Violence seen in Libya, Puerto Rico

Embassy looted, burned; Staff escapes safely

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Some 2,000 Libyans sacked the U.S. Embassy in Tripoli and set fire to the four-story building but the embassy staff escaped unhurt.

The State Department filed a strong protest with the Libyan government and implied that it was responsible for the attack.

It was the second attack on an American embassy in a Moslem country in response to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's campaign to end U.S. influence in the Islamic world. On Nov. 21, a mob burned the embassy in Islamabad, Pakistan, killing two U.S. Marines and two Pakistani staff members.

Charge d'Affaires William Eagleton's wife said about a dozen staff members were working in the Tripoli embassy at midmorning Sunday when a group of demonstrators arrived "quietly chanting." She said the staff "immediately locked up," and several male officials went to the Green Square, a central plaza several blocks away, where they "saw a large mob. They got back to the embassy and within five minutes the mobs arrived."

Consul Vincent Principe said the Libyans began "banging on the door and made it known to us they wanted to get inside. We just thought it prudent to leave."

The Americans fled through a back door and took refuge in their homes.

Only one Libyan policeman was on duty in front of the embassy at the time, and Libyan officials ignored appeals from the embassy for reinforcements, the State Department said in Washington. The embassy's Marine guard was withdrawn from Tripoli some time ago at the request of the Libyan government, the department said.

The State Department said the mob apparently used two-by-fours to break through the front door while some of the demonstrators climbed up to a second-floor balcony. JANA, the official Libyan news agency, said the mob burned an American flag and effigies of President Carter and the deposed shah of Iran. U.S. officials said there was serious fire damage to the consular section on the first floor and damage also on the second floor.

State Department officials in Washington said the attack on the building set off an automatic tear-gas security system. JANA charged that the embassy staff "fired toxic gases believed to be used only by the military, confirming that the embassy's employees are military personnel." It claimed the gas seriously injured several students.

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said the U.S. government protested the "inadequate and unresponsive" security protection.

Asked whether the attack had the backing of the Libyan government, he replied: "Libya is not a country in which demonstrations and other public manifestations happen in the same way in which they happen in this country."

JANA said the Libyan government protested the embassy's use of gas.

Mrs. Eagleton said police reinforcements arrived after the mob scattered, "but we have protection now at the embassy and our houses." The State Department said Libyan firemen extinguished the fires.

Col. Moammar Khadafi, the head of the Libyan government, in an interview with Italian journalist Oriana Fallaci published Sunday, expressed strong support for Khomeini in his confrontation with the United States. He said if the United States attacked Iran, "we would not remain neutral. Iranians are our brothers."

However, he said he would try to persuade the Iranians to release the 50 Americans held hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Following the attack on the U.S. Embassy in Pakistan, the State Department advised Americans in Libya and 10 other Moslem countries whose presence there was not essential to leave. Twelve of the 26 embassy dependents in Tripoli left last week, and the other 14 were to leave today.

There are 2,500 to 3,000 Americans in Libya, which supplies about 10 percent of the foreign oil the United States imports. Although Khadafi's relations with the United States are usually stormy and he has nationalized the Libyan holdings of most Western oil companies, he still allows American and other foreign experts to work in the oil industry under Libyan supervision.

Choi accepts draft, will run for caretaker post

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Acting President Choi Kyu-hah today accepted a draft to be a candidate in the election to choose a caretaker successor to assassinated President Park Chung-hee. The martial law command announced the court martial of Park's assassin will begin Tuesday.

Choi, whose election was virtually assured, said it was his "historic mission" to preserve constitutional government in South Korea.

Nearly one-third of the members of the electoral college, which will choose Park's successor without debate, signed a letter recommending Choi as the best candidate "to lead the nation in settling the current political situation in accordance with the aspirations of the majority of the people."

Choi, 60, who was premier under Park, is expected to be the only candidate for president when the 2,560-member electoral college meets Thursday. The draft letter was signed by 827 members and Choi needs only 1,281, a majority, to win.

Choi has said the next president should not serve out the remaining five years of Park's term, but should oversee a revision of the constitution and prepare the country for a presidential election.

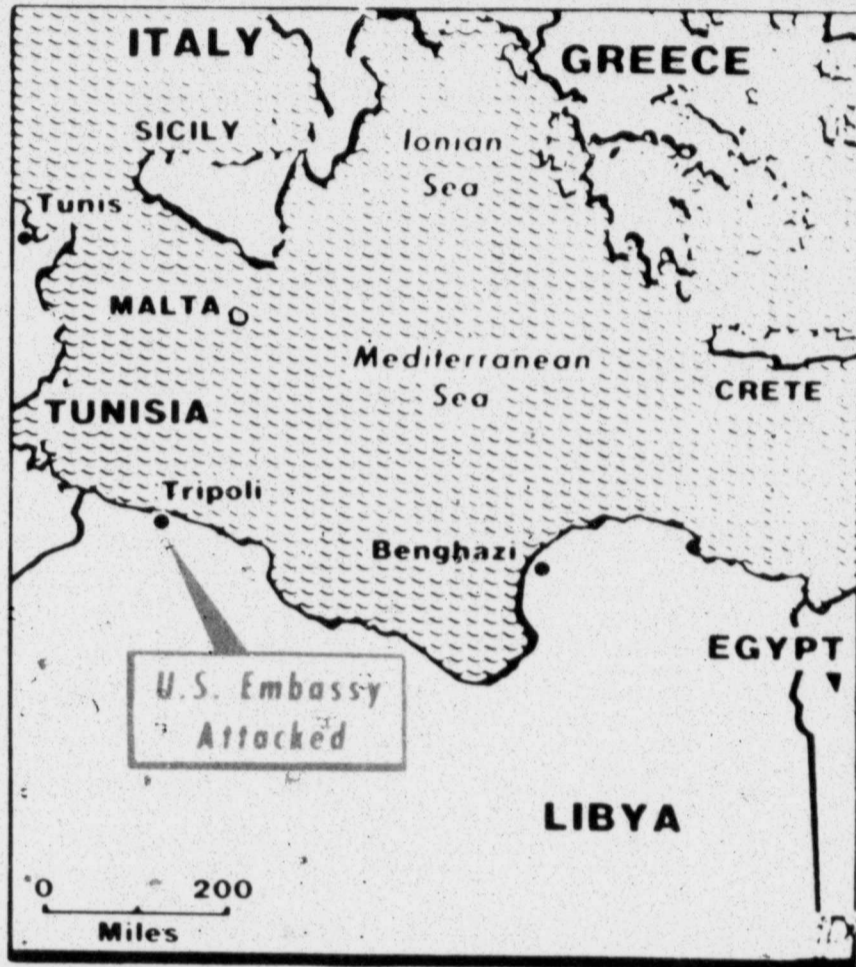

The national assembly has formed a committee to revise the 1972 constitution which Park wrote to ensure his one-man rule. The committee held its first meeting today to embark on the reforms, which could take one or two years.

Meanwhile, the martial law command announced that the court martial of former intelligence chief Kim Jae-kyu and seven others indicted on murder and other charges in connection with Park's assassination will begin Tuesday.

It said Lt. Gen. Kim Yung-sun will be the presiding judge at the court martial, but gave no details on the size or composition of the jury. Kim Jae-kyu and those charged with murder or rebellion face a maximum penalty of death.

About a dozen civilian lawyers, most of whom have defended leading dissidents, will defend Kim-Jae-kyu and the others, informed sources said.

Since Park's assassination Oct. 26 during a dinner at a Korean Central Intelligence Agency "safe house," the government has been easing up on some of the more repressive aspects of his regime.

Two killed, 10 wounded in attack on Navy bus

TOA BAJA, Puerto Rico (AP) — Unidentified gunmen ambushed a busload of U.S. Navy personnel this morning in a barrage of pistol and shotgun fire, killing two servicemen and wounding 10 other persons, authorities reported.

The wounded included three women. One of the women and two or three of the men were hospitalized in serious condition.

No one claimed immediate responsibility for the attack, the first fatal assault against the U.S. military in Puerto Rico in almost a decade. Violence by underground pro-independence groups generally has been limited to attacks on property, ten others, officers said.

Rear Adm. Arthur K. Knoizen, senior U.S. naval officer in the Caribbean, called it a "heinous crime we cannot tolerate."

The Navy said names of the victims were being withheld until next-of-kin could be notified. But local authorities said the two dead men were the bus driver and a radar technician.

The attack occurred at 6:20 a.m. (4:20 CST) as the yellow school bus with Navy markings left a naval communications facility in Toa Baja, 10 miles west of San Juan on Puerto Rico's north coast, taking 18 persons to work at a radar station 1 1/2 miles away.

Unconfirmed reports said the gunmen — said to number at least four — used two vans in the ambush, one blocking the way along a deserted section of the narrow road, a San Juan police spokesman said.

Authorities here said the attackers opened fire with a heavy-gauge shotgun and pistols, apparently .22-caliber and .38-caliber.

One of the survivors said the driver was killed immediately when he was shot under the right eye. One of the passengers grabbed the wheel, spun the bus around and drove it back to the Sabana Seca communications facility, the survivor said before Navy officers took him away from reporters. His name was not given.

The terrorists abandoned one white van and fled in the second van, police said. Police forces spread out through the area to search for them.

Threat to try hostages renewed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The shah's move to Texas brought new threats to put the American hostages on trial as Iranians voted in a referendum to approve Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's new Islamic constitution.

Tehran Radio announced the Revolutionary Council has set up a center for national mobilization to carry out Khomeini's orders to create a people's army ready for battle against America.

The government radio also said Iran will ask the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to abandon the dollar as the currency for the international oil trade medium of payment and instead use a "basket" of strong currencies.

Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said the shah's flight Sunday from a New York hospital to an Air Force base outside San Antonio was part of "a plot against our revolution. If the United States decides to continue the crisis...the trial of the spies here will begin."

"If the shah leaves the United States for another country, we will try the hostages," said a spokesman for the students holding the 50 Americans who on Sunday began their fifth week of captivity in the U.S. Embassy.

Another of the militants said the shah's move from New York to Texas was "another trick taken by the CIA to protect the shah. But everyone in the world knows he cannot be protected against the will of God and the will of the people."

The embassy occupiers also said that one of the hostages had confessed to being a CIA spy, and that Charge d'Affaires L. Bruce Laingen and two senior aides being held separately at the Foreign Ministry were "proved to be" spies and must be kept and guarded carefully.

Laingen and his aides happened to be at the Foreign Ministry when the students occupied the embassy on Nov. 4 and demanded that the U.S. government return Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to Iran for trial. Ghotbzadeh said last week that the three diplomats could leave the country if they could get to the airport safely, but he reversed this after the students at the embassy complained.

The shah arrived in the United States from Mexico Oct. 22. He underwent treatment for cancer and gall stones in New York and is to recuperate for an indefinite period in Texas.

Egypt has offered the shah asylum, and Egyptian officials said they believed the deposed monarch was likely to remain in the United States for several more weeks. U.S. officials said nothing about the shah's eventual destination. President Carter, asked whether the shah might be offered permanent U.S. asylum, said, "I cannot answer that now."

Khomeini's forces overthrew the shah in February, and in a referendum in the spring more than 90 percent of the electorate approved Khomeini's plan to set up an Islamic republic. Today and Sunday, the voters completed the change from the monarchy by voting on a constitution making Iran a theocratic state with Khomeini as the nation's leader for life.

Although overwhelming approval was expected in the two-day vote, middle-of-the-road and leftist political parties boycotted the referendum because the 78-year-old Khomeini would become supreme political leader without the electoral approval of the people.

The Kurdish, Arab, Baluchi and Turkomen minorities also joined the boycott because the constitution failed to recognize their demands for autonomy. Most of the minorities are Sunni Moslems. Khomeini and most other Iranians are Shiite Moslems.

The U.N. Security Council scheduled another session on the U.S.-Iranian crisis this afternoon. During the first two sessions Saturday and Sunday all speakers condemned the taking of the hostages and called for their release.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said he expected a resolution now being drafted to be adopted by mid-week. U.S. Ambassador Donald McHenry predicted action by the Council today or Tuesday.

The Iranians are boycotting the session, contending the meeting has been stacked in advance in favor of the United States, but they said they would send a low-ranking administrative officer to the United Nations.

Shah 'in hiding' at Texas base

By GREG THOMPSON

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The deposed shah of Iran rested at a secret location somewhere on Lackland Air Force base today, where he was placed under the protection of the U.S. military for the first time since the Iranian crisis erupted.

The surprise, pre-dawn transfer from New York Sunday was aimed at providing "a secure convalescent facility" for the ailing shah until the U.S. government finds him a place to live. White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said.

However, several hours after being given a fourth-floor ward at Lackland's Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital, the shah was later moved out of the hospital to another location on the base, a top Lackland source confirmed.

Officials would not give a reason for the move, and would not comment on speculation it was for security reasons. The nine-story hospital is located on the fringe of the base and in clear view of a busy highway.

Shah, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, 60, went to New York's Cornell Medical Center Oct. 22 for treatment of lymph cancer and for gallbladder surgery. A mob of Moslem militants holding 50 Americans hostage at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran has demanded the return of the exiled monarch to Iran.

The shah's transfer places him under guard of a U.S. military force for the first time since the seizure of the U.S. Embassy, and offers more security in any future move the shah may make from here. In Iran, Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said the move does not affect the hostages one way or the other.

Officials at Lackland, where air men and officers learn basic training, refused to discuss any details of the shah's arrival. They barred all reporters and photographers from the base, using the presence of guard dogs to encourage the mass departures after the order was given.

Extra guards were added throughout the base and hospital areas. Officials also said FBI agents were helping with security.

Hospital visitors were still allowed Sunday, but were screened twice before allowed in the hospital lobby. Guards recorded the license plate numbers of all vehicles entering the base.

Will Panama be 'next stop' for deposed shah of Iran?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former Shah of Iran probably will go to Panama at least briefly, a newspaper in the Central American country reports.

His arrival "is considered to be imminent," the newspaper Critica said, "in view of a request made by the Panamanian government as a contribution to a negotiated solution between the United States and Iran."

A U.S. official, who asked not to be identified, commented: "It's news to me." The official said there was no effort by the State Department to arrange refuge for the shah in Panama.

According to Critica, representatives of the shah "put out feelers" about buying an island off Panama's Pacific coast.

Attack on Americans in Libya forcing reassessment of security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Libyan government has offered "profuse apologies" for the attack Sunday on the U.S. embassy in Tripoli and has increased the guard there, but the response to a U.S. protest was inadequate, State Department officials said today.

Patients fear shah's presence might endanger their safety

By GREG THOMPSON

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Many patients were not exactly thrilled about sharing the usually placid Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital with the deposed Shah of Iran. Some, in fact, said they feared the shah's presence might even endanger their own safety.

But things were very, very different after the shah's arrival. Extra guards manned the outer gates, turning back almost all reporters, checking identifications and recording the license numbers of all cars attempting to enter.

and confirmed that the exiled ruler had exclusive use of a ward. Eberhart admitted that "very few" patients had been moved to accommodate the shah. The hospital is rarely more than about 80 percent full, but there was no patient count released Sunday, he added.

Alleged dispute ends in shooting

ANDREWS — An alleged dispute between two brothers in a Big Spring bar Saturday night apparently climaxed about 12:10 p.m. Sunday with the shooting of an Andrews man.

The cancer-stricken Shah Mohammod Reza Pahlavi was quietly transferred early Sunday morning to the heavily guarded 1,000-bed medical center for an indefinite convalescence. He was the lone patient in an isolated ward, patients and officials reported.

Mourners say goodbye to Zeppo

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — About 150 mourners have said goodbye to the Marx Brothers comedy team and its last survivor, Zeppo, who died of lung cancer at the age of 78.

After appearing in the first five films made by the zany brothers in the early 1930s, Zeppo broke from his four older brothers to become one of the nation's biggest theatrical agents.

"We are really marking two funerals today, not one," Rabbi Joseph Hurwitz told the mourners at the memorial service Sunday. "We're marking the final passing of one of America's greatest institutions, the Marx Brothers, and the passing of Zeppo Marx himself."

Among those attending the services at a local funeral home were Frank Sinatra and his wife, Barbara, who was Zeppo's second wife, former baseball manager Leo Durocher, actor William Demarest, and Groucho Marx's longtime companion Erin Fleming.

Zeppo "was almost as funny as his brother Groucho, and much more polite," Ms. Fleming said after the services.

Zeppo died Friday at Eisenhower Medical Center in Rancho Mirage. His body had been cremated.

Authority on evolution of mammals dies at 70

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Bryan Patterson, retired Harvard professor of vertebrate paleontology and authority on the evolution of mammals, is dead at the age of 70, the university announced.

Patterson died Saturday at New England Deaconess Hospital in Boston.

In 1971, Patterson, who was born in London, gained worldwide attention when his expedition to Kenya unearthed the jawbone of a 5-million-year-old ancestor of modern mankind near Lake Rudolph, Harvard said.

Four years earlier in Kenya, Patterson uncovered another "Australopithecus" fragment 2½-million-years-old, dating human evolution farther back than the celebrated findings of the late L.S.B. Leakey at Olduvai Gorge, Tanzania, during the early 1960s.

Patterson leaves his wife Beatrice Cain Patterson and a son, Alan Patterson. There will be no funeral.

A Harvard memorial service will be announced in January, the university said.

WWI drummers, buglers need fresh, old blood

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — A band of World War I drummers and buglers is looking for some fresh, old blood.

Faced with the threat of having to disband because of declining membership, the World War I Drum and Bugle Corps in this Upper Peninsula community has launched a recruiting drive, complete with a poster patrolled after Uncle Sam's "I Want You" plea.

"Someplace, there have to be some guys who served in World War I and can play a bugle," said Arago Guck, one of 17 surviving members of the corps and one of the youngest at 82. "If we can find a few more guys, we can keep the band going."

To qualify, you have to be a World War I veteran and know how to play the drum or bugle. But that hasn't always been the case, according to Guck, who didn't learn to play until he was 65.

"They got me because they wanted somebody who could walk," he said. "They told me I didn't have to know how to play, I could fake it. But I said, 'Hell, if I have to carry this thing, I might as well learn to play it.'"

The corps, which was formed by Sault Ste. Marie veterans in the 1930s, has members ranging in age from 80 to 99. Many of the original 30-plus members have died, and only 11 were well enough to turn out for this year's annual Veterans Armistice Day Parade Nov. 11.

Oral "Moose" Lacombe, the group's 83-year-old leader, fears the band won't have enough healthy members to take part in next year's parade. So he came up with the idea of a recruiting drive.

Bill Rabe, a non-member spokesman for the group, said the corps would consider raising money to move new recruits to the area permanently.

"Somewhere in Michigan, there must be World War I vets who can play the bugle and are living all alone," Rabe told the Detroit Free Press.

A spokesman for the Veteran's Administration in Washington, Strat Appleton, said that of the 4.2 million men who served World War II, "several thousand" are still alive.

What's important about the corps, Lacombe said, is that it has "kept a lot of these guys alive. It's been good for us. It's the reason people keep saying, 'Gee, you guys don't seem that old.'"

Texaco group visits

Eight top executives of Texaco Inc., from Harrison, N.Y., Washington, D.C., and Houston hold the special guest spotlight today in the Tall City.
This is certainly as it should be when such a group of distinguished petroleum industry leaders visit.
Midlanders are both proud and pleased to have them here, and a great big, typically West Texas WELCOME is directed to the visiting party, several of whom have been in Midland on previous occasions.
The Texaco delegation is headed by Maurice F. Granville, chairman of the board, and John K. McKinley, president, both of Harrison.
Others in the party include Alfred C. DeCrane Jr., executive vice president, and Richard B. Palmer, senior vice president, both of Harrison; William K. Tell Jr., senior vice president, Washington, D.C., and L. Weldon Cala-han, Gerald F. Rome and R. Earle Wright, all vice presidents, Houston.

Dosh T. McCreary, manager of Texaco's Midland Division, is the official host to the visitors during their stay here.
The Texaco executives are the guests of The Midland Wildcat Committee at a reception being held in their honor late this afternoon in the Petroleum Club.
Texaco has been a good corporate citizen here for many years and has had a leading role in the growth and development of the city and region. Many of its personnel have and long have had prominent roles in community activities of various kinds. Texaco and its people very definitely are an important part of Midland.
Again, it is great to have a number of the company's top executives here on this particular occasion, and it is hoped they will return to Midland at every opportunity.

Tellico Dam complete

Progress usually prevails in most cases, and thank goodness that it does. It just takes longer in some instances.
Anyway, the announcement of a couple of days ago that the Tellico Dam over in Tennessee has been completed and the water of the Little Tennessee River has started filling a vast reservoir, was good news, indeed, to many persons who have followed the ups and downs of the project for years.
The $116 million project has had to overcome any number of barriers ranging from powerful environmentalists to the tiny snail darter, which almost caused the Tellico project to be scrapped, even when it was nearing completion. Congressional action was necessary in this case.
It had been touch-and-go all the way on the dam, first envisioned in the 1930s and 1940s at a cost of $10 million.
Environmentalists contended it was the work of wasteful politicians. They claimed further that it would destroy a beautiful valley. It also was charged by the opponents, in 11 lawsuits, that it was economically unsound.
Proponents, on the other hand, testified it would benefit an economically depressed region of East Tennessee, and said it would provide jobs, bring industry, control floods and generate electricity.
Started in 1965, the project was stalled on numerous occasions while the merits were debated. It was in 1977 that the project was halted because the snail darter, a tiny fish, was endangered. This finally was settled a short time ago, after a new habitat had been found for the darter.

The long delays made the project all the more costly, but that didn't seem to bother the opponents.
It was but another example of environmental extremists attempting to block progress be it in the areas of dam construction, oil well drilling, highway building, pipeline construction, or what-have-you.
Fortunately, everything finally has worked out satisfactorily for the Tellico Dam project.

HEMISPHERE REPORT:

Coup in Bolivia was predictable, columnist reports

By WILLIAM GIANDONI
Copley News Service

William Giandoni

The United States should be pardoned for not knowing what it is doing in Bolivia.
Bolivians, too, get light-headed when they go to La Paz, the highest capital in the world, at an altitude of nearly 12,000 feet (3,600 meters).
Because there is less than half as much oxygen in the air at that height as there is at sea level, water boils at a relatively low temperature, and so do political passions.
One result is that Bolivia can claim to have had around 200 governments, mostly products of coups, in the 154 years since it obtained its independence in 1825.
It may be said that Bolivia has had more experience in democracy than most other countries, if by democracy one means the rule of the people. At least, more people have run the government of Bolivia than elsewhere in the same period of time.
Seriously, though, when Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and other State Department spokesmen waxed so eloquent about Bolivia's return to elected government, with the inauguration of President Walter Guevara Arce Aug. 8, they were taking advantage of the widespread ignorance of even the most recent Bolivian history.
Guevara was not even a candidate in the presidential elections held last May. He was named president by the Bolivian congress when it was unable to choose between the two front-runners in the popular vote. That was simply because the congress was split at least three ways — among the partisans of former President Victor Paz Estenssoro, former President Hernan Siles Zuazo and former President Gen. Hugo Banzer. Banzer, who had finished third in the popular election, had enough support in congress to ensure that neither Paz nor Siles got the votes they needed.

Of course, it can be said that Guevara was "elected," but that should not be taken to mean that the vote of the people put him in power.
The Bolivian congress' intention was that Guevara should serve only as a caretaker president until new presidential elections could be held next May.

Once in office, Guevara began maneuvering to postpone the scheduled election, extend his term a year or so, and obtain what are euphemistically called "extraordinary powers." That last was widely interpreted as an indication he was thinking in terms of setting up a dictatorship.
Neither the Bolivian armed forces nor those who back one or another of the country's still-active former presidents thought much of that.
And the stage was set for another of Bolivia's frequent coups d'etat.
It should also be noted that politically aware Bolivians are well-acquainted with the ideology of Guevara, as well as Paz and Siles. The three, along with Juan Lechin, perennial head of the Bolivian Labor Confederation (COB), were founders of the Nationalist Revolutionary Movement (MNR), which fought its way into power in 1952, and which ran the country until 1964. Despite its Marxist, "but not Communist," programs, as the State Department put it in a study prepared for President Eisenhower, the MNR's social revolution only worsened Bolivia's great problems.
So, when Col. Alberto Natusch Busch managed to gather enough support within the Bolivian armed forces to oust Guevara, Bolivians were not too surprised.

That labor leader Lechin opposed the action by calling a general strike and encouraging Bolivian workers to fight for Bolivian "democracy" was no surprise either. Lechin has been using the workers confederation for political purposes for most of the last three decades. Even, in some cases, against governments of which he formed a part.
That Col. Natusch, a man whose relatively moderate views had heartened capitalists and other non-Marxists in Bolivia, managed to hold office two weeks before the military and congress turned against him, was no great surprise either.
That is the way Bolivian democracy functions.

CHARLEY REESE
Wealth isn't created by government printing press

By CHARLEY REESE

Charley Reese

ORLANDO, Fla. — We were riding in a pickup truck along a drainage ditch between two pastures, stopping now and then to sweep the fields with binoculars for wild turkeys.
We didn't see any and didn't really expect to see any. It was too close to the camp, but like all hunters, we believe in the impossible.
"I think our generation was born in the best time," my companion remarked. "We had cheap energy, and the technology developed to the point where we didn't have to work as hard. I don't think it will ever be as good again."
It was one of those casual remarks that is full of meanings. The generation he was talking about was born in the Great Depression. We were too young to feel the pain of it, but old enough to absorb the meaning of it from our parents. Our childhood flowered in World War II when faith in the country and trust in the government were as natural as sunshine. The feeling of unity and camaraderie of those war years has never existed since.
We came to maturity in the post-war era which despite the Cold War was a time of unprecedented prosperity at home. It was a time when nothing seemed impossible to achieve, neither for the individual nor for the country. All the centuries prior to 1945, marked by hardship and scarcity, seem to have been erased. It was very easy to believe in those days that man, at least in the United States, had broken the bonds of the past and that nothing bad which had happened so often before to other people could happen again.

Now, sitting in a pickup truck, we realize it was an illusion. We are, after all, as chained to reality as previous generations. There are limits. There are dangers. There are ends as well as beginnings.
Even so, my hunter's optimism can see a blessing in the gloom. Any kind of artificial euphoria is dangerous, for a man survives only by recognizing reality and dealing with it on its own terms. Just as an individual who's drunk or hopped up is a candidate for personal disaster, so is the nation which thinks natural law and ancient wisdom can be repealed by technology and monetary policies.
If we, as a nation, can realize that nothing important ever changes and that the only way we can survive and prosper is to follow the same principles our forefathers followed, then our children will have a shot at a decent life, too.
Our forefathers lived close to reality. They knew that the only way to produce wealth was to apply human labor to natural resources. They did not believe that wealth could be created by a government printing press.
They knew that to break free from the subsistence cycle you had to save. There is no other way to accumulate anything except to produce more than you consume. They knew that the man who did not take care for the future as well as for the present would perish.
They saw government for what it was, raw force which must be carefully controlled at all times lest it be used to plunder the people it was instituted to serve.
They saw human nature clearly, too. They knew that some people were lazy, greedy, sorry or mean. They blamed them, not their environment, and they had the courage to make judgments and to punish. They knew that some people, for one reason or another, would always be a threat to their lives and property and they were ready at all times to defend themselves.
If current events have caused us to wake up and return to reality, then, for sure, we are as lucky as any hunter who ever came home with a bag full of game.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

The shah's memoirs blame Carter.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — In memoirs that may never be published, the deposed shah of Iran blames Jimmy Carter for pressuring him to make concessions that cost his throne and brought Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to power. Then the president insured Khomeini's triumph, the shah charges bitterly, by blocking the Iranian armed forces from seizing control of the country.
Highlights from the suppressed memoirs have been confided to us by family members who said the shah, as a form of therapy, had poured his frustrations into writing about the events that had caused his downfall. They identified ex-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger as the one who had persuaded the shah not to publish his memoirs.
Here, nevertheless, is the shah's version of the cataclysmic events in Iran.
In the last year of his reign, the shah was under constant pressure from Washington to relax his grip on the country. The U.S. embassy persuaded him that, as a prerequisite for better relations with President Carter, he should dismiss his SAVAK chief, Gen. Nematollah Nassiri. The head of the dreaded secret police, accordingly, was fired on June 6, 1978.
Under continuing U.S. pressure, the shah also released hundreds of political prisoners and eased press censorship. Instead of mollifying his enemies, he contends, these moves convinced them that he was weakening. They were encouraged to heighten their opposition with massive strikes.
The shah ordered a crackdown which led to a bloodbath in early September. He received a personal telephone call from Carter deploring the loss of life and urging him to resume his political liberalization program. The shah was too heavily dependent upon the United States to ignore the request.

He complains in his memoirs that U.S. restraints prevented him from smashing his enemies who took advantage of his impotence. He repeatedly called upon the U.S. embassy for advice and support, but Carter took a hands-off attitude.
As the situation deteriorated, the president started to send a naval task force, led by the nuclear carrier Constellation, into the Persian Gulf. But he had a change of heart and canceled the order. Instead, he pressured the shah to vacate the throne.
As the shah tells it, he acted on the American advice and agreed to leave Iran. But he was led by Carter to believe it would be a temporary absence — just long enough to permit the military to stabilize the country and block Khomeini from returning.
The shah recalls that he was offered refuge in the United States until the way was paved for his return. He turned down the invitation and remained in the Middle East so he would be more accessible to his generals.
Then without warning, he alleges, Carter pulled the rug out from under him. According to the shah's view, his generals were notified that if they tried to seize control and bring back the shah, the United States would cut off all supplies and assistance.
This warning allegedly was delivered to the Iranian military by Gen. Robert E. Huyser, who was then second in command of U.S. forces in Europe. Pentagon sources confirm that Huyser, acting on orders, asked the Iranian generals not to attempt a military coup. Huyser told us he could not comment, under the circumstances.

Huyser's superior at the time, recently retired NATO Commander Gen. Alexander Haig, disapproved of the shadowy mission, fearing that the "practical consequences would be to bleed the Iranian military to death."
Haig explained to us that he was "profoundly opposed" to the Carter administration's orders. He described the orders as "ambiguous," and while praising his subordinate as "outstanding," stressed his feeling that Huyser's mission was ill-advised because, "It wasn't helpful to send a military man to do a diplomat's work."
The shah has another bitter complaint against Carter. The president once praised him in language that was almost obsequious. In a New Year's Eve toast at the dawning of the shah's final year, Carter declared: "Iran, because of the great leadership of the shah, is an island of stability...This is a great tribute to you, Your Majesty, and to the respect and the admiration and the love which your people give you."
A year later, Carter not only dumped the shah but cut off all contact. Family sources say the shah is bitter because he hasn't even received a get-well card from the Carters since he arrived at a New York hospital for cancer treatment.
GUYANA REVISITED: Federal and state prosecutors have given up their frustrating attempts to extradite a Jim Jones-type cult leader in Guyana who jumped bail eight years ago in Cleveland. The reason is that the self-proclaimed black messiah, David Hill, has friends in high places.
The 50-year-old Hill skipped out after conviction on four counts of corporate blackmail, and has since emerged as a self-anointed rabbi and god of the House of Israel, a fanatic black-supremacy cult. Members are mostly Guyanese men, and Hill has an army of 125 young men and 500 teen-age boys armed with knives, iron bars and heavy sticks.

Mark Russell says

Interest rates are so high if John Dillinger was alive he wouldn't rob banks — he'd open one.
We can't close down all the nuclear power plants until we replace them with an alternate way to heat the country — how about forest fires?
Being President is so nerve wracking, it could turn Ronald Reagan's hair dye gray — while it's still in the bottle.
It's interesting to see some liberals advocating military intervention. It's sort of like Bambi coming out in favor of the hunting season.

Indiana fights Islamic Center

By LISA LEVITT

PLAINFIELD, Ind. (AP) — The sign greeting travelers along the rural road in central Indiana reads, "The Islamic Center: the Muslim Student Association of the U.S. and Canada."

And emblazoned across that, in dripping spray-painted letters, an obscene, two-word indictment of Iran — a terse reminder of an international crisis half a world away.

"We have had our sign vandalized twice — actually, this is the third time," sighs Mahmoud Rashdan of Jordan and secretary-general of the association. "But each time our sign is vandalized, we just put up a better one."

For the last three years, the 5,000-member non-profit religious group funded by memberships has used this 123-acre Hendricks County farm as its headquarters and information clearinghouse for some of the 1.5 million followers of Islam in the United States and Canada.

Growing tension over the hostage situation in Iran has touched many of MSA's 275 affiliated chapters and their 25,000 members around the country although only 10 percent of the members are Iranian. Despite the center's location in the heart of the Midwest, where patriotic fervor runs high, the harassment has yet to go beyond its sign and telephone lines.

"We have received telephone calls, harassing and threats. One of them said, 'We are Christians here, and you'd better leave. This is no place for Muslims.' Another one, 'Your days are numbered,'" Rashdan said.

Most of the 7,000 residents here don't know who the Muslims are or what they believe. But they know the association applied for approval more than two years ago to build a mosque, library and retreat on their land.

Tower, Clements defend shah's presence in Texas

By GREG THOMPSON

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Sen. John Tower says the shah of Iran is a longtime ally who deserves the care he is getting at a San Antonio Air Force base.

Gov. Bill Clements says the shah was sent here because "Texans are well-known for our defense of patriotism."

But a local city councilman, fearing demonstrations, says some local residents are asking, "Why us?"

The deposed monarch arrived at the massive Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital early Sunday after a plane trip from New York. The shah is here to recuperate from gall bladder surgery at a New York hospital.

Tower called the shah "an old ally of our country, praised by the last seven presidents."

"He is welcome in Texas," the senator said in Dallas.

A mob of Iranian students, demanding the return of the shah, is holding 49 hostages at the United States embassy in Tehran.

"The safe release of the hostages is not negotiable," the Republican senator said.

Clements said state officials were not given advance notice of the shah's transfer.

"I do not anticipate any problems caused by the shah's presence here for medical attention in the base hospital. We support the president in his position in this regard and I am sure the president must have had in mind that we in Texas are well-known for our defense of patriotism and that we will not be coerced by Mr. Khomeini or anyone else," Clements said late Sunday.

The governor said he expects Texans to accept the shah "in a spirit of hospitality and also peace and tranquility."

"Out-of-state agitators will not be tolerated, and I have already so directed the Department of Public Safety," he said in a release issued in Austin late Sunday.

Despite the optimism of the governor and senator, City Councilman

Bernardo Eureste says the shah's presence may cause problems for the city.

"We are possibly going to have some rough days ahead," Eureste said. "I think the city should have been consulted. Some people will say, 'Why San Antonio? Why us?' I don't know that we need the shah in San Antonio."

San Antonio Mayor Lila Cockrell would not say the shah is "welcome" here, but she said the city supports "our president and our country in its time of crisis."

U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, was among the shah's first visitors Sunday. The congressman welcomed the shah in a 15-minute visit.

"He conveyed a very heartfelt sense of gratitude to the American people," Gonzalez said. "I'm supportive of the decision to move him here. This is ideal."

The congressman said the shah "looked fine," but "there's no question that he needs this follow-up medical treatment."

Gonzalez said the shah alternately sat and stood during the meeting.

Texas previously have shown their support for the shah. The state has had some vociferous demonstrations in the weeks since the embassy in Tehran was taken by the students.

Iranian students at a local junior college staged some quiet anti-shah demonstrations during the revolution. One Iranian at San Antonio College, who said he did not take part in the demonstrations, Sunday said he thought the shah was brought here to be close to Mexico — where the former ruler lived before going to the New York hospital. Mexican officials now say the shah cannot return.

"I think it is going to make big trouble here," said the student, who asked not to be identified. "I think there will be demonstrations. The shah is a killer. He killed 50,000 people. Where was the United Nations then? They didn't say anything."

But Clements said "whatever measures are required" will be used to prevent demonstrations — "pro or con."

Air Force officials ask reporters to leave base

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Air Force officials said they had nothing to report about the shah of Iran's stay at a military base here — so there was no need for reporters to hang around.

As military officials stood by with leashed dogs, reporters were asked to leave the base a few hours after the deposed ruler was brought here from a New York hospital.

"Because we do not plan to make any further statements about the shah during his stay at Lackland, we are not going to establish a media center on the base," said Lt. Col. Mike Terrill, public affairs officer at Lackland Air Force Base.

"Since we are not establishing a media center, you are being asked to leave the base. We must refer you to the State Department for any information concerning the shah," he said. "If you don't leave, we will order you to leave," he said. Terrill said the tight security was imposed because "of the delicate situation in Iran and our concern for the hostages."

Fifty Americans are being held by Iranian students at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran. The militants are demanding the return of the shah to stand trial for alleged crimes during his reign.

The exiled monarch was whisked onto the base early Sunday after a trip from New York on a government aircraft. A spokesman for the shah scheduled a news conference for Sunday afternoon, but the session was called off, "because he (the shah's spokesman) has decided he doesn't want one," Terrill said.

Terrill said the decision to close the base was made by the Department of Defense, the State Department, and the Lackland Public Affairs office.

March of Dimes benefit raises over $30,000

The big winner was the March of Dimes at the benefit "Monte Carlo Night" at Midland Country Club. Over $30,000 was raised for the national foundation and Midland chapter, according to Kathy Atkin, public relations representative.

The benefit included a night of "games people play" on a scale only Monte Carlo could create.

Over 350 persons attended the event, which included a night of games and auctioning of prizes from a new automobile to a magnum of Dom Perignon.

Throughout the evening guests were able to purchase play money chips at the cashier's booth by making contributions to the March of Dimes. The "casino" was filled with blackjack tables, a roulette wheel, a wheel of fortune and three crap tables. Adding to the atmosphere, guests were served refreshments by six brightly-costumed "Monte Carlo ladies."

Doug Forshagen and Bill Hightower Jr., chairmen of the casino games, trained and supervised 30 volunteer "dealers."

"The excitement in the game room was contagious," reported Richard Booth, chairman of the Monte Carlo benefit "and spirits were high at 11 p.m. when our auctioneer Jim Conine and March of Dimes volunteer chairman Jack Hightower opened the bidding on the first of 68 auction items."

Guests used their play money winnings to bid on items donated by local merchants "We feel everyone had an exciting evening—winners, losers and workers—and at the same time we raised over $30,000 for the March of Dimes' efforts toward the prevention of birth defects," added Booth.

Volunteer workers for the event were Jan Davidson, Tish Deffenbaugh, Jan Reeder, Cherrie Carpenter, Jeanette Bryant, Nancy Doss, David Edwards, Wayne Esslinger, Stewart Wittekiend and Len Mitchell, along with the 30 volunteer dealers.

DEAR ABBY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last year you printed a letter from a young lady who was discouraged about the attitude of family and friends about Christmas. She said all they thought about was presents and big dinners, so she considered taking a room in a hotel for the day, but it was too costly.

It was a very fine column. Please print it again. — V. L. H. IN ATLANTA

DEAR V.: Here it is: DEAR ABBY: I'm having a hard time deciding what to do for Christmas. I live about 40 miles from my parents' home, but I don't want to go home for Christmas because it is a depressing time for me. My parents go to church regularly, but they don't act like good Christians. All Christmas means to them is a pretty tree, lots of presents and good food. But it means so much more to me.

I don't want to stay where I live because the people I live with have the same attitude about Christmas. It's all presents and food. Most of my friends are expecting a gift from me and I can't afford any.

I was thinking of leaving town for the day, but I can't afford a hotel room.

Can you give me some advice on what to do? I hate this time of year. It's so depressing! — YOUNG AND UNHAPPY

DEAR YOUNG: Get in touch with a nursing home, a veterans' hospital or a children's institution, and offer to visit those who have no one to visit them. You don't need to bring presents. Just bring a cheerful attitude, a happy face and a willingness to listen and chat awhile.

Offer to write letters, read, make a phone call or run an errand.

When you do something for someone else, it's impossible to feel depressed. Try it; it really works. Then write to me and tell me what kind of Christmas you had. I care.

DEAR ABBY: I've read letters in your column year after year from parents who are "furious" because Grandma sends their children money for Christmas (or Hanukkah) instead of a gift.

I agree that a check (regardless of size) means very little to a child, so this is how we handle it in our family:

Some time before the holiday,

Grandma (also Great-Grandma) sends a check to the child's mother. Mother then buys an appropriate gift, has it gift-wrapped, and encloses a card "From Grandma."

This arrangement works well because:

- Grandma may not be physically able to shop.

- Grandma (if she lives far away) may not know what the child needs. And she probably doesn't know what size to buy.

- Sometimes it costs more to ship packages than the contents are worth.

When Grandma sends money instead:

- Grandma is happy because she knows that the child has received a gift that is wanted and needed.

- Mother is happy for the same reason.

- The child is never disappointed with Grandma's gift. — HAPPY GRANDMA IN N. Y. STATE

DEAR ABBY: As the Christmas season nears, please allow me to share an idea for one of the best presents I've ever received.

I'm in the Army, stationed in Korea. For Christmas last year, my mother promised me a parcel of goodies every month!

It doesn't take much time or money, and it's greatly appreciated all through the year. I'd recommend this as a really terrific Christmas gift to any GI (or student) away from home. — N. S. IN KOREA

DEAR N. S.: Thanks for a practical suggestion.

Do you hate to write letters of condolences, congratulations, and thanks. It's not difficult when you let Abby guide you in her booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby in care of this newspaper.

Professional secretaries enjoy jobs

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — A survey of more than 600 professional secretaries who attended a National Secretaries Association convention here indicates that most of those polled like their jobs.

"The survey clearly substantiates our opinion that professional secretaries enjoy what they are doing and welcome new challenges," says NSA president Ann Michele of Albuquerque, N.M. "They're not bogged down at the point of who gets the coffee. They are part of a management team and they realize how valuable they are."

For example, she points out, while 95 percent still type and take shorthand, a growing area of daily activity is business-meeting preparation. A fourth of those surveyed spend part of a typical day helping to prepare meeting presentations such as slides, visuals, graphs and overhead projector transparencies.

Among the daily activities the respondents reported were typing correspondence and reports; making copies of letters and reports; writing letters for the executives with whom they work; filing; arranging meetings; taking shorthand; making travel arrangements, and serving coffee and food at meetings — a function reported by 53 percent.

The poll showed that most enjoyed "writing letters for the boss," with 77 percent responding positively in this area and 29 percent saying that writing letters was the most satisfying activity they handled.

The activities found the least satisfying were filing, making copies of letters and reports, and serving coffee or food at meetings.

Of the secretaries studied, 96 percent said they were proud to be a secretary; 91 percent think they make their executive look good to the rest of the company; 91 percent take pride in keeping the office neat; 90 percent feel they and their executive work as a team; 89 percent feel they are treated fairly; 86 percent consider themselves more of an assistant than a secretary.

New round of price hikes helps boost supermarket bills

By The Associated Press

A new round of price increases at the dairy counter helped boost family supermarket bills again last month, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

There were several special sales on pork chops, but the decreases were not great enough to offset the increases in the price of eggs and milk.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 food and non-food items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. Chocolate chip cookies were dropped from the list when the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

Here are some of the findings in the latest AP survey:

—The marketbasket bill increased at the checklist store in eight cities, up an average of 2.4 percent, and decreased at the checklist store in five cities, down an average of 1.8 percent. On the average, the marketbasket bill at the checklist store went up eight-tenths of a percent during November. That compared with a decrease of two-tenths of a percent in October.

—Since the first of the year, the marketbasket bill has increased at the checklist store in every city, with rises ranging from 3 percent in Salt Lake City to just over 12 percent in New York. On the average, the marketbasket bill was 7 percent higher at the start of December than it was 11 months earlier.

—Foods, rather than non-foods, are responsible for most of the increase. Almost one-fourth of the items on the AP checklist are non-foods, but during November these items accounted for only about one-eighth of the price increases.

Union leader forcing strike

CHICAGO (AP) — A union leader says he wants daily, compulsory meetings of Chicago bus drivers — in effect forcing a strike — until agreement on a new contract is reached. Charles Hall, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Transit Union Local 241, said he will ask the union at a meeting scheduled tonight to approve a resolution calling for daily meetings of all 8,000 members.

The Chicago Transit Authority's contract with Local 241 and its sister Local 308, which represents about 3,000 rapid-transit employees, expired at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

The CTA bus and subway system averaged some 2 million rides daily in 1978, the authorities said.

Negotiations were held last week, and employees continued working without a contract Saturday and Sunday, as the city's public transportation system plowed through a light snow cover.

Union leaders also said over the weekend that they will not budge in their demands that a cost-of-living clause remain in any new contract. The clause raises workers' pay every three months at the same rate as increases in inflation.

Under Mayor Jane Byrne's proposal, backed by CTA Chairman Eugene Barnes, the workers would receive their next two quarterly cost-of-living increases in exchange for agreeing to submit the dispute to binding arbitration.

Try lowering the temperature in your home to 68° this winter. You'll save on your heating bill.

A setting of 68° during the winter is the one Texas Electric recommends for both comfort and energy efficiency.

For each degree above 68° the energy used for heating your house is increased by approximately 4% per degree.

As shown by the chart the difference between the recommended thermostat setting and 74° is 24%. At 78° the increase in energy usage is 40% or more.

Clearly, the lower you set your thermostat the lower your heating bill is going to be. And after last winter's snow and ice, we think a lot of people are going to be trying their best to use less energy.

Remember to change the filter in your heating system regularly, too. A dirty filter causes your heating system to work longer and that costs you more. Check the filter at least once each month.

All forms of energy are costing more these days. If you're serious about saving energy and money, call us to find out about our Operation Tighten-Up program. We'll show you practical ways to save on your heating bills.

Investors lose millions in land investment swindle

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — More than 100 investors have lost, between $10,000 and $1 million each in a multimillion-dollar land investment swindle, a newspaper said Friday, but authorities refused to comment on the report.

Hampden County District Attorney Matthew J. Ryan Jr. refused even to say if his office is investigating such a scheme.

"I'm not interested in talking about any investigation," he said.

The Morning Union of Springfield said police were seeking Longmeadow businessman Phillip R. Cohn in connection with the alleged pyramid-style deal, in which investors were promised a 30 percent return on their money in 90 days.

The newspaper quoted unidentified sources as saying businessmen and lawyers "from western Massachusetts and other states" invested an estimated $14 million to $18 million during the alleged scheme's four years of operation.

Longmeadow police Sgt. John Donaldson said Thursday that police were told by Ryan's office that Cohn was wanted for questioning. Donaldson said he understood Cohn was sought in connection with an investigation into "some missing money and a land deal."

The Morning Union quoted one attorney — who said he was asked to invest in the plan but declined — as saying:

"He (the deal's organizer) would ask for an amount of money, say $25,000, which he said he would invest in land and promise a 30 percent return in 90 days. From what I understand he would then give the person $32,000 in 90 days and almost invariably the person would reinvest the money and add more money to it."

According to Springfield Detective Capt. James F. Williams, in a classic pyramid scheme the money for that first payment would come from the initial fee paid by a second investor.

As new investors enter the pyramid, the person running the deal is able to keep money floating until the amount of the 90-day payoffs exceeds available money, Williams said.

FTC member, Sen. Heflin argue over agency's power

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senator and a member of the Federal Trade Commission disagreed recently over whether Congress has given the agency the power to order breakups of businesses involved in antitrust cases.

The difference came over a proposal by Sen. Howell Heflin that would make it clear to the FTC that it has no power to order divestitures under the section of law which established the commission.

Divestitures occur when companies are ordered to sell operations they obtain through what is determined to be monopoly power.

"Congress never intended that the FTC would have the remedy of divestiture of monopolies," Heflin, D-Ala., said at a hearing on his proposal.

"Congress never conferred authority upon the FTC to dismember industries or to break up companies because of monopolization," he said. Heflin said exercise of this authority usurps the will of Congress expressed as long ago as 1914.

Robert Pitofsky, a commission member and former law professor, disputed this.

"The law has been authoritatively interpreted by the courts to grant the FTC power to impose structural relief (order divestitures). It is untenable to contend that this is a power that the current commission usurped by an overreaching interpretation of its statute," Pitofsky said.

He cited Supreme Court approval of this power in a 1966 case and said several FTC divestiture orders have been approved through federal courts, with the commission action upheld.

Pitofsky said the Heflin amendment "has enormous implications" for antitrust enforcement. It "would assure by law that in many monopoly cases effective remedies would not be imposed — at least not by the FTC," he said.

Although Heflin would allow the commission to issue orders against monopolistic conduct, its ban on divestiture orders would remove a major sanction, the FTC member said.

"Purely conduct remedies may be absolutely futile in a situation where a monopolist has illegally driven out of business all remaining competitors," he said.

The amendment is one of a series of congressional moves aimed at stripping the FTC of some of its powers.

They deserve to get paid

NEW YORK (AP) — Amazed that the city was able to track him down, a Uruguayan citizen mailed a $40 check to pay a parking ticket he received while visiting here.

In a letter accompanying the check, Elias Bluth, of Montevideo, wrote: "Any department that can track down a Uruguayan citizen who visited New York for a few days and manages to deliver a summons for a parking violation at his personal address nearly 10,000 miles away deserves to get paid. Congratulations!"

The letter was sent to the director of the Parking Violations Bureau with a carbon copy to Mayor Edward Koch, who made it public Tuesday.

Congress needs another $3.7 billion in savings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Budget Committee says Congress must achieve $3.7 billion in savings or the wide range of government programs could be hurt.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said Tuesday programs that will be threatened by next spring range from anti-recession jobs programs to refugee aid. At issue is a battle between the Senate and the House over the 1980 budget. The House approved a budget of $547.6 billion but struck a Senate proposal that would force congressional committees to make savings agreed to in an earlier target budget.

Private mailers want only profits says Bolger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General William F. Bolger says private companies seeking authorization to deliver the mail only want to do so in lucrative areas.

Testifying before a House committee Tuesday, Bolger said the government's monopoly on mail delivery is "essential to the continued vitality of the postal system." He said that "a universal postal system depends on large mail volumes. It could not run well if significant volumes of letter mail were taken away by private delivery firms providing cheaper but very selective services in the most profitable areas."

Teachers take language test

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston school teachers will be paid about $400 if they can pass a language competency test.

The test will qualify teachers for an after school program designed to improve language skills of students, particularly blacks.

Odd-even on again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 43 California counties that imposed no restrictions on gasoline purchases today joined 15 others in implementing odd-even restrictions on the sales of gasoline.

Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. ordered the restrictions statewide. Earlier this year, the most populous counties in California adopted such restrictions as gas supplies temporarily became scarce.

Some public officials, dealers and law enforcement officials have criticized the requirement, which will restrict gasoline purchases to days that correspond with the odd or even numbers on motorists' license tags.

"This is a fine example of the state saying 'Here's a program and you're going to pay for it,'" said San Joaquin County Supervisor Doug Wilhoit.

"Brown's action was too quick and too much."

Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, R-Roseville, called the odd-even plan "extremely damaging to the state's economy, especially in rural areas depending on tourism."

There are several exceptions to the requirements, one of them permitting the sale of gas on any day to motorists who can prove they are more than 100 miles from their homes.

But some officials say they will not go out of their way to enforce the rules.

Said Sacramento County Sheriff's Department spokesman Bill Miller: "Enforcement will have zero priority."

Danforth's 'windfall profits' program would hurt states

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's decision to end price controls on U.S. crude oil will produce a $128-billion windfall for state treasuries over the next decade. A move is afoot to grab some of that for Uncle Sam.

As the Senate continues debate this week on Carter's plan to tax away a portion of the oil industry's added revenue from decontrol, Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., will try to extend the tax to oil that is owned by the states.

That amendment would cost states $10.5 billion from 1980 through 1990, leaving them $117.5 billion of the oil-state senators blocked a final vote in an effort to strike a compromise. Despite some long bargaining sessions, no compromise has been announced, however.

Carter is phasing out price controls on U.S. crude oil in an effort to reduce reliance on imported petroleum. Decontrol will cause an estimated $1-trillion increase in oil prices over the decade.

The president recommended that a windfall tax be imposed on additional oil industry revenue generated by the price increase. The tax revenue — $129 billion in the Senate bill, or $277 billion in the House version — would finance development of alternate fuels, transportation improvements and special energy aid to lower-income Americans.

Danforth's amendment is one of several to increase the windfall tax. The Senate is stalled over one by Sens. John Chafee, R-R.I., and Bill Bradley, D-N.J., to increase the total by $22.5 billion by raising the tax on oil discovered since 1972.

Labor secretary blames unemployment rate on aliens

LOS ANGELES (AP) — U.S. Labor Secretary Ray Marshall says illegal aliens are taking jobs from millions of Americans and without these imported workers unemployment in the United States could be reduced to less than 4 percent.

Marshall said he does not favor mass deportations, but warned that those who say the undocumented aliens benefit the United States may be "sowing the seeds of a bitter civil rights struggle."

In an interview published Sunday in the Los Angeles Times, the labor secretary conservatively estimated the number of illegal workers in the United States at 4 million. He took issue with arguments that illegal workers are helpful to the economy because they take jobs U.S. citizens or legal aliens will not perform.

"It is false to say American workers cannot be found for all of the jobs filled by undocumented workers," Marshall said. "The truth is that there are millions of American workers in all of these low-paying occupations already.

"The job market in which they (undocumented workers) compete is highly competitive, with a surplus of people vying for a shortage of jobs, no matter how undesirable the jobs may be," Marshall said.

If only half of the illegal workers in the United States are in jobs that otherwise would be held by American workers, "eliminating this displacement would bring unemployment down to 3.7 percent, which is below the 4 percent full-employment target set by the Humphrey-Hawkins Act" and below the current 6 percent, he said. Marshall said he does not advocate deportations to solve the problem but urged immediate action to confront the issue. "The illegal immigrants are exploited by employers here," he said. "But don't forget the other end of this illegal labor market. The ample supply of docile, illegal workers perpetuates an under class of dirty, unsafe, inefficient jobs. It removes the incentive to design work that is more efficient."

Marshall said he has become "concerned recently that people are beginning to say there is no problem, and the illegal worker is a positive benefit for us."

Liability trial starts for supper club fire

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Thirty months after a fire killed 165 persons at the Beverly Hills Supper Club, the aluminum wire and electric device industry is going on trial to determine liability for the blaze.

Jury selection was scheduled to begin today in the U.S. District Court trial, which could last two months. The trial will determine whether the 26 defendants and a nonprofit testing company, Underwriters Laboratories Inc., bear any liability for the fire, one of the worst ever in the United States.

If they are found liable under a legal theory that all manufacturers share liability for alleged defects common to the industry and not directly attributable to a single producer, a damage trial to determine a monetary award will be held later. Settlements totaling some $15 million previously have been made out of court on behalf of the victims' families. Agreements were reached with owners of the club, which has not been rebuilt, with several insurers and with the utility that supplied the club's electricity.

Fire broke out May 28, 1977, as thousands of Memorial Day holiday weekend merrymakers crowded the plush nightclub, which sat on a hill just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

Scores of lawyers have assembled hundreds of thousands of pages of evidence for the trial. Attorneys have told Judge Carl Rubin they expect to call more than 500 witnesses for expert testimony.

Motions filed by attorneys for families of the victims indicate they will try to prove "old-technology" aluminum wire and electrical devices were faulty.

College Days

Six former sorority sisters (portrayed by, left to right, Paula Prentiss, Shelley Fabares, Tina Louise and Cathryn Damon) gather together to answer charges at a hearing about an infant slain in their sorority house 20 years earlier, in "Friendships, Secrets and Lies," on NBC Monday Night at the Movies, Dec. 3, on NBC.

Besides the NBC World Premiere movie's cast, members of the creative staff — including the producers, screenwriter and directors — are all women, and the production crew is predominantly female. No males are seen or heard in this milestone film.

Exxon's profits and what is being done with them.

C.C. Garvin, Jr.
Chairman, Exxon Corporation

Exxon's third-quarter profits announcement disturbed many people. Some have questioned the size of our profits at a time when supplies of energy are tight. Many people think that the profits are going only to a privileged few and they feel that the profits are much greater than they need be.

We are very concerned about the criticism expressed by elected officials and the public at large. We feel it is important to do a more thorough job of explaining why we think such profits are necessary and how they are being put to work as new investments to provide future energy.

Simply stated, the oil business is risky and it is big. Large sums of money are required to make the investments called for to develop new and expanded sources of energy. A good deal of that money has to be generated through profits. Because we think it is important for you to know more about our profits and what is being done with them, we will be publishing a brief series of advertisements with facts which may help you make better judgments about the size of Exxon's profits—and the size of our investments.

Cowboys gun down New York, 28-7

IRVING — The Dallas Cowboy computer, the one coach Tom Landry is supposed to ask all the brilliant questions and in return receive a brilliant game plan, lately has been throwing out readouts that have been folded, spindled and mutilated. The computer, however, may be back in good graces after going back to the basics of Cowboy-style football for Dallas' 28-7 victory over the New York Giants here Sunday to end a horrible three-game losing streak.

The computer churned out a plan this time which Cowboy fans across the world have come to expect over the years. You know it by heart. The defense is supposed to play good solid football with at least one goal line stand and an interception to help out the offense. The offense, on the other hand, is supposed to let Tony Dorsett rush for at least 100 yards while quarterback Roger Staubach throws only when he needs to, and then to wide receiver Drew Pearson for touchdowns. Now, that's Cowboy football, and it works like a charm. Just ask the Giants or the Cowboy computer.

DALLAS' DEFENSIVE tackle Larry Cole put it best. "We just played good old Cowboy football. We played with them the first half, set them up in the third (quarter) and put the KO on them in the fourth. That's the way it has always been with the great Dallas teams."

And it was played that way to the letter. The Cowboys salvaged a 7-7 tie in the first half when Staubach hit Pearson for seven yards in the second quarter for the first of three TD connections. That wiped out a 7-0 deficit the Giants had built in the first period on a 79-yard, 18-play drive which covered 10 minutes and 16 seconds. That one was capped by former Texas Tech running back Billy Taylor on a two-yard run.

The Giants' early lead was almost a blessing since Dallas had scored lightning quick in their last two games, only to lose them in the end.

Dallas then set up the Giants in the third period when master Staubach marched the Cowboys 66 yards in seven plays, hitting Pearson again from seven yards out and a 14-7 margin. Then it was Staubach to Pearson for 44 yards and a 21-7 lead.

THE JOB had almost been done, and Pearson was so moved by it all that he tried to spike the ball into the crowd after his second touchdown, and he twisted his knee in the process.

"I have never caught three touchdowns passes in one game in my whole life," Pearson said. "That's why I was so excited. But I have now retired my spike forever because it almost cost me. I twisted my knee. But I don't think it is anything to worry about. It's just a little stiff right now."

That's good Drew. You spiked the ball before you scored your third TD. At any rate, it was a good "season" for Pearson, who only caught only three TD passes all last year.

When Landry was asked about the spiking incident, he said, "I didn't see Pearson spike the ball, but I couldn't see how he got hurt. He was never touched as far as I could tell. I guess that'll teach him."

"New York was giving me a lot of man-to-man coverage with the cornerbacks playing to the inside, and Roger (Staubach) was really reading my moves. You get that type of combination and it usually means six points," Pearson added.

With a 21-7 lead, the Giants tried to get back in the game when rookie quarterback Phil Simms marched the Giants from their own 29 to the Dallas one-yard line, most of it coming on a 47-yard Simms aerial to tight end Gary Shirk. That's when Dallas put up a solid front and stopped the Giants cold. Linebacker Bruce Huther made two big plays to jam up the middle to stop runs by Taylor and rookie Ken Johnson short of the goal, and on fourth and two, tackle David Stalls sacked Simms for a six-yard loss.

"After the long pass set us up, I felt there was no way they could stop us," Giant boss Ray Perkins said after the game. "On fourth down, Simms, being a rookie, was too worried about the interception. You don't worry about it at that point. We would have been back in the game with a touchdown there."

BUT THE Giants didn't get it, and Dallas marched 92 yards for what Cole described as the "KO punch". It was a 17 play, clock eating drive, which saw Dorsett end it all with a one-yard TD run.

Dorsett carried for 108 yards on the day. His longest run was only 12 yards, but he carried 29 times. That meant that Staubach had to throw only 18 times for a season low 10 completions

White wins 1979 Heisman Trophy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles White came to Southern California as a cocky, fast-talking freshman certain he was going to set the college football world afire and win a Heisman Trophy or two in the process.

A very changed Charles White today was awarded the 1979 Heisman, honoring him as the nation's top college football player.

"I grew up a lot as a football player and as a person during the past four years," the Trojans' senior tailback said during a recent interview. "It has a lot to do with learning to accept responsibility, both from the outside and from yourself."

"While I know I've grown up a lot, I still feel I have a lot of maturing to do. Trying to make it in pro-football, for instance, will be a new challenge for me and I'm sure I'll have to change in some ways."

In contrast to the strutting youngster who came to Southern Cal in 1976, White gradually grew to be known as a selfless team player; a leader who led by example; and a soft-spoken individual who lavished superlatives on his teammates but draped none on himself.

"You talk about leadership qualities, and Charlie has them all," said Trojan Coach John Robinson. "Despite his success, he never asked for anything special, was always the hardest worker out on the practice field."

"Charlie had a lot of pressure on him right from the beginning of his freshman year," Robinson added, "but he handled it. I've run out of adjectives to describe him, and I just can't tell you how much I admire him."

The quick and deceptively powerful White, 6-foot and 185 pounds, topped the nation with 1,803 yards on 293 carries for the second-ranked and 10-0-1 Trojans this season. His career total of 5,598 yards places him second behind former Pittsburgh Heisman-winner Tony Dorsett on the NCAA's all-time rushing list.

All early signs had pointed to greatness for White, who came out of suburban San Fernando High with an average of nearly 10 yards per carry for his last two seasons. A national prep record holder in the 330-yard low hurdles, he was named 1975-76 Southern California prep athlete of the year in both football and track.

White backed up Ricky Bell his first season at Southern Cal, but played a lot when the senior starter was hit by injuries, gaining 858 yards on 156 carries and capping his freshman year with a 114-yard performance in the Trojans' Rose Bowl victory over Michigan.

As a sophomore starter, he gained 1,478 yards and closed the campaign with a 187-yard performance in the Trojans' Bluebonnet Bowl triumph over Texas A&M. Last season, White ran for 1,859 yards and logged 99 yards as Southern Cal again beat Michigan in the Rose Bowl.

Philadelphia assured of spot in playoffs

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia Eagles became the first team to clinch a berth in the National Football League playoffs Sunday by trouncing the Detroit Lions 44-7 behind two touchdown passes from Ron Jaworski to Harold Carmichael.

The Eagles, 10-4, hold a one-game lead in the National Conference East over Washington and Dallas but are assured of at least a wild-card berth. Philadelphia's defense allowed Detroit just five first downs and only 53 yards rushing. The 44 points and the 37-point margin of victory were 12-year highs for the Eagles.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Steelers, behind their brilliant passing combination of Terry Bradshaw to Lynn Swann, grabbed a one-game lead in the American Conference's rugged Central Division by beating the Cincinnati Bengals 37-17 while the Houston Oilers were bowing to the Cleveland Browns 14-7.

Bradshaw completed 17 of 29 passes for 339 yards, giving him a club-record 3,278 yards on the season. The old Steelers record of 2,982 was set by Ed Brown in 1963.

Swann caught five passes for 192 yards, including touchdown tosses of 58 and 42 yards, as the Steelers raised their record to 11-3 with their 13th straight home victory.

Franco Harris of the Steelers rushed for 92 yards to surpass the 1,000 mark for the seventh time, tying a NFL record held by Jim Brown.

Houston dropped to 10-4 as fullback Mike Pruitt keyed Cleveland's ball-control offense, carrying 25 times for 111 yards and scoring two touchdowns. Cleveland, third in the Central Division, remains in the playoff chase with a 9-5 record.

It was Pruitt's fourth 100-yard game and raised his season total to 1,062 yards. He scored on a 42-yard pass from Mike Phipps in the first quarter and a one-yard plunge 1:40 into the fourth quarter.

In other National Football League games, the Washington Redskins outscored the Green Bay Packers 38-21, the Dallas Cowboys downed the New York Giants 28-7, the Chicago Bears blanked the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 14-0, the Los Angeles Rams trimmed the Minnesota Vikings 27-21 in overtime, the Denver Broncos edged the Buffalo Bills 19-16, the Atlanta Falcons surprised the San Diego Chargers 28-26, the Kansas City Chiefs beat the Seattle Seahawks 37-21, the New York Jets defeated the Baltimore Colts 30-17 and the St. Louis Cardinals topped the San Francisco 49ers 13-10.

Miami beat New England 39-24 on Thursday night. In Monday night's game, Oakland is at New Orleans.

Joe Theismann threw a career-high four touchdown passes, including two in the final quarter, as the Redskins rallied to beat Green Bay. Theismann connected on touchdown pass plays of 39 yards to John McDaniel, 20 yards to Ricky Thompson, 12 yards to John Riggins and 8 yards to Danny Buggs.

Tampa Bay failed for the second straight week to clinch the National Conference's Central Division title, bowing to the Bears, who turned a blocked punt by Bruce Herron and an interception by Gary Fenick into touchdowns.

Nolan Cromwell ran five yards for a touchdown on a fake field goal with 6:53 gone in overtime to give Los Angeles the victory over Minnesota. Ex-Viking Bob Lee, signed by Los Angeles last month, took over in the second half and guided the Rams or their winning drive, which started following an Eddie Brown interception at the Los Angeles 15-yard line.

Quarterback Craig Morton drove the Broncos 40 yards in 15 seconds, setting up Jim Turner's game-winning field goal from 32 yards with three seconds left as Denver beat Buffalo despite 316 yards passing by Bills QB Joe Ferguson. The victory combined with San Diego's loss, lifted the Broncos into a tie with the Chargers at 10-4 for first place in the AFC West.

Steve Bartkowski fired a 6-yard touchdown pass to Wallace Francis with 21 seconds remaining to give Atlanta its upset over San Diego.

Cleveland defense halts Houston in snow, 14-7

CLEVELAND (AP) — The spotlight has been on their explosive offense, but it was the Cleveland Browns' much-maligned defense that played the key role in Sunday's 14-7 victory over the Houston Oilers.

The triumph kept the Browns, 9-5, in the running for a National Football League playoff berth, while knocking the Oilers, 10-4, out of a first-place tie with Pittsburgh in the AFC Central Division.

THE CLEVELAND offense played an uncharacteristic ball-control game. Meanwhile, the defense rose up and held the Oilers and powerful fullback Earl Campbell to a total of 249 yards.

"We've been maligned (on defense), maybe deservedly so," said Cleveland Coach Sam Rutigliano. "But, our defense had its back against the wall and did the job against a great offensive football team. They did it all."

The only Houston score, on an 11-yard burst by Campbell in the first quarter, followed the recovery of an on-side kick at Cleveland's 45.

"Their touchdown wasn't the fault of the defense, it was field position," Rutigliano said. "We tried the on-side kick because we felt we had to maintain possession to give us the opportunity to score more points. It just backfired."

The Cleveland offense, led by fullback Mike Pruitt, did maintain possession more than the Oilers, running 71 plays to 58 for the Oilers. But the only scoring by the Browns came when quarterback Brian Sipe combined with Pruitt on a 42-yard pass play in the first quarter and on Pruitt's one-yard dive early in the fourth period, capping an 87-yard, Cleveland

SIPE WAS sacked five times, but scrambled for 42 yards in five carries. His 19-yard run on a broken play set up the winning score.

Pruitt carried 25 times for 11 yards, giving him 1,062 for the season. He joined Jim Brown, Leroy Kelly and Greg Pruitt in Cleveland's 1,000 yard club.

"I'm happy about the 1,000 yard but I'm happier about the win," Pruitt said. "This game was on my mind all week long. When I got here today, I felt there was no stopping me."

HOUSTON HAD the ball for on four plays in the third quarter but wound up with only four possessions in the entire second half.

New cage season sees last year's powers beaten

By The Associated Press

It's a new season in college basketball — and no one knows it better than Jud Heathcote and Bill Hodges. They learned it the hard way over the weekend, losing games they presumably would have won last season. Heathcote's defending NCAA champions from Michigan State, playing without the ubiquitous Ervin "Magic" Johnson and Greg Kelsey, now in the National Basketball Association, took an 88-73 drubbing from 16th-ranked St. John's in the finals of the Lapchick Tournament in New York Saturday night. Hodges' Indiana State team, playing without the great Larry Bird, had a 20-game home winning streak snapped 66-63 by unheralded Armstrong State Friday night before struggling to a 72-65 victory over Colorado State.

"Friday night, we learned a big lesson," said Hodges. "We realized what we now have to do." With the loss of Bird, now an NBA rookie with the Boston Celtics, the burden of leadership on the Sycamores has shifted to guard Carl Nicks, who scored 37 points in Friday night's loss and 28 in Sunday's victory.

"Saturday's practice was very good," said Hodges, college Coach of the Year with last year's NCAA runner-up Sycamores. "Yet we still have things to work on. Mostly, it's a matter of determination." Michigan State was well prepared to be just as determined, considering the loss of their two superstars. But they weren't proficient enough Saturday night to take care of a strong St. John's team.

"They're a very good team," Heathcote said of St. John's, "certainly as good as any of the good teams in our league (the Big Ten). You have to play awfully well to beat them on their home court. They can beat you in a lot of ways. They've got strong rebounding, good ballhandling and play a solid defense."

Kush keeps money to self

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Six of 10 Arizona State University football coaches say they did not receive any of the $6,000 that ousted football Coach Frank Kush said he split with his assistants, the Arizona Republic reports.

The newspaper said Sunday that Bob Owens, who was an assistant under Kush and was named to his head coaching post after Kush's ouster, and assistants Don Baker, Gary Horton, Greg Mohs and Bob Karmelwoowicz, along with Bill Kajikawa, who retired at the end of the 1978 season, all said they did not receive any money.

The money was part of a sum raised at a November 1978 appreciation banquet which one of the banquet's organizers said was turned over to Kush for distribution.

Kush, suspended Oct. 13 in a dispute over alleged cover-up activities related to allegations that he had struck a 1978 Arizona State football player, said he had split $6,000 received from the banquet.

He declined to say to whom he gave the money but said it didn't go to all the assistant coaches because "I didn't think some of them deserved it."

Larry Kentera, who left the Arizona State staff last February to enter private business, said he received money from Kush after he left but didn't believe it was part of the $6,000. Owens said Kentera was the only assistant who received money.

for 164 yards. Staubach is dead-licking when the running game is clicking also and the opposing defense doesn't know if the Cowboys are going to run or throw.

It could have been much worse for the Giants. After all, Rafael Septien missed on field goal tries of 34, 31 and 46 yards. That was about the only negative of the contest and the boobies let him know it.

"I expected the boos, but fans should be cheering for their team, not against it," Septien said.

"At least, I was 4-for-4 on the extra points. The coaches said my timing was right, but my body was moving to the left and I was pulling the ball. I'll just have to practice twice as hard this week and get my concentration back. My bad game is now behind me and it didn't hurt the team. We won and that's the important thing."

Maybe the computer has an answer for Septien too because that darned old pile of transistors has put the machine back into the Cowboys. Computerized results is what the Cowboys are all about.

The second week of the schoolboy football playoffs meant surprise victories for some teams, an unexpected end of the season for others and the sweet taste of revenge for at least one.

Temple turned the cards on Plano and knocked the Wildcats out of the state 4A championship game for the first time since 1976.

Fullback Basilio Martinez scored from the 1-yard line with 5:30 left as Temple nailed down a come-from-behind victory, 19-16. Plano had ended Temple's playoff hopes last year with a last-minute, 15-14 win.

Lewisville — surprise winners last week over top-ranked Abilene Cooper — used two touchdown runs by Freddie Wells and a strong defensive performance to down Arlington Heights, 28-12, and advance to the quarterfinals.

Quarterback Brad Robalin passed for two touchdowns and Gilbert Martinez booted a 42-yard field goal as El Paso Coronado thrashed Lubbock Monterey, 24-8.

Jim Dippel scored his second touchdown of the game from seven yards out with 3:18 left as Baytown Lee beat La Porte, 29-28.

In other Class 4A playoffs, Trinity shocked Dallas White, 14-0; Houston Memorial blanked Houston Kashmere, 11-0; Alice blitzed Austin Reagan, 31-13; and San Antonio Wheatley slipped past San Antonio Jay, 21-20. Trinity is coached by former Midland High School headmaster John Reddell.

Quarterback Johnny Holley scored two touchdowns as McKinney posted a 26-14 win over Mount Pleasant in Class 3A quarterfinal action.

Aggies hand UH Cotton Bowl berth

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

AP Sports-Writer

The Texas Aggies handed the Houston Cougars the Cotton Bowl Saturday and gave travel agents from Texas to Alabama heartburn. Such University of Texas New Orleans Sugar Bowl packages as the one offered in the Austin-American Statesmen and the Dallas Morning News, went down the tube when the Aggies shocked the Longhorns 13-7 while the Cougars ripped Rice 63-0 with the Houston band playing the Aggie War Hymn in the background.

The Robertson Travel Post, Inc. of Mountain Brook, Ala., which took out the advertisements learned something that Southwest Conference fans have long known, don't make reservations until everything is settled on the field.

Now, it's Houston in the Cotton Bowl for the third time in four years, Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl against No. 1 Alabama, and Texas in the Sun Bowl against Washington Dec. 23.

"It's beautiful, like a dream come true," said Houston running back John Newhouse, who scored three touchdowns against Rice. "I wish we could have gotten to the Cotton Bowl alone, but we'll take it this way."

Newhouse spent most of the second half, listening to the Aggie-Texas game on the radio as Houston routed Rice on the field.

"I really didn't know if we could make it back again," said Newhouse. "We heard all that stuff about Arkansas and Texas and felt like the bowl people were being dishonest with us."

Houston linebacker David Hodge said "For one day we were Aggie fans, and the Aggies came through for us."

By the fourth quarter Houston Coach Bill Yeoman had attached a cotton ball to his lapel while Cougar cheerleaders milled about, giving "Gig'em" gestures.

In the locker, Yeoman asked his team: "Do we vote on this?" "Hell no," the players replied.

"We accept with more pleasure than will ever know," Yeoman answered.

Yeoman said later "It's very gratifying for the kids to go back to the Cotton Bowl and the important thing really was a share of the conference championship."

Arkansas and Houston shared the co-championship. Texas finished third, Baylor fourth, Texas A&M fifth, SMU sixth, Texas Tech seventh, TCU eighth and Rice last.

Saints, Raiders on TV

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — New Orleans Saints guard Conrad Dobler said the Oakland Raiders are the kind of football team he likes to play against, and the fact that they meet in a Monday night National Football League game just adds spice to tonight. "They've always had the reputation of being a tough, aggressive ball club," Dobler said. "I kind of like that — the old-fashioned type of football." The Saints haven't been in a Monday night game since 1974, when Pittsburgh clobbered them 28-7. Prior to that, the Saints lost to Kansas City 20-17 in 1972 and to Dallas 40-3 in 1973 — the only other times they played on Mondays.

Both teams are 7-6. The Saints need the victory to stay atop the NFC West, and the Raiders need it to keep slim hopes of a playoff shot alive.

Veteran assails VA as 'bureaucratic mess'

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — Columnists like this one from time to time denounce waste in welfare, food stamps, other benefits presided over by the onetime Health, Education and Welfare Department — but somehow most of us have treaded lightly concerning the Veterans Administration.

As a veteran of a couple of wars with great affection for the military, it is not pleasant to go after the VA — and knowing the retribution that is part of government it may not be profitable to me when the time comes for VA help in medical care.

Nonetheless, the way the VA spends $6 billion on hospital care, $12 billion on a few of its other programs (it is the fourth biggest spender in the government), is shabby in the least. One would think that with 200,000 employees, it could administer its programs with greater equity and skill. It apparently cannot. Its whole bureaucracy is a mess.

While we denounce fraud in welfare and other social programs, little is said about fraudulent payments made month after month by the VA in disability pensions to veterans of several wars. This veteran is saddened and angered frequently to hear other vets boast about their disability benefits, when at the same time they are working at the most vigorous kind of laboring jobs. They boast about what they are doing — and the VA is too busy or too lazy to stop this stealing from American taxpayers.

At the same time that it tolerates fraud in disability pensions, the VA is guilty of cruel neglect of the Vietnam veterans. After crowing for several years that these brave men were adjusting to civilian life in fine fashion, the VA is now faced with the facts of a government study in which it was involved showing that 40 percent of those veterans suffer major emotional difficulties such as alcoholism and narcotics abuse, and 75 percent complain of nightmares, marital problems and employment difficulties.

The VA sought to suppress this report but it has been pried loose by the Vietnam Veterans of America under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act.

The list of abuses, failures and neglect goes on and on. Just one more: The VA itself has just found out, and belatedly, that at the VA Medical Center in New York, surgery has been performed on veterans by junior resident physicians without supervision of senior attending physicians and, worse, without the required consent of patients. There have been unnecessary amputations. One would think that at this hospital of 1,000 beds, one of the largest in the VA system, that administration and direction might have been better than that — needless loss of lives through unnecessary amputations.

There are frequent reports of good medicine being practiced at some VA hospitals, including those in Newtonington, Conn., and Loma Linda, Calif. But, such excellence does not make amends for what at best is benign neglect in VA headquarters here.

An effort was made to discuss these failures with Max Cleland, head man of the VA. Two requests were made. He ignored one completely. To the second, made about a month before the dates requested, his response was, "Too busy."

The Cleland "too busy" signal may be OK to a reporter. However, he ought to be somewhat more responsive to the needs of the deserving veterans and correction of a situation wherein millions of dollars are wasted in questionable disability payments.

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Show False Weakness

By Alfred Sheinwold

It's not enough to win the tricks that belong to you. Try also for some that belong to the opponents.

The defenders in today's hand are entitled to a trump and three clubs, but you can steal one of their tricks if you can stall long enough. Take the king of hearts and then lead the ace of hearts at once to discard a diamond.

That discard looks unnecessary, perhaps even foolish. But it gives West a false impression of your weak spot.

DIAMOND RETURN

No difference if you later win the spade finesse. You will lose three clubs at most. But if West has the king of spades and fires back a diamond you still have a chance.

Take the ace and queen of diamonds and lead a trump to the ten, ready to continue with the jack if necessary. Now cash the king of diamonds to discard a club. When the diamonds break favorably, take the last diamond to discard another club, thus limiting the club loss to two tricks.

It looks like magic, but it's just misdirection.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one diamond, you respond one heart, and he raises to two hearts. The opponents pass. You hold:

Look What Carmela's Has Done!

Coleman and Carmela White are proud to announce the opening of their new restaurant in the Village Shopping Center on Saturday, Dec. 1. Carmela's Pizza and Italian Food Restaurant, formerly at 510 East Illinois, is now much bigger and can accommodate all their old friends, as well as their many new ones. Coleman, who likes to be called Pop, makes the best pizza in town, as well as the most delicious sub sandwiches. Pop is a friendly man who especially likes teen-agers, and the feeling seems to be mutual. Since moving here from the Northeast over a year ago, their business has skyrocketed. Texans seem to like Carmela's delicious food, friendliness, and casual atmosphere. To celebrate their new location, all next week, they are giving a free coke with lunch and a free glass of wine with dinner, which is served after 5:00. They are also giving free balloons and lollipops to the children. Come on out to their new location and help them celebrate!

Mint may color new Anthony dollar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Mint is considering changing the color of the Susan B. Anthony dollar to try to make the coin more acceptable to the public, a Mint official said last week.

"What we are doing now is strictly exploratory research and development work," said the official, who asked not to be identified. "It's likely to be several months before we come up with something."

The coin, which Mint officials had hoped would begin replacing the paper $1 note, has been in trouble with the public and Congress since it was introduced July 2.

Critics say the Anthony dollar is too easily confused with the quarter and that it is competing with the public's preference for paper currency.

The Anthony dollar, like the quarter, is silver in color. Each has a center of pure copper with cladding of copper-nickel alloy.

The Mint is testing alloys of copper and zinc and copper, aluminum and nickel, the Mint official said. Each combination would produce a bronze or brass look.

"Some of the original testing that we did (on alloys) showed that they would tarnish to an antique-type finish like a bronze doorknob," the official said. "That is one of the reasons we rejected them originally. But we're re-thinking the whole color question as a result of all the negative reaction."

Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., a frequent critic of the coin, is skeptical about the color change.

"I don't think even changing the color is going to get it accepted," he said. "The basic problem is that it's too small and too similar to the size of the quarter."

Annunzio added, however, that "I'm willing to give it a try" in an effort to protect the millions of dollars the government already has invested in developing and promoting the coin.

In recent testimony before Congress, Treasury Undersecretary Bette B. Anderson said "it would be unwise at this time to alter the Anthony dollar coin in any way."

She argued that the size already has been accommodated in thousands of vending machines across the nation and added, "acceptance of any new coin introduced in the nation's coinage and currency does not occur overnight."

The Mint has produced more than 700 million of the silver-colored Anthony dollars, with about 450 million shipped to regional Federal Reserve banks for distribution. The Mint continues to produce about 30 million of the coins per month, the Mint official said.

Treasury officials estimate the government could save $50 million a year if the coin begins to replace the dollar bill.

"The dollar bill costs nearly 2 cents to produce and lasts only 18 months in circulation," Treasury literature says. "The new dollar coin will cost 3 cents to produce and will last 15 years or more in good condition."

Treasury officials also estimate a savings of at least $4.5 million a year because the Anthony coin is less expensive to produce than the Eisenhower dollar, which it replaced.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

New lens may help post-cataract vision

Dear Dr. Solomon: My father, who is 75, has just had cataract surgery, and he is now debating the pros and cons of eyeglasses versus contact lenses. He would prefer the contact lenses because he's been told they will give him better vision. But my father doesn't think he would be able to handle them. Would you suggest that he give them a try? — Mr. F.M.

Dear Mr. M.: Older people often have trouble inserting contact lenses because they lack good eye-hand coordination. However, there is a new development that your father might want to consider.

The Food and Drug Administration has authorized manufacture of an extended-wear contact lens for people who have undergone cataract surgery. The lens, which can be worn for up to 30 days, will not be available to other than postcataract patients. It is made of material similar to that used for the manufacture of lenses that are inserted and removed every day, except that it has a slightly higher water content.

The new lens may produce some side effects such as blurred vision, excessive tearing or a halo around the field of vision. But it will do away with the need for daily insertion and removal and should provide better peripheral vision than eyeglasses would.

A discussion with your father's ophthalmologist might be helpful in deciding.

Dear Dr. Solomon: After 10 years of marriage, we are expecting our first child. You can imagine how much this pregnancy means to both me and my husband. The problem is that before I was aware that I was pregnant, I had some X-rays taken because of a medical problem. Although the doctor assures me the risk is low, I'm concerned about the possible effects on the baby. What are the dangers of damage to the child? — Mrs. F.C.B.

Dear Mrs. B.: A pregnant woman should never be exposed to radiation unnecessarily. This is especially important during the first trimester of pregnancy, when the fetus is most susceptible to damage.

The medical effects of radiation depend upon the dose received by the patient. Any dose at a critical time may cause damage in experimental situations. In individual cases, however, the risk to the fetus from diagnostic X-rays is relatively small. Hopefully, all will turn out well for you.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Having just been told by my doctor that I have a peptic ulcer, I'm curious about how common the condition is. — Stu.

Dear Stu: About 20 million Americans — 10 percent of the population — have had an ulcer of the stomach or duodenum. Ulcers occur among people of all ages, although they are most frequent after the age of 20. Over the past few years, there is statistical evidence that the total number of patients with ulcers may be declining.

(If you have a medical problem, see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal replies but will answer as many questions as possible in his column.)
