U.S. envoy Ramsey Clark, barred from Iran, met with a Palestine Liberation Organization representative in Turkey today to spur mediation efforts to win the release of some 60 American hostages held at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, it was Official sources in Algiers reported that Algeria, a leader of the anti-Israel Arab front, had joined the PLO in trying to secure the hostages' freedom.

In Tehran, meanwhile, one of the Moslem students occupying the embassy said the hostages had not been injured because "in Islam we don't believe to hurt someone ... they are very well and we know their rights.

The unidentified student, in a telephone interview with a Canadian radio station, stressed that "we are not enemies with people, but with governments."

Iranian demonstrators today blindfolded one of the American hostages, bound his hands behind his back and paraded him around the embassy garden while mobs shouted, "Death to Carter!" and "Send Back the Shah!" a witness reported in a call to The Associated Press in Athens. The witness asked not to

The demonstrators at the embassy also accused L. Bruce Laingen, the U.S. charge d'affaires, of being a "plotting spy" and said they would hold him captive at the Foreign Ministry, where he has been holed up since the embassy was taken over Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini has refused to allow former U.S. Attorney General Clark, a special envoy from President Carter, to come to Iran to try to negotiate an end to the embassy standoff.

peace emissaries, the Carter administration would have to surrender Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to Iran to face trial as a war criminal, something Washington has refused to do. The shah is hospitalized in New York.

But a two-man mediation team sent by the PLO arrived in the Iranian capital today, and American officials were hopeful that Khomeini and his Revolutionary Council would receive them. The PLO has a close relationship with the revolutionary regime

The two emissaries are top aides to PLO chief Yasser Arafat -Abu Jihad, who heads PLO forces in Lebanon, and Abu Walid, who heads PLO military operations headquarters

After it was announced they were unwelcome, Clark and his companion, Senate Intelligence Committee staff member William Miller, who speaks Persian, halted their journey in Istanbul, Turkey, on Wednesday "pending clarification" from the Iranian authorities, State Department spokesman Hodding

In Washington today a U.S. official who asked not to be identified said Clark met with a PLO representative in Istanbul on Wednesday and again today.

Both the U.S. government and the PLO said Arafat took a hand in the situation entirely on his own initiative, without any overtures from the U.S. government. His purpose obviously was to improve his chances for the official U.S. recognition denied the PLO so far because of the U.S. alliance with Israel. A leading British military expert, Air Vice Marshal Stewart

Menaul, said in London today the United States' "one hope" is that the PLO might influence the Iranians "to behave in a proper diplomatic manner." Menaul, a member of Britain's respected International Institute for Strategic Studies, said a U.S. commando strike could not be successful.

Reports within the oil industry Wednesday said Iran appeared to be suspending shipments to the United States, but this was denied by both U.S. and Iranian officials.

A Tehran newspaper today quoted the Iranian oil minister, Ali Akbar Moinfar, as saying chances of an oil embargo against the United States were small since the problem between the two countries is political, not economic, it was reported by the Japanese news service Kyodo.

Japanese oil traders said, meanwhile, that Iran had notified them that oil shipments to Japan would be reduced by 5 percent

U.S. 'sitting, waiting' for next Iranian move

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration, frustrated at every turn by events in Iran, was "frankly, sitting and waiting" today for the next move by the captors of some 60 U.S. embassy employees

"We have utilized every channel we feel is available with the exception of one," said an administration official. That remaining option involves an offer of intervention from the Palestine Liberation Organization.

State Department officials called reporters this morning to tell them that "if they (the PLO) Americans, it would be a highly responsible action in a situation where they may have some influence, and we would welcome

The officials said they issued the statement after hearing reports that the PLO was waiting until it was was asked for help

They said they had not had direct contact with the PLO about the mediation effort, but they indicated that they were willing to work with the PLO in the effort to free the hostages, citing a 1976 incident in Beirut as a precedent.

At that time, the PLO cooperated with American efforts to evacuate diplomatic personnel.

Officials offered no indication of how long the Carter administration was prepared to let the ordeal continue. "I'm not going to say anything at all about deadlines," one said.

The administration's latest initiative to free the captives was stalled at the airport in Istanbul, Turkey, on Wednesday after the most vehemently anti-American faction in the religious hierarchy running Iran apparently prevailed in its opposition to talks with President Carter's special envoys.

The envoys, former Attorney General Ramsey Clark and Senate staff aide William Miller, flew to Athens and then to Istanbul after the department was told at 1 a.m. EST Wednesday that the religious leaders would see them.

But their journey ended prematurely about 14 hours later, when the Iranians switched signals. Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini announced that neither he nor anyone else in authority in Iran would talk to the Americans unless the United States acceded to Iranian demands that the ousted shah be returned for will go. But Clark said the Midland corporation decided to proceed with the loan program with the belief the situation won't improve.

Even so, the interest rate for these home loans probably will go as high as 9 percent, instead of the earlierdiscussed figures of 71/2 to 8 percent.

Davis jury wants to hear tapes

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) -Jurors deliberating murder conspiracy charges against millionaire Cullen Davis asked to review the heart of the state's evidence today - several audio recordings and a videotape.

The panel began its second full day of deliberations shortly before 9 a.m., and the request for the tapes followed immediately.

It asked for all tapes in evidence. Some of the key recordings that came up during the 15-week-long trial

- An Aug. 18 meeting between Davis and FBI informant David McCrory on the parking lot of a Fort Worth restaurant. - An Aug. 20 telephone conversation between Davis and McCrory. - An Aug. 20 sound-and-video recording of a second parking lot meeting between Davis and McCrory, after which Davis was arrested. - A telephone conversation Aug. 19 between Karen Master (now Mrs.

Cullen Davis) and McCrory. - An Aug. 7 recording made by defense lawyer Steve Sumner and McCrory. Sumner testified he hid a recorder in his briefcase while discussing with McCrory the Davis divorce

Clark explained the rapidly-rising interest rates in the country have affected the bond programs.

The 9 percent interest still would be considerably lower than the current figure of almost 12 percent being charged by local lending institutions, he added.

If Midland starts its program in mid-December, Clark said this would be the first city in Texas to begin, with El Paso following close behind.

The money will be distributed among Citizens Savings & Loan Association, First Savings & Loan Association, Investors Inc., Jackie Johnson Mortgage Co., Mortgage & Trust Inc., and West Central Investment

To apply for the program, Clark said an applicant must have his or her 1978 1040 tax form which shows the previous year's family income, and a contract to buy or have a home built.

Of the $35 million, 10 percent will go towards home rehabilitation with the remaining funds to be divided among three economic groups - those making $20,000 a year or less, those making less than $25,000 and those making less than $30,000. Midland Housing Authority - acting upon a suggestion from Clark approved establishing a phone line at Hillcrest Manor for persons needing information about the home loan program. In other business, the Housing Authority heard a report from Mrs. August Wenck that almost $700 remains in the fund for housing rehabilitation. Some of the money will go to purchase space heaters for two homes when the heaters can be located. Mrs. Wenck and Harry Clark took the oath of office after being reappointed to the board. Gene Abbott, also reappointed, was out of town.

Clements had said he was considering a special session in January, March or September.

The governor, who was celebrating Wednesday as the first-year anniversary of his election in 1978, pointed out that all 150 House posts and 16 Senate seats would be involved in the 1980 elections. "That can't help but influence some of the issues (for the session)," he said.

He grinned and added: "My plate is full. I've got all I can handle.

"I'm having the time of my life. If I had known how much fun it was to be governor I would have done this 10 years ago.'

Kennedy on 'first campaign trip'

Kennedy carried his presidential campaign into Chicago today with the support of Mayor Jane Byrne and a White House warning that President Carter would fight for every Democratic delegate in this crucial city.

Sharpening his criticism of the Carter presidency on the second day of his quest for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination, Kennedy told a senior citizens center in a Polish neighborhood of Chicago:

"I have profound differences with the Carter administration on policies toward the elderly.

He cited Social Security benefits, nutrition, retirement, fuel assistance and health care as specific issues on which he and Carter disagree. At one point this morning, Kennedy told reporters said he supported Carter's efforts to win the release of American hostages held captive at the U.S. embassy in Tehran, Iran, and "Given the volatility of the situation, given the fact that our embassy had been seized previously, it seems to me that we should have had some kind of contingency program in order to protect the lives of the Americans there. I would certainly have hoped that we would have had one, and that we might still have one.

At every stop in Chicago, the Massachusetts Democrat was greeted by small groups of hostile demonstrators representing the anti-abortion move-

As Kennedy entered the Copernicus Senior Citizens Center, a demonstrator threw an egg that bounced off the senator's left shoulder but did not break until it hit the ground at his feet. Kennedy ignored it.

Inside the center, Kennedy accused the administration of failing to help the elderly cope with inflation.

> Kennedy also accused Carter of trying to slash a meals-for-the-elderly program, and the administration of trying unsuccessfully to delay action on legislation raising the retirement age to 70.

Kennedy said the administration opposed his proposal to provide $1.2 billion for immediate fuel assistance for low-income citizens to help them cope with rising heating oil prices. Urging action on national health insurance, Kennedy said: "Only in this way can we guarantee that the desperation of serious illness is not aggravated by fear of financial

While Kennedy campaigned in Chicago, Robert Strauss, the new chairman of President Carter's re-election campaign, told reporters in Washington the president will "contest for every single vote in Cook County," which covers all of Chicago.

Strauss said he has received many calls from Chicago political and business leaders urging Carter to campaign there despite Mrs. Byrne's endorsement of Kennedy.

More clouds, cooler weather forecast for Permian Basin

More clouds and cooler temperatures are on tap for the Permian Basin through Friday, the weatherman predicted today.

The forecasters at the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport even threw in a 20 percent chance of showers or thunderstorms late this afternoon and to-

Friday's high should be in the mid-60s with tonight's low expected to dip to the mid-40s. Winds should be from the west tonight at 10-15 mph. Wednesday was much the same, with the high recorded at 65 and the overnight low at 45 degrees.

Neither temperature approached the record marks for the dates of 88 degrees set in 1963 and 22 set in 1938.

A light shower dropped only a trace of rain on the weather gauge at the airport Wednesday with much the same results from most area weather

More oil expected to hit shore today

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - As fickle gulf winds shifted and began blowing toward land, Coast Guard officials braced today for another invasion of Texas beaches by oil from a burning tanker.

Most of the oil leaking from the grounded Burmah Agate had been shoved out to sea by breezes from the north, but the direction of the winds shifted Wednesday.

"The wind is expected to remain from the southeast, so it is likely more oil will wash onto the beaches, mostly along mid-Galveston Island," Chief Petty Officer Richard Griggs said.

The grounded tanker has been burning and leaking oil since it collided with a freighter one week ago. Thirty-two men were believed killed in the crash, but only 14 bodies have been recovered.

A Dutch firefighting team is trying to put out the stubborn blaze in the bowels of the Burmah Agate, grounded in about 40 feet of water about five miles from this busy port.

Fireboats were driven back from the blaze Wednesday by another barrage of explosions. Sporadic blasts from the ship have caused the fire to burn with new intensity and have stymied firefighters' efforts The body of what was believed to be a tanker crewman was recovered Wednesday afternoon near Freeport, about 40 miles to the south. Officials estimated more than 90,000 barrels of the 390,000-barrel cargo stored in the tanker's 36 compartments have spilled out since the collision, but the Coast Guard said most of it burned away and only about 20,000 barrels reached the water.

The wind had held most of the light crude about three to six miles offshore every day except Monday, when it shifted and blew oil onto several areas along a 120-mile stretch of coast south of here

Americans protest against Iran

Release of hostages primary issue

By DON HARRISON Associated Press Writer

A growing number of Americans appear to agree with the sentiment expessed in a banner hung from a college dormitory window in New England: "Iranians go back to your fascist dictator."

The banner, discovered Wednesday dangling from a dormitory window at the University of Brigeport in Connecticut was one of many responses to the continuing stalemate at the U.S.

"It's time for Americans to take a stand," said a Louisiana State University student. "Too many people have died for that American flag for them (Iranian student protesters) to deface it like that."

Embassy in Tehran, where about 60 Americans are being held hostage by Iranian students.

Some 200 Iranians attend the University of Bridgeport.

The words were different, but the message this week has been the same at other schools, meeting halls, street corners and living rooms. Some people have picketed. Others have shout-

The captors are demanding the U.S. return the deposed Shah of Iran, hospitalized in New York with cancer, to face trial. Iran's ruler, the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, has supported them, and efforts to resolve the standoff through diplomacy have failed.

The Carter administration has ruled out resolution by force, but many Americans don't want the U.S. to back down, either.

'It's time for Americans to take a stand," said Mike Hyman, student body president at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, where an open-air forum known as Free Speech Alley drew 500 persons — many more than normal - for a discussion on the trouble in Iran.

"Too many people have died for that American flag for them to deface it like that," said Hyman.

An Iranian student supporting his countrymen was shouted down.

In Houston, where about 60 Iranian students paraded through downtown to demand the shah's extradition, several spectators heckled and one pulled a sign from a student's hands and tore it up.

In an angrier confrontation earlier in the week, dozens of students at the University of Washington at Seattle shouted "Go Home! Go Home!" at Iranian students protesting the shah's

Two Iranian students at Pittsburg State University in Kansas were punched in the face Wednesday by a man in a ski mask. One of the students was hospitalized in good condition with facial cuts.

Student senate president Mark Huffman said the assault was "an attack against Iranians in general, not just those two.' The embassy impasse created special fears for the families of the hostages. Their captors are armed, and a State Department official, who asked not to be identified, said hostages were being "pushed around, abused, intimidated and mishandled."

In Columbia, S.C., Angela Belk, 23, wife of State Department diplomat William Belk, picketed with her brother and sister in front of the state capitol. She wore a sign that read: "Please help bring my husband home

"No one seems to be doing anything...," Mrs. Belk complained.

Still, the parents of two Marines at the embassy said they did not want the United States to give in to the Iranian demands.

"If you start letting them blackmail you, you'll have every pipsqueak country in the world making demands," said Phillip Lewis of Homer, Ill., whose son, Paul, is a Marine sergeant. Lawrence Persinger of Seaford, Del., said he was reluctant to discuss his son, Sgt. Gregory Persinger.

"You can't knuckle under to people who want something from us," he said, adding quickly, "but I want my son home.

Meanwhile, in Topeka, Kan., Howard VanderClute, commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said the United States no longer has the "national will" to protect its foreign diplomats and embassies. VanderClute said Iranian students in the U.S. should be sent home if the hostages are not freed.

At the University of Oklahoma, 15 American students marched in the cold. "We're out here freezing to death because we want people to be aware of the need for support for those Americans that the Iranians are holding," said rally organizer Steve Thomas. "It's just not right for them to hold our people hostage and burn our flag."

Can you do anything about having the lines for angle parking painted in the block of North Baird Street, between Illinois and Ohio Streets? These spaces have not been re-marked since the street was seal coated more than a year ago, and drivers park the way they want to, in some cases taking up more space than they need. - V.L.S.

ANSWER: Doug Vanover, traffic engineering co-ordinator for the city, nas been notified and he says he will try to see that the spaces are painted in the next couple of weeks.

The company I work for was recently informed of a new Texas sales tax law change.

To our understanding this new sales tax law states that items bought inside the city limits that are used or stored outside the city limits are subject only to the four percent sales tax. My question is, how does this new law apply to residents living outside the city limits? For example I live outside the city limits. Does this new law mean that if I buy taxable items at the grocery store which will be used in or at my home, that I only have to pay a four percent sales tax, or am I still subject to the five percent state and city sales tax? If only the four percent sales tax applies to residents living outside the city limits, what proof, if any, will stores require before they charge you only the four percent sales tax, instead of the normal five percent tax? — Barbara Douglas

ANSWER: As with all tax questions, this gets a little complicated, but the fact remains, the city and state sales taxes have to be paid on all taxable items purchased within the city limits, meaning you would pay

This information comes from Tom McCright, enforcement officer with the State Comptroller's compliance field office in Midland. Business establishments located outside the city limits charge four

If a resident inside the city limits orders items from a business outside the city and these items are delivered by common carrier, the business would charge four percent, but the person receiving the order is responsible for the remaining one percent. If the items are delivered in person by the business, the five percent applies as a use tax.

Mr. McCright said his office has brochures and other literature on the subject and would be glad to clarify any question. Call him at 684-5807.

My family is being asked to move from our apartment because we have a young son, and the owners want to convert the complex into all all-adult

Is there anything I can do about this? I have read where other states have made this practice unlawful. - B.B.

ANSWER: The Midland Apartment Association says one recourse would be to file a court suit. There also are legal steps which can be taken against eviction. It was recommended that you consult your attorney.

A spokesman for the association pointed out that some of the apartment complex units have special areas with apartments designed for families, with recreational facilities available for children.

Probation restored on appeal

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday overturned the action of a Howard County district court in revoking the probation of Raleigh George Spain Jr., noting the request had come from Spain's former defense counsel.

Spain said he was denied due process of law in the revocation of probation "because the prosecutor who filed the State's motion to revoke probation and who represented the State at the revocation hearing had originally represented petitioner as defense counselor when petitioner pleaded guilty."

The court agreed and ordered his probation on the burglary conviction, for which he received a 10-year sentence, reinstated.

The State had contended Spain violated his probation conditions by failing to report to his probation officer, failing to report a change in his residence and failing to pay court costs, attorney's fees and probation

The appeals court said that "when a prosecutor proceeds against a defendant whom he formerly represented as defense counsel in the same case, no specific prejudice need be shown by the defendant."

Carter seeking to plug tax gap

is trying to find a way to collect more than $1 billion hires them — to report their earnings and pay their in taxes that it says are not being paid each taxes. year by self-employed Americans.

As might be expected, a Treasury Department proposal to set up a withholding system on payments to so-called "independent contractors" has not won rave reviews from those potentially affected.

Treasury estimates that its withholding plan could affect between 5 million and 7 million Americans who make their livings in such occupations as real estate or insurance sales, logging, hair-cutting, trucking, home construction, warehousing, entertainment and consulting.

Many of these people fail to report some or all of their income each year, the department says. A recent Internal Revenue Service audit of 7,100 ch contractors showed that "at least 47 percent of the workers reported absolutely none of the compensation in question for income tax purposes. And Donald C. Lubick, assistant treasury secretary for tax policy, told a Senate subcommittee that "about 62 percent paid none of the Social Security tax due on their compensation.'

Treasury would solve this problem by requiring U.S. companies to withhold for the government 10 percent of the money due contractors. It also would increase the penalties for companies that fail to report annually how much they have paid the independents.

An amalgam of trade associations - including the National Association of Realtors, the National Association of Manufacturers and the Independent Insurance Agents Association - is lobbying against this

The trade groups say it is up to the self-employed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration contractors - not the company or individual that

"This proposal would place the building industry in a position of collecting taxes for the IRS," argued Robert Bannister, an official of the National Association of Home Builders.

The Carter administration contends its withholding plan, which excludes independent contractors working for five or more companies, would make it harder for an individual to avoid paying taxes. Others aren't so sure.

Tom Persky, an associate director with the National Association of Manufacturers, pointed out that much of the government's lost tax revenue, recently estimated by the IRS at $26 billion or more each year, was related to unreported income from criminal activities, such as drug sales. The trade groups are backing a bill introduced by Richard A. Gephardt, D-Mo., which would set up five "tests" a person would have to pass before he could claim, for tax purposes, that he was an independent contractor

Proponents argue that this would end much of the debate between the IRS and companies over a worker's status, but the Carter administration says the Gephardt approach does nothing to help the government collect the tax money due.

FARM-RANCH ROUNDUP

Expert says bad year ahead for country's meat producers

WASHINGTON (AP) - One of the Agriculture Department's top livestock-market experts says that an unprofitable year lies ahead for most meat-animal producers, especially farmers who raise broiler

Heavy foreign demand for U.S. grains is keeping feed prices up despite another bumper crop. That extra cost has come on top of 44 percent hikes in fuel costs, 23 percent increases in interest rates and other double-digit boosts in routine farm costs.

However, analyst James E. Nix told Wednesday's sessions of the annual USDA outlook conference, "Many of the same factors that point to less favorable conditions for producers suggest that the consumer will fare better at the meat counter in 1980 than in 1979."

This year, "consumers have had about the same total quantity of meats available as they had in 1978. This meat supply has consisted of less beef, veal and lamb and mutton but more pork and poultry," Nix said.

Next year, pork supplies will surge again for six months or so, poultry supplies will be a little larger and beef supplies will drop only slightly, he predicted.

That means "slightly larger meat supplies in 1980," he said. Poultry prices should average close to this year's levels. Red meat prices could rise only 3 percent to 5 percent for the whole year, compared to a 16-18 percent jump this year over the 1978 averages. Nix said.

and consumers pay, Nix said. Those are how shoppers select alternatives to beef and how the general economy behaves. Recession in the first half of the year and the need to spend more of the family income on higher heating and gasoline tabs could cut overall meat

Two hard-to-predict elements will determine what producers receive

U.S. could reap bigger oilseed crop

WASHINGTON (AP) - An Agriculture Department economist says that the United States could double its per-acre yield of sunflowers and overtake the Russians as the leading producer of that oilseed by the end of the 1980s.

George Kromer of the Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service said in a talk on the oilseeds outlook Wednesday that the 1978-79 sunflower supply is a record 3.8 million metric tons, double last season. Record plantings and yields are the reason.

Sunflowers, which didn't even make it into regular crop reports until this year, have become an increasingly attractive cash crop. Improved hybrid varieties could send yields to 1.5 tons an acre in the next few years, Kromer said.

Natural fiber cloth back 'in'

WASHINGTON (AP) - With cotton and wool producers always alert to a market dominated by synthetic-fiber competitors, the Agriculture Department had mixed news this week.

Joan C. Courtless, a Science and Education Administration home economist, said Wednesday that the mythical average American is spending $441 on clothes and shoes this year, an apparent gain of 5.8

But 62 percent of the increase reflected inflation. Just the opposite breakdown occurred in 1978, she

At the same time, her statistics showed that the 1979 slowdown actually just returned spending to normal levels. And she noted that clothes made solely from cotton or wool are in high demand.

Iraq's pressure on Iran builds

EDITOR'S NOTE: Although attention is focused on the crisis between the United States and Iran, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Islamic regime faces a growing problem with neighboring Iraq and other Arab nations in the Persian Gulf area. Here is an analysis of that situation.

By STEPHEN K. HINDY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Stung by attacks on its missions in Iran and emboldened by the continuing chaos there, Iraq is building up its armed forces and pressuring Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to renegotiate a five-year-old peace agreement between the two neighbors.

The renewed friction between the two oil powers -Iran is the world's second largest exporter, Iraq the third - threatens the security of the Persian Gulf, through which a third of the world's oil passes.

President Saddam Hussein's Iraqi government has protested to Iran twice this month because of armed attacks on its consulates in Kermanshah and

An analysis

Khoramshahr and its embassy in Tehran. The Iraqi news agency also has said that Iraqi troops fired on Iranian border towns.

The Iraqi ambassador in Beirut, Abdul-Hussein Moslem Hassan, told a reporter recently that Iran, a Moslem but non-Arab nation, must give up its territorial claim to the Shatt-al-Arab estuary, a key oil-tanker route for both Iraq and Iran at the northern end of the Persian Gulf, and must evacuate three strategic islands near the narrow entrance to the gulf from the Gulf of Oman and the Arabian Iraqi sources here said President Hussein is not planning unilateral abrogation of the 1974 Algiers pact, which governs relations between Iran and its Arab neighbors. But they said Iraq considers the agreement "as good as nil."

'Some people might contend we are trying to weaken Iran, but we are not trying to do anything of the sort," said the source. "Iran is getting weaker day after day without us having to do anything to speed up the collapse of the unjust situation in the

The 1974 accord gave Iraq and Iran equal rights to use Shatt-al-Arab, which forms at the confluence of Iraq's Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, in exchange for the shah's pledge to stop supporting Iraq's Kurdish minority, which for years had fought a guerrilla war for autonomy in northeast Iraq.

The Kurds, a minority in Iran also where they have been battling Khomeini's forces, are armed again in Iraq and have renewed their war for autonomy.

The three islands in question, Abu Musa, Greater Tunb and Lesser Tunb, were seized by the shah in 1971 when the British withdrew from the gulf. There was an outcry from the Arabs, but no one could match the shah's military might.

Iraq has accused the Khomeini government of persecuting the Arab minority near Iraq's border in southwestern Iran, and the Baluchistani minority in the southeast. The Iraqis are said to be aiding the Iranian Arabs as well as the Iranian Kurds. Iraq still refers to the oil-rich southwestern Iran as Arabistan, and it calls the Persian Gulf the Arabian Gulf.

The Shiite Moslem revolution in Iran has shaken the kingdoms of the gulf, many of which have substantial Shiite populations, although the majority of Arabs are Sunni Moslems.

Iraq also contends with a restive Shiite minority, and the secular nature of Iraq's Arab Socialist Baath Party is hardly consistent with Khomeini's theocra-

Sentencing delayed in gambling trial

TYLER, Texas (AP) - Sentencing has been delayed indefinitely for four Gregg County men convicted of violating federal gambling laws by running a gaming operation in the basement of a Longview-area nightclub.

A fifth defendant, 21-year-old Becky Teague, was acquitted of the charges Wednesday.
U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice said a sentencing hearing would be set after he receives reports on the background of the defendants from federal probation officers.

The 11-man, one-woman jury deliberated about four hours before arriving at the verdict shortly after

Those convicted were Vernon Horace Tucker, 56, of Kilgore, owner of the Hideaway Lounge; Marion Benton Morton, 35, of Kilgore, manager of the lounge; John Temple James, 28, of Kilgore, the club's bouncer; and Horace Hill, 44, of Longview, conductor of games at the lounge.

Miss Teague, of Kilgore, was the bartender at the

The five were charged with conducting an illegal gambling business, and of conspiring to conduct the business. Both charges carry a maximum sentences of five years in prison. The maximum fine for conducting the games is $20,000, and for the conspiracy charge, $10,000.

Defense attorney R.L. Whitehead Jr. said he had not yet talked to his clients about a possible appeal.

Whitehead, of Longview, conceded a gambling operation was run in the club's basement, but contended the operation only violated state law. He said in order for the case to fall under federal gambling laws, prosecutors had to prove at least five people were involved in the gambling operation. The gambling trial resulted from January raids on suspected gambling houses in the East Texas area. A related federal racketeering trial is scheduled Nev. 26 before U.S. District Judge William M.

Democrats see intra-party fight for nomination

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Today's meeting of the Democratic National Committee was called to work out routine details for the 1980 convention. But party leaders say it has become the early battleground for an intra-party struggle among President Carter and his challengers.

"I was looking for a tranquil, peaceful meeting in which we really had little to do. Since the political climate has speeded up a good bit, I think we'll have lots of maneuvering and negotiating," said Democratic National Chairman John White, a staunch Carter supporter.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., formally announced his presidential candidacy Wednesday and California Gov. Edmund Brown was expected to announce today. But White said Wednesday night that he feels 60 percent of the 363 DNC members still support Carter. None of the candidates is expected for meetings today and Friday, but President Carter is sending newly appointed campaign manager Robert Strauss and three top aides. Strauss, Carter's special Middle East ambassador until joining the president's re-election campaign Tuesday, was scheduled to give the keynote address during Friday's general session. Strauss' new job and the now-official Kennedy and Brown challenges forced White to do some agenda

Strauss will still deliver his speech, but White has allowed Kennedy and Brown campaign officials to designate a speaker in order to allow equal time.

Meanwhile, South Texas Kennedy supporters are planning a large reception tonight for the DNC members, especially the more than 50 who publically support the Massachusetts senator. The reception was planned by a Draft Kennedy group before Kennedy scheduled his announcement.

"We figure John White needs to know we're here," said Louise Caddell, a member of the state Democratic committee and co-chairman of Texas for Kennedy-South Texas.

"It's an effort to show we're serious about this. It's early for us, so I doubt we would show a lot of force," said San Antonio attorney and reception host Pat Maloney, who has been in contact with Kennedy

Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne is among the Kennedy supporters planning to attend the DNC meeting. The committee must decide plans for the 1980 convention and elect a "temporary" convention chairman and heads of the major convention committees. White has already recommended House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill as convention chairman. He has also recommended Connecicutt Gov. Ella Grasso to head the credentials committee, Detroit Mayor Coleman Young as chairman of the platform committee and Sen. Daniel Inouye of Hawaii as chairman of the rules committee.

White's recommendations were expected to be routinely approved by the DNC. The leaders handle the important pre-convention platform drawing and were expected to be approved as "permanent" chairmen by the convention dele-

The general session of the DNC is scheduled Friday.

White fears clash will benefit GOP

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Kennedy-Carter clash puts Democrats in the "extremely dangerous" position of becoming hopelessly split and handing the 1980 presidential election to the Republicans, warns Democratic National Chairman

"The only chance the Republicans have is for us to run a bitter, tough campaign and split the party. If we don't have enough sense to keep the party together, we deserve to get beaten," White said here Wednesday night following Sen. Edward Kennedy's announcement in Massachusetts that he is challenging President Carter. "It could happen. I hope it doesn't. I think we're in an extremely dangerous position," added White, a staunch Carter supporter. "I just want all of the candidates to remember that November is elec-

White fears Carter, Kennedy and California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., who is expected to formally announce today, will get into a bitter campaign based on personalities, not issues.

"They are going to have to be restrained," said White. "Kennedy's a pro. I'm not saying anything he doesn't know. "I had the unpleasant task in 1978 of reminding Senate and House candidates that it's not good politics to run against an incumbent administration, the president and other Democrats," he added. White said Carter ran "a healing campaign" in 1976 that has unified the Democratic Party. He said the party at present faces no seriously divisive issue, such as the Vietnam War. White compared the Kennedy-Carter confrontation to spectacular train wrecks once staged in the Old West to attract buyers to land sales. "It's going to be exciting and create a lot of interest. But when it's over, I hope we don't have two wrecked trains," he said. "I'm just trying to warn some people. It may be fun to criticize, raise hell and make fun of people you disagree with. They just have to remember that the alternative might be (Republican contenders John) Connally or (Ronald) Reagan. It's not easy to unify a party once it becomes split.'

'Tarzan-style' rescue saves attempted suicide

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A fire captain saved the life of a woman threatening to jump off a ledge when he swung from a rope "Tarzan-style" and snatched her in his arms while her attention was

The 22-year-old woman, who was not identified, had cut her wrists Wednesday and was threatening to leap off the ledge outside her third-floor apartment when officials arrived.

While a psychiatrist and a nurse distracted her, Capt. William.Cantwell swung from a rope anchored on the roof, landed on the ledge and then brought her inside the window.

"While she was looking at them, Cantwell swung out Tarzan-style and grabbed her," said acting Fire Chief Daniel J. Regan, who witnessed the rescue. "His timing was so good that you couldn't have planned for a move if you wanted to."

Cantwell said the woman had attempted suicide before. "There was no way we could talk her out of it. So here I am, Superfly, swinging out to grab her.

"When I grabbed her I told her it was really none of my business what she did with her life, but, if you move now, we'll both get hurt," he said.

"When I told her we would both get hurt she held onto me and I pulled her in."

Too much regulation

Congressman Kent Hance of Lubbock hit the nail squarely on the head in addressing the recently held Permian Basin Petroleum Pioneers Reunion here with his comment that oil companies now have to spend too much time dealing with regulatory agencies when they should be looking for oil and gas.

His informative, inspirational remarks were keyed to the American spirit, and this was well in addressing the petroleum pioneers. He said that the pioneering attitude has been dampened by federal regulatory agencies.

"The real blame for those regulatory agencies," Hance said, "goes back to the U.S. Congress in 1974 for putting those price controls on oil and gas on us."

He pedicted that the windfall profits tax, which he opposed, will become a reality, and that it will result in reduced oil production.

The congressman did, however, voice some observations which were a bit more encouraging to his listeners and others.

He said that at long last the general public now realizes that the energy crisis is real. He said also that within the next five or six years "the real answer - production - will solve the problem."

"Things are changing and I see some improvement coming," he assured the pioneers. Concerning the mood of the nation and in the Congress. Hance said he expects a stronger shift toward conservatism in the government in the next session — a shift which he believes will cut across party

Needless to say, his remarks were well received by his large

Earlier in the day, Hance, at a Town Hall-type session, said that he voted against the re-authorization legislation for the Department of Energy, adding, "I just feel that they've not done a good

Back in Washington earlier this week, the West Texas congressman praised Rep. Martin Frost, D-Texas, for his successful bid in the House Rules Committee to allow consideration of an amendment to exempt drilling muds and oilfield wastes from Environmental Protection Agency hazardous waste regulations.

Hance said that conscientious study of oilfield wastes will confirm they are not hazardous and that they were unnecessarily included with the EPA regulations concerning such matters.

Hance is keeping an eye on matters pertaining to and affecting oil and gas interests and has no hesitancy in speaking out on such matters when and were neces-

Anti-atheism rally

A nationwide anti-atheism speak, and she is going to do just movement has been launched at a "More Pies for Madalyn" rally held at Sedona, Ariz.

The action stemmed from an incident in which an Albuquerque, N.M., man shoved a chocolate cream pie in the face of Madalyn Murray O'Hair at an American Atheists meeting at Albuquerque

The rally was organized by Sedona residents after Allen Hunter was charged with simple assault in the pie-throwing incident.

The sale of pies and bumper stickers was reported brisk at the

In commenting on the piethrowing episode, Hunter said, "To me, a pie in the face is the classic American way to show disgust for someone. I wanted to let her (Mrs. O'Hair) know how disgusted I am with her preachings."

So, Mr. Hunter was arrested and charged, which also is very much in line with the American way.

Although we cannot endorse Hunter's action in the matter, we certainly can sympathize with his feeling of disgust at Mrs. O'Hair. Madalyn O'Hair has a right to that in various ways, but her preachings still disturb and disgust a vast majority of American citizens, residents of Sedona, Ariz., included.

At the same time, those who disagree with Madalyn also have a right to state their views and, hopefully, they will continue to do so, in ways within the law.

Another 'day of infamy' recalled

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - An anguished voice drifted across the air waves like a cry in the wind. "Women and children are being shot in the streets! We are all going to be killed!" cried the disembodied voice. "I repeat, we are all going to be killed! This is an appeal for international help...Please help us!" Then there was dead si-

The desperate plea was picked up on short-wave radio in the early dawn of Dec. 7. But it was 1975, not 1941; East Timor, not Pearl Harbor, And the aggressors were not Japanese but Indonesians armed to the teeth with U.S. weapons. They swept through the independent nation of East Timor, gunning down innocent civilians in the streets, just as the haunting voice had charged

It was a day of irony as well as infamy. The last time Timor had been overrun by foreign troops, the invaders had been Japanese. The impoverished people who lived there had formed an underground to fight on the side of the United States. But three decades later, the United States supported the aggressors. President Gerald Ford gave his tacit approval on Dec. 6, 1975, for the invasion.

The world scarcely noticed the obscure war, which raged on this isolated, rugged, mountainous island 400 miles off the Australian coast. In most newspapers, the aggression was capsuled in a few paragraphs on the inside pages. The plaintive appeal for help was ignored by those who heard it. It was the last gasp of a tiny radio station in the capital city of Dili.

The ominous silence that followed continued to hang over East Timor. Indonesia threw a naval blockade around the island, ostensibly to prevent arms from reaching the guerrillas still holding out in the mountains. But the blockade also screened the news that filtered through to the outside world.

Exiles who escaped from the island appealed to the United Nations, which sent a fact-finding team to Timor. The group was given the Potemkin village treatment; they were led by the Indonesian conquerors through carefully arranged pe aceful scenes. The conducted tour was so flagrantly phony that the U.N I. observers flew to Australia and to ried to hire a Portuguese frigate to t ransport them secretly back to Tin nor to visit the guerrilla camps in the jungle outback.

Somehow, the Indonesians learned that the U. N. mission was preparing to sneak or the island. They were so upset over the embarrassments that might be u ncovered, according to intelligence r eports, that the authorities in Jakarta actually considered sinking the fri gate with the U.N. observers on box ird. U.S. intelligence agencies learn ed of the bizarre plot but buried the information deep in their files, with out alerting the U.N. representatives; that their ship might be torpedoed out from under them.

Meanw hile, a less drastic scheme was adop ted to keep the fact-finders away. The Indonesian forces hastily launched a fierce offensive against the guer rillas, making it impossible for the U .N. team to find a safe place to land it a Timor. The frustrated U.N. represer itatives, led by Italy's Wispeare ( Jucciardi, finally returned to file a tir nid report confessing that the truth al sout the Timor tragedy "remains € :lusive.'

Not long afterward, exile leaders begged us to send a reporter to Timor to conf irm their charges of carnage. They spent months trying to complete arrang ements to smuggle our associate. F [al Bernton, past the naval blocka de to a secret landing spot on the she ores of East Timor. They waited for stormy weather, which would have I made it easier to elude the Indonesia a warships. But it was never quite possible to coordinate the venture : at both ends. Ins tead, we agreed to seek out the facts from here. U.S. sources have show n us top-secret reports; eye witness es have given us first-hand accoun its. A year ago, our ambassador to I adonesia, Edward Masters, was able to visit East Timor under Indonesian auspices. More recently, relief age ncies have also been admitted to the area. We have seen their re-

T he toll of the dead and dying can only be described as genocide. No body count has been taken. But the population in 1974 was estimated at more than 600,000; now it is believed to be scarcely half that number. The rest apparently have been wiped out by warfare, disease and starvation.

The survivors live in abject poverty. Their rice-and-coconut economy has collapsed under the ravages of war. The population in the countryside has been deliberately starved in order to stifle the resistance movement. The fighting, meanwhile, is becoming more sporadic. Slowly but surely, the guerrilla forces are being eroded by casualties and defections. The resistance movement has been further weakened by squabbling among its military and political leaders. The leadership has passed largely from freedom-loving moderates to hard-core radicals. But the benighted U.S. policies have helped to bring this about. By supporting Indonesia's ruthless rule, the United States brought disfavor upon the pro-American moderates.

Thus the United States has been a shameful accomplice in the suppression of our former allies on East Timor. When the resistance at last dies, there probably won't be even a despairing voice crying out over short-wave radio.

The really rough stuff yet is ahead for Edward Kennedy

many years ago.

NICK THIMMESCH

WASHINGTON - Tough, fingers in-the-eye interviews of Sen. Edward Kennedy on network TV last week must have left him realizing how upsetting his run for the Presidency could prove to be. The questions fired at him about Chappaquiddick, his marital status and ability to lead, were not the sort his brothers got

Whatever Kennedy says about Chappaquiddick, he can't put that tragic event to rest. Nor can he satisfy interviewers with explanations about his wife as long as he lives apart from her. These questions are like chronic disease - latent, capable of breaking out at any moment and potentially very damaging. When Kennedy talked with CBS correspondent Roger Mudd last summer at Hyannisport, he had hopes that the outcome would be some appealing story about the Kennedys at leisure, with matriarch Rose being assured by Ted that the grandchildren had their mosquito repellents and flashlights ready for camp.

Perhas what Kennedy really need ed was Mudd repellent. He was asked: whether people will ever really believe his Chappaquiddick story; about how a citizen could be assured that in the future Kennedy wouldn't again act "irresponsibly and inexplicably when your own career came in conflict with the public's right nedy still talks about Chappaquiddick in a "rather bloodless, third-person and his advisers plan to volunteer nothing more on this tragedy come off Similarly, what ABC's Tom Jarriel did with Kennedy in his recent interview could hardly be called kid-gloves treatment. Jarriel opened with, icked at Chappaquiddick. Do you have what it takes to be President of

...you cheated in college, you pan-

On a school busing question, Kennedy was termed "a limousine liberal." On the big one, Jarriel reminded him that the Edgartown police chief says the Chappaquiddick accident case should be reopened and examined in a public forum, complete with cross-examination. When Kennedy said he and wife Joan are "really back," Jarriel noted, deadpan, 'She lives in Boston.'

Kennedy was more assured with Jarriel than with Mudd because he probably wasn't prepared for Mudd's probing. The post-mortem on these interviews is that they didn't help Kennedy, and in the case of CBS Kennedy was lucky that another Martha's Vineyard epic, "Jaws," was being shown by another network, and drew most of the audience.

But thoughtful people who watched these interviews are likely to agree with Robert Sherrill, the most thorough of the Chappaquiddick chroniclers, that while the press exhaustively covered the details of that night, they forgot the details of "the coverup," as Sherrill calls it. This "coverup" includes, says Sherrill, "No t only the calculated silence of Kennedy, but also "the delaying tactics c if Kennedy's lawyers and the remark ;able assistance that Kennedy received from certain officials in kee ping the press and the public at a sa fe d istance.' In other words, Kennedy talks a round Chappaquiddick, and the total s tory doesn't come out. And yet the curiosity persists and will intensify in the upcoming campaign. If some outside force could wipe away the emotional support Kennedy has, because of past history, and the nagging Chappaquiddick puzzle as well - thus a trade-off - we could ask whether his candidacy is valid. It is valid, it seems to me, for a leading politician to rise and oppose his incumbent President over a truly fundamental question which must be resolved, for the sake of the party

Oriental rugs in a variety of sizes!

Aladdin House is proud to present this fabulous showing and sale just in time for the holidays!

Oriental rugs and carpets have been produced for centuries and the rugs and carpets produced today are the same in almost every respect as those produced 500 years ago. The best known and most beautiful rugs come from Persia but there are also excellent pieces that come from China, Afghanistan, Turkey, Pakistan, India and Romania. There are other countries in Asia and Africa who produce hand made rugs, but we do not have enough space here to enumerate all of them. All these rugs are made of wool. There are exceptions such as some of the Persian Qum that are made of pure silk.

One may ask why is a hand made oriental rug or carpet the most prized and sought after of all floor coverings? The main reasons are:

1) An oriental rug, being entirely hand made, has a guaranteed durability. Even accidental damage can be repaired without decreasing the rug's value. This cannot be said of a machine made rug which, once damaged,

2) The decorative value of an oriental rug in undeniable. It greatly enhances a room and creates an immediate impression of friendly warmth on entering it.

3) Provided it is used with care, the value of an oriental rug increases year by year. It is a safe investment and can be turned into ready cash at any time

It is sometimes believed that oriental rugs and carpets are very expensive items. This is not so. We have many fine pieces that sell at under $500.00

A brief summary of our rugs and carpets, and their characteristics, is as follows:

Persian: The finest pieces come from the towns such as Istahan, Qum, Kashan, Tabriz and Kerman. In addition there are the nomadic rugs of coarser weave such as Hamadan, Shiraz, Abadeh, Afshar and Belouch. We also have Kelims which have no pile, which come in colorful, geometric designs.

Chinese: The thickest pile of all carpets and rugs. They are very luxurious and come in embossed Aubusson,

Pakistan: Specialises in Bokhara and Atghan designs and in excellent copies of Persian design. .onsiderably less Afghan: In well known elephant foot designs in red and gold. Useful for offices and hallways. Other designs are

India: Mainly heavy pile. Produced with beautiful pastel backgrounds in Floral, Aubusson or Chinese Peking Turkish: Made of wool, silk and artificial silk. Some rugs rival those of Persia in quality and design. Reasonably Romanian: Mainly copies of Persian designs, but we also have large carpets with the Aubusson design made in wool supplied from England. Extremely good value at very low prices.

Success of industrial park seen in 'activity'

194-acre tract 'bursting' with business

By LANA CUNNINGHAM

Jeans, tape dispensers, oilfield servicing supplies and beer: They all can be found on a large tract of land known as Midland Industrial Park.

A surge of activity on that 194-acre tract prompted the Industrial Foundation of Midland, Inc., to sponsor a trip Tuesday to show Midland city and county officials just what is going on. The Foundation also pointed out just why and how it has run out of land.

The park, owned and operated by the Industrial Foundation, was opened in 1969 to provide a planned industrial area that would be attractive to firms wishing to locate in Midland. It also has served as a drawing card for industries other than petroleumrelated in the Foundation's goal to attract more diversified

Grant Billingsley with the Industrial Foundation - a community-sponsored, non-profit corporation - said the organization raised the money to purchase the land through sale of debentures to Midland firms and individuals.

THE LAND WAS FULLY DEVELOPED, meaning all underground utilities were provided at each site. A rail spur through the tract, located west of Holiday Hill Road between U.S. Highway 80 and Interstate 20, served to attract firms needing a Ten years later, the land is almost gone, and the foundation is scrutinizing the possibility of a second industrial park. But the problem is where.

"We don't have any ideas yet on where to locate it," Billingsley said. "We've run out of land."

The busload of city and county officials stopped first on the tour at Levi Strauss where Robert Anderson, personnel manager, explained the detailed operations of putting together a pair of denim jeans.

Levi Strauss & Co. opened the main plant in Midland in 1969. A nearby building where the material is cut was constructed later, Billingsley said.

Many of the garment-making steps have become more automated in those 10 years, but Anderson said it still requires someone to sit at the machine and guide the

EACH EMPLOYEE HAS A SPECIFIC JOB TO DO. Anderson said the company realizes the jobs are not interesting and therefore has devised methods to reward the workers in various ways — such as surpassing the set goals of production.

The second stop on the tour was Teraco, Inc., a division of Magnatex Industries, Inc., which manufactures advertising specialties, primarily "injection-molded plastic products," said C.R. Schwisow, president.

This includes design of the product, manufacturing, packaging and shipping to the buyer, he said. Teraco is the largest supplier of employee name badges in the country.

After the plastic badges are made, machines imprint the name of companies or insignias with metallic tapes, he

Not only does Teraco produce tape dispensers, garment bag holders, rulers, paper clip holders or letter openers, it also is a large supplier of advertising emory boards, according to Schwisow as he showed the soft wood and sandpaper from which the "nail files" are made.

Teraco established its business at the Industrial Park nine years ago, he said. Since then, the company has tripled in size.

TWO FACILITIES ARE UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT THE o Billingsley. These are Core Lab which is putting up a 25,000 square-foot building, and American Coldset Corp., which is constructing a 5,000 square-foot building. The latter is expected to open during the first quarter of 1980. A third company, Woodman Distributing Co., will begin construction of a building within a month to six weeks, said Billingsley. The firm is a beer distributing company.

Applied Mechanics already has a 10,000 square-foot office. But it has started on a 2,500 square-foot addition, he

Giving the final boost to the Industrial Foundation's efforts are the proposed Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Inc., and Michelin Inc. facilities. Both announced plans earlier this year to locate plants

Plans for both plants are on the drawing boards, but Billingsley is unaware as to when construction on either plant will begin.

Michelin — the radial tire manufacturer — will occupy 232 acres with the plant to face I-20, according to Billingsley. The rubber mixing plant should employ 700 persons.

PPG WILL BE ON 420 ACRES NEXT TO MICHELIN. The fiberglass thread manufacturing plant will employ 350 to 400 persons in the beginning. But Billingsley said the plans include expanding the 400,000-square-feet initial plant to 700,-000 square feet.

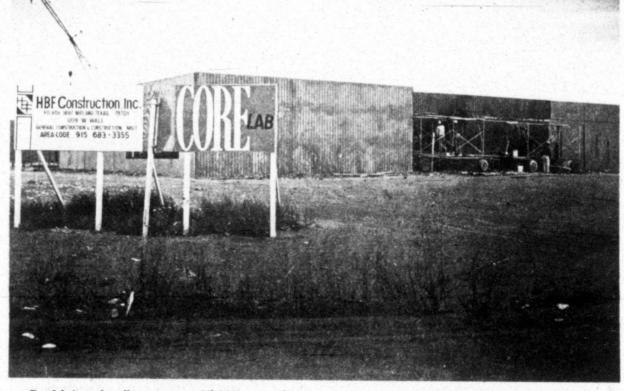

Midland Industrial Park is home to 27 firms with 33 buildings, said Billingsley.

Other businesses located there are Bancroft Paper Co.; B.J. Hughes, Inc.; Centrilift, Inc.; Chaparral Pipeline; Christensen Diamond Products; Christensen Downhole Tool, Inc.; Department of Public Safety; Dyna Drill; End Devices; Energy Systems, Inc.; Fabricated Industrial Systems; International Harvester.

Other businesses are Knorr Furniture Co.; Lydick Roofing Co.; Mid-Continent Inn; Nabla Corp.; Schlumberger; Sta-Rite Pumps; Tri-City Beverage; United Parcel Service; University Lands System; and WPC, Inc.

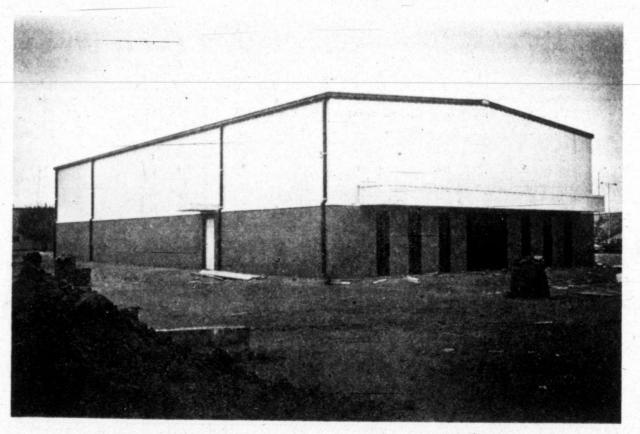

These facilities are expected to hire 950 persons by Jan. 1, 1980, Billingsley said.

President of the foundation is Howard D. "Rocky" Ford. Other officers are M.A. Cappadonna, Harrell Feldt and Tony Martin, vice presidents; Wilbur Yeager Jr., treasurer, and W.H. "Bill" Collyns, secretary.

Pre-fabricated walls go up on a 25,000 square foot building to house Core Lab facilities in the near future. The new structure is one of three new industries going up at Midland Industrial Park.

Almost completed, the new American Coldset Corp. building should be ready to open in the first quarter of 1980. The company, one of the newest additions to Midland Industrial Park, manufactures diamond drilling and coring equipment.

Adel Campos of Teraco Inc., labels plastic products with a hot stamp machine as Teraco President C.R.

Peruvian seamen left 'high, dry' in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) - A group of Peruvian seamen left their homes on a flight to Holland, hired as crewmen on a ship heading from Rotterdam straight home to Peru - a one-month trip, at most.

More than a year later, Oscar Delgado and his shipmates found themselves stuck in the port of Houston trapped by the captain's legal troubles — after an odyssey that included most of the world's major ports.

"I was engaged to be married before I left, and I told my fiancee I would be gone no more than two months, just to be safe," Delgado, 29, said through an interpreter.

Knowing their only alternative would be to quit their jobs and try to reach their distant homes with little or no money, Delgado and seven fellow crew members filed suit for their wages in U.S. District Court here.

Similar cases are finding their way into American courts more frequently as foreign sailors look to the courts as the only place they can get help pulous owners and substandard work

"We had signed agreements to make this trip, but the captain said there was no time to make out the contracts before we left, so he had us sign blank ones," Delgado said. Then he filled them in to say we agreed to travel all over the world, and we hadn't.

For most of the seven months the crew was trapped in Houston, with the ship impounded, they received no pay. When they did it was a meager

When they went to court for their money, they were immediately threatened with reprisals by the captain, including the possibility of being jailed when they returned home. "Because they filed suit, the Peruvians are finished as seamen," said Richard Schechter, the attorney who represented the sailors.

'They will be blackballed by the shipowners. They may suffer serious repercussions on the way home, and when they get there, they could be tried for sabotaging the Peruvian economy or treason.

"A Greek sailor named Constantin Papadopolous was sent to prison for six months to a year in Greece for filing a wage claim in the United States," Schechter said.

The Peruvians dropped their suit after they were paid in early October, and the ship departed soon after for parts unknown. The seamen had been supported by a group of ministers at the Houston International Seamen's Center. The churchmen express indignation that so little is done to treat the recurring

"It's unbelievable that on American soil or on America's doorstep, things go on that harken back to the days of slavery and piracy," said the Rev. Roy Strange

"The captain has total jurisdiction over what goes on aboard the ship.' he said. "He can say, 'I am master of this ship, and you're not leaving, no matter how bad things are, no matter how badly you've been beaten, no matter how much money you're not

U.S. exports to Japan up 43 percent, says ambassador

TOKYO (AP) - Improving bilateral trade and lessening tensions between the United States and Japan are among the "most significant achievements' of the past year, Mike Mansfield, U.S. ambassador to Japan, said today.

'We recognize at the same time that this does not mean the permanent end to all our difficulties problems will arise again, perhaps more serious ones, as is inherent in any multibillion dollar enterprise," he added.

But with patience, determination and good will, progress can be made and problems can be solved to bring about a more balanced trading relationship, he said.

In remarks prepared before the Southeast U.S.-Japan Association, the ambassador noted that U.S. exports to Japan were up 43 percent in the first nine months of 1979 over the same period in 1978.

U.S. imports from Japan also increased, but only by about 7 percent.

"These are generally encouraging trends," he said.

The Southeast U.S.-Japan Association holds an annual two-day conference that serves as a forum for trade, investments, technology and cultural exchanges. It is attended by state representatives of Alabama, Georgia,.. Tennessee, Virginia, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Another reason for the healthier trading picture is the growth of agricultural markets, Mansfield said, noting that America is the world's leading agricultural producer, and Japan the world's largest market for agricultural products.

He said the successful completion of the Tokyo round of the multilateral trade negotiations last spring "will help assure a free flow of trade for both our countries for years to

Saying the United States is and will remain an Asian and Pacific power, the ambassador said American participation in the development of East Asia is absolutely vital.

If the sailor jumps ship, Strange said, he finds himself in trouble with U.S. authorities.

The Rev. Rivers Patout, head of the seamen's center, said few laws protect the rights of sailors, and those few can be circumvented by unscrupulous captains and ship owners.

"One law guarantees salary payment to any sailor who has been discharged," Patout said. "But the ship owners get around that by including in contracts that the sailor can be discharged without pay if he is at fault. Then he has to pay his own expenses and passage back home.

Martial law lifted in Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)-Bolivia's new military dictator lifted martial law and censorship and promised elections as resistance to his coup

Banks and businesses in La Paz opened Wednesday, breaking a sixday general strike called by the central labor federation. Half the city's buses and taxis were running, and residents of the city returned to streets deserted except for anti-military demonstrators and troops since Col. Alberto Natusch's takeover last Thursday.

The tin miners, mainstay of the nation's economy, were reported still on strike Wednesday, but the unions suspended the general strike Wednesday night.

After four days of clashes in which the Red Cross said army fire killed at least 60 persons, there were no demonstrations Wednesday for the second day and no shooting.

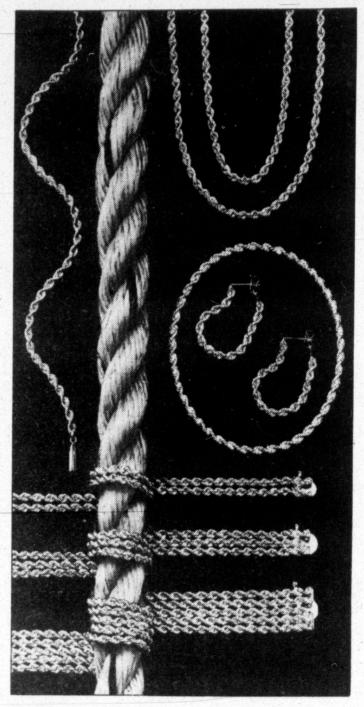

Natusch in a telecast made no reference to a proposal by Congress that he form a junta with two of its members. But he offered an unspecified post in his government to the president of Congress, Lidia Gueiler.

The colonel said a presidential election would be held in accordance with the decision of Congress, which had scheduled one for next May. And he gave "total guarantees" for free operation of the central labor federation's headquarters in downtown La Paz, which troops shot up on Sunday. Some union leaders were reported arrested on Tuesday, while others had been in hiding.

Resistance' to the coup continued among the rank and file of the Roman Catholic clergy, who said in a communique that they planned to close the churches throughout the South American nation of 5 million people next Sunday.

We fear that the brutal experience of these days might become the start of a system of repression that will convert Bolivia into a regrettable example of human rights violations, priests and nuns of the Bolivian Religious Council said in a communique.

"We have seen the deaths of men, women and children, attacks on groups meeting peacefully, injuries from bullets, confrontation between brothers, and the use of humble soldiers for tasks of repression and

Policeman charged in bribery try

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Federa! prosecutors say the arrest of a city policeman accused of trying to bribe a customs inspector and smuggle marijuana through a border checkpoint culminated an investigation that began last Febru-

Police officer Ramon Magos, 29, charged in a five-count federal indictment, was arrested Wednesday.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Mike McDonald said the arrest climaxed a nine-month investigation by customs internal security officers and El Paso police that began when Inspector Richard Martinez reported the alleged bribery attempt to his supervisor.

Police Chief Bill Rodriguez suspended Magos, a three-year veteran of the force, after his arrest at police headquarters Wednesday.

The indictments charge Magos, who is being held on $50,000 bond, with attempted bribery, attempted smuggling and three counts of using a telephone to commit a felony. He is accused of offering a customs inspector "in excess of $1,000 per week" to look the other way while he smuggled an unspecified amount of pot into the United States.

Research smashing infertility barrier

By BOB CORBETT Copley News Service

There is more than a hope now, thanks to modern science, that millions of women, previously considered infertile, can bear children.

This hope rises from new understandings of the female reproductive cycle, the many factors involved and how they can be manipulated.

In fact, for a certain class of women who for one reason or another can't produce eggs, it seems to be more than just a hope -- almost a promise. These points were made by Dr.

Robert Rebar, an assistant professor of reproductive medicine at the University of California at San Diego School of Medicine. @If there are eggs left in the ovary,@ he said during an interview, @modern medical science today has the drugs to induce ovulation (the production of those eggs) in virtually

The research in this area is still in its infancy, Rebar said, and it still seems somewhat weird -- bouncing around from such things as jogging to stress and just how they may affect the workings of the brain and the production of hormones and other chemical compounds.

For example, Rebar noted, many (40 percent) female joggers demonstrate a reduced ability to produce the female hormone estrogen. College coeds seem to have a similar problem, perhaps related to stress. While the "whys" of these and other situations are not really understood yet, Rebar said there is now no reason why such women and others should not be able to produce eggs capable of being fertilized. In short, these women can be made to conceive children.

The way the system works, in a simple diagram, Rebar said, is that the brain, working with various chemicals called neurotransmitters, spurs the hypothalamus to produce a group of what have been called "mas-

Give skis proper care

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) - Rocks, ice and hard skiing always scar the bottoms of skis and dull their edges, says an industry official who warns that proper care must be taken to extend their life.

If not attended to, such wear and tear will steadily cut the lifetime of a pair of skis, according to Tim O'Connor, ski-product manager for AMF Head, a sports-equipment manufac-

Basic, routine maintenance will help keep skis in top performance condition, with smooth, flat bases and square, sharp edges, O'Connor said.

Ski-tuning tips recommended to make both new and used skis perform better and last longer include maintaining a flat tip to improve the ski's speed and control, and keeping ski edges at a sharp right angle to the base of the runner, to assure the edges will carve with maximum effectiveness.

Also, dulling the tips and tails keeps skis from hooking or grabbing, and waxing skis helps protect bases from women ovulate, Rebar said, is the result of research done around the world.

Deep grooves and pitting in the base of the ski can usually be corrected by use of a special candle available in sports equipment stores.

This whole field of reproductive medicine has exploded in the last 10 years, Rebar said, as basic researchers have uncovered the manner in which the brain, hypothalamus (an area of the brain), the pituitary gland and the ovaries work together to produce the hormones and other chemicals necessary to set the stage for pregnancy

As a result, he said, a w hole series of drugs have been developed which, when properly used, can almost assure-- except in some rare c.ases -that a woman can produce a h'fe-potential egg.

There are many causes of infercility, Rebar noted.

About 40 percent of the time, he said, it's because there's a missing

In another 20 to 30 percent, infertility results from a blockage of the woman's Fallopian tubes that lead from the ovaries to the uterus or womb, he said.

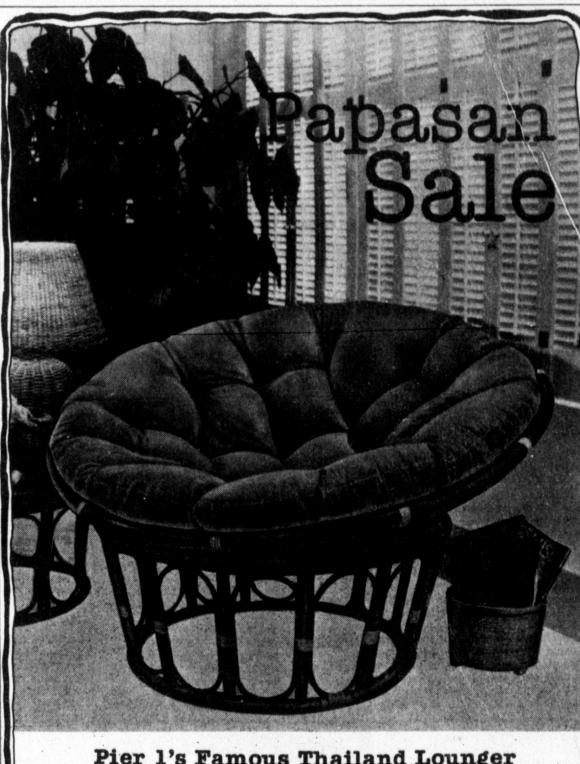

There's a cervical factor that accounts for about 5 percent.

However, he noted, about 15 to 20 percent of infertility results simply from an inability of a woman to produce eggs or ovulate and an accompanying inability to menstruate.

Mrs. Pete Bryant of Greenwood prepares an array of traditional holiday goodies. Enjoying them are Susannea, left, and Dusty. Foods include, from the top, cinna-

Holidays traditional for Pete Bryant family

has its favorite holiday food traditions, all designed to make the last of the year a most memorable season. This is the first of a weekly food feature on one of our readers which we will publish during the holiday season.

By WANDA MOUTON Lifestyle Editor

Tradition is an important part of Christmas celebration for the Pete Bryant family in Green-

Every year they observe the holidays the same way. And it wouldn't be Thanksgiving or Christmas without cinnamon rolls, bread loaf or Christmas candy

Carola Bryant is also traditional. She's a housewife and mother, and is generally considered to be a darn good cook. She's also busy, working on the Midland County Extension Homemakers council, the Calico Extension Homemakers Club, the Midland County Farmer's Union and the Extension Family Living Area Commit-

On top of all that, she works on the farm. "I drive the tractor just like everyone else in the family," she said. "And especially now when we're just getting ready to harvest the cotton."

But she always finds time to make the annual goodies demanded by her husband Pete and children Dusty, 3, and Susannea, 5.

It isn't easy 'The bread takes all day to make," she explained. She begins work on it during the early

Nearly every family hours of the morning and finishes up at night. "But it freezes real well, so I make a bunch in advance and we eat it throughout the holidays." The bread recipe, which can be varied to make cinnamon rolls, loaves, plain rolls and other ways, is one handed down from her mother-in-law, Mrs. Alvey Bryant. The recipe is probably about 30 years old, she estimates, and is Carola's sisters-in-law. It's an original from One year they will gather the elder Mrs. Bryant with Carola's family and who always made it for her family, too.

The candy is one handed down by Carola's own never varies, according mom LaDella Duke. "It's been in the family as long as I can remember and is certainly as old as I am," said Mrs. Bryant.

She added that it is easy and fairly quick to make. "It takes just a little while to reach the soft ball stage," she

Mrs. Bryant has begun her own food tradition for the holidays, with a Pecan Cheese Ball. She served it two years ago at a Farmer's Union party and it met with such success that she has made it annually. "The kids enjoyed helping make it so much. It's a great snack for company, saves real well and tastes delicious," she meal, with a turkey or hen and dressing, giblet gravy, corn, green beans, creamed potatoes, fruit salad, pecan pies and pumpkin pies,' she said.

And it's a real gathering, with 20 or more in each family.

Carola claims that they don't do that much entertaining during the season, but her conversation is peppered with extension meetings, Farmer's Union gatherings and club parties.

And her bread recipe is large enough to feed all, using 10-12 cups of flour.

The Bryants plan on making it a real celebration this year because the cotton crop was good. "It's not always that way," said Carola. But regardless of what happens, they'll not observe the holidays without Mom's Bread or Momma's Christmas Candy.

60% more protein than white or other wheat bread!

It's true. No other bread can give you as much protein as new Proteina Wheat Bread. Because Proteina Wheat Bread is the first and only bread baked with toasted high-protein cottonseed kernels. In fact, these deliciously crunchy cottonseed kernels are the best known source of quality vegetable protein available today. That's why new Proteina Wheat Bread can give you 60% more protein than white or other wheat bread. Just six ounces provide 40% of your minimum daily requirement of protein. But you don't buy bread just for protein. And we don't bake it that way, either. Proteina Wheat Bread is a wholesome blend of wheat grains and cottonseed kernels with just a touch of honey and molasses. Toasted, it has a crunchy, nutty flavor. No preservatives. No added shortening. No refined sugar. Just real good bread. With a real good reason to try it. New Proteina Wheat Bread. Taste what no other bread can give you.

> NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market gained some ground in nervous trading today as investors moved in for bargains following the stock market drop caused by the situation in Iran.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues, which sank below the 800-point level Wednesday for the first time this year, had rebounded 2.14 to 799.81 by noon.

Advancing issues led declines by a 3-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange. Iranian students continued to hold several dozen Americans hostage in the American embassy in Tehran. The attempts to negotiate for release of the hostages. The flow of oil from Iran resumed after a daylong halt, and the Iranian oil minister said previous reports that the nation was cutting oil exports were untrue. Oil industry officials, however, said they had been informed that Iran was reducing oil sales by 5 percent. Bally Manufacturing was the NYSE's most active issue at noon, rising 21/2 to 30%. A prominent analysts reportedly advised clienmts today to buy Bally and other gambling issues. Among the casino stocks, Caesars World was up 1% to 16% and Resorts International class A rose 11/2 to 26% on the American Stock Exchange.

The NYSE composite index of its more than 1,500 listed common stocks rose .20 to 56.95. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 1.70 to 205.65.

Big Board volume at noon was 12.69 million shares, compared to 13.90 million in the first two hours of Wednesday's session. Among active issues at noon, Xerox was off 1/8 to 5714, IBM fell % to 611%, Boeing gained ¾ to 43, Mobil fell 1/8 to 483/4, Texaco rose 1/2 to 27% and General Motors was up 1/4 to 541/4.

Bus accident kills two children

MONCKS CORNER, S.C. (AP) - A tractor-trailer hit a school bus carrying youngsters to class today, killing two children and injuring 25 others and the drivers of both vehicles, officials said.

Deputy Berkeley County Coroner James Preacher identified the dead as Edsel Nofsinger and Terry Martin, both 12, of Moncks Corner. According to reports, the truck, carrying gravel and driven by J.P. Orvin, sheared off the left side of the bus, jumped an embankment, struck a tree and overturned. The driver was trapped in the wreckage for a short time The coroner said 25 of the 38 children on the bus were injured enough to be treated at four hospitals throughout the Charleston area. The drivers of the bus and truck were treated and released.

The bus was going to Berkeley Middle School in Moncks Corner after picking up students from the Lakewood and Chapperell sections of the county.

Parents who came upon the wreckage pulled alongside the road trying to find out if their children were involved.

The accident occurred about 7:45 a.m. six miles southwest of Moncks Corner.

The bus driver, Verbeteen Taylor, was "just shak" en up," said Dr. Anthony Ladd of the Charleston County Hospital, where she was taken.

Wet pavement blamed for traffic accident

Wet pavement may be partially to blame for a traffic accident at 12:02 p.m. Wednesday in the 3000 block of W. Front, according to Midland police.

Driver of one of the two cars involved, Kristie Sue Hampton, 19, 2811 W. Shandon Avenue, was treated for a bruise above her right eye and released from Midland Memorial Hosptial following the accident, James G. Jenson, 30, 3406 W. Louisiana, driver of the second car, was not injured in the accident, according to officials.

Jenson was westbound on West Front Street and Hampton was eastbound on W. Front Street when the collision between the two vehicles occurred, police

Police reports indicated the Hampton vehicle swerved on wet pavement to avoid hitting a third vehicle before the collision.

Most October building permits go for housing

Almost $5 million in building permits issued during October went for various types of housing.

The city of Midland that month issued 49 single-family residence building permits valued at

Also issued were a building permit for a new duplex, valued at $80,000; a new apartment complex . valued at $2 million and two mobile home permits valued at $14,000,

New commercial building permits issued in October included two signs, valued at $4,000; a supply house, $21,000, and two warehouses, $41,800.

Sixteen commercial permits for alterations and repairs, valued at $759,600, were issued along with 64 residential alteration permits, valued at $305,488. Building permits this year are running only slight behind the number for last year at this time, 1,291 this year compared to 1,398 last year. But prices apparently are higher as building valuations this year so far are $4 million ahead of last year's with $81,482,964 issued this year as compared to $77,012,730 a year ago. Total building permits for October amounted to $6,122,988, almost $2 million ahead of the $4,415,170 issued for the same month last year. Total number issued last month - 138 - was

Copeland does his part to keep America beautiful'

RANKIN - A.C. Copeland believes in making school-going a learning

Get in with WANT ADS when salesman can't, Dial 682-6222

It doesn't always work out that way, but mostly it does. "Ninety-five percent of the kids are coming to school to learn," said Copeland, superintendent of schools in this town of 1,100 folks, "and 95 percent of the parents send them up here to learn."

And those who don't "take to the books" and who get smart-alecky either get paddled or kicked out. It's their option.

A.C. Copeland, superintendent of the Rankin Independent School District, is, in the vernacular, "right proud" of the Rankin schools and is staying put. "I don't know of anything that's more rewarding" than working with students, he says. (Staff Photo by

"We still believe in corporal punishment, and we still administer it." said Copeland, who has been the head man here since 1973. "We've got a lot of good kids, but they're still kids.

But if a student gets overly ornery, he gets his "tail busted" or gets booted out for a spell. No qualms.

For 10 years before he became superintendent, Copeland was principal and, by his own admission, he was — and is — a strict disciplinarian.

HE WHIPPED IN the name of learning and respect. If insolence draws his ire, then you can be sure that too much hair does,

An hirsute student is unheard of in Rankin, and Copeland enforces a strict dress code, which calls for that well-groomed look of the 1950s. Fact is, his reputation on insisting on short-and-trim haircuts for the boys was (and is) so instilled that he ended up with a sketch of the revered George Washington in a crew cut. Message affixed to the frame picture reads:

THOSE WERE THE good ol' days, he can say in reflection. And these days, also, will look good in reflection.

"The biggest change (from principal to superintendent) is I just miss the close contact with the kids," Copeland said. "I like this work, too. Of course, I still have close contact, but not like it was when I was princi-

White-separatist party suffers first defeat

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) - The white-separatist National Party suffered its first by-election defeat since taking power 31 years ago, but it won in three other contests and maintained an overwhelming majority in parliament.

The nationalists were defeated in a Johannesburg suburb Wednesday by the Liberal Progressive Federal Party, which advocates full citizenship for the nation's black majority in a system of federated states within the republic.

Brian Goodall, the winning candidate, said his election proved "there are obviously a lot of seats that are now within the grasp" of the Liberal Progressive Party, which had only 17 of the 165 seats in the last session of parliament. The National Party

'Credit vise' may put squeeze on capital spending

Copley News Service

If the Federal Reserve follows through on its aim to put the economy in a credit vise, it's all but certain that capital spending plans will get squeezed. Perhaps painfully.

Up until October, when the Fed made its dramatic promise to fight inflation by choking money and credit growth, it was generally assumed that capital spending might be a bright light in the increasingly darkening economic outlook.

After all, the nation is finally aware that its productivity performance is dropping alarmingly - and big could turn that around impressively There is talk that Congress will grant further tax and depreciation relief to speed up the spending.

In today's high-wage environment, companies have a motivation to automate. Also, much spending is mandated by government - for example, auto companies have to retool to build cars to meet anti-pollution and higher-mileage requirements, no matter what the cost.

However, many of these considerations become academic in a credit crunch. Short-term financing is very Important to companies in the early stages of building big plants. Longterm financing is crucial both in the permanent financing of the plant and in the buying of equipment (such as machinery) to go into it.

The credit squeeze has already sent the prime rate soaring to 15 and it might go to 16 or above before turning tail. Similarly, the long-term bond markets are increasingly shut off to all but the blue chip companies. A marginally profitable company with a low credit rating need not even try to sell bonds these days.

Therefore, earlier capital spending optimism is fading fast. Throughout 1979, statistics appeared to show that companies were raising - albeit modestly - their capital spending plans. In the Commerce Department's April-May survey, a spending increase of 12.7 percent for 1979 was anticipated. In Commerce's July-August survey, the number had been boosted to 13.2. Some analysts thought similar escalation might apply to 1980 plans.

Capital spending was dismal in this year's first quarter, then rebounded vigorously in the second.

However, in recent months, new orders received by various kinds of capital goods producers have been slipping - so that there was erosion even before the Oct. 6 bombshell.

Grace Wickersham, economist for Los Angeles' Security Pacific Bank, had earlier expected that capital ion than in any after World War II. Specifically, she was expecting only a 2.7 percent real (inflation adjusted) decline in non-residential fixed investment, which would have been even less than the 3.9 percent decrease of 1953-54 and the 4.5 drop of 1960-1961 - and much, much less than the 18 percent bloodbath of 1973-1975 and the 16 percent of 1948-1949. But as she said in an interview, the Oct. 6 announcement has made her rethink this forecast. "The costs of money are so high that corporation spending will have to be postponed more than we had earlier believed. If the Fed achieves its goals, the availability of money will be curtailed. "Utilities are already cutting spending plans. I doubt that steel and chemical companies will continue to spend at announced rates. However, there are exceptions: The auto companies industry has to meet mileage standards and the aerospace industry is still healthy." Noel McBride, economist for Cleveland Trust Co., also believes that the auto and aerospace industries will continue spending.

"I believe a lot of the aircraft spending will be for retooling for modification of the DC-10," he said. Utilities are canceling plans now partly "as an aftermath of Three Mile Island," he said.

WASHINGTON — Lt. Gen. Edward L. Rowny, former U.S. SALT negotiator, believes there is only "a very slim chance" the proposed new MX mobile intercontinental ballistic missile will "ever see the light of day," at least in the 'racetrack' basing mode approved by President Carter.

Quipping that his belief is not tied to the possibility snail darters (an endangered species of fish) would be found in Utah and Nevada, Rowny said the MX would be obsolete after 1985, even before it is deployed, if the SALT II treaty were ratified.

He explained that the SALT treaty would expire in 1985, leaving the Soviets free to stuff many more warheads into their 308 SS-18 monster missiles. The treaty would limit each SS-18 to 10 warheads. Some experts say 30 or more warheads could be fitted into an SS-18.

Under the presidentially approved MX plan, the United States would shuttle 200 of the new missiles on tracks around more than 4,000 potential shelters, probably at sites in Utah and Nevada. Because the enemy would not be able to pre-target the MX force, the rationale goes, he would have to fire about 8,000 warheads with current accuracies to Rowny represented the joint chiefs of staff on the SALT negotiating team from 1973 until last June, when he retired early because he felt he could not support the arms agreement. He discussed his views on MX and strategic arms limitation at a recent luncheon meeting of Military Order of the Carabao.

He said the 10-warhead MX would cost about $40 billionin current dollars, although the Carter administration has estimated a price tag of something closer to .30 billion

He suggestedd the MX, a much larger missile than the older Minuteman rocket which now makes up the bulk of the U.S. land-based ICBM force, was largely a response to the 308 Soviet SS-18's.

Rowny warned that the Soviets would gain strategic superiority, to go with their advance in conventional forces, as early as next year, but no later than 1981.

"When they know they're No. 1 and we know they're No. 1, they are going to be more adventurist," he said. "I have no doubt there will be future crises."

Rowny, who has testified a number of times before Senate committees and has briefed many senators on SALT, believes that if a ratification vote were taken today the treaty would fail to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority.

would fail to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority.

He said there are now about 60 senators who support ratification, or are leaning that way, while the other 40 are in some state of opposition.

However, in reply to a question, he suggested that if Mr. Carter approves a significant increase in the U.S. defense budget he might be able to produce the needed 67 votes on the Senate floor.

The President reportedly has promised to give Congress a glimpse in November of what he will propose for defense in the fiscal 1981 budget and for his five-year defense plan. Normally, Congress would not see the figures until next January, when the budget is to be formally submitted.

Black religious and civic leaders over the nation are disturbed over the increasing signs of KKK activity in various parts of the country. Bellringer sources point out that activity has been noted even in high schools in the Southwest, particularly in Oklahoma and Texas. Fortunately, there are no signs of KKK stirrings in West Texas and Southwest New Mexico, where exceptionally good race relations have been maintained for the most part, these sources point

Leaders of the Dallas Black Chamber of Commerce and the local chapter of the NAACP in Dallas, as well as in Oklahoma City, have urged that the impact of the Ku Klux Klan's planned marches in November not be blown out of proportion by the news media. Commented Ernest Haywood, president of the Black Chamber: "We are firmly against everything the Klan stands for. It stands for sickness and hatred in our society.'

A fact sheet prepared by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith last year reports that membership of the three largest Klan organizations in the United States totals about 8,000. The B'nai B'rith report concluded that one of the Ku Klux tactics is to provoke opponents to violence as a useful publicity ploy. Blacks, hispanics and those who believe in equal rights for all Americans should ignore these parades, mass meetings and other activities promoted by the KKK, stated leaders of the NAACP in Dallas, Fort Worth and Oklahoma City, our sources pointed out.

Dry October increases municipal water usage

BIG SPRING - A dry autumn contributed to a surge in municipal water demands during October, according to the Colorado River Municipal Water District, and for the first time this year there was a total monthly gain over 1977 delivery figures.

The total for October was 1,365,995,-512 gallons, or 18.76 percent. The impetus came from delivery of 1,196,260,-000 gallons to the cities, up 299 million gallons, or 33.27 percent.

Every municipal customer showed a substantial gain, the water district said. September deliveries of 1,439,-774,000 gallons to the cities had been up 36.98 percent, the back-to-back months being the only two of the year to show increases. If the September-October ratio should hold firm for the final two months of the year, the municipal consumption this year could equal that in 1977.

Total deliveries through October amounted to 15,308,630,058 gallons, down 1.333 billion gallons from the first 10 months of 1977. This was due mostly to curtailed industrial and oil company deliveries, the water dis-

For the first 10 months, these amounted to 2,342,315,858 gallons, down 1.081 billion gallons, or 31.59 percent for the period. For October, these deliveries were 169,735,512 gallons, down 83 million gallons, or 32.81 percent. Of this, however, 77,500,000 gallons were lost because Texas Electric Service Company's generating plant near Monahans had been dropped to protect reserves for Odessa.

Deliveries to the cities in October included Odessa, 539,044,000 gallons, up 38.45 percent; Big Spring, 241,179,-000, up 24.09 percent; Snyder, 84,044,-000, up 29.28 percent; Stanton, 8,669, 000, up 26.89 percent; and Midland, 322,492,000, up 33.56 percent.

JIMMY'S WHITE HOUSE

President visits press area

By JAMES GERSTENZANG

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, who rarely ventures back into the press area of his airplane, wandered back there the other day and did it so quietly he caught one photographer daydreaming.

And it was that photographer, Frank Cancellare, to whom Carter was paying a visit.

Cancellare was flying home to Washington with Carter from Providence, R.I., on his last trip with the president after a more than 50-year career in the news business.

The United Press International cameraman was without his usual cigar, keeping down the air pollution in the press cabin aboard Air Force One. Maybe it was because he was half-dozing, half-looking out the win-

With no fanfare or fuss, the president came down the aisle. When Cancellare's seatmate, Charles Tasnadi of The Associated Press, spotted Carter, he slipped out of his seat to make way for the president.

Carter sat down and, realizing Cancellare was unaware of the presidential presence, gave the photographer a slight nudge.

Cancellare turned around and started to make a comment about the cloud formation he was studying when he discovered it was the president who had tapped him. There ensued a brief conversation about the years Cancellare had spent on the job, covering every president since Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Wow," was the president's response. "I'm very grateful to you and God bless you.'

IN THE CATEGORY of "where are the cops when you need them," the White House complex can be just like any other neighborhood. Late on a recent Friday, a burning odor permeated the press room. A call was placed to the Uniformed Division of the Secret Service, which guards the White House. About 10 minutes later, a policeman wandered in, sniffed around, and decided that, since no flames or smoke could be seen, there was little that could be done.

A reporter, who has kept up his British accent for the more than 30 years he has lived in Washington, referred to the British attack on the White House during the War of 1812 and cracked:

"No wonder we could burn it down

IS INFORMATION about the salaries of Rosalynn Carter's staff private, while similar information about her husband's staff is public? Mrs. Carter's staff seems to think so. White House press secretary Jody Powell isn't as sure.

Faith Collins, the first lady's deputy press secretary, refused a reporter's request for the salary information about the 21 members of Mrs. Carter's staff.

It's private information, she said. But across the White House complex, in the west wing, that information has been public for 21/2 years.

RAIN OR SHINE, the gates of the White House along Pennsylvania Avenue are a tourist attraction. On quiet days, when there is always a slim chance of spotting the president, there are folks stopping to take a look all day long.

Late in the afternoon, when network television correspondents are taping their evening news reports on the lawn with the mansion in the background, the crowds swell a bit.

But, earlier this week, actor Jason Robards Jr. was standing near one of the gates and a camera crew was filming him.

That glimpse of Hollywood glamor drew a bigger crowd than the chance

Leftist groups muster forces for fight on resurgent Klan

The Associated Press

The burning cross, calling card of the Ku Klux Klan, flares often outside the South these days and leftist organizations are mustering their forces to snuff it out everywhere.

In a backlash whipped up by the slaughter of five persons in Greensboro, N.C., militant groups are organizing anti-Klan rallies in such cities as Detroit and Pittsburgh as well as in North Carolina.

Six of the 14 men arrested in the Greensboro shootings have said they are members of the KKK, police say.

Civil rights groups are not sure the various Klan organizations have grown much in numbers Dixie-based KKK leaders have been recruiting from California to Connecticut.

"I'm not sure the Klan is rising in significant number, but the intensity of their violence is a grave threat to this country,'' said James Lowery, president of the Atlanta-based Southern Christian Leadership Conference founded by the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The White House on Monday announced the Justice Department has established a special unit to investigate the Greensboro violence and has two dozen FBI agents on the scene.

"The resurgence of the Klan is a matter of concern to the president,' said Jody Powell, President Carter's press sec-

Bill Wilkinson, 38, of Denham Springs, La., an imperial wizard of one of the several Klan organizations claiming national start of a "race war."

The Communist Workers Party (formerly the Workers Viewpoint Organization), which sponsored the Greensboro Solidarity Day in Harrally, said it will conduct lem. a funeral march for its slain members in Greensboro on Sunday, despite a city ban on parade permits.

In Pittsburgh, another branch of the Communist Workers Party scheduled a "Death to the Klan" rally for Nov. 26 at the federal building. Another group, called the Liberation League, is planning a "Smash the Klan" rally on Friday at Allegheny Community College. In Dearborn, Mich., Ford Motor Co. plant are Ohio and New Jersey. in recent years, but calling for a "Smash the This summer and fall urday in downtown De-

Lower mail rates for major political parties stire dilemma

- An attempt by Congress to lower mail rates for major political parties is leaving the Postal Service in a dilemma over whether to allow splinter groups to use the same taxpayer-subsi-

Jim Finch, senior financial official of the Postal Service, told the agency's governing board Tuesday that the dilemma results from differing congressional actions during the last two sessions.

Though Finch did not tell this to the board, the problem began with a little-noticed maneuver last fall as Congress rushed to adjourn. A bill on overseas voting rights was amended to allow political committees to use the nonprofit thirdclass mail rate. This rate usually goes to religious, educational and charitable organizations.

The reduction is from the normal third-class rate of 8.4 cents per piece to 3.1 cents, with taxpayer funds making up the

Scandalous' ignorance threatens national security, commission charges

WASHINGTON (AP) - A presidential commission charged today that Americans' "scandalous" ignorance of foreign languages threatens to harm the economy and national security and that millions of dollars must be spent to reverse the trend.

The commission proposed that the federal government give grants of $20 to $40 to schools and colleges for each student enrolled in language courses - at a total cost of nearly $50 million a year. It also recommended new raining and international exchange programs with a price tag of $130 million.

"Americans' incompetence in foreign languages is nothing short of scandalous," the 25-member commis-

"Our lack of foreign language competence diminishes our capabilities in diplomacy, in foreign trade, and in citizen comprehension of the world in

The proposals were made in a 156page report, "Strength Through Wisdom - A Critique of U.S. Capability, released by the President's Commission on Foreign Language and International Studies.

In the past, "America's continental position between vast oceans was a basis for linguistic as well as political isolation, but rocketry as well as communications satellites render such a moat mentality obsolete," the panel

As evidence of the decline, the commission cited these statistics:

-Only 15 percent of high school students study a foreign language, down from 24 percent in 1965.

-Only 5 percent of public high school students pursue French, German or Russian beyond the second year, although four years is consid-

-Only 8 percent of colleges and universities require a foreign language for admission, down from 34

-Japan has an estimated 10,000 English-speaking business representatives in the United States. Only 900 American counterparts are in Japan and "only a handful" can speak Japa-

The commission deplored the lowering of language requirements for college, but it stopped short of saying a foreign language should be required for admission. Instead, it suggested that language be a requirement for either admission or gradua-

The commission spent one year and $300,000 on the report, which was created at the suggestion of a congressional panel overseeing im-plementation of the 1975 Helsinki *35 signatory nations to encourage foreign language and usual studies, to promote international understanding. The commission's 130 recommendations included: -Setting up 20 regional centers for foreign language teacher training year-round and in intensive summer sessions. Cost: up to $8 million. -Incentive grants to elementary schools of $20 per student in language courses; $30 to high sc hools for students in third-year courses; $40 to colleges for those in fourth-year courses, plus $15 per s tudent for those taking less commonly taught languages. Cost: at leasst $46.4 million.

-Creating 20, and ultimately 60, Language and International Studies High Schools in rnajor metropolitan areas from existi ng schools. Cost for 20 schools: $3.2 r nillion.

Air raid warnings up as Rebs prep for Eagles

James McGarrity...two-way starter for Rebels

By BOB DILLON Sports Writer

ABILENE --- There just may be an aerial circus here Friday night in P.E. Shotwell Stadium.

The reason being junior quarterback Loyal Proffitt. The 165-pounder is expected to fill the airways with footballs as he leads the Abilene Eagles against the Midland Lee Rebels in a District 5-4A game.

Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. with Radio Station KBAT play-by-play, pre-game show set for 7:40 p.m. Coach Gil Bartosh's Rebels are coming off a 10-0 defeat at the hands of Odessa Permian last week while Abilene escaped with a 14-14 tie against San Angelo's Bobcats, thanks to a 43-yard touchdown pass being called back on the final play of the game or Coach Louie Spinks' Warbirds would have lost to the Bobcats.

Anyway, back to Proffitt, who is the No. 1 passer in 5-4A. He has connected on 43 of 83 passes for 702 yards and five touchdowns. His nearest competitor is Abilene Cooper's John Slaughter who has passed for 378 yards in five league games.

LEE REMEMBERS Proffitt from last year when as a sophomore, he guided the Eagles to an upset victory over the Rebels in Midland. "He (Proffitt) can throw real well and he has three good receivers from which to chose, " said Bartosh.

Wingback Kenny Joynor, a 165pound junior, is Proffitt's favorite target along with senior tight end David Russell. The third receiver is also a good one in Randy Williams, a 170-pound senior wingback. Russell is a 190-pounder.

Joynor has latched on to eight passes for 229 yards and a pair of touchdowns and is averaging 28.6 yards per reception for the Eagles. Russell has 13 catches for 191 yards and is the No. 3 receiver behind Joynor and Cooper's David Williams.

Randy Williams, not to confuse him with David Williams, is the third Abilene threat with nine catches for 116 yards. Proffitt can also can upon Derrick Fields, another speedster who is a 155-pound junior. Fields has three catches for 49 yards and one TD.

If that isn't enough to cause the Rebel secondary plenty of problems, there is the running attack of sophomore tailback Leo Parrish and senior fullback Willie Roberts. Parrish leads 5-4A in scoring with 38 points, is the No. 2 rusher in the league behind Midland's Jeff Robnett, and he too, can catch the football. Parrish has rushed for 392 yards in 109 carries for an average of 3.5 yards per carry while Roberts has slammed into the line for 339 yards in 49 carries for an average of 7.1.

LEE HAS some talent too and the Rebels will be putting the No. 2 defensive unit in the league against Abilene Friday. The Rebels have given up 574 yards rushing and 356 passing.

Abilene has the No. 3 offense behind Cooper and Odessa High while Lee ranks No. 6 after last week's shutout by Permian. Tailback Steve Waldron is the top Rebel rusher in 5-4A with 261 yards in 63 carries, good for one touchdown and the 172-pound senior also returned a punt 83 yards for a TD against OHS in the 5-4A opener some four weeks ago. Joining Waldron in the Lee backfield will be senior quarterback Gary Butler along with senior fullback Mark Thompson, a 190-pounder and flanker Wade Cartwright, a 180-pound senior. Butler weighs 170 pounds.

Butler has passed for 252 yards and two touchdowns in connecting on 23 of 40 passes in league play. His favorite target has been split end Larry Linne along with tight end Tom Willimas.

Linne is the leading scorer in the team for the season with 36 points omn two touchdowns, 18 extra points and a pair of field goals. Linne, a 170-pound senior, has caught 16 passes for 245 yards this season in eight games as Lee brings a 6-2 season mark into the game and a 5-4A reading of 3-2 while Abilene is 3-4-1 and 2-2-1.

LEE'S DEFENSE is led by linebacker James McGarritty, a 178pound senior. McGarritty had a fine effort last week against Permian along with Waldron who also plays cornerback on the hard-hitting defensive unit

Abilene is led by Steve Ford, a 215-pound senior who starts at a guard slot on offense and tackle on defense. He also returns punts too and is a gifted athlete.

It could wind up being a wild contest, especially if Profitt is connecting on his passes and Parrish has a good night. He will be tested by the rugged Rebel defensive unit.

Too Tall's ring debut revealing

Ed "Too Tall" Jones, the straying Dallas Cowboys' defensive lineman, deserved the decision, if for no other reason than his opponent chose to abstain from participation in hostilities for the first three rounds. In fact, Jesus "Yaqui" Menesses should have been disqualified on the spot for hitting an opponent on the canvas.

It doesn't really matter. A victory can't disguise the fact that while Jones may have struck terror in the hearts of opposing NFL quarterbacks as a stampeding lineman, he can't fight a lick. And at 28, it's way too late to Gil Clancy, the color commentator for the Las Cruces, N.M., exhibition last Saturday, was extremely kind to Too Tall in his anyalsis of the rookie boxer's ability and potential. He pointed out Too Tall didn't know how to jab and his right, such as it was, came via U.S. Postal service, amending his critique with the hopeful observation that Jones may master these niceties, some day.

The truth is that you don't make hitters in baseball and you don't make punchers in boxing. Maybe a good batting instructor might contribute a few refinements, but if the raw material isn't there, a Joe Louis or Ted Williams isn't going to instill it, no matter how many times he repeats his instructions.

Too Tall has one other serious impediment. He may be black, but he isn't going into the ring goaded by those hunger pangs that make great fighters out of kids from the ghetto. And he doesn't have the insatiable desire for fame and

Jones doesn't have to impress that pretty girl out in the third row, he already has. As a member of the championship winning Dallas Cowboys, he's had it too good. He's experienced it all. What it amounts to is that he is a gentleman going into a sport where there is no place for gen-

Jones is prodded by the desire to excel in another field of endeavor, now that he's reached the top in football. Few do on the same successs

Remember when they said that Sugar Ray Robinson, the best fighter pound-for-pound, could be a great song and dance man if he weren't so good in the ring. Well, he eventually tried and found that what wowed the folks in the gym wouldn't cut it professionally. Ken Harrelson gave up baseball because he was such a great golfer. He starved until he found a job broadcasting...baseball.

Suspicions about Jones' debut were first aroused when we thought we heard the announcer say that his manager was the same one who managed Duane Bobick. Bobick, of course, is the one-time Olympic box who reportedly once had some promise as a baseball player, but was deluded for seven years into thinking he was a heavyweight contender. It didn't take an expert to take one look at Duane in his preliminary days and see he didn't belong in the ring. And it doesn't take an expert long to see that, as a boxer, Too Tall looms as the fight game's next Primo Canera.

Come on, Too Tall, quit before you get hurt and get back to football where you belong.

Owners don't 'seem' concerned over talks

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - If major league baseball owners harbor any strong feelings about their pending negotiations with the players union, they're keeping them to them-

After a 21/2-hour meeting in Kansas City Wednesday, a spokesman for the owners refused to answer practically every question put to him.

"We are trying very hard not to create a crisis atmosphere or negotiate in the press," said Ray Grebey, director of the player relations committee. "Collective bargaining is tough enough.

American League owners also met briefly for what AL President Lee MacPhail termed "an updating" on baseball's quest to move the Oakland A's franchise.

"There was nothing meaningful or earth-shaking to come out of this meeting," MacPhail told newsmen. The Oakland franchise, owned by Charles O. Finley, is baseball's eyesore, drawing a meager 300,000 fans last season while the game itself enjoyed record attendance.

A Denver oilman, Marvin Davis, has tried to purchase the club but Finley's lease with the Oakland Coliseum still has eight years to run and all efforts to negotiate a settlement have been unsuccessful.

is not successful there. And there is question whether the area can maintain two major league clubs," Mac-Phail said.

Reagan faces big test

McCamey, Rankin tread water in District 6-A race

By RICHARD VINCENT Sports Writer

There's no break in the action as the schoolboy football season heads into another week of classic confronta-

The biggie of them all, perhaps, will be Friday night in Big Lake, where the Reagan County Owls will entertain the Mason Cowpunchers in an important District 9-A game.

Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 and you can bet the action will be furious as the squads square-off to try and get a leg up on the precious district

At this time, the Owls, Cowpunchers, Junction and Eldorado are deadlocked at 2-1 for loop leadership. By the way, one of the other 9-A matchups sends Eldorado to Junction.

District 9-A has been the setting of some of the most exciting games played this season. Just last Friday, Reagan County scratched and clawed for a 19-17 upset victory over Junction. The Eagles had been flying along unbeaten.

There's but one blemish on the Cowpunchers' overall register, a disappointing district defeat to Junction, so there's no doubt they have the poten-

Reagan County, meanwhile, boasts a balanced offensive and defensive attack. Mickey Tom Owens, a senior quarterback, senior fullback Kent Burleson, junior running back James Phillips and senior lineman Mark Noland are among the best Coach Melvin Burns has.

In the other 9-A bout, Menard is at Wall.

But 9-A isn't the only place where people are on pins and needles. There's a whale of a two-team race in District 6-A that features the Rankin Red Devils and the McCamey

Badgers. Each stands at 2-0 in the loop, but neither faces an easy task Friday night.

McCamey travels the long and winding road to Clint while Rankin visits down-but-perhaps-not-out Marfa. The Badgers of Larry Nabors were dormant last Friday, enjoying a welldeserved rest following their impressive defensive showing in a 28-0 rout of Marfa. Clint brings a 0-2 reading into the clash. Rankin last week sneaked past Clint 21-19 as running back Naldo

Esparza had a field day. On the other hand, Marfa is 2-1 and will be looking to end the regular season on a winning note. The Shorthorns' strength is their passing attack. One other 6-A outfit will see action

Friday night, but in a non-district tilt as the Iraan Braves meet Grand-Some of the smoke in District 2-

AAA has settled, with only one of the two title contenders in action. Monahans will tune-up for next Saturday night's battle with Odessa

Ector by tangling with the Andrews Mustangs in Lobo country. The Lobos, 2-0 in league, stand one game behind the 3-0 Ector Eagles. But no matter what Monahans does against Andrews, the Lobos will still have a chance to win the crown outright against Ector. Andrews coach Bill Shipman needed jumper cables to start his offense last week in a bitter loss to Ector that knocked the Mustangs, 0-2 in district, out of the championship chase.

Pecos, 1-2, and Fort Stockton, 0-2, faceoff in the other 2-AAA affair. The District 3-AAA docket shows improving Lamesa at Brownfield and leader San Angelo Lake View hosting struggling Sweetwater.

Lamesa gave Snyder a scare last Friday, and it was three weeks ago that the Golden Tornadoes notched their first victory of the season. They enter the game 1-1 in the circuit while Brownfield, a victor last week over Sweetwater, is also 1-1.

Lake View owns a 2-0 record while

Sweetwater stumbles in at 0-3. The second week of District 7-AA promises to be interesting. Co-leader Stanton, 1-0, hosts Sonora, 0-1, while Kermit, 1-0, is at Ozona, 0-1. Crane opened some eyes last week with their victory over Ozona.

Seagraves, 5-0, visits Stanton, 3-1-1, in the District 5-A highlight game. The other games have Anton, 0-4-1, at Ropes, 1-4, O'Donnell, 1-2-2, at Forsan, 1-4, and Plains, 4-1, at Shallowater, 3-2.

Stanton's Buffaloes belted Anton 43-6 last Friday while Seagraves was posting their umpteenth shutout of the year, a 52-0 shellacking of Forsan. Seagraves is unbeaten for the year (8-0) and state ranked.

Lee, Midland clash tonight

Midland High and Midland Lee wind up the volley ball season tonight at the Lee High gym. The JV game is 6 p.m. and the varsity contest is at 7

Midland is 4-2 going into final match of the second half 5-4A season while Lee bounced into the win column Tuesday for the first time in the second half against Abilene.

While the Rebels and Bulldogs are resuming their intra-city rivalry, San Angelo and Big Spring, both 6-0, will be clashing for the second half title. San Angelo is 30-3 for the year and won the first half race.

Cooper immune to win pressure

Although he was around when the Merrill Green juggernaut reached the state finals only to lose when the clock ran out on Jack Mildren in a faux pas over timeouts, Abilene Cooper's Ray Overton is reluctant to compare his No. 1 ranked Cougars with previous powerhouses, but he notes "It's the best team I've coached."

Overton has been at Cooper for seven years and over the years gained a reputation as a tight defensive coach. In fact, Ray took exception to a remark a few years ago when a Midland writer suggested Overton's idea of a late show was watching old movies of the Fordham-Pittsburgh series back in the 1930 years of the Blocks of Granite...and got his offense from the three straight 0-0 ties played between the teams.

This year, the Cougars indicate Ray has updated his late-night viewing. Abilene Cooper is averaging 43 points a game and it's only that low because Permian "shut them out" by losing only 14-3. It's the only game Cooper has been held under 21 points this

With seven straight victories, Overton isn't too concerned with an opponent slipping up on him. "This team has a unique personality. They're never real high or real low and don't tighten under pressure. The pressure of being No. 1 hasn't bothered them...in fact, they're flattered."

Overton adds, "A lot of people have said, 'but what will happen when you get behind?' These kids went through all that last year. That's where expericnce counts. And Orr (6-3, 225 Terry) can just take control. He's our team general. He really can hold everyone together and take the situation

Cooper will be making its second Memorial Stadium appearance at 8 p.m. Friday, facing Midland High. The Cougars defeated Midland lee,

28-14, here three weeks ago. Cooper holds a 10-7-1 edge over the Purple Pack, which is 5-3 for the season. Midland's last win over Cooper was 23-0 in 1976, but the Cougars have won 10 of the last 13, staring with a run of five straight shutouts from 1966 through 1970. In order to blow the 5-4A title, Cooper would have to lose to Midland and Abilene next week.

. Odessa Permian, the only team in position to catch Cooper, faces San Angelo, once the big game in the district, the one that usually decided the champion, even if it usually was Permian. This year it's just another game. Permian leads the series 12-8, winning 63-13 last year while the Bobcats' last win was 23-6 in 1976.

Midland Lee travels to Abilene Friday to face the improved Warbirds. Lee owns a 10-8 edge in the series and the Rebels have won seven of the last

The other game finds Odessa squaring off against Big Spring. The Bronchos lead 15-7-1 in the series has the Hosses have won the last nine in a row. Big Spring's last win came in

Domed Stadium pretty, but not great for athletes

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) -A domed stadium is pretty to look at and is protective from the elements, but the artificial atmosphere isn't all that great for athletic performance, says a Purdue University engineering professor.

In the past, says Purdue's John Gaunt, baseball, football and even soccer stars were helped by the air currents, but "the advent of multipurpose, multimillion-dollar, enclosed sports facilities could change amateur and professional sports."

The absence of wind is the largest single factor, but the size of the crowd and the temperature inside the dome affect air quality and "the ball tends not to carry as well" as in an open-air

Ex-Cowboy rape suspect

SEATTLE (AP) - Duke Fergerson, former wide receiver for the Seattle Seahawks and Dallas Cowboys, has been accused of raping two women in separate incidents last summer. The first-degree rape charges were filed Wednesday in King County Superior Court. Fergerson could not be reached for comment but his attorney, John H. Fergerson, 25, was acquired by the Seahawks in 1977 as part of the trade that sent first-round draft pick Tony Dorsett to the Cowboys. He was waived by the Seahawks in September and authorities said he remains unemployed.

Economics is a big reason that newly built stadiums must be multifunctional, since a city can't afford to have a 100,000-seat stadium empty for three seasons of the year, he said. Therefore, the facility must be designed to accommodate a variety of sporting events, as well as concerts, political rallies and civic events.

Television coverage, he added, means stadiums "must compete with the comfort of sitting home in a favorite chair. Thus, the two latest developments in stadiums also concern themselves with ticket buyers - domes offer protection from the elements (no need for rainchecks) and rotating sections of seats allow good lines of vision for each sport."

Gaunt said durability is another factor in economy. The Roman Colosseum still exists in recognizable form because it was made of stone, the most durable of building materials, he said. Today, "fairly durable" reinforced concrete and steel are used. "The future is now in stadium construction as the innovations undergo innovation." Gaunt said. "Domes, traditionally made of steel in ribbed sections, have recently been constructed in light-weight timber. But the latest in domes is an air-supported fabric membrane which was used to cover the 865-30-seat Pontiac Silverdome in Michigan. Air pressure holds the teflon-coated, fiberglas dome in place over restraining cables.

"Structural engineers 50 years ago would have laughed at the idea of areas like this closed over with timber or air-supported domes," Gaunt said. "After Pontiac, engineers along with coaches, players and fans might be prompted to say it's not whether you win or lose, it's where you play the

Stingley wages lonely fight

CHICAGO (AP) - On one wall was a photo of Darryl Stingley, clad in his red and white New England Patriots uniform, leaping for a pass. On another wall was a painting, heavy on grays and blues, of Darryl Stingley running with a

On a green mat on the floor of his apartment, in real life, was Darryl Stingley on his back trying to move.

'Biceps," he commanded quietly, and his private nurse, Barbara Bradford, took his left arm and bent it into a right angle at the elbow. Simultaneously, Stingley moved his right arm in the same way without help.

"The most noticeable change is when I try to increase the weights' attached to his wrists, he said, "particularly the right arm. I noticed when I went from the three-pound weight to the five how hard it was to lift that weight off the floor. And after a couple of weeks' time it becomes much easier to lift that weight. "It may be a very simple or small thing but it means a great deal to me."

Before Aug. 12, 1978, it didn't mean much to Stingley either. But on that day he was paralyzed in a National Football League preseason game at Oakland.

Since then, he has been exercising diligently to keep his limbs in motion and strengthen his

"Now I'm going to try to sit up. This is painful, but it's good for my heart," he announced. "If I ever want to be able to get myself out of that wheelchair and into another chair I'll have to be able to brace myself."

Miss Bradford knelt behind him and pushed him into a sitting position while he drove his fists into the mat for support.

'Now what I'm going to try to do is balance myself on my own. This is good for the trunk," he

After about a minute of making sure his limbs were placed properly, Miss Bradford released her support and Stingley sat by himself for perhaps another minute. It's an exercise he does not do often, he said. "It means a lot to you mentally to do things by yourself, even if it's just trying to scratch your face," said Stingley. He exercises every day, Monday through Friday, for varying lengths of time, depending on how he feels. Mondays are usually rough because he hasn't done much work during the weekend and he is stiff. Those workouts usually are the shortest. 'I like to do it until I get pain in that particular limb that I'm working, because naturally the pain means there's feeling there. There's a muscle there to work with and eventually you know that will come around," he said. "I kind of developed a little philosophy about pain: I like to feel the pain because pain makes a man think and thinking makes a man wise and knowledge and wisdom are the keys, really, to a peaceful life. "All of a sudden I'm a glutton for pain."

After his hospitalization in California, Stingley went to the Rehabilitation Institute of Chi-firmly rooted in this world.

"For one half of my life I had been an out and out athlete. Everything I did was athletics. So when it came time to do things that other people considered strenuous it always came easy to me. This is like starting over again," he said. "All of a sudden, it's the little things that

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) - Thousands of years City. ago in Greece, the Olympics featured artistic competitions as well as athletic games - tribute to the well-rounded individual the Greeks admired.

There won't be any arts competition when the XIII Winter Olympics are staged in this tiny Adirondack Mountain village next February, but there will an explosion of performing and visual arts by some of America's best emerging and established artists.

Painting, posters, plays, jazz, crafts, movies and photographs will all be on display here and in surrounding communities outside the restricted travel zones that only Olympic ticketholders and residents can breach.

Dancers, classical musicians, storytellers, magicians and mimes will also be on hand each day during the $1.5 million National Fine Arts Pro-

The program's formal kickoff was scheduled Wednesday night with honorary co-chairmen Yehudi Menuhin, the violinmst, and Leonard Goldenson, the chairman of the board of ABC, playing host at a reception at the Whitney Musueum in New York by Carolyn Hopkins, has already been working on the project for months.

The Lake Placid Olympic Organizing Committee, which is having trouble meeting its overall administrative expenses of $42 to $48 million, has chipped in only $250,000 for the arts, but state and federal arts agencies and private groups are picking up some of the slack. Money is just one of the problems the program faced, however.

Lake Placid, a village of 2,700, is located 100 miles from the nearest metropolitan area - Montreal. Its arts facilities are limited.

The well-respected Pilobolus Dance Theater wasn't chosen just because its dances are so athletic, for example

We simply do not have the stage or facility that would give the New York City Ballet the proper space for a performance," Hopkins said. "The Pilobolus has only six people. It fits much better in our facilities.

Charlie Mac can't feel sorry for Bear

A timid voice from the rear suggested arming LSU with sledgehammers but Coach Charlie McClendon apparently didn't hear or didn't appreciate the humor as he discussed contending with No. 1 Alabama Saturday night in Tiger Stadium. McClendon said he couldn't symphathize with Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant's problems. Bryant has been moaning about the loss of several starters through injuries, including 'our best running back," Major Ogilvie. "I'd love some of his (problems)," said McClendon, who noted that at least 12 Alabama running backs have carried the ball at least 19 times each this season..

Penn State's All-America defensive lineman Bruce Clark is gone for the season with a torn knee ligament and will undergo surgery today. Coach Joe Paterno said the injury to the 6-21/2- senior from New Castle, Pa., was the result of a fluke accident. "He wasn't even hit," Paterno said. The injury occurred in Saturday's 26-10 upset loss to Miami.

The NCAAAis checking whether six Grambling football players should be declared ineligible for postseason games this year, the Jackson Daily News reported. The newspaper said Grambling Coach Eddie Robinson requested the investigation but refused to make public any details about it. "When I get ready to tell the players, I'll tell you all about it, I don't want the players thinking, 'What am I doing now if I can't play in the playoffs?' It could really affect us getting into the playoffs. Besides, if I don't think we could represent Grambling with the people who we have out there, then I'll tell the NCAA committee to keep us out."

Grambling was declared ineligible for the playoffs last season because of a fund which was set up to make loans to players. Last year Grambling won the championship of the Southwestern Athletic Conference. The team has nailed down at least a tie for the SWAC champmonship again this year and has only one conference game remaining against arch-rival Southern on Dec.

An Ohio State victory over Iowa Saturday, coupled with a Purdue triumph over Michigan, will send the third-ranked Buckeyes to the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1975. The reason is guidelines the Big Ten adopted in December 1974. It eliminated a vote of the league's athletic directors to select the Rose Bowl team, stirring earlier controversies.I f Ohio State and Purdue win Saturday and the Boilermakers trim Indiana and the Buckeyes fall at Michigan the final week, there would be a three-tie for the Big Ten title. Ohio State, Purdue and Michigan would share the championship with 7-1

Since Purdue and Ohio State did not play, conference rules dictate the team with the best overall percentage gets the Rose Bowl nod. In that case, the Buckeyes would be 10-1 for a .909 percentage. Purdue and Michigan, both 9-2, would have .818 percent-

"If Ohio State beats Iowa," Big Ten

official Jeff Elliott said Tuesday, "everything is eliminated, including Purdue. It comes down to the fact that Michigan then would have to beat Ohio State."

Purdue's Boilermakers, banged up with a variety of injuries, are looking for a tough game against Michigan, and Coach Jim Young hopes his squad already hasn't peaked. "Iowa was from our standpoint a game we really had to get up and play, because we played poorly against Northwestern the week before," Young said of last week's 20-14 victory over the Hawkeyes. "Our team played with a lot of emotion. We put an awful lot into the Iowa game. We'll certainly be ready to play Michigan, but you can reach only so many peaks, and I felt we reached one peak against Iowa."...

Eastern 8 eyes 30-second clock

league records.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The 30-second shooting clock may be coming to Eastern Eight basketball. However, the rule could not be instituted before the 1980-81 season. Nearly all the eight conference coaches attending a preseason officials' clinic at George Washington University Wednesday indicated they would favor some form of the 30-second clock that would force a team to shoot within that time and prevent stalling tactics.

In fact, only Rollie Massimino of Villanova, defending conference champion, said he was opposed to the rule because "it doesn't lend itself to what our game is all about. It may be all right for the pros but not for us, no

Tom Young of Rutgers mentioned the installation of the 30-second clock when he answered a question on what rule he would like see changed. "These other guys would also like the rule change if they played Princeton," he quipped.

The other coaches also indicated their approval of a rules change but preferred that it not apply near the end of the game, anywhere from five minutes to go to the last minute.

In addition to Young, those in favor change were Mike Rice of Duquesne, Bob Tallent of George Washington, Ray Wilson of Massachussetts, Tim Grgurich of Pittsburgh, Jim Satalin of St. Bonaventure and Gale Catlett of West Virginia.

An effort to vote the rules change a year ago was defeated narrowly when the coaches split 5-3 in favor. The coaches need a 6-2 vote for approval.

The actual vote on a rules change must be made by the school athletic directors, who usually respond to the recommendations of their basketball coaches. The athletic directors probably would not act on any recommendations until their next annual meeting in May at Morgantown,

"I've been for the 30-second clock for years," said Young, who was just as adamantly opposed to the installation of the 24-second rule used by the National Basketball Association

"You have to consider the fans, they support the game. The NBA knows what they are doing. If we get a lot of low-scoring games, the fans are going to stay away.'

Young, as did most of the coaches who favor the clock, would like to have the rule stipulate that in the final minutes — he said the last four - there would be no shooting clock "and then you could use any strategy you want.

Patterson to speak at Friday luncheon

Bob Patterson, an assistant football coach for Texas Tech, will be the guest speaker at a lunch meeting Friday at Club Granada for Tech Exes and Red Raider supporters.

A buffet barbeque luncheon will be served at 11: 30 a.m., with Patterson's address set for noon. Patterson will review film of the Tech-Texas game and preview Saturday's Tech-TCU game.

Anyone interested in joining the Midland chapter of the Texas Tech Ex-Students can do so by sending $5 to P. O. Box 3113, Midland, 79702, in care of the "Midland Chapter Texas Tech Ex-Students Association."

Prize Ponies are grumbling

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist football Coach Ron Meyer is getting grumbles from some of his freshmen who were prized schoolboy recruits a year ago. Meyer has had separate meetings this week with running backs Craig James and Charles Wagoner.

James, an All-Stater from Houston Stratford, was unhappy because he will not be in the starting lineup Saturday when SMU plays Wichita State. Wagoner wasn't pleased because he was moved to fullback.

"Transferring is the last thing I want to do but there is a chance." said James, who was heavily courted by Alabama before deciding to attend

James started the year at fullback but was switched to tailback last

"I've played hurt this year and I've played fullback," said James. "My neck is hurt right now and I have a bone chip in my foot. I'm not sure all this is fair to me.

Eric Dickerson, a highly-touted recruit who has been sidelined with injuries, was named to start at tailback against Wichita State. Wagoner was tabbed to start at fullback. "I'm a tailback," said Wagoner, SMU's most consistent runner this year. "If I were going to be switched, just wanted a reason. I wanted to wishbone. Then ABC explored whether Michi-

ABC looking good on TV

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

SPORTS WITH A LIVING ROOM VIEW

Except for the potential disaster of being stuck with a mediocre Georgia team in its Sugar Bowl, ABC has had a marvelous college football season. Nearly every scheduling gamble the network has made now has the makings of a sure winner.

ABC's four-year contract with the NCAA contains restrictions that prevent the network fram televising the Alabamas, Notre Dames and Oklahomas every week. These, and other perennial elite teams, rate highly in the polls and on TV. The NCAA spreads the wealth around a bit by limiting any team to three TV appearances in one year and five over a two-year period.

And the third appearance, or fifth game in two years, can only come under special circumstances. It must come on one of six contractual exception dates. That's when ABC gets two teams to move their scheduled game to a special day, like the Friday of Thanksgiving weekend. Or it can come as ABC's one "wild-card" game

After 1978, the first season of ABC's $118 million contract with the NCAA, most of the major powers had been on three times. Only Michigan, Ohio State, Oklahoma and Arkansas among the top schools - still had three TV appearances left.

In its pre-season planning, ABC considered doing three Oklahoma games - Texas, Missouri and Nebraska. To get a third shot on TV, one of the three games would have to be moved from Saturday to one of the exception dates; or be the "wild card"

Traditionally, Nebraska-Oklahoma has been moved. This year, Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne refused to switch to Nov. 23, explaining he wanted a full week to prepare for the Sooners' wishbone offense. What about Dec. 1, ABC's last exception date? Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer vetoed this one, explaining he didn't want to give Nebraska two weeks to prepare for the gan would move its annual war with Ohio State. Don Canham, athletic Michigan, with its 100,000-seat stadium, and the rich Big Ten won't ABC's problem on this one was that it planned to televise Michigan-Notre Dame and Michigan-Michigan State early in the season. That meant if the Ohio State game couldn't be moved and ABC still wanted it, it had to be the "wild card."

But if that's the "wild card," what about Oklahoma-Nebraska?

Problems, problems and more problems

So what ABC did was gamble that Missouri, a preseason top choice, would fold up. On Oct. 1, ABC crossed out Missouri-Oklahoma, figuring it wouldn't be as important as Nebraska-Oklahoma, and penciled in Michigan-Ohio State as the "wild card."

Since this internal decision was made, Missouri has lost three Big Eight games and ABC had rolled a big seven. Meanwhile, Ohio State is undefeated and heading toward its big conference showdown with once-beaten Michigan Nov. 17 on ABC. Because ABC decided on Michigan

Ohio State, it cannot show Michigan-Purdue this Saturday. Purdue has not been on all season and is probably the best non-televised team of the year. ABC has shown games involving all but one of the nation's undefeated teams - Alabama, Nebraska, Southern California, Ohio State, Houston,

Florida State, Brigham Young and Central Michigan. The missing team is McNeese State, 9-0,

ANOTHER late-season pivotal game that ABC won't be able to show is Texas-Houston this Saturday night. Texas was on twice earlier, but the network can't be faulted for its three straight weeks matching undefeated teams in midseason - Texas-Oklahoma, then Texas-Arkansas and Arkansas-Houston in the Southwest Confer-

And for the first time since ABC started doing college football in 1966. the traditional UCLA-Southern California game won't be televised. When ABC did UCLA-Ohio State and then opted for UCLA-Washington it knocked UCLA-Southern Cal out of the picture. That was fine for ABC since it will be televising Southern Cal-Washington on Saturday, and this game probably will decide the Pac-10

There were also fears for Army-Navy this season, but the game will be televised Dec. 1.

Another game ABC is showing this Saturday is Georgia-Florida, and ABC will be pulling harder for Florida than the Gators' alumni.

Aggies' Ogrin claims victory in Penick golf

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas A&M's Dave Ogrin caught up with Hal Sutton of Centenary Wednesday to capture the individual title in the 9th Annual

Harvey Penick Intercollegiate Golf Tournament. Centenary, however, managed to hold on to the ead despite a 14-stroke slip in the final round of the tournament at Austin's Morris Williams Municipal Centenary led the University of Texas by nine shots going into the final day of the 54-hole tournament. They stretched the lead to 14 strokes at the turn, but lost the lead going into the last hole.

The Gents played the 18th in three-under-par, for a final score of 1,070, or 10-under-par. Texas went one-over for second place with 1,074.

Archie Dennis Jr.

Whether Archie Dennis Jr. steps to the microphone on stage in front of thousands in Budapest, Hungary as part of the Billy Graham Crusade team or the pulpit of a small country church, it only takes moments to realize that within this man God has birthed a song-a unique song born from his personal experience and daily walk with Jesus In July 1972 Dennis accepted an invitation from world-renowned Billy Graham to perform as guest soloist at the Cleveland Crusade. Since that time he has been a regular guest with many crusades recently returning from his 26th trip abroad. His tours have taken him to Africa, Brazil, Switzerland, Japan, India and the Philippines. Archie will soon be returning to the Royal Albert Hall in London for another engagement as well. Henry Davis, a product of Howard University in Washington D.C. has been Archie's accompanist for six years and between tours has written some of Archie's best loved songs like "I Believe in God" and "You'll Never Be the Same Again. Archie's sensitivity to the Spirit of the Lord has been evidenced in the response to this performance all around the world. At the Billy Graham crusade in October 1977 in Cincinnati he received a standing ovation for "God Bless America. 7:00 P.M. Fri. Nov. 9

McElhenny not bitter because hemissed riches

SEATTLE (AP) - In his day, Hugh McElhenny was known as "The King." The name stuck because he was the most feared running back in the National Foot-

As an NFL rookie in 1952, he rushed for 170 yards for the San Francisco 49ers in only seven carries.

The former University of Washington star from Compton, Calif., played 13 seasons in the NFL; nine with the 49ers, two with the Minnesota Vikings and one each with the New York Giants and Detroit

At 6-foot-1 and more than 200 pounds of sheer speed, he was a dazzling big play back, a back who broke games open on one

He still holds the three longest runs from scrimmage in the 49ers' history - 89, 86 and 82 yards.

His University of Washington career rushing total stood as a school record for 28 years until Joe Steele broke it this season. At 50, McElhenny no longer is associated with professional football.

Today, the highest paid player in the NFL is O.J. Simpson at a reported $700,000 plus. McElhenny's biggest salary as a prowas $25,000 and he played for only $7,000 as If he is bitter at his plight in life, it doesn't show. In fact, he goes out of his way to say the opposite.

"Truthfully and honestly," he says, "I'm extremely happy. I'm probably more happy now than I've been in 10 years. I guess maybe there's a certain amount of security that's come about in my life.

"I'm very content. I'm content where I am, what I'm doing, my standard of living, my relationships with my wife and children and, everything about life."

McElhenny looks good enough to put on a football uniform and play again. Of course, he says looks can be deceiving.

In his final NFL season at Detroit in 1964, he sat on the bench for the first time in his life. He realized his legs were finally gone and he had come to the end of a long trail.

In the four years of the Seattle Seahawks' NFL franchise, he has learned to live with his disappointment of being on the outside looking in.

Now he insists hindsight has showed him that he's better off out of professional

"In retrospect," he says, "I think I'd probably be frustrated if I was involved in an NFL front office today. I know as a player I hated to lose.

"I'm an emotional guy. I'm like a yo-yo. Thank goodness, my lows don't last very

"Say I was the general manager of a team. When I felt we should do better and we didn't do better I don't know if I could mentally be able to handle it. I'm afraid I'd probably be too critical. I'd want to know how come.

Just before he departed pro football McElhenny filed for bankruptcy. But he says his wife of 30 years, Peggy, and he are financially comfortable today.

His family is raised. His 27-year-old daughter, Karen, is married and presented him with a 19-month-old grandson. His youngest daughter, Susan, 24, is about to be married.

McElhenny moved back to Seattle from the San Francisco area this year and was appointed a vice president of the Washington Transit Advertising Co. He wears expensive three-piece suits, drives a flashy Cadillac and lives in the affluent suburb of Bellevue, Wash.

"Financially," he replies to a question, "I have no problems whatsoever. I'm very secure. If something happened to me today, I wouldn't have to work tomorrow or the next day or the next couple of years."

Yet, McElhenny has to go to work every day for a salary. "When I was playing," he says, "I was paid right in line with what the players were making then. During those years, I made better money than I could have had I been out trying to make a

"There were periods in my life when I might have felt that football owed me something but I don't feel that way today. Nobody twisted my arm to play.

McElhenny's glory years are faded memories now. Even in his own memory. He says, "If I could still be in the game, I'd be out there trying to play. But when I was through, I knew I was through. I played football until I was

36. I milked it as long as I could. "I still get asked if it's been downhill for me since football. Well, I feel like it's been uphill since then. The stride is very even and very comfortable.'

Although he looks trim and fit, McElhenny is not able to exercise properly because of a knee that swells up easily and a lower back that gives him problems. He admits the cold and wet Seattle winters mean aches and pains in his joints and McElhenny may not like to look back but he will when asked about his football abili-

"I don't believe you can compare yesterday's athlete with today's athlete," he stresses, "but I think I would be signing for a million bucks if I came out of college today. I know one thing; I definitely would have an agent."

Sutter shocked by Young award

Reliever Bruce Sutter, the former Midland, Texas. Cubs pitcher whose split-fingered fastball saved 37 games last season for his Chicago Cub teammates and tied a National League record in the process, was surprised that he won the the NL Cy Young award for 1979. "I was shocked. I really thought Joe Niekro would get it, When you win an award like this it's not really one man, but the entire team. "Individual honors are fine, but I would trade it in for a World Series

Sutter demonstrates split-finger fastball grip

"In the National League, where there's no designated hitters, a bullpen can figure into about 130 games a year, I think that may be one reason relievers are a little more recognizable." and credited arrival on May 23 of former New York Yankee Dick Tidrow with "taking a lot of the work load off my arm. Sutter began experimenting with the split-fingered fastball under the tutelage of Fred Martin. the Cubs' long-time minor league pitching instructor who died last summer. "Freddie taught me the pitch back in 1973, I was splitting my fingers on the ball to throw my change-up back then, and he had me start throwing it harder and

It wasn't until two years later, however, that Sutter managed to get control of the almost unhittable pitch. "I had a lot of trouble controlling it then," he said. "Sometimes it used to bounce five feet in front of the plate. But I got control of it during the Instructional League after the 1975 season. I pitched in 30 of 52 games that winter; I worked eight days in a row one time. I felt confident with the pitch." ...

Cleveland Indians Manager Dave Garcia se lected former Midland Cubs manager Dennis Sommers as his bullpen coach... Dave Kingman belted a two-run homer to lead the National League All-Stars to an 11-2 rout of the American League Stars Wednesday in the first game of their Japan tour as Atlanta's Joe Niekro got the win while Don Baylor homered for the AL ...

Arizona State quarterback Mark Malone thinks he would have progressed in football faster under another coach than Frank Kush. "I don't feel I respond as well to negative reinforcement as I do to a more relaxed approach, he is a man who, when he is on the field, is all business, and I think he has created some great athletes, but I don't think Kush is particularly a quarterback's type of quarterback coach.

Faced with heavy player loss, Joe Paterno faces the first losing record by Penn State in 40 years, but he refuses to buckle, "I don't have the same frustrations that the fans have, I just can't get that wrapped up that it's the end of the world. We want some respect, but what are we going to do about it, sit around and cry and feel sorry for ourselves? We're going to work harder. It's the only way I know how to do things.

For 28 years, Woody Hayes prowled the Ohio State sidelines as head football coach, but as far as he is concerned, yesterday is dead. "Sure, I miss it, But like Satchel Paige, I'm not going to look back - they may be gaining on me. I'm not going to live in the past. I can find plenty of other things to do. I keep moving because there's no use sitting around.

John Matuszak, Oakland Raiders' defensive lineman, was arrested here on drunken driving charges, according to the California Highway Patrol, who arrested Matuszak late Tuesday on an off-ramp of state Highway 99. They said he failed two breath tests, registering .14 and .16 percent alcohol in his blood. State law classifies a .10 reading as being legally drunk... A Marshall University football player says coach Sonny Randle verbally abuses the team and "it's started getting to us," according to a story published Wednesday by the Washington Post. The unnamed player said, "We take a lot of verbal abuse. We're called everything during practice. We're humiliated and it's started getting to us." The player said that even more than the verbal abuse, the players dislike Randle's habit of grabbing a player by his face mask

OSU to review handling of dismissal

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) - The president of Oregon State University has been asked to review Dee Andros' performance as the school's athletic director. Andros has been under fire for his handling of the dismissal of Craig Fertig as head football coach in the middle of this football season.

The Board of Intercollegiate Athletics voted Wednesday to ask President Robert MacVicar to make the study as soon as a new football coach is hired. Last month the 17-member board unanimously approved Andros' proposal to recommend that MacVicar fire Fertig. Andros has since acknowledged that MacVicar concurred with the proposal before it was made to him

The board approved the motion for the Andros review on a vote of 7-6. Opponents said the board simply was asking MacVicar to do something he already is doing.

Browns' Sherk out for four weeks

BEREA, Ohio (AP) - The Cleveland Browns have been hit by another costly injury. Now it's former All-Pro defensive tackle Jerry Sherk, out for at least four weeks because of an infection in his left knee. The Browns, who lost running back Greg Pruitt to a knee injury last week, put Sherk on the injured reserve list following surgery Wednesday to clean out the staph infection.

Mazzetti admits he deserves ax.

SUWANEE, Ga. (AP) — Tim Mazzetti admits he's kicked so poorly this season he deserved to be cut but he still wants his job as Atlanta's placekicker and thinks he's good enough to keep it. "The way I felt was that I was hurting the team rather than helping it, and I didn't want to do that," said Mazzetti, who missed kicks that could have changed the outcome of the Denver, Detroit and Seattle games — all losses. He said he deserved to be cut after his performance against Oakland, when he missed two field goals and two extra points; San Francisco, when he kieked a field goal but missed two extra points, and Seattle, when he missed from 25 yards but did hit four extra points.

We're gettin' set for Thanksgiving

By TRACY BEEBE, BECKY WILSON
AMY DAVENPORT and ANGELA TOMPKINS

HEY BULLDOGS! Nobody is a loser in this school Our pride makes the difference, and that is why

Today is the last day of the week for all students. Yea! Keep your heads up because Turkey Day is in two weeks. In other words, keep your stuffin' puffin' and your giblets goin'. It's almost the holidays.

Our swingin' Tennis Pros left for Aggieland State

Tennis Tournament today. This is the fourth trip to state in the last four years. Out of the whole state, they've been champs twice and last year were fifth. We know they'll be acing it for a No.1 and a Dog Bone Swimmers "dove" in for a victory and pulled in a winning meet. Everyone was dripping with success. Congratulations on a great effort and good luck during the remainder of the swimming season.

Our vivacious Volleyball girls will be wrapping up their winning season tonight with Lee. Good luck, girls, and make this last one count. Way to hustle against Cooper Tuesday night! Do it again and show them your stuff. Everyone come on out and see what getting up at 5 a.m. can do for ya!

Remember, nothing comes easy so GO FOR IT, DOGS, Friday! We will sorely miss Michael Feldt's sweet knee (and passing ability). But from hospital window, he'll hear a Bulldog victory from Memorial Stadium. Our Dogs are hungry and scrappy. Have you seen Mark Davis' pretty nose, Doug McLean's brutal (but gentle) hands, Rick Ankerholz's brawny neck and Bill Young's little pinky?

DRAMA TEAM ventured to Odessa for its first speech tournament. Kelly Patterson, Phillip Coffield and Don Stroud made the semi-finals. Scott Norris was a finalist. But our shining star was Candy Baimbridge, who qualified for state. Way to go gang.

Packbackers extend sincere, heartfelt thanks to Doc for his great pep talk. It really got to us, and we'll prove it to you and Midland and Abilene Friday night. We're behind the Pack 100 percent.

Band, you outdid them again last week. You're great. Loved the Flag Girls at the Pep Rally! Times are sometimes hard, but . . . when the goin gets tough, the tough get goin'! Pride and YOU make the difference.

Until next week, Tracy, Beck, Amy and Angela

P.S. I guess last weekend was just not your day, either, Rebs. We wish you luck in Abilene as you make up for it. We will!

Three MC courses to start next week

Midland College has scheduled three non-credit short courses and a seminar to begin next week. The courses are offered through the MC Department of Community Services, and all will be held during the Defensive Driving, taught by Larry Freeman, is a course which needs to be repeated every three years to qualify graduates for auto insurance discounts. MC is certified to teach the course and issue the required certificate of completion which many insurance companies honor.

Instruction is handled in the classroom with the use of printed material and visual aids.

Defensive Driving is an eight-hour course meeting from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The course fee is $15, and classes are limited to 35

The final fall semester course in beginning belly dancing begins Monday and continues through Dec.

Primarily geared to build muscle tone in the female body, this form of dancing utilizes basic body movements with emphasis on stomach muscles. It is a great discipline for establishing good body pos-

Classes are limited to 20 students meeting from 7 to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. The fee for Belly Dancing I is $16.

Then - for students who have completed the beginning bridge class — an intermediate class goes into session Monday and meets twice each week for Bridge-II, taught by Joe Salman, deals with play-of-hands and more advanced bidding techniques and defensive signals. Classes meet from 7 to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays. Fee is $16.

James Bramlett, departmental director for these courses, issued a reminder to those who need to enter the Real Estate Seminar scheduled Wednesday.

Since this is a required course to meet the educational necessities under Senate Bill 171, Section 4. Subsection K, about 200 people are expected to attend, and early registration is necessary

The three-hour course, meeting from 7 to 10 p.m. in the lecture hall of the Allison Fine Arts Building, has been established for those seeking their Real Estate Salesmanship license. Subject matter includes federal, state and local laws governing housing discrimination, housing credit discrimination and community reinvestment.

Jim Arnold will be the instructor, and the fee for the seminar is $5.

Preregistration is in progress now in room 156 of the MC Administration Building. The office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays including the lunch hour.

Students meet in room 156-A 15 minutes before the start of the first class.

Family finally wins Colorado water rights

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) - Fred and Peggy Kraft, who used to wait for spring runoffs to wash their bedspreads and curtains, have won the right to hook up to Boulder's water system.

In a city charter election that affected only the Krafts, residents of this college town voted 9,104 to 2,037 according to unofficial returns, to extent water service west of the city.

The Krafts built their home in 1968 after Boulder voters had approved a charter amendment forbidding the city to extend water service. The line stops 30 feet from their home and serves neighbors on either side

The family dug a well in the rocky canyon but the water table slowly dropped over the years, reducing their water supply. In some years, the Krafts had to restrict showers during the fall and winter.

They had made repeated applications for an exemption to the rule prior to Tuesday's election, but each request was denied.

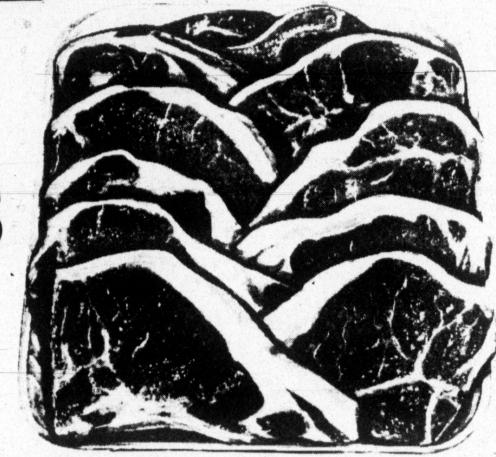

The Krafts finally decided to bring the issue before Boulder voters. They conducted an extensive lobbying effort, including several campaign appearances at which they handed out flyers reading, "We may be small, but we hope you won't forget us on Nov. 6."

Capt. Michael C. Jurgensen, whose wife Cindy is the daughter of Bettye Sharp and Arthur Sharp of Midland, has graduated from the Squadron Of-ficer School at Maxwell Air Force Base here.

The captain studied communication skills, international relations, manpower management resources and responsibilities that prepare junior officers for command and staff duties.

Capt. Jurgensen is being assigned to Norton Air Force Base, Calif., for duty as a C-141 Starlifter aircraft commander.

Navy Airman Stephen A. Gregory, son of Dillon and Eugene Gregory of Lamesa, a Navy aviation structural mechanic, recently participated in training at the Air Force's Interceptor Weapons School. He is a member of Fighter Squadron 21, based at the Miramar Naval Air Station in San Diego, Calif. During the two weeks of training at Tyndall Air Force Base in Panama City, Fla., his squadron participated in barrier combat air patrol, fighter sweep and escort training missions. Gregory joined the Navy in February 1978.

Staff Sgt. James E. Wrightsil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wrightsil of Big Spring, is a member of the 52nd Tactical Fighter Wing at Spangdahlem Air Base in West Germany which recently won the United States Air Forces in Europe Operational Excellence Award, symbolic of the top operational unit in the command.

To earn the award, wing members met or sur-passed criteria established by the Air Force for sustained superior daily operational performance.

Navy Boiler Technician Fireman Apprentice John

L. Moore, son of Elaine A. Moore of Midland, recently participated in the major NATO exercise "Display Determination." He is a crewmember aboard the tank landing ship

USS Saginaw, homeported at the Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base, Norfolk, Va. More than 11,000 U.S. sailors and Marines joined air and naval forces from Portugal, Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom for the three-week exercise in the Mediterranean area. The exercise included ground operations in northeastern Italy, an amphibious assault in Saros Bay, Turkey, and naval exercises in the Mediterranean Sea, Airman Thomas K. Barnes, son of Mrs. James Barnes of Big Lake, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force air cargo specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls.

Graduates of the course earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Barnes learned methods for handling and storing air freight. He is being assigned to McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., for duty with a unit of the Military Airlift Command. He is a 1979 graduate of Reagan County High School in Big Lake. Larry W. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jackson of Midland, has been promoted to the rank

Dead candidate loses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Harry Jones, a city council member who died before the general election, polled 1,700 votes in the Louisville suburb of Saint Matthews.

Jones, who had been one of nine candidates vying for eight council seats before his death last week, received the fewest votes of any of the candidates in the suburb's election.

Saint Matthews Mayor Bernard Bowling had hoped Jones would win so the new council could name his replacement.

State rips off Enserch

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The state overcharged Enserch Corp., parent of Lone Star Gas Co., by $429,834 on its corporate franchise taxes in 1973 and 1975, the Texas Supreme Court ruled today.

The court's decision means Comptroller Bob Bullock must refund the money.

When Enserch complied with federal rule on reporting its interest in subsidiaries, such as Lone Star, it had to change its accounting methods temporari-

Bullock said Enserch had to use the new method in computing its capital and surplus for payment of the 4.25 percent franchise tax, thus inflating payment of the tax.

Enserch said the accounting change that was made to accommodate the federal government was not used in its normal bookkeeping nor in reports to stockholders and the general public. Thus, it said, Bullock should not require it to apply the federally imposed accounting method in computing its tax lia-

An Austin district judge and the Waco Court of Civil Appeals agreed with Enserch.

"We think appellant's (Bullock's) method of assessing appellee's (Enserch's) franchise tax arbitrary and fundamentally wrong," the Waco court ly wrong," said

The Supreme Court agreed without writing a new opinion.

Oil companies summoned to price 'jawboning session'

By STAN BENJAMIN

WASHINGTON (AP) - Worried about inflation and its impact on next year's election, the Carter administration summoned oil company executives to a hold-down-your-prices "jawboning session" today at the Energy Department.

Publicly, it was described by department spokesman Carl Gustin as a meeting "to look at the roles of the government and the industry with regard to the changing international oil market, and the changing price and supply situation in the United

But privately, two of Carter's top advisers - Stuart Eisenstat, head of the White House domestic policy staff, and Alfred Kahn, chairman of the president's Council on Wage and Price Stability - had drafted a memo for the president urging such a session to persuade oil companies to lower their prices.

The memo, never delivered to Carter, was obtained by The Associated Press.

"You have suffered considerable politicab damage as a result of your decision to decontrol crude oil prices," it said.

White House spokesman Rex Granum said Kahn and Eisenstat decided not to send their memo to the president. Instead, today's meeting was scheduled in the conference room of Energy Secretary Charles W. Dun-

Scheduled to join Duncan, Kahn and Eizenstat on the government side of the table were Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, and Charles Schultze, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers.

Gustin said late Wednesday he was tically favorable impression of holding down prices during the 1980 presidential election year.

But it also would have led to the economic shock of steep price increases when the price lid finally blew off. And Carter's energy policy was based on economists' advice that oil consumption and imports would be reduced most effectively by the dampening effect of early price in-

So Carter decided last June to raise domestic oil prices in stages this year and next, leading up gently to the 1981 final decontrol.

Then came the third-quarter financial reports of major oil companies, which shocked the administration and the public with apparently huge increases in company earnings. Kahn's anti-inflation council began voluntary price guidelines or was thumbing its nose at them. The Kahn-Eizenstat memo concluded that the industry "as a whole has not complied with (the) spirit" of the

It also warned of a "hostile political atmosphere" which might force Carter to slap price controls back on home heating oil, already "decontrolled," and prompt Congress to pass

'a punitive windfall profits tax." While administration spokesmen would not spell out the "jawboning" tactics, the possible repercussions cited by the memo offered at least two arguments for industry restraint of further price increases.

The memo also said there is an increasing public impression that the Carter administration "is helpless to counter high energy prices." If fuel oil prices continue to rise this winter, the anger of homeowners could increase Carter's political handicap in oil-heated New England. the home territory of Sen. Edward M.

Marines on Okinawa ready for any emergency: officer

Copley News Service

U.S. Marines are here --18,000 of them -- and the modern F-15 jet fightsituation is well in hand.

They have been here in varying numbers since leftist Okinawans of D-Day (April 1, 1945) and in the words of Maj. Gen. Calhoun J. Killeen, "We're operational and ready, prepared for any emergency.'

There are 35,000 U.S. servicemen on Okinawa these days but the Marines are America's cutting edge -- combat ready -- in the Western Pacific. The Army has about 2,000 men on this southernmost Japanese island, the Navy a few and the Air Force a sizable contingent at Kadena Air Base but even the airmen are of dimin-

Timely treatment can save victims

"Half of all cancer victims can be saved through a concentrated effort," Ron Rosignol, president of the Midland unit of the American Cancer society, told Rosignol was conducting a workers' orientation in the Midland College Road Runner Room.

Of every six people stricken by cancer, two will be saved and four will die from the disease, Rosignol said. Of the four fatalities, one could become a survivor with proper, timely treatment, according to Rosignol said reaching that one person in six who will needlessly die is only one of the reasons there is an American Cancer Society.

District 2 Field Director Margie Wilson covered other parts of the orientation, including details of the ACS structure with emphasis on the Midland unit, its board of directors and standing committees.

Mrs. James Lacy, area and division crusade chairman, described the American Cancer Society as an organization in a hurry and said that is the reason for training more leaders for ACS activi-

She said 2.2 million Americans recognize that something more can be done to speed the fight against cancer and those 2.2 million volunteers need leadership.

"The mission of the American Cancer Society is threefold," said Rosignol. "The service and rehabilitation of those who have cancer; educating professionals and the public to proper treatment, early discovery and cancer prevention; and research to eventually accomplish the ACS goal, which is to eliminate cancer as a disease of humans.

$175,000 damage suit filed against company

A $175,000 damage suit was filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court here against a Florida corporation alleging misrepresentation in the sale of a "burner.

The petition, filed by Jones Bros. Rental Equipment Co., Inc., names as respondent General Combustion Corporation, a subsidiary of Mechtron International Corp.

In its petition, Jones Bros. Rental Equipment Co. contends that on Nov. 8, 1977, it bought a 'burner" to be used in producing road paving material from General Combustion Corp., incorporated under the laws of the State of Florida. The plaintiff also alleges that the burner was 'misrepresented to plaintiff resulting in damages to plaintiff. The suit also states that General Combustion Corp. is a foreign corporation which does not maintain a regular place of business and does not have an agent designated.

Painter, weaver to present program

Elisabeth Alford, a native of Wichita Falls and a painter, weaver and part-time teacher, will present a program on "Colorvision in Painting" to the Midland Arts Association at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The program will be in the Fine Arts Auditorium at Midland College

Mrs. Alford's primary concern in painting is with color and its ability in the abstract to create form, emotion and illusion.

Her recent paintings use a fractured realism approach by using realistic subjects and breaking them into small geometric shapes, each painted in a flat color. Seen from a short distance, the shapes, collectively, produce flowers or land-

Mrs. Alford has exhibited throughout Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas with numerous one-person shows in Dallas, Washington D.C. and Wichita Falls, where she teaches part time at Midwestern State University.

Why is 'Kate Loves a Mystery' scooping Trib?

By PETER J. BOYER

LOS ANGELES (AP) - I don't know if anybody at the Los Angeles Tribune has noticed, but that fine daily is regularly being scooped on major stories by a throwaway rag in the San Fernando Valley.

While Lou Grant's crack Trib staff is chasing minor league stories about faked research breakthroughs and shady businessmen, Kate Columbo of the tiny Weekly Advertiser is busting up prostitution rings and foiling the mob.

Which is why, I suspect, CBS' newspaper drama, "Lou Grant," is a classy winner while NBC's newspaper show, "Kate Loves a Mystery," is bound for the scrap pile. "Lou Grant" is realistic, tough, intelligently executed and quite often touching. 'Kate Loves a Mystery" is, well ... I don't what it

Neither, apparently, does NBC. The show was born during the dark days at NBC. when the network wasn't above using the spirit of its late "Columbo" series to hype a new show. The idea seemed kind of cute, at first. Mrs. Columbo, often mentioned but never seen on "Columbo," would be an interesting and curious housewife who worked part-time for the local paper as a sort of hobby. She'd dally around the neighborhood, solving a few cute little mysteries, and mention her husband a lot.

Apparently, though, Peter Falk made it clear that he didn't want to play the rumpled Lt. Columbo even on a guest-shot basis, so, over the summer, "Mrs. Columbo" became "Kate Columbo" and this fall, 'Kate Loves a Mystery."

"What we do here that most other jazz classics don't do is offer a grand piano and electric organ, something that puts us in a classical field," said Max Howard, media coordinator.

WHAT DRAWS THESE outstanding jazz artists to Midland, however, is the royal treatment they receive, said Joe Wilder, trumpeteer who played with the ABC Band for 16 years and has since played in bands for The Dick Cavett and Jack Parr Shows.

"The Midland party is my favorite because we're treated so nice here and everyone is so friendly," he said.

the swing era, with a few new things thrown in," explained Al Cohn, saxophonist who began his playing career in 1943 with the Joe Marsala band and subsequently played with the bands of Artie Shaw, Woody Herman, Buddy Rich and many others.

He said that spontaneity is still the key element in jazz, even though the musicians had played all the songs for years. "It's always spontaneous," added Wilder. "Each song is always different because we play with different musicians.

"The first set went pretty well tonight, but sometimes there's such a spark that it's almost explosive — and then we don't want to quit playing. It's never competitive because each musician has such a different style that he doesn't need to imitate others," said Wilder.

ONE OF THE biggest crowd-pleasers of the night came from a set including Jack Lesberg, bassist; Pee Wee Erwin, trumpeteer; Johnny Mince, .clarinetist; Ralph Sutton, pianist; Abe Most, saxophonist; Al Grey, trombonist; and Jackie Williams, drummer. They received standing ovations on 'Basin Street Blues' featuring Grey and "If I Had You" featuring Mince and Most.

Other musicians performing were Dave McKenna, Bob Wilbur, Bill Watrous, Michael Moore, Wilder, Ruby Braff, Gus Johnson Jr., Terry Gibbs (who announced that he was playing with Zoot Sims for the first time since 1948), Urbie Green, Jackie Williams, Cohn, Milt "The Judge" Hinton, Dick Hyman, Mousey Alexander, and Cal

The crowd roared and its applause rolled onto the ring.

Most matadors don't bother with placing their own banderillas, leaving the difficult task to their assistants.

Another pair of the barbed sticks hit home, and once again the crowd exploded with enthusiasm. Drummers pound ed their instruments and the shriek of trumpets shattered the windless air.

The rhythmic chant of "to-re-ro, to-re-ro" rose from the stands as the spectators roared their approval.

Espla picked up another pair of banderillas, and once again went through his delicate ballet with the bull. Again, the sticks hit home and the crowd screamed its appreciation.

The tension mounted as Espla prepared to kill the bull, a small one by big-plaza standards.

He missed with the first thrust of the sword, and had to try three more times before dis-patching the bull to its pre-ordained death. The roar of the crowd faded away, and silence took its place. Espla's moment of triumph had come and gone. Only desultory applause broke the stillness, as the young matador and his team assembled their gear to seek fame and glory in yet another provincial bullring before a crowd ready to give its all for perfec-

Central library could save taxpayers millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A central library to house the papers of future presidents, instead of separate facilities near their hometowns, could save U.S. taxpayers millions of dollars, a ton government official save top government official says.

Rowland G. Freeman, head of the General Services Administration, said a central library would be more than one-fourth cheaper to build and operate than separate libraries.

In Senate testimony, Freeman also suggested other steps to control the soaring costs of presidential libraries, such as downplaying their "monumental or memorial aspects" and granting GSA authority to restrict their size.

Currently, presidential libraries are built with private money — usually near the hometowns of former presidents — but are maintained and operated by the federal government through GSA, its housekeeping agen-

The six existing presidential libraries, including the recently dedicated John F. Kennedy Library in Boston, are expected to cost $9.5 million in 1980.

The cost will climb to $12.5 million in 1981 with the completion of the Gerald R. Ford Library in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Freeman said a central presidential library for six presidents could be built with private money on about 80 acres of government-owned land near Washington and operated by the government for 25 years at a cost of about $222.5 million. Six separate libraries would cost $280.5 million to operate over that period, he said.

Freeman also said presidential libraries have moved away from their original purpose as storage facilities for historical records and become instead primarily museums.

"I believe that consideration should be given to limiting the involvement of the government to the archival storage of presidential papers, with only a very limited capability for exhibition," he added. Freeman's testimony came during a joint hearing held by Senate Appropriations and Government Affairs subcommittees on the rising costs for presidential libraries and other expenses related to past presidents.

Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., said former presidents will cost U.S. tax-payers $18.3 million in 1980, nearly 300 times more than in 1955.

Besides the cost for libraries, Chiles said payments for former presidents' office staffs are increasing dramatically, as is the cost for around-the-clock Secret Service protection for past presidents and their wives or widows.

WASHINGTON (AP)

— They turned out for Jack. They turned out for Bobby. Now the Kennedy family is turning out for Teddy, despite whatever private reservations they may have about his presidential candidacy.

"The family will have an important role in this campaign," said Tom Southwick, press secretary to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Kennedy makes it official Wednesday that he will challenge President Carter for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Specific assignments have not yet been made. But Southwick said that with the possible exception of the senator's mother, Rose Kennedy, who is in frail health, Kennedy's wife, children, sisters, in laws, nieces and nephews will be fanning over the country in the next few months to promote Kennedy for president.

"They will be speaking at places for the senator, meeting people he can't see and generally filling in for him," Southwick

Kennedy's wife, Joan, whose distaste for politics and previous lack of enthusiasm for a presidential bid is well known, will make select appearances, Southwick said. Though she still lives separately from Kennedy, she says she will campaign for her husband and move from Boston to the White House if he wins.

"You won't be seeing too much of Joan, but you'll see a lot of the sisters," said another Kennedy associate.

"They'll fill in for Joan because they don't want to see her bowled over by the campaign. She's still fragile."

Mrs. Kennedy has been enrolled in an alcohol-abuse program in Boston for more than a year.

If any other members of Kennedy's family have qualms about his campaign, they're not saying so publicly.

"He spent a lot of time with them all during the (congressional) recess last August," Southwick said. "Sure they talked about the possibility of a campaign. And now they're all behind him — 100 percent."

Kennedy's two eldest children, Kara, 19, and Teddy Jr., 18, are considering taking time off from college to campaign, aides say, but no decision has been made. Kara is a sophomore at Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., and Teddy is a freshman at Wesleyan College in Connecticut. Kennedy's youngest child, Patrick, 12, attends a private school in the Washington area. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, widow- of the late President John F. Kennedy and now a book editor in New York, has offered her assistance to the campaign, said Kennedy aide Bob Donelan. And her children, Caroline, a Radcliffe student who will soon be 22, and John Jr., who is almost 19 and a freshman at Brown University, will also campaign for their uncle, Southwick said.

Ethel Kennedy, widow of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who was gunned down in 1968 during his own quest for the presidency, has agreed to organize a group of celebrities and sports figures called Citizens for Kennedy, according to her secretary, Teresa Zagnolia.

Last weekend Mrs.
Kennedy started making public appearances for her brother-in-law by flying to Iowa to appear at a state Democratic party dinner.

Ten 'armed and really dangerous' prisoners escape in West Virginia

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) - Ten prisoners, described by author ities as "armed and really dangerous," remain at large today after a prison break by 15 inmates that left an off-duty state trooper and one of the prisoners dead, officials said.

A three-state manhunt was underway for the inmates, who escaped from the West Virginia Penitentiary at 8:10 p.m. EST Wednesday after overpowering two guards. Several of the escapees were believed to be armed with automatic weapons, authorities said.

"They are armed and really dangerous," said Cpl. J.G. Watson of the West Virginia State Police.

Several of the inmates were serving sentences for first-degree murder, according to Jerrie Bracken, penitentiary spokeswoman. Four inmates were apprehended within walking distance of the penitentiary just hours after the breakout, said state police Cpl. D.L. Taylor. They were unarmed and offered no resistance, he said.

The body of the fifth, James Lester Collins, was found in the slain trooper's car near Waynesburg, Pa., a few miles east of Moundsville, according to Taylor. Collins apparently had been shot, Taylor said. The trooper, 23-year-old Philip Kesner, was driving by the maximum security prison with his wife, Constance, when they were stopped and dragged from their car. Kesner was shot, said Watson. Mrs. Kesner was not injured. Three to five of the inmates then sped off in Kesner's car, while the others fled on foot into Moundsville, a city of 13,560 that surrounds the prison, officials said.

The prison, located in the state's Northern Panhandle, is only a few miles from the Ohio and Pennsylvania borders and is about 50 miles southwest of Pittsburgh.

More than 100 police officers set up roadblocks throughout the region and searched the area near the prison.

According to Ms. Bracken, the escape occurred when an inmate asked to be allowed into the prison command center to store his barber's tools: Once inside, he pulled a gun on Sgt. Jerry Baff and a second inmate entered the command center and held a knife to Baff's throat The two inmates removed Baff's keys and let themselves into a corridor leading to the prison'w waiting room. They then captured a second guard, J.T. Villers, and demanded that the penitentiary's outer gates be opened, she

The two inmates were then joined by 13 others who apparently had been hiding nearby.

Once outside the prison, the escapees demanded transportation. When they were told that a vehicle was not available, they shoved Baff in the path of the car driven by Kesner. When Kesner stopped his car, he was pulled from the vehicle and shot, she said.

A few months ago, two inmates escaped from the prison by tunneling under its wall. They were captured a few hours later.

IRS challenging marriage plans as 'sham transaction'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Angela and David Boyter would like to marry each other for a fourth time, but their marriage plans are being challenged by the Internal Revenue Service.

The Boyters have divorced each other three times and remarried twice to take advantage of tax rates for single persons.

The IRS is taking the Boyters to U.S. Tax Court today to argue the marriages and divorces are a "sham transaction." The Boyters, of Ellicott City, Md., contend income tax laws discriminate against married couples. That's why they haven't remarried again - for now

"We will probably stay single until this tax case is settled," Boyter says. "I am confident that we will win. "If it is settled adversely, we plan to stay divorced because the taxes get worse every year, and by staying divorced we should qualify Last year the couple paid $11,800 in federal income taxes filing as single adults, according to Angela Boyter. They would have paid an additional $2.800 had they been married. The Boyters, first married in 1966, have taken three trips to Haiti or the Dominican Republic before the end of the year for a vacation and a $350 "quickie" divorce. Tax laws look at marital status as of Dec. 31. Twice they remarried in January at the Howard County Courthouse. The Boyters, both federal employees, each earn about $30,000 a year.

David, 39, is a physicist. Angela, 33, is a procurement officer.

IRS attorney Zuravin says the tax agency "would not object necessarily, if as couple divorces and stays divorced - but not as a tax immick or sham transaction.'

Investigating FBI agents face tangled web lying behind KKK

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The hooded men of the Ku Klux Klan espouse white supremacy to save the United States from communism, but beyond the apparent unity of their beliefs lie feuding and bitter bickering

The FBI agents assigned by President Carter to investigate the Klan in the aftermath of five killings at a leftist "Death to the Klan" rally last Saturday will have to unravel a tangle of philosophies and factions, all trying to court the state's "good ol' boys.

Six or seven groups operate in North Carolina, claiming close to 10 percent of all Klan members - estimated nationally at about 9,000 by the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League.

Six of the 14 suspects in the weekend attack have told police they are Klansmen. Another three avow they are Nazis.

Linking the Klansmen and extremists such as Nazis is a hatred of communism. Klansmen say communism, not racial integration, is now their main target. Blacks, they say, are pawns of communism; integration is just a salvo in the battle to destroy America. THE FIVE VICTIMS of Saturday's shooting — all organizers of the rally — were four white men and a black woman. They were shot when several carloads of men drove up to the rally, jumped out and opened fire. Nine persons were wounded. Twelve men are charged with murder, two with conspiracy, and a 15th man

The violence was preceded by months of increased Klan visibility in North Carolina and other areas of the country. Factions announced increased membership, and rallies have been held throughout the state - although few have attracted more than 100 persons.

Six factions are active in North Carolina alone: the United Klans of America, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Federated Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, White Knights of Liberty, Confederation of Independent Orders of Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and Invisible Empire-Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The Knights of the KKK, based in Winston-Salem, staged an exhibit of Klan paraphernalia at the public library in February. The exhibit was closed after a shouting match between anti-Klan people and Klansmen.

IN MARCH, the Winston-Salem chapter of the Federated Knights showed a pro-Klan movie at the civic center without incident. The same group held a rally on July 8 in China Grove and were confronted by members of the Workers Viewpoint Organization. That group, now called the Communist Workers Party, organized the fatal weekend rally.

A white supremacy rally in September drew Klansmen, Nazis and the National States Rights Party to the little town of Louisburg for the unveiling of another extremist group, the United Racist Front.

"You take a man who fought in the second World War, it's hard for him to sit down in a room with swastikas," said Gorrell Pierce, a Winston-Salem farmer and leader of the Federated Knights. "But people realize time is running out. We're going to have to get together. We're more effective when we're Other Klan leaders scorn the Nazis as dangerous and un-American.

"You can't be a Nazi and a Klansmen — it would go against your oath to uphold the government," said Joe Grady, 49, a building contractor who was once Pierce's superior in the Federated Knights.

Grady recently split to form the White Knights of Liberty because of Pierce's "Those weren't Klansmen," Grady said after the Greensboro shooting. "They were damned Nazis."

KLAN OBSERVERS who asked not to be identified said the shooting suspects appear to be North Carolina members of the Louisiana-based

Invisible Empire, one of the more militant factions. But according to local press reports, many of the suspects are suspected members of the South Carolina-based Confederation of Independent Orders. The reports say the FBI is looking for Virgil Griffin of Gastonia, a Confederation leader. Sources told The Associated Press the Confederation is the most militant Klan group. Except for three men from Winston-Salem, all suspects charged in the Saturday shooting are from areas of western North Carolina where both the Invisible Empire and the Confederation are active.

Differences in Klan chapters go deeper than their names -The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, headed by David Duke, 28, of Metairie, La., purports to be the "new" Klan - seeking to obtain its goals through nonviolent political action rather than confrontation. Its members condemn such Klan standards as cross-burnings as "Hollywood. -The Federated Knights proclaims its white supremacy approach more boldly and offers marksmanship training to its members. Its former head of security, Raeford "Nighthawk" Caudle, islone of those charged with murder. He now claims to be a Nazi.

-The United Klans of America, which counts most of its members in conservative eastern North Carolina, contends it is the one true Klan and plays

"I DON'T KNOW much at all about the Duke group," said E.J. Melvin Jr. of Goldsboro, said to be the United Klans Grand Dragon, in an interview earlier this year. "And Joe Grady, why, I never have been able to figure out what he stands for. Joe changes his philosophy every two or three weeks. The Nazis in North Carolina are led by Harold Covington, 25, of Raleigh, who often wears swastikas. Covington ran unsuccesfully for a city council seat two years ago and for mayor of Raleigh this year. Covington said some of his men were in Greensboro on Saturday. "What I regret are that 12 good men are in jail," he said after the shootings. "As for the Reds, I don't give a damn about them."

Businessmen call families after release

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Two employees of Beckman Instruments Co., kidnapped more than a month ago, called their families from a San Salvador supermarket to tell them they are free and in good condition, a company spokesman has announced.

Beckman spokesman Will Fowler reported Wednesday that Dennis R. McDonald and Fausto Bucheli, abducted Sept. 21 by the Revolutionary Party of Central America, "were released outside a San Salvador supermarket a matter of hours ago and are in good condition."

The first news of their release came when the men called their families from the market, Fowler said. No further details of their release or detention by the kidnappers was available, he said.

McDonald, 41, lives near the El Salvador capital and is general manager of APLAR, a Beckman subsidiary which employs 500 Salvadoreans. Bucheli, an enxineer based at the Beckman headquarters in Fullerton, was on asswgnment at the time of the

A bodyguard was slain when the two men were bducted outside the San Salvador airport

The only publicly disclosed demand made by the revolutionary group was that Beckman place advertisements written by the Salvadorean insurgents in The Los Angeles Times, The New York Times and several more newspapers in Central America and Europe

The ads in the two U.S. pagers, which reportedly cost more than $62,000, accused the government of El Salvador of repression and murder.

The former president of El Salvador, Humberto Romero, was toppled in a coup last month by a junta composed of civilians and military officers, which forced him to leave the country.

chelli, employees of a Beckman subsidiary, were freed near a San Salvador supermarket and were in good condition

Few details were available here, but Buchelli, a Puerto Rican engineer, said he was leaving immediately for the United States.

After raiders kidnapped McDonald and Buchelli and killed their bodyguard Sept. 21, a previously unheard of group, the Revolutionary Party of Central American Workers, claimed responsibility.

Beckman met the guerrilla's demands by paying for anti-Salvadoran government advertisements in leading U.S. newspapers. There was no word if a ransom was paid, although there were reports the group had asked for $10 million to free the cap-

Prior to the Oct. 15 overthrow of rightist President Carlos Humberto Romero, leftist groups kidnapped numerous foreign businessmen to raise a war chest of ransom to support a guerrilla war against the

As it turned out, moderate military officers toppled Romero, but leftists kept up the pressure, nearly 100 persons were killed in fighting, and two weeks ago leftists occupied two government buildings, holding up to 300 hostages.

The Popular Revolutionary Bloc, the nation's largest leftist group, held the ministries of economy and labor and at first refused to recognize or bargain with the new civilian-military government.

But this week, after two days of negotiations between the bloc and representatives of the new junta, the bloc ended the occupation and agreed to give the government 30 days to show good faith and intent to carry out its promises to implement social and economic reform.

The bloc sapd it would "continue the struggle" for its demands, including a 100 percent increase in the $3 a day minimum wage, a freeze on food prices and information on persons who disappeared during the Romero regime.

To help win release of the hostages, the governto disband the ultra-rightist Democratic National Organization - Orden - and in exchange Wednesday, bloc leftists freed the last 30 hostages and agreed not to hold anti-government demonstrations for 30 days.

Jose Alberto Medrano, who helped start Orden in 1970 to educate peasants about social responsibilities, announced it was being abolished.

"Disgracefully, the organization was perverted by corrupt groups of the former government, which converted it into a dangerous thing. They converted it into a den or criminals," Alberto Medrano said.

Will major banks follow lead, increase prime lending rates?

NEW YORK (AP) - Banking industry analysts and at least one congressman were watching today to see if other major banks follow Chase Manhattan Bank in raising prime lending rates.

The nation's third-largest bank said Wednesday the boost in its prime rate from 151/4 percent to a record 151/2 percent "reflects market conditions," a claim challenged by Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., chairman of the House Banking Committee.

"This is bad news for workers who will lose jobs and businesses that will go broke because of unnecessarily high interest rates," Reuss said in Washing-

The prime is the rate banks charge their most credit-worthy corporate borrowers, with other industrial and commercial borrowers paying even higher

The prime rate does not directly affect interest rates on consumer loans and home mortgages, but is considered an indicator of general trends in interest

The prime rate has risen steadily since August, due largely to efforts by the Federal Reserve Board to tighten credit as a way of reducing inflation. After the Federal Reserve announced a new plan Oct. 6 to make lending more costly, the prime jumped from 13½ percent to 15¼ percent, which was the current rate at all major banks except Chase as of the end of business Wednesday.

Reuss and some Wall Street analysts said the Federal Reserve has refrained from further credittightening in recent weeks. Reuss noted that the federal funds rate, a key rate on loans of reserves between banks, has fallen below 15 percent, after being as high as 17 percent, and that banks can borrow from the Federal Reserve itself at 12 per-

Chase President Willard C. Butcher said, "Our decision on the prime is not taken lightly, and is never a result of what happens on a given day, or as a result of a single aberration in the marketplace."

David Jones, an economist with the Wall Street firm of Aubrey G. Lanston and Co., said he thought Chase was "getting a little bit ahead of themselves in terms of the cost of money" and predicted other banks will not match the increase.

Until last August, the record for the prime rate had been 12 percent, set during the 1974 credit crunch. That year the rate was held down by political pressures on the banks, something that was largely absent until last week, when Reuss put pressure on Citibank not to raise the rate to 151/2 percent.
