Relatives, friends continue Iran vigil

By CHARLOTTE PORTER Associated Press Writer

Friends and relatives waited by their telephones and televisions for news of the American hostages in Iran as protesters in several cities continued their bitter demonstrations against the siege at the U.S. Embassy

The long-anticipated telephone call came through Sunday for Robert and May Gross of Cambridge Springs, Pa., when their daughter, Kathy, called from her airborne jet to tell them she had been released from the

Mrs. Gross, who had laughed when she saw her daughter on television earlier in the day, burst into tears when she heard Kathy was safe.

Nov. 4, began to be released. Other parents heard reports the at the remaining hostages might be put on trial to answer charges of espionage. The Iranians demanded the deposed Shah, now in New York for cancer treatment, be returned for trial.

-Members of a Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Newport, Mich., burned two Iranian flags and hung the American flag upside dow a as a sign of distress. "When I sit there watching the TV, I want to kick t he set in," said 41-year-old Ed Blair. "The disrespect they show for our flag is why I burned the Iranian flag."

-The Iranian-American Workers Solidarity Committee said it may sue Brown University for canceling a rally against the shah. Off icials of the Rhode Island university said a meeting on such an explosive issue should have been better planned.

-In Denver, where an Iranian student has been charged in the death of high school boy, 20 other students moved into one apartme n'i for safety.

Said an Iranian woman: "I don't sleep at home any more because I am scared they will come and hurt me. All night long young kids keep playing with my door, knocking on it and keeping me awake all night.

-Republican presidential candidate John Connally accused the Carter administration of pursuing a foreign policy of "appeasement and weakness." Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., said the United States must take "punitive action" if any hostages were harmed and former New York Sen. James Buckley said America has "invited contempt" in turning the other cheek.

-Anti-Iranian demonstrators protested Saturday and Sunday in Fort Worth, Texas, waving placards urging "Nuke Iran" and "Send in the Marines." Small rallies were held at several cities in Massachusetts.

-Shahla Hodjat, an naturalized American citizen of Iranian birth, said she received a call from the college where she once studied, asking her to report to an immigration officer. "I was really angry and I raised hell,"said Ms. Hodjat, who practices law in Los Angeles. She said she had been flooded by calls from frightened Iranian clients, but "I can't personally stop the anti-Iranian sentiment from harming them.

Most districts record military cash flow loss

WASHINGTON (AP) - More than 300 of the nation's 435 congressional districts pay more in taxes for the Pentagon than they receive in military spending, according to a private analysis of defense spending.

The study by Employment Research Associates of Lansing, Mich., indicates that more than half the congressional districts show a net loss in the military cash flow of at least $100 million a year.

Overall, the research concludes that only 130 districts receive more money from the U.S. military budget than local citizens pay to support the defense part of the federal budget. The analysis, released Sunday, sup-

Anderson calculated the amount of taxes from each congressional district that went to the Pentagon budget in fiscal 1978. He compared that with the amount of money the Pentagon spent in each district for payrolls, contracts, and other costs. Pentagon spending totaled $112.7 billion in that year, Anderson said.

Fully 95 of the 100 districts in the upper Midwest and 79 of the 104 districts in the Northeast have a net loss, the study concludes. In New York, 33 of the state's 39 districts are "losers." In Pennsylvania, 20 of 25 have a net loss, and in Illinois, all 24 have a net

The hardest hit area of the country was the 10th District in Illinois, comprising the northern suburbs of Chicago, which was repre sented by Democratic Rep. Abner Mikva at the time of the survey. # Sadat to make anniversary wisit to Mount Sinai

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - - President Anwar Sadat journeys today to the heart of the Sinai Peninsula to celebrate the second annive rsary of his peacemaking trip to Jerusalem at the mountain where Moses got the Ten Commandments.

Sadat was scheduled to raise the Egyptian flag, deliver an "address to the world" and visit the Greek Orthodox monastery at the foot of Mount Sinai, which the Arabs call Gebel Mu sa, or the Mount of Moses.

Robert Strauss, President Carter's outgoing special envoy for the Mideast, a rrived Sunday with a delegation to attend the cerem onies. They included business-men, congressmen and Lynda Robb, daughter of the late President Johnson.

Banker David Rockef eller, traveling separately, also was to attend.

Strauss at a meeting with Sadat Sunday told him: "Thousands of years fr orn today, when the nations of this region are living as one, it will be recorded that it began Nov. 19, 1977, when you had the courage to take that great step forward."

Sadat praised Carter and the American people for their help and understanding and said the anniversary celebration was ' 'something very sentimental...a happy moment."

He was expected to use the occasion to emphasize to the other Arab states — most of which broke relations with Egypt after the Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty was signed in March - that negotiations are the surest way to recover territory occupied by Israel.

Israel, which captured the Sinai Desert in 1967, turned over the Mount Sinai portion of southern Sinai to Egypt last Thursday, two months ahead of schedule, so that Sadat could hold the anniversary celebration. It was the fourth of six withdrawals that will return two-thirds of the peninsula to Egyptian control by early next year. Then the two countries are to establish diplomatic relations.

Despite improving Egyptian-Israeli relations, little headway has been made in the second phase of the peace effort - negotiations to formulate a plan for Palestiniwn self-government in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip.

Israel threw up new obstacles to the negotiations last week by arresting one of the leading Arab mayors in the West Bank prior to deporting him and by announcing plans to build more Jewish settlements in the territory. But Sadat indicated he still believes agreement on an autonomy plan will be reached before next May, the target date set in the peace agreement.

Economy today's topic at GOP governors' meeting

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The crisis in Iran is overshadowing the usual domestic concerns at the Republican governors' annual meeting and promising to become a presidential campaign issue.

The ecomomy, already an issue in the 1980 race, was on today's program, however, with former President Gerald R. Ford expected to attack President Carter on inflation.

Sen. Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, former Texas Gov. John Connally, and Los Angeles businessman Benjamin Fernandez, all GOP presidential candidates, used the governors' forum Sunday to call for stronger action on behalf of Americans held captive in the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

Although the candidates declined to say exactly what Carter should do about the situation, they agreed he should do more in light of new threats by Iranians to try the Americans for espionage. "It is totally unacceptable for those Americans to stand trial in Iranian courts for espionage or anything else," Baker said. "It is unacceptable to the American people and it should be unacceptable to the American government.'

Connally also said trial of the Americans "would be unacc eptable. I don't think there's any question about that." Baker, who is Senate minority leader, said he wanted to get his views on the record after talking with Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance.

But Connaily complained that the other candidates were being asked to support Carter and not play politics with the situation with out being

"What actions we could or should take, what options would be: available to us, I would not want to try to spell out," Connally said. "Because I wouldn't have the information on which to base an informed judgn lent."

Baker said he discussed a variety of options with Carter and Vance, but would not say what his own recommendations were.

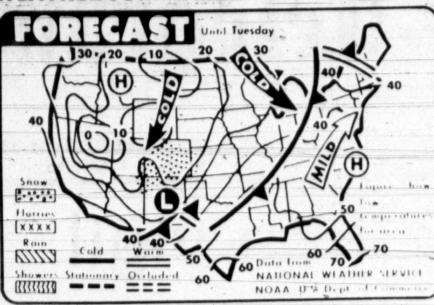

"It is up to the president to decide how he wishes to proceed," Baker said. "We have a wide range of options and opportunities. And I would support him in any reasonable measure that he cares to take, and I believe the country would."

Both Baker and Connally declined to speculate on the advisability of military action in Iran.

"I would not question that something more would have to be done than what we've already done," Connally said. Said Fernandez, "The minute any American is killed in Iran, I believe the United States must move forward aggressively to show the United States will not stand for any harm to its citizens." Most of the country's 18 Republican governors are expected to attend the three-day meeting. Although today's program was built around economic issues, foreign policy returns to the spotlight on Tuesday with a speech by former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Galveston swimmers warned to avoid stinging oil sheen

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - Coast Guard authorities warned swimmers surfers and other water sports enthusiasts to stay clear of stinging oil sheen expected to wash ashore or Galveston Island from a burning tanker for the next several days.

The oil is leaking from the flaming and grounded tanker Burmah Agate, whose 390,000-barrel crude oil cargo began spilling into the Gulf of Mexico Nov. 1 after the tanker collided with the freighter Mimosa.

"Swimmers have been reporting eye irritation after coming into contact with oil sheen," Coast Guard Lt. Ann Bennett said Sunday night.

Reports that the tanker was break ing up sent work crews to the vessel Sunday. Those crews reported some inward doubling of part of the deck, but said the ship was "not in any Burning oil on the water also ignited a deflection boom and a skimming boom anchored south of the Burmah Agate, the Coast Guard said, but damage was reported minimal.

The collision near the mouth of the Galveston Ship Channel killed 32 sailors. The bodies of 17 crewmen have been recovered; 15 remain missing.

The ele ctions are taking place at an AFL-CIO convention where presidential politi cs is as much on the minds of union leaders as internal politics.

Hakes said he was especially pleased with Carter's 76 percent showing in the straw poll. # Army recruiting fraud revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) - An investigation of the Army's worst recruiting scandal since the end of the draft shows that up to 12,700 soldiers were enlisted through fraud or other irregular practices over the last two years, officials said today.

MONDAY NOVEMBER 19 1979

Opening the books on a six-month investigation, the Army told Congress that 427 recruiters have been relieved of their duties in the last year because

Officials said there was more malpractice among seasoned recruiters than among newer recruiters. Many of those who lost their jobs had received awards for recruiting successes.

Seventy-five percent of the cases of fraudulent or irregular enlistments involved discrepancies in the educational records of potential recruits who had not graduated from high school, officials said.

Other cases involved illegal coaching for enlistment tests and concealment of police records, medi-

While readily acknowledging that recruiters are under pressure to meet recruiting goals, Army officials said the pressure is not overbearing.

"No one is forced to cheat in order to recruit for the Army," said Brig. Gen. Donald W. Connelly, head of a 55-member investigation task force set up last members traveled to 40 military posts around the world and interviewed more than 7,300 soldiers and several hundred recruiting personnel. The special investigation led to the removal from Connelly said investigators frequently "ran into a wall of silence which reflected the common belief that if a recruiter simply denied everything, he could never be found guilty of malpractice. However, this investigation has broken that chain, and to date 26 of the 324 relieved recruiters have admitted to wrongdoing" and have implicated 82 others.

Connelly said seven recruiters have or will face court martial charges, 11 have accepted non-judicial punishment, 27 have received letters of reprimand and 20 other cases, which involved criminal activity, were referred to other authorities. Other cases also could result in action, he said.

Texas (AP) - Defense tactics in the attempted capital murder trial of Dr. Archie Herman Burkhalter have included efforts to depict the doctor's legal problems doctor still supports his as mainly a family former mother-in-law squabble. The doctor's lawyers, Warren Burnett and Joe he built for her in Hunts-

Walsh, called Burkhalter's brother, sisterin-law and former mother-in-law last week as witnesses in an attempt to cast doubt on testimony from Burkhalter's ex-wife.

More defense witnesses have been called to testify today in the trial's 10th day.

The doctor's ex-wife, Laurita, married John Hensley four months before he was shot in the face outside their condominium. Hensley survived but was blinded by a rifle bullet fired less than 40 feet away.

Burkhalter is accused of hiring two men, S.J. Wilburn and Scott David Minnick, to kill Hensley. Witnesses have said that after the Burkhalters were divorced in November 1977, they continued seeing each other and taking trips until she met Hensley.

Both Hensley and the doctor's ex-wife have testified Burkhalter tried to break up their relationship with money and threats. Mrs. Hensley said her former husband threatened to kill Hens-

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) -Pilot Tim Wallis skirted the cliffs of the desolate San Andres Mountains, looking for movement below. In the rear of the helicopter, Colin Yeates cocked his gun and fired, casting a billowing orange net over his target — one of the last surviving Desert Bighorn sheep in New Mexico.

"We got it," Yeates said in a guttural New Zealand Yeates and Wallis, another New Zealander, have donated expertise acquired from trapping red deer to what state Game and Fish Department officials are calling one of the most dramatic wildlife rescue operations in history.

The sheep are being captured for treatment of a mysterious scables epidemic which is threatening to destroy New Mexico's largest herd of the majestic Desert Bighorns.

The epidemic is caused by mites that burrow under an animal's skin and feed off its blood serum. The hide will fester and peel off, making the animal susceptible to cold and disease.

The mites have been identified as a variety that officials thought was eradicated from the United

State decades ago. But the insects, the size of a grain of salt, reappeared in southern New Mexico to wipe out nearly 75 percent of the state's Bighorn

GFD official Walt Snyder estimates only 70 sheep remain of the 250 that once roamed the cliffs. He said officials hope to capture up to 50 percent of the sheep before cold weather decimates the herd, one of several in the Southwest.

"Our vets looked at them and said if they were left alone they probably wouldn't survive more than a few weeks," he said Sunday. But the treatment can be as fatal as the disease. Three sheep have died of the stress of capture.

"The whole rescue capture is stressful to the animals," said Synder. "It's bound to have a traumatic effect on them."

The New Zealanders' part of the mission is to trap the sheep long enough for a second helicopter to swoop down, tranquilize the animals and airlift them out of the barren White Sands Missile Range for treatment.

Rampaging Red skins ravage Dallas, 34-20

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Washington Redskins have made the National Football Conference East as tight as it can be, but a last-second field goal against Dallas may come back to haunt them.

"The Redskins have no class," said Dallas defensive end Harvey Martin after Washington won 34-20 Sunday. "When they get us down they want to rub it in our face. That's great. Maybe that's what it's gonna take to wake up

"It was totally an insult," he said. "It got me in a frame of mind just to hate the Redskins."

With 14 seconds remaining in the game, and Washington ahead 31-20, the Redskins took possession of the ball and immediately called a time out to bring on the field goal kicking

Mark Moseley then boosted his second field goal of the day, a 45-yarder that came with only nine seconds

Coach Jack Pardee and Redskins players justified the field goal be-cause of the closeness of the NFC East, with Dallas, Washington and Philadelphia all tied for first with records of 8-4 with four games to

"The way this division is going the point differential could be involved," said Pardee. "Taking a field goal that is nearly a gimme is not running it

Asked about the possibility of stirring up bad blood between the two teams, Pardee replied, "There's not too much good blood to begin with.

Oilers charge into tie for 1st

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Oiler Coach Bum Phillips hasn't gone to his bull pen too often this season but there was no loss in efficiency Sunday when he called on Gifford Nielsen to relieve injured quarterback Dan Pas-

Pastorini had completed 10 of 13 passes for 182 yards when he was gouged in the eye by Cincinnati defensive tackle Eddie Edwards in the second quarter with the Oilers leading 21-7.

Without any change in tempo, Nielsen shook off four games of inactivity, completing his first six passes and leading the Oilers to a 42-21 victory that enable the Oilers to tie Pittsburgh for the American Football Conference's Central Division lead.

"I was happy that I got the opportunity," said Nielsen, a second-year pro from Brigham Young. "I hate to see anything happen to Dan but I have to always be ready to perform." Nielsen's performance included 10 of 16 passes for 139 yards and a seven-yard pass to running back Rob Carpenter that boosted the Oilers to a 9-3 record, equal to Pittsburgh, which lost to San Diego 35-7. Nielsen had not played in the past four Oiler games.

"I knew when he (Pastorini) went down that I'd be coming in for at least one play," Nielsen said. "We had the lead when I came in and we built the lead."

Pastorini, recently recovered from a shoulder injury that had hampered his passing, built a 21-7 second quarter lead around a two-yard run by Earl Campbell, Carpenter's three-yard run, and a 17-yard touchdown pass to tight end Mike Barber.

Then, with 3: 45 to go in the half, Pastorini was poked in the eye and spent the rest of the game on the sidelines with a white patch over his right eye.

That presented no problem for the Oilers. Nielsen helped the Oilers expand the lead as Campbell ran 13 yards for a touchdown, fullback Tim Wilson added another on a 1-yard run and Nielsen hit Carpenter on a 7-yard touchdown pass in the waning mi-

If you think things are bad for the Dallas Cowboys, look at the silver lining. What, for intance, if the Cowboys had lost to the New York Giants, as they probably should have, a couple of weeks ago? After the loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers, the Cowboys performances

against the Giants and Eagles might be written off as the post-Pittsburgh doldrums, but if the Cowboys couldn't get mean for Washington, the Steelers may have knocked all the fight out of The Cowboys were supposed to play better with their backs to the wall, but Sunday that wasn't the case. It looked more like a case of lingering complacency, the same type of lethargy displayed against New York and Philadelphia.

In fact, it would appear that the Cowboys are plain fat and lazy, unwilling to work for their yardage. Remember in the early days of the American Football League when the fans laughed on the "throw on every down" offenses...well, meet the Dallas Cowboys.

And to compound matters, the Cowboys continue to encourage opponents with deliberate and inexcusable mistakes, the kind that should have been eliminated six games ago.

After narrowing the gap to 17-6 against Washington in the third quarter, a couple of late hits on two little or no gain plays gave the Redskins first downs and kept alive the touchdown drives that insured Dallas' of its second straight defeat.

But the verdict may have been rendered in the first half when the Cowboys, trailing 14-3, reached the Washington 10 in the final two minutes, figuring to come away with a field goal at the very worst.

Instead, quarterback Roger Staubach was blitzed so hard he fumbled and the opportunity to exert some pressure on the Redskins was frittered away. It was that way all afternoon. The Cowboys were decimated by the blitz, the Redskins laughed at Dallas' feeble attempts to put pressure on quarterback Joe Theismann. How come? And whatever happened to the draw play?

The Cowboys abandoned their attempts to run the ball after falling behind 14-3, but even some of the Cowboys questioned the "surrender early" strategy. Tackle Rayfield Wright thought the Cowboys had shown an ability to move on the ground and was disappointed. After all, it was still the first half and according to Wright, linemen would much rather block for the run than the pass.

That meant the Redskins were able to tee off on Staubach and despite the 23 for 38 day, the three interceptions the Skins forced Roger to throw were a far more significant statistic.

depth has been extolled by enraptured TV analysists, but put to the test, it hasn't turned out that way. With Charley Waters out for the season, opposing quarterbacks and wide receivers have found a happy hunting grounds in the Dallas secondary and have been swift to exploit it.

The Cowboys still have found an answer to the loss of Ed "Too Tall" Jones and Jethroe Pugh, longtime defensive stalwarts, and with Randy White out Sunday, Dallas' Doomsday defense looked like a refuge from the NFC Central.

Tony Dorsett may be a 100-yard runner, but he's no Preston Pearson. Those three muffed passes were a monkey wrench in the Cowboys' at-

With the loss to Washington, the Cowboys find themselves in a three-way tie with Philadelphia and Washington for first place in the NFC East, but in reality the Cowboys are in the worst spot, since both the Eagles and Redskins hold victories over the defending champions. In fact, Dallas suddenly finds itself thinking in terms of a possible wild card ticket to the playoffs. And with Houston's Oilers, Earl Campbell and a rejuvenated Dan Pastorini looming Thanksgiving Day, the Cowboys can feel a severe case of Turkey Day

Chargers spoil Steelers' streak, 35-7

AP Sports Writer

Because neither of them played particularly like Super Bowl teams, Pittsburgh and Dallas find themselves tied at the top of their respective National Football League divisions today.

Both the Steelers and Cowboys, who met in last January's Super Bowl, drowned in a sea of turnovers Sunday.

Pittsburgh saw its four-game winning streak go up in flames as San Diego intercepted five passes and turned four of them into Charger touchdowns and a 35-7 rout of the defending champions. The loss, combined with Houston's 42-21 victory over Cincinnati, left the Steelers and Oilers tied for first place in the American Conference Central race.

Chargers 35, Steelers 7- Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw had a terrible time with San Diego's linebackers. Ray Preston intercepted him twice in the first half, each time setting up a San Diego score. Then another linebacker, Woodrow Lowe returned another interception 77 yards for another Charger TD. The 35 points were the most the Steelers have surrendered in a single game since 1974.

Eagles 16, Cardinals 13-Ron Jaworski hit Keith Krepfle with a 40-yard TD pass play in the fourth quarter, giving Philadelphia its victory over St. Louis and a share of the NFC East lead. "I'm pleased we're there," Coach Dick Vermeil said of the first place deadlock, "but it only counts at the end of the year.'

Broncos 38, 49ers 28—Craig Morton threw three TD passes and Bob Swenson returned a fumble 88 yards for another score as Denver won its fourth straight. The Broncos had to come from behind after San Francisco, held to just 88 yards in the first half, nevertheless moved to a 21-10 lead. Rookie James Owens returned a kickoff 85 yards for a 49er TD.

Patriots 50, Colts 21-New England recovered from last week's 42-7 drubbing by Denver, getting its revenge at the expense of Baltimore. Steve Grogan passed for two TDs and Stanley Morgan returned a punt 80 yards for another. "It was our turn to mushroom instead of getting mushroomed," said New England Coach Ron Erhardt, recalling the Denver debacle.

Browns 30, Dolphins 24— Cleveland moved within one game of Houston and Pittsburgh in the AFC Central by beating Miami in overtime. Brian Sipe's 34-yard TD pass to Ozzie Newsome with 1:21 left to play tied the score and then Sipe hit Reggie Rucker with 39-yarder less than two minutes into the overtime for the victory. Safety Tim Foley, burned for the winning TD, summed up the feelings of the Dolphin defense, which led the league coming into this game. "Like I've said before, humility is always one play away in this game," he said.

Seahawks 36, Saints 24-Jim Zorn, who passed for 384 yards, threw TD passes to Steve Largent and Brian Peets in the final 6:16, snapping a 24-24 tie to defeat New Orleans. The late TDs were the third and fourth of the game for Zorn as the Seahawks_won their fourth game in the last five weeks and evened their season's record at 6-6. New Orleans also is

Chiefs 24, Raiders 21-Kansas City won its first game in the Oakland Coliseum in 13 years, beating the Raiders when Jim Breech missed an 18-yard field goal in the final seconds. Ken Stabler threw three TD passes for the Raiders and nearly pulled out the game, noving Oakland 74 yards in the final two minutes only to have Breech miss the field goal that would have sent the game into overtime. The victory ended a five-game losing streak for the

Bears 23, Jets 13— Mike Phipps moved Chicago to its fourth straight victory, throwing two TD passes in the triumph over New York. Dave Williams scored twice for the Bears, who moved their record to 7-5 and stayed two games behind Tampa Bay in the NFC Central Bills 19, Packers 12-Nick Mike-Mayer kicked four field goals and Buffalo broke a fourth quarter tie with its only TD of the game — a 1-yard burst by Mike Collier — which delivered the victory over Green Bay. Mike-Mayer's field goals traveled 37, 34, 31 and 32 yards and then the running of Terry Miller and Curtis Brown positioned the ball for Collier's winning TD.

Vikings 14, Lions 7-Rickey Young scored both Minnesota TDs in the second half on runs of 23 and two vards as Detroit suffered its 11th loss in 12 games. The victory ended a three-game slide for Minnesota and moved its record to 5-7.

Bucks to go Rose Bowling in style

By THOMAS BOSWELL The Washington Post

ANN ARBOR, Mich., - Little. rumpled 48-year-old Earle Bruce stood in glorious, grinning, dumpy disarray Saturday after undefeated Ohio State beat Michigan, 18-15, for the Big 10 championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

The rookie Ohio State coach's thinning hair was a tangled, soaking mess and his crinkly clothes were a wreck. In his hand was the world's most hidiously garrish necktie.

"I can't wait to get this ugly thing on," Bruce said. "It's a Rose Bowl

That tie was the symbol of Bruce's vindication.

Just a few months ago, Bruce replaced Woody Hayes, inheriting the glamorous but brutal OSU job amid predictions that he would preside over the crumbling of Ohio State's great football tradition.

Instead, this unheralded Ohio State squad completed an 11-0 regular season Saturday, the decisive touchdown an-18-yard run with a blocked punt by OSU's Todd Bell with 11:21 to play.

The Bucks had not beaten the hated Wolverines, nor even scored a touchdown against them, since their last 11-0 campaign in 1975. Now, they may be one victory away from the national championship.

"We're going to Pasadena, and we're going the right way," Bruce said. "You know, it makes it for real when you do it by beating Michigan here in Ann Arbor.

"I never anticipated that this would come, with me taking an undefeated team to the Rose Bowl," said the 5-foot-8 Bruce, who was a scrub in his OSU playing days and has labored his way up the coaching ladder from high schools to college jobs at Tampa and Iowa State.

Every conceivable jinx or hurdle that Bruce could have imagined was eradicated with this one game. Above all, this game was a coaching triumph of Bruce over Michigan's Bo Schembechler, who had a nightmare with his eyes open on this gorgeous 55-degree afternoon. 'Maybe it's all the emotion," Bruce said, "but I thought that sometimes I was confused out there today." HE COULD afford to be generous.

It was the Wolverines, especially Schembechler, who seemed perplexed. The single crucial and decisive play of Saturday afternoon came with 11:21 to play, That was when OSU's Jim Laughlin blocked the punt and Bell scooped up the loose ball and raced for the touchdown. That crushing rush, with six Buckeyes inundating helpless Wolverine punter Bryan Virgil, transformed a 15-12 Michigan lead into the final score. Michigan touched the ball on only three more plays all afternoon. as OSU, which had a 432-298 edge in total offense, killed the clock on the ground.

Nevertheless, that one thought blocked punt - had been in the minds of both teams all week.

The kicking game is football's ticking bomb - the seldom-noticed, glamorless and often-neglected corner of the game's science.

For a week, OSU studied films of the Wolverines' punting and drooled. "Their kicking game is so lousy, no matter what part of it you look at, that we just couldn't believe it could be that bad," Laughlin said. "We knew we'd block at least one."

"We're punting so bad it's pathetic," said Schembechler, who studied the same films and had bad dreams all week. "Our kicking game's killed us all year. If we had a decent one, we'd be undefeated." And instead of being 8-3 and headed to the Gator Bowl to play North Carolina, Michigan might be heading for Pasadena.

"I don't know if it's bad selecting of players, bad techniques or bad coaching," Schembechler said. "I haven't had a miserable kicking game in 20 years. To have this happen again (the fourth block in '79) is ridiculous.

"If anybody wants someone to blame, it's me, it's me. I coach the whole damn team. It's my job not to have a glaring weakness like that."

SCHEMBECHLER has never given a single scholarship to a punter or

That was just one Schemblecher headache Saturday. He decided last Sunday to start freshman quarterback Rich Hewlett instead of brillaint senior John Wangler, who had completed more than 60 percent of his passes with an average of almost 10-yards per attempt. We wanted to run that option, not pass," Schembechler said. "I never lied. I just laughed when people asked who'd quarterback. I never outright said who it would or wouldn't be.' Ohio State shoul have thanked him.

In 26 minutes, Hewlett produced no points, little movement and OSU led,

3-0, on a 23-yard field goal by Vlade Janakievski. Wangler needed just two minutes in the game to hook up with 155-pound sprinter Anthony Carter for a 59-yard touchdown bomb for a 7-3 lead.

Ohio State answered the challenge as sophomore quarterback Art Schlichter worked a marvelous drill in the last 90 seconds of the half. driving 72 yards for a chip-shot field goal with eight seconds left before intermission, cutting the Michigan lead to 7-6.

Proposed MX missile complex rouses hope, hassles in Nevada ghost town

By GEORGE, C. WILSON The Washington Post

TONOPAH, Nev. - A little mining town, surrounded by the sagebrush and hills of western dryland, quietly lives out its story of boom and bust and modest comfort until one day the U.S. Air Force comes along with a plan called MX missile bases.

The MX missile complex is not just another military installation that the Pentagon wants to build in the barren valleys outside Tonopah. It is one of the largest public works projects in American history — right up there with the transcontinental railroad. the interstate highways, even the Panama Canal. While it lacks the grandeur of those efforts the MX surpasses them in complexity.

Ten thousand miles of roads, 2,000 miles of railroad tracks, gargantuan vehicles toting intercontinental rockets around 200 desert tracks - all this and more will be built in the deserted valleys of central Nevada and Utah, assuming everyone approves.

"TD MAKE SOME money off the project," said one Tonopah leader, a fifth-generation resident of this town of 3,000. "But I'd like to see the MX go some place else. . . . We've already got all the lifestyle we need.

But Eddie Peddie, a former comic and now manager of the Mizpah Hotel, cannot wait for the concrete to pour. He has been trying to put some fizz back into this town, which bubbled with prosperity 79 years ago when Jim Butler struck gold and silver. The Mizpah has a spotlight on its roof that at night illuminates a huge white "T" on a nearby hillside.

"This town is going to bust wide open," Peddie said gleefully. David Hamilton, Nye County planner and, like Peddie, a non-native, thinks the desert can handle MX, too - if the vast and complicated development is done carefully.

"Judicious expansion is not considered bad," Hamilton carefully put it on behalf of the county commission-

THE FIFTH-GENERATION resident, who preferred anonimity, is still skep-tical. "What more are we going to get from the MX? It might be all right if they brought in 15,000 very good people . . . but I haven't seen that military and government operations bring in the cream of the crop." Brig. Gen. Guy Hecker is the point man for the Air Force sales pitch, which must convince citizens and politicians of Nevada and Utah that MX will be good for them, even as it defends America against nuclear attack. A soft-spoken native of Alabama, Hecker speaks in a language these western descendants of prospectors can understand. "I have a good feeling," the general began, "every time I cross the 100th meridan coming west.

Hecker was before the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club, warming up his audience for the strategic intricadies of MX with a little down-home talk about the American West.

"I'VE GROWN TO LOVE and admire the people out here," he said. "To me that has really become heartpatriotic spirit - just the things you all stand for. I wish we could get all of the bureaucrats out of Washington and out here to see what the real America is all about. I really mean

Applause from the Rotarians of Tonopah.

The lights were dimmed, and the general began his grim exposition of the Soviet threat, depicted on the slide screen. One slide showed a black pendulum of nuclear superiority, swinging away from America and toward the Soviet Union. He took the audience through the complicated comparisons, giant Soviet missiles versus smaller American ones, the multiplicatin of Soviet warheads, the vast number of rockets aimed at the United States.

"You have to start thinking of what would happen should (there be) and God forbid if it ever does - 6,000 simultaneous explosions of 1 megaton over the entire United States.

THE MX IS the answer, and the general spelled out the strategic thinking — a giant shell game with U.S. missiles - that created this staggeringly complicated project.

Downtown Tonopah, Nev., which last bubbled with prosperity with the discovery of gold and silver 79 years ago. (Washington Post Photos by Larry Morris)

Then he spelled out how complicated

The plan calls for about 200 MX missiles, each carried on a giant truck. Total weight: 335 tons. Cost for just one truck, $4.7 million. Cost for the whole MX complex, $33 billion. Each MX and its truck will be assigned to a desert track, an oval loop of 20 miles or so, and each track will have 23 garages where the rockets will be parked temporarily. They will be moved periodically, to keep the Soviets guessing. This maze will require thousands of miles of railroad spur lines and access roads, both to get the rockets into the desert valleys and to connect the 200 different loops where the missiles will be hidden.

THE MX MISSILE is directly linked to the debate over the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT-II). The mobile, hard-to-hit MX, President Carter and his SALT II allies are stressing, will ensure that U.S. land missiles could not be knocked out in a surprise attack by the big Soviet missiles allowed under the treaty.

The Rotarians were told by the general that this is "man's largest project." The MX construction, for instance, will cost nearly three times what the Alaskan pipeline cost. It will bring 25,000 construction workers to their desert and they will need 30,000 workers in support - everything from housing to recreation. The general did not need to mention that in Tonopah, Nev., prostitution and gambling are legal.

After all the concrete is set and the rockets are in place, the complex will require about 14,000 persons as permanent operators. Hecker estimates $400 million a year in federal aid for the "multiplier effect" of large government undertakings.

THE GENERAL acknowledged that central Nevada's life-style is in for change, but he emphasized the big pluses. MX electricity will come from solar, wind and geothermal sources perhaps the world's largest demonstration project for these alternative energy sources.

MX will create a generation of new careers for Nevada's young people high-technology jobs in an area where tourism, mining, entertainment and cattle grazing are dominant.

While the Air Force's 200 loops of missile tracks will eat up a lot of ground, Hecker promised that the general terrain and the new roads will be open to the public, both for camping and for cows. Only the 2 1-2-acres required for each of the 4,600 rocket garages will be fenced off.

IN CONCLUSION, the general offered a gentle warning that, if Tonopah and Nevada do not want MX, there are other places that do. "Governer Herschler of Wyoming called me personally," the general advised. "First time I've ever picked up the phone and heard, 'I'm Ed Herschler, the governor.' To express his interest in getting the MX in his

Other states are interested too, if Nevada and Utah prove resistant, Hecker said.

LIKE CITIZENS of Tonopah, politicians of Utah and Nevada have mixed feelings about this great federal project for the vacant rangelands. Rep. Jim Santini, D-Nev., took his worries to the floor of the House.

"Twenty-two thousand to 30,000 proposed employees for a period of approximately five years will impact an area which now has only about 7,000 people, Santini said. "Where is the water coming from? What are the socioconnomic impacts? No one is in a position to respond to that concern today, either within the military establishment or without.

Santini asked the House to insure that no state will be required to take more than 25 percent of the missile complex. Nevada, under present plans, would have to handle about 65 percent of it.

THE REBUTTAL CAME from House Armed Services Committee leaders, who read a letter from Nevada's Gov. Robert List, a Republican, welcoming MX into the state. The House turned down, 289 to 84, Santini's effort to spread the MX work around to ease the impact on Nevada. In the Senate Nevada Democrat

Howard W. Cannon and Republican Paul Laxalt are slightly out of step on the MX. Cannon has said that planning can "greatly reduce any adverse effect" of MX, adding that the 14,000 permanent employees required to operate the system will insure against a 'boom-to-bust" pattern. But Laxalt said "unanswered geographic, economic and environmental questions are responsible for my reservations about putting the MX in Nevada. Besides, MX deployment would make my state a nuclear bull-

SANTINI, WAGING an uphill fight against putting most of MX in his state, persuaded the public lands subcommittee of the House Interior Committee to assess the environmental consequences of the project at a hearing in Carson City. The committee would have to approve the release of government land under the Bureau of Land Management to the Pentagon for MX construction. Meanwhile, the Carter administration, anticipating environmental suits against the MX, is considering the designation of a single federal court to hear all of the lawsuits.

"I'm for the inevitable," said Joaquin G. Johnson, superintendant of schools in Nye County, a school district that covers 18,000 square miles

AFTER HEARING HECKER, Johnson can visualize thousands of children of MX workers pouring into his schools. "But we'll be helpless unless we get some help," he said.

Rancher Wayne Hage, who has 2,-000 cows outside Tonopah and is an officer of the Nevada Cattleman's Association, said his group will insist that any land removed from grazing for the MX be replaced by other lands suitable for cattle. This might require planting wheat and digging wells on land given to ranchers in the swap.

Even if this is worked out, said Hage, the MX will bring "a drastic change in the economy of Nevada, replacing the currently stable one of producing renewable resources." He means beef cattle.

Nevada state Sen. Richard E. Blakemore, who runs a trucking business in Tonopah and is an officer in the western states' pressure group called Sagebrush Rebellion, said the MX can do wonders for the state. He scoffs at environmentalists and their approach to nature.

China now phasing out schools for scoundrels

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN AP Special Correspondent

GUILIN, China (AP) — Everywhere we go in the People's Republic of China we hear that the old May Seventh Rectification Schools are being phased out.

Doltish comrades are no longer sent off to camp in the countryside to learn culturally correct manners in a sixmonth crash course. Anti-social types who steal bicycles, scalp movie tickets, run afoul of the Keeper of Social Order after too much bijyou, the gassy but good Chinese beer, or who habitually miss the target area on spittoons conspicuously placed in public buildings are no longer told to shape up or be shipped out to May Seventh Rectification School for a little couthing-up. The Chinese apparently have found other ways of persuading the subhumans in their society to get with the program. Either that or they have conceded defeat like the Western democracies and no longer believe that the aberrant humanoids, whom we classify as nerds, dorks, creeps and jerks, can be recycled along socially acceptable lines by an enforced sojourn in the boondocks. This is distressing news.

I had rather hoped that the May Seventh Rectification School, or a modification of the program, would catch on in America.

We have camps for tennis, for stutterers, weight losers, basketball, sailing, chamber music, failing high school and college students, nudists, policemen, opera buffs, budding Thespaisn, professional athletic teams, even swingers pursuing an alternate adult lifestyle. So why not a camp somewhere in the Catskills or the Adirondacks or any of the national parks devoted to teaching basic human etiquette to the nettlesome nerds whose boring behavior and self-satisfied ignorance makes everyday living for the rest of us such a chaos of coping and enduring and May Seventh Rectification School would be the ideal place to send the nuisance neighbor who cranks up his power saw or leaf blower at 7:30 on a Saturday morning and anytime at all on a Sunday. The same goes for his barking dog and double exhaust sports car. Six months in the countryside would do a world of good (for us anyway) for urban types who haven't learned to move to the back of the bus, flush urinals in a public facility, wait their turn at a taxistand or stay in line approaching a tunnel toll booth. The length of the treatment however, might not be sufficient to effect a cure for cabdrivers who flash "off duty signs" on rainy days, don't have a clue where Chinatown is or reach LaGuardia Airport by way of the George Washington Bridge.

Thoroughly deserving of rectification camp would be the suburban raconteur who tells the first gross ethnic or lewd joke at a cocktaff party, the place-dropper who has just returned from an archaeological tour of the Greek islands with his college alumni association, the airline passenger in front of you who reclines his seat-back while dinner is being served, the hotel reservation clerk who assigns you a quiet room away from street traffic but up over the discotheque.

Off to camp with anyone who approaches Billy Martin in a bar with observations on the national pastime, the sidewalk somnambulist who cannot move about the city unattached to an enormous blaring radio and insists on playing it full blast in subway and commuter cars, all discotheque deejays, mobile ice cream vendors luring the local urchins with their crassly commercial chimes and hotel managers who destroy conversation and sanity in cocktail lounges with rock combs delivering mind-bending decibels of electronic junk music rendered even more noxious by psychedelic strobe lighting.

The May Seventh Rectification Schools were named in memory of the directive Chairman Mao issued on May 7, 1956, telling the political cadres to get away from their desks and mingle with the workers and the

The original idea then was for the bureaucrats to get to know the peasants better by spending a few months on the production line, slopping the hogs in the commune or immersing their elitist mandarin tootsies in a flooded rice paddy.

It seems to me that some of our politicians might profit from learning what the people actually think about them by putting in a little time at grass-roots level in a May Seventh Rectification School. It might make them think twice about sending a campaign sound truck through the streets of our quiet neighborhood, taking up prime time TV with their ponderous pronouncements, stuffing our mailboxes with those boring biographies and suffocating statements, marring the landscape with posters and election billboards, littering up the town square with their rent-acrowd rallies and loud speaker platforms

At May Seventh Rectification School, there would be extra-long gas lines where the politicos could discuss energy problems with the taxpayers and special supermarket checkout counters, wired for sound, where they could chat about inflation with the nation's housewives. Wouldn't it be something if instead of having his picture taken posing atop a hayrick, a candidate actually put some time in with the field hands slopping the hogs or mowing the peanuts while happily intoning that old Chinese campaign song: "The Production Brigade Celebrates the Arrival in the Hills of the Manure Collec-

The Chinese had a good thing going there. It's a shame they didn't export it before phasing it out.

Japanese-American leaders recall tensions of big war

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Japanese-American leaders, recalling ancestors herded into West Coast detention camps during World War II, have cautioned the American government against making scapegoats of Iranians in the United States.

"It's terribly wrong when a person is attacked just because of his ancestry," said Karl Nobuyuki, executive director of the Japanese-American Citizens League.

Nobuyuki spent the first eight months of his life in Hilo River, Ariz., in a camp for Japanese-Americans. His family spent 3½ years in the camp. More than 11,000 West Coast residents of Japanese descent were arrested and sent to detention camps after Japan attacked American bases in Hawaii in 1941. Alarmed by "rumors from our Washington, D.C., office that there may be a government attempt to put Iranians (in the U.S.) in protective custody," Nobuyuki sent a telegram last week to President Carter decrying harrassment of Iranians and urging Carter to deport only those students who break laws.

Carter has ordered immigration officials to check the visas of Iranian students for possible violations. The order came after Iranians seized about 60 Americans in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

"We've had several phone calls" about his appeal, Nobuyuki said Friday.
"We're encouraged. People said they were glad to hear that someone was standing up for the rights of an individual," Nobuyuki said, adding none of the callers seemed to be Irani-

Among the callers were "a lot of former detainees (who) at the time did not think it would happen to them," Nobuyki said.

Nobuyuki, stressing that his group was supporting Carter's handling of the hostage situation, said that he opposed any retaliation in this coun-

The Japanese-American Citizens League is a civil rights group with 30,000 dues-paying members and represents about 120,000 Americans, according to Nobuyuki. #### Florida judge promises decision this week on death penalty contest both state and federal supreme courts

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - A Florida circuit judge says he will rule this week on a challenge to the death penalty assessed convicted murderer James Dupree Henry in 1974. Henry, 29, is scheduled to die in

Florida's electric chair Dec. 6. Public Defender Craig Barnard argued Friday before Circuit Judge Thomas E. Kirkland that trial Judge Peter de Manio "arbitrarily and capriciously" erred in instructing the jury, which voted 7-5 for the death

He said de Manio failed to inform jurors of specific legal questions dealing with "reasonable doubt" and "aggravating circumstances.'

The defense also argued that Harry W. Carls, who defended Henry in the June 1974 trial, did not challenge the trial judge's alleged erroneous instructions.

Henry was convicted of killing 81year-old Zellie L. Riley, a leader of Orlando's black community.

Assistant State Attorney Ray

Dvorak argued that Henry's conviction and sentence had been upheld by the defendant solely on the evidence presented in court. Gov. Bob Graham signed Henry's death warrant Nov. 8 despite an appeal from the victim's son. William A. Riley, who was in court Friday, said his father would not have wanted vengeance. Henry, who like his victim is black,

Life going on as usual

LOS ANGELES (AP) - "It's a life-goes-on-as-usual situation" for motorists and gasoline dealers despite the reduced amount of crude oil flowing into the United States, petroleum expert Dan Lundberg says. "If the world had expected consternation in America as a result of the international crisis in crude distribution, this is evidence of the contrary,' Lundberg said Sunday of a nationwide poll of 15,000 service stations. Drivers aren't hoarding and retailers aren't stretching stocks, he said, even though President Carter's order prohibiting further imports of Iranian crude means the loss of about 4 percent of the nation's daily oil supply. Lundberg, publisher of a respected weekly petroleum advisory letter, said the survey showed prices have risen only about two cents so far in November despite sharp increases internationally in the price of crude being sold in the open, or "spot," market.

"Large crude oil increases on the spot market have obviously not worked their way through the pipeline to the retail pump, and motorists and dealers are acting as if there was no tomorrow," he said. "Dealers are pricing as if they expected unlimited supplies.'

Lundberg said there is no evidence of panic-buying because of the loss of Iranian crude.

"If motorists were topping off or hoarding, dealers' supplies would have run thin and prices would have gone to the ceiling to extract every final bit of margin of profit," he said. "If dealers could sell all they had and wanted to, they would not be sacrificing from 25 to 45 percent of their permitted gross margins in so many typical cities."

The oil analyst said that while average dealer profit margins in some cities were well below the 15.4-cent federally fixed maximum, there were several areas where the average dealer margin was close to the maxi-

Damage minimal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Mexican oil spill that coated Texas beaches with thick tar caused only "minimal" environmental damage, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists.

A department release Friday said, There is no evidence of noticeable damage to Texas fish or wildlife other than possibly redfish larvae."

The oil drifted to the South Texas coast after a Mexican well blew out in June in the Bay of Campeche. The spill of more than 223,000 tons was the worst in history. A cap has since cut the flow.

Department biologists gathered shrimp samples from water covered with the runaway oil, but found no damage to the shrimp.

Windfall profits tax one 'Christmas tree' ornament

By JIM LUTHER

WASHINGTON (AP) - Every year about this time, it seems, the Senate considers a tax bill. With almost the same regularity, senators turn the bill into a "Christmas tree."

The "ornaments" on that "tree" are amendments aimed at providing tax relief for one purpose or another. The tree-trimming ceremony this year is right on time.

The Senate is debating a slimmeddown version of the oil-industry "windfall-profits" tax proposed by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., who is managing debate on the bill, agrees with Bentsen that taxpayers deserve some incentives for savings. But, he told colleagues on Friday, he's afraid what might happen if Bentsen's amendment is added to the bill.

"If this is going to be a Christmas tree bill, I don't see why we all shouldn't get a chance to put on a few ornaments," Long said. If there's going to be a big tax cut, he added, 'why give it just to those persons with savings?" Long noted that Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., already has proposed an amendment to earmark some of the revenues from the windfall tax for across-the-board income-tax reductions. Others are pressing amendments to give businesses a faster tax write-off for buildings and equip-

Once the floodgates are opened, Long added, there's no way to say where the tax-cutting fever will end.

Bentsen said the nation's rate of savings has dropped so low - about 5 percent of income compared with 25 percent in Japan - that emergency action to correct it is necessary. Inflation is worsened because year in 1985 ($1,000 for couples). This would cost the government up to $1 billion in lost taxes in 1981 and $5 billion in 1985.

Gas rationing plan in effect

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - The second round of odd-even gasoline allocation began today in San Francisco, Los Angeles and 13 urban counties that used it for four months earlier this year.

The program takes effect statewide in two more weeks, at 12:01 a.m. Monday, Dec. 3.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. said the odd-even plan should prevent topping-off, long lines and meet expected oil-shortages stemming from the U.S.-Iran confrontation.

He ordered the system reinstituted after the White House called for fuel conservation. Brown said Californians must reduce their gasoline consumption by 5 percent, equivalent to the 700,000 barrels of oil a day the state was getting from Iranian im-

But governors of other states, reacting more cautiously to the call for conservation, are not following Brown's lead, although in some states officials say they hope minimum purchase requirements will help conserve gasoline.

California's system permits motorists with odd-numbered license plates to fill up only on odd-numbered calendar days, with fill-ups for vehicles with even-numbered plates on evennumbered days. Personalized plates in which there are no numbers are considered odd-numbered. Exceptions are motorists more than 100 miles away from their homes, emergency vehicles, motorcycles and similar two-wheeled vehicles, vehicles used for public transportation, those rented for less than 30 days, and vehicles operated by the handicapped or used to transport patients.

Committee actually started the trimthe-tree exercise. By a unanimous vote, the panel attached to the bill an amendment repealing a major 1976 provision on inheritance taxes.

The oil tax itself can provide enough controversy to keep the Senate going for several weeks.

The committee's version would cost the oil industry an estimated $138 billion from 1980 through 1990. The new tax and existing state and federal income taxes would take about 66 percent of the additional revenue that will flow to the oil industry because of Carter's decision to phase out federal price controls on U.S. crude oil.

The House-passed bill, which is more to Carter's liking, would cost the industry $277 billion. The total tax take under that bill would be about 87 percent.

Despite the title, the Senate bill would tax not profits but a portion of future price increases above current

The only persistent sound in the air is the growl of a bulldozer a block away where it methodically piles tons of dark clay over what once was the neighborhood playground on the Love Canal.

The neighborhood was built after Hooker Chemical Corp. closed and covered the Love Canal dump site more than 20 years ago, leaving thousands of drums of toxic chemicals leaking into the subsoil. Officials have found those chemicals hundreds of feet from the dump site, both underground and oozing to the surface.

Last year, after reports of dangerous chemicals oozing from the site problems that have beset and causing health problems, New York State bought 239 houses closest to the canal and moved those families out. Now, Gibbs and hundreds of other residents of the 10block ring of homes just outside the cleared area have become the latest figures in the long-running tragedy of the nation's most famous chemical dump site.

Since Labor Day the state has been paying more than $7,000 a day for their motel rooms and meals. Scattered across the city in five motels, most of the 385 "second ring" residents have vowed not to go back to their homes because they say the chemical seepage from the Love Canal has made them sick. State officials say they have found evidence of higher than normal birth defects and fetal deaths among the second ring families, and they recently advised pregnant women and families with children under 2 to stay out of the area.

But the officials said last week that they cannot find any connection between the litany of medical problems claimed by Love Canal area residents now in the motels and the chemicals leaking from the dump site near their homes. On Monday, officials said, the state's motel and food payments will be cut off, and the residents of Love Canal will have to go home.

The cufoff - twice deferred by state officials seeking some solution to the standoff - is likely to bring the first physical confrontation over what has become something of a national symbol. "They'll have to put me in jail before I go back there," said Barbara Quimby, who has been living with her husband and two children in a room at the Howard Johnson motel here for the last eight weeks. "This is my home

Health officials also discovered that the presence of such powerful chemicals seeping to the surface of the area here has helped breed a newly aggressive and insecticide-proof type of mos-

Squads of federal and state experts have combed the dump site and its surrounding neighborhoods, digging up back yards and boring through flower beds in search of leaking chemi-
