Even though the Wright Brothers beat him by several years, Midland blacksmith John Pliska was an aviation pioneer in the early 1900s. Pliska's "aeroplane" may be moved after 14 years in a museum. Sunday's West Texas Life has the story.

Gov. Clements calls Iranian situation more serious than Cuban missile crisis

By MIKE SLATON
Staff Writer

The situation in Iran is "much more serious" than the Cuban missile crisis of the early 1960s, Gov. Bill Clements told members of the Bank Administration Institute at the Midland Hilton Thursday night.

More serious, said Clements, than the Mayaguez incident in Southeast Asia and the "tree-chopping incident" at the demilitarized zone in South Korea (in which a U.S. Army officer was killed) — both "crises of management" which occurred during the governor's four years as a member of the National Security Council.

"The Iranian crisis is more serious — has more implications — than any of the three," he said. "Perhaps this will help you put it in perspective."

Clements said it would be inappropriate to comment on what he would do about the situation in Iran.

Advice in such matters, if asked for, said Clements, must be given in a private and secluded forum.

"Nothing constructive can be accomplished by explosive and overly enthusiastic rhetoric," he cautioned.

"There is a small group in Washington, D.C., (President Carter and his advisors) that has responsibility for these decisions — they have the best information to make the best decisions."

"No one in the private sector has the knowledge to make such decisions," Clements said.

Clements, in his brief talk before the meeting of the banking organization, touched on government affairs in Austin.

Some of the "highlights," said Clements, included the passage of "budget execution authority" through the last legislative session.

"The governor now has the authority to track an appropriation as it moves through various government agencies to see that it is used properly," Clements said. "I know this sounds very logical, but it has never been done before."

Reaction by various agencies of state government has been enthusiastic to what he called "management by objective."

Such a system of management will allow the establishment of goals, the making of plans and the implementation of such plans.

"Then," said Clements, "we will monitor (the implementation of the plans)."

"We are truly going to establish a zero-based budget."

Clements also reaffirmed his commitment to showing "less government can be better government."

To date, said Clements, there are 4,100 fewer government employees than when he took office, and by the end of the year the total will have reached 8,000 fewer state employees.

At an average of $23,000 per year per person, that represents a savings of about $175 million per year in salaries, he said.

The governor asked the bankers for their advice about rising interest rates, noting that the prime interest rate will probably top out at 19 to 20 percent.

"I'm not sure what to do about it," Clements admitted, adding he didn't think state government had any business "fishing around in these waters...trying to do a 'Band-Aid' job" on the economy.

Turning to education, Clements promised that when the legislature reconvenes in January 1981 "we will have a full program of recommendations and legislation ready."

The focus, he said, will be a back-to-basics approach with less waste and improved quality in education.

Referring to the Mexican oil spill (in which the company he founded, Sedco, owns the rig) Clements pointed out that:

—A recent study by Texas A&M University in Galveston could find no damage to the environment caused by the leaking oil;

—Catches of seafood have shown no contamination;

—Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has found no wildlife damage;

—And, the president of the Texas Shrimp Association said no contaminated shrimp have been caught.

"Last summer when this all started," said Clements, "I said 'let's be calm; let's wait to really assess the damage and responsibility.'"

"I just wanted to remind you so I could say 'I told you so.'"

Iranians make new threats

By The Associated Press

An estimated 80,000 demonstrators marched on the U.S. Embassy in Tehran today and Moslem militants threatened to take harsh action against their hostages inside the mission if the United States forced the shah to go to any country but Iran.

NBC-TV news in Tehran said the march on the embassy was the biggest since the hostages were seized Nov. 4. After Moslem Sabbath prayers, loudspeakers broadcasting from minibuses led the demonstrators in anti-American chants.

The protest took on a carnival atmosphere, the British Broadcast Corp. reported, with families and vendors mixing with the demonstrators. A long line of Tehran taxis drove past the embassy carrying stuffed animal effigies of wood and straw which people in the crowd struck while shouting anti-American slogans. It was not clear what the animals signified.

A spokesman for the militants inside the embassy told Tehran Radio: "We announce the message of the Iranian people to the world that if America expels the shah, it will be committing an offense even greater than its previous ones. The shah should be delivered to the Iranian nation with his hands tied. If America expels the shah, it must be certain that harsher decisions will be taken against the hostages."

The Associated Press in Bonn, West

Germany reached the embassy in Tehran by telephone and spoke with a student who said, "So far those hostages are safe here and in a comfortable condition."

"But I'm not sure what would happen if the United States lets the shah leave. I'm not sure what action the people will take."

The radio broadcast, monitored in London, also said the militants would boycott American goods and that they urged other Iranians to ban U.S. products in any way possible during the coming week. The Paris newspaper Le Monde quoted the Iranian foreign affairs supervisor as saying Iran was no longer accepting dollars in payment for its crude oil.

So far the U.S. government has refused to meet the militants' demand for the shah's extradition, and has given no indication it planned to expel him.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, Iran's 79-year-old revolutionary leader, has canceled all appointments for the next three weeks because of "slight fatigue and illness," the state radio said, and foreign diplomats in Tehran predicted a long siege for the hostages.

As the crisis entered its 13th day today, the United States mounted a new initiative to win increased domestic and international pressure for release of the captives, said by the State Department to number 60 to 62 Americans and eight non-Americans.

Long defends weakened 'windfall profits' tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long defended his Finance Committee's weakened "windfall-profits" tax bill today as "a comprehensive basis for a sound energy policy for this nation."

Opening Senate debate on the tax, the Louisiana Democrat reminded President Carter and others who view the bill as too weak that "this is the largest tax increase ever levied on a single American industry."

Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, senior Republican on the Finance Committee, agreed. Dole, a presidential candidate, said an opponent, Ronald Reagan, and others who oppose any windfall tax have to realize that "there will be a tax — there should be a tax."

Carter proposed the tax to take away some of the billions of dollars in revenues will go to the oil industry as a result of his decision to phase out federal price controls on crude oil produced in this country.

The tax would be used to finance a long-range energy program, including aid to help low-income Americans pay their fuel bills, improving the nation's transportation system and for financing development of non-oil fuels.

Even before starting debate on the tax today, the Senate began spending the money.

A 69-14 vote Thursday night put the Senate on record as tentatively earmarking $7 billion of the tax revenues for helping low-income Americans cope with higher fuel costs in the winters of 1980-81 and 1981-82.

Oil minister denies Iran won't take dollars

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Iran's oil minister today denied his government is refusing to accept dollars in payment for the oil it sells — contradicting a statement the country's foreign affairs supervisor was quoted as making in a French newspaper interview.

Abolhassan Bani Sadr told Le Monde correspondent Eric Rouleau in Tehran Thursday evening that from last Tuesday, bills were being issued on the basis of a "basket" of French and Swiss francs and West German marks, and yen for Japanese payments, the paper reported today.

Oil Minister Ali Akhbar Moinefar, in a telephone conversation from his home in Tehran, said "I did not order this yet."

Asked whether his answer indicated Iran was considering such a move, Moinefar said: "I shall not confirm nor deny this at the moment, all I can say is that I did not order it up till now."

Iran will still get food, medicine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shipments of food and medicine to Iran will not be blocked by the decision to freeze Iranian government assets in the United States, administration sources say.

A high-ranking Treasury Department official, who asked for anonymity, also said Thursday that the United States has taken steps to free approximately $7 million of the frozen funds for use by Iranian diplomats and students.

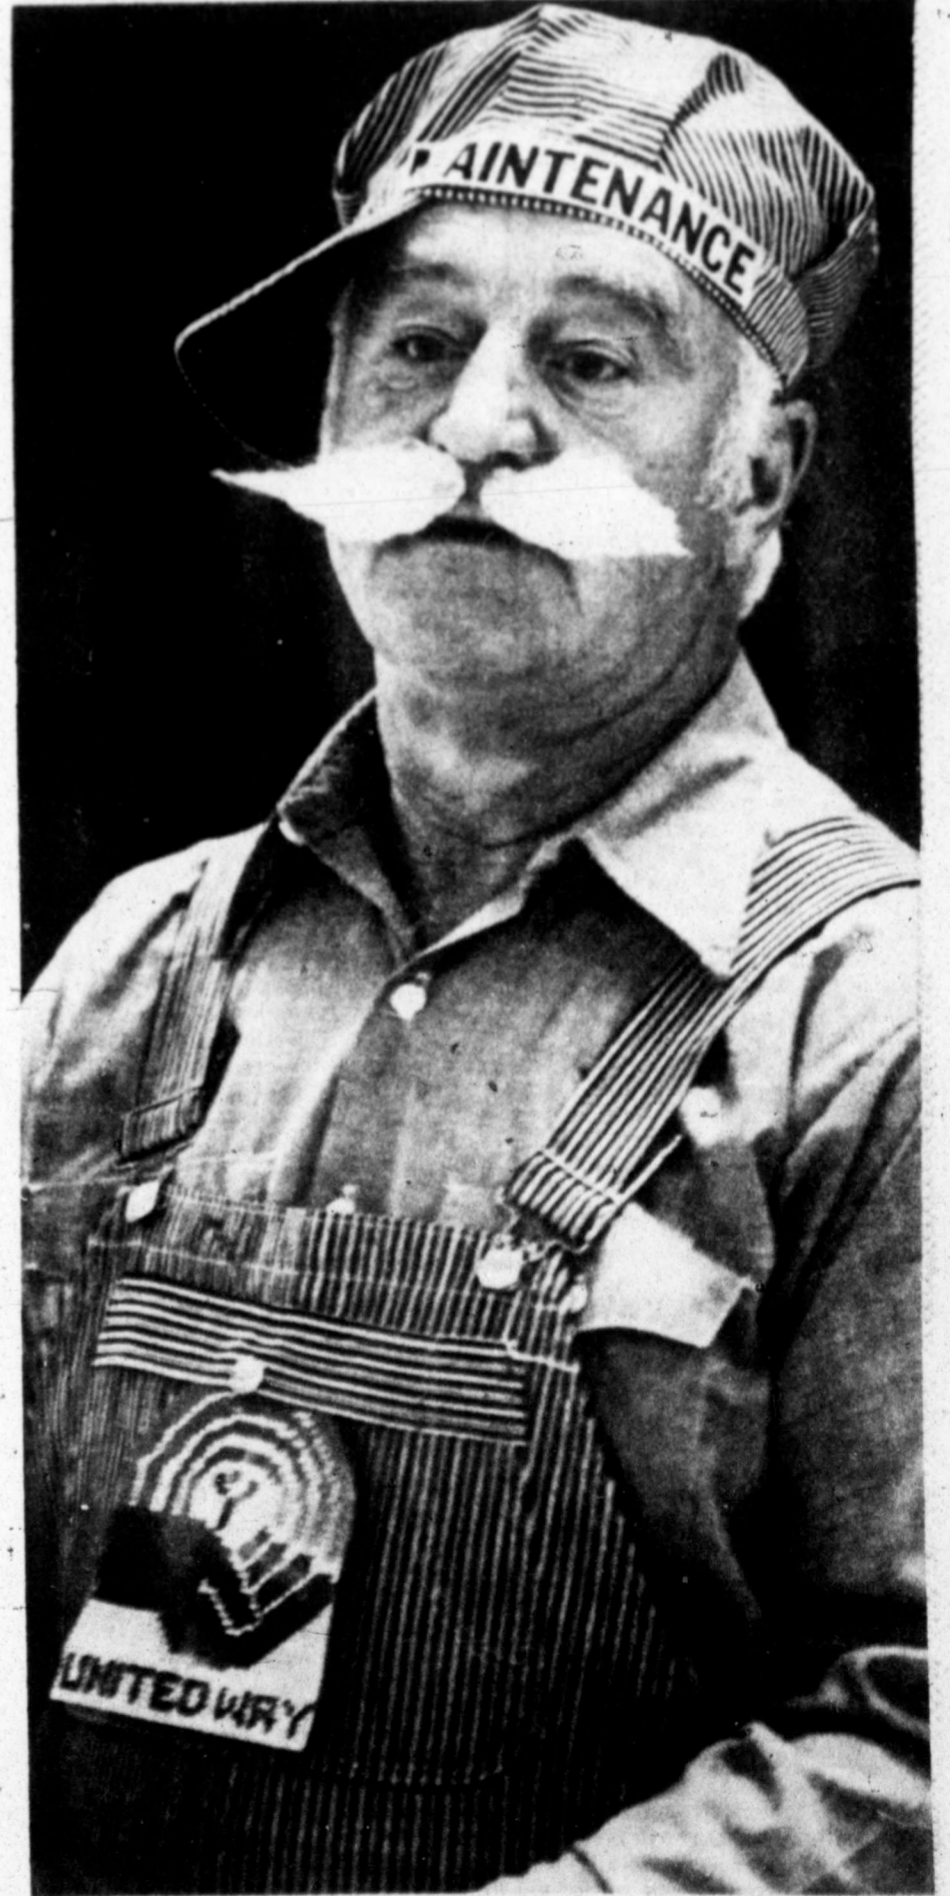

The actions came a day after President Carter imposed a freeze on Iranian assets in the United States and in the overseas branches and subsidiaries of U.S. banks.

Iran had threatened to withdraw its funds and put them in banks in other nations. That could have preceded a move by Iran "to repudiate its debts" in the United States, the Treasury official said.

The Carter administration's moves to free some money for use by Iranian diplomats and students and for trade came as the nation's largest farm group, the American Farm Bureau Federation, said it would support an embargo on U.S. food exports to Iran.

And it followed a decision by longshoremen in a number of U.S. ports to refuse to load U.S. goods destined for Iran.

The Carter administration has been under increasing pressure to use a food embargo in its efforts to secure the release of Americans held hostage in Tehran by Iranian students since Nov. 4.

Two cross burnings mar Memphis mayoral race

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Bolstered by a heavy white voter turnout, incumbent Wyeth Chandler fought off a strong runoff challenge from black attorney W. Otis Higgs Jr. to win a third term as mayor of Memphis.

With 99 percent of the city's voting precincts tabulated, Chandler had 120,228, or 53 percent of the vote. Higgs had 106,213 votes.

The 49-year-old Chandler claimed victory two hours after the polls closed. Minutes later, a bitter Higgs conceded defeat.

"We have apparently lost an election. We have not lost that fight for the respect of human personality," Higgs told supporters at his campaign headquarters. "The real loser is the city of Memphis."

Also on the ballot in the non-partisan election were races for the city court clerk's office, a City Council seat and a Memphis Board of Education position. Shelby County Election Commission officials said 226,441 of the city's 343,157 registered voters went to the polls, which opened at 8 a.m. CST and closed at 7 p.m.

An attorney and former Criminal Court Judge, Higgs, 42, lost to Chandler, 49, four years ago in a runoff.

Seeking a third consecutive term as mayor of Tennessee's largest city, Chandler led a five-man field in the first election, Oct. 4, with 74,428 votes. Higgs was second with 72,202 votes.

In the last two days before the election, police began around-the-clock surveillance of both mayoral candidates' houses and campaign headquarters. The protection was prompted by a pre-dawn cross-burning incident Tuesday on Higgs' front lawn.

Higgs dismissed Ku Klux Klan involvement in the incident, blaming it instead on "some kook or crank."

But a second cross-burning less than 24 hours later at the home of a 21-year-old man who told police Higgs is his father, led the black mayoral candidate Wednesday to accuse an unnamed "high official" of having "the legal ethics of a viper."

"What high official is trying to attack me through these tactics over something that happened over 30 years ago when I was an 18-year-old kid?" Higgs said at an afternoon news conference.

Higgs, whose official biography lists a 14-year-old daughter and a 6-year-old son, refused to identify the high official or discuss the young man's alleged relationship to him.

Chandler issued a statement later saying he had known since 1975 that there was a young man who claimed to be Higgs' illegitimate son.

Archaeology teams flocking to Cyprus digs

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Hampered by Cyprus' neighbors, American archaeologists are coming here in increasing numbers to unearth the cultural heritage left on the island by a succession of ancient conquerors.

This year, eight American archaeology teams have conducted digs in several locations. Some of these teams have been at work in Cyprus for many years.

"American archaeologists come here simply because it is becoming harder to get excavation permits from other countries in this area," said Anita Walker, a British-born archaeology professor from the University of Connecticut.

The professor, a Fulbright scholar who has been involved in Cyprus excavations since 1971, explained, "The awareness of American schools and encouragement of the Cyprus government are two major reasons for this influx of students and professors."

Like most Middle-Eastern countries, Cyprus has been greatly affected by the major historical events of ancient civilization. Lying at the crossroad between Europe and the Middle East, Cyprus has attracted many great powers throughout history.

The island's rich copper mines and forests for timber were two natural attractions for making weapons, ships and other tools.

But even before these resources were exhausted around the 12th century A.D., Cyprus was strategically important to powers seeking to dominate the East Mediterranean basin, powers such as the Phoenicians, Egyptians, Persians, Romans, Crusaders and Ottoman Turks.

"They all had to cross through the island," says Michael Louloupis, archaeology officer at the Cyprus Department of Antiquities.

Americans are excavating in Jordan, Israel, Egypt, Turkey and other Middle-Eastern countries, but there are proportionately fewer teams there than in Cyprus.

Politics and local susceptibilities make it difficult for these young archaeologists to get into neighboring countries with rich cultural heritages.

Larissa Hordynsky, a graduate student at Brandeis University, observed that even in Greece "they discourage and restrict foreigners from excavating there."

"The Iraqi government at the moment does not allow many Westerners into the country, let alone give permission to excavate," said Ian Todd, an archaeology professor at Brandeis, who led an excavation team in Cyprus.

The presence of so many Americans excavating here prompted the American School for Oriental Research (ASOR) to help establish the Cyprus American Archaeological Research Institute, headed by Anita Walker, who has just completed a two-year sabbatical leave from the University of Connecticut.

She said the institute, a non-profit establishment, served as a summer home for many archaeology students, providing advice, room and board, and tools. ASOR has established similar institutions in Jordan, Tunisia and Israel.

She says American students join the excavation teams for various reasons. Some are after the experience, others collect data and others are archaeology or anthropology teachers, here to enrich their academic background.

Funds for most Americans come from the National Science Foundation for Prehistoric Excavations, and the National Science Foundation for Classical Excavations. Students are selected on the basis of experience, "but character and adaptation are also important," Todd said.

Todd's 30-member team includes American, Greek, British, French, Australian, Swiss and German students.

Carter gets mixed reactions

Oil decontrol defense leaves labor silent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor leaders cheered President Carter's stern words for Iran with patriotic fervor. They roared when he lavished praise on George Meany. But they sat in disgruntled silence when he said it would be "ridiculous" to retain federal controls that keep oil prices from rising at will.

The contrasting reactions to Carter at Thursday's AFL-CIO convention underscore his problems of overcoming strong labor opposition to his domestic policies and parlaying dutiful support for "The President" into political backing for candidate Carter's re-election.

Many of the 1,000 labor officials attending the six-day conclave say they liked what Carter said about the Iranian crisis and were touched by his warm tribute to Meany, 85, the retiring AFL-CIO President.

But, the officials said, Carter's performance didn't win him any new political support from a labor movement that seems to prefer the president's chief rival for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Carter backers and detractors alike said that if the delegates were polled, a healthy majority would pick Kennedy as their first choice.

"The president gave a very crafty speech," said Peter Bommarito, president of the United Rubber Workers union and a Kennedy backer. He rallied the convention behind a crisis while sidestepping most of the domestic issues that divide Carter and labor, Bommarito complained.

Labor leaders have opposed Carter's efforts to control inflation as being biased against workers and they remain suspicious of his policies despite a recent agreement by the administration and AFL-CIO to join forces in fighting inflation.

Labor also adamantly opposes Carter's policy of removing federal price controls from oil products so prices will rise rapidly and encourage energy conservation.

Only hours before Carter's appearance, Meany took a final shot at one of his favorite political targets, charging that the "economy is a mess" because of administration policies that "were ill-advised, ill considered, ineffective and inequitable."

Carter, in between praising Meany as "a great American," retorted that the nation cannot oppose the development of energy sources while also encouraging "the waste of energy by artificially holding down its price in order to encourage more consumption."

In a dig at Kennedy, who supports retaining price controls on oil, Carter said, "Do not be misled by political demagoguery. . . This is a ridiculous combination of proposals which could only be put forward in an election campaign."

Howard Samuel, a former Labor Department official and Carter backer who now heads the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department, said the president did not come to the convention to solicit political support. "He was acting like a president" seeking support for a foreign crisis in Iran and an energy crisis at home, said Samuel.

Retiring AFL-CIO President George Meany says the U.S. "economy is a mess" because of administration policies that "were ill-advised, ill considered, ineffective and inequitable." Carter, on the other hand, praised Meany as a "great American."

Specialists say beating caused youth's death

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Three medical specialists claim 15-year-old Billy Barnett, who died during a beating Oct. 22 by students from a rival student faction, was killed by the beating, not the rupture of a congenitally weak artery.

Bexar County Medical Examiner Dr. Ruben Santos had ruled that Barnett's injuries from the beating were minor and not enough to have caused death. The aneurysm that burst could have burst at any time, Santos added.

The ruling has been the source of much controversy. Dr. Howard Huntington, a professor at The University of Texas Medical School here, testified during an examining trial Wednesday that the three-member panel felt the death was caused by bleeding from blows to the head.

Despite Santos' ruling, six Holmes High School students, five of them juveniles, have been charged with murder in the case.

Body found in 'haunted house'

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Police are investigating the shooting death of a young woman, whose body was discovered Wednesday in a vacant building used last month as a Halloween haunted house.

A pistol was found near the victim, who had not been identified by Thursday.

A sign on the building still bore the inscription of "Ghost Manor," left by the charitable group that use the house for the fund-raising project. Neighbors told police the building has been occupied in past months by winos and derelicts.

None hurt in refinery fire

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — Company officials say no one was injured when an crude oil unit erupted in flames at the Texaco refinery here, sending fire and smoke billowing into the air.

Texaco officials said the blaze knocked out a crude oil unit at the plant, reducing refining capacity by about 25 percent until the unit is returned to service.

Suspended officers can't appeal

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Mark White said Thursday police officers suspended for 15 days or less have no right to appeal to a city civil service commission.

White's opinion was prompted by a question from Val Verde County District Attorney Thomas Lee and involved a suspended Del Rio policeman.

Moshe Dayan to speak at SMU

Fire's fury reduced

PORT McNEILL, British Columbia (AP) — Rain and subsiding winds reduced the fury of a 4,000-acre forest fire that threatened to force 200 people from Gifford Island, forest service officials said.

Earlier reports Thursday indicated some residents were preparing to flee the island communities of Scott Cove, Echo Bay and Shoal Harbor, off northern Vancouver Island.

Experts battle huge oil slick from ship collision

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Firemen and anti-pollution experts battled a seven-mile-long oil slick to keep it from spreading or catching fire along the Turkish coast near the entrance of the Bosphorus Strait today following the explosion of a Romanian tanker.

Authorities called on residents in the old section of the city "to be on alert" in case the floating slick of 30 million gallons of oil caught fire. Flames still raged aboard the tanker and there were fears that pockets of fire throughout the vessel could cause new explosions.

Windows in hundreds of nearby buildings were shattered by the explosion aboard the tanker early Thursday and authorities closed the world-famous Topkapi Palace, Byzantine St. Sophia and the Blue Mosque as a precaution.

Rescue teams continued searching for 47 missing Romanian sailors who were feared dead after a Greek freighter rammed their vessel. Three others were known dead and authorities said only three members of the tanker's 53-man crew escaped the accident. None of the 25 persons aboard the Greek ship was injured.

The tanker, the 150,000-ton Independenta, was preparing to sail for Romania when it was hit by the 7,596-ton Greek freighter Evria, authorities said. They said an initial investigation indicated the Greek vessel, loaded with steel coils from the Soviet Union en route to Italy, hit the tanker, which was anchored off the Istanbul coast.

The prosecutor ordered the Evria's captain, Alexy Adamopoulos, detained because of "evidence indicating a faulty course."

Flames were extinguished from the Greek freighter and it was towed to Samatya, near the western outskirts of the city.

Authorities blocked off all roads leading to major landing stations on both sides of the Bosphorus, a narrow, 17½-mile long waterway that connects the Black Sea with the Sea of Marmara, which in turn joins the Aegean Sea at the Dardanelles.

Heavy-tonnage traffic through the Bosphorus passage was advised to stand by until the flames aboard the tanker were contained.

Hundreds of thousands of commuters were stranded on both sides of the passage and officials diverted buses to ferry passengers across the Bosphorus suspension bridge, which spans the Asian and European continents. The worst oil spill in history occurred in Mexico's Campeche Bay, 500 miles south of Texas. More than 100 million gallons of oil have spilled since the Ixtoc 1 test well blew out in June. That was more than double the amount from the worst previous spill, which occurred when the supertanker Amoco Cadiz wrecked off France's Brittany coast in March 1978.

improving

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — Former first lady Pat Nixon is steadily improving after her bout with bronchial pneumonia and should be ready for release from San Clemente General Hospital in four days, doctors say.

Dr. Berigoj Stambuk, who is supervising the care of the 67-year-old Mrs. Nixon, said she is receiving medication and respiration therapy. He said blood tests show her white blood count is progressing toward normal.

Julie Nixon Eisenhower visited her mother Thursday.

Korean colleges, universities to be allowed to reopen

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's martial law command announced today that colleges and universities will be allowed to reopen next week amid signs the government is easing some political restrictions. At the same time, there were reports that police picked up more dissidents.

Culture and Information Minister Kim Seong-jin announced on Thursday the first steps toward dismantling the repressive policies of assassinated President Park Chung-hee. He said the emergency decree which banned political dissent most likely will be eased or lifted.

He also said the Justice Ministry is reviewing files of all political prisoners, including former presidential candidate Kim Dae-jung, who is now under close house arrest.

However, informed sources said eight more dissidents were picked up by police on suspicion of violating the martial law decree prohibiting group activities and requiring advance approval for all indoor and outdoor gatherings. Three dissident journalists were detained earlier on suspicion of similar violations.

Seven of the 11 dissidents picked up by police had attended news conferences at the home of former president Yun Po-sun, a leading dissident who was released from close house arrest last week.

The dissidents had called for an end to martial law, freedom for political prisoners, freedom of expression and rehabilitation of intellectuals, religious members and others persecuted by Park.

The sources said the eight dissidents detained since Wednesday included Yun's secretary Cho Chong-ho, Lee Woo-chung, president of Korean Church Women United.

Bolivian colonel resigns after bloody nightmare

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Col. Alberto Natusch, who seized the presidency in a coup and plunged Bolivia into a 15-day nightmare of bloody repression and economic crisis, has resigned, a close military adviser to Natusch said.

It was not immediately known who would replace Natusch. But it appeared likely that the president of the congress, Lidia Gueiler, would emerge as interim president until elections next May.

The succession formula is to be announced late today during a meeting of congress.

Natusch overthrew President Walter Guevara Nov. 1 and named himself president. Guevara was the first nonmilitary president in a decade in Bolivia, which has had almost 200 governments in its 154 years as republic.

Guevara already has said he would relinquish his claim on the presidency if that is what it would take to get Natusch to quit.

Natusch resigned at 4 p.m. Thursday during a meeting with his high command, said a high-ranking Natusch military adviser who declined to be identified. The resignation came amid increasing demands by dissident colonels and generals that he step down.

Two hours later five high-ranking officers led by Natusch's defense minister, Gen. Oscar Lorrain, walked 50 feet from the presidential palace to the congressional palace.

There they met off and on for six hours with congressional leaders, presumably to work out details of the succession.

About midnight a spokesman for the congressional leaders, Marcos Domic, said the armed forces agreed to "any solution" that did not include Natusch or Guevara. The defense minister left immediately to return to the presidential palace.

The congress had insisted all along that Natusch resign.

During military-congressional negotiations earlier this week, most congressmen favored a plan under which Natusch would turn power over to the congress. The favored plan was that the congress would then elect the president of the congress as the interim president of Bolivia.

A proposal for a military-congressional-labor union triumvirate fell through Thursday when union leaders said flatly they would not participate.

Natusch's crumbling support within the 25,000-man army of South America's poorest country apparently was the result of widespread opposition to his regime both at home and abroad.

The United States and Venezuela cut off all assistance to Bolivia. Only Egypt and Malaysia recognized the Natusch government, making Natusch's regime one of the most internationally embarrassing dictatorships in this century.

At home, the unions, most of Bolivia's half dozen major political parties, the Roman Catholic church and university students all rejected the Natusch regime.

The Bolivian Human Rights Commission held him responsible for 201 deaths in a bloody aftermath to the coup.

The commission said another 207 persons were wounded and 211 persons disappeared when Natusch's soldiers shot up the downtown area and slum sections and made arrests.

The commission said soldiers shot unarmed civilians, including women and children.

Zimbabwe Rhodesia may see cease-fire within next week

LONDON (AP) — With the major political difficulties in the Zimbabwe Rhodesia peace talks overcome, cease-fire negotiations were due to start today between black and white commanders whose armies have been warring for seven years.

Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington on Thursday secured agreement from the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance and Bishop Abel Muzorewa's biracial administration to Britain's plan for direct rule during pre-independence elections.

The limelight in the 10-week-old talks then switched to the military commanders whose armies have fought an increasingly bloody war which has cost more than 20,000 lives.

British sources cautioned late Thursday there were still problems. But the sources said if all went well a cease-fire could be agreed to within a week and a British governor could be on his way to the territory early in December.

Lt. Gen. Peter Walls, supreme commander of Muzorewa's army, police and air force, and Josiah Tongogara, head of the larger of the Patriotic Front's two guerrilla armies, have both been in London for most of the conference. Tongogara heads Robert Mugabe's guerrilla army in Mozambique.

Walls, sources said, has had behind-the-scenes talks with British officials. But there was no confirmation that the white general and Tongogara have met yet.

Lookout Musifa, commander of Front co-leader Joshua Nkomo's forces in Zambia, has not yet arrived in London, officials said.

On Thursday, in a 15-word amendment to his original transition plan, Carrington said guerrillas, like government troops, would be under the proposed British governor's direct authority during the cease-fire.

Guerrilla chiefs said this satisfied their demands for equal status for guerrillas and government troops during the transition. They accepted the British plan, which Muzorewa endorsed two weeks ago.

Some 800 troops from the Commonwealth, the 39-nation organization of Britain and her former colonies, will monitor the cease-fire. Commonwealth observers will oversee the election among the country's 7 million blacks and 230,000 whites.

Major difficulties facing the cease-fire negotiations are the two sides' widely differing estimates of how long it will take to implement a cease-fire, whether guerrillas and government troops will each be frozen in separate camps, and whether anyone will be disarmed.

Home shelters wayward animals

Including village drunk...a mockingbird

PATRONVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Jeanne Ellis' cozy homestead has sheltered more than a dozen exotic creatures over the years, including a lion "who'd follow me anywhere" and a mockingbird known as the village drunk.

even the snakes," said the gray-haired woman. In a voice that's a cross between a bark and a growl, she speaks with affection of all wild things.

Besides, Mrs. Ellis, has faced far bigger problems — like how to cool the ardor of a love-starved possum and how to paper-train a pig.

These days, she shares her home with a ferret that has taken a shine to a warm kitchen drawer. The living room walls are covered with photos of Charles Herbert, ferret No. 1, and with blue ribbons won by the show dogs Mrs. Ellis has owned.

Along with the ferrets, and the dogs that live in her Humble Acres Kennel out back, there have been three raccoons, a lion and a pig; a duck, a deer, a crow and a mockingbird.

Many were rescued, some were delivered, and a few were purchased for nominal fees from owners whose methods Mrs. Ellis disapproved.

Congo the lion was given to her by the Mesker Zoo in Evansville. Her 18-month assignment — to tame him so he could be led on a leash — was successful. But the happy liason ended in tragedy.

Back at the zoo, Congo was unable to adjust to being behind bars, and eventually, he was put to sleep. More than a decade later, Mrs. Ellis still grieves. But she says she learned long ago that wildlife does not always end happily.

"I've been at it all my life...My animals took the place of playmates," Mrs. Ellis said, and that hasn't changed.

She still prefers the company of animals to that of people, at least "the average bunch of dolts you come across."

Outspoken, almost feisty at times, Mrs. Ellis isn't one to mince words, especially where animals are concerned.

"Tell 'em exotic animals shouldn't be kept as pets," she barked — this from a lady with a ferret draped around her neck.

"Well," she said slowly, "this is different. My ferret goes where he wants to. I put papers down for him all over my house."

"But most people wouldn't do that. Most people aren't willing to live this way."

Neither, she added, are they willing to live with mockingbirds with drinking problems, nor possums that like to "kiss, kiss, kiss all night long when you're trying to get some sleep."

But here at Humble Acres, kissing the proprietor is permitted, and a little nightcap every now and then is all right, too, so long as it's done with dignity, one of Mrs. Ellis' watchwords.

"We do terrible things to animals in the name of love," she said. "Well, I treat 'em like animals. I don't dress 'em up. I don't put nail polish on 'em and I don't think of 'em as little people."

"I don't take away their dignity."

Mrs. Thatcher identifies man in spy ring

LONDON (AP) — Sir Anthony Blunt, 72-year-old former member of British intelligence and one-time art adviser to Queen Elizabeth II, was in hiding today after being identified by Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher as the fourth man in the Soviet spy ring headed by Kim Philby.

Blunt was somewhere in the Mediterranean area, newspapers said. A porter at his apartment building said Blunt had "gone for a holiday in Italy."

Buckingham Palace announced that it was canceling the knighthood conferred on the distinguished art historian 23 years ago.

Mrs. Thatcher told the House of Commons Thursday that Blunt acknowledged in 1964 that he helped make arrangements for the defections to Moscow of spies Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean. She said his admission came after the government granted him immunity from prosecution.

Burgess and Maclean, two young foreign service officers based in the British Embassy in Washington, fled to Moscow in 1951 when their espionage was about to be uncovered. Philby, who led the spy ring, fled to Moscow in 1964.

The grant of immunity to Blunt, Mrs. Thatcher said, was in return not only for his confession but also for his subsequent cooperation with authorities. "Both at the time of his confession and subsequently, Blunt provided useful information about Russian intelligence activities," the prime minister said.

Blunt also admitted passing British secrets to the Soviets while working for British intelligence from 1940 to 1945, Mrs. Thatcher said.

Before that, he had recruited spies for the Soviets when he was a head tutor at Cambridge University in the 1930s, she said.

A British scientist working for the U.S. government has been mentioned as a possible fifth man in the Philby group. British lawmakers called for the prosecution under the Official Secrets Act of Dr. William Mann, an expert on radioactivity based in the United States.

Mann, who said he was the atomic affairs attache at the British embassy in Washington from 1949 to 1951, was quoted in British newspapers today as saying: "Nobody can touch me because I'm innocent."

The Daily Telegraph said it asked Mann if he was the nuclear scientist who helped Maclean steal atomic secrets when the diplomat was stationed at the embassy shortly after World War

II. Mann replied: "The whole thing is completely false." Maclean was not in the embassy during that time, although Philby and Burgess had their offices across the corridor from him, Mann said.

...A ONE-DAY workshop called "Women: Return, Learn and Earn" has been scheduled for 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Nov. 28 at Odessa College.

"The morning program will center around sessions for women who are considering going back to school or going to work," says Barbara McArthur, OC women's counselor and workshop coordinator. "Through the workshop, we hope to help women explore career options and help them find solutions to problems they face on returning to school or entering the job market."

"The afternoon session will be a tour of OC programs to give workshop participants ideas for careers that are open to them," McArthur explains.

The workshop will be in the counseling center, located on the second floor of the Student Union Building on the OC campus.

"Women of all ages are invited to attend, from those just out of high school to housewives, mothers, middle-aged women and senior citizens," McArthur says.

The workshop is free, with the exception of lunch which may be brought by participants or purchased in the SUB cafeteria.

Interested persons should contact McArthur at OC to register for the workshop...

Cost of admission is $3.50 for members and $4.50 for non-members.

All singles are invited to attend.

Skiers urged to prepare for season

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — A large number of ski-slope injuries could be prevented if skiers properly prepared themselves and their equipment before the beginning of the season, ski experts agree.

"You shouldn't go skiing to get in shape; the idea is to get in shape before you ski," said Jens Husted, senior member of the Professional Ski Instructors Association (PSIA) demonstration team.

Many skiers are active people the year round, Husted points out, and mistakenly think the running, swimming and bicycling they do is all that's needed to prepare for the season.

Running and other forms of cardiovascular exercise are important ways to build stamina and improve coordination and circulation, qualities needed for skiing, Husted notes. However, he adds, skiing calls for sustained and repetitive activity in the knees, thighs, hips and ankles. Certain stretching exercises can help limber up the body to meet this special kind of physical stress.

"Wall sitting is a favorite," he said, explaining that in this exercise the person puts his back to the wall and sits in an imaginary chair. "It's ideal for developing thighs, ankles and abdominal muscles. If you can hold yourself in the position for a minute, you're doing well."

Four-time cancer patient okay at 103

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Winona M. Melick is the world's most durable cancer patient. In 103 years, she's had four bouts with the disease.

Mrs. Melick, of Long Beach, Calif., says she's too busy to get agitated about illness.

The daughter of a Civil War soldier and a native of Galesburg, Ill., she lives alone in a second-floor walk-up condominium and does her own shopping, cooking and cleaning.

She's hard of hearing, but her mind is lucid and her voice is crisp. She frequently visits friends, loves to read, writes voluminous correspondence, and exercises daily.

Saturdays she has her hair styled at a beauty parlor, and she walks seven blocks to church and back on Sunday.

She bears no signs of cancer-related illness, and is visiting the Mayo Clinic this week for a routine checkup.

Her first surgery was in 1918 when the Mayo Clinic was pioneering colostomy operations. It was a procedure that replaced a segment of her cancer-infested lower intestine with an artificial device.

Dr. Charles H. Mayo performed the operation using techniques developed by his brother, Dr. William J. Mayo. Both famous physicians attended her at the hospital.

Two operations were in Long Beach. In 1933, she underwent surgery to remove cancer in her nose, and in 1966 had a radical mastectomy.

She returned to the Mayo Clinic in 1968 for her last operation when doctors removed cancerous tissue from the same intestine that had undergone surgery 50 years earlier.

Study shows rewards of family roles vary

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Marriages, like people, go through a mid-life crisis, a Brigham Young University sociologist says.

The turmoil is not due to lack of romance, but to the everyday pressures from children, jobs and money problems, he has concluded from a recent study.

"Marriage is every bit as rewarding, if not more so, in the intermediate phases than it is in the initial phases," says Dr. Spencer Condie, whose survey covered more than 150 couples in Utah.

But, he adds, it's also a potentially precarious stage of the family life cycle, when families are trying to make the transition, economically, from "toys to skis, cars and motorcycles."

"The children are reaching their teens and parents are afflicted with all the curses of the middle class such as chauffeuring their children to music lessons and ball games," Condie explains. "The father is devoting more time to his job, angling for a promotion, and the mother is investing the best years of her life in her children."

"In some cases the branching interests of husbands and wives never do converge again," he adds. "After the last child leaves home and the husband has pursued his career and the wife has had so many of her emotional investments tied up with the family, they may have very little in common."

greater reward. "In order to obtain big profits, you have to make big investments. In other words, you get out of marriage what you put into it," he pointed out.

Mother's Club has style show

A style show sponsored by St. Ann's Pre-School Mother's Club was held as a benefit this past week at the Midland Woman's Club.

Fashions for the event were provided by The Gazebo.

The group was organized for the mothers of preschool children at St. Ann's School. The club cooperates with and assists other Catholic organizations in church-wide efforts.

In the past, the club has donated money to be used for learning materials for the mentally retarded, to Sister Eva Hernandez at the Garden Lane Outreach Center in helping the poor, to Church Women United, and in making layettes to be donated to indigent mothers.

The club has raised over $300 this year for their charity projects. Part of the money has been used for baptismal bibs and candles for St. Ann's Catholic Church. The remainder of the money will be donated to a charity project which the club will select at the December meeting.

Any mother of a pre-school child who is interested in the organization can call 694-5020 for further information.

DEAR ABBY

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In listing the various peoples who came from other countries to build America, there was no mention of the blacks who came from Africa. Should they not be credited with giving America gospel music and jazz and the blues? -- BLACK AND PROUD

DEAR PROUD: Yes. But the blacks contributed much more than music. For decades they worked our fields, cleaned our homes, nursed our babies and fought our wars. Against tremendous odds, they managed to produce such outstanding Americans as George Washington Carver, Booker T. Washington, A. Philip Randolph, Jesse Owens, Marian Anderson, Jackie Robinson, Ralph Bunche, Thurgood Marshall, Andrew Young and too many more to mention here.

But it took a Civil Rights Act (1964) to grant blacks equal rights and make racial discrimination illegal.

DEAR ABBY: I am amazed that the British didn't get a special mention for their contributions to America. They gave us the very foundation for our nation!

They gave us not only George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin, but most of our founding fathers. And of course, they gave us our language.

Our law is based on British common law. Also, the British dominance in literature, combined with the English language, provided a tradition that gave us many of our own outstanding literary figures.

-- D. L. IN MICHIGAN

DEAR D. L.: You're right, of course. May heaven forgive me, and God save the king!

DEAR ABBY: When I was divorced two years ago, I gave my husband custody of our 2-year-old daughter because I felt that he was a more patient, responsible and capable parent than I. I pay a monthly support, so it's not as though I wanted an easy out from parenthood.

My problem is my grandparents who live in another state. They haven't spoken to me since my divorce because they think I'm "disgusting" for having given up my child. I've written to them, explaining my reasons for my actions. I've sent gifts at holiday time, but have been ignored. I've telephoned them, but the minute they hear my voice, they hang up on me! I've begged them to see me, but they refuse.

They see my child once or twice a month, so they're not being deprived of their great-grandchild.

Abby, it hurts terribly to be treated this way. How can I get back in their good graces? -- REJECTED IN RENO

DEAR REJECTED: You've done all you can. Quit crawling and begging. You didn't deserve to be rejected in the first place. I think it took a great deal of character and unselfishness to have given up your child for the reasons you did. I hope time will soften their hearts and harsh judgment of you. If it doesn't, they will be the biggest losers.

CONFIDENTIAL TO A READER IN POPLAR BLUFF, MO.: Hodding Carter said, "There are only two lasting bequests we can hope to give our children: One is roots; the other, wings." Let go.

The teen years are the questioning years. Abby has the answers to all your questions in her booklet, "What Teenagers Want to Know." $1 and a long, stamped Write to Abby: in care of (28 cents), self-addressed envelope. Enclose addressed envelope.

your horoscope

By JEANE DIXON

Saturday, November 17, 1979
YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Luck will play an important role in getting you desired results in year ahead. Change could occur in personal life. Your job will frustrate you but it would be ill-advised to change employment now. By the end of the year, your creative talents may be recognized in significant way and you will reap rewards. Marital happiness increases.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You react well under pressure and emerge with dignity. Romantic partner may seek reassurance. Family is involved in discussion of purchase of luxury item.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Petty annoyances seem to multiply this morning. Try to keep your poise and maintain some balance in state of things. Changes you seek will eventually come about.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Friends' disagreement with one another make it awkward for you to include both parties in weekend plan. You can be optimistic despite recent financial difficulties.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Doing own repairs, decorating can save money. Children are energetic, eager to help. Little will be gained through arguments. A kindness will be appreciated later this afternoon.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Self-improvement projects bring big rewards. Social contacts now prove more enjoyable than in recent past. Give full play to your intellectual curiosity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Entertain for a purpose or mix business with pleasure. Fine day to make changes, form new partnerships. Children apt to need firmer hand, but temper firmness with kindness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Energetic friend could do big favor. Personal finances may improve. Allow time for yourself and enhance feeling of physical well-being. Make up new budget, but remember, it only works if you stick to it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Visit to elderly person will bring great cheer. Small gift from former lover can rekindle flame. Behavior of another can be puzzling. Jealousy is probably the cause.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Some members of family tend to be a bit extravagant with money and you may have to put your foot down. Loved one does care and will sacrifice for you if you make clear what current circumstances are.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Get going early so you can enjoy every minute of what should be a happy, fun-filled Saturday. Unexpected windfall may contribute to your joy. Share glad tidings with romantic partner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Education and spiritual growth may mark your weekend. You may be at a turning point in an emotional relationship. You are now able to deal with it in a fruitful, responsible way.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Inventiveness may be important in dealing with sensitive financial situation. Family member who controls purse strings may lend sympathetic ear. Social life may move in new directions.

Preservatives not new idea

Dear Dr. Solomon: What did people do before they learned that food spoilage could be prevented by the use of preservatives? — Mrs. V.A.

Dear Mrs. A.: Although today a number of chemicals (such as sodium propionate) are available to extend the life of a variety of foods, this does not mean that preservatives are of recent origin. The use of salt, for example, to protect foods from microbial action probably pre-dates recorded history. Sugar has also been used for a very long time as a preservative in jelly and jam, and to help preserve canned and frozen fruit.

Dear Dr. Solomon: If people who have automobile accidents have to pay higher insurance rates, why shouldn't people who smoke have to pay higher medical insurance rates? Although I am a nonsmoker, I have to help pay the additional health costs that smokers usually incur. — Dot

Dear Dot: Sen. John Danforth of Missouri has suggested that the general thrust of your plan be applied to national health insurance — that is, that it be financed by a new tax on cigarettes. According to the senator, a 10-cent-per-pack tax on cigarettes would raise $2.9 billion.

Sen. Danforth says there are more than 350,000 tobacco-related deaths each year in the United States. In addition, smokers are more likely than nonsmokers to suffer such major illnesses as cancer and emphysema. The senator made his suggestion to former Health, Education and Welfare secretary Joseph Califano, who is strongly opposed to smoke and seemed receptive to the idea. It is now under consideration by the new secretary, Patricia Harris.

Dear Dr. Solomon: The nuclear accident at Three Mile Island made all sorts of headlines, and for good reason. But even when these plants are operating normally, don't they emit radiation? I'm wondering if you can tell me the extent to which this is so, and what the dangers are. — Ms. C.C.

Dear Mrs. C: You are correct that nuclear power plants emit radiation even when operating the way they are supposed to, but the amount of radiation is deemed to be so small as to be relatively insignificant. In fact, Dr. Roger Linnemann, an associate professor of clinical radiology at the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine, claims that television sets produce 100 times more radiation than the 63 nuclear power reactors now in operation in the United States.

Dr. Linnemann minimizes the possibility of radiation from these reactors causing cancer. He notes that even people living within the vicinity of a reactor are exposed to only a few millirads a year. In adults it is reported there is no evidence of a cause-and-effect relationship between radiation and cancer until you get above 20,000 millirads. He concludes that present-day exposure to radiation from properly functioning reactors is thousands of times below the levels at which people may become affected.

(If you have a medical problem, see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal responses but will answer and many questions as possible in his column.)

Mysticism 'a matter of training'

DALLAS (AP) — If your mysticism is a little out of whack, there's a guy in Dallas who says he's the only fully trained, mystical technician in the western world.

He's Gregge Tiffen, and don't give him any of the psychic stuff.

"The world of psychics is a lot of baloney," says Tiffen, who is head of the Metaphysical Intelligence Services international headquarters in Dallas.

"I don't consider my work phenomenal, just as I don't consider the Olympic medal-winning performance by a runner phenomenal or unusual," Tiffen said recently. "I'm trained as a competent technician, and I really get upset with someone saying that what I do is a special gift."

What Tiffen does is counsel people — educated people.

The sum of that counseling, Tiffen says, is to link human consciousness with several non-physical consciousnesses, thereby gaining back personal control being eroded by government and technology.

Tiffen also can do things like lifting a table through mental concentration, but he scorns such performances.

A former career military officer, Tiffen says he quit when he discovered his abilities during a seance.

He made his way to Tibet, but won't say how because he's saying it for a book. "I knew I would have to resign my commission in the Army and go to Tibet, the only repository of mystical knowledge," he said.

"I realized that I was part of some enormous universe, that there was certainly something metaphysical to our existence — something out of the ordinary."

He returned from his studies with what he called a messianic complex. "I knew so much, I wanted to change the world. For a while, I put on demonstrations, showing off my so-called psychic powers. But I got out of that because people always figured out a way not to believe what I was doing."

"So I knew personal counseling was what I wanted."

So far, Tiffen says he has given readings to 25,000 clients.

"This is the one chance to help turn people into decent, intelligent human beings running decent companies," he said.

"We do this for the benefit of mankind."

Wheels: Hubs of status in China

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

PEKING (AP) — If they are not already, Sinologists and sociologists will soon be turning out learned tomes on the importance of the wheel, the pocket and the spittoon as status symbols in Chinese life.

In the People's Republic of China, as your guides keep reminding you, everyone is equal. There is no class distinction, except that the bureaucrat or the army officer with four pockets in his Mao jacket, a chauffeur-driven Red Flag (Hung-ch'i) limousine and a flower or dragon-decaled spittoon beside his desk is more equal than the pocketless peasant on foot hawking by the side of the road or the two-pocketed People's Liberation Army private expectorating from the back of a truck.

And if this obviously eminent official goes by in a big black limousine with white curtains and red slipcovers preceded by some four-pocketed outriders in a jeep driven by a two-pocketed enlisted man, he — and rarely she — is much more equal. At the very least, the dignitary is vice chairman of something.

The wheel in China marks one's progress. A commune or a production brigade that trades in its water buffalo for a one-lung combustion plow, which looks like a stripped-down snowmobile, is letting the neighbors and party bigwigs know it has exceeded all its production quotas.

A farm hand riding atop a pony-drawn manure wagon loftily looks down on the coolie sweating in the traces of a shockingly overloaded high wheel cart that in reality is a boxcar variant of the now-banned rickshaw. The sidecar of a motorcycle outranks the buddy seat, and the commune that sends its produce to the state market by truck is almost in an economic class with an American farm conglomerate.

The acquisitive passions of the consumer society do not consume the average Chinese, if such can be found among this 900 million population, but the instinct to possess private property did not vanish at the stroke of Mao's brush pen.

A young girl, before she agrees to pledge her troth, asks the groom-to-be to promise her the "three things that go around": a watch, a bicycle and a sewing machine. Bicycle theft is the single biggest felony in the land.

Outside the foreign colony of diplomats, business representatives and the press, there are no privately owned vehicles in China. Only visitors and high-ranking communist officials in tailored Mao suits ride in automobiles and taxis. Having wheels denotes importance.

The watchman or soldier on guard at a public building almost never challenges anyone debarking from the back seat of a car, but the visitor approaching the sentry box on foot invariably is asked for his identification papers and to state his business.

The "protocol of the petrol pump," as a Danish diplomat calls this Oriental hang-up on wheeled objects, prevails in the Chinese treatment of tourists.

Ordinary tourists, like school groups and youth delegations, travel about in rattling antiquated buses. Those on the more deluxe tours popular with the affluent overseas Chinese do their sightseeing and commute to the mandatory acupuncture viewings in the comfort of a minibus or even an air-conditioned van.

VIPs, like our press group, go about the cities and out to the airports in rigidly ritualized motorcades, as stylized as the old Peking opera but playing to a much larger audience.

The head of the delegation or leader of the group rides at the head of the procession alongside the highest ranking Chinese official in one of those massive Red Flag limousines with the tasseled curtains and polished mahogany woodwork. The rest follow behind in gray or green Shanghai model four-door sedans that in some cities also serve as taxicabs. Each vehicle, beginning with the leader's limousine, has a large cardboard number at the right hand of the windshield. I never did learn why one morning I was demoted from car 7 to car 9.

Large crowds always gathered outside the Great Hall of the People, the downtown Peking Duck Restaurant, the Peking Hotel and other unavoidable tourist stops to watch our convoy and other similarly numbered motorcades pull up.

WASHINGTON TODAY

For Reagan, it's same old script

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the era of political fine tuning, but the Ronald Reagan show hasn't changed.

The Reagan campaign is the longest running program in Republican presidential politics, unless you count perennial candidate Harold E. Stassen.

The former California governor began the active phase of his 1980 bid for the White House with themes, and words, which could have been lifted intact from his 1976 campaign.

So much for the advance suggestions that the new Reagan would tone down his conservatism and shift toward the GOP center. Indeed, the center may have shifted toward him as politicians in both parties try to cope with a public mood that is down on big government and big spending.

That accounts for some of the tuning of images as the 1980 campaign begins. Liberals would rather be called progressives. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy often cites his alliances with congressional conservatives on such matters as law enforcement and airline deregulation.

Reagan's image is firmly set, and he probably couldn't change it if he wanted to. His conservative philosophy has been spelled out in hundreds of speeches and papers over the past 15 years.

Entering a new campaign for the presidency, he pointedly repeated one of the proposals that generated controversy and trouble for him in 1976, saying

White House rally fails to draw cloud of smoke

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Great American Smokeout rally outside the White House fizzled Thursday.

Only a few dozen persons gathered in Lafayette Park across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House at noontime to hear U.S. Surgeon General Julius B. Richmond call for all smokers to quit the habit for at least 24 hours.

Only a few bystanders at the American Cancer Society event threw their cigarettes into a bonfire in an oil drum. Lois Callaghan, a public relations woman for the society and a non-smoker, passed out cigarettes so non-smokers could get into the act.

In the back of the small crowd, Carl Czeke sat on a bench and defiantly chain-smoked.

"This is crazy. How about the air pollution and the pollution in the street? That causes cancer quicker than anything else," said Czeke. "The cigarette is not the cause."

Czeke, 45, has been smoking since he was 6 and normally puffs half a pack a day. A building maintenance man, he said he went to the park to see if any Iranian students were demonstrating. None was.

Richmond warned, "People who smoke are sick more often than people who do not.... Today, if you will quit smoking cigarettes, you will start on the best time of your lives."

The honorary chairman of the event was Helen Verstandig, a jeweler better known as Madame Wellington, who sells Wellington "counterfeit diamonds."

Madame Wellington, 59, who smokes four packs a day, pitched a cigarette into the bin, but not her 14-karat gold cigarette holder. "That I won't give up," she said.

"I've been meaning to stop for years," she said, adding that she would try to kick the habit permanently.

that the federal government should transfer a good many of its functions to state and local governments, along with the tax resources to finance them.

That proposal dates back to a speech he made in Chicago on Sept. 26, 1975. "Federal authority...has created more problems in welfare, education, housing, food stamps, Medicaid, community and regional development and revenue sharing, to name a few," he said in that speech. "Transfer of authority in whole or in part in all of these areas would reduce the outlay of the federal government by more than $90 billion, using the spending levels of 1976."

In the campaign that followed, then-President Gerald R. Ford pounced on that proposal to suggest that Reagan wanted to take away huge chunks of federal aid. Ford's people put together itemized lists of the subsidies that were going to presidential primary states, and said a Reagan administration would take the money away.

Reagan said that wasn't so, and insisted he wasn't advocating elimination of the programs but, rather, their transfer to levels of government closer to the people.

Nevertheless, he spent weeks explaining his proposal, and it put him on the defensive in early primary states where he narrowly lost to Ford.

As he cranked up for 1980, there it was again, although shorn of specific programs and amounts. "The federal government has taken on functions it was never intended to perform, and which it does not perform well," he said in announcing his candidacy Tuesday night. "There should be a planned, orderly transfer of such functions to states and communities, and a transfer of tax sources to pay for them."

While the platform is the same, the strategy is different in this Reagan campaign. In 1976, he was the challenger, tackling an incumbent Republican president. In 1980, Reagan is the challenged — acknowledged by his rival candidates to be leading the field.

Last time, one of Reagan's problems was to dispel the suggestion that he was too far right, too extreme a conservative, for the nomination or the presidency. When that came up, as it often did, Reagan would recite his record as a candidate and as governor of California. When Ford called him too far right, Reagan replied that the president twice had tried to recruit him for Cabinet positions.

That issue is almost certainly behind him. In its place, Reagan will have to deal with the suggestion that at 68, he's too old for the job. He will be 70 shortly after the next president is inaugurated.

He says his age is not a problem, and his managers are planning a campaign pace designed to demonstrate health and vigor.

As the acknowledged leader, Reagan also is the target for all the other Republicans who want the nomination. One of them, former CIA Director George Bush, says that if Reagan can't be beaten early in the primary season, he probably can't be beaten at all.

Defending a lead beats playing catch-up. But it means that every rival will be looking for an opening, a misstep or a misstatement. He walked into some in 1976. He can't afford many in 1980.

His strategy this time has no place for face-to-face appearances with other GOP candidates. Reagan says he's not going to debate them, and sees no point in joint appearances that create the impression of a contest.

Last time, Reagan wanted to debate Ford. The president wasn't interested.

That's the difference between being the challenger and the target.

Sixth grader Derek Saunders examines pieces of the 12,000-year-old fossil he unearthed in a creek bed near Irving. (AP Laserphoto)

Young paleontologist launches his career

IRVING (AP) — Derek Saunders says it came as no surprise when a bone he found turned out to be 12,000 years old.

It just meant the 11-year-old's career as a paleontologist was finally getting off the ground.

"I thought it was pretty old," the sixth-grader said. "Young bones are white, and it takes them a while to fossilize."

Derek, a sixth-grader at Irving's Lamar Junior High School, found the bone last year while walking his bicycle through a local park. He showed it to his fifth-grade teacher and brought it to class again this year.

His current science teacher, Ann Miesch, took the bone to a meeting with professors from East Texas State University's Earth Sciences Department. A month later, the bone came back with a note identifying the bone as that of an elephant that lived in the Pleistocene Epoch of the Ice Age.

The bone is really that of a mammoth, Derek says, because no elephants lived in that time.

Derek said he has returned to the creek bed for more digs, but so far has found only cow bones.

A self-described "rock hound," Derek says he wants to be a paleontologist when he gets out of school. He started his collection of rocks and fossils when he was 7.

"I'm always aware," he said. "I'm always looking for things like that." Derek's parents are Robert and Linda Adkins. He has two brothers — David, 12, and Aaron, 6.

Mrs. Adkins said she tried to throw away the fossil "about three times" before it was identified.

"It was in a plastic bag on the dresser and kept falling off," she said. "I can't remember when he hasn't been bringing things home. The first book he took out of the library was on dinosaurs."

But Mrs. Adkins can be rid of the pesky bone now. Derek is thinking of loaning it to the Dallas Museum of Natural History.

Connally says he favors coal to ease nation's energy crisis

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Presidential candidate John Connally told 300 cheering Republicans that he favors greater use of coal to ease the nation's fuel crisis. And the former Texas governor and

U.S. treasury secretary added that he would like to see an easing of federal environmental restrictions on coal. "I think coal has been victimized by the federal government," he said. "For the rest of this century we're going to have to burn coal from West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois."

But he also said the nation should complete construction of 92 nuclear power plants, adding that it was the cheapest and safest energy source. He said there were lives lost in the coal mines last year, but there has never been a fatal nuclear accident.

Connally was speaking Thursday at the Charleston Civic Center at a gathering called to boost his candidacy. A number of prominent Republicans did not attend, including former Gov. Arch Moore.

Accusing the Carter administration of causing the high inflation rate, budgetary deficits and national weakness, Connally said, "if appeasement was an art form this administration would be the Rembrandt of our age."

Connally called for a cut in federal spending. He said the government "is not prepared to give up one thin dime, at a time when they're asking you to sacrifice."

He said said that the nation's budget can and must be balanced.

"We need a revolution in the Congress," Connally said. The president should serve one six-year term, senators should serve single eight-year terms, and representatives should serve a maximum of four two-year terms, he said.

"And let them come home. You say come home and live under the laws and regulations you permitted."

He told the crowd he would reduce federal paperwork and cut bureaucracy by not filling federal jobs vacated by attrition.

One of his first acts, if elected president, would be to ask Congress for a bill that would eliminate taxes on savings accounts and securities. He said that would give people the incentive to save, giving banks more money to lend.

Connally was the second presidential candidate to come to Charleston this month. Sen. Edward Kennedy, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke to thousands of Democrats at the Civic Center during the party's Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.

Crane assails Carter on eve of Florida vote

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Illinois Congressman Philip Crane led off a weekend of Republican presidential politicking with a broadscale attack on Jimmy Carter's "appeasement of communism" and "the horrifying mess" of the economy.

Crane, one of seven presidential aspirants appearing before Florida's Republican presidential preference convention Saturday, told a gathering of Republican women late Thursday that President Carter "has been going under false colors."

The American people have been fooled by Carter's "old South" background, his training at the Naval Academy and his 1976 campaign rhetoric into believing he is strong on defense, careful with a dollar and concerned about the size of the federal bureaucracy, Crane said.

"But we have had the McGovern policies of unilateral disarmament," Crane said, referring to South Dakota Sen. George McGovern's unsuccessful 1976 Democratic campaign for president.

"We have the horrifying economic mess, the horrifying Department of Energy and the even more horrifying Department of Education," the congressman said.

"Americans have assumed Jimmy Carter is not as unbalanced or unstable as George McGovern and Teddy Kennedy," Crane said, and they have "failed to see him for what he really is."

Crane did not elaborate on the statement except to say that potential voters know where Sens. McGovern and Kennedy stand while Carter "violated all his campaign pledges."

The Carter administration is guilty of "appeasement of communism throughout the world," Crane said, citing what he called Soviet adventurism in Cuba, Africa "and other continents."

Also addressing the Florida Federation of Republican Women Thursday were former Texas Gov. John Connally and Ex-CIA Director George Bush.

The three are on the Saturday program preceding the presidential straw poll along with Sen. Robert Dole, Sen. Larry Pressler, former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen and the apparent GOP presidential frontrunner, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

cause of what his staff said was a prior commitment in Waterloo, Iowa.

The expected order of finish in the straw vote had Connally, Crane and Bush trailing Reagan.

Crane, a former political science teacher and a six-term member of the U.S. House, said this country's problems in Iran came about because "we are a nation in retreat."

Sniper's property to be auctioned

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Weapons and a motor home used by sniper Ira Attebery during his April 27 attack on thousands of Fiesta parade spectators will be sold at a Dec. 2 auction, according to the attorney for Attebery's estate.

Attebery killed two and wounded more than 30 others during the annual Battle of Flowers Parade.

Victim testifies at trial

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — John Hensley said he felt and heard nothing Feb. 15 when a rifle bullet tore through both eyes and ripped open the bridge of his nose.

"I just lost my vision suddenly. I thought I had received some kind of high voltage shock. I put my hand up to my face and could feel the damage," he testified earlier this year in the trial of a man later convicted for pulling the trigger in the shooting.

Hensley returns to the witness stand today in the attempted capital murder trial of Dr. Archie Herman Burkhalter, the ex-husband of Hensley's wife.

Burkhalter is accused of hiring two men to kill Hensley, who is a witness against the physician in a kidnapping case. The doctor is charged with abducting his ex-wife from her South Padre Island condominium and taking her to his Pasadena, Texas, hospital.

Assistant District Attorney Joe K. Hendley said after the trial recessed Thursday that Hensley was his last witness.

Shortage
battle starts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials, concerned with the "probability of sudden interruptions of oil supplies," are investigating ways of dealing with new shortages.

Higher gasoline taxes and reductions in environmental regulations are possible solutions to cuts in foreign oil supplies or sharp price increases, according to a study ordered by Deputy Energy Secretary John Sawhill.

A copy of the report, entitled "Oil Shortages Contingency Planning," was obtained by The Associated Press.

The events of the past year and current market trends have increased the probability of sudden interruptions of oil supplies in the coming months as well as further price increase," the report said.

"We must develop workable plans for allocating gasoline by means other than waiting in lines," said the report, which was sent to a number of federal agencies.

Alternatives listed in the report included: —Decontrolling gasoline prices "to reduce demand."

—Working out a simple gasoline rationing plan that could be implemented in a few weeks rather than months.

—Increasing taxes on gasoline and other petroleum products. No amount was mentioned.

—Changing or setting aside clean air and water regulations.

—Restarting nuclear power plants which are now shut down for various reasons.

—Speeding up production of gasoline, an alcohol fuel distilled from farm products.

Synthetic bandwagon rolls over opposition in Congress

By J.P. SMITH
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Michigan Republican Rep. Dave Stockman denounces it as "porkbarrel," Illinois Republican Sen. Charles Percy warns that its as bad as 10 Chrysler bailouts.

Notwithstanding the nasty rhetoric, the synthetic fuel bandwagon is rolling over the opposition in Congress — an improbable collection of powerful opponents.

But last week, after months of debate, the Senate passed a $20 billion synthetic fuel bill to spur development of oil and natural gas from coal, tar sands and oil shale.

AS ENVISIONED by the Senate, the synfuels plan would spur the production of 1.5 million barrels of synthetic fuel a day by 1995 — equal to about 18 percent of the nation's current oil imports.

More important, backers such as Jackson say that it will put the nation on the path toward curbing oil imports and lowering energy costs.

The bill has profited handsomely from outside events. The turmoil in Iran boiled over in time to boost the measure comfortably over the top in the Senate, while gasoline lines last spring propelled the House version to a 368-25 victory in June.

Underlying the synfuels debate is a set of deep-seated issues that cuts across the ideological and regional biases that usually shape congressional alignments.

Can the oil companies alone solve the nation's energy supply problem, or does the government have to coerce the industry?

Will the free market provide adequate incentives to develop alternatives to imported oil, or do the taxpayers have to assume the risk for development?

Industry officials said that they would make up for the lost oil — roughly 700,000 barrels a day, almost 4 percent of U.S. supply — by shipping their Iranian oil elsewhere in exchange for oil from other sources.

ATTEMPTING TO answer these questions, many members found themselves in unusual positions.

New Mexico's usually tough advocate of free booting private enterprise, Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., backed the full blown Senate bill.

Another long-time oil company partisan, Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., broke ranks. "This country has had copple are tired of hearing wait a couple of more years from a few huge international oil companies with enormous financial interests in conventional oil reserves located overseas," he said.

The arguments run on, but questions inevitably come back to this point: After six years of debate the United States still does not have one commercial-scale synfuel plant in operation.

Moreover, synfuel proponents in Congress argue, the oil companies are always saying they need a higher price. In 1972, for example, the Joint Industry-Government National Petroleum Council said that, at $7.29 a barrel the industry could produce oil from coal or shale.

Yet today oil is selling at nearly $30 a barrel and the American National Resources Co. proposal to build a massive coal gasification plant in Mercer, N.D. — approved Thursday by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission — is the only large commercial plant in sight.

JACKSON AND other synfuels boosters, such as Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., say, "Big oil apparently wants synfuels all to themselves, and in their own good time . . . big oil is just plain greedy."

There is little question of the potential. An estimated 700 billion barrels — 4 times Saudi Arabia's oil reserves — is locked in oil shale deposits in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming.

The coalition of opponents see it differently.

Iran bans
crude sales

NEW YORK (AP) — Iran has banned sales of oil to American firms, apparently thwarting oil industry plans to make up for President Carter's embargo on U.S. petroleum imports from Iran by swapping Iranian fuel for oil from other sources.

Analysts said Iran's embargo may mean tighter supplies of petroleum products and higher fuel prices this winter.

American oil companies have been getting about 1 million barrels of Iran's 4 million-barrel-a-day production. About two-thirds of the Iranian oil bought by U.S. firms has been coming to the United States, with the rest going to Japan and a few other nations.

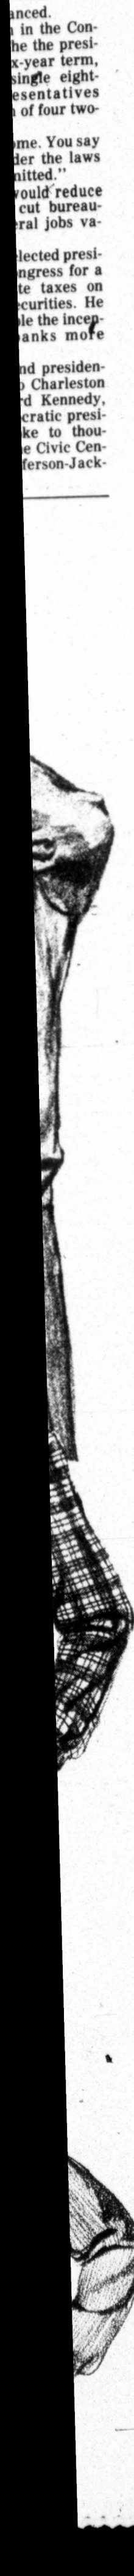

President Carter, responding to the holding of 62 American hostages in the U.S. embassy in Tehran, told oil companies Monday to stop buying Iranian oil for shipment to the United States.

Industry officials said that they would make up for the lost oil — roughly 700,000 barrels a day, almost 4 percent of U.S. supply — by shipping their Iranian oil elsewhere in exchange for oil from other sources.

Alamo YMCA registration deadline looms

Saturday is the final day to register for all classes at Alamo YMCA. Classes begin next week, and most will be offered in four-week sessions.

Progressive swim classes for five groups will be offered to allow adults and children to learn to swim, enjoy the water and improve swimming skills, Y officials said.

Classes include tadpoles for preschoolers 3, 4 and 5 years old at beginner, intermediate and advanced levels.

Pollwig classes for those 6 and up are for beginners only, while advanced beginners in that age group will be in the minnow classes.

Fish and flying fish classes will be offered for those 6 and up who are intermediate and advanced swimmers.

The Y also will offer women's beginner and advanced beginner classes.

Organizations may reserve the pool for group activities. The pool may be rented on a single day or for a series of classes or programs.

The following times are available for lap swimming: 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., 6 to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8:45 to 9:45 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Besides swim classes, the Alamo Y also will offer several gymnastic classes starting with 2- and 3-year-olds on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2:30 to 3 p.m. and 4- and 5-year-olds at the same times on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Other gymnastic classes will include 6- and 7-year olds on Mondays and Wednesdays or on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:30 to 4:15 p.m., and children 8 to 13 on Mondays and Wednesday or Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4:15 to 5:15 p.m.

An advanced class for those 8 to 13 years old who have already learned basic gymnastics will be offered Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:15 to 6:15 p.m.

Another popular class at the Alamo Y is karate taught by Curtis Abernathy on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:15 to 7:15 p.m.

The Y now has three different types of aerobic fitness classes for adults. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday, a walk-jog program is offered at 9:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Tuesdays and Thursdays feature a Fitness Fantasy Class for those who enjoy aerobic exercises to music from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m. Aerobic Dance is offered from 10 to 11 a.m. and from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

There is still room for another team or individuals for the Y's Over 30 Basketball League, according to Guy Fish, director of health and physical education for the Alamo Y.

All other classes at the Alamo Y, including Disco Dancing, Western Dance, Classical Dance, Twirling and others, will be taking registrations this week. All classes begin next week.

Spanking banker got late payments

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former banker David Rhodes says spanking customers was an effective way of getting tardy loan payments — until some of his customers threatened to tell his superiors about the paddling.

Now the former bank manager, who spanked the delinquent customers in his office with a wooden paddle, has been sentenced to a three-year prison term for misappropriating more than $88,000 in bank funds.

"I didn't want to hurt the bank, yet I couldn't stop what had started," said Rhodes, adding he was relieved when bank auditors detected the scheme. "I wanted to keep the bank's customers, to help the bank flourish, but it turned into a nightmare."

U.S. District Judge Paul A. Simmons issued the sentence on Thursday to Rhodes, former manager of a Century National Bank branch in Baden, Pa., who was arrested in August by FBI agents.

Rhodes, 38 and father of two, told Simmons the spankings started as a joke but snowballed out of control.

He said he paddled more than 50 persons who were delinquent on loan payments. "I never had any trouble with them afterwards," said Rhodes.

Rhodes estimated he averaged about 1,500 loans a year at the Beaver County bank from 1964 until his discharge in 1978.

However, Rhodes told the court he was forced to make eight unrecorded loans totaling $88,268 when six of those who were spanked threatened to report him to his superiors.

One of the six, none of whom has been charged, demanded more money or "he was going to make it out as a homosexual activity," Rhodes told Simmons.

Although he was aware the loans were illegal, Rhodes said he didn't turn himself in because he didn't think the authorities would believe his story. Bank officials said they could have made $348,000 had they been able to use the money in regular channels.

Defense attorney David Joyce said Rhodes, now manager of a cigar and candy firm, had no previous criminal record and enjoyed a spotless reputation in the community prior to his arrest.

"He was involved in a vicious cycle," said Joyce. Psychiatric tests showed that Rhodes did not have a mental problem.

Simmons said the sentence was in line with similar offenses under similar circumstances. "I'm not trying to hurt you," the judge told Rhodes. "I'm just trying to do what is fair."

Rosalynn honored

WINNIPEG, Manitoba (AP) — First Lady Rosalynn Carter received a humanitarian award for her work with the mentally ill, saying she accepted it on behalf of all persons "striving to build a more caring world."

Mrs. Carter told 3,000 persons attending a $50-a-head fund-raising dinner Thursday night she was deeply honored to receive the International Humanitarian Award of the St. Boniface Hospital Research Foundation, which in the past has gone to Dr. Christiaan Barnard, Dr. Jonas Salk and Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

The Court has authority in this suit to enter any judgment or decree dissolving the marriage and providing for any matter in the interest of the child including, but not limited to, the appointment of a conservator and orders for child support, all which will be binding on you.

ISSUED AND GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL of said Court of Midland County, Texas, this 14th day of November, 1979.

MADGE B. WALLIS, District Clerk of Midland County, Texas
By: Sally Ann Molloy, Deputy (November 16, 1979)

Rebels, Bulldogs hope to gain series edge

By BOB DILLON
Sports Writer

It may not be for the District 5-4A championship, but it's still a big game tonight for the Midland Bulldogs and Midland Lee Rebels in Memorial Stadium.

Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. and the two Tall City rivals have staged some great games in the first 18 meetings with Midland winning eight, Lee eight and two ties.

Midland started off the series in 1961 by winning the first six meetings before Lee finally scratched in 1967, winning by a 10-7 margin. Lee won the next year, 24-0, but the Pack won again in 1969, 21-0, to take a commanding 7-2 lead. Midland has only won two more since that 1969 victory and now the series is dead even.

Coach Dennie Hays' Bulldogs are the home team tonight and to have a winning season, must dispose of Coach Gil Bartosh's Rebels.

MIDLAND SENDS the No. 1 rusher in 5-4A against the Rebels in Jeff Robnett, a 175-pound senior who has rushed for 564 yards in 99 carries to hold a 129-yard lead over sophomore Leo Parrish of Abilene, who has 435 yards.

Midland takes a 5-4 record into the game while Lee stands 6-3 and is assured of another winning season under Bartosh, who was 8-2 last year in his first season at the helm of the Rebels. A Midland loss would give the Pack a .500 season with a 5-5 record after going undefeated in non-district play.

Joining Robnett in the Bulldog backfield for tonight's grand finale will be senior tailback Billy Applin, 192-pounder along with junior flanker Russell Hays and quarterback Doug McLean, a junior.

McLean replaces the injured Michael Feldt, who underwent knee surgery last week after hurting his knee in the Odessa High game two weeks ago.

While Robnett poses a threat to the Rebels, Lee has the No. 3 defense in the league and that is what they will rely upon tonight in trying to halt the Bulldogs and win their fourth straight over the Purple Pack.

LEE SENDS senior quarterback Gary Butler to guide the Rebel attack along with tailback Steve Waldron, fullback Mark Thompson and flanker Wade Cartwright. Butler is a 170-pound senior while Waldron and Thompson along with Cartwright, are also seniors weighing 172 and 190 pounds, respectively.

Midland has lost to Odessa Permian, Abilene, Abilene Cooper and Odessa in 5-4A play while Lee losses have been to Permian, Cooper and Abilene.

Express may join Glasshouse Gang

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros will own two of the strongest right arms in the major leagues if Nolan Ryan joins the Glasshouse Gang, a possibility that seems to have become a probability.

Houston, which already owns the intimidating fastball of last year's major league strikeout king, J.R. Richard, was one of 12 clubs to select Ryan in the recent free agent draft. Other serious contenders reportedly were the New York Yankees, Texas Rangers and Milwaukee Brewers.

Although no one on either side was saying much Thursday, all indications were that the 32-year-old pitcher plans to sign a four-year Astros contract for $4 million-plus.

And Ryan, who grew up on school-boy diamonds 26 miles from the Astrodome, said from his hometown of Alvin that he had chosen the team he would join. But he wouldn't say which one.

"I'll let the club make its own announcement," he said. "But I've made up my mind, you can say that."

When Ryan's agent, Dick Moss, was asked in New York if the fireballing free agent had signed with the Astros, however, he said, "I can't deny the obvious."

But Moss also said he and Ryan felt a "duty to let the club involved make its announcement the way it wants to make it, and when it wants to make it."

When Ryan declared his free-agent status, he said the nearness of the Astrodome to Alvin was an important consideration for him.

"Houston has everything in its power to sign me," he said.

The Houston Post reported Thursday that the formal contract signing would be held Monday, but Astros owner John McMullen and Manager Bill Virdon, said they knew of no such plans.

McMullen, a New York shipbuilder, said no deal had been made with Ryan, but he planned to fly to Houston Monday for an afternoon meeting with his partners on the matter.

Virdon said from his home in Springfield, Mo., that he knew nothing definite about a contract. He said Ryan would make an outstanding attraction for the Houston area.

When asked if Ryan's previous team, the California Angels, had made a serious attempt to retain the pitcher, Moss only said, "I'd rather not comment on that right now. Maybe in a couple of weeks Nolan and I will have something to say about that."

and the Devils won their next two contests.

On Nov. 1, two days before the Devils put their five-game victory streak on the line against Stanford, the Pac-10 Council met to consider the eligibility of the eight players. The Council decided that it needed more information and no decision was reached.

The Sun Devils lost to Stanford 28-21, then were defeated by UCLA 31-28 last week.

Now, the Devils have been told that their three Pac-10 victories over Oregon State (45-0), Washington (12-7) and Washington State (28-17) were all for naught.

Jacksboro to support Chuck Curtis

JACKSBORO, Texas (AP) — Folks in Jacksboro say they're behind head football coach Chuck Curtis 100 percent, despite his indictment by a federal grand jury this week on three counts of making false statements on bank loan applications.

"He's no crook," said Leigh McGee, who has published the Jacksboro Gazette-News for the past 30 years.

"We're all going to stand behind Chuck in this if we have to take hostages, like in Iran," McGee said. "He's done more for this town than anybody."

Curtis, an all-Southwest Conference quarterback at TCU in 1955, is the only man to coach state championship teams in three classifications. He won the Class AA title at Jacksboro over a decade ago and the Class AAA and AAAA titles at Garland.

He was out of coaching from 1972, when he resigned as assistant coach at SMU, until this fall, when he accepted the job of trying to rebuild football fortunes at Jacksboro, which was winless last season.

"He doesn't walk on water, but he has taken a team with a 0-10 record last year and with very little talent, and has gotten just about everything out of them that could be gotten," school board president Jerry Craft said Thursday night.

"We've seen an entire turnaround in the student body this year. In a little town, you don't have a whole lot going for you culture-wise. Everything evolves around the schools and the churches. It's hard to define, but he's got something," Craft said.

"He's making football fun for the kids. Instead of being critical, he points out things to them. There are little kids out there who feel like giants when he talks to them."

Jacksboro is 4-5 going into its final game tonight with Decatur, the strongest team in the district, Craft said, and "we're looking down the road to having some great teams over the next few years."

The grand jury for the Northern District of Texas, meeting Wednesday in Abilene, issued indictments for incidents dating back to January 1975.

The panel said he applied for loans at First State Bank of Bryson, Woodson State Bank of Woodson and First National Bank of Graham, using as collateral property and goods already pledged for loans at City National Bank of Wichita Falls.

His arraignment is scheduled for 9 a.m. Dec. 3, in Wichita Falls.

After leaving his SMU coaching job in 1972, Curtis bought the Bryson bank and a year later bought a herd of Polled Hereford cattle and leased the 4,800-acre W.R. Johnson Ranch in Jacksboro.

"What got him was the terrible drop in cattle prices about 1974. It hurt a bunch of us, wiped out a bunch of ranchers. I was one that got hurt, too, but I wasn't extended as far as he was," Craft said.

"He had thousands of head of cattle over this and several other counties. He was operating real big and making an awful lot of money and was well respected for his ranching ability. He has an excellent business mind and excellent charisma and promoted a lot of big cattle deals."

The collapse in the cattle market came about the time the grand jury says he applied for loans with collateral he already had listed for loans with the

NCAA suspends two SWC basketball players

DALLAS (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has suspended two basketball players for three games because they participated in unsanctioned summer league play.

Vernon Smith of Texas A&M played in a one-day tournament at Martin Luther King Recreation Center in South Dallas, and Pat Nunley of Baylor played two games in a league operating out of a Bedford, Texas, recreation center.

Smith and Nunley played with teams that received NCAA sanctions the previous summer. Both said local officials had assured them the events had also been sanctioned for this year.

The NCAA's eligibility committee conferred with officials of Texas A&M and Baylor via conference call Wednesday morning and informed them of the penalties Wednesday afternoon. Both schools made voluntary reports.

Smith will miss Saturday night's game with the Australian National team in College Station, Texas, and the first two games of the 30-Dec. Invitational Tournament Nov. 30-Dec. 2.

Nunley will miss Friday night's game against a touring Greece National team, a Dec. 1 game with Brigham Young and a Dec. 3 match at Texas-El Paso.

The league Nunley played in started a week earlier than its approved mid-June date.

"It was everybody's fault. I shouldn't have told Pat it was all right without checking it out positively myself, and the recreation center director shouldn't have told Pat he could play if he wasn't sure either," said Baylor Coach Jim Haller.

Wichita Falls bank. Curtis was forced to declare bankruptcy.

"I was ranching myself, right next to him, and I don't know of anything dishonest he did," Craft said.

"With as many cattle as he had, over several counties and different feedlots and all with the same brand and moving them constantly as the grass played out or wheat started or range conditions merited, I would imagine the banks had trouble keeping up with the collateral."

Craft was a director in a Jacksboro bank that lost money when Curtis declared bankruptcy.

"I'd say that's a good test for the president of the school board going ahead and hiring a man who owed us money at the bank," Craft said.

Curtis alerted the board when it hired him that he could face indictment.

"We talked with Chuck candidly about this possibility, so we didn't go into it blind. We didn't figure it would happen, to tell you the truth, because the five-year statute of limitations was going to run out this next year," Craft said.

Curtis had informed the school board this week that a grand jury hearing was coming up, "so this wasn't any surprise. But at the same time, I'm surprised, and disappointed, that they indicted him," Craft said.

Craft visited with Curtis before an out-of-town junior varsity game Thursday afternoon and said he told the coach he'd be happy to testify as a character witness.

A free agent after the 1979 season with the Minnesota Twins, pitcher Dave Goltz gets ready to try on his new uniform after signing with the Los Angeles Dodgers. He reportedly signed for six years at $2.5 million. (AP Laserphoto)

Goltz could start contract revolts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dave Goltz, the newest Los Angeles Dodger, is also now apparently the highest-paid Los Angeles Dodger. With a six-year contract reportedly worth some $500,000 a year, the free agent pitcher with a 96-79 career record will make more than such Dodger stalwarts as Steve Garvey, Davey Lopes, Ron Cey and Reggie Smith.

ALTHOUGH THAT news conceivably could start a Dodger player contract revolt, the soft-spoken Goltz said he didn't feel his salary will cause any friction on the team. "I'm from the Midwest and money doesn't mean that much to me," said the former Minnesota Twins right-hander, not explaining regional differences regarding greenbacks. "I have some personal goals, and I just want to do a good job for the Dodgers."

While someone with $500,000 a year rolling in can afford to be nonchalant about money, Goltz said at a Thursday press conference he is concerned with the possible negative aspect of his new-found riches.

"I'm going to try not to let it change my lifestyle," he said. "I don't want to go back home (Fergus Falls, Minn.)

and have people think I've changed because of the money."

THE 30-YEAR-OLD Goltz, who signed with the Dodgers on Wednesday, said he does not feel there will be added pressure on him because of his salary. He said, in fact, after this past season of being uncertain about his future, he felt a burden has been lifted.

"The pressure of free agency, wanting to stay with Minnesota and not getting an offer from them, that was on my mind a lot," he said, describing his 14-13 record of this past season as an "off year."

Goltz was the first player in the four-year history of the re-entry draft to be picked on the first round by the maximum number of 13 clubs, and that plus subsequent offers from some of the teams gave his agent, Larue Harcourt, good bargaining leverage.

"I was really surprised to be drafted by 13 teams," said Goltz. "At first, we wanted a five-year contract, but after finding out how many teams drafted me and seeing what some of them offered, we decided on six years."

GOLTZ IS the latest of a group of Minnesota players that Twins' owner Calvin Griffith has watched turn free agent and sign with other clubs. The list includes Rod Carew, Larry Hisle, Bill Campbell and the late Lyman Bostock.

"Calvin Griffith is a good businessman in that he wants the most for the least," said Goltz. "And he likes the least part best."

Goltz's signing indicates that the Dodgers, one of sports' richest franchises, have changed their thinking and will actively pursue some high-priced free agents. Los Angeles had approached the free agent draft less than enthusiastically in the past, signing just two players, reliever Terry Forster and outfielder Derrel Thomas.

But, no doubt influenced by a very disappointing 1979 season that saw them finish below .500, the Dodgers may not be through in the current free agent market — with second basemen Joe Morgan and Rennie Stennett and right-handed pitcher Bruce Kison among those attracting their attention.

Indiana named top cage team

By The Associated Press

Indiana University narrowly beat out Kentucky for the top spot in The Associated Press preseason college basketball poll, which was announced Thursday.

The Hoosiers of the Big Ten won by 12 points over Kentucky of the Southeastern Conference, 974 to 962. It was one of the closest and most balanced voting in recent years.

INDIANA DREW 14 ballots for the No. 1 spot in the nationwide voting by sports writers and broadcasters, Kentucky attracted 11 and Duke had seven and a total of 956 points.

No team in the voting topped 1,000 points, usually a prerequisite for the leading schools in the poll. And only one team — third-place Duke — was named of all 59 ballots.

Ohio State, also of the Big Ten, received as many first-place ballots as the Hoosiers, but only 936 points.

Neither defending NCAA champion Michigan State nor Indiana State, which lost to the Spartans in last season's final, were picked for a Top Twenty berth. Michigan State lost both Earvin "Magic" Johnson and Greg Kelsey while Indiana State lost Larry Bird.

NINTH-RANKED DePaul was the only team from last season's Final Four which gained a pre-season ranking. Penn, the defending East Regional champions who lost most of their starters, also were omitted.

Notre Dame attracted nine first-place votes with North Carolina, UCLA, DePaul and Purdue landing one each.

Those votes were enough to help boost the Fighting Irish into the No. 5 position with 884 points. North Carolina drew 812 points for No. 6; Louisiana State was No. 7 with 800 points; UCLA No. 8 with 631; DePaul No. 9 with 549 and Louisville No. 10 with 529.

PURDUE TOPPED the Second Ten with 472 points, just ahead of No. 12 Syracuse, which had 462.

The rest of the Top Twenty was: No. 13 Virginia, No. 14 Texas A&M, No. 15 Brigham Young, No. 16 St. John's, No. 17 Oregon State, No. 18 Marquette, No. 19 Georgetown and No. 20 Kansas.

Last season's final Top Twenty poll, taken before the NCAA final: 1, Indiana State; 2, UCLA; 3, Michigan State; 4, Notre Dame; 5, Arkansas; 6, DePaul; 7, LSU; 8, Syracuse; 9, North Carolina; 10, Marquette; 11, Duke; 12, San Francisco; 13, Louisville; 14, Penn; 15, Purdue; 16, Oklahoma; 17, St. John's; 18, Rutgers; 19, Toledo and 20, Iowa.

McEnroe's wrath on British

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — Outspoken John McEnroe dislikes British tennis fans — and he is taking out his wrath on the British players in a $175,000 Grand Prix international tournament.

The tempestuous, 20-year-old American eliminated Britain's John Lloyd in straight sets in the opening round, then trimmed Lloyd's countryman, Robin Drysdale, 6-2, 6-2 in Thursday's second round.

Despite his two impressive victories, McEnroe, who was to meet Poland's Wojtek Fibak in today's quarterfinals, has yet to overwhelm the crowds. "I don't think I've won them over and I doubt I ever will," said the hard-hitting left-hander.

McEnroe also said he has not enjoyed playing at Wimbledon and that he doesn't think Britain

Upset-minded Frogs set sights on Longhorns

By The Associated Press

It's been 11 years since the Texas Christian Horned Frogs beat the Texas Longhorns, but there is still a spoiler aura about the series between the two schools.

The Longhorns are usually favored like they are this year by 21 points.

It was such a situation years ago that prompted then Texas Coach Darrell Royal to say of the Horned Frogs: "They are just like cockroaches. What they don't eat they mess up."

Royal, now athletic director, has wished many times since that he had the one-liner because TCU people sometimes use the phrase as a rallying point.

Fast-improving TCU is at Texas Saturday and the press box will have the Sugar Bowl folks on hand. Whispers have it a deal is locked between Arkansas and Texas for the Sugar Bowl. The team that doesn't go to the Cotton Bowl is supposed to have a lock as the guest team in the Sugar Bowl opposite either Georgia or Alabama.

TCU Coach F.A. Dry has picked up the tempo, heavily praising the Longhorns as "the best team in the conference."

Dry continues "Texas has one of the best defenses in the history of the Southwest Conference...Texas has the speed, quickness, size and depth to do just about anything they want to offensively or defensively."

TCU's last victory over the 'Horns was 27-17 at Austin in 1967. The Horned Frogs also upset Texas in Memorial Stadium in 1959, 1961, and 1965.

Arkansas hopes to stay on the road to the Cotton Bowl with a victory over the Texas Aggies in always tough Kyle Field. Victories over A&M and Southern Methodist the next week puts the Hogs in high cotton.

Arkansas, Texas and Houston each have lost a game. In the event of a three-way tie, Arkansas gets the host bid in the Cotton Bowl because Houston and Texas have been recently.

Y Bowl games start Saturday

The YMCA tackle football season comes to an end this weekend with bowl games scheduled from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday at Memorial Stadium and from 5:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday.

"The Bowl games serve two main purposes," comments David Graunke, Central Y sports director. "First, they allow 484 boys who participated in the program to play against equally matched teams and show the skills they have learned. Second, they help to support our equipment purchase this year."

Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for anyone under the age of 18.

Saturday's schedule begins 10 a.m. Saturday with Alamo Rebels-Alamo Patriots, 11:30 a.m. Central Steelers vs. Alamo Broncos, fourth grade; 1 p.m. Alamo Rebels vs. Park Center Redskins, 2:30 Central Mustangs vs. Central Steelers, fifth grade; Park Center Chargers vs. Park Center Patriots, 8:30 p.m.; Alamo Vikings vs. Alamo Dolphins, sixth grade.

Monday the schedule will send Park Center Saints vs. Alamo Rebels, fourth grade, at 5:30 p.m.; Central Red Raiders vs. Alamo Dolphins, sixth grade, 8:30 p.m.

MC student to take Olympic Judo training

Blake Riggs takes his Judo Olympic ambitions to Colorado Springs, Colo., for two weeks of training at the U.S. Olympic Training Center, but as he departed today he figured his best chance was for the 1984 Olympics.

"That's what I'm shooting for, but if it happens this year, I won't turn it down," says the 20-year-old Midland College student.

Riggs, who lives in Midland and takes his judo in Odessa, figures it will be 1984 before he is really ready to make his bid.

Some 100 candidates in all weight divisions will be in Colorado Springs for the training. Blake was chosen after winning in the nationals three times and more recently taking the Razerback Olympics title in the 132-pound class.

"I've been in Judo since I was seven. I was brought up in California and there's a big Japanese population there and it's their national sport, so they are into it pretty heavy."

"In Judo there is no kicking or strikes," Riggs explains. "The idea is to throw your opponent on his back. It is the third most popular Olympics sport, coming behind track and swimming."

The Olympic trials will be held later with the first two placers representing the U.S. in each weight division while the third place finisher will serve an alternate.

Hawks, Odessa College open tourney with wins

ODESSA — The Odessa College Invitational Basketball Tournament got off to a flying start here Thursday with Howard College and Odessa College gaining opening night victories.

The Howard Hawks had a rough time of it with a narrow 98-97 victory over Ranger Junior College, but OC had little trouble with the Angelo State JVs while running and gunning to a 102-64 win.

Midland College jumps into action at 6 p.m. today when they face Ranger in the OC gym. The tournament continues at 8 p.m. when Howard takes on Angelo State. Saturday's action will see Midland College going against Angelo State at 6 p.m. and OC and Ranger at 8 p.m.

The Western Junior College Athletic Conference teams, Howard, MC and OC, will not face each other in this tournament.

Seminoles want bowl invitation

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The sign above the bulletin board in Florida State's dressing room pictures three things: an orange, a bowl of sugar and some cotton.

Make no mistake about the significance — FSU's football coaches and players want a bid to one of the major bowls, either the Orange, Sugar or Cotton. And they feel that since they have a 9-0 record and a No. 5 national ranking, they deserve to go.

"Absolutely, we belong in one," says FSU's All-American prospect, nose guard Ron Simmons. "We're undefeated and ranked fifth. What else can we do to get a major bowl bid?"

Listed on the sign next to the three New Year's Day bowls is a group of "others", which includes other NCAA-sanctioned bowl games not played under the prestigious national glare on New Year's Day.

One of those is Jacksonville's Gator Bowl, the almost-major bowl which is generally regarded as fifth in prestige. It's the same bowl that some say left FSU standing at the altar in 1977 even though the Seminoles had a 7-2 record at the time of the bowl picks and wound up going to the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando.

And the Gator Bowl was included among all the bowls that passed an 8-3 FSU team in 1978.

Is there any animosity in the FSU camp towards the in-state bowl?

"Absolutely not," says FSU Coach Bobby Bowden. "Bowls are a business and that's the way they've always operated. There's no sympathy involved in the selection."

Two Penn State tackles seek Lombardi Award

HOUSTON (AP) — Two defensive tackles from Penn State are among the nominees for the 1980 Lombardi Award honoring the nation's outstanding collegiate football lineman.

The nomination of Bruce Clark, the 1979 Lombardi winner as a junior, Matt Millen and 10 other players by 100 coaches, sportswriters and sportscasters was announced Thursday.

Four finalists will be chosen to attend the 10th awards dinner Jan. 17, when the winner will be announced.

IRS thinks Yaz owes $188,853

BOSTON (AP) — Red Sox slugger Carl Yastrzemski has hit into some trouble with the Internal Revenue Service, which says the first baseman owes $188,853 in taxes and penalties, the Boston Globe reported today.

Citing documents on file with the U.S. Tax Court in Washington, D.C., The Globe said the Red Sox team captain received a notice on July 3 contending that he owes taxes on deferred payments on income for 1974 through 1976.

The IRS also argues that Yastrzemski owes penalties for filing late in 1975 and 1976. The petition claims he owes more than $57,000 per year for those three years and penalties of $2,638 in 1975 and $14,415 for 1976.

Yastrzemski, who reached career records of 400 home runs and 3,000 hits during the 1979 season, has filed an appeal, contending that the amounts in question did not constitute taxable income.

The ballplayer's petition, filed by Boston attorney Steve Hurwitz, said Yastrzemski was shocked the IRS would find him deficient after 3½ years and complained that tax officials treated him in an "extremely vexatious manner" over the past five years.

The demand for back taxes centers on a trust fund opened in the First National Bank of Boston by Yastrzemski and the Red Sox in 1974. According to court records, $115,000 a year of Yastrzemski's money went into the trust during the next three years.

Under the trust agreement, Yastrzemski would start to receive $20,000 annually upon retirement.

All-Stars beginning to thin out

TOKYO (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies' hitting star Pete Rose has become the second member of an American All-Star baseball group to drop out of its Japan tour, Kyodo news service said Friday.

Kyodo quoted Rose as saying he suffered a leg injury going after a pop fly "and it's been getting worse."

Rose's reported departure from the barnstorming tour comes four days after the California Angels' Rod Carew dropped out of the American League All-Star contingent. Robert Fishel, a spokesman for the AL, said Carew injured a tendon in his right leg before making the trip.

An incensed Rod Carew, however, said Thursday that he quit the Japanese tour of Japan mostly because he felt major league officials had reneged on endorsement and appearance commitments and he felt he was "being used."

Carew, who has returned to the United States, said the heel injury was just part of his decision to return home.

The All-Star teams were due back in Tokyo today after a two-day visit to Kyoto, Japan's old capital. They have three more games, two against each other and one against a Japanese all-star team, remaining on their schedule.

Badgers picked over Devils

They gonna have 'em one heckuva dog fight tonight in McCamey. Yes-siree.

Whether this year's Rankin-McCamey game meant anything — and you can bet it does — or not, you could safely assume it'd be one of the area's best games.

It just always seems to happen when these neighboring towns meet on the gridiron.

RIGHT NOW, McCamey's sitting pretty at 3-0, needing a victory over the Red Devils to earn a post-season trip to the bi-district playoffs. Rankin's 2-1 following last week's 3-0 upset loss to Marfa and must win to gain a three-way tie for the District 6-A crown.

No doubt, it's going to be a fine football game and I'll take McCamey to put the finishing touches on an undefeated district season with a very tough 20-13 conquest of the Red Devils.

The other 6-A clash pits Iraan and Clint, and if this one doesn't put you to sleep, I don't know what will. Iraan to lead a 7-3 decision.

Jumping to District 2-AAA, there's one key encounter and one yawner. Obviously, the important game has Monahans at Ector. The winner goes to the playoffs while the loser gets to stay home and wonder what might have been.

I'VE PICKED against Ector all season — and won nary a one of 'em.

This time, however, I've got to like the Eagles. They've got a fine defense to complement their patchwork offense, simply too much for Monahans to handle. Ector over Monahans by 23-14.

Now, on to the Andrews-Fort Stockton game. Andrews to punish Stockton 14-7 and make up for last season's season-ending defeat.

Both District 7-AA games set for tonight could have title implications. Crane goes to Kermit in the one battle and Ozona invades Sonora in the other.

Kermit must defeat Crane if the Yellowjackets want their third straight loop title. But, if Crane defeats Kermit, two things could happen.

If Ozona happens to defeat Sonora, Crane would go to the playoffs while if Sonora defeats Ozona, there'd be a three-way stalemate.

ALL THIS is moot, however, because for one, I don't think Crane will defeat Kermit. The Cranes haven't impressed many this year and there's no reason to start now. Plus, if the Cranes have to count on Ozona to win a game, well, let's just say it's a very long shot at best.

Kermit over Crane by 16-6 while Sonora belts Ozona 30-6, making things quite easy all the way around.

A full slate of games adorns the District 9-A docket. Junction to defeat Menard 35-3 and take the loop crown outright. Reagan County to finish on a bright note with a hard-earned 15-12 nod over Eldorado while Mason blasts hapless Wall 40-12.

IN DISTRICT 3-AAA, titlist San Angelo Lake View wants a full head of steam for bi-district action and if they don't get it against Lamesa, the Chiefs don't belong in the playoffs. Lake View over the struggling Golden Tornadoes by 45-10. Also in 3-AAA, Brownfield and Snyder tangle — if that's the right word. Snyder to finally play halfway near their capability and dispatch the Cubs by 20-7.

Seagraves has already notched their seventh consecutive District 5-A championship. They'll go through the motions to top Ropes by 55-0 and complete the regular season unbeaten — and virtually unscored upon.

Stanton to cap the campaign with a victory, 47-7 over Forsan while Shallowater will crush Anton 44-9 and Plains will kill O'Donnell 37-7.

Fred Akers denies LSU move

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A magazine report that Fred Akers is interested in the head coaching job at Louisiana State University has drawn a denial from the University of Texas mentor.

In denying the report, Akers restated that three years ago when he was at the University of Wyoming he said the only two jobs that interested him were Arkansas and Texas and "I'm where I want to be."

Texas Monthly magazine, in its December publication scheduled for release Monday, carried the report in its "State Secrets" column on the back page.

The magazine said Akers — disturbed over criticism of the offensive performance by his sixth-ranked Longhorns — has "let it be known that he might be interested in" taking over the LSU helm when Charlie McClendon steps down after this season.

The magazine also said there has been friction recently between Akers and Athletic Director Darrell Royal and that Akers felt recruiting might be easier at LSU than in the competitive Southwest Conference.

"I'm only interested in the University of Texas and doing the best we can this season and trying to make it to the Cotton Bowl," Akers told Austin television station KTBC Thursday night.

Bowls watch Georgia results

By The Associated Press

A lot of people connected with college football's bowl games will have Georgia on their minds Saturday.

The unranked Bulldogs, with an untidy 5-4 overall record — but a tidy 5-0 in the Southeastern Conference — can clinch a berth in the Sugar Bowl by defeating 15th-ranked Auburn.

If Georgia wins, and top-ranked Alabama beats Auburn Dec. 1, the Bulldogs and Crimson Tide would finish in a tie for the SEC title with 6-0 records. But Georgia would get the coveted Sugar Bowl spot because Alabama went last season as the league representative.

However, if Auburn beats Georgia, then the Sugar Bowl would have to wait for the Alabama-Auburn result. If Alabama wins or ties that game, then the Tide would go to New Orleans for the New Year's Day bowl game.

But if Auburn — which is on NCAA probation and ineligible for bowl participation — also beats Alabama, then Georgia would back into the Sugar Bowl, and the Crimson Tide might get shut out of a bowl altogether because by that late date, all the major pairings would be completed.

Alabama, sporting the nation's longest winning streak (18 games) and winners of 47 in a row at home, faces non-conference opponent Miami of Florida Saturday at Tuscaloosa.

"It is the opportunity of a lifetime," Miami Coach Howard Schnellenberger said about playing the nation's No. 1 team and trying to beat Bear Bryant, his former coach in college and the man he once served under as an assistant.

Bryant said he was wary of the Hurricanes despite their 4-4 record, including a 26-10 upset over Penn State two weeks ago.

"Any time you win at Penn State, and they won going away, you have done something," Bryant said. Saturday at 6 p.m. is the time when bowl invitations can be extended officially, and many of the choice spots will be filled then.

One bowl not worried about its matchup is the Rose. No. 4 Southern California, idle Saturday, will be the host team for the 10th time in the past 14 years if it beats UCLA next week. The other Rose Bowl participant will be either second-ranked Ohio State or No. 13 Michigan. The two Big Ten powerhouses meet Saturday at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Both coaches, Earle Bruce of Ohio State and Bo Schembechler of Michigan, agree that the game will hinge on defense.

"The defenses will be strong on both teams," said Schembechler. "It's been three years since we've beaten Michigan," noted Bruce, in his first year as Ohio State coach after succeeding the controversial Woody Hayes, "three years since we scored a touchdown on them."

The other games involving Top Ten teams Saturday include Iowa State at No. 3 Nebraska, Memphis State at No. 5 Florida State, Texas Christian at No. 6 Texas, No. 7 Oklahoma at Missouri, No. 8 Arkansas at Texas A&M, and Utah at No. 10 Brigham Young. No. 9 Houston is idle.

In the Second Ten, it will No. 11 Pitt at Army, No. 12 Purdue at Indiana, No. 14 Clemson at Notre Dame, Washington State at No. 16 Washington, No. 17 Wake Forest at South Carolina, No. 18 Temple at Penn State, No. 19 Tennessee at Mississippi and Rice at No. 20 Baylor.

Lee draws nod over Bulldogs

The 1979 regular football season comes to an end tonight with the four traditional games being played in District 5-4A.

Looking back at last week, this corner picked 46 correct and eight incorrect for a percentage of 85.2 and on the year it stands 389 right and 74 wrong for a percentage of .833 or 83.3.

Abilene Cooper gets ready for the state playoffs for the first time since 1971 in facing the Abilene Eagles. Cooper squares off with Lewisville in Texas Stadium next Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Class AAAA bi-district playoff game. Last year, Odessa Permian beat Lewisville, 17-7, in the opening round.

Anyway, back to tonight's games as basketball gets underway tomorrow night with the Lee Rebels in Lubbock to face Monterey and Midland at Del Rio.

This week's picks:

MIDLAND AND LEE face each other for the 19th time tonight with the Bulldogs being the home team. Last year Lee won, 21-8, and the series stands 8-8-2. Lee has had some key injuries this season and of course, Midland lost the services of quarterback Michael Feldt. The Rebels should win this year's Tall City shootout by the score of 21-7.

ABILENE COOPER has Abilene's number and the Cougars will win their 14th straight over the Warbirds in P.E. Shottwell Stadium in a tuneup for a run at the state championship. Abilene could make it interesting, but the Cougs have too much depth and talent. Cooper to win, 28-7.

ODESSA HIGH, like Abilene, has trouble with Permian. The last time the Bronchos beat Mojo was in 1964 when they last won the district championship. Panther tailback Ricky Reynolds is finally well after numerous injuries and the all-dtater showed just how good he is when he is well with five touchdowns last week. No telling what his stats would be if he could have played on offense against Big Spring, Cooper and Lee. Mojo to post a 21-7 victory tonight in W.T. Barrett Stadium.

BIG SPRING and San Angelo Central square off in the Loser's Bowl and I am afraid that the Steers will still lose yet another 5-4A game. The only win this year for Steers was over weak Hobbs, N.M. Going with Jimmie Keeling's Bobcats to take a 20-6 victory tonight.

Pan Am posts victory

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Kenneth Green scored 22 points and grabbed 23 rebounds Thursday night as Pan American University opened its basketball season with a 117-85 victory over Simon Fraser.

Jay Triano hit 29 points for the visiting team from British Columbia, Canada.

All five Pan American starters hit in double figures. Billy Bailey had 25, while Curtis Glasper and Tim McGrath each had 17.

Pan American led 58-34 at the half.

Lee junior varsity quarterback Bart Ryan (11) escapes grasp of Midland High's George Jarne (77) Thursday night at Memorial Stadium. Lee tailback Joe Marro (20) gets off front to aid Ryan's run with some blocking. Lee won the contest, 7-6.

Lee' Brigade slips past Bullpups, 7-6

By BOHILLON
Sports Writer

It was a whet tougher the second time around.

The Midland Stonewall Brigade came from behind before a good crowd Thursday night in Memorial Stadium to defeat the Midland High Bullpups, 7-6, in the season junior varsity football finale.

BACK IN September, the Brigade ran roughshod over the Pups, 35-6, but it was a lot harder the second time around for coaches Ernie Johnson, Tim Whalen and Lemmon Boyd.

The victory, pulled out in the final period, gives Lee its best won-lost record in years with a final 8-2 reading while the loss drops the Bullpups to a final record of 5-5.

Midland and Lee battled through two scoreless quarters and went to their respective drawing boards at halftime to try and generate some more offense. Meanwhile, at intermission, the Midland and Midland Lee Freshman bands put on quite a show.

THE BULLPUPS drew first blood midway in the third period when a halfback pass from Alfonso Ochoa to Jay Motter clicked for 36 yards all the way down to the Brigade two. Quarterback Bobby Gotovac capped the short drive by going two yards for the score, but Joe Goebel's kick for the extra point sailed low, making it 6-0 in favor of MHS with 6:36 left in the period.

Calvin (Thunder) Riggs broke on a 30-yard run to key the Lee drive in the final period that finally netted the go-ahead and winning touchdown. It looked like Midland had turned the Brigade away when quarterback Bart Ryan fumbled near the goal line, but teammate Felix Hall fell on the ball at the Bullpup two and, four plays later, Ryan went off right tackle for the score after being halted short on three other attempts on a quarterback sneak over the middle. The difference in the game came on the toe of Van Gravitt who booted the point through for a 7-6 lead with 5:02 left in the game.

MIDLAND CAME right back to move the ball towards the Lee goal with Ochoa ripping off a 19-yard run to the Brigade 43. Gotovac then hit tight end Jim Gunnels with an 18-yard pass to the 25, but this is where the rugged Lee defense halted the Pups behind the great play of Gravitt, David Herbig, David Rivas and Kevin Bradshaw.

Rivas made the hit of the game when he popped Terry Zachery after Zachery took a swing pass from Gotovac and the Brigade took over on its own 18 to run out the clock.

Linebacker Greg Spencer stood out on defense for the Bullpups along with Danny Rider, Goebel, Craig Bostwick and Brandt Moffitt.

The game sets the stage for tonight's big varsity shootout between the Rebels and Bulldogs at 8 p.m. as the 1979 football season comes to an end.

Score by period:
Midland Lee JV
Midland High JV
MIDLAND—Bobby Gotovac, two-yard run. (Kick failed).
LEE—Bart Ryan, 1-yard run. (Van Gravitt kick).

Ranger JC gears powerful offense for Rodeo Bowl

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A tenacious, 100 defense, rated the best in the nation.

A howlingly fast offense, tops in the nation.

Put them together and you have the 1979 junior Rodeo Bowl Sunday at Aransas City, where stingy Coffeyville takes on offense-minded R.R., Texas.

"They run come out and try to ram the bright down our throats. They've been scoring 30 and 40 points a game. We're going to stop them from scoring and try to get a break or two on a couple."

That's how Coffeyville Coach Dick

Foster, in his fourth bowl game at Coffeyville in five years, looks at the match between his 7-2 Ravens and Ranger's 10-0 independent champs from Texas.

While ninth-ranked Coffeyville battles Ranger, Cowley County travels to the Coca Cola Bowl against Ellsworth, Iowa, which was tied with Ranger for No. 1 in the final junior college football poll of the season.

Coffeyville, co-Jayhawk Juco Conference champs, has lived by defense all season. The Ravens, holding opponents to six points a game most of the year and earning its bowl berth with a 7-6 triumph over Cowley County.

The Precision Haircut Explained Precisely.

Because your head is unique, the way your hair grows is equally unique. Really quite different from every one else's.

Precision haircutting is a technique for cutting the hair in harmony with the way it grows. Your hair eventually grows out but it doesn't lose its shape with a precision haircut. Consequently your haircut will look as good after five days as it does after five minutes. And because the hair falls naturally into place you won't have to keep fussing with it. Usually a shake of the head does it.

At Command Performance we shampoo, precision-cut and blow dry your hair for fourteen dollars, whether you're a gal or a guy. And no appointments are ever necessary.

We also offer permanent waves, coloring, frosting and conditioning. But we really shine with precision. And so will you.

Transportation of nuclear wastes can be done safely

By Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Nuclear material can be transported safely to disposal sites across the country, a spokesman for a New Mexico research firm contends.

Speaking at the National Conference of State Legislatures held here, Robert Jefferson, manager of the Transportation Technology center, Sandia Laboratories, said packaging can be designed to safely transport nuclear material.

Jefferson said the accident record for transporting nuclear material is four times better than for the transportation of other hazardous materials.

Jefferson showed legislators a film demonstrating that a container his company is testing can withstand impacts at more than 80 miles an hour without substantial damage.

"In 30 years of moving radioactive material there have been no deaths or disabling injuries," Jefferson said.

The majority of the nuclear material being transported involve smoke detectors, watch dials and other commercial products and radio-pharmaceutical and medical products, Jefferson said.

Lee D. Santmann, director of Materials Transportation Bureau of the Department of Transportation, said existing DOT and Nuclear Regulatory Commission standards for transporting high and low level materials are sufficient.

"The existing standards, if adhered to, provide a high level of protection," Santmann said.

Don Hopkins of the Transportation Product Standards Branch of the NRC's Office of Standards Development said inadequate inspection, not packaging, were at fault in the only two transportation accidents in the United States.

"The record of safety for nuclear materials exceeds any other hazardous materials," Hopkins said.

He also said control over package design is very effective in providing safety, but that there is never enough inspection.

Dale Smith, chief of the NRC's Low Level Waste Branch, said there currently are no high level nuclear wastes being generated commercially in the United States.

Jefferson said nuclear wastes only account for about seven percent of the nuclear materials transported, but Smith said the disposal of those wastes has become a serious problem.

There used to be six disposal sites for radioactive wastes, but now only one, in Barnwell, S.C., is in operation, and that site will cut the amount of nuclear waste received over the next two years in half, Jefferson said.

Other sites in Nevada, Wasing, Kentucky, Illinois and New York have been shown because of operational problems or are tied capacity.

The Barnwell site has refused to accept wastes from Three Mile Island and isrefing to accept some wastes generated by radi facilities or pharmaceutical companies Smith si.

Low level nuclear waste disposal a problem the states, not the federal government, ould be called on to solve, Smith said.

"We need more sites reaseay distributed around the country," he said, ad that some 2,000 to 3,000 truckloads of waste a Three Mile Island may have to be moved 2,700 miles for disposal.

"The states, having derived the benefits (from the products of power plants) should responsibility (for disposal of the wastes)," Smith ad.

Ed Bailey, administrator of the Department of Health's Radiological Control Program, said 98 percent of the nuclear waste from ur-state area are being stored in Texas by th companies.

"For the present we are not get limit receipt of nuclear wastes at these sites," hli said, adding that decision was based on threat closing of disposal sites in Washington andevia.

Robert Bishop, corporate secy br Northern Utilities agreed with Smith thacta has to be taken on the matter of disposing heserastes.

"We don't have the luxury to rest its someone else's problem," Bishop said.

He did it for 'principles'

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — Melvin Dewberry, owner of an auto repair shop, says he got mad when he heard Iranians had used an American flag to carry garbage out of the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

Dewberry vented his anger by using a sledgehammer to smash a car formerly owned by an Iranian.

"I did it for principles I believe in," said Dewberry, 39. "I had a son who died in Vietnam. I did it for him."

Dewberry said he did $150 in work on the car when it was brought to him in May and later learned the Iranian had left the area without paying. He said he then filed for and obtained title to the car.

"It's mine now and this is what I decided to do with it," said Dewberry, swinging the sledgehammer.

Walkout won't affect Midland

A walkout by some workers of Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. in parts of Texas and Louisiana Wednesday will not affect service by the railroad's Midland-Odessa office, a spokesman said Thursday.

Tobe Paylor, chief clerk of Missouri Pacific's office in Odessa, said, "To my knowledge we're not affected out here."

Some conductors, switchmen and brakemen for the railroad walked off their jobs Wednesday. A U.S. District Court judge signed a temporary restraining order halting the strike, however, and set a Nov. 27 hearing on an injunction against it.

Irish, the polar bear, given eviction notice

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — After 13 years in captivity for the advancement of science, Irish the polar bear has been given an eviction notice.

He can't return to the wild, and it looks as if finding more civilized lodging will be difficult.

Irish's home has been the Naval Arctic Research Laboratory on the coast of the Arctic Ocean since he and a sister were brought here as orphaned 8-month-old cubs by Eskimo hunters. The sister has since died.

The federal government is phasing out the 32-year-old arctic facility here on Alaska's north shore, well above the Arctic Circle.

No problems are expected in finding zoo homes for most of the other 100 arctic animals kept at the laboratory. But Irish, on the downhill side of life and luckless with the ladies, is a different story.

"Irish is 13 1/2 years old, and he's not been with a female with the exception of three tries, and they took unkindly to him, so he covered in a corner and whined," says Dr. Gary Laursen, assistant science director of the lab.

"So, he can't be classified as a breeding male. And zoos, because of their financial situation, like to maintain breeding stock," Laursen said. "He's got two heavy strikes against him."

Scientists have been fiddling with Irish all these years, using him as a model for designing tracking and temperature transmitters now used to monitor his wild colleagues and grizzly bears. His diet has been purposefully varied and his blood and tissue scrutinized for understanding the biology of arctic mammals — and even arctic humans.

"Irish has lived a very useful research life," says Laursen. "He's extremely healthy and would no doubt live for some time" — up to 15 years more.

Irish's size — 995 pounds — is another logistical strike against him, says Laursen. "We'd probably have to fly him out in a special cage in a C-130. It would cost something, for sure, but it's not a feat that couldn't be handled."

Indian tribes protest 'lack of policy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of 15 Sioux and Nebraska tribes protested what they said was a lack of policy by the Carter administration to deal with Indian needs.

Clarence Sky, executive director of the United Sioux Tribes in South Dakota, said, "We're saying, 'President Carter, where's your national Indian policy?'"

The Indian leaders planned to meet with White House officials Thursday to state their grievances.

Sky said the leaders were concerned primarily with water rights along the Missouri River. The Indians contend they should be granted rights to the water near their reservations and should be provided federal aid to develop the resources.

Michael Jandreau, another Sioux leader, said, "We are isolated. We are poor. We lack the money to develop the projects that would give us the claim to the water."

He said adequate federal aid "could run into billions of dollars." Jandreau said the Indians also are seeking the right to pick their own representative on the Missouri River Basin Commission, rather than having that selection made by the Interior Department.

The Sioux leaders, who said they represent about 60,000 Indians in the three states, told a news conference they also are seeking more financial aid for education.

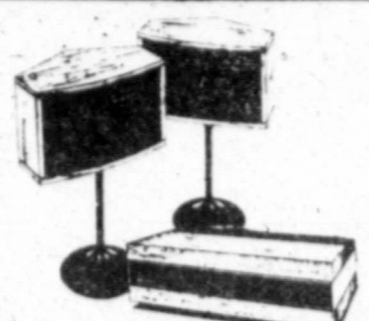

Lionel Bordeaux, one of the leaders, said the administration's new Department of Education will give "very low priority" to Indians.

"Knowledge is power and the bureaucracy is afraid to give Indians rein to develop" their own educational institutions, he said. Bordeaux added that pending legislation providing $5 million for tuition aid for Indians was "peanuts" and that the sum should be at least $15 million per year.

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - Enthusiasm over President Carter's get-tough policy on Iran pushed stock prices higher Thursday, but the rally was dissipated somewhat late in the session by anticipation of the latest money supply figures, which showed a large bulge in the nation's supply of cash.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up more than 8 points midway in the session, settled back near the close and finished with a 4.78-point increase to 821.33. The New York Stock Exchange's common-stock index finished with a 42 rise to 59.27.

Twice as many issues rose as fell on the NYSE, though, and Big Board volume was 32.38 million shares, up from 30.97 million Wednesday.

Issues rose were mixed. Charter Co. dropped 1 to 32. Exxon rose 1/8 to 58 1/2. Amstar rose 1/8 to 34 1/2. Tetra Tech rose 1/8 to 17 1/2. Tropicana rose 1/8 to 21 1/2. United Therapeutics rose 1/8 to 17 1/2. Tropicana rose 1/8 to 21 1/2.

Citibank hikes prime rate again

NEW YORK (AP) - Citibank, the nation's second-largest bank, raised its prime lending rate today from 15 1/2 percent to a record 15 3/4 percent.

Citibank said its formula for determining the prime called for a 16 percent rate, but that it had decided on the smaller increase.

The prime rate has been rising rapidly in recent months, the result of credit-tightening steps being taken by the Federal Reserve in an attempt to stem inflation.

Some analysts have been predicting that interest rates would peak soon, and Rep. Henry Reuss, chairman of the House Banking Committee, has lately been critical of banks for their prime rate increases.

Only Thursday, the Wisconsin Democrat said that interest rates for two primary sources of the banks' lendable funds have declined, and he urged financial institutions to pass those savings on to borrowers.

The prime rate was 11 1/2 percent in early August, but has risen rapidly since then, particularly since the Federal Reserve sharply tightened credit on Oct. 6, when the prime stood at 13 1/2 percent.

Until this year, the record for the prime rate was 12 percent, set during the 1974 recession.

Unfunded pension liabilities no worry to company heads

NEW YORK (AP) - Those billions of dollars of unfunded liabilities of private pension funds, about which so much concern has been expressed in the media, don't seem to worry many of the companies that run them.

In a survey of very large industrial and service companies, 74 percent of respondents said the furor had caused them to re-examine their own company's plans, but 92 percent said they saw no problem.

About plans in general, including those of other companies, however, the corporate executives were far less certain, with only 49 percent of those participating in the survey saying the issue was exaggerated.

The responses were to a questionnaire mailed to chief executives of the 2,500 largest industrial and service companies by William M. Mercer Inc., the world's largest employee benefits advisory firm.

George Faunce, a Mercer officer, explained that with 8 percent of the private sector's payrolls invested in pension funds the executives seem to believe the wherewithal exists to meet current retiree obligations.

Well-run funds, he said, follow actuarial principles, maintaining a fund sufficient for paying claims as they arise. Unless a company fails, the fund is constantly replenished by regular contributions.

A possible problem for the future, if not for now, was indicated by the 426 responses - an above average return, according to Mercer - dealing with the issue of early versus late retirement.

Nearly three-quarters of the responses disapproved of raising or eliminating the mandatory retirement age, now 70 years, to allow greater numbers of older people to remain in the workforce. In fact, some said they favored and would encourage even earlier retirement.

"There is a paradox here," Faunce conceded, with many actuaries and economists fearing the Social Security system will run into serious financial problems if workers continue to retire at age 65 or earlier.

Faunce and other Mercer officers, including Haeworth Robinson, former Social Security chief actuary, share the fear. With early retirement, and with longevity increasing, retirement sometimes exceeds 30 years.

"Right now three workers support each Social Security pensioner, but that ratio will become two workers for each pensioner at the turn of the century. It will put a severe burden on the system," Faunce said.
