A&M researcher raps Mexico's 'poor cooperation'

DALLAS (AP) — Mexico has provided "very poor international cooperation" in studying effects of runaway Mexican crude oil on bays, estuaries and beaches along the Texas Gulf coast, a Texas A&M University researcher said.

"All we've gotten are public relations handouts. They don't tell how they are measuring or what they are measuring," civil engineering Professor Roy Hann said Wednesday.

"I haven't seen any scientific data. No cooperative technical program is going on."

Hann also said he doubted Mexican claims that oil is burning at the blown out well in the Bay of Campeche.

"The burning flame is clean, like a gas flame. The natural gas is burning off, not the oil," said Hann.

He said estimates indicate the well is spewing a mixture of 60 percent water and 40 percent oil.

"Something will burn only if it has an acceptable heat level. You can't burn a 60 percent water and 40 percent oil mixture," Hann said.

Hann said he believes Mexican claims about the amount of oil being skimmed off the surface are exaggerated.

"I've heard all sorts of quotes on the figure, but industry experts say that only 10 to 15 percent at most is being skimmed," he said.

Various countries and the United Nations have offered to help Mexico and various technical teams have prepared proposals, but none has been accepted, he said.

The Mexicans financed their own studies through about 15 agencies, but none of the reports has been made available, he said.

Hann said he and other U.S. representatives flew over the site, but were not given any special assistance in studying the spill.

Hann, who has been studying cleanup operations, also criticized procedures for defending against the largest spill ever recorded.

"I'm not satisfied with the level of protection being extended to the bays and estuaries of Texas," he said.

Hann said he was concerned that oil in remote areas is not being cleaned up.

"On successive higher tides, the oil will wash out to the bottom of the ocean. I don't like having oil in direct contact with the sea life on the bottom," he said.

"Putting it offshore in the deep brine is another thing."

Hann's research group has concentrated on a 40-mile coastal strip from the Rio Grande to the Port Mansfield cut.

The team analyzes the oil, gathers aerial photographs, videotapes, and records of weather, tide and currents, and other technical aspects to study the effects as the spill progresses.

Hann has studied oil spills worldwide, including the world's second largest spill, Amoco Cadiz, in France in 1978. Hann said 223,000 metric tons of oil leaked from the wreck of the Amoco Cadiz. Projections for the Mexican spill are from 300,000 to 350,000 metric tons.

"It could go as high as 500,000 tons," Hann said.

Angels fly over Midland

Female pilots participating in famous derby

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Staff Writer

Flying by the seat of one's pants, er, skirts will determine the winner of this year's Angel Derby.

Thirty-five female-piloted airplanes flew over the Midland area Wednesday in an attempt to be the first to reach Cleveland, Ohio, Thursday to garner honors of the 50th all-woman transcontinental air race.

In 1929, women aviators from throughout the world flew the same route from California to Ohio, thus originating the country's most prestigious all-female air race. Famous woman aviator Amelia Earheart participated in that first race.

Midland was considered at that time a vital refueling stop for these races because of the fuel limitations of the 1929 aircraft.

Several women aviators and their navigators touched down in Midland to refuel and check up on weather conditions further northeast Wednesday.

The rest flew between the air control tower and the airport's red and white checkered water tower to register their arrival time at Midland Regional Airport — a designated fly-by in the race.

A Beech Bonanza operated by Norma Futterman and Aileen Pickering, both of California, was the first aircraft to land at the Tall City's airport.

Mrs. Futterman, who placed second in the 1976 Angel Derby, said flying weather from El Paso to Midland was "beautiful."

Unfortunately, she sighed, there were no tail winds to speed her aircraft along its journey.

Navigation for Mrs. Futterman's plane, as for all participants, was based mostly on landmarks along the way.

"Oh, we use anything to get us where we are going," explained Ms. Pickering, the navigator. "Highways, telephone lines, railroads or radio checks, anything."

"Flying this year's derby is easier than it was 50 years ago when there weren't that many easy landmarks to fly by," Mrs. Futterman noted.

Back then, it was really flying by the seat of one's skirt. They even wore skirts then.

At about 11:15 a.m. Wednesday, a second plane piloted by Rosemarie Mintz and Beatrice Axelrod, both of Cleveland, Ohio, touched down at Midland's airport.

Mrs. Mintz's main "problem" was

Mishap kills Andrews man

ANDREWS — David Melton Rioridan, a 25-year-old oil field derrick operator and Andrews resident, was killed Wednesday afternoon when the motorcycle he was riding slid on loose gravel in northeast Andrews and went out of control, according to the Andrews Police Department.

Rioridan reportedly was thrown from the motorcycle and his head struck a large rock in a yard. He was not wearing a helmet, said a spokesman for the police department.

The mishap occurred at Northeast Mustang Drive and Avenue F.

Rioridan was pronounced dead on arrival at Permian General Hospital about 2:50 p.m. Wednesday by Peace Justice Tom Ragsdale.

Carter debates man over fuel for Iranians

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — President Carter engaged in a six-minute debate at 5 a.m. today with an auto worker who vigorously disagreed with Carter's decision to permit the export of American oil products to Iran.

"What we don't understand is why the Ayatollah Khomeini is doing this to the people over there, executing them, and more or less we are condoning it?" the man asked Carter. The dialogue occurred as the Delta Queen steamboat stopped at Lock 21 on the Mississippi River near Quincy, Ill., a few miles from Hannibal.

Carter defended his decision to permit the sale of an estimated $47 million worth of kerosene and diesel fuel, saying "They ship us one and one-half million barrels of oil every day."

Carter encountered his debating partner on the way to spending several hours sightseeing in Hannibal, hometown of Samuel Clemens and his literary creation, Tom Sawyer.

The unidentified man who questioned Carter was part of a crowd of about 300 people who greeted Carter when he climbed overboard shortly before 5 a.m. and began shaking hands.

He told the president his Iranian brother-in-law who worked for Bell Helicopter in Iran had just been released from prison there.

Before approving the sale of U.S. refined oil products, the man demanded to know, "Why couldn't we get a reasonable assurance that they would take care of human rights over there?"

"All we had to do was get an assurance that they would start analyzing this and not treating people rotten because they were dealing with Americans."

In the midst of the badgering, Carter calmed the man down enough to say, "you won't let me answer your question."

Referring to Khomeini, the Iranian ruler, Carter said: "I don't approve of his government but the fact is that they ship us about one and one-half million barrels of oil every day. One time they asked us to send them a million barrels back."

Carter explained that the United States receives 50 million barrels of oil a month from Iran and that they had requested, due to sabotage of a refinery, one shipment of kerosene.

Today's activities mark the next to the last scheduled stop on the first family's seven-day cruise down the Mississippi on the sternwheeler Delta Queen.

Late Wednesday, during a stop at a lock, Carter noted the entire lock and dam system on the Mississippi River produces only 165 megawatts of electricity, compared to an Army Corps of Engineers estimate that it could produce 2,400 megawatts.

Press secretary Jody Powell said the White House would issue a statement today detailing Carter's plans to use an executive order to increase power production along the river.

The president did not have to leave the boat today to encounter a character out of Mark Twain, the name under which Clemens wrote.

Up in the wheelhouse reigns pilot C.S. Ware, who has worked on the river all but 17 of his 66 years.

Ware was in his high, cushioned chair Tuesday afternoon when the Delta Queen ran smack into a 30-minute squall that briefly packed winds of almost 70 miles an hour and driving sheets of rain.

"Rain or shine or sleet or snow, the Delta Queen she's got to go," sang out Ware, who swung the boat into a cove to drive the rocking vessel out of the brunt of the storm.

Carter, in the wheelhouse for most of the storm, later congratulated Capt. Fred Martin for a job "well done."

The storm sent the steamboat's crystal chandeliers swinging over the grand staircase, tossed aluminum deck chairs about like doll house furniture and left the presidential flag flying in tatters atop the front mast.

Officials transfer Preece to Midland City Jail

A Midland man charged with murder in connection with the Wednesday shooting death of 22-year-old Daniel Nixon was transferred to Midland City Jail from San Angelo about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Coy Preece Jr., 22, was arrested in San Angelo about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday after his father called the Tom Green County Sheriff's Department and informed officials there of his location, officials here said.

Nixon died in the emergency room of Midland Memorial Hospital about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, shortly after he was shot in downtown Midland following a car chase, officials said.

Nixon received shotgun wounds to both shoulders and three .22-caliber bullet wounds to the head, according to ambulance reports.

Preece's wife, 20-year-old Betty Sue Preece, a passenger in an automobile being driven by Nixon at the time of the shooting, was not injured, according to officials.

The shooting took place about 8 p.m. Tuesday almost in front of Midland Police Department offices.

According to witnesses, a pickup pulled alongside the Nixon car as he was driving north on Fort Worth Street.

A person in the pickup fired several shots at the Nixon car before turning east on to Texas Avenue, witnesses told police.

A police officer in pursuit of the pickup lost track of the fleeing vehicle at the intersection of Texas Avenue and East Front Street, officials said.

Bond for Preece was set Wednesday at $100,000 in Tom Green County.

Midland police said bond was set only for the purpose of transfer to Midland facilities and indicated another bond would be set today in Midland.

Answer Line...

By Franchelle Moore

P.O. Box 1650, Midland 79702

I thought when the city installed the Dumpsters for garbage and trash collection that people using them were required to place all raw garbage in bags before placing them in the Dumpster. If this is not so, the city should require that ALL raw garbage be placed in bags. If this is so, the city should be checking on violators.

I have one of more neighbors who are dumping raw garbage directly into the Dumpster and as a result have created quite a health hazard. The flies are so bad in and around the Dumpster I use that I carry an insecticide each time I take out our trash. — J.R.

ANSWER: This is not going to be good news. The Sanitation Department of the city of Midland reports it is not required in residential areas that garbage be put in bags before being placed in Dumpsters. There is an ordinance requiring commercial establishments, such as restaurants, to place all garbage in bags. I think your suggestion that it should be required for ALL Dumpsters is a good one.

While in the military several years ago, I tasted an excellent alcoholic punch at a party. The punch was called "Artillery Punch" and I tried to get the recipe from the hostess. However, she would not give it out. Can Answer Line fine this recipe for me? — Mrs. G.C.

ANSWER: "Artillery Punch" has a very potent ring to it. Pat Dixon at the Golden Prop Lounge at Midland Regional Airport says the name reminds her of a concoction some people call "Rhode Island Punch." Regardless of its name it should have a "punch."

The recipe calls for equal parts of four white liquors — rum, vodka, gin and tequila. If that's not enough, add a proportionate amount of sweet and sour, and top with just enough Coca-Cola to give the brew a tea color.

If this is not the right one, maybe some Answer Line readers will come forth with their ideas of "Artillery Punch."

How do you get rid of nut grass? Going Nutty. — T.B.

ANSWER: Charles W. Green, Midland County extension agent-agriculture, says this type of grass is probably the hardest to contend with, and eliminating the rascal altogether may not be possible.

Chemically speaking, Green says there are two chemicals which can be used effectively, under certain conditions. One is MSMS, sold under the brand name of Ansara, which can be sprayed on Bermuda grass containing nut grass, but NOT on St. Augustine grass areas, because it will kill St. Augustine.

Green says spraying of the yard should begin in the early spring, with repeated sprayings every 2 to 4 weeks throughout the growing period. This should control the nut grass, so that it can be eliminated, possibly, the next summer.

The other chemical is a concentrated 24D, which can be applied to small areas of nut grass. Precaution must be used with this chemical, because if not applied correctly it can kill trees and shrubs.

The systemic chemicals are designed to reach to the root system to kill, but nut grass has enough food stored in the "nuts" of its root system to survive such treatment.

If there is nut grass in small areas, such as flower beds, Green reports there is a pre-planting treatment using Eptam.

All of these chemicals should be used with care to avoid skilling shrubbery and trees, the agent warns. Because of the condition of Midland soil, leaching occurs.

He especially protests the use of herbicides, fertilizers with weed killers, because of the sandy condition of West Texas soil.

Green cites the case of one Midlander who, in order to get rid of nut grass, had his lawn dug out 18 inches deep, new soil brought in and grass planted. Guess the variety of the first green sprig of grass which appeared?

Seventeen escapees at large

JESSUP, Md. (AP) — Thirty inmates described as dangerous broke out of the Maryland House of Corrections, then scattered across the Baltimore-Washington area early today pursued by state and local police aided by patrol dogs, authorities said. Thirteen were reported in custody within hours.

Sgt. Hugh K. McCormick said the men escaped by cutting through a bar and a security screen. He said they scaled a 15-foot wall and three security fences in fleeing the prison.

Trooper Ron Price said inmates were spotted as far away as Prince Georges County, a suburb of Washington, D.C., about 20 miles southwest of Jessup. It was the second biggest jailbreak in the state's history.

Other convicts — all dressed in civilian clothes — were sighted in Howard, Baltimore and Anne Arundel counties and in the city of Baltimore, about 10 miles from the prison, he said. One escapee was reported caught in Virginia.

Bill Clark, a state police spokesman, said state and local police flooded the Baltimore-Washington area looking for the men.

"We don't know who these men are, nor what they are charged with, so we're urging motorists not to pick up hitchhikers," he said.

Price said the inmates were easy to spot. "They're walking along the side of the roads and when they see a police car, they take off running into the woods," he said.

There was no immediate comment from prison officials.

The state's largest prison escape occurred in April 1959 at the Patuxent Institution, another adult facility in Jessup. Thirty-four inmates broke out in that incident.

Among the first men captured, two were caught on the nearby Baltimore-Washington Parkway; one near the Baltimore-Washington International Airport, and another in Baltimore, said McCormick.

Clark said police were first notified of the escape about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday when prison officials reported six men missing.

"They took a bed check and found out there were about 30 missing," he said, adding that police were notified of the increased number about 1:30 a.m.

Nearly 100 state police troopers and an unknown number of local and municipal police were assisting in the search which was concentrated in the Howard County and Jessup areas. In addition, dog patrols from Anne Arundel County police were being used.

More of same weather due

The weather forecast for Midland has been changed a little in wording, but it essentially calls for the same old thing — warm weather, sunny skies during the day, partly cloudy skies at night and a chance for afternoon and evening thundershowers.

According to the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport, Midlanders can expect the low temperature tonight to drop into the middle 60s with the thermometer climbing into the middle 90s on Friday.

That heating-cooling trend will bring a 30 percent chance for thundershowers to Midland tonight and Friday, the weather service said.

Winds tonight should blow out of the southwest at 10-20 mph.

The high temperature Wednesday reached 95 degrees, short of the record 101 degrees recorded Aug. 22, 1963.

Low this morning was 68, but it failed to match the record low 61-degree reading for this date, set in 1961.

Very heavy thundershowers rolled through the Texas Hill Country early today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue a severe thundershowers warning for Kerr County.

Other thundershowers moved into Southeast Texas before dawn and forecasters said thundershowers activity lingered throughout the night in West Texas near the Pecos River.

The severe thundershowers warning for Kerr County came after forecasters sighted an area of very heavy thundershowers from Fredericksburg to Kerrville to Junction. The area of thundershowers activity was moving to the south at about 30 mph during the pre-dawn hours.

The National Weather Service received several reports of strong, gusty winds as the thundershowers moved through the Hill Country and warned that the storms were capable of producing small hail.

Forecasters warned that heavy rain in the Hill Country could cause some flash flooding of low lying or flood prone areas.

Heavy thundershowers rumbled across much of North Texas and Central Texas late Wednesday, dumping heavy rainfall in some areas. Waco had the heaviest rainfall at a reporting station with 1.25 inches.

High winds accompanied some of the late evening storms, but there were no immediate reports of serious damage.

Forecasters called for scattered thundershowers in most areas of the state by late afternoon or early evening. Highs were to be mostly in the 90s.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the upper 60s and lower 70s. Extremes ranged from 60 at Amarillo to 81 at Laredo.

her co-pilot, Mrs. Axelrod. This year is the first time Mrs. Axelrod flew in an air race.

"I wanted Bea to get some flying experience," Mrs. Mintz said. "But she (Mrs. Axelrod) did not know very much about my flying style. One of these days we will probably get all of the bugs worked out."

Mrs. Mintz predicted they would not do very well because her aircraft has certain limitations and its top speed just is not that fast — about 150 mph.

After checking their airplane and loading up with an armful of snacks, the two aviators took to the skies toward Abilene.

An airplane painted in the colors of a Coor's Lite beer can buzzed into the landing area at the Aquila Flight center.

It was obvious who was sponsoring the aircraft.

Its pilots, Jerrie Cobb and Ruth Lummis, both of Moore Haven, Fla., had flown from South America to Los Angeles, Calif., to be in the race.

Now missionary pilot in South America, Ms. Cobb started flying airplanes at the age of 12. Since that time, she has logged 30,000 flight hours.

This race is Ms. Cobb's first attempt to fly the Angel Derby. She noted she had to fly around — rather than over — mountains to maintain flying speed.

Even though the weather was OK here, she said she was expecting some thundershowers farther northeast and maybe a precious tail wind.

In Santa Monica, she recalled, their departure was delayed an hour because of smog conditions.

Flight from Douglas, Ariz., to Midland, took about two hours, she said. Ms. Cobb estimated their speed at 145 mph.

Oil spill situation looking better

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Oil-stained Texas beaches are in for "sporadic" doublings of more run-away Mexican crude from the world's worst oil spill, but scientists are heartened by concentrations to the south that appear lighter than first feared.

"Sporadic patches of sheen and mousse (thicker oil) are expected to wash ashore on Padre Island during the next several days," Coast Guard spokesman Jim McCranachan said Wednesday, but added, "It's not going to be as bad as it was last week."

More than 50 miles of scenic Padre Island beach, much of it in multi-million dollar tourist areas, were fouled last week by the oil. Several more miles of remote beach 30 miles north of Brownsville were doused late Wednesday by light sheen.

A giant 40-mile-by-60-mile patch of sheen, which contained some small concentrations of thicker oil, loomed off Port Aransas early today. Some of the oil had begun washing ashore, but Coast Guard officials said the impact on the tourist beaches would be "light" compared to last week's covering that was 3 inches deep in some places.

Reconnaissance flights Wednesday off Tampico, Mexico, 250 miles south of Brownsville, showed that a huge concentration of oil covering hundreds of square miles was mostly the lighter sheen. Some thicker concentrations of the fudge-like mousse were in the patches, but not as much as scientists had feared.

Last week's flights had shown very thick concentrations of oil in the area, and scientists had worried about a second assault on the beaches and environmentally sensitive bays and lagoons.

Scientists speculated Wednesday night that the lighter concentrations off Tampico were due to containment efforts begun about two weeks after the Ixtoc I offshore well blew out June 3 in the Bay of Campeche.

The crippled well has been spewing more than 10,000 barrels of oil daily and has dumped at least 2 million barrels into the gulf so far. Mexican officials say the well won't be capped until at least Sept. 16.

Thousand of tennis ball-sized steel and lead balls are being pumped into the well and have helped cut the flow from the initial 30,000 barrels per day. Open water containment boom and skimmer setups are also sweeping up some of the oil at the well head.

Three of Gov. Bill Clements' aides toured the coast Wednesday and met with officials from coastal counties about the possibility of requesting federal disaster aid that would allow hotel owners, fishermen and other residents to secure loans against damages.

Clements, who founded the Dallas firm that leased the Ixtoc I rig to the Mexican government oil company, said Aug. 10 after touring the then-clear beaches that it was "much to do about nothing."

Clements' top aide Allen Clark and press secretary Jon Ford said the governor made those statements before there was any damage to the beaches. "In those same conversations, he points out that it could become a lot more serious," said Clark.

Andrews couple released on bond

ANDREWS — An Andrews couple accused of growing marijuana in their backyard in northwest Andrews was arrested Tuesday, charged with possession of marijuana and released under $3,000 bond each, according to reports.

Arrested were Pawanee Brown, 25, and his wife, Diane Brown, 18, said officials.

The pair was charged after Andrews Police Sgt. Grady Victory and Lt. Doug Gaines allegedly found 62 plants growing in the backyard at 303 N.W. 13th St., one stalk drying in a closet, four plants in three clay pots, and dried plants in boxes and baggies in the house, said a spokesman for the Andrews Police Department.

Bond was set by Peace Justice Jay Williams.

Chagra's brother, attorney believe he won't appear

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Jimmy Chagra, convicted of a drug conspiracy last week, could be charged with jumping bail today if he fails to show up for a federal bond hearing here.

Chagra's attorneys — his brother Joe and Oscar Goodman of Las Vegas — have predicted the professional gambler will not appear.

Chagra skipped a meeting with a probation officer Tuesday in Las Vegas, and a federal warrant has been issued for his arrest.

If he does show up, Chagra still would face an increased bond of $3 million for missing the Tuesday meeting.

Goodman said Chagra was under no obligation to appear at the Nevada probation office, where he said Chagra went last week "to pick up some papers." He said officers told him to return Tuesday, but that he was under no obligation to do so.

But Goodman also told the El Paso Times that as a lawyer "with a certain experience level," he did not expect Chagra to appear at the bond hearing, adding it was "possible" his client would appear.

Inmates release seminarian taken hostage in parish jail

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A seminarian taken hostage during communion at the Orleans Parish jail was released early today, several hours after two inmates freed a musician also taken during the service.

Neither Ferdinand Barre, about 36, who plays guitar twice a week for services in the jail chapel, nor Ed Grice, 25, who is to be ordained a Catholic priest next May, was hurt during the eight-hour siege.

The standoff began when two 23-year-old prisoners in line to receive communion grabbed Barre and Grice, who was conducting a special communion service, said Sheriff

Vivian Chagra, who was married to Chagra for five years, said she and their two children "pray that he is safe."

"I hate to see him gone, but I prefer to see him safe than in jail," said Mrs. Chagra, 34.

She described her former husband as a "loving and generous father."

A federal jury in Austin convicted Chagra last Wednesday of continuing criminal conspiracy, punishable by a maximum of life imprisonment without parole.

Jurors found that Chagra operated a "Colombian Connection" drug trade, smuggling marijuana and cocaine into the United States.

After the verdict, U.S. attorneys asked that Chagra be placed in custody, but U.S. District Judge William Sessions allowed him to remain under $400,000 bond. Goodman had said Chagra would not jump bond because of family ties.

Goodman and Joe Chagra said they told Sessions their client skipped the probation meeting "because we owed it to him to advise him because he was fair and decent" in allowing Chagra to remain free after his conviction.

Charles Foti.

According to Foti, Donald J. Ford of New Orleans and David Webb of Violet, La., said they had weapons under towels which were wrapped around their hands.

Officers said a sheriff's deputy who was watching the service grabbed a nun and whisked her to safety, and the other prisoners filed-out of the small room.

The inmates' first demand was for a car and time to escape, said Foti. When this was refused, he said they asked for the drugs cocaine and Quaaludes, and finally for beer.

They got soft drinks.

Marijuana not proven

Dear Dr. Solomon: I've read that marijuana can be used to treat glaucoma. Why isn't it available on prescription for such use? — Mrs. H.B.A.

Dear Mrs. A.: Marijuana is one of a number of drugs that are known to reduce pressure with the eye. Glaucoma is a disease in which intraocular pressure causes progressive damage to the optic nerve, impairing vision. Left untreated, it can lead to blindness. But whether marijuana is superior to other drugs currently in use for this purpose, or whether it will work in some patients who do not respond to other medications, is still to be determined.

As yet, legal use of marijuana for the treatment of glaucoma is limited to clinical investigations approved by the Food and Drug Administration. Current studies are attempting to determine whether the drug's ability to lower intraocular pressure can be sustained; if the studies are successful, additional research to test marijuana's safety and effectiveness may be undertaken. So far, most of these efforts have involved experiments on laboratory animals.

The National Institute on Drug Abuse, which supports government-sponsored marijuana research and supplies the drug to qualified researchers, is supporting tests on humans. Because the medical value of smoking marijuana is difficult to evaluate, researchers are trying to develop a derivative of the drug that can be used as an eye-drop. A drug can be better controlled if applied directly to the eye than if it is smoked. Such a derivative might also eliminate or, at least, reduce the intoxicating effects of marijuana.

One complicating factor in glaucoma research is that even when a drug successfully lowers intraocular pressure, it does not necessarily follow that vision is preserved. Studies to determine whether the use of marijuana preserves visual function have not yet been undertaken.

Before marijuana can be marketed — assuming it is found to be safe and effective — it will have to be removed from the list of substances deemed to have a high potential for abuse without any acceptable medical use. Before this is done, the FDA must determine that studies as to marijuana's therapeutic potential are sufficiently convincing to warrant its approval as a drug for the treatment of glaucoma.

Dear Dr. Solomon: My husband has been told he has secondary impotence. Exactly what is that and have you ever helped any men that have it? — Mrs. S.R.

Dear Mrs. S.R.: Secondary impotence means that a man who had a normal level of sexual activity in the past is now declining because of aging or job related stress. I recommend that men with this problem be treated with an experimental medicine called "LHRH" (Luteinizing hormone releasing hormone). In selective patients, LHRH did improve sexual potency. I would discuss this with your doctor and see if your husband would be a good candidate for this treatment.

(If you have a medical problem, see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21206. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal replies but will answer as many questions as possible in his column.)

Union reimbursement order appealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — J.P. Stevens & Co. Inc., the nation's No. 2 textile maker, is appealing an unprecedented government decision that it must pay the bill for a six-month organizing drive waged by the union that has fought for 16 years to unionize Stevens workers.

The National Labor Relations Board decision released Wednesday was the first in which the board ordered a company to reimburse — with interest — expenses incurred by a union seeking to bargain for that firm's workers.

Stevens also was ordered to recognize the union, the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union, as the exclusive bargaining agent for about 1,000 employees at the company's plants in Wallace, N.C.

And the board set aside a 1975 election in which the employees voted 540-404 against the union.

There was no immediate indication how much the NLRB ruling would cost the company if upheld in court.

In Greenville, S.C., Stevens' spokesman Paul Barrett said the company had already appealed the ruling to the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va.

"Despite the ruling of the NLRB, we continue to believe that the will of the employees at the Wallace plants was best expressed in the secret ballot election of Feb. 19, 1975," said Barrett.

"That election was fairly and properly conducted by the NLRB and employees showed their opposition to union representation by a substantial majority. We will do everything legally proper to preserve the right of our employees to express their wishes through a secret ballot election, rather than accept forced representation on the basis of a union card count."

The NLRB's decision, affirming a March 1978 opinion of Administrative Law Judge Joel A. Hartz, said Stevens has "a long history of violations of employee rights."

In that opinion, Hartz said employee rights "have been threatened over the years by the efforts of J.P. Stevens to destroy the union through persistent violations of the law, board orders, court decrees and contempt citations."

"No end appears to this unrelenting effort to exhaust the resources of this union."

But the company has pointed out that in the union's lengthy organizing battle, it has won only one of 12 representation elections. Stevens says that shows its workers oppose unionization, but the union claims its losses result from illegal company activities.

The NLRB, in this week's decision, found that Stevens' "illicit campaign destroyed a fair election atmosphere and influenced the...loss of the union" in the February 1975 election culminating a six-month organizing drive at Wallace.

It ruled the employees' feelings were more reliably expressed in the number of union authorization cards signed than in the election results. Hartz said he had found that by the time of the election, 561 employees already had signed valid authorization cards.

He also found that, among other things, the company violated federal labor laws by preventing workers from distributing union literature in nonworking areas on their own time and by conducting surveillance of those that did.

The latest decision marks the 20th time since 1966 the NLRB has found statutory violations in unfair labor practice cases brought against Stevens. The board was reversed by an appeals court in one decision.

Stevens, which has fought for 16 years to prevent the clothing workers union from organizing its workers, has some 80 plants with about 45,000 employees.

The NLRB said its decision stemmed from "the third such series of unlawful acts by the company in combating the union" at the Wallace plants. "The latest illegal conduct came while Stevens was under a U.S. Court of Appeals contempt citation for earlier violations," the board said in a statement.

Dallas-based agent reveals Davis' plot to kill his brother

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — An FBI sound technician has told jurors of a plot to kidnap and drown Bill Davis, younger brother of murder conspiracy defendant Cullen Davis.

Jerry Hubbell, a Dallas-based FBI agent, testified he had been called in to help investigate a possible kidnapping — a federal offense — on Aug. 18, 1978. Hubbell said Fort Worth agent Ron Jannings told him of the alleged plot to kidnap and kill Bill Davis.

"(Cullen) Davis was attempting to hire someone to go to Connecticut and have his brother kidnapped

'Gentleman Bandit' trial resumes today

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The trial of the Rev. Bernard T. Pagano, charged with armed robbery in a series of "Gentleman Bandit" holdups, resumes today after a recess while authorities questioned a Pennsylvania man in the case.

Pagano's trial was halted Monday when Ronald Clouser of Brookhaven, Pa., admitted to involvement in the series of northern Delaware holdups by a courteous, well-dressed bandit earlier this year.

Attorneys in the case met Wednesday with Wilmington Superior Court Judge Andrew D. Christie for the second of two closed-door sessions. But a gag order issued by Christie remained in effect.

The Washington Post, quoting unnamed sources close to the prosecution, reported in today's editions that state's attorneys plan to ask the judge to declare a mistrial in the case and then attempt to prosecute the Roman Catholic priest on the same charges at a second trial.

A police source said Clouser had taken a lie detector test which indicated he did not commit the Gentleman Bandit holdups. The source also said that some of the robbery victims were called to a lineup Wednesday which included Clouser.

The Post said the decision to seek a new trial was made after four holdup victims failed to identify Clouser in the lineup. It was not known whether Pagano took part in the lineup.

Despite being 14 years younger than the tall, balding priest and having a full head of salt-and-pepper hair, Clouser closely resembles Pagano.

Carl Schnee, Pagano's attorney, showed that most of the victims did not identify Pagano until a police lineup was held after his arrest, when newspapers printed photographs of the priest.

and taken to North or South Carolina and drowned in a lake...or someplace," Hubbell said Jannings told him.

Jannings previously testified that Davis' former crony, David McCrory, approached the FBI in August 1978, saying he had been ordered to arrange mass murders for the millionaire industrialist.

Jannings also said McCrory told him Davis would pay $500,000 for the death of his brother; $200,000 for his ex-wife, Priscilla; and $80,000 each for state district judges Joe Eidson and Tom Cave.

Davis is on trial a second time on charges he tried to hire the murder of Eidson, his divorce judge. A Houston jury deadlocked 8-4 for conviction in the first attempt and a mistrial was declared in January.

Hubbell said he wired McCrory with a secret body recorder on Aug. 18 and helped another agent prepare the technical equipment that taped an Aug. 20 meeting between Davis and McCrory.

According to Hubbell's testimony, the recorder taped to McCrory's back transmitted into another recorder that synchronized sound with images from a video camera hidden in an FBI van near the Davis-McCrory meeting site. Hubbell and other agents monitored the parking lot meeting from a van disguised as a survey company truck.

The van was parked so agents could film the meeting through the back windows, Hubbell said. That plan almost backfired when Davis became curious and tried to peer through blackout curtains while the agents remained frozen inside, one with his pistol drawn.

McCrory had been given certain items "so he could show those items to the defendant...as a means of proof that the judge had been killed," Hubbell said. That "proof" included Eidson's drivers' license, several identification cards, the alleged "murder weapon" and a faked photograph showing Eidson's ketchup-stained "body."

Agents treated the photograph with a special fluorescent powder — which would rub off and could be spotted under a black light. But McCrory said Davis only held the photograph by the edges and the test failed when Fort Worth police allowed Davis to wash his hands after his arrest.

Davis, 45, said he never saw the photograph. Hubbell also said he secreted a transmitter inside McCrory's car before the Aug. 20 meeting "for the personal safety of Mr. McCrory."

The transmitter, which would have beamed sound into an FBI receiver, malfunctioned. But the agent said it would have been useless, because the meeting took place in Davis' Cadillac

Four winners of coveted WTC awards announced

ABILENE — Four recipients of the coveted West Texas Chamber of Commerce Cultural Achievement Awards for 1979 have been announced by Lou Cooley of Borger, chairman of the WTCC Cultural Affairs Committee.

The awards ceremony will take place during WTCC's mid-year meeting at Amarillo on Oct. 11-12.

One award will be presented to Tumbleweed Smith (Bob Smith Lewis) of Big Spring, whose radio program, "The Sounds of Texas," has preserved the heritage of Texas on tape for posterity and been a source of daily entertainment.

The Carson County Square House Museum of Panhandle will be honored for its role in preserving and displaying the area's history since its establishment in 1967.

The Lubbock Arts Festival also will receive a Cultural Achievement Award.

For sharing her artistic impressions of West Texas with the public, an award will be presented to Mrs. Willie Reed Row of Fort Stockton. Mrs. Row specializes in etchings and has exhibited her work in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

Two travel along centuries-old paths

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Along dusty country roads, Mike Martel and Don Scott are searching for an America that has changed over the centuries, and for the scattered pockets of people and nature that resemble older times.

Martel, 28, and Scott, 21, are walking across America on a journey that will take them over 3,789 miles and a year of their lives.

In past centuries, vast stretches of America were explored by naturalists, solitary figures or small parties who journeyed across the landscape, capturing in journals and drawings the teeming life of the new land.

Inspired by these earlier explorers, whom they have often read in the past, Martel and Scott are following in their path to determine how the American landscape has changed since naturalists like John Audubon and John Muir first crossed it.

"It's something that hasn't been done in a long time," Martel said. Starting from Maine in May, they wandered across northern New England before swinging on to the Appalachian Trail and striking down through the middle Atlantic states to West Virginia, where they recently spent a few days with a friend.

Following a path they spent a year mapping out, they plan to wind their way in and out of the Middle West into the South and on to the deserts of the Southwest before heading for California and the end of their journey.

Along the way they have met many people. In the hills of southern West Virginia they came across towns that have changed little since they were built during the great coal booms of the last century.

Martel remembered a 74-year-old woman who told them about the mountain lions she said still roam the hills behind her house. Later, they almost thought they heard one of the lions roaring, Martel said.

Each day on the road, they rise before dawn and walk across the countryside, studying the landscape as they pass, noting its sights and sounds, jotting down the details in notebooks and making sketches.

When they return home, Martel said he hopes to run the information through a computer to develop an environmental portrait of the United States that will help scientists chart how the land has altered.

They believe from what they have seen already that the landscape is changing, Martel said. They have seen red cardinals in Maine, painted turtles in Maryland and a martin in southern New York — animals thought to live well outside those regions, Martel said.

Two years and almost everything they have went into preparing for the trip. Supplies ranging from food to new clothing and boots were sent out ahead to supply dumps along their route. "We're putting all we've got into the trip. When I get back home I won't have anything," Martel said, laughing gently.

Head of African information service returns under guard

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Eschel Rhodie, the former head of South Africa's information service, returned home under guard today to face fraud charges stemming from a propaganda scandal that rocked the government.

Rhodie was extradited from France at the request of the South African government. Guarded by two South African plainclothesmen, Rhodie arrived here on a South African Airways Boeing-747 jumbo jet from Paris.

The orange, blue and white jetliner taxied to the ramp at Jan Smuts Airport and Rhodie was taken off before the other passengers. During the flight he had been kept apart from other passengers in the first class lounge.

Under South African law, Rhodie must be formally charged in court within 48 hours. He was expected to be held in jail pending his arraignment.

Rhodie faces seven fraud charges in connection with use of state funds while he ran the information service and supervised secret propaganda projects designed to improve South

Cambodia's isolation cracking

NEW YORK (AP) — A crack has appeared in the thick insulation surrounding Cambodia, where millions of people are starving amid the disruption caused by years of war and political upheaval.

The first sign of a break in the isolation that began with a communist take-over of the country in 1975 came with a program to place food packages along the Thai border to be retrieved by at least some of the estimated 2.5 million Cambodians who face starvation.

And now western relief officials have revealed they've made two shipments of medicine to Cambodia, and they say they expect to be given permission soon for a major relief program for Cambodians.

Little has been said about relief efforts here because since Khmer Rouge guerrillas headed by Pol Pot defeated a U.S.-backed regime, the United States has been forbidden by law from aiding Cambodia.

Moreover, Pol Pot's regime spurned virtually all western efforts to aid his country, which was facing food shortages even before he came to power.

The sketchy reports that have come from Cambodia leave a picture of a country reduced to rubble. The Pol Pot government has been accused of cutting the country's population by at least three million through mass murder, uprooting city dwellers and sending them to rural work camps, and misappropriating the little available food.

Pol Pot himself was ousted by a Vietnamese-backed guerrilla movement last winter, but it is only recently that the new government has made overtures to international relief agencies.

"The country was slammed tight before, but now it seems to have opened up a bit," said Ed Kenny, a spokesman for the United Nations Children's Fund.

Officials from UNICEF and the International Committee of the Red Cross say two of their employees are just completing a second fact-finding tour in Cambodia at the invitation of the pro-Vietnamese government of Heng Samrin.

These visiting officials will draw up a proposal for a large scale relief effort and submit it to the Cambodian government for approval, the spokesmen said.

On each of the fact-finding tours, a plane load of medicine was delivered, the spokesmen said, with another plane expected to bring supplies next week.

And on Aug. 27, an airplane chartered by OXFAM, a private London-based relief agency, is scheduled to carry 22 tons of antibiotics and powdered milk to Cambodia's capital city, Phnom Penh, said Michael Scott, an OXFAM-America spokesman based in Boston.

Scott said a "small delegation" will accompany the flight and, working with the Ministry of Health, will remain to monitor the medicine's distribution.

"We're going in, we've been invited, and we hope to establish a relationship so we can give out more than emergency supplies," said Scott.

OXFAM is working with a committee of French doctors who received pleas for help from their former students, Cambodian doctors who survived the purge of intellectuals reportedly carried out under Pol Pot, Scott said.

The monitoring is the key to future relief efforts. International relief agencies say they cannot give assistance unless they can monitor distribution to assure that food and supplies reach those for whom they are intended and to provide accountability to donors.

Therefore, any large scale food operation now hinges on the Heng Samrin government allowing the agencies to monitor their programs, say agency officials waiting for the go-ahead. They see the trip by OXFAM officials as a hopeful sign.

"If they are allowed to monitor distribution, that is an important, and positive sign," said Ed McWilliams, a State Department official.

Mobil Oil denies allegations made by service station operator in Dallas

By TOM DECOLA

DALLAS (AP) — With gasoline lines all but evaporated, service station operators are beginning to compete again, and one Mobil dealer says his supplier is pressuring him to sell all of his increased allocation.

Jerry Etheredge, operator of Promenade Car Care in the suburb of Richardson, said Mobil told him — in a letter dated May 18 — that the gasoline crisis was temporary.

"We recognize that the current hours reduction is due to a temporary product limitation resulting in gasoline being allocated to your location," Etheredge quoted the letter as saying. "However, when your location's allocation permits, or when supply limitations are removed, we fully expect a return to your hours of operation (as contained in the station lease)."

"The minute I got the letter, I was enraged," Etheredge said. He said the letter noted that a Mobil representative had already talked with him about the situation. "That never happened," Etheredge said. "I told them that never happened, and they said, 'Jerry, just be advised that you got the letter.'"

Etheredge said he is receiving 97 percent of the gasoline delivered to him in August 1978, up 12 percent since the beginning of August.

He also contended Mobil's prices are too high and that the company is insensitive to dealers' problems by demanding increased sales.

"The prices are so high to dealers at present, that if we added the Department of Energy allowance of 15.4 percent (profit), that puts us at more than a dollar a gallon for super unleaded right here in Dallas," he said.

Etheredge said the price he must pay Mobil is nearing 79 cents a gallon for regular. "They're going to try to force us to lower our prices and force us to absorb the loss," he said. "They have not done a damn thing to help the dealers."

But Russell Pfaff, Mobil's regional general manager in Chicago, denied Etheredge's allegations.

"Mobil under no circumstances thinks we have a temporary crisis," Pfaff said. He said Mobil charges dealers more than other companies because it provides more fuel. "They (the public) can buy from whomever they please," he said.

Pfaff said Mobil was not "pressuring" dealers to sell their allocations, but was "counseling" them to do so in the interests of base allocation stabilization.

Some dealers already have lowered gasoline prices, but most dealers agree the new competition won't go as far as an all-out "gas war."

"We are very cognizant of the fact of what others are charging," said Sam Davis of Arapahoe Village Mobil in Richardson. "There's no wholesale price cutting yet, but some are beginning to watch it."

"I've dropped nine a cent to make them more in line," said W.W. Hughes of Dallas.

Pat Carbone, local spokesman for the Texas Service Station Association, said a real price war would have to be triggered by major oil companies and not by independent dealers.

Carbone said major companies in the past have lowered prices at company-owned stations, forcing independents to do the same to compete.

That contention is disputed by oil company spokesmen, who say they are required by law to charge independents the same price they charge company-owned stations.

"You won't see gas wars as long as there is a shortage," said Max Nalley of Exxon. "Nobody will cut prices on a short supply."

Pricing isn't the only way to compete, though, as some dealers have pointed out. Some have decided to try to woo customers by giving them better service.

Brown keeps subsidiary

Tom Brown Inc. of Midland has announced that its board of directors has decided not to dispose of its drilling tool and drill collar subsidiary, Oconor Corp.

The decision to keep Oconor was based on re-evaluation of the Houston-based firm's earnings potential in relation to revised future budgeted capital outlays, improved operating results since March 31 and changes in the outlook for the domestic oil and gas industry, a spokesman said.

Tom Brown Inc. also announced that its income for the first quarter ended March 31 reflect the reclassification of Oconor as a continuing subsidiary.

On the reclassified basis, Tom Brown Inc. had consolidated net income in the 1979 first quarter of $642,379 or 6 cents a share, after consolidation of Oconor's loss, net of income tax benefit, of $295,050 or 3 cents a share.

This compares with reclassified earnings of $703,800 or 7 cents a share, after consolidation of Oconor's loss, net of income tax benefit, of $252,655 or 2 cents a share, in the comparable 1978 first quarter.

In the second, third and fourth quarters of the prior fiscal year, Oconor Corp. had operating losses net of income tax benefit of $482,410 or 5 cents a share; $464,532 or 5 cents a share, and $870,084 or 9 cents a share, respectively.

U.S. Department of Energy commits one more big goof

By STEPHEN FOX

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Department of Energy cannot enforce maximum allowable retail prices for gasoline because it doesn't conduct thorough surveys, says the publisher of an authoritative oil marketing letter.

Dan Lundberg, publisher of the Lundberg Letter, said Wednesday that the government checks only 6,500 of the nation's 175,000 service stations each month and conducts those surveys by mail. His staffers, he said, check 16,700 stations in person every two weeks.

DOE has acknowledged it released erroneous pricing information for 20 American cities earlier this week. After criticism from gasoline retailers, the department said it would issue a revised list today.

"The Department of Energy is out there in a vacuum creating their own data," said Lundberg. "Our sample is 16,700 stations. There is one and only one definitive source for prices and it happens to be in the private sector. Our stuff is definitive."

The DOE price list published Monday brought angry protests from service station operators complaining that motorists were using outdated figures based on erroneous wholesale prices to accuse them of price gouging. Jay Thompson, the DOE official in charge of compiling the list, said Wednesday he did not know how the figures were computed.

"The first one that went out was a prototype and I don't know the sources that went into it," Thompson said. He said the list to be issued today would be compiled with the aid of information from major oil firms. However, several oil industry sources said they might not be willing to give DOE the data it sought, and said independent dealers would not be covered by information from the major firms.

Among the errors in the original list was a maximum Los Angeles retail price for regular leaded gasoline sold by Union Oil. Union officials said the company doesn't sell regular leaded in Los Angeles.

James Peterson, the DOE official whose department sends monthly price questionnaires to some 6,500 service stations, said the resulting information is "30 to 40 days old" by the time it is processed. He said he did not know if the data was used to compile the list issued Monday.

Suit termed 'hot potatoes'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Carter urged former Attorney General Griffin Bell not to join in a controversial anti-trust suit against the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, the judge in the case has said from the bench.

U.S. District Court Judge A. Andrew Hauk, who is to hear final arguments today, disclosed Wednesday he had discussed the case with Bell during a chance meeting at Palm Springs, Calif.

He said Bell called the case "hot potatoes."
"I wanted amicus curiae (friend-of-the-court) briefs from the State Department, Energy Department and the Treasury Department on this sort of thing," the judge declared.

"I even asked the attorney general at Palm Springs. I said, 'Mr. attorney general,' and he said, 'Call me Griff.' 'Griff,' I said, 'Why didn't you file a brief in this case?' Hauk recalled. He said, 'You got hot potatoes on your hands.'"

Hauk said Bell then explained that the Justice Department wanted to file a brief in the case, "but the president didn't want us to."

Hauk later indicated he is reluctant to take jurisdiction in the unique suit filed by the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers to stop price fixing by the oil cartel.

He commented further after a witness testified that the U.S. government had agreed 19 years ago to billion-dollar price increases by OPEC.

"It's a strong indication to this court that I shouldn't be sticking my judicial nose into the federal government or the Carter administration," he said, "because if I do, I'll have it slipped off."

Morris A. Adelman, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology economics professor, said a 1960 agreement allowed multinational oil companies to pass along OPEC price increases to American consumers with Washington's blessing.

"The OPEC nations' price raising through tax increase and output restrictions was approved by the United States government," Adelman said in a written report submitted to the court.

Adelman, appointed by Hauk as an expert witness to assist him in the case, testified in the third day of hearings.

The OPEC suit, filed last December by the IAM, claims oil exporting countries violated the Sherman Antitrust Act by fixing prices for their crude. It contends the OPEC nations are subject to U.S. laws because they do business in this country, a legal interpretation Hauk has not yet accepted.

Four WT counties gain locations for wildcats

NRM Petroleum Corp. of Midland staked a wildcat in Pecos County, William E. Hendon Jr. of Midland announced plans to re-enter a wildcat failure in Glasscock County, and Terrell Oil Co. of Hamlin staked a wildcat in Fisher County.

Also, Fort Worth Production staked a Reagan wildcat, and Gulf Oil Corp. spotted a Crockett wildcat.

PECOS PROJECT
NRM No. 1 Spinner will be drilled as a 5,200-foot wildcat in Pecos County, 16 miles south of Imperial.

The prospector is 467 feet from north and 3,450 feet from west lines of section 2, block 213, F. M. Myers survey and one and five-eighths miles southeast of the Double L (Fusselman oil) pool.

GLASSCOCK RE-ENTRY
William E. Hendon Jr. No. 1 Brunson is the Glasscock re-entry. Originally drilled by K. M. Jastrow as No. 1 Brunson and plugged in 1969 at 11,200 feet.

Hendon will drillout to 9,500 feet for tests as a wildcat. The site is adjacent to a 3,685-foot dry hole plugged in 1974, and three miles northeast of the WZB (Grayburn oil) pool.

Location for No. 1 Brunson is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 33, block 35, T-2-S, T&P survey and 14 miles northwest of Garden City.

FISHER PROJECTS
A wildcat and field project were reported for Fisher County.

Terrell Oil Co. will dig No. 1 Bonds & Griffin as a 4,800-foot wildcat seven miles northwest of Hamlin.

It is surrounded by production in the Pardue multipay field and one mile east of the one-well Velta (Canyon) field.

The location is 1,263 feet from south and 1,377 feet from west lines of section 203, block 1, BBB&C survey.

J. B. Terrell Jr. of Hamline spotted location for a southeast offset to the Velta (Canyon) discovery, seven miles northwest of Hamlin.

Scheduled for a 4,800-foot bottom, it is No. 1 Arlie Cassie, 330 feet from north and 1,263 feet from west lines of Matthew Yopp survey.

ANDREWS TESTER
Maralo, Inc., of Midland No. 4-2 W. H. Sloan is to be dug as a 10,200-foot project in the Deep Rock (Pennsylvanian and Devonian) pool of Andrews County, 4.5 miles west of Andrews.

The location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 4, block A-43, psl survey.

It is 1/2 mile south of Devonian production and one location east of Pennsylvanian production.

No. 4-2 Sloan will be tested as a wildcat in the upper horizons.

REAGAN WILDCAT
Forth Worth Production Co. staked No. 1-BR University as an 11,500-foot explorer three miles southwest of Texon in Reagan County.

It is one and five-eighths miles northwest of the Gunnx (Strawn oil) pool and the same distance southwest of the Texon, West (Spraberry) pool.

The site is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 1, block 29, University Lands survey.

Earnings set record

Sales and earnings for the fiscal year ended June 30 were at the highest level for any fiscal year in Elcor Corp.'s history, Roy E. Campbell, president of the Midland-based company, said.

Income before extraordinary items increased 22 percent to $5,752,000 or $1.42 per share from $4,707,000 or $1.17 per share. Net income increase to $9,753,000 or $2.41 per share from $9,227,000 or $2.30 per share in fiscal 1978.

Sales and revenues of $146,002,000 were up from $140,837,000 last year.

Fourth quarter income before extraordinary items was $1,839,000 or 46 cents per share — 33 percent higher than $1,380,000 or 34 cents per share for the year-earlier fourth quarter. Net income of $2,259,000 or 56 cents per share compared with $2,706,000 or 67 cents per share for the prior year quarter.

Fourth quarter income before extraordinary items benefited from a lower federal income tax provision resulting from use of investment tax credits. Sales and revenues of $35,369,000 compared with $35,940,000 in the same period a year ago.

Sixty-one oil, gas projects scheduled in RRC's District 8

The Permian Basin areas of West Texas and southeast New Mexico gained 132 new oil and gas operations last week, including 25 wildcats and 106 field operations.

The Railroad Commission of Texas' District 8 headquarters in Midland processed 61 application requesting permission to drill. Ten of those were requests for wildcat work.

Culberson County gained four of the wildcats, and Andrews, Howard, Mitchell, Pecos, Reeves and Ward each gained one. Crane County led the district in number of field operations with 13. Pecos County was the site for eight tests in proven field areas.

Crockett County in Railroad Commission District 7 lead all Basin counties in number of projects, with 17 field operations and two wildcat tests.

Other District 7 wildcats were in Tom Green, where three were staked, and Coke County which got one.

Viet families flee as violence flares in housing project

DENVER (AP) — A gang of Hispanic youths armed with clubs and a hammer attacked a Vietnamese man and smashed the windows out of his car as new violence flared in a housing project where tensions between the ethnic groups have caused refugee families to flee, police said.

Police and remaining Vietnamese in the area came to the man's rescue before he was seriously injured Wednesday night, authorities said. The beaten man was not identified.

Police reported no arrests. Patrol cars cruised the project during the night, and no new incidents were reported early today.

Nearly all of the 22 Vietnamese families in the predominantly Hispanic low-income housing project had moved out earlier this week after simmering tensions between the two groups broke into violence.

"I don't know where they went," Bernard Valdez, director of the Denver Department of Social Services, said Wednesday.

Some of the Vietnamese left behind identification cards and visas in their haste to get out, a spokesman for the refugees said.

"I don't even know how many there were," Valdez said. "It was somewhat crowded. Many left to move in with friends and relatives, and my understanding is, they would not tell where they were going because they were afraid they would be followed."

The window-breaking confrontation that erupted Monday night capped racial friction between the Vietnamese and Hispanic residents of the area known as the "Projects" that had been smoldering for nearly six months.

The tensions result from cultural and language differences, and one economically deprived group's jealousy and frustration over the arrival of another such group, authorities say.

"For years, there has been a strain on services...waiting lines for housing, social services. You have problems existing. Then you compound a situation that is not working well by interjecting another ethnic group also in need and a competitive situation arises," said state Rep. Rich Castro, whose district includes part of the troubled area.

It was the second violent confrontation in recent weeks involving Vietnamese who have fled their homeland for the United States.

Long-simmering tensions between refugees and local fishermen, shrimpers and crabbers in Seadrift, Texas, came to a head earlier this month when a crabber was shot to death. Two Vietnamese were charged in the slaying, and four Vietnamese boats and a house were subsequently firebombed.

Two arbitrators from the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of San Antonio have been attempting to patch up the feud through the church's resettlement program and the U.S. Catholic Conference.

An estimated 200,000 Vietnamese have resettled in the United States since the end of the Vietnam War.

There are more than 400,000 boat people in camps in Southeast Asia awaiting resettlement after fleeing their homelands. The United States recently agreed to accept 220,000 additional Indochinese refugees, most of them from Vietnam.

development in Denver, Colo. Meanwhile, an unidentified Vietnamese woman, right, carries a handful of personal belongings as she crosses a street near the Lincoln Park

Growing number of states naming poets laureate

By The Associated Press

"The governor came into my office one day. We talked about poetry and things in general. It turned out he was just sizing me up."

The governor was Jimmy Carter of Georgia. The year was 1974, and the man who was being "sized up" was Dr. John Lewis, a plastic surgeon whom Carter decided to name as Georgia's state poet laureate.

Lately, a growing number of states have been naming poets laureate. What's more, they're starting to make their choices more seriously.

A spot check shows that 17 states currently have designated poets laureate, seven more than a survey by the Council of State Governments found in 1974. And two other states, Florida and Nebraska, say they are searching for poets to fill the spot.

Strictly speaking, a poet laureate is defined as a person formally proclaimed as the finest poet in the land. But until very recently, the ranks of state poets laureate were filled almost entirely with what one noted poet calls "hobbyists" — persons who pass the time as poets about as competently as others play chess.

But to the surprise of some serious poets who generally had spurned the post as a bit of a joke, there are now some distinguished poets among the state laureates.

Lucille Clifton was named poet laureate of Maryland in August. The 43-year-old poet has published three volumes of poetry: "Good Times," "Good News About the Earth," and "An Ordinary Woman."

In Illinois, where Carl Sandburg once held the honor, the current poet laureate is Gwendolyn Brooks. She won a Pulitzer Prize in 1950 for a ballad called "Annie Allen."

Richard Eberhart, an emeritus professor at Dartmouth and 1966 Pulitzer Prize winner who has published more than a dozen poetry books, will become New Hampshire's poet laureate in November.

Eberhart's best-known poem may be "The Groundhog," which explores the theme of how time ravages the human condition. The first stanza sets that train of feeling:

In June, amid the golden fields
I saw a groundhog lying dead.
Dead lay he; my senses shook,
And mind outshot our naked frailty.

Study says refugee problem shows no signs of abating

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional study says there may be nearly 11 million refugees in the world and international efforts to help them are "haphazard, inconsistent and badly coordinated."

The study, conducted by the Library of Congress for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., concluded that "the crisis shows no sign of abating... and the number of refugees will probably rise markedly over the next few years."

It recommended that the United Nations convene a world conference on refugees to find ways of easing the problem. The report also suggested the designation of an "International Refugee Year."

While some estimates have put the number of refugees as high as 13.3 million, the study calculated the figure as being between 8.1 million and 10.9 million, with people fleeing their homes in 37 countries.

As many as 4 million people have been uprooted in the Middle East and North Africa, including about 3.4 million Palestinians, the study said, and up to 3.5 million people have been displaced in Africa.

It estimated the number of Asian refugees at 1.3 million, and said that most of them had fled homes in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Refugees from Latin America could total as many as 1.9 million, and from Eastern Europe, 104,445, according to the study.

The study said the burgeoning refugee population has put a heavy burden on international and voluntary agencies and countries of asylum.

"The international machinery dealing with this crisis has proven inadequate for the task," the study said.

"The international community has increasingly perceived that the problems of refugees are international, but it has been reluctant to accept the refugee problem as permanent and to treat it as a legitimate long-term responsibility of the international community. Thus, aid to refugees remains ad hoc and largely haphazard," it said.

Man charged with armed robbery

A 23-year-old man was arrested Wednesday in Fort Worth and charged with the recent armed robbery of a Midland convenience store, officials said today.

Paul Dee Nobles, released from the U.S. Navy about two months ago, was arrested about 3:30 p.m. at his parents' home in Fort Worth following a stakeout by state and local law enforcement authorities, Midland police said.

Nobles was expected to be transferred to Midland sometime today, officials said.

The Wednesday arrest of Nobles was the result of a week-long investigation by Detective Sgt. Jerry Compton of the Midland Police Department, Sgt. Don Roberts of the Department of Public Safety criminal intelligence division and Ranger David Burns of the Texas Rangers, officials said.

The investigation began to solidify when, police said, when a pickup noticed by witnesses near the scene of an armed robbery last week was spotted several days later in Midland by a patrol officer.

A check of the vehicle registration indicated the pickup had been reported stolen earlier in the month in San Marcos by Nobles' ex-roommate, police said.

Further investigation determined that Nobles was expected to fly into Fort Worth sometime Wednesday, officials said. Acting on that information, police staked out the house where Nobles was arrested, police said.

the Alaska State Library at Juneau.

Ms. Nickerson, Ms. Clifton and Ms. Brooks are the only three state laureates listed by Poets and Writers, a group of about 5,000 American poets who have published at least 10 poems in three or more literary magazines since 1960. Listing by the group is voluntary.

The poet laureate of Kentucky, Jesse Hilton Stuart, recipient of numerous poetry prizes over the years, has also written a number of works for young people, including the famous "The Thread That Runs So True." The laureate title is also held in Kentucky by two lesser known poets, Lilli Chaffin and Agnes O'Rear.

William Edgar Stafford, poet laureate of Oregon, won the National Book award in 1963 for a book called "Down in My Heart."

Poets laureate in the remaining states are somewhat lesser known. They include:

William Young Elliott of Alabama; Henry Thomas Voltz of Louisiana; Louise McNeill of West Virginia; E. Jean Lanyon of Delaware; James Larkin Pearson of North Carolina, who will be 100 in September; Henry R. Martinson and Lydia O. Jackson of North Dakota; Maggie Culver Fry of Oklahoma; Lily Peter of Arkansas; Dorothy B. Elfstrom of Texas, and Pek Gunn of Tennessee.

Only two get any pay. The poet laureate of Maryland can receive up to $1,000 a year to cover expenses, and West Virginia pays its poet laureate $900 a year.

As to what a poet laureate does, Sheila Nickerson of Alaska says it is a "purely honorary position. I have absolutely no job description and no obligations."

Pek Gunn in Tennessee occasionally is commissioned to write poems for significant state occasions.

Dr. Lewis in Georgia takes a day off each week from his plastic surgery to travel to schools to interest youngsters in poetry. His specialty is children's poetry and light verse.

Oregon's Stafford says, "They explicitly said there would be no official duties. Everyone has been careful not to ask me to do anything."

Stafford says he's been poet laureate of Oregon for five years or so, he doesn't know for sure.

"When you're sitting around wearing laurel wreaths, you miss the passing of time."

Midland College preregistration running ahead of last year

Preregistration for the fall semester at Midland College is running ahead of last year's count.

Registrar Dee Windsor said 1,675 persons had preregistered through Wednesday, which is about 100 above the count for the same time last year.

Only three more days remain to preregister, Windsor pointed out. The early counseling and preregistration closes Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Persons planning to attend Midland College for credit courses this fall are encouraged to preregister to save time. Preregistration is handled in the Office of Student Services in the Administration Building weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Registration is set for Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 29 and 30, in the Physical Education Building. Hours of registration are 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 4:30 to 8 p.m. both days.

"Students who aren't able to preregister should report to the P.E. Building between 6 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Thursday, and we will handle all their preregistration and registration activities at that time," Windsor said. "There won't be any registration activities Friday, and after Thursday night students will have to pay a late-registration fee."

Classes for the fall term start Tuesday, Sept. 4. Midland College will be closed Sept. 3 in observance of Labor Day.

Persons who need additional information about registration or classes being offered this fall may call 684-7851, extension 166.

A&P hopes to revive profits with new discount food store

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., hoping to striking a blow against inflation while reviving profits, plans to open a new subsidiary featuring discount foods.

Plus Discount Foods, modeled after a German counterpart, was to open today; carrying items with prices cut to about two-thirds of the costs of items in regular supermarkets, said A&P president David Morrow.

"We are not targeting the convenience stores," he said. "We are after the conventional supermarkets."

The new stores will cut costs by stocking products in only one size, according to Fritz Teelen, president of Plus stores. Customers will be required to select their purchases from shipping cartons and pack their groceries in boxes, which the stores will provide. If they want paper bags, it will cost an additional 3 cents per sack.

The new stores will offer mostly its own brand name, and few convenience services, Morrow said. No coupons will be redeemed and no checks will be cashed.

Daniel Doherty, a company spokesman, said Plus is part of a redevelopment program the firm began five years ago.

A&P, struggling to stay in the food store market, was placed under new management in 1974 and the corporation drastically cut the number of stores from 3,500, Doherty said. The world's third largest supermarket chain now operates about 1,500 stores in 30 states and Canada.

Leonard Bernstein

Mae West

Names in the news

NEW YORK (AP) — Mae West is making her debut next week as a huckster in a radio commercial, or, as she puts it, "breaking my vow of commercial chastity."

The wise-cracking stage and screen actress has signed for several 30-second commercials for Poland Spring Water, premiering in California, it was announced Wednesday.

Miss West claims to be 86 years old — on the rare occasions when she will discuss her age. In her first commercial scheduled for showing Tuesday, she kids herself on the subject of age by saying:

"I've been drinking Poland Spring Water for about — hmm — 20 years. Started when I was four."

"I'm just crazy about it," she says of the product. "... I invited the boys from Poland Spring to come up and see me some time — and they did. The rest, as they say, is history."

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — Conductor Leonard Bernstein says he's putting up his baton — at least for a year — to concentrate on composing.

"I've promised myself, no I've even sworn, that I won't lift my baton for the entire year 1980," Bernstein, the former music director of the New York Philharmonic, told reporters Tuesday evening during a break in the Salzburg Festival, where he is conducting both the Israel Philharmonic and the Vienna Philharmonic orchestras.

He said he needs a whole year free from conducting to think clearly about composing his own music.

"What will come out I don't know. But I don't think it will be a symphony. An opera, maybe. A cello sonata. Or perhaps a flute piece. There are so many things I've never written. It might even be something very modest."

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton advises aspiring comics to keep their acts clean and says they should give the profession the "same dedication as a monk."

Many comics become "victims of laughter" and resort to dirty language and off-color jokes "just for the big laugh," the 66-year-old comedian told a group of aspiring entertainers Wednesday during a one-day clown class at Radio City Music Hall.

If a clean act doesn't go over, he advised, "add a little class and make it look like you're leading the parade if you're run out of town."

ELSNORE, Denmark (AP) — Hamlet was done in by more than a sword when a gala performance of the Shakespearean tragedy by Britain's Old Vic theater company in the courtyard of historic Kronborg Castle was washed out by a rainstorm.

Thunder and lightning Wednesday night added drama to the encounter of Hamlet, played by Derek Jacobi, with his father's ghost on the battlements. But the cloudburst halted the production in the first act, long before Ophelia, played by Jane Wymark, would have been drowned in the play.

The dampened audience of 2,000, headed by Queen Ingrid, the Queen Mother and Prime Minister Anker Joergensen, streamed out of the castle.

MOSCOW (AP) — Two returned Soviet cosmonauts said that during their 175-day flight "we were so close to the stars that it seemed we could reach out and touch them," the Tass news agency reports.

Vladimir Lyakhov and Valery Ryumin, who returned to Earth Sunday, acknowledged that occasionally they may have had irritable words with each other during the long flight, "but each of us hastened to say a nice word, a joke and all was cleared up," Tass said Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the two men are building up their space-weakened muscles through daily gymnastic exercises and jogging, the news agency said.

When you buy a used car, what else do you get besides the car?

In a good restaurant, when you buy a dinner, you get more than just food. You get service, a pleasant atmosphere, and a feeling that the owners would like you to come back.

It's the very same way that we like to sell used cars. Since our reputation is more "on the line" when we sell a used car, you can be sure we'll do everything we can to make our used car customer a satisfied customer.
