11 perish in stampede to grab concert seats

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I couldn't believe it. They could see the people all piled up and they still tried to climb over them just to get in," said one man who watched in horror as 11 persons died in a crushing human wave surging into Riverfront Coliseum for a rock concert by "The Who."

Police Lt. Col. Joseph Staff said seven young men and four young women were trampled and killed when the mob pushed into the hall on the Ohio River in a crush of bodies that continued for 30 minutes.

Eight other persons were seriously injured, police said. Twenty more were treated at four hospitals and released.

"They kept yelling to get back, but we couldn't," said Michael Jordan, 17, one of those caught in the stampede. "I saw people going down. I saw people hurt. People were flailing their elbows."

Dawn Gilmore of Dayton said, "I couldn't breathe. The crush was making me faint."

The Monday night concert, which drew an audience of more than 18,000 people, went on as scheduled and "The Who" made no mention of the tragedy during their performance.

"We decided to let the concert go on. If we stopped it, we would have had a worse panic," said Lt. Dale Menkaus who led 25 police officers in a crowd-control detail.

Menkaus estimated that more than 6,000 people, some who had waited more than three hours, were crowded on the coliseum's plaza level waiting for the doors to open. Many had been drinking and smoking marijuana.

As at some past rock concerts, some seats were reserved, but about half were available on a first-come, first-served basis. Authorities said pushing incidents in the past had led to arrests.

"The group likes to do a little sound test," Menkaus said. When the crowd heard the music, it surged forward.

"They opened only two doors. They have about 50. I suggested they open more, but was told there wasn't enough personnel to open more," Menkaus said.

"First a bottle crashed through the glass. Then they started pushing more glass out and they started pouring in. We couldn't stop them," said Ray Schwertman, an usher.

Dick Ogburn, a concertgoer from Lexington, Ky., said, "People were going down. I saw people's heads being stepped on. I fell and I couldn't get up. People kept pushing me down. I was afraid for my life."

Menkaus said it was nearly 30 minutes before his officers could mount a charge into the crowd. "We found the first bodies about 15 feet from the door outside," he said.

Dr. Al Trott, emergency room supervisor at Cincinnati General Hospital, said all victims suffered "footprint-like injuries."

"Some made it. Some died within two or three minutes," said Isy D'Agostino, a nurse from Dayton. "It's a real sad way to go."

Autopsies were being performed today to determine the exact cause of death.

City Safety Director Richard Castellini said he will ask the City Council to pass a law requiring that all seats be reserved at future events. "It's the urgency of getting a seat that makes this happen," he said.

"The Who," among the oldest surviving British rock groups, is featured in a recently released film, "Quadrophonia." The four-member group wrote the rock opera "Tommy," which was made into a movie.

Keith Altham, the European press agent for "The Who" in London, said members of group "are absolutely devastated by the sheer horrific proportions of the tragedy." The group planned to appear as scheduled tonight in Buffalo for a reserved-seats-only concert.

Monday's mob scene was not a first for Riverfront Coliseum. On April 19, 1977, police arrested 76 people who tried to push their way into a "Led Zeppelin" rock concert.

Officials of the coliseum and Electric Factory Concerts of Philadelphia, sponsor of the concert, could not be reached for comment.

Jeff Chaney of Carlisle, an Army veteran, said he tried to revive three of the victims. His efforts failed mostly "because people just didn't seem to care."

"I couldn't believe it. They could see the people all piled up and they still tried to climb over them just to get in," Chaney said. He said one girl was clinging to his leg, but by the time he pulled her free, she was dead.

News of the deaths brought parents storming to the Coliseum, but they were turned away by security guards. "Go home and see if they come home," said one guard to a middle-aged woman, who was visibly shaken.

"We have all sorts of life-saving devices," said a tearful paramedic who declined to identify himself. "We have drugs. We have highly trained people, and none of it did a bit of good. They just died. We couldn't save a one of them."

For a half-hour the mass of humanity surged forward on its own momentum, crushing, smothering and trampling anything and anyone in its path.

"Your feet didn't even touch the ground. You were just carried along," said Tom Joyce of Boston, one of those caught up in the stampede outside Riverfront Coliseum Monday night.

"It was getting cold and we thought they'd open the doors a little early," said Michael Jordan, 17, who would say later, "I had to fight for my life."

Finally, two of the doors were opened to allow the crowd in. Thousands surged forward.

"Some were carrying people in. They brought one guy in and set him on that table and he died," Schwertman said.

Jordan, meanwhile, was trapped in the crowd and trying to protect his date, Suzanne Sudrack, 15.

"They kept yelling to get back, but we couldn't. I saw people going down. I saw people hurt. People were flailing their elbows," he said.

Those up front were being crushed against the building. Their hope lay in getting through one of two open doors.

Iranians overwhelmingly back Khomeini

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Scattered official returns today showed Iranian voters gave a massive 99.6 percent approval to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Islamic constitution, Tehran Radio reported. The new constitution will make the Shiite Moslem patriarch Iran's supreme ruler for life.

Meanwhile, the American hostages at the occupied U.S. Embassy began the 31st day of their confinement.

Khomeini's militia men Monday increased the guard at the compound, apparently in anticipation of a U.S. attempt to free the 50 Americans held captive there by students demanding the return of the deposed shah. Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said all the hostages were still being treated and fed well, and he denied reports that they were kept tied to chairs.

Iran tried a new economic weapon today in its showdown with the United States. A reliable oil industry source in London said his company and others were notified that Iran, apparently trying to undercut the dollar, would no longer take the U.S. currency in payment for its oil.

The Iranians said they want to be paid in a "basket" of currencies, the source said, but he did not know whether they had spelled out how this would be denominated. The world oil trade is transacted in dollars.

In the constitutional referendum, out of a total of 3,562,703 ballots counted thus far, only 11,746 were opposed, the state-controlled radio said. The yes-or-no, non-secret referendum was conducted Sunday and Monday. The incomplete results were from 60 Iranian cities.

It was difficult to predict what the total figure on turnout would be. Final official results are not expected before Thursday. Many political parties and leaders of ethnic minorities had called for a boycott.

The constitution mandates theocratic government in this predominantly Moslem nation, and opponents claim it will confirm Khomeini as a dictator.

Leftist and centrist political parties had said they would boycott the referendum as did leaders of the Kurdish, Arab, Baluchi and Turkoman ethnic minorities. The political factions denounced the constitution as a tool of dictatorship while the minorities, many of them Sunni Moslems, opposed it because Khomeini and his Shiite Moslems rejected their demands for autonomous home rule.

Tehran Radio said early returns showed heavy voting in favor of the constitution even in some of the minority areas. It said that in the city of Tabriz, in east Azerbaijan, for example, the vote was 982,567 "yes" and only 3,032 "no." Anti-Khomeini Azerbaijani leaders had led a large demonstration there Sunday calling for a boycott.

Officials of the Khomeini regime had predicted the boycotts would have little effect on the outcome of the vote.

At several polling stations, reporters saw Moslem priests sitting in front of the ballot boxes instructing people to "vote yes only." The clerics, and anyone else who chose to watch, could see whether voters deposited the green "yes" ballot or the red "no" vote.

At the American Embassy, a spokesman for the militants denied reports that eight of the hostages had been singled out for intensive interrogation in preparation for possible espionage trials.

However, there was speculation in Western diplomatic circles in Tehran that the students were likely to single out the top officials among the hostages for more intensive grilling.

"We are checking all the documents and files we found in the embassy and questioning all the hostages about their spying activities," the spokesman told The Associated Press by telephone.

Iran crisis at-a-glance

By The Associated Press

The U.S.-Iran crisis entered its 31st day today with 50 Americans still hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and the deposed shah recuperating in Texas. Here are the highlights:

In Washington

Carter administration officials reported no progress in efforts to find a permanent haven for Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and some were beginning to talk of his American stay as "open-ended."

But the administration will not grant the former Iranian ruler permanent residence, officials said privately, because they feel the step would inflame the tense situation in Tehran.

In Iran

Iranians reportedly voted 60-to-1 for Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Islamic constitution, giving the Shiite Moslem patriarch supreme power for life.

Khomeini's militia men increased the guard at the occupied U.S. Embassy, apparently in anticipation of a U.S. attempt to free the hostages.

Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said all the hostages were still being treated and fed well, and he denied reports that they were kept tied to chairs.

In Texas

Iranian college students in San Antonio applied for permits to marches in protest of the arrival of the shah, and worried city officials were trying to decide whether to grant them.

The San Antonio College students requested parade permits to stage anti-shah demonstrations Friday downtown and outside Lackland Air Force Base, where the ailing shah is secluded in comfortable, heavily guarded VIP quarters.

In world markets

Silver and gold prices continued to reach record heights on the world's exchanges amid speculators' concern over the crisis, fear of Middle East tensions as a result of the stalemate and the prospect of sharp oil price increases.

In Mexico

President Jose Lopez Portillo said President Carter's freeze of Iranian government assets in the United States was "a precipitous decision that will seriously deteriorate the international monetary system."

Oil exec predicts windfall's OK

Despite the oil industry's unified opposition

By BILL MODISETT
Staff Writer

Despite the opposition of oil companies, a windfall profits tax probably will be in effect early in 1980, predicted Maurice F. Granville, chairman of the board of Texaco Inc.

"We in Texaco, like most of the industry, believe it's wrong to take those so-called windfall profit funds away from badly needed exploration and production in this country," Granville said Monday in Midland.

Tax money collected via the windfall profits legislation could mean that one to two million barrels of oil per day that could be produced in the United States by 1990 won't be produced, Granville said.

"I think those figures are entirely possible," he said, reflecting on the possible impact of the tax. He added that the figure on production he quoted was not an estimate, but a probability. The figures could range higher, he indicated.

The windfall profits tax legislation is being debated on the floor of the U.S. Senate where the leadership is attempting to reach a compromise on amendments before putting the measure up for a final vote, possibly next week.

Granville said he believes a compromise will be reached on the bill and it will be brought to a vote prior to the Christmas recess in Congress.

"Eventually there has to be a compromise of some sort," said Granville.

Meanwhile, Texaco continues its search for gas in the depths of the Baltimore Canyon off the Eastern Seaboard.

"Before gas can be produced there commercially, a pipeline will have to be built," the Texaco executive noted.

Adding that Texaco is "encouraged" by initial results of drilling in the Baltimore Canyon, Granville said the company is attempting to determine whether sufficient reserves exist in the Baltimore Canyon to justify construction of the pipeline.

That pipeline with a drilling platform, he said, would cost "at least a half-billion dollars." Currently the oil industry already has spent more than $1 billion in developing Baltimore Canyon, he said.

If the canyon proves commercial, Granville said, it probably would be at least five to seven years before the gas could reach consumers. That time factor is a direct result of "getting the necessary permits to proceed," Granville added.

Nothing unusual is planned for Texaco's operations in the Permian Basin in the foreseeable future, said Dosh T. McCreary, Midland division manager.

"We plan to maintain our organization at about the same level," McCreary added.

Granville, McCreary and several other Texaco executives were in the Tall City as special guests of The Midland Wildcat Committee for a reception, given in their honor.

Hance gives results of recent poll

Congress should establish a balanced budget and begin paying back the national debt even if it means cutting programs, a recent poll of residents in the 19th Congressional District showed.

The survey was conducted in the early fall by U.S. Rep. Kent Hance who received more than 31,000 responses on opinions on major legislative issues.

"We felt we had an excellent sampling of opinion in the 19th District," said Hance. "We received a wide range of opinion on all the subjects and it helped reaffirm our beliefs about what people want their government to do."

Carter's catching up, polls say

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, set to announce officially today that he is seeking re-election, has pulled almost even with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in a new opinion poll.

Carter campaign chief Robert Strauss said he was surprised to see Carter coming on so quickly and suggested that Kennedy has caused himself further political damage by his criticism of Carter's decision to admit the former Shah of Iran to the United States.

Carter was scheduled to announce his candidacy officially in the East Room of the White House at 1:30 p.m. CST today, then attend a fund-raising dinner at a Washington hotel in the evening.

Earlier in the year, Carter was trailing Kennedy 2-1 in polls of Democratic voters, but an ABC-Louis Harris poll released Monday night showed Carter trailing Kennedy 44 percent to 51 percent among Democratic voters in a head-on race.

The poll showed Carter even closer in a three-way race including Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., of California, the third major contender for the Democratic nomination.

Carter actually was ahead of Kennedy when Democrats were lumped together with independents, who can vote in some Democratic primaries.

Police probing electronics theft

Midland police today were investigating the theft of $3,800 worth of televisions and sound equipment from a Midland electronics store, officials said.

Sound Machine, 119 San Miguel Square, reported the theft about 8 p.m. Monday, police said. An investigation revealed the back door to the business had been left unlocked and the alarm system turned off for some period of time Monday, police noted in their report.

There were no signs of forced entry and officials said they believe entry to the building was gained through the rear door of the business, officials said.

In other activity, police were investigating a reported theft at 407 1/2 S. Lee St. sometime Monday. Reported to authorities by Margaret Green at 3 p.m. Monday, police said the theft resulted in the loss of a tape recorder and two watches valued at $250.

An auto burglary also reported to police Monday occurred at the Midland School Bus Barn, 801 S. Morgan St., officials said.

Police said a radio scanner and a citizens band radio, total value $299, were reported taken in the burglary.

Explosion's cause still undetermined

The cause of an explosion that rocked lower levels of The Building of the Southwest about 4:28 p.m. Monday had not been determined early today, a Midland Fire Department official said.

However, officials suspect it was a gas leak, possibly set off by an electric motor set near gas valves, that caused the explosion in the boiler room of the building. No gas leak was found in the initial investigation of the explosion but the official noted that maintenance work was being performed on the gas lines at the time of the explosion.

Russell Davidson, 29, 2601 N. A St., boilerman for the building, was slightly injured in the explosion but was released following examination at Midland Memorial Hospital, hospital officials said.

was that people are interested in their government," Hance said. "People do care about what laws are passed and how those laws will affect them."

The major areas cited in the poll included inflation, energy, defense, taxes and agriculture. With the quick-changing events on the international level in recent weeks, Hance added, he felt international relations would be included if the poll were taken today.

Those responding to the poll showed the most unity in saying Congress should establish a balanced budget and begin a systematic payback of the national debt, "even if it means some of your favorite programs or local projects might be reduced or eliminated." To that question, 93.7 percent said an emphatic yes.

Opinions were more evenly divided on gas rationing, with 55.3 percent responding to the question "should the Congress pass a law allowing the president to invoke gas rationing if it becomes necessary?"

Opinions strongly favored questions on producing more energy. Of those responding, 83.3 percent thought oil prices should be decontrolled "so American producers will be paid the same as foreign producers," and 70.3 percent favored decontrol of gasoline prices.

On the use of alternate energy sources, 89.6 percent said they would favor relaxing environmental standards to make greater use of the abundant supplies of coal, and 81.1 percent favored spending federal funds researching and developing solar and wind energy.

While 74.8 percent thought Congress should allow more nuclear power plants to be constructed, 59.3 percent were against allowing nuclear waste to be stored in West Texas or Eastern New Mexico.

On other issues, 58.3 percent said the post office should be returned to congressional control, 54.2 percent favored reinstating the military draft, and 60.3 percent favored reinstating military registration without a draft. On maintaining the present 55 mph speed limit, 68 percent were in favor, while 53.8 percent of the respondents were against a single six-year term for the president.

Some 75.2 percent favored delaying a ban on the artificial sweetener saccharin, while 70.8 percent were against national health insurance "to establish a program for basic medical services to be provided to all citizens by the government."

The majority — 72.8 percent — did favor a tax credit for parents who pay for the college education of their children.

More than half — 54 percent — of those responding listed inflation as "the single most important issue facing our nation today."

Energy came in a distant second with 21.8 percent, followed by defense with 9 percent, taxes with 6.1 percent, agriculture with 5.3 percent, international relations with 1.9 percent and health with 1.7 percent.

Shah's arrival in Texas surprises Iranian students in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Iranian college students were surprised like everyone else here when the exiled shah arrived early Sunday at Lackland Air Force Base.

And the ones convinced he is at the nearby base will not know until Wednesday whether wary city officials will let them stage a rally against the man they say "urged" them to leave home for an education.

The San Antonio College students gathered Monday at a cafeteria table — their usual meeting place — as the shah recuperated behind a vast security system at the military base some 10 miles from the campus.

"He's not here," said one student, who, like many of the Iranians, asked not to be identified. "Why didn't they show him? They say they bring him someplace, but they take him someplace else."

There are 212 Iranians among the 21,000 students at the junior college. Some say they have been harassed on the phone and in person after being quoted in local newspapers. The campus just north of downtown was the scene last summer of several low-key demonstrations against the shah.

No demonstrators have appeared at the campus or outside the base since the shah's arrival.

Immigration officials determined last week that 21 Iranians here are "out-of-status" — meaning their student visas are no longer valid.

Most are hesitant to give their names, but all are questioning in their support of the Ayatollah Khomeini — the man they call "Imam."

"If the order comes, we will fight the United States," said Mohsen Kashani, a 22-year-old medical technology student.

The student said he knew they would fight the United States government — not the American people. To them, the difference is clear.

"I am not against the people," said Kashani, who has lived here two years. "The people are innocent. We want the people to understand they should not waste their money in a war with Iran."

The students said the taking of hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran may violate international law, "but the people there do not believe international law anymore."

Kashani and the others say they would not hesitate to return home and enlist for a war against the United States. However, for now they think they should continue their studies.

President Carter's order freezing Iranian assets in the U.S. makes it impossible for them to finance a trip home, the students said.

Kashani said Iran has long had enough money to open universities of its own, but the shah "urged us to come here."

"We did not want to come. It costs a lot of money for us to come," he said.

The students would not predict an Iranian victory in a war with the United States, but Kashani said the conflict would not end until all 35 million people in Iran were killed.

FBI, Puerto Rican police join to hunt terrorists

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The FBI and Puerto Rican police hunted the nationalist terrorists who killed two U.S. Navy sailors and wounded 10 others as three independence groups claimed responsibility for the ambush.

Marines with M-16 rifles patrolled the entrance to the base where the victims were quartered, and Rear Adm. Arthur K. Knozier, the Navy's Caribbean commander, said security was being stepped up at all other bases in Puerto Rico.

Responsibility for the attack Monday was claimed by the Armed Forces of Popular Resistance, the Puerto Rican Popular Army and the Organization of Volunteers for the Puerto Rican Revolution.

They said the attack was made to avenge the deaths of two youths in a shootout with police a year ago near a communications tower and the death of an anti-Navy activist in a federal prison in Florida in October.

It was the first fatal attack in nine years and the costliest ever made on U.S. military forces in Puerto Rico.

The terrorists in a van intercepted a Navy bus carrying 18 technicians to work at a transmission antenna site about a mile from the Navy's Sabana Seca Base at Toa Baja, about 10 miles west of San Juan. The attackers forced the bus driver to stop and then opened fire.

The bus windows and windshield were riddled by 41 bullet holes, apparently from shotguns and pistols.

A survivor said the driver was shot in the head and killed instantly. A passenger grabbed the wheel and took the injured back to the base.

The Navy said the dead driver was John R. Ball, 29, of Madison, Wis., a communications technician 1st class, and the other man killed was Emil E. White, 20, a radioman 3rd class from St. Thomas, in the nearby U.S. Virgin Islands. White was a part-time disc jockey.

The injured, including three Navy women, were not identified pending notification of next of kin.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said President Carter deplored the attack as "a despicable act of murder" inconsistent with the political attitudes of most Puerto Ricans.

The majority of Puerto Ricans, in referendums and public opinion polls, have repeatedly and overwhelmingly rejected independence for the island of 3.5 million. In recent years the main political conflict has been between those favoring statehood and those who want to continue the commonwealth status.

Gov. Carlos Romero Barcelo, an advocate of statehood, said the attack was an "irrational and cowardly act against the people of the United States and the people of Puerto Rico."

Former Gov. Rafael Hernandez Colon, leader of the opposition Popular Democratic Party, said he condemned the killings "from the depth of my spirit."

But Carlos Gallisa, president of the Puerto Rican Socialist Party, called it "the product of the situation that the U.S. Navy has created in Puerto Rico." And Carlos Zenon, head of the Vieques Fishermen's Association, said the attack was due to the Navy and the federal courts.

Local fishermen for years have been fighting the Navy's use of the island of Vieques for bombing and gunnery practice, charging that it greatly curtails their catch.

Anti-Navy emotions were intensified this fall by the conviction of 19 protestors for trespassing on Navy property during a demonstration last spring. One of the 19, Angel Rodriguez Cristobal, was found dead in his cell in a federal prison in Florida last month. Prison authorities said he hanged himself, but his associates and the Armed Forces of Popular Resistance charged that he was murdered.

The students around the table said they had heard no plans of demonstrations. It was later in the day that an Iranian student showed up at City Hall to seek a parade permit for a Friday rally near the base and a parade that would end at the Alamo.

Poerner to be featured speaker at bar meeting

Texas Railroad Commission Chairman John H. Poerner will be featured speaker Friday at a joint meeting of the Bar Associations of Ector and Midland Counties at Midland Country Club.

The meeting will begin at 11:45 a.m. Poerner was named to the Railroad Commission by Gov. Dolph Briscoe Jan. 1, 1978. His current term expires Dec. 31, 1980. He was elected chairman Jan. 1 of this year.

Prior to his appointment on the commission, Poerner served three terms in the Texas House of Representatives from March 1969 to January 1975 and served in the Texas Constitutional Convention of 1974.

He received the Agricultural Hall of Fame award from Southwest Texas State University in 1972, the Outstanding Representative award from the Texas Sheriffs Association in 1973 and the Distinguished Legislator award from the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association in 1973.

Poerner served as a member of the Southern Regional Education Board for five years, was executive director of the Governor's Committee on Aging in 1975 and director of the Governor's Office of Education Resources from 1975 to 1977. He was an administrative assistant to Briscoe in 1977 and 1978.

Warmer afternoons, fair skies forecast through Wednesday

Jack Frost apparently has decided to give the Permian Basin area a brief respite from nippy temperatures as the thermometer Wednesday should register in the low 70s.

The National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport is predicting fair skies with warm afternoons through Wednesday. Low tonight should be in the middle 30s. High Wednesday should be in the low 70s. The mercury on Monday hit the 69 degree mark, below the record high of 83 set in 1954. Overnight low was 30 degrees, warm in comparison to the record of 20 degrees set in 1934.

No precipitation is expected, said the weatherman. No rainfall has been recorded so far this month, leaving the yearly accumulation at 13.25 inches.

Light rain was falling over extreme South Texas today, but the rest of the state was dry with cloudy conditions prevailing over most of Texas.

The other day I was entering a school speed control zone. I was there after the hours posted on the speed control sign, but the lights were still flashing. Should I observe the flashing lights or the information posted as to the time the speed limit is in effect? — S. B.

ANSWER: The Traffic Division of the Midland Police Department says to observe the flashing lights, because the lights could be flashing "after hours" for a special reason.

I have a large corner lot which is a favorite dumping ground for the large dogs which roam my neighborhood at night.

I've been curious about the effectiveness of white plastic bottles filled with water and placed around the area to keep out dogs.

Some say they do the job, but I didn't get a chance to find out. One day after placing the bottles, I found them kicked (as in football) all over the place by boys crossing the lot on the way home from school.

Cholera outbreak threatens cranes

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — An outbreak of avian cholera, an often-fatal disease, is threatening the 75 rare whooping cranes at Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, a spokesman said Monday.

But so far, the cranes' shy nature has kept them away from infected birds, refuge manager Frank Johnson said.

Black elected mayor

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Leo E. Jackson, a 53-year-old welding instructor, has become New England's first black mayor and says: "I just want to be the best mayor for the city of New London ... black or white."

Jackson was unanimously elected to the post Monday night by his fellow members of the City Council. The job is largely ceremonial, as power rests with the city manager and the council.

Jackson is one of seven black mayors in the Northeast. Although he played down the importance of being the first black mayor in this Long Island Sound community, he used his inaugural address to encourage black youth.

"Yes I'm for black awareness, black power and black is definitely beautiful. But rhetoric doesn't make for trained minds," Jackson said. "Rhetoric does not give you any skills."

I'm aggravated because they didn't let me play my game or amused at the temptation they must have been to a typical active boy. I think I am mostly amused, and would like to play one more game, if someone knows of a similar harmless deterrent for boys. — R.E.S.

ANSWER: This may not be exactly an answer to your hypothetical question for a "harmless deterrent," but it may be a subtle suggestion. It appeared in a recent newspaper publication, signed Anonymous, Dallas:

"Some of those people who complain about the neighbors' dogs messing up their lawns should put a leash on their own children. These kids cut across the neighbors' yards, leave all kinds of litter and violate the anti-noise law by racing their motorcycles and cars all night and shouting obscenities out in the street. Believe me, our dogs are better behaved than their children."

On television I have heard about a place in Colorado where you can write for a "Consumer Information Catalog." Do you know the address? — F.J.L.

ANSWER: Write to the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

This catalog has sections for booklets on such subjects as automobiles, children, employment and education, exercise and weight control, food, gardening, health, housing, money management, travel and hobbies and other publications.

These booklets, which you may order, are from almost 30 agencies of the federal government, and more than half of them are free.

Three arrested in Hobbs in death of beaten man

ABILENE — Three men were on their way back to Abilene from Hobbs, N.M., early today to face murder charges in the beating death of air traffic controller Hubert O. Tobey.

Abilene Justice of the Peace Silas Clark set bond at $1,000 each for William Batte, 19, of Abilene, Clifton Charles Russell, 18, of Abilene, and Michael Mark Wicker, 21, of either Lovington, N.M., or Plains, Texas.

Hobbs police said the trio was arrested when a check of the 1974 Lincoln Continental they were driving revealed it was registered to Tobey.

Abilene Police Lt. Jack Dieken and Sgt. K.Z. Bradshaw left Monday night to bring the three men back from Hobbs.

Tobey, 41, apparently was beaten to death with a foot-long rock early Monday, police said. His partially

Felon charged with being armed

Orbie Dale Chambliss, 26, was charged with unlawful possession of a firearm by a felon before Midland County Peace Justice Robert Pine late Monday afternoon. Chambliss remained in Midland City Jail early today in lieu of $10,000 bond set by Peace Justice Pine.

Chambliss was arrested about 10:30 p.m. Sunday in Midland for "driving in a haphazard manner," police said.

He was found to be in possession of a .25-caliber automatic pistol, officials said.

Chambliss is the brother of Kelly Joe Chambliss, recently convicted of murder in Midland.

nude body was found behind a house in an undeveloped part of Abilene about 1 a.m. Monday.

A preliminary autopsy report showed Tobey died from blows to the head, a police spokesman said.

Police said the case was similar to the June 8, 1978, death of William Favors, who apparently was beaten with a tire tool in West Abilene.

Favors, 49, of the Dallas suburb of Richardson, was found in a field with his pants around his ankles. Police said Tobey's shirt was pulled up over his head and his shorts were around his ankles.

Tobey's wife had reported him missing when he failed to return to his home in Potosi, just south of Abilene, from his job at Abilene Municipal Airport.

An Abilene policeman said that about midnight, he saw Tobey with another man at a convenience store near the site where his body was found.

Police had said earlier that the other man was a suspect.

The body was found when a caller, receiving no answer at the door, went to the rear of the house. Police said the house and its occupants were not connected to the slaying.

Robbery suspect free on bail

MEQUON, Wis. (AP) — A 19-year-old robbery suspect who died with a police chief in a shootout was freed on reduced bail after he assured a judge he was "not a threat to society."

Court records revealed that Anthony T. Johnson, son of Milwaukee police officer Bobby Johnson, had been sent to a drug treatment center by the judge, but ran away within two days.

Johnson died in a gunbattle Sunday along with Mequon Police Chief Thomas Buntrock, 42, in Buntrock's car. The chief had exchanged himself for a man and a child whom Johnson had taken hostage.

Johnson had been pursued by Ozaukee County authorities to this Milwaukee suburb following a Theinsville service station holdup, authorities said.

Message to Khomeini

Shirley Murray, a 29-year-old Tyler Junior College sophomore has launched a mass telegram campaign, something like a neighborhood petition, addressed to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

She hopes Western Union's dedication to deliver all telegrams will help Americans communicate their support of President Carter in the existing Iranian crisis.

At the end of last week, she had sent three telegrams, signed by 25 persons each, to the ayatollah, and was working on a fourth. Each telegram, it is reported, contains a 21-word message and 25 names, at a cost of approximately $1 per person.

"Tyler, Texas, Americans, stand united in their support of President Carter's firm action and demand the release of our fellow Americans," the message reads.

The telegrams go to the Western Union office at Chase Manhattan Bank in Tehran, and Mrs. Murray says she is depending on Western Union to see that they are delivered. Maybe they will be delivered and maybe they won't, but it's worth taking the chance that they will be.

Mrs. Murray said she wanted to say something to Ayatollah Khomeini, since everyone is talking about the situation in Iran, but only to one another.

Americans are aroused and united on this subject, and all are interested in doing something to aid the cause. Perhaps the Tyler coed has hit upon something which may catch on nationwide.

Jody Powell, press secretary to President Carter, has written to newspaper editors across the land stating that many Americans are looking for a way to express concern for their fellow citizens being held hostage in Iran that is consistent with this country's respect for law and order.

"The American Charge in Iran, Bruce Laingen, who is being held at the Foreign Ministry, has suggested that church bells be rung each noon until the hostages are released," Powell said in his letter. "Several members of Congress and the Attorney General also have suggested that Americans write the Iranian Mission at the United Nations to demand release of the hostages."

"The President endorses these suggestions," Powell added.

He went on to say that it is of overriding importance that Iranian authorities understand that "Americans are united in their determination not to yield to blackmail and in the demand for the safe return of the hostages."

And in a letter to the editor appearing in Sunday's Reporter-Telegram, Mrs. Pat Conway said it would be a beautiful sight to see Old Glory flying from every housetop until the American hostages have been released.

"It might not help, but it sure would get passed around that we have not forgotten our fellow Americans," she wrote.

These are all great, meaningful suggestions. If carried out to any extent, they certainly will help prevent any miscalculation to where Americans stand in this time of crisis.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Jack talks to prisoners in Iran

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — From a variety of sources — including a personal long-distance phone call into their splendid but spartan prison — we have obtained a graphic picture of the conditions under which the three American officials trapped in the Iranian Foreign Ministry have been living for the past month.

The large room, where the three embassy officials have been held since a radical student mob seized the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, is furnished with Persian rugs, baronial coats of arms and tinkling crystal chandeliers. But the doors are chained shut, and the three diplomats sleep on the floor, with only a sheet for cover against the chill night air of the Iranian capital. There is no heat, and for the first several days of their captivity, there was no water to wash in.

When water finally was carried in, the three men — Charge d'Affaires L. Bruce Laingen, Victor Tomseth and security officer Michael Howland — had to bathe in the same water. When they washed their soiled clothing, they hung it to dry on the chandeliers.

Unlike the hostages in the embassy, the three Foreign Service Officers at the Foreign Ministry have had contact with the outside world. There is a working telephone in their room, and they have been allowed to make calls to their families in the United States. The calls were monitored, of course, and once Laingen was abruptly cut off in the middle of a conversation with his wife — for no readily apparent reason.

The trio also had a television set, on which they were able to keep track of the situation outside their prison — or at least the situation as it was presented on the Iranian state TV station. Tomseth speaks fluent Farsi, and was able to understand the speeches by the mullahs.

We asked Lee Roderick of Scripps League Newspapers, who accompanied Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, on his trip to Tehran, to check on the three hostages in the Foreign Ministry. He was the only reporter who got in to see them.

In an annex to the main Foreign Ministry building, Roderick was led down a corridor, up an elevator and along a winding passageway to a locked, chain-secured door. His escort gave a coded knock and a guard peered out at them through a peephole.

The door was opened, and Roderick was led through a kitchen and foyer into the large room where the three hostages were being held. Unlike the captives in the embassy, they were not bound or, apparently, forbidden to converse with each other.

Roderick told us that Laingen, a 57-year-old career diplomat and Middle Eastern expert who first served in Iran more than 25 years ago, appeared to be "strained, tense, nervous and disoriented."

Other sources said this was not from concern for his own situation, or from discomfort at the primitive living conditions. Laingen spent a rugged boyhood on a Minnesota farm, and has served in a number of hardship posts in nearly 30 years as a diplomat.

What was driving Laingen to distraction, our sources suggested, was the senior diplomat's overriding concern for the hostages at the embassy, and his anguish at being unable to be there to help them.

Roderick asked them about the espionage charges that the Iranians are threatening to bring against some embassy employees. Snorted How-

CHARLEY REESE Volunteer concept: Idea out of line with reality

By CHARLEY REESE
Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. — The recurring incidents of military recruiting abuses are logical consequences of an attempt on the part of the American people in general and politicians in particular to eat their cake and have it, too.

Whatever sin a recruiter under pressure to fill a quota commits is far less atrocious than the sin our politicians committed when they opted for a volunteer army. The decision was made on nothing but domestic political grounds. In the face of protests, it was the easy way out.

Nothing a recruiter can say is more misleading than the national advertising which depicts the armed forces as a combination vocational school and summer camp.

The volunteer army concept is the source of many vices. Not only do we employ misleading advertising and deceptive recruiting practices, but we also divert scarce dollars from training and equipment into amenities. Discipline is suffering. Personnel are diverted to teaching their comrades how to read. Wrong strategies are adopted, like relying on reserves and guard units for nearly half the firepower of the army.

Charley Reese

The whole issue of defense has been distorted and bent to keep alive the volunteer concept so the politicians will not have to vote for a new draft.

The volunteer concept is a failure because it is an idea out of context with the present reality. In the days between the World Wars when there was no immediate threat to the vital interests of the United States let alone to the lives of the American people; when the state of military technology was such that long mobilization periods could be guaranteed; and when our foreign policy was more isolationist, then we could afford a very small volunteer army.

But look at the world today. Military technology is such that a war could come to the continental United States in less than half an hour. Moreover, this technology dictates the tactics of surprise. The entire planet is an armed camp, seething with deep and fundamental conflicts. American forces are asked to guarantee the peace of Western Europe and so sit in the invasion corridor before the most powerful military force the world has ever seen. In Korea, they sit before a 600,000-man army commanded by a lunatic. Our economy is dependent as never before on a steady and massive flow of minerals and metals which must cross thousands of miles of ocean. For that reason alone, we must have the capability to keep the sea lanes open and to project our power to the sources of the raw materials.

The increase in the sophistication of weaponry has created a greater need for larger quantities of men and material. The Yom Kippur War, the first fought on a conventional battlefield with both sides equipped with the new technology; demonstrated that increased accuracy and firepower means staggering losses of men and machines at a rapid rate.

Thus, the technology and the political and economic conditions require a much stronger military posture than is possible to achieve on a volunteer basis. It's time we and our politicians faced the facts.

I am no gung-ho militarist. I went, but only when I had to, and I left as soon as I could. I don't relish the idea of my sons having to fight, but in the context of our times, that is the price we must pay for the privilege of living as a free and independent people.

We are kidding ourselves. We are kidding ourselves that we can provide for an adequate defense by luring a small number of less privileged youngsters into the service and allowing them to carry the load for the rest of us.

We need a military draft. Not the unfair system we had before, but a fair draft that takes every youngster at age 18 for a period of active duty and a longer period of compulsive reserve duty.

We don't need a national service by which the more politically better connected youngsters would pick daisies in the national parks. No citizen over the state two years of his life, but all citizens must share the responsibility for providing a common defense.

The volunteer army cannot be fixed. We need a draft and the sooner we have one, the safer we will all be.

It happened here, too

The setting up of "kissing zone" regulations in an effort to keep traffic moving in a dropoff point at a commuter station at Deerfield, Ill., recalls a similar situation which occurred here a number of years ago now.

In the Deerfield case, officials created kiss and no-kiss boundaries in a half-serious effort to help correct the problem. According to a news release, they don't expect to be able to enforce their zone regulations. In fact, the ban largely is being ignored. But it got attention.

The result was much the same here when it was suggested that a slow-down in traffic around downtown office buildings during the morning rush when wives brought their husbands to work, was caused by excessive, prolonged goodbye kisses and should be halted. Fortunately, it never did get around to the city ordinance stage.

But this doesn't seem to be a problem today. One wonders why. Probably more cars and less kissing...at dropoff time, at least.

INSIDE REPORT:

Moscow's malevolent game in Iranian crisis indisputable

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — That Moscow is playing a malevolent hand in the country's Iranian crisis became indisputable three weeks after the American hostages were seized when the CIA's top-secret National Intelligence Daily informed President Carter that Moscow has privately promised to "support" Iran in the event of U.S. military action.

The Russians intentionally left the nature of that "support" ambiguous. As pieced together here by high-level operatives in the Pentagon, State Department and intelligence community, the Soviet objective is clear: Induce Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to hold the hostages long enough to entice President Carter into military reaction.

If and when that happens, Moscow's intention may well be to offer Iran no more than political and moral support.

But no official here is certain that the Russians would be content (as one prominent authority put it to us) "to harvest the rich anti-American crop" throughout the Moslem world that would bloom with an American attack on Iran. If not content, Moscow could indeed offer military help, using a mechanized division manned by crack Farsi-speaking Soviet soldiers long held in readiness just north of the Iranian-Soviet border.

This malevolent game, clearly the design of Soviet policy at the highest levels, may be understandable as one superpower seeks to exploit the other's vulnerabilities. But amid the shadowy power politics swirling around Iran, there seems more than simple exploitation. This looks like calculation and design.

Evans

Some three weeks after the hostages were seized, the state-controlled Iranian radio and television suddenly stopped its harsh, unremitting criticism of the Soviet Union. This propaganda shift contradicted the historic reality that the Russian giant to Iran's north has always been viewed as a potential aggressor, never a friend.

Eric Rouleau, a leading Western journalist on Iran, wrote in the left-leaning Paris daily, Le Monde, Nov. 23: "Even the denunciations of the 'oppressive communist regime' of Afghanistan have stopped, as well as the hostile slogans against the Tudeh (Iran's Communist party) that the masses have been shouting out."

The shift is directly traced to Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, boss of Iranian radio and television ever since he accompanied the ayatollah from Paris to Tehran last February. This is the same man who now dominates civilian political power in Tehran, as acting foreign minister under Khomeini.

The sudden pro-Moscow propaganda switch ordered by Ghotbzadeh coincided with the Soviet offer of "support" against U.S. military intervention, delivered in Moscow by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to Iranian Ambassador Mohammed Mokri.

Although Ghotbzadeh has been portrayed on some American television screens as a moderate since his surprise elevation to foreign minister, officials here believe otherwise. He not only announced Iran would not attend the emergency session of the United Nations Security Council, but is regarded as an author of the boycott policy.

Indeed, U.S. officials have long suspected that of all the non-religious radicals in the Iranian revolution, Ghotbzadeh is the most dangerous to the U.S. He has known Marxist links and is closely associated with radical Arab liberation fronts — including the far-left Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, which helped in taking over the U.S. Embassy in Tehran Nov. 4.

Thus, the ascendancy of Ghotbzadeh clearly gave new leverage to the Soviets in exploiting U.S. vulnerability in the Iranian crisis. The day before Ghotbzadeh ruled out his presence at the Dec. 1 U.N. session, Soviet delegate Oleg Troyanovsky showed the true Soviet colors: While Moscow confirmed the illegality of the embassy takeover, he told council members, the Security Council should let the Iranians speak first at the meeting.

That would establish an immediate anti-American tone for the extraordinary Security Council session. The accused, not the prosecution, would have the run of the courtroom at the outset of the trial.

Nobody knows how far Moscow is willing to risk playing out its malevolent hand, but an example may have been set by the Kremlin's refusal to give Carter an escape hatch in the recent Cuban crisis. The prospect of similarly disdainful treatment in this far more serious Iranian crisis helps explain the anxiety that permeates the administration today.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

No way to tell whether dieters following plans

Dear Dr. Solomon: My husband is on a medically supervised diet with protein supplements—or, at least, he is supposed to be. He eats pretty much what he wants and thinks he is fooling his doctor. Isn't there some way the doctor can tell if a patient is adhering to a diet he has prescribed?—Mrs. K.L.V.

Dear Mrs. V.: If a patient is on a weight control diet and fails to lose weight, the physician, of course, can assume that the diet is not being followed. However, if you are asking whether the doctor can detect whether the patient is taking specific nutrients, the answer is that there is no method I know of for measuring diet compliance. Unless it is a starvation diet. Then a urine test could tell.

Dear Dr. Solomon: It is often difficult to make sense out of some of the things we read about cancer research. Can you tell me if progress is being made in the prevention and treatment of cancer?—Mr. J.B.

Dear Mr. B.: Although there is still a long way to go before cancer is conquered, progress has been made. Consider the following:

Thirteen different kinds of cancers, including 75 percent of all cases of Hodgkin's disease, are now considered curable; 50 chemicals are available for cancer treatment, although surgery is still the primary therapy; nine out of 10 breast cancers are being detected by the patient herself, and knowledge of the association between cigarette smoking and lung cancer has the potential for saving many more lives.

From the standpoint of prevention, we know there are 26 industrial chemicals, including vinyl chloride and asbestos, that have a relationship to cancer. The answer to your question is that slow but steady progress in the prevention and treatment of cancer is being made, but more needs to be done.

Dear Dr. Solomon: People were smoking cigarettes for a number of years before it was established that they are harmful. Can we assume that the same will not happen with marijuana?—Mr. C.S.J.

Dear Mr. J.: No one can say with certainty that there will be no long-term effects from smoking marijuana. In fact, Dr. Coy W. Waller, director of the University of Mississippi Research Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences, says that new studies indicate that marijuana is a potent drug which can have adverse health effects of a serious nature.

One report of an animal study indicates that long-term use of marijuana smoke in animals causes irreversible lung changes, while monkeys suffered an increased rate of stillbirths. There is some disagreement over whether damage to the brain also occurred.

Dr. Waller considers marijuana on the level of morphine or heroin in terms of its effects on the mind. From a medical standpoint, however, he foresees its successful use in the treatment of glaucoma and severe nausea.

Safe used as bait to lure intended murder victims

TYLER, Texas (AP)—A safe supposedly containing $60,000 was used to lure three intended murder victims — including a confessed slayer — to an aborted rendezvous with death, a former Gregg County law enforcement officer testified.

Don B. Hale, a former captain in the Gregg County sheriff's office testifying under protective immunity, said Monday he was in charge of a "hit squad" which was ordered to kill three men in 1974.

Gregg County Sheriff Tom Welch, Gregg County Commissioner Bill Satterwhite and former deputy Jim Cochran are charged with conspiracy to commit murder.

Just Shake it and Let it Fall Into Place. The Precision Haircut.

Because your head is unique, the way your hair grows is equally unique. Really quite different from every one else's.

Precision haircutting is a technique for cutting the hair in harmony with the way it grows. Your hair eventually grows out but it doesn't lose its shape with a precision haircut. Consequently your haircut will look as good after five days as it does after five minutes. And because the hair falls naturally into place you won't have to keep fussing with it. Usually a shake of the head does it.

At Command Performance we shampoo, precision-cut and blow dry your hair for fourteen dollars, whether you're a gal or a guy. And no appointments are ever necessary.

We also offer permanent waves, coloring, frosting and conditioning. But we really shine with precision. And so will you.

Continuing controversy plagues concert sponsor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Electric Factory Concerts, sponsor of the Cincinnati "Who" concert in which 11 persons were killed by a stampeding crowd of rock fans, was born in controversy more than a decade ago.

But despite anti-trust suits, canceled concerts, a reported grand jury investigation and the wrath of a black promoters' group, the Philadelphia-based organization continues to gross about $14 million a year, officials say.

Electric Factory, which dominates the local pop music entertainment market and sponsors concerts all over the Eastern United States, began as a rock club in an old concrete-floored Philadelphia tire warehouse.

Herb Spivak and his two brothers opened the club on Feb. 2, 1968, after a visit to the Electric Circus in New York City. To book the increasingly important rock groups, the Spivaks brought Larry Magid, a Temple University graduate then in his mid-20s, back from New York where he had been working with a booking agency.

The Spivaks and Magid, who is now president of Electric Factory Concerts, quickly learned that tastes in New York and Philadelphia were still a long way apart.

One of the earliest official visitors to their club was Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo, who went on to become mayor.

Rizzo was shocked at the braless girls and long-haired boys writhing to the music. He was even more shocked at a series of inclined cubbyholes along the wall in which couples could stretch out.

On his way out, Rizzo promised Magid he'd get rid of the Electric Factory. Soon afterwards, a suit was filed in Common Pleas Court, alleging the club was a public nuisance.

But in a series of hearings, the Factory fought Rizzo to a standstill, and in November 1970, the case was dismissed.

Having won the battle, Magid closed the Factory and launched his rock promotion company, Electric Factory Concerts Inc. By 1973, the company was promoting concerts in Baltimore, Boston, New Haven and Washington, D.C.

However, the following year brought some setbacks for the promoter.

Philadelphia's Shubert Theater ended an experiment in providing rock concerts promoted by Electric Factory, citing the behavior of unruly fans who had vandalized the theater and injured other concertgoers.

"I can't tell you how many incidents we've had of broken seats, drugs, smashed booze bottles, break-ins and ransackings," Stan Hurwitz, the theater manager said.

In July of that year, the supervisors of Tunkhannock Township in northeastern Pennsylvania, revoked a permit issued to Electric Factory to hold a rock concert for 50,000 at the Pocono International Raceway, citing a huge traffic tieup, property damage, litter and lack of crowd control at a previous concert.

Having already sold 5,000 tickets and spent between $200,000 and $400,000, Electric Factory threatened to sue the township, but eventually canceled the concert.

Still under Magid's direction, Electric Factory continued to grow.

Mayor says 'The Who' to cancel

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — After learning that 11 persons died trying to get into a concert by the rock group "The Who" in Cincinnati, Providence Mayor Vincent A. Cianci Jr. said a scheduled performance by the group at the Civic Center will be canceled.

A number of recent concerts at the Civic Center have been followed by disturbances.

Pastor hears baby's cries, finds infant in manger scene

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — The Rev. Charles Holland walked by the nativity scene in front of his church and heard the sound of a baby's cries coming from the manger.

"My initial impression was that they had added this as an effect. Then I realized it was not from a tape but it was for real," Holland said.

Close behind the manger, in a cardboard box about a foot and a half square, "sure" enough, there was a little baby boy, without clothes, covered with a crib sheet doubled a couple of times," said Holland, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

An unsigned, handwritten note found along with the baby Monday read: "I'm Timothy. Please take care of me."

Midland Rape Crisis Center open, counseling victims, director says

By WANDA MOUTON Lifestyle Editor

After a delay of several months, the Midland Rape Crisis Center has begun operation, Nan Gordon, center director, announced in a press conference today.

"We did not want to open to the public until we were fully prepared to operate and until our volunteers had received full training," Ms. Gordon said.

She said the center has three main purposes: providing confidential crisis intervention, counseling, supportive services and follow-up counseling to rape victims; increasing victim reporting of rape to obtain a more accurate reporting of the crime; and increasing public awareness.

"Rape is a violent, repetitive and degrading crime," said Ms. Gordon. "Rape is believed to be one of the most unreported crimes in the nation, due to fear and embarrassment on the part of the victim."

"Statistics show that in the Midland vicinity, only one of every four rapes is reported," she said. "These statistics are based on a nationwide survey which showed that only one out of 10 rapes is reported, she said."

The center has been organized through the efforts of concerned community residents, explained Ms. Gordon. Two full-time employees and a board of directors will operate the center.

Members of the board present at the conference were Brenda J. Machost, president; Linda George, vice president; Doris Howbert, vice president; Bob Dutton, treasurer; and Sheriff Dallas Smith, advisory board member. Other board members not present were Kay Maley, secretary, and Midland Police Sgt. Jerry Compton, advisory member.

Ms. Gordon and Laura Chandler, assistant director, will supervise 12 volunteers who have received legal, medical and counseling training.

A 24-hour hotline (682-RAPE) will be manned by the volunteers. The center hopes to eventually train 50 other volunteers, said Ms. Gordon.

The center, a non-profit corporation, is being funded through a five-year grant from the state's Criminal Justice Division and processed through the city of Midland.

Ms. Gordon said approximately $39,000 has been granted for the first year, with a decreasing amount funded for the following four years. The center hopes to receive other funds through public donations, she added. "The center will unite its efforts with the local law enforcement agencies, hospitals and the court system," said Ms. Gordon.

Sheriff Smith said his department, along with the Midland Police Department, supports the center.

"There are misconceptions about what will happen if a rape victim reports the crime or prosecutes," he said. "Hopefully, the center can clear up these misconceptions and let the rape victims know what they will be faced with in the legal system," he said.

Statistics from the Sheriff's Department showed the county had four rapes reported in 1977, six rapes in 1978 and seven, thus far, for 1979.

The city of Midland had nine rapes reported in 1977, 24 rapes in 1978 and 14 rapes thus far in 1979.

"These statistics show only what rapes are reported," said Smith. "The center is also concerned with the three out of four persons, the 75 percent who are not reporting the crime."

The center is to be situated in a confidential location for the protection of the rape victims, explained Ms. Gordon. It will be open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., with calls to be forwarded to a volunteer's home. The volunteer will then assess the rape victim's needs and provide counseling.

The center also plans to launch a public awareness program to be provided to area churches, schools and civic organizations.

Group changes name

The Midland Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., will now be known as Midland Council of Camp Fire, Inc.

The change is a result of delegates from across the country, representing more than 320 Camp Fire councils and more than half a million youth voting to change the corporate name of their organization.

The vote came during Camp Fire's national biennial congress held in Portland, Ore. A new organizational logo recently created also reflects the changed image of the United Way agency.

As an organization, Camp Fire has been in existence since 1910 — it was the first non-sectarian organization for girls in the United States.

A resolution to change the agency's corporate name grew out of five years of agency reorganization which emphasized a new corporate purpose that encourages programming and advocacy on behalf of all youth.

During the past five years, boys have been participating in Camp Fire at all age levels and in club and mini-venture programs. Boys currently make up eight percent of the total youth membership.

Supporting an agency name change, statistics based on data from more than 72 percent of the local councils show that more than half of all local councils are serving boys, and that 51 percent of the councils have coed clubs and 50 percent also offer all boys clubs in addition to all girl clubs. The largest percentage of boys in Camp Fire is found at the Blue Bird (6-8 year old) level.

"In recent years, Camp Fire carefully studied our changing society, especially our changing expectations of what girls and boys should be and do," explained Roberta van der Voort, Ed.D., national executive director of Camp Fire. "It was concluded that what both boys and girls need most is a program which encourages the development of each individual's fullest potential."

According to Amy White, executive director of the Midland council, and Bob Reddin, president of the council's board of directors, no boy that requests to be admitted to the local group will be turned away. At the present time, they said, there are no boys included in the council's membership. "There are some participating in the mini-ventures," said Mrs. White, but membership is not required for being involved in these programs.

Based on their findings, Camp Fire again became a leader among national youth agencies. In 1975, Camp Fire became the first national organization to develop a non-sexist program for both boys and girls.

The term non-sexist in Camp Fire programming means:

—Activities are not suggested exclusively for girls or boys. Any child may try anything in Camp Fire.

—All program books for adult leaders and youth members use art and words which suggest that boys and girls participate as friends and equals.

—Real differences between girls and boys are recognized and children are helped to appreciate these differences.

"For many years, both girls and boys have been limited by expectations of what a girl or boy should be like," said Dr. van der Voort. "Girls should be quiet, boys should be boisterous, girls like people, boys like things. These are stereotypes and they limit the potential achievements of every child."

According to Dr. van der Voort, recognizing differences between boys and girls, believes that the Camp Fire program should not try to create girls and boys who think and act exactly alike.

Camp Fire offers a variety of activities from which children may choose and, in so doing, discover their own interests and talents. The new agency logo reflects the rich heritage of symbolism inherent in Camp Fire, as well as the new openness and changes within the organization. Still basic components of the logo are the logs; the flame, symbolizing the hearth of the home and the campfire of the out of doors; the Wohelo triangle with the three sides symbolizing work, health and love and the red, white and blue colors symbolizing citizenship. The flame and logs on which it rests are white with the triangle blue on the left and red on the right.

DEAR ABBY

She's a good-hearted cuss!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a childless neighbor who loves kids and is a wonderful friend. On a moment's notice Shirley will gladly look after my brood. (I have three, ages 2, 4 and 5.) So what's my problem? Shirley's language is unusual. She can't utter two sentences without including half a dozen dirty words. I'm sure she doesn't realize how often she uses those words; it's just automatic with her. After being around Shirley for a while yesterday, my 4-year-old came up with a real mind-blower. When I told him that was a "bad" word and he shouldn't use it again, he said, "Well, Aunt Shirley uses it all the time, so why can't I?"

Now, Abby, I wouldn't hurt Shirley's feelings for the world because she is really a wonderful friend and has a heart of gold, but her language is something else. Is there a solution? Don't suggest I keep my kids away from her. I can't. — FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: I doubt if you would "hurt" Shirley if you asked her to try to watch her language in front of the kids. (I also doubt if it would do much good, but it's worth a try.) Just tell your kids it's not nice to use "bad" words. And let them know that there are some "good" people who use "bad" words, and Aunt Shirley is one of them.

DEAR ABBY: Our beautiful, 20-year-old daughter is about to marry a fine, high-principled man who recently moved to this rather small town. The young man has a strict religious background and is as strait-laced as anyone we've ever known. I'm sure if he knew about our daughter's past, and that she has already lied to him about her virginity, he would have been long gone.

My husband and I love our daughter and want her to be happy, but we feel she should be honest with her fiancé — and admit that she has made some mistakes. We feel that this is not only the honorable thing to do, but it could save her and her husband some serious problems in the future.

Many of the people in this town know that our daughter had a very bad reputation in her teens, and since she plans to live here after her marriage, her chances of being able to hide her past are nil.

Abby, she reads your column every day and says you advocate withholding the truth in a situation such as this. If you do, forget this letter; if you agree with us, please answer this in your column soon. — TROUBLED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I agree that your daughter should confess that he is not the first man in her life. To lie about this would be a serious mistake. How many others, and the details, however, need not be part of the confession. If it is going to make a difference in the way the young man feels about her, she's wise to tell him now.

DEAR ABBY: Charlie and I have been married for nine years. We have eight kids. (No twins.) He just told me that he is trying to think up some minor crime to commit so they'll lock him up. Charlie isn't a violent man, but he's threatening to hit a policeman or throw a brick through somebody's window, so they'll arrest him and take him to jail. He says the noise around this house is driving him crazy.

Abby, I can't gag the kids. Besides I didn't have them alone, and if I can stand them, so can he.

Charlie says he's fed up with me and the kids and married life, and the only place for him is in a nice quiet jail where nobody can bother him. Help me. — CHARLIE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I've heard of men trying to break OUT of jail, but never INTO one. If Charlie is joking — laugh. If he's serious, you'd better get him to a doctor to have his head examined. The teen years are the questioning years. Abby has the answers to all your questions in her booklet, "What Teenagers Want to Know." Write Abby in care of this newspaper. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope.

AT WIT'S END Traveling funny

By ERMA BOMBECK

I always wanted to do a funny book about traveling.

But I could never think of anything funny to write about it. Most trips are like a death march with stop-offs at tedium, exhaustion, and a layover at frustration.

If you doubt it, just ask yourself have you ever seen a traveler anywhere with a smile on his face?

Every time I return home from a trip, I sit for days and ponder on the great mysteries of travel.

Like how come the first suitcase off the plane never belongs to anybody? I have purposely run from the plane to the baggage claim area to make sure I see the first piece to come rolling down the chute. Minutes later (35 or 40 of them to be exact), when I have my luggage, that first piece is still whirling around... unclaimed.

Why is it the window seat on the plane is always occupied by someone who is (a) sick or (b) asleep?

How come when the pilot comes on over the PA and says, "For all of you camera buffs sitting on the right side of the airplane there is an absolutely breathtaking view of Halley's Comet passing over the Statue of Liberty." I am always sitting on the left side which has been enveloped in clouds since we left the airport?

It has always been a mystery to me how the Fates know which gate to send me to. When I am carrying a newspaper and my handbag and have two hours and a half to change planes, I am at gate two.

However, when I am carrying my own luggage, a three-pound novel, hot rollers, an extra coat and live cactus for my hostess, and have 12 minutes to make a connection, my gate is still being built.

There is never a choice on will your luggage get lost or not get lost. The choice is always will it get lost on the way TO your vacation or on the trip home. It is invariably the former.

And finally, there's the Feast or Famine Law. A dieter will be met on the 7:00 a.m. flight with a glass of champagne and food every 15 minutes throughout the flight and twice over each time zone, while the starving person will be forced to live by macadamia nuts alone.

Maybe traveling was never meant to be a fun experience. Come to think of it, Wilbur and Orville Wright rode bicycles.

U.S. says Soviet move 'propaganda ploy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Describing the move as a "propaganda ploy," administration officials say they have strong indications the Soviet Union will start pulling a 10,000-man tank division from East Germany this week.

They view the action, signalled nearly two months ago by Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, as a tactic in a campaign to persuade North Atlantic alliance nations to reject an American proposal for stationing longer-range missiles in Western Europe.

These officials, asking to remain anonymous, dismiss the impending withdrawal as having very little military significance because, they say, it would represent only a fraction of Russia's estimated 530,000 troops in East Germany and other Warsaw Pact nations.

According to the officials, there are signs the Russians will try to make the start of the withdrawal a "big media event," as one official put it. They said they understand the Russians are inviting Western press and West Berlin television to cover the event, probably Wednesday.

The officials said they have what they call good intelligence that the withdrawal will involve the 6th Guard tank division stationed at Wittenberg, East Germany. This division is said to have about 300 tanks.

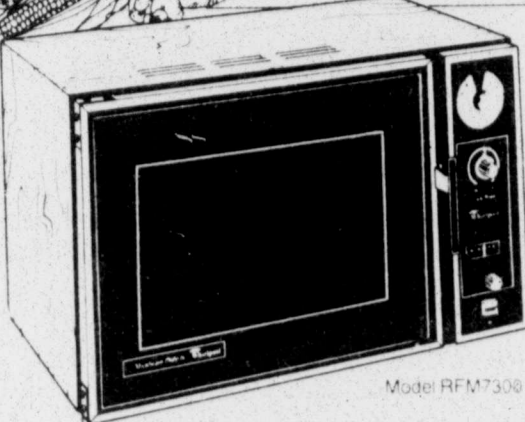

The Russians withdraw all of the 6th Division or only part of it, and whether the division is withdrawn all the way into the Soviet Union.

U.S. intelligence credits the Soviet army in Eastern Europe with more than twice the strength of the roughly 212,000 American ground troops, principally in West Germany.

THE CONTINENTAL SHORTCUT.

FOUR WAYS CONTINENTAL CUTS THE TIME TO NEW YORK.

1. Continental has found the fastest way into New York. With service to Newark Airport, Newark's fifteen minutes less flying time than if you head into JFK. It's also in a different traffic pattern. You'll avoid those stackups that happen so often over JFK.

2. You save time on the ground, too. Newark serves about 15,000,000 fewer passengers a year than JFK. So you still have a good chance of getting your baggage in a reasonable amount of time, without the frustrating delays.

3. Because Newark is modern and well laid out, people are able to come and go without the huge jams you get at most International airports. You can get through the terminal without the shoving, crowding and delays that cut into your time.

4. You can get into Manhattan about 45 minutes faster from Newark than from JFK. That's according to the Official Airline Guide.

not us. So you spend far less time caught in time-consuming traffic. Finally, Continental saves wear and tear on your soul. We've grown up giving warm, friendly service. ## Korean trial stopped

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The court martial of the accused assassin of President Park Chung-hee was suspended shortly after it opened today to let the Supreme Court rule on a defense motion that the trial should be a civilian one.

Attorney An Sok-ho, a spokesman for the 21 lawyers defending Kim Jae-kyu and seven other South Koreans, said the Supreme Court might take a month to decide the matter.

Several of the defense attorneys said outside the court that the presiding officer's decision to suspend the trial was a victory for them in the first round of the legal battle.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A key prosecution witness says Charan Singh, India's current prime minister, persuaded him to help frame Sanjay Gandhi on a charge of destroying a film satirizing Indira Gandhi's regime.

In a petition submitted Monday night, Amrit Nahata, a film producer and former member of Parliament, said he wants to provide "the real and true facts of the case" to the Supreme Court, which is hearing an appeal of the conviction of Sanjay Gandhi, the son of India's former prime minister.

Salt Lake has more of an imposing history than it is as an imposing site. It's flat, dry and barren low land. To the rancher, it's nothing more than waste-land.

This isolated piece of wood casts a shadow like a snail on the dry salt lake bed. Legend says gold and a spring are buried there. (Staff Photos by Ed Todd)

Midland reception to honor wife of candidate Connally

She will be honored at a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Allen, 1600 W. Ohio Ave.

The appearance is one of 11 she will make in a fund-raising tour ending

The Midland reception is being hosted by the Connally for President Committee. Tickets for $125 each may be obtained by telephoning Tom Sealy at 682-1616.

Other cities on Mrs. Connally's tour are El Paso, Lufkin, Dallas, McAllen, Corpus Christi, Kilgore, Tyler, Kerrville and Lubbock.

Salt Lake tales set sandy stage

SALT LAKE — Tales are drifting around this old lake, which is as dry as a mound of drifting sand in a seven-year drought.

Salt cedar and scrawny mesquite line the eastern shore of the mile-long lake.

Shallow sandstone cliffs bearing miniature caverns eroded by ageless time, scarce rainfall and wind-blown sand, form much of the western shore.

A popping oilfield pump jack marks the southern boundary; a tank battery is to the west. Rangeland forms the northern line.

In between is a loamy lake bed, which occasionally is visited by coyotes, smaller roamers and hooved critters. Every now and then, shooters wander out to target practice. Their targets include beer cans, which somehow get dropped out here, a discarded barrel, an oil field sign, or one of nature's creatures which drifted onto the soft, sandy lake bed.

DRIFTWOOD, WHICH long has been as dry as sand, is scattered here and there.

A small turtle is motionless, as it faces west into the setting sun. It, too, is as dry as the shell of a bone it is. A lone piece of jagged, bleached-out wood casts shadows as if it were a prehistoric snail crawling along the lake bottom. The sun is setting.

But the flatbed lake, though considered wasteland, wasn't always counted as haught.

"It wasn't any resort or anything like that," says Morris Cooper, who started cowboying in Midland County in 1927. "It was just damaged land as far as the ranchers are concerned, and there's rattlesnakes in them holes out there... eight feet long. It used to be solid salt."

The salt, once combined with bone meal, became quite useful to the ranchers as food supplement for their bellowing cattle.

"All livestock need salt," says Morris. "All cattle need bone meal to keep 'em from creeping. We'd put two sacks of bone meal to one sack of salt. I've mixed many a batch."

THE SALT IN THE LAKE gave birth to a bit of West Texas history.

"That (lake) was one of the sources of the Salt War," ventures E.A. Crook, who certainly was predated by the Texas Salt War of the late 1800s.

His history on the war saga out here is somewhat sketchy, but Crook knows for certain of an old fellow, since dead, who once hauled salt out of the lake.

The old-timer was M.W. "Burro" Smith of Sterling City.

He'd strap 100-pound sacks of salt on either side of burros and march them southwestward to country foraged by sheep and lamb and pestered by coyotes.

And, says Crook in relating a brief but true tale, "Burro" Smith was the sheepherders' hero; he decimated the coyote, which bothered the rancher, by letting his greyhounds run them down.

"HE WAS ONE of the main ones who cleaned the coyotes out of the land," allows Crook.

And the burro played a vital role in the kill; "Burro" Smith's salt-burdened, laboring beasts would develop unhealing sores from carrying the salt and would get deathly sick.

"And he'd butcher them and feed them to the hounds." The dogs got their reward.

And there are other tales about gold-laden wagons being buried in the lake, says Zula Wylie, who owns the barren and flat lake bed.

"My father (William Bryant) bought the land" out here early in the 1900s. "They said that there's (Spanish) gold buried" in the lake bed, but nobody has found it or, if someone did, that gold-finder was quiet about it.

Mrs. Wylie, who lives in Cedar Hill in the Dallas area, only visited Midland and Salt Lake.

"I couldn't stand that hard water out there."

But her son, Bud Wylie, whether he could stand it or not, came out here and stayed on to ranch.

To him, Salt Lake is a wasteland.

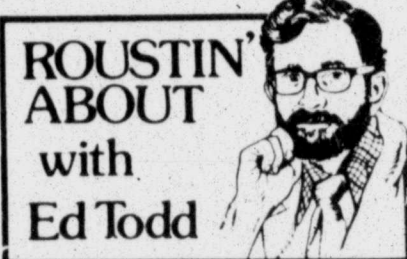

"IF IT COMES A big rain, water will cover the lake bed." And the water will be brackish. "But it dries out," Wylie says. "Once in awhile, there'll be ducks on it... but it's dry."

Today, about all Salt Lake, which is about 15 miles south of the Midland County Courthouse, is good for is conversation or for wandering about like drifting sand.

And perhaps some of the old cattlemen, like Wylie himself, "shot the bull" over Salt Lake in their ramblings in Midland's Scharbauer Hotel, which today is but a ghost out of the past.

"There's been many a trade made right in that old Scharbauer," reflects Wylie. "The cattlemen would get in the (hotel's) Bull Pen and would discuss the problems and time of the day."

Chances are that few of the old-timers took much stock in Salt Lake. But it passed the time of day then as it does now.

Is this era of 'baby boom' voter?

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most significant voting bloc of the 1980 presidential election could be alienated "baby boom" Americans who reached voting age in the 1960s and 1970s but have yet to cast their first ballot, says Republican pollster Robert M. Teeter.

"My contention is that those people are not going to go through their entire lives not participating in the process" and that the 1980 elections will bring them out in droves, Teeter said Monday.

Of the 75 million Americans who have reached voting age since 1960, he said, some 50 million have still not registered to vote.

"This is a large group of potential voters who ought to be voters," Teeter said. "For the first time since the 1930s, there is such a large group of voters, outside the electorate, available to either party."

He conceded that to date, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. has been the only presidential hopeful with any noticeable success in persuading large numbers of non-voting Americans to register. Brown is challenging President Carter for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Teeter made his remarks in releasing the results of a survey on American opinion conducted for the Republican National Committee and the Republican Congressional Committee. The poll, taken in the last week of October and the first week in November, was the first such survey the GOP has done since 1974, Teeter said.

He said the survey sample included 646 Democrats, 332 Republicans and 515 independents.

The poll showed that Americans believe that while Republicans can do a better job in getting inflation under control, Democrats have a slight edge on energy matters.

Of those interviewed, 53 percent said the economy — a combination of the cost of living, high prices and inflation — was the nation's No. 1 problem, while 29 percent said it was energy.

Thirty-three percent of those polled said Republicans could do a better job controlling inflation, compared with 25 percent for the Democrats. Ten percent said both parties could do about the same, 18 percent said neither party could do a good job and the rest said they didn't know.

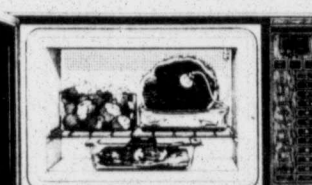

Similar breakdowns were recorded on the questions of who could do the best job controlling government spending and holding down government spending.

But asked who could do a better job "ensuring adequate energy supplies," 23 percent said Democrats while 22 percent said Republicans. A close third at 21 percent was "neither party." Eighteen percent said both parties could do an equally effective job while the rest said they didn't know.

Americans "don't perceive much difference between the two parties" on energy, Republican National Committee Chairman Bill Brock said.

Man hospitalized with stab wounds

BIG SPRING — An aggravated robbery about 4 p.m. Monday afternoon left a Louisiana man in stable condition in the intensive care unit of Odessa's Medical Center Hospital with stab wounds to the chest and neck.

Big Spring police arrested two suspects about 4:45 p.m. after James L. Hart, 62, of Louisiana was stabbed and his pickup truck stolen by two hitchhikers.

Hart had picked two men up around Abilene, according to police. When they reached the Big Spring city limits, one of the hitchhikers pulled a knife and threatened Hart.

Hart drove the pickup into the rear of another car trying to attract help, then was stabbed while trying to get out of the truck, police reports said.

The two then drove away in the truck.

Police arrested two men about 4:45 p.m. walking about a mile from where the truck was later found abandoned.

The men, a 17-year-old from Barrington, Penn., and another man from Los Angeles, Calif., were charged with aggravated robbery. Bond was set at $15,000 each.

Drug charges filed against five persons

Drug charges were filed Monday before Midland County Peace Justice John Biggs against three men and two women arrested Friday in a drug raid at a southside Midland residence, officials said.

Those arrested, the charges filed against them and their bonds are:

- Michael Roy Blake, 24, 1300 Cotton Flat Road, possession of a controlled substance, $7,500;
- Kevin Wayne Hendry, 20, 1300 Cotton Flat Road, possession of a controlled substance, $7,500;
- Brent Dee Andrews, 19, 2910 W. Michigan, felony possession of marijuana, $5,000;
- Nancy Carey Gallagher, 22, of Menard, possession of a controlled substance, $7,500;
- Felicia Jane Poirier, 19, Route 5, possession of a controlled substance, $7,500.

All five were free on bond today, officials said.

Midland police, acting Friday on information supplied by an informant, obtained a search warrant for a residence at 1300 Cotton Flat Road, officials said. During the search, substances believed to be marijuana and methamphetamine were found, according to police.

12-year-old boy held in suspected arson case

HOUSTON (AP) — A 12-year-old boy has been taken into custody in the investigation of a $150,000 fire that began in his sixth grade classroom.

He became the sixth youngster to be arrested within two weeks as arson investigators checked on three elementary school fires that caused damages estimated in excess of $1.3 million.

Billy Reagan, school superintendent, said the arrests should be a lesson to other juveniles who might have thoughts about starting school fires.

"The lesson is they are going to get caught," Reagan said.

"Like Santa Claus, the arson squad is coming to town."

Woman fighting her extradition to Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A woman arrested in Chicago Monday on murder solicitation charges says she intends to fight extradition to Lubbock, where her husband is being held.

Vaso V. Mraovic, 41, and his wife Ann, 69, are accused of offering $150,000 to kill Mrs. Mraovic's son-in-law, Arthur Boldt, who owns a McDonald's restaurant franchise in Lubbock.

Mraovic was arraigned on a capital murder solicitation charge Monday before Justice of the Peace Charles Smith, who set his bond at $250,000. Smith recommended a similar bond for Mrs. Mraovic.

Mohammad Y. Owaynat, a 35-year-old Jordanian who also lives in Chicago, was released on his own recognizance on a $25,000 material witness bond Monday. He is accused of being the hired gunman who reportedly was offered $150,000 to kill Boldt. But the gunman apparently received only $8,500 before Mraovic's arrest.

Oakland safety Mike Davis makes a diving tackle on New Orleans Saints running back Chuck Muncie in the Superdome Monday.

However, Muncie picked up 31 yards on the draw play which went to the Oakland 3-yard line. Muncie became the first Saints running back to rush for over 1,000 yards in a single season. (AP Laserphoto)

Cliff Branch climbs out of dog house

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Oakland wide receiver Cliff Branch said he hoped the two late-game touchdown receptions that gave the Raiders a 42-35 victory over New Orleans would put him back in the good graces of Coach Tom Flores.

Branch caught seven passes for 126 yards in the Monday night National Football League game, but the last two were the keys — a 66-yarder that knotted the score at 35-35 with 3:19 to play and an eight-yarder that made it 42-35 with just under two minutes left.

"Maybe this got me out of the dog house," Branch said after the game. Branch didn't explain why Flores started Rich Martini in his place Monday, but he said he wasn't disappointed that he had.

"I'm still part of the team," he said. "It takes 45 guys to win the game, and I'm still one of the 45."

THE VICTORY kept Oakland's hopes of a playoff berth alive.

"I just told our team we have a chance ... just win the last three and, well, that's it," Flores said.

New Orleans has to count on beating San Diego and Los Angeles losing to Atlanta next week. That would set up a head-to-head Rams-Saints clash for the NFC West title.

"This is one of my most disappointing losses ever," said Saints Coach Dick Nolan. "When you've got a 21-point lead, you've got to keep it."

The Saints had a 21-point lead, twice.

After Oakland went out in front 7-0 on a 3-yard pass from Kenny Stabler to tight end Raymond Chester in the first quarter, the Saints went ahead 28-7 with a four-touchdown second quarter.

FULLBACK TONY Galbreath scored on a 2-yard run 90 seconds into the second quarter and on a 17-yard pass from Archie Manning with just under five minutes gone in the period. Chuck Muncie scored on a 1-yard plunge with four minutes left before intermission, and tight end Henry Childs took a 28-yard pass from Manning in for a score with 2:18 remaining.

But Oakland came back to make it 28-14 when Arthur Whittington scored as time ran out in the first half.

The Saints went up by 21 points again in the third quarter when linebacker Kenny Borelson intercepted a Stabler pass and returned it 19 yards for a touchdown.

Mark van Eeghen narrowed it to 35-21 on a 1-yard run with 2:01 left in the third quarter, and Oakland scored 21 points in the final period — all on passes by Stabler.

Alabama loses poll muscle

By The Associated Press

Alabama's come-from-behind 25-18 victory over Auburn cost it the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press' final regular-season college football poll today and enabled Ohio State to vault into first place in a torrid three-way race with the Crimson Tide and Southern California.

Runnerup Alabama received 29 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of 67 sports writers and broadcasters to 16 for Ohio State and 19 for Southern Cal.

But eight voters, apparently unimpressed by Alabama's close call, left the Crimson Tide out of their top three choices while the Buckeyes of Ohio State were lower than third on only three ballots and piled up 33 second-place votes to overcome Alabama's edge in first-place votes.

Ohio State, which was unranked in the preseason ratings, totaled 1,267 points to 1,265 1/2 for Alabama in what may be the closest first-place race in the 44-year history of The AP poll. Southern Cal was breathing down Alabama's neck with 1,257 points.

Ohio State and Alabama finished the regular season with 11-0 records while Southern Cal wound up 10-0-1.

Midland College races past NMJC

HOBBS, N.M. — Midland College raced to its 11th straight basketball victory of the season here Monday night as the Chaparrals downed the New Mexico Junior College Thunderbirds, 86-71.

Coach Jerry Stone's Chaps zoomed out in front in the early going and had as much as a 16-point lead, but the T-Birds managed to rally and cut the MC lead to 40-38 at halftime.

Midland was slowed down somewhat with the loss of point guard Jeff Ray, who suffered a sprained ankle in the first half, but the Chaps got balanced scoring with five players in the double figures.

Paving the way was Robert Tate with 23 points while Charles Johnson and Robert Young added 14 each. Also in the double figures were Kim Willingham and Tim Shelby with 11 and 10 points.

Big guns for the T-Birds were Nicky

Green, Jim Swope, Rick Sirkin and Jeff Hannah. Green had 21 markers while Swope added 13, Sirkin 12 and Hannah 11 as NMJC was bringing its Western Junior College Athletic Conference record to 1-2 compared to MC's 2-0 reading.

Swope and Sirkin fouled out of the game in the second half.

The victory gives MC an 11-0 mark going into Thursday's WJCC game with the New Mexico Military Broncos in Roswell. Then the Chaps return to the friendly confines of Chaparral Center on Monday to take on the tall and powerful Amarillo College Badgers in a conference game. MC beat the Badgers by one point earlier in the year in the Amarillo Tournament.

Besides Ray being slowed by an ankle injury, MC is also missing the services of sophomore letterman Chuckie McGill, who is sidelined with a fractured toe. McGill will be out until the first part of January.

In other WJCC games Monday, Western Texas College maintained their pace with MC after a 121-98 victory over Howard College, now 0-2 in conference play. WTC is 2-0 and 11-0 just like the Chaps. Mike Wallace hit for 47 points in the losing cause for Howard, but even that was not enough against the nationally ranked Westerners. Guy Stewart led WTC with 28 markers.

Odessa College is now 1-0 in loop action after a 63-58 win over Frank Phillips, 1-1. Amarillo College, 1-0, defeated Clarendon, 0-1, by a 104-83 margin.

MIDLAND COLLEGE (86) - Ray 1-0-2-2; Shelby 5-0-2-10; Tate 10-3-1-23; Tutwiler 1-0-0-2; Slay 2-2-4-6; Johnson 6-2-2-14; Young 1-0-3-14; Freeman 2-0-3-4; Willingham 4-2-4-11. Totals: 28-18-21-86.

NEW MEXICO JC (71) - Swope 4-5-5-13; Black 0-2-0-2; Sirkin 6-5-5-12; Crouse 2-1-8; Rodriguez 2-0-1-4; Clark 0-0-1-0; Green 10-1-4-21; Hannah 5-1-2-11. Totals: 30-11-19-71.

Score at Halftime: Midland College 46, New Mexico Junior College 25.

Rutherford joins Chaparral team in racing pact

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Two-time Indianapolis 500 winner Johnny Rutherford will pilot a ground-effects Chaparral for Midland's Jim Hall in 1980, ending a successful, seven-year association with the financially troubled Team McLaren.

The British-based team, one of the hottest outfits in championship automobile racing in the 1970s, is closing its U.S. operation next year because its chief sponsor, Budweiser, decided not to renew the deal, says team manager Tyler Alexander.

"We haven't been able to find the necessary sponsors, so we won't be Indy-car racing in 1980," Tyler said. "We're selling our cars, but we're storing all our equipment with the hope we can run here again."

Rutherford, who piloted McLaren racers to victory at Indianapolis in 1974 and 1976, said, "It's hard to think of them not being your boss anymore. It was a very comfortable situation, a very professional situation and a very enjoyable one."

"I spent seven good years with those people and obviously, they had a lot to do with the success I've had."

Rutherford's new car will be the yellow, ground-effects Chaparral that Al Unser recently abandoned. Unser has signed a working agreement with Midland's Bobby Hillin, owner of the Longhorn Racing Team who will also put a new ground effects machine on the track in 1980.

Hall, who brought Midland some national headlines in 1978 by winning the Indianapolis 500 and the Triple Crown of racing with Unser aboard, could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

"I've talked with Mario (Andretti) and he says the ground effects is a whole new deal," Rutherford said. "He said it requires a totally different line of thinking, so I'm gonna attack it with an open mind."

"I'm not that familiar with the Chaparral, but Jim wants to start testing right away and that's great. I'm not concerned about catching up. Just give me a chance to learn."

Alexander, who will continue to oversee McLaren's Formula One entry in grand prix racing, said McLaren would like to field a team here again in 1981.

"If we can have a competitive Formula One car in '80, put something together financially and the politics at Indy get sorted out, we'll be involved again," Alexander said.

The uncertainty of championship car racing at Indianapolis, torn apart in 1979 by the bitter feud between the U.S. Auto Club and Championship Auto Racing Teams was a factor in Budweiser's decision to drop the sponsorship.

The end of McLaren's operation here, at least temporarily, follows 10 years of competition at Indianapolis, ever since Bruce McLaren brought the M-15 with Denis Hulme at the controls in May of 1970.

Peter Revson qualified the first one, Carl Williams finished ninth in McLaren's initial run, and Mark Donohue gave the team its first major victory at Indy in 1972.

McLaren was killed shortly after his machine's debut, but the team was carried on by a succession of good mechanics and by Rutherford, who signed in 1973. Besides the two other Indy crowns, Rutherford won 18 races and finished in the top five in 55 other races.

White overcomes injury for Heisman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — His coach describes 1979 Heisman Trophy winner Charles White as "a player who gives 100 percent even when he isn't carrying the football."

And there were doubts when the 185-pound tailback was injured in the season opener against Texas Tech that he would even be in the running for the honor as the nation's outstanding collegiate football player.

He missed the next game with a shoulder injury but came back to lead the nation's rushers with 1,803 yards.

"In his case, the main factor in winning the Heisman was his competitiveness," said Coach John Robinson, whose Trojans won the Pacific-10 title and rate second in the nation in The Associated Press poll.

"Check the final quarters of our games or when a game was in doubt, and you see the true value of Charles White."

White, a 21-year-old senior from nearby San Fernando, said he was so nervous about the Heisman poll "that I didn't sleep" on Sunday night.

"That's why I'm so jumpy today," the 6-foot tailback added, but his worries were needless.

He won 1,695 points to 773 for Oklahoma's Billy Sims, the Oklahoma runner seeking to repeat the Heisman honor he captured in 1978. Quarterback Marc Wilson of BYU was third with 589, but White had majority points in each of the six districts of voting.

"I came to Southern California wanting to make good and make a good impression of myself in growth," said White, who wants to beat Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, graduate in June with a degree in speech communications, and play professional football.

"It is a great honor being named to this great heritage," said White, who gave most of the credit to his teammates — unlike the somewhat overconfident player who came to USC and said his goal was to win three Heismans.

A few practice sessions and a few classes showed White he had a long way to go.

"I have come a long way in four years learning and learning about myself. I know now, I set my goals too high. The whole University of Southern California setup helped me."

White became the third Heisman Trophy winner from his school, joining Mike Garrett, who won in 1965, and O. J. Simpson, 1968.

He said he hadn't heard yet from the two others but expects a message from them.

After he was hurt in the opener against Texas Tech, White sat out the next game against Oregon State and Coach Robinson admitted, "I thought his Heisman chances were gone, but he came back with that 100 percent effort."

Still, in games where the Trojans built big leads, Robinson would take White out and use substitutes, negating any claims the team was trying to build up his totals.

In his four years, White gained 5,998 yards rushing and scored 48 touchdowns. He caught 57 passes for 534 yards. A year ago he finished fourth to Sims in the Heisman voting.

Sims was gracious in defeat. "My vote went in for Charles White before the season was over with," said Sims. "He worked his tail off this season."

Dallas Cowboys feel they are already in NFL playoffs

IRVING — Will the Dallas Cowboys be one of the teams in the NFL playoffs? That seems to be the central theme of all questions concerning the Silver and Blue, but as far as the Cowboys are concerned, that is a mute question.

Down to the man, the Cowboys already feel they are in the playoffs. And they aren't being cocky after a 28-7 victory over the New York Giants Sunday in Texas Stadium, a victory that ended a three game losing streak.

LET DEFENSIVE tackle Larry Cole explain. "We're really not worried about making the playoffs right now because we feel that we are already in the playoffs. Every game is a must win situation for us right now, and if that's not like being in the playoffs, then I don't know what is. We're approaching this thing like we are already in the playoffs. It's a long playoff, but we just can't make a slip from here on out. It is a tough situation to live with, and I hope this win (over the Giants) will give us something to work with. This win is a big lift to the team right now."

Few can argue with Cole, and few can argue with the fact that it may take several more defensive efforts like the one against New York to turn the trick. The Dallas defenders played their best game of the year with five quarterback sacks, an interception and a goal line stand. One game is not enough to bring back Doomsday to the every day vocabulary of the Cowboys, but it was a good start.

"I still don't think we (the defense) have got it all together yet. We are still making mis-the team again," Cole stated.

TERRY WILLIAMSON takes out there, but confidence is a key factor to any defense and a game like this has to help in that area. I think you can expect a defense to give up a touchdown, but we stopped them on that goal line stand and that really lifted us. We had worked on the goal line thing a lot last week and we knew what to expect. I'm feeling good about

IN ANOTHER part of the interview room, quarterback Roger Staubach was saying much of the same things. "I think we are playing winning football right now. I thought we played winning football against Houston, but lost. Now we need a win week in and week out. We put ourselves in that position, and now every game is a playoff situation," Staubach noted.

Staubach was also pleased with the win over the Giants. "I thought we played extremely well, and I hope it carries over. It was absolutely the best second half we have had in a long time."

Coach Tom Landry, even with the thought of ending the season against the surging Philadelphia Eagles and the rivalry with Washington Redskins on his mind, couldn't help but open up in his press conference. "It was the best game in all respects that we have played this year. We got some turnovers, played good defense, had a goal line stand and had some long drives offensively. We did miss three field goals, but I'm not really worried about Rafael (Septien). He's in a slump right now, but he will come out of it. He certainly had a bad day (missing attempts of 34, 31 and 46 yards), but I think people tend to forget that he has kicked some big ones for us this year, and he will do it again."

BUT LANDRY was most pleased with the 92-yard TD drive after the Cowboy defense made the goal line stand with tackle Dave Stalls sacking rookie quarterback Phil Simms for a six-yard loss on fourth-and-goal at the two. "That drive was a thing of beauty to me," Landry stated. "It took 16 or 17 plays and a lot of time off the clock. As far as I'm concerned, that's the type of thing a team needs to do. If you don't believe that a great defensive play can pick up the offensive team, then you haven't been around this game very long. They may be separate units, but what one does effects the other. It's just good to see them picking each other up."

"We showed some emotion out there today (Sunday), and I hope that carries over," Landry said.

Emotion? Coming out of the mouth of Landry? And we all thought that was taboo. But when you are already in the playoffs, a little emotion is a nice thing to see.

MHS girls down Lamesa, 67-19

By RICHARD VINCENT
Sports Writer

Coach Jane Young's Midland High Bulldogs weren't very artistic at the Chaparral Center Monday night, but there was no mistaking the final outcome.

Getting virtually every player into the act, the Purple Pack laid a 67-19 holocaust-like number on the Lamesa Tornados in a non-district girls' basketball game.

It was not, as Young readily admitted, one of the Bulldogs' better efforts. Yet it was a chance to shuffle players. And in the process, Midland High improved its record to 6-3, scoring what Young said was the team's high-point output of the young campaign.

"We got to play a lot of kids tonight who needed playing time," said Young. "I think we have the material, we just have to get everything together."

Indeed, Young speaks the truth when she says the Bulldogs have promise.

Sandra Rock, a tenacious, ball-stalking senior wing who made numerous steals, paced the Bulldogs with 12 points, although she could've had many more had several lay-ups fallen.

Then there was the play of reserve Lucy Miller. She hustled at both ends of the court, rebounding well and netting 11 points.

"She had never played basketball before this (season)," said Young of Miller. "I thought she did a good job out there."

Also joining in on the mayhem with 10 points each were Jana Trolinder, a deluxe 5-foot-7 point guard who dribbles with elan using either hand and can shoot with remarkable accuracy, and the Bulldogs' scoring machine, 5-foot-8 senior post Margaret Christian. Trolinder's points all came in the first half while Christian, who took some time to find the range, did most of her damage in the second half.

And a noteworthy job was done on the boards by 5-foot-11 post LaShell Schrock, who also blocked a handful of Lamesa shots.

Really, the Pack was never threatened in this one. They started very slowly, but fueled by an eight-point spurt, led 10-3 after one quarter.

Sandra Rock scores 12

In the second quarter, Midland took complete control of the contest, playing a feisty enough defense to keep Lamesa in check, while outscoring them 20-9.

Totally befuddled, Lamesa managed only two third-quarter points and five in the fourth, as they dropped to 1-6 for the year.

For the Bulldogs, who have a tournament date Friday night at 6 with Berger at Midland Lee, it might not have been real pretty, but it was still a victory.

Hart willing to leave team

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Quarterback Jim Hart, who was caught in the feud which cost Coach Bud Wilkinson his job, says he's willing to part company with the St. Louis Cardinals after 14 years.

"I feel there has been a general state of confusion here," said Hart, who was to have entered negotiations for a new contract with the National Football League team today.

"There's a feeling that management doesn't care about us as individuals," he added. "When you talk to players on other teams, you find those clubs look after the little things — things which aren't important to the fans but are significant to the players."

The 35-year-old Hart, when asked to be specific, replied, "Well, you appreciate just being recognized as a human being."

"It would be nice to say 'hello' and know you'll get a 'hello' in return. I know that the old family feeling is gone from football, but I think there are owners in this league I could go up to and talk to. I don't feel I can do it here. It hasn't happened."

Hart's comments followed praise lavished upon him last week by the owner during the firing of Wilkinson. The veteran quarterback is the only St. Louis player under a no-trade contract.

Texas Longhorns are victims of Aggie excellence

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas was a victim of Aggie excellence, says Texas Coach Fred Akers.

The Texas A&M Aggies ruined Texas' plans to go to the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans by upsetting Texas, 13-7, last Saturday.

"Texas A&M played very well. It's a shame they picked that day to play their best football game," Akers told his weekly news conference Monday.

Despite the loss, Texas will go to the Sun Bowl. Akers was asked if Texas players were unenthusiastic over playing in the El Paso, Texas, bowl for the second straight year.

"The Sun Bowl is a great place to go. It's a top bowl and attracts top teams," said Akers. "The disappointment comes in that we had other places as our first choice."

The Southwest Conference will be represented in the Cotton Bowl by Houston, which shared the SWC title with Arkansas. Both had 7-1 conference records, Texas was 6-2.

Had Texas defeated A&M, Arkansas would have gone to the Cotton Bowl, Texas to the Sugar Bowl and Houston would have received a Sun Bowl invitation.

Texas, 9-2, will play Washington, also 9-2, in the Sun Bowl.

Washington lost by only 24-17 to Southern California and also was defeated by Pittsburgh and Arizona State. The Arizona State loss, however, was reversed by a forfeit.

"We played well, although we had obvious breakdowns in our kicking game that gave A&M more opportunities than they deserved," Akers said.

Jim Palmer deal close

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, in an abrupt change in their position, have formally placed pitcher Jim Palmer on the trading block.

The hottest rumor at the major league baseball winter meeting in Toronto had Palmer going to Kansas City for right fielder Al Cowens and one or two young pitchers not on the major league roster, the Baltimore Sun reported today.

"We're talking some now about Palmer," general manager Hank Peters said Monday. "We're going to find out how much interest there is in him."

"We've done a lot of soul-searching, and we want to examine all our options while we're here," said Peters. He emphasized, however, the talks are only exploratory.

"We might not do anything, and I don't think anything will happen, at least not in the next 12 hours," Peters said. In the past, Peters has always maintained Palmer was not available, and that the Orioles had no intention of trading him.

Palmer said from his Baltimore home, "I don't think right now I'd go to Kansas City. I won't go anywhere I don't get paid."

And the three-time Cy Young Award winner said the Orioles won't trade him unless he wants to go.

In addition to talks involving Palmer, the Orioles also tossed around the names of Joe Kerrigan, the pitcher who was unexpectedly cut during spring training, shortstop Mark Belanger and designated hitter Lee May.

SWC teams split six cage outings

By The Associated Press

Tom Colbert sank two free throws with one second left to give Texas-Arlington a dramatic 81-80 win over Rice in an intercollegiate college basketball game Monday night.

In other contests involving Southwest Conference teams, Texas-El Paso downed Baylor, 81-64; Arizona State ran away from Houston, 78-65; Arkansas beat Centenary, 65-53; Southern Methodist blasted Texas Lutheran, 123-90; and Texas Tech overcame South Dakota State, 111-75.

RICE'S LOSS came only moments after the Owls appeared to have wrapped the contest up on an 18-foot jump shot by Ricky Pierce with three seconds left. Texas-Arlington threw the ball out of bounds and their case looked more hopeless than ever.

Brian Burns was fouled before the Owls could put the ball back in play, but the Rice sophomore missed on the first shot of a 1-and-1. Burns then fouled Colbert, setting up the game-winning charity tosses.

Roshern Amie pumped in 17 points as Texas-El Paso posted its third straight win of the year. Baylor, which was unable to overcome a 40-29 halftime deficit, dropped its second straight game.

Arizona State put four starters in double figures and took advantage of some cold Houston shooting in posting a 13-point win.

ALTON LISTER nabbed 22 points and 10 rebounds for the Sun Devils, while forward Sam Williams added 16 points for the winners, Byron Scott 14 and Kurt Nimphous 10.

Ken Williams led the losing Cougar effort with 14 points.

Hollie Hoots scored 18 points and four other Mustangs were in double figures as SMU set a school record for scoring in a single game Monday night.

The Mustangs used the red-hot shooting of Billy Allen and Brad Branson to increase a seven-point halftime lead to an 89-54 margin with just over nine minutes to play.

Texas Tech's 111 points were the most posted by the Red Raiders in 13 years. David Little paced Tech with 21 points.

THE GAME'S top scorer was Steve Lingenfelder, who dropped in 24 points for South Dakota State.

U.S. Reed and Scott Hastings combined for 39 points in Arkansas' 12-point win. Reed hit for 20 points, while Hastings drilled the net for 19.

George Lett led Centenary with 19 points, but managed only four in the final half while the Razorbacks expanded a one-point halftime lead.

Conner, Thomas on top

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Bart Conner and Kurt Thomas are doing for American gymnastics what "Broadway Joe" Namath did for the American Football League a decade ago.

While gymnastics is not the king of the sports world, it began to emerge from an 80-year ice age Monday when Conner, 21, and Thomas, 23, rose to the top during all-around compulsory competition at the 1979 World Gymnastics Championships.

Conner, a University of Oklahoma senior, and Thomas exchanged a barrage of 9.90s during the prescribed routines to captivate a pro-American audience, the first to ever watch the championships that will determine the 12 best teams for the 1980 Moscow Olympics.

Halfway through Monday's program, Conner had vaulted to the No. 1 spot with a combined total of 58.72 in all six events. Thomas, a graduate of Indiana State, was second with 58.70.

However, Alexandre Ditiatin of the Soviet Union grabbed the top spot in the all-around with 58.90 points, pushing the American superstars into second and third places.

"I think our showing proves we have emerged from stepchild status," said U.S. men's coach Roger Counsil. "We have taken our place among the gymnastics powers of the world."

Compulsories in all four women's events began today. Marcia Frederick, 16, of Milford, Conn., is defending the gold medal she won at the 1978 championships at Strasbourg, France.

The victory, won largely on combinations of hair-raising twists and flips, marked the first time an American woman had captured the gold in international competition.

Heater-related blaze destroys Midland home

A sure sign of cold weather took a fiery swipe at a Midland residence Monday night in a "space heater"-related fire, a Midland Fire Department official said.

The residence, owned by Barney Navarete, was located on County Road 118, 1/4 mile west of Texas 349, reports indicated.

Both house and contents were a total loss due to the fire, the official said.

Heater fires are a common occurrence as the weather turns colder, a firefighter said. Dormant all checking for leaks, clean filters and foreign objects that may have fallen on it during the warm months, he said.

Sheinwold on Dow Jones

By Alfred Sheinwold

In some hands you must race for your tricks before the opponents get theirs. If you can't outrun them, try to slow them down.

You need four tricks in the minor suits today. If you force out an ace, a spade will come back. Then you have only eight tricks, and when you lead the other minor suit the opponents will get three spades and two aces.

How can you reach your goal before they reach theirs?

ILLUSION

You can't do anything with the diamonds since dummy's strength is in full view, but you can create an optical illusion in clubs. At the second trick, lead the jack of clubs.

If West is an experienced player he will quickly play a low club in the hope that you are about to lose a finesse to his partner's imagined queen.

Once you have stolen that club trick you switch to diamonds and take your nine tricks. A fake finesse fools a many a foe.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one club, you respond one diamond, and he then bids one notrump. The opponents pass. You hold: ♠ 5 2 ♣ K J 6 ♢ K 5 4 ♠ 3. What do you say?

Politicians receive blame for nuclear controversy

By BARRY SHLACHTER
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Sigvard Eklund, director general of the International Atomic Energy Agency, today attacked politicians around the world for making nuclear power such a controversial issue it has toppled governments in some cases.

He said the conference, aside from publicly confronting various international nuclear energy questions, provides an important opportunity for bilateral talks between delegations.

The fuel supply issue with India, which receives U.S. enriched uranium for its Tarapur plant, built with American technology, was among bilateral issues to be discussed here, the delegate said. However, no breakthrough on the problem was expected, he added.
