Information On OPA Reg'lations To Be Given

Full information on all OPA regulations, both on the ceiling price on cost of living commodities and on consumer services will be given at an all-day OPA clinic in Lubbock on Wednesday, September 30.

The session will be conducted by T. J. Murray, Senior Price Specialist of the Regional OPA office at Dallas, and will be in the east ballroom of Hotel Lubbock, starting at 10 a. m. according to officials of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the clinic.

Complete details of the regulations covering services will be explained at the 10 a. m. meeting. Other items to be discussed include: special schedules on pricing fall and winter clothing; toys and miscellaneous seasonal articles; new price formulas for certain food products; methods of establishing and posting ceiling prices; records to be filed and those to be kept in the store; and provisions for adjustments where the retailer's ceiling price is abnormally out of line with other retailers.

The afternoon will be given over to conferences with individual merchants who need to have special price regulation problems explained and clarified. It was announced.

Since the OPA is starting immediately an inspection and check of all retailers, and others who are under the price ceiling regulations, it is declared that roughly within all features of the regulations—and thus avoid any embarrassment and unpleasantness when they are checked by the OPA inspectors.

Albert Ramm Enlists In Army

Heeding the call of the U. S. Army Air Forces for men with mechanical or radio technical experience or ability, Albert Ramm of Muleshoe, has been enlisted by the Lubbock Army Flying School to become an aviation mechanic.

He will be given a brief course in aviation mechanics as soon as he has completed the processing at Fort Sill, Okla., then will be ready for assignment to duty on the flying line maintaining the planes at this advance twin-engine bomber training school.

Men with mechanical or radio experience interested in enlisting directly into the Air Forces should see Capt. W. H. Marschner or Lt. W. C. Freeman, technical procurement officers respectively at the Lubbock and South Plains Army Flying Schools.

LETTER CONFIRMS DEATH OF EDWARD LATCHFORD BEGGS

The following letter from Capt. A. G. Robinson, commander of the USS Marblehead, to Mrs. E. L. Beggs, wife of Edward Latchford Beggs, confirms the death of Mr. Beggs on February 4, 1942.

Edward Latchford Beggs was killed in action in the battle of the Java Straits, one of the fiercest battles the U. S. Navy had ever been engaged in to that time. After the battle, the Japanese announced that the Cruiser Marblehead was sunk but months later it limped into an East Coast Navy yard. The story of its fight and the trip it made to the States has never been given in full, but when it is, there will likely be some more thrilling.

Edward Latchford Beggs was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Beggs, who now live in Madras, Calif. His wife lives at Los Angeles. Mr. Beggs was a member of Mrs. B. Seering, and is known to many in this community.

The letter follows:

Overseas Gifts Wrapped With Care in USO Clubs

Mrs. Maurice T. Moore, Chairman of the USO National Women's Committee, advises the selection of small Christmas gifts for servicemen overseas, and careful packing and early mailing for their prompt delivery. All packages for these American boys on foreign soil are limited to about the size of a shoe box.

Because the parcels are subject to censorship, string around them should be long enough to be united by censors, and retied. No perishable matter such as cakes, fruits, soft candies, etc., should be sent and postal authorities specifically prohibit the inclusion of inflammable material. Sharp instruments such as knives or razors should have their edges protected, and all contents of packages should be tightly packed to avoid damage in transit.

Choose wisely: pack carefully, and mail before November 1, is the USO slogan for friends and families of our armed forces abroad.

Ribbons will be awarded as prizes.

All club women are asked to bring one-half gallon or more sweetened fruit juice.

MERION FRANK IRETON MARRIES AT HOUSTON

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Iretton, who live on Route 2, Muleshoe, have received announcement of the marriage of their son, Merion Frank Iretton, to Miss Laurene Stuber, of Houston, Tex.

The marriage ceremony was performed at Houston Thursday, September 17.

The groom, who graduated from Muleshoe high school with the class of 1940, is employed in a Houston shipyard.

Dear Mrs. Beggs: Early last month it was necessary to request the Secretary of the Navy to advise you of the death of your husband, Edward Latchford Beggs, as a result of action with the enemy on February 4.

At the time there was no way in which I could communicate with you, and it was therefore impossible for me to offer my sincere sympathy for your great loss and the assurance of my personal sense of sorrow and regret. Please accept them now.

I was buried with other shipmates who were killed in action in the European Cemetery at Tjilatjap, Java, Netherlands East Indies. Here in a quiet section of this beautiful island, the Netherlands government has set aside an acre for the interment of our heroic dead so that

Launching Of New Aircraft Carrier Spurs Recruiting

The two-week "Lexington" Volunteers recruiting drive, launched by the Navy Department last Monday, is expected to lend stimulus to Naval enlistments for the North Texas district during September and serve to boost the month's total past the goal of 3,800 recruits.

Lieut. L. H. Radouf Jr., officer-in-charge, announced today.

Latest figures show that nearly 2,300 enlistments have been handled at the main station in Dallas, and Lieutenant Radouf pointed out that a whirlwind campaign during the final days of September will bring in the recruits necessary to round out the month's quota of 3,800 men.

To date, total figures for the month include two recruits from Bailey county, where the September quota is seven.

Every man recruited during the two-week "Lexington Volunteer" campaign, prompted by the launching September 22 of a new aircraft carrier bearing that name, will receive certificates which they may keep as mementoes.

Lieutenant Radouf explained that 10,000 more blue-jackets than are ordinarily enlisted nationally during a two-week period are anticipated.

The only thing that distinguishes a sleep-walker from his fellow is that he should be asleep but not walking, and the others should be walking but not asleep.

Teacher Shortage May Be Solved

In an attempt to relieve the teacher shortage situation that has become acute, State Supt. L. A. Woods has authorized a special examination for second-class certificates to be given October 16 and 17, 1942.

High school graduates and other qualified people in Bailey county, at least 18 years of age, who are interested, should register with County Supt. Jim Cook by October 1.

Jackets Journey To Morton Friday

A light, inexperienced team of Muleshoe Yellowjackets will go to Morton Friday for their second game of the season. In a game played here last Friday afternoon, the Jackets lost to the Sudan eleven by a score of 13-0.

Only three members of this season's squad has had previous experience. What the locals lack in weight and experience, however, they make up in scrapping ability, and are to be commended for holding the heavier Sudan team to a two touchdown margin of victory.

Starters for the Muleshoe team in last Friday's game were: Loyd Alsip and Paul Gardner; ends: Marvin Hughes and Russell Bryant; tackles: Myron Pool and L. F. Holland; guards: Bruce Horsley; center: Irvin St. Clair; quarterback: Billy Redford; and R. L. Karr, fullbacks; Audric Morris, fullback.

Others who saw service in the game all making good showings were: Billy Gordon, end; James Duncan and Pruitt Goss, tackles; Kenneth Watkins and Doyle Trapp, guards; J. B. Glaze, end; Arnold Washington, halfback.

Peanuts One Of Most Valuable Food Items

There are many people in Bailey county who have small patches of peanuts which may be used for food. To many people, the use of the peanut only as a nut to be eaten between meals, says Miss Lillie Gentry, county home demonstration agent for the A. & M. College Extension Service.

As a matter of fact, the peanut is an excellent source of protein, phosphorus, calcium and iron, and also furnishes the important vitamins B and G. In peanuts, the protein content is greater than in eggs, ham and beef; the carbohydrate content is greater than in potatoes; the calcium content is four times that of beef and flour slightly higher than that of eggs and near that of spinach, while the phosphorus content is higher than in beef and eggs.

Peanuts may be used in beverages, breads, candies, cookies, desserts, main dishes, sandwich fillings and as an oil for deep fat frying.

Why not try to make your own peanut butter? It is easily and economically made by finely grinding four cups of roasted peanuts, mix with eight table-spoons fresh vegetable oil and one and one-fourth teaspoons of salt.

Cream or butter may be substituted for the vegetable oil, but will not stay fresh as long. Keep the peanut butter in a tightly closed jar in a cool place.

Other recipes for using peanuts may be obtained from the county extension office.

FDR Proclaims October 4 Fire Prev'n Week

The week beginning October 4, next, has been designated Fire Prevention Week by proclamation of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In February, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard requested the Extension Service to assume leadership in organizing rural America for defense against destructive fires, and in disseminating information as to ways and means of reducing farm fire hazards. In accepting this responsibility the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service printed 400,000 copies of a leaflet designed as a guide for elimination of fire dangers.

According to Director H. H. Williamson, the number is expected to be sufficient to place one in the home of each farm and ranch family in Texas. The leaflet, titled "Prevent Farm Fires," is in the form of a check sheet listing the more common fire hazards around farm houses and barns and in the farm forests and fields.

"About 250 persons lose their lives in fires on farms and in rural communities of Texas each year," Williamson said. One third or about 83 of this number are children under ten years of age. It is our desire that families use the check sheet as the basis for a complete record of the things to be done around the place to make it safe from fire—to prevent fires starting.

"The farm fire menace is not confined to farm buildings and barns. There are millions of acres of farm forests and pasture lands, especially during the dry weather at the end of summer, which stand ready for ignition. The loss of farm machinery, livestock, cattle feed, buildings, grass and timber, always is serious, but much more serious at this time when replacement cannot be made without using material and manpower needed in the war effort."

Members of the Sophomore class of Muleshoe high school met Monday and elected the following officers for the school year:

President: Billy Redford; vice president: Christine Floyd; secretary-treasurer: Edna Earl Self; reporter: Bill Ed Jones; sergeant-at-arms: Jack Schuster.

Sophomore room mothers are Mrs. Schuster, Mrs. Self and Mrs. Bigham. The sponsors are Mr. Bowman and Mr. Gray.

On behalf of the Lions Club and the scrap iron committee, Williams thanked the elevators of the county for weighing the metal; Higginbotham - Bartlett for the use of their yard; and Joe Cox for the use of his truck in Saturday afternoon's presentation of awards.

The Muleshoe band, under the direction of L. W. Gray, played several numbers prior to the announcement of the contest winners.

SGT. W. H. SHANKS WRITES FROM SUNNY CLIME OF FLORIDA

There is nothing more interesting to the homelands than letters from our boys in the service. On the other hand, these boys enjoy letters from their mothers and friends. So take the hint and write your boy—or your neighbor's boy tonight. We never knew of a service man who got too many letters.

The following is from Sgt. W. H. Shanks of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shanks, who formerly lived on Route 1, Muleshoe. He is a former student at Muleshoe high school, as was his brother, Bert, who graduated here with the class of '41.

I got a three-day pass so I could be absent from my work and went down to the bus station. The buses down here don't run more than about two hours late, and when they do run they're about as crowded as they can be. Sometimes it would get so where there wasn't more than four or five people standing up. Then we would think we were just about empty.

While I was there, I stayed in the Hotel Florida. The original

Democracy Being 'Saved' In Same Old Manner, Says Letter From 'Gen.' Gupton

Well! Well! Look who's here. None other than the "General"—Connie Gupton—writing from "The Land of Sunshine and Alligators." The "General" is at Camp Murphy, Florida, preparing to fight his second war for Democracy, and he gives the home town gang all the low-down on modern procedure:

September 16, 1942. Dear Ole Clyde:

Many thanks for the home town paper. I see a lot of the Muleshoe boys are writing you, so will send you a short account of life in the Army of the World War II, to remake the world safe for the Democrats.

To start in at the beginning, when I enlisted, a veterinarian started to examine me. He asked me if I ever had measles, small pox, St. Vitus dance, etc., and did I ever have fits? I said "No, I never when I stayed over in Clovis too long." Then he said,

"can you see all right?" I said, "Sure. But I'll be cockeyed if I pass."

The Vet said he had examined 140,000 men, and that I was the most perfect physical wreck he had ever seen. Then he turned to a sergeant and said, "Accepted." When I was sent to camp, I guess they didn't think I would live very long. The first fellow I saw wrote on my card, "Signal Corps."

On the second morning they put these clothes on me. What an outfit! As soon as you are in it, you can fight anybody. I can't sit down. My shoes are so big I can't get them on. And what a rain coat they didn't make. And what a rain coat they gave me. Boy, they are just like the ones they issued us in World War I—it just strains the rain. I passed an officer, all dressed up with a fancy belt and sword, but he said "Didn't you notice my uniform?" I said, "Sure. What you kicking about? Look what they gave me."

I landed in camp with $37. In ten minutes I was broke. I never saw so many $3's and 12's on a night, playing No matter what I did, I went broke. Something went wrong even in cards. One time I got five aces, and I was afraid to bet. It was a good thing I didn't. The fellow next to me said, "I bet you're a crooked poker game." The fellow next to me said: "H— this is pinocchio."

Everything is crazy. If you are a cow hand, they put you in the Medical Department. I saw a guy with six kungs. He got so mad he put me out digging a ditch. A little while later he passed and said: "Don't throw that dirt up here." And I said: "Where am I going to put it?" He said for me to dig another hole and put it in there.

Just then a fellow came running up and said: "Lieutenant. Private Jones and me drank a quart of whiskey and he is acting queerly." The Lieutenant said to me: "I bet you're seeing pink elephants." He said: "No. That's the trouble. They're there and he don't see them."

A few days after this, we were shipped down here to Florida. They took us down to Palm Beach and marched us out on the pier, and I had some more hard luck. We had a sergeant that stuttered, and it took him so long to say "Halt" that 27 of us marched off the pier into the ocean. They pulled us out and lined us up. Then the Captain came along and said: "Fall in." I said: "I have been in." He said: "Shut up, or I'll drill you until you're all in."

Just recently we were out in the Everglades here on maneuvers and after three nights of fighting the mosquitoes and alligators, the artillery started to shell us. I was shaking with patriotism. I tried to hide behind a tree, but there weren't enough trees for the officers. The Captain came along and said: "At 5 o'clock H— broke loose, and we would think we were the ones who started the war. The Captain yelled: "Fire at Will." A fellow behind us must have thought my buddy was Will. He fired his gun and shot him in the excitement. On the way to the hospital, he asked them where they were taking him, and they said "We're going to the morgue." He said: "Oh? Well, I'm not dead." They said: "Lay down. Do you want to make a liar out of the doctor?"

So, you see, there isn't much difference in the way we are saving Democracy this time than it was in War No. One.

Here is a brief outline of a day in Camp Murphy: We lie around in bed every morning until 4:55 o'clock. This, of course, gives us plenty of time to get washed, dressed, make the beds, shine our shoes, etc., by 5:10. Then we stand outside while some sergeant tries to guess the names on a sheet of paper the Top has given him. Then we grope our way through the darkness to the mess hall. Here we have a hearty breakfast of unidentified liquid and our choice of white or rye crust.

After gorging ourselves with this delicious repast, we waddle back to the barracks. We have nothing to do then, till 7 o'clock, so we sit around, sweep, scrub and mop the floors wash the windows and pick up cigaret butts and matches within 110 feet of the barracks.

Soon the sergeant comes in and says, "Come out into the Florida sunshine, Kiddies," so we go out and take a few simple calisthenics, such as touching your toes with both feet off the ground and grabbing yourself by the hair of the head, and holding yourself at arm's length.

At 8 o'clock we put on our light packs, and start walking out over the sands of Southern Florida. Light packs are not to be confused with heavy packs. The light packs include a gun, bayonet, canteen, fork, knife, spoon, cup shaving kit, pup tent, raincoat, fire extinguisher, cartridge belt, first aid kit, tent pins, life preserver and a few other negligible items. (The foot locker goes in the heavy pack, and if you don't have room for it, you can carry it under your left arm—the same arm you carry your raincoat. Of course, if it is NOT raining you wear your raincoat, but if it is raining, you carry it folded neatly over your left arm.)

With my light pack, I weigh 233 pounds. When I left Muleshoe, I weighed 130 pounds. So you see how easy it is to gain weight, playing and romping in the sunshine of Florida.

An observation car follows us as we trek over the sand dunes and picks up the guys who faint. The boys who fall out are treated very well. They get six months in the Mill, but they have to face a court martial. At the infirmary, all patients are divided into two classes. 1. Those with colds. 2. Those with athlete's foot. If you have a cold, you get your throat swabbed with iodine. If you have athlete's foot, you get your feet swabbed with iodine. Anyone who claims he has anything else is sent to the guard house for impersonating an officer.

I am very popular at the infirmary, as I told them I have both a cold and athlete's foot. In reality, I have gastric ulcers, but I know when to keep my mouth shut.

Well, this is about all I have to write you now, but I bet you have hominy and prunes for supper. Oh, Boy!

Pvt. Connie D. Gupton, Co. I, 801st Sig. Ser. Reg. Camp Murphy, Fla.

Simple Clothing Here Apparently Here For Duration

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — Because cloth has many military uses, consumers need to forget "keeping up with the Joneses" and return to sturdier, more simple clothing for the duration of the war.

This is the advice brought by Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, clothing specialist for the A. and M. College Extension Service, from a conference on wartime clothing problems held recently in Birmingham, Ala. Consumers also will profit by buying better materials which will last longer and by insisting that labels in clothing give more definite information.

Some military uses for cloth, other than clothing, include camouflage nets, food and feed bags, tarpaulins, mattresses, hammocks, bandages and surgical dressings, bed linens, towels and tents. Because of these needs of the armed forces, civilians may expect 25 to 30 percent reduction in available cotton goods. "That means we must streamline our clothes," Mrs. Barnes says.

To dash public lay hopes, skeletons instead of rabbits came out of the big Labor Day stabilization drive. Congress, with a one-way ticket dated October 1, must reach the terminal on time or pull off into a siding for the War Power Special.

Capitol Hill bowed and wavered under pressure groups, elections, and executive lash, debate ways and means for adequate stabilization — not solved by any program extant. Meantime wages are prices soar and lamb chops reach new highs.

Any Congressional midnight oil formula, in the opinion of many, will be acceptable to the White House so long as it conforms to the specifications of the President's original seven-point program.

Drastic civilian product concentration machinery has been set up to speed the war production program. All manufacturers, from baby carriages to caskets, will be affected. Plants converted to war production will be permitted to keep trade marks and brand names alive through advertising on a scale based on previous advertising investments.

WPB has designated two of the twelve concerns that have been making bicycles to produce all bicycles to be manufactured in the United States "for the duration." These may produce a combined total of 10,000 bicycles a month which represents 20 percent of the July-August production of all firms. While trade marks may not be used by either concern under this program, one may use the letter "W" next to its serial numbers and the other "H." No firm will be "permitted to spread its name over the land and in foreign countries" at the expense of those temporarily converted to war production.

While WPB did not attempt to handle the problem of "profit pooling" in the bicycle industry, officials are working on a plan to permit firms which cease manufacture to share the profits of companies permitted to continue. In the bicycle industry, however, was explained that the ten firms which cease making the bicycles will derive profits from the manufacture of munitions, in which they are now engaged.

The following industries are next in line for concentration: clocks and watches, sewing machines, ranges, lamps, vacuum cleaners, farm equipment, pottery, clocks, etc.

Fluorights and batteries, small electric appliances of all types, razor blades and razors, domestic mechanical refrigeration, fractional horsepower motors.

Lawn mowers, ice refrigerators, outboard motors, metal signs, all types of toys, umbrellas, ceramics, electro plating, flatware and hollowware, cutlery, manure entery, mirrors and frames, motion picture film, photographic supplies, kitchen and household utensils, jewelry, musician's goods, hardware supplies, vending amusement, gaming and weighing machines.

Place one teaspoon of sulphur per pound of prepared fruit in a small piece of paper, roll it loosely, and twist the ends. Then place it in a pan. Place the pan below the tray or trays of fruit, so they will not come in contact with the burning sulphur. Light the paper. Then quickly place a tight box or barrel over the trays and the pan. The covering should be tight enough to prevent loss of fumes. Sulphur the pears for three hours.

A home-made stove dryer is best for dehydrating pears, since the temperature can be controlled. The process should be started at 120 degrees F., and finished at 175 degrees F. Miss Gentry says. Pears should be dried until they are rubbery or elastic.

Dry Kieffer Pears Suitable For Drying

Kieffer pears, now abundant over much of Texas, are suitable for drying.

Lillie Gentry, Bailey county home demonstration agent, for the A. and M. College Extension Service, says if you're going to dry them, finish ripening them off the tree for at least 10 days to two weeks. While they ripen, keep them in a cool, dark, well-ventilated place. When the pears are ripe, remove the stem and halve or quarter them. The small-

THIS IS A TYPICAL POLISH AIRMAN fighting with the Royal Air Force. The British Air Ministry announced that the famous Warsaw squadron of the Polish Air Force played a valiant part in the air battle that developed over Dieppe during the recent large command raid on that French port. The announcement said that the Poles destroyed nine German planes. This same squadron, during the battle of Britain, shot down 126 German aircraft.

Every pupil should be here to take his place in the new class to which he will be promoted. Last Sunday saw a good attendance of 110, but not as good as on Rally Day, when we had 141. REV. AND MRS. SHAW ARE HONOREES AT PARTY

An all-church party honoring Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Shaw was sponsored by the Fidelis class of the First Baptist church, of which Mrs. Ray Griffiths is teacher.

First, the congregation sang songs, after which the following class officers were installed: Mrs. Greer, president; Mrs. Wiley Bowers, membership vice president; Mrs. O. D. Ray, stewardship vice president; Mrs. Rufus Gilbreath, fellowship vice president; Mrs. Date Plummer, treasurer; Mrs. Eddie Lane, secretary; Mrs. D. D. Lancaster, reporter; Mrs. Arthur Crow and Mrs. Clinton Bristow, group captains.

Following the candlelight installation service everyone went to the annex for a social hour. Various games were played. Rev. and Mrs. Shaw were judged to be the best artist and the prize was a large amount of well selected food, given by the church members as a token of goodwill to the new pastor and his family. Mrs. Green presided over the tea table and refreshments of punch and sandwiches and cookies were served.

I never saw the use of the sea. Many a sad heart it has caused, and many a sick stomach has it occasioned. The boldest sailor climbs on board with a heavy soul, and leaps on land with a light spirit.

Shanks' Letter—

Detroit Hotel was the first hostelry built in the city, and was so named in honor of Gen. James C. Williams, who founded the city in the 1880's after coming to Florida for his health from his native city, Detroit, Mich.

I was intending to send a picture of Bert and myself, but none of the ones we took were good. I imagine you have about all of the service men's pictures you can print anyhow. The city of St. Petersburg is a very picturesque place, very nice for picture taking, so we took up a few rolls while we were together. I purposely took my pass over the weekend, so we could visit during Sunday, but what do you think—when I got over there, Bert had to serve on K. P. on the very Sunday that I wanted to see him. Well it just goes to show you—if I had visited him at home, he might have had to gather a crop or something, though.

We have been pretty busy lately. They've launched a new program of close order drill, rifle drill, and so on. It seems that if one thing won't keep us busy they think of something else.

Maybe I'll write again sometime if the Japs or Nazis don't get me.

Sincerely yours,

Sgt. W. H. Shanks

Letter Confirms—

they may lie together in beautiful surroundings, in a sense under American soil, and as a memorial to their high courage and ideals.

A military funeral was held with escorts from both the American and Netherlands forces, and both Protestant and Catholic services were conducted by Chaplain Rentz of the U. S. S. Houston and Father Widenbusche of Tiltajpat.

His grave is clearly and appropriately marked.

We had served together in this ship for five months, and consequently he was well known to me. During the strained months that preceded the outbreak of hostilities and in the difficult period of war service that preceded, his courage, cheerfulness and resolute performance of duty were constantly observed and admired by all his shipmates, among whom he had a great number of very close friends.

Please be assured that, as his Captain, I deeply share your sorrow and sense of loss.

Very sincerely yours,

A. G. Robinson,

"Sure, and it's aisy enough," was the answer. "Ye see, one has got his teeth and the other hasn't. So I sticks my finger in to Pat's mouth, and if he bites I know it's Dennis!"
