New coastal violence feared after acquittals

SEADRIFT, Texas (AP) - Law enforcement officers near this coastal fishing town were placed on alert Saturday amid fears of renewed trouble following the acquittal of two Vietnamese brothers accused of murder in a "crab war" with local fisher-

The town was reported quiet but tense, and a Vietnamese resettlement official said the two young brothers had left the state after the trial ended Friday in Seguin.

Authorities feared the verdict might trigger more reprisals against the town's small Vietnamese community. After the shooting death of fisherman Billy Joe Aplin on Aug. 3, three Vietnamese-owned boats and a Vietnamese house were firebombed and a fifth of the town's 150 Vietnamese "Everything is pretty quiet, but it's a little tense. The fact that the two boys are leaving the state will help the situation quite a bit," he said.

"We're just staying ready. We're not going to make any great show of force. We don't anticipate any problems," he added. The Seadrift situation arose in a dispute between Vietnamese and white fishermen over local fishing customs. Aplin, 35, was gunned down during a dockside argument with Nguyen Van Sau, 21, a former South Vietnamese marine who became a Sau, 21, and his 20-year-old brother, Nguyen Van Chinh, were charged with murder after the shooting.

Sau was found innocent by the jury Friday, a day after Chinh was acquitted by the judge. The trial had been moved 90 miles inland to Seguin because of tensions in Seadrift.

Defense attorneys said the 5-foot-5, 115-pound Sau acted in self-defense against a backdrop of racial hatred after the 6-1, 200-pound Aplin had repeatedly threatened to kill the Vietnamese if they did not leave the tiny

Klan parade draws hostile crowd

DALLAS (AP) - A robed group of more than 30 members of the Ku Klux Klan paraded through downtown streets for the first time in almost 60 years Saturday, jeered by spectators and protected by helmeted police.

Three young men, disgruntled by Klan chants of "White Power," were The Klansmen, calling for the "The Right to Bear Arms" and "No More Related story and photo, Boat People," encountered a hostile crowd along the 11/2-mile parade

About three dozen police, wearing riot helmets and wielding billy clubs, quickly surrounded the group as hundreds of blacks walked beside the KKK, shouting "Blacks are here to stay" and "Go back to Germany." Two men were arrested for disorderly conduct, and one heckler was charged with inciting a crowd, according to Chief John Driscoll.

A counter-demonstration by several anti-KKK groups which merged to form the Coalition for Human Equality was staged shortly after the KKK march ended abruptly.

A Klan meeting scheduled to be held at a downtown hotel Saturday night fizzled when only four Klansmen arrived an hour late.

An unidentified Klansman said the meeting was delayed and attendance held down because of a bomb threat called into the hotel and because several members had received threatening phone calls during the day.

About two dozen demonstrators that gathered outside had heard the Klan would not appear and dispersed before the meeting began.

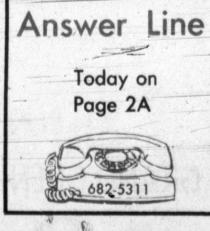

The KKK parade, billed as "The March of the Christian Soldiers," was staged to "save an endangered species - the white race" and to demonstrate opposition to "Communist race

"We're getting up the white Christian army to fight the Communist devils," said Addie Barlow Frazier, 73, Kleagle of the Dallas chapter of the National Knights of the Ku Klux

Saturday's march ended abrubtly as Klansmen were escorted into a tunnel leading to the Dallas County Courthouse, where entrances were barricaded the entrances until a bus arrived. The group was taken to a police station several blocks away to change clothes and disperse.

Originally, the march was to end at Dealy Plaza.

Only three amendments to be decided

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Tuesday is election day in Texas. Not only is this a little known fact among Midlanders, but few people realize the only thing to be decided is the fate of three proposed constitutional amendments.

The three changes in the state constitution were proposed as part of a 12-item package by the last State Legislature. The remaining nine amendments will come before the voters in November 1980. In general terms, the amendments deal with notaries public, state agencies and loan guarantees for purchasing farm and ranch real estate. State Sen. W.E. "Pete" Snelson of Midland, as a member of the Texas Legislative Council, worked on a booklet explaining each amendment and the pros and cons for each. After scrutinizing each amendment, Snelson said he favors two and opposes a

THE FIRST AMENDMENT, Snelson said, is the least controversial of the three. It would authorize the legislature to set terms of office for notaries public at four years and to specify the appointment of each of these persons be done by the state, instead of by each county. Current terms of office for notaries public are two years, and applicants must file with the county clerk's office, which then must forward the application on to the secretary of state's office. Under the proposed change, applicants would file directly with the secretary of state's office. "This eliminates a little red tape in the procedure and cuts out confusion in the public's mind," Snelson commented.

In looking at both sides, the Legislative Council pointed out in its booklet that the amendment would eliminate the convenience and personal contact found in county clerks' offices. It also could increase state control over a function that previously has been handled at the local level.

"It would add to the growing state government bureaucracy," the council contended.

LISTED NEXT ON THE BALLOT, the second amendment has proven to be the most controversial, Snelson

This proposed change would give the State Legislature the authority to review the rulemaking process by agencies in the executive depart-

The senator from Midland explained these agencies are a result of bills passed by the legislature to create boards to govern or administer some facet of the state government. When these agencies are created and the people hired, "you sort of grant some authority to people working in it (agency) and give them some leeway in administering that agen-ey," Snelson said. But in recent years some legislators have become concerned that bureaucrats - or those heading the agencies - are the ones really running govern-

This amendment, Snelson said, would permit the legislature to thwart the action of an agency. "In theory, it has some appeal," he said of the amendment.

"BUT THE PROBLEM is separation of powers, and Gov. (Bill) Clements is opposed to it because it violates the separation of powers doc-

Snelson listed the legislature as having the power to pass laws, the judicial branch the power to interpret those laws and the executive branch the power to administer it. The Texas Legislature meets once every two years, and under such an amendment a committee would have to be selected to review agencies in the off-years. Snelson said this could mean that only a few legislators could decide the fate of an agency. "It would be two years before the entire legislature could speak to the matter," Snelson said. "I feel that the people who work with that agency every day are in a much better position to spell out the rules than some legislative committee."

In it's booklet, however, the Legislative Council reported that the amendment would serve to make the agencies more responsive to the people and would act as a check on the powers of the executive branch.

The third amendment - which Snelson favors - would provide for the guarantee of loans for purchase of farm and ranch real estate for qualified borrowers by the sale of general

1980 campaign will circle calendar

By EVANS WITT

WASHINGTON (AP) - Presidential election day hopefuls already have committed themselves to lots of travel and heavy spending in full-blown campaigns for the White House.

Two Democrats, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., will formally challenge President Carter this week. Ronald Reagan is about to join nine others in the race for the GOP nomination

Thus, before anyone gets a chance to turn the calendar to 1980, 13 candidates will already have undertaken major campaigns. THE PRESIDENTIAL RACE IS ONLY PART of the story next year. Only 13 governships are to be decided in 1980, but the battles for these jobs and for control of state legislatures take on extra significance because state officials will redraw congressional and legislative districts based on the 1980 census.

Because of massive shifts of population to Sun Belt states in the past decade, reapportionment could bring substantial changes in the partisan composition of Congress and the state houses.

At the same time, voters next November willreplace the 96th Congress with the 97th, and so many Democratic-held seats are up that Republicans harbor faint hopes of winning control of the Senate.

The congressional campaign schedule is speeding up, but most members won't know who their opponents will be for six to nine months. On the presidential front, the campaign already is hitting

THE ROAD TO NOV. 4, 1980, IS REMINISCENT of four years ago when voters faced a long list of presidential contenders. This year, though, the largest crowd is seeking the GOP nomination. The Democratic race resembles the 1976 GOP campaign, with an incumbent president facing rough opposition from within his own party.

Candidates are already buying television time and non-binding straw polls are being held in state after Without doubt, the 1980 campaign will be the longest ever.

dipped lower in recent months than for any other GREENWOOD SCHOOL The public's rating of Carter's work in office has trails Kennedy in national polls and sometimes has trailed possible GOP opponents. In contrast, Kennedy has done very well in almost every national poll taken for months. He is far and away the choice of Democrats in most of the polls for the party's nomination and consistently overwhelms potential GOP opponents in mythical matchups in the polls.

THE PRESIDENCY IS NOT WON SIMPLY by doing well in national polls. One must win delegates in state caucuses and in primary elections. The first wednesday — Chicken fried steak with n state caucuses and in primary elections. The first of 35 primaries is scheduled for February in New Hampshire

With Carter's low standing in the polls, Republicans scent an opportunity to recapture the White House. But first they must pick a candidate from their crowded field. Reagan is the clear front-runner in the public opinion, a fact acknowledged as recently as Friday by Sen. Howard H. Baker, one of his rivals. In his near-miss at the nomination in 1976, Reagan built a strong national following that he hopes to use as a foundation for winning the 1980 GOP nod. But there are seven major candidates trying to deny Reagan that victory.

Baker, the Senate minority leader from Tennessee, hopes to ride his national reputation to the nomination. Former Treasury Secretary John Connally hopes to undercut Reagan's conservative support with his forceful approach to problems and his relative youth, Reagan is 68.

George Bush, former U.N. ambassador and onetime CIA director, has been working on his organizations in Iowa and New Hampshire to try to upset Reagan in the first caucuses and the initial prima-

Then there is Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, Gerald Ford's running mate in 1976; Rep. John Anderson of Illinois; Sen. Larry Pressler of South Dakota, and Crane. Also in the running are Los Angeles businessman Benjamin Fernandez and Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota.

TURNING TO OTHER 1980 ELECTIONS, GOP strategists are optimistic about the Senate because 24 of the 34 Senate seats on the ballot next year are is 365 days away, but Democratic and Republican held by Democrats, including some of the most liberal members of that body: George McGovern of South Dakota, Frank Church of Idaho and Birch Bayh of Indiana

Planning to harness the conservative trend that helped defeat several Senate Democrats in 1978, the GOP hopes to retain the 10 Senate seats it has at stake in 1980 while picking up 10 Democratic seats, giving them 51 seats and control. Most political strategists expect the GOP to pick up three to six seats. Not surprisingly, liberals and Democrats take a different view.

"I think we can keep it at a even split," said Tom Baker of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Com-

IN THE VIEW OF SEVERAL POLITICAL PROS, the hottest contests will involve Church, McGovern, Bayh, John Culver in Iowa, John Durkin in New Hampshire, Mike Gravel in Alaska, Richard Stone in Florida and Patrick Leahy in Vermont.

The battles to succeed several retiring senators -Democrat Adlai Stevenson III in Illinois, Republican Richard Schweiker in Pennsylvania and Henry Bellmon in Oklahoma - may also be tough.

The situation in the House is more complex than in the Senate, but even Republican strategists don't expect to reverse Democratic control of the lower chamber, now a 275-159 edge with one vacancy.

Republicans think they will do a lot better in 1980 than in 1978, when they only picked up 12 seats, and Democrats hope to hold any losses to about that

Of the 13 governships up for election next year, Democrats hold 10. Several of those Democrats, including Jay Rockefeller in West Virginia and Joseph Teasdale in Missouri, may face tough re-elec-

FUTURE FOR HOME GAS HEAT

Will there be enough gas to heat my home in the future? This question affects more than half of America's homes, which are heated by gas. The answer is yes - for some Experts estimate that we have at least 35 to as much as 60 years of natural gas supply from convenitonal sources. Gas is certain to play a major role in the U.S. energy picture well into the twenty-first cen-

On the other hand, an extensive energy supply forecast by the U.S. Department of Commerce's Office of Energy Programs predicts a decline of 15% in gas supply from 1977-1986 and about a 35% decline by the year 2000.

During any gas shortage however, government regulations give homeowners priority over industrial and commercial users. Also, industy is now shifting from gas, to other fuels, and this will leave more gas for residential

The one great advantage of gas home heating is that the same heating ducts can also be used for central air conditioning, thus saving money in construction.

A very smelly situation in Hawaii: Public workers' strike continues

HONOLULU (AP) - With smelly garbage piled in the streets and schools closed because of unsanitary conditions, negotiators took a rest break Saturday after a marathon bargaining session aimed at ending a two-week-old statewide strike by public workers.

Henry Epstein, director of the striking United Public Workers union, said the talks were recessed just before 3 a.m. to give bargainers time to sleep after 16 hours of meetings. He said negotiations would resume later in the day.

Asked how the talks were going, Epstein said, "We're in the midst of things and it's very difficult to comment at this point.

Management officials were not availabe for comment.

The meeting in the office of federal mediator Gayle Wineriter was only the second negotiating session since the strike began Oct. 22. Both sides had said they were ready to talk around the clock if progress could be made, but their positions appeared far apart when they began Friday.

So far the walkout has been mostly an inconvenience and irritant for island dwellers, but officials warn that serious health problems could devel-

Only in a communist jargon dictionary can our record be defined as that of an imperialistic nation. Ours is a consistent record of a country that for 200 years has cherished freedom, not only for ourselves but for others as well. It is the American tradition we are proud to teach our children.

To talk of an imperialist nation is to suggest a warlike nation, which the United States certainly is not. The Camp David accords are a classic and truly historic example of the peaceful instincts of our land.

Four killed in anti-Klan rally shooting

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - Two carloads of whites fired with automatic weapons at a communist-sponsored "Death to the Klan" rally Saturday and the four-minute spate of violence left four persons dead and 10 wounded.

Police arrested 14 persons. They said 12 of those claimed to be members of the Ku Klux Klan.

A police spokesman said that each of the 12 self-proclaimed Klansmen were charged with one count of first-degree murder and one count of conspiracy to commit murder. Their names were not

The other two persons arrested were identified as Nelson Johnson, described as one of the organizers of the anti-Klan rally, and Willena Cannon, one of the demonstrators. Johnson was charged with inciting to riot and Ms. Cannon was charged with interfering with an officer.

The assault was apparently an answer to statements made during the summer by the rally's organizer Paul Carl Bermanzohn, a self-described communist. He called the Klan a group of cowards and taunted Klansmen to show up at the rally and "face the wrath of the people."

BERMANZOHN, OF DURHAM, N.C., was wounded in the gunfire and was reported in critical condition in a hospital Saturday night after undergoing brain surgery for several hours.

Another organizer, Thomas Conrad Clark, 28, also of Durham, was also wounded.

Bermanzohn and Clark are white. Police identified the dead as Sandy Smith of Piedmont, S.C., who was black, and Jim Waller, William Sampson and Caesar Cauce, all of Greensboro. The men were white. All were identified as demonstrators.

Police Chief William E. Swing said at a news conference that an automatic rifle and at least one shotgun were used during the shooting.

SWING SAID TWO of the 10 wounded were believed to be Klansmen. He said there was no indication that police officers fired during the confronta-

Swing said they apparently were from the Lincolnton and Hickory areas.

Police said they found four shotguns, five wooden clubs, three pistols, several bottles and chains and an American flag in a yellow van in which several of the men who were arrested had been riding.

BIG SPRING - Big Spring City Manager Don Davis has said petitions are being circulated in that city calling for a referendum on the issue of whether to proceed with the city's plans to finance improvements at the sewage plant.

Davis said city officials are being accused of selling the public "a bill of goods" in regard to improvements at the sewage plant.

The city manager said he became aware of the accusations during a Thursday meeting with city councilman Larry Miller. Miller reportedly told Davis about the petitions being circulated.

Davis said the first objection being made is that plans for the improvements have been overdesignated and that specifications exceed what is necessary to meet state requirement standards. The other issue, he said, is that the public and the city council were led to believe that the specifications were designed only to meet state requirements. A bid by Delco Corp. of Dallas included a list of items called deductible alternatives which the city has the option to drop from final plans. Dropping those items would save the city about $366,000. The bid tabulation and formulation were never formally presented to the council and members in the matter, according to Davis.

Cattle grading demonstration set Tuesday at livestock auction

By CHARLES W. GREEN Midland County Extension Agent - Agriculture

Cotton harvest is in full swinng in Midland County. The dry fall conditions have contributed to the maturity and opening of cotton, which is permitting one of the earliest harvest seasons in several years. Generally, producers are very pleased with the yields being harvested, and barring weather losses, the crop from the standpoint of total bales could be a record for the county.

PROPOSED CHANGES in the USDA feeder cattle grade standards were approved by the industry, recorded in the federal registry and officially placed in effect Sept. 2, 1979. The Agricultural Marketing Service and Market News Service are now using the new grade designations in market reporting of feeder cattle prices and certifying the grade of feeder cattle delivered on futures contracts.

The Midland County Extension Livestock and Range Committee, in association with Southwestern Livestock Auction, will prsent a program and demonstration of the new grades at the regular livestock. auction sales Tuesday, Nov 6. Dr. Nelson Adams, area extension livestock specialist from Fort Stockton, will show a set of slides explaining the new grades and how and why they were developed. He then will grade live cattle lots as they move through the acution ring. The program will start around noon at the opening of the sales. Midland and area livestock producers are invited to attend the demon-

Auctioneers at Sotheby's estimated the value of the skulls at between $125 and $207 apiece. A catalogue said two were of American Indians, four of Australian aborigines, one was from Canada's Savage Island and one was from New Guinea.

Labor Party legislator Bruce George said he complained to Sotheby's and hoped the Indian skulls would be offered to the tribes from which they

"It is bad enough to steal the land of the Indian people and then to kill them, but it is outrageous that we should want to profit from the sale of their remains," he said.

Archie Dennis Jr.

Whether Archie Dennis Jr. steps to the microphone on stage in front of thousands in Budapest, Hungary as part of the Billy Graham Crusade team or the pulpit of a small country church, it only takes moments to realize that within this man God has birthed a song-a unique song born from his personal experience and daily walk with Jesus Christ.

In July 1972 Dennis accepted an invitation from worldrenowned Billy Graham to perform as guest soloist at the Cleveland Crusade. Since that time he has been a regular guest with many crusades recently returning from his 26th trip abroad. His tours have taken him to Africa, Brazil, Switzerland, Japan, India and the Philippines. Archie will soon be returning to the Royal Albert Hall in London for another engagement as well.

Henry Davis, a product of Howard University in Washington D.C. has been Archie's accompanist for six years and between tours has written some of Archie's best loved songs like "I Believe in God" and "You'll Never Be the Same Again.

Archie's sensitivity to the Spirit of the Lord has been evidenced in the response to this performance all around the world. At the Billy Graham crusade in October 1977 in Cincinnati he received a standing ovation for "God Bless America.

THE THIRD ANNUAL Midland County Pecan Show is set for Nov. 26-27 at Dellwood Shopping Center Mall, Midkiff and Illinois streets. Entries are open to Midland County residents and growers from adjoining counties if they do not have a county show. Anyone with pecan trees, home yard or commercial orchard, may enter. Following are guidelines for selecting nut samples for a pecan show

A grower can enter one sample of each variety which he grows. He can enter as many seedlings, known hybrids or natives as he wishes. Select a group of the largest nuts and from these select 40 to 50 of the heaviest by weighing them individually or putting them in water and selecting those which sink fastest. Select nuts which are free of insect damage

The sample should be representative of the variety and be uniform in size and shell color. Clean the nuts, but do not alter their shape or color. Try not to peel the pecans from the shuck too early. This can result in a discolored shell.

All entries must be received in Nov. 24 at 5 p.m. Entries may be left at the County Extension Office, Room 201, Courthouse Annex, 218 W. Illinois St.; CA&L Pecan Co., Rankin Highway, or the manager's office, Dellwood Mall. The pecans will be processed and judged Monday, Nov. 26, and will be on display in the mall Tuesday, Nov. 27.

Judges will be Dr. Kenneth Lindsey, area extension agronomist, Fort Stockton, and Dr. Michael Kilby, extension horticulturist, El Paso. Morris Davis is serving as chairman of this year's show.

A PECAN PRODUCTION seminar will be held Monday, Nov. 26, at 7 p.m. in the Community Room of Commercial Bank and Trust Co. Drs. Lindsey and Kilby will discuss the following topics:

Update on Pecan Variety Performance in West Texas; Salinity in Irrigation Water and Soil and Its Relation to Pecan Performance, and Delivery Systems for Irrigation Water for Pecans.

There appear to be some exceptional nut crops in Midland County this year. I'd like to encourage entries in our pecan show, and especially from home yard tree owners. The top entries from the countu show go on to the Regional Show for West Texas in San Angelo in December, and winners there go on to the State Show next summer. Midland County entries in the past have done well in regional and state shows, and we expect to continue to do well with the quality of our pecans being generally excellent.

New England retiree builds second career as folk singer

By JON HALVORSEN

SOUTH PORTLAND, Maine (AP) - Kendall Morse can't read a note of music, and he insists he's still learning how to play a guitar after 30 years of practice. As for his voice, even that instrument — somewhere between a tenor and a baritone - has a limited range, he says.

"I told someone I developed it crying for bread when I was a kid" during the Depression, the 45-year-old Morse says in his characteristically slow, deadpan

Yet that strong, simple voice - as plain as the face of the man who owns it - has earned the native of Maine a solid reputation among folk music aficionados in the Northeast. That, and his extraordinary collection of songs and stories.

After 16 years as a conservation officer, first for the state and then for the U.S. Interior Department, Morse retired on a small pension in 1974 because of a bad back. He now makes his home in South Portland, where he repairs cars occasionally 'on popular demand' and from which he ventures out to perform when the mood suits

The crowd warmly applauded and demanded an encore

Morse grew up in Machias, one of nine children, and learned music, by listening to records, particularly those of Burl Ives, and Canadian radio programs. He and his brothers "used to sing while we were digging clams," mostly what we called mountain music or hillbilly music - old, traditional

Sound financial advice: How to invest $1,000

DALLAS (AP) - In these troubled financial times, people are looking for profitable places to put their money.

And several prominent Texans have varied ideas of just what they would do if given $1,000 to invest.

Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Dayis recommends, "Land, rare stamps and Evangelist Lester Roloff says, "I'd invest it in people that everybody else has failed with. My savings are in Heaven.' Gov. Bill Clements says, "Government paper issued through banks."

Two-time gubernatorial candidate Frances "Sissy" Farenthold says, "I've been flying on an airline called Republic, and they really care. I'd buy stock in Killer Bee Lloyd Doggett, a Democratic state senator from Austin, recommends "honey and tennis shoes." San Antonio Mayor Lila Cockrell says, "I would try to find $9,000 more and put it in a money market certificate. Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach says he'd invest that problematical $1,000 in "real estate."

Ruben Bonilla, president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, says he would "establish a $1,000 award in memory of my father, then award

Despite those diverse suggestions, financial experts say the trend seems to be toward investments in tangible assets, such as gold and silver bullion, rare coins, money market certificates and stocks and bonds. Davis, on trial for the second time for the alleged attempted contract slaying of his divorce judge, says several things appreciate faster than inflation. "Land will do that, as well as rare stamps and coins that collectors are interested in. Those things don't ever go down, contrary to the stock market

Clements, who made his fortune in the oil business, says that if he had $1,000 to invest he would put it in commercial paper. "Right now, with the general economic uncertainty, that's as safe as investment with as high a yield as you can get," the governor said.

and gold. Land doesn't normally fluctuate, if you don't pay too much for it. If all I had was $1,000, I wouldn't put it into anything that would fluctuate. Davis adds that he doesn't "fool around with the stock market or those securities that the public is permitted to get involved in.'

Clements, who made his fortune in the oil business, says that if he had $1,000 to invest he would put it in commercial paper. "Right now, with the general economic uncertainty, that's as safe an investment with as high a yield as you can get," the governor said. Clements is right, according to Bill Gall, senior vice president for marketing and public affairs for Dallas' Republic National Bank

Gall says 30-day commercial paper is paying about 13 percent interest. Commercial paper, Gall says, is a short-term negotiable promissory note issued in fairly large denominations by businesses. "It represents a major short-term investment alternative that competes with CDs (certificates of deposit), short-term bonds and this type of thing,"

He added that businesses buy money through a bank as an investor. The businesses pay the banks 11 percent interest. "They will make more on an investment than they will pay us," he said.

Another popular type of investment is a money market certificate. Mrs. Cockrell would make this type of investment with her $1,000. Money market certificates cost a minimum of $10,000. Interest on a six-month certificate is in excess of 12 percent.

Mike Simons, manager of the Dallas Gold and Silver Exchange, says transactions in gold and silver "definitely" have gone up, especially with the skyrocketing price of gold on the world market. "We are doing a lot of business," Simons said. "We are awfully busy, probably because of

Jury convicts ship's commander in collision of Coast Guard cutter

YORKTOWN, Va. (AP) - A military court jury found Chief Warrant Officer Donald K. Robinson guilty Saturday on a reduced charge of dereliction of duty in the collision that sank his Coast Guard cutter and

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating about 12 hours Friday and Saturday. It is to return Monday to hear arguments on what punishment should be imposed. Robinson had been charged with negligently hazarding his vessel, but the charge was reduced by the jury. Punishment for dereliction of duty can range from a finding of no punishment to a maximum of three months in custody, dismissal from the service, and forfeiture of all benefits.

Robinson, 47, was silent as the verdict was announced in the courtroom at the Yorktown Coast Guard Station. He was accused of making a criminally negligent decision when he ordered a turn that resulted in the collision of the cutter Cuyahoga and an Argentine freighter the night of Oct. 20, 1978, in Chesapeake Bay The turn put the cutter in the path of the Santa Cruz II, which rammed the cutter. The Cuyahoga sank within minutes, killing 11 of the 29 crew members and officer cadets aboard.

At least five votes were needed to convict Robinson. Had the jury found Robinson guilty of the original charge, the maximum penalty would have been two years at hard labor and dismissal.

Two captains, a commander and four chief warrant officers - all former ship commanders - made up the panel. Presiding Judge Cmdr. R.A. Appelbaum had told the jury it had to decide if Robinson's actions were reasonable and prudent and whether he was healthy enough to know what he was doing. He told the jury if it found Robinson's actions were caused by physical impairment, it could acquit him.

The jury also was told by Appelbaum it could convict Robinson of a lesser crime of dereliction of duty.

South Koreans bury assassinated president

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Koreans buried their assassinated President Park Chung-hee on Saturday and then turned to the formidable task of deciding whether their country will stay on his authoritarian path or begin a new era of greater

The elaborate six-hour funeral and procession drew more than 2 million people to the streets of the capital, many wailing and crying. The somber ceremony and anguished tears underlined the tension over the country's uncn future.

American officials here for the ceremony spoke positively about a key unanswered question whether the future government would be military or civilian. They said it had weathered the first crisis after Park was slain Oct. 26 by preserving civilian government instead of launching a military

But opposition leaders already have begun calling for sweeping reforms of the government that Park turned into a personal power base, and for abandonment of the constitution he used to consolidate that power.

Park was murdered in what the government said was a plot executed by Korean Central Intelligence Agency chief Kim Jae-kyu and his aides.

Adding to confusion Saturday about just what direction the government would take was the notable absence from the funeral of Gen. Chung Seung-hwa, army chief of staff and the commander who is essentially running the country now under mar-

Chung, who emerged as a powerful figure after the assassination and as a possible candidate for president, reportedly stayed at martial-law command headquarters during the ceremonies. The reason for his absence was not known

At the funeral, attended by more than 2,300 officials and dignitaries, including Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, acting President Choi Kyu-hah eulogized Park and called his assassination an "unspeakable tragedy.

KCIA chief Kim allegedly sought to stage a coup to take over power after the assassination, but instead he was arrested by the military.

An American official traveling with Vance said, "There was an abortive coup, not a military coup, because the military did not take over the country .. In the crucial set of meetings following the killing they did the right thing. They kept a civilian govern-

The officials did not rule out the possibility a military coup could occur if there is rioting, a real threat of invasion from communist North Korea, or if an unacceptable candidate emerges as the likely successor to Park

Informed sources feel the successor will be chosen by top military and civilian leaders agreeing on a candidate behind the scenes.

Vance, who headed the 12-member U.S. delegation to the funeral, said Choi and Foreign Minister Park Tong-jin assured him the armed forces "support the civilian government and will defend their country against any outside interference.

No kicking the habit for him

Staff Writer

John Drummond has blocked himself into a habit which he has no intentions of kicking. It's called walking

"I got in three miles this morning," he said following an early walk Normally, he gets in six or so miles by walking in his neighborhood on Mid-

For Drummond, who'll turn 80 this Dec. 11, walking by the book (keeping track) started out as sort of an active pastime on New Year's Day of 1968 - three years following his retirement as a district safety engineer for Texas Electric Service Co.

"I don't know whether you call it enjoyable," he said. "It has been a habit. It grows on you. It becomes more or less automatic."

"I REALIZED after retirement I needed to keep active," he said. "I've always walked.'

His walk usually begins at dawn - in the early morning hours - and seems to set the mood, if not the pace, for the rest of the day. He starts early - before the sun begins to peek over the horizon.

"Breakfast is one of my chief meals," Drummond said over the breakfast table after a brisk walk. "I get out and exercise. Then I don't get hungry the rest of the day.'

Since Drummond got on his walking "kick," he has logged more than 26,750 miles. He has walked far more than that since his retirement in 1965, but didn't log his miles until 1968.

But it doesn't seem that long ago. "I can't keep up with time anymore," he allowed. "It flies by."

In the first year, Drummond walked off 1,940 miles and reached his peak of 3,040 miles in 1976. Last year, he walked off 2,247 miles. "Way back yonder, I was getting about 12 miles a day," he said.

WALKING IS TO THE body what thinking is to the mind: exercise. And both physical and mental "exercises," whether they be jogging or reading, help maintain a viable life at whatever age.
"It (old age) just creeps upon you," Drummond observed. "We're all facing death, of course. It's inevitable. Death is going to take us. We don't know when....

Though he is somewhat beset by palsy and his wife, Besse, suffers from "cruel arthritis," Drummond seeks to live life to its fullest. Following a lens implant in his right eye in 1976, Drummond very soon was back on his walking trail. "I came on home, and I didn't slow down very much," he said. "I was very careful. I walked at a very lazily pace....It (recovery) was remarkable

Last Thursday, he under went a similar operation on the left eye and resumed walking Friday. "I have one problem," he said. "My mind doesn't work like it used to. I keep repeating myself at times.

EACH MORNING, Drummond and his wife share in a devotional. He reads a selected scripture from the Bible. And they "return thanks" at We all know that there is a higher being, and we ought to keep in touch (with God) as much as we can.' John Drummond does so at home and as a ruling elder in the First Presbyterian Church.

Energy, economy may dominate talks when Carter visits Canada

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jimmy Carter spends two days in Ottawa this week, the first U.S. president to visit Canada since Richard M. Nixon seven years ago. In the following story a Canadian Press writer examines the issues that join and separate the two

By BOB DOUGLAS

OTTAWA (AP) - President Carter travels to Canada later this week for a visit to a friendly neighbor with bountiful supplies of something the United States wants badly - energy.

Canadian officials say they expect several items related to energy to dominate dicussions between Carter and Prime Minister Joe Clark during the presidential visit next Friday and

But the slumping American economy also is sure to come up in the three or four hours of talks. The Canadian economy is closely tied to the American, and reflects its twists and turns. Canadian interest rates, for example, have soared in the wake of increases in American rates.

Carter's visit is unlikely to yield any major agreements, though officials say they hope there will be progress on oil and gas pipeline issues and control of acid rain pollution. A major energy item involves prospects for Canadian West Coast oil tanker traffic from Alaska to Washington State, a subject much discussed in Parliament in recent weeks.

The president's visit also may have political value, bolstering the images of both Carter and Clark as statesmen hard at work on international affairs. Clark's minority Progressive Conservative government is only five. months old, and the 40-year-old prime minister has had image problems stemming from his relative youth and inexperience

Carter can expect a warm welcome in Ottawa, where he will address a joint session of the Senate and House of Commons. He also will meet briefly with former Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

One problem Carter and Clark are certain to discuss is financing for the long-delayed, $15-billion pipeline to carry natural gas from Alaska through Canada to the lower 48 states. It is two years behind schedule.

Washington wants enough natural gas from Canada to permit building the southern section first, using it to import Canadian gas while the northern part is being built. Canada wants assurances the whole pipeline will be financed before construction begins. U.S. Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus has declared support for a rival plan - the Northern Tier pipe line scheme, by which Alaskan oil would be shipped to a Washington port and piped across the northern

Ottawa has supported a land route across Canada because of the oil-spill threat in West Coast waters and because its construction would generate new jobs in Canada. Canada's energy-hungry southern neighbor also has been seeking greater exports of natural gas from the north - and at a neighborly

Canada hiked the price of its gas last July from $2.30 to $2.80 a thousand cubic feet to bring the rate more in line with world prices. The increase raised America's annual energy bill by some $2.5 billion.

Nonetheless, U.S. officials continue to press Canada to export still more gas to America, while Canadian leaders want to conserve their supplies in an effort to make Canada self-sufficient in energy. Canada's National Energy Board is expected to announce in early December how much extra gas it will send

There is little doubt Clark and his ministers also will be keenly interested in Carter's view of the American

Canadian Finance Minister John Crosbie has resisted demands to clamp a lid on rising bank rates, claiming Canada must follow the U.S. lead or Canadian investment funds will flow out of the country if the Canadian rate is lower than the U.S.

Clark also is likely to ask Carter to throw more weight behind an agreement on East Coast fishing rights now languishing in a U.S. Senate committee. The agreement, intended to settle the lingering feud over fishing stocks and boundaries, requires Senate approval.

The Conservative government also is anxious for an agreement to control acid rain, which is polluting some Canadian lakes and forests. Sulphur dioxide and nitrogen oxides emitted into the atmosphere by American industries, and by some industries in Ontario, drift over Canada, where they mix with water vapor and fall as

The four-day session, unprecedented in modern church history, will examine the work of the bureaucracy of the Holy See and the role and operations of the Roman Catholic Church in today's world, Vatican sources say.

Other than a brief announcement that the cardinals would meet for an 'examination of current issues," the Vatican has kept details of the meeting secret. But each cardinal was mailed an agenda setting out the points for discussion in general terms. Some observers believe the pontiff has set the stage for a nal, Silvio Oddi, to repotentially explosive de- place the late American bate, particularly over the Vatican's finances.

Not since the 16th century has a pope called in his cardinals for such a meeting, according to Vatican historians. Sources say a number of cardinals had sought the session to give the "princes of the church" a greater voice in the running of the Holy See.

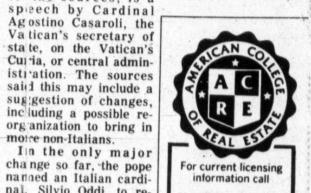

The Polish-born pope. as if to underline the importance of the meeting, invited all 129 cardinals, including those over 80, who were excluded by church law from attending the two papal-election conclaves following the deaths of Popes Paul VI and John Paul I last

Public water hearings to open

RANKIN — The Upton County Water District will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the courthouse here to consider petitions by landowners who are seeking to be removed from the water district, an taxing entity which will seeks funds to pipe water into Rankin and McCa-

The petitioners, represented through the Upton County Landowners Association, are largely concerned with the "e xcessive powers" that are written into the law which authorized the district, said Linda Dusek of Midkiff, association president.

"The bill gives the five-member water board the authority to condemn underground water rights from the private landowners," including those, outside of the two towns, who will derive no direct benefit from the

The landowners would be among those to pay off any bond indebted-

"It is estimated by the Upton County Water District Board that a $10 to $15 million bond issue will be needed to bring water to Rankin and McCamey," she said, and taxes levied to repay the debt are "unlimited" to rate and amount.

Many of the landowners are farmers and ranchers. The landowners association was formed to protect owners' water rights and shy away from paying taxes which would yield them no benefit.

The association was not formed for the purpose of permitting "the two towns to fade away," Mrs. Dusek said.

Jurors acquit Leach, law partner

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) - Rep. Claude Leach and his law partner, Edwin Cabra, were acquitted by a federal court jury Saturday of buying votes in the Louisiana Democrat's narrowly won 1978 election.

The previously deadlocked jury returned the innocent verdicts at the end of a three-week trial in U.S. District Court.

U.S. Attorney John Lydick immediately announced that the government would prosecute other vote-buying charges pending against Leach, Cabra and six others.

"I've got to get back to work for my people," Leach, a freshman congressman, said after the jury returned its verdict. "This has taken too much of my time.

"There's been a cloud over us for a year," Leach said. "We won our election. I've only been apprehensive over the tremendous cost that a citizen should not have to bear when the Justice Department tries something

Leach and Cabra were found innocent of 10 counts of vote buying and one count of conspiring to buy 440 votes for $5 each in Louisiana's 4th Congressional District. The charges carried a maximum penalty of 55 years in prison and fines totaling $110,000.

Leach, 44, won the election to a first term by 266 votes, and his opponent, Republican Jimmy Wilson, is now challenging the election in the House of Representatives.

Addressing about 60 cheering supporters on the steps of the federal courthouse, Leach said he was confident of acquittal in any subsequent trial and said he welcomed a congressional challenge of his election.

"In fact, I urge the congressional committee to come to the 4th District and interview anyone and everyone,'

ODESSA - The second attraction of the new season at Permian Playhouse, Odessa's community theater. will be "A Shot in the Dark," and it will open Friday night.

From the pen of French playwright Marcel Achard, and adapted by Harry Kurnitz, "A Shot in the Dark" artfully combines coourtroom drama with comedy and centers around a crime of passion.

Pivotal cast members include a zealous but idealistic young magistrate, portrayed by Dale Jenkins, who investigates a murder. The case involves a young maidservant in a wealthy and aristocratic Parisian household who is accused of killing her chauffeur sweetheart.

Although the magistrate knows he is seriously endangering his career, he nevertheless becomes convinced of the girl's innocence and sets out to Others in the cast of the comedydrama are Gary Lipscomb as the magistrate's law clerk; the magistrate's wife, played by Patty Zap; Richard Callaway as the aristocratic banker, Beaurevers, and Frances Helzel as his wife. The chief prosecutor is portrayed by Oscar Russell.

The maidservant - foolish, loyal, ignorant, courageous, stubborn and too-easily loving, is touchingly por-trayed by Beverly Traylor.

The production is being staged and directed by PPH's new resident directed Sharp.

"A Shot in the Dark" will have its first PPH performance at 8 p.m. Friday, with a second presentation scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday. Additional performances are scheduled for the evenings of Nov. 16-17, and 23-24.

Single tickets for all performances are on sale at the box office of the Playhouse, 310 W. 42nd St., adjacent to the Ector County Coliseum grounds.

Season tickets, offering considerable savings over the per-ticket cost of single admissions, are also for sale for the entertainment season which continues through next spring. Information on types of season memberships available may be obtained from the PPH office, 362-2329

Western art from the heart of Texas to be presented

Western art from the heart of Texas will be presented this coming weekend at Midland's Hanging Tree Gallery, 3201 N. Big Spring St.

The Wild Bunch," a talented and energetic group of artists from the Granbury area of central Texas, will bring their newest works, including paintings in all media, drawings and bronze sculpture, to the gallery for a special showing Friday and Satur-

The public is invited to view the show and meet the artists. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Common interests, including a love of the lore, landscapes and wildlife of the Southwest, were cata-Tysts in the creation of the Texas Wild Bunch, said Carol Swain, director-owner of the Hanging Tree Gallery.

A desire to eat steady was another reason. Mrs. Swain explained that each of the artists has chosen some way of expressing the history and drama of the Western lifestyle of both present and past. Each of the team has many special art shows "under his belt," and each has earned high regard from art critics and the public for his

'Art to Own' show, sale to open today

LUBBOCK - "Art to Own," a major art exhibition and sale sponsored by the West Texas Museum Association, will open to the public at 2 p.m. today in The Museum of Texas Tech University, The preview will continue until 4:30 p.m.

The exhibit is being presented under auspices of the WTMA in celebration of its 50th anniversary. Following its organization in the fall of 1929, the association was responsible for the establishment of the West Texas Museum, now The Museum of Texas Tech University

The exhibit presents 50 paintings and 50 prints, including works by some of the world's foremost artists. All are for sale.

The show is patterned after the West Texas Museum Association's highly successful 1962 "Art to Own" project. Rosalie Berkowitz, a respected and well-known art consultant in New York City, who assembled the 1962 show, also has put together the current show, which will be on view at the Tech Museum for a limited time. The public is invited to view the exhibit.

The Museum of Texas Tech University is located on West Fourth Street, northwest of the main Tech

The exhibition, which will hang through Nov. 26, is on view weekdays, and from 1 to 5 p.m. each Sunday. Admission is free.

Stokes, who has exhibited his works in Midland and elsewhere in this sector of West Texas, is best-known for his distinctive wildlife paintings. A native of Kentucky, he moved to Texas following service in World War II and his love of the state and the Southwest is apparent in his paintings.

"My desire is to interpret the Southwest - its people and their ways of life, their past and their present, and to preserve something of it for their future," he said

By special invitation, Stokes exhibited his paintings in Washington D.C., during the 1977 Presidential inauguration. He has participated in many group shows in the Southwest and elsewhere, and has had numerous solo shows in this region.

Rodeo cowboys chase dusty dream

By BRUCE ADAMS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — They rattle into town in pickups, chasing dreams born of Zane Grey novels, nurtured by John Wayne westerns and aged in any of a hundred dusty cowtown arenas - the rodeo cow-

"Every kid wants to be a cowboy," said Cotton Rosser, here to produce the annual Grand National Rodeo, one of the oldest and largest in the nation. "The majority of your rodeo cowboys just grew up wanting to play cowboy.

Rosser, who quit competing in rodeos years back after he broke both legs, said cowboys can even come from places like New York City or San Francisco.

"Take me," he drawled, adjusting his high-crowned, white cowboy hat. "I was raised on Rainbow Pier in Long Beach.

"I learned my rodeoing about 25 years ago in college at Cal Poly. Yes, sir, learned two things in college - how to shoe a horse and how to fly a While Rosser admitted to being influenced just a bit by "Zane and Wayne," it's former Dallas Cowboy football player Walt Garrison he quoted when trying to illustrate the practical men drawn to the arena.

"Yes, sir, Walt always says: 'If the money was the same, I'd rather play rodeo." Rosser produces 100 rodeos a year, flying his own airplane out of his home in Marysville, about 100 miles north of here, to places like Reno, Nev.;

Helena, Mont.; Odgen, Utah, and Bakersfield, Through this weekend, he's in San Francisco, "ramrodding" the rodeo he calls "the granddaddy of them all." More than 600 cowboys are competing for about $130,000 in prize money by trying to stay on top of a bucking bronco or a one-ton bull, rope a frisky calf or wrestle a stubborn steer. Typical of the rodeo breed is Julio Moreno, a member of the calf roping team that tied for the championship at last year's National Finals Rodeo in Oklahoma City — the final event of the year where the top money winners compete to settle on who's Moreno and his wife make about 100 rodeos a year, traveling in a pickup. The truck pulls a 20-foot trailer with 12 feet partitioned off for horses and six feet for the Morenos' living quarters.

"I want to win the world (championship)," said the 25-year-old Moreno. "Then we're thinking on having kids, getting a ranch. Probably five or six more years, then I'll settle down.

Moreno has earned $20,000 so far this year and the national finals are not until December.

'For the last five years I've done real good. And my wife, she secretaries the rodeos. We make it." Moreno said rodeo cowboys don't live up to the wild image portrayed in country songs and movies.
"We're not as bad as the story goes," he said, a

The course has been especially designed for students with little or no experience in marine environments, according to G. Brent McAfee, assistant professor of geology and class instructor.

There are no pre-requisites for the class and it is open to people in Odessa as well as Odessa College tudents interested in biology and geology.

Students completing the course will receive two hours of college credit in biology.

The students will camp out on the way to Puerto Penasco, stopping along the way at Coronado National Forest and Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument, both in Arizona, for additional study The return trip will include stops at Phelps Dodge

Corporation Open Pit copper mine at Ajo, Ariz., Kitt Peak National Observatory and Saguaro National

Tuition and fee for the mid-winter term class will be $110 for Ector County residents and $119.50 for non-district residents.

Expenses paid by Odessa College will include transportation, including trailers, shrimp boat or fishing boat for one day, camping fees, motel expenses at Puerto Penasco and instructional and administrative costs.

Students must provide personal camping gear and should arrange to take sufficient food and water, according to McAfee. Students also should bring enough money for some 20 meals to be bought during McAfee is conducting pre-registration for the course through Nov. 26. Interested persons should contact him at Odessa College for further informa-

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Reserve freshman quarterback Rick McIvor's first collegiate touchdown pass and sophomore Brad Beck's 11-yard, fourth-quarter touchdown run carried hard-pressed, No. 8 ranked Texas to a 14-6 Southwest Conference victory Saturday over the Texas Tech Red

TEXAS IS now 6-1 overall and 3-1 in the SWC race with a key game coming up next week against Houston. Tech is 3-4-1 and 2-3 in league play.

The 14-point favorite Longhorns used three different quarterbacks trying to get their offense on track and it was McIvor, a heavily recruited blue chip from Fort Stockton who had only thrown one pass all year, who moved them.

Mosley sparks Aggies over Mustanas, 47-14

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) Quarterback Mike Mosley ran and passed for 230 yards Saturday as Texas A&M - playing most of the game without star tailback Curtis Dickey - defeated Southern Methodist 47-14 in a regionally-televised Southwest Conference game.

Mosley, a 191-pound junior who runs hurdles in track, ran for two touchdowns and threw for another as A&M extended its home-field mastery over over SMU, which hasn't won here since 1967.

BOTH TEAMS entered the game with 3-4 records. The loss was the fifth straight for SMU

Dickey, the No. 12 in the nation, was injured early in the second quarter after running only seven times for 38 Freshman Johnny Hector filled in for Dickey and scampered for 67 yards and two touchdowns on 11 car-

Mosley rallied A&M from a 7-3 second-quarter deficit by rushing 18 times for 65 yards and completing 10 of 15 passes for 165 yards. Seven of his completions were to senior flanker Gerald Carter for 117 yards and one touchdown.

A&M'S FIERCE pass-rush, led by 230-pound defensive end Jacob Green, set up two A&M touchdowns and forced two fumbles by quarterback Jim Bob Taylor when SMU was in scoring position. Linebacker Doug Carr picked off one of Taylor's passes and returned it to the SMU nine-yard line, and Hector scored untouched on the next play. The victory raised A&M's record in the SWC to 2-3. SMU is 2-4. What momentum SMU had was lost in the first half when freshman Lott McHhenny lost a fumble at the A&M nine-yard line. SMU had a 7-3 lead and appeared to be on the verge of padding its margin when McIlhenny burst up the middle for 11 yards. He fumbled, however, and linebacker Mike Little made his second recovery of the day.

MOSLEY GUIDED A&M to the SMU 33, and freshman David Hardy kicked a 51-yard field goal that barely cleared the crossbar.

Mosley sprinted 24 yards to the SMU 2 to set up A&M's go-ahead score - a two-yard pass to Carter.

Mosley and Carter worked the same play for a two-point conversion, and A&M took a 14-7 halftime lead.

Dickey got A&M's first first down about four minutes deep in the second quarter but was hurt two plays Freshman Craig James scored SMU's first touchdown on a 13-yard run, although he had to rescue his own fumble at the three-yard line. The ball bounced into the end zone, and James fell on it for the score.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) - Quarterback Larry Shillings racked up 238 yards passing for four touchdowns as Austin College racked up Millsaps 27-6 in non-conference football action

Shillings threw for touchdowns of 49, 45, 11 and 19 yards as the Kangaroos upped their season record to 8-1 and increased hopes for an NAIA playoff berth.

The only Millsaps touchdown came on a fourth-quarter sneak by quarterback Byrd Hillman, after the game was out of reach.

Arkansas, rebounding from a narrow 13-10 loss to 4th-ranked Houston last week, took a 14-0 lead on its first two possessions of the game with Scanlon running 8 and 1 yard for the touchdowns

Ordonez, who had his NCAA-record of 16 consecutive field goals snapped last week against UH, missed his first two attempts of the game but converted his next two kicks in the third quarter. The 50-yarder was the longest of Ordonez' career.

Rice, the only zemaining team without a SWC victory at 0-6, rallied briefly behind running back Earl Cooper in the second quarter and traled 14-7 at halftime. Quarterback Randy Hertel hit Cooper over the middle on a 39-yard pass-run play for a touchdown in the second quarter.

SIMMS HAS completed 52 of 111 passes for 776 yards with six touchdowns and four interceptions. Just as important, the has earned the respect of his teammates and has taken command of the offense.

Giants Coach Ray Perkins likes to compare Simms to New England's Steve Grogan, who he got to know very well as the Patriots offensive coordinator.

"I think a lot of Grogan, but there's no comparison between the two in their first year," Perkins said. "I think Simms is far ahead.

Staubach, meanwhile, suffered a slight concussion to go along with a sore knee against the Steelers. Landry said the 11-year veteran will start against the Giants.

"This will in every way have to be our best effort," Perkins said. "I don't believe in turning points in games, but I think there can be turning points in a season. Our turning point was the first win. We'd gone five weeks and hadn't won anything.

"I admit, I thought the players were going to look at me like I was crazy," he said. "I thought they were going to say, 'When's it going to happen coach?' I knew it would, but I was hoping not too late."

Saints battle Broncos today in mile high city

By The Associated Press

It was not long after the New Orleans Saints had beaten the Washington Redskins for their fifth victory in six games and taken over first place in their division that Coach Dick Nolan was asked who was in charge of printing playoff tickets.

'That's like telling a pitcher he has a no-hitter going in the fourth inning," said Nolan, using a baseball analo-

Obviously, Nolan is not yet counting on the Saints making the National Football League playoffs, not with seven weeks remaining in the season. New Orleans, 5-4, holds only a onegame lead in the National Conference West over the six-time defending champions, the Los Angeles Rams, 4-5, and a two-game advantage over the Atlanta Falcons, 3-6.

But he is certainly pleased with the progress of the Saints, who are in their best position in the franchise's 13-year history at this stage of the season. And he is aware that today's game at Denver against the defensively tough Broncos will go a long way toward determining the Saints' fate this year.

"We're a team that hasn't had a winning season, and we're striving for that, to establish that feeling." said Nolan, in his second year as New Orleans' head coach. "We can't look too far down the road or we'll get tripped up.

'But it's nice to be here (in first place). It's the first time we've ever been there.'

game is Houston at Miami. "No one thing has done it for us," Nolan said of the Saints, who finished 7-9 last year in his first season at the helm and got off to a 1-3 start this year before going on their winning

"This year, Archie has improved in most areas and our running backs are performing well. We made a lot of changes in our defense ... and they had to make an adjustment to a new system (the flex). But we've played together for a while now and we're starting to get the job done."

"He (Manning) is an excellent quarterback," said Denver Coach, Red Miller. "He has ... the good arm. He can rifle it or soft-touch it, and he can run and scramble. He was originally The Scrambler when he arrived down there. He had to be. But now he's got more talent around him.

especially two good cetbacks in Chuck Muncie and Tony Galbreath."

Denver, meanwhile, is 6-3 and shares first place with San Diego in the AFC West. Miami and New England also are 6-3 and tied for the lead in the AFC East, while Pittsburgh, 7-2, is atop the AFC Central. In the NFC, Dallas, 7-2 leads the East and Tampa Bay, 7-2, in the best in the

Houston, which leads the SWC in rushing and total offense, was stunned the first half when TCU ran 33 plays to only 19 for the Cougars.

The Frogs outrushed Houston 97-66 and outpassed them 67-14. But TCU wasted scoring chances on successive plays early in the second quarter and Houston seized the momentum to get on the scoreboard first.

HANEY DIRECTED the Frogs on a drive from their own 31 to the Houston 9. But Washington dropped Haney's pass in the end zone, and Porter's 26yard field goal try on the next play was ruined when Eddie Grimes' snap went through the hands of holder Steve Stamp.

Porter went back to pick up the ball and ran it to the 11, but Houston took over there and marched 89 yards in 11 plays for a touchdown. With the help of a 27-yard pass inteference call, the Cougars went to the TCU 11, where Clark spurted over for the score.

Clark fumbled the ball out of the end zone, but was inches over the goal before losing it.

Auburn topples Florida, 19-13

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) - Jorge Portela kicked two field goals and quarterback Charlie Trotman threw for a touchdown to lead Auburn to a 19-13 Southeastern Conference football victory over Florida Saturday.

Portela's two field goals - one of them 52 yards, his longest of the season - raised his SEC career record to 35. His other boot, in the third quarter, covered 42 yards. Earlier, he missed a 35-yard attempt.

Auburn's other score came only minutes into the second quarter as running back Joe Cribbs plunged into the end zone from 1 yard out to break the scoreless deadlock.

But the key to the Tigers' victory, their sixth of the season against two defeats, was a stingy defense which was almost nonexistant in Auburn's last three outings.

Auburn's defense held the winless Gators to only one touchdown, a 10yard aerial strike from quarterback Larry Oschab to tight end Chris Faulkner in the fourth quarter. The touchdown was set up by a 44-yard scamper by running back Terry Williams.

Florida's other six points came on field goals in the second and third quarter by Brian Clark.

Lee swimmers sweep to boys, girls titles

Coach David Whytlaw's Midland Lee Rebels dominated the Midland Invitational High School Swim Meet at the Mabee Memorial Swim Center Saturday, winning both the boys and The Lee boys rolled out 556 points to run away with their title while Odessa Permian was a distant second with 327 points. Midland High was a narrow third with 317 points, but was far ahead of fourth place San Angelo, who managed 207 points. Ten teams were entered in that division. The Lee girls had a tougher time of it, but scored 377 points to edge out Permian, which managed 358 for second place. Midland High was again third with 244 points while San Angelo had 226 and Big Spring 223.

'We thought the boys would win," Whytlaw stated, "but if you had asked me on Thursday if we could win in the girls division, I probably would have

The Rebel girls took the title in an unusual fashion since they did not win a race all day. Depth was the key since Emily Murrah, a key swimmer, did not participate in the meet.

Purple crew capures win

Midland Purple grabbed an important freshman football victory over cross-town rival Lee Maroon and Goddard, Alamo, Trinity and Midland Christian fashioned eighth grade triumphs in this week's junior high grid

Midland Purple belted Lee Maroon 46-8 to highlight frosh action while Odessa Bonham spanked Lee White 34-8 and Ector whipped Midland Gold

Other frosh action saw Odessa Bowie trim Odessa Crockett 13-6 and Odessa Nimitz blast Odessa Hood 21-

In eighth grade warfare, Goddard bested San Jacinto 22-8, Alamo clipped Bonham 20-16, Crockett and

Bowie fought to a 6-6 standoff and Nimitz dumped Hood 30-12. In a pair of Midland city league affairs, Trinity whitewashed Goddard B 20-0 and Midland Christian shutout San Jacinto B 22-0.

Seventh grade play saw Goddard White trim Alamo Scarlet 8-0 while Goddard Red stopped San Jacinto Green 42-6 and San Jacinto White flogged Alamo Grey 14-0.

Celtics roll over Wasington Bullet five

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) - Cedric Maxwell and Dave Cowens led the way with 24 and 20 points, respectively, as the Boston Celtics rolled over the Washington Bullets 118-97 Saturday night for their fourth straight road victory.

Maxwell scored 12 points in the third quarter when the Celtics broke open a close game by outscoring the Bullets 32-18.

Washington came back, cutting the deficit to 94-82 midway through the fourth quarter, before the Celtics went on a fast break spree, outscoring the Bullets 14-4 to wrap it up.

The Lee boys were paced by Cleve Carrens, who won two individual races and swam a leg on a winning relay team. Robin Franke was a twoevent winner and John Kimberly won one race. Midland High's Charley Corvin took the diving competition. The MHS girls had a three event winner also in Carrie Mayes, who won two individual races and was a member of a winning relay. Chrissie Faller won one event and swam a leg on a winning relay for the Bulldogs.

Miami upsets Penn State

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) -Freshman quarterback Jim Kelly completed 17 of 30 passes for 280 yards and three touchdowns Saturday as the underdog Miami Hurricanes scored a 26-10 victory over 19thranked Penn State, snapping a fourgame Nittany Lions' winning streak.

Kelly, whom Penn State sought to recruit and convert into a linebacker, shredded the Lions' secondary in his first starting assignment.

Penn State played without tailback Booker Moore, who was arrested earlier in the week and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, the latest in a series of arrests, ineligibilities, defections, and a general breakdown in discipline that has staggered Coach Joe Paterno's team this season.

Miami took a 10-0 lead in the first period on a 20-yard-field goal by Dan Miller and an eight-yard pass from Kelly to wide receiver Jim Joiner.

Penn State reduced the deficit to 10-7 on a 12-yard run by tailback Mike Guman, but Miami held a 13-10 halftime edge on a 36-yard field goal by Miller and a 32-yarder by Penn State's Herb Menhardt.

In the third period, Kelly connected with Joiner for a 25-yard score, and in the final period completed Miami's fourth victory against four losses with a 12-yard TD pass to Pat Walker.

Penn State was able to run effectively, gaining 248 yards, but the Lions' passing game was contained by an alert Miami defense. State gained only 109 yards through the air in suffering its third loss against five

USC topples Arizona, 34-7

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Quarterback Paul McDonald threw for 380 yards and three touchdowns Saturday to lead third-ranked Southern California to a 34-7 Pacific-10 college football victory over Arizona

McDonald, a left-handed senior, completed 25 of 35 passes and threw scoring strikes of 17 and 42 yards to flanker Kevin Williams and 5 yards to tight end Vic Rakhshani.

McDonald's performance eclipsed Southern Cal records for individual total yardage, passing yardage and completions in a single game. Craig Fertig had set the school passing yardage mark of 371 and total yardage record of 348 in 1964, and had shared the completion record of 21 with Jim Jones and Pat Haden.

The Trojans, 8-0-1 overall and atop the Pac-10 at 4-0-1, led 14-0 at halftime after tailback Charlie White scored on a one-yard plunge and Williams hauled in his first touchdown pass.

Williams caught his other scoring pass early in the third quarter, then Eric Hipp's 38-yard field goal made it 24-0 later in the period.

Arizona, 4-3-1 and 2-3 in conference play, finally tallied on the first play of the fourth quarter, with tight end Rich Roberts grabbing a four-yard scoring pass from quarterback Jim Krohn.

But Southern Cal tacked on 10 more points in the period, Rakhshani catching McDonald's third scoring pass and Hipp hitting his second field goal, this one from 32 yards away.

Although the Wildcats' defense was fairly successful against the Trojans' rushing game, White still was able to grind out 167 yards on 32 carries.

South Carolina takes victory

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) - Junior tailback George Rogers gained 217 yards, raising his season rushing total to 1,156 yards, leading South Carolina to a 30-28 football victory over North Carolina State Saturday night.

The Gamecocks, 6-2, also got a 100yard performance from fullback Spencer Clark as they ground out 362 yards running. N.C. State is 6-3.

Clark scored two touchdowns and Rogers one as the Gamecocks took a 30-14 lead after three quarters. N. C. State rallied for two touchdowns in the fourth period and tried an unsuccessful onside kick with 1:07 to play.

Clark scored on a two-yard run on the Gamecock's second possession, while N.C. State quarterback Scott Smith carried the ball four yards to make the score 7-7 at the end of the first period. South Carolina quarterback Garry

Harper retaliated with a six-yard touchdown run and Eddie Leopard contributed a 34-yard field goal to give the Gamecocks a 17-7 lead at

Yale wins 700th game with rally

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) - Quarterback John Rogan hit Bob Rostomily with a last-minute touchdown pass Saturday as Yale became the first college to win 700 football-games with a come-from-behind 23-20 victory over Cornell.

The victory kept Yale unbeaten and alone on top of the Ivy League stand-

Yale dominated most of the regionally televised game after a scoreless opening quarter beginning with an explosive second quarter that saw Rogan score on a 1-yard run, and connect with Rostomily on a 43-yard touchdown pass play. David Schwartz also kicked a 22-yard field goal during that period. Quarterback Mike Tanner broke loose on 45 yard touchdown run in that second period to give Cornell its only points of the first half.

Cavaliers down Kings, 123-110 RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) - Campy

Russell scored 24 points and Randy Smith added 21 to lead the Cleveland Cavaliers to a 123-110 National Basketball Association victory over the Kansas City Kings Saturday night. The Kings jumped out to a nine point lead midway through the first period, but Cleveland came back to take a 27-26 edge at the quarter as Russell scored 14 points in the perifootball victory Saturday over Syracuse, which lost despite three touchdown runs by quick-footed senior quarterback Bill Hurley

Marino, making his first collegiate start because of an injury to Rick Trocano, threw both of his touchdown passes in the last five minutes before Coupled with an 85-yard punt return touchdown by cornerback Terry White in the first quarter, they gave Pitt a 21-6 intermission lead. Syracuse came back behind the running of Hurley, who carried 24 times and netted 80 yards rushing. Hurley, who darted I yard for a Syracuse touchdown in the first quarter, added a 2-yard scoring run in the third period to cap a 59-yard drive during which he ran the ball seven times for 44 yards.

Marino's 36-yard screen pass to fullback Wayne DiBartola set up an ensuing 3-yard touchdown run by Ray "Rooster" Jones that gave Pitt a 28-13 lead through three periods. Early in the fourth period, Hurley ran 10 yards for another touchdown and added a two-point conversion pass to Art Monk to cut the Pitt lead to 28-21 with 11:56 to play.

Texas A&I upset-victim

Alabama wins 21st SEC game in row by 24-7

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) - Quarterback Steadman Shealy ran for a record 190 yards Saturday to lead top-ranked Alabama to a 24-7 victory over Mississippi State, giving the Crimson Tide 21 consecutive Southeastern Conference decisions, the longest such string ever-

Shealy's yards came on 20 carries and erased the previous record held by an Alabama quarterback, Pat Tramell, in 1959. Alabama now is 8-0 overall and 4-0 in the conference, while State is 3-5

The Maroons played Alabama on even terms for 30 minutes, but the Tide broke it open with 17 points in the third period for their 17th consecutive victory, the longest current streak in the nation

The other Alabama quarterback, Don Jacobs, opened the scoring with a 13-yard run in the second period, but State matched that score with an 18-yard pass from Dwayne Brown to tight end Jerry Price

After Alan McElrøy broke the 7-7 deadlock with a 41-yard field goal into the wind, Alabama put the game out of reach on Shealy's 7-yard scoring run and a screen pass from Jacobs to halfback Billy Jackson that went for 23 yards and the final score.

Two Alabama touchdowns came after fumble recoveries. Linebacker Robbie Jones set up the first one with a recovery at the State 30 on the first play of the second period.

After McElroy's field goal, Glenn Young fumbled the kickoff and John Mauro recovered for the Tide at the State 18 from where Shealy scored

Air Force sinks Army

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) - Senior quarterback Dave Ziebart led the Air Force Falcons to their first victory in 12 games in downing military academy rival Army 28-7 in college football Saturday.

The victory, the first for Air Force in nine games this season, snapped an 11-game losing streak, the longest among the nation's major colleges.

Ziebart, who owns most of Air Force's passing records, went to the air infrequently but effectively. He scored the first touchdown of the game on a 1-yard naked reverse in the second quarter and threw a 4-yard scoring pass to Richard Smith a few minutes later after Army had tied the game 7-7.

Army's lone score came just 45 seconds after Ziebart's 1-yard TD when senior quarterback Earle Mulrane went to the air with a passing barrage capped by a 25-yard touchdown pass to tight end Kevin

Cornhuskers escape

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) - The second-ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers blew a 14-point lead within eight seconds late in the third quarter, but salvaged a 23-20 victory over upsetminded Missouri Saturday on Dean Sukup's 19-yard field goal, his third of the game, with 3:15 remaining. However, Nebraska's perfect 8-0 record did not become a certainty until Missouri disdained a game-tying field goal attempt on the final play and elected to try a touchdown pass from the winner's 11-yard line. but defensive end Derrie Nelson sacked Missouri quarterback Phil Bradley at the 33 as time ran out. It was a bitter setback for Missouri, 4-4, which wiped out a 20-6 deficit with startling suddenness as the third quarter ticked away.

First, the Tigers stormed 90 yards and scored on a 4-yard fourth-down pass from Bradley to freshman tight end Andy Gibler, but a 2-point run failed.

That made it 20-12 with 23 seconds left in the period. Eight seconds later, the game was tied. Nebraksa Anthony Bradley's two-point pass to Tim Hornof tied the score.

Nebraska started its winning drive at its 37, with 7:31 remaining. Craig Johnson, a third-string tailback, carried five times for 47 yards and a first down at the Missouri 3-yard line. Three running plays gained only one yard before Sukup kicked his gamewinning field goal. Sukup booted a 24-yard field goal late in the second quarter after an interception and increased Nebraska's lead to 20-6 with a 26-yarder in the third period following a fumble recovery.

Nebraska threatened to blow the game open early, moving 67 yards on its first possession and taking a 7-0 lead on Jarvis Redwine's 3-yard run. After Missouri's Gerry Ellis scored on a 1-yard run, the Cornhuskers made it 14-6 on a 1-yard sneak by starting quarterback Tim Hager.

Washington downs Bears in Pacific-10, 28-24

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) - Mark Lee sped 64 yards with a fourth-quarter punt, the third time he has run a kickback for a score this season, to give Washington a 28-24 victory over California in a Pacific-10 game Satur-

The victory kept alive Washington's Rose Bowl hopes as the Huskies remain in second place in the conference with a 4-1 mark behind USC, whom they play next week in Seattle. Washington is 7-2 overall, while Cal is 4-5 and 3-4 in the conference.

Lee's touchdown, which tied the NCAA record for scoring punt returns in a season, came with 6:04 left as it appeared California would upset the ed Huskies

Lee grabbed a Mike Ahr punt in the middle of the field on his own 36, broke toward the right sideline and scooted by a wall of California tacklers for the touchdown.

The punt return and three earlier short scores by Vince Coby ruined a brilliant passing display by Cal's Rich Campbell and his favorite receiver, Matt Bouza. The pair connected 11 times for 176 yards and one touch-

Campbell finished with 22 of 36 for 326 yards. He threw two interceptions, including one in the final 20 seconds at the Washington 10.

Washington scored on the opening drive and led 21-7 at halftime, with Coby tallying from the 2, 3 and 1 yard lines. The second score was set up by a fumble recovery by Antowaine Richardson, while the third came after a blocked punt deep in Cal territory with 40 seconds left in the half.

The Cal scores came on a 58-yard pass from Campbell to Michael Buggs in the first quarter, a 49-yard field goal by Mick Luckhurst at the halfgun, a 3-yard run by Paul Jones in third quarter and a 10-yard pass from Campbell to Bouza which put the Bears ahead 24-21 early in the fourth quarter.

led by Heisman Trophy winner Sims, who scored four times and crossed the goal line two other times to no avail because of penalties. Sims' play was erratic after last-week's 202-yard outburst over Iowa State, however, as he picked up only 69 yards. He left the game in the fourth quarter with a minor injury.

Sims began the scoring in the opening minutes with a 4-yard plunge, followed by a dive from the one. The first-quarter effort also included a 72-yard scoring pass play from quarterback J.C. Watts to halfback David Overstreet and a 39-yard field goal by Mike Keeling.

After that, the scoring began slowing down.

Sims got his other scores on a 1yard run an the second quarter and an 11-yarder in the third.

Oklahoma's only really bright spot was in the defensive secondary where Darrol Ray, Jay Jimerson and Barry Burget each picked off a Cowboy pass to help Cumby's effort.

The only Oklahoma State score came on a final quarter 2-yard plunge by fullfback Terry Suellentrop.

Trinity wins, 33-24

STEPHENVILLE, Texas (AP) Mark Price ran a fourth-quarter kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown to give Trinity a 33-24 Saturday win over Tarleton State, the Tigers' first Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association win of the season.

Price's run came just after Texan Sam Scott had returned a punt 84 yards to tie the score at 24.

Trinity is now 1-7 in the TIAA, 3-7 for the season. Tarleton falls to 4,3 and 6-4.

Seminoles win, 26-21 CINCINNATI (AP) -

Quarterback Wally Woodham came off the bench in the second half and threw two touchdown passes in sparking sixth-ranked Florida State to a 26-21 comefrom-behind college football victory over Cincinnati Saturday.

The Seminoles, 8-0, went into the game as overwhelming favorites against lightly regarded Cincinnati, 1-7.

Florida State drove for a touchdown on its first possession with fullback Mark Lyles crashing over from the 1-yard line with less than five minutes gone.

But the Seminoles went cold after that and did not score again until Woodham hit Lyles with a 7-yard touchdown pass after five minutes of the third quarter.

Furman takes 63-55 victory

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP) - Quarterback Al Sorrells came off the bench to throw three scoring passes and run for two other touchdowns as Furman edged Davidson 63-55 Saturday in the highest scoring football game since the NCAA began keeping records in

The combined total of 118 points erased the old mark of 111 that had been reached twice before.

Sorrells completed five of eight passes for 135 yards. He also ran 14 times for 142 yards. But the rushing honors for Furman went to tailback Mike Glenn, who gained 180 yards and scored two touchdowns.

Davidson, which jumped to a 21-0 lead in the first period, had a chance to go out in front late in the game when the Wildcats scored on a 1-yard run by halfback Alvin Atkinson to make the score 56-55.

How much do you think you have to spend at J. E. BORRON to dress this well?

You may be pleasantly surprised. Throughout our selection of traditional clothing you will find obvious quality for a less-thanobvious price. Here are several examples:

a) Our classic polyester-andwool blend. From our selection of vested solids and stripes in navy, grey, or tan.

b) Our popular wool suits in classic fall fabrics, such as herringbones, tickweaves, glen plaids, and donegals. From $165.

c) The goes-with-everything navy blazer. Dacron and wool blend for all seasons. Gold-crested buttons. $110.

d) A luxurious addition to your wardrobe is our 100% pure camel hair blazer. $205.

In a world of inflated prices it is now even more important to choose quality traditional clothing that is always correct regardless of fashion trends.

Dycus triggers Cooper over Big Spring

By ALAN SAYRE Associated Press Writer

Second-string quarerback Lanny Dycus moved from the shadows into the spotlight with four touchdown passes as topranked Abilene Cooper clawed Big Spring, a perennial West Texas weakling, 56-0 in a schoolboy football contest Friday

Cooper - the No. 1 rated squad in Class 4A in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll - pulled most of the first string offense after scoring on its first two drives Friday

Running back Keith Pantalion scored on a 49-yard jaunt and signal-caller John Slaughter tossed a 66-yard touchdown pass to Terry Orr before part of the first team retired to watch the massacre from the sideline.

Running back Bubba Hill ran for two touchdowns and quarterback Ricky Byars added two scores with his only completed passes of the night to lead La Porte — second-ranked in 4A to an easy 48-28 win over South Houston.

Unranked Richardson Berkner used three touchdown runs by Michael Butler to beat No. 6 Highland Park, 32-14 and virtually end the Scots' state playoff hopes.

"By mixing up roll-out passes and runs, we felt we could catch their defense in the wrong position and move the ball," Berkner Coach Allen Holladay said. "The kids did a real good job. They executed well."

Meanwhile, seventh-ranked Plano thumped Greenville 31-6 and came within one win of cinching the tough District 134A. The Wildcats can nail down a playoff spot next week with a win over Berkner.

In other Class 4A action, third-rated Conroe walloped Houston Jersey Village, 42-9; No. 4 Temple beat arch-rival Killeen, 21-8; and fifth-rated Converse Judson blanked San Antonio McCollum, 21-0.

No. 8 Dallas White creamed Dallas Wilson, 42-7; Spring Klein, rated ninth, steamrolled Houston Cypress-Fairbanks, 59-0; and tenth-ranked San Antonio Churchill bombed San Marcos

The unranked challengers dominated the statistics, ran more than twice as many plays as Hebert, scored on drives of 80 and 77 yards, but lost 14-13. The victory cinched the district title for Hebert, which posted its ninth straight win of the year.

The Beaumont squad led 14-7 with 7:20 left in the game, but Bridge City quarterback Lance Lee hit Shannon Foreman on a 9-yard scoring pass with 2:12 remaining.

After a two-point conversion failed, Bridge City recovered an on-side kick. But the drive ended on downs near the Hebert 20 with only 12 seconds left.

In other 3A contests, thirdranked Paris blanked Sulphur Springs, 33-0; No. 5 Gregory-Portland beat Tuloso Midway, 21-7; eighth-rated Bay City edged Brazosport, 24-19; Brownwood, No. 9, defeated Crowley, 28-7; and tenth-ranked San Antonio Madison edged Gonzales, 14-

Oilers face Dolphins on Monday night TV

By The Associated Press

Any scrutiny of the Houston Oilers' visit to Miami Monday night should begin with Earl Campbell, the Oilers' irrepressible running back. The condition of Campbell's right thigh, bruised and battered, may have as much to do with the outcome of this game as anything else.

Campbell sat out the last quarter and a half of Houston's 27-24 overtime victory over the New York Jets last week, but Oiler head coach Bum Phillips says it was merely a precautionary measure. The Oilers had a twotouchdown lead when Campbell went to the bench and, after allowing the leg to stiffen a little, Phillips determined that Campbell shouldn't risk further injury of it.

But it's safe to say the Oilers (6-3) will be hard-pressed to challenge Miami if Campbell isn't ready. Houston's passing game is not to be confused with that of San Diego or Cleve-

Even with Campbell, the game figures to be an uphill fight for Houston, despite its two-game winning streak over Miami. The Dolphin defense has had splendid success in stopping the run. Opponents have averaged just 100.3 yards rushing a game and note worthy among them was Walter Payton, the NFC's top rusher, who managed just 43 yards.

The Dolphins (6-3) are quite healthy defensively for this stage of the season. But offensively they are in a similar spot as Houston. Delvin Williams, a 1,000-yard rusher last year, is gone for several weeks with two er, center Jim Langer, is out indefinicracked ribs. And another pro Bowl-

Pollution of lands by American salt rivals beach pollution by Mexican oil

By JOE FRAZIER Associated Press Writer

MEXICALI, Mexico (AP) - A hot sun beats down, but parts of Ramon Lopez Zepeda's 50 acres of cotton fields seem covered with frost. Salt flowing in the Colorado River from the United States makes it look that

It has polluted the land. 'Nothing grows here but these," Lopez Zepeda said, waving a calloused hand at some scrubby salt pines. "They're worthless. They're not good for firewood, they're not good for shade. Nothing.

While Americans seek payment from Mexico for damages from the Ixtoc oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico, farmers here tussle with lands crippled by American salt pollution.

American salination of the lower Colorado River from 1961 to 1972 damaged hundreds of thousands of acres the Mexicali Valley. Despite more than $100 million spent by Mexico to purge the salt, much of the land has not recovered and crop losses continue, although some improvement has been noted recently.

The United States says it is not legally liable for the damages, and although it has restored the quality of the river water that flows into Mexico, salt and bitterness remain across the checkerboard of small farms in the 500,000-acre valley.

The Colorado River which is the lifeblood of this sun-baked, flat valley, is heavily controlled by dams and irrigation projects in the United

In a 1944 treaty, the United States agreed to deliver 1.5 million acre-feet of water a year to Mexico. But the treaty said nothing about the quality of the water to be delivered.

In the 1961-1972 period, briny water pumped from the subsoil of Arizona's Wellton-Mohawk irrigation district was dumped into the Gila River near where it joins the Colorado, just north of the Mexican border.

The brine increased the salt content of the Colorado to a level harmful to crops. As the salt built up in the soil, crops grew increasingly smaller and sometimes stopped altogether.

"I was six years without a harvest," said cotton-grower Ezequiel Franco. "Nothing grew. I planted, but it didn't pay."

He said his farm and others are gradually recovering from the salt damage because of Mexican government projects that wash the salt out of the soil. But farmers say the process makes such a heavy demand on scarce water that they have to reduce their plantings.

United States as the scope of the problem became apparent and said delivery of salty water violated the spirit, if not the letter, of the treaty.

In 1973 the countries agreed on salinity limits for water sent to Mexico and the United States agreed to pay $23 million for a 50.4-mile concretelined ditch to take the salty Wellton-Mohawk drainage directly to the Gulf.

plus, the United States will exceed its treaty obligations and deliver 1.7 million acre-feet of water to Mexico, Friedkin said.

The completion of the concretelined ditch restored the water quality, but it didn't remove the salt from the

On the collective where Lopez Zepeda and 63 other farmers grow cotton, wheat and other crops, the road through the fields is called "the salt route.

"This was the area the salinity affected most during the 12 consecutive years that the United States was sending us salt," Lopez Zepeda said. He broke open a dirt clod that was finely marbled with thread-like layers of salt.

He said the government has spent $8.5 million on the 3,200-acre collective alone trying to put it back into production, and harvests on some parcels have returned to normal.

Thousands of farmers have received low-interest, 25-year loans to get them through the salt years. "We are deeply in debt, we get everything on credit," said Gilberto Gutierrez Banaga, president of the coopera-

He estimate the problem, regionwide, is perhaps 50 percent better today than during the worst period of salt pollution.

Mexico has not presented the United States with a bill for damages, and is not likely to.

Fernando Garza, a spokesman for President Jose Lopez Portillo in Mexico City, said there is no international law under which Mexico could press such claims. By the same token, Garza said, the United States has no basis to sue Mexico for oil damages from the runaway Ixtoc oil well, which has been belching crude oil into the Gulf of Mexico since June 3 in history's biggest oil spill.

Some of the oil has washed up on Texas beaches, and private suits seeking more than $250 million and naming the Mexican oil monopoly Pemex among the defendants have been filed.

The State of Texas named Permargo, a private Mexican drilling company, as co-defendant in a suit seeking at least $10 million.

don't really kn damages here would be (from the salt)," said Rodolfo Fierro Marquez, a valley farmer who also is a member of Mexico's National Congress.

Thousands of small farmers gave up and went to the United States, legally or otherwise, they say, and while a few have come back, many more have not.

Soil washing projects and three or four years of using cotton lands temporarily for pasturing livestock is slowly bringing the valley around, and out of what farmers here still call "this American thing."

Pasturing cattle on the salty soil fertilizes it and increases the nitrogen level, Lopez Zepeda said. "There are parcels here planted this year, two of them, which have already yielded five bales of cotton per hectare (21/2 acres)," he said. "When the salinity was at its height, the lands gave us maybe one bale per hectare.' Specialists here say that 375,000 acres of the valley grew cotton before the salinity, but that the number fell to 112,500. It has returned to 187,500. But the farmers say the debts and the impact of the salination will remain long after the last of the salt is washed from the velley. And that, calculates Lopez Zepeda, may take five years or more of heavy spending and hard work.

New department facing time crush

- With time running short, a Carter administration task force is immersed in the task of setting up the new Department of Education.

Under the law, the government is allotted only six months to get a department ready for business once the Senate confirms the person to head that agency.

The Senate is expected to approve President Carter's nomination of Judge Shirley Hufstedler as secretary of education in early December.

For the reorganization force at the Office of Management and Budget, this means a presidential pledge must be turned into a live Cabinet-level department by the spring of 1980. The job is awesome. When the Education Department is fully operational, it will have some 17,000 employees and an annual budget in excess of $14 billion.

The OMB transition team, which helped shepherd the Department of Education bill through Congress, is faced with an arduous task that involves consolidation of 152 disparate federal programs under a single

Another set of probtems arises for programs, which eventually will become a part of the department, where policy decisions must be made before the agency is ready to operate.

'Any decisions that are required between now and then would take place within the current structure," said Nancy Leamond, special assistant on the team. "The actual operation of the program will continue at HEW (the department of Health, Education and Welfare) under Pat Harris' direction.

DESIGN DRAFTING TRAINEE

The Ortlaff Corporation's Midland division will soon begin of training program geared toward preparing an individual for a satisfying and rewarding technical career in the field of process piping design drafting. If you are a highly motivated individual seeking a chance to embark upon a rechaical career, or if you are now in a dead end job which does not offer you a future or a challenge, now is the time to take advantage of an opportunity to "earn as you learn" in this technical career field entry level program.

Successful candidates for this training program will be high school graduates who have good grades in math and preferably have taken trigonmetry. Applicants must suc-cessfully complete a design drafting aptitude test in order-to qualify for this program. It is preferred, though not mandatory, that applicants will have completed drafting courses in either high school or vocational training institutions. Basic prior drafting work experience would be a definite plus:

To arrange a personal interview, qualified candidates should contact Jane Tedford or Milt Williamson, Monday thru-Friday, 9 am to noon, at (915) 697-4111.

Aramco is the world's largest oil-producing company and the key firm involved in the development of the energy resources of Saudi-Arabia.

Some of our projects are the biggest in the world. They are staggering in their scope, complexity and imagination. That's why we're seeking more good project engineers right now.

Your vital tasks

You will be supervising contractors engaged in the design and construction of various oil/gas processing and production facilities or housing, recreational community or industrial support facilities.

Active projects include gas processing plants, oil and gas pipelines, crude oil desalting, crude oil production facilities, seawater treatment plants, refinery and terminal projects, and housing, recreational and infrastructure projects. Your initial assignment may be to work on new projects in an engineering contractor's office in the U.S. or Europe, with a transfer to Saudi Arabia after one or two years. Or, you may be assigned directly to Saudi Arabia on projects currently under construction.

Experience like this will get you the job Beyond your BS in Mechanical, Electrical, Chemical or Civil Engineering, you should have at least five years' experience in related activities such as these. Oil/gas production, pipeline or processing projects-on- or offshore. Also housing, recreational, community or industrial support projects.

Excellent combination of benefits offered

As a Project Engineer with Aramco, you can earn a competitive salary, plus a cost-ofliving differential. In addition, you get a tax-protected premium for overseas employment which can amount to as much as 40 percent of your base salary.

Beyond that, Aramco offers you a comprehensive benefits package which includes 40 days' paid vacation every 121/2 months (this gives you the opportunity to travel in Europe, Asia, Africa)-plus housing for singles and families, and American school systems for your children.

Interested? Send your résumé in confidence to: Aramco Services Company, Department MRT1104WEA, 1100 Milam Building, Houston, Texas 77002.

See how Capp Homes beats the high cost of housing.

Come see an open house that's totally unique. . . a Capp Homes Open House. What makes this open house so unusual? The house isn't even finished yet. The exterior is erected, but the interior is not yet complete. Why? Because we want you to see for yourself all the benefits of the "Finish-it-yourself house" program.

Because this house is unfinished and ready for it's owner to complete, you'll see the excellent quality of Capp construction materials and workmanship. Nothing is hidden, Capp Homes are custom built homes. Homes that the customer and Capp design together- nothing prefab or modular. We'll build from your plans, or you can choose from our large collection. Either way you get a truly custom designed home. At the open house you'll learn that by finishing it yourself, or with the help of tradesmep, you'll save a bundle- thousands of dollars, compared to having an ordinary builder construct the same house on your lot. By acting as your own general contractor you eliminate the middleman's mark up. And Capp Homes has financing available. . . both construction loans and permanent mortgages for qualified buyers. With Capp's construction loan comes the deferred payment feature. Some Capp customers finish their home and convert the construction loan into permanent financing before any construction loan payments fall due. Find out more this weekend. Come to the Open House. . . rain or shine.

HERE'S HOW TO GET TO THE OPEN HOUSE.

Time: noon to 5 pm Date: Sunday, November 4

In Midland, go north on Midland Drive to the end of the drive at the north end of Greentree Country Club. Then, turn west and drive to the end of the street and follow the Capp Homes Open House signs.

Voters to choose two governors, many mayors Tuesday

By DON McLEOD AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's voters on Tuesday will choose mayors in almost 50 big cities and governors in Mississippi and Ken-

As part of the municipal reform movement which swept the country early in this century, most cities elect mayors in "off" years so voters can focus on local government without the distraction of presidential or congressional races:

In Kentucky, Democrat John Y. Brown Jr., is predicting a landslide victory over former Republican Gov. Louie Nunn, who says he is running better than he did when he won the office in 1967.

Mississippi Republicans hope to elect millionaire businessman Gil Carmichael as their first post-Reconstruction governor, but Democrat William Winter, a political vetefan; is the acknowledged front-runner.

Philadelphia is the biggest city electing a mayor, with former Rep. William Green favored to succeed Frank Rizzo, who failed to get the city charter amended to allow him a third term. David Marston is the Republican nominee. Houston is expected to give Mayor Jim McConn another term, but new voting arrangements are expected to In Memphis, Mayor Wyeth Changive the large racial minorities their first seats on the city council.

Other large cities electing mayors include Baltimore, where Mayor Donald Schaefer is expected to defeat Samuel A. Culotta; Indianapolis, where Mayor William Hudnut faces Democrat Paul Bantwell; and Phoenix, where Mayor Margaret Hance faces Democrat Dan Fein.

dler and former Criminal Court Judge Otis Higgs will be matched in a Nov. 15 runoff.

After Philadelphia, the most exciting races come in San Francisco, where the first elections are being held since Mayor George Moscone was assassinated in a city hall shooting a year ago, and in Cleveland, where Mayor Dennis Kucinich is the underdog after narrowly surviving a recall last year.

Dianne Feinstein, a Democrat, was chosen to succeed Moscone and is seeking election Tuesday. There is a crowded field in the non-partisan election, however, and there could be a runoff Dec. 11.

Mayor Kevin White of Boston seeks an unprecedented fourth term in his rematch with Joe Timilty.

Florida oasis goes dry

(AP) - For 32 years, Andytown was a tiny but well-loved outpost near Alligator Alley where truckers, hunters and fishermen could get a fillup, a burger, a beer or a pint of something stronger to take into the Everglades.

But Wednesday night after a tearful farewell party, its ramshackle eatery, filling station and bait and tackle shop shut down forever. Soon Andytown, 20 miles west of Fort Lauderdale, will be bulldozed to make way for an interchange for Interstate 75.

"There are so many memories, so many people. People come here to relax. It's an oasis in the middle of nowhere,"said Gus Tsanos, who inherited the place from founder Andy Poulos.

Andytown was so remote that until a few years ago the only way to telephone the bar was to call a mobile radio operator and ask for "Andytown One."

According to local legend, Poulos, a Greek immigrant, bought the land in 1947 for $50,000 after he stopped at a diner and found flies in his milk. He left, only to come back the next day to build an outpost for family, friends and passersby.

"Andytown will be so large," he predicted, "that Miami will be its

But it was never really an incorporated town and never had more than 11 residents. Its last family moved out seven years ago. Its last resident, who lived in a tent, left several months ago.

The state bought out Poulos in 1967 for $180,-000, but let Andytown remain until it was ready to use the land.

Andytown made it onto a special allocation list during the summer's gasoline crisis. But the designation didn't save it from the state Department of Transportation. Tsanos fought for Andytown in court. He lost, and had until Nov. 1 to get out.

'It's just politics," said former customer Larry Johnson. "If they were millionaires, the DOT would have found a way to build that interchange around them."

On Halloween, Tsanos threw a party. With tears in his eyes, he served drinks and promised to try to find a new spot nearby, get a zoning variance and build another Andytown. The Rev. Nicholas C. Nick said a final blessing. Tsanos gave out Tshirts emblazoned with the fateful date.

Ohio trucker Bob Himburg, who thought he was stopping at an ordinary rural bar, got the last drink. It was free.

Air investment

due to increase

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's scheduled airlines - if they are to accommodate traffic growth with the most productive technology available — will have to invest $90 billion in new aircraft between 1979 and 1990, according to a study by the Air Transport Association. The study says the industry's major capitalinvestment needs consist of $80 billion for passenger aircraft to be delivered in the 1980s, $7 billion for freighter aircraft and $3 billion for passenger aircraft to be delivered in 1979.

Arabian horses flourish

By SYLWESTER KRUPPA

JANOW PODLASKI, Poland (AP) - U.S. Gen. George Patton saw the beautiful Arabian stallions first in the conquered Germany of 1945 and wasted no time.

"Put them aboard a plane for Stateside," he ordered.

Germans, . retreating before the Red Army in World War II, had stolen the horses from this small Polish town, some 60 miles east of War-

Patton's action caused a flurry of diplomatic notes and demarches. In the end, most of the horses were returned to Poland, but some remained in America, apparently because of the difficulty of tracing which horses came from

The borrowed horses established a line of Arabian horses in the United States, distinct from the more popular thoroughbreds, racehorses descended from breeding Arabian stallions with English mares.

Witez II, one of the Polish-Arabian stallions that spent time in the United States at the invitation of Patton, is regarded as the father of Arabian horses in America, officials at Janow said. His top U.S. descendants include Yatez, Natez and Bo-

The stud farm at Janow has organized annual auctions for the past two decades, and buyers come from Western Europe and America. In the beginning, a good stallion sold for a couple of thousand dollars. Now the bidding starts at $25,-

Today, Poland claims to be the top producer of Arabian horses in Europe, with its main world competition coming from Egypt.

This oldest Polish stud farm for Arabian horses first horses were the progeny of horses captured in the Turkish wars of the 17th and 18th cen-

A few years later a Polish aristocrat turned Moslem, Emir Rzewuski, who fought for the Arabs against the Turkish empire, stole some mares and a stallion from Nejd, in what is now Saudi Arabia, and brought them to Poland. Arabs sold stallions, but not mares.

The Janow stables and buildings were con-structed by Polish-Italian architect Henryk Marconi. The best horses are kept in the main stable under the clock tower. They are almost invariably gray, but sometimes dapple-gray.

The current prize horse is Ellorus, sired by Ellor, and stable chief Kazimierz Szmitkowski says he is priceless.

"Or perhaps we could put a price on him something near half a million dollars - but we would hate to sell him even for that. Or Eucalyptus, who wins all the beauty contests."

At this year's auction, 28 horses were sold to bidders from the United States, France, West Germany, Belgium, Mexico and Sweden for a total of $846,000, the stud farm's director, Jerzy Krzysztalowicz, said.

In Janow there are now 450 horses, including foals. There are three more Arabian stud farms, which altogether have about 300 horses, in Michalow, Kurozweki and Walewice.

And there is also a private breeder near Lublin, eastern Poland, Stanislaw Brauer, who has about 15 horses. But breeding Arabian horses costs a lot of money, and last year Brauer had to sell his prime mare Murcia for $6,000 to earn money for the upkeep of his other Arabians.

Horse breeding is not only a good moneyearner for Communist Poland, but Poles are among the top competitors in international horse shows. About 4,000 persons in the 35-millionpopulation country compete in horse jumping and other sports, the Polish Equestrian Association estimates.

Changes to affect lifestyles

WANT ADS work all ways. Work for less. Dial 682-6222

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

The changing American lifestyle will mean changing problems in the marketplace for shoppers of the 1980s, says the man who is retiring as the president of Consumers Union after more than 40 years on the job.

Colston E. Warne said the problems of the next decade will be different from today's "because the composition of the American living standard has altered. We're moving far more toward services and away from physical goods. More of your dollar goes for individual services, medical services and what have Warne, who has headed Consumers Union since it was founded in 1936 and who will retire from its presidency early next year, said the consumer movement is ready for the changes. He noted the growth of guides and handbooks, published by local groups, offering advice on services like auto repairs, hospitals, doctors and credit issuers. .

Consumers Union, which calls itself the world's largest producttesting and reporting organization, had 3,000 charter subscribers and a staff of 10 when it was founded. Today, the nonprofit group has about 250,000 members and a staff of 400.

The 79-year-old Warne said in a telephone interview from his home in Amherst, Mass., that the organization was, in a sense, lucky to survive.

In 1936, he recalled, the country was still emerging from the Depression. Poverty was widespread; people didn't consumer products. It was, Warne said, "not a propitious time.'

As the economy recovered, "we hit the second piece of bad luck - the advent of the defense economy and, very speedily thereafter, war." Warne added. The war brought "the cutting off of consumer goods An organization which tested radios and washing machines and so on did not have the place that it would have in a prosperous, peacetime economy.' It was only after the war that "the hunger for heavy durables was such that we had a spectacular curve and went ever upward," Warne said.

Today's products are "measurably safer" than those of 40 years ago, Warne said. "There has been a measurable improvement in legislation and in the functioning of federal protective agencies. I don't mean to laud them to the heavens. They could have done far better. But. there has been steady improvement in identification of consumer problems and correction."

Warne said consumers today are better educated. "The techniques of testing are improved ... the interchange of ideas

.. our standard-setting agencies have made real gains."

He also said problems remain. "There's quite a little struggle on ... safety, still. What is a safe automobile? The side effects of drugs.

Warne said that when he, as an individual, goes shopping, he is particularly irritated by "the lack of standards of size." Try to compare one product that weighs 471/2 ounces, for example, with another that comes in a two-pound, 12-ounce

The whole truth-inpackaging bill hasn't gone far enough to provide full disclosure to the consumer," Warne said. Companies are required to list things like additives and preservatives, "but the package sizes are still askew. Warne started out in life intending to be a banker. After graduation from Cornell University, he was appointed to the faculty of the University of Pittsburgh. He lived with a steelworker's family and his interests shifted from banking to

Texas land loss workshop to be held in Dallas

WASHINGTON, D.C — The impact of agricultural land losses upon the nation's present and future ability to produce food and fiber will be discussed in public workshops in 17 states, including Texas, through Dec. 12, said Bob Bergland, secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

'We are especially interested in the effects of agricultural land losses upon present and future food supplies," Bergland said.

The Texas workshop will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the Quality Inn at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

"Our aim is to recapture from individual citizens and public interest groups an in-depth knowledge of the status of agricultural lands in their region," said Gus Speth, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality. He and Bergland are co-chairmen of the workshops

At the workshop, inquries will be made into the most rapidly growing local demands for agricultural land, the amount and quality of lands converted to non-agricultural uses, the proportion of the population affected, the irreversibility and possible escalation of those losses and the adverse consequences for present and future generations.

Agricultural comodities talk set

An introduction to the techniques of investing and hedging agricultural commodities will be discussed from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Midland

Midland Pecan Growers to meet

The Midland Pecan Growers_Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday to discuss the MPGA's annual pecan show Nov. 26 and 27 in the Dellwood Mall Shopping Center, according to Margie Shaw, association secretary.

The meeting will be in County Agent Charlie Green's office on the second floor on the Midland County Courthouse Annex Building, 218 W.

A pecan growers seminar in conjunction with the show will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 26 in the Community Room of Commercial Bank & Trust Co. It will be led by Dr. Michael Kilby, an horticulturist from El Paso, and by Dr. Kenneth Lindsey, an agronomist from Fort Stockton. Both are connected with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Both backyard and orchard pecan growers interested in entering the show may turn in 40 of their best pecans from any one variety to collection points at the county agent's office in the Courthouse annex, CA&L Pecan Co. office off the Rankin Highway, or to the manager's office at Dellwood Mall Producer defends Cotton Inc.

LUBBOCK - Cotton producer Joe D. Unfred of New Home is sticking firmly with Cotton Inc. despite recent controversy that CI allegedly made mistakes.

But he said CI's "sins" aren't grave enough to outweigh any of its major

'To me as a producer and to the industry as whole," he said, "the fact that several major retail chains now offer 100 percent cotton shirts and 100 percent cotton sheets is far more important than the fact that CI executives traveled on the Concord instead of a less expensive fight...(and) that several thousand bales of U.S. cotton were sold into new export markets is more impressive than the fact that the sales allegedly were the result of referrals made in violation of the CI charter."

Unfred said the cotton industry and everyone else needs to follow the advice of a morale-booster song, popularized during World War II: "You gotta accentuate the positive; eliminate the negative; latch onto the affirmative, and don't mess with Mr. In-Between.'

"If enough of us set out to resolve the CI issue by that formula, we can build on CI's good points, correct its bad points and get on with the busimore profitable cotton industry," he said ness of creating a stronger

"Unfred also noted that CI's engineering research improved on cotton handling efficiency via the module builder and gin module feeders.

Cotton market news line established

ABILENE - The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service has set up a telephone news line to give farmers direct reports on the cotton market. The telephone number is 915-676-4211.

The number connects the caller to the Cotton Market News Telephone in Abilene, and "Market news reporter Leland Vernon will have the very latest cotton market news for you," according B.B. Manly Jr., area director of the Abilene Marketing Services office.

The service will continue through March 1 program building committee.

Projects to be reviewed

Progress of the year's agriculture-related projects in Midland County will be reviewed at a barbecue replete with home-cooked dishes at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Valley View Community Building southeast of Midland. The feed is being sponsored by the Midland County Extension Service's

45,000 samples classed last week

ABILENE - The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Cotton Market Services Office here classed about 45,000 samples from cotton bales last week and 115,000 samples for the season

Local cotton prices were steady to slightly lower during the past week, reported B.B. Manly, area director of the office. Bid prices were from six to 10 cents over the loan values, he said. Most cotton sold at eight to nine cents over the loan, but some low micronaire cotton was reduced in price by 1 to 21/2 cents per pound.

The demand was good, the supply was moderate and the trading was moderate to active, he reported.

Early harvested cotton was about 85 percent White grades. About 7 percent of the samples were reduced in grade due to grass content, bark content or rough preparation, he said.

FBI joins search for escapee

CLINTON, N.J. (AP) - The FBI joined the search for escaped murderer JoAnne Chesimard on Saturday as investigators tried to determine whether her bolt from prison was engineered by the Black Liberation

State Police Capt. Gordon Hector said the militant organization "is not of any magnitude anymore," but added: "There are still diehards... Yesterday's action proves that.'

Ms. Chesimard, once described by authorities as the "soul" of the Black Liberation Army, escaped Friday from a maximum security section of the Corrections Institution for Women.

FBI agent Andy Polumbo said the bureau obtained a federal warrant for Ms. Chesimard's arrest on charges of unlawful flight. He said it would facilitate a national search.

Ms. Chesimard was in prison for killing a state trooper on the New Jersey Turnpike in 1973.

The escape scheme was put into motion shortly after 3 p.m. Friday when three black men and a white woman signed into the prison as visitors, then pulled guns and commandeered a prison shuttle van, police

The group forced a male guard to drive them to the maximum security building where the Ms. Chesimard, 31, and 16 other inmates lived in individual cells, police said.

There they forced another male guard to bring Ms. Chesimard to reception area. They then held the guards hostage and drove to their van parked at the nearby Hunterdon State School, Corrections Department spokesman James Stabile said.

There were no shots fired, and both hostages were released unharmed. Ms. Chesimard was sentenced to life in prison for the murder of Trooper Werner Foerster and wounding of Trooper James Harper during a gun battle on the turnpike. Clark Squire, another militant leader, was convicted of the same charges in a seperate trial. He was serving a life term at Trenton State Prison until September. He is now at the Leavenworth, Kansas, federal prison.

In January 1976, violence erupted at Trenton State Prison when an apparent bid to spring Squire was foiled.

Section of Midkiff Road closed for improvements for improvements, according to the Odessa office of the State Department

Texas Construction Co. of Corpus Christi for the improvement of Midkiff Road between FM 868 (Loop 250) and a point near Maxwell Drive. The length of the project is about 0.8 mile and 80 working days are allowed to complete the work

The department said closing Midkiff Road between Wadley Avenue and FM 868 will allow the company to redo the entire roadway rather than working on half the roadway at a time and detouring traffic through the construction area. This will lessen the length of time needed for construction and decrease the inconvenience to traffic, said a department spokes-

Traffic should detour this area by using Wadley Avenue and FM 868 for east-west traffic and Midland Drive and Garfield Street for north-south traffic. Haynes Drive will remain open through the middle of the project for east-west traffic in order to provide access to the individual streets and properties in the construction area.

The existing two-lane paved roadway will be reconstructed to a width of 80 to 86 feet with curb and gutter. The 80-foot section will extend from Wadley Avenue to Moss Avenue and will provide for four traffic lanes, a continuous two-way left turn lane and two parallel parking lanes.

The remainder of the project from Moss Avenue to FM 868 will provide for six traffic lanes and a continuous two-way left turn lane. Curb and gutter with roadways at the future interchange location on Loop 250 also will be constructed in this project.

The city of Midland is providing $160,000 of the cost of the project for storm sewer and curb and gutter work. The state is providing $100,000 of the cost for work within the Loop 250 right-of-way with the remaining cost covered by a 75 percent federal and 25 percent state participating

The project is expected to meet the traffic demands efficiently for a minimum 20-year design period in the fast developing area.

John Aldridge, resident engineer in Midland, is in charge of the project with District Engineer A. Henry Pearson of Odessa providing overall

Research projects seek low-level radiation facts

Dear Dr. Solomon: Whenever I get ready to go for my annual physical examination or for a dental checkup, my wife insists I should not permit the doctor or dentist to take routine X-rays. All the talk about the risk of cancer from X-rays is very confusing. Is it possible that they do more harm than good? - Larry.

Get in with WANT ADS when salesman can't, Dial 682-6222

Dear Larry: The government is preparing a number of research projects designed to help answer your question. We know that high doses of radiation can cause cancer, but we're not certain about the effects of low = level radiation

Joseph A. Califano, former secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). says that current assumptions about the risk from exposure to low levels of radiation are open to question. He notes that some recent studies of nuclear workers in Washington, of Utah residents who lived in the vicinity of the nuclear bomb tests 20 to 30 years ago, and of residents of New York, Minnesota and Maryland who were exposed to medical X-rays all suggest that the incidence of leukemia may be higher than was previously assumed.

Even with the government's active participation, the effects of low-dose radiation will not be simple to document. Such studies ideally should include large, controlled study populations exposed over many years: Since cancer develops over a long period of time, it will never be possible to pinpoint the specific cause of any given case. Through the years, a person may also have been exposed to other carcknogens, such as benzene, which can produce the same ef-

University of Utah to study the long-term health effects from radioactive fallout in areas downwind from the Nevada Nuclear Weapons Test Site. This is the area where above-ground nuclear testing took place during the 1950s.

Former Secretary Califano has pointed out that about 50 percent of all radiation to which the public is exposed comes from naturally occurring radioactive materials in the water, soil and air. Of the remaining 50 percent, 90 percent comes from medical and dental use of X-ray equipment, and radioactive materials used for diagnosis and treatment.

The studies currently being undertaken should eventually help us to better define the risis inherent in exposure to low-level radiation.

New breed of 'talking' typewriters called boon for blind

By KEVIN McKEAN

NEW YORK (AP) - A new generation of typewriters is coming - ing" typewriters for the blind.

IBM's Office Products Division introduced one new model Friday, and at least one other model, made by PMI Inc. of Inglewood, Calif., has been on the market since May. Several other companies are working in the types onto a regular keyboard that is hooked to an electronic memory which remembers what he typed.

With these machines, a blind person

The machine then reads the copy back with a computer-generated voice, so the blind person can hear and correct mistakes.

The voice sounds a bit like someone with both a thick accent and a bad cold. But it is clear enough to hear errors, and the operator can then go back to that point in the text, have the voice spell through the erroneous word letter-by-letter, and correct it. Later, the machine types an errorfree copy onto paper. Manufacturers expect these machines to open new careers for blind people. There are already 7,400 blind typists in the United States, according to government estimates, and some state governments will underwrite the cost of new equipment that makes it possible to hire a handicapped per-tari said Friday that the company's Audio Typing Unit will be test marketed in New York, Chicago, Washington, San Francisco and Austin, Texas, beginning next spring.

The voice synthesizer and its control board cost $9,300. They must be used with one of IBM's Memory or Mag Card typewriters, which range in price from $4,900 to $8,920. A somewhat less expensive model with the same basic features is the Digivox, made by PMI.

The Digivox sells for $3,100 with what is known as a dot matrix printer, which does not have the quality of typewriting. With typed printing, the price is "under $5,000," PMI president Ty Gray said. While IBM plans to concentrate on the office market, the makers of Digivox think its low price makes it suitable for office or home. During a demonstration Friday, the IBM machine performed well except for a few wrinkles of the voice synthesizer. It pronounced the word "typewriter" as "type-you-writer," an apparent attempt to pronounce the silent two-letter combination "ew" in the middle of the word. The word "character" came out "sharacter." IBM scientists said that mistake stemmed from the need to pronounce "ch-2" words like "charade" and "chair" correctly. The Digivox's voice program is prone to similar errors, its makers

Several Junior Achievement companies have met the necessary requirements to be designated as Blue Chip companies for October.

They are Bell Craft. counseled by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.; Chevco, counseled by Chevron USA, Inc.; Funky Things Co., counseled by Texaco, Inc.; and Jamo, counseled by Mobil Oil Corp.

Blue Chip requirements are monthly versions of the Company of the Year qualifying requirements.

Factors in the contest include reporting, safety, attendance, sales, management report, finance, board meeting minutes, discussion topic or plant tour, wall charts and a bonus for new members

Also, at the end of the sixth week, the greatest increase in the number of employees was posted by Plantek, a Junior Achievement company counseled by Union Texas Petroleum.

Plantek was followed by Chevco and Jamo. Plantek manufactures planters and sells advertising. One of the Plantek Achievers recently received the largest paycheck issued in October by any of the companies,

Old debt marked off

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Fifty-five years ago, Dr. James Shupe treated a boy in Phoenix, Ariz. Shupe knew the boy's family was struggling to make ends meet, so he told the boy's mother to take whatever time she needed to pay the $200 bill.

Now, the doctor's son, Dr. R.D. Shupe, says he has been contacted by the man his father treated. The younger Shupe, also an Arizona physician, said the man was worried the bill was never paid and wants to make it right.

The man, a Salt Lake City resident who asked not to be identified, recently offered to pay Shupe $860 — the original $200, plus 6 percent interest for 55 years.

Shupe said the man told him he was going over family documents and could find no record that the bill was paid. He said he was impressed by the generosity of the elder Shupe and was bothered that the debt might not have been set-

The Salt Lake man said money was scarce for the family while his father worked in Utah.

Shupe said his father, who died in 1934, was a compassionate man who cared little for money. He said he considers the debt paid.

"Please wipe this matter from your conscience," Shupe wrote to the Salt Lake man. "My father would have wanted it that way." ...

The Beaux Arts Ball is a project of Act IX, auxiliary to

Agents looking for 20 'good' men

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) - The FBI and the Social Security Administration have been ordered to help track down some 20 men due more than $250,000 from the federal government for their participation in a syph-

In a ruling disclosed Monday, U.S. Circuit Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. instructed the federal agencies to use their resources to locate the remaining participants of the Tuskegee syph-

About 600 poor, uneducated black men were used during the 40-year study by the U.S. Public Health Service to determine the effects of untreated syphilis on the human body.

After the existence of the study was disclosed in 1972, a $1.8 billion damage suit was brought against the government in behalf of the participants of the study. The suit was settled in 1974 when the government agreed to pay a total of $9 million in damages. Most of the participants or their families already have received their share of that set-

But attorneys for the participants have been unable to find any trace of about 20 participants. If they are not located by Dec. 18, their shares will revert to the government.

Before the study ended in 1972, men were persuaded to take part by promises of free meals, transportation, and medical treatment for ailments other than syphilis. But the Public Health Service never told the 400 who actually had syphilis about their disease, using them instead to determine the effects of unf treated syphilis.

Single women buying homes

By JAMES M. WOODARD Copley News Service

Housing and the single woman. It's becoming the most significant love affair in the country.

Last year one out of every 12 home sales involved a purchase by a single woman. Next year that rate is expected to climb to one out of every 10

That reflects a surprisingly rapid jump in the home-buying activities of single gals. As recent as 1976 they accounted for only one in 16 home sales. If you focus in on condominiums, a full one-third of the sales last year were to single women. And that proportion is also growing.

By single women we're referring to those who have never married and those who have been widowed, divorced or separated.

One of the reasons for this very significant trend in the home-selling market is simply the increasing number of single women. The proportion of women age 20 to 24 remaining single increased from 28 percent in 1960 to 43 percent in 1976, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

Also, women are moving up in the business and professional world. They hold higher-paying jobs and are thus in a stronger position to buy and finance a home of their own.

Another important factor is passage of the Equal Credit Opportunity Act. This made it illegal for a lender to discriminate against a woman in determining whether or not a home loan will be granted.

. In fact, the act states that a lender may not even request information regarding marital status, spouse, former spouse, birth control practices or intentions concerning childbearing.

The lender cannot inquire whether or not any income stated in a loan application is from alimony, child support or separate maintenance Single women today, with more freedom, money and income potential than ever before, are particularly interested in sound investment opportunities. They see ownership of a home as probably the best investment obtainable in the current market.

Ms. Bond worked for Look Magazine and Women's Wear Daily in New She currently is southwest editor

Tech's medical school doctors returning home

By SANDI BREEDEN Lifestyle Writer

There was a promise of a new school, new graduates and doctors for West Texas. The doctors are arriving and one is now practicing medicine in

As a member of Texas Tech's Medical School's first full term graduating class, this young doctor has finally polished off his training and is now in private practice in the Tall City.

He was the only Mexican-American in the graduating class - and the only non-Anglo member sitting with the class anxiously waiting to get that hard-earned diploma.

IF THAT'S NOT enough uniqueness for one man, try this one. He is the medicine in Midland.

in when young Mendez walked through its doors, without having finished his undergraduate training.

"After Tech accepted me, I cancelled my interviews with the rest of the schools. J. wanted to go to a Texas school," he said.

Mendez said he does not feel that his being a Mexican-American got him admitted to the medical school. "Minority recruitment was not in effect at that time," he said.

Texa's Tech Medical School became a reality in the barren plains area because of former Texas Governor Pres ton Smith. The university itself had been around some time, but the plains and West Texas area needed a medical school so the area students would not have to get their feet wet by going to the coast to learn to be a doctor, nor by going to "med" school at Waco and Dallas.

Dr. J. Ernesto Mendez is unique and in addition to that he is notably intelligent, and very open.

Mendez has practiced his entire young career in Midland since July of this year, only one mont's after he finished his residency.

THIS IS NOT the typical story, however, of the hometo wn boy going off to college, getting his education, and returning home.

Mendez was born in Mexico, became a United States citizen at the age of 12, was raised in El Paso and educated in privates schools.

After graduatin g from high school, he attended the University of San Fransico for three years and the University of Texas at El Paso for one

WOULD-BE DOCTORS attending Tech medical school must receive part of their training at other cities since Lubbock is not equipped with enough doctors and hospitals to take care of the influx of "med" stu-

Mendez took full advantage of that situation by also training at the University of Florida at Gainesville, Fla., John Hopkins in Baltimore, Md., and other institutions of learning.

Mendez did his residency at the University of Mississippi at Jackson, Miss., completing it in June,

He and his family moved to Midland after considering several other places."My wife is from this area, and we really leaned towards Midland and Odessa," Mendez said.

THE YOUNG GYNECOLOGIST, who puts his work second to his wife and two sons, is proud, and rightfully so, of being a doctor. "You are exposed to an increasing horizon in every manifestation of our society,"

A ssociated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The outraged father of 2-year-old Kristin Gore stormed into the congressional investigatory office, appalled that for six months his daughter had taken a formula now linked to severe internal disorders. "She's all right now," Rep. Albert Gore Jr., D-Tenn., says of his rambunctious toddler. "We consider ourselves extremely fortunate that she was also eating solid foods, and so had no ill effects.'

But Gore isn't letting the matter rest.

Today he summoned representatives of the manufacturer and the Food and Drug Administration before a congressional hearing.

Gore wants to know why the formula, Neo-Mull-Soy, was sold without chloride, a component of salt that humans must have to live.

And he wants to know why the FDA didn't make sure the formula and a sister product, Cho-Free, were removed from store shelves after the agency issued a recall of the products three months ago. "I'm outraged that we as parents have been

Gore demanded the investigation after hearing recent news reports that Neo-Mull-Soy was still being sold in two Washington-area pharmacies.

On Wednesday, the FDA said four of 99 pharmacies checked by its inspectors still had the two chloride-free formulations on the shelf.

The FDA said it also found the formula on sale at pharmacies in Boston. Miami and Mayaguez, Puerto Rico. Gore said his staff found the formula on shelves in Tennessee, too. The formulas' maker, Syntex Laboratories Inc., of Palo Alto, Calif., recalled the two soybased formulas Aug 2., after reports that some babies fed nothing but the milk substitutes had suffered constipation and lethargy. There were no reports of deaths from the condition.

Are you dying to go to a party, but don't know anyone well enough yet to have been invited? That's easy have one yourself.

Who on earth will you invite? Well, for openers, ask the people who are your husband's closest acquaintances at work. Then add all the people who have befriended you in any way during your move and resettlement. That could include the real estate sales person and spouse, the landlady your husband might have had before you arrived, the neighbor who brought you a plate of cookies on moving day and her husband and the neighbor you met at the dumpster, and her hus-

NOW THAT'S a diverse group, but they'll truly appreciate your thoughtfulness and you'll love the conversation as they get to know one another, comparing stories of when they came to Midland and what they do.

What theme do you use? Who needs one? "Just because it's Wednesday." or "Thank God it's Friday" or "We feel like a party and you're invited" - all are legitimate excuses. Make your special appetizers and hors d'oeuvres and serve libation for those who do and those who don't (since you're not sure) and enjoy!

I HAD A HOLIDAY open house one time for neighbors who had lived in that neighborhood for years and had never been introduced. Afterward, they all thanked me for bringing them together, but little did they know what it had done for me.

With Thanksgiving only three weeks away, consider sharing it with a new friend or even a stranger, if you're not able to be with your family.

Colleges often have kids who are lonely over holidays because it's too far to go home, and there are foreign students who would appreciate sharing this uniquely American holiday in your home. Call the Registrar's Office for names. Or, remember the singles of any age, who would like to be part of a family, if just for a day.

Reach out with love and your home will glow with warmth and happi-

Wildflowers are being sold by garden club

The Tejas Garden Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Joe Meroney, 1208 Douglas.

Mrs. W.H. McClure of Odessa, wildflower chairman of District I, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., was there to discuss a project of Texas Garden Clubs. J.C. Penney Co. is selling American Wildflowers linens endorsed by the garden clubs of Texas, which get 1 percent of all sales.

The Patio Sale slated Nov. 3 at Lancaster Garden Center and the Nov. 14 Southern Zone Meeting in Big Spring were discussed.

The program was on Christmas decorations. Each member brought a Christmas decoration or arrange ment for show.

NEW YORK (AP) group claiming responsibility for a bomb that damaged the Cuban Mission said it wanted to strike during Fidel Castro's visit here but was foiled by heavy police protection.

'We didn't want to kill any policemen," ar anonymous caller told The Associated Press after the explosion near the mission late Saturday night. The Cuban president was in New York two weeks ago.

The explosion in trash container blew out a side door of the mission and shattered windows. Two policemen were treated for cuts and bruises. The group, calling itself Omega Seven, has claimed responsibility for other attacks or the East Coast.

As the world's favorite flower, roses have been treasured for centuries. Jack Harkness, author of "The World's Favorite Roses," (McGraw Hill), comments that the ancient Greeks grew roses to make scented oils.

While Harkness doesn't discuss waxing roses, his book features a multitude of roses in lavish color, plus instructions for gardening, arranging, and propagat-ing them. He also provides recipes for rose preserves, directions for rose-hips wine, and hints fin wax, double boiler, for wearing roses in but-

Operators reaping success exploring for petroleum in Tuscaloosa wedge

TULSA — Operators are stacking success upon success in their push to explore and develop South Louisiana's lower Tuscaloosa wedge.

Their campaign has turned the 200mile-long trend into one of the Lower 48's most expensive lease palys, Oil & Gas Journal reports.

Lease bonuses for prospective acreage are skyrocketing. And abo million acres are under lease, double the Jan. 1, 1978, estimate.

Potential gas reserves for the trend are pagged as high as 60 trillion cubic feet, the Journal declares. All or most of that volume appears to be in deep reservoirs - below 15,000-feet - with production qualifying for free market prices Dec. 1 under provisions of the Natural Gas Policy Act.

Four new strikes have been scored during 1979 — the most for any single year since the play opened in 1975, according to Louisiana's official tally. One of those, the weekly business magazine says, is an updip oil discovery which may touch off a leasing and drilling surge equaling the trend's deep natural gas play.

Other wildcats are being readied for tests which may prove them significant strikes or field extensions. In addition, operators are pushing development drilling.

And the list of planned or newly completed gas processing or treating plants is growning.

Some disappointments are balancing the good news and heavy action, however, according to the Journal. The trend's string of field strikes hasn't pushed any farther west than Shell Oil Co.'s 1978 Big Cane discovery in St. Landry Parish. The province's tricky geology and relatively

TO&G fails to get order

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas Oil and Gas Co. has failed in an attempt to obtain a court order blocking the revocation of $1-per-acre leases to oil and gas rights on 33,000 acres at Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus canceled the leases Thursday. Texas Oil and Gas petitioned a federal court at Washington on Friday to bar Andrus' order. U.S. District Judge Joyce Green ruled that the Dallas-based firm had failed to prove that it would suffer irreparable harm because of Andrus' In a related development, a request by Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., prompted Andrus on Friday to halt Bumpers' office said Friday that at Bumpers' request, Andrus has ordered a moratorium on oil and gas leases on military reservations until an examination of the "fairest and most responsible" method of leasing such lands is completed. Sheffield Nelson, president of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., said revocation of the oil and gas rights leases at Fort Chaffee is a major victory for Arkla had been counting on natural gas from Fort Chaffee for long-term gas supplies for it's 400,000 Arkansas customers, Nelson said.

Bumpers and Sens. Russell Long and Bennett Johnson, both D-La., had argued that the lease area was surrounded by producing wells.

The Arkansas senator said hearings on the matter by a Senate subcommittee showed that the US. Geological Survey had not used proper calculations in awarding the leases without taking bids.

Tenneco chief says all-out gas production vital to U.S.

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) - James L. Ketelsen says it is vital the nation produce and import all available natural gas.

"We are going to need all the natural gas we can get our hands on, from both domestic and supplemental sources, to help keep the pipelines full, not only to the year 2000 but well beyond," said the Tenneco Inc. chair-

Ketelsen believes natural gas will be available at near today's volume of 18 to 20 trillion cubic feet a year the next two decades but with supplemental sources, with governmental approval, accounting for nearly onehalf the supplies by the year 2000.

"If we don't get the supplements, we will have to increase oil imports by the same amount," he said.

"This is reason enough for this country to go all out for natural gas. If gas supply gets bigger, oil imports go down, and the reverse also is true." Ketelsen said a lot of domestic gas, possibly 12 to 14 trillion cubic feet a year, will continue to be found. "Higher prices have stimulated exploration," he said. "We're drilling more wells, we're drilling deeper, and in coming years we'll be able to produce in deeper

Ketelsen said the Oklahoma-Texas Anadarko Basin is a classic example of the upsurge in deep drilling. The number of wells drilled below 15,000 feet, he said, moved from 40 in 1974 to 61 in 1975 and 1976, 77 in 1977, and 133

'The Anadarko has a new field wildcat success rate of 31 percent,' end of next year, 10 years will have elapsed since reserve bookings last exceeded production in the United States," Ketelsen said.

In a recent speech before the American Gas Association, Ketelsen said gas prices set under the 1978 Natural Gas Policy Act already are out of date and he called for full deregulation as provided in the act by

Ketelsen said there is urgent need for access to the best prospects for exploration, most of which involve federal lands. And he said there is need for maximum purchases of natural gas by pipeline from Mexico and Canada. On liquefied natural gas imports, Ketelsen said, the government should stop rejecting such projects and "make a U-turn and encourage all projects that offer gas to us at a competitive price.' He said large volumes of LNG should over the next 20 years come from the Middle East, Africa, Asia and South America.

"There is good reason to be optimistic about LNG, starting with the plain fact it's there," Ketelsen said. "We're talking about proved gas reserves, you can't finance a 20-year,

Liftall forklifts latest Fields-Newton addition

Fields-Newton International, Stanton, has added the Liftall line of forklifts to complement the present line, the Komatsu. Komatsu forklifts are, for the most part, designed for warehouse use or on smooth ground. The Liftall, on the other hand, is designed as a rough terrain type fork-lift. The Liftall is the Cadillac of the towable forklifts. They are built, not just tough, but better.

Thirty percent of Liftall's total production is for the rental industry. That tells about Liftall toughness. Nothing takes abuse like rental equipment. Downtime is money out of the pocket. Combine Liftall versatility and toughness, and you get the best total value in the industry.

Liftalls are available in the right size for YOUR job. Sizes range from the 4-6 thousand-pound capacity on up to the top-capacity industrial pneumatic XH series which can handle up to 80 thousand pounds. Included in the line is the FWD, four-wheel-drive, capacity 6-8 thousand pounds. Liftall's towable forklifts are easily and safely moved from one job to another at highway speed. Warranty and service is behind every Liftall. You can depend on Liftall's reputation for parts and service through their international dealer network. RapidShip International supplies parts and service for this area.

This time, move up to Liftall!! Fields-Newton International, Stanton, 708 N. Lamesa Highway, Stanton.

The Liftall line of forklifts, designed for use on rough terrain, is available now at Fields-Newton International in Stanton. Liftall is the Cadillac of the towable forklifts. Fields-Newton International, 708 Lamesa Highway, Stanton. Phone 756-3372.

Fed hopes recent actions will slow down inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Reserve Board is hoping its recent credit-tightening actions will slow inflation and permit the loosening of credit within six months, says its vice chairman, Frederick H. Schultz.

Schultz, who testified Tuesday before the House Small Business Committee's subcommittee on credit availability, was responding to Rep. Henry J. Nowak, D-N.Y. Nowak, the subcommittee chairman, said small businesses may need special help in obtaining affordable credit if the board maintains its tightmoney policies for long. And he contended an extended period of tight or expensive credit without government relief would "irreparably cripple" small businesses.

Schultz expressed confidence that banks would provide adequate credit to keep small businesses afloat during the tight-money phase. And he noted many banks voluntarily use a "two-tier" credit system that provides lower interest rates to small businesses than to larger companies.

Schultz also cited last week's letter from Fed Chairman Paul Volcker to banks, which urged particular sensitivity to the needs of small businesses during the period of tight credit.

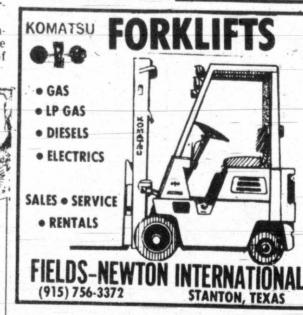

Rep. Toby Roth, R-Wis., challenged Schultz's claim that the board's actions would dampen inflation, saying high energy costs likely would fuel a recession and high inflation for the foreseeable

...and we have only to look at the past to know how true this is. For example. . . ten years ago the citizens of Midland set some priorities that they felt would help Midland become a better place in which to live and work. . .

LOOK WHAT'S HAPPENED

A 4-lane, divided highway that will encircle Midland on the North is scheduled to be begun in a few months. This loop road will speed traffic to all parts of the city, thus enabling better movement of all people within the community. This much-needed artery has resulted directly from the work of the Chamber of Commerce.

Tenneco inks project pact

HOUSTON - Tenneco Oil Exploration and Production announced the signing of a contract with Gruy Federal, Inc., for a joint project to study the feasibility of recovering natural gas and heat from saline water far below the earth's surface.

The test, funded by the U.S. Department of Energy, will begin this winter and should aid in the evaluation of geopressure-geothermal energy as a possible alternate source of

The well to be used for this deep geopressure-geothermal test is about 19 miles southeast of Houma, La. It was originally drilled by Tenneco as a convential exploratory well for natural gas but was unsuccessful.

During the drilling, casing was installed through potential geo-energy resourece sands. Thus, only completion and production testing of the sands are now required. Completion operations are expected to begin this winter, and testing will continue into Tenneco is responsible for field operations and will supply the field operating personnel. Gruy Federal is the prime contractor for the test with the Department of Energy and will analyze and report the test results.

The zone to be tested in between 17,098 to 17,180 feet. Conditions expected to be encountered are a temperature of 300 degrees Fahrenheit, a static closed-in pressure of more than 7,000 pounds per square inch, and a flow rate approaching 30,000 barrels of water per day. Recoverable natural as is expected to be at least 25 cubic feet per barrel of water.

Thai reports Seattle plan

SEATTLE (AP) - Thai Airways International has announced plans to buy nine Boeing 747s for $600 million, establish the firm's U.S. headquarters here and donate two baby elephants to the city zoo.

The announcements were made Friday by Capt. Brom na Thalang, Thai Airways president, who accepted delivery of his country's first 747.

He said that in addition to the four 747s currently on order, the Thai government had approved the purchase of two more and options on three others that could be delivered after March 1982 - a deal worth $600 million if all the options are exercised.

When Thai Airways launches Bangkok-Seattle service on April 2. Brom said, Seattle will become the airline's permanent U.S. headquarters.

Balance relief seen

WASHINGTON (AP) - Most-favored-nation tariff status for China will help the U.S. balance of trade and give some relief to inflation-weary American consumers, a supporter of improved U.S.-Chinese trade relations said Friday.

Christopher H. Phillips, president of the National Council for U.S.-China Trade, said the lower tariffs on Chinese goods will boost commerce between the two nations by about $540° million over the next three years.

Phillips said the favored trade status also would lead to a wider variety of Chinese exports to the United States at prices close to those from other Asia countries.

He said that beside textiles, China can be expected to sell the United States light machine tools, hand tools, sporting equipment, toys and some chemical products. He said the Chinese will also be encouraged to buy

Consumer loan firms want increase in rates

By BILL KIDD

AUSTIN - Add consumer loan companies to the list of financial institutions wanting to get an increase in their lending rates.

Vernon Lemens Sr., counsel for the Texas Finance Institute, says the lenders, at their recent convention in Irving, agreed they must make another effort to get the Legislature to increase interest rates charged on small loans.

"We're going to run the mile race," Lemens says, reporting TFI is "in the process of evolving" a measure to be offered in the Legislature.

Increases in the prime interest rate have worsened already difficult times for small lenders," Lemens says, adding "we've never had anything as tough.

One lender he has talked with has indicated, Lemens comments, that "he's ready to get out..He'll swap it for what he's got in it" - because with current costs of money, there's no profit to be made. And indications are that the situation will continue into the future, Lemens notes. Consumers may be on hand in 1981 to support an increase in consumer loan rates, he believes, because small loans are drying up throughout

Loans of $100 are being made, but few others, due to the rate structure, he says. Lemens says lenders will be talking with the Texas Consumer Association, one of the principal opponents in past years to increasing loan rates, in hopes of getting TCA's support, "because if they don't (assist), the people they represent will not be able to get loans. Efforts this year by Rep. Don Cartwright, San Antonio, to create a new loan category for loans in the $300 range, were defeated in the House of Representatives.

Efforts continue by the House in the matter of interest rates on home mortgage loans, with the House Financial Institutions Committee planning a Nov. 12 meeting. The committee also is completing work on a survey form to query mortgage lenders on the availability of money, demand for funds, and related items, to determine a comparison for the first three quarters of 1979 compared to the first three quarters

That form, which still musst be approved by the committee, is expected to be distributed around the latter part of this month.

* Texas Resources and Environment Council reports Texas industry and individuals recycled more than 65 million pounds of glass, aluminum and steel during the first half of 1979, according to figures compiled by

TREC from its members. Those figures include materials recycled by major industries, TREC says, with independent recyclers estimated to recycle an additional five to 10 percent Aluminum cans formed the largest part of the material, with some 37.1 million pounds of aluminum reported recycled Glass accounted for 21 million pounds (with the total for 1978 being 29 million). Steel and other ferrous materials are being seperated from processed solid waste at two Texas locations one in Houston (recovering 25 tons per day) and one in Odessa (recovering 10 to 12 tons daily). The two locations, TREC reports, have the capability of recovering 200 million steel cans or 14 million pounds

More ferrous materials are expected to be extracted when more municipal waste recovery facilities become operational, TREC says.

TREC Chairman Thomas R. Dunn says the response of individuals to recycling has been "tremendous" in Texas. "As technology increases to make recycling more economically feasible," he says, "we are sure that both individuals and industry will re-

"There's no reason that a package cannot be further utilized after its initial use," Dunn comments, adding, 'we can convert waste to everything from energy to fertilizer, or we can remanufacture it to make new containers...at reduced cost and energy consumption."

U.S. economists divided on question of recession

AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - It was just about one year ago, with reports of a "dollar crisis" almost daily headline fare, that President Carter strode into the White House press room and dropped a bombshell on the currency

At 9 a.m. on Nov. 1 last year, Carter unleashed a surprise dollar defense plan aimed at reversing the currency's unprecedented decline which had brought it to record lows against major world currencies:

The medicine was strong, econcimists said at the time. It increased the risk of a serious recession in the United States by forcing up interest rates sharply. But, in general, most felt the risk was worth it.

Today, economists are divided on the question of whether that recession has arrived or not. There is far less talk about a "dollar crisis" these days. But many feel that the dollar's sickness has not been cured and will not be until inflation is brought under

AFTER GAINING in the first half of 1979, the dollar weakened again giving up much of its advances against the strong European currencies and reaching its lows for the year in September.

Inflation, a major cause of the dollar's troubles, worsened. And the effects of last year's dollar medicine appeared to wear off.

Not quite a year after the highly publicized "dollar rescue" plan, the Federal Reserve announced still another major package of interest rate and credit moves. That Oct. 6 package - nicknamed the "Saturday night special" because it was unveiled at a time when most markets were closed, gave another boost to the dollar. The Treasury Department, within days of the Federal Reserve's announcement, changed its policy of holding regular monthly gold auctions of 750,000 ounces of gold. The plan was to cut down speculation in gold by adding an element of uncertainty to supplies available from the

The result is that one year after its lows of Oct. 31, 1978, the dollar was almost 12 percent higher against the Swiss franc, not quite 4 percent higher against the West German mark and showed a sharp 35 percent improvement against the yen, which has been particularly troubled because of Japan's heavy dependence on imported oil.

THE PRICE of gold, which has construction reported Road, enclose patio, $7,acted as a refuge for some traders uncertain about currency, was still $139 an ounce higher than its price of $242 on Oct. 31, 1978 but lower than

Gasohol use mandatory

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - Gov. James R. Thompson has ordered departments and agencies under his control to use nothing but gasohol in their nearly 10,000 vehicles within the next year.

"By the end of October 1980 I hope the state fleet can be totally converted to the use of gasohol in its gasoline. driven vehicles," Thompson said Fri-

The governor said that last fiscal year about 12 percent of the 6.1 million gallons of gasoline pumped at state dispensing sites was gasohol a mixture of 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent alcohol

Thompson's announcement came als he joined Charles W. Duncan, fede ral energy secretary, at an agricultural fuels conference meeting in a chi'lly building at the Illinois State Fai rgrounds.

Thompson acknowledged that at first, 100 percent use of gasohol by the 10,000 vehicles could cost the state about $650,000 more than using pure gasolin e. But he said that as the price of gasol ine increases, the 10 percent alcohol c ontent in gasohol is expected to hold down the cost of fuel.

peaks of close to $450 last summer. Whether the latest government package will serve to hold or improve the dollar may depend on how successful it is at slowing inflation. Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. noted in a recent report that the emphasis of the latest Federal Reserve measures differs significantly from the Nov. 1

actions a year ago

"At that time the dollar was under pressure against virtually all of the major currencies and the combined Federal Reserve-Treasury actions were geared toward restoring exchange rate stability. In comparison, the latest Federal Reserve actions have been directed at dampening both inflationary pressures and rising inflationary expectations in the United States by improving the Federal Reserve's ability to control the rate of expansion of money and credit.

"To the extent that these objectives are achieved, the measures should also benefit the dollar and help to curb speculation in commodity mar-

BANK OF AMERICA, however, suggests that the dollar problems may not yet be solved.

"In 1980, several factors may create a renewed bearish outlook for the dollar. First, U.S. growth and imports will pick up again. Second, inflation in the United States will remain high while it will decrease in its main competitor countries," said a report on the dollar's future published by Bank of America.

itself from banks and other sources. -The government said producer prices rose 1 percent in October, not as much as in the preceding months but still proof of a serious inflation problem. The index of producer prices is all but certain to rise more than 12 percent for the full year, making it the worst year for inflation

-The trade deficit rose sharply in September, the government said. The deficit was $2.83 billion, the largest since January and up from $2.36 billion in August and $1.11 billion in July. Huge oil imports were blamed for the proposed amendments to the ered by the voters.

The Reporter-Telegram recommends approval of each of the proposals.

First on the ballot is an amendment to extend the term of a notary public from its present two years to four years. It also would revise constitutional language so that notaries would be appointed for the state rather than for the

A reduction in costs to government offices involved and in the time required to renew notary public applications should result from approval of this amend-

The second amendment on the ballot would provide for a legislative review of state agencies' rule-making processes. If the proposal is adopted, the legislature could set up a procedure for reviewing rules made by state agencies and commissions.

This is something which has been needed for a long time. Commissions and agencies set rules and regulations without any oversight whatsoever for making sure that they follow the intent of the lawmakers. This quite naturally results in the rule-making bureaucrats becoming lawmakers. This deficiency could be remedied by approval of this amendment. tion might eventually spread to Washington.

Amendment No. 3 on the ballot would authorize $10 million in general obligation bonds for guaranteeing loans made to qualified buyers of farm or ranch lands.

The borrower, in order to qualify, would be a Texas resident for at least five years who has necessary education or experience in ranching or farming and who, with spouse and dependents, has a net worth of less than $100,000, excluding the value of residential homestead. Other necessary safeguards, such as one requiring that the land be used for farming and ranching purposes, are included. Another requirement would be that the property be properly appraised.

This amendment undoubtedly would contribute to the preservation of the family farm in the Lone Star State during a period when pressures seemingly are pushing agricultural trends in other di-

It is apparent that many young people who would like to be farmers or ranchers and who have the training for such endeavors do not have the money to get started, particularly with costs of land and borrowed money going higher and higher. They may be given that start under such a program as outlined.

Risk to the state in guaranteeing these loans, it seems to us, would be minimal. The proposed amendment is understood to have the support of practically all of

INSIDE REPORT:

President Carter's Chicago follies

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO - When Mayor Jane Byrne advised Cook County Democratic Chairman George W. Dunne 48 hours in advance that she would endorse Teddy Kennedy for president, he replied that "anybody certainly would be better" than Jimmy Carter reflecting the mess of Carter-style politics in vital Illinois.

Dunne's curt dismissal of President Carter suggests the futility of White House operations the past month. While frantically courting the mayor with lavish attention and federal largesse. Carter's long neglect of Dunne and his cohorts doomed him. Even while Byrne briefly flirted with the Carter candidacy, Dunne was moving toward slating the organization's del egates for Kennedy

That means Carter begins the battle for Illinois' 179 delegates with Chicago in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's pocket. Since the president can at best hope for an even split of downstate delegates, his prospects are bleak next March 18 in the very primary labelled essential by his own agents.

Talk from the White House about the necessity of winning Illinois was tied to the slender thread of Jane Byrne's support (expressed by her in a near endorsement of Carter during his Oct. 15 visit here). Carter's strategy was to contest Kennedy for down-state delegates, while counting on the mayor to drive uncommitted Cook County organization delegates into the president's pocket. It was a strategy hopelessly flawed by three misperceptions.

The first was that Kennedy would stand idly by without running, delegates (as past candidates, including Jimmy Carter in 1976, have done)

Run delegates committed to me, or I'll beat you with my own delegates. The second misperception exaggerated Byrne's control. Unlike the fabled Richard J. Daley, she does not wear the double crown of mayor and county chairman. While city hall patronage gives her major party leverage, she collaborates with Dunne (her neighbor on the fifth floor of the citycounty building as president of the Cook County Board). Some time ago, Dunne privately decided the organization eventually would have to play so far in her pro-Carter statements Oct. 15. But three days later, she was miffed by statements from Health. Education and Welfare Secretary Patricia Roberts Harris attacking Chicago in the school desegration impasse. The president had failed to silence Mrs. Harris as promised.

Soon afterwards, Kennedy brotherin-law Stephen Smith was off to Chicago on one of his innumerable family political missions: to assure the mayor that draft-Kennedy leaders objectionable to her would be downgraded for the campaign. Meanwhile, Teddy Kennedy himself was courting her by phone from Washington. A further prod: State Sen. Richie Daley. son of the late mayor viewed by Byrne as a future challenger, was about to endorse Kennedy; why not beat him to it?

The effect of all this was evident Oct. 24 when Byrne was in Washington unwittingly attending the president's campaign kickoff. She told one fellow Illinois Democrat that she was furious over having come to the capital under false pretenses, unaware that the Carter dinner (which she ducked) was a campaign rally for loyalists. Back in Chicago late in the afternoon the next day, she had her

The executive said, "I'm being bombarded with calls from the other oil companies accusing us of publicizing our losses just to make them look greedy. They're boiling mad."

'That's just too bad," someone said. "They should have thought of that before they started raking in all that money. Exxon, Texaco and Gulf are being portrayed in the press as the highway robbers of America. At least everyone from Ashland can look at himself in the mirror when he shaves in the morning.'

"I'll second that," another board member said. "The Seven Sisters oil companies are jealous of us because we refused to make windfall profits. They would like to be in our spot, but they don't have the know-how.

The Ashland executive said, "The only people who seem to be questioning our relatively poor showing are our stockholders.

"I don't think that's a big problem. You can't put a price on the goodwill that we engendered last week. When someone sees an Ashland logo in front of a station, they know that we're not ripping them off.'

Promised tax relief may require some new or increased taxes

By BILL KIDD Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Whatever happened to "no new taxes?"

That cry was, for years, the watchword of Dolph Briscoe's administration, and a shibboleth eagerly subscribed to by lawmakers.

But things have changed around state government, and the talk today is of tax relief and tax redistribution which do require new, or increased, taxes.

It is a rather curious situation. Gov. Bill Clements says tax relief will be one of the three items definitely included in the call for the special session he intends to convene next

Aides say 19 different approaches are under study as ways to provide that relief, and they promise that the effort will be for an actual reduction, not merely a reshuffling of taxes.

Just what approach will be used won't be decided on until the time the session is called, an aide says, to allow Clements and his advisors to assess conditions existing then.

Clements, however, has also indicated he favors raising some taxes including the state tax on gasoline.

That tax now is at five cents a gallon, lowest rate in the nation, and Clements feels it would be better to put the tax as a percentage of the cost of the sale price.

That recommendation was prompted by the state having to commit recently over $31.4 million from the General Revenue Fund to highway construction.

That's because the Legislature has voted to require spending $750 million annually for highway construction with a built-in formula to account for

And since the collection from the gaseline tax, three-fourths of which goes to roads, was down, and inflation was up, the state had to dip into other sources to make up the difference.

Part of the reason collections were down was that the amount of gasoline sold was down - leading Clements to conclude the only proper thing to do is raise the tax to obtain the same amount of money.

It can be argued — as presumably Clements would do - that a nickel tax on gasoline at 30 cents a gallon was a higher rate of taxation than five percent (or even 10 percent) on gasoline at 90 cents a gallon

Clements is hardly alone in suggesting a tax increase, however.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, who fell into step with the no-new-taxes cadence, has agreed that an increase in the gasoline tax would be all right by

But that proposed increase pales compared to the request of the governor's advisory committee of Texas mayors - who have asked for a two-cent increase on the local sales tax to fund municipal programs.

If that happens, they insist, property taxes will be lowered.

That was, of course, what was supposed to happen with the property tax 'relief" measures passed at the special session in 1978 - although indications are that in many cases, local property owners found little reduction in their overall property taxes.

Which isn't to say that the suggestion should be rejected out of hand.

Given present economic conditions, the sales tax probably is fairer than the property tax - although the choice is like picking influenza over

Thus far, no one has talked too much about a state income tax — that prospect remains too tinged with the potential for sudden political destruc-

Some legislators admit privately very privately, in most instances that such a tax very likely is in Texas' not too distant future.

But before a bill on that subject comes before the Legislature, lawmakers likely will have to decide on whether to allow cities to increase their sales tax — and that may take a selling job.

Comptroller Bob Bullock has attacked the proposal as being motivated by greed — and says such action would result in school districts, counties and other governmental bodies wanting in on the action.

Bullock could point to use of the additional half-cent sales tax in Bexar and Harris counties for mass transit, and the proposal in Harris County for a one-cent tax for flood contriol

Yet anther tax proposal is that promised by the Texas AFL-CIO, which plans, if initiative and referendum is approved, to use that process to attempt to replace property taxes with a corporate profits tax.

With all that, it seems likely some sort of major tax bill - new taxes, resuffled taxes or whatever - will be passed in 1981.

But whatever is done, it won't be popular with everyone — proving the old saying that the only popular tax is the one paid by someone else.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Death blow

To The Editor:

I read each Sunday Mr. Hearst's Editor's Report and find it very interesting on most occasions. However, in this Oct. 28 report he advocated support for the windfall profits tax as a perfectly sound idea. He seemed to base his support on the fact that it was well established during World War II to tax excess profits from businesses who profited exceptionally from the war-time conditions.

However, I do not agree with Mr. Hearst in his support for a windfall profits tax. I believe that the current proposals amount to nothing more than a revenue grab. The men in Washington have made it clear that what comes first with them is not to solve the country's energy problems, but to profit by them. If you add to this attitude, the morass of federal legislation, multiplicity of crude oil categories, and defacto nationalization, you have effectively dealt a death blow to the energy industry in America. When all the costs of this tax are taken into account, they will be greater than any benefits derived from the revenues it raises. The Joint Committee on Taxation has estimated that decontrol alone will bring in between $148 to $275 billion in new revenue over the coming decade. That is in addition to the $1 trillion in new tax revenues forecast over the next decade just from existing tax laws. You can tax an activity to death or you can regulate the life out of it. My point is that I do not believe Mr. Hearst's comments were well thought out in light of recent experience with government intervention into business. I do not believe that editorial support should be afforded for such an ill defined concept as windfall profits tax.

Self-examination

To The Editor:

Johnny Warren, member of the School Board of the Midland Independent School District, has implied publicly that the recent failure of the porposed bond election to pass was that the people didn't understand the issue. Judging by the overkill of letters to the media and of the pro and con advertisements with which the electorate was bombarded, I have to interpret this statement as questioning the collective intelligence of the voters. It reminds me of my Great Aunt Vi's complaints that God never answered her prayers...but "no" is an answer.

If Warren and the other "disappointed" trustees and administrators are convinced of the soundness and logic of their cause, I challenge them on their next bond offering to also poll the voters with a non-binding referendum. It could list each of the school board members and upper echelon administrators by name, and offer the voters a vote of confidence or disapproval. Although not bearing the force of a true recall election, it would nevertheless bring to the fore the sentiments of the electorate.

The passage or failure of the bonds is not an issue with this challenge. Rather, I deplore the polarization of our citizenry on those programs essential to the education of our children and of our future electorate. It we fail to educate the younger generation, they will probably, God forbid, repeat our errors.

But the reunification of the people behind a coherent school policy should be sought as a first step. Such a self-examination of the desired aims of the taxpayers could possibly clear the air and facilitate future school board policies and programs. Hugh G. White

On with concert

To The Editor:

Hurray for Larry Campbell and what he had to say about the controversy over the now postponed Kiss concert. Personally, I will not be attending the concert. My husband and I don't care for crowded Friday night outings. However, I do have very strong feelings about this situation. First of all, Midland is not wellknown for its great number of activities for young and old alike. We've always had to visit neighboring towns or do without. Most activities that are youth oriented are taking place in Odessa at the coliseum. I've spent many a dollar at the Ector County Coliseum in my 24 years of life. And to me, the Chaparral Center is our

"coliseum." Perhaps the older citizens don't like KISS. Is that any reason to deprive the other citizens of entertainment of their own choosing. I think not. I don't have any interest in Lawrence Welk, but should we ban him from Midland because I think "bubbles are

There will always be someone who wants to ruin everyone else's good time, from Madeline Murray O'Hair to Hitler. But the sad fact is that even these people have rights. Therefore, I'm standing up for mine and I say, "On with the concert and Hurray for Larry Campbell."

Slap in the face

To The Editor:

I recall a few years ago the Supreme Court stating that the community could set its own standards for pornography and morality. I would wonder why Midland could not set community standards that would ban trash like KISS from appearing in

I was disgusted to read in last Sunday's paper that the college has no control over the Chaparral Center and taxpayers can only financially support the center but have no say over what will take place in it. It is a blatant slap in the face that we must pay for something, yet have no control over it; is Washingtonian bureaucracy taking us over in every area. Or has the dollar sign become so much more important than the values of those in this community?

Sure, KISS is box office sell-out. But for taxpayers of Midland to be forced to support their perversion and degradation is intolerable. My commendations to those who have worked to stop this concert, especially the Christian Church.

Four more years? Vague issues

To The Editor:

It is said, "You are smart if you believe half of what you hear; you are downright brilliant when you know

The people of Midland will not tolerate a bond issue crammed down their throats nor will they sit idly by and watch elderly citizens' lives and homes uprooted by an unresponsive board. Stupidity is not a virtue of the citizens of Midland; they are a welleducation, fiercely proud, independent people who are quite capable of discerning for themselves the value of issues presented to them. They are well within bounds when they question monies to be spent on maintenance and repairs being put in a bond issue when these programs should be an annual budgeted item. They are right in questioning the size and seating capacity (2,000) of a new physical education plant at Midland High when we have a Chaparral Center. The plant itself is a critical need; it's the specifications that are questionable. The people will and should question $122,000 expenditure for parking facilities at Lee High.

On and on it goes. Perhaps there are reasonable and valid answers to these questions, but, as of now, they are not apparent. There is no pleasure derived from opposing a school bond issue, but it is difficult to ascertain what is needed from what is desirable. Hopefully in the future these issues will be presented in a more concise manner.

Wine concern

To The Editor:

I would like to express my personal thanks and appreciation for the excellent front-page coverage given to the interviews with Mark Worley, Midland College officials and others regarding the KISS concert.

I, for one, am much better informed regarding the "type or sort" of this particular group...and I would like to add my endorsement to the suggested "rating system" for the benefit of uninformed parents regarding future concert events.

Back to basics

To The Editor:

Johnny Warren thinks the school bond issue failed because the voters didn't understand the issues. I think the better they understood them, the more likely they were to vote against them. How wonderful it would be if the school board would exert as much energy in finding out what the taxpayers are willing to spend as they did in telling them what they need. Could my suspicions be correct that they really don't care what the people want? They would find us willing to support the "good, basic education" they keep promising us, but junk their extravagances.

Balloting Tuesday could restrict San Francisco's building heights

By PETE JACOBS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - After months of exposure to debate and argument, San Francisco voters will decide Tuesday whether to lower their city's Supporters of Proposition 0, which reduces the permissible height of future buildings, argue that the eruption of office towers in the heart of the city threatens its special charm, fosters municipal overcrowding and all sorts of undesirable social effects. Opponents insist it would undermine the city's growth and economy, make already scarce office space prohibitively expensive, and sap San Francisco's position as a West Coast financial center.

It's such a sensitive issue-that Mayor Dianne Feinstein hasn't taken a public position, and the city's Board of Supervisors is split.

The anti-highrise initiative would limit new buildings in the business district to 20 stories. It's there, downtown, that the city's tall towers are concentrated, including the 55-story Bank of America building, San Francisco's highest and representing the present ceiling. Most other areas of the city would be limited to five-story buildings under the initative.

About 20 buildings now exceed the proposed limit. Plans for more than a dozen others would have to be scrapped if Proposition 0 prevails because they would not be under construction by election day.

Among the leading casualties of the initiative would be a $100-million, 48-story building planned by the Gerald D. Hines interests, a Houston-based developer. Hines acknowledges that he could lose several million dollars in expenses already incurred if the initiative is approved. Hines has run into difficulties selling space in the building with the initiative pending, according to spokesman John Hanan.

Construction was to have started this year but the timetable is now uncertain. "We haven't been able to proceed on the marketing program because we don't know what it is we're selling," says Hanan. "The market for office space has never been stronger. The vacancy rate is less than 1 percent."

San Francisco developer J. Patrick Mahoney says approval of the initiative would mean a radical change in the economics of development.

Mahoney, with several partners, has $10 million invested in a proposed 48-story building. He says the proposed limits would more than double land costs from $14 to $34 per rentable square foot - in a city already rated among the most expensive.

Leading the fight against the initiative is Bill Dauer, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who argues that the anti-highrise measure would lose San Francisco corporate headquarters and discourage others from locating here. To Dauer, highrise is synonymous with economic vitality.

"Twenty-five years ago we had a multifaceted economy," says Dauer. "Then manufacturing left because of the high cost of doing business, then wholesaling companies, then service firms. That left us with international and headquarters operations, insurance and finance.

"And under these proposed restrictions, when you can't satisfy their needs, that will leave us with a one-industry economy, tourism.'

Dauer considers the anti-highrisers as sentimentalists - and "pretty much the people who come from New Mexico, New Jersey, Ohio, from somewhere else. We aren't looking for people who move here and want everything to stop just because they

Since 1945, 66 buildings over 10 stories have been built in the city and only about six would have been permitted under the proposed restrictions, opponents of the initiative contend.

Sponsor of the initiative is an organization called San Francisco Tomorrow, determined to stop "the New Yorking of San Francisco."

Sue Hestor, cofounder of SFT, says studies show that by 1990, "we'll have 100,000 more commuters." about a third more than in the past few years. "People don't appear in their offices by magic. Commuters are turning the residential neighborhoods into freeways. They're destroying them."

"The result will be bumper-to-bumper traffic and more air pollution," she says. "And the unemployed don't have skills that will get them jobs downtown. Office buildings eliminate an awful lot of blue collar City studies show that seven out of 10 new jobs are in financial, real estate, and retail

Hestor and other initiative supporters argue that the taxes the city collects on office towers don't give a true picture of how such buildings fit into San Francisco's economics.

Hines' estimated taxes, for example, would be about $1 million, according to the city's Environmental Impact Report on his 48-story building. "But commercial buildings are reassessed only when they're sold," Heston says. "Hines' building may not be sold for 25 years or more and would be paying 1979 taxes indefinitely.

"Residential housing sells much more frequently, and rising property taxes put the houses out of reach of the blue collar workers.

Moreover, she argues, office workers tend to be white and middle class. They move into the city, forcing out many blacks, Orientals and others who contribute to San Francisco's cosmopolitan flavor, she says.

The weather, too, is part of the argument. Studies have shown that San Francisco's famous winds have gotten stronger in recent years, Heston says, because tall buildings create special weather effects. "There are places in this city where it's barely possible to stand up," she says.

She adds: "This is a city of views. People pay for views. The buildings keep getting taller in competition for views. It's ridiculous. They block each other out, along with the sun. There are areas where people used to sit in the sun at lunchtime. Now they freeze in the shadow of tall buildings.

Workers work wonders in Red Chinese stadium

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN AP Special Correspondent

PEKING (AP) - Given the lavishness of college marching bands and the decolletage of pro footbal cheerleaders, it was only a matter of time before the halftime show became the wholetime show.

But no one, least of all this thrice-weekly diviner o trends trivial, expected the pioneer breakthrough to come in the People's Republic of China.

Here the medium has become the message. Or at least the rah-rah and the razzmatazz have displaced the jocks as the main attraction at an athletic event. In fact at the opening day of China's national games, which are held every five years, the contestants only did a walk-on in their numbered unionsuits and were not permitted to sully the ambiance of Peking's Workers Stadium with their sweaty exertions.

The pageantry was all. In the presence of the Queen of Denmark, Chairman Hua and 70,000 other spectacle-dazzled spectators.not a javelin was heaved in competition or a chalk line blurred by a flying cleat. Like placards at the side of a vaudeville stage, even the scoreboard was devoted to announcing the next act to be performed by a cast of 27,000 count 'em.

The extravanganza got under way with the release of 1,000 doves into a smog-gray September sky, then the 30 trombones, 80 piccolos, five base drums and 300 other instruments of the People's Liberation Army band struck up a march that sounded uncannily like "When the Backs Go Tearing By."

This signaled the entrance of the athletes into the arena. The band blared on for 40 uninterrupted minutes as delegations from China's 31 provinces autonomous regions and major cities marched into the field in color-coordinated jogging togs, knees high, arms swinging, all in step, even the coaches and political cadres in their identical Mao suits.

A 600-strong pom-pon section on the left side of the field, looking down the side lines from the ground level press box waved them on with appropriate flourishes, while across the way in the bleachers an enormous card section of 8,000 card-carrying Chinese communists flapped forth scenes of the Forbidden City, bursting fireworks and monstrous portraits of Chairmen Mao and Hua.

There was no Oriental version of the Purdue Golden Girl to toss a baton skyward and, in a country where cleavage is always political, no equivalent of the decorous Dallas Cowgirls. However, the lassies from Lhasa, the Tibetan Girls Team, created quite a stir in skimpy short shorts that revealed elevations of leg not normally visible at sea level in China. The Kilgore Rangerettes they were not, but our guides and interpreters perspired perceptibly under thier anti-clerical Mao collars and politely asked to borrow our binoculars.

While the scoreboard flashed "Jointly Celebrate Victories," torchbearers burst into the arena completing the last leg of a 74-day relay marathon that began in Shanghai on July 1st and covered more than 7,000 miles in 15 provinces along the route of Mao's famous long march.

"New Long March," blinked out the score board as the finalists deposited their firebrands in a huge urn and inadvertently illuminated sections of the fence advertising Xerox, Mizuno Sports and other imperialist enterprises

"Five hundred thousand runners helped bring the torch from Shanghai," my interpreter informed me, tossing off another of those mind-boggling statistics that pile up so rapidly in a nation of 950 million

It went on like that, by the numbers, the rest of the afternoon. A thousand high school athletes formed pyramids and did double carthweels, 1,200 preteeners whirled purple hula hoops in intricate arabesques, 1,200 first graders with inflated rubber beach tubes became lotus blossoms and sunflowers, 1,200 middle school (junior High) ballerinas pirouetted on point, another 1,500 junior misses performed a discreet fan dance.

When the P.L.A. finally got winded, a 600-piece children's band boomed onto the field to the beat of 45 bass drums. The card section got a mite bellicose in its propaganda speech, replacing scenes of giant wheat combines rolling over the plains of Inner Mongolia with jet fighters piercing the sky (over Vietnam?) and tanks rolling toward the border.

Sometime during the lavish wholetime show, four long slithering dragons in men's trousered feet gambolled onto the turf and university students unfurled a red silk flag 150 feet long by 90 feet

The finale came with 4,500 kindergarten urchins releasing 4,5000 balloons, as a half dozen gilded girl butterflies flitted down onto the field on rope pullyes from the high rafters of the stadium.

The stadium show was the best I had ever seen anywhere - and I regard myself as a connoisseur of the halftime spectacle, having honed my voyeur skills at Tiger Stadium in Baton Rouge. There the keepers of the academic flame inspired scholarship with Neo-Neronian circuses that included a caged Bengal tiger, gorgeous co-eds in purple and gold bouncing on trampolines and legions of leotarded lovelies strutting their stuff and TV's NCAA game of the week.

Alas, and perhaps just as well for Sino-American rivalries, the big, big show in Workers Stadium all fell apart at the end. After getting 25,000 performers on and off stage in a miracle of clockwork precision, it took three hours to get people's buses and bureaucrats' limousines out of the parking lot. Sheriff's deputies with their fluorescent flashlights handle 100 times as many cars in less than a third that time in Baton Rouge without spilling a fruit jar.

Black sales mission seeks trade in Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of 15 black-owned manufacturing firms left Saturday on an eight-day sales mission to West Africa as part of a growing effort to boost international trade by minority busin-

The mission to Liberia and Nigeria is sponsored jointly by the National Association of Black Manufacturers and the Commerce Department.

"Minorities participate very little in international trade," said association spokesman Ron Lewis. 'We're attempting to expand it."

The group represents firms ranging from light aircraft makers to paper manufacturers, Lewis

In 1977, there were only 231,000 black-owned businesses nationwide, Lewis said. Less than 1 percent of these were involved in international trade, Lewis added.

Computerized pet rock solves mystery of odd-even days

The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES - It may be the most useful product to hit the market since the Skylab Self-Defense Kit. It's the Day-O-Matic X-1 Electronic Brain pocket computer. It tells you whether a given day is odd or even.

The only information you have to punch into the simple, crudely made, plastic calculator is the date in ques-

"You can even look up historical dates," said codesigner Jim Rawitsch, "and find out, for instance, whether July 4, 1976, would have been your day to buy gasoline."

Working with his own Day-O-Matic, Rawitsch notes that July 4, 1776, was an even day.

A writer and creative consultant who lives in Lake Arrowhead, Calif., Rawitsch believes that drivers as well as gasoline attendants could use the product since both seem to have problems these days complying with the odd-even plan.

But inasmuch as Los Angeles County may soon abandon the plan, as most other areas have, is the Day-O-Matic X-1 an idea whose time has

"We're confident that it (odd-even) eventually will be reinstated across the country," says Rawitsch, in a somewhat unconfident tone.

"In the meantime, people should learn how to use the Day-O-Matic so they can predict odd-even days, keep their friends informed, and so on. "Also, the Day-O-Matic can be used to study personalities, since people born on odd days are different from those born on even days. For instance, Groucho Marx was born on an even day, Woody Allen on an odd day.'

For now, however, Rawitsch and his partner, Frank Paladino, a writer and creative consultant who lives in Newport Beach, Calif., are offering the calculator on a mail-order basis only.

"We figure that, if nothing else, we can always sell it as an antique of the '70s," Rawitsch says.

The Day-O-Matic X-1 is priced at $14.98 and carries a warning ("not to be used internally"). So far about 100 have been sold. While it has been called a "computerized pet rock," the Day-O-Matic actually works. A booklet included with the Day-O-

Matic X-1 explains that the oddness or evenness of a given Day in Question

(DIQ) can be determined using the following Input Sequence (IS):

Depress the touch Pads (TP) for the numerals corresponding to the year, then press the TP for year (YR). Repeat the procedure for the month and for the day. Then depress the C (Compute) pad.

Presto: Either the "Odd" or "Even" light flashes.

"The way we came up with the idea," Rawitsch says, "was that we read in the newspaper that a man had driven into a gas station in Washington, D.C., on an odd day with a license plate that ended with 1 and had been refused service because the attendant

"Now if that driver had only had a Day-O-Matic, he could have proven his case.'

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELDISE:

I didn't like the idea of putting my small baby on the plastic mat in the playpen, and if I fied a blanket underneath the pad, the baby wound up in one corner and the blanket was wadded up in another.

Once, while trying to tuck the blanket around the edges, I thought, "If only the blanket went all the way around..."

Inspiration! After measuring the mat and allowing for seams and a little extra at one end to fold under, I bought some cotton flannel.

I stitched it up like a pillowcase, leaving a flap at one end. I then made two buttonholes and attached two buttons (zippers, snaps or self-gripping tape could be used instead).

I slid it over the mat, button side down, and now baby stays warmer in the winter and cooler in the summer. When it becomes soiled, I just throw it in the washer and dryer.

I'm going to make two more so when one is being washed, there's a clean one to put on the mat and one to spare.

Now that is an inspiration!

No more fear of baby getting tangled up in the covers, or covering his face with the

DEAR HELOISE:

I've never written in like this before, but your column turns me on. I think you and your fans might find this hint useful.

I always have trouble finding safety pins, straight pins, paperclips, barrettes, etc., so I took a small pill bottle and whenever I find a small article that is important enough to save from the trash, but I don't want to bother with putting up, I just pop it into this jar.

Presto! Whenever I need these types of odds and ends, I check in my bottle instead of digging in drawers for fifteen minutes. Whatever I need is usually there.

Well, I hope this has helped you. It's these little things that make life a little easier!

HINTS FROM HIM

DEAR HELOISE:
I read in your column about the necessity of oiling garage doors on a regular basis.

Another thing I have learned about garage doors is that if your door is made in horizontal panels, as I believe most doors are, they are held together by hinges bolted to the panels.

These bolts have a tendency to work loose from the up and down movement of the door. It is important to tighten

It is important to tighten these bolts about twice a year to keep the door operating smoothly.

NEEDALIFT?

DEAR HELOISE:
One day while shopping with my little granddaughter, I told her she was too heavy to lift into the shopping cart.

But she replied, "Granny, just lift the back up and I can crawl in." She did and I was surprised as I had never thought of it. Now I won't ever have to lift her into the cart

Just leave it to a child to figure the easy way of doing things. Give that sweetle a hug for me.

MOCHA MONEY!

DEAR HELOISE:

I have discovered that the little canisters from those gourmet-type blends of instant coffee make excellent little banks.

They are just the right size to place on any shelf or small area, or even to put away in a drawer for personal savings.

There's a plastic cover that can be placed on the bottom of the tin canister so it won't scratch any surfaces, or it can be kept on the top to hold a few folded bills.

It's lightweight and can be covered and decorated to make a great bank for kids. Nancy Geler
