Most Midlanders support Carter's Iran position

By SUSAN TOTH

Most Midlanders think President Carter is doing best he can in a difficult situation, but some wish he had taken a stronger stand in his televised news conference Wednesday night on the Iranian crisis.

That was the consensus from a random survey of Midlanders early

Expressions of support ranged from total solidarity with the president's policies to a "wait and see" attitude.

Calvin Neatherlin summed up most of the feelings with his comment that "I think he's doing the right thing and the best thing under the circum-

But he wished the president had taken a stronger stand and set a time limit for release of the 49 American hostages from the U.S. embassy in

"Those are our fellow Americans over there captive," Neatherlin noted. "I think we ought to quit pussyfooting around and get the job done.'

While echoing a call for a stronger stand, Sherry Barry noted she had

"mixed emotions" after the president's press conference Wednesday night. 'But I think he's doing the right thing," she added.

Shirley Miles was swayed to the president's camp after hearing his remarks Wednesday.

"I'm behind him all the way," she said, adding that before the speech, "I wasn't a Carter fan.

"I think he's handled the situation very well. I think he's doing everything in his power to prevent a war and moving very cautiously.' Mrs. Harry Herring agreed with that assessment.

"I liked it," she said of the speech Wednesday. "I really think he's doing all right.' Not everyone was so supportive, however.

"I watched it, and I'm sorry I bothered," Mrs. Monte Mann noted. "He didn't say anything he hadn't said before.

"I understand he's in a difficult position with the hostages," she said. "I'm going to wait and see."

While she admitted to "mixed emotions" on the president's performance, Kay Steward noted "He's in a serious predicament and he really doesn't know what to do.'

But, she added, "I think he really is sincere about doing something."

Elsewhere in the United States, reactions were varied. Here is a sampling compiled by the Associated Press:

"I feel like Jimmy's trying to do everything possible short of using strong-arm tactics of other countries that are not so civilized might use,' said Henry Barfield, 36, of Plains, Ga., Carter's hometown Diane Moore, daughter of one of the U.S. Embassy employees being held hostage in Tehran, said, "We just agree with everything he (Carter) says. We support him completely.'

But the Mount Vernon, Ohio, high school student said Carter's comments did not provide any reassurance to the family that her father, Bert Moore, 44, and the other 48 hostages would be returned home safely. Glenn Eder, 31, a roofer and Vietnam veteran who lives in Eagle Rock, Calif., said "I believe in what he says, about getting them out as peaceful as he can, but it sounds like we're going to have to go in there ... like a war ... to get them out. But I don't want it to turn into a Vietnam war." A Utah citizen said "I don't believe they'll ever come out alive. I think Khomeini is nuttier than a fruit cake," said Ken Tucker, of Sandy. "And I think

Carter was stupid to let the shah come into the country when he knew what was likely to happen.

'What about Idi Amin? Would we let him in, too?" he said.

U.S. files suit to obtain freedom for hostages

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States has filed suit against Iran today in the International Court of Justice in The Hague, seeking an order for the release of the 49 Americans held hostage in Tehran.

Details of the suit were not immediately available. But the function of the court is to arbitrate disputes between United Nations members.

Despite threat, bonds to be sold

Clark accused of 'playing favorites' among loan firms

Staff Writer

Under threat of a lawsuit, Midland Housing Finance Corporation is proceeding with selling $35 million in bonds to finance a low interest home loan program.

During a meeting Wednesday in City Hall Council Chambers to "price the bonds," one participant accused the corporation of violating the sales and service agreement signed a few weeks ago and of being "dishonest" in figuring the allocations for the six lending institutions.

Bill Oglesby, president of Investors Inc., 2400 W. Wall Ave., went on to charge that another mortgage company had not turned in the correct figures on loan closings during the past year. This action resulted in the company receiving more money for home loans under the program, he contended. Mark Tessier with the underwriting firm of Howard, Weil, LaBouisse and Friedrichs, Inc. of New Orleans, reported the interest rate for qualified applicants will range from 91/8 to 91/4

UNDER THE Single Family Mortgage Revenue Financing Program, these loans will go to families making less than $30,000 for the year for a house costing less than $75,000. Up to 15 percent of the money is being set aside for housing rehabilitation with the remaining funds to be divided into three income categories with the dividing lines to be $20,000, $25,000 and Oglesby pointed out in the sales statement that "if the interest rate goes over 9 percent, the financing will not proceed.

and through peaceful means, to insure the safety of our hostages -Iran crisis at-a-glance

By The Associated Press

These were the top developments today as 49 Americans remained hostages of militant Iranian students at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran,

In Iran

Millions turned out in Iran's cities in answer to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's call to turn annual religious processions into a massive demonstration to the United States of Iran's determination to get the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi back for trial.

The replacement of Abolhassan Bani Sadr as Iran's foreign policy spokesman apparently doomed U.N. Security Council efforts to ease the U.S.-Iranian crisis. Bani Sadr, who had been seeking a middle way out of the impasse, was replaced by hard-liner Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, who controls the Iranian radio and television service.

In Washington

President Carter said he cannot set a deadine for the release of the hostages and asked Americans for patience and "grim determination" in the ongoing crisis. In a nationally televised broadcast, Carter said such patience "is not at all a sign of weakness. It is a sign of sure strength." The president said he is determined to exhaust diplomatic and peaceful means for resolving the stalemate before turning to other options. He declined to elaborate on the form later action might take. His address drew near-unanimous praise.

In America

Americans waved flags, rang church bells, prayed and wore white armbands to show their united support for 49 U.S. hostages held in Iran. President Carter, in 7,500 letters and Mailgrams, Wednesday urged Americans to express their sentiments about the crisis in lawful ways, including letters to Iran's mission to the United Nations. A woman told a radio talk show in Charlotte, N.C., white armbands would be an appropriate symbol of support for the hostages. Later, Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., extolled the idea on the Senate floor and radio stations in California, Michigan, Massachusetts, Georgia and New York took up the plan. Some businesses in North Carolina offered arm bands free.

Meanwhile, in New York, doctors told Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, whose arrival in the United States for medical treatment triggered the crisis, he is well enough to leave the United States.

Around the world

Much of the world press praised President Carter for his cool and measured handling of the Iranian crisis, and some papers demanded that other leaders condemn Iran more strongly.

Yankees stealing Texas' resources, Nugent says

Energy problems in Texas go beyond declining oil and gas production, the need for more incentives to explore for more fuel and international problems represented in the Iranian situation, Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent said here Wednes-

Texas has regional problems, such as the flow of Texas-produced natural gas to the fuel-hungry North.

'The northeast part of this nation, whether you like it or not, has got the money, the people, the power, and it's got some smarts," Nugent told members of the Midland Downtown Lions He termed such use as "the moral equivalent of war" and called for a halt to the "regional robbery of the state of Texas. The "yankees" are "stealing our natural resources at pegged prices" and are using Texas as if the state were a colony, he said. Nugent also deemed unfair the severance tax Texas and other states pay for raw energy, such as coal, mined in and shipped out of Mo. tana. But Nugent, noting the decline in Texas-produced oil and natural gas, predicted that by 1985 about 25 percent of the electric power used in Texas will be generated by Texas coal and lignite.

"We are going to shift to coal," he

Texas, which has "long been the largest producer of oil and gas," has been experiencing a decline in hydrocarbon production over the past several years. Natural gas production topped out in 1972 "and has been down since.' "In another year or two," Nugent said, "the rate of decline in the United States is going to materially acceler-

At the current rate of consumption, the state's natural gas reserves will be depleted in 71/2 years, he said.

But production can be increased and new reserves can be found if the exploration and drilling industry is allowed the right incentives.

Nugent said the "risk takers" will "punch more holes" and will make recoveries from older wells in their quest for more fossil fuel if profits are such "to get them to gamble with their assets.

Nugent said American consumers should re-evaluate "how careless we have been with our oil" and suggested conservation of resources.

"The price has got to get to the point where it excites those who are

Carter's stance on Iran getting unified backing

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter's call for American patience and resolve to win safe release of 49 hostages in Iran is drawing unified backing from Congress and from presidential candidates.

"We have only one president," Republican presidential contender John Connally said after Carter's nationally televised appeal Wednesday night. "Now is the time to rally behind him and show a solid front to Iran and to the world.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., took time out from campaigning in Iowa to say he supports Carter's steps in Iran and "I have every intention to. support those steps in the future."

But Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., and 53 other House members are sponsoring a resolution urging Carter to set a deadline for military action if Iran still does not free the hostages after all peaceful means

More of same weather due

More of the same is the cold weather word from the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. Cold weather is likely to continue tonight and Friday in the Permian Basin as clouds loom on the West Texas horizon. Increasing cloudiness Friday should keep daytime temperatures in the upper 40s for most of the area, according to the weatherman. Low tonight is expected to be in the low 20s

A brief low of 18 degrees recorded about 5: 30 a.m. today was only a few degrees above the record low of 15 degrees recorded in 1976. Wednesday's high of 45 degrees was far short of 1949's record high of 85 de-

No rain has been recorded by the weather service in the past 24 hours and only a trace has been recorded for the month. The yearly total stands at 13.25 inches.

Winds are expected to be variable at 5 to 10 mph tonight.

Another cold night covered the state as a large system of high pressure stretched from the Northern Rockies to the Texas coast.

Predawn temperatures across the state dropped into the teens and 20s in West Texas to the 30s in eastern sechave been exhausted.

"Trials and the kind of disgraceful treatment the hostages are getting now could go on for another year and a half," Stratton said. "And we don't think we should wait that long if peaceful means have failed.' Carter refused during his news conference to say whether he would take military action if peaceful efforts fail, telling reporters such talk could endanger the hostages' lives.

Stratton said he and his House colleagues agree with Carter on that point. "We should consider military action only if everything else fails,' Stratton said.

Sen. Richard Stone, R-Fla., agreed with Stratton, saying "I think he (Carter) should preserve the option of issuing a time deadline for release of the hostages.

But Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said Stratton's resolution "is ill-advised, untimely and would jeopardize the lives of the hostages.' Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, praised Carter for "(making) it clear that he's not going to threaten or set an ultimatum date. "Nor," Javits continued, "will he in any way intimate any other alternatives of a military character or otherwise, but he's going to persevere in enlisting the whole world's support for bringing out the hostages.

Congress quickly and unanimously approved a resolution late Wednesday supporting that strategy.

Senate Democratic Whip Alan Cranston of California said Congress deliberately approved the resolution before Carter's news conference.

The resolution declares united American support for Carter's appeal to the U.N. Security Council to take all measures necessary for the safe and unconditional release of the hos-

Turning to the international scene, Nugent noted that the United States in the 1950s was importing 1 million barrels of oil per day, but that imported figures had increased to 8 to 9 million barrels in the late 1970s. But Nugent said U.S. production of oil could peak again and the need for imported oil would materially drop if the country could develop the equivalent of North Slope production every 18 months. The solution, he said, is for every American motorist to cut his driving down by three miles a day. "We wouldn't need the Iranian oil,

Prosecutor appointed to investigate Jordan's alleged use of cocaine

WASHINGTON (AP) - A special three-judge court appointed a special prosecutor today to investigate allegations that President Carter's chief adviser, Hamilton Jordan, used the illegal drug cocaine.

The court acted after Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti urged appointment of a prosecutor to investigate allegations that Jordan, who is the White House chief of staff, used cocaine in a New York discotheque. Jordan repeatedly has denied the allegations

Widow says gifts won't aid holiday

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) -Mattie Schultz, 91, a destitute widow jailed overnight in August for stealing $15 worth of food, has collected $27,958 from sympathetic donors across the nation. But she says that money won't buy her good health for Christmas.

"Money doesn't mean a thing when you don't have your health," said Mrs. Schultz, who added that she takes regular medication for a heart condition and a hernia.

Mrs. Schultz, who lives alone, said doesn't have enough physical strength to visit relatives or celebrate Christmas, only enough to sit in her rocking chair.

'I've been alone for 18 years, ever since my husband died, so I'm used to it," she said.

Mrs. Schultz spent the night in jail for stealing $15.04 worth of food because she said she was hungry,

U.S. business', workers' productivity declining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The productivity of U.S. business and workers has declined for the third consecutive quarter - the first time that has happened since the 1974 recession, the Labor Department says.

The department said Wednesday that revised figures for the July-to-September period show productivity declined at an annual rate of 0.7 percent. Productivity fell at an annual rate of 2.2 percent in the second quarter and 3 percent in the first three months of 1979.

The department was using preliminary data when it reported a month ago that third-quarter productivity had increased 0:1 percent.

Declines in productivity - a measure of goods and services the economy turns out per hour of paid working time - contribute to inflation by increasing unit labor costs. Those increases ultimately are passed along to consumers as higher prices.

Answer Line By Franchelle Moore

682-5311 P.O. Box 1650, Midland 79702

I have a problem with the telephone company. They have a line across my yard, in the front. It hangs down where you have to stoop to get under it in some portions.

I called three times in September asking them to remove it. They sent someone out and said they would remove it the next week. That was two months ago and I am very disturbed. I do want it down before someone gets hurt. Thanks. - Rhodia

Hopefully, by this time, the company has taken care of the problem.

Please print the address of the Texas insurance commissioner which you printed sometime since September. — C.R.H.

ANSWER: Texas Insurance Board, 1110 San Jacinto St., Austin, Texas 78701. The telephone number is 512-475-2444.

I am curious to know who are the current officers of the Midland SPCA?

I am also wondering who is running the pet cemetery located on the Lamesa Highway and where does the money go that is paid for burial costs? When was the Midland SPCA organized? - L.

ANSWER: The current officers of the Midland Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals are Jeanne Probandt, president, and Delores Judd, secretary. They work with a board of directors.

The Midland SPCA owns and operates the cemetery. The money paid for burial costs is used to operate the cemetery. The SPCA also investigates complaints about cruelty to animals.

The Midland group, which operates independently, was formed in 1948. Additional information about the Midland SPCA may be obtained by dialing 684-7582.

Half-fare coupons

Newsday

NEW YORK - Those half-fare airline coupons issued last spring are rapidly approaching that state of near uselessness shared by Nehru jackets, last yaer's calendar and yesterday's newspaper.

They expire Dec. 15, and there are signs that those who got them when they flew United or American airlines or who bought them on speculation from those who did, are about to begin a quiet stampede to unload them while they are still worth more than the paper on which they are printed.

Already, it is a buyer's market. Prices, which once topped $60, range from $25 to $40 now.

About 4 million halffare coupons were issued in May and June by United and American, and spokesmen for those airlines say about 2.5 million have not been redeemed. The airlines freely admit that there are more coupons than potential users, and they don't expect all of them to be used. Although the coupons can save you as much as $374 (roundtrip from New York to Los Angeles, flying American), they won't be worth anything - except maybe as collectors' items - after Dec. 15, when they expire.

The giveaway was begun by United as a promotion to regain passengers lost during a 58ists. Coupons, redeemable beginning July 1, were given to not gers. To be competitive, American reluctantly followed suit, and Pan American Airlines honored coupons by either carrier on its domestic flights for about a month. United distributed about 2.2 million coupons, and American issued 1.8 million. American says it expects to have redeemed half of them by Dec. 15. United had been predicting that 85 percent would come back, but now it says that goal probably won't be reached. However, Chuck Novak, a spokes-man, added, "We think that this week we're going to see a great use of the coupons for holiday travel.

The coupons have become the stock in trade of a nationwide network of speculators who bought and sold them and, in some cases, turned huge profits. A San Diego man reportedly bought 3,000 coupons for $30,000 from passengers arriving at Lindbergh Field on United flights. He hoped to earn $150,000 by reselling them. people are showing up at airports again trying to sell the coupons to travelers. "The middlemen had disappeared,' Novak said, "All of a sudden, they came back about 10 days ago. Some have signs, some just hold the coupons in their hands." Classified ads offering the coupons for sale have begun appearing in newspapers

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON -Mounting political turmoil in Iran and threats of disturbances in neighboring Arab nations have spilled over into international shipping circles, where tanker and other cargo insurance rates for the Persian Gulf have increased sharply in recent days.

West's oil passes through the Straits of Hormuz at the entrance to the Persian Gulf. Higher insurance premiums for Gulf shipping will translate into slightly higher prices for oil - perhaps a penny or more a barrel.

Morris Fletcher, an executive with Lloyds Underwriters Association in London said, "There have been increases for ships going to Iran, and in some cases they have more than doubled.' Lloyds marine insurers group is the largest in Georgia authorities considering closing of 'Little White House'

By GREG MacARTHUR

ATLANTA (AP) — Time and the Salk vaccine have not been kind to Warm Springs Hospital, and the state of Georgia is considering closing the facility where Franklin Roosevelt sought relief from crippling polio.

The springs themselves are capped, and the three pools where thousands of polio victims once bathed are cracked and empty.

Only 20 percent of the hospital still is in use, draining about $1.5 million a year from the state budget, according to Tom Perdue, executive assistant to Gov. George Busbee.

The hospital and its surrounding 10,000-acre complex in southwest Georgia are the subject of a special state task force study to decide what to do with the property, which was given to the state in 1974 by the Warm Springs Foundation.

Under an agreement signed by then-Gov. Jimmy Carter, the property must be operated as a hospital through 1984.

But the Georgia Office of Planning and Budget recommended to the task force Tuesday that the hospital and its 260 employees be "consolidated" with its companion rehabilitation center. The task force is to make its own recommendations to Busbee on Dec. 15.

Such a consolidation would have to be approved by the Warm Springs Foundation.

year, "runs well and serves a defined need." The hospital, he said, treats about 45 patients and needs extensive renovation. "It would take about $15 million, according to conservative estimates, to bring the hospital back up to the first-class facility it once was," Perdue said

'That would be fine, assuming we had the money, but no one can document that it would be used," he said. "Over the years, it has suffered from a declining patient load because of the Salk vaccine and because it is in competition with modern hospitals in convenient, urban areas."

The National Center for Disease Control reported in October that the use of oral vaccines had virtually eliminated naturally occurring cases of polio.

"Along with the hospital, the state is operating a golf course (on the property) which alone loses $25,000 to $30,000 annually," Perdue said. "There's no rhyme or reason why the state should be operating a golf course."

But there is strong sentiment among some foundation members that the complex, which includes the 'Little White House'' where Roosevelt died on April 12, 1945, should remain as it always has.

'It's just a really complicated issue and a highly emotional issue because the whole grounds have so much historical significance and heritage," Perdue explained.

But this (task force) is really the first time since Perdue said the rehabilitation center, which oper-

Junta breaks relations with South Africa

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) - El Salvador's six-week-old junta broke relations with South Africa's white supremacist government but said it would do all it could to secure the release of South Africa's a ambassador, kidnapped by guerrillas in this Central American capital.

The Foreign Ministry said its decision to break relations with South Africa was made before the kidnapping Wednesday of Ambassador Archibald Gardner Dunn and that it condemned the abduction. Foreign Minister Hector Dada

Hirezi said the ambassador "has all the guarantees of his diplomatic rank offered by the government of El Salvador, which will do all in its power to resolve the unfortunate situation he is undergoing.

Dunn, 60, apparently was not injured when he was seized by 10 men and women armed with machine guns and pistols as he left his office for his car about noon Wednesday, police and witnesses said.

He did not resist the kidnappers and no shots were fired, the witnesses said, although he lost a shoe when the abductors ordered him to transfer from his car to another vehicle in which they drove off.

None of the country's terrorist groups immediately claimed responsibility for the kidnapping, the first since the Oct. 15 coup which overthrew President Carlos Humberto Romero. Many leftist groups have condemned the junta as an extension of Romero's military rule and want to topple the new regime Robin Dunn, one of the ambassador's three children, today told the South African newspaper Daily Mail in a telephone interview from San Salvador that he believed the kidnappers had attempted to contact him.

He said he received a telephone call but wasn't sure who was calling. "They were jabbering away in Span-... I didn't understand what they were saying. I believe they are going to contact me again," he said.

Details forgotten; Only significance remains

McCAMEY - A cross at the foot of King Mountain honors the war dead. 'This symbolic tribute," states the white marker at base of the cross, "is dedicated to the virtues of those heroes of Upton County who gave their lives in service to their country in World War II.'

Names are named: Willard Cope, Herman Crawford, Angus Gentry, Jack Jones, Buck Keaton, Roy James Lane Jr., Wallace E. Matthews, Darden McCollum, Raymond Murphy, Wade Nickens, Eldon Plumlee, Joe Ross, Adrian Wright, Bobby Yates, Joe Lawrence Young.

Nothing more. The cross faces to the east as if anticipating renewed life represented in the coming of yet another sunrise. Perhaps more so than the cross, the names of the war dead are remembered. Family names in West Texas ranching and oil field country aren't soon forgotten. The cross, representing hope for life after death, once was site for sunrise Easter services. It also commemorates the Resurrection. "It hasn't been used for several years," says old-timer T.A. Spalding of McCamey. "They used to have quite a crowd out there" - music, singing, worship, expressions of hope for life beyond the grave.

"Like everything else, they quit

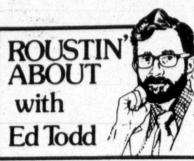

Some say the cross was erected by an alliance of churches; others say the Boy Scouts of America were behind it. Perhaps both groups and more were at the raising of the Louise Ramer, a retired schoolteacher and widow of boom-day McCamey Mayor George Ramer, remembers the coming of the cross as if it were in distant past. It was.

'To tell you the honest truth, I have kind of forgotten," Mrs. Ramer recalls. "It had a great amount of sign-The past, unless faithfully recorded in stone, often drifts from reality and fades into oblivion.

Perhaps that has been the fate of the cross. There's no question about its significance, but the specifics behind its origin and its promises for the present and future often become

C.W. Brown recalls when, more than two decades ago and later, the Easter sunrise service was a town and country affair. "It used to draw an awfully big crowd."

No more, though perhaps a smattering of people once a year appear at dawn to share in the re-creation of daylight, hope for life beyond this temporal existence, and to remember the virtues of the 15 war dead from Upton County.

Workers demand halt to abuses

PEKING (AP) - The Peking Daily today quoted workers in the Chinese capital as demanding strong action, including censorship, to halt what they called abuses of "Democracy

The interviews, occupying nearly half of the first page of the four-page paper of the municipal government, appeared two days after leading parliamentarians attacked the wall and the small democracy movement which has used it in the past 12 months

The 200-yard-long wall, located in the center of Peking, has been repeatedly plastered with posters detailing a wide range of subjects — from the need to increase human rights to public housing.

Chinese sources say the wall's fate still is being debated.

The censorship suggestion came from workers at the Posts and Telegraph Ministry. They said that what goes on the wall and the unofficial mimeographed papers distributed there should be censored for political

Midlander distinguished alumnus

Sam Junkin, President of Schreiner College in Kerrville, Wednesday hosted a luncheon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Chapman of Midland.

The luncheon, at the Midland County Country Club, was held to announce the recipient of the third Distiguished Alumnus Award at Schreiner. Ford Chapman is this year's distinguished alumnus.

Schreiner's highest honor has been awarded by the Board of Trustees only twice in the history of the college. The first was awarded to Frank Ikard, U.S. Congressman and president of the American Petroleum Institute. Second recipient was Dr. Wilson Elkins, Rhodes scholar, former president of Texas Western College and the University of Maryland.

Guests at the Schreiner luncheon included Mr. and Mrs. Murray Fasken, Mr. and Ms. Jerry Covington, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shackleford, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bruno, Dr. and Mrs. Garland Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Irby Dyer and Mr. Jack Walcher.

Chapman attended Schreiner in 1928. He is owner of Ford Chapman, Drilling Contractor and Producer.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman have recently provided an endowment of $250,000 for the Chapman Work Grant Program at Schreiner College.

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) - Pope John Paul II of the Roman Catholic Church embraced and kissed Patriarch Demetrius I of the Eastern Orthodox Church today as the leaders of Christianity's two largest branches symbolically launched their dialogue to end more than nine centuries of

The Roman Catholic pontiff also embraced and kissed Armenian Patriarch Snork Khaludjan shortly after arriving at Istanbul's airport from Ankara on the second day of his ecumenical visit to Turkey.

John Paul's plane landed in Istanbul, Christianity's former Eastern capital, under a bright sun breaking through scattered clouds. Turkish and Christian religious officials were on hand to greet the pontiff on the airport tarmac.

Before leaving Ankara, the pontiff told a gathering of Catholics at a church in the Italian Embassy complex that Islam and Christanity must promote solidarity, adding that "this a necessity of our age and an order of

The pope said that Islam is a monotheistic religion, recognizes Jesus as a true prophet and venerates the Virgin Mary. The pope paid his respects to the Turkish government's Moslem leaders Wednesday on his first day of his visit.

On Friday, he and Demetrius will formally inaugurate the dialogue to remove some of the obstacles to reunification of their two branches of Christianity, which split 925 years ago and now claim a total of 900 million members.

It was this meeting that brought the pope to the Moslem nation where Christianity was supreme under the Byzantine emperors and where the Orthodox patriarch still has his see, although there are only 100,000 Christians among the country's population

The pope's itinerary today included visits to two museums, one a former harem and the other a former church; calls on Christian church offieials, a Mass and a reception for members of the foreign consular

One of the museums is the Hagia Sophia, the masterpiece of Byzantine architecture and one of the largest churches in Christendom until the Turks captured Constantinople (Istanbul) in 1453. They converted it into a mosque, and since 1923 it has been a museum of Byzantine art.

Religious worship in the Hagia Sophia is now banned, and an editorial in Turkey's biggest newspaper, Hurriyet, warned the pope on Sunday to avoid the "mistake" his predecessor Paul VI made there during his ed over how to alter the 1967 visit to Turkey. The previous guidelines, and neither pope knelt briefly in silent prayer, side is zshowing any detriggering angry reactions from militant Moslem groups and embarrassing the Turkish government.

The former harem is the Topkapi Palace, where the priceless jewel collection of the Ottoman rulers is displayed.

Because of the wave of militancy sweeping the Moslem world and political terrorism in Turkey that has eaused some 2,300 deaths in the past two years, the government surrounded the pope with an extraordinary security screen and no opportunity was given for crowds to see him even if the people wanted to.

Apprehension was heightened by a death threat from an escaped killer, and the government substituted travel by helicopter for lengthy motorcades. But the pope dismissed the threat, saying, "Love is stronger than danger. ... I am in the hands of

Committee fails to propose new wage restraint guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) - Six weeks after its creation, President Carter's pay advisory committee has yet to show any headway in revising the government's voluntary anti-inflation wage guidelines.

The 18-member committee of business, labor and public representatives agreed Wednesday to propose changes in a technical rule covering groups of workers who historically maintain wage parity.

But the group completed its fifth meeting without coming any closer to accomplishing its main goal of proposing new wage restraint guidelines to replace the 7 percent lid on yearly wage and benefit increases set by Carter 13 months

Carter established the committee in an attempt to win support for his anti-inflation effort from organized labor, a leading opponent of his initial guidelines. But the labor and busi-

Welcome 'back home'

Col. and Mrs. Wilson E. "Pat" Speir of Austin are "back at home" in Midland today on an all-too-brief visit, and Midland and area residents beam a resounding, most cordial WEL-COME in their direction. It is great to have them back in the Tall City on this particular occa-

The colonel is retiring at the end of this year as director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, the post he has held with distinction since 1968.

And it is in their honor that a coffee-reception is being given this afternoon by the Midland Region, Texas Department of Public Safety, with Major Ira W. Dees, regional commander, as the official host. The function is being held in the DPS headquarters here. This gives employees of the DPS and other friends and admirers from throughout the 49county West Texas Region an opportunity to honor Col. and Mrs. Speir.

The colonel, who has 43 years of public service to his credit, 38 of those years with the DPS, served as the first commander of the Midland Region, residing here from Sept. 1, 1957, to June 1, 1962. He gained many friends here through his widespread community services.

His outstanding performance as head of the Texas DPS has gained for him international recognition and acclaim. He is the immediate past president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, and also is a past president of the Texas Police Association. He was named America's Law Enforcement Officer of the Year in 1971 by the National Convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and presented the J. Edgar Hoover Gold Medal Award.

The antidote to oil

Inasmuch as it takes a couple of months for oil tankers to get to America from the Persian Gulf, it may be early next year before we feel the impact of the cut-off of U.S. oil imports from Iran. How severe that impact will be depends on a number of factors from the effectiveness of conservation measures, to progress in shifting energy production to nonpetroleum sources.

From the Atomic Industrial Forum comes a calculation which suggests the impact can be shortlived. There are nine newly-built nuclear generating units up for final licensing by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission in 1980, including the two units at California's Diablo Canyon plant. The nine units have an aggregate generating capacity of 9,350 megawatts.

To generate 9,350 megawatts in oil-burning power plants consumes approximately 400,000 barrels of oil a day, says the AIF. That happens to be the amount of crude oil the United States has been importing directly from

How serious an energy shortage develops from the trouble in Iran may depend, then, on how far we want to go with the current moratorium on the licensing of new nuclear power plants.

How much of a moratorium is really necessary to answer the safety questions about nuclear power? The Three Mile Island plant was shut down safely in spite of some monumental goofs in the control room. We might conclude that the risks of nuclear energy are easier to handle than the risks of relying on an oil supply controlled by a fanatical ayatollah.

ART BUCHWALD Last train from Chicago, with politics at throttle

WASHINGTON - Neil E. Goldschmidt is not a household name. The reason for this is that he is a member of President Carter's Cabinet. Mr. Goldschmidt is Secretary of Transportation. He would have probably remained anonymous for the rest of his term except that last week he told reporters that he would look for opportunities to deny federal funds to Chicago because Mayor Jane Byrne had decided to support Sen. Teddy Kennedy.

Since Secretary Goldschmidt is new to Washington he can't be blamed for putting Chicago on the President's hit list. He told reporters the decision had been made after consulting with White House officials.

What people didn't know until Goldschmidt's meeting with reporters is that the Department of Transportation has a $2 billion government slush fund which can be distributed to the cities for their needs at the discretion of the secretary. While it is the taxpayers' money, the Carter people have decided to use it to keep the mayors in line.

I have no vested interest in Chicago, except never to go there in the winter, but as a taxpayer I didn't know that my money would be used to guarantee Carter's nomination in

I was so upset to hear that Secretary Goldschmidt had the authority to give or withhold government money, according to a mayor's loyalty to the

Buchwald

President, that I called the Department of Transportation to protest. "How could you do something like that?" I asked someone in charge. He replied, "In spite of what you read in the newspapers Secretary Goldschmidt's decision was not a political one. We're cutting Mayor Byrne off because we feel Chicago would only waste the funds on improving its urban transportation sys-

"But isn't that what the Department of Transportation's money is supposed to go for?'

'Up to a point," he said. "But it was not Congress' intent to vote appropriations which would be used by a mayor who would turn her back on the greatest President the United States has ever known.

Then you are playing politics with the taxpayers' money

"We most certainly are not. We have guidelines before we give federal funds to the cities. The most important question is, does the mayor have the intelligence and executive ability to use the money wisely in improving her transportation system? The secretary, after consulting with transportation experts at the 'Carter for President' organization, decided that Mayor Byrne failed to meet this test."

"But you decided this only after she came out for Kennedy.

"We decided it long before that, but only announced it after she came out for Kennedy so we wouldn't hurt Mayor Byrne's feelings. We'd much prefer for her to believe it was a political decision rather than tell her the truth, that when it comes to transportation matters she's a very poor mayor.

"Can you assure me that your action against Chicago, and any future actions you take in withholding funds from a city, has absolutely nothing to do with the upcoming election?" I demanded.

"Of course I can," he said. "The secretary has told me many times, My only job is to see that America trains run on time. But I would not be serving the interests of the American people if I gave money to a mayor who doesn't even know which side her bread is buttered on.'

To find out who was right in the Great Apple Controversy, we sent our reporter Matt Speiser to the heart of the apple country in Romney, W.Va. Few of the apple farmers in Hamp-

At another farm, the INS did find about a dozen illegals, but only after taking the extraordinary step of kicking through the bunkhouse doors and bullying some workers who were legally in the country.

West Virginia panhandle, Romney townspeople accuse the federal cops of racism. "Anyone who's not white, watch out," one white farmer told Speiser.

The Jamaican and Mexican workers are dismayed at the strongarm tactics they experience. "I came here because the U.S. government wants me to," one worker told us in broken English. "I follow all the rules, fill out all the papers. I finally get here and all they do is trouble me. I don't know if it's worth it."

Footnote: In fairness to the INS agents, our own previous investigations have shown that many foreign workers have been mistreated at some workplaces, and part of their duties are to protect such abuses. An INS spokesman defended the agents' actions in the apple orchards, but couldn't comment on our specific findings.

HEALTH BOONDOGGLE: A littleknown offshoot of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has become notorious for conspicuously wasting taxpayer dollars. Time and again, the National Center for Health Services Research has been chastised for its spendthrift

The watchdog General Accounting Office scathingly criticized the agency for mishandling nearly $20 million in grants and contracts. On another occasion, the center was the recipient of one of Sen. William Proxmire's belittling "Golden Fleece" Awards for underwriting a wantonly wasteful

We've now come up with another extravagant boondoggle by the agency that is supposed to improve medical care through research. The center has squandered $800,000 on a report on emergency medical devices and systems for local ambulance opera-

The agency initially produced a 1, 200-page tome which one official, who read it, said was "ridiculous" and "of absolutely no value to ambulance companies." Furthermore, the crux of the report showing that many lifesaving devices in ambulances and emergency rooms were poorly designed and likely to malfunction was censored out of the document.

What finally emerged was a mouse of a report, which shies from identifying any specific faulty products and merely states "several devices failed under stress." Project director Jim McAllister defends the blue-penciling, contending specific references would date the report and possibly fead to law suits.

The report was finally registered in the National Technical Information Service, which advertises government documents that can be printed for consumers on order. Thus far, there have only been 38 orders for the $800,000 white elephant.

Vietnamese refugees find permanent residence in Israel

AFULA, Israel - Among the legions of refugees who have been processed here, the most curious are the Vietnamese. They aren't Jews, but their experiences are fearfully like those European Jews suffered a generation and more ago

In the Nazi era, Jews knew bullying harassment, the dreaded knock on the door at night, the roundups of people. and dispatch to concentration camps where brutality and death were con-

For some Jews there was the possibility of escape by paying bribes and taking a chance on a refugee ship. But one such vessel, "The Ship of the Damned," roamed the high seas in search of a friendly port and couldn't find one, not even in the United States. So its passengers were unloaded in Holland, and one-third of them perished in camps. After the war, other Jewish refugee ships were turned back when they tried to land at ports of what is now Israel When the Vietnamese boat people first appeared a few years ago, it was clear they had gone through the same kind of ordeal the Jews had. But even with the Holocaust fresh in the world's memory, these pitiful boat people were usually turned away - but not by Israel. In late May, 1977, the Israeli freighter. Yuval, found a miserable lot of Vietnamese adrift in the Pacific, out of fuel, water and food. The Yuval's captain radioed home, and after a month of being cared for aboard the 66 refugees were flown to Tel Aviv. Menachem Begin's first proclamation as prime minister was the government's plan to absorb Vietnamese refugees.

Now Israel is processing its third group of Vietnamese refugees, and the total absorbed is 366. The latest contingent numbers 197 and is going through a three-month program of health improvement, adjustment and, for some, learning Hebrew.

The second group, all ethnic Chinese-Vietnamese, arrived Jan. 24 from Manila. Their leader, Tran Thuan, couldn't stand any more persecution from the Communist regime and, with 630 others, paid the bribe and boarded the boat in Saigon. But the gross overloading caused it to sink before it got to sea, and 230 souls, including his wife and youngest child, were drowned. Another boat, and then 20 days of dysentery at sea and 20 days of anxiety in Manila harbor before someone offered to accept

"I wanted to go to Canada," Thuan recalled for me, "but it was the Israelis who took us. Only those Christians among us who read the Bible, or some others who read about Israeli-Arab conflict knew about Israel. But now, after these months, we know what suffering the Jews had in the Second World War and why they are very sympathetic to us.

Israel has so many immigrants (1.5 million) that it requires a Ministry of Immigrant Absortion. But Jewish immigrants feel common identity in a Jewish state. The Vietnamese are literally strangers. Some see Israel as an interim stop, and some hope a new regime takes power in Indochina so they can return. Still, the Israeli government puts them on the regular absorption program, locates them in unbelievably low-cost apartments (rents: $3 to $12 a month), finds employment and tries manfully to teach Hebrew to these Asian people. "The children learn pretty well," says Thuan, "but the older people aren't learning, and they don't speak English, either. So they stick together at home and reminisce. It isn't easy to get around on Saturdays, either, because the shops are closed for the Sabbath.'

Employers report the Vietnamese are good workers. Some work at an automobile assembly installation at Nazareth, a Christian town where they can shop on Saturday. Some young women work in a dairy factory at Tel Yosef. Others are employed in tourist spots, and there is at least one Vietnamese restaurant operating. There was no difficulty for Dr. Trang-Quang-Hoa, a heart surgeon, to find a place at the Tel Hashomer hospital.

Soon after the second group arrived last summer, the Ministry received many calls from people wanting to adopt families or orphan children, and offering help and money. Some $545,000 was raised by a TV telethon for the Vietnamese. Ten orphans were placed in a youth village near Jaffa and seem to be getting along fine with the blond Russians and Dark-skin Sephardic children.

It is not as easy for children in Vietnamese families to integrate with other Israeli children. "Our children separate themselves," Than says "because they feel safer. The Israeli children are rougher. My son still suffers the effects of trauma and tragedy and wants to stay home.'

There is one known Vietnamese convert to Judaism - a youngster who fell in love with an Israeli girl and plans to marry her when they

High school dropouts should get fair share, study says

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carnegie Council, which has successfully spurred the federal government in the past to increase aid to college students, says it's time for the nation to do more for the 60 percent of youths who never get to college.

The council released a 332-page report Tuesday with sweeping recommendations for radical restructuring of American high schools and creation of apprenticeships and new programs to give young people job

The study, entitled "Giving Youth a Better Chance: Options for Education, Work and Service," cited congressional figures showing the govand employment for each low-income youth in college, but only $339 for high school dropouts.

The report charged that one-third of American youths are "ill-educated, ill-employed and ill-equipped to make their way in American society." The high school dropout rate is 23 percent, and one-fifth of those who do graduate lack basic reading and numerical skills, it said.

"College youths have been assisted by federal initiatives in the 1970s far more than noncollegiate youths and it is time to redress the balance," said the study by the Carnegie Council on Policy Studies in Higher Education. It

"We must find ways to break up the big, monolithic high school with its deadly weekly routine," the council

It proposed that juniors and seniors spend three days a week in regular academic chances and devote the other two days to education-related work, community service or special a greater responsibility for youths, coordinating job programs and services for both students and dropouts,

Kerr said at a news briefing that dropouts who "hated high school" and would consider it demeaning to go back for job training might be willing to look for help at a community college.

The report called for new apprenticeship programs for 16- and 17-yearolds; creating a voluntary National Youth Service Foundation to expand Peace Corps-like work for those 16-to-24; abolition of labor laws that restrict teenagers from working where liquor is sold, on night shifts or around heavy machinery, and exempting teen-agers and their employers from paying the 6.13 percent Social Security tax. The report said the federal cost of these programs would run up to $1.9 billion, but that would be offset by lower crime and welfare rates. It said that because the number of teen-agers will be declining over the next two decades, the youths coming of age could be "the most favored generation since the 1950s," if society smooths the abrupt transition from school to work.

But it warned that failure to change posed the danger of "creating a permanent underclass...a 'lumpen-proleselor was being held in Hobbs today in connection with the seizure of historical items valued at about $250,000, authorities said.

A first printing of the Constitution, an anecdote in Lincoln's handwriting and copies of the 1787 Federalist Papers were among the items confiscated, au-

Police said at least some of the items found at the Clovis and Hobbs homes of Ronald V. Whittington, 36, had been reported stolen from homes in Texas. Whittington, who holds a doctorate from the University of Texas, has been charged in Clovis with possession of stolen property valued at more than $2,500 and in Hobbs with fraud in excess of $2,500. Meanwhile, John Jenkins, a rare books dealer from Austin, Texas, arrived in Clovis Wednesday and identified the Constitution, the Federalist Papers and the anecdote in Lincoln's handwriting as belonging to him. "I sold the Constitution to him (Whittington) on credit, but was never paid for it," Jenkins said. "I am technically the owner of the Constitution." District Attorney Bill Bonem of Clovis said the Constitution was first believed to be a third edition, "but we have since learned that it is a first edition. There is quite a history behind this document."

Bonem said, "Some guy, an owner of a newspaper in Philadelphia in the 1700s was sitting in on the signing of the Constitution when they asked him to take the original and make copies of it.

"So, he took the original Constitution back to his newspaper, had the Constitution set in the old style type and thus ran off the first edition of the ConstituBonem said the Constitution was valued at between $85,000 and $150,000. Jenkins said the Federalist Papers, which he valued at $3,500, and the anecdote handwritten by Abraham Lincoln, valued at $8,500, originally came from a collection of John Jay, the first U.S. Secretary of State. Whittington was arrested in Clovis Monday night, released on bond, then arrested again in Clovis on the charges filed in Hobbs. Authorities said he was being held in Lea County jail today in lieu of $25,000

Officers said other items that were confiscated included a first edition copy of James Fenimore Cooper's "The Spy," two presidential messages, paintings, jewelry and firearms.

Trailer truck, bus crash, killing seven

MEXICO CITY (AP) - A trailer truck and a bus crashed head-on, killing seven American tourists and injuring 19 other bus passengers near a small village in the northwestern state of Sinaloa, police said today. Most of the victims were believed to be elderly persons from the Midwest.

The truck driver tried to pass a car on Highway 15, a main highway along Mexico's west coast, and ran into the oncoming bus about 3 p.m. Wednesday, police in Mazatlan said.

Diabetics can lower levels of their blood sugar

By DANIEL Q. HANEY

BOSTON (AP) - Regular daily exercise may help diabetics lower their high levels of blood sugar, a study

The research, conducted at Yale Medical School, found that men who exercised regularly had a 30 percent increase in their bodies' absorption of

The study, directed by Dr. Vijay R. Soman, was published in today's New England Journal of Medicine.

The study was conducted on six healthy men who pedaled stationary cycles for an hour at a time. They exercised four times a week for six

In an interview, Soman said he later repeated his study on diabetic paients, and the soon-to-be published results showed that the exercise significantly reduced their blood sugar,

The study also revealed that after exercise, insulin was more likely to attach itself to the men's white blood cells, which is one of the ways that the hormone circulates through the

"Most people who develop diabetes do so when they are in their 40s or ' Soman said. "Most of these patients have enough insulin, which indicates that they are not insulin deficient, but somehow their insulin doesn't work properly. They are resistant to the action of insulin. "The question we have raise is, with respect to the observation in normal people, can we somehow improve sensitivity and glucose metabolism in patients with maturity-onset diabetes who are resistant to the action of insulin by having them undergo physical training? In studies which will be published "later, we do have some preliminary data suggesting that yes

However, Soman said it was too soon to speculate whether exercise could take the place of insulin shots in some of these people. Soman said that the men in the study did not ordinarily exercise regularly, and they did not lose weight during the training program. Insulin regulates the body's use of sugar and other fuel that is derived from food.

Parliamentarians hold 'mock' election

Voting and elections was the topic when the Midland Society of Parliamentarians met for study in the home of Mrs. Robert Hobbs, 1503 North 'B". The 20 members of the group heard eight methods of voting described, then "went through the motions," determining an election of an issue by using each.

AT WIT'S END

Lines now a way of life

By ERMA BOMBECK

Some of the most lasting relationships in my life have been made while standing in lines.

I met my present gynecologist while waiting in a line at the bank one day. I exchanged recipes with a wonderful woman in a restroom line at the fairgrounds. And I still correspond with Pat, whom I discovered in a line for "Star Wars."

You can't imagine how upset I was to discover that in Florida they have set up rules for people standing in lines. It all came about with the energy crisis and the high cost of heating in the North, which created a real stampede for homes tions. in the Sun Belt.

When a new housing development opened for sales recently, people were standing in line to hand over anywhere from $80,000 to $100,000.

The trouble started when some people hired stand-ins to camp out in line all night for them. So they issued a set of rules for line-standers.

Only blood relatives could act as stand-ins.

Anyone who left the line to freshen up, have a bite to eat, or call his banker, had to sign out and return again in person to reclaim the place I contend we line-

FRENCHIES

POTATO PIE By MRS. KATHY NEIGHBORS

2 packages frozen patty shells

6 tbsps. butter or margarine

4 cup chopped chives 3 large potatoes

1 pint whipping cream Use one package of patty shells for each crust. Roll shells together to form a sealed bottom pie crust. Line bottom of pie plate. Slice peeled potatoes thinly covering bottom of pie plate with one layer. Put three pats of butter (1/2 tbsp. each) and sprinkle chopped chives. Continue with layers of potatoes, butter and chives until pie plate is full.

Roll out second package of patty shells for top crust. Seal crusts by rolling the egdes together. Cut a half circle in middle of top crust. (Do not remove). Bake at 350 degrees until crust is golden brown. Remove from oven. Cut half circle on top crust into whole circle. Remove circle. Pour one pint whipping cream into pie. Replace circle of crust. Serve piping hot.

Laborer supported nuclear plants until he saw construction

WASHINGTON (AP) - A laborer says he supported nuclear power until he worked on an Indiana nuclear power plant and saw shoddy construction methods firsthand.

"After I started working and seeing how the construction was handled, I changed my views," Charles Edward Cutshall told a House Government Operations subcommittee on energy, environment and natural resources.

The panel opened hearings Tuesday on procedures for monitoring construction at the Marble Hill power plant near Madison, Ind.

Cutshall, 22, said during his two months on the project he watched workers improperly patch over flaws in the plant's concrete containment dome and in other structures.

When he advised supervisors about those problems, he said, "I was told not to say anything.

He also recalled witnessing a supervisor tell another worker to "cover up" a section of improperly packed And he said at one point he was instructed to "mix 21/2 sand to 1 ce-

An NRC inspector, Cordell Williams, told the House panel that 99 percent of the bad concrete patches uncovered so far were within six inches of the concrete surface. The problem areas ranged in size from two to eight square feet, he said.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., also testified Tuesday. He said the Marble Hill situation "clearly pinpoints what can happen when a cost-conscious, inexperienced licensee, operating in an area with a shortage of readily available trained personnel, and with contractors under pressure to cut costs, is left to its own devices."

Haig resigned due to decision on shah, report says

WASHINGTON (AP) - Gen. Alexander Haig says one of the main reasons he resigned last summer as supreme commander of NATO was the Carter administration's decision to assign his deputy to hasten the fall of the Shah of Iran, according to a published report.

Affordable WANT ADS reach thousands daily. Dial 682-6222

In their syndicated column, Rowland Evans and Robert Novak reported Monday that Haig made the statement in private talks with politicians and businessmen soon after the Nov. 4 seizure of the U.S. Embassy at Tehran.

Government officials familiar with administration policy in Iran concede that the predominant opinion earlier this year was that the shah could not be kept in power.

But they said Haig's NATO deputy - Air Force Maj. Gen. Robert E. Huyser - was not supposed to discourage support for the shah.

Base, declined comment Tuesday, citing concerns for the hostages still being held at the embassy in Iran, a spokesman said.

Haig was not immediately available for comment. Military officials also declined comment, citing the same concerns. Evans and Novak said Haig was advised of the mission last January by Gen. David Jones, chief of the

Jones told Haig the Carter administration planned to send Huyser to Iran "to keep the Iranian military alive and intact" - in other words, the columnists said, to urge Iran's generals not to attempt a coup against the new civilian regime of Shahpour

Haig considered the story a smokescreen, Evans and Novak reported, adding that Secretary of State Cyrus Vance wanted the shah quickly removed from power.

Haig told Jones he did not want himself, his deputy, or the U.S. military involved in the mission, but was overruled by then-Deputy Defense Secretary Charles Duncan, the columnists said.

Government officials, who asked not to be named, say Vance considered Huyser's mission to be one of maintaining contact with Iran's military - to keep it from disintegrating so it might serve as a prop for a possible moderate successor to the Defense sources, who also declined to be identified, concurred. They said Huyser's mission was to keep the military together as a force for a stable regime - hopefully one favorable to the United States.

Americans continue long vigil for hostages in Iran

Prayers, armbands 'say a great deal about the way our country is united'

By DEBORAH WOOD Associated Press Writer

Flags waved, church bells pealed, congregation united in prayer and white ari . Is began to appear as Americans L ed in support of U.S. hostages held in Iran.

President Carter, in 7,500 letters and Mailgrams, on Wednesday appealed to Americans to express their sentiments about the Iran crisis by ringing church bells at noon daily and by writing to Iran's mission to the United Nations.

Cardinal John Cody of Chicago asked Catholic churches in Cook and Lake counties to comply and urged congregations to pray for the hos-

The bells of the Travis Park Methodist Church in San Antonio, Texas, tolled Wednesday, and will ring 49 times daily until the 49 hostages are released, said the Rev. Dan E. Solo-

"The whole world is being held hostage right now by the events in Iran," the pastor said.

An anonymous woman caller to radio station WSOC talk-show host Dick Pomerantz in Charlotte, N.C., suggested that white armbands would be an appropriate symbol of support for the hostages.

By Wednesday, Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., was extolling the idea on the Senate floor and radio stations in California, Michigan, Massachusetts, Georgia and New York had taken up the plan. Some businesses in North Carolina were offering the arm bands free of charge.

"The idea seems to be spreading across the country," said Morgan. 'Wearing an armband won't free the hostages or have any effect on an irrational dictator or fanatical students, but it says a great deal about the way our country is united in this

"It's just an apolitical way that we can remember those people," said Ronn Owens of San Francisco radio station KGO, an armband-support station that reaches 14 Western Elsewhere, WHFD radio in Arch bold, Ohio, urged American broadcasters to join in a "musical proclamation of freedom, democracy and determination by playing at least one patriotic musical selection every three hours.'

General manager Max Smith said the effort would show the world that "no power, dictator or alliance in the world can ever hope to extinguish the American flame of freedom and democracy.'

.In other developments: -Evansville, Ind., police said they were protesting the crisis by cracking down on speeders - to diminish the need for foreign oil.

-The Pennsylvania Senate condemned the embassy takeover, saying the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and his followers are "terrorists, out-

-California State Sen. John Briggs filed suit Wednesday on behalf of state taxpayers to stop aid payments to alien, non-immigrant Iranian students at public, elementary and secondary schools, community colleges and state universities.

-Cecil Graham, 20, of Morgantown, W.Va., bloodied the nose of an anti-shah rally leader who was truying to hang the deposed Iranian monarch in effigy. Graham said he didn't like hearing an American downgrading his country.

Khomeini files suit against shah

NEW YORK (AP) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini is suing in U.S. courts to recover $20 billion he claims deposed Shah Reza Mohammad Pahlavi and his wife stole from Iran through a charitable foundation in Tehran.

The suit, filed Wednesday in state Supreme Court in Manhattan, said the shah "misappropriated, embezzled, or otherwise diverted to his own use, assets and funds having an approximate value of $20 billion" through a pattern of torture, murder and corruption.

It said the Islamic Republic of Iran seeks the $20 billion in compensatory damages and $36.5 billion in punitive dámages from the Pahlavi Foundation of Tehran and five other con-

Robert Armao, a spokesman for the shah, said the shah was not liable because the money held by the foundation was an endowment to the people of Iran.

The Pahlavi Foundation was formed in 1958 in the early years of the shah's reign.

· A separate Pahlavi Foundation exists in New York, incorporated in 1973, but its spokesman denied any money was funneled through or taken from it by the shah or his wife, the Empress Farah.

New York attorneys said it was likely that the case, because of its international nature, will be transferred from the state court to federal court. They also said chances of collecting damages from the shah were remote if he leaves New York.

The former Iranian ruler remained at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center today amid persistent rumors that he was prepared to leave at any moment for his exile haven at Cuernavaca, Mexico.

His admittance to the hospital Oct. 22 for gallbladder surgery and treatment of lymph cancer sparked the Nov. 4 seizure of 62 American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Bankers criticize freezing assets

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) - Top executives of a leading West German bank today criticized the freezing of Iranian assets in the United States and warned of a "totally unnecessary" crisis in money markets if the U.S.-Iran dispute worsens.

Hans Friderichs, management board chairman of Dresdner Bank and a former West German economics minister, also told reporters his institution would not follow the example of some U.S. banks and declare Iranian credits in default.

Friderichs and board member Hans Joachim Schreiber claimed President Carter's decision to freeze Iranian assets cast doubt on the safety of investments by Arabs and other oil producers in the United States.

Schreiber, who manages the bank's gold transactions, said the action might prompt oil producers to begin shifting their holdings from dollars into other currencies or into gold.

In London, U.S. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller said at a news conference that U.S. allies understood and were sympathetic with the U.S. decision to freeze Iranian government assets. He said Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and the United Arab Emirates were concerned about the freeze and hoped the blockage would end quickly. But, Miller said, they realized the matter was tied to a unique development in Iran Friderichs, whose bank is West Germany's second largest banking institution, said legal moves by Morgan Guaranty Trust to attach Iran's share in West Germany's Fried Krupp GmBH, a major industrial conglomerate, constituted a serious escalation of the "economic conflict" between the United States and Morgan Guaranty Trust said Wednesday it obtained a temporary injunction from a court in Essen, West Germany, attaching Iran's 25 percent share in the company and its 25 percent share in Deutsche Babcock. Fried Krupp is the parent company of West Germany's giant Krupp steelmaker; Deutsche Babcock is an engineering and construction compa-

The U.S. bank said the action was part of a bid to recover its $40 million share in a $500 million loan made to Iran in January 1977. The loan was made by several Western banks.

Hansen's 'mission' opposed by many

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - A public opinion poll of Idaho Rep. George Hansen's constituents found more opposed his Iran trip than supported it.

The poll, conducted by Wasatch Opinion Research Corp. for KSL-TV, found 40 percent of those questioned said they would be less likely or much less likely to vote for Hansen since his self-appointed rescue mission to Iran.

Thirty-two percent said they would be more likely or much more likely to vote for the Republican congressman because of the trip.

Hansen flew to Iran last week without State Department authority in an attempt to negotiate the release of hostages at the U.S. Embassy. He has been both criticized and praised for his efforts.

Of 405 people questioned in Idaho's 2nd District, 6 percent said they would be much more likely to vote for Hansen because of his Iran trip; 26 percent said they'd be more likely; 22 percent said they'd be less likely; and 19 percent said they'd be much less likely. Another 21 percent said the trip made no difference in their voting preference, and 6 percent said they didn't know.

The survey also asked whether those polled favor or oppose Hansen's efforts in Iran. Of the respondants, 8 percent said they strongly favor his actions; 35 percent said they favor; 33 percent said they oppose; 16 percent strongly oppose; and 13 percent didn't know.

Hostage's mother sees no evidence of abuse

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) - The mother of an Air Force captain who was held hostage in Iran for 17 days says her son saw no abuse of prisoners, and said she didn't understand President Carter's reference to "inhuman and degrading" conditions the 49 remaining hostages are enduring

Florence Robinson, mother of Capt. Neal T. Robinson, said her son told her "there was no abuse"

Robinson was among 13 blacks and women who were released last week from the American Embas-

In a nationally televised news conference Wednesday night, Carter indicated the Americans in the embassy were being subjected to "sustained abuse." He also said the hostages were being "bound, threatened and abused" by their captors.

Mrs. Robinson, who would not divulge her son's whereabouts, said the only thing resembling abuse *that her son mentioned "was having his hands and feet tied up and being blindfolded.'

Kissinger says he didn't 'intercede' for shah

WASHINGTON (AP) - Both President Carter and Henry Kissinger dispute reports that the former secretary of state influenced the U.S. decision to admit the deposed Shah of Iran for cancer treatment.

"I did not hear at all from former Secretary Kissinger" about the shah, Carter said during his nationally televised news conference Wednesday. Kissinger says he supports the deci-

Khomeini urges his followers to repeat demonstrations

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini made the Shiite Moslem holy days of Tasua and Ashura last year the occasion for huge demonstrations that his supporters claim were the turning point in the revolution against the shah.

This year, the Shiites observe Tasua and Ashura today and Friday. The Iranian leader has called for a repeat of those street marches to demonstrate Iran's determination to force the United States to surrender the deposed monarch for trial.

Two days ago, the Shiite patriarch told his Islamic militia, the revolutionary guards: "The United States is a power without rival, equipped with the finest weapons in the world. But we are equipped with a strength greater than that of the United States, and this is our faith in God and Islam.

"Midland College offers a wide range of academic and vocational courses designed for those seeking a college degree, occupational and technical training as well as those simply seeking self-fulfillment or a broadened awareness," noted Dr. Don Hunt, academic vice president. 'These are available both in the daytime and evening to suit various schedules.

"A number of new programs have been added recently at Midland College such as respiratory therapy, architecture, electronics, small business management, apprentice automotive technician training and many others. There are expanded offerings in such fields as music, art, history, speech, radio-television and the social sciences," he pointed out.

VA claims losses to insurance hoax

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Officials of the Veterans Administration office here believe they are the victims of a hoax that produces a flood of requests for non-existent GI Insurance dividends and costs the government thousands of dollars each year to explain.

The hoax takes the form of official-looking notices advising World War II and Korea veterans that they are eligible for a special dividend even if their GI insurance expired years ago, VA spokesman Dick Baker said.

About $100,000 was spent last year and more than $250,000 is being spent this year, in postage and labor of workers answering inquiries and trying to correct the falsehood, Baker said.

The fake notices, often repeated by well-intentioned publications, say to write for information to Capt. W.R. Prosser at the VA in Philadelphia, which administers the agency's $86 billion insurance program.

Baker said there is no Capt. W.R. Prosser affiliated with the Veterans Adminstration.

"This thing is really running rampant all over the country," he said

Wednesday in a telephone interview.
"This dates back to right after 1948. We've had rumors about a special dividend being paid and urging them to write to the Veterans Adminis-

"So, we're receiving over a thousand letters a day inquiring about this so-called special dividend."

Breakthrough could lead to rheumatic fever vaccine

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — University of Tennessee scientists say they have made a research breakthrough that could lead to a vaccine for rheumatic fever, caused by the same virus that causes strep throat.

"Strep throat is no big deal," said Dr. Gene H. Stollerman, chairman of the Department of Medicine at the UT Center for Health Sciences. "It rarely kills you. The real worry is rheumatic fever, which is the main cause of heart disease in young people."

Stollerman, 58, and two assistants, Dr. Edwin Beachey, 45, and Dr. Alan L. Bisno, 43, have stripped the cover from a streptococcus virus, purified it and proved it could grow antibodies against specific strep infections.

That means it is possible to develop a vaccine aimed specifically at rheumatic fever, which is caused by only a few of the some 70 types of strep infections, Stollerman said.

The Center for Disease Control in Atlanta said that reports from 39 states for 1977 showed 1,738 confirmed cases of rheumatic fever. In 1976, the most recent year for which complete figures were available, the CDC said 149 persons died of the disease

Stollerman said in an interview earlier this week that the vaccine being developed by UT and the Veterans Administration Hospital in Memphis will have its greatest impact in developing nations developing nations.

"Rheumatic fever isn't the problem it once was in this country," he said.
"We've practically eliminated it with

However, developing nations, particularly Chile, Iran, India and the Philippines, have major rheumatic fever epidemics, he said.

Stollerman said scientists have known for 50 years that rheumatic fever resulted from some strep infections that cause sore throats, but previous attempts to develop a vaccine using the entire strep germ have failed.

"Everybody was hypersensitive to what we were getting," he said.

Until the Stollerman team made its discovery, scientists believed the virus coating was part of the same molecule as the remainder of the germ.

Beachey was the team member who thought of using a mild pepsin solution — similar to the digestive juices in human stomachs — to wash the strep germ.

"The cute part was we decided to see what we washed off," Stollerman said. "Through a series of chemical maneuvers, we got a type-specific protein and, to our delight, we hadn't

Nuclear waste site reopens; Another dump to open soon

By The Associated Press

A low-level nuclear waste disposal site in Washington state has been reopened and one in Nevada has been ordered to open soon. The sites both had been closed because of safety concerns, leaving only one such dump open in the nation.

The dump at Hanford, Wash., was reopened Wednesday after being closed for six weeks, state Energy Director Jack Wood said.

Gov. Dixy Lee Ray had ordered the Hanford dump closed after inspectors found improperly packaged radioactive materials and that some radioactive material was being hauled in unsafe trucks.

Wood said the dump was reopened after the operator, Nuclear Engineering Co., agreed to accept only materials approved for disposal in the dump and arrangements were made for the State Patrol to check trucks headed for the dump. He said an agreement was reached that says the state will not be liable for any damages if there are accidents.

The Nevada Board of Health, rejecting the recommendation of Gov. Bob List, voted Wednesday to reopen a dump near the desert town of Beatty. The panel ruled that permanent closure of the Nuclear Engineering Co. Inc. dump was not warranted. Officials said the dump could reopen in a few days.

The Nevada board said the state Human Resources Department, which presented List's petition, didn't prove there was any health hazard.

Dr. Thorne Butler, chairman of the board, said most of the material sent to the Beatty dump gives off no more radiation than "a chest X-ray." He said the facility was "really a national resource."

List, who issued the summary order pending outcome of the hearing, was described by HRD chief Ralph DiSibio as "disappointed." He was not immediately available for comment.

Incidents described during the twoday hearing included theft of thousands of contaminated gauges, tools, tanks and other materials from the Beatty dump. Other alleged problems included improperly packaged wastes and improper burial of wastes.

Closure of the Washington and Nevada sites caused problems in the medical community because hospitals have limited storage capacity for radioactive waste produced in research and medical procedures.

The nation's third low-level radioactive waste dump, in South Carolina, has remained open, but under tightened shipping and storage restric-

Nevada, Washington and South Carolina "will try to ... convince other states they should not be anti-low-level commercial nuclear waste," Wood said at Olympia, Wash. "If we all took that position, we wouldn't have any hospitals in the nuclear medicine field."

Electric energy saving device no good say engineering experts

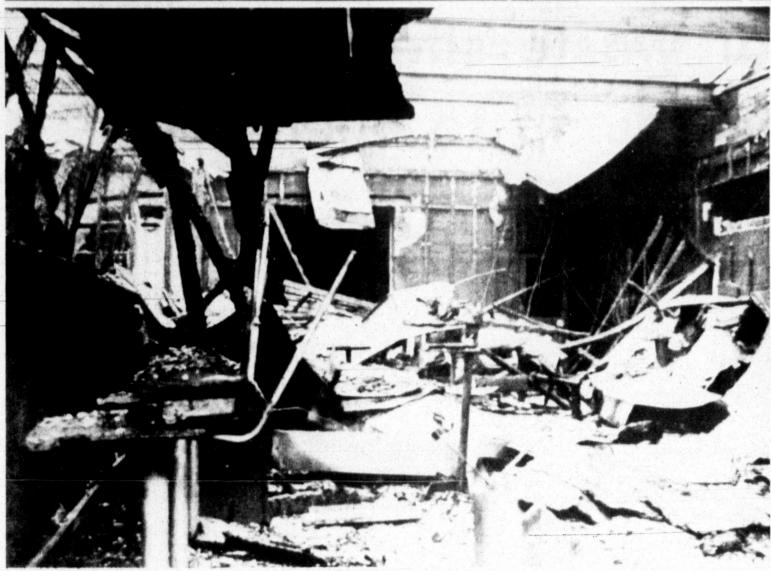

DENVER (AP) — A gadget that promoters claim saves electrical energy actually does nothing to cut down on utility bills in Colorado, according to two electrical engineers at the University of Colorado.

Tests show the Phase-Liner, made in Texas and sold to residential customers for up to $1,000 a piece, does not reduce the amount of electricity used in homes, Jackson F. Fuller and William J. Hanna said in a report released Wednesday.

In fact, the device can damage motors and other equipment, the professors told the Metropolitan Denver District Attorney's office.

The engineers' conclusions were disputed by George Queen, brother of Phase-Line inventor John A. Queen of Fort Worth. Queen said consumers are guaranteed a refund if the device does not save 10 percent on electric

The article, "Baluchistan: An Upheaval Is Forecast," reported an insurrection was under way in the province bordering Iran and Afghanistan. It appeared two months ago in the Far Eastern Economic Review, published in Hong Kong.

Ali, 46, will appeal the conviction to martial law authorities and to the Lahore High Court, his attorney told reporters after the two-day trial.

In his defense, the journalist denied trying to break up the country by creating hatred between, Baluchistan, Pakistan's poorest province, and the other three provinces, which have a better standard of living. He said he wrote a balanced, fair comment on Baluchistan, and in the final analysis, "my country is my dearest asset."

"It is the plight of an objective reporter that he is disliked by all governments," said Ali.

Hart, Pisarkiewicz dispute triggers Bud Wilkinson firing

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Given a second chance, ousted St. Louis Cardinals Coach Bud Wilkinson says he would not alter his handling of the National Football League team.

"When I came back, I thought I would take this team to the Super Bowl and take it there with class," an unbowed Wilkinson reflected Wednesday night only hours after he had been fired.

"I'm sorry that I will not have an opportunity to take part in the realization of that dream," Wilkinson added. "I feel that progress has been made. I think we were very close to being a contending team.

The firing of the 63-year-old Wilkinson was announced at a news conference three games before the collegiate coaching legend was to have completed his second pro season.

"I have determined to take immediate action ... in what I consider to be the best interest of the football team,' said Cards' owner Bill Bidwill, who named director of pro personnel Larry Wilson an interim replace-

"THIS DECISION was made when it became apparent Coach Wilkinson and I had opposite positions on the subject of our program for the remainder of the season.

Bidwill labeled Wilkinson's refusal to use backup Steve Pisarkiewicz, "our quarterback of the future," as the "catalyst" to the final breach.

The two met Monday to confer over the owner's request, said Bidwill. "I suggested that he play Pisarkiewicz, and he indicated he did not intend

"He seemed to think that Pisarkiewicz could do the job. He probably had a reason, but I wasn't told it." Bidwill indicated the two also had other differences in matters of personnel but declined to be specific, noting that "I'd prefer not to at this

"I didn't look at it that way," Wilkinson responded when asked if Bidwill's request to use Pisarkiewicz on Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers was an ultimatum.

"I don't think our relationship has been any different at any point in time. I'm just as surprised as you are," the silver-haired coach said further. "I feel that the fans of the team and the players themselves deserve to have the player on the field that have the best probabilities of win-

WILKINSON, a former collegiate coaching legend at Oklahoma, was a surprise choice to coach St. Louis as he was lured out of a 15-year retirement to succeed Don Coryell in March, 1978.

He guided the Cardinals to a 6-10 record last fall. This year, the team has lost six of its last seven games. It has a 3-10 record and little chance of escaping last place in the National Conference East.

'We had a great number of very, very close games," Wilkinson said. "I had planned to be here next year. I think I've done a reasonably good Wilkinson said his plans, other than remaining in St. Louis for the time being, were indefinite - particularly in respect to further coaching.

"It's a very unique experience when you have a group of highly talented people together in the same time frame and have the same objective in mind," he said. "What I'm not certain about are the pressures. I'll have to think about that for a while.

At Oklahoma, Wilkinson's collegiate teams compiled a 145-29-4 record in 17 seasons, winning three national titles and 14 Big Six, Big Seven and Big Eight titles in the process.

BIDWILL said Wilson, a 41-year-old NFL Hall of Famer, will direct the team only through the remainder of the 1979 season and then return to the front office.

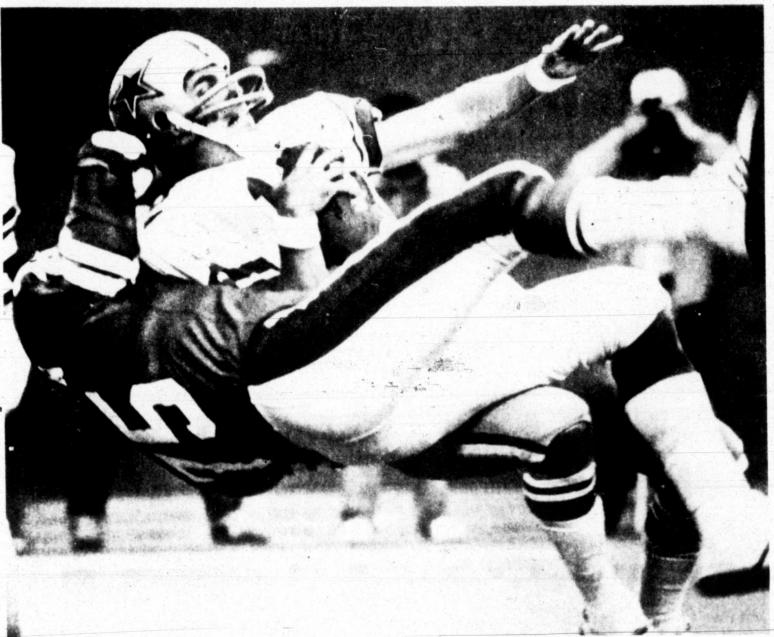

'The first thing I'd like to say is that I had great admiration for Bud. I was very surprised," Wilson said of Wilkinson's abrupt departure. "The only thing that Bill has requested me to do is play Pisarkiewicz, and he will

"I think the situation with Steve is that we have an agreement that (Jim) Hart is our No.1 quarterback, Wilson said. "It absolutely does not mean the end of Hart. We have a draft coming up before we get to next year's training camp. I think before that draft comes about we need to find out about some people on our football

In retrospect, Bidwill said he second-guessed himself for having signed Wilkinson to what had been a four-year contract.

"I made the decisions," the owner said. "He (Wilkinson) is a fine gentleman, a fine man, and I still respect him. Basically, we just had to do what was best for the the football team."

Pisarkiewicz joined a majority of St. Louis players who declined to discuss their reactions to the firing.

Do Cowboys remember? Dallas got the scare of its life against the Giants in New York as pressure, as applied by tackle George Martin shown sacking Roger Staubach,

Hungry Giants want revenge

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) -Three seconds is all that separates the Dallas Cowboys from a five-game losing That's how much time was left when Rafael Septien booted a 22-yard field goal against the New York Giants on Nov. 4 to cap a furious fourth quarter comeback that lifted the Cowboys to a 16-14 victory.

Dallas had lost the previous week to Pittsburgh and after nipping the Giants began their current three-game losing binge against Philadelphia. The Giants get a chance to increase the streak to four when they meet the Cowboys Sunday in Dallas.

"I know they have a few problems," Giants Coach Ray Perkins said. "They've lost three in a row but they're still a fine football team.

PERKINS CONCEDES "it would be a big shot in the arm if we beat Dallas in Dallas Sunday," but claims it's not the biggest of the three remaining games for his 6-7 team.

"If we put all the significance on this game, then, if you were a player, how would you look at the last two games?"

Perkins said Wednesday. "Of the three games, the most significant game is the last one. That's the one they will remember the most in the offseason.

New York has won six of its last eight games after opening the season with five consecutive defeats. Twice they have come within one game of attaining the .500 mark, but both attempts ended in

"I don't think our players are looking at this as a pivotal game, they want to win the last three. And that's how it should be," Perkins said. "We played well against them the last time and felt we should have won - but we didn't.'

DALLAS HAS an 8-5 record and is tied for second place in the NFC East with Washington, one game behind the

"I was concerned early in the season, even though we were winning, because we weren't playing up to the caliber of that record (7-1)," Coach Tom Landry said by telephone from Dallas. 'We haven't played too many good foot-

"This doesn't have an effect on me, I've been through it before. Obviously, when you've been to three of the last four Super Bowls, the fans don't like it. When you get beat, and there's a chance you might not get back, they get upset. If you stay in the game long enough, you'll have ups and downs. Right now we're

Landry noted that the Dallas defense just hasn't been able to overcome the retirements of the left side of the defensive line - Ed "Too Tall" Jones and Jethro Pugh - and safety Charlie Waters' season-ending knee injury. Landry also said there's no chance linebacker Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson will play for the Cowboys again. Henderson retired last week after he was placed on waivers. "That's a closed book as far as I'm concerned," Landry said. "It would be in his best interest not to play for the Cowboys."

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) - Marshall University assistant football coach Bruce Johnson has been reinstated following his suspension after a player charged that Johnson had struck him.

Benitez remains unawed

Defends title against ring's glamor boy

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Wilfred Benitez is well aware of Sugar Ray Leonard's fighting credentials, but he is hardly in awe of boxing's current glamor boy

"Remember, everyody says he's looked tremeneous, but this time he's fighting a champion," said Benitez. At age 21, Benitez is a two-time world champion who conquered Antonio Cervantes and Carlos Palomino.

He outpointed Cervantes, the legendary Kid Pambele from Colombia, for the World Boxing Association junior welterweight (140-pound limit) title in 1976. Last Jan. 14, he outpointed Palomino for the World Boxing Council welterweight (147 pounds) title, which he will defend against Leonard Friday night at Caesars Pal-

YET LEONARD is an overwhelming favorite to win the richest non-heavyweight fight in history. Benitez is getting $1.2 million and Leonard $1 million. In a real oddity, a parlay bet on Benitez and Vito Antuofermo, who will defend the universal middleweight title against Marvin Hagler, will get you 14-1. That means you can bet $10 to win $140 on two world champions who have combined record of 81-3-2.

Noting the popularity of Leonard, who has fought on national television 20 times in his short career, Benitez's manager, Jimmy Jacobs, called the 4-1 odds against his fighter "an emotional odds.

Benitez said simply, "I'm the champion."

The two title fights here will be part of a nationally televised triple-header with the WBA light heavyweight championship bout in New Orleans between champion Victor Galindez and Marvin Johnson, the former WBC light heavy-

ABC will televise from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

"I think my ambition is to retire financially independent and unharmed," Leonard told a press luncheon Wednesday. He is well on the way to financial freedom, having earned almost $4 million in posting a 25-0 record since turning pro in 1977, about six months after winning an Olympic gold medal in Montreal.

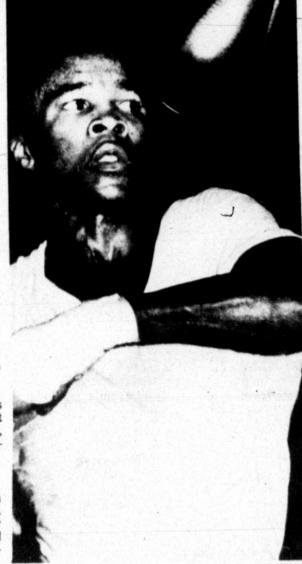

But Leonard has another goal, one that concerns pride, not money.

"I don't want to be remembered as just a good fighter," said the 23-year-old resident of Palmer Park, Md. "I want to be something great, something special."

"When I have to fight somebody ... he's better than anybody I ever faced," said Benitez, meaning he doesn't take opponents lightly. He has been accused of showboating rather than fighting in some previous fights, but they were not

But the Puerto Rican, who says his name is Wilfred, not Wilfredo as he has been known, quickly added:

"I'm not scared of nobody. I'm the champion. That's why I fight the greatest. I beat Pambele and Palomino and when I beat Leonard, I'll fight Robert Duran."

Sugar Ray Leonard seeks welter title.

DURAN, THE former lightweight champion whose name is Roberto, not Robert as he was called by Benitez, looms as a big money-match opponent for Friday night's winner.

Benitez's record is 37-0-1. He has scored 23 knockouts while Leonard has 16 KOs. The two middleweights also have sparkling records. Antuofermo, 26, an Italian living in New York, is 44-3-1, with 18 knockouts. Hagler, 26, of Brockton, Mass., is 46-2-1, with 38 knockouts.

"I'm going to prove to myself and to the world that I am the best middleweight in the world," said Hagler, who is getting $45,000 for his longawaited title shot. "I'm used to fighting for "This is my most important fight, not my most difficult," said Antuofermo, who is getting $150,-000 for his first defense of the 160-pound division title he won by outpointing Hugo Corro last June 30.

Galindez, of Argentina, who is getting $100,000, has a 52-6-4 record, with 31 knockouts and two no decisions. Marvin Johnson, of Indianapolis, has a 23-3-0 record, with 17 knockouts. His purse is

It's whole season for Pats, Dolphins By DAN SEWELL AP Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) - For the New England Patriots and the Miami Dolphins, it all comes down to tonight. With a victory, the Patriots can fulfill the championship potential that's expected of them. With a victory, the struggling Dolphins can salve the pains of a rebuilding season.

The winner of the nationally televised National Football League game will virtually lock up the American Football Conference East Division title. Both teams are 8-5. If the Patriots win, they will be one victory from clinching the title because they whipped the Dolphins 28-13 earlier this season.

If the Dolphins win, they would need only a Patriots' loss to the New York Jets Dec. 9 or a victory over the Jets here Dec. 15.

"It's ironic that we've been struggling and haven't won the big game this year," Miami Coach Don Shula said, "but it comes down to us needing the one big game Thursday night. We're due in that situation.

In Shula's 10th season at Miami, the Dolphins are a sometimes unsteady mix of the old with the inexperienced. Ten-year center Jim Langer will be placed on injured reserve tonight because of a knee injury, and veteran linemen Larry Little and Mike Current both say they'll retire at season's Don Strock, 28, will start at quarterback replacing Bob Griese, 34, who was benched last Sunday. The Dolphins are hoping that Strock, stronger and more mobile than Griese, will handle the Patriots pass rush. The Pats lead the NFL in sacks, while Griese, who prefers to stand in the pocket and pick apart defenses, has had less time to throw this year and has been sacked 21 times.

The Dolphin pass rush, meanwhile, has been punchless in recent weeks. Pats' quarterback Steve Grogan, probably the best running quarterback in the league, "presents a particular problem to the defense. He was obviously the difference in the last game," Shula said.

The Patriots have lost safety Doug Beaudoin and offensive tackles Dwight Wheeler and Shelby Jordan to injuries recently. Gary Puetz, who couldn't keep a job on Tampa Bay's porous line last year, is a new start-

Injuries don't begin to explain how the Patriots came to be in a do-or-die • situation tonight. Probably nothing explains how a team powerful enough to bury the Jets 56-3 and Baltimore 50-21 can lose to Baltimore, Green Bay and at home to Buffalo.

"We find it too hard to take the easy road," suggested linebacker Steve Nelson.

The game has been sold out since Monday. Over 70,000 fans are expected for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff at the Orange Bowl, where the Patriots last won in 1966. They last scored a touchdown here in 1975.

"We haven't played well there, but we haven't had to. Every time we've gone there, we've either won the division or been out of the race," said tight end Russ Francis.

Francis is wrong. The Patriots clinched the division before they lost here 23-3 last year, but midseason losses here in 1977 and '76 cost them the division title.

The Dolphins' last championship was 1973:

Rich get richer as college basketball campaign begins

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Led by longtime superpower Kentucky, college basketball's rich teams are expected to get richer this season in what is generally reputed to be the best recruiting year in the history of the sport.

Virginia also seems to have hit the jackpot all at once with the acquisition of the most sought-after schoolboy player in the country.

As preparations continue for Friday night's official opening of the 1979-80 season, Kentucky is conceded to have had perhaps the best recruiting haul in the country with four fine prospects.

The most notable of these is 7-foot-1 Sam Bowie, who has jumped right into the Wildcats' starting lineup at center. Bowie made an auspicious college debut with 22 points in the season-jumping Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic on Nov. 17 against Duke.

Along with this classy Lebanon, Pa., product, Coach Joe Hall picked up three other players who could start of Sampson's abilities in his junior year, when he led Harrisonburg to the first of two straight state championships. As a senior last season, he had eye-popping statistics, averaging 30 points and 20 rebounds a game.

Hord and Hurt are unselfish pro-

Sampson is said to be better at this stage of his career than Wilt Chamberlain, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar or another spectacular Virginia product, Moses Malone.

The pros, as well as the colleges, were interested in Sampson. But he opted for school because, as he put it, "I want to go to college ... supposedly, the pros are going to offer me a lot of money (later).'

TALENTED big men seem to be in vogue this year, with fine frontcourt prospects attending such evergreens as Ohio State, Notre Dame and Brigham Young.

The Buckeyes have come up with 6-8 Clark Kellogg, considered by some to be the best forward prospect out of the high school ranks this year. He is said to be the best schoolboy player ever to come out of the Greater Cleveland area, as well as the best to come out of Ohio since Jerry Lucas prepped at a school near Cincinnati.

Kellogg's decision between Ohio State and Michigan was viewed with so much interest in the Midwest that he finally had to call a news conference to announce his decision on National Letter of Intent Day, April 11.

"Clark is the greatest player in the country for our team," says Ohio State Coach Eldon Miller. "Coaches told me during the year, 'If you land an outstanding forward, you'd have a great team.' Well, Clark has tremendous forward skills. Many people who have seen him in all-star games say they have never seen a better player in high school.'

Notre Dame buttressed its frontcourt with the addition of 6-10 Tim Andree of Birmingham, Mich., and 6-7 Bill Varner of Pittsburgh. The Irish are particularly pleased with

"Billy is one of the best players in the United States," says Notre Dame assistant coach Danny Nee of Varner, who led Valley High School to the Class AAA scholastic championship in Pennsylvania last season. "He just hasn't received the publicity the others have.

"There is no question that in time, Greg Kite has the ability - if he develops — to become a legitimate All-America and one of the finest centers in the country," Arnold says.

Georgia, meanwhile, had one of its best recruiting years in history, according to Coach Hugh Durham. The Bulldogs signed six "top ones", including a player some consider one of the country's best power forward prospects in 6-7 Dominque Wilkins of Washington, D.C. Sidney Green, one of the New York area's top scholastic players, and 6-6 Larry Anderson of Pittsburgh were recruited at Nevada-Las Vegas. Missouri signed up another of the nation's coveted big men in 6-11 Steve Stipanovich of St. Louis.

DePaul, a Final Four team last season, added more muscle to its front line with the addition of two schoolboy stars from the Chicago area, 6-8 Teddy Grubbs and 6-9 Terry Cummings.

What happened to boola, boola, give 'em the ax?

By JIM MURRAY

Los Angeles Times Syndicate In the second quarter with the game still relatively in doubt, 14-0, at the Coliseum Saturday, USC had a first down on its own 15-yard line with 24 yards to go when a UCLA cheerleader hurried anxiously to a sideline micro-

"Now, listen," he said urgently, "Remember (SC quarterback) McDonald calls audibles 40 percent of the time. If we make plenty of noise, they can't hear him. And we mess up the plays. Now, when the Trojans come up to the line of scrimmage, I want everybody yelling as loud as they can and keep on yelling. WE CAN WIN THIS GAME! YOU AND ME! Remember, it's not illegal. Not till we get a warning! Let's hear it!"

From the Bruin stands, came a piercing, unrelenting shrill wall of nals but all sideline conversations and the barks of the vendors. On the field, startled, Trojan quarterback Paul McDonald halted his cadence, stared at the stands - and lost his grip on the play. A whistle blew. A five-yard penalty was called against him. Three plays later, the Trojans had to punt for only the second time in the hijinks? Boola-boola? "Bulldog, bulldog, fight, fight, fight"? Maybe. But this smacks more of flashing signals from a peephole above a card game. This is cheating. This is a sting. This is not just good old American gamesmanship. This is not sporting. This is another form of "winning is the only thing!" That discredited humbug. This is just plain not fair. This is marking the deck. Boiling the dice. Rigging the wheel. Wiring the house against the players.

Audience participation is a part of sport. Clapping in unison to startle the opposing pitcher is as old as the seventh-inning stretch. Bench-jockeying is a part of the old ballgame. Yelling "Drysdale, yer a bum!" or 'Call yerself a pitcher, Seaver?' is as American as ketchup. "Get" the other eye, Louie!" is a part of pugilism. "Where's the foul, Mendy?" is as legitimate in basketball as the jumpshot.

But this is different. This is climbing in the ring. This is tampering with the foul lines. This is loading the gloves, sprinkling tacks on the barefoot marathoners' path, putting sugar in the Offenhauser tanks.

This is not three cheers and a locomotive for the old home team. This is not "Let's cheer it for the Bruins!" Whatever happened to "Brek-ek-ekek, co-ax, co-ax"? This is not card tricks. This is a conscious, cynical attempt to affect the outcome of the game, as reprehensible as putting an ace up the sleeve.

The game should be played by the 11 men on the field, not the 50,000 in the home stands. That's why games have rules. That's why the Magna Carta was drawn up. Just as the few shouldn't oppress the many, neither should the many oppress the few. It's not only an Anglo-Saxon tradition, to have a fair fight, it's a human tradition. All might be fair in love and war playing the game. Paint the statue of Tommy Trojan, steal the bell, light the bonfires - but don't turn a crowd into a mob. Don't burn books to win a game.

It's always been the proud boast of Americans that we don't need moats around the field, or armed guards or the Army to protect the referees. We're the people of Grantland Rice's "It's not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game." We've been the city where Notre Dame can come in and trounce the home team, 38-7, or 51-0 — and 104,000 people watch and nobody burns a bus. they just say, "Well, that's show biz!"

But crowds hve been getting away from that posture all over the leagues of late. It's time to stop, time to smile in defeat, not snarl, to cheer the opposition, not cheat him. Either that, or move the games to Neuremberg - and call them ral-

O.J. named Player of '70s

O.J. Simpson, San Francisco 49ers, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards four times during his superstar seasons with Buffalo, was named the NFLPlayer of the Decade by Pro Football Monthly, beating out quarterbacks Terry Bradshaw, Pittsburgh, Roger Staubach, Dallas, and Ken Stabler, Oakland

Baltimore Colts quarterback Bert Jones will be watching the team's last three games from the bench, according to Coach Ted Marchibroda. "I had planned to try and use Bert again this year, we didn't want to send Bert home with him thinking his shoulder couldn't do the job, it doesn't look like Bert will be able to play in our final three games."

New England tight end Russ Francis notes that if the Patriots and Miami Dolphins live down to their season-long form, tonight's battle for the AFC East lead will end in a scoreless tie. It's been a strange season for both teams. The Patriots - so very, very good, or so horrid. The Dolphins - struggling through quarterback problems, mistakes and the inability to win a big game. "The perfect scenario for this game. would be to go into overtime, nobody scores and we'd end in a tie." It's really hard to figure out what's wrong with us, it's nothing tangible. I would like to think this is a good team. I hope it is, but I'm not sure. We have a lot of talent

Coach Bart Starr said quarterback Lynn Dickey would start for Green Bay against Washington Sunday, his first start in more than two years. "Lynn is pleased with the opportunity for more extensive play and to continue his comeback. David (reserve quarterback David Whitehurst) is an outstanding team player and has accepted this move with a complete understanding of our reasons for it."

Membership in the NFL Players Association. now at nearly 1,400, if averaging 49 members per team, the union said

A report that Baltimore pitcher Jim Palmer is seeking a $3.5 million six-year contract is not too far from the truth, according to the righthander's agent. "It's unfortunate that this got out, and I don't know where it came from, to tell the truth, but I'm not saying it is not accurate in some degree." Agent Ed Keating said Tuesday

Joe Garagiola, former major league catcher who parlayed humor and baseball knowledge into a broadcasting career, has signed a new three-year contract with NBC

Each full share from the 1979 World Series will be worth $28,237 to members of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates while the AL champion Baltimore Orioles will receive $22,114 apiece Both figures are the second highest in history trailing only the 1978 shares of $31,236.99 to each winning New York Yankee and $25,483.21 for each losing Los Angeles Dodger.

Veteran Isao Aoki. Japan's top prize money winner, shot a 5-under-par 68 Wednesday and took a one-stroke first round lead in the 16th Golf Japan series...Grady Richardson, 27, tight end who failed in two training camps to make the NFL, was signed by the Washington Redskins to fill a roster slot made vacant by the injury to strong safety Ken Houston, Richardson, a 6-4. 227 out of California State-Fullerton, was a start er for the Hawaiians in the World Football League in 1974 and 1975.

USC's White named Pac-10 Player of Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Charles White, the Southern California tailback who won the national rushing title this season, was named Pacific-10 football's Player of the Year Wednesday. White also won the award, determined by a vote of Pac-10 headcoaches, last year as a junior. This season, he set a conference record with 1,803 yards rushing in 10 games and averaged 6.2 yards per carry

His career total for regular season play is 5,598 yards, second highest in NCAA history behind Tony Dorsett's 6,082 total "I am running out of adjectives to describe Charlie." says USC Coach John Robinson. "We ask a lot of him. He carries the ball 30-35 times a game, but he just keeps coming back at you. He is one of the most durable and toughest football players I have ever-

The senior tailback from San Fernando, Calif. scored 18 touchdowns this season. His career total of 52 tied the conference record set by USC's Anthony

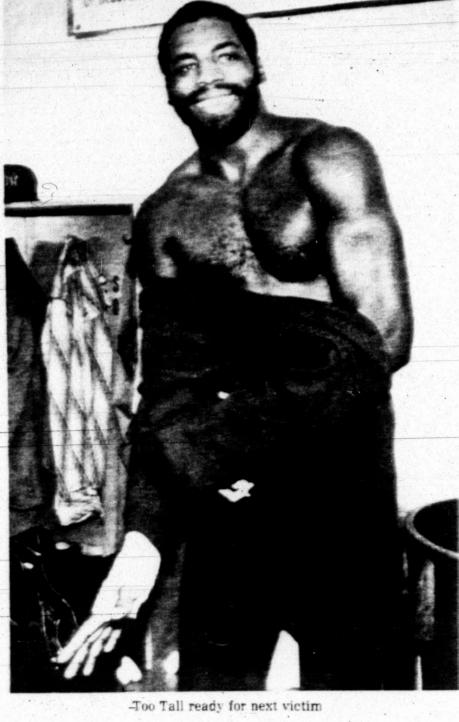

White's biggest one-game output was 261 yards, this year against Notre Dame. In his career, he went over 200 yards five times

The USC star won the conference award handily outdistancing quarterbacks Baul McDonald of USC and Rich Campbell of California, free safety Kenny Easley of UCLA and tailback Joe Steele of Washing-

Too Tall determined to fight despite criticism

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) - Ed "Too Tall" Jones has been socked in the jaw by an angry fist encased in an eightounce glove and felled by a rock-hard heimet used as a battering ram by an enemy blocker.

"Which is the more violent sport boxing or football?" The 6-foot-7 for-mer defensive end of the Dallas Cowboys repeated a question. "Boxing Infootball, you are protected by all that gear. In boxing, your head is his career on television with a great deal of fanfare. Too Tall won an unimpressive six-round decision Nov. 3 over Jesus Yaqui Meneses. He knocked out Abdullah Muhammad in six at Phoenix two weeks later and last Saturday stopped Fernando Montes in 41 seconds. His next fight is Dec. 14 in Dallas against an as yet unnamed opponent

Ex-champ Smokin Joe Frazier has joined the growing chorus urging that Jones give up boxing and return to football before he gets seriously

"Who is Frazier to give such adheaded man who is an uncle of former welterweight champ Emile. "Has Joe forgotten how he got slaughtered by a big, slow, raw fighter named George Foreman in Jamaica in 1973'

People expect too much of Too Tall Remember he had only been in a gym once before taking up boxing last June. They think he ought to be as good a boxer as he was a football player It takes time.

JONES IS equally unmoved by such criticism

Lions' disappointing 7-3 record about right...Joe

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

It has been an unusual year at Penn State. Oh, the Nittany Lions are going to a bowl game, as usual, but they have lost as many as three regular-season games for only the fourth time in Joe Paterno's 14 seasons as head coach.

"We've had more problems and injuries than any squad I've ever been around," says Paterno, whose 7.3 team winds up the regular season against Pitt on Saturday and then heads for a Liberty Bowl meeting

"It's been one of those years. It's the first time we started off with academic problems (two starters in the secondary flunked out) and we also had a few disciplinary problems

The biggest losses came several weeks ago when All-America defensive lineman Bruce Clark wrecked a knee and his runningmate, tackle Matt Millen, hurt his back. Both have missed the last few games and will miss the Pitt contest as well although Millen could return for the Liberty Bowl.

"Our record is about right, although I thought we might be 8-2." Paterno says "We weren't a very good team early in the year because we were so inexperienced. I thought if we got by the first couple of games we'd be all right but we lost two big ones early (Texas A&M and Nebraska)

Nevertheless, Penn State has extended its NCAA record of consecutive nonlosing seasons to 41 in a row. The Nittany Lions last lost more games than they won in 1938 when the record was 3-4-1. Since then, they we had 26 straight winning years, two 500 seasons (1965-66) and 13 more winning ones

THERE'S SOMETHING about being on probation that does things to Oklahoma schools. The University of Oklahoma won a national championship in 1974 while in the NCAA's jailhouse and this year Oklahoma State surprised most folks with a 7-4 overall record and a 5-2 third-place finish in the Big Eight.

The Cowboys under first-year Head Coach Jim physical and with walk-one and freshmen compiling a goodly portion of the roster, won four conference games on the road two more than any previous Oklahoma State team had ever won. And the seven victories made Johnson the winningest first year coach in the school's history

Among the walk-ons who have starred for the Cowboys are defensive end Rick Antle and quarterbacks Harold Bailey and John Doerner

CLEMSON Memorial Stadium is known as "Death Valley" for obvious reasons, but Maryland Coach Jerry Claiborne doesn't mind, especially since his Terrapins won 19-0 there back in September.

Lake Powell, only seeing is believing man-made marvel

After two trips to Lake Powell, the largest man-made water impoundment in the world, words can not describe the beauty this lake has to offer. The lake, situtated on the Arizona-Utah border, stretches 180 miles and has a 1,800-mile shoreline is the last unexplored frontier in the U.S.

The adventurer, outdoorsman, water-skier or pleasure seeker can cruise the placid waters for days without making a dent in the total area. It would take a year or more to explore, fish, or cruise the many side canyons

Powell is most noted for its excellent fishing and houseboating opportunities. But the visitor can not stop with just two aspects of outdoor recreation. Tours of the Indian ruins, Glen Canyon Dam, jeep tours overland through Glen Canyon country with its abandoned mines, ghost towns, and movie sets are a must.

Maximum elevation is 3,700 feet. It's dry, high desert climate provides maximum sunshine. November and December days are excellent for houseboating and fishing, without the warm-weather crowds. However, the lake is so large that 50,000 people can be boating on Powell, and you're still lucky to see more than 15 boats a

The area around Powell is not barren. It may look that way at first, but vegetation ranges from willow and cottonwood along the tributaries to sagebrush, yucca, pinon, juniper and mesquite on the plateaus and tall pines in the Henry Mountains.

Observing man's creation is a varied animal population, usually seen only by the keen observer. Lords of the peaks are the mountain sheep. Mule deer, antelope, rabbit, fox, coyote, skunk, badger, turkey, beaver roam the slopes and lowlands. Wild no minnows can be used for erappie. However, it's just as easy to catch a mess of slab-sided crappie on small buffalo herds patrol the lower elevations of the Henrys. Lizards are the most visible, but none of the 14 species is poisonous. While seldom seen, the rattlesnakes and mice also inhabit the

For fishermen, the largemouth black bass is the most popular sportfish in Powell. Many money bass tournaments are held each year, the Bass Anglers Sportsman Society's March Arizona Invitational and Western Bass last month producing record numbers of bass.

Powell probably has the finest black crappie fishing in the U.S. and crappie come in jumbo sizes. It's not unusual to find a crappie hole that will produce more than 500 in a few hours of fishing. The only live bait the angler can use is live waterdogs, great baits for bass and other large can be productive. Striped bass fishing is beginning to boom. Stripers were stocked at Powell four years ago and the lake record is 12 pounds. This winter and spring promise to be a great time for catching heavyweight stripers.

Walleye fishing is simply great. Most people who catch walleve do so while plugging for black bass or crappie. Harold Johnson, a guide who works out of Wahweap Lodge near Page, Ariz., says that for someone who knows the habits of walleye and where to find them, there are some super-sized beauties to be taken.

in the near future, we'll discuss how and where to fish Powell for the various species. For more information, write Del Webb Recreational Properties, 3800 N. Central Ave., Suite 1501,

Sugar Ray daytime serial moves to prime time Friday night

By FRED ROTHENBERG.

AP Sports Writer Sugar Ray Leonard, a highly successful daytime series, moves to prime time Friday night in a test of his boxing ability and promotional talent. Leonard, whose quick fists and big smile parlayed an Olympic gold medal into a steamrolling pro career, will be fighting for Wilfredo Benitez' World Boxing Council welterweight title in Las Vegas,

And ABC will be there, as it has been nearly every time Leonard has laced on the gloves. More than any fighter today, Leonard's rise in the rankings has been paralleled by a rise in the ratings. Make no mistake about it, Leonard is a superbly gifted fighter, deserving a shot at the title after 25 bouts. But he also is a TV star. Leonard wouldn't be making $1 million to Benitez' $1.2 million if ABC didn't think Friday night TV watchers would be interested. This championship bout marks the first time since the demise of boxing as a weekly staple that a non-heavyweight match will be headlining a prime time fight card.

Also on the ABC program will be the middleweight title bout from Las Vegas between champion Vito Antuofermo and Marvin Hagler and the World Boxing Association's light heavyweight title fight from New Orleans between defender Victor Galindez and Marvin Johnson. These two fights were both supposed to originate from Las Vegas, but the WBC would not sanction Leonard-Benitez if a WBA title fight was on the same card.

ABC's investment in Leonard began less than a year after he had won the 1976 Olympic gold medal in the 139-pound division, one of five American boxing champions to strut out of Montreal three years ago. The others were Leon Spinks, Michael Spinks, Howard Davis and Leo Randolph. Heavyweight John Tate was beaten by Teofilo Stevenson in a semifinal bout

"Sugar Ray was clearly the most attractive based on his personality and fighting ability. The Spinks brothers were next," said Jim Spence, senior vice president of ABC Sports.

ABC signed Leonard to a six-fight, $400,000 contraci, outbidding CBS, which had televised Leonard's first pro fight in February 1977. In that bout. Leonard outpointed Luis Vega in Baltimore, near Leonard's hometown of Palmer Park, Md. Leonard proved to be good box office right away, luring over 10,000 fans into the Baltimore Civic Center and getting smashing ratings on TV

For his efforts, Leonard earned a hefty $40,000 $10,000 from CBS.

After not landing Leonard, CBS signed Howard Davis to a 15-fight, $1.5 million contract that has been a series of headaches for the network. Although a talented fighter, Davis has not progressed as fast as Leonard. He also hasn't wanted to fight as often. causing CBS scheduling problems. His record is scrutiny its exclusive contract with Davis received from the House subcommittee that was examining TV's involvement in boxing.

BUT THE biggest embarrassment to CBS was the

It was revealed that CBS would pay Davis either $200,000 or $167,000 per fight. If Davis chose the larger figure, he would pay his opponent's purse. There was a real possibility of a fighter taking a dive, in return for more money. CBS rewrote the contract, taking away Davis' power of the purse and removing its exclusive control over him.

ABC, meanwhile, signed Leonard to a second contract -- a five-fight package worth more than $1 million — which has since expired.

NBC is the only network that hasn't made this type of deal. "It's very difficult to avoid a conflict of interest if you're both promoter and telecaster," said Art Watson, president of NBC Sports.

Watson is not suggesting that ABC has engaged in anything illegal with Leonard, but asks: "What if Sugar Ray reached a plateau and lost some fights? ABC might then evaluate things a little differently and look for easier fights. I sleep better at nights knowing we buy fights one at a time. That way, we know what we're buying.

SPENCE POINTS out that ABC never has picked Leonard's opponents. "We get involved only in exercising responsibility in determining that his opponents have been credible," he said.

ABC ran into problems with its U.S. Boxing Tournament because of phony records, which provoked the House investigation. It has been careful with Leonard's opponents. Two days before Leonard's fight against Hector Diaz in late 1977, ABC discovered that the promoters had inflated Diaz' record. The fight was not televised.

ABC has profited from Leonard, as Leonard has profited from ABC. But Friday night is the biggest gamble of all because it is the last night of the all-important sweeps period, when local affiliates establish their advertising rates for the winter.

The main event is expected to carry the earlier fights, and the programming needs a 30-35 share of the audience to be a success. To that end, ABC began its promotional campaign even earlier than

As far back as the World Series in October, Howard Cosell was hyping the Leonard-Benitez fight a far cry from the time when television and Muhammad Ali formed a perfect marriage. All that was needed then was for Ali to open his mouth and TV sets automatically switched on.

ABC slips in ratings war

NEW YORK (AP) - For the first time in more than a year, ABC has finished last in the networks' prime-time ratings race, a condition due in large measure to a couple of popular movies and CBS' "60 Minutes.

CBS, in the meantime, listed two of the three highest-rated programs in the week ending Nov. 25, and won the competition for the second consecutive week, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. NBC's advance to No. 2 broke a five-week run in last

The week's two highest-rated programs, movies on NBC and CBS, were on the air at the same time Sunday night.

"Smokey and the Bandit" on NBC had perating of 31.8, a 10th of a point ahead of CBS' movie, "Oh God!". Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, 31.8 percent saw at least part of the NBC movie, and nearly that percentage watched all or a portion of CBS' film.

ENTERTAINMENT

"Smokey and the Bandit," with Burt Reynolds and Sally Fields, aired 8-10 p.m. EST, and "Oh God! with George Burns and John Denver was broadcast 9-11 the same night.

ABC, which finished No. 3 the week ending July 9, 1978, still leads the three-way race for the season, though the margin separating the frontrunner from CBS has diminished in recent weeks.

CBS' rating for the week was 19.8, to 19.3 for NBC and 17.8 for ABC. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 19.8 percent of the homes in the country with television were tuned to CBS.

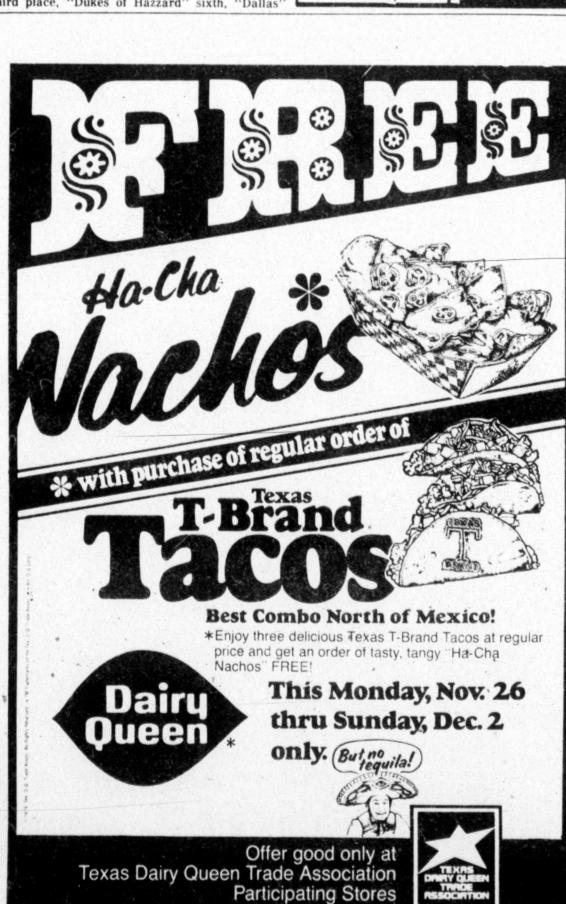

Continuing series, as they have in recent weeks, were a shot in the arm for CBS — "60 Minutes" in third place, "Dukes of Hazzard" sixth, "Dallas" eighth, "M-A-S-H" 14th.

ABC's best for the week, "Three's Company," was No. 4, and NBC's top-rated regular program, "Real People," was 10th.

NBC's second place finish came despite heavy representation at the bottom of the ratings list -"Eischeid" 55th, followed by "A Man Called Sloane" and "Prime Time Sunday." A CBS special, "Raggedy Ann and Andy," was 58th, and a movie on the same network, "Letters from Frank" with Art Carney, was 59th for the week - last.

The exhibit is a photographic presentation reflecting the land, people and quality of life of the Brule Sioux tribe on the Rosebud Indian Reservation from before the turn of the century to the present decade.

The title, "Crying for a Vision," stems from Black Elk's translation of the ritual of the vision quest, at the center of the Sioux Indian religion. He explains that visions "help us to realize our oneness with all things, to know that all things are relatives.'

The "Rosebud Trilogy" highlights the collective work of three photographers who lived and worked among the Brule Sioux on the Rosebud Reservation in South Da-

JIMMY'S WHITE HOUSE

Much ado - about nothing

By BROOKS JACKSON

WASHINGTON (AP) - The story told how Jimmy Carter's chief black adviser, Louis Martin, was snubbed by the New York Times and how the White House chose to ignore the slight. In the words of a prominent black journalist, the incident

"mirrored the ugliness of the coming battle between the president and Sen. Ted Kennedy."

It is a gripping tale. The only problem is that it never happened

On Nov. 6 the New York Times ran a front-page feature story on Carter's daily routine. It was written by reporter Terence Smith, whom Carter had allowed to attend meetings of his innermost circle of advisers for the purpose of gathering materi-

The trouble began with the photograph the Times ran to illustrate the story. It pictured Carter, his back to the camera, sitting in the oval office speaking to six of his top aides, who were drawn up in a semicircle facing him.

Also in the picture appeared a mysterious figure seated between White House efficiency expert Alonzo C. McDonald Jr. and domestic policy chief Stuart Eizenstat.

One reporter, a regular at the White House, said the figure looked something like a bust of Plato with a tarpaulin thrown The Times had toned down one image. But who was it?

Jet magazine's Washington bureau chief Simeon Booker thought he recognized the figure and was outraged. "It looked so much like Louis," Booker said in a telephône interview, much

So he wrote a scathing piece in the Nov. 29 issue of Jet, a magazine aimed chiefly at a black audience, stating flatly that the mystery figure was Louis Martin.

"It is apparent that the dark blob in the picture ... is more than a shadow," Booker wrote. "Crouching over a notebook, Martin appears to be busily writing in a pad.

Booker even quoted Martin as saying he was at the meeting and was bewildered by the whole affair. "I don't know what is happening. Maybe I'm not important," Martin was quoted as Booker's magazine account continued: "Aides in Jody Powell's White House press office hadn't noticed the snub to their only black special assistant. ... The slight to Louis Martin (was) unprotested even from the White House. Booker said this indifference foreshadowed an ugly campaign between Carter and Kennedy, who Booker said was doing little himself to woo black voters.

But the figure was not Martin at all. Fellow White House reporters had instantly recognized the "blob" as correspondent Smith, the man who wrote the story and who was sitting in the

Dane Bath, photo editor for the Times, said that Smith's image was toned down because the purpose of the photo was to show Carter with a group of senior advisers and that Smith is not a Carter adviser

"We toned him down to detract from his high degree of visibility," Bath said. "There was no attempt to pretend he

Booker says now he may print a retraction, and blames the misunderstanding on the failure of Powell's aides or New York Times officials to answer his inquiries.

'They could care less ... Who cares about Jet?" Booker said. Booker said Martin himself also was under the impression incorrect, as it turns out - that he was among those at the meeting photographed by the Times.

"I just thought I'd go with it," Booker said.

You're much better off without that trouble-making gallbladder

Dear Dr. Solomon: I am 43 years old and my doctor tells me I'm in good health. However, I recently had my gallbladder removed and I can't get over the nagging feeling that I am not as healthy as I was before the surgery. Is this a case of post-operative blues, or is my body actually not functioning as well as it did? Doesn't the gallbladder serve some purpose? — Ms.

Dear Ms. T.: The only thing to be said for a gallbladder is "good riddance." If anything, you should be functioning even better after losing a diseased organ.

The gallbladder really serves no useful purpose loday, although it might have when our ancestors lived in caves and gorged periodically on fatty kills. It only function is the storage of bile, which is produced by the liver and is needed for the digestion and absorption of fats. When food is present in the digestive tract, the gallbladder contracts, sending bile into the small intestine.

What makes it easily expendable is that in the absence of a gallbladder. the liver secretes bile directly into the intestines. Patients who have had their gallbladders

Hoboken demands apology

HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP) - City officials, outraged that once again this waterfront community has become the butt of a joke, are demanding an apology from the latest jokester — AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland.

"Everything outside the AFL-CIO is really Hoboken," Kirkland said last week while criticizing nonaffiliated unions.

Mayor Steve Cappiello said Tuesday he wants Kirkland to apologize publicly. If an apology is not delivered, he says he will not recognize AFL-CIO affiliated unions.

"I don't know how far I can go legally," Cappiel-lo said, "but I certainly won't have my heart in dealing with them."

The AFL-CIO presi dent's remark, he said, was "uncalled for, especially because Mr. Kirkland knows the history of Hoboken. Much of union philosophy had its beginning here.

But Allen Zack, a spokesman for the AFL-CIO in Washington, said Kirkland's remark merely was an analogy based on a magazine cover depicting a New Yorker's view of the world - nothing but haystacks west of the Hudson River.

Gallstones cause most of the suffering from gallbladder distress. About 800,000 new cases are diagnosed each year, and 500,000 people undergo surgery - so you can see you have a lot of company. Solar power program scheduled

ODESSA - Odessa College will launch a new program in solar power with the opening of the 1980 spring semester.

The new two-year program is the result of an experimental course the college has offered the past year and a half in solar energy. During the two semesters it has been offered, 58 persons have taken the course.

Under the new program, a student can earn an associate in applied science degree in solar power. Odessa College will be one of only four two-year colleges in the state offering a solar power program.

The new program is an expansion of the refrigeration and air conditioning department of the college. The solar class will meet from 7 to 9:50 p.m. Tuesdays. A solar power laboratory also is scheduled As for your missing on Tuesdays from 6 to 6:50 p.m. and from 10 to 10:50 p.m. The lab also will be offered on Thursdays from 6 to 10:50 p.m.

Persons interested in signing up for the new solar power program can register early for the spring semester through Dec. 14 in the registrar's office at-

The program also will be offered on an open-entry basis from September through April, allowing students to sign up any Monday by contacting Norma Witcher at the college.

Weather service official Donald Gillman said the experts simply have not been able to collect enough information to make a winter forecast for the rest of the East Coast south to South Carolina, southern Florida and much of the northern Great Plains.

In its annual winter prediction, issued Wednesday, the weather service said the Midwest, South and southern Great Plains face 2-1 odds of suffering through a fourth straight nasty win-

While acknowledging that freakish weather "blew away" his prediction last winter, Gillman said his long-term forecasts generally have been 65 percent accurate or better. Turning to snow and rainfall, Gillman said there is a 55 percent chance of heavier than normal precipitation in the Rio Grande Valley, the Gulf Coast states, along the Appalachian Mountains, the upper Ohio Valley and all of the East Coast except southern Florida.

Likely to remain drier than usual is an area extending from California northeast through the Great Basin to the Northern Rockies and east to

Fuel allocation defended by dealer

AUSTIN (AP) - Elimination of the diesel fuel allocation system would hasten the demise of the family farm, a Muleshoe dealer told a House subcommittee Wednesday.

Jerry Wiedebush, who said he has both Mobil and Conoco dealerships, appeared before a House subcommittee probing diesel shortages in farming Fuel shortages have curtailed harvests and delayed planting of crops in various parts of Texas, the subcommittee's hearing notice said. Wiedebush criticized oil company allocations, which he said deny dealers flexibility in selling diesel to farmers. "Mobil sets the prices and tells me what I can do,"

Wiedebush said if he loses a customer, Mobil will not permit him to take on a new one or sell anybody more diesel than he bought the year before.

He predicted a severe problem in coming months "No customer is completely out, but I am afraid this is going to get progressively worse. When the farmers get to doing their heavy work, tilling the land to put in their crops, I am afraid we are going to be in a sad situation up there," he said.

Rep. Foster Whaley, D-Pampa, asked why not simply put diesel on a "supply and demand basis and let the high dollar rule?"

Wiedebush said large dealers and large farmers would end up with all the available fuel because they could pay the price.

"The big guy would black market the fuel to his neighbor. ... It would still escalate the prices. ... The big ones are getting bigger and the small ones are getting out," he said.

Larry Webb, manager of the Bovina Wheat Growers Cooperative, said several farmers in his area could not get diesel.

Kennedy suggests agriculture policy

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, saying the Carter administration is giving farmers "a legacy of toil and trouble," is recommending five steps "toward a more effective farm policy for the 1980s.

Campaigning in Iowa, where delegates to the Democratic National Convention will be chosen at party caucuses Jan. 21, Kennedy noted in a statement issued today that the Department of Agriculture announced recently net farm income would drop an estimated 20 percent in 1980.

"Consumers will be paying more for food, they said, but farmers' income will decline," Kennedy

"That is a legacy of toil and trouble the farmers of Iowa do not need and should not be forced to endure. That is not the kind of farm policy the people of America want. And it is not the kind of farm policy I would have as president." Without going into detail, Kennedy outlined a five-step program to improve rail transportation, guarantee adequate credit to farmers, set a stronger trade policy for agricultural goods, provide essential social services to rural communities and develop alternative energy sources, particularly gasohol.

Kennedy, who is challenging Carter for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination, criticized the administration for inaction in each of the five

Referring to problems Iowa farmers are having transporting their crops to market, Kennedy said:

"While government delays, the problem becomes a crisis. Road beds decay. The freight car shortage worsens. Branch lines are abandoned. Lifelines from farm to market disappear as railroads drift into bankruptcy.'

Soviets buy more corn from U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department says the Soviet Union has bought an additional 1.7 million metric tons of U.S. corn.

Officials said Tuesday the grain is for delivery through Sept. 30, 1980. The latest sale boosted to nearly 12.4 million metric tons the amount of grain the Soviet Union has bought for delivery in 1979-80. That breaks down to about 8 million metric tons of corn and 4.4 million of

Earlier, the United States gave the Soviet Union permission to buy up to 25 million metric tons of corn and wheat this year. About 15.7 million metric tons were shipped in 1978-79. A metric ton is about 2,205 pound and is equal to 39.4 bushels of corn or 36.7 bushels of wheat. Thus, the latest corn sale involves about 67 million bush-

Food prices climbing slower than others

WASHINGTON (AP) - Food prices are still climbing but not as fast as other costs of living, says an Agriculture Department economist. In fact, J.B. Penn says, food prices have been "a drag on the overall inflation rate" in recent months. In the threemonth period of August, September and October, food prices rose at an annual rate of 6.8 percent.

Comparatively, he said Tuesday, all items measured by the government's price index rose at an annual rate of 13.2 percent in those months, which included a 17 percent gain for housing and 13 percent for transportation.

Barring what he called "cataclysmic events," Penn said retail food prices may increase only moderately this winter as larger supplies of pork and poultry reach consumers.

Penn said he expected food prices to gain "something less than 1 percent" in November and that the overall rise for this year is estimated at 11 percent, a level indicated for some months by department experts.

Looking at 1980, Penn said food prices will go up "about 8 percent" from this year's 12-month average - as USDA computes them. However, he said, the increase could range between 7 percent and 11 percent.

Penn, who is deputy administrator of the department's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service, was asked about his agency's prediction a year ago that food prices in 1979 would probably gain between 6 percent and 10 percent. with the increase "most likely" to be 7.5 percent.

What happened, he said, was that "various things occurred throughout the year that you can't anticipate a year in advance," such as severe winter weather and marketing

Could something go wrong again with the 1980 predictions?

"That seems to be the pattern, something always seems to go wrong," Penn said. "We know that ... we've seen the last two or three years a major freeze somewhere, or a flood in California, or a strike in the lettuce fields, or something

"But as economists, we look at the underlying factors and try to take into account the fundamentals ... We can't predict cataclysmic events."

Penn's comments followed a Labor Department report showing prices of food and beverages gained 0.7 percent in October. Food alone, he said, increased 0.8 percent last

Prices of food in groceries increased 0.7 percent over

September, while the cost of restaurant meals rose 0.9 percent.

Penn said the October increase includes a 5.9 percent gain in the prices of fresh vegetables, primarily lettuce and

Fresh fruits, on the other hand, dropped 4.1 percent in October and reflected "the large apple and orange crops" available this fall. But beef prices, which have a major impact on the food budgets of most families, increased 0.8 percent in October. Compared with a year ago, those were up 21.2 percent.

Pork and poultry prices, on the other hand, declined 1.1 percent and 2.6 percent, respectively last month. Retail pork prices were down 6.6 percent from a year ago and poultry off 3.9 percent.

Agriculture Department figures last week showed retail prices of U.S. Choice beef actually declined about 1 percent in October, but Penn said that did not take into account hamburger and other types of beef used in computing the Labor Department's prices.

Penn said marketing spreads of food — the difference between what farmers are paid for raw products and prices paid by consumers - increased by 1.7 percent last month. He said the overall widening of those margins "probably pretty closely reflects" the higher costs of processing, transporting and merchandising food.

Midland Wildcat Committee honors officials of Houston Oil & Minerals

Joe C. Walter, chairman of the board of Houston Oil & Minerals Corp., and Fox F. Benton Jr., president and chief executive officer, were all smiles in Midland Wednesday.

Both were more than pleased that The Midland Wildcat Committee was honoring them and other officials and directors of the company at a reception in the Petroleum Club.

Another big reason for the big smiles was the Senate's action Tuesday passing legislation, 53-41, that would free from the "windfall profits" tax the first 1,000 barrels of oil pumped daily by independent oil op-

'That certainly was a move in the right direction," Benton said. "It also is an assurance that the Senate will fight for the legislation in committee before it goes to the House.

Both Benton and Walter expressed a belief that the domestic oil industry, with the present status of legislation and other factors, has a very good decade to look forward to.

"The next 10 years, unless punitive action is taken songress, should be very attractive for the oil industry, Benton said.

Houston Oil & Minerals opened its office in Midland 15 months ago. Vince Loftis is the manager of the Western Division office here. The office also is in charge of operations guided by the company's office in

Loftis said the company is completed staffed in Midland. "We have 25 people in Midland, and I feel that our staff is well-qualified to handle the exploration operations of the compa-% ny for several years."

Loftis also said that HO&M's exploration budget for the Permian Basin area would be increased in During 1979, the company has drilled eight wildcats and five development projects in the West Texas portion of the Permian Basin.

perforations from 3,921 to 3,939 feet: The gas-oil ratio is 154-1. The pay was acidized with 2,200 gallons

Total depth is 3.978 feet and 5.5-inch pipe is set on bottom. Plugged back depth is 3.966 feet.

The lower Clear Fork was topped at 3,814 feet on kelly bushing elevation of 2,452 feet.

Location is 894 feet from north and 786 feet from west lines of section 11, block NN, GC&SF survey.

Dameron No. 1-3 Laura Hoover Estate, three and three-eighths miles northeast of No. 2-11-A W. P. Hoover, finaled for a daily flow of 190 barrels of 39.2-gravity oil, no water, through a 12/64-inch choke and perforations from 4,173 to 4,182 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 459-1 and the pay was acidized with 1,000 gallons.

The lower Clear Fork was topped at 3,927 feet on kelly bushing elevation of 2.102 feet.

The total depth is 4,332 feet, 4.5-inch pipe is set at 4,295 feet and plugged back depth is 4,270 feet.

Wellsite is 3,144 feet from north and 554 feet from east lines of section 3, block NNN, Vance Vickory survey. This discovery is separated from

No. 2-11-A by a 15,003-foot dry hole and is 7/8 mile southwest of dual Clear Fork and Strawn gas production in the American field.

Oil-state senators making effort to block amendment

By JIM LUTHER

WASHKNGTON (AP) - Oil-state senators, fearing a setback in their efforts to weaken President Carter's "windfall-profits" tax, are trying to block an amendment that would cost the oil industry $22.5 billion over the next decade.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and his allies began a talkathon Wednesday after the Senate, on a 58-39 vote, refused to kill the amendment.

Dole and Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd said they expected to break the stalemate sometime

The amendment, sponsored by Sens. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., and John Chafee, R-R.I., would raise from 60 percent to 75 percent the tax on future price increases of "new" oil, which generally is any oil discovered between 1973 and 1978.

Earlier this week, the Senate approved an amendment that would slash the impact of the tax by $10 billion by exempting the first 1,000 barrels of crude oil pumped daily by an independent operator.

The Senate version of the tax would cost the oil industry some $11 billion from 1980 through 1990. In contrast, the tax passed by the House and favored by Carter would cost $277 billion.

Meanwhile, other senators stepped up demands that Carter reimpose price controls on domestically produced crude oil until Congress approves a tough tax.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Energy Committee, said watered-down tax being considered in the Senate amounts to little more than an effort to "whitewash" a huge oil industry windfall.

Because of the weakening of the tax, Jackson told colleagues, it is up to Carter to protect consumers. "Anything short of price control reimposition would cheat the American people

Lea re-entry announced

V. H. Westbrook of Hobbs, N.M., No. 1-W State of New Mexico is a rentry project in the Arkansas Junction, West pool of Lea County.

Originally drilled to 12,245 feet and plugged, the project now will be cleaned out to 5,700 feet.

for the benefit of the oil industry," he said.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who is challenging Cartdr for the Democratic presidential nomination, called again on the president to pledge to veto the tax bill unless it takes at least 50 percent of the oil industry's "windfall" over the next 11 years.

The proposed "windfall-profits" tax actually is not a tax on profits, but on the extra revenue oil companies will gain from the lifting of federal controls on domestic oil prices.

Carter decided earlier this year that federal controls on crude oil produced in this country have held prices artificially low and have denied the industry the money it needs to increase exploration and production.

He began phasing out those controls and proposed the new tax to take from the oil industry part of the expected $1 trillion increase in consumer prices from 1980 through 1990. Carter wants the revenue to pay for developing alternative fuels, improving the nation's transportation system and helping lower income Americans cope with rising fuel costs.

Subtracting existing state and federal taxes would leave the industry about $435 billion of the $1 trillion "windfall." The House passed a tax, similar to what Carter wanted, that would take about 62 percent of the $435 billion. The bill being considered by the Senate would tax away only about 27 percent.

The Bradley-Chafee amendment would cost the oil industry another $22.5 billion, thus increasing the Senate tax to about 32 percent. Their proposal to raise the tax on "new" oil generally is considered to have the best chance of approval of any amendment to raise the tax above the level voted by the Finance

Oil discovered between 1973 and 1978 now sells for an average of about $13 a barrel. With removal of price controls, the price is expected to rise gradually to more than $30.

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Texas Panhandle and western Oklahoma feedlot roundup. Confirmed: 2700.

Trade extremely slow in the Panhandle area Wednesday. Slaughter steers fully 1.00 lower, heifers steady to 50 lower, but not enough sold of either class to fully test trends. Feedlots reported limited interest from most buying sources. Sales on 2400 slaughter steers and 300 heifers. Note: all live cattle prices based on net weights fob the feedlot after 4 percent shrink.
Slaughter steers: good and mostly choice, 70-80 percent choice, 2.3 1100-1125 lb 68.00-69.00; most sales early. Mixed good and choice 2-3 1100-1175 lb 67.00-67.50.
Slaughter heifers: good and mostly choice 2-3 850-950 lb 67.00.

Slaughter heifers: good and mostly choice 2-3 850-950 lb 67.00.

market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market moved higher today, encouraged, analysts said, by President Carter's show of strength at his Wednesday night news conference. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues was up 4.86 to 835.32 at noon. Advancing issues outnumbered declines by a 5-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts ascribed the market's strength to reaction to President Carter's press conference, at which he said the United States "will never yield to blackmail," in response to a question about the Iranian cri-

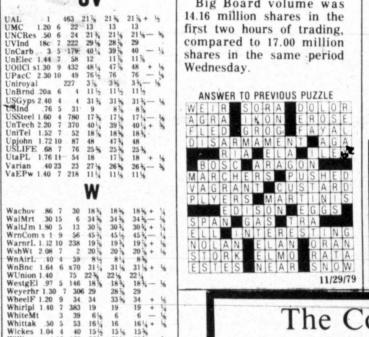

They were also encouraged by the change in foreign ministers in Iran, saving it showed the Iranian government's volatility 'The president showed strength yesterday and what's happened with Khomeini's group shows instability," said Robert Stovall, an analyst at Dean Witter.

Itel topped the NYSE most-active list at noon, rising 1% to 71%

The NYSE's composite index of its more than 1,500 common stocks rose .26 to 61.26. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 1.11 to 228.17.

Big Board volume was 14.16 million shares in the first two hours of trading, compared to 17.00 million shares in the same period Wednesday.

BUSINESS MIRROR Resales proving loan availability

BY JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - Many builders, sellers and lenders have been telling potential homebuyers the same thing in the past few weeks: Your chances of getting a mortgage are minimal because of money

But it is not necessarily so, and the existing home resale rate could not have sailed along at an annual rate of 3.9 million units in October if the availability of loans had suddenly and totally dried up.

It is true that mortgage money is tighter since the Federal Reserve imposed stricter credit controls on Oct. 6 and that sales are being slowed. But the November resale rate will probably exceed 3.5 mil-

It is true also that some thrift institutions, such as savings banks and savings associations, have almost withdrawn from the market because they cannot compete for savings - to re-lend - with other institutions. And it is true, too, that in more than 20 states the presence of usury ceilings has drastically cut into the willingness of lenders to lend. Why lend at 11 percent, they ask, when the going rate is 13 or more? All true, but it is also true that money is available. From whom? From sellers, and in rarer instances from real estate agents.

Solid statistics are not available, but it has become common in some areas this year, especially of late, for sellers to provide temporary financing in order to keep a potential sale from dying. Arrangements vary, but a typical procedure is for the seller to accept a down payment of perhaps 20 percent of the sale price and grant a two-year loan for the remainder at the prevailing interest rate.

Few buyers are able to pay the entire cost in two years, so monthly payments are scheduled on the basis of a 20-year or 25-year loan. The procedure leaves a "balloon" to be paid at the end of two years, when it is assumed the buyer can obtain bank

Since real estate brokers also suffer from lost sales, a small number have themselves offered temporary financing, withdrawing savings from institutions and sometimes obtaining a greater return

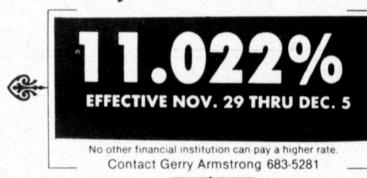

In some instances second mortgage money, often at rates of 18 percent or more in states without usury ceilings, enters the picture, although mainly for multifamily dwellings.

Other procedures for facilitating sales include mortgage assumptions, in which the buyer takes over the existing mortgage, and installment sales, in which the buyer agrees to periodic lump sum pay-

Army ordered to upgrade discharges

WASHINGTON (AP) - Thousands of ex-soldiers booted from the Army after urinalyses showed they used drugs will receive honorable discharges if a court order is allowed to stand.

The former servicemen would have their less than honorable discharges upgraded under an order issued Wednesday by U.S. District Judge Barrington

Parker said the Army acted illegally when it mustered out with less than honorable discharges soldiers who were forced to submit urine samples. It was the first time a court has ordered automatic upgrading of discharges for a large group of ex-servicemen, according to lawyers in the case and Pentagon officials. The number of men involved could be close to 10,000, Parker said.

Royce C. Lamberth, chief of the civil section of the U.S. attorney's office in Washington, said the government is considering an appeal.

He said the Army does not want to upgrade discharges "without considering a soldier's overall service record."

Barton Stichman, who filed the suit on behalf of a discharged soldier, said the ruling would increase employment opportunities for the men who received general and undesirable discharges. He cited a 1973 article in the Army's Military Law Review, which said employers and educators reacted negatively toward applicants whose discharges from the service were less than honorable.

Most of the dismissed soldiers received general discharges and remained eligible for veterans benefits. The small percentage who were given undesirable discharges would become eligible for benefits under Parker's ruling. "General" and "undesirable" are the two categories of less than honorable discharges that are handed out without a court-martial.

Parker told the Army to search its records to determine the number of former soldiers who would qualify for the upgrading. Army news releases also should be used to locate the men, he said.

Stichman, who represented Antonio A. Giles Jr., said most of those discharged after a compulsory urinalysis were let go between 1971 and 1973. He said former President Richard M. Nixon ordered the tests to locate drug users in the military, especially among servicemen serving in the Vietnam con-

Giles, who was discharged in 1974, sued in U.S. District Court after failing to win an upgrading before military review boards. While Parker upheld Giles' position in August, it wasn't until Wednesday that he ordered relief for the whole class

"This is the first class action ordering blanket upgrades on discharges in the history of the Army or the other services," he said. He was uncertain how the other services would react.

Stichman's successful argument was that the forced urinalysis violated the Uniform Code of Military Justice. The code says no member of the armed forces should be compelled to give incriminating evidence.

Stichman filed the case while working for the Veterans' Education Project of the American Civil Liberties Union. He encouraged servicemen to obtain more information from his organization's tollfree number: 800-424-5402.

Stichman said his office would welcome calls from Navy and Air Force men discharged under similar circumstances as Giles.

FBI agents confiscate recordings

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Between $10 million and $15 million in counterfeit tape recordings have been confiscated by FBI agents at two Fort Worth warehouses, federal authorities say. "We thought it was big, but not this big." David Rarity, special agent in charge of the Fort Worth office, said Wednesday.

Agents said they expected to search a small, illegal family business. Instead they walked into what they believe to be one of the larest production and distribution centers for counterfeit tape recordings in the coun-

"We were stunned by what we saw," said Rarity.

Thousands of cassettes, apparently unauthorized reproductions of tapes with recording industry copyrights, filled rows of racks that lined one warehouse, authorities said.

In the other, agents found more tapes and what is believed to the the "counterfeiters' reproduction center," containing sophisticated recording equipment, cassette holders and professionally-printed labels identical to those of legitimate recording companies.

"The magnitude has overwhelmed us. We are just beginning to assess what we confiscated," said Rarity.

"They had everything from religious music to Eric Clapton to Pat Boone's White Christmas," he said. "I think they were gearing up for the holidays - there was a lot of Christmas music.'

No arrests were made Wednesday and Rarity said no complaints are expected to be filed against suspects soon.

Truly Unique Design

Houses for Sale

Wall-to-wall carpeting, new dishwasher, range/oven, garbage disposal, washers and dryers, plus a fireplace.

Extraordinary Value

With home prices spiraling, Idlewilde Village is a great value, affordably priced, within the budget of most homebuyers. If your income was less than $30,000.00 in 1978 or 1979, you may be able to buy under a unique mortgaging program.

Featuring

. 95% financing

. Approximately 91/2 % interest . 30 year loan

Apartment dwellers paying as little as $225.00 per month may be surprised to learn that they may be wasting over $600.00 per month by renting, instead of buying.

Don't Delay

Stop by our office at 4501 W. Wadley for a free computerized personal budget analysis, or write P.O. Box 5185, Midland, Texas 79701.

Duplex ownership gives many people the opportunity to buy their first home, with the tenant helping pay the mortgage.

...But Hurry, these homes will not be available for long!
