! Go ahead...enjoy it...

...A PANEL of three former PTA Halloween carnival chairmen will present information and ideas for recruiting and organizing workers, purchasing supplies, planning booths, etc., at a workshop slated for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Crockett Elementary Cafeteria, 401 E. Parker St.

Participants also will be invited to share their ideas and experiences. The workshop is open to anyone who is interested or involved in elementary school carnivals. Carnival chairmen at each school are urged to attend, according to Betty Edgar, spokesman.

For more information, call Mrs. Edgar at 682-3810.

...SPEAKING OF PTA WORKSHOPS, duplicate newsletter and communications workshops have been scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 18 at Sam Houston Elementary Library, 2000 W. Louisiana Ave., and for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 20 at the School Administration Building, 702 N. N St.

These workshops will be conducted by Carolyn Fitz-Gerald, communication specialist for the Midland Independent School District. They will provide helpful information to those who are involved in publishing school newsletters and those interested in starting one.

...NANCY BARKES, a 1976 Lee High School graduate, finished in fourth place at a four-day international orienteering meet in Saulte St. Marie, Mich., late this summer.

Representing the Texas Tech University Red Raider Orienteers, Barkes competed in a field of 20 women in the 19-23 age group. Orienteering is a sport of navigation using only a compass and a map in unfamiliar land.

Although she failed to finish the course after the first day of competition, Barkes' time for the remaining three days were strong enough to carry her to the fourth place spot. She totaled 269 out of a possible 300 points and was within 20 points of first place.

Barkes is a Texas Tech senior horticultural major. The daughter of James and Eunice Barkes, 3612 Shell Ave., Nancy said, "I was very pleased with my performance. Last year I was unable to qualify for the meet. My finish this year was very rewarding..."

...YOU CAN LOOK forward to growing less lonely as you grow older, a five-year study has concluded.

"I know it flies in the face of your stereotype," says Professor John C. Woodward of the University of Nebraska, "but older people are, by far, the least lonely people in the nation."

Dr. Woodward, dean of the university's college of home economics, bases his findings on personal interviews with over 1,000 rural and urban people in the Nebraska area.

He explained his conclusions this way:

—As a group, women are lonelier than men.

—Divorcees are among the loneliest people.

—Teenagers are lonelier than anybody.

Alamo Y teaches women to swim

Has the doctor prescribed swimming, but you can't swim?

The Alamo YMCA is sponsoring beginning classes in swimming for women only to educate them for health purposes.

The classes began Monday and will be held every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday through Dec. 21 from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., according to Jeanie McCartney, aquatic director at Alamo Y.

Swimming is good exercise, said Ms. McCartney, because "it is the only exercise that uses every muscle in the body and yet is not strenuous."

"Also, you can pace yourself and get the same amount of benefit as someone younger."

Ms. McCartney feels there is no reason you can't get to a swimming pool because of the city's YMCA facilities.

There is no danger in exercise received by swimming, said Ms. McCartney, and you also have "good fellowship with other women."

Swimming is good for weight control, she said, because "it helps to burn up calories," more than any other form of exercise. "You get more exercise by swimming in a short time than any other sport," explained the director.

In the beginners class only, everything in previous lessons will be reviewed, so if a class or two is missed, no one will get behind, said Ms. McCartney.

There are still plenty of openings for any women wanting to get in the class, instructed by Helen Cumbe.

Ms. McCartney will teach a stroke improvement class if at least 20 women sign up for it. There still are openings for all age groups and level of swimmers, she said.

For additional information, call the Alamo YMCA at 694-2528, or come by 901 N. Midland Drive to sign up for any of the classes offered there. Fees for the beginning ladies swim classes are $5 for Alamo members and $15 for non-members.

Man with zest for living dying of heart disease

By JENNIFER BOLCH
Dallas Times Herald

DALLAS — How does a lean and lusty young man — with a love for the open road, beer and cigarettes, Mexican food and life — watch two brothers sicken and die, knowing that the same insidious disease is slowly killing him, too?

Sometimes Patrick Willis does it with courage, the kind of courage that is leading him to the heart transplant operating table. At other times, he does it with flippant wisecracks to hide his terror and dark glasses so the world won't see his tears.

Pat Willis, 32, has cardiomyopathy, a congenital heart disease. His 21-year-old brother, Paul, died of the disease last month, and another brother, John, 22, succumbed to it two years ago.

Pat and his wife, Vicky, also have a new baby, Alan Lloyd. Named for Paul, whose middle name was Alan, the baby was born the day after Paul's funeral.

Pat has known about his fatal illness for almost two years. He and Vicky decided to have the baby anyway, despite the pleadings of Pat's father and stepmother, because "I'm going to need something that's part of him to keep me going," Vicky explains softly.

They don't feel they have to be concerned about the baby inheriting the disease, because as far as they can tell from the family medical history, it is only passed on by the mother.

Cardiomyopathy kills by progressive degeneration of the heart muscle. The muscle cells become swollen. Then fibrotic damage occurs and the heart loses its ability to contract. Eventually it just stops pumping.

The cause of cardiomyopathy is not known. It usually is a disease of the middle aged and elderly, rarely seen in young adults. But in Pat's mother's family, it wasn't rare for it to strike early. In fact, his mother lost three brothers to what was vaguely described as "heart failure" before they reached the age of 21, and she was the only one of 17 children who lived past 40, dying herself at 44.

There are drugs to help a cardiomyopathic heart use its partial power to maximum advantage for a while, but nothing is known that can stop or reverse the degeneration process. Cardiomyopathy eventually kills, usually within two to five years. The first boy to die of the disease was John III. In June 1977, the month John died,

Pat first noticed his own symptoms. A truck driver used to traveling 10, 12, sometimes 15 hours a day, he began to feel so tired and run down that he could barely get out of bed in the mornings.

When he went to the doctors, they shook their heads. "You're not going to drive trucks again, and you're not even going to take a desk job. You are through working — completely through," they told Pat sternly as they filed his papers for total disability with the Social Security Administration.

Devout Catholics, the Willis' say their strong religious faith has kept them going.

"I've always prayed that the Lord would take care of our children, and that His will be done, and," John Willis adds, his voice cracking slightly, "I still pray that prayer. I don't know why He took John in the prime of life and struck Paul down when He did, and if He takes Pat, that's His way. I'll never understand it, but I won't question it."

"But," the grieving father continues in a stronger, surer voice, "we're going to do everything in our power to see that Pat gets a transplant before it's too late."

Teens target of drinking risk program

WASHINGTON (AP) — A true-false test on the risks of drinking and driving, designed primarily for new drivers, has been prepared by the U.S. Brewers Association as part of its new Alcohol Awareness Program.

The test is included in the association's leaflet on drinking and driving, being distributed by motor vehicle bureaus, law enforcement officials, state highway departments and driver education classes.

"Even though the test is aimed generally at young persons, many adults cannot give all the right answers," says George Minshew, senior vice president of the association. He suggests that parents check and discuss with family teenagers the following test statements:

TRUE OR FALSE?

- 1. All states prohibit driving under the influence of alcohol.
- 2. A 16- or 17-year-old person who commits a moving traffic violation would be treated differently than an adult offender.
- 3. By law, it is never possible for a person under 18 to be sentenced to prison.
- 4. If, while driving, you are at fault injuring someone and drive away without stopping, you may have committed a criminal offense.
- 5. If you are arrested as DWI (Driving While Intoxicated), you can lose your license and be subjected to a fine, but you cannot be imprisoned.

ANSWERS

- 1. True.
- 2. False. Some states provide that a minor shall be treated as an adult for motor vehicle offenses.

—3. False. A state juvenile court can determine that a minor shall be treated as an adult.

—4. True.

—5. False. You might be fined or imprisoned or both.

Patrick Rhamey, left, and Sam Perry collect their tickets to the annual Relay event sponsored by the City of Midland Swim Team. Ticket chairman is Shirley Thompson, right. The event is set for Sept. 23 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Mabee Memorial Swim Center, 3003 N. "A" St. Tickets are $1. Two prizes of tickets for two to the Dallas Cowboy—New York Giant football game scheduled Dec. 2 will be given away. The prize includes air fare and hotel expenses. Most of the funds will go toward the swim team's operating expenses, with five percent to be donated to the National Olympics American swim team. (Staff Photo)

DEAR ABBY

Links sex to links

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife, a grandmother, plays golf every day. Yesterday she said to me, "Honey, I think I know why I've been playing such rotten golf lately. I'm not getting enough loving." She explained that her putting and chipping were way off because she was tense and uptight instead of relaxed.

Well, I didn't want to let her down so I mustered some strength hoping to improve her golf game.

This afternoon she handed me her golf scorecard as she came off the course. It was seven strokes less than yesterday's!

"See, I told you!" she said. "I knew I was right!"

Abby, I still think one thing has nothing to do with the other. What do you think? — GOLFING GRANDPA IN S. CAROLINA

DEAR GRANDPA: There's only one way to find out. Continue mustering enough strength to follow through daily. If her score goes DOWN I hope your strength holds UP!

DEAR ABBY: We speak for countless others who, after having spent a lifetime working to get a place of retirement, find that we have been "had" by friends and relatives who come out of the woodwork because we have a place on the lake.

My husband and I built our summer place with our own hands — clearing land, felling trees, digging wells and building our home. In the land of 10,000 lakes, ours seems to be the only lake with fish in it, and of course there's a free boat which is usually left dirty, plus dead fish here and there.

When we're not here, they take over as if the place were their own, bringing friends who pass the word about the fantastic fishing.

We had planned on leaving this lovely place to our children and grandchildren, but we are ready to sell — boat and all.

We hope they take time out from fishing to read this. Sign us. — MAD IN MINNESOTA

DEAR MAD: People who are imposed upon constantly should not blame others because they themselves lack the gumption to express their objections. Have you ever thought about putting new locks on your home and boat? If you are too timid to speak your minds, that should do it for you.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is for the two boys who thought it was useless to work, since their father made them put half of all their income in the bank.

I am an 18-year-old who has been working steadily for two years. Last summer I held two jobs. Now I'm ready to move out of my parents' house, buy a car and go to a one-year school.

Th problem? I have only $8 in my wallet, and $20 in my bank account.

My parents never made me save, so I frittered away my money. Right now, I'm waiting for a loan so I can go to school. A car and apartment are totally out of the question.

I am the most dependent 18-year-old I know. Please learn from my mistakes and be thankful that your parents forced you to save. I wish my parents had been more like yours — FRITTERED AWAY

Tower, Bentsen split on peanut loan inquiry

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes conducted on their return from the month-long summer recess.

Bentsen voted "nay."
Tower voted "yea."

SENATE CARTER WAREHOUSE: The Senate killed, 61 for and 29 against, an amendment requiring the Federal Election Commission (FEC) to investigate loans made by the National Bank of Georgia and 1975 and 1976 to the Carter family peanut warehouse

PRIVATE SCHOOLS: By a vote of 31 for and 54 against, the Senate refused to support a proposed Internal Revenue Service regulation aimed at private schools which discriminate on the basis of race. The vote came during debate on HR 4393 (see votes above).

In part, the regulation apparently quashed by this vote would have made it easier for the IRS to deny tax-exempt status to church-related schools which discriminate. Under court rulings, the separation of church and state is no obstacle to the IRS moving against such schools. The IRS wanted this regulation to bolster its interpretation of court decisions on the subject.

Senators voting "yea" supported the IRS regulation for denying tax-exempt status to certain church-related schools.

Bentsen and Tower voted "nay."

HOUSE

The House adopted, 247 for and 128 against, an amendment to eliminate most foreign aid scheduled for Panama in fiscal 1980. The amendment, attached to an appropriations bill (HR 4473) later passed and sent to the Senate, allowed U.S. food and medical assistance to Panama but banned all other aid.

Members voting "nay" opposed cutting Panama's foreign aid.

Reps. Samuel Hall, D-1, Charles Wilson, D-2, James Collins, R-3, Ray Roberts, D-4, Jim Mattox, D-5, Phil Gramm, D-6, Bill Archer, R-7, J. Marvin Leath, D-11, Jack Hightower, D-13, Joe Wyatt, D-14, Kika de la Garza, D-15, Richard White, D-16, Charles Stenholm, D-17, Kent Hance, D-19, Tom Loeffler, R-21, Ron Paul, R-22, and Martin Frost, D-24, voted "yea."

Reps. Bob Eckhardt, D-8, Jack Brooks, D-9, Jake Pickle, D-10, James Wright, D-12, Mickey Leland, D-18, and Henry Gonzalez, D-20, voted "nay."

ROLL CALL REPORT

in Plains, Ga. The bank was then run by Bert Lance, and there have been suggestions that the loans fueled Jimmy Carter's presidential campaign.

The vote came during debate on an appropriations bill (HB 4393) later passed and sent to conference with the House.

Senators voting "nay" wanted an additional FEC probe into any connection between the bank loans and the Carter presidential campaign.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D, voted "yea."

Sen. John Tower, R, voted "nay."

UNPAID STUDENT LOANS: The Senate voted, 52 for and 38 against, to block a plan for collecting some of the $2 billion now owed the government in defaulted student loans. The vote came during consideration of HR 4393 (see vote above).

Under the plan, the Internal Revenue Service would withhold income tax refunds requested by individuals who failed to repay government loans for their education. The recovery program was to have been experimental, employing 30 IRS workers, and costing $1 million.

Senators voting "nay" favored the IRS debt collection plan.

Squibb accused

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration told E.R. Squibb and Sons, Inc. Tuesday that it is violating the voluntary anti-inflation price guidelines.

The Council on Wage and Price Stability said that Squibb, one of the nation's largest pharmaceutical manufacturers, "exceeded the allowable rate of price change for the first six months of the (anti-inflation) program."

Squibb, based in Princeton, N.J., had claimed it was entitled to an exception under the guidelines, but the council denied that argument.

Squibb wanted to apply the so-called profit margin test to justify price increases during the first six months of the anti-inflation program.

But the council said the company did not submit data sufficient to use that measure and must comply with the price deceleration standard.

The deceleration clause calls for price increases a half a percentage point below the 1976-77 increase. The profit margin standard allows for profit margins no higher than the best two of the last three years.

Squibb officials were not immediately available for comment. The company may appeal the council's ruling.

Black heritage not really clear

With BOB TIEUEL

Blackness Is Knowing Your Heritage: "Dear Bob — As black people who are struggling to free ourselves from negative conditions such as racism, police harassment, drug-polluted communities, inadequate housing, unemployment, poor schooling for our children and no meaningful political voice, it is an absolute necessity to keep our correct identity so that we can unify and move as one against our common problems. Identity is the first requirement for correct political direction.

"We must clearly understand who we are, where we came from and who are our friends, who are our enemies and where are we going so that we can unify and chart a course leading to total liberation. Martin Luther King had a dream that one day we would overcome. Shall we? It seems we are the most confused human species on the face of the earth... the only people that has changed the name of its race five times.

"FIRST WE were called Nigras, but no one wanted to be called that and then someone came up with colored people. It was okay for awhile, but soon colored people sounded strange. Then the brothers came up with Negroes, and for a time we wore that name proudly. However, when King died we were on the move, right? It was revolution time. Do not call us Negroes; and some one came up with Afro-Americans. Then we found out that Afro was associated with Africa, and we didn't want any part of it.

"Now we know that we are descendants of Africa, thanks to Alex Haley, whether one cares to believe it or not.

"But wait a minute. Some of us do not want to be associated with Africa. We want to be true Americans — red, white and blue. Throw Afro-Americans the door. And the name was out when James Brown made a hit record that sold millions: 'Say it Loud, I'm Black and I'm Proud.' It was cool to be black. And there was a time in our history that to be called black meant a fight.

"BOB, WE are black people. Some of us are light enough to be white, others yellow, some brown, and some still a darker brown. Understanding that, blackness has nothing to do with color. Blackness is a state of mind. Search down deep and you will find blackness is not the way you wear your hair. It is not the clothes you wear. Blackness is your big nose and kinky hair and not being ashamed. Blackness is a sense of struggle. It is accepting your heritage and being proud. Blackness is Martin Luther King and his dream. Blackness is your sister and brother.

"As black people we must unify around our common interests on a local, regional, national and international level. We must defend each other whether we find ourselves in the neighborhood or different parts of the world. Victory will some day be sure. Our common interest should be the total liberation and progress of all our black people." (Signed, Sheila Mathews)

CHIMES: Dorothy Height, president of the National Council of Negro Women, was among several hundred top women leaders from all over the world who gathered in Israel recently for a conference on women's achievements and what they can do to help solve their countries' problems. She was emotional in her response to "Yad Vashem" the memorial to the six million Jews who died in the Holocaust of the second World War.

"We cannot work to eliminate discrimination against women but against race as well. A women's movement that gives attention to both racism and sexism can be a great power for change," Ms. Height declared. A passionate call for the end of apartheid was sounded at the final session by Sheen Duncan, president of the "Black Sash" organization and well know black activist in South Africa.

Pope's visit may bring suit by ACLU groups

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union here has joined its Boston counterpart in threatening to sue if the city uses public money to pay for the altar Pope John Paul II uses to celebrate Mass during his upcoming U.S. visit.

Frank Rizzo, Philadelphia's Roman Catholic mayor, announced Tuesday the city would finance construction of a 27-foot-high altar for the papal Mass on Oct. 3.

"The Church offered to pay for it, but I think it's our responsibility," Rizzo said in a television interview.

Shortly after the mayor's announcement on the Joel Spivak Show, a local talk program, ACLU officials announced the group would file suit against the city if public money is spent on the project.

ACLU Executive Director Hilda Silverman called the proposal an "egregious violation" of the U.S. Constitution's separation of church and state, said the group received calls within minutes of Rizzo's announcement.

A similar protest by the Massachusetts ACLU has been raised in Boston, the first of several U.S. cities the pontiff will visit.

The focus of the Boston controversy is the proposed construction of two platforms to hold the altar and a 300-member choral group that will participate in the Mass, which is expected to draw 500,000 persons. The total city budget for the visit, including police overtime, is $700,000.

Neither Rizzo nor the Archdiocese of Philadelphia had cost estimates for the proposed altar here.

"Whatever it is, it's well worth being available and able to spend it," Rizzo said. "It'll be an historic and proud day for the city."

Rizzo once had a personal audience in Rome with Pope Paul VI and met Pope John Paul II when the pontiff visited Philadelphia as a Polish cardinal.

"Very few times in anyone's life do they have the opportunity to meet a pope, regardless of what their religion is," Rizzo said of the upcoming visit. He scoffed at the threatened ACLU suit.

"That wouldn't bother me too much," he said. "They've sued me so many times and they haven't won one yet."

Ms. Silverman had different thoughts. "I don't know why he would say we haven't won any suits," she said. "We've won many cases against the city of Philadelphia. One of them was just a couple of weeks ago."

That decision involved access to internal police documents.

Gambling den raid nets three arrests

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Federal, state and local law enforcement officers raided a high-stakes gambling operation that one official says he believes was linked to two operations closed last January in Gregg County.

George Sidney Lambert, 56, of Tyler, was arrested and charged with promotion of gambling after the raid early Tuesday. Justice of the Peace Mrs. Leon Hicks, who issued search warrants for the raid, set a $5,000 bond for Lambert.

Denise Maxine Bailey was charged with possession of narcotics, and an unidentified man was arrested on an outstanding traffic warrant. Ms. Bailey was released on a $500 bond.

Smith County District Attorney Hunter Brush said he believes one or more of the 20 persons in the gambling house when it was raided had been involved with two Gregg County operations.

He said persons at the house were from Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas and were known to law enforcement officers as "professional gamblers, robbers and underworld figures."

Episcopal bishops OK new prayerbooks

DENVER (AP) — By a nearly unanimous vote, the House of Bishops has approved the revised Book of Common Prayer as the official prayerbook of the Episcopal Church.

But the issue — which has been fought over for three years in the 3-million member church — still is not settled as the 66th General Convention enters its third working day today.

The convention's other chamber, the House of Deputies, still must ratify the action by the bishops, and convention directors were uncertain when a vote in that house would be taken.

Also up for consideration by both houses are several resolutions, including one which would allow the current prayerbook, authorized in 1928, to be used in addition to the new one.

The vote in the House of Bishops approving the new book came Tuesday after 25 minutes of discussion and parliamentary procedure.

The Rev. K. Logan Jackson of Nashville, Tenn., leader of the Society of the Preservation of the Book of Common Prayer — a group opposed to revising the 1928 prayerbook — watched silently from the back of the overcrowded meeting room.

Acceptance of the new 1,001-page prayerbook has caused anger among traditionalists, who believe the current language should be preserved. The prayerbook was written originally in 16th century English and has remained mostly unchanged except for a revision in 1928.

Supporters of the revision believe new language would be easier to read and understand.

Bishop Gray Temple of South Carolina warned that "if we allow the use of the 1928 book without episcopal oversight, we are opening the door to anarchy, at least in South Carolina."

He urged support for clergymen when they are asked to settle parish disputes about the book and suggested that the presiding bishop be required to authorize such decisions.

If that approach is taken, he said, he would "most reluctantly" have to vote against ratification.

EDICTO PUBLICO

El Departamento de Energia les invita a dos juntas publicas para discutir la Declaración Sobre el Impacto Ambiental (Environmental Impact Statement) del propuesto almacenamiento de residuos radioactivos a ser construido a 26 millas al este de Carlsbad en el Condado de Eddy, Nuevo Mexico. Las fechas y direcciones en que dichas juntas se llevarán a cabo son las siguientes:

9:00 a.m., 1 de octubre de 1979	9:00 a.m., 2 de octubre de 1979
Auditorium — Founders Building	Holiday Inn
University of Texas —	200 South Linam
Permian Basin	Hobbs, New Mexico
Odessa, Texas

El Proposito de las juntas publicas es ofrecer a todas las personas interesadas la oportunidad de expresar sus opiniones sobre el propuesto proyecto y el impacto al medio ambiente que traeria la construcción de dicha obra. Comentarios expresados durante ambas juntas serán utilizados en la preparación de la Declaración Final Sobre el Impacto Ambiental.

Todas las personas y/u organizaciones que deseen participar deben obtener una copia del edicto publico publicado en el Registro Federal. Copias del edicto publico se encuentran en la dirección que se indica más adelante. Aquellos que deseen participar en las juntas publicas deberán presentar la solicitud de participación al Departamento de Energia (DOE) antes del día 21 de septiembre de 1979 a la siguiente dirección:

Mr. D. T. Schueler — DEIS Hearings
WIPP Project Office
Department of Energy
Albuquerque Operations Office
P.O. Box 5400
Albuquerque, NM 87115
Phone (505) 766-3884

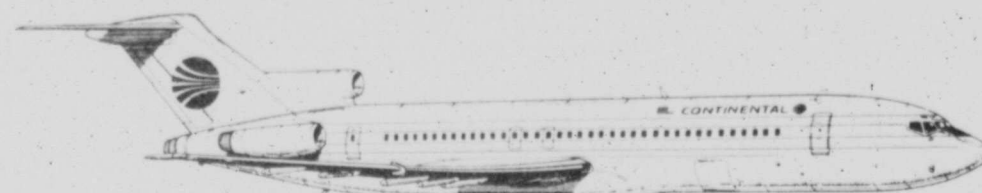

Las personas que deseen participar deben someter lo siguiente: (1) nombre y domicilio del participante y la organización a la cual pertenece si es aplicable; (2) numero de telefono de domicilio o trabajo.

Aunque no es un requisito, se pide que cada participante entregue un breve resumen del tema para discutir en las juntas. Si es posible, se debe presentar el texto completo para poder mantener un archivo completo de todos los comentarios. Cada persona que se registre para hablar será notificada por el Departamento de Energia por correo o telefono antes del día 27 de septiembre de 1979. Se dará preferencia a personas que no hayan tenido la oportunidad de hablar en las juntas anteriores.

Las personas que no se hayan registrado para hablar pueden hacerlo durante la junta; después de que todos los registrados hayan terminado sus presentaciones se permitirá la participación de los nuevos registrados si el tiempo lo permite.

Copias de la Declaración Sobre el Impacto Ambiental se puede obtener por medio del Departamento de Energia a la dirección ya mencionada.

Kennedy, political pro, unfolds his campaign in showman's manner

By WALTER R. MEARS AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — In politics as in show business, the real professional always leaves the audience wanting more. And Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is a political pro.

That's one of the reasons his 1980 campaign plans are unfolding bit by bit — a tantalizing hint here, a poker face disclaimer there.

Besides, the strategy leaves Kennedy an out. Should circumstances change, Kennedy always can say he never intended to run in 1980.

There is, after all, the small matter of an incumbent Democratic president in the way. President Carter has given no signals that he is anything but a candidate for re-election.

There is reason to believe that the option Kennedy would have preferred would bypass 1980 and make him a candidate for an open Democratic presidential nomination in 1984.

But that assumes President

Hugh Carey and Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan of New York, Kennedy expressed concern that Carter might lose to a conservative Republican.

He also is said to have told them he was worried that a Carter-led Democratic ticket might suffer wholesale defeats, particularly in the Senate. There will be 34 Senate elections next an organized write-in campaign for Kennedy.

There's a Jan. 4 filing deadline for the Massachusetts primary, but that one doesn't make much difference, since all prospective candidates for the nomination will automatically be listed on the ballot there.

What Kennedy already has going amounts to a national campaign without a national headquarters.

The whole operation got fresh impetus when he chose to tell the world that his mother and his wife have said they wouldn't object if he ran in 1980.

Kennedy followed that up by saying he still is not a candidate, and had no particular time frame for deciding when to become one.

He didn't repeat what had been his standard line: that he expected Carter to be the nominee and intended to support him.

An Analysis

Carter's re-election to a second and final term. Otherwise a new incumbent, of one party or the other, would be eligible to run four years from now.

By all accounts, Kennedy is becoming convinced that Carter's political troubles are chronic and cannot be healed in time for next year's election.

At an Aug. 9 meeting with Gov.

year, and 24 of them are for seats now held by Democratic senators.

Kennedy was quoted as telling the two New York Democrats that "by Thanksgiving I'll have a pretty good idea" as to whether he will run in 1980.

That would give him time to enter his name in the New Hampshire presidential primary, where the filing deadline is Jan. 12. There's already

St. Paul takes on problem of uniting governmental units

By LEE MITGANG AP Urban Affairs Writer

Starting this month, St. Paul, Minn., will be drawing up plans for four city projects aimed at achieving energy and economic self-sufficiency.

A lofty enough goal. But if St. Paul succeeds, it will be how the city did it — not what it did — that may well shape the way local governments across America work in the coming decade.

The four projects the city plans include a comprehensive energy program, an industrial park, a downtown renovation program to create badly needed housing, and details for future uses of the 17 miles of Mississippi River that flows through the middle of town.

Each project requires the cooperation and dollars of about half a dozen federal agencies, the state government and local groups.

To understand what is about to happen in St. Paul, imagine that New York City had been able somehow to overcome all the jealousies and conflicting goals of local groups, and of state and federal bureaucracies, and had seen everyone agree on how to rebuild the South Bronx, perhaps America's worst slum.

Now, imagine that this planning was accomplished in just two months.

On a somewhat smaller scale, this is the kind of rapid-fire planning St. Paul hopes to achieve.

According to Dick Broeker, executive assistant to Mayor George Latimer, federal and state representatives will sit down next month in a kind of "town meeting" format with city officials, local businessmen and community groups, and negotiate St. Paul's plans.

Federal negotiators have the full backing of the White House, says John Eric Stenson, a staff member of the Federal Regional Council in Chicago, which will be the voice of Washington in the talks.

"We've been told that the agencies involved will back us up — within reason," says Stenson.

The state officials have the blessing of Minnesota Gov. Albert Quie.

The mediator will be former U.S. Labor Secretary W.J. Usery.

All parties have agreed on a December deadline to complete St. Paul's plans, and commit the necessary money for the projects.

"It's a very radical departure from how government usually operates. It's what you'd have if there wasn't bureaucracy," said Broeker in a recent interview.

The experiment is based on a plan for improving local government called the "Negotiated Investment Strategy," conceived by the Charles Kettering Foundation, an Ohio-based group active for years in the urban arena.

Similar experiments are to begin shortly in two other cities: Gary, Ind., and Columbus, Ohio.

Getting federal, state and local parties to negotiate urban problems is hard enough. Making the agreements stick will be even harder. If even one party — the city council for instance — decides it wants to back out of the talks, the whole scheme could collapse.

And the real test will come after the negotiations — whether promises made by the city, state and federal governments are backed with hard dollars.

Specifically, the two-month negotiations must overcome long-standing intergovernmental conflicts. When a city wants to build an industrial park, for instance, it often grapples with complex federal rules on pollution that make the job of economic development harder.

If the experiment succeeds, it might eventually form the basis of a national urban policy built from "just the whims of Washington."

"All of us have felt that the system of delivering services has been bogging down because of increasing federal rules and regulations," says Stenson. "To a large extent, Proposition 13 fever made a lot of us think that we'd better come up with a way to get more bang for the buck."

Brochure to offer tips on how to save energy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A variety of small, inexpensive conservation measures often can cut home energy bills a total of 25 percent, the Energy Department says.

In a draft of a brochure expected to be distributed late this year to 4 million Americans, the department says its various tips "could save you 25 percent, between $100 and $250 a year, at current gas and electricity prices, on an investment of $100 or less."

Deputy Under Secretary Maxine Savitz, in testimony to a House Government Operations subcommittee, said the department has stressed energy-saving measures in the past that entail major costs, such as paying a contractor to install insulation.

Now, she said, the department will give equal emphasis to inexpensive or no-cost measures.

Leading the list of opportunities to save, the draft says, is "hot water ... both because it is an amazingly large part of household energy bills and also because the costs can be easily and cheaply reduced." A single shower, for example, often costs 15 cents, the draft says.

"We believe that your hot water costs can be cut by 50 percent, or a savings on the order of $100 and $150 a year for electrically-heated water systems, and $30 to $150 a year for gas-heated water, if you follow these four tips:"

—Install plastic flow restrictors on showers and faucets to reduce hot water usage.

—Turn down the thermostat on the hot water heater. "Anybody with a screwdriver and five minutes to spare" can do the job, the draft says.

—Add extra insulation around the water tank, a job that costs $10 in foil-backed insulation and tape.

Scheduled for a 9,800-foot bottom, it is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 20-17S-27E.

Amoco Production Co. No. 1-Z Federal Communized has been spotted as a 9,850-foot test in the Logan Draw (Morrow) area, 18 miles west of Loco Hills.

The drillsite is 2,080 feet from north and 760 feet from east lines of section 33-17S-27E.

TOM GREEN EXTENDER

Champlin Petroleum Co. of Midland has extended Canyon D oil production 1 1/2 miles southwest in the Tom Green portion of the Dove Creek multipay field, with the completion of its No. 2 A.H. Duff Estate.

The operator reported a 24-hour flowing potential of 276 barrels of 42.1-gravity oil and no water, through

Lovelady well finals

Ike Lovelady, Inc., of Midland has completed in an undersigned gas aravin Live Oak County, 12 miles southwest of Goerge West.

The well finalized for a calculated absolute open flow potential of 16,100-000 cubic feet of gas per day, from the Slick zone of the Wilcox formation.

The company controls approximately 4,500 acres in the area.

The gas-liquid ratio is 142,151-1.

The producer is the No. 1 A. Garza.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of J. M. Cosas survey, abstract 1000.

Deep wildcat set in Pecos

NAPECO INC. of Houston spotted location for a 27,000-foot wildcat 10 miles southeast of Fort Stockton in Pecos County.

There is no nearby deep production, however, the drillsite is 3/4 mile east of production in the Fort Stockton, South (Queen gas) pool which produces at 2,686 feet.

The prospect is No. 1 Centurion, 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 9, block 132, T&SL survey.

It is one and five-eighths miles southeast of Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1 Winfield which was drilled to 15,468 feet in 1951 and plugged as a dry hole.

The No. 1 Centurion also is six miles southwest of the depleted Cunningham Ranch (Morrow gas) pool which produced at 17,916 feet.

ECTOR EXPLORER

Maddox Energy Corp. of Midland No. 1 Edwards will be drilled as a 13,600-foot wildcat in Ector County, 15 miles southwest of Odessa.

Location is 3,110 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of section 44, block 43, T-3-S, T&P survey. It is two miles south of the depleted VHZ (Devonian) field which produced at 12,151 feet.

The site also is 230 feet south of Agar & Agar No. 2 Diamond Lill, a one and one-quarter-mile southwest extension to the Double H (Grayburg) field.

GAINES AREA

The Superior Oil Co. No. 1 Santa Fe is a 9,500-foot wildcat in Gaines County, three miles northwest of Seagraves.

It is 467 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 18, block C-34, psl survey and 1/2 mile southwest of a 7,210-foot failure and 2.5 miles east of the Seagraves (Siluro-Devonian) pool. Ground elevation is 3,406 feet.

COKE WILDCAT

Mark IV Energy of San Antonio announced location for a 5,500-foot wildcat in Coke County, four miles southeast of Robert Lee.

Scheduled as No. 1 Wendland Trust and others, it is 3,300 feet from south and west lines of Jose Antonio Gutierrez survey No. 22. Ground elevation is 1,865 feet.

a 3/4-inch choke and perforations from 6,624 to 6,730 feet.

The pay section was acidized with 3,250 gallons and fractured with 80,000 gallons.

The total depth is 6,805 and plugged back depth is 6,765 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 1,449-1.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 1195, TTRR survey, 14 miles southeast of Mertzon.

IRION EXTENDER

Cities Service Co. of Midland re-completed the No. 1-A Tankersley to extend 6800 Canyon oil production 1 1/2 miles east and slightly north in the Christi (6800 Canyon) field of Irion County.

A former Ellenburger opener in the Mertzon (Canyon and lower Clear Fork oil and Canyon gas) field, it completed on the pump for 11 barrels of 38.5-gravity oil and no water, through perforations from 6,493 to 6,532 feet.

The pay was washed with 1,400 gallons of mud acid and acidized with 2,250 gallons.

Total depth is 8,834 feet, and the gas-liquid ratio is 5,000-1.

Location is 2,500 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 35, GC&SF survey, abstract 130, two miles southwest of Mertzon.

Cabana Oil Corp. of Abilene announced plans to drill two outposts to Canyon reef gas and Strawn oil production in the Jan-Jerry, South-east field of Schleicher County.

Both projects are scheduled to 6,000 feet and are nine miles east-northeast of Eldorado.

Scheduled No. 15-1 Baugh-Spence is three miles northwest of the Strawn oil opener and lone producer and 3/4-mile northwest of Canyon reef gas production and 660 feet from north and 1264 feet from east lines of section 15, block M, GH&SA survey.

Cabana's No. 4 Spence is located three miles northeast of Strawn oil production and 1,527 feet from north and slightly west of Canyon reef gas.

Wellsite is 660 feet from north and 1,194 feet from west lines of section 11, block M, GH&SA survey.

SCHLEICHER OUTPOSTS

Cabana Oil Corp. of Abilene announced plans to drill two outposts to Canyon reef gas and Strawn oil production in the Jan-Jerry, South-east field of Schleicher County.

Scheduled No. 15-1 Baugh-Spence is three miles northwest of the Strawn oil opener and lone producer and 3/4-mile northwest of Canyon reef gas production and 660 feet from north and 1264 feet from east lines of section 15, block M, GH&SA survey.

CROCKETT CONFIMER

Harrison Interests, Ltd. (formerly Dan J. Harrison Jr.) of Houston completed the No. 2-A Joe F. Bean as a 3/4-mile north extension to the Pikes Peak Draw (Canyon gas) field of Crockett County.

The operator reported a calculated absolute open flow potential of 2,300-000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 6,415 to 6,911 feet, which had been fractured with 30,100 gallons and 37,500 pounds of sand.

Location is 1,535 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 28, block UV, GC&SF survey, 10 miles northwest of Ozona.

RECOVERING LOAD THROUGH FOUR SETS OF STRAWN PERFORATIONS

recovering load through four sets of Strawn perforations from 5,346 and 5,406 feet.

REEVES PROJECTS

Gulf Oil Corp. announced locations for a pair of projects in Reeves County.

The No. 10 S. E. Ligon-State will be dug as a 7,000-foot test in the Worsham East (Cherry Canyon) pool, 17 miles southeast of Pecos.

It is one location southwest of one of the field's three wells and 1,980 feet from north and 550 feet from west lines of section 17, block 7, H&GN survey.

PECOS ACTIVITY

Sohio Natural Resources Co. No. 2-63 Canon is a new flowing well in the Yucca Butte, West (Strawn) pool of Pecos County, 12 miles northwest of Sheffield.

The operator reported a daily potential of 169 barrels of 33.1-gravity oil and not water, through 20/64- and 11/64-inch chokes. The gas-oil ratio is 2,604-1.

Completion was through perforations from 8,177 to 8,236 feet after a 5,000-gallon acid job.

Total depth is 8,681 feet, 5.5-inch pipe is set on bottom and plugged back depth is 8,594 feet.

Location is 467 feet from south and east lines of section 63, block A-2, TCR survey.

Offshore rig flips in Gulf

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Divers searched today for a man missing and believed trapped in an offshore drilling rig which flipped over as it was being towed out of Hurricane Frederic's way, officials said.

About 14 or 15 men were on the rig when the barge carrying it overturned Tuesday in the Mississippi Gulf Outlet about 40 miles south of New Orleans, said Inland Well Service Inc.

"It was coming into safe harbor due to the hurricane that's in the Gulf now," said Roland Perrin, Gulf Coast regional manager for Inland, which owned the rig.

Three men received minor injuries, but the rest — aside from the missing man — escaped unhurt, he said.

"We have divers out there now. They'll be looking until we find some evidence — until we find him, dead or alive," he said.

Coast Guard Petty Officer Kenneth Wink said the missing man was thought to be trapped in the rig.

"His crew members didn't see him end up in the water. They believe he was trapped inside the rig's berthing area," he said.

Names and home towns of the missing man and the three injured men were being withheld until their next-of-kin could be notified, Perrin said.

He would not comment on what might have caused the accident, which he said occurred about a dozen miles inland.

"We don't have a report on the cause — just that it happened," said Coast Guard Petty Officer Kenneth Wink.

Deep hole predicted

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The president of a Tulsa drilling company predicts that a 50,000-foot well will have been started by the time the next International Petroleum Exposition opens in Tulsa.

R.L. Parker, chairman of Parker Drilling Co., told a symposium at the IPE show being held this week that his firm has designed and expects to construct a rig capable of reaching that depth.

The show has been held at three-year intervals in recent years.

"We have the technology and equipment to drill to 50,000 feet," Parker said, "and about the only restrictions we'll have to contend with are geological structures."

Ward areas gain wells

Three new wells have been potential in Ward County.

Adobe Oil & Gas Corp. No. 1-19 Barstow is a new producer in the Scott Cherry Canyon pool, four miles southeast of Barstow.

The operator reported a 24-hour flowing potential of 288 barrels of 41.8-gravity oil and 432 barrels of water, through perforations from 5,887 to 5,078 feet. The flow was gauged through a 24/64-inch choke.

The pay was acidized with 3,000 gallons and fractured with 20,000 gallons.

Total depth is 6,500 feet, 5.5-inch pipe is set on bottom and plugged back depth is 6,256 feet.

Wellsite is 4,620 feet from northeast and 660 feet from southwest lines of section 33, block 33, H&TC survey.

Swearingen says election in way of energy program

By ROBERT H. REID

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — A leading U.S. oil executive charged today that Carter administration energy policy was in disarray because "we've got a bunch of amateurs running the government" whose only concern is the 1980 election.

John E. Swearingen, chief executive of Standard Oil of Indiana and board chairman of the American Petroleum Institute, told reporters Carter was attacking the oil industry to boost his re-election chances and that the strategy threatens future U.S. petroleum supplies.

"He's president of the United States, but I don't believe he's acknowledged as leader of the Democratic Party," Swearingen said. "I don't believe his energy bill is going to be enacted in the way he proposed it."

He said his first meeting with Carter's new energy secretary, Charles Duncan, had been "very friendly," but that it was unclear how much control he would have over U.S. energy policy.

"After all, he's not an oil man and he doesn't even know the jargon of the business," Swearingen said. "He's a good businessman but he has a lot of catching up to do."

Swearingen said he thought the world would have no shortage of oil and gas if political and economic considerations did not stand in the way of their development.

He also warned the unstable situation in the Middle East, particularly in Iran, threatened to interrupt the flow of oil again in coming years.

"To start with, I don't believe the revolution in Iran is over," he said. Swearingen said there were so many potential flashpoints in the Middle East that another oil cutoff was "almost a cinch."

He said the oil industry could keep Americans supplied with petroleum products for many years "but not at yesterday's prices."

Swearingen said the windfall profits tax proposed by Carter in the energy package would deprive the industry of money it needed to finance new exploration and development of oil.

Swearingen, here for the 10th World Petroleum Congress, complained that so many different people and departments in Washington wield influence on energy policy that it was difficult to develop long-range plans.

Swearingen also accused Carter of ignoring the advice of the oil industry in preparing energy policy. "It's a one-way street," he said. "By that I mean I can write letters and get no replies. And the president has not seen fit to call in people from the oil industry and seek their advice."

Swearingen said the windfall profits tax would "make it less attractive to search for oil in the United States than elsewhere" and would be "a big step in the wrong direction."

He said the tax was "a misnomer ... It's not a tax on profits, it's an excise tax on crude oil," which American consumers would wind up paying at the gasoline pumps.

Hypnotists and journalism colleges: $35 a thousand

NEW YORK (AP) — Hypnotists cost $35 a thousand, the same as periodontists, pits and quarries, and journalism colleges. Ice and roller skating rinks are a bit more — $40 per thousand.

Alvin B. Zeller will sell you all these things — or rather, he will sell you lists that contain names and addresses for individuals and companies in all these categories.

Zeller claims to have the best mailing lists around. His lists are used for a lot of things, chief among them direct mail advertising — otherwise known as "junk mail."

"We can do all sorts of things," Zeller says. "We can take urban residents and we can take farm residents... We've had calls for farmers by crop — only cotton farmers who have a thousand acres or more. We can be very pinpointed, very specific."

Indeed, Zeller's 1980-81 catalog offers more than 2,500 categories, ranging from 15 xylophone manufacturers for $20 to 2 million office workers at $50 per 1,000.

There's 35,000 millionaires, at a price of $75 per 1,000; 11,500 Jewish contributors, very large, $50 per 1,000; and 5,650 jails, prisons and reformatories, $25 per 1,000.

Zeller has been in the business for 29 years, and perhaps that's why his speech is littered with lists. For example, who buys Alvin B. Zeller lists?

"We sell largely to publishing companies, advertising agencies, manufacturers, fund-raising organizations, ordinary individual firms that have a product to sell... or somebody who has a private word to say," he said.

And where do the lists come from?

"We get them from a combination of telephone directories, we have a huge library of every trade directory, every professional directory, every roster, every membership list."

"There are medical associations that offer us lists of doctors, there are legal associations that offer us lists of lawyers, the states publish many, many lists of accountants and engineers and architects, day care centers and whatever," he said.

All of these facts are plugged into computers, to be compiled on demand. Zeller estimates his computers contain 100 million names.

"For instance, we have about 60 million names that are residential families. Now, we can break that down by income echelons... We say that carefully, because some people don't like to know that we know they're making 10-, 20- or 100-thousand dollars."

"Everybody is categorized by what they have done, by what they do, by what they buy, by where they go. We go from the small people to the large people," he said.

"We have calls from people who want Polish names in Nebraska, or Spanish names in New Mexico, or Jewish names in Miami. ... We have religious names and ethnic names, Jewish doctors and non-Jewish dentists."

There are expensive lists and cheaper lists. The most expensive are lists of investors, going

For a price, Alvin B. Zeller will sell you a list, listing almost anything from hypnotists to roller skating rinks. Zeller's 1980-81 catalogue offers more than 2,500 categories of mailing lists. (AP Laserphoto)

Strauss wins renewed commitment from Begin

JERUSALEM (AP) — U.S. Mideast envoy Robert Strauss won renewed commitment from Prime Minister Menachem Begin "to do anything possible to bring about the fulfillment" of the Camp David peace accord and met with a moderate West Bank Arab leader.

Strauss holds talks with Israeli politicians today and returns to Washington Thursday.

Begin, after his 90-minute session with Strauss Tuesday, said continued negotiations with Egypt and the United States are the only way to unravel the question of Palestinian autonomy called for in the peace agreement.

"There is now a clear determination by all those who take part in the negotiations that the Camp David agreements should be faithfully carried out," Begin told reporters after the meeting.

The prime minister appeared to refute Israeli press reports of a slowdown in negotiations on Palestinian autonomy or the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip.

"We are determined to do anything possible to bring about the fulfillment of that agreement," he said.

Strauss later met at the U.S. Consulate with Mayor Elias Freij of the West Bank town of Bethlehem, who told an Israeli radio interviewer earlier in the day he believed a confederation with Jordan would be the most acceptable way for West Bank Arabs to attain political autonomy.

But Freij, in a telephone interview, said he had told Strauss he opposed U.S.-Egyptian-Israeli autonomy talks because they would

Dave Concepcion, Cincinnati shortstop, backpedaled towards Enos Cabell of Houston in fourth inning during rundown play in Western Division National League game in Cincinnati Tuesday night. Concepcion collided with Astro pitcher Jacquin Andujar (47) and was awarded home plate as the Reds won, 9-8. (AP Laserphoto).

Reds regain lead with 9-8 win over Houston

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds lead the National League West by half a game today, but don't bet the rent that the Houston Astros aren't on top again by tomorrow. The Reds took over first place with a 9-8 victory over Houston Tuesday night, the seventh time the division lead has changed hands in two weeks.

Landry finding job not easy after two games

DALLAS (AP) — It was his 55th birthday and Tom Landry, a Virgo, was handed a horseshoe in the local newspaper. Landry broke up. "It says I need to change my lifestyle," Landry said with a hearty laugh. Landry, the National Football League's active dean of the coaching ranks, plans to keep directing the Dallas Cowboys for some time to come but his job hasn't been an easy one in the last two weeks. His defending National Conference champions are 2-0 but have impressed no one. They tied a club-high record 14 penalties last Sunday in struggling past the lowly San Francisco 49ers 21-13. This came after their bus driver got lost trying to find the stadium. And there's been the latest swirl of publicity around controversial line-backer Thomas (Hollywood) Henderson, who gave an interview to a national magazine then told his teammates and Landry he didn't mean what he said. The interview will be published in January. Two weeks before rookie Ottis Anderson of St. Louis gained almost 200 yards rushing against the proud Cowboys flex defense. And guess who is coming to town most important game we played all year." HOUSTON MANAGER Bill Virdon noted that Cincinnati still must play the Astros three games in the Astro-dome later this month. "We need to win, but if we lose tomorrow night that's hot the pennant," Virdon said. The two teams pounded out 28 hits in a game that was supposed to be a pitching duel between the Reds' Tom Seaver and Houston's J.R. Richard. The duel lasted three innings before the craziness began.

CINCINNATI SCORED four times in the fourth, the Astros scored twice in the fifth and sixth to tie, and by then both starters were gone. "It was a crazy game. There's no explaining it," said Seaver. "That will happen sometimes." Seaver left with six strikeouts to take over fourth place on the major league career strikeout list with 2,874, but Tom Hume, 10-8, was the eventual winner. The loss was charged to Joe Sambito, 7-6, the fourth of five Astro pitchers. The Reds went ahead by two in the bottom of the sixth, but Houston scored three runs in the seventh to take the lead. Cincinnati finally won it in the seventh on back-to-back homers, a two-run shot by Dave Concepcion and George Foster's 27th of the year.

this Sunday? The National Football League's No. 1 rusher, Walter Payton of the Chicago Bears, that's who. "It's got to the point where we really have to fight hard every week to stay on top," said Landry. "The other teams in the league are improving fast." Landry added "We'll find out how far along we are this Sunday. Payton is just an incredible runner." The Cowboys could have a better run defense Sunday with the return of Henderson, who was benched last week. Landry demoted Henderson last Sunday in favor of Mike Hegman after Henderson missed most of practice before the 49er game. Henderson apologized to Landry and the team last Saturday for an interview given a national magazine in which Henderson was critical of the Cowboy organization. Landry said Henderson's demotion did not stem from the article. "If Thomas Henderson works he will start," said Landry. Asked what kind of job Hegman did against the 49ers in the ragged Cowboys victory, Landry said "fair. He missed some assignments. But most of our players did."

"We got the big hits and we played good defense," said Concepcion, who reached a career high with his 15th homer of the season. "We played a lot of games this year that made this one look like a fundamental success," said Johnny Bench, referring to several mental errors. "It seems everytime these two clubs get together they either slam bang at each other or it's a very low-scoring game." In one unusual play, the Reds were awarded what at the time was the go-ahead run in the sixth on an obstruction call against Houston pitcher Joaquin Andujar when he knocked down Concepcion during a rundown between third base and home.

ASTROS SECOND baseman Rafael Landestoy had a perfect five-for-five night at the plate, including an RBI single in the seventh that gave Houston the lead until Concepcion hit his home run. Houston third baseman Enos Cabell, icing a swollen ankle, said he took the brunt of a seventh-inning collision with Bench. "He had to reach across his body for the throw and I could have killed him if I wanted to, but there wasn't any need. I was safe anyway," Cabell said. He called the game "one of the most exciting I've ever been in."

Four teams enjoy wild pennant race

By The Associated Press One would think the inescapable pressure of the pennant race would be a heavy burden for a player to bear, day in and day out. But four National League clubs seem to be enjoying every second of it. "It's a pleasure to come to work," said Pittsburgh pitcher Dave Roberts, who celebrated his 35th birthday Tuesday night with a 7-3 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals that virtually kept the Pirates first in the East. "I can't believe this team ... It's just a pleasure to watch them," said Montreal's Dan Schatzeder, the winning pitcher in the 3-2 Expos triumph which gave them a sweep of their twin-nighter with the Chicago Cubs and a share of first place with Pittsburgh in the East. "It was one of the most exciting games I've ever been in," said Houston third baseman Enos Cabell, even though the Astros dropped a wild and crazy 9-8 decision to Cincinnati and watched the Reds replace them atop the West Division. The four clubs with pennant fever left the dreariness of the season's final weeks to the non-contenders, as the Philadelphia Phillies bested the New York Mets 5-2, the San Diego Padres topped the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1 and the Atlanta Braves nipped the San Francisco Giants 2-1. The Pirates got four innings of three-hit relief from the veteran Roberts to defeat the Cardinals and retain a half-game lead over Montreal, even though the Expos — winners 14 times in their last 15 games — own first place by six one hundred-thousandths of a point. "This whole club is a different world. I see what I've been missing all my life," said Roberts, who notched his 100th career triumph. Roberts, acquired from San Francisco in the Bill Madlock deal last June, figured his role with the Pirates would be that of "Cheerleader. I knew I wouldn't get much work, and I can cheer as good as the next guy if it comes down to $30,000 in playoff money. "I can't put into words how elated I am to be here — a contending ball club, a club with a chance to win it all," said Roberts, whose previous employers — San Diego, Houston, Detroit, Chicago and San Francisco — never reached the playoffs. Willie Stargell's two-run homer was the big hit for the Pirates, who have won 13 of 17 but lost ground when the Expos swept Tuesday night. "We're making the unbelievable plays that you have to make (to win a divisional crown)," said Schatzeder, who watched Dave Cash drive in the Warren Cromartie with the winning run in the fifth inning of the nightcap. "The closer you get (to a title), the more your confidence builds up," said Expos Manager Dick Williams. "We've had it all year, even though we've had some rough stretches, but we're sky high now." Cash had five hits in the twinbill. Andre Dawson paced Montreal's 13-hit attack with three runs batted in, leading the Expos to an 8-6 triumph in the opener despite Dave Kingman's 45th homer of the year. PHILLIES 5, METS 2 Greg Luzinski's two-run homer in the third inning helped Philadelphia pitcher Nino Espinosa defeat his former Mets teammates for the fourth time in five decisions against them this season. PADRES 3, DODGERS 1 Bob Olchinko won for the first time since July 13, combining with Steve Mura on a six-hitter as San Diego downed Los Angeles. BRAVES 2, GIANTS 1 A seventh-inning sacrifice fly by Pepe Frias snapped a tie and lifted Atlanta over San Francisco behind the combined five-hit pitching of Larry McWilliams and Joey McLaughlin.

Yastrzemski finds getting 3,000th hit very difficult

By The Associated Press Carl Yastrzemski will get his 3,000th major league hit today ... or Thursday ... or the day after ... but he will get it. "I never thought one hit would be so hard to get," the Boston slugger said Tuesday night after failing for the second straight game to become the first player in American League history to have 3,000 hits and 400 home runs. But Reggie Jackson of the New York Yankees isn't worried. "You know as well as I do he's going to get his 3,000th hit as sure as the sun's going to come up," Jackson said of Yastrzemski. "As long as he doesn't get upset and start pushing." Yastrzemski went hitless in three official at-bats against former teammate Luis Tiant and relievers Ron Davis and Rich Gossage as the Yankees defeated the Boston Red Sox 8-3. He walked — his first base on balls since Aug. 13, 45 games ago — popped to second baseman Willie Randolph in shallow center field, flied to right and fouled to catcher Jerry Narron. "The law of percentages is on my side," Yastrzemski said. "I'm not being given a chance to think of anything else. I've had very few hitter's pitches to hit. I've been getting pitcher's pitches. I want to get it over with." Even the Yankee starter, Tiant, is pulling for the Red Sox veteran. "I want him to get it but not against me," Tiant said. "He deserves it. I like him as a player, as a human, as a friend. I'm proud of the man."

In other AL games Tuesday, Toronto stopped Baltimore 3-1, Detroit stomped Cleveland 14-1, Milwaukee blanked Oakland 5-0, Chicago slipped by California 8-7, Minnesota downed Kansas City 3-1 and Texas defeated Seattle 5-2. Ironically, Yastrzemski's error in the eighth inning allowed the winning runs to score as Boston suffered its eighth loss in its last 10 games. Trailing 3-2, the Yankees tied the score on Jackson's eighth-inning double. Then, with the bases loaded, Yaz, playing first, fielded a grounder by Graig Nettles and tried for the force at home, throwing the ball past catcher Mike O'Berry. Jackson then sewed up New York's triumph with a two-run homer in the ninth inning. Brewers 5, A's 0 Cecil Cooper smashed his 22nd homer and added a sacrifice fly to lead Milwaukee over Oakland. Jim Slaton, 14-8, scattered five hits for the Brewers, who broke a four-game losing streak. The loser was Matt Keough, 1-15, who had lost 18 decisions in succession until he beat the Brewers in Oakland last Wednesday. Blue Jays 3, Orioles 1 Tom Underwood scattered nine hits and Rico Carty cracked his 10th home run of the season as the Blue Jays defeated Baltimore, snapping Toronto's 15-game winless streak against the Orioles. Underwood was the winner in Toronto's last victory over the Orioles on Aug. 8, 1978. Alfredo Griffin had three hits for Toronto, which also snapped a seven-game losing string. Tigers 14, Indians 1 Jason Thompson doubled home three runs as Detroit exploded for eight runs in the first inning, then slammed an eighth-inning homer to lead the Tigers over Cleveland. The eight runs was the most the Tigers had scored in a single inning since the fourth inning of an Aug. 30, 1975, game against the California Angels. White Sox 8, Angels 7 Jim Morrison slammed a pair of solo home runs and Alan Bannister singled home the tie-breaking run to lift Chicago over California. Don Baylor powered his 33rd homer of the season, a three-run shot, and Brian Downing added his 10th home run for the Angels. Twins 3, Royals 1 Danny Gooden had two hits, including his fourth homer of the year, and scored twice to lead Minnesota past Kansas City. Geoff Zahn, 11-6, snapped a personal three-game losing streak in getting the victory, although he needed ninth-inning help from Mike Marshall. Rangers 5, Mariners 2 Texas spoiled the major league debut of pitcher Roy Branch as rookie Billy Sample drove in two runs with a double and a single and Mickey Rivers homered to power Texas over Seattle.

Hays feels Bulldogs are for real

Midland High football coach Dennie Hays has done everything except scream. He has been trying to tell us something for weeks. Evidently, few listened. Few heard. Few dared to hope. Hays has been trying to get the point across that he has a good football team. That in itself is noteworthy in this land of the fabled District 5-4A where coaches annually try to put the monkey on someone else's back. He has been preaching the Good News — Midland High style — but the pagans just don't seem to believe. How could Midland High be that good?

People, and I think Bulldog fans too, tuned Hays out. He couldn't have drawn a crowd speaking on the steps of the courthouse. Hays' mission may be easier after last Friday night's 26-0 demolition derby win over Amarillo Tascosa. Shoot, the Bulldogs didn't score 26 points in a single game all last season and they didn't record a shutout. They didn't intimidate people either. Anyone out there listening now? HOW CAN a 4-6 team turn into a winner overnight? Well, a lot of the faces are the same and some are new, but high school kids change in a year. The bodies grow bigger, experience lends wisdom and confidence makes it work. Hays is no dummy. You have to believe first.

Quarterback Michael Feldt is no stranger, unless you take a look at him. His name is familiar, but he is a stranger. He runs like a fullback, has the speed of a sprinter and the arm of a cannon. He had potential last year, but has a 197-pound body this year. It all comes down to maturity, so it is little wonder that he rushed for 121 yards Friday while passing and running for two touchdowns. He had 76 yards rushing in the first quarter alone.

TERRY WILLIAMSON

Fullback Jeff Robnett. Linebacker Rick Ankerholz. Cornerback Pat Hickey. Guard Paul Cox. Tackles Wade Johnson and Royce Cottrell. Safety Jerry Zachery. We know the names, but they are strangers to us. They are a year older and wiser. And there were some we didn't know, but we will. There was that sophomore linebacker Curt Holcomb banging heads like he knew what he was doing. Junior guard Gary Willis opened holes for a diesel truck. Junior tackle Richard Barton looked like a veteran.

And out of the clouds came junior Billy Taylor, catching passes on both offense and defense. Showing speed of an antelope on an 85-yard interception return. He wasn't even a starter. But then again Hays doesn't take starting roles very seriously.

Anyone out there listening?

AFTER ALL, the Bulldogs were 4-6 a year ago. And this is the land where giants walk and live — Odessa Permian has magic on its side and Abilene Cooper eats human flesh for breakfast. And there was Hays talking like he had seen a vision.

TAILBACK BILLY Applin.

Atlanta Flames sign Swedish star

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Flames have signed high-scoring Swedish forward Kent Nilsson, formally of the Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association, to a multi-year National Hockey League contract. Terms of Tuesday's contract were not disclosed, Atlanta General Manager Cliff Fletcher said.

A language no stranger knows

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

BARLEY COVER, Ireland (AP) — "Is the salmon poached?" I asked the busboy at our seaside hotel in wild and wonderful West Cork. "It is not," he replied with shocked indignation.

"Sure the governor bought it down at the market this morning." I should have known from the song and my own heritage that in Ireland they speak a language that the strangers never knew. Full of flights of fancy that language is, and it falls on the ear like the melodious music of heavenly harp strings, which sometimes get entangled with the Cork. "Are the oysters fresh?" I heard an English tourist ask the waiter at a golfing hotel in County Mayo. "Indeed they are, sir," he answered in tones of truth varnished only by the twinkle in his dark eyes. "They came down on the bus this afternoon." The hotel's venerable caddy master, they tell me, once had this advice for an American lady who had hooked a half dozen golf balls into Clew Bay and left another dozen scattered about the benches on the first tee: "I think you'd do a wee bit better, madam, if you didn't lift your hind leg so much."

That evening around the polished brass stout knobs in the hotel bar one of the English visitors on "His Hols" belched forth a solution to the Ulster problem that entailed replacing the British army with Commonwealth troops from Nigeria and Malaysia. "To De-fuse the religious aspect."

"Now there's an interesting bit of utter nonsense," said the publican in one of those scabback Irish sentences that can reverse their field and score in any direction. Your London man, as they say here, tried to nod knowingly, but he couldn't. He was already decapitated. King James II was similarly scalped have this job if you paid me." The story may be apocryphal, because as Paddy himself solemnly assured me, "half the lies they tell about the Irish are completely untrue."

He took me out on the course to show me the general direction of the first hole, which was a dog's leg to the right across a brook hidden by a line of trees.

"Now take your lie on that big tree there," he said, pointing to an ancient oak that immediately put him in mind of an anecdote. "Do you know I had three Yanks playing here last week and I told them to take aim on that tree there. And hejabsers, all three of them hit it."

One of them, he told me, had a very important job in Hollywood. "He's a fil-mun maggot, like John Ford," Paddy said in tones of wondrous admiration.

Someone once asked him if the caddy business slacked off a bit when the summer tourist season came to a close. "Well, we get some Japanese in the off season," he pondered the question through knitted brows. "But you know at times it's quiet you can hear the bees belch."

on the razor's edge of Irish wit after losing his throne at the Battle of the Boyne.

Fleeing from the scene, he managed to get to Dublin and burst in on his friend, Lady Tyconell, complaining about the conduct of the Irish troops on his side. "The cowards ran," cried the king. "Indeed, your Majesty," said Lady Tyconell with a smile thinner than a rapier. "I see you won the race."

A British judge presiding over the trial of an IRA man on terrorist charges at the Old Bailey was likewise de-wigged when he interrupted an Irish lawyer's flow of native oratory on a point of law. "Surely," suggested His Worship, "your client is aware of the doctrine of 'de minimis non curat lex?'"

"I can assure you, my Lord," the Blarney Stone was rolled back with ease, "that in the remote and inhospitable hamlet where the defendant has his humble thatched cottage, it forms the sole topic of conversation."

Or as Senator Boyle Roche once told the Irish Parliament, "The cup of Ireland's troubles has been overflowing for years and it's not full yet."

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE Charity At The Table

By Alfred Sheinwold

When Los Angeles businessman Paul Miller was named chairman for the year of the United Way campaign, his bridge playing friends were not surprised. At the bridge table, at any rate, Miller knows the importance of an early donation.

Miller took the ace of spades, noting that he would lose two spades and two diamonds if he played the hand routinely. The winning line of play depended on giving the opponents more than they were entitled to.

Declarer took the ace of hearts and led a heart to the ten. Then he returned dummy's king of clubs.

UNEXPECTED TRICK

When East played low (for the best of reasons), Miller discarded a spade, muttering amiably "Live and let live."

West wasn't a bit grateful. No matter how the defense continued, Miller could draw the last trump with dummy's queen and then lead the queen and jack of clubs to discard diamonds. In all, he lost one club, one spade and one diamond.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one diamond, you respond one spade, and he then bids two notrump. The opponents pass. You hold ♠QJ109♥854♦1098♣A97. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three no-trump. Partner's jump promises 19 or 20 points in high cards, and you have seven points. You should accept the invitation since there is usually a reasonable play for game when the partnership count is 26 points.

PUBLIC HEARING

The Department of Energy (DOE) will conduct public hearings on the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) for the proposed Waste Isolation Pilot Plant (WIPP) to be located 26 miles east of Carlsbad in Eddy County, New Mexico. The dates and locations of the hearings are:

9:00 a.m. - October 1, 1979
Auditorium - Founders Building
University of Texas - Permian Basin
Odessa, Texas

9:00 a.m. - October 2, 1979
Holiday Inn
200 South Linam
Hobbs, New Mexico

The purpose of these hearings is to provide an opportunity for interested persons to express their views on the Draft Environmental Impact Statement prepared for the project. Comments received at the meetings will be addressed in the preparation of the Final Environmental Impact Statement.

Persons or organizations desiring to participate in the hearings should obtain a copy of the Notice of Public Hearings published in the Federal Register. Copies of the notice are available from the address below. To become a "full participant" in the proceedings, a notice of intent should be filed with DOE by September 21, 1979 at the following address:

Mr. D. T. Schueler - DEIS Hearings
WIPP Project Office
Department of Energy
Albuquerque Operations Office
P.O. Box 5400
Albuquerque, NM 87115
Phone (505) 766-3884

Requests to speak should include: (1) the name and address of the participant and the organization represented, if any; (2) their home or office phone number.

Although not required, participants are encouraged to provide a brief summary of their presentations with their request to speak. If possible, the full text of the presentation should be made available at the hearings so that the hearing record can accurately reflect the comments received. Each person requesting to speak will be notified by DOE of their scheduled time to speak in writing or by telephone before September 27, 1979. Priority will be given to those individuals who have not previously been afforded an opportunity to speak at previous WIPP DEIS hearings.

Individuals who did not make an advance arrangement to speak may register to speak at the hearings. After all scheduled speakers complete their presentation, an opportunity will be provided to these individuals to speak. Time for each participant will be limited depending on time available and the number of requests.

Flooded Indian city remains shambles 30 days afterward

By SANJOY HAZARIKA

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A month after a flash flood engulfed Morvi, in western India, the former princely capital on the Machhu River is still a shambles, the death toll is still rising, and more than 55,000 of its 70,000 residents are refugees or missing.

Fewer than 15,000 people are back in their homes, sharing the ruins with an army of some 1,000 relief workers from 60 government and private agencies. Debris from the flood still covers more than half of the city that once was a maharajah's scenic capital dotted with statues.

An estimated 10,000 persons are in relief camps while thousands of others have found refuge with relatives elsewhere in Gujarat state.

The state government says 1,316 bodies have been recovered and cremated. Gokulbhai Parmar, the local state legislator, estimates that 3,000 drowned when the dam 3.6 miles upriver broke and sent a 19-foot wall of water and mud over the city. A.R. Khan, directing relief operations in the region, says 20,000 could have been swept out to sea.

"The place is full of the stench of human waste and is creating a health hazard," M.K. Mistry of the Indian Express reported. "Many homes are still padlocked; the water supply has not been restored, and sanitary conditions are terrible, with clogged sewers and choked drains."

The odor is so foul in some places that the municipal sweepers and even scavengers of the Untouchable caste shun them. Everyone including visitors is inoculated against cholera.

At 8 a.m., relief workers begin a 10-hour day, clearing debris and cremating the bodies of humans and animals that are uncovered. Cleanup work is hampered because the lanes that criss-cross the city are too narrow for bulldozers and excavation machinery.

About 80 tank trucks bring the day's supply of drinking water from

Foreigners buy Texas farm lands

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Germans are coming — and the Swiss, Mexicans, French, Dutch, Canadians, Scots and others, all buying choice Texas farm and ranch land.

Since March foreigners have bought 53,002 acres of farm and ranch land in 32 counties. The land has an estimated value of nearly $27.3 million.

"There's a lot of money floating around," Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown said Monday.

Brown distributed the first official federal report on foreign investment in Texas agricultural land.

The 1978 Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act charges the U.S. Department of Agriculture with gathering information on land owned by foreigners and submitting reports to the states.

In April the Texas House killed a proposal that would have prohibited purchases of agricultural land by foreigners.

The largest investors in recent months have been West Germans, who spent more than $7.2 million for 8,456 acres, including over 1,000 acres of citrus groves in Hidalgo County.

Brown, however, expects the next wave of big buyers to be Mexican nationals, who have been involved in 12 recent transactions.

The report, which includes transfers of inherited land, shows 28 separate transactions in Hidalgo County and seven transactions each in Cameron County, also in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and Zavala County in Southwest Texas.

The largest land sale involved 14,030 acres of "pasture" in Pecos County, purchased by Alvaro Lebrija of Mexico. The most expensive sale was $3,493,023 for 9,206 acres in Delta County, bought by Sulphur Bluff Realty of the Netherlands Antilles.

Brown said the report covered the six-month period ending Aug. 1 and does not show foreign purchases prior to March.

When an estimated 93,000 acres of farm land were purchased in 1978, it was said that at that rate it would take foreigners 25 years to gain control of 1 percent of Texas' 157.9 million farm, ranch and forest acres.

However, Ed McKay of the Texas Farm Bureau has been quoted as saying foreigners already own 1 percent of Texas' farm land.

The Texas Agriculture Extension Service identified Prince Francis Joseph II of Liechtenstein as the buyer of more than 40,000 acres of Texas land last year, an area nearly 1,000 acres larger than his country.

Also, reported the Austin American-Statesman, relatives of the deposed Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza bought a 1,200-acre ranch near Waller in Southeast Texas in 1977.

The 1979 purchases in Texas total only 0.044 percent of the arable land in the state, Brown said in a statement.

"They (foreigners) are paying the going rate," said Brown, "but the sad thing is that if they sell the land they're not required to pay capital gains or income tax on the sale."

"I've got to wonder, though, when I see a Dutch couple buying land in Bowie County — who are they and why are they buying?" said Brown.

Here the counties, by area, in which foreigners have acquired land since March, with the total approximate acreage transferred and the estimated value:

Panhandle and Plains — Dallam 794 acres, $293,900; Hartley 701, $523,000; Lubbock 153, $450,000; and Kent 1,920, $102,000, inherited property.

Lower Rio Grande Valley — Cameron 1,541, $2,146,294, plus 59 acres of inherited land with no value; and Hidalgo 1,302, $2,975,537.

Individual Retirement Accounts at First Savings are the sure way to build for a secure retirement, and get a tax break at the same time.

If you're working for a company that does not have a retirement plan and you feel unprotected, then an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at First Savings is the thing for you.

With an IRA, you save for the future at the impressive current interest rate of 8% (effective annual yield 8.33%). Deduct whatever you save - up to $1500 - from your gross income, and defer every penny in taxes on your IRA until you withdraw it, normally after retiring. Then, you'll probably have less income and possibly be in a lower tax bracket.

(NOTE: There are severe penalties for withdrawals before age 59½.)

Here's an example of what an IRA can do for you. If you start an IRA at age 30, and deposit the maximum of $1500 per year until age 65, at the current interest rate, your IRA will be worth over $300,000. That's a tidy sum to start retirement, if you want to retire that young. By the way, your IRA is in addition to standard Social Security benefits. But remember, the deadline for starting or adding to your IRA is the date your taxes are due.

So stop by either First Savings office... downtown at 500 West Wall or San Miguel Square... and let the "FISCAL FITNESS PEOPLE" show you the sure way to save for retirement. It's getting later than you think...

More Soviet weapons said headed for Cuba

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Intelligence Agency has predicted a "steady flow" of new Soviet weapons to Cuba, aimed at increasing the firepower and mobility of Fidel Castro's forces.

In a heavily censored version of a report to Congress, DIA experts said, "The weapons could be used equally well in any arena."

The Pentagon's intelligence agency estimated that Russia has given Cuba more than $1.6 billion in free military aid since 1960.

"The state of readiness of the Cuban army continues to improve," the DIA said. "This is because of increased combat experience in Africa, intensified training at home and delivery of new weapons systems."

The report, given behind closed doors to a House subcommittee last April and released recently, said Russia may send Cuba bigger assault guns, mobile surface-to-surface missiles, interceptor versions of the advanced MiG-23 jet fighter, larger troop transport helicopters and additional ocean-going naval combat vessels.

The censored version of the report made only indirect references to Soviet military personnel in Cuba and said nothing about the Russian ground combat brigade there whose presence was recently confirmed by the Carter administration.

It said that Cuba's military, economic and political ties with the Soviet Union are "closer than ever" and that deliveries of Russian military equipment "greatly increased" in dollar value last year.

"Traditionally, Cuba has had to settle for older systems while other Moscow client states received more recent production," said DIA analyst Martin J. Scheina.

"Of late, however, in line with the professionalization of the military, Cuba has been taking delivery on systems comparable to those received by Moscow's other allied states."

In addition to Cuba's extensive involvement in Africa, DIA specialists reported "a noticeable increase in Cuban support of Latin American insurgents."

The report linked what it described as a "resurgence" of Cuban activity in Latin America particularly to the then-raging battle by Sandinista rebels to overthrow the Somoza regime in Nicaragua.

But it also spoke of close Cuban relations with Jamaican Prime Minister Michael Manley and of ties with Guyana.

Gary R. McClellan, a Latin American analyst for DIA, said there was evidence of Cuban "contacts in practically all of the (Caribbean) islands, either officially with the governments themselves or with the more leftist-leaning radical or Communist-oriented individuals, parties or movements."

In speaking of a Foxtrot-class diesel-powered submarine supplied by Russia earlier this year, Scheina said this sub "is an ideal vehicle for the clandestine movement of a small number of men and their equipment."

Other major new Soviet weapons listed as being supplied to Cuba include:

—New amphibious armored infantry fighting vehicles, armed with SAGGER anti-tank missiles and a 73-millimeter gun.

—Helicopter gunships that can provide close ground support for army troops.

—New Turya-class hydrofoil patrol boats that can be armed with four torpedo tubes and two guns each.

Supplements need physician's advice

Dear Dr. Solomon: I'll be a senior in high school next year and hope to do well enough on the football team to win a college athletic scholarship. Meanwhile, I've been running and lifting weights to get in condition. My question has to do with the use of vitamins and minerals. I've been buying them in the local drugstore and taking them according to the instructions on the package. My dad says they won't do me any good and could cause harm. How can they be harmful if anyone can walk in and buy them without a prescription? — Don.

Dear Don: It is also possible to buy cigarettes without a prescription, but I don't think you would say they are harmless. While vitamins and mineral dietary supplements are valuable for preventing and treating certain deficiencies, they should be taken only when a need for them has been established by a physician. Excessive doses can be harmful.

For example, doses of vitamin C in excess of 1,000 mg per day may cause kidney and bladder problems, and large doses of vitamin A can bring about acute toxicity — headache, dizziness, nausea and red and swollen skin. Similarly, some studies suggest that excessive doses of vitamin D may contribute to kidney stones and heart attacks, while too much calcium can cause kidney function to deteriorate.

The best way to insure adequate intake of essential minerals and vitamins is a well balanced, nutritionally sound diet. If you want to know if you need them, check with your physician. He can tell you which, if any, you need.

Dear Dr. Solomon: My husband has been placed on a low-cholesterol diet by his doctor. One of the directions is that he have only unsaturated fats. What is the difference between saturated and unsaturated fats, and can you give me examples of foods in each category? — Mrs. F.F.

Dear Mrs. F.: The terms "saturated," "monounsaturated" and "polyunsaturated" describe the degree to which fats are filled with hydrogen atoms. All fats have the same number of calories and contain a compound called glycerol; they are different in the degree of saturation of fatty acids, compounds which fats also contain.

Fats that are soft or liquid at room temperatures are rich in unsaturated fatty acids, either mono- or polyunsaturated or both. These include olive oil, which is largely monounsaturated, and corn, cottonseed, safflower and soybean oils, which are about half polyunsaturated.

Fats such as those contained in butter, cheese and meat, however, which are solid at room temperatures, contain mostly saturated fatty acids.

Through a process called hydrogenation, unsaturated liquid fats sometimes are made more saturated (and solid) by the addition of hydrogen. For a low-cholesterol diet, it is best to avoid these "hydrogenated" fats.

No. 5 America's energy problem is complex. This is the fifth in a series in which we will discuss each of the individual factors affecting the energy situation.

From wellhead to gas pump: No shortage of controls.

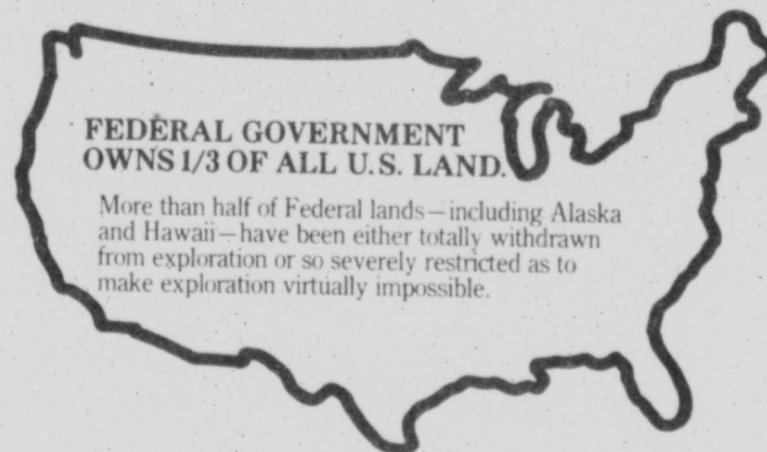

Some government controls are necessary; however, excessive controls in every phase of an oil company's activities limit efforts to develop more energy.

Controls on distribution.

Government product allocation programs are based on past consumption. Current increases or decreases in population in an area aren't adequately considered. Also, gasoline price controls actually encourage consumption.

Controls on exploration.

There are still billions of barrels of crude oil to be discovered in America. However, millions of acres have already been closed to exploration... and the U.S. Government is moving to withdraw even more land.

Controls on production.

Crude oil price controls have discouraged increased production from existing fields because costs cannot be recovered. "Phased price decontrol" will help but it's only a start.

Controls on refining.

Inflexible price controls and environmental regulations are discouraging the building or expansion of refineries simply because the enormous costs can't be recovered.

Fewer regulations — not more — are needed to help solve America's energy problem. Meanwhile, all of us must do an even better job of conserving energy.

Thank you for listening.
