Pope warns U.N. that arms race threatens mankind

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Pope John Paul II warned the U.N. General Assembly today that the build-up of world armaments, especially by the major powers, threatens the "common extermination" of future generations.

In an impassioned appeal, he said production of ever more powerful weapons shows "that there is a desire to be ready for war and being ready means being able to start it."

He demanded rhetorically: "Can our age still believe that the breathing spiral of armaments is at the service of world peace?"

The pope, speaking before representatives of 152 nations, also assailed suppressions of human rights — civil and religious — and the "frightful disparities" between the rich few and the destitute many.

Indirectly criticizing atheistic communism and other totalitarian regimes, he said the exercise of religious rights in some cases condemns a person to being a "second-class or third-class citizen," discriminated against socially, professionally and educationally.

The U.N. address was the highlight of the second day of the pope's week-long, six-city U.S. tour which began with a jubilant welcome in Boston on Monday. Today's schedule also included an afternoon appearance at St. Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue and an open-air Mass at Yankee Stadium.

The pope arrived at the United Nations in a motorcade that took him from LaGuardia Airport, across the East River and through upper Manhattan past welcoming crowds. Smiling and hatless, the pope stood in his open-top car and waved at the thousands who waited at the United Nations.

The weather was clear when the pope arrived, but clouds darkened the sky as the morning wore on bringing the threat of mist and rain similar to that which dampened the crowds in Boston, but did not dim their enthusiasm.

There were repeated cheers and cries of "Viva il papa!" as the pope moved into the U.N. complex, accompanied by Secretary-General Kurt

Waldheim and surrounded by U.N. employees who pressed close, seeking a word or a handshake. He went to the 38th floor of the Secretariat building for a private talk with Waldheim before addressing the General Assembly.

The pope, invited to the world forum as supreme pastor of world wide Roman Catholicism by U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, called for "international guarantees" for governing Jerusalem.

This has been a bitterly contested issue in the Middle East, with Israel holding all of the holy city since the 1967 war and insisting on Jerusalem's historic status as a part of Israel.

He also said that while recognizing the "value of any concrete step" to settle the Middle East conflict, a general overall peace is not in sight without "equitable recognition of the rights of all," including "just settlement of the Palestinian question."

Turning back to the perils of the arms race, the pope said that eliminating the war threat demands wiping out its root causes — the suppression of human and religious rights and unjust distribution of material goods on the planet.

Standing behind the black marble rostrum before the high-domed blue and gold General Assembly hall, he said:

"Man lives at the same time both in the world of material values and in that of spiritual values... The pre-eminence of the values of the spirit defines the proper sense of earthly material goods and the way to use them. This pre-eminence is therefore at the basis of a just peace."

Without specifically mentioning the SALT II treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union to limit strategic weapons, the pope gave implicit backing to it, saying: "In this field also, we applaud the decisions and agreements aimed at reducing the arms race."

"Nevertheless, the life of humanity today is seriously endangered by the threat of destruction..." he said.

The Trans World Airlines Boeing 727 — dubbed "Shepherd I" — which carried the pope from Boston touched down at 9:02 a.m. EDT at LaGuardia where a crowd estimated by police at 3,000 had gathered.

"I greet all the men, women and children of the countries that are represented at the United Nations," said the pope as he arrived.

"May the hopes that they place in the efforts and in the solidarity that links us all never be disappointed. May they experience in the achievements of the United Nations the fact that there is only one world and that it is the home of all..."

The pontiff, wearing a white cassock and waving his arms, was welcomed to New York by his host, Waldheim, and other diplomatic and church officials.

A group of bands and school groups saluted the pope with music and flowers. Among the youngsters were students from a Middlesex, N.J. school, dressed in Polish costumes, bearing bouquets of chrysanthemums and waving flags.

Midland High tours set during Public School Week

Midlanders can take advantage of Public School Week to tour the Midland High School facility this week.

Renovation of the MHS building and expansion of the campus account for more than half the proposed $10.2 million bond package going before the voters Oct. 23.

Daily tours of the building will be conducted this week beginning at 10 a.m.

Interested citizens or groups may call the MHS office at 682-7368 to arrange for tours at other times through Oct. 22, according to Principal Jack Stone.

Included in the bond package are $5.5 million for the MHS expansion and renovation, $1.3 million for renovation of Lee High School, $1.6 million for renovation and upkeep at most of the other school buildings in the district, $632,500 for vocational facilities and $2.25 million for a new elementary school.

Other school buildings are open to the public this week to allow parents or other interested groups to visit classes and tour the buildings, school officials noted.

Carter fails to untie SALT II

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional critics say President Carter's Caribbean initiatives have failed to untie the knot linking the SALT II treaty with the Soviet brigade deployed 90 miles from U.S. shores in Cuba.

In his speech to the nation Monday night, the president outlined plans to increase U.S. surveillance of military activities in Cuba, bolster the U.S. naval and military presence in the area and speed more aid to those Latin American nations which feel threatened by the Soviet-Cuban alliance.

At the same time he reported that he has been given "assurances from the highest levels of the Soviet government" that the brigade of Russians are indeed engaged only in training and that they will not be used to threaten anyone.

But the Carter speech did little to sway critics of the administration's foreign policy, many of whom complained that the president failed to keep his pledge to change the status quo in Cuba by negotiating withdrawal or dismantling of the brigade.

"No, we are not going to push forward with SALT until the Soviet troop question is resolved," said Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., one of several GOP presidential contenders who commented.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., referring to the administration's early handling of the Cuban flap, said the president spent most of the speech "trying to deal with a self-inflicted wound."

But a senior administration official who has been closely involved in intense negotiations with the Soviets on the troop issue said the status quo has in fact been changed by the presidential orders increasing the U.S. military presence near Cuba and by Soviet assurances that their troops in Cuba "will not be a threat to the United States or to any other nation."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called the Soviet assurances, said to have come personally from Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, "welcome but insufficient."

"I continue to believe that before the treaty may take effect the Senate will insist on an affirmation by the president, backed up by his own intelligence, that Soviet combat forces are no longer deployed in Cuba," Church said.

Church said today, however, that his panel would proceed with its hearings on SALT II and complete work on the pact by the end of October. He said the full Senate was likely to act later this year.

Former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the presence of the Soviet brigade has "profound symbolic consequences" that require firm action. But he declined to say what role the situation should have on ratification of the treaty, saying: "I would like to think about, a little more, where we stand."

The president said the Cuban controversy must be kept in perspective. He maintained it is no reason for a rebirth of the cold war. And he said if it led to the destruction of the SALT II treaty, the United States would be forced to live in a world "in which every confrontation or dispute could carry the seeds of a nuclear conflict."

Your reply to the question put by Mrs. O.S. and printed in the Tuesday, Aug. 28, 1979, edition of The Midland Reporter-Telegram was incomplete. You did explain the destination of the Building Permit funds. You did not reply to the question, "What is happening to all this new tax money?"

I am aware of what happens to the new tax money. I would like some perspective as to the amount. I will appreciate your advising as to the following:

1. What was the total 100 per cent valuation of the city at the end of 1978?
2. What was the total dollar amount of all the building permits issued by the city in 1978?
3. How much new revenue did that 1978 increase in valuation generate, taxwise, in 1979?

Your published reply will be most appreciated. — F. H. McGuigan

ANSWER: Here are the figures from the Finance Department of the city of Midland.

In reply to your first question, total assessed valuation for the city at the end of 1978 was $991,748,933.

As to your second question, total dollar amount of all the building permits issued by the city was $86,935,762.

There was no new revenue generated because the City Council lowered the tax rate to avoid this.

Is it a compulsory law for all car owners to have liability insurance, or is it like the city law that says dogs may not run loose and is not enforced?

Also, what has happened to the left- (See ANSWER LINE, Page 2A)

'Skipping' may be biggest problem

EDITOR'S NOTE: Changing ideas in a changing society make school discipline one of the more complex issues facing schools today. This is the third of a six-part series examining the problem and possible solutions.

By SUSAN TOTH
Staff Writer

In Midland, keeping students in school is, if not the biggest single discipline problem, at least the most frequent one, outstripping bigger-city threats of drugs, alcohol and violence.

On an average day at Midland High School, for instance, more than 100 students are reported absent without explanation from one or more classes after attending others.

The problem of "skipping," most high school administrators agree, is the most serious one facing the schools today.

Of the 863 discipline referrals recorded in the office at Lee High School last year, for example, 531 of those — more than 60 percent — were attendance-related.

"Midland has finally caught up with the national trend," according to Midland High School assistant principal Glenn Hixon. "School has become less important to our teen-age people today, and when students cease to become students, you have more discipline-type problems."

THE INCREASING NUMBER of students who choose not to show up for some classes "shows apathy towards school and what school stands for," Hixon said. "We've always had kids who didn't want to come to school, but the percentage has been increasing in the past five or six years."

The increased pressure in high school leads some students to be disruptive, Hixon said.

"Kids get to this point in their school life and it gets more difficult for them to succeed in the classroom. When they don't succeed, they become disruptive to release their frustrations."

Students who 20 years ago would have dropped out to get jobs are staying in school now on the advice of family, friends and counselors.

"We're supposed to do all we can to keep a child in school until he's 17, and we strive to do whatever we can with them."

"But," he said, "I have encouraged a couple of older students to go ahead and take the GED test (a high school equivalency exam). It's a way to keep

Grand jury re-indicts man on capital murder charge

The Midland County Grand Jury has issued a re-indictment in the case of 29-year-old Herbert Lee Minor, charged with capital murder in connection with the September beating death of a 73-year-old Midland woman. Minor was re-indicted by the grand jury last Wednesday. That grand jury also returned indictments against eight other individuals, including one other re-indictment. Minor, an unemployed laborer, was charged Sept. 11 in connection with the death of Ardesha Wortham, 73, 303 S. Calhoun St. He had been arrested Sept. 9 on a traffic citation and was being held on that charge when the capital murder complaint was filed against him. He remains in jail in lieu of posting a $50,000 bond. Mrs. Wortham's body was found in her home on the morning of Sept. 9 by her son. He called police after he discovered a side window of the home broken and Mrs. Wortham failed to answer her door or telephone. An autopsy indicated the woman died from blows to the head. She also had suffered broken ribs. The grand jury also re-indicted:

Mica Raylene Boyd on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. She remains in jail in lieu of posting a $7,500 bond. Wilbur Hodges was indicted on a charge of forgery by possession with intent to pass. He is in custody in Waco. Bond was set at $7,500. William M. Byers was indicted on a charge of burglary of a vehicle with intent to commit theft. He is free on $3,500 bond. Phillip Townsend was indicted on a charge of theft over $200, but less than $1,000. Both men are free after posting a $1,500 bond each. Clyde Hanna, also known as Weldon Lee Brown, was indicted on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. 11 hurt during celebration

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The 110th anniversary of the birth of Mohandas K. Gandhi, the Indian leader who dedicated his life to non-violence, was marred today by a clash between police and political demonstrators. Eleven persons were injured, including six policemen, and 25 arrested when riot police broke up a protest against a politician's "purification" bath near Gandhi's Raj Ghat cremation ground, now a national memorial, a police spokesman said.

Police fired tear gas and charged the demonstrators with metal-tipped bamboo rods. Raj Narain, president of caretaker Prime Minister Charan Singh's People's Party, washed with water from the holy River Ganges to cleanse himself of "political sins," he told reporters.

Jackson delivers peace message

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat called on PLO chief Yasser Arafat and Syrian President Hafez Assad today to agree to end tensions with Israel because such action would bring them "profit," the Rev. Jesse Jackson said here. Jackson, after an hour-long meeting with the Egyptian president, reported Sadat gave him a message to take to the Palestine Liberation Organization leader, whom he will see Wednesday in Beirut. Jackson, who came here after talks with Arafat, said Sadat also encouraged his meeting later this week in Damascus with Syrian President Hafez al Assad, saying: "This was a critical moment with the momentum building for the Palestinian cause."

"All forces ought to agree to a cease-fire... If at this moment they would declare a cease-fire and use their minds instead of their bombs, diplomacy instead of guns, they will profit," Jackson quoted Sadat as saying. Sadat, Jackson said, felt "the PLO should assess its position in light of its increasing international acceptance and use diplomacy instead of warfare." Jackson said Sadat believed both Israel and the United States should participate in a dialogue with the PLO. Asked what conditions should be imposed, Jackson quoted Sadat as saying: "At this time, a renunciation of terrorism and an acceptance of Israel's right to exist."

Revenge slaying turns farming community into armed camp

OAXACA, Mexico (AP) — A quiet mountain farming community near here has been transformed into an armed camp by villagers fearing retaliation for the revenge slaying of five men they say killed the village president. "The whole village is armed now," Raul Benitez Mesa, spokesman for the district attorney's office here, said Monday. "You can't get into the village," Benitez Mesa said. "They are all armed. They are afraid relatives of the dead (men) will come in from the mountains and try to kill others. If we try to go in there will be a confrontation and many more dead." He said soldiers had been taken to the village to try to keep peace, but later were removed to avoid a confrontation. According to Benitez Mesa, the mini-war began Friday when town president Alberto Cruz Diaz and a group of workers were repairing a road outside their small mountain village of El Ocotil in the state of Oaxaca, when Cruz Diaz was shotgunned to death by five men. The workers recognized the assailants, who allegedly were members of a "gang of hold-up men who lived in the mountains," Benitez Mesa said. He said Cruz Diaz, 38, previously had accused the men of various killings and robberies. The road workers raced back to the village, held a quick meeting with about 150 town members, and formed a posse which hunted down the alleged assassins and shot them to death with rifles and shotguns.

Mexico 'will pay nothing'

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Citing U.S. refusal to pay Mexico for the salting of the Mexicali Valley, President Jose Lopez Portillo says Mexico "will pay nothing" for the damage to the Texas coast from the runaway Ixtoc 1 oil well in the Gulf of Mexico.

"I told the government of the United States — and I tell the people of Mexico — face to face, that if the U.S. government did not pay for damage to the Mexicali Valley, Mexico will not pay for damage in the Gulf of Mexico," Lopez Portillo said Monday.

Saline water from the Colorado River caused salt beds to form years ago in the Mexicali Valley below the California and Arizona borders, making crop lands virtually useless. In 1972, President Luis Echeverria during a visit to Washington told a joint session of the U.S. Congress the issue was "the most delicate bilateral problem" between the two countries.

Lopez Portillo spoke to an estimated 100,000 Mexicans in downtown Mexico City on his return from the United States and Panama. He met in Washington last week with President Carter, addressed the U.N. General Assembly and was the keynote speaker Monday at ceremonies marking the transfer of the Panama Canal Zone to Panamanian control.

Lopez Portillo said he told Carter: "We do not recognize as a right anything that is not general. Either it applies to everyone or to no one."

"If the right is not recognized on the saline water in the Mexicali Valley, by what right are we asked to recognize it now in the Gulf of Mexico?"

Lopez Portillo said he and Carter discussed a future environmental pact binding on both nations "on our common border and the seas that unite and separate us ... to establish general principles to apply to future situations, never to the past.... For the future, everything; for the past, nothing. Those were the terms that we established with President Carter."

The Foreign Ministry denied a report in the New York Times that Lopez Portillo and Carter agreed their governments would discuss Mexican payment for damages caused by the oil well spill. It said references to the payment of damages were deliberately excluded from the talks in Washington.

About 110 million gallons of crude has spilled from the Ixtoc 1 offshore well in the Bay of Campeche, 500 miles south of the Texas border. The well blew out June 3, spewing up 1.25 million gallons of oil a day. Officials of PEMEX, the state-owned oil monopoly, say the flow has been reduced to about 420,000 gallons a day and they hope the well can be capped by the middle of this month.

Much of the lower Texas Gulf Coast was coated in black globs of oil from the runaway well, seriously affecting the usually lucrative tourist season there.

Thousand of tennis ball-sized steel and lead balls are being pumped into the well and have helped cut the flow from the initial 30,000 barrels per day.

Weekly MMH teleconference to concern joint replacement

Joint replacement, such as total hip or knee, is the topic of the weekly teleconference to be broadcast from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at Midland Memorial Hospital.

This is the fourth of a series of 90-minute medical teleconferences MMH is providing at no charge to participants. This series is especially designed for persons over 55.

Presenting the program will be members of the faculty of The University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio.

Teleconference is broadcast over a network of two-way audio systems with reception and transmission similar to the quality of radio.

Interested persons wishing additional information should call Ellen Kennedy, RN, inservice director, at 684-1645.

The Central YMCA's toddler and pre-school swimming and gymnastics programs now are under way. Taking the plunge are, above from left, Jana Bowles and 11-month-old son Kevin; pre-schoolers Lori Bowles and Sidney Keith; and Jamie Morris and 7-month-old son Eric. Storm forces balloon down SPENCERVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Severe thunderstorms and swirling snow forced four adventurers to abandon their transcontinental balloon journey and descend to earth while being buffeted by thunder and lightning, the balloon's command post says.

"It wasn't a case of anything being wrong," Randy Birch, an NBC-TV cameraman and crew member, said early today "It was a case of the weather having closed in around us."

There was "lightning at all sides and snow coming down," said Rudolph Engelmann of Boulder, Colo. "It just didn't look good. There were a lot of mixed reactions about what ought to be done. Common sense prevailed."

The four crew members were taken to St. Rita's Medical Center in nearby Lima where Vera Simons, the only woman aboard, was treated for a broken leg. She was listed in fair condition. The three other members, including Fred Hyde of Prairie Village, Kan., were not injured, authorities said.

The crew descended early today near this western Ohio city inside the 100-foot high balloon's gondola. The balloon, named the DaVinci Trans-America, lifted off Wednesday from Tillamook, Ore., in hopes of reaching the East Coast after the first transcontinental balloon flight.

"Everyone is fine. One of the people here spoke with one of the crew members," said Lesley Edmonds of Weather Service Corp., the command post in Bedford, Mass.

"He (the crew member) walked to a farmhouse to call us (at 1:04 a.m. EDT) — about an hour after the crew decided to land."

"He was mostly just trying to say 'Hey, get in touch with our families and tell them we're all right.'"

Earlier, the DaVinci's flight command post in Bedford, Mass., said it was believed the balloon had gone down northwest of Spencerville, near Van Wert.

Birch said they had been having weather problems all day. Federal Aviation Administration officials in Ohio and Indiana said a fast moving cold front was overtaking the balloon as it crossed into Ohio with thunderheads as high as 40,000 feet.

The crew, hoping to reach the East Coast somewhere in Virginia, had dipped lower to the ground to try to escape the front.

Davis' defense team brings in 'key witness'

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Defense attorneys have placed a key witness on the stand in hopes of convicting the jury that millionaire Cullen Davis was the target — not the mastermind — of a conspiracy.

Dorothy Needt, 38, was sworn in as a witness Monday, but Davis' murder solicitation trial was recessed for the night before she got into the meat of her testimony.

When Davis was tried on the same charges in Houston last year, Miss Needt testified she happened to see on a parking lot three persons who defense attorneys say conspired to frame Davis.

Man given 90-day jail sentence

A 33-year-old Midlander who pleaded guilty Friday in district court here to a felony charge of driving while intoxicated, subsequent offense, was sentenced to 90 days in Midland County Jail.

Jesse Costello pleaded guilty in 238th District Court and was sentenced by Judge Vann Culp.

He pleaded in connection with a July 4 incident in which he was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney Richard Davis.

S.W.A.K.

A nervous breakdown can take many forms, but Judd Hirsch isn't quite prepared for this one as Marilu Henner reacts to him in a whole new way when her emotions get out of control in "Nardo Loses Her Marbles" on ABC's "Taxi," Tuesday, Oct. 2.

"Taxi" is set in Manhattan's Sunshine Cab Co. and deals with a mixture of misfits who turned to driving hacks for a livelihood while they wait for their unrequited ambitions in other fields to materialize.

Exxon and home heating oil:

Exxon's home heating oil is sold to homeowners through independent distributors.

Our wholesale price to distributors averages about 62¢ per gallon. This is now 5% below the industry average.

We offer the same credit terms we had before the oil shortage. They are equal to or better than those of competition.

We expect to make available as much home heating oil this winter as last winter.
