American hostage tied, paraded by Iranian mob

The Associated Press

Iranian demonstrators blindfolded one of their 60 American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, bound his hands behind his back and paraded him around the garden today while mobs shouted, "Death to Carter!" and "Send Back the Shah!" a witness reported.

A two-man mediation team from the Palestine Liberation Organization arrived in Tehran, meanwhile, to try to negotiate the release of the hostages. And Iran's oil minister said chances for a cutoff of oil exports to the United States were small.

The demonstrators at the embassy also accused L. Bruce Laingen, the U.S. charge d'affaires, of being a "plotting spy" and said they would hold him captive at the Foreign Ministry, where he has been held up since the embassy was taken over Sunday.

The spectacle at the American Embassy was reported by a witness who telephoned The Associated Press in Athens. The witness asked anonymity. NBC television said the American who was paraded around the garden was about 40 years old, but did not further identify him.

The hostages were blindfolded and bound after the embassy takeover last Sunday, but their Iranian captors later claimed the blindfolds, at least, had been removed.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini has rejected a special peace mission from President Carter.

Tehran Radio said before any talks could be held with the U.S. peace emissaries, the Carter administration would have to surrender Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to Iran to face trial as a war criminal, something Washington has refused to do. The Shah is hospitalized in New York.

"The U.S. government, by keeping the shah, has declared its open opposition to Iran. The U.S. Embassy in Iran is our enemies' center of espionage against our sacred Islamic movement. It is therefore not possible, under any circumstances, for the special representatives to meet us," said the broadcast, monitored in Kuwait and London.

Carter's special envoys were former Attorney General Ramsey Clark, who met with Khomeini in January while the ayatollah was an exile in France, and William Miller, a staff member of the Senate Intelligence Committee who speaks Persian. They interrupted their journey in Istanbul, Turkey, "pending clarification" from the Iranian authorities, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said.

The PLO mediation mission consists of two top aides to PLO chief Yasser Arafat — Abu Jihad, who heads PLO forces in Lebanon, and Abi Walid, who heads PLO military operations headquarters.

Although Khomeini rebuffed Carter's representatives, he and his Revolutionary Council were expected to receive Arafat's because of the close relationship they forged as soon as Khomeini's revolution was victorious last February.

Both the U.S. government and the PLO said Arafat took a hand in the situation entirely on his own initiative, without any overtures from the U.S. government. His purpose obviously was to improve his chances for the official U.S. recognition denied the PLO so far because of the U.S. alliance with Israel.

President Carter's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski, told reporters in Washington: "Anyone who can help would be playing a constructive role."

A leading British military expert, Air Vice-Marshal Stewart Menaul, said in London today the United States "one hope" is that the PLO might influence the Iranians "to behave in a proper diplomatic manner." Menaul, a member of Britain's respected International Institute for Strategic Studies, said a U.S. commando strike could not be successful.

Reports within the oil industry Wednesday said Iran appeared to be suspending shipments to the United States, but this was denied by both U.S. and Iranian officials.

A Tehran newspaper today quoted the Iranian oil minister, Ali Akbar Moinefar, as saying chances of an oil embargo against the United States were small since the problem between the two countries is political, not economic, it was reported by the Japanese news service Kyodo.

Japanese oil traders said, meanwhile, that Iran had notified them that oil shipments to Japan would be reduced by 5 percent for "technical reasons."

U.S. 'sitting, waiting' for next Iranian move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, frustrated at every turn by events in Iran, was "frankly, sitting and waiting" today for the next move by the captors of some 60 U.S. embassy employees.

"We have utilized every channel we feel is available with the exception of one," said an administration official. That remaining option involves an offer of intervention from the Palestine Liberation Organization.

State Department officials called reporters this morning to tell them that "if they (the PLO) are moving to help release the Americans, it would be a highly responsible action in a situation where they may have some influence, and we would welcome it."

The officials said they issued the statement after hearing reports that the PLO was waiting until it was asked for help to act.

They said they had not had direct contact with the PLO about the mediation effort, but they indicated that they were willing to work with the PLO in the effort to free the hostages, citing a 1976 incident in Beirut as a precedent.

At that time, the PLO cooperated with American efforts to evacuate diplomatic personnel.

Officials offered no indication of how long the Carter administration was prepared to let the ordeal continue. "I'm not going to say anything at all about deadlines," one said.

The administration's latest initiative to free the captives was stalled at the airport in Istanbul, Turkey, on Wednesday after the most vehemently anti-American faction in the religious hierarchy running Iran apparently prevailed in its opposition to talks with President Carter's special envoys.

The envoys, former Attorney General Ramsey Clark and Senate staff aide William Miller, flew to Athens and then to Istanbul after the department was told at 1 a.m. EST Wednesday that the religious leaders would see them.

But their journey ended prematurely about 14 hours later, when the Iranians switched signals. Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini announced that neither he nor anyone else in authority in Iran would talk to the Americans unless the United States acceded to Iranian demands that the ousted shah be returned for trial.

Mortgage bonds get AA rating

Committee hopes to have funds by mid-December

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

The Single Family Mortgage Financing Program received a AA rating on its bond proposal from Standard and Poor's bond rating firm in New York, Harry Clark told the Midland Housing Authority during its Wednesday meeting.

Clark, who is chairman of the housing authority, also serves as chairman of the Midland Housing Finance Corporation which is administering the loan program for moderate income families.

This AA bond rating — a rating which the city had been hoping for — keeps the program on schedule. Clark said they (corporation members) hope to sell the bonds next week and have the money in Midland by the middle of December.

Clark said the program was presented to Moody's, another bond rating firm, and a rating is expected from that company in a few days.

The chairman explained that some cities are postponing selling the bonds to start their programs until they see how the country's economic situation starts in a few days.

Tour Midland's Industrial Park

It was only 10 years ago that the Industrial Foundation opened Midland Industrial Park. With additions this past year and announcements of two major plants coming into Midland, that Industrial Park now is almost filled.

The Industrial Foundation earlier this week took city and county officials on a tour of the park, which included trips through two manufacturing companies.

A story and photos of that tour appears on Page 10A in today's Midland Reporter-Telegram.

It's hidden costs that anger Texans, not higher interest

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas home buyers are more upset about the hidden costs of purchasing a home than they are about rising mortgage rates, according to a Texas Consumers Association official.

Katy Davis told the Senate Committee on Financial Institutions Wednesday that home buyers are tired of "gimmick fees" that allow saving and loan associations to skirt interest ceilings. She said the "hocus-pocus" should be taken out of the mortgage business.

"This means eliminating both buyers' and sellers' points, origination fees, prepayment penalties and other gimmick fees. Why can't we simplify the transaction down to the downpayment, the real estate agent's commission, the interest rate and the term of the loan?" she said.

"I assure you this single area causes more resentment among buyers who feel helpless than even the higher interest rates the savings and loans are asking for," she said.

The Senate committee is looking into the shrinking supply of mortgage money in the state. A Texas Savings and Loan League executive said the first eight months of 1979 saw a sharp decline in the dollar volume of mortgages written by Texas savings and loan associations.

Oriental Rug Showing

A large selection of handmade Oriental and Persian Rugs (new and old). Kerman-Kashan-Tabriz-Ardebil-Suk-Saruk.

Good handmade Persian Rugs are recognized as one of the finest investments on today's market. You will appreciate these values!

Aladdin House is proud to present this fabulous showing and sale just in time for the holidays!

One may ask why is a hand made oriental rug or carpet the most prized and sought after of all floor coverings? The main reasons are:

- 1) An oriental rug, being entirely hand made, has a guaranteed durability. Even accidental damage can be repaired without decreasing the rug's value. This cannot be said of a machine made rug which, once damaged, loses its value.
- 2) The decorative value of an oriental rug is undeniable. It greatly enhances a room and creates an immediate impression of friendly warmth on entering it.
- 3) Provided it is used with care, the value of an oriental rug increases year by year. It is a safe investment and can be turned into ready cash at any time.

It is sometimes believed that oriental rugs and carpets are very expensive items. This is not so. We have many fine pieces that sell at under $500.00

A brief summary of our rugs and carpets, and their characteristics, is as follows:

- Persian—The finest pieces come from the towns such as Isfahan, Qum, Kashan, Tabriz and Kerman. In addition there are the nomadic rugs of coarser weave such as Hamadan, Shiraz, Abadeh, Afshar and Belouch. We also have Kelims which have no pile, which come in colorful, geometric designs.
- Chinese: The thickest pile of all carpets and rugs. They are very luxurious and come in embossed Aubusson, Floral and Peking designs.
- Pakistan: Specialises in Bokhara and Afghan designs and in excellent copies of Persian design. Considerably less expensive than Persian rugs.
- Afghan: In well known elephant foot designs in red and gold. Useful for offices and hallways. Other designs are also produced.
- India: Mainly heavy pile. Produced with beautiful pastel backgrounds in Floral, Aubusson or Chinese Peking designs.
- Turkish: Made of wool, silk and artificial silk. Some rugs rival those of Persia in quality and design. Reasonably priced.
- Romanian: Mainly copies of Persian designs, but we also have large carpets with the Aubusson design made in wool supplied from England. Extremely good value at very low prices.

Success of industrial park seen in 'activity'

194-acre tract 'bursting' with business

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

Jeans, tape dispensers, oilfield servicing supplies and beer: They all can be found on a large tract of land known as Midland Industrial Park.

A surge of activity on that 194-acre tract prompted the Industrial Foundation of Midland, Inc., to sponsor a trip Tuesday to show Midland city and county officials just what is going on. The Foundation also pointed out just why and how it has run out of land.

The park, owned and operated by the Industrial Foundation, was opened in 1969 to provide a planned industrial area that would be attractive to firms wishing to locate in Midland. It also has served as a drawing card for industries other than petroleum-related in the Foundation's goal to attract more diversified businesses.

Grant Billingsley with the Industrial Foundation — a community-sponsored, non-profit corporation — said the organization raised the money to purchase the land through sale of debentures to Midland firms and individuals.

THE LAND WAS FULLY DEVELOPED, meaning all underground utilities were provided at each site. A rail spur through the tract, located west of Holiday Hill Road between U.S. Highway 80 and Interstate 20, served to attract firms needing a rail line.

Ten years later, the land is almost gone, and the foundation is scrutinizing the possibility of a second industrial park. But the problem is where.

"We don't have any ideas yet on where to locate it," Billingsley said. "We've run out of land."

The busload of city and county officials stopped first on the tour at Levi Strauss where Robert Anderson, personnel manager, explained the detailed operations of putting together a pair of denim jeans.

Levi Strauss & Co. opened the main plant in Midland in 1969. A nearby building where the material is cut was constructed later, Billingsley said.

Many of the garment-making steps have become more automated in those 10 years, but Anderson said it still requires someone to sit at the machine and guide the material through it.

EACH EMPLOYEE HAS A SPECIFIC JOB TO DO. Anderson said the company realizes the jobs are not interesting and therefore has devised methods to reward the workers in various ways — such as surpassing the set goals of production.

The second stop on the tour was Teraco, Inc., a division of Magnatex Industries, Inc., which manufactures advertising specialties, primarily "injection-molded plastic products," said C.R. Schwisow, president.

This includes design of the product, manufacturing, packaging and shipping to the buyer, he said. Teraco is the largest supplier of employee name badges in the country.

After the plastic badges are made, machines imprint the name of companies or insignias with metallic tapes, he explained.

Not only does Teraco produce tape dispensers, garment bag holders, rulers, paper clip holders or letter openers, it also is a large supplier of advertising emory boards, according to Schwisow as he showed the soft wood and sandpaper from which the "nail files" are made.

Teraco established its business at the Industrial Park nine years ago, he said. Since then, the company has tripled in size.

TWO FACILITIES ARE UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT THE park, according to Billingsley. These are Core Lab which is putting up a 25,000 square-foot building, and American Coldset Corp., which is constructing a 5,000 square-foot building. The latter is expected to open during the first quarter of 1980.

A third company, Woodman Distributing Co., will begin construction of a building within a month to six weeks, said Billingsley. The firm is a beer distributing company.

Applied Mechanics already has a 10,000 square-foot office. But it has started on a 2,500 square-foot addition, he said.

Giving the final boost to the Industrial Foundation's efforts are the proposed Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Inc., and Michelin Inc. facilities. Both announced plans earlier this year to locate plants at Midland.

Plans for both plants are on the drawing boards, but Billingsley is unaware as to when construction on either plant will begin.

Michelin — the radial tire manufacturer — will occupy 232 acres with the plant to face I-20, according to Billingsley. The rubber mixing plant should employ 700 persons.

PPG WILL BE ON 420 ACRES NEXT TO MICHELIN. The fiberglass thread manufacturing plant will employ 350 to 400 persons in the beginning. But Billingsley said the plans include expanding the 400,000-square-foot initial plant to 700,000 square feet.

Midland Industrial Park is home to 27 firms with 33 buildings, said Billingsley.

Other businesses located there are Bancroft Paper Co.; B.J. Hughes, Inc.; Centrilit, Inc.; Chaparral Pipeline; Christensen Diamond Products; Christensen Downhole Tool, Inc.; Department of Public Safety; Dyna Drill; End Devices; Energy Systems, Inc.; Fabricated Industrial Systems; International Harvester.

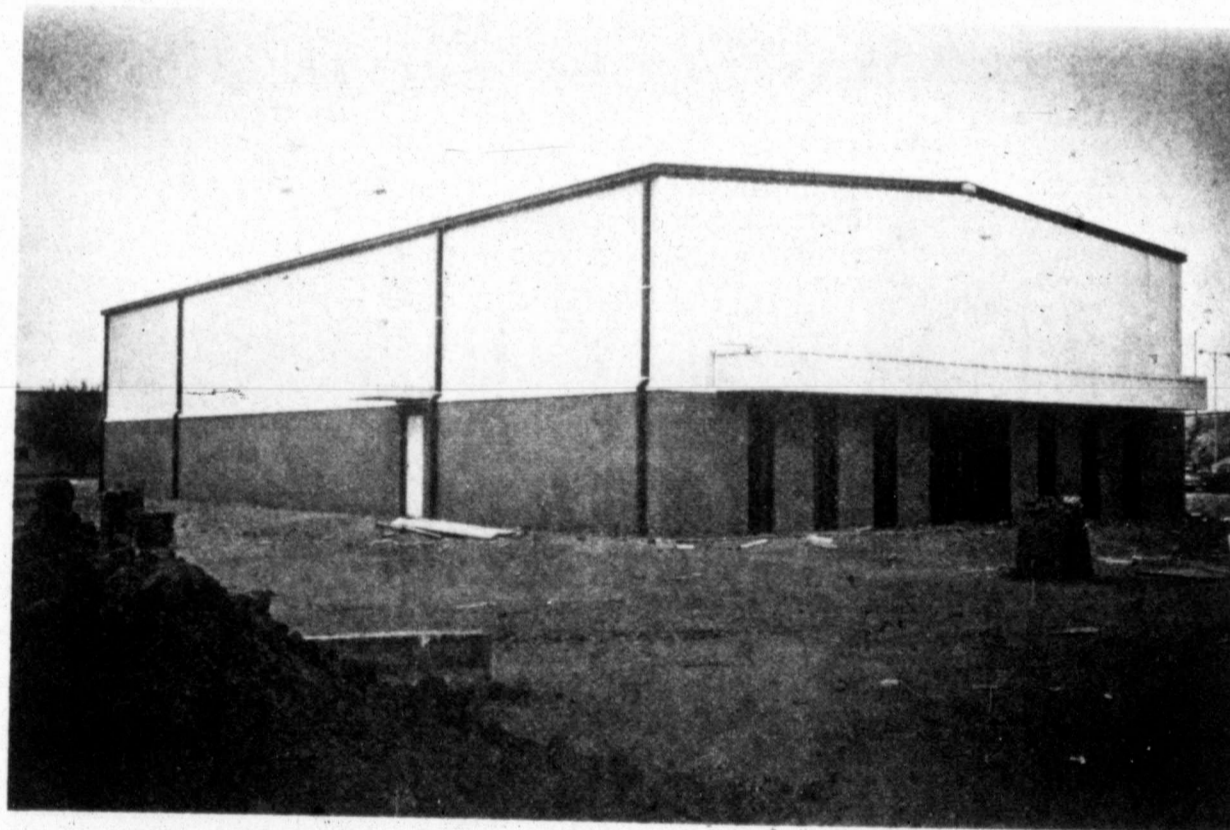

Other businesses are Knorr Furniture Co.; Lydick Roofing Co.; Mid-Continent Inn; Nabla Corp.; Schlumberger; Sta-Rite Pumps; Tri-City Beverage; United Parcel Service; University Lands System; and WPC, Inc.

These facilities are expected to hire 950 persons by Jan. 1, 1980, Billingsley said.

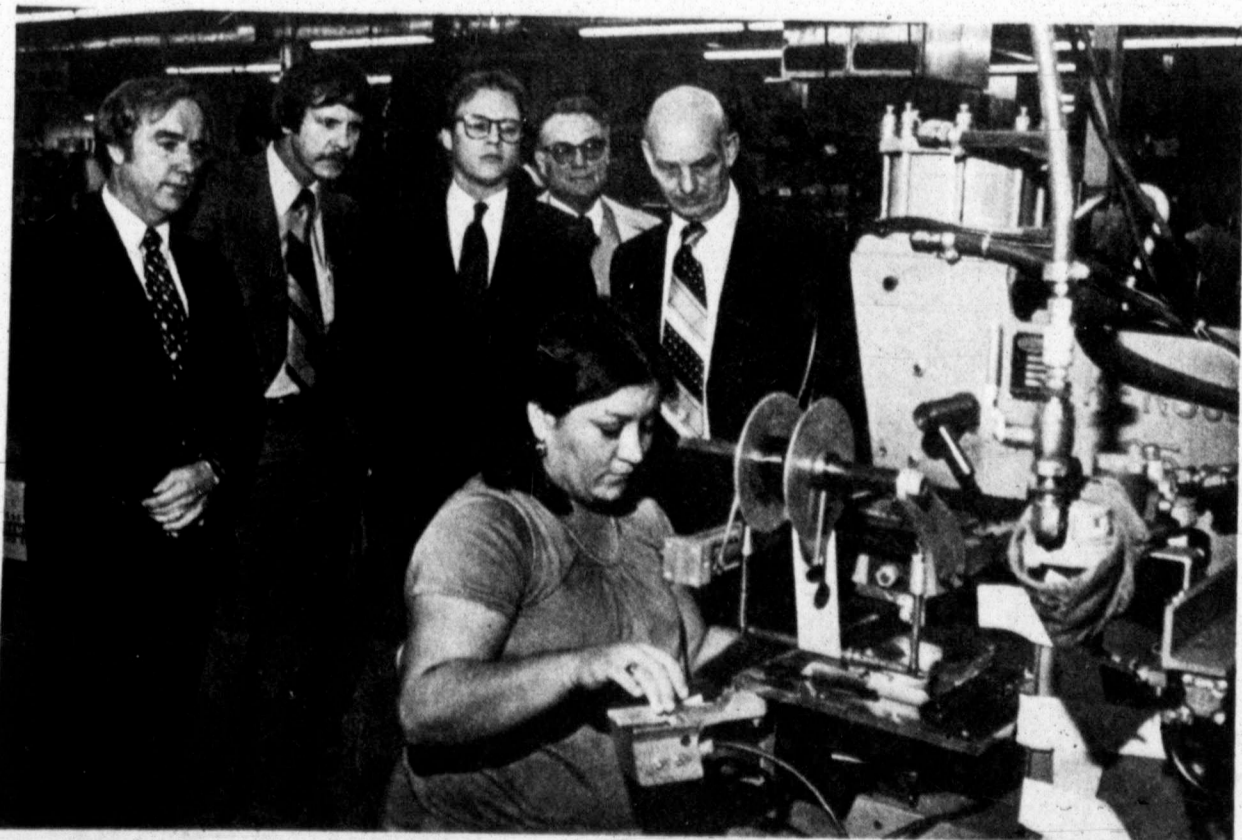

President of the foundation is Howard D. "Rocky" Ford. Other officers are M.A. Cappadonna, Harrell Feldt and Tony Martin, vice presidents; Wilbur Yeager Jr., treasurer, and W.H. "Bill" Collins, secretary.

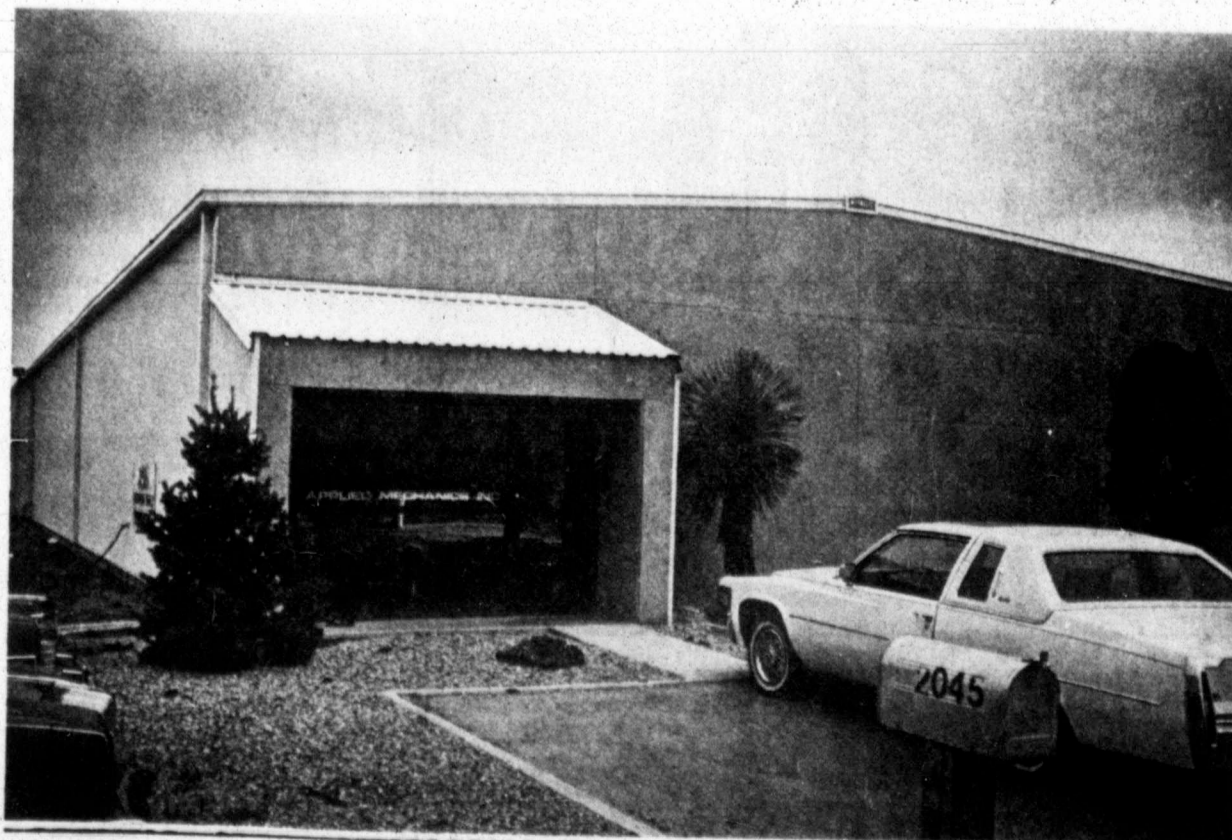

Pre-fabricated walls go up on a 25,000 square foot building to house Core Lab facilities in the near future. The new structure is one of three new industries going up at Midland Industrial Park.

Charlie Mac can't feel sorry for Bear

A timid voice from the rear suggested arming LSU with sledgehammers but Coach Charlie McClendon apparently didn't hear or didn't appreciate the humor as he discussed contending with No. 1 Alabama Saturday night in Tiger Stadium. McClendon said he couldn't sympathize with Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant's problems. Bryant has been moaning about the loss of several starters through injuries, including "our best running back," Major Ogilvie. "I'd love some of his (problems)," said McClendon, who noted that at least 12 Alabama running backs have carried the ball at least 19 times each this season...

there, then I'll tell the NCAA committee to keep us out."

Grambling was declared ineligible for the playoffs last season because of a fund which was set up to make loans to players. Last year Grambling won the championship of the Southwestern Athletic Conference. The team has nailed down at least a tie for the SWAC championship again this year and has only one conference game remaining — against arch-rival Southern on Dec. 1...

An Ohio State victory over Iowa Saturday, coupled with a Purdue triumph over Michigan, will send the third-ranked Buckeyes to the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1975. The reason is guidelines the Big Ten adopted in December 1974. It eliminated a vote of the league's athletic directors to select the Rose Bowl team, stirring earlier controversies. If Ohio State and Purdue win Saturday and the Boilermakers trim Indiana and the Buckeyes fall at Michigan the final week, there would be a three-way tie for the Big Ten title. Ohio State, Purdue and Michigan would share the championship with 7-1 league records.

official Jeff Elliott said Tuesday, "everything is eliminated, including Purdue. It comes down to the fact that Michigan then would have to beat Ohio State..."

Purdue's Boilermakers, banged up with a variety of injuries, are looking for a tough game against Michigan, and Coach Jim Young hopes his squad already hasn't peaked. "Iowa was from our standpoint a game we really had to get up and play, because we played poorly against Northwestern the week before," Young said of last week's 20-14 victory over the Hawkeyes. "Our team played with a lot of emotion. We put an awful lot into the Iowa game. We'll certainly be ready to play Michigan, but you can reach only so many peaks, and I felt we reached one peak against Iowa..."

College report

"He was running across the field and we thought he pulled a muscle..."

The NCAA is checking whether six Grambling football players should be declared ineligible for postseason games this year, the Jackson Daily News reported. The newspaper said Grambling Coach Eddie Robinson requested the investigation but refused to make public any details about it. "When I get ready to tell the players, I'll tell you all about it. I don't want the players thinking, 'What am I doing now if I can't play in the playoffs?'" It could really affect us getting into the playoffs. Besides, if I don't think we could represent Grambling with the people who we have out

Eastern 8 eyes 30-second clock

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 30-second shooting clock may be coming to Eastern Eight basketball. However, the rule could not be instituted before the 1980-81 season. Nearly all the eight conference coaches attending a preseason officials' clinic at George Washington University Wednesday indicated they would favor some form of the 30-second clock that would force a team to shoot within that time and prevent stalling tactics.

In fact, only Rolie Massimino of Villanova, a defending conference champion, said he was opposed to the rule because "it doesn't lend itself to what our game is all about. It may be all right for the pros but not for us, no way."

Tom Young of Rutgers mentioned the installation of the 30-second clock when he answered a question on what rule he would like to see changed. "These other guys would also like the rule change if they played Princeton," he quipped.

The other coaches also indicated their approval of a rules change but preferred that it not apply near the end of the game, anywhere from five minutes to go to the last minute.

In addition to Young, those in favor change were Mike Rice of Duquesne, Bob Tallent of George Washington, Ray Wilson of Massachusetts, Tim Grurich of Pittsburgh, Jim Satalin of St. Bonaventure and Gale Cattell of West Virginia.

An effort to vote the rules change a year ago was defeated narrowly when the coaches split 5-3 in favor. The coaches need a 6-2 vote for approval.

The actual vote on a rules change must be made by the school athletic directors, who usually respond to the recommendations of their basketball coaches. The athletic directors probably would not act on any recommendations until their next annual meeting in May at Morgantown, W.Va.

"I've been for the 30-second clock for years," said Young, who was just as adamantly opposed to the installation of the 24-second rule used by the National Basketball Association.

"You have to consider the fans, they support the game. The NBA knows what they are doing. If we get a lot of low-scoring games, the fans are going to stay away."

Young, as did most of the coaches who favor the clock, would like to have the rule stipulate that in the final minutes — he said the last four — there would be no shooting clock and then you could use any strategy you want."

PUBLIC INVITED

Archie Dennis Jr. Whether Archie Dennis Jr. steps to the microphone on stage in front of thousands in Budapest, Hungary as part of the Billy Graham Crusade team or the pupil of a small country church, it only takes moments to realize that within this man God has birthed a song-a unique song born from his personal experience and daily walk with Jesus Christ.

In July 1972 Dennis accepted an invitation from world-renowned Billy Graham to perform as guest soloist at the Cleveland Crusade. Since that time he has been a regular guest with many crusades recently returning from his 26th trip abroad. His tours have taken him to Africa, Brazil, Switzerland, Japan, India and the Philippines. Archie will soon be returning to the Royal Albert Hall in London for another engagement as well.

Henry Davis, a product of Howard University in Washington D.C. has been Archie's accompanist for six years and between tours has written some of Archie's best loved songs like "I Believe in God" and "You'll Never Be the Same Again."

Archie's sensitivity to the Spirit of the Lord has been evidenced in the response to this performance all around the world. At the Billy Graham crusade in October 1977 in Cincinnati he received a standing ovation for "God Bless America."
