Woman judge to be first education boss

formal announcement was expected WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is bringing the first woman today.

Roy F. Greenaway, administrative assistant to Sen. Alan D. Cranston, D-Calif., said Monday night that White House officials have advised. the senator Mrs. Hufstedler had been picked.

Greenaway said Mrs, Hufstedler, a Democrat, met with Vice President Walter F. Mondale on Monday morn-ing and with the president fater in the day. "I have devoted a great deal of my life to education and have a commit-ment to education," Mrs. Hufstedler was quoted as saying in today's editions of the Los Angeles Times.

"I have intense concern about the quality of education for all Americans, particularly those in primary and secondary schools," she told the newspaper shortly after her meeting with Carter on Monday. "But I don't have any specific ideas right now about the Department of Education because I simply don't know enough about the entire program."

Mrs. Hufstedler lives in Pasadena, Calif., with her husband, Seth M. Hufstedler, a prominent California attorney. She has one son, Steven.

Observers of the federal judiciary consider her liberal to moderate in her judicial philosophy; she had been mentioned as a prime candidate to be the first woman on the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1969, President Lyndon B. John-son appointed her to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, making her only the second woman to be named to a circuit court position and the first to the appeals court level.

Her professional life has been devoted to the practice of law. Mrs. Hufstedler was born in Denver and graduated from the University of

New Mexico in 1945 and the Stanford Law School in 1949, where she served on the Stanford Law Review.

She began practicing law in 1950 and was appointed a Los Angeles County Superior Court judge in 1961. In 1966, she was appointed to the California State Court of Appeals. She has a strong interest in education, serving as a trustee of the California Institute of Technology, Occi-dental College and the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies.

The legislation creating the Cabinet-level Education Department was signed into law by Carter on Oct. 17.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) - Acting President Choi Kyu-hah named a new director of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency today in what was seen as the first major step to consolidate the government's position following the killing of President Park Chung-hee by the KCIA's former head.

The government also announced relaxation of the curfew and other martial law restrictions, as the fourth day since Park's death passed with no disturbances

Choi appointed the vice army chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Lee Hui-sung, as acting KCIA chief to replace Kim Jae-kyu, under arrest for the assassination of Park Friday night.

Sources said Choi's first appointment was an important move by Clfoi and the military leaders cooperating with him to take over the now-disorganized secret police organization, a mainstay of support for Park in suppressing dissent and political opposition during the late president's 18 years of autocratic rule.

? The sources also said Choi and two other former prime ministers are leading contenders to succeed Park.

They said Choi, a veteran bureaucrat who was prime minister when Park was assassinated, and top mili-* tary commanders are firmly in charge at the moment. Meanwhile, the political leadership of Park's Democratic Republican Party is in disarray and is being ignored by Choi and the generals, the sources reported.

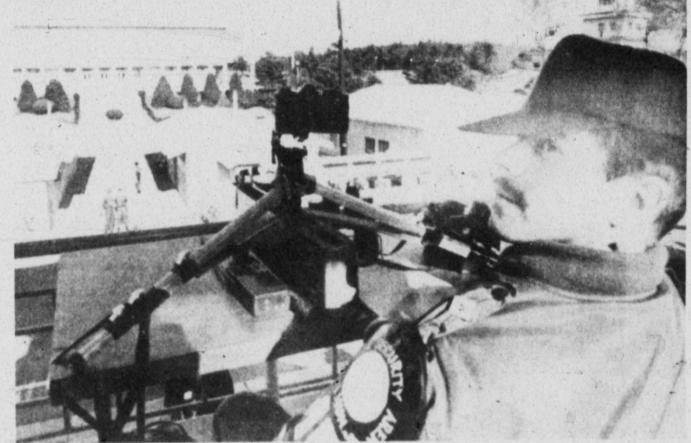

The leading candidates for the presidency appear to be two former military men who were among those closest to Park and served him as prime minister: Kim Jong-pil and Chung Il-kwon. Kim was the chief organizer of the 1961 coup that put Park in power and the founder and first head of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency, while Chung has held a number of top army and political posts. "However, both have been tested as prime minister and their positions are well known," said one source. "Both have some opponents inside and outside the party. Therefore Choi Kyu-hah may emerge as a compromise candidate to take power, with some understanding among the opposing political forces that political reforms will be made within a certain period.

Another source said: "Che does not have strong connections with the military or the party. That's his weakest point, but in this situation it's also his strongest point."

Most sources agreed that the new government would have to relax the tight restrictions on dissent and opposition to the government because of the unrest that has been growing recently.

"Emergency Decree 9 (which bans all public criticism of the president, the constitution or the government) will have to go," one source said.

Rosalynn, Reagan seek Houston votes and money

Rosalynn Carter

Ronald Reagan

HOUSTON (AP)- Rosalynn Carter came to delegate-rich and money-rich Houston Monday seeking support for her husband, while a few miles away Republican Ronald Reagan was seeking the same things - votes and contributions.

Mrs. Carter, who was presented a list of 250 Texans ready to work for the renomination and the re-alection of the president, put in a full day plugging for the Carter policies and attending two fund-raising affairs.

One was a $1,000-a-person recep tion, the other a $100-a-person affair. Reagan, one of the front leaders for the GOP presidential nomination, attended a reception with Houston homebuilders and then hosted a moneyraiser with singer Wayne Newton the entertainment.

Reagan backers reportedly raised more than $110,000 for the governor's still unannounced presidential campaign at the Newton concert, attended by a near capacity crowd in the 2,800 seat Celebrity Circle.

Reagan carefully refrained from announcing he is definitely going to be a Republican presidential candidate. "I have said it will be all right with me if people don't get committed to somebody else," Reagan said. Reagan told a brief mews confer-ence on his arrival in Houston he would make his formal announcement Nov. 13. The first lady told a brief news conference, "Jimmy has faced every crisis, and so few have had the courage to stand up to unpopular issues. "The American grass roots level appreciate that courage and will support him."

In answer to a question concering Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne's decision to back Sen. Edward Kennedy, Mrs. Carter said, "We were disappoined. I thought she was going to support us. Mayor Byrne will be mistaken if she thinks Jimmy can't win.

She added, "Most mayors support my husband for what he has done for the cities. Democratic governors support my husband for what he has done for the states."

The Texas Carter-Mondale Steering Committee list included seven county party chairpersons, including those from-the populous counties of Bexar (San Antonio), Tarrant (Fort Worth) and Dallas (Dallas).

There also were 12 legislators on the committee, including House Speaker Bill Clayton.

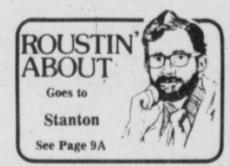

And there were Calvin Guest of Bryan, former state Democratic party "chairman; John Hill, former attorney general and unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate; Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby; Robert Krueger, former congressman and special ambassador to Mexico; Ms. Cecile Russell, president of the Texas State Teachers' Association; and A.C. Sutton, president of the State Conference of the NAACP.

Reagan said in a brief interview that the federal government was responsible for most of the trouble in the nation today

"If Washington would stop meddling with the economy and get out of the oil industry, the problems would end," he said.

Mrs. Carter, in later appearances before the Texas Municipal League and the State Democratic Executive Committee, repeated that the president had made unpopular decisions because he faced troublesome questions.

In her speech to the munincipal league, she said, "In the last 21/2 years, your president, my president, has taken on the whole range of intractable and tough and controversial problems.

Federal employees union endorses Sen. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) - A 70,000-member federal employees union today endorsed Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination, one day after Kennedy established a campaign committee.

The independent National Treasury Employees Union became the sixth union, and the first federal civil service group, to back the Massachusetts senator's drive to unseat President Carter.

Union President Vincent L. Connery criticized Carter for failing to provide effective leadership in overcoming the nation's economic problems. He also attacked the president's policies toward federal workers, particularly the decision last year to hold civil service pay increases to

In a news conference statement, Connery said Kennedy had an 'unmatched record of support for American workers and underprivi-

My question is why is no one concerned about the danger the elementary school children face on their way to and from school? For years, there has been a uniformed crossing guard at Country Club and Garfield. I was informed that due to a survey, a crossing guard was no longer needed at that crosswalk.

Now the crosswalk has been moved from Country Club to this offset intersection that is too dangerous for a child to cross unassisted.

When I inquired about the change of the crosswalk, I was informed a but-ton would be installed for the children in nuclear power industry .

WASHINGTON (AP) - A special commission investigating the Three Mile Island nuclear accident presented its findings to President Carter today, with a call for fundamentally new attitudes about safety in the nuclear industry as well by its regulators.

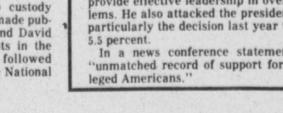

But the report, scheduled for release later in the day, was expected to stop short of calling for an industry-wide moratorium on construction of new reactors, as critics of nuclear energy had hoped.

Carter met with the 12 commission members in the Cabinet Room during the morning, thanking them for their work.

"I know how difficult your assignment has been," he said, observing that "nations around the world" are interested "in your recomendations for more safe use of atomic power."

The presidentially appointed commission, headeh by Dartmouth College President John Kemeny, spent six months investigating the accident last March 28 at the Three Mile Island electric generating plant near Harrisburg, Answer Line

A menacing West Texas storm system spawned hurricane-force winds and tornadoes today, striking Bangs in West Texas and Graham in North Texas

The Department of Public Safety in Mineral Wells, monitoring the Graham Police Department, quoted Graham authorities as saying high winds damaged homes in the McCracken Addition in the north part of town, the Shepard Motel on the west side of the downtown area and the Golden Age Nursing Home on the West Side. There were no immediate reports of death or injury, but power lines were down.

Other reports had a tornado skipping through the town, about 60 miles south of Wichita Falls, and striking the affected areas.

First reports of damage came at 7:23 a.m

A small tornado touched down just before dawn at Bangs, but there were no immediate reports of serious damage or injuries.

The DPS also reported a tornado to the north of Mineral Wells near Salesville in Palo Pinto County

Howling northerly winds gusted to hurricane force in the Texas Panhandle early today as a strong storm system brought snow to northerly sections

The storm cell set off severe thunderstorms across a vast area of West and North Central Texas, prompting tornado watches and warnings

The storm system developed in West Texas late Monday afternoon and was joined by an extreme cold air system moving in from Colorado in advance of a rapidly developing winter storm

Forecasters said as much as two inches of snow could accumulate in the northern sections of the Panhandle before the snow ends tonight. The snow combined with gusty winds to create hazardous driving conditions, prompting the National Weather Serf vice to issue a travelers' advisory. Jor the Panhandle.

Very cold air was surging southeastward across the state. Highs were to range from the 40s and 50s in Northwest Texas to to the 80s in the southeastern third of the state.

Temperatures were expected to plunge into the middle 20s by daybreak Wednesday in Panhandle. Although the front was expected to move into South Texas by late night, early morning temperatures were expected to remain near 70 by early Wednesday

The severe thunderstorms moved across West Texas into Central Texas by dawn, accompanied by heavy rain, gusty wind and occasional ou of hail. Winds gusted to 74 mph in a thunderstorm at Amarillo late Monday as hail ranging from pea-size to golf ball-size fell. Golf ball-size hail also was reported four miles west of Claude and near Muleshoe. Abilene had wind gusts to 46 mph. pea-size hail and about half an inch of rain in a 30-minute period early today. Some wind damage was reported at Colorado City at 3 a.m. when the storm, accompanied by gusts of up to 45 mph, moved through. Winds estimated at 50-60 mph, accompanied by hail, struck an area about five miles west of Reese Air Force Base near Lubbock shortly after midnight.

Daltas grandmother lives as 'dedicated Klan fanatic'

DALLAS (AP) - Her modest home is shaded by a large pecan tree, and inside a rocking chair sits near a fireplace. But visitors suspect there is something unsual about this place from the moment they ring the doorbell.

It plays "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Visitors are sure when they enter and find Addie Barlow Frazier, 73, a great-grandmother, wearing a Ku Klux Klan robe and hood, KKK earrings and a Klan medallion

She has a KKK altar and sacred, sword in her bedroom and keeps a loaded pistol by her bed.

'We risk our lives to wear these robes and hoods, says Mrs. Frazier, who holds the Klan post of "Kleagle of the Realm." She says she spends her time "promoting God's word through the Klan."

Mrs. Frazier has stirred a local controversy by obtaining a parade pemit for a Klan march in downtown Dallas next Saturday morning. The Klan hasn't marched in Dallas since the 1920s. Anti-Klan groups have merged for a counter-demonstration half an hour later along the same parade route.

We're getting up the white Christian army to fight these Communist devils," she said. "We'll fight them with ballots and boycotts. We don't use bullets unless we have to -- for self defense." Mrs. Frazier says Saturday's Klan march, billed "The March of the Christian Soldiers," is being held

'to save an endangered species - the white race.' "Freedom of assembly is one of the freedoms white people are losing," said Mrs. Frazier, a widow who became active in the Klan in the mid-1950s. She calls herself a "dedicated fanatic" and says her behavior carries certain risks.

"I was looking at television one night when a brick " was hurled through the front door (window). I found a stick of dynamite on my driveway once. I've found dead cats in my flower bed. I've had people threaten to assassinate me," she said.

But so far nothing has happened to her. "If I were any healthier I'd have to take something.

for it," she said. "Somebody will have to shoot me to get rid of me. And there are plenty of people who'd like to do it.

"I guess the reason I'm not scared is that I'm a dedicated fanatic."

Besides her Klan trappings, Mrs. Frazierekeeps an American flag and a Confederate flag in her bedroom. "I used to keep them outside, but too many of them got stolen. I can't afford to keep buying them," she said. She says Franklin Roosevelt became the nation's first communist president and all presidents since then have been Communists.

"You can't get elected dogcatcher in this country without the support of the international communists," Mrs. Frazier savs

Banks 'proceed with care' in lending Chrysler money

WASHINGTON (AP) - The na * $1 billion-this year. tion's banks "have not run away from the Chrysler Corp." but "will proceed with great care" in lending any further assistance, a leading banker told Congress today.

John McGillicuddy, chairman of the board of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York, urged a House Banking Committee subcommittee to approve at least the $750 million in loan guarantees that Chrysler is asking.

"I personally feel $750 million is slim," McGillicuddy said.

He said a group of 102 banks for which Hanover Trust is the agent has granted Chrysler $567 million in credit. In addition, he said, Hanover is circulating a letter to 193 banks proposing a $919-million credit to Chrysler Financial Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary.

Davis' defense team objects to state's rebuttal strategy

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Defense attorneys have objected to the state's rebuttal strategy in the Cullen Davis retrial, saying prosecutors tried to use the defendant's constitutional right to remain silent against

But chief prosecutor Jack Strickland countered Monday that the defendant and his attorneys were attempting to turn the "constitutional shield into a sword" through a story the defense "fabricated after the arrest."

At issue was testimony by two FBI agents who said they neither spoke nor refused to speak with the Davis after his arrest on a murder-for-hire charge

Special Agent Bob Oakley said he made "eye contact" with Davis moments after his arrest, but that there was no conversation. Special Agent Jim Acree, who was scheduled to return to the stand today, said he arrived at FBI headquarters shortly after Davis was taken into custody, but that he had no occasion to talk with the defendant.

The rebuttal testimony was designed to cast doubts on Davis' testimony that he thought he was working with the FBI during his August 1978 meetings with informant David McCrory.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 60s and 70s. Extremes ranged from 34 at Dalhart and 38 at Amarillo to 79 at Brownsville and McAllen.

Temperatures to drop near 40

Inklings of winter may move into Midland tonight as the temperature, chilled by westerly winds, is to drop to near 40 degrees.

But a false "blizzard," minus the cold and snow, whipped into Midland about 11:15 p.m. Monday. Southeasterly winds gusted to 48 mph and seemed to usher in quarter-inch soft hail and .06 inch of rain shortly after midnight, said a weatherman with the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

The light rainfall brings the month's accumulation to 0.97 inch and the yearly total to 13.25 inches. This exceeds the 12.50-inch average rainfall through October.

Wednesday's high reading should be in the mid-60s, which will be about 20 degrees lower than Monday's high of 83.

Though the wintry nip of fall has yet plunged Midland into a freeze, the time is nearing, said the weatherman.

The average date of winter's first killing freeze is Nov. 11, though the earliest freeze on record came on Oct.

31, 1946. The latest first freeze on record was on Dec. 6, 1954.

The record high temperature reading for an Oct. 29 is 90 degrees in 1933. The record low for an Oct. 30 is 35 degrees in 1949.

The weather was windy and chilly throughout most of the Midland area this morning, and some weather observers in neighboring towns reported rain.

Rankin and Big Lake received a shower last night, and Big Spring got a touch of small hail and rain. Odessa was wind-whipped and recorded a sprinkle.

Delayed combat stress: Vietnam veterans react to 'national error'

By BARRY RENFREW HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) - For years, the men seem calm. Then something sets off the guns in their heads, the long silent guns of Vietnam, bringing back the trauma of combat and reopening the festering wounds.

Harold Mann, who was a medic in Vietnam, held 27 persons hostage at gunpoint in a tiny church in St. Albans, W.Va., nine days ago. He surrendered after making an obscene statement on the radio in which he complained of medical problems the military had ignored.

Clinical psychologists believe the Vietnam veterans who explode so violently are reacting to delayed combat stress, the haunting return of the memories and fears of combat in Vietnam.

"These people are not crazy," said Don Crawford, a Veterans Adminis-tration official. "They've been traumatized by war and need help to adjust.

Little is known about the delayed stress reaction. Researchers are just starting to study the problem, and they warn that Mann will not be the last veteran to explode.

"They have flashbacks of injury and death. In one case, a vet kept seeing decapitated bodies after 10 years of no problems," said Malcolm Farmer, head of counseling at a local VA center.

'We're going to have to live with it for years and years," said Crawford. "If we had started doing something about 10 years ago, it might have been better. Now the problems are, complex beyond our understanding. ( 'We've made a national error that we're going to have to live with," Crawford said. In an effort to deal with delayed stress and other chronic problems that trouble veterans, Congress this summer authorized the VA to set up Operation Outreach. Under Crawford's direction, 71 special counseling centers are being set up around the country The program was first proposed eight years ago.

Larry Lapelle, a VA vocational counselor in Auntington, dealt with Mann in a number of veterans programs. He also grew up with Ashby Leach, the Vietnam vet from Hunlington who held 13 persons hostage at the Cleveland headquarters of the Chessie System railroad in 1976.

Both men raged at what they said was the indifference of America to the problems and anguish of Vietnam vets. Before their outbursts, they were quite different, Lapelle said.

Mann, working as an ambulance paramedic, was "very, very upset about where he was in life and what

- he wanted to do," Lapelle said. Leach - a former Chessie employee --- "was a pretty solid citizen without any problems." Leach is now in an Ohio prison. Mann, charged with kidnapping, is at Weston State Hospital for psychiatric tests.

Lapelle said Mann's "reactions were quite normal.

"We just don't know that much about these explosions. Maybe recontact with Mann could have prevented it But there was just no time,' he said.

Charles Figley, professor of psy-chology at Purdue University and a pioneer in the study of delayed stress reaction, described the phenomenon as the eruption of long-simmering pressures and memories.

"Delayed stress basically is putting off dealing with an extremely difficult period in life." he said.

to push and the lights would all turn red. Will it be installed before a child is injured, and will it be like the traffic light at Big Spring and Wadley - take forever? - Sandy Wilkerson

ANSWER: Doug Vanover, traffic coordinator for the city of Midland, said delivery of the equipment for installing the button to change all lights red for crossing has been very slow. He also said it will be installed as soon as possible after its arrival.

The light for the intersection of Big Spring and Wadley also has been delayed because of the lack of more necessary equipment, some of which has been installed.

What can be done about interference on television from CB users, especially CB Channel 6? - Daniel Ramirez

ANSWER: The only solution to this

Combat stress is not new but Vietnamy eterans faced unique conditions in combat and at home, Figley said. A nightmarish guerrilla war in a threatening, alien world and the nation's indifference when they returned clouded their minds with feelings that have never been confronted, he said.

'They're acting out of resentment, the feeling that they gave part of their lives and deserve some recognition,' Figley said. "If you scratch any Vietnam veteran that hostility will come through. Unlike veterans of other wars, they never received any recognition.

Studies suggest that up to 85 percent of Vietnam combat veterans are troubled by war memories and a sense of "bitterness and resentment over feelings of being used," Figley said.

problem, according to a local television dealer, is for the CB operator to purchase an adapter, which is available, for his equipment that will eliminate the interference. There is nothing which can be placed on a television set to prevent the problem.

U.S. economic indicators strong

Index reflects economy before interest hike

WASHINGTON (AP) - A government index designed to forecast economic trends showed surprising strength in September, rising by the largest amount since April 1978, the Commerce Department reported today.

The Composite Index of Leading Indicators rose 0.8 percent in September, compared with a 0.1 percent rise in August and a 0.3 percent decline in July. The rise was 0.9 percent in April 1978

The strong showing, however, reflects the economy before the Federal Reserve Board took sweeping action on Oct.*6 to boost interest rates and tighten the money supply to battle rising inflation.

But it also comes at a time when most economists are predicting a recession that could increase the unemployment rate to above 8 percent.

The economy was a lot stronger in September than generally expected,' said Michael Evans, a private economic consultant.

"But now that the Federal Reserve

Board has taken action, many banks are not making any mortgage or consumer loans and this will slow up the economy substantially, particularly in sharply reduced retail sales and housing production," he said. The Commerce Department attributed the surprising strength of last month's 10-point index to a significant decline in the layoff rate.

In addition, new orders for plant and equipment as well as consumer goods were up, as were stock prices, total liquid assets and building permits, the department said.

Four of the 10 indicators, however, declined in September. They were the average work week, sensitive prices, the money supply and vendor performance.

Vendor performance was the main cause of the decline, the Commerce Department said. This means that the number of companies reporting delivery delays declined, a signal that their suppliers are not extremely busy and are having no problem filling orders, even though they were

Mrs. Morrison is employee relations counselor for Radio Shack and was founding president of the Greater Fort Worth Negro Business and Professional Women's Club.

Fire safety Demos want feds to check to be promoted Clements' fund-raising letters

HOUSTON (AP) — The head of the Texas Demo-cratic Party has asked the Federal Election Committee to check on fund-raising letters being mailed in behalf of Republican Gov. Bill Clements.

The chairman of the State Democratic Executive said he himself has received five of the letters this year from Clements or Mrs. Clements.

Goldberg told the SDEC on Monday he had submitted the matter to the FEC in that the letters are not specific on how the contributions will be used except for "support of the work of the Governor Clements Committee.

In a letter dated Oct. 23; Goldberg asked the FEC to determine if the Clements fund should be registered with the federal commission and if names of contributors and the amounts contributed should be submitted to the FEC.

"I request that you conduct such investigation as may be needed to enable you to answer these questions," Goldberg's letter to the FEC said.

He said the questions were 'raised by the fact Clements" "has publicly announced his leadership in the effort to defeat President Carter for re-elec-

"The only public disclosure the governor has made recently is he has collected some $2 million to reduce the notes he personally signed to banks for money he used in his last campaign," Goldberg said.

"Obviously, this special fund is not a part of the funds of the Republican Party of Texas.'

Goldberg indicated the SDEC will meet in special session in Austin about Dec. 8 to vote on proposals to implement a 7-year-old party purity rule on removal of party officers who support nominees of other parties

"I have every reason to believe a very distinguished visitor will be in Austin on Dec. 8," he said without elaborating.

In discussing the Clements fund-raising letters, Goldberg said he also had received two letters from the Republican Party of Texas, thanking him for his continuing support.

Both letters, he said, included Republican mem bership cards.

Appeals court to decide on Oswald exhumation

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - The Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals will hear arguments next April 24 on British author Michael Eddowes' lawsuit seeking to have the body of Lee Harvey Oswald exhumed.

Eddowes filed the suit earlier this year, contending that the corpse in the grave may not be Oswald's, but that of a Soviet spy. Last week, Dallas County medical officials joined Eddowes in asking Tarrant County to open the grave and settle the controversy, but officials here said they would do so only under a court order.

Doubts over China

Before leaving Peking recently in quest of good will, trade and armaments from Europe, China's Premier Hua Guofeng laid down a hard line about critics of the Chinese Communist regime. He told a group of European correspondents that he opposed "anarchism" and indicated "anyone slandering and libeling others on the pretext of freedom" would be considered a lawbreaker and be punished.

His pronouncement has been quickly translated into action. Wei Jihsheng, China's most prominent dissident and the youthfuleditor of an underground magazine called Explorations, was sentenced to 15 years in prison on charges of writing "counter-revolutionary and reactionary" wall posters and divulging to a foreigner military secrets about China's recent attack on Vietnam.

· Then, on the heels of Wei's sentencing, Fu Yuchua, a woman who organized a rally of peasants protesting food shortages, was put on trial. Both proceedings were closed to all but selected court spectators.

Neither Wei nor Fu seems to have done or said anything that would be considered culpable in a democracy with the usual regard for free speech and assembly. The military information that Wei revealed about the course of the China-Vietnam war would have been included as a matter of routine in an official Pentagon communique were American forces involved.

Obviously, officials are irked by the amount of public dissatisevidence of how limited the freedoms that seemed to be burgeoning in China are to be. It is probably correct, as Vice Premier Deng Xiaoping told visiting U.S. governors the other day, that the dissidents who are now receiving publicity are no indication that there. is widespread opposition to the government. But the Wei case does raise the question he himself posed in one of his wall posters. Calling for "democracy and self-rule," Wei argued that, without-greater liberties for the Chinese people, the Communist party would never be able to arouse. enough enthusiasm to succeed with the "four modernizations" of agriculture, industry, science and defense.

The best that can be said about the cases of Wei and Fu is that at least they were brought to semipublic trials in regular courts and can appeal. And the regime can be complimented on the fact that foreign correspondents in Peking, though barred from the trials, were able to write freely about what they could find out.

It is gratifying that America and other foreign correspondents in Peking are reporting on dissidence there just as correspondents have been doing in Moscow. It is also gratifying that the State Department has publicly registered its displeasure over the Wei sentence. There has been a disposition among many Americans to ignore the seamy side of communist dictatorship-in China while deploring the same thing in the Soviet Union-The same stan-·dards should be applied to both. Actually, friends of China had hoped that Chinese communism would evolve into a freer and better system than Russia's. Perhaps there still is hope, but the Wei case raises doubts.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Economic guesswork: disastrous

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - President Carter has been practicing guess-and-waiteconomics, which have sent prices soaring out of sight. The latest guess is that monetary controls will be more effective than price controls in breaking the price spiral.

The immediate result has been to give prices another rocket boost. Businessmen are simply adding their higher loan costs to the prices that they charged the consumers. But Carter may be absolutely right; the exorbitant interest rates may bring economic expansion to an abrupt halt Some economists fear this may bring prices tumbling down, all right; as part of an economic collapse that could bankrupt many small businessmen, ruin many family farmers and throw millions of workers out on the streets. The only certainty is that the Carter administration's economic guess work has been wrong in the past. Here's the record: The secret Cabinet minutes for Feb. .26 show that chief economic adviser Charles Schultze expected an early break in the price spiral. "The economy," he reported, "should begin to slow down." Two-months later, he was still hopeful. On April 23, he reported to the president, "Some signs of a decided, non-recessionary slowdown." Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps agreed. "A conclusion that the economy is overheating would be unwarranted," she solemnly ing at a 13 percent annual rate. This has led to urgent calls for price controls. But the president told his subordinates, according to the secret minutes, that he "has no authority to impose mandatory wage and price controls" and even if he had the authority, "I would not exercise it." Instead he chose monetary controls to raise interest rates and tighten cred-

Carter appointed as guardian of the dollar Paul Volcker, who had been Richard Nixon's expert on monetary affairs in the early 1970s. In this capacity. Volcker helped give the nation 11 percent inflation in 1974, which brought 9 percent unemployment in 1975 of the credit crunch. But one source predicted: "I would expect the numbers to start to rise in three to six months.

can be made to work, IF...

The president promised construction workers that he would not fight inflation with their jobs. But his tight-credit policy has already tied up mortgage money. This will slow down home construction, which will wipe out construction jobs.

Most of the nation's 10 million small businesses must borrow money to keep up their inventories. With loans costlier than ever and harder to get, many face financial disaster.

made to work "but it must abandon both the concept of rehabilitation and the structure which is built on the concept. The place to start is by abolishing parole and probation and the bureaucrats who work in that area. This is the mechanism by which the system fails.

Parole and probation must have been invented by a bureaucratic ges nius. They claim as a "success" everyone they let out who shouldn't have been in prison in the first place. and everyone on probation who doesn't really require any supervision (nor, in actuality, receive any).

They can claim as a success those in paison they don't let out and nobody can dispute their decision. Then when they let someone out who goes on a rampage they can prove beyond a statistical doubt that their "failure rate" is very low.

This system, however, provides a tool of abuse. How does a prisoner 'earn' parole? By strict conformity to every whim of his keepers. Any deviation, any complaint and the prisoner becomes a non-candidate for parole

A more just system can be constructed if we confine ourselves to punishing bad behavior. Prison sentences should be mandatory for crimes involving force or the threat of force, but they should be short and fixed. No parole. No time off for good behavior.

When a man has paid his penalty, he should be set free and his record expunged. The barbaric practice of forcing a man to carry the label of 'convicted felon'' the rest of his life is unjust and counter-productive.

Crimes which do not involve injury or the threat of injury to people should be punished by fines, restitution, or public service. Simply accomplishing this would reduce the prison population drastically. It would reduce welfare costs. It would save-tax dollars. If you look at the pattern of sentencing in criminal cases you will see that it is criminally inconsistent, varying from judge to judge and from defendant to defendant. ## Higher and higher

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) was formed in 1960 as an international cartel to force oil prices higher.

It succeeded beyond its founders' expectations.

The OPEC price was supposed to be a floor to insure increased revenues to the governments of the oil-producing nations.

But the pressure of demand for oil on world markets has been such that the OPEC price floor has become a ceiling which is penetrated with regularity.

Libya and Iran recently announced increases above the OPEC price level. Oil sells for far more than the OPEC price on the spot market.

All the oil-importing countries deplore these price increases. So do the Saudis among the oil-pro- . ducing countries.

But the price pop-offs are the result of economic pressure. They will continue, regardless of OPEC policies, for the duration of the world's energy crisis.

These forecasts were woefully wrong. The economy is still overheatdeclared.

- Under Volcker, the Federal Reserve Board has catapulted interest rates to record altitudes. He assured senators that this would "improve the prospects for economic performance in the long run." But our own sources inside the Fed are not so sure. "We are pretty much in a blind," admitted one. "We don't know what we're doing.

A computer run could not project how high Volcker's moves will boost interest rates. Confided one insider: "The money supply figures are going all over the place. The money demand forecasts are way out of balance. They don't know how much money is out there.

- The impact on employment is also unclear. Carter's own economic advisers now guess that unemployment will take off sooner than they had expected. Their informal estimates are fuzzy about how many people will lose their jobs as a result

INSIDE REPORT: Philadelphia appears to be President Carter's wasteland

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

PHILADELPHIA - The notion of President Carter's political resurrection, which has taken root in Washington the past month, encounters credibility problems 136 miles away in Philadelphia where a four-hour visit by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy pointed up the awesome task faced in renominating the president.

Kennedy showed himself as a powerful, though unpolished, platform speaker. While consciously escalating his attacks on Carter's leadership, Kennedy dodged Carter's effort to identify him with the Democratic party's left wing. What's more, bitterly antagonistic factions of Philadelphia Democrats are all moving to Kennedy with scarcely anybody of prominence loyal to the president.

Philadelphia is, therefore, a political wasteland for Carter. Victory in the Pennsylvania primary clinched the 1976 nomination for him, and his strategists had looked to the 1980 primary next April as the potentially decisive Kennedy-Carter test. But no Carter base in Philadelphia, thanks to three years of inflation, makes for bleak statewide prospects when combined with Kennedy's appeal.

Kennedy's performance here, in three pep talks and one full-scale speech, belied the widening theory that Teddy as candidate will be less popular than Teddy has been as noncandidate. Although his voting record is to the left of even Sen. George McGovern, Kennedy made clear he is no self-destructing doctrinaire through the non-ideological content of his speech and his ability to attract disparate elements of the party.

His speech at a fund-raiser for ex-Rep. William Green's campaign for mayor denounced "leadership that has failed to do the job." containing no more ideological overtones than John F. Kennedy's exortations to greatness in 1960. Save for an attack on oil decontrol, it could easily have been delivered by John B. Connally.

Like JFK's campaign oratory, Ted Kennedy's comes over stronger on the stump than it reads in cold print. One Democratic insider who was shown an advance copy of the speech here was disappointed by "ho-hum rhetoric." He was shocked that when delivered in Kennedy's high-pitched, sing-song style, the prosaic language became a searing indictment of the Carter presidency.

The $100-a-plate diners, including top corporate officials, applauded frequently but with restraint. A more spirited reaction came later at a South Philadelphia rally where some 4,000 persons cheered. Speaking without notes, Kennedy shouted in tones of a carnival barker that in years past

"we didn't throw up our hands in despair. We didn't talk about a malaise of the American spirit. We rolled up our sleeves.

Old friend Bill Green was with Kennedy at every stop. But also at Kennedy's side during the South Philly rally were allies of outgoing rightwing Democratic Mayor Frank Rizzo, long Green's enemy. Kennedy also telephoned to pay his respects to another Rizzo stalwart: city Democratic Chairman Marty Weinberg, absent from the evening's Green-for-mayor events.

Once Kennedy actually announces for president, Weinberg is likely to support him. So is ward leader Pete Camiel, who feuded with Rizzo as city Democratic chairman. They willsurely be joined by Ed Toohey, head of Philadelphia's AFL-CIO, and most of the city's other labor leaders. Philadelphia liberals long ago backed Kennedy Against this ecumenical array, who is for Jimmy Carter? Nobody but some black leaders (believed unable to swing black voters from Kennedy) and 78-year-old ex-Sen. Joseph S. Clark. Green has endorsed Carter as part of a deal with black leaders. But nobody expects it to stick.

The president is reaping the bitter harvest of three years neglecting the city whose 258,000 plurality overcame Gerald Ford's 127,000 edge elsewhere in the state. The fact Carter has not set foot in Philadelphia as president may be justified by desire to avoid Rizzo. But that does not explain ignoring other party leaders.

Carter operatives talked privately of Pittsburgh-for-Carter counteracting Philadelphia-for-Kennedy with the issue settled in the smaller counties. But there is no sign Kennedy is significantly less popular in Pittsburgh than in Philadelphia. Furthermore, Carter cannot count on Peter Flaherty, who as mayor of Pittsburgh spearheaded Carter's 1976 Pennsylvania campaign. Back home after a short tour as Carter's deputy attorney general, Flaherty calls himself "totally undecided" and, in fact, traveled to Philadelphia for Kennedy's appearance. Above all, Carter is fighting a legend: the little dance orchestra wailing out "Camelot" at the dinner, accents reminiscent of the two earlier Kennedys, the stacatto call to greatness. Since Kennedy will not match his rhetoric to his Senate voting record. Carter's irresistible course in this and other important states may be personal attack. His Philadelphia wasteland would then turn into a bloody battleground.

And unlike the giant Chrysler and Lockheed corporations, they can't expect the government to bail them

- Our roving reporter, Hal Bernton, reports from the farm belt that farmers have also been borrowing heavily. The drought at the banks could bankrupt many of them.

What all this means is that President Carter is fighting inflation at the expense of the little businessman, farmers and workers, many of whom will be wiped out. Meanwhile, the big banks, oil companies and corporate giants are continuing to rake in fabulous profits.

SOUND OFF: Q. What are our leaders doing to save energy? - Mrs. Bernia Miles, Minden, La.

A. Most of them have kept their thermostats at an uncomfortable level. The two Senate leaders, Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., and Howard Baker, R-Tenn., have put up with this discomfort, for example. Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., rides to work with a staff member to save gas. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-S.C., also carpools. As a result, he has run up only 30,000 miles on a 7-year-old car. Many other Washington big shots try to practice what • they preach.

President Carter promised fed-Q. eral workers that none of them would lose their jobs because of government reorganization. Now 60 percent of U.S. Travel Service employees have been notified that they will be laid off. Why? - M.C. Boarman, Arlington,

A. The Carter administration believes the private sector should proote tourism. The fired government workers are free, presumably, to seek jobs in commercial tourist agencies. But unfortunately, most private agencies are caught in the credit pinch and aren't hiring.

Chinese scientists use old remedies successfully

WASHINGTON (AP) - Chinese scientists say they are discovering the ways many ancient folk medicines work and are using the best of these herbal, root and plant remedies to treat patients.

Chinese drug specialists told their American counterparts Monday that they have isolated hundreds of chemical ingredients from more than 80 kinds of plants and are using some of them to successfully treat everything from high blood pressure to cancer. "In our country, increasing emphasis has been laid in recent years on researches on natural products for medicinal use," Zhang Juntien told a meeting at the National Academy of Sciences.

Zhang, deputy director of the Insti-tute of Materia Medica in Shanghai, said there are 5,000 species of medici, nal plants in China, including 1,000 that remain in common usage after hundreds of years. *

The scientist said the Chinese consider traditional drugs and medical practice "a great treasure house" to be explored and exploited, an important foundation on which the country can build an extensive and independent drug industry.

The meeting was the first bilateral scientific symposium between the United States and the People's Republic of China. It was co-sponsored by the academy's Institute of Medicine and the Chinese Academy of Medical Sciences. The 10 Chinese scientists in the delegation presented technical pharmacology reports as did some of the 40 Americans attend-

The drug, called harringtonine, is one of thousands of herbal preparations screened for anticancer activity and was found effective against a number of animal tumors, including some resistant to other treatments.

In clinical trials with 72 leukemia patients getting no other treatment, 24 achieved complete disease remission, 38 had partial remission and 10 failed to respond, Zhang said.

The drug is being used in several clinics in China and more than 200 persons have been treated with some success, the Chinese scientists said. A major side effect of this treatment, suppresses the body mimmunologic tute, reported on several plant chemicals tested by his group. The root of the corydalis ambigua plant has been used for more than 1,000 years to relieve pain. Scientists found the active ingredient to be a chemical called di-tetrahydropalmatine (THP), shown to produce a sedative and pain-killing effect in animals.

Ding said.

THP was found to be a non-narcotic and there were no signs of addiction in monkeys given it continuously for five months. In clinical practice with humans, THP has been an effective pain reliever and sedative that also worked against anxiety insomnia, he said.

Leftists release 276 hostages after government uses force

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) - Eeftists holed up in two government buildings released 276 hostages they had held for five days after police and soldiers fired into a leftist street demonstration.

The Red Cross said at least 24 persons were killed, and dozens more were wounded Monday in the new government's first employment of force against leftists demanding an end to military dominance of El Salvador, Central America's smallest, and most densely populated nation.

About 1,000 members of the Popular Revolutionary Bloc were still holding three cabinet members, eight other officials and a Chilean official of the Organization of American States in the Labor and Economy Ministry buildings, which they took over last Wednesday.

The army surrounded the two government buildings and several down-attempt to dislodge those inside. Police and soldiers in armored ve-hicles opened fire on about 150 town churches the leftists were occupying, but there was no apparent masked demonstrators marching toward the office of La Prensa Grafica, one of two newspapers bombed by , leftists on Sunday. Marchers said the demonstration was a warning to the media "to quit being used by the military.'

The shooting spread through 20 blocks of downtown San Salvador. By midnight, however, the streets were deserted, and military patrols had withdrawn after chasing away looters and demonstrators who had occupied the plazas for days. But 11 bodies wrapped in red and black flags remained where they fell, and a hospital source said "dozens were injured with bullet wounds.'

NEW YORK (AP) - A state Supreme Court judge says he will allow a class action suit against a major brokerage firm to be dropped only if the firm makes restitution to customers whose money it used longer than it was supposed to.

Justice Martin Stecher said Merrrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith acted with "the intention of making a profit for itself" in paying New York clients with checks drawn on California banks. The firm would then use the money while New York check-holders waited for the checks to clear the West Coast banks.

The firm reported making $417,858 on checks valued at $1.25 billion between Sept. 1, 1976, and Dec. 31, 1978.

The suit was brought by Michael G. Gilman, a customer, who said he was willing to settle the case because the firm had agreed to cease the practice. In addition, he said, assessing damages was not practical because the firm had some * 350,000 customers in New York

The judge disagreed, saying an estimate could be made from the firm's computerized bookkeeping system.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) - Three auto repair shops have filed a $100 million federal class action suit charging that insurance companies providing auto coverage in Rhode Island have conspired to set prices for repairs.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court, said the companies violated antitrust laws by using their appraisers to "fix and maintain" prices the companies are willing to pay for repairs.

The insurance companies "coerced and intimidated" customers from having auto glass repairs done by independent shops, and boycotted shops "that will not accede to their appraisers' estimates of the price of the work," the suit charged.

nella, who filed the suit, said the shops theoretically can charge any price they want for 'repairs. But the actual price is limited by insurance company rates because most drivers will not pay for work that is DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) - Suspension of auto not reimbursable, he said.

Homer Schwalbe and his wife Bertha 'Bert' have long since left the ranch, and they have settled down to the house with the a sea of ranch-life artifacts in and about their tin roof and worlds of memories suggested by home in Stanton. (Staff Photo by Ed Todd)

Ranch gone, but not forgotten Stanton couple surrounds home with collectibles

STANTON - Homer Schwalbe spent most of his life ranching. Often are the times he longs to be back on the range;

"Oh, you bet, you bet," he said amid hundreds of artifacts, including old ranching tools and other collectibles. "Still miss it. As far as that goes, I always will.'

It's been almost a quarter of a century since Schwalbe, now 85, ranched, and it's been just as long since his ex-schoolteacher wife, Bertha "Bert," ran the ranch house. "I like ranch life," she said. But they put the ranching life into their past in 1956, when they moved to Stanton from Fort Hancock where Schwalbe last ranched.

Before that, he raised cattle, sheep and goats for years around Ozona in' Crockett and Terrell counties. Ranching was all he knew.

"I was born and raised at Ozona-on a ranch down there," said Schwalbe. 'My father and grandfather came to Ozona country long before Ozona was thought about. There was nothing there but wide-open land." His grandfather came "direct to Texas" from Germany and landed on Galveston Island in 1849. He was a rock mason in the "old country." Schwalbe already was a seasoned cowbby and range rider in 1918, when the Great War took him off the range and put him in the doughboy's olivedrab uniform But he never got overseas, for the war was about over when he got on the troop ship bound for the Continent. "No, I didn't get across. We got out on the water one night ... (just), before "the Armistice, but they shipped us back." Anyway, he could do without trench warfare "over there. What really hacked off Schwalbe, though, was the Army's+failure to utilize his talents. The Army put him in the wrong slot - driving a wagon - or so he figured.

"I tried every way in the world to get in there (the remount). I wanted to get in the remount, where they handled horses, but never seemed to get in.

He tried, tried and tried again, but never did succeed.

.I had been riding horses all my life," Schwalbe reasoned, "and I wasn't used to walking, didn't walk (much), because I was used to riding.

Though he wasn't exactly born on a horse. Schwalbe had been riding since he was a tot, and he figured the Army wasn't making the most of his talents and experience by putting him in a wagon.

"I got my first saddle when I was 5 years old and didn't know nothing else.

But he settled down with the wagon and team for as long as the Army so ordered

After the war, Schwalbe returned to the ranch, where his memories still linger

"My daddy could really sing those old-time cowboy songs," he recalled. "He was an old-timey cowboy."

"The Schwalbe "home place" in Stanton is old-timey, antique-ish from the tin roof of the house to the motherlode of ranching tools and equipment in the house, piled up outside or in sheds Schwalbe built to house his collectibles.

"Yeah, I've got a little bit of everything," he observed. And, indeed, he does: wagon wheels, bits and spurs, his 1918 Army water canteen, wooden barrels, wash pots, kegs, wrenches, barbed wire, railroad lanterns, wood churn and, among much more, his old saddle, which he inherited from his father.

Dallas asks 'go-ahead' on desegregation plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - Dallas school-officials, saying their desegregation plan is the best that can be achieved in view of the "urban condition," have urged the Supreme Court to let them proceed.

Warren Whitham, the school district's lawyer, told justices Monday the issue before them was "whether or not the elimination of all one-race schools, given the urban condition ... is the controlling factor to be considered.

Opponents argued that the plan approved by a federal judge in 1976 is unacceptable because it would leave a majority of the black students in one-race schools.

E. Brice Cunningham, a lawyer for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said more effective alternatives were available when the plan was approved.

The school district, the nation's eighth largest, is appealing a 5th U.S. Circuit Cource Appeals decision that sent the plan back to the federal judge in Dallas for further study. The Supreme Court is expected to deliver a decision by the end of its term in June Whitham said in oral arguments before the court that the school district has steadily decreasing numbers of Anglo students while the black and Mexican-American populations are decreasing.

The distance is too great to permit busing betweeen the largely Anglo sections off North Dallas and the largely black East Oak Cliff neighborhood, the school district's lawyer said.

The plan, yet to be applied while the issue is in the courts, would divide the Dallas school district into six subdistricts.

Five of the subdistricts would reflect the racial and ethnic proportions of the entire district's student population, but East Oak Cliff would remain virtually all black.

Whitham said October figures student university.

Opening arguments presented in trial of Vietnamese brothers

SEGUIN, Texas (AP) - A 35-yearold Gulf Coast fisherman "was begging for what he got" when he was shot down this summer at the height of tensions involving Vietnamese crabbers, says a defense attorney fortwo Vietnamese brothers charged with the slaving. •

Testimony in the trial was sche-duled to get underway following opening arguments at 9 a.m. today, The jury includes two retired Air Force officers who served in Vietnam.

known to carry a loaded weapon and. had knifed Sau and beaten him the day of the murder.

Aplin's widow and two of his three children were in the courtroom Monday for the jury selection, which ended about 6:30 p.m.

Aplin was killed with two shots from a .38-caliber handgun on the evening of Aug. 3 near the fishing village of Seadrift, about 70 miles up the coast from Corpus Christi.

Laying the ground for a self-defense case. Maloney said Aplin was about 100 pounds larger and a foot tall

With each passing day, Schwalbe plans on building more shed space and organizing his and the missus' wares and things.

"Some day we're going to have this place all fixed up if we live long enough," said Mrs. Schwalbe, who has been hitched to the mister of the house since 1936, "and we're planning on living a long time."

And it'll take a fair amount of sawing and hammering to fit everything under a roof, as Schwalbe well knows.

District Judge Clarence Stevenson of Victoria moved the trial from Calhoun County, where the slaying occurred, to Seguin because of the tensions in Seadrift, a town of about 1,000 population, including about 200 Vietnamese refugees.

No charges to be filed against man who held executives hostage

HOUSTON (AP) - No charges will be filed against a former United Energy Resources Inc. employee who held two company executives hostage more than two hours before releasing them unharmed, police say Houston Det. LE. McComas said charges would not be filed at the company's request.

According to police, a man wielding a gun and carrying a bag he said contained a grenade, entered the company's executive offices Monday and barricaded himself in the offices with two company officials and two security guards.

also "threaten serious harm" to farmworkers and persons living near some DBCP-treated crops and fields.

Costle's order halts use of the pesticide for peach trees, citrus fruit trees, grapes, soybeans and golf course turf, said agency spokesman Marlin Fitzwater.

The action is based on Costle's agreement with Judge Gerald Harwood, an EPA administrative law judge who concurred earlier this month with an agency staff report that said DBCP should not be sold in the United States.

Costle exempted Hawaiian pineapple groves from the ban, Fitzwater said. The pesticide leaves no residue on pineapples and almost two years elapse between DBCP soil treatments and harvesting, he said.

DBCP — dibromochloropropane has been manufactured since the 1960s and is used to kill small worms that attack plant roots. In 1977, the EPA banned its use on some vegeta bles and California banned it entirely

A total ban was sought after researchers reported DBCP caused cancer in laboratory animals and reduced sperm counts in men.

Fitzwater said the ban announced Monday will become permanent if pesticide manufacturers do not file the expected appeal.

The pesticide is manufactured by the Amvac Chemical Corp. of Los Angeles and the Gowan Co. of Yuma, Ariz., Fitzwater said. Officials of those companies could not be reached immediately for comment on Costle's order.

EPA officials said levels of the pesticide as high as 39 parts per billion have been found in irrigation and drinking water in California, Arizona and Hawaii. The government has cautioned the public against drinking water with DBCP levels higher than one part per billion.

DA, chief of detectives indicted for conspiracy to commit perjury

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - A grand jury has indicted the Potter County district attorney and a chief of detectives for conspiracy to commit aggravated perjury in connection with the investigation of the slaving of a legislator's daughter.

Capt. E.N. Smith, chief of detectives of the Amarillo Police Department, testified in pre-trial proceedings Feb. 5 that former Amarillo policeman Jimmy Vanderbilt never asked for an attorney while he was being questioned in the 1975 killing of Katina Moyer, 16, daughter of thenstate Rep. Hudson Moyer.

Later, a tape recording of Vanderbilt's interrogation revealed that Vanderbilt asked several times for an attorney

The indictment says District Attorney Tom Curtis was present during the questioning of Vanderbilt and that he conspired with Smith to give false testimony

"The allegations are groundless. I'm guilty of no wrongdoing in connection with this case," Curtis said Monday

Vanderbilt was convicted in Amarillo, but won a new trial when an appeals court ruled that Curtis reneged on a promise not to seek the death penalty if the suspect signed a confession.

Midland police Patrolman Joey Heinemann testified this morning that murder trial defendant Thirley Freeman admitted shooting 35-year-old Robert Armsted Roseberry on Aug. 13 when Heinemann went to the scene of the shooting.

in Midland murder trial

Testimony in Freeman's murder trial began at 9 a.m. today in 142nd District Court here. Freeman, 55; 1501 S. Marshall St., has pleaded innocent to the charge of murder

Heinemann spent almost two hours on the witness stand today as the prosecution's first witness.

He testified that officers were called to the Texas Street Bar, 805 E. Texas Ave., three times Aug. 13 in reference to disturbances - the final one resulting in Roseberry's death.

On the first disturbance call sometime between 3:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. that day, Heinemann testified, an ambulance was preparing to take Freeman to the hospital for treatment of a knife wound when the officer arrived.

Under questioning by defense attorney Trey Lohmann, Heinemann testi fied, "I know he (Freeman) was wounded in one of his arms. I don't recall which one.

Other officers later told Heinemann that Roseberry was the man who hadcut Freeman, he said

Officers were called back to the bar about 6:30 p-m., and Heinemann testified that Freeman and Roseberry were arguing. The officer said he lectured both men and got them to leave at that point

Then at 9:40 p.m., Heinemann said, he was recalled to the bar. This time, he said, he found Roseberry underneath a parked vehicle outside the bar.

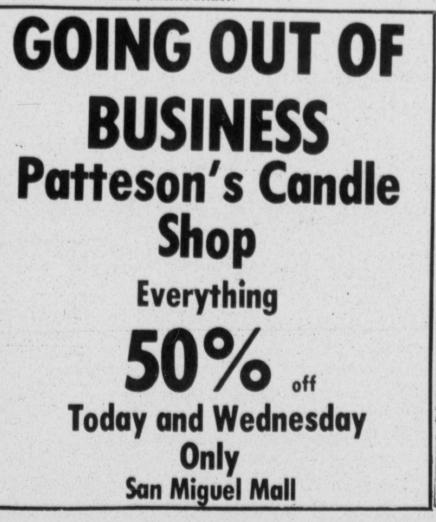

Heinemann said he dragged Roseberry from underneath the vehicle to ascertain whether he was alive or dead and found the man had been shot twice:

Freeman was standing outside the bar and said he had shot Roseberry, according to Heinemann.

The patrolman testified that Roseberry had been wounded once in the left side and once in the left hand.

•Questioned by Lohmann, Heinemann also said that Freeman did not appear to be violent or nervous that night and that he was cooperative.

The case, which began Monday with selection of a 10-man, two-woman jury, is being prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney Richard Davis, assisted by Assistant District Attorney Charles Seltzer.

and other relief supplies at Kompong Som, Cambodia's chief seaport, and a fifth vessel is on the way

A spokesman for UNICEF said a ship chartered by it was unloading 300 tons a day at the south coast port 160 miles southwest of Phnom Penh; three Soviet ships were unloading food and other supplies, and a barge chartered by the British relief organization Oxfam left Singapore Monday for Kompong Som

The spokesman said the UNICEF ship and the Oxfam barge each were loaded with 2,000 tons of supplies and the UNICEF cargo also included three trucks

The Oxfam barge is the third relief shipment sent by the British organization to Cambodia, UNICEF and the International Red Cross are also flying 15 tons of relief supplies daiily to Phnom Penh. But the Vietnamese-backed government there rejected an American plan to ship 1,000 tons, a day overland by truck convoys from Thailand because part of those supplies would have gone to areas controlled by former Premier Pol Pot's Khmer Rouge forces.

Kompong Som was built in the late 1950s by the French to handle more than 80,000 tons of cargo a month. But years of silting, the destruction of warfare and lack of repairs has drastically reduced its capacity.

A group of Americans from the Church World Service who visited Cambodia recently said there was also a shortage of trained personnel and the Vietnamese had to bring in 20 men from the northern Vietnamese port of Haiphong to help.

The Mekong River, which flows across Cambodia and southern Vietnam to the South China Sea, provides another water route to Phnom Penh. "The Cambodian government reported last week that Soviet ships had delivered 200,000 tons of food that way. But an Oxfam representative in Singapore said officials in Phnom Penh informed his organization the Mekong River was not navigable because of "wrecks" in it.

Television doesn't meet children's needs: FCC

WASHINGTON (AP) - The television industry has failed to meet its obligations to children and should be required to set aside minimum amounts of programming for them, the staff of the Federal Communications Commission said today.

The staff, in a report to the com-mission, said the industry has not complied with voluntary FCC guidelines in effect since 1974 and "Is unlikely without further government action to increase voluntarily the amount of educational programming for children."

The report recommended that commercial stations be required to offer directed at school-age children and 5 hours aimed at preschoolers a week. All would be on weekdays under the staff proposal. The staff report saw little hope for improved children's programming on. commercial television.beyond meeting any mandatory minimum time requirement, however, and urged the commission to encourage alternative program sources such as pay and cable television.

The report alo called on public broadcasters to increase children's programming.

The report, compiled by a staff task force, said the industry has by and large complied with the commission's at least 21/2 hours of programming 2 1974 advertising guideline And the staff task force, noting that the Federal Trade Commission is separately investigating television advertising aimed at children, suggested the FCC await that report before taking any action itself.

While children's television has been scrutinized and criticized for decades, FCC Chairman Charles D. Ferris-said earlier this year it has not improved as he had hoped.

'Television is a child's work, play, fantasy, best friend and source of information about the world. Weeas adults reserve our highest expecta-tions for children's programming. We expect it to entertain, excite, enchant, enhance, and educate our children., We expect wit, humor and sensitivity, as well as truth," Ferris said.

Programs and commercials aimed at children have been an issue since 1960. More than 100,000 letters were received by the commission after it launched an inquiry in 1971 at the request of the private, Boston-based Action for Children's Television.

That inquiry led to the guidelines issued in 1974. Stations were given until Jan. 1, 1976, to comply.

While the FCC has no means of enforcing the standards, it can take them into account in renewing stations' licenses, a review broadcasters must submit to every three years. The guidelines ask stations to: .

-Provide a variety of programs for children, including shows furthering their "educational and cultural development.

-Aim various shows, particularly those that are educational, toward specific age groups.

In the world of television, the white man is king, women are cast in traditional roles and children and old people are "grossly underrepresented," says the study, "Women and Minorities in Television Drama, 1969-1978.

The study was prepared at the University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School of Communications by Dr. George Gerbner, dean of the school, and Dr. Nancy Signorielli, a research coordinator.

The report traced tation." women and minorities in 1,365 network dramas over 10 years and studied 16,888 characters. It did not cite individual programs. According to the report, men outnumbered women three to one: 68 percent of all prime-time characters were white males in 1969, and 62 percent were white males nearly 10 years later; children and the elderly are "grossly under-re presented, with more than half the prime time characters are between ages 25 and 45," and the gains blacks and Hispanics made in the mid-1970s have not been sustained. According to the report, "television viewing

Conservatives and right-wing groups, who have sought a crackdown on non-white immigration, charged that many of the marriages were arranged for convenience in defiance of immigration quotas.

Whitelaw told a meeting of Conservative legisators Monday night that a new package of regulations to be introduced next month will considerably reduce the number of Asian men now granted entry into Britain.

However, Whitelaw stressed that the new rules only will apply to women born abroad. British-born, non-white women will be able to bring into the country husbands or fiances. During the election campaign, the Conservatives stated: "We shall end the concession introduced by the Labor government in 1974 to husbands and fiances." The Conservatives apparently softened their position after some legislators expressed concern that the fiances of British-born women in white becomes officially set WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle is joined, the Kennedy mystique versus the power of an incumbent president. The prize: the 1980 Democratic. presidential nomination.

Kennedy's candidacy

Oh Nov. 7, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will announce in Boston that he will challenge President Carter for the nomination. On Dec. 4, Carter will announce he wants a second term.

The Kennedy candidacy advanced Monday when his brother-in-law, Stephen Smith, standing in front of a large "KENNEDY '80" banner, announced formation of the Kennedy for President Committee. He said he hoped "all citizens in this nation who share our belief that Sen. Kennedy should be the next president of the United States will join in the campaign we are beginning today."

Smith said one reason Kennedy decided to run was that "he feels the real drift in this country and the sense of a lack of direction."

Asked about the Kennedy committee, White House press secretary Jody Powell commented: "The American people will ultimately decide which candidate they wish to trust to lead them in the difficult times ahead."

Certain to be raised is the incident at Chappaquiddick in which a car driven by Kennedy went off a bridge and Mary Jo Kopechne, a passenger, drowned.

"I think it's a great personal tragedy for him," said Smith, who added that Kennedy had asumed responsibility for his role in the accident. "I think that's a factor that will always be with him," he added.

Kennedy has made it clear he will make opposition to administration energy and economic policies a major part of his campaign. Pressed for specifics, Smith said he would leave that to the senator to spell out as his campaign unfolds.

Carter aides say 'trust him'

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Sen. Edward M. Kennedy only days away from announcing formally that he is running for president, President Carter's aides are saying it is now time for the American people to decide who they "trust" to lead the nation.

However, establishment of a Kennedy campaign exploratory committee Monday coupled with an announcement that he will declare his candidacy Nov. 7 in Boston is not prompting any sudden change in Carter campaign strategy.

"We can't ignore the challenge," said White House press secretary Jody Powell. However, he said Carter will concentrate for the time being on getting his program through Congress.

"The American people will ultimately decide which candidate they wish to trust to lead them in the difficult times adread," he said. Carter's political aides said they were not surprised by the decision of Carter's political aides said they were not surprised by the decision of Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne to endorse Kennedy's campaign. In fact, they insist they are pleased with her timing, feeling that if they were going to lose the mayor's support, it was better to lose it now rather than closer to the Illinois primary March 18.

But her announcement Saturday that she will support Kennedy left the Carter aides wondering what kind of leverage might have been applied by the Massachusetts Democrat's forces.

Frisco voters to choose mayor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Voters will end a transition period that began in violence and grief when they decide on Nov. 6 whether to retain Mayor Dianne Feinstein, who inherited her office after the City Hall murders of Mayor George Moscone and a supervisor.

The pocketbook issues of housing and jobs and the skyline of this fabled city are central themes in the campaign.

For Ms. Feinstein, with 10 years in political office, the election offers another chance at the job she failed to win in 1971 and 1975 elections.

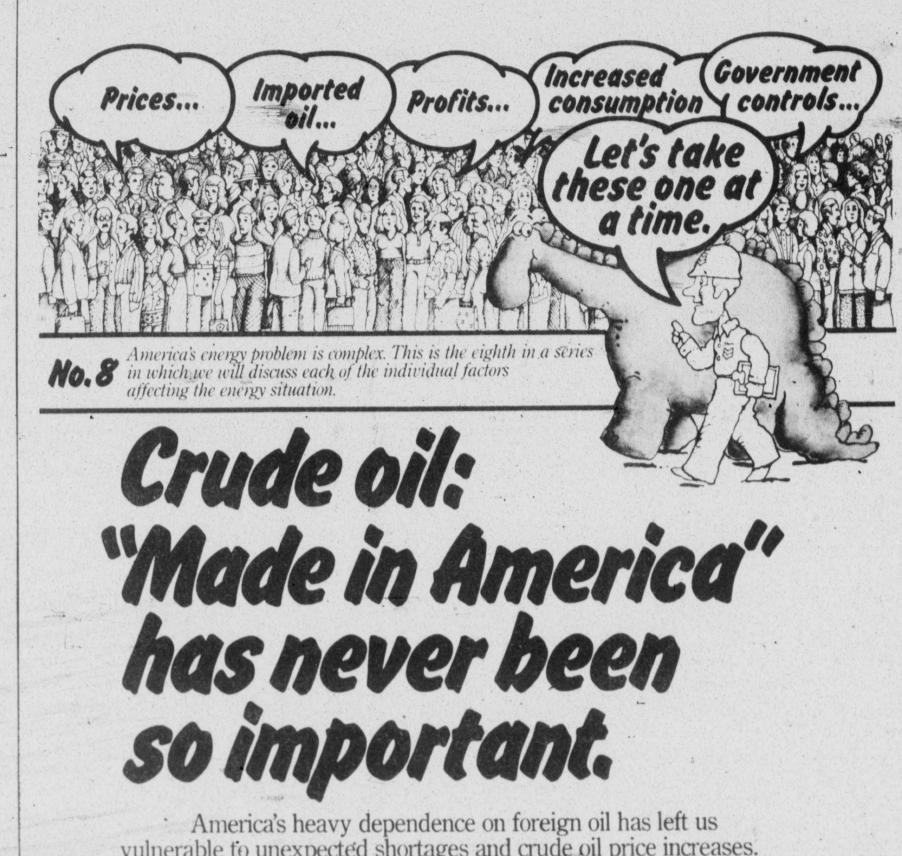

Ms. Feinstein, who was among those who found the bodies of the two politicians gunned down by former supervisor Dan White, vowed to pull San-Francisco together.

Punk rock group leader running

Biatra will be competing against such mainstream candidates as Mayor Dianne Feinstein, Supervisor Quentin Kopp and Board of Permit Appeals President David Scott, and they are expected to take much of the vote. But he's not the only underdog on the Nov. 6 ballot — other candidates include a taxi driver, a labor organizer and a nightclub owner. THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, TUES., OCT. 30, 1979 vulnerable to unexpected shortages and crude oil price increases. Alternate energy sources will help someday, but for now, conservation and increased oil production in America are what's most needed.

Chevron has the technology and the experience to find new oil and increase production from existing fields. However, if we're to expand our present efforts, certain roadblocks need to be removed.

Louisiana Demos dispute vote count

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louis Lambert says his count of votes showed he ran second in the open primary for governor, but James Fitzmorris is sure he is in second place — and front-runner David Treen says he doesn't care which one meets him in the runoff.

Voting machines fit parishes across-the state will be opened today and counted for the official tabulation of Saturday's nine-way race for governor. Lambert, chairman of the state Public Service Commission, said there were several parishes where the clerk's tally differed from tallies reported during Saturday night's unofficial count. He said the changes boosted him ahead of Fitzmorris by'17 votes — 280,913 to 280,896.

"As far as I'm concerned, we are in the runoif," Lambert told a news conference Monday. "I want to ask Jimmy Fitzmorris for his consideration in the second primary. It is that close."

Drug use declining

Dear Dr. Solomon: My daughter tells me that drug use at the college she's been attending for the past three years has declined. Do you know if this is true generally, or is she just trying to make me feel better. — Mrs. O.N.

Dear Mrs. N.: A recent Gallup Poll supports your daughter's statement that drug use on college campuses, although still widespread, is declining.

Dear Dr. Solomon: As my parents reach their mid-80s, and as I approach senior citizen status, I become more and more aware that many doctors know very little about caring for aged people, and, what's more, most of them just don't seem to care. Don't they realize everyone eventually gets old? — Vi.

Dear Vi: It is unfortunately true that graduation from medical school does not automatically guarantee knowledge about geriatric medicine. Yet it is also true progress has been made over the years.

Dr. Robert Butler, director of the National Institute on Aging, says that 25 years ago senility was believed to be inevitable if an individual lived long enough. It was thought that senility always was a direct result of hardening of the arteries and that nothing could ever be done about it. All these statements proved to be untrue.

Similarly, may people believe a person's mental health necessarily declines with an increase in age. This too, is false. Dr. Butler points out there are more than 100 reversible diseases among elderly patients which, if diagnosed and treated, could reduce the incidence of what is erroneously believed to be senility. With a steadily increasing population of elderly persons, it might be valuable to have geriatric training included as a required part of medical school education. Older patients certainfy merit the same competence and sensitivity in their medical treatment as any other segment of the population.

Dear Dr. Solomon: After several attacks, I'be been told by my doctor that I should have a gallbladder operation. My family is urging me to get a second opinion, but frankly I don't see any sense in consulting another surgeon. It seems to me doctors always agree with each other. Why spend the time, effort, and money running around when I've already been told what needs to be done? — Kay

Dear Kay: Doctors often agree with each other because their diagnostic skills lead them to the same conclusions. However, this doesn't mean they never disagree.

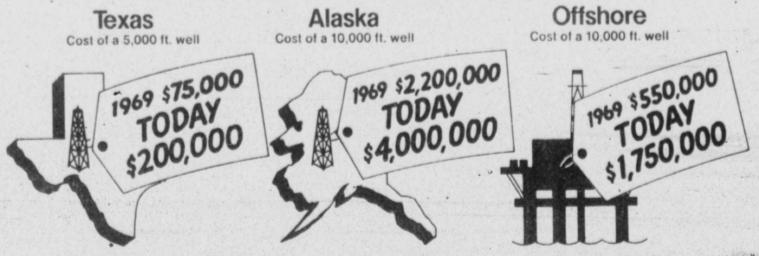

A major hospital insurance firm in Michigan reports 30 percent of patients who obtained second opinions before undergoing elective surgery were told the operation was not necessary. That's a rather sizable figure. I agree with your family that consultation with another physician before deciding on surgery generally is a good idea.

(If you have a medical problem, see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon canot give personal replies but will answer as many questions aspossible in this column.) Excessive government and environmental restraints have closed off many promising new exploration areas, and have frequently restricted us from using the methods needed to extract hard-to-recover oil from existing fields.

The problem of rising costs.

Ten years ago, finding oil in America was easier and cheaper. Today, in addition to increases due to inflation, finding new oil costs a lot more because wells must be drilled in more difficult, less accessible areas.

Skyrocketing drilling costs

The above are average oil industry costs for all wells drilled, both successful and unsuccessful. However, the last exploratory well Chevron drilled in Alaska cost over $23,000,000 – unfortunately a dry hole.

Chevron U.S.A. Inc.

In addition to expanding our efforts to increase America's oil production, all of us must do an even better job of conserving energy.

Senate debates interest rate bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Fearful that the current credit crunch will dry up the flow of money for housing, farms and businesses, the Senate is moving to override state laws that limit interest charged for loans.

Debate is continuing on a wideranging bill by the Banking Committee that, among other things, would wipe out state ceilings on home-mortgage rates.

Other parts of the bill would gradually repeal federal limits on the interest financial institutions may pay on savings deposits and allow all federally-chartered banks, credit unions and savings and loan associations to offer interest-bearing checking accounts.

By a 73-13 vote, the Senate approved Monday an amendment by Sen. Thad Cochran, R-Miss., that would override until July 1981 laws in 15 states and constitutional provisions in three others that limit interest on farm and business loans. Unless an affected state's legislature acted to specifically exempt it from the Cochran amendment, the new limit on farm and business loans above $25,000 by state chartered banks would be 5 percentage points above the federal discount rate. That would translate to a 17 percent ceiling under current conditions. The state ceilings range downward from 12 percent. "This is urgently necessary," argued Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., banking committee chairman. "There's no way a state economy can prosper if the constitution or laws mandate an interest rate below" going rates.

By voice vote, the Senate also approved an amendment by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., that would raise. the maximum federal insurance on<sup>86</sup> savings deposits from $40,000 per account to $50,000. Another Cranston amendment would allow savings and loan associations to offer credit cards, just as banks do now

The amendment affecting farm and business loans and the provision removing state limits on mortgage interest rates are designed to increase credit availability for homebuyers, farmers and businessmen.

In the absence of such provisions, . backers of the legislation contend, such borrowers might be unable to get credit because of the Federal Reserve Board's new tight-money policies

The bill would preempt permanently any state-limit on interest charged on a home mortgage. The provision would allow any rate that the market would bear. However, a state could exempt itself from the provision if its legislature acted within two years to the statutory enactment of 18 states.

The nation's biggest banks are charging their most creditworthy business customers 151/4 percent a year. Banks themselves must pay 12 percent when they borrow from the Federal Reserve Board. Given those conditions, there is little incentive for a bank to lend to a farmer for 10 percent - the limit set, for example, by the Arkansas Constitution

In addition, limiting what a bank may earn on a loan also limits what the bank may pay a depositor. In the last few months, the Banking Committee said, the four biggest banks in Little Rock lost one-third of their $180 million in time deposits.

In the Oil City Hospital, food is best medicine

By EARL BOHN

OIL CITY, Pa. (AP) - June Bucholz went to Oil City Hospital for surgery. She left with an appetite for the food, a flow of gourmet treats that shows hospital meals need not taste like medicine.

"Paradise Stew — that's one I want to try at home," she said, studying a menu that could be in a three-star restaurant. Instead, it's the pride of a small community hospital in the timbered mountains of northwestern Pennsylvania.

"I work in a restaurant," Mrs. Bucholz said. "But if I had a choice of places to go to eat, I'd come to the hospital.

Paradise Stew - a combination of beef cubes, mangoes and other tropical fruit in a sweet-and-sour sauce is a house specialty on a menu which includes sole almondine, London broil, chicken chow mein, veal cutlet, hot peachy chicken platter, Caesar salad, Tahitian fruit and Bavarian cream pie.

For an extra charge, patients may order from a VIP menu. "Lobster tail, prime rib, Beef Wellington, and literally, anything they want," said food service director Vince Tamey. Patients on unrestricted diets may

Under the old system, meals cost $5.16 each, with the cost of food accounting for $1.35 of that, said hospital Controller Joseph Carroll.

'With this new system, we fully expect that figure to go down," he said, explaining that the hospital saves money on the cost of labor, utilities and dish replacement. The exact cost per meal hasn't been determined.

.Sam Evans, a former Midlander and president and producer of Sam Evans Productions, has announced his company purchased the rights to the feature-length motion picture project entitled "Bowie Oil and Drilling.

According to Evans, who was reared in Midland at 1606 Neely St. before working two years at the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences (Oscar), "Bowie Oil and Drilling" is a fast-paced action comedy story that takes place in Midland. While contemporary in its timeframe, Evans continues, the scope of the story is such that it has been "favorably compared with "M-A-S-H" and "Paint Your Wagon."

Evans says the screenplay is scheduled for pre-production in December and full production will begin sometime in summer 1980.

Evans has worked on "Apollo 13...We've Got a Problem," and produced "Hunnicutt..."

Trinity schedules carnival

Trinity School is having a Halloween carnival Wednesday, with the hours from 6 to 8:30 p.m. and sponsored by the Trinity Parents Associa-

There will be a great variety of games and booths this year, including bob for apples, makeup and tatoo artists, lollipop tree, miniature golf, football and basketball toss, cake walk and the Kitchen Korner with all homemade goodies.

One of Trinity's carnival favorites is the costume contest, with prizes and awards. This year, there will be three categories: scariest, ugliest and most original. The contest will be at 8 p.m. and each one who enters will receive a surprise, said Shari Koziol, carnival chairman.

One really special attraction this year is the Family Taco Dinner and Magic Show, said Mrs. Koziol.

There will be two performances, one at 5:30 and one at 6:30. The magician is Chuck Cloyd, a student at Midland High School. The magic show is free with the cost of the dinner, and the show will be open only to those eating, explained Mrs. Koziol.

According to Mrs. Koziol, Halloween will never be the same after you've been to a Trinity School carnival. For more information, call 684-0014 or 683-2345.

My most recent boo-boo concerns fusible interfacings. I had never had much trouble with them before, but suddenly I was in big trouble. Even those interfacings I had used successfully many times before were not fusing well. Plus, they were showing a complete lack of concern for smoothness. What could be wrong?

Altrusans discuss projects

Ada Phillips, charter member of Midland's Altrusa Club, was guest speaker when the club met for a luncheon and observance of Grantsin-Aid month recently in Midland Hilton LaVerne Saunders, chairman of the international relations committee, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Phillips said that one of the two Altrusa International's projects, Grants-in-Aid, advances funds to women of Latin America, Asia; Africa and the Middle East for graduate study at an accredited university in the United States

The only stipulation, reported Mrs. Phillips, is that the woman must return to her country and use her ad1 vanced education to help her own people. The amount granted ranges from $250 to $1,000.

The local club makes an annual contribution to the international fund every October.

· Prior to the program, members who attended the district nine conference in Austin presented a skit which won the bid to host the conference in Midland in 1983.

Participating were delegates Myrtlene Bearden, president; Clair Krizov, Tup Ferguson, Mary Alice/Tidwell, district nine treasurer; and Beverly Dyer, Lois Hearne and LaVerne Saunders, alternates.

Reports on the conference were given by Ms. Bearden and Ms. Hearne. Perfect attendance awards were were given to Caroline Keisling. Thelma Gardner, Beverly Dyer, elizabeth Grmm. Mary Alice Tidwell, Ada Phillips and Myrtlene Bearden. In other business, reports were given by committee chairmen and Roberta Wornell, community service chairman, distributed tickets to be sold for the club's Christmas Linen Basket project.

Betty McMullan announced that plans were complete for the club's booth in Dellwood Mall Saturday.

Plans were announced for the Jayee's "Halloween Spookhouse Members are working at the booths and furnishing foods for the event. Gerry Porter was welcomed as a new, member and Pat Brookmole was a guest.

affect creativity, productivity

Aging doesn't necessarily

Copley News Service

Did you know that the aging process doesn't necessarily have to affeet creativity and accomplishment?

Norman Rockwell was America's most popular artist for over half a century and was active long after he was 80. His work was reproduced more than that of Michelangelo. Rembrandt and Picasso put together!

Woody Hayes and Paul "Bear" Bryant, both over 65 years old, have won over 500 games and been in more bowls than cornflakes. Only Alonzo Stagg and Pop Warner won more game

. Irving Berlin who wrote, and Bing Crosby who recorded "White Christmas," were both as durable as their holiday classic and worked well into their 70s. Arthur Rubinstein at age 80 conducted one of his greatest recitals: Victor Borge has been a concert pianist for 60 years.

The usefulness and productivity of life seems to be determined by the quality of life itself rather than by a person's age

Martin's fate sealed Sunday

BASEBALL- Billy Martin sealed his fate as New York Yankees' baseball manager when he got word to owner George Steinbrenner that he had hit an Illinois marshmallow salesman during a Bloomington, Minn., hotel argument last week, a source close to the team said Monday Steinbrenner decided Sunday that he'd had enough of Martin's bar room bouts and replaced the embattled manager with Dick Howser, a longtime Yankee coach who had left the club last year to become baseball coach at Florida State University

The source told The AP that Martin did not speak directly with Steinbrenner. But the manager admitted to the Yankee boss through an intermediary that he had hit Joseph Cooper of Lincolnshire, Ill. Publicly, Martin claimed Cooper tripped and cut himself. The salesman suffered a cut lip requiring between 15 and 20 stitches.

Hawks junk play book to beat Falcons

ATLANTA (AP) — The daring Seattle Seahawks tossed the standard National Football League playbook out the window for their Monday night television debut, then sat back and sweated out a last-minute rally by the Atlanta Falcons; whose miracles apparently ran out a year ago.

The Seahawks, conceived through expansion four years ago, used three fourth-down gambles in trimming the Falcons 31-28, but not before Atlanta had the hometown crowd of 52,566 screaming. The Falcons scored with 51 seconds left, then recovered an onside kick and marched to the Seattle 13 before Steve Bartkowski was intercepted in the end zone by Dave Brown with only 35 seconds left.

"The turning point wasn't the gambles, though," said Seattle Coach Jack Patera, whose youngsters are now 4-5. "The turning point was Dave Brown's interception.

Bartkowski called the pass his most disappointing in his five years with the Falcons.

"I can't remember a pass that was any more disappointing than that one." said the dejected former No. 1 draft choice: "I thought we had a chance to win it."

Jim Zorn, the scrambling Seattle quarterback who accounted for two touchdowns and set up another with a 20-yard pass to placekicker Efren Herrera, also thought the Falcons had a great chance to win in the final moments

The Seahawks had apparently wrapped it up on a 26-yard touchdown run by Dan Doornink with 1:51 left to play for a 31-21 lead. Doornink had converted a fourth-down play only moments earlier to keep the drive going.

Seattle stunned the Falcons with fourth-down gambles four times during the game, converting three and. barely missing on the other.

Zorn scored Seattle's first touchdown on a 34-yard run on a fourthand-five situation and tossed a 4-yard pass to Sherman Smith for another score in the second quarter for a 14-14

Doornink scored on an 8-yard run to give the Seahawks a 21-14 halftime edge. The TD was set up when Seattle faked a 55-yard field goal attempt by Herrera, who broke through the middle and caught the fourth-down pass from Zorn at the Atlanta 17.

The gamble that failed came on a fourth-and-12 at the Seattle 32 when punter Herman Weaver passed nine yards to Jesse Green. The Falcons failed to capitalize, however, when Tim Mazzetti missed a 25-yard field goal.

The Falcons scored on a 35-yard run by Lynn Cain and a 30-yard fumble recovery by Rick Byas in the opening half, and Bartkowski hit Ryckman with touchdown tosses of 17 and 20 yards.

As for the gambling Seattle offense, Zorn said he didn't consider the fourth-down plays gambles. "Unusual, maybe," he said.

"You don't see it every day, but we don't call them gambles. It's fun. We work on it seriously. We don't laugh about it, but everybody enjoys it. We just let it all out tonight.' Patera said the Seahawks work on the plays in practice.

"Some work and some don't. We do them in practice," he said. "I felt comfortable with the fake field goal. Fourth and five with the quarterback running is touchy ... not a sure thing, but there is something about the nature of our team that makes it worth gambling.

"We have people who can do these things. Herrera is a good kicker and a good receiver," said Patera, who admitted his placekicker had never caught a pass in a regular game, "but he catches the ball well in practice."

Genuine concern prompted George to fire Martin

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

It wasn't disgust or impatience that provoked Yankee Owner George Steinbrenner to yank the rug from under his belligerent manager, Billy Martin - it was brotherly concern.

"George was afraid something terrible would happen to Billy if he continued in this barroom gunslinger role," says Bill Fugazy, a close friend of both men. "He feared that, if this were allowed to continue, Billy might be killed or might kill somebody."

After the stunning Sunday night announcement that Martin had been fired - his second loss of the Yankee iob in 15 months - because of another brawl - Steinbrenner went into seclusion, refusing interviews, and Martin was conveniently out of pock-

So, to get the facts on what triggered the latest episode in the continuing Steinbrenner-Martin drama, we turn to the man who has been a non-dispassionate observer from the beginning.

Fugazy, who heads Continental Travel Corp., a vast travel-limousine ire, is an intiit card en mate of the great and near-great in sports. He is often seen on TV with comedian Bob Hope. Golfer Arnold Palmer stays at his home during the Westchester Golf Classic. Fugazy is an associate and golfing partner of

1 ... Billy Martin!' Then Billy ran out on the diamond. The crowd went mad.'

Fugazy said he drove Martin to Yankee Stadium that day and they talked seriously about Billy's problems. "I urged him to try to get along with George," Fugazy added. "He promised he would,"

Nevertheless, on Nov. 11, Martin was charged with hitting a sports writer in a bar in Reno. His future again was clouded but on June 18, with the Yankees slumping, Steinbrenner plucked Martin out of the ranks of the unemployed and returned him as manager, replacing Lemon.

All went well until last week when Martin was involved in a skirmish with Joseph Cooper, an Illinois marshmallow salesman, after a. meeting in a Bloomington, Minn., bar. Cooper wound up with 15-20 stitches. Martin said the man fell on a rug

"George was absolutely crushed." Fugazy said. "He kept saying, 'I can't be a watch-dog. I can't let this keep going on."

Martin meekly sent word to Steinbrenner that, contrary to his previous account, he had actually struck the guy. That, says Fugazy, broke the camel's back.

BASKETBALL- Knicks guard Michael Ray Richardson was named the NBA's Player of the Week through Oct. 28 after the 6-5 No. 1 draft choice scored 51 points, grabbed 26 rebounds, supplied 26 assists and had 11 steals in three games.

GENERAL-A federal appeals court was asked to make two NFL Football League stars return money they took to sign with a World Football League team that folded before they could join it. Rayfield Wright and Jethro Pugh, with the Dallas Cowboys at the time, got $75,000 each to play out their options and sign with the Birmingham Americans. The team folded while Pugh was in his option year at Dallas and while Wright had a year to go with the NFL team'. Although another franchise was granted to Birmingham, the two players stayed at Dallas.

both Martin and Steinbrenner. "The two guys really like each other," Fugazy said. "They've disagreed a lot but each admires the other's forcefulness and leadership qualities.

"Billy once told me: 'George is good to me. I love working with him.' Shortly after Martin took over the manager's job again this summer, George said, 'Billy is behaving absolutely wonderfully. We have a good rapport now. We spend a lot of time talking trades and other Yankee matters together.

Fugazy said Steinbrenner was at his home the evening before the now fabled Old Timers Game at Yankee Stadium July 29, 1978. Five days before, Martin, under severe pressure because of his feud with Reggie Jackson and uncomplimentary remarks about Steinbrenner, created shock waves by resigning. Bob Lemon was named to replace him.

"Steinbrenner really agonized over Martin's resignation." Fugazy recalled. "He knew of Billy's drinking problems and his fiery temper but he thought he was a fine manager. He worried about Billy's future and the impact Billy's decision might have on his teenage son, Billy Joe.

"George told me that night what he was going to do at the Old Timers Game the next day. You know what happened. The Yankee players were introduced and then the electric scoreboard flashed the message: 'The Manager in 1980 and Hopefully for Many Seasons After That Will Be No.

"I never saw George so upset;" the travel tycoon related. "He told me when the guy fell he almost hit his head on a wrought-iron railing. Billy could have been up for manslaughter.

"George was concerned about several things. One was the investigation that the commissioner had launched. He feared Billy might be barred from baseball. He was worried about Billy's drinking and penchent for barroom brawls, like an old-fashioned gun fighter.

"He told me, 'Billy can't stay in this battlefield. He has to learn to solve his own problems, wash his own laundry. The fans love Billy. I love Billy. But there's more to think of than Martin or Steinbrenner. We have to think of the Yankee image, the influence this has on kids.

Fugazy said Steinbrenner told him that he was not walking away from his deposed manager but hoped to work closely with both Billy and his son, Billy Joe.

He quoted Steinbrenner as saying: "Don't be surprised if you see a sign: Martin and Steinbrenner Associates.'

More woe for ASU ... eight ineligible players?

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - The Arizona State University football program already is the subject of investigations by the school, the NCAA and state police. Now comes word that the Pacific-10 Conference is probing the eligibility of eight Sun Devil players.

'It involves academic progress which has to do with conference rules and not NCAA rules," Wiles Hallock, Pac-10 commissioner, said Monday of the latest investigation. However, Hallock also stated that "in some aspects, there might be NCAA violations.

Hallock said it is "possible, but not inevitable" the probe could lead to forfeiture of some or all of the Sun Devils, victories this season. ASU, riding a five-game victory streak, is 5-2 overall and 3-1 in conference play. It has an outside chance at the Pac-10 title and a Rose Bowl bid that goes wih it.

Hallock would neither identify the players nor state the nature of the charges. He did state that the investigation was requested by ASU's athletic department.

"Hopefully, in the next few days we will have a resolution on this," Hallock said.

Robert Knox, ASU's faculty representative for athletics, said the problem involves transfer credits. He said if the conference has not finished its investigation by this weekend, it is probable that the players in question would be withheld from playing agains Stanford.

Knox said the ineligibility quesion was brought to his attention last Tuesday. He said Dr. Fred Miller, ASU athletic director, and Pat Kuehner, an assistant athletic director, uncovered the problem during an internal investigaion by the athletic department.

Search for deer brings unexpected Enchanting hour

By HANK BURCHARD The Washington Post

One of the nicest things about a day afield is that it seldom goes the way it's planned.

I was hunting for deer. What I saw, for an enchanted hour, was my first undisturbed covey of bobwhite quail.

I had seen hundreds, maybe thousands, of quail, but always in glimpses. I have surprised them pecking gravel along a road. I am often startled and delighted when coveys flush when I am walking the woods and fields. I have several times been treated to the broken-wing act of a hen trying to draw me away from her chicks, and once I even saw the tiny puffballs themselves.

But until this covey appeared below my deerstand, the quail had always seen me first and had fled in fear which was wise, because one of the places I love to see them is over the barrel of my shotgun. The only wild ones I had been able to examine at close hand had been at the bittersweet end of the hunt. The dead bird is beautiful but it is no longer a quail: It is dinner.

The covey was working its way along a brushy ditch between two freshly mown cornfields. I might never have seen the birds had not a cock and hen come whirring out of the nearby woods and landed below me. Quail sleep, eat and nest on the ground and usually will not fly when they can avoid it. Since I had not knowingly disturbed a covey when I mounted the stand, and it was too late in the season for the birds to be going around in mated pairs, I still was puzzling over them when I became aware of four young birds hunkered down at the edge of the ditch. They must have been a late hatch from a hen whose first laying was destroyed by a snake or skunk or mowing machine, because they were only two-thirds adult size. By fall the young normally are at least four months old and full-grown, distinguishable from their parents' generation only by close inspection of the wing feathers.

THEY LOOKED like lumps of earth until one of them suddenly flapped its wings a couple of times. This set off the instinctive flight reaction of the two adults, who buzzed a few feet into the air and, seeing no danger, landed again. The cock bird strode up to the youngster who had sent the false alarm and pecked it so hard it went tumbling into the brush-filled ditch.

Watching the juvenile cower there, my eye began to pick up subtle movements: The ditch was crawling with quail. Some were eating weed seeds, others stalking bugs. One lay on her right side with head flung back as though dead but 20 minutes later hopped up and went about her business.

On either side of the ditch throughout the hour a lone bird stood sentry, a cock facing east and a hen facing west. Their heads swiveled almost constantly, except when I shfted position slightly to ease a cramp. Then each fixed one eye on me and tilted its head every few moments, thus getting slightly varying images of me that their brains put together into stereoscopic views. I wondered what they thought I was.

Now and then they froze, although I had not moved. After a while, usually, I would see the distant hawk the birds had picked up long before. When the sentinels froze, the birds in the ditch froze also: Whatever else they were doing, the foraging birds kept one eye on the lookouts, and the lookouts one eye on each other. The covey is as nearly a single living unit as a school of fish, every perception instantly shared by all. The bursting apart of a flushing covey rattles a predator - hawk or hunter - who, failing to concentrate on an individual bird, is likely to miss them all.

THE BIRDS were working their way toward the sandy road that ran along the woods from which I'd been hoping a deer would emerge. They progressed slowly, examining every likely plant or crevice for something to eat, and it became clear that some of the birds were dominant. The three boss birds, a male and two females, led the way. Behind them came a second wave of five adults, and if any of the five moved closer than about a foot to one of the three, the boss bird involved would turn, fluff its breast feathers and make a low, harsh sound that sent the intruder into instant retreat.

There were eighteen birds altogether, rather larger than the average covey, and a wildlife biologist later speculated that two groups of birds had recently come together and 'hadn't quite sorted out the status question. The 'fall shuffle,' when paired birds bring their families together into larger groups can be pretty disorderly. The sentinel cock and hen may very well have been the parents of the four juveniles and stayed on sentinel duty because their protective instincts were the strongest."

Only the four juveniles were allowed near the boss bords. It seemed to me the elders occasiionally stepped aside to allow the young ones to peck up choice insects. At what may have been an anthill the juveniles had a brief feeding frenzy, scratching and pecking so vigorously that a plume of dust rose several feet into the air.

Sand and fine gravel had spilled down one side of the ditch where it met the road. One by one the advancing birds pecked up grit for their crops and then squirmed luxuriously in a sandy bowl about a foot across, working sand and dust into their fluffed feathers (to suffocate mites) and presenting the undersides of their stubby wings to the slanting sun. So talcum-powder fine was the dust that when a loaded-up bird shook itself with a sinuous head-totail motion, it disapeared into a cloud of dust from which more often than not would issue a sneeze. "It is not often given to a man to hear a quail sneeze," the bird man said.

Nothing wrong with Rams that diet won't fix

By JIM MURRAY Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Everyone has a theory about what's wrong with the Rams, But only The Great Carnack knows. And shall reveal all

The Rams are not suffering from size at quarterback. porous defenses or critical injuries to the first team. The Rams are suffering from a case of glowing good health. Terminal wellbeing. I can prove it.

The Rams' best game this season was against St. Louis. They won 21-0. Everything worked right. Offense, defense, passing game, running game.

In the opening drive of that game, the Rams for almost the first time this year established their running game. Their star running back, Wendell Tyler, was enjoying a Red Grange type of day. He gained 45 yards in that drive and completely befuddled the St. Louis defense.

In the huddle during that series, quarterback Pat Haden was concerned for his running back. Wendell's complexion was a mottled chartreuse.-"You all right?" asked Haden. "Something I ate;" murmured Wendell - and promptly went out and dashed 15 yards around end for a first down.

WENDELL didn't cough up the football that day, either. But in the second quarter he coughed up something else - his breakfast. On this day, it consisted of two chili dogs. With everything.

Wendell, you see, had passed up the traditional team meal that morning. I mean, Wendell's no health-food faddist. Therefore, he passed up the steak and eggs, buttered toast and fruit juices and opted instead for a he man's breakfast, which he purchased on the way to the game, two chili dogs and a bottle of Hawaiian Punch.

The point is, Wendell ran wild on this diet. He had turned pale green by kickoff time, and by the end of the first quarter he looked like the late Wendell Tyler. The sicker he got, the faster he ran.

For those unfamiliar with the gastronomical horror known as a "chili dog," it is instant stomach ache. Heartburn with beans. Harder on the large intestine than shrapnel.

One thing you don't do after one is stand still. It makes' the dreaded "turista" look like constipation. Wendell was taking unfair advantage of the Cardinals. Halfbacks with chili dogs churning in their innards are not about to let anybody stick a helmet in their bellies. They can almost fly.

It is a matter of record that, as soon as Wendell let get go, so to speak, of his dogs, he even went back to fumbling. The imputation is clear: Wendell Tyler with a football is dangerous; Wendell Tyler with a chili dog is Superman.

THE ONLY thing the Rams lack is an unhealthy Tyler. What the Rams lack is one touch of ptomaine.

Accordingly, steps should immediately be taken to ensure that Wendell shows up at subsequent games with what appears to be a raging case of appendicitis, or 20-seconds-apart labor pains, or high-density stomach cramps.

They should stop the team bus at the entrance to the stadium narking lot and hand Wendell through the window, a steaming plate of lobster Newburg to be washed down with flagons of grape juice, and the lobster should be certified as having come direct from an oil spill off Marseilles. Or they might offer Wendell baked flounder with the eyes still in it, which had been brought home wrapped in a newspaper and cooked only after two days of lying in the sun at Indo.

Wendell should be encouraged to breakfast in places called "Mom's," where the locals' slogan is "Our food untouched by human hands, and if you could see our chef, you'd believe it.'

Wendell should have water bottled especially for him at an open well in Jalisco. If he must have fancy food, it should be tripe a la mode de Caen, garnee sous cloche, and served with a fine 1973 Ripple. If he should have beef. let it be filet cheval.

Maybe they should send him on an all-expense trip to the open sores of Rangoon, or room him with a guy who has more coughs than the third act of an Italian opera. I can see it now. His training-camp roomie comes in and says, "Wendell, turn on the air conditioning!" and Tyler, surprised, looks up and says, "But it's only 40 degrees out!" And the roomie says impatiently,"I know, I know, I'm trying to give you intestinal flu."

THERE IS precedent for heroic performance under the spur of an upset stomach. Babe Ruth used to prep for important games by dining on pickeld eels and ice cream. Washed down by a dozen hot dogs, several bags of peanuts and a vat of birch beer. Or real beer. When his stomach was in a sufficient uproar, he went out and took it out on the pitcher, hitting three or more home runs. The more he belched, the harder he

Wendell Tyler may be a star in that tradition. If two chili dogs get him 75 yards in about a dozen carries, just imagine what a boardinghouse stew in Budapest might do. The paprika alone would be worth seven first downs. Just imagine what he could do on the cuisine of the Casbah where a "hot dog" does not necessarily mean a sausage. Or in an Oriental hashery, where the smart customer never orders the "pork chow mein" until he counts the cats.

When Wendell Tyler fairly radiates good health and his stomach isn't growling, he has no gas pains or cramps and even his teeth feel good, when all he has had was poached eggs or broiled steak, he is dropped for three-yard losses. But "Ptomaine" Tyler is a horse of a different color - green - and as hard to bring down as the mortgage.

Wendell decides to put a move on his stomach every now and then, just as he might on an outside linebacker. 'Keeps it on its toes," he laughs. Also, as it happens, it . keeps the ptomainiac on his toes, too. Nobody moves slowly, when a hotel, or a stomach is on fire, or when a couple of half-masticated chili dogs are struggling to get -out of the, as it were, doghouse, one way or another.

Wendell keeps his stomach loose with little surprises like that, and hopes it springs him loose. Only one bad spot appears on the horizon. The opposition, once they get wise to it, may refuse to take the field until they find out exactly what Wendell Tyler had for breakfast. 1 mean, no man wants to tackle a man who is about to be sick to his stomach, now, does he?

ty Cliff Harris break up pass to Pittsburgh's Sunday, and for those who don't believe Coach

The nice thing about the Steelers...

One of the pleasant aspects of a Dallas-Pittsburgh game is that you don't have to pull for the other team in hopes that they'll keep it close and exciting. You know the Steelers will always make a game of it. Fact is, the Steelers are making more of a game of it than most Cowboys' fans care to see."

Why is it the Steelers strike the disinterested observer as nothing more than a tough, aggressive team when they play a Cleveland or an Oakland, but Cheir they play the Cowboys, the emerging image is one of a bunch of thugs in a barroom argument after a hard day in the mines. Could it be a lack of objectivity influenced by the emotions ... or are they really what they seem? Tell us, Dr. Brothers, and ease our minds.

Pittsburgh made it four straight over the Cowboys in games that count with that 14-3 win at Pittsburgh Sunday. And while it wasn't 30-6, it was every bit as convincing as the Cowboys' demolition of the Rams a couple of weeks ago.

Oddly, the situations were remarkably similar. The Rams wanted to beat the Cowboys, not so much because they needed it to win their division, but just to show folks, primarily themselves, that they could do it and what wonders it could work with their confidence. That's precisely the same reason Dallas would have liked to have beaten the Steelers.

Perhaps you've noticed the Rams haven't recovered from that Cowboy licking yet, however, Dallas is fortunate to draw the New York Giants as their next opponent and everyone knows how hapless the New Jersey team is. But did you also know that the Giants' four-game winning streak is the longest in the NFL:

What really hurts is that Pittsburgh was supposed to have reached some sort of emotional peak for its game with Denver the previous Monday and tradition says that teams just can't bounce back the following Sunday and expect to beat a topnotch opponent

If that's so, the Cowboys can be thankful that the Steelers were flat for this one. On the other hand, Dallas had plenty to be fired up about. Not only did the Cowboys want satisfaction for past indignities, but after beating the Cowboys in last year's Super Bowl, the Pittsburghs have taken delight in making

The Pittsburgh press refers to them as the Dallas "Crybabys" and Coach Chuck Noll says the Super Bowl rings feature a new pop up device, "You press a button and Tom Landry pops up to complain about the officiating," some shaded reference, we suppose, to the controversial play on which Bennie Barnes was hit with pass interference while defending Lynn Swann in Super Bowl XIII. If comments like aren't enough to raise the short hairs on the back of the neck, a team should switch to two-handed touch.

After Sunday, someone is tempted to ask Landry how it feels to be city-slicked by the world's "dumbest" quarterback, but we bet they don't.

Actually, Terry Bradshaw wasn't that great. Before the game, if you told the Cowboys' coaching staff that the Steelers would score only 14 points, they'd have predicted a two-touchdown victory for Dallas, not Pittsburgh. The Cowboys' objective was to limit Bradshaw, Swann, Harris, Stallworth and assorted hardhats to 21 points.

Court limits allowable questions in rape trial

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - The state Supreme Court refused Monday to broaden the areas in which attorneys can question a woman who allegedly was raped in the University of Arkansas athletic dormitory.

The decision came in an appeal by two former Arkansas football players, Donny Bobo and Micheal Forrest. They are charged with raping the woman in the early morning hours of Dec. 12, 1978 at the Wilson Sharp athletic dormitory in Fayetteville.

The two athletes wanted the Supreme Court to expand the areas in which the alleged victim could be questioned. However, the court opinion by Justice George Rose Smith went along with a ruling by Washington County Circuit Court Judge Paul Jameson

JAMESON SAID attorneys for Bobo and Forrest could question the woman about her prior sexual conduct with the defendants during the 18 months prior to the alleged rape. He also said their attorneys could question her about her sexual activities.on the same evening, in the same room, with another football player, Bobby Duckworth.

In the appeal, Bobo and Forrest contended that Jameson also should have ruled that at the trial he would permit:

-Introduction of proof about Duckworth's sexual relations' with the woman prior to the night of the alleged rape.

-Cross-examination of the woman about her prior sexual relations with some 15 other persons, at least four of whom were athletes.

-Introduction of a nude picture of the woman. The picture was published in 1977 in the magazine "Gallerv Smith wrote that the court had ruled in other cases that the complete sexual history of a woman who is prosecuting a charge in an alleged rape "is usually totally irrelevant to the charge of rape.

That pattern of rulings, the court said, came under a state law that prohibits evidence of an alleged victim's prior sexual conduct unless the evidence first is shown to be relevant. The woman's sexual activity with Duckworth on the night of the alleged rape did not make any prior sexual activity between herself and him relevant to the trial, the court said.

THE DECISION said that Jameson rightly prohibited broad cross-examination of the woman about prior sexual relations with other people. That would have no relevancy to the question of whether she consented to the sexual activity that the charge alleges to have been rape, the court said

The state law prohibiting broad, general interrogation of an alleged rape victim about sexual activity that has no relevance to the charge is designed "to protect the victimefrom unnecessary humiliation," the court said.

As for the picture in "Gallery," the court said the woman posed privately for the photograph, but did not send it to the magazine, consent to its publication, or receive pay for it.

"Thus, all that was actually shown was that about a year and a half before the alleged rape, when the prosecutrix was 17, she posed in the nude," the Supreme Court said. "The court did not abuse its discretion in holding that the probative value of the exhibit was outweighed by its inflammatory or prejudicial nature.

Hunter gets surprise

THE TOP of the pecking order seemed clear: Bigbeak, the name I had given to the boss male, went first and took longest, spending about three minutes in the dustbath. Wide-wings, a female, followed with 2 1-2 minutes and Wiggles, a hen with a curious, frenetic waddle, bathed almost as long. Then came the five of the second wave, three cocks and two hens, who spent a mainute or so each at their toilet, interrupted by a brief flurry between two of the cocks as to which would go first. It

At length she rose and marched to the edge of the road - I named her Victoria, so royal was her progress - where she studied the terrain and the situation for a few minutes. Satisfied there was no danger, she suddenly took off running for the woods as, though she had been a goosed. The transformation from queen to clown was so swift and unexpected that I giggled, at which unprecedented sound all the remaining birds flattened against down in the tall thin grass at the edge of the woods, stretched to her full height and cocking her head as she scanned earth and sky for the source of the giggle. I bit my lip and stayed still; after a few minutes she made a low sound I cannot describe, and the birds in the ditch stood up. One by one they ran acros the road in pecking order, five or 10, seconds apart, the juveniles making the penultimate Mash in a disorderly mass.

The stars came out Sunday -- out of their games with a variety of injuries.

Dallas quarterback Roger Stau. bach; Cleveland, running back Greg Pruitt; Miami center Jim Langer, running back Delvin Williams and several other Dolphins; and New York Jets wide receiver Wesley Walker were among the casualties of the day's National Football League ac-

Early in the fourth period, Staubach was hit by Pittsburgh defensive end L.C. Greenwood during a scramble and was knocked silly. He lay motionless for a few moments, then wobbled to his feet and was guided to the Cowboys' bench. He sat out the rest of the Steelers' 14-3 victory.

"He didn't see me coming. I just caught him," Greenwood recalled. "I didn't think I hit him that good. I just hit him in the head with my helmet.'

"I'm all right," Staubach said in the locker room after the game. "I got a little lump on my head, but those things heal ... I was going up the middle and somebody landed on me. I remember that - but that's all. I was knocked out. I had a numbness in my face and had a big jump on the left side of my head. I guess I really didn't come to until I was on the sidelines. I told them I could go back in, but the doctors wouldn't let me because of the lump on my head.'

One of the Steelers, cornerback Ron Johnson, also suffered a concussion when he and Dallas running back Tony Dorsett met head-on. Johnson staggered and fell, left the field under his own power after a few minutes, then re-entered the game several plays later. But on Monday he was hospitalized and was expected to miss the Steelers' game Sunday against visiting Washington start next Sunday's game against the sizzling New York Giants. The availability of running back Preston Pearson is questionable, though. He was carried off the field on a stretcher later in the fourth period after suffering bruised ribs and a sprained knee.

For Pruitt, though, the season may be over..He sustained a torn right knee ligament in the first play of the Browns' 38-20 victory over St. Louis.

"I guess my leg was just in the right place at the wrong time, or in the wrong place at the right time," he said. "I knew right away it was going to be bad."

The play was "not designed to go all the way, just to gain four or five yards. I hit into the hole and it was a pretty good one, but then it collapsed quickly," said Pruitt, making his first start since suffering a sprained right knee five games ago. Cleo Miller took his place.

"I've been on some Browns teams that didn't have much chance of winning," Greg said. "Now that we've come out of the woods and have a legitimate chance, I can't help. That's what hurts more than the injury.'

THE DOLPHINS' roster was literally depleted by their injuries. Williams, their No. 1 halfback, sustained two cracked ribs when he was hit while carrying-the ball during the second period of Miami's 27-7 victory over Green Bay

"If it's only a hairline fracture he'll probably only be out two or three weeks," said Dolphins trainer Bob Lundy. "If it's a complete break I'd say six." Gary Davis will replace Williams next Monday night against the visiting Houston Oilers.

On the same play, Langer, their All-Pro center starting his 117th consecutive game and playing in his 141st in a row, suffered a broken bone under his right kneecap and underwent surgery Monday, knocking him out of most of the rest of the season.

Voluntary wage restraints asked markef

WASHINGTON (AP) - Members of a presidential pay board are suggesting that President Carter's lone wage guideline of 7 percent be replaced by several voluntary restraints that vary depending on the industry or inflation rate.

"This mad infatuation with a single figure bears with it the seeds of destruction," AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Lone Kirkland said Monday as the 18-member Pay Advisory Committee met to consider new anti-inflation guidelines.

The AFL-CIO wants the administration's rigid 7 percent guideline thrown out in favor of a sliding wage guideline that would rise with increases in consumer price inflation.

"The problem is people want something very simple ... but it isn't that easy," said Robben W. Fleming, president of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and one of six "public" members on . the board.

"One figure alone does not seem to solve a lot of problems. Several figures may," said Fleming, a former University of Michigan president.

Former Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop, who is chairman of the board, noted that inflation-fighting wage boards set up during World War II and the Korean War established different sets of guidelines for different industries. Dunlop, now a professor at Harvard Business School, hinted he might favor a return to such a system.

The board, which also has six business and six labor members, was created by Carter to recommend new voluntary wage guidelines for the second year of the president's anti-inflation program. The panel was set up largely to win cooperation from labor, which had opposed Carter's first-year guidelines.

The panel, which has yet to make any specific proposals, met for the second time Monday, engaging in debate on both general and specific problems involving inflation and wages.

The discussion revealed sharp differences between labor and management, underscoring the difficulty the panel faces in finding agreement on new guidelines

Kirkland, who is expected to succeed retiring George Meany in three weeks as AFL-CIO president, complained that the 7 percent ceiling on annual wage increases, which the administration set one year ago, "has gotten further and further from any basis in reality.

Kirkland said the administration chose the figure at a time when it was forecasting a 6 percent inflation rate for 1979. But with inflation actually running at 13 percent a year, the government should have abandoned the 7 percent figure, he said.

The administration should not commit itself to ag single, "mythical" guideline that reduces a worker's real income as inflation rises, said Kirkland. "It breeds disrespect ... and a sense of unfairness' among workers.

John T. Connor, chairman of Allied Chemical Corp., said voluntary guidelines will have little impact on inflation unless the government continues to restrain the supply of money and federal spending

Community finally finds required black worker

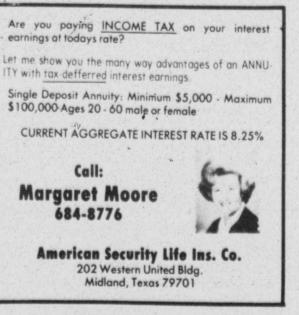

CLINTWOOD, Va. (AP) - After a three-year fight for a federal grant, the town of Clintwood hopes it has finally qualified - by hiring a black woman from a neighboring county.

To be eligible for a $256,000 grant being sought from the Environmental Protection Agency for a sewer project, Clintwood needed at least one black employee on its payroll of six. But local officials said they couldn't find one because nearly all the 1,500 residents of this southwest Virginia community were white Pat Talford learned from her sister-in-law that the town was looking for a qualified black employee. Now, she is driving nearly an hour to work each morning from her home at Castlewood.

She said in a recent interview that her new duties include typing, filing "and all kinds of stuff." "Oh, I love it. When I was in Lebanon, I did outside work," said the former recreation worker. "Now I'm doing inside work, the kind I went to school for."

Nine wildcat sites spotted in Basin

Nine new wildcats and a replacement wildcat have been announced in West Texas counties.

Mesa Petroleum Co. of Midland No. 1-33 Cole will be drilled to 8,800 feet 6.5 miles southwest of Sterling City in Sterling County.

Location is 660 from south and 660 from west lines of section 33, block 14, S&P survey. The operator will test for production in the W.A.M. (Fusselman oil) pool and the Sterling City (Fusselman oil) field. It is a wildcat in the upper formations.

The drillsite is 1/2-mile north of the Sterling City (Fusselman) pool and 2.5 miles north of the W.A.M. (Fusselman) area.

GLASSCOCK WILDCAT

Joy Petroleum Corp. of Midland No. 1 Glass is a 10,000-foot oil and gas wildcat in Glasscock County, 1.5 miles south of Garden City.

It is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 23, block 34, T-4-S, T&P survey. There is no nearby gas well, but the location is 5/8 mile southwest of the Garden City, West (Spraberry) field.

TERRY PROJECTS

Estoril Producing Corp. of Midland and Tomlinson Oil Co., operating from Midland, each staked location for a wildcat in Terry County. Estoril No. 1 Sleeper is an 11,800-foot test 12 miles south of Brownfield and 660 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of section 6, block C-38, psl survey. Elevation is 3,169.9 feet

It is 3/8 mile east of the Corrigan, North (Fusselman) pool which has one well. It also is 3/4 mile northwest of an

11,775-foot dry hole. ****

Tomlinson No. 1 Collins is a 5,200foot wildcat in Terry County, 14 miles south of Brownfield and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 19, block C-31, psl survey. It is $/8 mile southeast of the Adair pool which produces at 4,874 feet.

DAWSON EXPLORER

Tomlinson also will drill No. 1 Robinson as a 5,300-foot wildcat in Dawson County, six miles south of Welch.

It is one mile southwest of the Welch field, which produces at 5,000 feet, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 63, block M, EL&RR survey. Ground elevation is 3,072 feet.

HOCKLEY AREA

Mobil-GC Corp. of Snyder No. 1-14 Miles gas production.

Carter accuses committee of decimating windfall plan

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is back lobbying Congress for his energy plan, accusing the Senate Finance Committee of decimating his windfall profits tax and urging the House to join him in fighting for a stronger tax.

Carter also told a group of congressmen he will sign the recently passed standby gasoline rationing' bill even though he doesn't think it gives him enough flexibility.

The president reportedly said he was unhappy with the requirement that a gas shortage" be at least 20 percent before rationing could be used, but would sign the bill as the best compromise We could get from Congress.

And in a move almost certain to alienate environmentalists, Carter announced his preference for the stronger of two versions of his proposed energy mobilization board now before the House:

With the House beginning debate on the legislation today, Carter reportedly expressed a clear preference for a bill by the House Commerce Committee over a rival version that originated in the House Interior Committee. The board would oversee major energy projects and cut through govern-, ment red tape to see that they're built Carter made the remarks at an unusual "working dinner" Monday night at the White House, 'at which Energy Secretary Charles Duncan and Treasury Secretary G. William Miller also spoke.

The dinner was attended by a bipartisan group of about 100 congressmen, most of them members of committees dealing with energy or tax legislation.

According to many of those who attended, the president made a forceful pitch for his proposed windfall profits tax and scored the Senate Finance Committee for adding weakening amendments.

He urged the House members to stand firm behind the strong version of the tax the House had passed last July. In fact, according to those pres-ent, Carter, pressed for enactment of an even stronger tax. Carter, according to those at the dinner said the recent poting of weaker, environmentalist-favored version. He said the weaker version, championed by Interior Committee Chairman Morris Udall, D-Ariz., could lead to lengthy court delays of major energy projects.

However Carter reportedly said the administration would submit amendments he would like to see enacted that would, among other things, prevent the mobilization board from being able to waive state laws.

According to sources, Carter said he would submit such an amendment to honor a commitment he made to the nation's governors. Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the Commerce subcommittee that proposed the more powerful board, said in an interview, "He indicated a strong preference for the Dingell bill over the Udall bill. I do welcome it."

Dingell said that, overall, "I thought the president gave a balanced and sound presentation."

Carter also emphasized the need to move ahead with a strong energyconservation program, according to those present.

The president's White House remarks followed his claim before a Providence, R.I., audience earlier Monday that his move to decontrol U.S. crude oil prices could amount to a "trillion-dollar giveaway" to the oil industry if not coupled with a strong windfall tax.

"He said he did not want to be negative, but thought Congress should be more willing to make hard decisions," said Rep. Peter H. Kostmayer, D-Pa. "He said the Senate Finance Committee had decimated his windfall profits tax with exemptions. That's the word he used, 'decimated."

Carter "made a strong pitch" for the windfall tax. "He spoke about the dramatic increase in (oil company): profits. He said he felt the times warranted a tax stronger than had passed the House," said Rep. Phil Sharp, D-Ind.

The president also said he would support the stronger version of the Energy Mobilization Board over the

The 47-year-old Proto popov and his 44-year-old. wife, who married in 1957, dominated pair skating through most of the 1960s, twice winning Olympic gold medals and picking up world titles for four straight years starting in 1965.

The Protopopovs rose to world fame at the Olympic Games in Insbruck, Austria, in 1964 when they won the gold medal. They duplicated the feat in Grenoble, France, four years later.

The couple last appeared in international competition at the 1969 world championships in Colorado Springs, Colo.; finishing third. They turned professional early in the 1970s, skating with a troupe based in Leningrad, their hometown.

Aggravated robbery

charges filed

Charges of aggravated robbery were filed Monday against two Midland men in connection with the alleged robbery Sunday of a local service station.

Gaylon Hubert Jones, 27. of Midland and Roy Edwin Yarbrough, 28, 1409 S. Colorado St., each were charged with aggravated robbery before Peace Justice Robert Pine!

They were in Midland City Jail this morning in lieu of posting $25,000 bond each.

Additionally, Jones was charged in connection with an alleged robbery in Odessa, according to Lt. Earl Luckey

According to police, the Kent Service Station, 1709 Rankin Highway, was robbed of an undetermined amount of money about 8:35 p.m. Sunday.

Two attendants were unharmed, but police said that during the alleged robbery one man held a knife to the stomach of one of the attendants.

Police later arrested Jones and Yarbrough at Mary Jo's Place, 300 W. Florida St.
