Negotiations on Cuba enter 'delicate stage'

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter briefed congressional leaders today on Soviet troops in Cuba and U.S. plans to try to "alter the situation" through negotiations with the Soviet Union.

An administration official, asking that he not be named, said U.S.-Soviet talks on the controversy to date have involved a search for information by Carter rather than a quest for a solu-

This informant said new discussions with the Russians are contemplated, and that these would aim at substantive results.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance was holding his fifth meeting with Soviet ambassador Anatoly Dobrinin today. They are reported to be arranging direct talks in New York next week between Vance and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The administration informant said what he termed "phase one" of Carter's consideration of the controversy involved assessing American intelligence data and asking the Russians "a series of very specific questions" which were relayed by Gromyko and considered "at a very high level" in Moscow.

Carter's meeting with congressional leaders was unannounced and, according to one participant, signaled a turn toward a "delicate phase" in the negotiations.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, emerged from the meeting of Democratic and Republican leaders with a prediction that eventually "the Senate will require certification by the president that Soviet combat forces are not in Cuba."

Church told reporters the U.S. and Soviet governments "apparently have reached that point in negotiations" on the issue where major decisions are required.

He said the American decisions were "just being formulated." It was Church who referred to the negotia-

Cuba lifts 17-year ban on use of its water, air

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) - The U.S. Coast Guard is again able to operate in Cuban waters and airspace, officials say, following the lifting of a 17-year ban imposed by President Fidel Castro's government.

Coast Guard officials in Miami said their "understanding" with Cuba was based on humanitarian considerations and allows for cooperation in search and rescue missions.

The arrangement was made last year, they said, but kept quiet for fear of repercussions in South Florida's Cuban community, composed mainly of refugees from the communist Castro regime

The understanding resulted from two U.S.-Cuba meetings, one in Washington and one in Havana, The Fort Lauderdale News reported Wednesday in a copyright article. Following the meetings, the Coast Guard in Miami and the Cuban Border Patrol last summer opened a teletype link, the newspaper said.

Capt. Alexander Larzelere, chief of search and rescue for the Coast Guard's Seventh District in Miami, said 90 percent of the cooperative U.S.-Cuban missions have been search and rescue

U.S.-Cuban diplomatic relations ended in 1961 after Castro came to power. Since then, U.S. airliners had used Cuban airspace, but U.S. military aircraft and ships had been unwelcome.

At times, relations were so poor the Cuban Border Patrol detained American pleasure boats that strayed into Cuban waters. As recently as July 1977, a Cuban gunboat seized a Miami commercial fishing boat and held the vessel and its captain for more than a month.

The presence of Soviet troops on the island nation has put a strain on S.-Cuba relations in recent weeks, but dealings between the two cour tries have been improving. Last December, Castro agreed to free 3,500 political prisoners in monthly increments, allowing them to emigrate and also allowing exiles to visit relatives and friends in Cuba.

Larzelere said another sign of the thaw came last summer when Cuba permitted the Coast Guard to fly a Jamaica-bound helicopter on a floodrelief mission through Cuban airspace.

"That request was made and immediately approved by the Cubans,"

Larzelere said the agreement extends to law enforcement and the two countries are cooperating on drug enforcement matters. In one case, the Cubans seized a vessel suspected of carrying marijuana on information supplied by the Coast Guard, he said.

Impact of prime rate hike

Midland banks report varied results

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

While the rest of the country falls into the throes of recession, how the economic slump is affecting Midland depends upon whom one talks with at various financial institutions. New York banks have stepped up their prime interest rates to 13 1/4 percent, and economists are predicting a sharp drop in new home loans. While some lending institutions in Midland are having problems getting money for loans and others are seeing fewer applicants for new loans, a few are experiencing no problems with getting money or giving it out. Under the usury law passed in the last state Legislature and which became effective Sept. 1, Texas lending institutions can not go above a 12 percent interest rate, no matter how high it gets in the rest of the country. Currently, interest rates in Midland hover at 11 percent and that figure is regulated by the state.

T.L. Cauthen with First Savings and Loan Association said, "Regardless of what the prime rate is, we couldn't exceed 11 percent, even if the prime rate goes to 15 percent." He added there had not been a change in the number of loans going out from his institution.

THE USURY LAW which sets the ceiling at 12 percent also includes limitations, said Jerry Cox, vice president with Gibraltar Savings and Loan Association.

'The maximum interest we can charge is 2 percent above what the interest on the Treasury Bond is with the top limit being 12 percent, even if the Treasury Bond goes above that," according to Cox.

A bulletin from the Savings and Loan League in Texas reported the most recent rate on Treasury Bonds was 8.95, which means that in October , he said. the interest rate at Midland institutions can be kicked up to 10.95.

It now stands at 10% percent, Cox said. A month ago, the rate was about

682-5311

A point is 1 percent of the amount of mortgage financed, Cox added. This means on a home mortgage of $30,000. the seller would pay $300 for each

Two months ago, his institution was charging up to seven points to the seller. Now, he said, the figure raniges_from one to four points.

Mike Nance with Citizens Savings and Loan Association said interest rate at his institution is 10% percent with the buyer paying one point and the seller 5 percent of the loan amount discount.

Cox said as a result in the points being lowered, more people are willing to sell their homes. "The sellers are not having to negotiate as hard,"

BUT PEOPLE REQUESTING new home loans are not finding as much money available.

Nance attributed the shortage to the federal government's involve-ment in the money market. They are getting money out of the private sector. Funds are going to other financial markets and this cuts off the supply to the savings and loan market," he

"They (federal government) have a free hand in the market place where we don't," Nance added.

Adding to the shortage of money is a decline in the number of savings deposits, he said. A bill introduced in Congress by Vance said he saw the new formula 'merely as an extension of the role which the Sinai field mission has been playing in the past.

But other U.S. officials said privately the Americans will have a broader role than in the past, moving beyond the monitoring stations to verify or dismiss claims of treaty violations.

Initially, the American surveillance operation was supposed to close down, with the U.N. Emergency Force taking on the job.

"We are going to work together,"

Egyptian Defense Minister Kemal Hasan Ali smiled his approval. Dayan said the formula was "a practical one, the best that could be reached under the circumstances.' Vance stressed that the arrangement is an interim one - to last up to three years, and that the United States will pay only for its share of the

Another explanation due on why U.S. needs Krueger

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Senate committee called on the State Department today to explain for a second time why the appointment of an ambassador-at-large would help U.S.-Mexican relations.

Bob Krueger, the former Texas congressman nominated in June for the new position, appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee

Warren Christopher, undersecretary of state for Latin American affairs, was asked to testify in open and closed sessions today about the Carter administration's decision to appoint an ambassador-at-large. Krueger moved into State Department quarters in July to begin work as coordinator for U.S.-Mexican affairs, but he needs Senate confirmation to become ambassador-at-large. The nominee told the committee Monday that decisions about Mexico are made throughout the bureaucracy, sometimes at conflicting purposes. The ambassador who must spend most of his time in Mexico City cannot possibly supervise the Washington activities, Krueger said.

congressional salaries of $57,500 by $4,025 a year The vote came after a complicated series of parliamentary steps designed to head off another victory by opponents of the pay raise. The first step in the process came when Rep. Harold L. Volkmer, D-Mo., who at one time Wednesday voted to pass the pay proposal but changed his vote to "no" when the bill was going down to defeat, formally asked the House to reconsider the rejection. Volkmer's last-minute vote change Wednesday put him on the winning side and allowed him to offer the motion to reconsider. The House then agreed on a roll call vote of 214-193 to reconsider the pay defeat. But opponents also demanded a roll call vote on the issue of approving the pay raise bill and 47 members, three more than needed, rose in support of that request. And on the roll call vote — balloting that puts each member on record as supporting or opposing the pay raise and the legislation to which it was attached - the vote was 212-196 to kill the measure.

Volkmer again originally cast his vote in favor of the bill but changed it at the last minute to record himself as opposed.

Although the House defeated the bill, again it did not move to prohibit any further reconsideration. That means the bill remains technically alive. However, it was considered unlikely that pay supporters would try again to get the 7 percent pay hike through.

Today's reconsideration was allowed because opponents of the pay increase did not prohibit reconsideration after the House had voted 214-196

Wednesday to kill the measure. That oversight kept the bill technically alive on the House floor and allowed it to be brought up again. It was the third time in three months that the House has voted on the question of raising its own pay. The reason the bill remained alive

Four Basin service stations A Sulphur Springs farmer asked cited for gas price violations

By BILL MODISETT Staff Writer

Two service stations in Midland and two in Odessa have been cited for violations of the retail gasoline pricing regulations, according to the U.S. Department of Energy.

But spokesmen at the stations named today disputed the claim and said they have not been notified of the citations The stations in question are Ray's Chevron Service, 1101 Andrews Highway; and Village Gulf, 2110 W. Wall St.; and Chanceller's Gulf and Mabrey Gulf Service, both in Odessa.

According to the DOE, the four stations are among 63 service stations found to be over-charging by two cents or more during intensified investigations conducted between Aug. 1 and Aug. 10. In all, 171 violations were cited during that period, according to the DOE district office in Dallas. A total of 1,017 stations in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico were checked by enforcement auditors during those 10 days, the DOE But spokesmen at the four stations today disavowed any knowledge that their stations had been cited and some disputed the claim. All said they had not received notification from the OOE.

said he could not verify the citations. but he added that if the information was released by the Dallas office, it was correct.

According to Wayne Tucker of Dallas, district manager for enforcement for the DOE, investigators have audited 2,230 stations in the five states up to Sept. 1. He said the stepped up enforcement, which followed new and simplified pricing regulations, is continuing

With these simplified regulations, there is really no reason for any station operator to accidentally miscalculate his prices on the pump,' Tucker said. Under the new regulations, a service station operator bases his prices at the pump on the cost of the product, any applicable taxes, plus up to 15.4 cents per gallon gross margin.

The gross margin covers all operating expenses, including net profit, labor, rent, insurance and so forth.

Hospital's new phone system will allow dialing rooms directly

By SUSAN TOTH

People dialing Midland Memorial Hospital after midnight Friday will have to use a new number.

A new telephone system which allows direct inward dialing will go into effect at 12:01 a.m. Saturday, hospital trustees were told at their meeting

New main telephone number for the hospital after that date will be 685-1111.

Each individual telephone, including those in patient rooms, will have a four-digit extension which, when coupled with the 685 prefix, can be dialed directly without going through the main hospital switchboard.

"This new system has been in the planning stages for some 18 to 24 months now,"-hospital Administrator Wayne Ulrich noted. "We hope it will take some FDA defending itself of the load off the main switchboard and make the telephones in the hospital more convenient to use.'

The hospital realized a loss of about $71,000 during July, well over the budgeted operating loss of $33,930, according to the finance committee report. Because the average number of patients per day increased during August, hospital officials expect to show a profit for that month, Ulrich told the

On top of this, it is reported that Mrs. O'Hair and her son, Jon Garth Murray of Austin, have filed two lawsuits in federal district court in Washington to stop the pope from conducting mass on Capitol and the Washington Monument.

This is almost unbelievable. Mrs. O'Hair knows how to gain and hold the spotlight nationally through proper timing in challenging persons, organizations and events in the news.

Murray, director of the American Atheist Center at Austin, and his mother told a news conference in Austin they would lead a demonstration against the pope at use of public land for a specific Chicago's Grand Park.

Their suits say that a permit has been granted for the pope to say mass on the Washington Mall Oct. 5. They claim such use of public land is unconstitutional. ## Will Jimmy run in '80 and risk splitting the party?

WASHINGTON - Things happen very fast in Washington.

A few months ago everyone was asking: "Will Teddy Kennedy run in Now people want to know: "Will Jimmy Carter run in 1980?

At the moment it is very hard to predict. There has been a great deal of pressure on Carter to run, particularly by members of his staff. But insiders say he is reluctant at this time to announce his candidacy.

Carter has told friends, "If I challenge Kennedy in 1980 I could split the party. Besides, there are many family considerations that I have to re-

One is whether his wife Rosalynn wants Jimmy to run for President. Intimates say that Rosalynn, who has never enjoyed the give and take of national politics, would prefer that Jimmy go back into the U.S. Navy. Most of Carter's Annapolis classmates are admirals now, and Rosalynn is sure that if Jimmy would reapply for his commission he would earn his flag rank in no time.

On the other hand, some friends say that Rosalynn enjoys being First

Buchwald

Lady and much prefers the East Wing of the White House to the Grand Ballroom of the Carter Peanut Warehouse

Another family consideration that Jimmy is seriously weighing is whether, by not running, he'll have to take his daughter Amy out of the District of Columbia's school system. One of the reasons Jimmy gave for wanting to be President is that he had heard the D.C. school system was so much better than the one in Ameri-

A third family consideration Jimmy has to face up to is how his brother Billy will feel about him running for another term.

Billy has always been shy by nature and hated the limelight, and he has never cottoned to his brother being President of the United States. He was once overheard to tell Jimmy: "I'll be glad when you're out of the White House so I can get back to tending my gas station. Everyone who owns a station has been making a mint. But not me. Every time I want to go to work I get called in front of a grand jury. If you cared anything for me you'd chuck it all and get the feds and press off my back.'

The most important factor in Jimmy's decision will be how his mother feels about him running for President. Miss Lillian has yet to indicate if she will give her permission or not.

"I've tried to give Jimmy a good upbringing and teach him right from wrong," she told the Muppets on television the other night. "But the trouble with being President of the United States is that you don't know what is right or wrong. When you think you're doing right, the public says you're doing wrong. And when you're doing wrong, the public says you're doing right. I've never stood in the way of my children. So if Jimmy wants to run for President it's my duty as his mother to support him, even if it's difficult to explain to my friends whose sons are all successful in their own fields. On the other hand, if he wants to buy a cooperative apartment on Fifth Avenue in New York City, I'll go along with that too.

Most of the pressure on Carter is coming from his close advisors who keep telling him, "Some people will say it's unfair of you to challenge an incumbent senator from Massachusetts when he decides he wants to be President. But these are not ordinary times and the country needs leadership. You're the only one who can do it after what we've gone through for the past three years. Pretty soon Jimmy Carter will have to make the hardest decision of his life. Will he enter the presidential sweepstakes and risk splitting his own party by challenging Kennedy? Or will he bow out and wait another four years to run, when the Democratic nomination would be his for the

Col. Wilson E. "Pat" Speir, formerly of Midland, has announced his retirement as director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, effective Dec. 31. He cited health problems and age as reasons for his voluntary retirement. He is 62.

Speir finds it necessary to step down from the position which he has filled so capably, efficiently and admirably since 1968, but after 38 years with the department, he most certainly has earned retirement. They began dropping, that is, until a few months ago, when the major U.S. coffee companies adopted significant increases in the wholesale price of ground coffee. They took the action in response to a 20 percent hike in prices by Brazil, which grows about one-third of the world's coffee beans. The Brazilians once again blamed a frost - though admitting it was not nearly as serious as the one in 1975. But sources told our associate Gary

Coffee price rigging is costly Cohn that the price rise was primarily the coffee commercials. But the extra dollar or more per pound paid by American coffee lovers doesn't go to the Juan Valdezes of the world. Crop failures simply mean hard times for the coffee plantation

The Bogota Group's main reason for existence is to see that the price of coffee stays high even when market conditions should dictate a drop. The coffee cartel was described to us by one source as "a mini-OPEC." And, like the oil exporting countries, the Bogota Group's primary target is the American consumer.

With a multimillion-dollar slush fund, the cartel buys and sells coffee on the international commodities market to ensure that the price stays up. So whether you take one lump or two, one thing is certain: You'll keep getting your lumps from the coffee

CONDO CRUNCH: "Condominium fever," which has struck down many low-income tenants of urban apartment buildings, is now threatening the elderly and other inflationwhipped Americans in the nation's suburban mobile home parks.

Owners of many of these parks, which rent small plots of land and provide utilities to owners of mobile homes, have begun to convert their holdings to condominiums. If the residents can't come up with the $20,000 or more to buy their little lot, they must - like their apartment-renting counterparts in the cities - pack up and get out.

But city folks evicted by condo conversion have an advantage over their country cousins: They haven't invested their life savings in improvements on their apartments. The owner of a mobile home may have sunk $30,000 or more in his property Moving isn't as easy as it sounds.

Despite its name, a mobile home is not readily or cheaply moved. This is especially true of older homes, which have virtually taken root after many years at the same location. The cost of moving a mobile home to a new location can in many cases be $5,000 or more. And even then, there is often no place to go, for most trailer parks will not accept new tenants whose mobile homes are more than two or three years old. Usually the residents of mobile home parks are disorganized and helpless in the face of an owner's conversion move. But at least one park - Rancho Murieta Mobile Village near Sacramento, Calif. - has seen its tenants unite to fight the condo threat. Most of the village's mobile owners are elderly, eking out a living on Social Security or other pensions Many are handicapped. They have hired lawyers and are trying to block the proposed conversion through the zoning laws.

The final bitter irony, of course, is that even if they win, they'll lose. Thomas R. Henderson, president of the development company that plans. the conversion to condominiums, told us that if the change is not allowed, he'll just have to raise the tenants' rent on the lots.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Joseph Califano's departure from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was so abrupt he left a few mementoes behind. One of the diminutive workaholic's souvenirs, unearthed by aides to his successor, Patricia Harris, was an interesting little log book

In addition to noting all the meetings Califano had attended as HEW secretary, the log contained tips on where to stand to get the best mediacoverage, how and where to position himself for press photos, and similar publicity-conscious notations. Not for nothing was Califano nicknamed "Broadway Joe."

WASHINGTON - On the gossamer Kennedy candidacy, the last trial balloon has disappeared over the horizon. The vast cloud of dust, created by the press herd as it stampeded last week in pursuit of the senator, has settled. The sounds of cymbal and trumpet blaring from the bandwagon have faded for the moment. Now we must cover the "beat" - the unannounced, unofficial "race" between Carter and Kennedy

The first reality is that Kennedy has not announced. He has spoken in a way, however, so that others may whoop, proselytize and make waters boil. The air crackles with excitement as though a heavyweight championship fight or a World Series game is about to begin The senator's name at once stirs deep emotions which accrue polling points for him - like what plutonium does to a Geiger counter. Nostalgia, sorrow, guilt, redemption and hope all flare forth. Hard-core liberals, dismayed with Carter's moderation and seeming blandness, are invigorated at Kennedy's name. Oh, what could be, they say, and their eyes glisten at the sight of the soaring polls.

Fearful Democratic officeholders, up for reelection in 1980, and at a timewhen the nation has swung rightward. see Kennedy as their savior. They have somehow forgotten that the Kennedy coattails have pulled few souls into office.

pleasant, yet lost.

In short, the promise of Kennedy is action, vigor, victory, a restoration. But then there are the realities of what goes against Kennedy.

There is a hard core of anti-Kennedy spirit in the republic. There are those who never forgave Papa Joe, who thought Jack too cute and superficial, who spat out the word "ruthless" when speaking of Robert F. Kennedy. There is bigotry and hatred

Then there are Republicans, Independents and non-liberal Democrats who see Kennedy as a spender, as a super-programmer, as one who would turn the government away from its painful path toward fiscal responsibility and decentralization. They feel Kennedy would not deal properly with the nagging big issues — energy and inflation. So they oppose him ideologi-

Then there are people who feel injustice when they think of Kennedy. They don't like a Catholic who hasn't proven he is against abortion. They don't like his views on school busing, or his behavior at Chappaguiddick, or the way his family life has gone. They are the moralists. They see him as

Who is that forlorn, ashen-faced man puffing as he jogs up the hill, two-thirds the way through his race and his first term as well? Nobody hates him, but he is even lower in the polls than Truman and Nixon were at their glummest points.

People still see Carter as a well-intentioned, decent, hard-working family man, but also as highly fallible, an American President who just hasn't put it together.

And yet his Administration has a generally good record which includes successful trade negotiations, the monumental Egyptian-Israeli peace agreement, the absence of American blood being shed around the world and a serious attempt to reform the bureaucracy and bring our surging government under control.

But Carter has a predilection to make unnecessary trouble for himself. In an era when the media is People oriented, he staffed his White House with personalities unsuited for their appointed work. There have been too many Cabinet shuffles, too much "we're going to start all over again," as though Born Again is the Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell said his good friend trivialized his own Presidency. A President can't really enjoy a steamboat ride on the Mississippi. He shouldn't worry about killer rabbits. His mea culpas are too frequent. When he's tired from overwork - as he is — he shows poor judgment in entering marathon running races.

Given all this, it sure looks like Kennedy will run, win and become the first person in history to hold the same high office his brother did beintensify for the same purpose he has pushed Carter all along - to get-him to move more to the left and thus strengthen and salute the Kennedy political power. Besides, Carter is a determined fighter, a man who, after collapsing in a marathon race, showed up to kid the winner and to make a thumbs-up sign for himself.

Ah, it's so sweet — this thing called love...affection. And Pat Walker and Pete Llama seems to hit it off just right at the Petting Zoo at the Howard County Fair in Big Spring. (Staff Photos by Ed Todd)

BIG SPRING - Pete Llama flirts with Pat Walker, especially when she's got some goodies in hand.

She held out a dime. "This is the only thing that brings Pete," she said, as she held a shiny dime between her thumb and forefinger. "This or an apple or a girl barley and molasses. Pete, like a feline cat excited by catnip, eased up to Mrs. Walker. His head followed her full hand, which opened. Pete snacked.

Sure-footed and equally eager, Pete ambled over toward his keeper, who walked toward a center post, dropped the dime in a gum-ball machine and filled her hand with sweet feed: oats, ..

Her elusive hand began to flirt and tease and, like a rambling rollercoaster, flowed up and down, side to side. Pete followed.

His craving was satisfied for Pete and the other docile creatures were on stage under a tent. A lamb settled down near the chickens, including the wandering Polish chick, Matilda, and listened to their soothing chatter.

Turkeys trotted around, lambs and goats wandered, ducks quacked, the goose honked, Pork Chop the pig lazied around, and Cochise the pygmy goat thinks "he's a big deal." And Pete, when he was finished with Mrs. Walker's snack, just am-

"We've got Fernando Llama and Tony Llama, but that's just plain Pete," Mrs. Walker said. "Oh, he's great. He's beautiful." Pete is their father; Sissy is their mother. She and the kids were elsewhere.

And Sissy is in a "family way."
"His wife is pregnant now, whether she likes it or not," said Mrs. Walker.

She and her husband, Wayne, operate the two-troupe Petting Zoo. His contingent of friendly pets was en route to Tyler for a fair there. With their two troupes, the Walkers stage zoos at about 37 fairs across the nation each year.

And they — the animals — like the attention they get. So, too, does Pete, even though most llamas are raised for riding and hauling freight and for their milk, alpaca-like fleecy wool, hides and meat in South America - particularly in the Andes and in Peru and Bolivia.

"It (the llama) is considered the horse and cow, the pack animal and for meat and milk" in South America, Mrs. Walker said. "They're their transporation and freight (carriers)."

'When they're wild, they're like wild horses," she said. But when tame and domesticated, they're docile and affectionate, especially when there's something to eat at hand. All the barnyard animals seem contented. 'See," said Mrs. Walker, who lives just outside Odessa, where the zoo is based, "they like this because ...they don't like to be without people. They're spoiled brats. They get fed by the people all the time. They don't get abused. They get ticked off when there's only animals around."

4-H Clubs slate Fun Day events

The Midland County 4-H Clubs will hold a 4-H Information and Fun Day from 1 to 6 p.m. Saturday at the Old Wolfe Nursery Building at North A Street and Scharbauer Drive.

"We're just trying to give an overview of 4-H to the community," said Charlie Green, Midland County agricultural extension agent.

The 4-H movement, which was started in the early 1900s, initially was intended for farm children and offered farm- and ranch-related projects for youngsters ages 9 through 19.

Though that concept still is with 4-H, the program has expanded to include urban youngsters who do not have access to agriculture-related projects.

"We still have cooking, showing and sewing," said Green. But today, "There's all kinds of opportunities" from aerospace to conservation to aquatic science, wildlife, geology, photography, electronics and community development.

4-H helds young people to learn and develop useful skills, serve their community, expand their knowledge of the world about them, and enjoyed doing

4-H Fun Day, which is designed to entice youngsters into at least considering joining the organization, will offer pony rides, games and contests for the children

A homemade ice cream freeze-off will be held and a horse-grooming demonstration will be given. A display of farm animals is being arranged by Travis Harney, assistant county agent. Crafts made by 4-H members will be displayed, as

Bank bids to help solve energy pinch

SEATTLE (AP) - In an effort to save energy, Seattle First National Bank is going to pay local bus fare for any of its 7,000 employees who want it, at an annual cost of up to $500,000.

Starting Nov. 1, bank employees who want to participate will be issued bus passes in all Washington cities with public transit systems, bank spokeswoman Katle Weiss said Thursday. The passes will be valid for all bus trips, even when employees are not commuting to and from work. Ms. Weiss said it is believed to be the first time a major corporation in the United States or Canada has totally underwritten mass transit rides for workers.

Maps show early highway routings

By RON WORD

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — F'or years, Robert Mote has traveled the highways of America, following hundreds of thousands of miles of asphalt and concrete behind the wheel of a tractor-trailer rig. And Mote, 44, an Indiana native, has another interest that spans miles of highways - some that have never been built.

Mote has a collection of maps: from 60 to 64 years old detailing plans of the National Highways Association for building a nationwide system of roads.

The ex-truck driver claims a number of national museums are interested in his seven maps, and he says the collection has been appraised at $180,000. Mote says the Smithsonian Institution has nine of the maps made by the old NHA, but does not have the Value aside, the maps, found in the cellar of an old house in California, certainly are an interesting footnote to the country's transportation history.

One map, for instance, details a proposed coast-tocoast road called "The Indian Trail." The map, dated 1916, shows a road from Los. Angeles, Calif., to Columbia, S.C., with branches from there to Charleston, S.C., and Wilmington, N.C.

The map includes details about the National Highways Administration, which Mote says is defunct. He says he's found few people who have even heard of the organization.

At the bottom of the "Indian Trail" map are two squares dealing with two early 20th-century issues in the news today — national defense and the Panama

One box, on the map printed just before America's entry into World War I, reads "PIREPAREDNESS. We are for it. Some for War! Some for Defense!! Some for Peace!!! There can be no real Preparedness for War, for Defense or for Peace without NATIONAL HIGHWAYS AND GOOD ROADS

EVERYWHERE." The Panama Canal box reads, "NATIONAL HIGHWAYS vs PANAMA CANAL. You built and own the second. Do you want to own the first? They cost the same. How many people does the second serve? ## Air Force bus overturns, injuring 15 airmen

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) -An Air Force charter bus skidded off a rain-slick highway and overturned near here Wednesday injuring 15 airmen, none of them seriously

A second bus, also loaded with airmen bound for Shepp ard Air Force Base, left the road to a void a collision and crashed through a fence. There were no injuries on the second bus.

The injured airmen were admitted to Sheppard Air Force Base Regional Hospital for observation. "There were a lot of people cut up badly. Every way you looked you could see people bleeding," said Airman James Brook, 17. Passengers said the first bus rolled over on its side then slid into a mound of dirt, uprighting itself.

"I heard people sc ream, then the bus swerved off the road and flipped. over on its side. We could hear glass breaking and metal scraping along the road," said Airman Rick Huntsinger, 18

He said the bus slid a short distance before hitting a mound of dirt, tilting it back on its wheels.

Another airman, Cheryl Easley, 23, of Pensacola, Fla., said she was asleep when the accident occurred. 'The bus swerved and woke me up. I heard screams and all I could see was grass. I just crossed my fingers and hung on," she said.

The bus was northbound on U.S. 281 about a mile and a half south of Scotland.

The spokesman said the airmen graduated from Lackland Air Force Base Training Center on Monday. They were en route to Sheppard to start their technical training, he

Department of Public Safety Trooper Bruce Tabor said the driver apparently lost control of the bus on the wet pavement, fishtailed, and went off the right side of the highway.

Carter officials still optimistic about economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carter administration officials remain optimistic about the nation's economy despite record-high interest rates that may help slow inflation but deepen a recession.

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller reiterated Wednesday his belief that the recession is half over and should end by the second quarter of next year. He told a meeting of the National Conference of State Legislatures that U.S. economic activity, which declined in the second quarter, may show no growth from July through September and decline again in the fourth quarter. But, he added, he expects recovery early next year. Meantime, White House press secretary Jody Powell told reporters the administration expects inflation to come down from its current 13 percent annual rate by the end of the year.

He added, however, that even with some moderation, the inflation rate for 1979 will end up "unacceptably high.

The comments came as the Chemical Bank of New York City, the nation's sixth largest commercial bank, raised its prime rate to a record 13.25 percent Bank officials who asked that their names not be used predicted other commercial banks would follow A higher prime rate, which is the interest charged a bank's most credit-worthy business customers, tends to discourage borrowing. This, in turn, can result in less industrial production, slower sales and declining national economic output.

Chemical Bank's action followed by less than a day the Federal Reserve Board's decision to raise its discount rate half a percentage point to a record 11

The discount rate, which is what commercial banks must pay for funds borrowed from Federal Reserve banks, was raised to bring it in line with other short-term interest rates and to discourage bank lending, which has been at a pace the Federal Reserve considers inflationary.

Critics of the central bank's policy suggest the increases may help reduce inflation by making less money available to business and consumers. But it also could increase the severity of the recession believed to have begun in the second quarter this year, they say.

The Commerce Department reported Wednesday that the nation's inflation-adjusted gross national product - the value of all goods and services - fell at an annual rate of 2.3 percent in the second quarter. The figure was a slight improvement from the previously reported 2.4 percent decline for the same period. A recession traditionally has been defined as two consecutive quarters of decline in the gross national

Security measures can halt many white-collar crimes

Much white-collar crime could be prevented through business-security measures and through thorough background checking of corporate people in management, Chief Deputy George Thompson of the Midland County Sheriff Office told members of the Downtown Midland Lions Club Wednesday noon in Lower-echelon workers generally are screened far more thoroughly in the hiring process than are management people, who often are hired for their money-making and people-motivating abilities, he said. "When you hire personnel, you need to check them out, especially management personnel, because they are the ones who could 'do you in,' " he Considerable funds are lost through embezzlement and fraud, Thompson said. In addition, since corporate people are subject to kidnapping and ransom, they should be evaluated as to their ability to hold up the stress of a kidnapping, he noted. Often, industry and business owners and executives start screenings and ed by Assistant District start bringing in security forces and rigging up crime-detection devices "too_ late" - after the perpetration of major crimes, he said. "People don't want to put out any money for security until something bad happens to them," Thompson said. He said employers don't view "employee thief and misuse of equipment...as a threat, as a major problem, until they add it all together.

"They get security too late," he said. Thompson suggested that businesses and industries use "preventive-type" measures to discourage white-collar crime.

'You don't see what you can gain from it until you look at the overall been selected Monday. picture and see what it (crime) is costing you.'

Thompson said anyone can lodge a complaint against anyone with the county attorney or district attorney

Thompson also cited the value of patrol dogs. 'Those dogs are invaluable as far as the search process goes in a building.

They're like 10 men," he said of the detection powers of a single police dog. "They're excellent on burglary calls, prowler calls," he said, and are good at sniffing out narcotics. Thompson also praised veteran law-enforcement officer Constable Jack mail-in ballots from tra-"Jack is an ol' boy...who knows mothers and fathers, who married who, which school they went to. I think he knows everybody in Midland County. Thompson said the Midland County Sheriff Department will offer advice

The sheriff's department is available for emergency services, he added. 'The Midland County Sheriff's Office has jurisdiction throughout Midland County, and we do work well with the Midland Police Department in investigation of law-enforcement matters," Thompson said. "We (sheriff's office) have investigative jurisdiction throughout the county - concurrent jurisdiction with the city police within the city

Only one chief in White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kit Dobelle does not consider herself an equal of White House chief of staff Hamilton Jordan, even though they earn the same salary and have similar titles.

There was some surprise when Mrs. Dobelle, former chief of protocol, was named to the newly created position in August with the same $56,000-ayear salary and nearly the same title as President Carter's top aide. Jordan, after all, supervises 350 people compared with Mrs. Dobelle's 19.

But she said it was the press, not the White House, that referred to her as chief of staff. She prefers the title, 'staff director.'

"I-really feel that everyone in the White House works for the president," Mrs. Dobelle said. "I think there has been too much concern about the separation between the East Wing and the West Wing."

The East Wing of the White House is where Rosalynn Carter and her staff of 20 have their offices. The West Wing contains the Oval Office, the president's staff and the press. The Executive Mansion, where the Carters live and entertain, is in the

It seems clear that part of the reason Mrs. Dobelle was hired was to improve the historically competitive and uneasy relations between the staffs of the president and his wife.

Making a carpet choice

By BARBARA MAYER AP Newsfeatures

The consumer who wants to make the best possible choice in carpeting should begin the process of selection before going to the store, say carpet manufacturers

It is wise to mull over before leaving home such factors as the amount and hardness of expected wear and the length of time the carpet must Carpet durability and looks are influenced by three factors: density, fiber and texture. Density is most important, since, regardless of texture or fiber, the more pile packed into a carpet's surface, the better it will wear.

The fiber chosen influences the carpet's resistance to soil, wear and crushing and determines its ease of cleaning

Texture is primarily a question of looks. Most textures are satisfactory, provided the carpet is dense enough. Some textures, however, require more care than others.

Since most purchases are trade-offs between what can be afforded and is practical compared to what is most appealing or best, consumers are liketo have some hard choices to make.

In general, one should choose the heaviest density one can afford, even if it means going to a less expensive

Wool, which has long been considered the fiber of choice in terms of looks, is now too expensive to be acceptable to many. However, manmade fibers such as nylon, polyester and acrylic have been substantially improved recently. Consequently, consumers may now choose these formerly less desired fibers with more confidence than in the past.

Nylon is the most widely used fiber

Drawbacks include the build-up of static electricity and a tendency toward pilling, which occurs when tiny, fuzzy balls of fiber become wedged between the carpet tufts.

Improved nylons which resist pilling and static-electricity buildup, are now being marketed under a variety of trade names.

Acrylic carpet, usually more ex-

DEAR ABBY

Sees pen pal, writes him off

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Eight years ago, when I was 16, began a pen-pal relationship with a boy (my age) in Liverpool, England. We corresponded faithfully, exchanged pictures, and you might say we "fell in love" through our letters.

Derek's leters indicated that he was intelligent, well-read and romantic, and I couldn't wait to meet him.

Last week he came to visit me. Abby, I can't believe he is the same person who wrote these letters. Although he LOOKS like his pictures, he is like a stranger to me. He's painfully shy. hardly ever looks me in the eye, and when he talks he stammers. I did my best to make him feel comfortable and open up, but it was useless.

Last night he said he is in love with me and wants a physical relationship. Although I expressed my love for him in my letters, I have absolutely no romantic feelings for him in person. I just can't have a physical relationship with him, Abby.

How can a person who writes so eloquently be so totally inarticulate and unappealing in person? Please tell me how to handle this. I hate to hurt him. — LET DOWN

DEAR LET DOWN: Be gentle but honest. Tell Derek that the chemistry is not right for a physical relationship. He will be hurt, but he'll be hurt few on weekends.

place called The Log Cabin in Sioux City, Iowa. What fore you serve it. stands out in my mind is not the quality of the steak (we were accustomed to top quality meat in Sioux City in those days), but the simple lemon-parsley butter sauce they served on it. Without masking the flavor of a good steak, the herbs and butter added a zing that made the best of steaks even better.

The Log Cabin is very likely no longer in existence. It is certain that the quality of steak they served in my younger days is extremely hard to find. With cattle being bred for leaner meat with less marble, I often hear the complaint, "Beef doesn't seem to have the flavor that it used to have."

Of course it doesn't. Fat is where the flavor is in meat, and the more consumer demand has gone to lean beef, the more the beef industry has gone to producing beef without much fla-

Prime beef, well marbled with flecks of fat and full of rich beefy flavor, is still around, but most of it goes to the better restaurants around the country and little is left for the retail meat markets. That's just as well, I suppose. It wouldn't sell in most markets, anyway. When people go out for a steak dinner they want a good, tender, flavorful steak When they buy a steak to take home and cook, they usually look for a lean steak. but a lean steak just won't have the flavor of one well marbled

A simple, delicious way to put some flavor back in the lean beef you buy is the same way they added a bit of flavor to even the best beef back in my youth at The Log Cabin — with a bit of butter. Even a simple patty of plain butter placed on top of a sizzling steak will add flavor as it melts and mingles with the juices from the meat. But an herb butter made especially for the purpose can work flavor-enhancing magic with meat.

Big Brothers of America founder fetes 100th birthday

CINCINNATI (AP) - Irvin Westheimer saw a boy sifting through a garbage can for food in 1903 and has since spent 76 years helping boys through the organization he founded, the Big Brothers of America Inc.

"I realized then how important it was for a fatherless child to have an adult friend to go to ball games with, to talk over problems - someone who genuinely cared about him," said Westheimer, who celebrated his 100th birthday Wednesday.

To mark his birthday, he planned to give a $100 savings bond to every baby born Wednesday in a Cincinnati hospital.

City officials dedicated a plaque commemorating the civic contributions of the former investment broker, art collector and unofficial government liaison.

The Big Brothers organization merged with Big Sisters of America in 1977. Officials said more than 160,-000 youngsters have been matched with adult companions, and the organization now has offices in 350 cities across the nation and in 18 foreign countries.

"You know, BBA is a one-on-one organization," Westheimer said. "What a wonderful thing it is when a child in a single-parent family receives an outside friend.

'I never tire of talking about it. And I guess I'm the only founder of such a huge international organization who was alive to help that organization celebrate its diamond (75th) anniversary. We did that last year."

Westheimer's first job was in his father's whiskey business in St. Louis, which he expanded in Cincinnati from the turn of the century until Prohibit-

He later became an investment broker and at one time handled all the investments for the giant Procter & Gamble Co. He officially retired when he reached 80, but continued his work with Big Brothers.

"I can't understand why I have lived so long. But the fact is I have, so I've dedicated this later part of my life to service to others," Westheimer

"I have lived a life in rectitude as nearly as possible within the limitations of mankind. I think since the good Lord wanted me to live so long he also probably wanted me to be able to account for good use of my time." Westheimer, whose wife died in 1972, has eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. He said he remains fit by eating three controlled meals a day - no sugar or salt - by exercising every morning and taking three 15-minute walks a day.

"My parents lived to celebrate their golden (50 years) wedding anniversary, as did six of their eight sons, including me," Westheimer said. "I think that's some sort of record for a

Postmaster general announces crackdown on mail order rip-offs

WASHINGTON (AP) - Saying the public loses nearly a half-billion dollars annually to mail order rip-offs, Postmaster General William F. Bolger Wednesday announced an increased enforcement program against mail fraud schemes.

'The use of the mails to swindle the American consumer has become a vicious racket that we are greatly concerned about," Bolger told a news conference.

Bolger said he was assigning 18 mail fraud investigators to work with local consumer agencies and investigative agencies to trace "closer than ever before the activities of the flyby-night swindler to better inform the public.'

The postmaster general said the investigators will be stationed in Atlanta; Austin, Texas; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Chicago; Cincinnati; Detroit; Fort Worth, Texas; Los Angeles; Memphis, Tenn.; Newark, N.J.; New York City; Philadelphia; Pittsburgh; San Francisco; Seattle; St. Louis; St. Paul, Minn., and Washington.

Bolger said he believes the new assignments will have two major benefits: making sure any operation "that smacks of mail fraud comes quickly to the attention of the public and catching more quickly "the crook who sheds his address like he sheds his real identitity when he

ahead of the law.'

Postal officials cited several recent instances of mail fraud of which consumers should be wary. In one case, a Denver company sold about $2 million in earthworm growing packages as investment opportunities, Ken Fletcher, acting chief postal inspector, said. Two officers of the company pleaded guilty earlier this month to misrepresenting the profit potential to investors, he said. In another case, Fletcher said American Consumer Inc. of Philadelphia bought ads proclaiming its pills than if you ran 14 miles a day."

Bomb letter no help to terrorists

Scientists say device 'far too complex'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The letter causing such a stir about H-bombs and national security contains no information terrorists could use and is of questionable value to nations wishing to join the nuclear club, according to a number of nuclear scientists.

Physicists acquainted with the letter by Charles Hansen, which the Justice Department says contains hydrogen bomb secrets, said Wednesday that there is no chance the information could be used by terrorists to build a nuclear blackmail device.

"There would be absolutely no use terrorists could make of this information," said Dr. Robert G. Sachs, professor of physics at the University of Chicago. "The device described would be far too complex for anyone to build, except for a nation."

A Defense Department scientist, who asked not to be named, also dismissed the possibility of an Hbomb being within reach of any terrorist group, no matter what its re-

There has been concern for some time that terrorist groups or some small countries could acquire nuclear material, such as enriched uranium or plutonium, and construct crude atomic bombs.

While acknowledging that this still is a potential threat, scientists surveyed said the more powerful and complex hydrogen bomb is beyond the reach of those without an industrial base and considerable scientific liminary inquiry" to determine whether criminal prosecution should know-how. Hansen, a Mountain View, Calif., computer programmer and amateur government effort to block magazine publication of related information.

HANSEN SAID HE researched and wrote the document because of a request by Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., for information concerning a similar article the government was trying to keep the Progressive magazine from publishing.

After publication of Hansen's letter, the Justice Department withdrew from a suit against the Progressive and the magazine says it will publish its article in the Oct. 4 issue.

However, the Justice Department and the Department of Energy contend some of the information in Hansen's letter was classified and not available through public sources.

The government has begun a "pre-

One source said Energy Department officials found significant similarities between sections of the government briefs and parts of the Hansen letter, the Post said.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Gerald Marsh, a physicist at the Argonne National Laboratory in Illinois, said he doubted anyone could use the information in Hansen's letter, which he labeled "a hodgepodge of material, some of it inaccurate."

Marsh, who reviewed the earlier Progressive article and is under court order not to discuss it, said the Hansen letter appeared to contain nothing that couldn't have come from the public domain.

'What is needed to make weapons is solid data, such as dimensions, exact configurations, weights of materials and things like that," he said. "Hansen doesn't have these kinds of

DR. ROBERT H. March, professor of physics at the University of Wis-

"The ideas would be of no use to anyone but a team of specialists, including someone with experience in fission (atomic) bombs," he continued, "and if they had this kind of experience, they would have access to the information anyway."

March said a nation such as India, which has exploded its own atomic bomb, might find some use in the Hansen information if it wanted to move up to an H-bomb.

Sachs, a former director of the government's Argonne facility, speculated that the information, if accurate, might prove useful to China, which

Kennedy says he favors 'tougher' conservation

WASHNGTON (AP) - Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said Wednesday he believes tougher energy conservation requirements would be cheaper and more turned over to his campaign leaders and serve as the effective than a major synthetic fuels development program.

The Massachusetts Democrat, in remarks to the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said he would be judging the economic impact of the Carter administration's efforts to cope with fuel

The president proposed a synfuels development program in his address to the nation in July, but the administration has since scaled down the initial $86

Kennedy has said previously his decision to challenge President Carter for the 1980 Democratic nomination, will hinge on Carter's efforts to ease the current economic situation. Wednesday, he elaborated on those concerns as they relate to en-

Kennedy organizations, registered with the Federal Election Commission, have been formed in San Antonio, Dallas and El Paso to urge the Massachusetts senator to challenge Carter for the 1980 Demofeel he has made some important contributions to cratic nomination. Similar organizations are forming in Austin and Houston.

The groups also plan to begin constructing a campaign organization, working at the precinct level to pinpoint supporters and secure delegates to the 1980 state and national conventions.

State Democratic Committeeman Richard Solo, co-chairman of the Texas for Kennedy-North Texas group in Dallas, said that if Kennedy becomes a formal candidate the organizations would then be foundation for Kennedy's Texas campaign organization. Kennedy has given indications in the past month that he might become an official candidate.

Ms. Carr said Wednesday she became convinced Kennedy would run after his family recently agreed to his candidacy. Although she acknowledged that she is a longtime Kennedy supporter, Ms. Carr said she planned to support Carter for a second term and didn't think Kennedy would run.

"I've had two problems with a Draft Kennedy program," she said. "First, I have never felt a candidate for public office should have to be drafted. I like candidates to make their own decisions. Second, I hesitated because of a keen sensitivity and respect for his family's concerns and feel-

Texan John White, the Carter-appointed Democratic national chairman, had said such a Kennedy-Carter fight would split the party and elect a Republican president. But he backed off those statements Tuesday, saying that the competition "doesn't have to" split the party.

Ms. Carr agreed, saying, "I don't intend to get in a name-calling, bloody battle. I can support President Carer's re-election if he's nominated again. I don't think there will be a falling out."

The great debate on palimony goes on

By T. LEE HUGHES

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - Live-in lovers in California are allowed to sue their former partners for a share of the wealth when the romance cools, but not so in Illinois, the state Supreme Court says. Citing the state's commitment to the institution of marriage, the Illinois Supreme Court on Wednesday barred a 39-year-old Champaign woman from seeking a divorce-type settlement from a man with whom she lived for 15 years and had three children.

The ruling is in contrast to a 1976 landmark decision in the Lee Marvin case in which the California Supreme Court ruled his former lover Michelle Triola Marvin could sue for a portion of the actor's earnings during the time they were together.

"I started this alone, and I ended it alone, and I feel very much alone right now," said Victoria L. Hewitt, who was barred from seeking a similar settlement with Robert M. Hewitt, a Champaign dentist. "I just don't have any words that wouldn't come out in tears.

Citing a new marriage and divorce law that states sary one of its purposes is to "strengthen and preserve the integrity of marriage and safeguard family relationships," the Illinois justices declared, "this seems to us another indication that public policy disfavors private contractual alternatives to marriage." They said Ms. Hewitt's claims were "unenforceable for the reason that they contravene public

Ms. Hewitt said she did not know if the decision would be appealed. Meanwhile, Hewitt's lawyers said the ruling provides an important counter-balance to the California decision.

"It's the pendulum starting to swing back the other way," said attorney Michael Rovell of Chicago. "It's the state saying...marriage is the only game in

However, Sheila Stoll Clark, president of the state chapter of the National Organization for Women, said the ruling amounted to "a warning to women that the court doesn't rule in their favor. In her suit, Ms. Hewitt sought "an equal share of the profits and properties accumulated by the parties" during the time she and Hewitt lived togeth-

She said in her suit that she became pregnant by Hewitt in 1960 when the two were college students, and that Hewitt told her that they would live as husband and wife with no formal ceremony neces-

Ms. Hewitt, who said she continues to use the dentist's surname because "it's the only last name I've known for a long time," told the court that she had financially assisted Hewitt, now 39, to establish his career and that he now earns more than $80,000 a year.

Intended target testifies as McInnis trial opens

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) - The intended target of a murder-conspiracy plot allegedly arranged by Hidalgo County District Attorney Oscar McInnis wiped away tears Wednesday as he testified McInnis once claimed to be the real father of the man's daugh-

Noe Villanueva took the witness stand in the first day of testimony at McInnis' civil disbarment trial. He returns today for further question-

The district attorney faces loss of his law license because of allegations by the State Bar of Texas that he violated professional standards of conduct.

The bar alleges McInnis harrassed Villanueva using his official capacity while representing the man's ex-wife in a civil child custody battle. The district attorney allegedly filed unfounded criminal charges against Villanueva and caused his repeated arrest merely to find the child in the custody fight, says the Bar.

McInnis allegedly tried to obtain a hit man to kill Villanueva in Reynosa, Mexico, the Bar says in another portion of his formal complaint.

"He told me Patricia (Villanueva's ex-wife) was very lovely and he asked me if I knew who she was going out with," the witness said. "He told me his daughter was very pretty." "Mr. McInnis referred to your daughter as his daughter?" asked State Bar lawyer Jerry Zunker.

"Yes," Villanueva replied. The Bar's witness said he talked with McInnis Oct. 10, 1976, after being arrested for violating a court order that gave his ex-wife custody of the

Villanueva admitted he took the child from his former spouse and went to Houston for more than a year until he was arrested on Oct. 6, 1976. After returning to Hidalgo County, he said McInnis visited him in jail and asked where the little girl was. "He said I had better start doing what he said because he wasn't going to put up with me anymore," the 27-year-old man said. Villanueva did not testify about the alleged murder-conspiracy plot, which the State Bar says took shape

McInnis claims other county officials and law enforcement officers conspired to get him out of office.

Lewis said in opening arguments that local Sheriff Brig Marmolejo got a Hidalgo County jail inmate to wear a microphone and then tricked McInnis into answering questions about the alleged plot.

Marmolejo even tried to talk to the governor about appointing one of the sheriff's "cronies" as district at torney, Lewis added.

In the disbarment suit, the jury will decide if McInnis has violated certain standards of professional conduct. If the jury agrees with the Bar's formal complaint, State District Judge Joe B. Evins will decide whether to disbar McInnis.

The longtime prosecutor, who won murder convictions over the arguments of defense attorney Percy Foreman of Houston, is suspended from office pending a separate suit to remove him from office.

Earlier state and federal charges againt McInnis of criminal murderconspiracy have been dropped.

But he still faces federal charges he lied to a grand jury about the pur-

Kozlov stopped another dancer from defecting

NEW YORK (AP) - Leonid Kozlov, the Bolshoi Ballet dancer who with his wife gained U.S. asylum this week, helped stop the defection of another member of the Soviet company, the New York Daily News

The newspaper, in today's editions, said Kozlov announced at a New York cast party early in August that ballerina Ludmilla Semenyaka was set to defect from the Soviet Union.

Miss Semenyaka, wife of leading dancer Mikhail Lavrovsky, reportedly had made up her mind to seek asylum in New York even before the 125-member Soviet ballet troupe opened its U.S. tour in New York on Aug. 1, the News said.

Kozlov apparently made the announcement to divert suspicion from himself, the newspaper said. He and his wife, Bolshoi ballerina Valentina Kozlova, were granted asylum on Monday.

The News reported that Miss Semenyaka, 27, was unhappy with the number of performances she was allowed in Moscow and had been replaced without sufficient explanation in the Bolshoi's New York opening performance of a new ballet, "The Stone Flower."

Dollar declines; Gold soars again

LONDON (AP) — The dollar spiraled downward on European money markets today as some dealers predicted a renewed crisis of confidence in the U.S. currency. Gold soared to another record of $386 in London at the close and was up more than $11 to 381.50 in Zurich. The dollar hit 11-month lows in Milan and Frankfurt and was lower in Tokyo. "The dollar is in trouble again, and it seems the rising interest rates have not been sufficient to prop it up," a Tokyo trader said.

When the Federal Reserve Board let the dollar slip against European currencies Wednes-day people became worried about having too many greenbacks on hand.'

Dealers said further uncertainty about the U.S. economy, inflation and the political climate in the United States probably all contributed to the slide. Some said massive and immediate suppolt for the dollar by the U.S. Federal Reserve would be necessary to prevent a further plunge of the dollar.

London's five major bullion houses fixed the price of gold at an all-time high fixing of $380 for the afternoon trading session. It was a jump of 10 dollars over Wednesday's close in both London and Zurich. Within an hour the price climbed another six dollars in London trading.

Consumers feeling pinch of soaring price of gold

NEW YORK (AP) - The soaring prices of gold and silver are affecting millions of people, even though the metals no longer play the key role they once did in the world's monetary system.

Tourists who use camera film are already feeling the pinch of the increases, as are buyers of jewelry and those who must have their teeth filled.

"The rising price of gold is really affecting our dental health," says Richard Resk, a vice president of Magna Labs Inc., a dental supply company. "It's going beyond the ability of a lot of people to pay.'

Resk said a gold crown, which a year ago might have used $70 worth of gold, now requires $125 of the metal Eastman Kodak Co., which uses 50 million ounces of silver a year, raised the cost of medical and dental x-ray films by 6.2 percent this week, and earlier this year boosted film prices by 6 percent.

Jewelry prices in general do not rise as fast as the price of silver and gold, because labor and design costs are important factors in the price of jewelry.

The cost of producing a simple 14-carat gold wedding band rises about 60 cents for each $1 increase in the price of gold, according to one indus-

But the jewelry trade has been affected. In Italy, there have been layoffs of workers who turned out relatively inexpensive gold chains, many of which were exported to the United States.

The price of sterling silver flatware has moved up more sharply, reflecting the higher cost of silver. At New York's Tiffany and Co., the cost of a single teaspoon in the "Faneuil" pattern is now $29.50, up from $20.50 a year ago.

Silver and gold prices have both shot up in the last year. Silver sold for $6 an ounce a year ago, but this week changed hands at above $15 an ounce. Gold. which was selling at $217 an ounce last September, sold above $380 an ounce this week before settling

Both gold and silver prices were once fixed, with the United States and other countries setting the value of their currencies in relation to the price of the

TI fixed bulkhead problems on its DC-9s three years ago

Texas International has four flights daily out of Midland Regional Airport - all on DC-9s.

The DC-9 — manufactured by McDonnell Douglas — has come under scrutiny this week after a tail section on one of the aircraft blew off Monday while in flight.

The Air Canada plane was over the North Atlantic when the incident occurred, but the craft landed safely in Boston, Mass. Scott Bourland, station agent with Texas International at Midland Regional Airport, today said the airline fixed the problems in their DC-9s about three years ago. "About three years ago, McDonnell Douglas put out a bulletin" con-cerning the rear bulkhead, said Bourland.

Mechanics put on another layer of metal, he said, which essentially means a second bulkhead.

Inspection of the Air Canada DC-9 revealed that a stress crack in the rear bulkhead caused the 10-foot-long tail section to fall off during flight. Work on the 17 aircraft - those which came under the manufacturer's bulletin - was completed in May 1976, Bourland said.

A bulletin on the DC-10 also was issued by McDonnell Douglas concerning a problem with engine mounts, he added. But the problem didn't become public until a DC-10 leaving Chicago's O'Hare Airport crashed last May, killing more than 270 persons on

After that, instructions were issued by the Federal Aviation Administration to the effect that all DC-10s were to be taken out of service and checks made of the engine mounts. Three other airlines — Continental, Braniff and Southwest — service Midland, but spokesmen for each today said they do not use DC-9s.

Haynes details '$20 million gamble'

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Defense attorney Richard Haynes today '$20 million gamble" he contends led to murder solicitation charges against Cullen Davis.

Haynes' outlines of the defense case leaned heavily on circumstances of the five-year Davis divorce granted last spring. It appeared from his statements that Haynes intends to retry at least a portion of that divorce trial in this

"We're going to sketch in the background so you can see what brought these people together and why and how," he said in his opening statement. Haynes heavily emphasized a premarital agreement between Davis and Priscilla Davis. That agreement, Haynes said, would limit Priscilla's access to the Davis fortune if the couple divorced.

Air Canada inspections following the incident dis-osed stress cracks in the bulkheads of four other closed stress cracks in the bulkheads of four other DC-9s, leading the FAA to order that all U.S. airlines inspect their DC-9s that could be subject to similar problems.

The 250 or so DC-9s not covered by the FAA order either are new, have already had their bulkheads modified or have a slightly different design with a stairway in the rear.

The inspections must be done within 10 landings, but several airlines started checking the bulkheads even before the FAA order. If problems are found, they must be fixed before the plane can fly again.

Republic Airlines finds

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A Republic Airlines spokesman said Thursday that "minute" cracks were found in a rear pressure bulkhead on two of its DC-9 passenger jets.

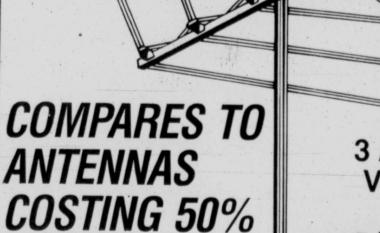

Walter Hellman, public relations manager, said the cracks were in a different area of the bulkhead than found on an Air Canada DC-9.

Republic made the inspections after the Federal Aviation Administration Wednesday issued an air worthiness directive ordering airlines with certain DC-9 models to inspect for possible cracks in the rear section.

Quake shakes central Italy

ROME (AP) — A strong earthquake followed by nearly 300 weaker tremors rattled the mountainous heart of Italy, killing at least five people, damaging buildings in dozens of towns and sending thousands of terrified citizens from their beds into the streets.

'I saw the walls trembling from floor to ceiling," said a nun operating the switchboard at the Vatican outside Rome late Wednesday. "The quake swung a door open and kept it going and banging. My chair slid under me.

Damage was concentrated near Norcia, a medieval town of 7,000 in hilly Umbria 70 miles north of Rome. All five deaths were reported in villages close to Norcia, where St. Benedict was born 14 centuries

In San Marco, three members of the same family died when their house collapsed, and police said two persons were crushed by falling debris in Chia-

Authorities evacuated the Norcia hospital, and streets in the town and villages throughout the Nerina Valley were covered with stones, bricks and fallen wall fragments.

The earthquake shook palace and church walls in Rome and the Vatican. Chandeliers swayed and mattresses slid to the floor. Dogs howled and the earth's movement set off thousands of anti-theft sirens on

Romans fled into the streets still clad in pajamas and tugging crying children. Similar scenes occurred in dozens of towns and cities, including the port of Naples, where some women took mattresses into the streets and slept in the open with Tens of thousands of people camped out overnight in Umbria, and widespread panic was cited in other areas not as severely damaged. Most of the 40,000 citizens of Rieti, halfway between Rome and Norcia, took to the streets, and long lines of cars headed for the countryside from nearby Amatrice, Castel Santa Angelo, Leonessa and Montenero.

Police reported some damage in Rome, but said there were no casualties and that architectural monuments such as the Colosseum and the Forum appeared intact. Residents of Florence said they felt the tremors but saw no damage.

In Rieti, chief city of the ancient Sabines, the earthquake knocked down battlements from 13th century town wall, and chimneys and cornices from medieval palaces.

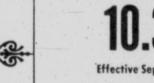

Seismologists said the first quake struck shortly. before midnight, and that nearly 300 weaker jolts were registered up to 9 a.m. today. The U.S. National Earthquake Center in Golden, Colo., put the force of the quake at 5.8 on the Richter scale.

Italian experts in Perugia, Umbria, said the epicenter was probably at Mount Tazio, 12 miles to the Fire department officials said later the city of 64,800 was in no danger and only a barn was destroyed before fire fighters beat back the blaze. "It was quite a sight to see - the fire coming up toward the town," said Ventura County Fire Capt.

Dick Perry. "It was like a wall of flames. Meanwhile, a half-dozen houses were in ashes near Goleta, in Santa Barbara County 100 miles northwest of Los Angeles, after a 4,000-acre fire roared through Eagle Canyon and into the Los Padres National Forest Fires also burned across 40,000 acres in the Angeles National Forest above Los Angeles, including 3,000 acres north of Claremont in eastern Los Angeles County

In Northern California, 8,200 acres of forest burned near Placerville, 50 miles northeast of Sacramento, and 3,000 acres went up in flames in Plumas County, 100 miles northeast of Sacramento.

The Claremont blaze, which began Wednesday, spread rapidly and for a time threatened about 50 cabins in Palmer Canyon.

Los Angeles County Fire Department spokeswo-man Faye Nagy said that 350 firefighters backed by helicopters laden with chemicals battled through brush up to 25 feet high to save structures.

"Helicopters were dropping their loads right on top of homes," she said.

Meantime, the California Division of Forestry was battling its biggest fire of the year in San Diego County as erratic winds sent flames racing across more than 5,500 acres of brush in rural Dulzura, 30 miles east of San Diego.

CDF spokeswoman Linda Donaker said shifting winds saved several mobile homes in the fire's path when the blaze broke Wednesday. No structures were destroyed and no injuries or evacuations were

Ms. Donaker said the inferno began when 15 mile-an-hour winds swept three smaller fires together. The blaze remained out of control.

Lamesa, Levelland tangle for hardluck crown on Friday

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1979

By RICHARD VINCENT Sports Writer

SECTION C

So far this schoolboy football season, things haven't gone very well for the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes.

For instance, Coach Julian Bush's squad has yet to score its first point. There have also been problems with a sometimes porous defense and the tendency to make mistakes at critical times. And to top it off, returning All-District 3-AAA defensive end and fullback James "Tank" Goolsby broke his back in last week's loss to Andrews and is gone for the cam-

Now that's pretty bad, but first you've got to hear Levelland coach Bert Gravitt.

"We've had a little tough luck," understated Gravitt, whose Lobos tangle with the Golden Tors Friday night at 8 in Lamesa.

That's putting it mildly. Starting linebacker Todd Hester and regular halfback Tony Salas will miss the fray after being banged-up in last week's 28-14 loss to Littlefield. Also, Keith Wade is doubtful.

And for all the 'Medical Center' freaks out there, returning all-district halfback Jesse Sanchez was lost for the season when he broke his collarbone. Hey, and who could forget the two reserve halfbacks, tight end and tackle that are on the shelf.

Although on the surface this game looks like the Battle of Blue Cross, it could be an interesting affair. For starters, this will be Lamesa's first chance to play a team close to their ability level. Pecos, which bombed the Tors 26-0, and .Andrews, which thumped Lamesa 30-0, both overpowered Bush's outfit.

'We've played two good teams," said Bush via telephone Wednesday. "Our kids have got a good attitude and they've given us every effort. We're just having a tough time getting the football in the end zone.

"We're fixin' to get a string of people we can lineup with on even terms with the next eight teams on our schedule. They're (Levelland) closer to being like us. I'm not downgrading Levelland. You've got to feel that way when you've got people like Pecos and Andrews on the sche-

Without Goolsby, quarterback Joey Froman will likely be called upon to carry the offensive load. Against Pecos, the Tor offense sputtered for 59 yards while against Andrews, Lamesa managed only 79 offensive yards. "They've played two tough football teams and I think at times they've played well," said Gravitt. "...it's turnovers that have hurt them..."

Levelland has had its ups and downs. "We've played well early in the game," said Gravitt, whose troops defeated Brownfield 14-13 in their opener. "We haven't been able to sustain drives late in the game. We've got to eliminate our mis-

Despite the adversity that hit his team and a recent rash of the stomach virus that's bothered them, Bush remained upbeat.

'We showed quite a bit of improvement on defense this last game and we hope to continue with that. We've got to move the football, you've got to do that to win any ballgame but we've got to achieve some consistency," he

"Our problems all stem from one thing — we've got a varsity with five seniors." continued Bush. "The rest of the kids are sophomores and juniors that haven't played and they're taking their lumps but are improving. The main battle we're fightin' is one of confidence. I wish we could win

IN ANOTHER area battle on tap for Friday, Andrews will try to remain unbeaten when Seminole visits the Mustang Bowl for an 8 p.m. encounter. The Mustangs are cranking-out offensive yardage at a rate of 379 lowing 117 yards an outing. They've yielded only six points in two games.

Sophomore quarterback Keith Brooks directs the Mustang offense. He's passed for 209 yards and four touchdowns, hitting nearly half of his attempts.

Undefeated Stanton of District 5-A travels to District 6-A McCamey, 1-1, for an 8 p.m. tussle of area units. Stanton has had little trouble to date offensively or defensively, last week gaining 375 yards in a 19-7 win over Coahoma. On the other hand, McCamey, crippled by injury and sickness, was drubbed 21-0 by Reagan County and must have all hands healthy to stay with the potentially explosive CRANE of District 7-AA will try to raise its record from 1-1 when the Golden Cranes travel to Coahoma for an 8 p.m. assignment. Last week, Crane's defense sparkled in a 7-3 vic-steps a game while their defense tory over Marfa. Coach Mike Patter-ranks second in District 2-AAA, alson obviously wants more offensive production this go-round from his charges, who rank last in district offensive statistics while placing second on defense.

Rankin of District 6-A will be gunning for its second straight victory and the opponent will be Class B Imperial in an 8 p.m. struggle on Red Devil turf. Putting it mildly, the Red Devils were sharp last week enroute to a 58-0 massacre of Sanderson. Rankin's traditionally hard-hitting de-fense is ranked first in the loop with a stingy average of 68 yards allowed per contest. And Dwayne Turner's group is starting to untrack their offense, which is averaging 310 yards

Also on the slate, Reagan County bids to stay unbeaten when the Owls host pesky Iraan at 8 p.m. The Owls were most impressive on both sides of the football against McCamey and will have to be on their toes against LUBBOCK --- It's a battle of two undeaten Class AAAA teams Friday.

Coach Dennie Hays sends his Midland Bulldogs against James Odom's Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen in a 7:30 p.m. kickoff Friday at Lowery Field.

Monterey owns victories over Class AAA Canyon and Wichita Falls Rider by scores of 35-7 and the baseball score of 5-0 while Midland has polished off Amarillo Tascosa, 26-0 and El Paso Eastwood 21-14, setting up the showdown between the undefeated teams.

Both Midland and Monterey are improved over last year and Friday night's game should be a dandy as Midland prepares for its District 5-4A opener in two weeks against Odessa Permian in Memorial Stadium, Oct. 5 and that game, by the way, will be the Purple Pack's 1979 homecoming game with the Pan-

Hays is a little concerned over the fact that his Bulldogs have not really put together four full quarters in their first two games. "We seem to get a little overconfident or seem to relax too much in the second half and we need to overcome that, "said

Odom, meanwhile, is pleased with the improvement over last vear's team which lost out to powerful Plainview in the District 4-4A race. "We should contend with Plainview and Lubbock Coronado this year, but our main concern right now is Midland. The Bulldogs have a great quarterback in Michael Feldt and have good overall team speed which is something we don't have again this year. said Odom.

Triggering the Plainsmen attack is 6-foot-5 inch quarterback Kent Potts, a 195-pound senior who both Midland and Lee fans remember even more in baseball. Joining Potts in the Monterey backfield are fullback Dwayne Smith, tailback Willie Johnson and wingback Rick Pinkerton, another gifted athlete in baseball too. Smith is a 175-pound senior while Johnson, who rushed for 105 yards against Canyon, is also a 175pound senior and Pinketon is an 180-pound senior, giving the Plainsmen some experience in their backfield this season. Strong tackle Kelly Carnes (235) and tight end Mack Tatum (205), anchor down an alwaysbig Plainsmen line along with strong guard Brad Sandlun

Potts goes both ways in also playing defensive end and Odom has been pleased with the play of his defensive unit in it s first three games. In the Canyon game, Monterey held the Panhandle team to no first downs and five yards total offense which pleased Odom to no end and they blanked Rider with a field goal and safety, all in the final period last week.

Rick Ankerholz, a 170-pound senior that hits and plays like a 190-pounder, leads the Bulldog defense which got a pretty good test from Eastwood last week. especially in the passing department. Jerry Dedrick (200) junior middle guard, stood out on defense along with Ankerholz in El Paso in a game that really shoudln't have been that close. Last year, Monterey took a narrow 17-14 victory in a game that saw five Midland starters on the sidleline with injuries. We were looking for players in that one and I sure am happy that this year, we go into this game in much better physical shape," said Hays. Felt missed the Monterey game last year with a broken leg.

'We feel like we will have our hands full with Midland, because of their speed this year. ' said Odom. Odom went on to say that the Bulldogs have a good outfit this year.

· Potts is a gifted athlete with maybe more speed than Ron Reeves of two years ago, but Odom doesn't rate him in the class with Reeves who has started for Texas Tech last year and the first two games this year as a sophomore.

"We lost three top defensive starters before we even played a game and that has hurt us some, but I feel like the defense is coming along, " said Odom.

Hays is also happy with his defense and the play of both units to date. "We want to win Friday so that we can take a 3-0 record into the Permian game had also have some momentum for the Panthers, " added

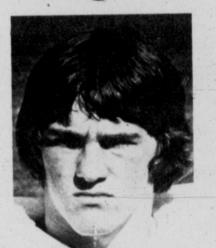

Feldt will start at quarterback for the Tall City team with fullback Jeff Robnett, tailback Billy Applin and wingback Russell Hays rouding out the backfield. The line will include Pat Hickey and Bill Young at the end; th Richard Barton and David Vinson, a pair of juniors, at the tackle slots. The guards will include Paul Cox and Gary Willis with Steve Mills over the ball at

Young and Cox start at ends on defense with Wade Johnson (235) and Royce Cottrell (228) at the tackles along with Dedrick

The linebackers will include Ankerholz and Carl Holcomb or Lance Langford, a junior who has been held out of the lineup after a slow healing processs following shoulder surgery. The cornerbacks will be Hickey and Hays with Jerry Zachery and Mark Hewitt, another pair of juniors, at the safety slots.

Bengals' Thompson may use flak jacket

CINCINNATI (AP) - Rookie quarterback Jack Thompson is practicing this week wearing a "flak jacket" similar to the one spurned by Ken Anderson last week before he suffered a back injury.

"It's kind of cumbersome," said Thompson. He said he didn't know if he would wear it on Sunday in the game with the Houston Oilers.

gs tace tough State tackle tandem

BY RALPH BERNSTEIN

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) -Mention the subject of Penn State's football defense and the names of Bruce Clark and Matt Millen immediately will arise

Clark and Millen are boosted as the best defensive tackle tandem in college football.

The two are expected to key the defense again Saturday when Penn State meets Texas A&M in search of its second triumph of the season. The Nittany Lions destroyed Rutgers 45-10 in last Saturday's opener.

Neither Clark nor Millen, however, is the team's leading tackler.

Meet linebacker Lance Mehl. Mehl led the team in tackles last year and he picked up against Rutgers just where he left off last season. He had eight unassisted and four assisted tackles, including three quarterback sacks. Mehl says he does not resent the publicity given to Clark and Millen. He says Clark and Millen virtually destroy the opposing offensive line, leaving him free to wrap up the ball carrier, or the quarterback.

Mehl is a 6-foot-3.5 inch senior from Bellaire, Ohio, and the Lions' defensive captain.

He is modest. "My play was okay, but I did miss a few tackles," Mehl said of Rutgers game. He missed very few

Mehl had 96 tackles on last year's 11-1 team, including 11 solos and six assisted in the 14-7 Sugar Bowl loss to

Penn State coach Joe Paterno believes he has another gem at what pro scouts refer to as "Linebacker U." He recently gave Mehl the supreme compliment.

"Lance is as good an inside linebacker as we have ever had at Penn State. He is always around the football," Paterno said. "He is big, strong, has good range and plays with intelligence and poise.'

Overall, Paterno was not overjoyed with Penn State's performance against Rutgers. He believes the team needs a lot of improvement to beat Texas A&M although the Aggies are winless with an 18-17 loss to Brigham Young and a 17-7 defeat by Paterno was pleased with the performance of quarterback Dayle Tate, the kicking game and the new secondary. He had to like the performance of freshman running back Curt Warner, who gained 281 yards total rushing, pass catching and returning kicks.

Herb Menhardt kicked two field goals and all the conversions against Rutgers, while freshman Ralph Giacomarro averaged 41 yards on punts. Only one was returned, for six

The rebuilt offensive line did a good job of opening holes as Penn State gained more than 300 yards on the ground. The Aggies feature Curtis Dickey on offense. Dickey is a 205 pound running back who has gained 221 vards in two games. Quarterback Mike Mosley has completed 17 of 27 passes for 193 yards and he has not been intercepted.

Bench at best in heat of good fight

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

It doesn't take much to get Johnny Bench excited. Just throw him into a pennant race and watch him go to Bench's two-run homer gave the Cincinnati Reds a 3-2 victory over the San Diego Padres and boosted their lead in the National League West to 21/2 games over Houston, which lost to Atlanta 6-5.

"I don't know how he could play any better, unless he got a hit every time up," said Reds Manager John McNamara of his star catcher, who is hitting .282 with 22 home runs and 75 RBI and has been the team's hottest hitter down the stretch.

"He's had a very good year, espe-cially since the All-Star break, when he's hit over .300. And he's done some job catching.'

Bench, whose torrid second half of the season places him among the favorites for the NL's most valuable player award, isn't exactly enjoying

With the tying run on second and two out in the ninth, Art Howe belted a long drive to right field which Matthews caught over his shoulder while tumbling to the ground.

"It was like a seventh game of a World Series," said Braves Manager Bobby Cox. "Both clubs were excited and the fans were screaming. You just automatically play harder. It was a nerve-wracking game."
Pirates 9-5, Phillies 6-6—The Pirates rallied from a 6-1 deficit with eight runs in the last two innings of the first game, then were given a dose of the same medicine by the Phillies in the nightcap. McRae and the second-place Royals beat the division-leading California Angels 6-4 Wednesday night, winning for the second time in the three games of this series but remaining exactly where they were when the set began two games behind.

It happened last year in the East, when the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox decided divisional honors in a one-game playoff. And, since the Royals and Angels meet four times more this season, Brett's prophecy may be realized.

"The only thing that will matter," said McRae, "is who's best in October. If we get into the playoffs, this thing will be history."

Darrell Porter drove in three runs while Larry Gura and two relievers combined on a six-hitter to defeat the Porter had a first-inning sacrifice fly and a two-run single in the secondinning after an error by California shortstop Jim Anderson.

With two on and two out, Brett hit a grounder at Anderson, who watched the ball skim through his legs and into left field - to the dismay of the Angels and catcher Brian Downing.

'People kept asking me after that Indiana game if I felt good at the half, but I told them I felt good when the game was over," said Evashevski, who lives in Petoskey, Mich., but helps broadcast the Iowa games.

"Iowa has shown that it can move the ball well.

"If I had been there, coaching the Hawks in that opener, I would have tried to play it the same way," said the man whose teams won three Big Ten titles and two Rose Bowls while compiling a 52-27-4 mark from 1952 to 1960. Coach "Hayden (Fry) had every reason to think his defense could do it in the second half.

"And I still think they could have done it if it hadn't been for two passes - the one that was completed for a touchdown when the official got in the way and the one that went for a touchdown in the last minute. They shouldn't have happened," said Evashevski Iowa dropped the Indiana game 30-26 after leading 26-3 at the half. Last week's game against No. 3 Oklahoma gave the Hawks their second loss, 21-6.

"It was the same down there," Evashevski said. "I didn't think Iowa had the personnel to be strong enough to play in the same league with Oklahoma for a whole ball game, but they came close, didn't they?

"I'm glad I'm not the one down there coaching the Hawks. Hayden hasn't had time to develop the new and successful program that I am certain he is going to develop at

"He doesn't have the personnel to do what he's been doing. And yet, he's done it, but remember that he's working uphill. You have to remember that he's pretty much stuck with the talent that was already here when he arrived and that it takes awhile to get some of the big studs that you have to have to win today.'

Evashevski pointed out that his first team at Iowa managed only a 2-7 record in 1952. He took over a football program that had produced losing teams in eight of the last nine years. Then, in 1953, he had a winner, and in only one other season during his tenure - 1955 when the Hawks were 3-5-1 - did Iowa dip below .500. Can it be done again? "I think so," Evashevski said. "But it's going to take longer now. Remember, we went back to two-way football after 1952, and I could get by with nine or 10 full-fledged football players who could go both ways. Now, Hayden needs 45 or 50 real strong ones. 'Where I could do it with a comparative handful of guys like Kenny Ploen and Calvin Jones and Willie Fleming and Bob Jeter mixed in with some mediocre players, Hayden has to have close to 50 stars. "He has to have them for his kickoff team, his receiving team, his extra point and field goal teams and all of the other specialty items, like

Nice thing about Cey, he can become a Disney ride

By JIM MURRAY Los Angeles Times Syndicate

The nice thing about Ron Cey, the third baseman for the Dodgers, is that he doesn't need the job. He could always become a ride at Disneyland. In fact, put a tuxedo on him and he could pose for cigaret packages. He looks out of place off an ice floe.

They say that Tinker Bell has never been the same since Cey left the Enchanted Kingdom. You see Ron Cey come into view and you figure the seven dwarfs, Mr. Toad's wild ride, Pluto, Captain Hook, the three little pigs and Bambi will be along any minute. If ever there was a cartoon character come to life it is Ronald Charles Cey. He looks like a bird with a hat on. He walks as if he were in two feet of water. He runs like a guy who has just stolen a pie, and is trying to eat the evidence. You wonder how he gets his shoes on over the webbing. Ron Cey wears a moustache so that

"I'm not big and powerful enough to keep trying to steer him to the bleachers where the rest of the Little Leaguers are sitting. You would never take him for a feared major league slugger who, as it happens, has more home runs this season than Reggie

Jackson. You could win a barroom bet, betting that he has more lifetime home runs than Pete Rose, He gets walked almost as often as Mel Ott. He gets put on base about 100 times a year by wary pitchers, about a tenth of them intentionally. He has a strike zone just big enough for a baseball to fit through. Rollie Fingers, the relief pitcher, once described it as a "two-button" strike zone, or the distance between the second and third buttons on his uniform. Most sluggers ere highy unselective at the plate. They are "Will Rogers hitters." They never met a pitch they didn't like. Ron Cey makes sure he swings only at and asking him if he's lost. Ushers drive balls out of the strike zone up to the fences. I'm the most selective hitter on this club." Some say he's the most selective hitter west of Ted Williams. Of course, Ron Cey does not always hit the strikes he swings at, unlike Williams, who did.

> BUT THIS refugee from a comic strip has won the grudging respect of a whole generation of pitchers and managers. At first, it was a little like getting bitten to death by your canary. But gradually it dawned on them they were being flippered to death by this penguin with a capital

> This Penguin revels in the nickname. Although the image of a flightless bird might give some ballplayers pause, or cause them to frown, Cey grins, "It's better than being called 'The Vulture.' " An old college nickname, it was revived by his thenminor league manager Tommy Lasorda, who still leads the bantering. "Hey, Penguin, tell them about the

- he thought you had escaped from the Bronx Zoo," Lasorda will yell. Or, Lasorda will shout, "Hey, Penguin, tell them about the time that lady in Sta Louis wanted to throw you a

Ordinarily, a ballplayer configurated like a semi-extinct bird from the Antarctic would be considered a poor risk for major league baseball. And, in fact, anxious managers spent hours trying to convince Cey he should play within his zoological limitations. They suggested he choke up on the bat, learn to hit behind the runner, look for the little things that keep you in the big leagues, but not do the big things. This Penguin would have none of that. He gripped the bat the same place Babe Ruth did. He hit with astonisharmed. Ron Cey is 5-10 (it says in the media guide, anyway) and about 5-6 of this would seem to be torso. His legs are so short he sometimes seems by Dr. Frank Jobe — in weighing him in a tub of water to measure body fat proved that Ron Cey had less fat and more muscle per square inch than anybody similarly tested. Pitchers were not surprised. With the short, murderous swing of a Central Park mugger, Ron Cey has propelled over 160 home runs out of major league ballparks. With a bat in his hands, the Penguin turns into a THIRD BASE is not, ordinarily, a 'glove-position." That is to say, it is, not one of the positions where fielding skill is paramount. Shortstop is a "glove position." So is second base. Here, you carry a man because he can remove base hits from the game, not contribute them. But first base and ing power for one so small and short-third base are more normally thought of as "bat positions," i.e., power sta-

Still, Ron Cey has committed only time that New York cop stopped you to be running on his knees. But tests six errors this season. The league record for a full season is nine, set by Ken Reitz of St. Louis in 1977.

Still, the notion of a penguin hitting home runs is so appealing, Disney must be gnashing his teeth someplace today that he didn't think of it. It has to rank with flying elephants, floating automobiles, deer who can talk, pigs who can sing and amphibious rabbits who attack Presidents.

Ron Cey is as merchandisable as a mouse hat. The Penguin Doll, you wind it up and it takes ball four. Or, the Penguin Doll, you wind it up and its glove turns gold and it robs you of a two-base hit.

And someday, two National League pitchers on a holiday cruise through the Antarctic may look overboard and see what appears to be a whole bunch of birds wearing tuxedos on an iceberg. And one will say, "What's that"! And the other will look up, stare for a moment, and say "I dunno. But don't throw one a fastball. And walk him if you have to."

WEST TEXAS HUNTING AND FISHING Below par Texas angling is finally on upswing

Fishing has been below par over a wide area of the state this summer and Oak Creek has been no exception. The cool weather the past few days shows signs of turning this trend around. Another spell of hot weather might slow the fishing, but right now the big fish are moving better than they have in several months.

Ken Tatum gave the other members of the Sweetwater Bass Club something to shoot at if they hope to top the bass he caught last Saturday. The lunker took a running bait and tipped the scales at six pounds, seven ounces. Odie and Inez Wafer, Sweetwater, enjoyed their bass fishing so it's too bad they had to leave the lake about the time the cool weather arrived. They had a pretty nice string of blacks ranging from two to four

The sand bass have been active at Oak Creek and it's not unusual to see half a dozen boats trolling the points and flats along the north shore. Charles Lisso has been limited to an hour or so fishing after work, but has caught from six to eight big whites about every time out. Some go three pounds, good for a white bass.

Ike Pate, operator of Sportsman's Lodge on the lake, landed a dozen channel cat from 1 1/2 to 6 1/4 pounds during a two-day stretch, not to mention a yellow cat at 32 pounds...

WEST TEXAS landowners have an opportunity to obtain some 1,633 anteope permits from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for the nineday antelope season beginning Sept. 29. #### a problem for Buckeyes Life after Woody began last week in Columbus.

By DAVE KINDRED The Washington Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio - They don't know what to do with the old man

"He's so recognizable that if he came to the game, he'd be swarmed by people," said a man in the Ohio State University publicity department.

It is a problem what to do with Woody Hayes.

'You couldn't put him in the press box," the man said. Of course not. Can't trust those pencils. What about the president's box? Doesn't the president have a private

'But it's on the press-box level and people would be drifting over. It is a problem when you fire Woody Hayes after 28 seasons and he still works for the University in an office about a quarter-mile from the stadium where his football teams drew 83,000 people every Saturday. 'Besides," the man in the publicity department said,

'What would we do about Hugh Hindman? What would happen with him and Woody?' Hindman is the Ohio State athletic director. He fired Hayes last January after the coach punched a player from Clemson in the Gator Bowl.

The secretary in Hayes' office said it was no problem. 'Woody's going to be out of town.

Earle Bruce is ready. "I'm not nervous at all - I am excited," said the new Ohio State coach. This is Bruce's 27th season coaching football. Every job he has had, he was hired with the recommendation of Woody Hayes. A little halfback from Allegheny High School in Cumberland, Md., Bruce played for Hayes at Ohio State 28 years ago.

After 13 seasons in Ohio high school football, Bruce was hired by Hayes as an assistant coach. Six years later, he went to Tampa University as the boss, moving after a season to Iowa State, where in six years his teams were

At 48, Bruce has the open, friendly face of your kindly uncle and the sort of physique that marks him a budding Santa Claus. The tiny cubby-hole office-dressing room that Woody Hayes made into a philosopher's garrett, Bruce is content with a place to change his socks and talk football.

"I don't know it will be any different here," he said to the inevitable question of what happens to Ohio State football without Hayes. "I certainly hope we block and tackle as well. I hope we run the ball as well. I hope we play defense the way Woody's teams did. And I hope we throw the ball well

Ah, hah. That magic word, "throw." With a freshman passing sensation at quarterback, Art Schlichter, Ohio State yet threw an average of only 15 passes a game last season. The people of Columbus hope that Life After Woody includes a bomb or two.

'I think what the people are saying," Bruce said, "is that they'd like to see the ball thrown on first down instead of third down. But let me ask you something.

'If you've got big, strong people who knock the other people down when you run with the ball, what's wrong with that? Michigan does it and they have 104,000 people there every Saturday. If the fans don't like all that running, they sure aren't staying away. What's wrong with running, if you've got the people to do it, and wearing the other team down in the fourth quarter?"

Rice historian finds Eisenhower diary

HOUSTON (AP) - A secret wartime diary that the late Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower ordered destroyed in 1945 has turned up in a Kansas library, the Houston Chronicle reports in two copyright articles.

The 22-page typescript, in which Eisenhower was often critical of the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Adm. Ernest King, was discovered by Francis Loewenheim, historian at Rice University. He found it in a Columbia University manila envelope in the Eisenhower Library at Abilene, Kan., the newspaper said. The Chronicle ran its articles in the Sunday and Monday editions.

Loewenheim said the envelope was among the voluminous personal papers the library received after the 1969 death of the former president and former head of Columbia University. The historian wrote there is little doubt the sentiments Eisenhower recorded and later sought to suppress did represent his deep-seated feelings, particularly about such military figures as MacArthur and King. What we have here, in effect, is the real Ike," Loewenheim wrote. The diary entries were written in the early days of the war, from the time Eisenhower was in the War Department's operations division to the early days as commanding general of the European theater.

Entries made in February and March 1942 were said to have described Eisenhower's mixed views of King, who had become commander in chief of the U.S. fleet in December

USDA has grim outlook of world export situation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite prospects that U.S. farm exports will continue growing, the Agriculture Department has a fairly grim view of how things are going in the world at

Other federal agencies, including the State Department, may have more to say about U.S. policy abroad, but USDA has to keep an eye on happenings overseas for their effect on the Iowa corn crop, for example,

Put simply, if foreign buyers don't have the cash to buy U.S. grain, soybeans, cotton, tobacco or other commodities, farmers in Iowa and elsewhere will suffer because surpluses build up and prices go down.

Such an extreme isn't happening right now, but a new analysis by USDA's outlook board indicates that many countries are suffering a severe crunch from inflation and other economic factors that eventually will have an impact on farmers. The report, released Wednesday, is a sum- value of about $32 billion in the fiscal mary of a more detailed analysis due in a few weeks.

'A slowdown in world economic expansion is likely in 1980," the report said. "Lagging investment and chronic inflation, exacerbated by the sharp oil price rises, have reduced growth prospects in many developed countries.

'Inflation rates are likely to remain high through 1980," it continued. "The higher import bills will worsen trade and payments deficits.

Moreover, in the poorer, developing countries, "economic prospects ... are also deteriorating," the report said. Current deficits of those countries are expected to rise sharply in 1979 and further in 1980" which could force some food-importing countries to rely more heavily on U.S. concessions sales under aid programs. On the brighter side, the report noted earlier projections that U.S. farm exports, estimated at a record year that ends Sept. 30, are expected to rise to $35 billion to $40 billion in

Much of the expected increase may come from higher prices for some commodities, but the overall volume of shipments also is expected to go up by about 14 percent in the year

The report said harvest shortfalls in the Soviet Union, Eastern Europe and some other countries "will cause substantial growth in grain trade" worldwide in 1979-80, probably a gain of about 10 percent.

The report said "early prospects point to additional substantial increases" in the world output of soybeans and other oilseeds in 1979-80.

U.S., Canada in fowl talks

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and Canada are engaging in chicken diplomacy in an effort to smooth ruffled feathers caused by a surge in broiler traffic across the border.

American broiler producers have found Canada a growing market, but Canadian chicken growers want the shipments curtailed to help improve their domestic prices.

Private meetings were scheduled here today and in Ottawa on Oct. 1 to examine the issues. The Agriculture Department says no decisions are expected in the opening round of ses-producers to put into effect a national chicken marketing program similar to those for turkeys and eggs.

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said Tuesday a system of production controls and penalties for over-production have been instituted in Canada's provinces in recent

"That gives us a right under GATT (the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade) to impose certain kinds of quantitative restrictions on imports,' the spokesman said.

Canada's overall chicken plan is scheduled to begin Oct. 1, but "how they would deal with imports, in that respect, I'm not sure," he said.

Officials in the Agriculture Department say they are not fully informed of Canada's chicken plan and that the meeting will clear up some of the Thomas R. Saylor, associate administrator of USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service, said Canada has had centralized marketing in most of its agricultural sectors, including a national wheat marketing program,

The intent (of the chicken program) is to control the domestic supply and support producer prices by having some regulation of supply, both from the standpoint of imports and domestic production," he said.

'We feel we have certain rights under GATT's international rules, Saylor told a reporter.

We want to make sure, first of all, that the program is within the international rules. They can only undertake import restraints if they are effectively limiting production.'

Contracted to 5,600 feet, it is 467 feet from south and 1,667 feet from west lines of section 3, block B-20, psl survey and one location north offset to Tubb production.

GAINES AREA

J. C. Barnes Oil Co. of Midland No. 2 Sam Jenkins is to be drilled in the two-well Jenkins, North (Devonian) field of Gaines County, one location northwest of production.

Scheduled to 9,800 feet, it is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 10, block AX, psl survey.

GARZA COUNTY

Convest Energy Corp. of Houston No. 1-A G. B. Clark Jr. and others is a new test in the Garza County portion of the Poland (Ellenburger) field which also produces in Kent County.

The new test, slated on a 7,850-foot contract, is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 65, block 5, H&GN survey. It is one location southeast of production.

COKE PRODUCER

Natomas North America, Inc. of Midland has filed potential test on the No. 4 Higgins, one location northwest and southwest of production in the Higgin Ranch (Canyon oil) field of Coke County

On 24-hour test it pumped 75 barrels of 45-gravity oil and 82 barrels of water, through Canyon perforations from 6,058 to 6,106 feet, with a gas-oil ratio of 1,173-1.

The producing zone was acidized with 1,500 gallons.

The top of the Cisco was found at 4,870 feet and the Canyon at 6,002 feet on kelly bushing elevation of 2,216

Total depth is 6,000 feet, where 5.5inch casing is landed, and plugged back depth is 6,118 feet.

Wellsite is 2.950 eet from north and 500 feet from east lines of Alex E. Patton survey No. 644.5.

TOM GREEN EXTENSION

The Water Valley (San Angelo) field of Tom Green County gained a well with completion of J.C Oil Co. No. 8 George Weddell, seven miles west of Water Valley.

It is a southwest offset to other San Angelo production. The operator reported a 24-hour pumping potential of 10 barrels of 28-gravity oil and 21 barrels of water and a gas-liquid ratio of 100-1. Production was through perforations from 1,057 to 1,079 feet after being acidized with 3,000 gallons.

The well was drilled to 1,170 feet and plugged back to 1,145 feet, with 4.5-inch casing at 1,114 feet.

Location is 1,650 feet from north and 1,210 feet from east lines of section 78, block 5, H&TC survey.

"Obviously you know and we know that OPEC (the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) is meeting in December," Texaco Vice President J.M. Seamans told a House energy subcommittee.

He said it would be "unwise" to promise to hold the line on prices beyond that time. Texaco officials testified after being theatened with a possible subpoena for not showing up at a sub-committee hearing Monday. Plans for issuing the Subpoena were dropped by the panel when the Texaco officials agreed to appear volun-

But subcommittee Chairman Toby Moffett, D-Conn., called the Texaco announcement "a public relations coup." He said the firm "has among the highest prices and the worst credit terms in the industry.

Texaco officials acknowledged they were a little uncomfortable with all the attention that has been given the company as a result of the president's praise.

"It's unfortunate that it has been categorized as the national heating oil plan," said W.K. Tell Jr., another CRANE COUNTY Texaco vice president. "Nothing could be further from the truth." "It's not a national plan, it's not a charged two federal agencies today with unleashing a "truly exceptional ergy Regulatory Commission after the Texas Railroad Commission had routinely set the statewide oil allowable for October at 100 percent. The allowable has been 100 percent each month, with the exception of three, since April 1972. As usual, however, the commission restricted production in the 11 fields, including the large East Texas Field. to avoid possible waste. The East Texas allowable was again set at 86 percent. Nugent said the federal energy commission has used regulations of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1979 to try to determine Texas proration units, set production allowables and unreasonably limit secondary recovery operations. 'This they are attempting to do in spite of the fact that Congress has not given them such powers," Nugent told oil and gas executives. He said the Railroad Commission had filed a motion for rehearing. The fiscal impact of the regulations, including paperwork, would cost Texas at least $2 million more a year, Nugent said. "I recognize there is a growing regional struggle for the available energy within this nation," Nugent said, "but I will not be a party to voluntarily handing one of the greatest Texas assets over to the Northeastern power bloc or to the federal government to control." Nominations by major buyers of Texas crude oil for October totaled 2,698,493 barrels a day, a decrease of 9,073 barrels a day from September. ### Canal compromise inches forward

WASHINGTON (AP) - A compromise bill to carry out the Panama Canal treaties faced opposition in both the House and Senate as it inched toward final congressional approval.

Consideration of the compromise worked out by a conference committee was scheduled today in both the House and Senate. Both houses must approve the compromise for the bill to become law.

The treaties eventually turning the canal over to Panama go into effect Oct. 1. The bill is needed primarily to set up a new U.S.-controlled commission to run the canal until Panama takes charge. Aides to President Carter said the greatest threat was in the House

"We don't know if we have the votes in the House," said one administration source who did not want to

Nearly all the provisions House opponents won but which Carter administration officials said would have violated the spirit of the treaties — have been softened or eliminated from the compromise bill.

One would have cut off Panama's share of canal revenues if it was caught aiding revolution in South America, and another would have put the canal under U.S. military control in wartime. But the House won two victories.
