Anti-nuke protesters pull out at Seabrook

SEABROOK, N.H. (AP) — Hundreds of anti-nuclear protesters, many proudly nursing wounds received in battles with police, withdrew this morning from the woods, marshes and highways ringing the Seabrook atomic power plant.

Demonstrators had said they might try to block the main gate when construction workers returned this morning from their 3-day Columbus Day holiday weekend, but only a handful of protesters remained. They stood quietly in a chilling rain and watched the workers drive into the plant site.

Their four-day effort to occupy the partially completed plant was lost, but the activists called it a victory. They said the tear gas, Mace, fire hoses and clubs they faced "have taught us what it's all about and will strengthen the movement."

"The only reason the civil rights and anti-war efforts were successful was because people showed they had the guts to take the worst the opposition could throw at them and hold their ground," said one protester, Daniel Upton of Hartford, Conn.

"This weekend, for the first time, the anti-nuke movement faced that same challenge, and we showed that one or two, protesters this time repeatedly assaulted the miles of fence around the 140-acre construction site.

Hundreds of police from throughout New England, along with New Hampshire National Guardsmen, repelled the attacks, usually using minimal force and following the guideline: "Take no prisoners."

Many demonstrators expressed surprise and anger when they were not arrested but instead forced back with riot gases and fire hoses.

"They have no right to hurt us for breaking the law," screamed Carla Riggs of York, Maine, as medics poured water over her Mace-covered face. "The Constitution says we're to be arrested and tried for our crimes, not gassed and beaten."

Rath said he thought police acted appropriately but would "look into" any formal complaints of brutality.

County residents seek road repairs

By BILL MODISSETT
Staff Writer

A delegation of five Midland County residents appeared at Monday's Midland County Commissioners meeting, submitting a petition for improvements on a county road described by one man as nothing but a "drainage ditch."

Jim Estes, who served as spokesman for the delegation, presented the petition containing the names of 27 Midland County residents who live along County Road 1065 South about 16 miles east of Midland.

Estes told commissioners the road had been dedicated to the county five years ago, but it has never been covered with caliche. The three-mile-long road consists primarily of sand and deep ruts, Estes indicated, and is impassable following a rain.

"It was better five years ago than it is right now — a lot better," Estes told commissioners.

Another resident, Julia Eckerty, showed commissioners photographs of the road which depicted standing water and deep ruts. She said she has a school-age child who rides a school bus on that road. But bus drivers have told her they don't know what they'll do after it rains, she said.

Those residents said they had contacted Commissioner Charlie Welch — in whose precinct the road is located — numerous times without satisfaction.

After a rain, Estes said, maintainers usually "drag" the road one time. But he indicated that isn't enough to put the road back in shape.

At Monday's meeting, Welch told the unhappy petitioners that he is doing the best he can with the road and contended that he is working on the problem.

Later, Welch told The Reporter-Telegram, "We're working on the problem. We just have many, many obstacles to overcome." Following the meeting, Estes said he didn't feel he received an answer to his request.

Another resident, Darwin Almand, said he also was dissatisfied with the answer. "They've been working on it (road) for five years and haven't done anything."

In other action, commissioners approved a contract with Western Data Service of Waxahachie for four computer terminals to be installed in the tax assessor-collector's office. The four terminals, to be installed in November at a cost of about $20,000, will facilitate improved preparation of voter registration lists, property tax receipts and so forth, according to Commissioner Durward Wright.

In the past, the tax office has sent the materials to Waxahachie to be prepared and returned. With the addition of the terminals in the courthouse, the various functions of the tax office can be handled quicker and locally, Wright said.

Two more computer terminals may be installed at a later date, Wright added.

In other action, commissioners approved extending the lease of the American Legion Hall by the Summer Mummies and paying the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission $1,000 for the county's participation in the Emergency Medical Systems Program.

The PBRPC is attempting to raise about $35,000 from its 17-county area to fund a coordinator's salary, according to County Judge Bill Ahders.

The Emergency Medical Systems Program is a plan to provide emergency medical ambulance care for residents of the region.

Commissioners also renewed the annual ambulance service contract with the city of Midland at a cost of $15,000 a year and signed the tax roll.

Americans unaware of water crisis

It will make 'the energy shortage seem like a tea party'

By ROB WOOD

HOUSTON (AP) — A congressman, a federal official, and a New York City engineer agree that the American public is not aware of the dangers of a water crisis or of how many billions of dollars it would take to solve the problem.

Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Texas, said at the 52nd convention of the Water Pollution Control Federation Monday that the United States is facing a water crisis, "that must be solved or the energy shortage will look like a tea party."

The congressman, chairman of the House subcommittee that handles all water-related legislation, said some sections of the nation will face water shortages in the future unless Congress can come up with a plan to move the fluid from areas of abundance to sections of shortage.

He said most Americans are not aware of this problem, nor do they understand how much money is needed for solutions.

"Federal funds are becoming tighter and we must make good use of every dollar we get. Traditional approaches to water problems no longer work and we must find new answers."

Martin Lang, president of the 27,000-member federation, said the nation's quality mission "is largely in the hands of lawyers who regard engineers with wary skepticism, and who are more comfortable with injunctions, fines and other legal penalties."

"Lawyers may try to achieve water qualities with show-cause orders, but eventually the answers will be provided by engineering and scientific efforts."

Lang, a former New York City water engineer, also said, "The public has not been adequately informed about water pollution problems." Neither the federal Environmental Protection Agency, the news media nor lected officials have been able to convey to the public the cost of water pollution control, he said.

He said the federation had always been concerned about the clean water act passed by Congress in 1972.

"It promised to provide fishable, swimmable waters virtually everywhere in one decade. It could not be done and we knew it."

Adelene Harrison, a regional director for the EPA, told the conference that the public has not been convinced of the importance of water pollution control or proper sewage treatment.

She said, "Three of every four municipal treatment plants in the southwest region do not meet minimum requirements. No longer can we be content to simply make plans and pour concrete. We have simply failed to sell our program and this is a necessity."

The EPA official said the federal government cannot handle the situation alone and "we must have public participation."

"We have been using our dollars wrongly and we must understand that each community has a different problem and a different need."

There are 12,000 delegates attending the five-day conference, where many technical aspects of water control are being discussed by experts from 50 states and several foreign countries.

Andrews man killed; Two injured in wreck

ANDREWS — An Andrews man was killed and two Odessa men seriously burned in a fiery collision of an 18-wheel tractor-trailer rig with a road grader near here Monday afternoon.

Hugh Lewis of Andrews died early this morning in Permian General Hospital in Andrews of burns received when a road grader he was driving was in collision with a southbound 18-wheel Frost-Bakery truck being driven by two Odessa men.

Both vehicles burst into flames on impact. Lewis had received third-degree burns over 100 percent of his body. Specialists from U.S. Army Institute Surgical Research Burn Unit at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio were rushed to Andrews to transfer him, but could not stabilize his condition, a hospital spokesman said today.

Gary Sudbury and Rolando Garcia, both of Odessa, were transferred to the San Antonio burn center after being admitted initially to the intensive care unit of Permian General Hospital with first- and second-degree burns over 40 to 50 percent of their bodies.

Garcia was listed in critical condition and Sudbury was in serious condition at the San Antonio burn center this morning. The accident occurred about a mile south of Andrews on Texas 385.

Ector County sheriff fires two deputies after chase

ODESSA — Two Ector County sheriff's deputies were fired Monday following a high-speed chase of their vehicle by Odessa City Police about 2:50 a.m. Saturday, Ector County Sheriff Elton Faught said Monday.

Deputy Vaughn Maddox, a one-year department veteran, and Deputy Charles Armistead, who had been with the department only five days, were fired by Faught for what he termed "unforgivable action on their part" while off duty.

The incident occurred when police officers were investigating a traffic accident on East 42nd Street, police said.

A westbound car passed the scene of the accident at an estimated speed of between 60 and 65 mph, investigating officer Mervin Hayner said. Hayner turned on red lights and siren in his patrol car and chased the vehicle for several blocks at speeds up to 80 mph, the officer said.

The car was lost when its lights were turned off and it turned into an alley, the officer said.

Hayner found the car when he saw the dust from the car, which at that time had stopped, he said.

The patrolman said the deputies produced their driver licenses and badges from the Ector County Sheriff's Office.

Hot sauce causes heat of a different sort

Hot sauce heated up more than taste buds Monday night when a Midland man returned to a Tall City fast food franchise to complain about the nachos.

Employees at Dairy Queen, 706 N. Big Spring St., told police that a man, thought to be intoxicated, came into the business about 9:20 p.m. and began cursing because the nachos he had purchased earlier were too hot for his child.

The child, the man told Dairy Queen employees, was "1 or 2 years old," according to police reports.

When the man attempted to make two of the employees eat some of the nacho sauce, they refused, stating that the cheese sauce was made the same as usual and there was no reason for them to taste it, according to the police report.

The man then tried to use the phone behind a counter, employees told police.

Told he could not use the phone, the man told employees the store would not be standing in the morning and started to leave, police were told.

On his way out of the business, the man allegedly kicked out the bottom of the door and hit the top part with his fist, breaking the door, employees told officers.

The recipe for nacho sauce remains unchanged, store manager Louise Lonjier said today.

However, Dairy Queen officials today said they were considering filing a complaint of criminal mischief in connection with the incident.

Is there any organization in Midland, such as Boy or Girl Scouts, church or clubs which collect paper to raise funds and, if so, where are their collection points? — Grover Thornton

ANSWER: The Midland Service Center of the Girl Scouts reports it may have some troops collecting papers for a Christmas project. The center will be in touch with you.

The Boy Scouts of America, Buffalo Trail Council, also reports there may be two troops collecting papers. You may call them at 684-7171.

I have read of the Federal Law 94-142 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. I believe I interpret this law to be that every handicapped child — either physical, emotional or learning disabled — is entitled to an education. The new law requires the school to include parents and/or guardians in the planning of these children's educational programs. In fact, each child should have his or her individual education program.

I also feel this is a dual job, both teacher and parent. Mainly, it would

Fed effort may deepen recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's stepped-up attack on inflation should deepen the expected recession, say three leading economists.

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, meanwhile, called the board's sweeping initiative "good news" and pledged to back the actions with other steps, if necessary.

He told a New Orleans bankers' convention Monday the United States is "determined" to maintain the dollar's stability around the world.

The Federal Reserve Board's action Saturday came as much to support the beleaguered dollar as to curb excessive use of credit, which fuels inflation.

The dollar did strengthen on world currency markets Monday, while the price of gold fell sharply.

The board's moves, including a hike in its bank lending rate from 11 percent to 12 percent, "guarantees" a recession, said Otto Eckstein, head of Data Resources Inc., of Cambridge, Mass.

He and Michael Evans of Evans Economics in Washington predicted the prime rate banks charge—their best customers will reach 15 percent by December, compared with 13.5 percent now.

This would force many businesses to curtail hiring, cut production and lay off workers, they said.

George Perry of the Brookings Institution said, "The recession will be deeper than it might have been." But, he added, "The board didn't have a great deal of choice."

Miller said he does not believe the tight-money moves will deepen the recession, but he cautioned: "We are in the midst of a modest recession peculiar in shape. What we have to guard against is believing that a bounce back in the third quarter (July through September) means we are heading toward a nice recovery."

He pledged to "take other, complementary actions when and if appropriate," but he was not specific.

However, he rejected applying mandatory credit controls on consumers and businessmen as an anti-inflation step.

Man wounds wife following shootout

VINTON, La. (AP) — A former mental patient held his estranged wife and daughter at gunpoint for three hours, then shot and wounded his wife after he was wounded in a gunfire exchange with police, authorities said.

Eddie Dean Alford, 25, of Houston was listed in stable condition today after emergency surgery at Charity Hospital in New-Orleans, hospital officials said.

He was arrested for attempted murder and aggravated assault, police said. His wife, Sandra Lassien, 21, apparently suffered only minor injuries.

Official wants to stall bilingual education plan

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Texas' top public school administrator says that responsibility for teaching bilingual education lies in the home and not in the classroom.

Texas Education Commissioner Alton Bowen proposed that the expansion of bilingual education be halted until there is proof the program is working.

"We should not expand bilingual education until we know that it's good," Bowen told members of the Texas Association of School Boards and the Texas Association of School Administrators at a joint meeting.

The state will spend about $4.5 million this school year on bilingual education, a program where the basic learning skills are taught in Spanish to Mexican-American children.

He said the responsibility for maintaining a culture's language lies with the home and community and not the school.

"Without proficiency in the dominant language of this country, joining the mainstream is impossible," he said.

Citing conflicting studies on bilingual education, Bowen said, "The jury is still out." Bowen, who stepped up as the Rochelle Lassien fled the house and alerted police, Alford said. When he arrived, he found Alford standing in the front window of the house and holding a pistol to his wife's head, Alford said.

Alford was joined by Calcasieu Parish sheriff's deputy Ron Perkins, who assisted with the negotiations while police and deputies sealed off the neighborhood.

One deputy, a sharpshooter, took up a position covering the house with a high-powered rifle, Alford said.

"We negotiated with him for three hours and met all of his demands. We tried to get him to release his hostages," Alford released his niece and demanded that police contact his brother in Lafayette, his mother in Carencro, and a doctor who had treated him at the Acadiana Mental Health Clinic in Lafayette, Alford said.

Alford's mother called him, and a staff member at the clinic who knew Alford spoke to him.

But Alford said Alford suddenly began shooting at police and the sharpshooter shot back, wounding him in the neck and arm. Officers then rushed the house.

TEA's top man Sept. 1, said the State Board of Education should not compel bilingual education past the third grade until accurate data on its effects are available.

"For 200 years this country has been well served by the melting pot concept of one nation, one people, one common language," Bowen said.

"Race and language are extremely important elements of any group's heritage and should be maintained. But the responsibility for such language and cultural maintenance is with the home, the family, the community and not with the school."

With school days limited to seven hours, Bowen said, "we simply don't have time to be all things to all people. We cannot solve all of society's social problems."

Ruben Bonilla of Corpus Christi, national head of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said if Bowen cannot recognize the need for bilingual education in Texas schools, he should consider resigning.

"In the first place it is outlandish and the height of absurdity for one of our highest educational administrators to speak in obviously disparaging tones regarding our Spanish-speaking children."

"If I decide to remove my child from public school and enroll him in a private school, would this same law apply to the private school that I would be paying tuition to? Would it make a difference if the school was or was not approved by the Texas Education Agency? Would I have access to school records of my child if he were in a private school? Does the "Rights of a Minor Child" come under any of the above? If so, what grounds would I have either in private or public school to get what I feel is necessary to help my child reach his greatest potential? — Margie King

ANSWER: The headmaster of a private school in Midland suggests that you "shop around" for a school which has a program which could best benefit your child. The federal regulations do not apply when a child is enrolled in a private school where tuition is paid, the headmaster indicated.

It is an entirely different situation when public funds are being expended than the situation in a private school, according to the consulted headmaster.

READER RESPONSE CONCERNING BARKING DOG: In answer to the party about the barking dog in the neighborhood.

There may be a reason for his being that way and compelled to bark. I have a dog that barks, also. He is constantly aggravated by the neighbors' cats coming in my yard.

He has been shot at with BB guns. They throw rocks at him. How can a defenseless dog that's penned or tied keep from barking if someone mistreats him?

I would appreciate for someone smarter than that dog to answer this situation. — Sincerely, M.S.

Midland County man drowned

MARFA — A Midland County man, Joe A. "Mickey" Mullens, drowned Saturday in the Rio Grande River while on a fishing trip with three friends near Lajitas, according to Presidio County Sheriff Rick Thompson.

Mullens, 38, who lived in rural Midland County, and three fishing companions were staying in a house on a bluff a few feet from the water, Thompson said.

Three of the men had been visited by other friends earlier Saturday. They noticed Mullens was missing about 6:30 p.m., and the sheriff's office was notified about 8:30 p.m.

Thompson said his deputies dragged the river Sunday and located the body about 12:30 p.m.

Mullens had moved to Midland in 1978, when he bought out Glynn Gibson and Associates Polygraph Co. in Odessa.

First session Thursday for Leadership Midland

Members of the 1979-80 class of Leadership Midland will meet Thursday for the first day-long session of nine planned over the next several months.

A coffee hour at Midland College beginning at 8:30 a.m. will open the session. After that comes a welcome to the Leadership Midland participants by Joe Kloesel, president of Midland Chamber of Commerce, and remarks from Reagan Legg, chairman of the program.

Helping participants with their understanding of the city will be Smith Ray, an attorney who will outline Midland's history.

Grant Billingsley with the Economic Development Department of the chamber will look at the existing environment and the future for Midland.

A panel consisting of Legg, Parker Humes, Mike Bradford and Harriet Herd will review perspective of the program.

After lunch is a talk by Joan Baskin and Pat Baskin on "Your Growth as a Volunteer."

Harrell Feldt, Ted Kerr, Joann Foster and Paula Cahoon will lead a discussion on how the participants can work with boards and other agencies within the system.

Concluding the day's session will be Dr. Eugene Nifi, chairman of the faculty of accountancy and information systems, who will talk on "Qualities of Effective Leadership."

Other sessions on the schedule include health care on Nov. 8; housing and poverty, Dec. 13; youth and education, Jan. 10; city and county government and the criminal justice system, Feb. 14; culture and recreation, March 13; transportation, communication and design of the city, April 10; industry, agriculture, energy and the economy, May 8; and objectives for Midland, June 5.

An awards banquet will conclude the program year on June 10.

Leadership Midland is a project involving leadership development. It is sponsored by the Midland Chamber of Commerce and Midland College.

Record-topping temperature of 100 degrees felt in Tall City Monday

Things were sizzling in Midland Monday, but it wasn't tempers. It was the thermometer.

For the second consecutive day, a new record high was set as the mercury topped 100 degrees. This broke the 45-year-old record of 93 degrees set in 1934. The weatherman said this marks the hottest it has been for so late into the fall season.

But autumn weather should be taking hold for a couple of days, giving some relief from the sultry summer-like days, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

A cold front blew through Midland early today, dropping the thermometer to an overnight low of 56 degrees. Low for tonight should plummet into the mid-40s, said the weatherman.

Record overnight low for this date is 36 degrees set in 1970. High on Wednesday should be near 80.

Winds should be gusty and 15-25 mph this evening, decreasing to 5-10 mph late tonight, the weatherman said.

Along with the cold front today came blowing dust throughout the Permian Basin, according to weather watchers in area towns.

Credit controls could range from banning credit cards to setting minimum down payments for automobile purchases to limiting a business's ability to borrow.

Miller said current methods of dampening credit could work better than controls.

Besides imposing higher interest rates, the Federal Reserve Board is increasing reserve requirements on banks, which should shrink the funds they can loan.

Miller also told the American Bankers Association convention that the Treasury Department has been giving "special attention" to the dollar's value in relation to the German mark.

"Consultations have been held with German officials at the highest level to assure close coordination of countermeasures," he said.

Heating: Costs climb up chimney like smoke

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

More than half the money you spend to heat your home this winter may be wasted. And it doesn't have to be.

Your dollars leak through cracks around windows and doors. They flow from attics that don't have enough insulation. And they vanish, like smoke, up the chimney.

Terms like thermogram, energy audit and payback period are becoming household words, as consumers — faced with warnings of fuel bills that could be double last year's — try to find ways to cut costs by saving energy.

Utility spokesmen say anywhere from 10 percent to 60 percent of the heat produced to warm U.S. homes is wasted. That means that you may be throwing away from $1 to $6 of every $10 you spend on heating.

The cure may be something as simple as setting back your thermostat at night — a move that can cut energy costs by 9 percent to 15 percent depending on where you live. Or it may require a major insulation effort — a project that can mean a savings of 50 percent to 60 percent for some homes.

The Department of Energy estimates that 40 million single-family homes — a little less than two-thirds of the total — are not properly protected against the weather.

Government studies show that about one-fifth of the energy consumed in the nation is used in private homes. Almost three-fourths of that amount goes to provide heat and hot water.

Regulations being developed under the National Energy Act of 1978 will require large utilities to help you find out where you are wasting energy and suggest ways you can save. The utilities also will have to help you arrange to pay for and install energy-saving devices.

Some states already require this kind of effort by utilities; in other areas, companies have voluntary programs to encourage customers to add insulation, caulk and weather strip windows and doors, etc.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co. of California, for example, has offered energy audits to its three million residential customers since last November. By the middle of September, the company had completed 14,000 audits, according to spokesman Mike Willhoit. By the end of the year, it expects to finish an additional 6,000 audits.

Utility-sponsored conservation programs vary; some are free, others cost from $3 to $10. Some utilities send a trained inspector to the customer's house; others require the homeowner to do his or her own checking. In most cases, however, the end is the same: A computer analysis that tells you what you can do to cut energy use, how much it will cost, how much it will save and how long it will take you to save enough to cover the expense.

Willhoit said Pacific Gas & Electric's "energy conservation specialists" visit customers' homes, spending about an hour and a half to two hours, to check things like the amount of window space, the number of appliances, the exposure, the construction of the walls and frame, the amount of actual living area, the setting of the thermostat, the type and size of heating and cooling systems used and the amount of insulation.

The results are fed, via telephone, into a central computer and, within minutes, a mini-printer gives the homeowner a set of conservation recommendations. If he or she decides to add attic insulation — one of the biggest energy savers and one of the things that is most often needed — the company will arrange for installation, financing and inspection. Loans for up to $500 are available at an interest rate of 8 percent a year.

Willhoit said it is too early to tell how many people are following the advice of the auditors. "But we do know that 15 percent to 20 percent will install insulation through our service program," he said.

Utilities in Iowa are using thermograms — infrared photographs taken from the air to show where heat is escaping — to boost conservation. The Skyscan program run by the Iowa Utility Association began in the fall of 1977 and spokesman John Lewis said about 35 percent of the major communities in the state have been surveyed.

Once the thermogram for a city is finished, customers are invited to look at the prints, to see whether their houses are losing energy. "We have had excellent results," said Lewis. About 35 percent to 40 percent of the customers have viewed the thermograms and about one-fourth of those have done something to plug leaks.

Lewis said he doesn't know how much energy is being wasted in Iowa homes. "Almost any home you might pick, there is something that could be done in the way of insulation," he said, adding that "60 percent to 65

The cure to 'lost energy' may be something as simple as setting back your thermostat at night — a move that can cut energy costs by 9 percent to 15 percent depending on where you live. Or it may require a major insulation effort — a project that can mean a savings of 50 percent to 60 percent for some homes.

percent need to do something substantial." Jan Hickman of the Long Island Lighting Co. just outside New York City said the utility's energy audit program, started in June 1978, has been "quite successful." But the real response came this summer. "There's been quite a jump since the gas lines," Ms. Hickman said.

Long Island Lighting — known as Lilco — offers three types of audits: a free, do-it-yourself one; a $3 mail-in audit; and a $10 on-site inspection. Almost 10,000 of the utility's 800,000-plus residential customers have signed up for one audit or another.

The federal government offers help in several ways. Tax credits are available both for basic conservation equipment and for things like solar systems and wind-powered devices. The credits apply to work done on the taxpayer's principal residence after April 19, 1977, and through 1985. Information is available in Publication 903 from Internal Revenue Service Offices.

Legislation pending in Congress would expand the tax credit. The revenues lost by the federal government would be offset by President Carter's proposed tax on the increase in oil company earnings resulting from deregulation.

Low-income homeowners and renters can qualify for grants of up to $800 for materials and labor used to insulate ceilings, install storm windows, etc. To get more information, contact your local Community Action Agency or the state energy office and ask about grants under the National Energy Act.

The savings can add up. John Shearer of Gulf Power Co. in Pensacola, Fla., said that if you spend $2,000 to save energy on a typical home built before 1971 you will save that much money in 10 years at current rates. And as the rates go up, the payback period gets shorter. Shearer said that owners of older homes could reduce their heating and cooling costs by 40 to 60 percent through conservation.

In California, Willhoit said that 200 therms of gas — about the average monthly usage for a homeowner in a moderate climate — would have cost $45 last year; the same 200 therms will cost $65 this year. But the homeowner who weather strips doors and windows, insulates the hot water heater, installs a low-flow shower head, lowers the thermostat at night and, if necessary, adds insulation, will be able to cut energy consumption enough so that this winter's monthly bill will be only $35.

Former Texas Observer editor to run for Railroad Commission

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Jim Hightower, calling himself the "candidate of Texans who don't own an oil well," has announced he will try to unseat Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent in next year's Democratic primary.

Hightower, 36, resigned as editor of the Texas Observer in July to make the race. Talking to about three dozen backers and a group of reporters outside the Railroad Commission building, he said his investigative reporting "made me angry enough about special interest government to run for office."

While he spoke outside the empty building — Monday was a holiday for state employees — the automatic lawn sprinkler system turned on, spattering Hightower's brown cowboy boots.

He said the present three commissioners run the oil and gas regulatory agency in the interest of oil and gas companies, not Texas consumers.

As a result, he said, natural gas rates have risen 1,000 percent in eight years and are the nation's highest.

"We had what I consider to be a manipulated shortage of gasoline the past year but the Railroad Commission didn't even make an investigation," he said.

Hightower said he would have voted for an investigation and also would insist upon independent data on oil and gas reserves rather than rely upon information from oil companies.

When natural gas utilities appeal to the commission after cities turn down their requests for rate increase, "I would have a bias against utility increases," Hightower said at a news conference after his announcement.

He said the certainty that John Connally's presidential candidacy would draw numerous conservative Democrats into the Republican primary gave him a chance to beat Nugent.

"I doubt I would have run had it been otherwise," he said.

Hightower said he realized he would not prevail in many votes on the three-man commission if he is elected but would go public with his views when he is outvoted.

He said he expected to raise and spend $300,000 on the campaign and already has donations or commitments of $100,000. He said he would not accept any contributions from persons in the oil and gas business but would raise his money from "lawyers, farmers, unions, just people."

The candidate is a 1965 graduate of North Texas State University, where he earned a degree in government.

Temple stresses candidacy in airport news conference

By BILL MODISSETT
Staff Writer

Describing the Texas Railroad Commission as an ideal forum for decreasing regulation of the oil and gas industry, former state Rep. Buddy Temple of Diboll today announced at a news conference at Midland Regional Airport that he is a candidate for the commission.

Temple, 37, spoke at a 10 a.m. press conference at the airport. He is on a tour of Texas cities announcing his candidacy following a general announcement to that effect last week.

"Except for the federal Department of Energy, no agency has a greater impact on energy production than our own Railroad Commission," Temple said.

"And no other agency has the potential to provide as much leadership on questions of national energy policy as does the Texas Railroad Commission," he added.

Many of Temple's comments during the press conference centered on energy and he said, if elected, "I think it's critical we have adequate energy supplies."

The four-term legislator said he would not promise cheap energy. Such a promise, he said, would be a lie.

But Temple said he will support existing policies and will work toward enactment of new policies intended to ensure adequate energy supplies for Texas in the future. The next 10-15 years in the United States will be the most crucial as far as oil and gas production is concerned, Temple said. After that period, he claimed, oil and gas production will become less important because of the development of alternate forms of energy.

In a prepared release, Temple said, "It is important to realize that although Texas is a producing state, it also has 13 million consumers. That puts Texas in a unique position to formulate balanced policies which are fair to consumers and producers."

But oil and gas aren't the commission's only concerns, Temple noted. Other important industries regulated by the commission include the state's transportation industry, gas utilities and its strip mining and geothermal industries.

Temple, who will oppose John Poerner in the race for the Railroad Commission, said Poerner has not been as effective a commissioner as he should have been.

Temple also said he feels he is ready to be elected to a regulatory agency. He said he expects the job to entail hard work.

But, Temple added, "If elected, I intend to be an aggressive, vocal spokesman for Texas consumers and producers in Washington and here at home."

Energy savings booklets offered

By The Associated Press

Help! The federal government offers more than half a dozen booklets on saving energy in the home. They are all available from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

Here is a list some of the booklets (Be sure to order by number.):

—Tips for Energy Savers, 610G. Free. A 46-page guide on heating, cooling, lighting, appliances, etc.

—In the Bank or Up the Chimney? 056G. $1.70. A 79-page "how-to" booklet, with instructions for installing weather stripping, caulking, storm windows and insulation, as well as worksheets to help you figure out what you need and advice on how to select a contractor.

—How to Improve the Efficiency of Your Oil-Fire Furnace, 605G. Free. A 12-page pamphlet on adjustments that can cut costs.

—The Energy-Wise Home Buyer, 109G. $2. A 59-page look at energy features you should consider when buying a new or used home. The booklet includes charts and maps to help you figure energy costs and detailed checklists.

—Home Heating, 048G. $1.10. A 24-page explanation of the most commonly used heating system, with information on installation, operation, maintenance and costs.

Fire Prevention Week

The display of winning posters of Midland school students in the 1979 Fire Prevention Poster Contest calls public attention to the observance of "Fire Prevention Week" now under way in the Tall City, and across the state and nation.

The poster contest was sponsored by the Midland Fire Department and the Independent Insurance Agents of Midland.

Activities of the observance largely are centered in the schools, and this is great since it also gets the desired message home to the parents in most cases. And the practice of fire prevention in the home is perhaps where it is needed the most.

But interest is not confined to the schools alone. For instance, the Midland Downtown Lions Club will observe its annual Fire Prevention Week program at its Wednesday noon meeting. The club at that time will recognize the city's "Fireman of the Year," while presenting him with a $100 cash award. His name also will be placed on the large Firemen of the Year plaque in the Central Fire Station.

Fire prevention programs also are scheduled by other clubs and organizations of various kinds.

This is all well and good, and the community and its citizens will benefit from the interest generated during the observance.

It was 108 years ago Monday (Oct. 8, 1871) that the famous, disastrous Chicago fire occurred, and ever since then the danger of fires has been stressed by fire departments and others at this time of the year. The National Fire Protection Association in recent years has sponsored Fire Prevention Week, nationwide.

It is a most important observance, one which should have the full support and interest of all citizens.

It is predicted that in 1979 more than 12,000 Americans will lose their lives in fires, and 1 million buildings will burn in the United States. Approximately 30 percent of the deaths from fires will be children, often unable to help themselves.

If this doesn't gain your attention and turn your thoughts to fire prevention practices, we do not know what will.

And the worst part about the whole business is that most of the fires could be prevented, with proper attention and care.

Your participation in Fire Prevention Week, through careful inspection of your homes and places of business, is urged.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A place for us

To The Editor:
 The teen-age generation of Midland is widely misunderstood. Many people feel that teen-agers should be greatly restricted during the weekend evenings. Several complaints are made by older citizens every weekend involving teen-age activities. Teen-agers, however, are not basically bad. They just have a routine that they find very interesting to follow. One example of this routine is that teen-agers like to go places and join together in rather large groups. The purpose of these groups is not destruction. These groups are based on friendship and teen-agers like to be around many of their friends.

When a rather large group gathers, however, there is bound to be a little noise. This noise is the basis of several complaints. Teen-agers do not intentionally disturb people. The problem is there is no place in Midland for teen-agers to go where no one will be disturbed. I feel that it would aid greatly to the community if some sort of park or recreational facility would be built for the teen-age generation away from citizens who would be disturbed. Midland has the money. Why isn't something done about this problem?

tion of SALT II.
 They also got the royal carpet treatment which began with a breakfast briefing at the White House by the president and Mr. Brzezinski. These religious leaders came from Southern Baptist, Catholics, Lutherans and Reformed Jews and numerous other persuasions. Their joint cry was: "Failure to ratify SALT II would endanger us all."

Would to God these church leaders would take their calling seriously and see to it that they stay in their own back yards and preach the saving Gospel of Jesus Christ in their own pulpits. Church leaders, whether pastors or laymen, are to be about the Lord's business, not marching, rioting nor sippin' tea in the president's house. That's not their calling!

The National Council of Churches was also represented by its president, the Rev. William Howard. Mr. Howard was quoted in an official press release that "the council will more diligently study the Bible, particularly the Scriptural mandate for one church." Mr. Howard was the moderator of the WCC Commission for the Programme to Combat Racism when that body voted to give grants to groups so radical that even the Salvation Army withdrew its membership in protest from the WCC.

The main interests of the NCC are political, its religious programs are liberal and unscriptural and its influence is certainly detrimental to the true Christian faith and a free America.

Suppose again...

To The Editor:
 Earlier this year during the Plan O controversy you published a letter to the editor I had written at that time. Upon publishing the letter to the editor you headlined the letter "Just Suppose..."

I believe now is a very appropriate time to republish the letter, if you will. It was as follows:
 "To The Editor:
 "Hopefully this letter is a hypothetical situation."

"Suppose a local school administration was searching for a way to pass a large bond issue in their community and get public support heavily behind them."

"Would it be possible for this school administration to propose a very controversial plan, have the local citizens become very vocal and upset, and have a staff study of the proposal under-way at the same time?"

"Would it also be possible that the staff would then complete the study and propose that the situation be left as it is, but that a very large bond issue would be needed to do this?"

"If this would happen, would the taxpayers then shout praises at the school administration and increase their already exorbitant school taxes?"

"Taxpayers beware."
 Hum — just suppose?"

Vital importance

To The Editor:
 The upcoming school bond election is of vital importance to Midland's future. Not only can it be a positive factor in Midland's potential growth, but it will also affect the academic performance of this and future generations of students.

Midlanders have historically sought excellence in our educational system. One big step in this search can be a "yes" vote in this election.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Fidel Castro kneels to U.S.S.R.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Scarcely a decade ago, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was portrayed in intelligence reports as an undisciplined, flamboyant firebrand who sought to stir up revolutions throughout Latin America.

Now he is described as a subdued old fox who has completely sold out to the Soviets. He still has flashes of what one report calls a "tropical temper." But he submits to the Kremlin with "a careful mixture of adulation, confidence and ostensible humility."

This dramatic change in Castro may help explain what is happening in Cuba today. The Caribbean country has come under the Soviet thumb; the secret dispatches are explicit about that. Indeed, the Russians are transforming Cuba into a Soviet beachhead in the Western hemisphere.

But the process has been so gradual that, though it hasn't gone unnoticed, it has not alarmed the surrounding governments. Cuba was even accepted last month as the host for a gathering of non-aligned nations.

Recounts a defense intelligence study: "Castro supported Latin American insurgents almost indiscriminately in the 1960s, despite the strains it created in his relations with Moscow. But he apparently now accepts the Soviet view that Latin America is not yet ripe for armed revolution."

"Castro reportedly also agreed in mid-1975 that any future support for armed insurgency would be channeled through the local pro-Soviet communist parties."

Another analysis, classified "Top Secret Umbra," declares flatly: "Castro has demonstrated that the issues that had strained Cuban-Soviet relations so severely (12 years ago) are no longer even minor irritants. Cuban submission has been complete.

"The brash, young Caribbean rebel of the mid-1960s has been replaced by a mature, responsible, self-critical member of the team... The same firebrand who years ago had not hesitated to challenge Moscow on virtually any ideological tenet (now extols) the Soviet communists."

"The reports speak of 'the faithful Castro,' who is willing 'to defend Moscow from its ideological antagonists and to assure the Soviets of Cuba's loyalty.'"

"Surveillance reports claim that the Soviets, meanwhile, operate regular reconnaissance missions from secret Cuban airfields. An 'independent fighter unit' has also been conducting 'mock combat sorties' out of Cuba. Soviet submarines have been spotted refueling in Cuban ports, and sophisticated Soviet monitoring equipment has been installed in Cuba to intercept U.S. microwave telephone conversations."

Suggests a secret intelligence analysis: "The Cuban and Soviet focus at the present time is on expanding state-to-state relations and on encouraging the development of broad 'anti-imperialist' fronts. Both countries appear satisfied with their present policy."

"This does not mean, however, that Castro and Soviet leaders will give up the option to support 'national liberation movements' in Latin America when they feel conditions for revolution are propitious. Cuba's constitution recognizes 'wars of national liberation' as legitimate and describes Cuban aid to them as its 'right and international obligation.'"

LONG'S CHILDREN: Sen. Russell

Long, D-La., routinely uses his power as Senate Finance chairman in the service of the wealthy and the special interests. Now he is holding the health needs of the nation's poor children hostage in a cynical maneuver designed to help his re-election chances next year.

Here's what has happened: Long is pushing a national health insurance plan in competition with Sen. Ted Kennedy's more celebrated plan. Long's bill is not popular with congressional liberals, who feel that it would benefit primarily the middle class and do little for the poor.

"I want to get national health insurance out this year," Long has told associates. Of course, he meant his plan, not Kennedy's. The political credit that would accrue to the sponsor of a health insurance program would, Long reportedly feels, assure his re-election.

So the astute Louisiana solon, casting about for some way to get liberal support for his bill, latched onto the Child Health Assessment Program — a bill that had already been passed by the Finance Committee and is supported by liberal senators.

Long approached Sen. Abe Ribicoff, D-Conn., an enthusiastic sponsor of the child-care program, and told him he wanted to join the child-care bill to the health insurance plan.

Long explained candidly, "I need to do something for the poor." He promised that if his national health insurance bill gets bogged down, he will then support a separate child-care bill.

But insiders tell us that Long's unprincipled manipulation of the child-care bill will cause needless delay and may end up killing the bill entirely. The health needs of poor children may thus be sacrificed to the political needs of a senator trying to play down his well-established image as Big Business' best friend on Capitol Hill.

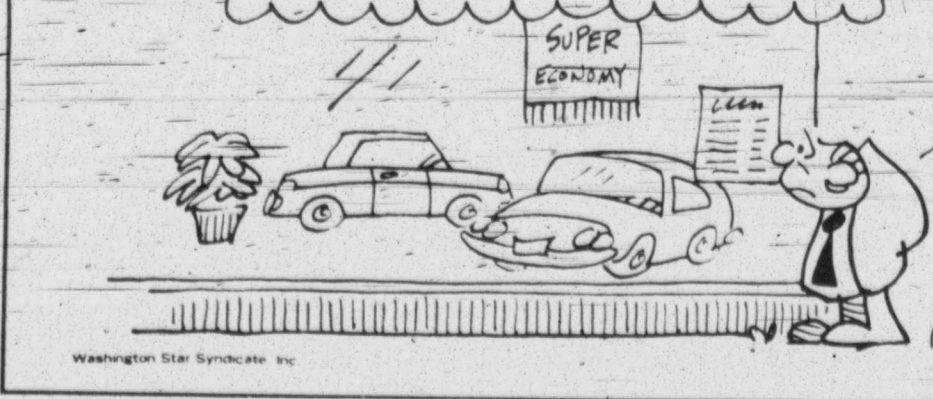

Mark Russell says

There is a course at the University of Iowa's College of Dentistry called "Children and Dental Fear." At last — a course for dentists to overcome their fear of children.

For years we thought children feared dentists. That's why their offices were decorated to resemble circus midway with balloons and trained seals — and the hygienists had to know how to juggle.

Why do dentists fear children? There are 32 reasons — 16 on the top and 16 on the bottom — those little nippers can bite.

Conservative approach

Conservation is an essential source of energy in large quantities.

That is one of the conclusions of "Energy: The Next Twenty Years," a report by a study group sponsored by the Ford Foundation. The findings were published last month.

"Both in the short and the long run, energy conservation is often the cleanest, quickest and cheapest way to react to the inevitable higher energy costs," the report says. "Over our 20-year period, conservation inevitably will become one of the most important energy sources quantitatively. Because effective conservation involves the decisions of millions of diverse individuals, with a few notable exceptions it cannot realistically be mandated or managed centrally, but requires that information and incentives be provided to energy users who make their own adjustments."

The conclusion is in line with the recent report of a Harvard Business School task force on energy. It emphasizes what Charles F. Luce, board chairman of Con-

Edison in New York, has been saying for years: The American people must develop a conservation ethic.

There are dissenters, of course, and we are among those who do not believe that conservation alone will remedy the energy shortage. But widespread conservation can and will help. But it will take a lot of doing to lead Americans into the fold. It very definitely cannot be mandated.

But times are changing and the public is coming to realize that we have been careless and wasteful. We can be more conservative.

HEW's folly on Chicago's public schools is preposterous

CHICAGO — This city's public school system is now foolishly being forced by federal bureaucrats to atone for its past sins of school segregation. After many years of trying, HEW has finally cornered Chicago with an Oct. 17 deadline to comply with a plan for total integration or Gotterdammerung.

Such insistence was lacking 15 years ago when Chicago ran a dual system as segregated as any in the South. But Washington bureaucrats are like wrongheaded generals who usually fight new wars with the same battle plans they used in the last ones, no matter how much conditions have changed.

In the mid-Sixties when it would have been truly valiant to fight the school integration battle in Chicago, the enrollment was about 50 percent white. But cities are like rivers — they are never the same. Today, only 19 percent of the children in public schools are white. The other 81 percent is labeled "minority." As Detroit's black mayor, Coleman Young, once said, confronted with the same problem, "How do you squeeze 80 into 20?"

The HEW answer, printed and in map form, makes computer technology look simple by comparison. I cannot, in this short space, possibly explain HEW's complex formula for jiggling and juggling those black, white, Indian, Asian and Latino youngsters around every morning in gasoline-filled buses.

Nick Thimmesch

An alternate plan by Chicago School Superintendent Joseph P. Hannon, euphemistically titled "Access to Excellence," involved busing and juggling, too, but on a mostly voluntary basis. Naturally, the federal bureaucrats nixed it. So HEW is now ready to spend up to 80 days after that Oct. 17 deadline to prepare its case for Justice Department prosecution.

Back in 1965, during the heyday of the Great Society, HEW threatened to withhold a swatch of federal millions in aid to education from Chicago unless it desegregated its schools. President Lyndon B. Johnson always wanted to be advised of such potentially explosive orders, but the bureaucracy messed up, and L.B.J. wasn't told. By the time Johnson learned about the move, a first-class potential ruckus was under way, with Mayor Richard Daley blasting the feds.

Johnson, a fan of Daley, became furious over the mix-up and ordered Administration officials to settle the matter quickly. HEW folded like a tent. Secretary John Gardner, whose public piety always exceeded his courage, reversed the action of his underlings. The five-day war was won by Chicago, and to this day Chicago can honestly claim it has never been taken to court over school integration.

Johnson and Daley are gone. Gardner and other key figures in that crisis are now obscure. But bureaucrats live on, and now, armed with court decisions for precedence, they have seized on the Chicago of 1979.

Some are tempted to credit or blame Patricia Harris, the new HEW secretary, for the latest order, because she is black. But Harris has limited discretion in this matter, whatever her color. The bureaucracy usually prevails over the most willful appointees.

But some say Mayor Jane Byrne should show leadership on this problem. But so far she has alternately criticized and praised Superintendent Hannon or muttered noncommittal replies to public questions about what to do. "We'll work it out," is one of her recent ambiguous responses. The mayor could reassure Chicago blacks by filling a vacancy on the school board with a black. The present board is lopsided, with seven whites, two blacks and one Latino. Tsk, tsk.

There is no earthly reason for HEW

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

No age limit on allergies

Dear Dr. Solomon: How does the excessive use of alcohol affect the liver? — Greg.

Dear Greg: Alcohol enters the bloodstream directly through the stomach walls, and proceeds to act upon the central nervous system by changing basic mental functions. It destroys brain cells by withdrawing essential fluids from tissues and cells.

One of the functions of the liver is to break down the composition of alcohol, thus neutralizing its effect on the body. Particularly when there is food in the stomach, the liver can generally do its job properly if no more than one drink is consumed each hour. When the liver is overburdened, it has to compensate by creating an increased tolerance for alcohol.

Eventually, if the liver continues to be overworked, it loses its ability to compensate, becomes fatty, and is not able to function properly in breaking down the alcohol. The alcoholic thus develops a decreased tolerance for alcohol, and intoxication is produced more rapidly. Should the intake of alcohol continue for an extended period of time, liver cells die and scar tissue is formed. This is the condition of cirrhosis of the liver that is associated with alcoholism.

Dear Dr. Solomon: My eight-month-old daughter breaks out in a severe rash when she is fed eggs or anything containing eggs. Is it unusual for a baby this young to develop an allergy? — Mrs. J.M.

Dear Mrs. J.M.: There is no minimum age limit for allergies. As you have found, an allergy can develop at any age. Researches suggest that there is a familial tendency to these reactions — that is, if one or both parents have allergies, their children are more likely to develop them.

Dear Dr. Solomon: My neighbor tells me that diet is more important than medicine in the treatment of diabetes. I find this very confusing. Would you comment? — Mrs. L.

Dear Mrs. L.: Before I respond to your question, let me make some general, but extremely important, observations. First, treatment for diabetes — as for any medical condition — must be individualized. What may be perfectly proper treatment for one patient may be completely inadequate for another. Second, bear in mind that the maturity-onset type of diabetes presents different problems from the juvenile-onset type.

Having said this, I would add that diet is the keystone to the successful treatment of diabetes. Many patients with the maturity-onset type, for example, can achieve satisfactory control with diet alone. Moreover, even where diet alone is not sufficient, it still will help the patient obtain optimal benefits from the insulin or other medication he or she may be taking. Common sense dictates that the diet should consist of foods ordinarily used by other family members, but limited in total calories.

Unfortunately, almost all patients with the juvenile-onset type of diabetes require insulin or other kind of medication.

Oldest citizen gets last wish; He will be buried on a Saturday

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Charlie Smith, America's oldest citizen, had a last wish — to be buried on a Saturday "cause that's the day he did all the dirty things in his life."

That's what his longtime friend and caretaker, Margaret Ghent, says Smith once told her. Smith will get his wish — that part of it at least. He also asked to be buried in an expensive casket, but that part of his wish hasn't been settled yet.

The self-possessed, witty, 137-year-old ex-slave is to be buried Saturday after a service at St. James AME Church in Bartow.

Mrs. Ghent said Saturday was Smith's choice because in his younger years it was the day he did his carousing. It meant good times — the week was over, the work was done, the paycheck was in, she said.

Smith, who celebrated his birthday on July 4th along with the United States of America, died peacefully last Friday.

"He died of old age," Dr. Robert Ramsey of the Polk County Medical Examiner's office said Monday. "I know that's kind of vague. But his heart and kidneys just wore out."

"His coronary arteries were as open as those you would find in a 19- or 20-year-old," he said. "It was genetic, I imagine."

During a delicate three-hour autopsy, Ramsey removed a large bullet from Smith's pelvic area. He thinks it's a .45-caliber slug and said ballistics tests would be done to determine size and age.

"It was something he was carrying around with him for a long time," Ramsey said. "But it didn't have anything to do with his medical condition."

Smith, who charmed listeners with first-hand tales of the old West, claimed to have fetched water for Jesse James and to have helped Billy the Kid track an assassin.

In 1961, after quizzing Smith about his age, a Social Security case worker said in a memo that he was willing to answer all questions but two: why he left Texas and how he got shot.

Smith maintained that he had come to the United States from Africa at the age of 12 aboard a slave ship and was sold on the auction block to a Texas rancher, Charlie Smith. After emancipation, Smith worked his way through Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia doing odd jobs before drifting to Florida in the early 1900s.

"You had to know what kind of a person he was," says Mrs. Ghent, 51, who took care of him until five years ago when he was moved into a nursing home. "He liked to talk. He didn't like you to ask him too many questions. He liked to talk about Jesse James and riding."

Three honored for cancer test

NEW YORK (AP) — Three Chinese doctors who developed a simple test for liver cancer and proved the test could save lives are being honored by the Cancer Research Institute — the first physicians from the People's Republic of China to win an American medical prize, its sponsors say.

The award was given by the institute, a 26-year-old private foundation, to doctors who headed an ambitious eight-year program to screen more than 4 million Chinese for liver cancer.

"The magnitude and scope of their study is staggering. It's really a medical landmark," Dr. Lloyd J. Old, medical director of the institute and associate chief of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, said Monday.

Drs. Sun Tsung-tang of Peking, Tang Chao-Yu of Shanghai and Chu Yuang-yun of Jiang-Su province were to receive medals and $1,000 prizes each at an awards dinner tonight.

Old said the Chinese study is the first to show that mass cancer screening based on immunologic techniques can work.

"The test relied on a substance called alpha-fetoprotein, an 'antigen' which was detected because of its ability to bind to antibodies made by the immune system. The substance is present in the blood only when liver cells are dividing rapidly, as in cancer.

Immunologists have dreamed for years of such a "cancer marker" that would enable physicians to spot cancer while it is most curable — often before the patient feels any pain.

But Old said the Chinese test won't do for the United States. Liver cancer is less common here, for unknown reasons, and strikes an average of fewer than five Americans per 100,000 per year as compared with 50 per 100,000 per year in some parts of China.

"But it encourages us that such markers if they can be found for common cancers in this country will help in cancer control," he said.

Sun said 95 percent of Chinese patients with liver cancer detected by normal means die within three years of surgery. That's roughly the same as in the United States.

But he said 40 percent of patients live at least three years after the cancer is found in its earliest stage.

New York Opera reaches tentative contract agreement

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Opera and members of its orchestra have reached tentative agreement on a new contract, State Mediator Solomon Kreitman announced early today.

Terms of the pact were not revealed pending ratification by the 66 musicians, who are members of local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians.

Rehearsals were to begin today and the first public performance will be on Thursday with a production of "Falstaff," opera spokeswoman Sheila Porter said. The strike forced the company to cancel its scheduled performances from Oct. 2 through Oct. 11.

Beverly Sills, the opera's general director, headed the management's negotiating team, while the union's main negotiator was Max Arons, president of Local 802.

The musicians worked one month without a contract until the opera management suspended operations on Sept. 30, claiming it had to have either a new contract or a "no strike" promise in order to schedule future performances, especially a forthcoming four-week engagement in Los Angeles.

Urich out of hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Robert Urich has been released from Cedars-Sinai Medical Center after three days of recuperation for injuries he received while filming the ABC-TV series "Vegas".

Urich, 34, suffered torn ligaments and a dislocated shoulder Friday night while filming a scene for the series on location. The action involved in the scene was not described.

"He was moving in the scene and all of a sudden he just went down," said Aaron Spelling Productions spokesman Don de-Mesquita.

Urich was taken from the production area to Sunrise Hospital in Las Vegas and later was flown to Los Angeles. Doctors decided surgery wouldn't be needed to repair the damaged muscles.

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE Beware of Crossruff

By Alfred Sheinwold

If your enemy has a gun, steal his ammunition. Translation: Lead trumps when declarer threatens to cross-ruff.

North's strange heart response, made in the recent North American Championships in Las Vegas, forced South to bid spades. Don't try such "transfer" bids with casual partners, or you'll have nothing but disasters.

Declarer played low from dummy at the first trick, and East had to play the ace. South ducked the return of the queen of hearts, and West overtook with the king in order to continue with a high club. Declarer ducked again.

TRUMP LEAD

Now West should lead a trump in view of the club length and diamond shortage in the dummy. But West switched to a heart, and South ruffed red cards in the dummy and clubs in his own hand.

South won eight trump tricks and the two red aces. If West led a trump, South would win only seven trump tricks, for a score of minus 100 instead of plus 620 points.

Richard Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Newman, 2701 Sentinel Drive, has been appointed to membership in the 1979-80 Cadet Corps of Fishburne Military School in Waynesboro, Va., as a sergeant E-5.

Fishburne, a distinguished eastern military prep school now beginning its second 100 years of service to young men of the world, is located in the Shenendoah Valley at the entrance to the historical Skyline Drive and Blue Ridge Parkway.

Commenting on the appointment of Cadet Newman to the Fishburne Cadet Corps, the school's vice president and general manager, Robert B. Kerby, said: "My staff and I are extremely pleased to have Richard Newman with us this year. We are confident that his performance in our school's academic and military programs will be outstanding."

SHADES OF Smoky Mountain folklore will settle on the Louisiana Tech campus at Ruston later this month as the Tech Theatre players present "Dark of the Moon." Among the cast members will be David Brenner of Midland.

MR. AND MRS. JOE LYNCH, 1005 Shell Ave., announce the birth Sept. 16 of a son, Jordan Daniel, in Midland Memorial Hospital. The new arrival weighed 8 pounds and was 20 and 1/4 inches in length at birth.

JUDY JOHNSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Johnson of Midland, was selected to be a Little Sister of the Sigma Chi fraternity at Texas Christian University at Fort Worth.

MIDLAND WOMAN'S CLUB will host a benefit style show at 1430 a.m. Friday. The show will be an informal show featuring Swartz of Big Spring. Members of Midland Woman's Club who will model are: Edie Brasher, Allis Chapman, Lillian Raach, Dorothy Smith and Ruby Trammell. Big Spring models include Jan Eden, Paula Duncan, Marilyn Newsom, Martha Cohorn and Ann Turner. The public is invited.

LAURA MAYNE, bride-elect of Glenn Curry, was honored recently with a display shower in the home of Mrs. Murry Stehle, 3105 Sentinel Ave.

Special guests were the bride's mother and aunts, Mrs. Bill Mayne, Mrs. Rudolph Vosatko and Mrs. Grace T. Cummins.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Stehle were Mrs. Lynn Davis, Mrs. Ed Gemmill, Mrs. James Morris, Mrs. Jay Schlichting, Mrs. H.K. Herman, Mrs. W.D. Watson Jr., Mrs. Jim Gotcher and Mrs. Wayne Edson.

A CHICKEN SPAGHETTI supper will be served Thursday in the Dellwood Mall, under the sponsorship of Norman Read Chapter No. 1010, Order of the Eastern Star. This is an annual money raising event of the chapter.

The $3 adult ticket will include salad and bread and a generous portion of chicken spaghetti, said a spokesman for the group, with choice of coffee or tea. Children under age 12 will be served for $1.50.

A choice of desserts will be offered for a small extra charge. Serving time will be from 5 to 8 p.m. in the mall.

Tickets are available from members of Norman Read Chapter or by contacting Mrs. Kay Tweed, worthy matron, at 697-1569.

The supper was erroneously reported last week as taking place Wednesday.

SEVERAL MIDLANDERS were among the over 7,000 persons attending the annual Aspenade Motorcycle Convention in Ruidoso, N.M., this past weekend.

Accompanying a Midland group from Odessa were Doyle and Betty Williams and sons Swain and Marty. From Andrews were Cowboy and Ruby Calhoun.

NANCY L. SMITH of Midland is among 54 Southwest Texas State University coeds nominated for Homecoming Queen honors at SWTSU at San Marcos.

The new queen will be crowned at a Homecoming spirit rally Thursday night prior to a torchlight parade.

Mrs. Roy Kimsey, left, and Mrs. McKenzie Haralson look over their fall wardrobe as they plan to attend the style show and luncheon slated Oct. 16 in Midland Country Club by volunteers of Midland's Palmer Drug Abuse Program. Proceeds from the event will benefit PDAP, a free treatment center for drug and alcohol abusers recently begun in the Tall City. Grace Jones, who owns and operates a high fashion boutique in Salado, will bring her style of chic to Midland through fashions from the fall and winter collections of such top designers as Halston, Geoffrey Beene, Jean-Louis, Bill Blass and more. Reservations deadline is Friday. They can be made by contacting Mrs. Don Ewan at 694-2231. (Staff Photo by Brian Hendershot)

Federal programs offer job opportunities for the elderly

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Unable to make ends meet and unwilling to stop working, a growing number of older Americans are turning back to the workplace and the government is trying to help them find jobs.

A recently updated fact sheet from the federal Administration on Aging in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare lists more than a dozen government programs which offer opportunities to the elderly.

FOSTER GRANDPARENT PROGRAM

Foster Grandparents are low-income men and women, 60 and over, who are in good health and can provide love and attention to physically, emotionally and mentally handicapped children in institutions and in private settings. They generally serve four hours a day, five days a week, devoting two hours a day to each of two children. Tasks may include feeding and dressing the children, playing games with them and helping with speech and physical therapy. Volunteers get a stipend of $36 a week, plus a transportation allowance and accident and liability insurance. For information contact: Foster Grandparent Program, 806 Connecticut Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20525.

RETIRED SENIOR VOLUNTEER PROGRAM

The RSVP program encourages retired and semi-retired men and women to serve at Volunteer Stations in community agencies like courts, schools, libraries, scout offices and day-care centers. Participants are reimbursed for transportation, meals and other expenses associated with their assignments. For information, write: Action-RSVP, 806 Connecticut Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20525.

PEACE CORPS

Although many people think of the Peace Corps as a group of young volunteers, the agency actively recruits older participants as well. As of May, there were 287 Peace Corps members age 50 and over. Volunteers serve approximately 27 months in overseas assignments, helping developing nations with programs like agriculture, science, teacher training, health, nutrition and home economics. There is an orientation program of from four weeks to 14 weeks, usually in the country where the volunteer will serve. During training and service, volunteers get a monthly allowance for food, travel, rent, medical needs and vacation. A readjustment allowance of $125 a month is set aside for each volunteer and is paid on completion of service. For information, write: Action-Peace Corps, Room P-307, 806 Connecticut Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20525, or call, toll-free: 800-424-8580, extension 93.

SCORE

The Service Corps of Retired Executives is a volunteer program run by the Small Business Administration. It links retired businessmen and women with management expertise with the owners or managers of small businesses and community organizations who need advice. Volunteers may be reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses. By the end of last year, there were about 8,000 SCORE volunteers across the country. For information, contact: SCORE, Small Business Administration, 1411 L St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20416.

SENIOR COMMUNITY SERVICE EMPLOYMENT PROGRAM

Run by the Department of Labor, the Senior Community Service Employment Program employs economically disadvantaged older people in part-time community service jobs. Participants work in day-care centers, schools, hospitals, facilities for the handicapped, etc. Wages average about $2.50 an hour. People who are 55 and over may qualify for the 15,000 positions available. You can get information from: Office of National Programs Employment and Training Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 601 D St. N.W., Room 6402, Washington, D.C. 20213. Mark your letter: Attention Title V.

Note: Discrimination because of age is prohibited. People between the ages of 40 and 70 are protected in most cases. If you have a problem or a question, contact the local office of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission - listed in the telephone book under U.S. government - or write: EEOC, 2401 E St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037.

Bus driver injured when sniper fires

DEVINE, Texas (AP) - A sniper fired at a Greyhound bus early today, causing the driver to be injured by flying glass; the Frio County sheriff's office said.

The bus was en route from San Antonio to Laredo. None of the 37 passengers on the bus was injured, a Greyhound official in Laredo said.

Frio County Sheriff Benny Sanders said the shooting took place about four miles north of Devine along Interstate 35. He said a bullet apparently struck the windshield of the bus.

Simplification eases housework: Director

MONTICELLO, Ill. (AP) - "Work simplification" provides a new approach to saving time, energy and effort on routine tasks such as housework, says the director of therapies for a group of nursing and rehabilitation centers.

"While it was designed specifically to aid our elderly patients and to prevent disability occurring from overexertion, the idea makes good sense for anyone, young or old, who is concerned with making life easier, more efficient and more enjoyable," says Sondra Gerhardt of the Americana Healthcare Corp.

"The first premise of 'work simplification,'" she explains, "is eliminating unnecessary details - uncluttering. Household items that are not used are thrown away. Motions and activities are combined or streamlined. The sequence in which jobs are performed is rearranged to reduce movement and exertion. The remaining necessary elements of each task then are simplified as much as possible."

To illustrate, Ms. Gerhardt advises that equipment in each work area be pre-positioned and organized at the point of first use. Other suggestions include having all baking items - dry ingredients, mixing bowls, mixer - within a small radius.

Correct work heights are another important element to be considered, she points out, to eliminate excessive bending, stooping and reaching.

"The proper counter height for standing or sitting work should be 2 inches below the bent elbow," she notes. "And when washing dishes, hands should rest comfortably on the bottom of the sink while standing erect."

The program also incorporates some general tips for making tasks easier and reducing exertion. Motions should be swinging, smooth and rhythmic, with no jerking.

When possible, both hands should be used to do a job such as dusting.

To further cut down on fatigue, the program suggests that you work to music, in a relaxed way, at your own natural pace if you rest between tasks, lie down.

"It takes one-third more energy to sit at rest than it does to lie down," Ms. Gerhardt says.

Body mechanics - which concerns itself with posture, balance, body alignment and the use of muscles, bones and joints - is yet another element of the work-simplification program. Ms. Gerhardt offers the following hints for using the body most efficiently:

-Keep feet a shoulder-width apart with one foot slightly in front of the other to provide better stability.

-Try to stay as erect as possible while sitting, standing, walking or climbing stairs.

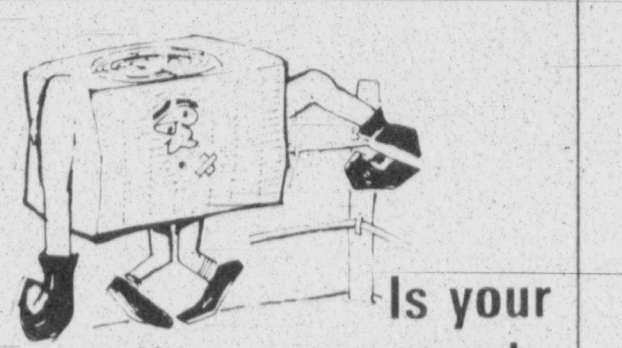

-To lift, push or pull a heavy object, bend your knees, not your back.

-Never twist while lifting. Pick up the item, hold it close to your body, then pivot.

"Work simplification stresses the importance of how you do a job rather than what job you do. Plan ahead and allow yourself time, so there's no need to rush. And," Ms. Gerhardt adds, "why not encourage family teamwork?"

Clements names three to board

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements announced the appointment Thursday of Shelma Ahrens of Dallas, Tony Wakin Jr. of Houston and George Carrington of Canadian to the Governor's Committee on Aging.

Is your cooling system ready to throw in the towel?

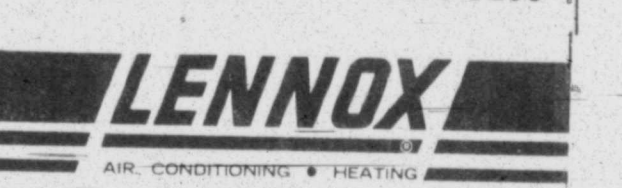

Your air conditioner may have been one of the all time greats but sooner or later it has to retire. Chances are it no longer runs as efficiently as it should and your cooling bills are a knockout every month.

So before your cooling system goes down for the count and leaves you steaming, replace it with a new, energy efficient Lennox central air conditioning system. Lennox central cooling is built to go the distance season after season, keeping you comfortable with dependable, economical performance.

If your air conditioner has fought its last round, crown a new champion in the fight against rising utility bills. Lennox!

Send recipes now for contest, cookbook

Deadline is nearing for submitting recipes in the annual Reporter-Telegram's recipe contest and cookbook section, "Recipes '79."

Readers of The Midland Reporter-Telegram will have a chance to compete for $774.95 in prizes for recipes submitted for the contest.

Three grand prizes will be given, plus six cash prizes of $25 for the first place winner in each category.

The first grand prize is a $299.95 Kenmore microwave oven to be given by Sears for the best microwave recipe in any category.

Furniture Showrooms of Texas is giving a $200 swing rocker in solid maple as the second grand prize.

Third grand prize is $125 in cash.

The deadline for submitting entries has been extended to Oct. 15.

This year's edition will be published Sunday, Nov. 4, as a tabloid supplement to the regular edition. It will feature scores of recipes submitted by readers.

The categories will be:

- (1)Salads; (2)Meats, Fish and Fowl; (3)Casseroles, Vegetables and Side Dishes; (4)Breads; (5)Cakes; and (6)Pies.

Winners will be announced in "Recipes '79" on Nov. 4.

All entries will be judged by a panel of professional home economists not connected with the newspaper. The judges will select the three best recipes in each category.

Readers are asked to submit only one entry per category.

Entries should be typewritten and all measurements and instructions clearly stated. Any recipes that are unclear will be disqualified.

Each entry should be clearly labeled at the top with the entrant's name, address, telephone number, the name of the recipe and category entered.

Send entries to: "Recipes '79," C/O The Midland Reporter-Telegram, P.O. Box 1650, Midland, Texas, 79702.

The contest is open to everyone in the Reporter-Telegram's retail trading zone except employees and agents of The Reporter-Telegram and their families.

DEAR ABBY

Needleworker makes good point

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Apparently most needlepointers are too busy to defend themselves, so I must come to the rescue with my first letter to Dear Abby!

I'm referring to a letter-criticizing women who needlepoint or knit while attending meetings, visiting with friends or whatever. You were right when you said it's "therapy for some who need to occupy their hands, and it beats smoking" (although I'm sorry to say that some needleworkers smoke).

However, I wish you had pointed out that doing something with one's hands, whether it is needlepoint, knitting, crocheting or embroidery, does NOT reduce one's ability to listen or converse.

At a recent gathering of the girls, someone asked me what I was knitting. "A dishrag," I replied.

"Humph," she grunted. "what a waste of time!"

I just looked up and said, "When I get through I'm going to have a dishrag. What are YOU going to have? (She graciously admitted that I had a point.)"

I'm enclosing the dishrag as a gift for you, Abby. Please use it and see if you don't agree that needlework is not only therapeutic, but useful as well. —PAULA S. IN HOUSTON

DEAR PAULA: Thanks for the dishrag. It wiped me out!

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for years, but this is my first Dear Abby letter. At the bottom of your column you say, "If you need help with your problems, write to ABBY," and could I ever use help with mine!

I am program chairman of our PTA, and I would like to start off with something especially meaningful pertaining to children since this is the Year of the Child, but I can't find a thing. Can you come to my rescue?

—FAITHFUL
DEAR FAITHFUL: How's this? "A child is a person who is going to carry on what you have started. He is going to sit where you are sitting, and when you are gone, attend to those things which you think are important. You may adopt all the policies you please, but how they are carried out depends on him.

"He will assume control of your cities, states and nations. He is going to move in and take over your churches, schools, universities and corporations...the fate of humanity is in his hands." —Abraham Lincoln.

DEAR ABBY: A reader asked if a bride walks the aisle or DOWN the aisle, and you said she walks DOWN the aisle to greet her groom, and they walk UP the aisle together after they're married.

Wrong! Actually the bride walks down the NAIVE!

The nave is that large separation in the center of the church dividing the church in half. The aisles are on the sides. —NITPCKER IN OCALA, FLA.

DEAR NIT: Thanks. I stand corrected. I confess to never having heard of "nave" (Naive?)

DEAR ABBY: Love your column. I've wanted to write to you many times, but my local newspaper hardly ever publishes your address, and when I've seen it, someone always throws the paper out before I can save your address.

What is it? —READER IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

DEAR READER: Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal (unpublished reply), please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. I answer ALL my mail.

YOUR BIRTHDAY TO-DAY:

Your attention to family matters will bring you fine rewards in year ahead. Domestic harmony will be at an all-time high. Health improves if you stop worrying. Money may come from unusual source but it will arrive at opportune time. Be more realistic in your approach to romance and you will come closer to happiness.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Do not allow personal problem to interfere with work. Postpone business trips. Results could be disappointing. Cooperation from spouse is brightest spot in your day. Remember to return the favor.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Cut down on expenses by watching spending more carefully. It is best to discuss things with others, but make allowances for strange or differing opinions. Problems of children merit top priority.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Mate may be the cause of some unexpected surprises. Events may not please you but could result in constructive changes. Be alert. Avoid associating with jealous person who can disrupt your plan.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Concentrate on your work. Develop hobby or avocation into a lucrative proposition. Cultivate person who knows how to merchandise ideas. Expect vague answers from a loved one about a money matter.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Use caution to keep assets intact. Accent now is on meeting opposition and dealing with it. A contract or special arrangement is highlighted. Build for future. Stress quality.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Read fine print before signing contracts. A meeting of the minds with person who can be difficult to deal with can cause sudden change in outlook and you can achieve much.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be careful where finances are concerned. Postpone business trips they could prove to be disappointing. Special agreement can be reached with strong-willed person. Personal dilemma is resolved.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You accomplish more by keeping a low profile. Job may be monotonous but paperwork is important. A telephone call or letter may be revealing about someone's personality. Trust your intuition.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Basic issues take precedence today. Second income can help you pay bills. Secure cooperation of your mate in avoiding indulging in luxuries. Put off business trips —results may be unsatisfactory.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Slow down work tempo. Pay attention to health problem. Children, friends, and acquaintances play greater role in personal life. Purchase of luxury item can bring smiles without breaking the family budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Co-workers are helpful. You should be able to complete routine work in record time. More people become aware of you. Language barrier could disappear. Write important letters, pay bills on time.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Give others an opportunity to air their views before stating your own position. You may have misinterpreted a situation. Relax more and increase your productivity. Seek new exercise, diet regimen.

Military study shows women cadets liberal, traditional

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Women cadets here are more liberal than male cadets when it comes to dating but more conservative than college women when it comes to sex, a study by the U.S. Military Academy shows.

They want both marriage and a full-time military career, and to be accepted as leaders, they adopt traditional masculine qualities, the study said.

Those findings were in a report released Monday by the Academy which has studied the impact of women on the institution since they were first admitted in 1976.

More than 70 percent of the women cadets said they wanted to be both officers and wives, a goal that under current Army policies may prove difficult.

"If a woman at graduation marries a male officer, unique problems of branch and assignment choice emerge from this relationship," the reports said. The Army does not guarantee dual assignments throughout a military career.

Uncertainty over being assigned to the same base as their fiances or husbands already has caused several women to resign from the academy, and other women cadets say they have seriously considered resigning.

Dating among cadets is more accepted by the women, who account for less than 10 percent of the 4,000 cadets, than by the men, the report said.

Nearly 12 percent of the men believe that any social contact with women is fraternization or favoritism and should be discouraged.

Daters sometimes are harassed, both verbally and non-verbally, and the report concluded that cadets "are just too young, sensitive and dogmatic to view harmless attractions with a proper perspective."

Sexually, both male and female cadets are more conservative than the national norm for college students.

Nationally, 50 percent of college men and nearly 40 percent of college women feel that living together before marriage is acceptable. But only 30 percent of both men and women at West Point agree.

Generally, the report found that stereotyped masculine qualities of physical prowess, roughness, competitiveness and assertiveness were valued by the cadets more than traditional feminine values of gentleness, kindness, warmth and devotion to others.

Women were rated lower by their peers when they failed to measure up to the men in tests of physical skill and strength, and the women tended to adopt traditional masculine qualities in order to win acceptance, the report said.

Carmen's treasury has many Mexican Imports

Halloween! What a happy time for the young people! Carmen's Mexican Imports has some delightful pinatas in stock. See the special new character pinatas — Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy, Supermouse, Batman, Spiderman, Wonderwoman. Also the delightful animals, including a little elephant which would win anyone's heart.

Many new things are in now at Carmen's. With winter so near, the fine suede coats and jackets are very attractive items.

Layaway is always available at Carmen's. It is not a bit too soon to consider getting the Christmas gifts lined up now, while the stocks are complete and there are so many lovely things at Carmen's for the whole family. Also, young married couples who have not yet established any credit are invited to come in and talk to Alex Rodriguez about obtaining credit at Carmen's Mexican Imports.

Some family gifts, to be enjoyed by everyone the year around, are the fine stereos and television sets at Carmen's. Come by, browse, and compare, and you will see for yourself the advantage of buying at Carmen's Mexican Imports.

In these days when clothing is so expensive, it is a better time than ever to have a good sewing machine. Mother would love to have one, and many young girls are learning they can have several pretty things for the price of one, when they sew their own. Carmen's has excellent machines. See them now.

Roy and Alex remind their friends to come in and see the pool cues they have for sale.

For an exciting variety of things, for work or recreation, for beauty alone or for usefulness, see Carmen's Mexican Imports, 401 E. Illinois, today.

States get timber checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has mailed checks totaling $186.5 million to 38 states and Puerto Rico, representing part of the money due them for the sale of timber and services in national forests.

Officials said the checks were dated Oct. 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year. Congress has not yet extended spending authority for most federal agencies since the old year ended at midnight Sept. 30.

Diane O'Connor, a spokeswoman in the department's Forest Service, said the spending cutoff did not apply to the payments because "Congress doesn't have to authorize the money" for the annual checks.

By law, 25 percent of the proceeds from the sale of timber, grazing rights and other services must be returned to the states where the national forests are located. The money must be used for public schools and roads.

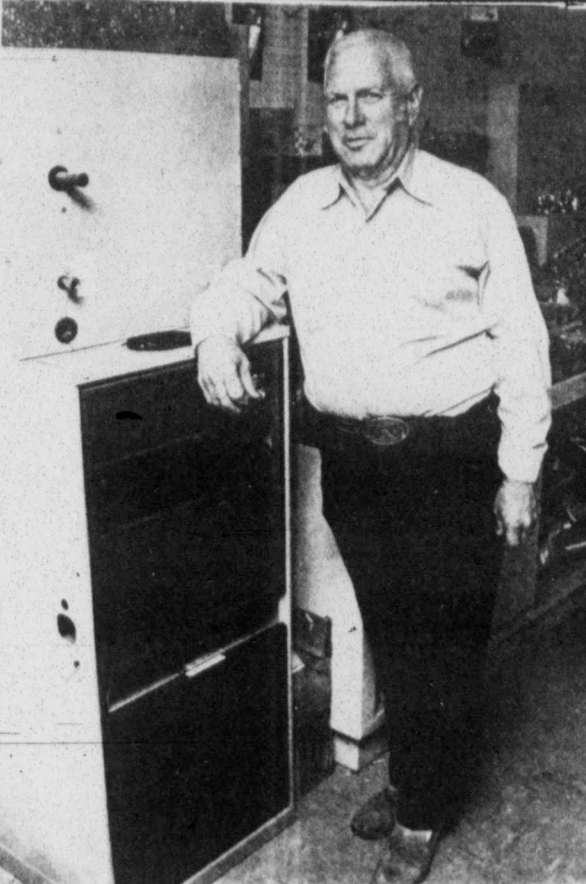

The checks mailed were an interim payment, amounting to 75 percent of around $250 million that is due this fall. The remaining money, about $64 million, will be paid in early December after the actual receipts for the last fiscal year are computed.

Officials said the checks mailed did not include an estimated $2 million that will be due later for South Carolina which "requested we not make an interim payment" at this time.

Ms. O'Connor said she did not know the reason for South Carolina's request.

The interim payments, representing about 75 percent of the total due each state, included:

- Alabama $558,000;
- Alaska $2,180,000;
- Arizona $4,224,000;
- Arkansas 2,543,000;
- California $37,927,000;
- Colorado $1,340,000;
- Florida $875,000;
- Georgia $619,000;
- Idaho $9,285,000;
- Illinois $23,000;
- Indiana $41,000;
- Kentucky $94,000;
- Louisiana $1,666,000;
- Maine $13,000;
- Michigan $450,000;
- Minnesota $464,000;
- Mississippi $3,715,000;
- Missouri $1,430,000;
- Also, Montana $6,013,000;
- Nebraska $38,000;
- Nevada $198,000;
- New Hampshire $188,000;
- New Mexico $1,994,000.

The season for the "blue norther" is not far away from West Texas. If you are not sure of the reliability of your furnace, it may be time to get a new Payne forced air furnace to ensure the family's comfort and health this winter, and many winters to come. Call Jerry Riel at Jerry's Sheet Metal, 700 N. Fort Worth. Call 684-4495.

Payne furnaces now at Jerry's

Jerry's Sheet Metal, located at 700 N. Fort Worth, has the furnace that will keep your family snug through many winters to come. Visit Jerry's and ask about the Payne forced air furnace.

With a Payne furnace you use safe, convenient gas, and you get automatic, efficient forced air heating, the type of heating that offers the essentials of comfort — gentle circulation of fresh, filtered air and uniform temperatures from room to room, floor to ceiling. There's a Payne to fit your needs exactly. Whatever your home size or type may be, the Payne forced air furnace is a comfort combination you just can't beat. You get the convenience of automatic gas heat, the comfort of forced air, and the finest furnace money can buy. See Jerry — also for service on your existing furnace. He can bring it up to the peak of efficiency for you.

For comfort, health, and protection of furnishings, your home should maintain a proper level of humidity. No matter what size your home is or what type of heating system you have, Jerry's Sheet Metal can supply you with an Aprilaire humidifier designed to provide the humidity you need. Call 684-4495 for a no-obligation recommendation for your home.

Did you know a humidifier works together with your furnace in maintaining a comfortable temperature indoors? Dry, heated air in your home steals moisture from everything in it. That includes the wood in the framing around doors and windows. The wood shrinks, and the result is gaping spaces that permit cold air to infiltrate your home, lowering the inside temperature and requiring more heating. Proper humidity helps prevent this shrinkage — keeps cold air out and warm air in.

So come and see the heating experts at Jerry's Sheet metal soon and enjoy the winter in comfort.

Judge accuses a land sales company of vicious fraud

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission judge Wednesday accused a Tucson, Ariz.-based land sales firm of "vicious consumer fraud" and ordered it to move to assist its customers.

Administrative Law Judge Ernest G. Barnes also recommended that federal courts be asked to order the Horizon Corp., to make refunds to past consumers.

The subdivisions involved in the case, the FTC said, are Paradise Hills and Rio Communities in New Mexico, Horizon City and Waterwood in Texas and Arizona Sunsites and Whispering Ranch in Arizona.

A spokesman for Horizon said the decision will be appealed to the full Federal Trade Commission and criticized the commission for making the decision public before sending copies to Horizon.

Barnes ruled that Horizon had made misrepresentations in national advertising, promotional literature, oral sales presentations and films.

Lawsuit yields $675,000

HOUSTON (AP) — Four children of a woman killed in a 1978 traffic collision will receive $675,000 under a state district court lawsuit settlement.

Wayne Fisher, lawyer for the plaintiffs said insurance carriers for Diamond Inc. will pay the money to Brenda Gail Archer, 12, Connie Mae Archer, 10, Sheila Ana Archer, 9, and Norma Jean Archer 6, who now reside with an aunt in Azle, near Fort Worth.

The lawsuit contended the mother, Gladys Marie Afcher, 30, received fatal injuries March 31, 1978, in a collision involving a Diamond truck at a Pasadena intersection.

States have three years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under proposed regulations, states would have three years to lower their welfare and Medicaid error rate to 4 percent or risk the loss of some federal funds.

The regulations — aimed at the Aid to Families with Dependent Children and Medicaid programs — were suggested by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in response to a directive from Congress. States that fail to reduce their errors would lose the federal share of overpayments exceeding the proposed ceiling. The regulations, open for comment for 60 days, will take effect Sept. 30, 1980.

Statesman cremated on banks of the holy River Ganges to leader of the people, Jayaprakash!" and a contingent of state police fired three volleys into the warm moist air.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Elder statesman Jayaprakash Narayan was cremated by the banks of the holy River Ganges today as hundreds of thousands of followers wept and chanted Hindu prayers.

An Indian Army gun carriage bore Narayan's body to the cremation site. The body was blanketed with marigolds, jasmine and roses, and surging crowds lined the route of the funeral procession as the gun carriage inched forward.

Caretaker Prime Minister Charan Singh called Narayan the "conscience of the nation" and his interim government ordered a seven-day period of official mourning for the widely-respected leader. Narayan, a one-time Marxist terrorist who turned to the philosophy of non-violence during India's independence struggle, died of a heart attack Monday in Patna.

Narayan, a one-time Marxist terrorist who turned to the philosophy of non-violence during India's independence struggle, died of a heart attack Monday in Patna.

All-India Radio reported a "vast sea" of mourners waded into the river in his hometown of Patna, crowded rooftops or perched on trees to catch a last glimpse of the "lok nayak" or "leader of the people" who spearheaded the 1977 voters' revolt which ousted Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and ended her dictatorial regime.

The funeral pyre of sandalwood on the banks of the Ganges, sacred to India's Hindus, was lit by Narayan's nephew, Anil Kumar Sinha, after the body was bathed in the holy river water.

San Francisco sniper hangs himself in jail cell with sheet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wayne Cullinane, the sniper who fired more than 50 shots from an office building and held a hostage for almost 23 hours over the weekend, hanged himself in his jail cell early today, police said.

Authorities said Cullinane was found at 6:30 a.m. by a trusty delivering breakfast. The trusty summoned a medical attendant, who cut the body down.

Cullinane apparently used a strip of bed sheet to hang himself, tying one end around his neck and the other around the highest bars of his cell, authorities said.

A shaken deputy, who declined to give his name, said Cullinane was checked periodically but was not under constant watch. He said Cullinane apparently hanged himself between 4:30 a.m. and 5 a.m.

The San Francisco Sheriff's Department is responsible for security at city jails. Sheriff Eugene Brown, and his department have been criticized in recent weeks for a series of escapes and for complaints about conditions at the jail.

Cullinane, 22, was arrested late Saturday after he fell asleep in a 16th floor office on Market Street where he had held a 55-year-old secretary hostage and fired random shots from a shattered window with a .30 caliber carbine.

His hostage, Chiyo Tashiro, was not harmed and only one person on the street suffered minor wounds from the gunfire.

Police negotiators, who had talked with Cullinane throughout the siege, described him as mentally disturbed.

He made a variety of demands, including "an end to oppression" and a $1 million food program for needy children.

Russian drifts to Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Police today arrested a 29-year-old Russian coal miner who said he drank too much vodka, fell asleep in his boat and drifted across 100 miles of ocean from Siberia to Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost main island.

A police spokesman in Wakkanaï, a community facing the Sea of Okhotsk, said Aleksandr Markeev told them he went hunting on a lake on the Soviet island of Sakhalin, drifted down a river, then across the strait to Hokkaido.

The spokesman quoted Markeev as saying he had fallen asleep from two bottles of vodka he drank to keep warm.

Markeev was taken into custody for allegedly firing a volley into the air from a double-barreled shotgun when he was approached by Japanese fishermen at a nearby harbor.

Markeev's one-ton plastic boat contained several tanks of gasoline for two outboard motors, plus canned food.

One policeman said, "If Markeev does return to the Soviet Union, he will be the first one among several Russians who have drifted across to Hokkaido."

Plane holds U.N. 'hostage'

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of people were evacuated from the U.N. Secretariat and General Assembly today after a man, angry at a publishing firm, began buzzing the company's nearby offices in a single-engine plane, police said.

"Security has advised us that a lunatic is flying around here and threatening to crash into the U.N. building, and for that reason we are ordering an evacuation," said a U.N. information officer, Rudolph Stagduhar.

However, Nora McCormick, a clerk at the police department's aviation unit, said the pilot was not threatening to crash the plane and was "very pleasant" in his conversations on the radio. She said he began buzzing the publishing company office about 9:30 a.m.

Bells sounded throughout the 48-story Secretariat building about 11 a.m. and security officers ordered the several thousand employees to leave.

Pat Calise, speaking for the Federal Aviation Administration, said the small plane took off from Morristown Municipal Airport at midmorning. She said he had only a few hours of fuel left by noon.

The pilot, tentatively identified as Robert Baudin, was in voice contact with two police helicopters hovering nearby, as well as with the radio tower at LaGuardia Airport. Both tried to talk him into landing his plane, Ms. Calise said.

"It's like a hostage situation, but a unique hostage situation," said Assistant Police Chief Milton Schwartz on the scene.

Britain drops negotiations for Rhodesian constitution

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington, staving off collapse of the Zimbabwe Rhodesia peace talks, today gave the Patriotic Front guerrillas a 48-hour deadline to change their minds and accept a British-proposed independence constitution. The guerrillas rebuffed him.

At a meeting of all sides this morning, Carrington said Britain would negotiate no more on the constitution for its breakaway former colony and that he must have the guerrillas' answer before the month-old talks could continue. A guerrilla spokesman responded to the ultimatum by maintaining that Carrington, the conference chairman, was "absurd" to demand a firm answer.

He indicated the guerrillas would continue to seek to shelve the constitutional dispute and get the discussion turned to who will control the army and administration before British-granted independence — a move Carrington has firmly rejected.

Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe, co-leaders of the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance, objected Monday to two points favorable to the white minority in the constitution Britain proposed for its former African colony.

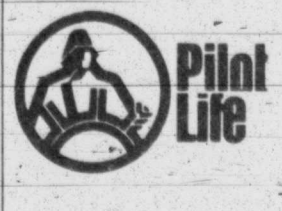

One provided for all white settlers to become citizens of the new country automatically. The other guaranteed financial compensation for property seized by a new black government from white owners.

The guerrilla leaders also revived their demand, made at the start of the talks, that the constitutional negotiations

Orioles, Pirates open series tonight

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver is concerned about losing the use of his designated hitter as the Orioles prepared to open the 1979 World Series tonight against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"It certainly is going to make a difference," said Weaver, boss of the American League champions.

Manager Chuck Tanner of the National League champion Pirates made it clear he would rather play without the DH, an American League institution disdained by the National League.

"We haven't had to do without it since the 1971 World Series," lamented Weaver. "Lee May (the Orioles DH in the regular season), was a big part of our offense. What effect it has will depend on the other eight guys in our starting lineup," Weaver said.

Tanner, who managed in the American League and is familiar with the DH's affect on the game, estimated it was worth half-a-run a game.

"But I'd rather manage without it," said the Pirates' field boss. "It's a different ball game. Pitchers stay in longer. You don't need the long reliever. And why shouldn't a good hitting pitcher bat? Why should he be penalized?"

The DH is used every other year in the Series, and last year, when the New York Yankees beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, Reggie Jackson had nine hits in 23 at bats with two home runs and eight RBI. The Dodgers' main DH was Lee Lacy, who went 2-for-14.

May hit 19 home runs and had 69 RBI this season as the Orioles DH. Obviously, the Baltimore offense has to suffer.

Bruce Kison, Pittsburgh's starting pitcher in the first of the best-of-seven game Series, had eight hits, scored eight runs, drove in six, including four with a grand-slam home run. He hit just 145.

But the only contact Orioles starter Mike Flanagan has had with the bat is seeing it in somebody else's hands. Flanagan, however, was 23-9 with a 2.65 ERA and is the big favorite to win the Cy Young Award as the AL's outstanding pitcher. He was baseball's winningest pitcher this year.

Kison was 13-4 with a 3.14 ERA, and was outstanding in the Pirates' September drive to the NL Eastern Division title, winning his last five. He's also 4-0 in postseason play.

The last time the Pirates were in the Series was 1971, the last time the Orioles were in the Series was 1971. Kison pitched one-hit ball for 6 1-3 innings in relief as the Pirates won the fourth game on their way to a seven-game triumph.

The Pirates, who reached the Series by sweeping the NL West Division champion Cincinnati Reds in their best-of-five championship set, were concerned about the condition of the Baltimore playing field. The Baltimore Colts played in the stadium Sunday in a National Football League game against the New York Jets and the natural turf was torn up.

Weaver alleviated the Pirates' fears.

"All I can say," he said, "is that the ground crew worked miracles. All the cleat marks and divots from the football game have been filled in. They worked on their hands and knees to do the job. It will be playable. That is, without rain ..."

Baltimore, which led the majors with 102 victories this season, beat the West Division champion California Angels 3-1 in the playoffs, and hosts the first two games. The middle three are scheduled for Pittsburgh, and the final pair, if needed, in Baltimore.

Weaver admitted he was having trouble deciding on a starting lineup because of his inability to use the DH. If he decided to put May in the lineup it meant moving a lot of players around defensively. The odds are May's Series role will be as a pinch hitter.

Tanner made no secret of his lineup and batting order against left-hander

Stargell, captain of the Pirates and a leading candidate for the NL Most Valuable Player award, played on the 1971 Pirates in their Series triumph over the Orioles. He refused, however, to compare the teams.

"I don't like to compare," Stargell began. "In '71, we had some brute strength. We knew we could spot a club five or six runs and still come back. But now speed is an asset ... We've got the speed and the defense we never had the reputation for. We have an abundance of pitching."

Ken Singleton, the Orioles top hitter at .295 with 35 home runs and 111 RBI, discounted the Pirates' "togetherness" philosophy as an important factor.

"The Orioles are the most close knit club I've ever been associated with," Singleton said.

DeCinces said he hadn't tested the back of a knee he injured against the Angels, although he reported it was a little stiff.

The Orioles were listed as 6-5 favorites to win the opener, and given a slight edge for the Series because of four games scheduled here.

Pitchers scheduled for Game Two Wednesday night are Jim Palmer for Baltimore and Bert Blyleven for the Pirates. Palmer, according to Weaver, will be the only right-handed starter in the Series against the predominantly left-handed power-hitting National Leaguers.

Raiders' victory a defensive gem

By ERIC PREWITT
AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders' defense had a right to feel overworked.

But Ted Hendricks was only kidding when he described his thoughts on the interception which played such a big part in Monday night's 13-3 victory over the Miami Dolphins.

"That's my first interception for a touchdown," said the linebacker who has intercepted 23 passes over 11 National Football League seasons.

"I don't like to see us get touchdowns on defense. It means we have to go right back onto the field again," he added. "I was thinking of stepping out of bounds at about the 5-yard line."

THE TALL linebacker ran 23 yards into the end zone; however, for the Raiders' second touchdown in the opening minutes of the third period. Miami, held to 35 net yards in the first half, was down 13-0 and a few offensive errors were yet to come.

Delvin Williams plunged 1 yard for a touchdown late in the third period, but the third-down play was nullified by a motion penalty, linebacker Phil Villapiano knocked down a pass and the Dolphins settled for Uwe von Schamann field goal and their only points in the nationally televised game.

The Raiders, 27-3 winners over Denver last week, evened their season record at 3-3 and dropped the Dolphins to 4-2. Oakland is back in the AFC West race while Miami is tied with New England for the AFC East lead.

"We made little mistakes, but they took on great magnitude," said Larry Csonka, whose running accounted for many of the yards in the drive from Miami's 25-yard line to inside the Oakland 1.

"Our special teams made errors again, serious errors. We have to get untracked and do the things that win football games," said Coach Don Shula.

A WEEK earlier, in Miami's first loss of the season, a blocked punt gave the New York Jets a touchdown. In the Monday night loss, Tony Nathan fumbled the ball away as he returned the second-half kickoff and the Raiders scored four plays later on Ken Stabler's 14-yard touchdown pass to tight end Raymond Chester.

Jim Breech missed the extra point attempt, kicking wide to the right, and the Raiders' offense gained only 56 yards over the final 26 minutes of the game. But Hendricks' interception sent them into the 13-point lead which proved more than enough.

"It was a poor decision, a poor play," said Miami Coach Don Shula, describing the pass Bob Griese aimed toward tight end Bruce Hardy on the right side.

"It was just a bad pass," said Griese, who also was sacked six times on the rough night.

REGGIE KINLAW, a rookie lineman who sees spot duty for Oakland, made three sacks and aided on another. His last sack came on a fourth-and-two play at the Raiders' 12-yard line early in the final period.

"It was my decision to go for it, get a touchdown on the board and get something going," said Shula.

But for the second straight game, no touchdowns were put on the board against the Oakland defense.

"That's quite a feat," said Coach Tom Flores. "Miami moves the ball against everybody."

"Williams and Csonka gave the Dolphins 169 yards rushing. The 32-yard-old Csonka totaled 83 yards, giving him a six-game total of 350, more than his season total with the New York Giants last year.

"He looks like the old Larry Csonka to me," Flores said of the fullback who returned to the Dolphins as a free agent after being released by New York.

"There are bruised shoulders all over this locker room because of Csonka," added Hendricks.

Dave Pear of the Oakland Raiders puts a one-yard gain during the fourth quarter of defense was impressive enroute to a 13-3 hold on Miami fullback Larry Csonka after a Monday night's game in Oakland. The Raider victory. (AP Laserphoto)

Trojans retain top position as Coogs drop in grid poll

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

The top five teams, led by Southern California, remained the same today in The Associated Press college football poll while Washington slipped past Houston into sixth place and Auburn cracked the Top Twenty for the first time this season, replacing Tennessee.

The Trojans of Southern Cal, 50-21 winners over Washington State, received 53 first-place votes and 1,285 of a possible 1,300 points from a nationwide panel of 65 sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama, Oklahoma and Texas held down the 2-3-4 spots, as they have since the preseason poll.

Alabama, which blanked Wichita State 38-0, received 11 first-place votes and 1,248 points. Oklahoma, which trounced Colorado 49-24, received 1,126 points while the other first-place ballot went to Texas, which defeated Rice 26-9. The Longhorns totaled 1,101 points.

Nebraska retained fifth place with 1,059 points following a 57-0 rout of New Mexico State.

However, Washington, seventh a week ago, crushed Oregon State 41-0 and edged past Houston into sixth place with 889 points. The Cougars, who squeaked past Baylor 13-10, dropped from sixth to seventh with 884 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten, just as they did last week, were Ohio State, Florida State and Notre Dame. Ohio State beat Northwestern 16-7 and earned 781 points; Florida State blanked Louisville 27-0 and received 756 points while Notre Dame held off Georgia Tech 21-13 and polled 664 points.

The Second Ten consists of Michigan, Arkansas, Louisiana State, North Carolina, Missouri, Brigham Young, North Carolina State, Auburn, Michigan State and Purdue.

Last week it was Michigan, Purdue, Arkansas, N.C. State, Missouri, Michigan State, LSU, North Carolina, Tennessee and BYU.

Previously unbeaten Tennessee lost to Mississippi State 28-9 and fell out of the rankings. That made room for Auburn, which handed N.C. State its first setback 44-31.

'Flake' Stanhouse does things his own way

But he's key to Oriole World Series success

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

BALTIMORE (AP) — You don't have to be a pitcher to be a flake, but it helps.

Take Don Stanhouse, eccentric right-handed relief ace of the Baltimore Orioles. You take him. The hard-hitting Pittsburgh Pirates may not be able to in the World Series, starting tonight in Memorial Stadium.

He's some kind of cat, this Stanhouse — a throwback to such nonconformists as Lefty Gomez and Flint Rhem and one who fits comfortably with such modern duplicates as Sparky Lyle, Al ("The Mad Hungarian") Hrabosky, Bill ("Grass-on-My-Cornflakes") Lee and Mark ("The Bird") Fidrych.

STANHOUSE is a whimsical-looking character with a light red frizzled Harpo Marx hairstyle, a mustache that dips down to his chin and a madcap personality that has made him the tension-breaker in the Orioles' clubhouse.

Teammate Mike Flanagan, has dubbed him "Stan the Man Unusual."

Stanhouse liked the sobriquet so much that he had a tee shirt made with the nickname on front plus a caricature of a pitcher sticking out his tongue. He distributed the shirts to all his fellow Orioles. He saved a spare for the stuffed gorilla which sits atop his clubhouse locker.

He is a bachelor who cloaks his zanyisms in a morbid exterior. He tends toward black clothes. He drives a black car. All the furniture in his pad is black, including the telephone.

"I think is working to be a mortician," quips catcher Rick Dempsey.

CHANCES ARE you'll be seeing a lot of "Stan the Man Unusual" during the next 10 days. He's Earl Weaver's favorite run plugger (45 saves the last two seasons) although he puts a heavy drain on the little skipper's cigarette supply.

Stanhouse walks more batters than he strikes out. He likes to live dangerously. He isn't comfortable unless the bases are full and the other team's best hitter is up, swinging the lumber ominously.

Such was the case in the second game of American League playoffs last week when, trying to save an early 9-1 lead which suddenly had deteriorated to 9-4, Weaver sent the rangy righthander into the breach in the eighth inning.

Before one could say "Charlie O." the score had gone to 9-8 and Stanhouse, walking the first batter, had the bases full and the Orioles' leading hitter, Brian Downing, at the plate.

Weaver, meanwhile, had sought sanctuary in the runway, unable to look, and begun burning cigarettes in anxiety.

"Why didn't you take him out?" the manager was asked afterward.

"Because I still had three cigarettes left," Weaver replied. Later he explained, "There's not a better man in a tight situation — he refuses to give in."

Stanhouse says he likes it when everybody is nervous and he isn't, adding, "It's fun."

LEFTY GOMEZ is chairman emeritus of the "Flake Club." Once he stopped a World Series game to stare at an airplane overhead. "You don't see many of them things," he apologized. Another time before a game in Boston's Fenway Park he changed clothes in a phone booth, explaining, "I wanted to get used to those short fences."

Flint Rhem, a legend when he pitched for the Cards back in the 1930s, would disappear for days at a time and return with grotesque tales of kidnapping.

Mark Fidrych, the young Detroit Tiger with injury problems, became an instant folk hero in 1976 with his bizarre histrionics on the mound. Built like an ostrich, all arms and legs, he worked with a wild intensity, always jerking at his cap, gardening around the mound and talking to the ball. "That's how I keep involved," he says.

Texas has Sparky Lyle, a notorious prankster, and Kansas City provides a setting for Al Hrabosky. "The Mad Hungarian." The latter tries to fighten batters with his heavy growth of beard, snarls and rants. "It's my big weapon," he insists. The Expos' erudite Bill Lee frightens the establishment by saying he puts marijuana on his corn flakes.

Flakes? Welcome to the club, Stan the Man Unusual.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — This is the time of the year — Texas-Oklahoma time — when college football gets exciting and serious, says Texas Coach Fred Akers.

Asked jokingly if Texas was ready to play Arkansas this weekend, Akers smiled and said, "They (football games) usually get exciting — if not before, at least by this time of the year."

Akers described the Texas-Oklahoma football game as the top game in college football, and he said it will be "intensely fought."

Oklahoma and Texas will match unbeaten and untied records at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Saturday before a sellout crowd of 73,032 and a national television audience.

Kickoff will be at approximately 3 p.m. CDT.

Mustangs still lone unbeaten

By RICHARD VINCENT
Sports Writer

Andrews was pushed to the limit but the Mustangs of District 2-AAA remained the only unbeaten area team with a 26-12 victory over Brownfield Friday night.

Other area teams fashioning victories were Reagan County of District 9-A, Rankin and McCamey of District 6-A and Stanton of District 5-A.

Meanwhile, Lamesa continued in the throes of their five-game losing streak and Crane again couldn't muster enough offense to be successful.

Reagan County raised their record to 4-1 with a 34-0 blitzing of the Golden Cranes while Rankin had plenty of defense in a 14-7 win over Ozona that increased the Red Devil register to 3-1.

Both McCamey and Stanton unloaded on their opponents, the Badgers pounding Van Horn 62-7 and the Buffaloes bagging their first district tie, a 42-0 verdict over Ropesville. McCamey is now 3-1-1 while the Buffs are 3-0-4 overall and 1-0 in the loop.

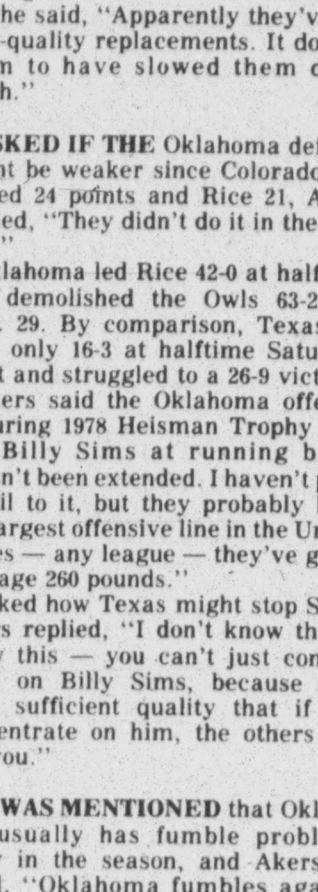

Lamesa of District 3-AAA led Lubbock Dunbar at half but ended up losing 20-10 as their log plummeted to 0-5. Crane of District 7-AA fell to 2-3 with their setback to Reagan County.

Once more, 2-AAA teams performed admirably with all five taking nonconference victories. Along with Andrews, Fort Stockton held off feisty Sweetwater 7-6 while Monahans upset Kermit 14-7, Pecos clipped Alpine 26-12 and Odessa Ector improved to 5-0 with a 10-7 triumph over Lubbock High.

In 3-AAA, Lamesa, Brownfield and Sweetwater were the victims while Snyder bested Levelland 24-0 and San Angelo Lake View scuttled Houston Northwest Academy 42-21.

Chaparrals come close at Abilene

ABILENE — Midland College came close but failed to nab any championships in the Halloween Invitational tennis tournament which concluded here Sunday.

The Chaparrals were represented in the women's doubles final and women's singles championship and in men's doubles.

Teresa Landry, an MC freshman from Plainview, lost in the women's singles to Beverly Bowes of Texas Tech, 6-2, 6-1.

In the women's doubles, Leslie Towry, a freshman from Wichita Falls, and Linda Hankins, an MC freshman from Balch Springs, fell to Bowes and Jill Crutchfield 6-2, 6-2.

A pair of Abilene teaching professionals, Joe Williams and Gary Marable, defeated the MC duo of sophomore Scott Dunn and freshman Sam Rivera 6-2, 6-3 in the men's doubles finale. Williams also captured the men's singles crown.

NASCAR points

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Cale Yarborough's victory in the NAPA 500, a 500-mile race, helped him out of fourth place in the National Association for Stock Car Racing's "points" standings. Yarborough is third with 4,987 points.

With four races left this season, Darrell Waltrip leads the point standings, he finished Monday's race with 4,228 points, putting him ahead of Richard Petty, Bobby Allison and the third with 4,087 and Yarborough fourth at 3,881.

Yarborough's win Sunday at the Charlotte Motor Speedway was his fourth of the season.

Top point-earners behind Yarborough are Benny Parsons, 3,828; Joe Millikan, 3,322; Richard Childress, 3,222; D. S. Ulrich, 3,135; Buddy Arrington, 3,121; and Dale Earnhardt, 3,111.

The next race of the season is the Holly Farms 500 Sunday at the North Wilkesboro, N.C. Speedway.

In addition to leading the standings, Waltrip remains the season's top money winner with $48,000. NASCAR says Petty's record with $48,715 and Bobby Allison is third with $32,275.

In fourth for earnings is Yarborough with $27,700, followed by Buddy Baker, $24,315; Earnhardt, $18,900; Millikan, $18,880; Parsons, $13,353; Donny Allison, $13,780; and Ricky Rudd, $11,634.

Earnhardt's 10th place finish made him the highest finishing rookie in the race, narrowing the gap between him and Millikan in the rookie-of-the-year competition. Millikan now leads with 20,000 points to Earnhardt's 18,700, followed by Terry Labonte with 217 and Harry Gant with 179.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Fury have announced the signing of Eddie Firmani, twice coach of Soccer Bowl champion teams, as head coach.

Firmani, who replaces former Yugoslavian national team coach Marko Valok, is the fourth coach in the North American Soccer League franchise's two seasons.

"Eddie has a three-year contract with us, commencing immediately," General Manager Tom Fleck said.

Maryland racing czars to ponder outlawing drugs

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Thoroughbred Board of the Maryland Racing Commission will meet next month, reportedly to consider outlawing two controversial drugs now permitted for treatment of horses at state tracks.

The Baltimore Sun quotes sources today as saying the panel will study both phenylbutazone, commonly known as bute, and furosemide, sold under the trade name of Lasix.

While he refused to confirm whether the board will consider banning the drugs, Board Chairman Bob Banning admitted the panel will "definitely look into (use of the drugs)."

New-look Sabres hunt Bruins

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Though the "French Connection" line has been disconnected for good, the Buffalo Sabres will use the electronic age in their efforts to dislodge the Boston Bruins as perennial Adams Division champions this National Hockey League season.

The "Connection" rose to prominence when Gil Perreault centered for left wing Rick Martin and right wing Rene Robert in the early 70s. Their days together came to an end officially Friday when Robert was traded to Colorado for defenseman John Van Boxmeer.

In fact, the Connection hadn't been playing together since the start of the Sabres' first training camp under new Coach-General Manager Scotty Bowman. Bowman, who helped the Montreal Canadiens to the last four Stanley Cup championships, doesn't keep his lines together for long.

In fact, Martin has been moved to right wing on a line with Perreault and Craig Ramsay — a pattern Bowman plans to follow with all his combinations in an attempt to add versatility to his lineup.

Another thing that will add to the Sabres' attack is Bowman's football-style coaching setup. Bowman will be behind the bench this season while assistant Roger Neilson, who fled the Toronto Maple Leafs when his contract expired, looks on from the press box and makes suggestions through a walkie-talkie hookup with his boss.

That approach will be set into action Thursday night when the Sabres open their 1979-80 campaign against the Washington Capitals.

The Maple Leafs open their season against the New York Rangers Wednesday night while the Quebec Nordiques, added to the Adams Division by expansion, host the Atlanta Flames.

The other two Adams Division clubs — Minnesota and Boston — also open Thursday with the North Stars playing host to the Hartford Whalers and the Bruins at home to the Winnipeg Jets.

The NHL season begins Tuesday night with St. Louis at Vancouver. The acquisition of Van Boxmeer eased a problem on defense, since the loss of Jerry Korab for two months with a broken collarbone and phlebitis left the Sabres with Jim Schoenfeld and Bill Hajt as the only Buffalo defensemen with more than a season of pro experience.

The Bruins have lots of experience — perhaps too much. Goalie Gerry Cheevers, back after another knee operation, is 39 — as is center Jean Ratelle. Left wing Wayne Cashman is 34; so is right wing Bobby Schmautz. Beyond that, defenseman Brad Park, like Cheevers, is recovering from another knee operation and may see limited action.

Boston also will have a new coach, Fred Creighton. So will the Toronto Maple Leafs, who replaced Neilson with Floyd Smith.

Quebec's lineup boasts Real Cloutier, a 77-goal scorer last year, Robby Ftorek, Marc Tardif and Serge Bernier. But they lost six and tied one of their seven preseason games.

Minnesota showed promise last year, its first after the merger with the Cleveland Barons, and is expected to improve further in 1979-80.

Do Steelers worry about 0-6 Cincy?

CINCINNATI (AP) — Defensive end Gary Burley says the Cincinnati Bengals chances for winning Sunday may depend on "how Pittsburgh is looking at us."

The winless Bengals, now 0-6, host the Pittsburgh Steelers, defending champions of the National Football League.

"They can't be as serious against us as we're going to be against them," Burley said. "You really can't blame them. If they come in with that attitude, you never know."

"This is a great opportunity when you're going in the way we are," Bengal coach Homer Rice said. "Any week that you can win can be a big week. This week is particularly big because it's the Steelers. "I watched the end of their game Sunday (a 51-35 victory at Cleveland). They're still very strong defensively, although Cleveland was able to hurt them throwing the football. Their offense is still doing the same things."

For the second time in three weeks, they had a serious injury to a receiver.

This time it is Jim Corbett, the third-year tight end who suffered a separated right shoulder in Sunday's 10-7 loss to Kansas City.

Earlier this season, wide receiver Billy Brooks was placed in the injured reserved list.

"I can't say for sure when I'll be ready," Corbett said.

TV moguls dictate tune major leagues dance to

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

To say that the television networks have dictated playoff and World Series starting times and dates is only half the story. Baseball has been a more-than-willing dance partner while TV's been playing the tune.

And in doing so, baseball has forsaken the late P.K. Wrigley's notion that the national pastime was a daytime sport.

Wrigley owned the Chicago Cubs, who play all their home games in the afternoon. Wrigley Field, baseball's biggest energy saver, the only stadium without lights, conjures up the image of a World Series from a bygone era — before the 1970s — when kids played hooky or plugged themselves into transistor radios to catch the play-by-play.

Today, the only students who'll miss the World Series are those enrolled in night school.

The weekend afternoon-viewers used to be baseball's target audience. The Series would begin on a Saturday in the hopes of reaching the next weekend. Baseball, of course, was interested in allowing more of its fans to see the games. And if baseball reached larger audiences, commercial spots would be worth more to baseball and the televising network.

IT'S OBVIOUS baseball now realizes that the biggest audience and advertising numbers are now on the weeknights in prime time. Since 1977, the Series has begun on Tuesday. Who needs the extra weekend, anyhow?

But if you listen to some TV sports executives, they'll tell you that NBC had to coax baseball out of its caves to get the World Series on prime time. Baseball, however, paints the opposite picture, labeling Commissioner Bowie Kuhn the pioneer who led a primitive network out of the Dark Ages.

The first time the World Series went on the night shift was Game 4 of the Pittsburgh-Baltimore series in 1971. It was a phenomenal success, reaching the largest TV audience ever for a baseball game — more than 56 million viewers.

"The fact is NBC resisted the change," says Kuhn. "Nonetheless the results were spectacular. The telecast produced the largest audience we ever had for a baseball game. As a result of this success, we were able to persuade NBC to expand the nighttime schedule to three games in 1972 and thereafter."

Carl Lindemann, a vice president of CBS Sports, was in charge of the sports department at NBC in 1971. He says he has "a clear recollection" of the negotiations.

"There was resistance within the network. But the sports department at NBC persuaded the network to try it," Lindemann said. "It's incredible to me that baseball's tried to take the credit. It just wasn't true. Their argument was that the World Series did well as an afternoon attraction."

Chet Simmons, No. 2 at NBC Sports in 1971 and now the president of cable TV's Entertainment and Sports Programming Network, said: "You can't discount Bowie. He was a supporter. But the impetus came from us, and then it was a combination of Kuhn and NBC."

AND IF you ask Charlie Finley, the maverick owner of the Oakland A's, he'll say it was his idea — along with orange basebells, ballgirls and donkeys.

Whichever story you believe, one thing is certain. Baseball and the two networks now covering the sport are not supposed to root, but they do. They root against the Chicago Cubs this year and every year.

Inwardly, the networks, at least, were also rooting for the continued excellence of the New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Dodgers, the perfect match of Hollywood glitter and Madison-Avenue money that helped make the World Series such a ratings bonanza for ABC in 1977 and NBC in '78.

Booster Clubs meeting tonight

The Midland Lee and Midland High Booster Clubs will hold their weekly meeting tonight.

Lee fans will view the film of the 14-13 Rebel victory over the Odessa Bronchos and a scouting report on the San Angelo Central Bobcats, the undefeated Rebels' next opponent in San Angelo Friday night.

Midland followers will be shown the Midland-Permian film and a scouting report will be given on the Big Spring Steers who come to Memorial Stadium this weekend in District 5-4A play.

Reports at both meetings will be given on the junior high and junior varsity football teams which have games Thursday night.

All interested boosters are urged to attend the meetings at 7:30 p.m. with Rebel fans meeting in the Lee Cafeteria and Bulldog fans in the Student Union Building across the street from Midland High School on Illinois.

Cooper Coogs continue torrid pace

By The Associated Press
Abilene Cooper dominates Class 4A of The Associated Press' Schoolboy Football Poll this week just as it has dominated its four opponents this season.

Cooper, which decked San Angelo Central 35-0 last week, was the No. 1 choice of all 20 Texas sports writers and sportscasters voting in the poll, marking the first unanimous selection of the season.

The rest of the top-rated teams from a week ago also continued to lead their divisions.

Jasper still leads in Class 3A with 13 first place selections but is being challenged by Kerrville Tivy.

Pittsburg remained ahead of Childress as the Class 2A leader with 12 first-place votes, compared with three for Childress.

China Spring maintained its lead in Class A but has a new challenger this week with Haskell assuming the No. 2 spot after Falls City, last week's runner-up, was upset by LaVernia last week.

Two losses among the 4A teams resulted in a shakeup of the ranks and a return to the top 10 by Highland Park.

Highland Park, which dropped out of the list after an earlier loss to Plano, defeated No. 4 Lake Highlands 17-16 and regained the No. 10 position. Lake Highlands dropped to No. 9.

Seguin, No. 5 last week, disappeared from the list after a loss to San Antonio MacArthur, making room for Highland Park.

Gainesville, ranked seventh last week, was the lone loser in 3A and dropped off the list. Cuero, 5-0, made its first appearance of the season as the No. 10 team.

Whitehouse and Hondo, ranked sixth and seventh last week, were upset victims in 2A. Whitehouse dropped out of the top 10 while Hondo fell to the No. 10 spot. Hays Consolidated, 5-0, moved in as the No. 9 team.

Falls City hung on in the A rankings as No. 10, fighting off the challenge of three unbeaten teams, Lovelady, Pilot Point and Montgomery. All three teams received 10 points in the voting.

Harris says Cowboys set to go

DALLAS (AP) — The way Cliff Harris pictures it the Dallas Cowboy defensive machine has fixed its flat and the defending National Football Conference champions are ready to make tracks toward their sixth Super Bowl appearance.

"We missed a lot when we lost (strong safety) Charlie Waters but we have the potential now to be really good," said Harris Monday. "We just didn't have it in the groove but the defense is getting better."

When the (Tom) Landry defense is really going we just form sort of a solid line and stop everything. Because of different players at different positions it has sort of resembled a dotted line early in the year.

Harris added "We have been improving every week in both coordination and confidence. But we still aren't at a level of Super Bowl quality."

Dallas' offense has carried the National Football League team to a 5-1 record, including Sunday's 36-20 victory over Minnesota.

Waters, the defensive signal caller, suffered ligament damage in a preseason game and Harris said there has been something of a "communication" problem since.

"We've improved so much in the last three games that the communications is starting to get solid," said Harris.

Harris said 60 percent of the Cowboy defense is pre-planned and 30 percent is changed by defensive coordinator Ernie Stautner during the course of a game.

"The other 10 per cent is an on the field adjustment," said Harris. "We've been trying to smooth out that 10 percent."

Middle linebacker Bob Breunig has taken over the defensive signal caller role.

"We know what we're doing now," said Harris. Of Sunday night's game against the Los Angeles Rams, Harris said "I can't think of anybody I'd rather beat. They are our main competitors in the NFC."

Harris said "We've had flashes now of being like we were last year but we haven't played a whole game. We haven't had control of a game yet where we totally dominated. I'm hoping that will develop Sunday."

Gold Star Girl, Boy honored at 4-H event

By PATSY GORDON
Staff Writer

Angie Casbeer and Todd Simpson were named Midland County's 4-H Gold Star Girl and Boy Monday night during the annual achievement program in VFW Post 7208.

The outstanding 4-H'ers were pinned by mistress of ceremonies Christi Calhoun during the annual achievement program and dinner, a highlight of National 4-H Week being observed this week.

CHARLIE GREEN also was honored with the presentation of a plaque in appreciation of his 30 years of service as the county's agricultural agent. He reached the milestone in August.

Other recognition went to 4-H adult leaders and to other 4-H'ers for their achievement in last year's work.

Miss Casbeer, 17, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Casbeer, has been a member of 4-H for eight years, since she was old enough to join.

She has had all types of livestock projects, but said "lambs are my favorite." She has shown a number of champion lambs and pigs, and has been a member of the livestock judging team six years.

MISS CASBEER also has had projects in sewing and nutrition. She represented Midland County at the district food show the past three years and was the county representative at one district fashion revue.

She has served as junior leader in foods and nutrition and as junior judge at the Martin County Food Show.

A member of the Valley View 4-H Club, Miss Casbeer has served her club as reporter and Midland County 4-H Council representative, as well as being a member of the telephone committee. She also has been chairman for several of the club's fund-raising projects.

Miss Casbeer, a student at Midland High School, had this to say about 4-H: "To be truthful, I can't say enough for 4-H. It has certainly been a big influence in my life and one I will be proud to pass on to my children."

SIMPSON, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Simpson, has been president of the Greenwood 4-H Club three years—and has served as vice president of Cactus Patch Club this past year. He also served as chairman of the 4-H council for 1978-79 and has been county representative to the District 6 4-H Council.

The young man has "always been interested in livestock projects, especially swine," and has shown them eight years, placing high in the county show a number of times. He placed 15th at the Dallas State Fair one year.

The 4-H'er has been a member of the county livestock judging team and placed third high scoring individual at the district contest.

Todd, a senior at Greenwood School, said, "I grew up in 4-H. I feel it has played a major role in preparing me to become a responsible citizen."

ADULT LEADERS recognized with certificates were:

—Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Calhoun, Mrs. Leah Lambert, J. Annette Jensen, Mrs. Vicki Radford, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McBryde, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mims, Mrs. Jane Schweitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Don Collier, Mrs. Edith Carrasco, Mrs. Aida Carrasco, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farrow, Mr. and Mrs. Pancho Chavez, Mike Love, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Rose Boyce and Mrs. Vera Sparkman.

Also, Mrs. Jimmy Hipp, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Casbeer, Gerald Nobles Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moonen, Mrs. Tommie Corners, Mrs. Arnold Meekley, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zimmerman, Mrs. Betty Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Larremore, Mrs. Greg Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Temple, Mrs. Marcie Stimmel, Chryl D. Beal, Ken Pruitt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Simpson.

Each year "Friends of 4-H" are thanked for their efforts. Friends for 1979 are T.F. Edwards, Mrs. Max Schumann, Wayne Royce, Bob Midkiff, Ron Eaton, Harry Coleman, Travis Bond, Bobby Boyd, D.V.M., and Mike Glasscock.

Awards for 4-H work went to Achievement—Secor to Chavez, Janice Zimmerman, Pam McBryde and Terry Glover.

Agriculture—Angie Casbeer, Mike Pruitt, Mark Graham, Sammy Chavez and Saul Chavez.

Bread—Cindy Trullitt, Teresa Glover, Matthew Benton, Monica Hunsinger and Tammy Locklar.

Citizenship—Cretie Arnold, Paula McBryde, Steve Sparkman, Rainy Calhoun, Ruben Gonzales, Audrey Hobbs and Miss Larremore.

Gardening—Sue Powell, Connie Salazar and Johnnie Casbeer.

Horticulture—Eric Simpson and Tim Russell.

Leadership—Karen Green, Barry Kirby, Tammy Simpson, Jason Collier, Tede Boyce, Lisa Bond, Kami Boyce, Jeff Barnett and Julie Zimmerman.

Horse—Joe Bond.

Sheep—Lola Farrow, Rodney Hollums, Gary Rogers, Jette Hipp, Shelia Lopez, Pam McCain, Patsy McCain and Mark Murphy.

Beef—Andrea Graham, Darrell Curry, Laura Smith and Tammy Hipp.

Safety—Christi Calhoun.

Swine—Todd Simpson, Bobby McBryde, Eddy Hollums, Mike Smith, Tim Longabaugh, Jeff Longabaugh and Rip Cutler.

Recreation—Amy McCherry, Diana Adams, Pam Mims, Todd Mims, Jim Stormes, Janice Ellis, Karen Dickerson, Pattie Hoover and Sonya Bostwick.

Vet. Science—Michelle Wyatt, Margaret Carrasco, Rose Powell and Nancy Cone.

Grass Team Judging—M.W. Humeke, David Erwin and Tony Gunn.

MEALS FOR winners in the senior division of the Midland County 4-H Food Show were—Janice Zimmerman, Angie Casbeer, Kami Boyce and Cretie Arnold.

Rainy Calhoun placed first in District 6 for the J.T. Rutherford Award. She received a medal and a large trophy—the trophy is a rotating one, but if a county wins it three times it is retired to that county and this is the third time Midland County has received it.

Last fall the livestock feeders sold whole pig sausage for a money-making project, with a prize of $25 to be presented to the 4-H'er selling the most. Jason Collier was presented a check Tuesday night as the top salesman.

A poster contest is held each year in conjunction with National 4-H Week.

The winners are:

Junior Division—Bobby McBryde, first, Kim Watson, second, and Will Watson and Debbie Bell, third.

Senior Division—Pam McBryde, first, and Coby Farrow, second.

Among the special guests attending were Midland County Judge and Mrs. Bill Ahlers, County Commissioner Charlie Welch and Mrs. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. James Lindsey and Patsy Gordon and son, Flash, Mrs. Lindsey is president of the Midland County Extension Homemakers Council.

Temperatures reach record highs in eight Texas locations Monday

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP)—Summer may be over, but Ol' Sol showed there was still heat in the furnace—blasting Texas with a heat wave that sent thermometers soaring past record levels at eight locations Monday.

The National Weather Service in Fort Worth said six stations reported high temperatures at or above the century mark Monday.

Abilene reported a high of 102 degrees, a mark that shattered a 23-year-old record of 95 degrees.

But while it was hot in Abilene, it was hotter in Childress where the mercury climbed to 103 degrees—not a record for the date but enough to be the high in Texas.

Midland recorded a blistering 100 degrees, surpassing a 1934 record temperature for the date of 93 degrees. The NWS said Wichita Falls' thermometer also hit a new record high for the date at 100 degrees.

Other new records were set in Lubbock, 98 degrees; San Angelo, 99 degrees; Del Rio, 97 degrees; Dallas-Fort Worth, 96 degrees and El Paso, 95 degrees.

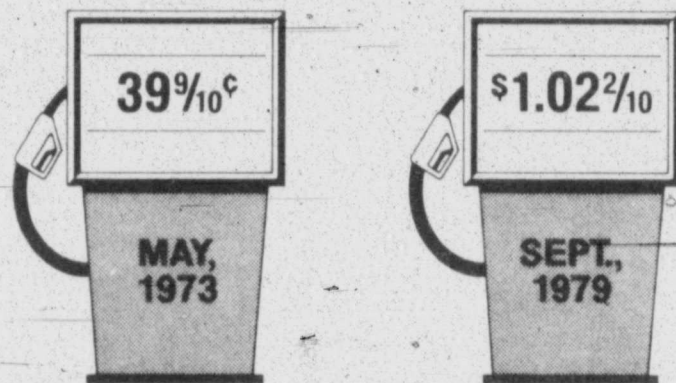

The NWS said the non-record setting temperatures over 100 included Wink at 101 degrees and Presidio at 100 degrees.

No. 7 America's energy problem is complex. This is the seventh in a series in which we will discuss each of the individual factors affecting the energy situation.

Gasoline prices: What pumped them up?

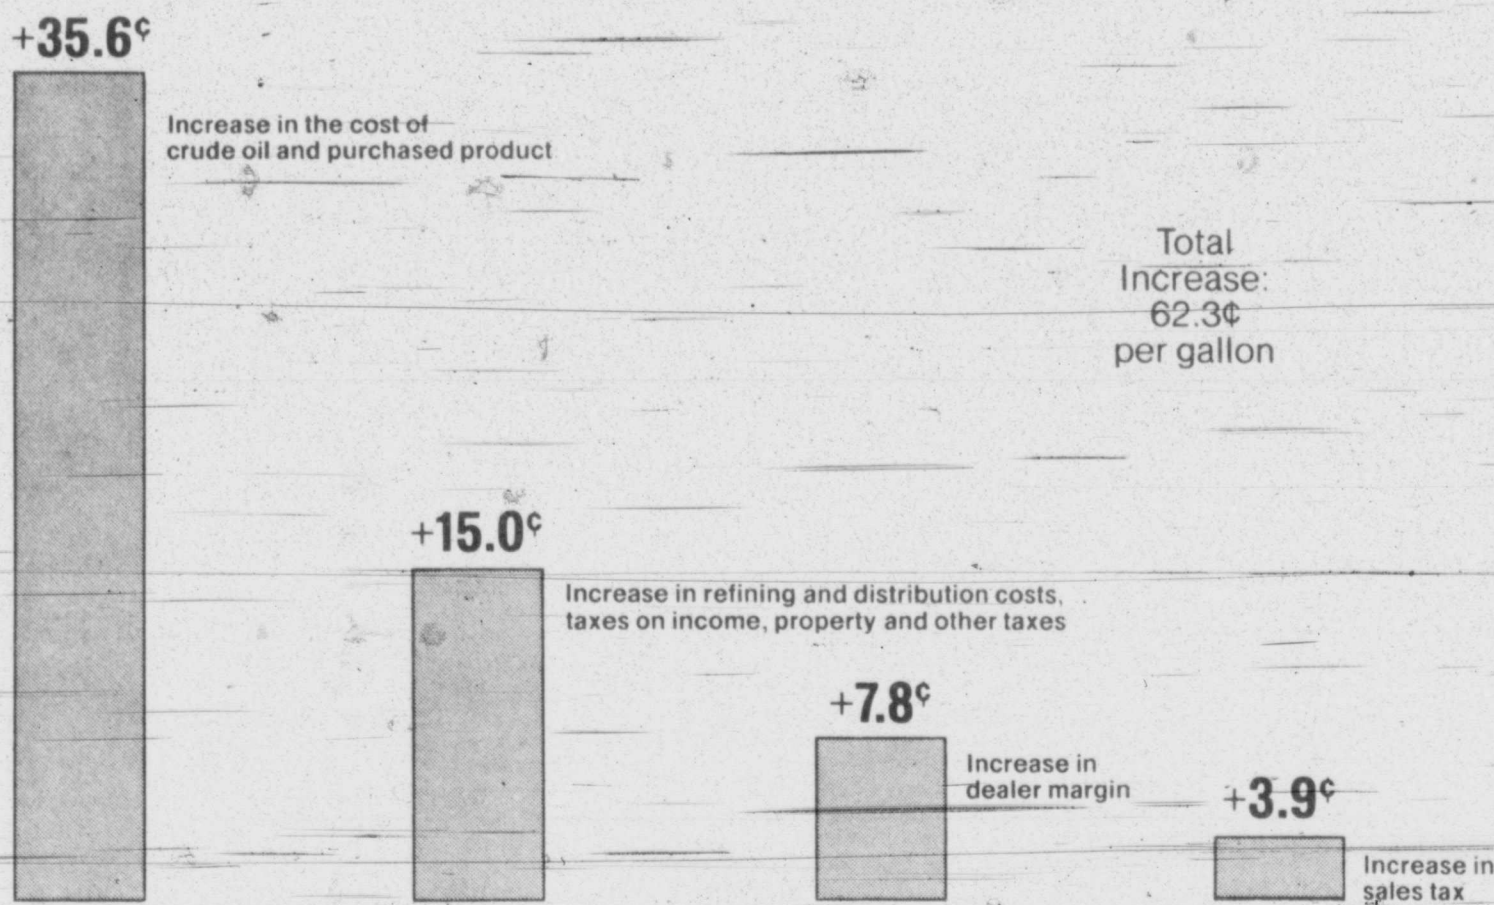

There are some very real, but not always recognized, reasons why the price of gasoline has gone up a lot since the pre-Embargo days of 1973:

Average price per gallon Chevron regular gasoline in Los Angeles.

In six years, a 62.3¢ price increase*
—here's what caused it:

Greatly increased costs for crude oil, refining and distribution are the biggest reason for the price increase, as illustrated in this graph:

Chevron's profit—a very small part of the price

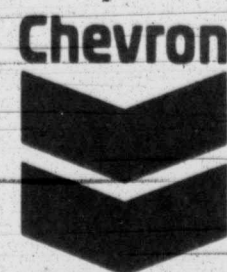

*The price increase includes Chevron's profit increase, which averaged 1¢ per gallon on crude oil and petroleum products sold worldwide. In other words, while gasoline prices have gone up 62.3¢ per gallon in the last six years, little of this represents Chevron's increase in profit.

Speeding development of our domestic energy sources can help reduce America's vulnerability to sudden changes in the price or availability of foreign crude oil. In turn, this would help achieve greater price stability at the pump.

It would also help if everyone did an even better job of conserving energy.

Thank you for listening.

Fletcher No. 1-43.8 Rutledge is a 4,900-foot Noodle Creek wildcat 5.5 miles southwest of Rotan and two miles north of the Heather (Noodle Creek) field.

The drillsite is 2,173 feet from north and 1,650 feet from east lines of section 106, block 2, H&TC survey.

Fletcher will re-enter a 7,150-foot wildcat failure five miles west of Rotan.

It will be operated as the No. 1-431.7 Myrtle Young.

It originally was drilled by Armour Properties as No. 1 Will Hargrove two and seven-eighths miles northeast of the depleted Heather (Strawn) field and three and five-eighths miles northeast of the Pescador (Ellenburger) pool.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 130, block 2, H&TC survey. It will be cleaned out to total depth.

Abandoned in 1955, the project topped the Noodle Creek at 3,120 feet, the Strawn at 6,280 feet, the Caddo at 6,998 feet, the Mississippian at 6,777 feet and Ellenburger at 6,940 feet. Ground elevation is 2,118 feet.

Fletcher will re-enter the former Lamar H. Moore No. 1 O. L. Sharrack in Fisher County, 6.5 miles southeast of Longworth.

The re-entry will be operated as the No. 1-432 Sharrack, Tract Two.

Bottomed at 3,991 feet, it will be cleaned out to total depth.

The location is 330 feet from north and west lines of section 18, block 20, T&P survey and one and one-eighth miles southwest of the Newman (Swastika) field. It is separated from that area by dry holes.

The Townsend Co. No. 1 R. R. Ragan, a re-entry operation, has been completed to open Canyon sand production in the Kemp field of Fisher County, four miles west of Roby.

It is planned for a 24-hour pumping potential of 14 barrels to 49.2-gravity oil, n water, through perforations from 4,710 to 4,779 feet. The pay was acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 27,000 gallons.

The cleaned out total depth is 5,033 feet and the plugged back depth is 4,838 feet, where 4.5-inch pipe is set.

Originally drilled by R. L. Foree, it was abandoned in 1966.

Well site is 467 feet from south and 1,931 feet from west lines of section 21, block 2, H&TC survey.

NOLAN WORK

E. B. Fletcher of Dallas No. 1 S. P. Boyd is a re-entry wildcat in Nolan County, four miles southeast of Sweetwater.

Originally drilled by Thomas & Saxon Drilling Co. as No. 1 Boyd, it was plugged at 5,901 feet in 1961.

It will be cleaned out to total depth.

Location is 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 39, block 21, T&P survey and two miles southwest of the Lake Sweetwater (Strawn lime oil) pool.

Texas Pacific Oil Co., Inc., No. 1 Gertrude-Withers has been completed as an Ellenburger oil discovery in Nolan County, three miles east of Sweetwater.

The oprator reported a daily flowing potential of 314 barrels of 47-gravity oil and three barrels of water, through a 10.64-inch choke. The gas-oil ratio is 640-1.

The completion was natural from pay behind casing perforations from 6,496 to 6,520 feet.

The Ellenburger was topped at 6,495 feet on ground elevation of 2,180 feet.

Total depth is 6,545 feet and 4.5-inch pipe is set at 6,544 feet. Plugged back depth is 6,530 feet.

Well site is 990 feet from south and 2,173 feet from east lines of section 72, block 22, T&P survey and 1/2 mile east of Strawn production in the JMR multiphase field and two and one-quarter miles southwest of the depleted Len Bryans (Ellenburger) pool.

LUBBOCK TRY

Gulf Oil Corp. of Odessa filed application to drill the No. 1-A Yvonne Pounds, one-half mile northwest of production in the Stinnett, Southeast (Clear Fork) field of Lubbock County.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of lot 7, K&Kernot subdivision in League 2, San Augustine survey, 13 miles east of Lubbock.

Contract depth is 4,900 feet.

DAWSON SITES

MGP Oil Corp. of Midland announced plans to drill two 9,300-foot tests in the Tex-Hamton (Dean) field of Dawson County.

Scheduled one-half mile southwest of production is the No. 1 Kochler, 14 miles south of Lamesa.

Well site is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 39, block 36, T-4-N, T&P survey.

One-half mile north and slightly west of production is No. 1 Kimbrell, 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 34, block 36, T-4-N, T&P survey, 13 miles south of Lamesa.

NOLAN OILER

Fisher-Webb, Inc. of Abilene has completed the No. 7 McLaughlin as a northwest extension to production in the JMM (Canyon) field of Nolan County.

On 24-hour pumping potential it made 110 barrels of 43-gravity oil, through a 12/64-inch choke and perforations from 5,683 to 5,892 feet after being fractured with 40,000 gallons.

Gas-liquid ratio is 2,000-1.

Total depth was reached at 5,944 feet and 4.5-inch casing set one foot off bottom.

The well is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block 1-A, H&TC survey, 15 miles southwest of Maryneal.

YOAKUM WELL

Sun Oil Co., operating from Midland, announced potential test on its No. 7-A Mattie Pwell, sixth well in the Ownby (Wichita-Albany oil) pool in Yoakum County.

It is planned for a daily pumping potential of 207 barrels of 31-gravity oil and 16 barrels of water, through perforations from 8,068 to 8,226 feet.

The gas-oil ratio 38-1.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 4, block D, J. H. Gibson survey and 12 miles east of Plains.

CROSBY

Threshold Development Co. of Fort Worth No. 1 T. C. James has been completed in the Hoople (Clear Fork) field of Crosby County, 3.5 miles southwest of Robertson.

On 24-hour potential test it pumped 40 barrels of 28.8-gravity oil and 72 barrels of water, through perforations from 4,392 to 4,417 feet. The gas-oil ratio is too small to measure.

Total depth is 4,500 feet and 4.5-inch casing is set on bottom.

The pay was acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons.

Location is 467 feet from south and 2,273 feet from east lines of section 1044, block 1, H&B survey.

Mexico hikes price

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico has raised the price of crude oil for export by $2 a barrel to $24.60, the government oil monopoly Pemex announced Monday.

Mexico does not sell oil on the spot market and does not belong to the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, but keeps its prices in line with those of OPEC. The international oil cartel's official price range now is $18.00 to $23.50.

Pemex negotiates with each customer on a quarterly basis and the new price is retroactive to Oct. 1.

Mexico's price was $14.10 a barrel in January, rising to $17.19 in March and $22.60 in July.

Mexico sells about 440,000 barrels a day to the United States — its main customer — out of a total of 530,000 barrels daily in exports. The rest goes to Spain, Israel and some Latin American countries. European and Asian customers will begin receiving shipments next year.

Mexico also will begin exporting 300,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily to the United States next year, at $3.625 per thousand cubic feet.

President Jose Lopez Portillo announced Sept. 1 that Mexico has 45 billion barrels of proven reserves of oil and natural gas equivalent — Estimates of its potential reserves range up to 200 billion barrels.

Finance committee takes ax to 'windfall profits' bill

By ART PINE
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Senate Finance Committee has so battered President Carter's promised windfall profits tax that, in its present form, it would recapture less than a third of the $226.6 billion in extra revenue the oil industry is expected to reap from price decontrol.

Estimates show that the bill the panel is drafting would have an effective tax rate of 29 percent on the "windfall" that the industry would receive over the next 10 years after payment of other taxes.

By contrast, the windfall bill passed by the House, which closely paralleled the president's own proposal, would impose an effective tax rate of 43 percent on the windfall, or almost half again as much as the Finance Committee plan.

Finance Committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., has said the panel will give away at least half the new revenues from its tax in the form of tax credits to spur conservation, leaving only $35 billion for the other energy uses Carter prefers.

Carter had asked the lawmakers to devote all the proceeds from the new tax to his proposed synthetic fuels development plan and other programs. The House bill would earmark more than $100 billion for this.

The president's decision to lift price controls on oil is expected to increase oil companies' revenues by as much as $400 billion over the next 10 years, as domestic oil prices rise to world levels.

Of this $400 billion, the companies are expected to pay about $173 billion in federal income taxes over the period, reducing the so-called "windfall" for the decade to about $226.6 billion. The windfall tax approved by the House would take $104 billion of this, offset by $7 billion in extra deductions on state taxes. (The windfall tax is an excise tax, and so is deductible.)

That puts the measure's total tax take for the 10-year period at $97 billion, or 43 percent of the $226.6 billion. The oil companies would be left with $129.6 billion.

The Finance Committee's version would trim the 10-year take from the windfall measure to $70.5 billion. But the net, after the offsetting new deductions on state taxes, would be $65.5 billion over the 10 years, for an effective tax rate of only 29 percent.

Ferris talk set at Hilton

The Permian Basin Geophysical Society will meet at noon Wednesday in the Midland Hilton to hear a program by Craig Ferris, a gravity expert with E. V. McCollum & Co. of Tulsa.

The event will start at 11:30 a.m. Ferris' topic will be "Gravity Anomaly Resolution."

He earned an A.B. degree at Friends University. His professional experience includes work with the American Seismograph Co., and Mott-Smith Corp. as a gravity meter party chief. He is one of the founders and a partner in E. V. McCollum & Co. He has more than 40 years experience in gravity work.

Ferris

He has been affiliated with several oil-industry related associations and is a past president of the Geophysical Society of Tulsa and a past president of the Tulsa Science Foundation.

D&D slates land seminar

The Desk and Derrick Club of Midland will sponsor a seminar, "Exploring for Knowledge — Land and Legal," Oct. 20 in the Midland Hilton.

Jack Huff of Midland, an independent oil operator, will cover the land segment, and Robert C. Bledsoe, a Midland attorney, will instruct the legal area.

In addition, Vicki Bailey of Midland and Lurline W. Andrus of Washington, D.C., will be speakers during the seminar. An afternoon workshop will be coordinated by Desk and Derrick Club members.

The registration fee will be $20 for D&D members and $25 for non-members. The reservation deadline for participants is 5 p.m. Friday. Contact for reservations is Doris-Cannon, with Felmont Oil Corp. in Midland or Joyce O'Bannon with American Quasar, D&D president.

A social hour at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame will be held October 19. This event will get under way at 7 p.m. Registrants and their escorts are invited.

The seminar check-in time is 8 a.m. Oct. 20 at the Midland Hilton.

Kuwait ups price of oil

KUWAIT (AP) — Kuwait raised the price of its oil by 10 percent to $21.43 per barrel, the Oil Ministry announced today.

The increase is retroactive to Oct. 1, and Kuwait's oil clients have already been informed, the ministry added.

Kuwait, which produces an estimated 2 million barrels a day, had been charging $19.49.

The new Kuwait price still remains under the ceiling of $23.50 per barrel set by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Oil industry sources here believe the Kuwaiti increase coupled with an eight percent increase announced by Mexico Monday will inevitably result in an across-the-board increase by all producers.

103 million gallons lost

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's runaway offshore oil well has pumped 103 million gallons of crude oil into the Bay of Campeche since it erupted out of control four months ago, a government oil company director said Monday.

Of that total, said Jose Luis Garcia Luna, 27 percent or 28 million gallons of crude has become an oil slick in the Gulf of Mexico, only partially broken up by chemicals. Fifty percent of the 103 million gallons has burned up, 17 percent has evaporated, and about 5.5 percent has been scooped-up, he said.

Luna, director of petrochemical development, said an average of 5,200 barrels of crude have become ribbons of oil slick. Some of the rust-colored residue has stained beaches as far away as the Texas coast 500 miles from the well, which is 56 miles from the Mexican coast-off the shrimping village of Ciudad del Carmen.

"From the beginning of the runaway well (June 3) until yesterday, a total of 2.4 million barrels of oil have been released by the well," Garcia Luna said.

Wainoco hits gas discovery

HOUSTON (AP) — Wainoco Oil Corp. reported Monday a natural gas discovery well in northeastern British Columbia flowed 30 million cubic feet of gas a day on a recent completion test for one of four possible production zones.

The company estimated total reserves for the well at approximately 35 billion cubic feet.

The 30 million cubic foot a day test flow on the 7-30-82-20 W6M well was with a 1.5-inch choke with 520 pounds of tubing pressure. Perforations in the Belloy carbonate geologic zone were between 6,773 and 6,789 feet.

Perforations between 6,838 and 6,850 feet in a lower Belloy sand were said to have flowed naturally through a 2-inch choke at a daily rate of 2 million cubic feet with an unmeasured amount of condensate.

Wainoco said two other pay zones appear at shallower depths, one involving 11 feet of Charlie Lake sand at 4,400 feet and the other 42 feet of Halfway sand at 4,870 feet.

With a 100 percent interest in the discovery well, Wainoco said it has acquired for $6.9 million 3,260 offsetting acres of leases at two recent government sales. The well is on the east side of the Monias field, where the company said it controls approximately 29,000 acres in a 60,000-acre block.

'Outlaw' outbids 'The Gambler' for entertainer of year award

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Willie Nelson, an "outlaw" with an ace up his sleeve, joined Kenny Rogers and his hit "The Gambler" as blue-chip winners at the nationally televised Country Music Association awards show.

Nelson won the prestigious entertainer of the year award Monday night, while Rogers raked in three honors at the 13th annual awards show at the Grand Ole Opry House.

Rogers, host of the show, won top male vocalist, album of the year for "The Gambler" and duo of the year with Dottie West.

But Nelson, called an "outlaw" for his commitment to recording music as he prefers rather than the way the country music establishment dictates, pulled his ace and outpooled Rogers, and three others for the top award.

"I was in shock," the bearded, pony-tailed Nelson said after the show. "I expected Kenny to make a clean sweep. It was a good year for everybody."

Joining Rogers as a triple winner was the Charlie Daniels Band, which won single of the year for "The Devil Went Down to Georgia," instrumental group of the year and instrumentalist of the year for Daniels, a vibrant fiddler.

Barbara Mandrell was voted female vocalist of the year and veteran singer Hank Snow and the late talent agent Hubert Long were elected to the Country Music Hall of Fame.

The Statler Brothers won vocal group of the year for the seventh time in the past eight years. "The Gambler," by Don Schlitz, won the song of the year.

Rogers, a former rock singer with the First Edition, said he was not disappointed at losing the top award to Nelson.

"How can you be disappointed when you win three awards and lose to someone like Willie Nelson," he said.

Snow, who has done charity work during the past two years to fight child abuse, is best known for his 1950 hit "I'm Movin' On" which was No. 1 on the country music charts for 26 weeks.

Hey, all you Rebel Fans! If you didn't make it to Odessa you really missed an exciting game, as our Mighty Rebel Express busted those Broncos 14-13. Way to ride 'em, Rebs. Our Stonewall Brigade came shining through once again as they also defeated the Odessa J.V. 28-14. Way to boot the Broncos Rebs!

This week our Mighty Macs will travel to San Angelo to battle it out with those babbling Bobcats. So come on out and watch our famous rebel Express barbecue those Bobcats!

REBELETTES: Yep, once again, you've got a meeting Wednesday morning at 7:45. So don't forget and F-I-G-H-T that morning sleepiness and make it to the meeting, meeting, meeting, meeting!

Everyone in Rebeland turned out Friday night to "Dance the Night Away" as they celebrated the "Main Event" of the evening with our first district victory dance. As no one left with "Lonely Hearts" 'cause things "Got Off" with a roaring start as our "Honesty Devoted" D.J.'s Doug Fox and Greg Collins spun those tunes like "Greased Lightning" till the reknowned words "Here Come the Sun" was heard, and everyone knew it was time for the "Last Dance." "Sad Eyes Came" as we departed, because those who had "Reunited" knew they had to part. With the sound of the clock striking one, the Dixie Disco turned back into a pumpkin, with the Dixie D.J.'s turning back into mice. And once again Dixie Land was still and nothing remained except the "Memories" of that night and the hopes of more to come.

Don't forget to be there this Friday night immediately following the game to help celebrate our second victory of the season as we listen to the sound of all Rebeland getting down. This dance will have to be later, as we'll be in San Angelo.

Congratulations to the Key Club, for winning the Spirit Stick at the Pep Rally last Friday. "The Rebelettes have the legs, but we've got the stick," says HUD.

All of you music fans won't want to miss the Lee High Choral as they perform their fall concert of the year this Thursday night at 7.

Also all of you Seniors in Junior Council, if you want to play Powder Puff football meet this Sunday up at the Y.C. Practice will begin at 3 p.m. It's not too late to join the Rowdy Rebels because "We Want You."

Good Luck to all L.H.S. Homecoming Queen nominees. Preliminary elections will be this Tuesday.

Guys, homecoming is just around the corner, so don't be late, you've got a date awaiting, and you don't want to be like the rest, so go all out and get her the best! Order your homecoming mum early! Today is first day orders will be made. So don't be left out of the crowd get you date and be proud.

Also, Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores, work on class floats, begin today. So, turn out with all of your friends and just "whistle while you work."

Congratulations to Amy Davenport (you little ole' Chatterer) on being MHS Homecoming Queen.

And Bulldogs, have a great game against Big Spring. B.C. says: Thanks to Bob and Fran Dawson for your help at Friday night's Victory Dance. Also, to Kathy Turner and Donna McMann for your help.

At noon Saturday Greg (poor Greg) and I were the only ones here to put the U.C. back into order (It had already been mopped and cleaned), and I decided your dance (on the 26th) was in serious jeopardy, BUT — the following people came to help and saved your day: Thanks, Kristi Bartosh, Doug Fox, Phyllis Pete, Gay McClelland, Tina Green and Melody Chastain. Gay, Tina and Melody received 15 points for their help and thoughtfulness. And thanks Key Club for setting up Friday.

Well, folks, that about wraps it up this week for the Chatter Clatter. "So stay tuned next week as our Mighty Rebel Express bamboozle the San Angelo Bobcats."

Until next week!

Judge awards injured 11-year-old $396,000

PRESTON, England (AP) — An 11-year-old boy who suffered severe brain damage five years ago when his mother drove into a truck has been awarded $396,000 as a result of a suit brought by his father, Eric Gore.

The judge on Monday ordered Mrs. Gore's insurance company to pay the damages.

Dead woman's anguished voice cries out against rapist, killer

BREVARD, N.C. (AP) — Three days after she killed herself, the anguished voice of Rebecca Coleman cried out in a Transylvania County courtroom, condemning the man accused of raping her and killing her friend.

After hearing the dead woman's taped statement Monday, Judge Robert Lewis gave Ronald Felix Brewer, 35, of Sapphire, life plus 20 years in prison.

Brewer pleaded guilty to second-degree murder and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill under a plea-bargaining agreement.

During a June 3 camping trip, Mrs. Coleman, 29, was shot eight times.

She told police Brewer raped her again and again. Her companion, Lyra Rosamond McCanness, 26, was shot to death and also raped, police said.

Mrs. Coleman, a social worker, was found dead in her bed at her Asheville home last Friday, one day after Detective Hubert Brown reminded her that Brewer's trial would start Monday.

Mrs. Coleman's husband, Glenn, said she had been depressed since the attack. A .22-caliber revolver was found in the bedroom.

Brown said her death came as no surprise. She "was just dreading the trial. She just dreaded that she had to go through it.

"Due to the nature of the case, I don't know how she made it this far," he said. "She had to be a very strong woman."

During a July interview — with the trial still months away — Mrs. Coleman appeared more optimistic. She told the Asheville Times, "I've got to continue with my life ... you have to continue to take risks again. I want to stay busy, to be productive, to be creative."

lowed them to the campground parking lot after they stopped at his mobile home to ask directions.

Brewer, she said, shot her first, then shot Miss McCanness. Then he took them to his trailer and raped them, she said.

After each attack, she said, he washed his hands and drank a cup of coffee.

nearby house to call an ambulance.

"I thought, 'I can lie here and let it all go, my life, my family, my friends, the career I am trying to develop... or I can take a risk and try to get out of this alive,'" she said.

Police said Brewer gave them a statement saying he had taken a sedative and went to the parking lot.
