Carter To Report Sunday On Soviet Troop Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter plans to report to the nation Sunday on the issue of Soviet combat troops in Cuba, which has prompted intensive negotiations with the Soviet Union, it was learned today.

Word of the president's plans for a nationally broadcast address came after he met for about 90 minutes this morning with the National Security Council, the second such session in less than 24 hours, as U.S. officials tried to keep negotiations with the Russians alive.

The breakfast meeting at the White House followed Thursday night's hour-long NSC briefing by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance on his negotiations with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, which apparently failed to resolve the dispute, at least for the time being.

None of the participants at Carter's meeting with his top security advisers was available afterward for comment.

"It is a very calm and deliberative process that's proceeding in a timely and not a hurried fashion," said a Carter aide who asked not to be named. He predicted that Carter's handling of the situation "will merit and receive the support of the people of this country."

The same source said that regardless of the impact of the Soviet troops issue, "there is absolutely no doubt of the president's determination to push forward on SALT" and win Senate ratification of the arms control treaty with the Soviet Union. Discovery of the Russian combat brigade in Cuba has clouded prospects for ratification of the SALT II treaty.

American officials did not rule out the possibility of further U.S.-Soviet talks, although none were planned for the first time in three weeks.

Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, meeting reporters after Vance's NSC briefing, said, "We would not characterize this as a crisis. It was a discussion."

Another official, requesting anonymity, said that, while there was no crisis atmosphere, "there is a problem."

Members of the NSC called to the White House included Vice President Walter F. Mondale, CIA Director Stansfield Turner, Secretary of Defense Harold Brown and presidential national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Powell refused to divulge specifics of what Vance told the NSC in a one-hour briefing that followed a private 30-minute meeting with the president in the White House living quarters.

Carter said Tuesday that he would report to the nation, probably within a week, on the negotiations. In a speech Thursday, Vance assured Latin American diplomats the administration, "at an appropriate time," would release a full report to buttress its stand on the troops.

But, at this point, he added, "the best thing that can be done is to keep the negotiations private."

ing the press after their 3 1/2-hour session, would go beyond describing the talks as "serious." The mood was clearly gloomy, however, as the men descended from Vance's 37th floor hotel suite overlooking the United Nations.

Gromyko planned to return to Moscow today, precluding what had been seen as a possible meeting with Carter this weekend if progress resulted from the New York talks.

Officials had said a decision by Carter on whether to take part in the talks hinged on the outcome of the last Vance-Gromyko meeting.

Hotel Fire In Vienna Kills 26

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — An intense, choking fire roared through a Vienna hotel packed with American and other tourists before dawn today, killing 26 persons and injuring 17, authorities said. They said a former Miss Oklahoma and two other Americans were killed and 13 injured.

Most of the victims were overcome in their sleep by poisonous fumes released by burning plastic wall-and floor-covering in the Am Augarten Hotel, police said.

Eyewitnesses said guests in the four-story, medium-class hotel hung from their room windows screaming for help, and one woman jumped to her death from the third floor.

All of the dead and injured Americans were believed to be members of a tour group from Maine, many of them in their 60s. City officials identified them as Ellen Wight and Donald and Frances Fraser.

Miss Wight, 24, who was Miss Oklahoma in 1977, was the daughter of the owners of a Bath, Maine, travel agency that organized the tour. The hometown of the Frasers and those of the injured were not immediately available.

Police said at least 10 Yugoslav tourists were killed and West Germans also were believed to be among the victims, but most were not immediately identified. All of the hotel's 57 rooms were occupied, authorities said.

It was the biggest loss of life in a fire in post-war Austria.

ACLU Lawsuit Draws Fire

By LISA PAIKOWSKI

School board president Monte Hasie said today that school officials will "definitely fight" a lawsuit filed Thursday by the American Civil Liberties Union seeking a ban on all forms of religious exercises in Lubbock public schools.

Hasie termed the suit "ludicrous," adding that schools have "followed school board policy. That policy was well-considered and we'll stand on that policy."

ACLU member Robert Davidow said today, that despite a majority pro-prayer stance in Lubbock. "We are proceeding on the basis of an interpretation of the U.S. Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court.

"It becomes irrelevant what most of the people of Lubbock want to do, the Constitution is the supreme law of the land," Davidow said.

The civil rights action, filed in U.S. District Court here, names the Lubbock Independent School District, all seven LISD trustees and Superintendent Ed Irons as defendants in the suit.

The suit states that the LISD "has established a policy expressly authorizing religious exercises in the local schools" and that such exercises violate the First Amendment and the U.S. Constitution.

The suit contends that "some members of the Lubbock community have complained to school officials in various schools at all levels without a cessation" of practices that include:

1. "Reading passages from the Bible over the public address system.

2. "Reading religious inspirational passages or 'thought for the day' over the public address system.

3. "Calling for a period of silent meditation ended with 'amen' over the public address system.

4. "Teachers reciting audible sectarian prayers ended with 'amen.'"

5. "Students reciting prayers into the school's public address system."

6. "Distribution of Gideon New Testaments or Bibles by excusing classes to receive those publications from visiting members of the Gideons who proffer only the Protestant Christian translation."

The suit notes that a pro-prayer policy for Lubbock public schools that was adopted by trustees in February offers no protection "to the non-religious, the non-Christian, or the dissenting Christian."

That policy, which the board adopted rather than banning school prayer as requested by the ACLU, states, "The Lubbock Independent School District adheres to the principal of freedom of religion as expressed in the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of Texas."

The board later approved implementation of that policy through a set of guidelines that says, "No school employee shall compose, prescribe, or place his/her approval upon any particular prayer of form of religious activity; however, student initiated and directed, religious activities will be permitted."

The ACLU lawsuit contends that "all See SCHOOL OFFICIALS Page 18

Gold Cracks $400 Level; Dollar Gains

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold cracked the $400-an-ounce level for the first time in history in Hong Kong today and neared the $400 mark in Europe.

But the dollar gained moderately on foreign currency exchanges as West Germany's finance minister pledged his country's support for the battered U.S. currency.

Gold, which has soared an astounding $74 a troy ounce since Sept. 1, touched a peak of $400.20 during morning trading in Hong Kong before settling back to close at $396.25.

Bullion "only stayed at the $400 level for a slight period and then drifted off," said John Crowley, spokesman for the trading firm of James Sinclair & Co. in New York. He added that "trading was heavy, but it was orderly and not hectic."

Gold prices have climbed as Mideast oil investors, corporations and speculators have fled the dollar and other inflation-hit currencies for bullion and other metals.

After the Hong Kong market's close, gold moved up to a record $399 an ounce in London following the morning "fixing" price of $397 set by the city's big five bullion dealers. Bullion then eased at the London afternoon fixing to $397.25.

The price was up from $394 the night before and topped the previous London high of $395.50 at the Thursday afternoon fixing.

In Zurich, bullion sold for $398 at noon after touching a record $398.50 in late morning. Thursday's closing price, the previous Zurich high, was $395.50.

In Paris, where the bullion price is inflated by a government tax, gold topped $400 for the first time, reaching $401.28 at the morning fixing. In Frankfurt, dealers fixed the price at $398.53.

West German Finance Minister Hans Matthoer was quoted in Bonn as saying the dollar has declined "too much," and that he favors strong U.S. and German intervention, if necessary, to support the dollar and fight speculators.

"Reasonable economic factors" can't explain the dollar's 4 percent drop against the West German mark over the past 10 days, he said in an interview with VWD, the West German economic news service.

The interview came on the eve of a meeting in Hamburg Saturday of U.S. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller and Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, Matthoer and central bank officials.

Currency problems will also be on the agenda at the annual general assembly of the International Monetary Fund in Belgrade this weekend.

AFL-CIO President To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany, 85, founder of the AFL-CIO and its president for the past quarter-century, is retiring this fall, spokesman Allen Zaek announced today.

Meany has been in poor health since early spring, and his retirement from one of the nation's most influential jobs had been expected.

Lane Kirkland, the AFL-CIO's secretary-treasurer for the past 10 years and Meany's closest adviser, is considered a near certainty to become president of the 14 million-member labor federation at its convention here in November.

Meany, who has appeared at his office only rarely since he became ill in April, is completing a 12th two-year term as federation president. His aides said he will remain in office until the AFL-CIO's November convention.

Meany informed Kirkland of his decision Thursday night, and Kirkland notified the AFL-CIO's 35-member executive council today. The council was meeting in special session to endorse President Carter's new wage-price guidelines for next year.

Meany's departure was announced as the Carter administration prepared to announce revised anti-inflation guidelines for wage and price increases.

Fair Attendance Soars; Music Shows Featured

Eleventh-hour fairgoers still have a chance to get in on the entertainment at the 62nd annual Panhandle South Plains Fair before its last day Saturday.

Officials are hoping crowds will break the attendance record set in 1976 by Saturday. By Wednesday, this year's attendance was only about 134,000 away from breaking the old record of 324,721.

If the cooperative weather continues and music fans continue to pour in for the nightly performances in Fair Park Coliseum, attendance figures may pass the 325,000 mark by Saturday.

College students and military personnel will be admitted to the grounds free today.

Tom T. Hall takes the stage at 8 p.m. in the Fair Park Coliseum along with Charley McLain.

Hall, who has had at least a dozen number one hits, has been nicknamed the "Storyteller" because of songs including "Harper Valley PTA," "The Year Clayton Delaney Died," "Old Dogs and Children and Watermelon Wine" and "Your Old Man Loves You Honey."

Youngsters are among Hall's fans, too, as a result of such small fry favorites as "Sneaky Snake" and "You Gotta Say Baaa to a Little Baby Goat."

Miss McLain was nominated this year as Best New Female Vocalist by the Academy of Country Music and was runnerup for Country Music Magazine's Bullet Award for Best Female Vocalist of the Year.

The second night of competition between 262 entrants in the All Youth Rodeo, sponsored by Lubbock County 4-H clubs and the fair association, will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the livestock pavilion.

Rodeo performers will be putting their skills to the test in nine events to win cash prizes paid to the best riders and ropers.

The competitors, 19 and under, will be trying to make the best scores in bareback riding, bull riding, tie-down calf roping, ribbon roping, barrel racing and pole bending. Some events will be

Insurance Program Planned For Newspapers

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — A First Amendment defense insurance program for U.S. newspapers will be offered soon by a Bermuda insurance company, Allen H. Neuharth, Chairman and President of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association announced Thursday.

The plan was endorsed by the board of ANPA which has been meeting in Zurich with European newspaper executives.

The First Amendment defense insurance program, Neuharth said, was developed by Mutual Insurance Co. Ltd. of Bermuda after the ANPA board called for development of a plan earlier this year.

It will cover the legal costs of newspapers which find it necessary to challenge actions by the courts and the government which are considered contrary to the constitutional rights of a free press.

Costs of mandated appearances before Congress and federal agencies will be included under the insurance program.

Coverage under the insurance plan will apply in instances of prior restraint, questions of access, newsmen's privilege, statutory limitations on publication, and related actions involving violation of First Amendment rights.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

Panama: A Look Ahead

SOME WELCOME changes were made in the legislation approved this week to implement the ill-conceived treaties to give away the U.S. canal in Panama.

In order to overcome objections in the House of Representatives, the measure was strengthened to spell out American national security rights in the canal zone.

As approved, the legislation empowers the President to order the canal's administrator to follow directions of the U.S. military if he believes the security of the canal is threatened.

We don't expect this President ever to show such backbone, but there might be one between now and 2000—when the give-away is complete—who would put America First.

HOUSE OPPONENTS had wanted a provision that would place the canal under U.S. military control in time of war but the administration contended such language would "violate the spirit" of the treaties.

Embarrassed by a 203-192 vote in the heavily Democratic House to reject the legislation altogether, however, the President had to settle for the compromise language worked out by a Senate-House conference committee.

The House, disturbed that the original language might even allow Carter to surrender the canal before he leaves office, probably in 1981, also won a provision that prohibits giving the waterway to Panama before the treaty expires at the end of the century.

With those additions, the Senate okayed the implementing legislation, 63-32, and the House followed with a 232-188 vote of approval.

IN A STATEMENT accompanying the bill, the conference committee specified that foreign combat troops—Russian, Cuban or whatever—would constitute a threat if they moved into Panama.

This does not speak to the very real danger of a take-over by the Panamanian armed forces, leaving Uncle Sam to decide whether he's finally had enough of being pushed around by antagonistic dictators.

Approval, as expected, of the legislation nonetheless puts a stamp of finality on the treaties with Panama and leaves for the future to judge whether, as proponents claimed, U.S. relations with Latin America are thereby improved.

We doubt it, but we earnestly hope that we're wrong.

Paul Scott:

Carter's Health Grave Concern

WASHINGTON—President Carter's exhaustion, which forced him out of the race near Camp David, raises the question of the right of the public to know more about the health of its President and others who seek the nation's highest offices.

The health issue is expected to surface as a major one during the 1980 presidential and congressional elections since such a right is still far from established and because of the age and past physical disabilities of several of the candidates.

While the President's doctors gave him a clean bill of health, several lawmakers—who have met with the President in private or attended White House briefings recently—report that Carter looks pale and under strain, apparently suffering from the growing stress of the presidency.

IN THE HALLS of Congress, one finds deepening concern that the President's physician, like the ones that went before him, is only too willing to obfuscate for his political patient, or tell the public less than the truth.

This touchy political health issue was raised by Dr. William J. Duran, professor of legal medicine at Harvard University, in a recent issue of the New England Journal of Medicine. He said:

"Doctors treating public figures have sometimes imposed too impenetrable a barrier around the patients—a white gauze curtain—to the extent of actually distorting the true picture."

There is even evidence that the failure of doctors to make public the serious health problems of Sen. Hubert Humphrey in 1976 played a key role in helping Carter secure the Democratic nomination.

During the early jockeying for the Democratic party nomination in 1976, a number of Democratic party leaders and union officials stayed neutral rather than support Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., and other Democratic candidates on the conviction that Sen. Humphrey would enter the race. He never did.

AT THAT TIME, none of these party or union leaders knew about Humphrey's eight-year bout with cancer. Had they known, several have since indicated that they would have moved early to help Jackson.

Understandable as it may have been, Sen. Humphrey's long reluctance to lay bare all his medical records could also have had some other very serious consequences.

If Humphrey had won the Democratic Presidential nomination in the summer of 1976, for example, his illness would have left his party badly in the lurch.

Just a month before the November election, Humphrey had to undergo serious cancer surgery. It was only then that his condition became known to the public.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Kenneth May

FORMER PRESIDENT Ford is reported to have spent about $300,000 for a lot on which to build a vacation home near Vail, Colo.

When you're retired on a Gov't pension of $100,000 or so a year, you can afford such indulgence.

The Chief Executive in Washington is asking voters to return her and the First Husband to the White House next year.

The Administration has proposed that the Gov't quit printing the one-dollar bill. Why not? The dollar has outlived its usefulness.

A motel reservation postmarked in Portland, Ore., on Oct. 9, 1970, made it to Denver the other day. It might have made it a couple of days earlier but the envelope bore no zip code.

The Senate Appropriations Committee voted to reject any pay raise this year for Senators and representatives, who make only $57,500 a year.

There's an election next year and higher pay, 'tis feared, might attract qualified candidates.

SOME DAYS I feel plumb guilty about staying on the President's back so much.

He is, after all, doing the very best he can and it isn't easy to provide leadership for a Congress and a people so evenly divided that you'd get a 60-40 split on motherhood and apple pie.

Holmes Alexander:

Egghead Vanity Is Scrambled

WASHINGTON—A brilliant column by Jack Anderson (and I would not attempt to top it) showed that Americans were so technically advanced that Russian negotiators after each day's work at Geneva pocketed the leftover U.S. Government pencils, explaining:

"Our don't work very well. The lead is no good and we don't have erasers."

Anderson went on to show that we are several years ahead of the Soviets in military techniques, and they only went ahead of us by apish imitation and doggedly determined catch-up.

If the far behind position in the present arms race taught us anything, it should be to distrust our egg-head vanity and to give at least a grudging respect to the peasant shrewdness of the foe.

IN THE 1940s the low-brow Stalin outdid Harvard-bred Roosevelt at every meeting including the last, Yalta, where the Russian modern empire got its start—to the dismay of Winston Churchill—by annexing most of East Europe with Roosevelt's consent.

In the 1960s, another Harvard man, John Kennedy, staggered out of a Vienna meeting with Khrushchev, and gasped in chagrin to a newspaper friend, "I blew it."

In the years between SALT I-SALT II, 1972-79, the Russian pencil-snatchers outsmarted the Americans so many times that the two Secretaries of State, Kissinger of Harvard and Vance of Yale, should be looking for dunce-caps.

THE AMERICAN intellectual trouncing was shame-facedly confessed when The Wall Street Journal wrote in its Sept. 11 lead-editorial: "Reject SALT now."

It was Robert Strange McNamara, with earned degrees at California and Harvard, who so misread the Russian mind in the 1960s that he decided to allow the Soviets to come abreast of us on the theory that equality would satisfy them. Kennedy's Secretary of Defense told a Pentagon news conference:

"We think it is in our interest and theirs to limit the deployment of defensive weapons, and we're quite prepared to discuss limitations in the deployment of offensive strategic nuclear weapons as well."

Twelve years and four Presidential administrations later, The WSJ plaintively asks:

"Didn't everybody know that the Soviet Union is engaged in a worldwide geopolitical offensive under the umbrella of its massive military build-up? And isn't it equally clear that the debate over

Sylvia Porter: You Pay Consequences For Not Paying Bills

WASHINGTON—If you are a consumer in debt and are falling slightly behind in your payments, the laws and enforcement agencies have been giving you more and more protection in recent years against abuses practiced by some creditors and debt collectors.

But the reality remains: You, the consumer, in general must pay whatever you agree to pay for whatever you buy.

The consequences if you don't can be mighty unpleasant to you in many instances.

(1) Usually, the creditor will try first to reach you to convince you to pay. This pressure is entirely proper.

(2) If such dunning fails, you may be sued. This means you will lose automatically by default unless you file an answer in court saying why you think you don't have to pay.

(3) IF YOU LOSE a lawsuit, the creditor has the legal right to take assets of yours to pay the amount due (sometimes plus legal expenses).

This usually includes at least such assets as bank accounts; but not such possessions as household furnishings except when the money owed was used to buy them.

(4) The creditor can in most states also serve a paper on your employer ordering your employer to deduct 10 percent of your wages.

This means annoying paperwork for your boss as well as deductions from your paycheck until all owed has been repaid.

(5) LONG BEFORE these events, the creditor normally will notify a credit bureau that you are delinquent. This information then may be provided to other creditors.

(6) The bad mark on your credit rating is not necessarily erased just because you thereafter pay the bill.

On the contrary, the fact that you did not pay initially on your own will remain on file for a long time.

And if you go bankrupt to get out from under your debts, you will lose most assets you have. Your credit rating will show this for seven years.

Trust A Halo?

But, dang it, pulling for the President to do a good job doesn't give a concerned American license to stay quiet when he screws things up.

I search the news wires every day for something Jimmy Carter has done, or proposes to do, that would be worthy of praise.

Sometimes what he says sounds good initially but by the time he gets through backing and filling, explaining and amplifying, executing and implementing, why, it's nothing like what he said at first.

By then, even Hamilton Jordan doesn't understand it and anyone who rushed out to support the President is left holding an empty bag.

ONE IS TEMPTED, and sometimes yields to the temptation, to join the herd and say, well, at least the President is a man of integrity and we can trust him.

Yet "even" Jimmy Carter is not above politics, which is to say the words he chooses off are more designed to make himself look good than to convey the truth, all the truth and nothing but the truth.

For example, his labeling of his proposed massive new tax on oil company revenues as an "excess profits" tax was deliberately misleading. There's a vast difference in revenue and profit and even a peanut farmer knows that.

Then, last month, Carter called food industry executives to the White House to tell them he was "particularly disturbed" that grocery store prices have climbed rapidly while farm prices are dropping.

He intended to leave, and did leave, the impression with the public that retailers are tipping them off.

Anyone who's been watching the profit margins of the big grocery chains, and the bankruptcies of some, has to doubt that.

Farmers certainly aren't to blame, either. They've been honestly squawking that they are the victims of inflation, not the cause of it. So be it with the retailers.

If the President would honestly face up to the situation, he'd tell the American people that Congress is the cause of inflation.

A FEDERAL budget that's too big, tax policies that discourage investments to increase productivity, monetary matters and other issues over which only the government has control are at the root of our national malaise.

Labor unions that gouge out big pay and benefit packages without increasing per-man-hour productivity add to the cost of every product—including groceries—and thus are a major part of the problem.

But labor union members vote, as do consumers, so Mr. Carter tries to play to both galleries without doing anything really to bring inflation down, which only the government can do.

It's politics as usual, which is fine if you're in politics, but it doesn't quite fit with the halo.

You Pay Consequences For Not Paying Bills

WASHINGTON—If you are a consumer in debt and are falling slightly behind in your payments, the laws and enforcement agencies have been giving you more and more protection in recent years against abuses practiced by some creditors and debt collectors.

But the reality remains: You, the consumer, in general must pay whatever you agree to pay for whatever you buy.

The consequences if you don't can be mighty unpleasant to you in many instances.

(1) Usually, the creditor will try first to reach you to convince you to pay. This pressure is entirely proper.

(2) If such dunning fails, you may be sued. This means you will lose automatically by default unless you file an answer in court saying why you think you don't have to pay.

(3) IF YOU LOSE a lawsuit, the creditor has the legal right to take assets of yours to pay the amount due (sometimes plus legal expenses).

This usually includes at least such assets as bank accounts; but not such possessions as household furnishings except when the money owed was used to buy them.

(4) The creditor can in most states also serve a paper on your employer ordering your employer to deduct 10 percent of your wages.

This means annoying paperwork for your boss as well as deductions from your paycheck until all owed has been repaid.

(5) LONG BEFORE these events, the creditor normally will notify a credit bureau that you are delinquent. This information then may be provided to other creditors.

(6) The bad mark on your credit rating is not necessarily erased just because you thereafter pay the bill.

On the contrary, the fact that you did not pay initially on your own will remain on file for a long time.

And if you go bankrupt to get out from under your debts, you will lose most assets you have. Your credit rating will show this for seven years.

(7) FREQUENTLY, a "security interest" exists in property you bought with the money borrowed. In such cases that property can be repossessed to help pay your bills.

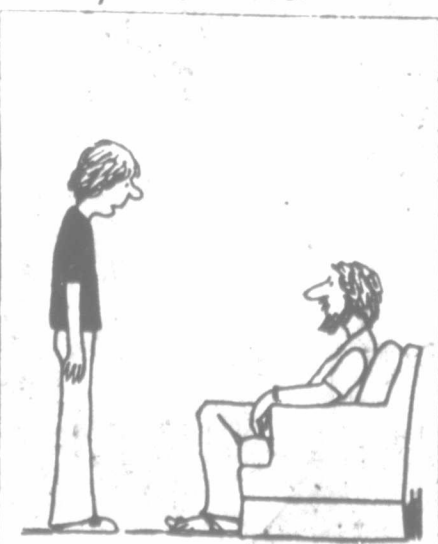

If, after the property is sold the creditor still has not collected the full amount, you can be sued for the balance (a "deficiency").

You could wind up losing a car you purchased, plus whatever you paid for the car, and still owe more money even though the car has been repossessed. To collect the deficiency, the creditor may obtain a garnishment on your wages.

(8) A creditor may put a lien on your house, too, if you own one and it isn't exempt under the laws of your state. This prevents your selling it unless the creditor is paid and may permit the creditor to sell your house to pay the debt, and give you whatever is left.

(9) If you owe money to a bank, and have de-

Measures Taken To Turn Cosmetics Firm Around

By MARY TOBIN
NEW YORK (UPI) — David Mahoney, chairman and chief executive officer of Norton Simon Inc., said recently "strong corrective measures have been initiated at Max Factor and these steps have begun to produce results."

Linda Wachner, whose appointment as president of Max Factor's domestic division was one of the corrective measures, said the cosmetics company had "gotten away from basics. It had forgotten its consumer franchise."

Miss Wachner was hired after a shakeup in Max Factor's top management by parent Norton Simon that saw the former president and many of its top executives fired.

Miss Wachner, who reports to Robert Kamerschen, Max Factor chief executive officer, welcomes the challenge. "We had no time for a gradual approach," she said. "When you're going in the wrong direction you have to turn around fast."

Kamerschen and Miss Wachner set up a new team. "Everyone who works for us today loves the cosmetics business and is loyal to the firm," she said in an interview.

Max Factor, whose "Pancake" made foundation make up a part of the American woman's cosmetic routine, got into trouble principally because of the failure, after a huge promotion effort, of its "Maxi" fragrance line.

"We've returned to basics," Miss Wachner said. "We've spent a lot of time and money analyzing our consumer and have decided what she wants most is to go into a store and be able to buy what she bought last time."

This is not to say that Max Factor is going to stand still with its old standbys.

The firm, started 70 years ago when Russian immigrant Max Factor sold greasepaint to stage actors, has several new products coming on stream.

Difference Noted In Car Safety

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of an insurance industry highway safety institute says claims figures indicate some automobiles are safer than others — even among those in the same size range.

The survey of injuries from accidents involving 1978 model automobiles affirms the general perception that passengers are more likely to be injured in small cars than larger ones.

But William Haddon Jr., president of the Washington-based Insurance Institute for Highway Safety said this week the more significant finding concerns the disparity among cars in similar categories.

For example, in the two-door subcompact field the Chevrolet Chevette had the fewest claims against it — 104 per 1,000 insured vehicle years compared with the Honda Civic's 144 injury claims.

"These results ... show that there obviously are huge differences in the degree of crash protection manufacturers build into different automobiles," said Haddon. "The fact that some cars have had such comparatively high claims frequencies is even more tragic when you consider that technology to far better protect people in crashes has been readily available for years."

There was no discussion in the institute's report on why some autos did better than others.

But Haddon said all cars would be safer with air bags, if their windshields were designed to eliminate facial cuts and if their doors were engineered to stay shut in crashes.

There was no immediate reaction from the automakers whose products were mentioned in the report, which was based on an analysis of 655,000 claims from 20 states.

The report said two-door cars consistently show higher injury claim records than four-door models, while sports and specialty cars in the subcompact, compact and intermediate groups are particularly prone to injury claims, especially in the hands of young drivers.

The report said more people were injured in Toyota Corollas and Celicas, Honda Civics, Datsun B-210s and Ford Mustang IIs than in any other 1978 cars.

The fewest injuries were reported by occupants of five relatively large General Motors — the Oldsmobile Delta 88, the Buick LeSabre, and the Chevrolet Caprice, Impala and Nova.

N-Weapon Exploded In Nevada Desert

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A weapons-related nuclear device with a yield equivalent between 20,000 and 150,000 tons of high explosive was exploded deep beneath the Nevada desert, authorities said.

The explosion, the 13th announced test this year, went off at 8 a.m. PDT Wednesday at Pahute Mesa on the Nevada Test Site 115 miles northwest of here, said Department of Energy spokesman Dave Jackson.

The slender, 33-year-old Miss Wachner attributes her relaxed manner ("if I appear that way I'm glad,") to the fact "I know what I am and what I want to be."

Her highly personal approach to the job was demonstrated in a swing through Bloomingdale's cosmetics department which is being renovated.

"Hi, I'm Linda Wachner and I work for Max Factor too," she said to a young saleswoman. "Do you like the new counters?"

"They're good for the customer but more work for the sales staff."

"Has business been good?"

"It's picked up since Labor Day — who are you? — the president, oh my goodness?"

"You're doing fine, keep it up," Miss Wachner left a flustered but pleased employee.

"I spend half my time in drug stores and department stores talking to salespeople and customers," she said. "I love this part of it, it's fun."

Miss Wachner feels a special affinity with department stores.

At 21, with a B.S. in business from the University of Buffalo and graduate work at Baruch College in New York, she became a buyer at Foley's Federal-ed department store in Houston and five years later moved to a senior buyer post at New York's Macy's. In her next post with the Warner Division of Warnaco she became the company's first female vice president.

She has been married for six years to New York clothing manufacturer Seymour Applebaum. The two spend a great deal of time commuting between the East and the West coast, where she is based.

Norton Simon reported record profits of $124.3 million or $2.41 a share in the last fiscal year and Mahoney said the parent is "confident" its Max Factor division will begin contributing to those profits "in the current fiscal year."

"We've chosen the right team, we're on track," said Miss Wachner. "The important thing is to stay even in the boat."

NEA Expected To Throw Support Behind Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is reaping the fruit of a hard-won victory for his promised Education Department with a powerful teachers' union preparing to throw its political muscle behind his re-election effort.

Carter planned a White House reception today for the board of directors of the 1.8 million-member National Education Association. The NEA board was expected to endorse the president's re-election bid later in the day or on Saturday. It would be the first major union to take that step.

Six other labor leaders have announced their support for Carter's re-election. But their union executive boards have not made formal endorsements, in part because of internal bickering between Carter backers and those hoping Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will challenge the president for the Democratic nomination.

A separate Education Department was a special objective for the NEA, the nation's second largest union and one of the most politically effective groups in the country because it has an organization in every voter precinct.

When candidate Jimmy Carter promised the group that he would attempt to fulfill that dream, the nation's largest teacher organization broke with its non-partisan tradition and endorsed him for president.

The long, fierce struggle in Congress over the proposal pitted the NEA against its chief rival, the AFL-CIO-affiliated American Federation of Teachers.

The NEA side prevailed Thursday when the House voted 315-201 to send the bill to the president.

(U.S. Reps. Kent Hance of Lubbock and Charles Stenholm of Stamford voted no on the measure.)

The Education Department will be the 13th Cabinet agency and the second created during Carter's term. The Energy Department was established in 1977.

The president, who had made the department one of his top domestic priorities, hailed the House vote as "a significant milestone in my effort to make the federal government more efficient."

Souvenir Hunters Snap Up Mementos In Canal Zone

BALBOA, Canal Zone (AP) — Souvenir hunters are snapping up mementos ranging from railroad spikes to postage stamps in the final frenzied days before the Panama Canal Zone leaves U.S. control.

"People have gone nuts. We've had 100 people waiting in line 40 minutes to buy stamps and one-cent money orders," said Assistant Postmaster Peter Terrano, a 17-year resident of the Zone. "We've run out of some stamps. They're buying everything just for souvenirs."

The stamps, money orders, spikes and matches feature designs unique to the Canal Zone, most of which will pass from U.S. to Panamanian jurisdiction Monday under the Panama Canal treaty.

The treaty cede full control of the waterway and the Canal Zone to Panama by the end of the century, and transfer most Panama Canal Co. operations to the Panama Canal Commission starting Monday.

Memento hunters have even grabbed license plates.

Canal Zone Gov. Harold Parfitt, who is out of a job Monday, said someone made off with his plates: Canal-Zone No. 1.

Bargain hunters were clearing the shelves of the canal company's Balboa commissary, which imports and sells merchandise at prices generally below the rest of Panama.

"People are really stocking up. We've had to ration some things," said the assistant commissary manager, Huey Sigur. "It's one hot to a customer for detergent."

Street vendors sell lettered T-shirts,

80-year-old railroad spikes, sections from railroad ties, the ubiquitous Canal Zone matches and shipping labels marked "Made in Sweden for the Panama Canal Co."

The wooden matches, sold for a nickel a box, ignite after being dunked under water — a handy feature in Panama's steamy climate.

"I've made my Christmas money," said Verna Burke, wife of a U.S. embassy official. She is selling Canal Zone stamps, last-day-of-issue envelopes and shipping labels costing up to $10.

"It's fantastic the way people are buying. Last weekend I sold $50 worth," she said.

Elsi d'Oyen, a Panamanian, said people were paying up to $30 for turn-of-the-century, screw-in railroad spikes mounted on pieces of lacquered ties used to build the canal, which opened in 1914.

Panamanian President Aristide Royo has scheduled a ceremony Monday to officially mark the effective date of the treaty, and Vice President Walter Mondale and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance will represent the United States.

President Carter on Thursday signed a bill to implement the canal treaty after more than a year of pushing the legislation through Congress.

The House of Representatives, which had rejected the measure earlier, passed it Wednesday, but not before including provisions which were immediately rejected by Royo.

"The United States Congress has unilaterally interpreted the treaties. No secondary text can be accepted," Royo told a press conference in Panama City, Panama. He said Panama would not recognize any parts of the law not negotiated in the treaty between the two countries.

He did not specify which sections angered him, but he is known to oppose one provision of the bill allowing the U.S. military to occupy the Canal Zone in the event of a foreign threat, and another barring the U.S. president from ceding Panama complete control of the waterway before the year 2000.

Earlier Thursday, the Panamanian government moved to silence domestic critics of the treaty by banning independent radio broadcasts indefinitely after Monday.

Lengthy Budget Conference Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government almost certainly will enter its new fiscal year next Monday without a budget in place.

The House finally approved its version of the 1980 budget Thursday, but sharp differences remain with the Senate over defense spending and social programs.

House leaders said efforts to resolve those disagreements will not even start until the House returns from a week-long recess, expected to begin Saturday.

It will be the first time in the five-year history of the new congressional budget process that the House and Senate have failed to agree on a budget before the start of a fiscal year.

The lack of a budget, however, will not affect day-to-day functioning of the government since Congress can continue to appropriate money even without a spending ceiling.

The House narrowly passed a $548.2 billion budget, 212-206, Thursday, despite unanimous Republican opposition and hard-core political maneuvering by some Democrats.

The House had rejected an almost identical spending package only last week.

The Senate version of the budget calls for $546.3 billion in spending. The major differences between the two chambers are over the Senate's call for sharply higher defense outlays and cuts in social programs.

Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., budget committee chairman, predicted that the House-Senate budget conference next month will be "extremely difficult" and lengthy.

House Democratic leaders apparently salvaged the budget vote Thursday when they agreed to delay a vote on a campaign spending bill to keep about 15 Democrats from bolting.

The Democratic leaders also won over some dissenting liberals who had opposed the original House budget because they wanted more money for social programs.

The Grass Everyone's Talking About

DIXIE GREEN

ELITE OVERSEEDING MIXTURE
A BEAUTIFUL GREEN LAWN FOR ALL SEASONS
HOW DO I PLANT "DIXIE GREEN"?

- Overseed an existing Bermuda Lawn
 - Scalp, or mow existing lawn or bermuda as low as possible, and pick up the clippings.
 - Apply "Dixie Green" seed with a cyclone or drop type spreader at a rate of 2-4 pounds per 100 sq. ft.
 - Apply fertilizer (Zipp 16-8-8, Fertilome w/iron, or Pax Winterizer, note: DO NOT USE ANY WEED & FEED FERTILIZERS!)
 - Water & keep damp for approximately 10 days. Do not allow water to puddle or run.
- New Yard, Bare Areas Caused by Shade, or No Existing Turf.
 - Rototill soil to a depth of 1 1/2"-2" in order to loosen soil. (Note: some new yards, that have just been prepared by the builder have enough loose soil on top that no tilling is needed.)
 - Rake until a good level seed bed is prepared.
 - Sow, seed, fertilizer, and water as above.

NOTE: The Dixie Green is not meant to take the place of Tex-Turf 10 or any other Bermuda, however, since it is getting too late to have coverage with Bermuda, the "Dixie Green" will give a beautiful lawn this fall & winter, then Bermuda may be sprigged into "Dixie Green" next spring.
- Mowing?

"Dixie Green" should not require mowing for the period from Dec. 1st through March 1st, unless there is an extended period of unseasonably warm weather.

NOTICE! Do not confuse Dixie Green with other so-called shade tolerant or overseeding mixtures. "Dixie Green" is the registered trademark for the mixture of two award winning championship grasses. There is only one Dixie Green! It has been tested and proven all over the southern United States as well as this area of Texas and always comes out head and shoulders above all competition. Remember DO NOT ACCEPT SUBSTITUTES!

Contaminated Eggs Destroyed At Farm

TOWNSEND, Mont. (AP) — Ralph Morand has had to destroy 672,000 eggs, a $30,000 loss, because they were contaminated by a chemical once thought harmless — he doesn't know yet whether he must also destroy the hens that laid them.

Morand's hens are still laying at the rate of 48,000 eggs a day — eggs he does not know if he will ever be able to sell. As they accumulated in his warehouse, Morand gave the order to destroy earlier batches that had already been proven to be contaminated with the chemical PCB — polychlorinated biphenyl.

If his flock of 112,000 hens must also be destroyed because of PCB contamination, he said, his losses could reach $300,000.

Morand, 59, is the principal owner of Montana Farms, Inc., the latest victim in a wave of PCB contamination that has spread from a Billings meat-packing plant to at least six states. PCB, a now-banned chemical once used as a coolant insulator in electrical equipment, leaked from a ruptured transformer at the Pierce Packing Co. plant.

The PCB found its way into meat meal that was sold to Montana Farms. Montana Farms used it to produce chicken feed, which was fed to every chicken on the ranch, four miles northeast of here.

On Thursday, a bulldozer dug a trench on the farm property and the eggs — five truckloads — were dumped and burned.

Federal and state agencies will test the remaining, freshest eggs to see if they exceed legal limits for PCB concentration. The same will be done with the chickens, which normally would be kept until they are 18 months old and then sold for use in soups and as stewing hens.

Attorneys Hope To Halt Dam Construction

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Attorneys who used the snail darter to block construction of the Tellico Dam for three years are going back to court in another attempt to stop its completion.

The Tennessee Valley Authority resumed construction on the $130 million dam Wednesday, hours after President Carter signed a bill exempting it from the Endangered Species Act or any other law that might prevent its completion.

The plaintiffs in the snail darter case filed a motion Thursday in U.S. District Court to stop construction on grounds that a permanent injunction barring the work has not been lifted despite Carter's action.

TVA was expected to ask U.S. District Court Judge Robert L. Taylor today to dissolve the injunction based on the actions by Congress and the president.

Though 95 percent completed, the dam was halted in 1977 when a federal appeals court ruled the project would destroy the home of the snail darter, a rare three-inch fish, in violation of the endangered species law.

The snail darter's only habitat was the Little Tennessee River, which the dam 25 miles from Knoxville would turn into a 16,000-acre lake.

The Supreme Court affirmed the ruling in 1978 and said that Congress and the president would have to take further action if Tellico was to be completed. The bill ordering TVA to complete the project was approved by the House in June and the Senate on Sept. 10.

"They way it looks at the present time, it is not an urgent matter, but is routine," O.C. Dugger, spokesman for the Walla Walla District, said Thursday, adding the corps frequently tests water quality for about 600 chemicals, including PCB, at the dams.

PCB has been found in sump housings at Grand Coulee Dam. Officials say the chemical apparently leaked into the Columbia River last year, possibly killing some fish below the dam.

Dugger said the Corps has no plans to replace all the generators at once, partly because "extraordinary expense" would be involved.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers said the agency will check six dams in eastern Washington and northern Idaho for any leakage of PCB, which is used as a coolant in generators in some area dams.

Commune Members Clear Land To Stop Spraying

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP) — Commune members opposed to the spraying of herbicide 2,4-D to clear forest undergrowth are doing more than voicing their protest — they're clearing brush by hand.

Several members of the Mountain Growth Community, a commune of 23 persons about 25 miles north of Grants Pass, began clearing brush from an area where the Bureau of Land Management had scheduled spraying.

Community spokesman Charlie Vaughan said Thursday members agreed with the BLM early this week to clear brush from 61 acres so the agency could cancel plans to douse the brush with 2,4-D.

"We didn't want herbicides sprayed near our homes here, but we had absolutely run out of alternatives to stop BLM," he said.

Meanwhile, about 25 persons camped atop a ridge about 20 miles north of Grants Pass, hoping their presence would discourage spraying.

Spokesman Joann Rossall challenged statements that some protesters might be motivated by concern for marijuana plants growing on the public land. The statements were made by several county drug investigators who asked to remain anonymous.

"I don't think so," said Mrs. Rossall, 45. "There's a lot of old ladies up here."

Josephine County Undersheriff Jim Carlton said his office has no plans to remove protesters, but deputies would have to act if they get complaints.

The BLM and the U.S. Forest Service are spraying parts of interior southwestern Oregon to suppress brush that would compete with pine and Douglas fir trees being protected for logging. The agencies say hand clearing generally is too expensive and is less effective than spraying with 2,4-D.

Both agencies continued Thursday with the intermittent spraying that, since Monday, has covered only a small part of the planned 3,700 acres. None of the spraying so far has been in areas where protesters were present.

People who object to the spraying say they fear for their health.

But a professor of forest ecology said his research indicates 2,4-D does not harm human health. Michael Newton of Oregon State University said the herbicide "has no harmful contaminants to the best of my knowledge."

Foresters resumed using 2,4-D for brush suppression after the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency prohibited using 2,4,5-T and Silvex on grounds that a component of the chemicals might harm people. Research has tentatively linked the component dioxin with miscarriages in humans and cancer in laboratory rats.

Kidnappers Release Girl For Ransom

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP) — After 82 days in captivity, kidnapers have freed the 15-year-old daughter of a Milan industrialist who paid a $600,000 ransom to obtain the release of the girl and her mother, police said today.
Police said Cristina Cinque was released near the town of Nuoro in central Sardinia two days after the kidnapers freed her mother, Maria Luisa.
The two women were abducted in July as they drove to a dental appointment in San Pantaleo, a village on this Italian island.
Police sources said the kidnapers held the girl because her father initially had paid only two-thirds of the ransom they demanded. She was freed once the additional money was paid, the sources said.

Koreans To Initiate Coal, Nuclear Plan

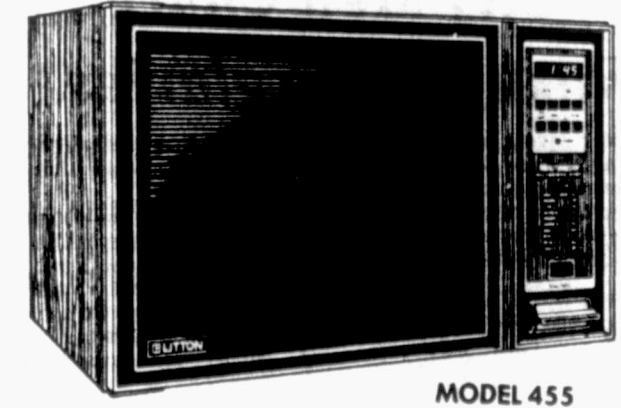

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea will rely heavily on nuclear and coal-fired generators under a plan to boost the nation's electricity capacity from 7.23 million kilowatts to 30 million kilowatts by 1991, the Ministry of Energy and Resources said today.
Under the plan, South Korea will spend an average of $2 billion a year to build a total of 14 nuclear and 10 coal-burning power plants by 1991. None of the projected new power plants will use oil, the ministry said.

Services Scheduled Saturday For City Finance Director

Services for Sterling Miller, 46, of 4903 15th St., the City of Lubbock's finance director for the past 14 years, will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church.

Dr. Samuel P. Auslam, director of the council on professional ministry of the Northwest Texas Conference of United Methodist Churches will officiate. He will be assisted by the Rev. J. Waid Griffin, associate minister of First United Methodist Church.

Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Franklin-Bartley Funeral Home.

Miller died Thursday at 9 p.m. in Methodist Hospital following an apparent heart attack. He reportedly had been working in his yard when he collapsed. EMS attendants brought him to the hospital at 8:20 p.m.

The Santa Fe, N.M., native was hired as internal auditor for the City of Lubbock on Feb. 25, 1968, and was promoted to director of finance in June 1965. Prior to working for the city, he had served in the Air Force.

Miller was a member of the board of trustees for the Texas Municipal Retirement System. He was appointed to that board by the governor in 1972. He was an officer in the Texas Municipal Finance Officers Association and had received an award from that group for outstanding financial reporting.

Miller also was treasurer for the Lubbock Firemen's Relief and Retirement Fund.

Mayor Dirk West said late Thursday that the city had lost one of the finest persons in municipal financing in the country.

"He did an outstanding job," West said. "We'll miss him very much."

City Manager Larry Cunningham, who had worked with Miller for the past 13 years, said that he was shocked and extremely saddened by Miller's death.

"He was not only a good friend but also a tremendous public servant.

It's as great loss to city government and this community," Cunningham said.

Cunningham called Miller "a financial wizard" and termed him "one of the top people in his field in the state."

Rod Bouffard, internal auditor for the city, also expressed shock at learning of Miller's death. "He was a great individual and will be missed by us all."

Funeral Services Slated For J. Edd McLaughlin

RALLS (Special) — Services for J. Edd McLaughlin, 85, of Ralls will be at 4 p.m. Saturday in the First United Methodist Church of Ralls with the Rev. Howard Marcom, pastor, officiating, assisted by Robert L. Burgess and Rex Webster.

Burial will follow in Ralls Cemetery under the direction of Carter-Adams Funeral Home.

McLaughlin died at 12:40 p.m. Thursday in Methodist Hospital after a brief illness.

He was a past president of Rotary International and former chairman of the Texas Tech University Board of Regents.

The Childress County native moved to Crosby County in 1905. He was educated in the public schools of Texas, graduated from West Texas State Teachers College of Canyon and Brantley-Draughon Business College in Fort Worth.

In 1912 he joined his father and brothers in founding two private banks in Crosby County. He was chairman of the board of the Security State Bank and Trust Co. in Ralls and was joint proprietor and executive of The McLaughlins, a family land holding and investment group. He also owned and operated extensive farming and oil properties.

Survivors include his wife Mavis; a son, Sterling Jr. of Lubbock; three daughters, Rebecca and Deborah and Teresa Oppermann, all of Lubbock; a brother, Robert of St. Louis; and one grandchild.

Honorary pallbearers will be members of the Texas Municipal Retirement System.

McLaughlin was a charter member, director and past president of the Ralls Rotary Club and served later as governor and director of Rotary International. He was elected president of Rotary International for 1960-1961.

He was appointed to the Texas Tech Board of Regents and served from 1961 to 1967, including a term as chairman of the board.

McLaughlin served on the board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas from 1947 to 1967. He also served as past president of the Caprock Bankers Association, South Plains Bankers Association and chairman of the seventh district of the Texas Bankers Association.

He has served as director and past president of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce, past director of the Panhandle Plains Historical Society and as a member of the Executive Council and National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, receiving the Silver Beaver Award.

McLaughlin was a Mason, a member of the Khiva Shrine Temple, and appears in Who's Who.

He was decorated with the Order of the Southern Cross of Brazil and the Order of Merit of Chile. In 1960, Rikkyo University in Tokyo conferred a doctor of humanities degree on him.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church and served as trustee.

Survivors include his wife, Coye; a brother, Marvin A. of Ralls; a sister, Claranell Lewis of La Jolla, Calif.; and four stepchildren.

Grand-nephews will be pallbearers. Members of the Ralls Rotary Club will be honorary pallbearers.

BONNIE PRINCE
Charles Stuart, dubbed Bonnie Prince Charlie and the Young Pretender, entered Edinburgh in 1745 and was crowned king of Scotland. Charles raised 6,000 men and began a march on London. The army, however, was forced back at Derby and the 2,000 survivors were annihilated at the battle of Culloden. Charles fled to France where he died in exile.

Three City Men Charged In Rash Of Burglaries

The Lubbock County criminal district attorney's office Wednesday filed criminal charges against three Lubbock men in connection with as many as 50 burglaries in five South Plains counties.

Alfred Mendoza, 31, of 320 Ave. R and Rongelio "Roy" Rodriguez, 31, of 2710 Bates, were charged with burglary of habitation. Each man is being held in Lubbock County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Theft charges were filed against Ernest Rodriguez, 25, of 2408 Auburn St. Rodriguez was released from jail Wednesday after posting bond.

Authorities believe the three men may have been responsible for burglaries in Lubbock, Lynn, Lamb, Hockley and Crosby counties during a six-week period that netted more than $200,000 in clothing, jewelry and household goods.

Sheriff's deputy Sonny Keesee said Mendoza and Alfred Rodriguez have provided authorities with information to clear 27 burglaries.

Cary Grant Still Popular

NEW YORK (AP) — When a woman pressed herself against Cary Grant and told him how wonderful he looked, he smiled, shook her hand, and said: "You must need glasses."
The 75-year-old actor is no longer making movies, but he proved Thursday that his drawing power is as strong as ever when he appeared at a Fifth Avenue department store to promote a perfume.
Grant, tanned and trim in a grey suit, was introducing Faberge's new $90-an-ounce fragrance, Partage, but the 100 or so admirers appeared more interested in gawking than buying.
Grant said he now spends his time on the boards of Faberge and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. He said he has no intention of making another movie, but added with a smile: "You think it can be arranged?"

Andrew Young In Bahamas

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Former U.N. ambassador Andrew Young is joining Britain's Princess Anne today to help this Commonwealth nation celebrate its 250th anniversary of parliamentary government.
Queen Elizabeth's daughter on Tuesday received a royal welcome complete with honor guard, bands and hundreds of flag-waving residents. Young is President Carter's envoy.
A state dinner was planned to honor the princess. On Saturday, she will represent the queen at the opening of Parliament.

Former Envoy Cites Crisis

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Former Ambassador Shirley Temple Black says the "crisis of confidence" President Carter claims has swept over America is a "crisis of self-confidence in the White House."
Speaking at Yale University Thursday night, Mrs. Black said she doesn't expect to return to government work under the Carter administration, but hopes a GOP president would appoint her to a diplomatic post with a "developing country."
She was placed on the United Nations delegation by President Richard M. Nixon. President Gerald Ford sent her to Ghana, then made her U.S. chief of protocol. She held that post briefly into the Carter administration, she said, until "they noticed me and sent me home."

Sara Jane Moore Transferred

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Sara Jane Moore, serving a life sentence for a 1975 assassination attempt on former President Gerald Ford, has been transferred to a prison hospital. She has refused to eat since Aug. 10.
The fast began as a protest of her solitary confinement at the federal women's prison in Alderson, W. Va. Miss Moore, 47, claimed solitary confinement violated a Bureau of Prisons policy limiting high-security detention to 90 days. However, prison officials said there was no such policy.
Alderson Warden Ken Neagle said Miss Moore was hospitalized here last week "for better medical care." He said she could be fed intravenously. However, prison hospital officials said that was not being done. The Massachusetts Democrat and his aides know nothing about the record. But Thiel says he's sure Kennedy and his supporters won't be upset.

Oil Spill Inspires Record

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND (AP) — First it was "Tar Baby" T-shirts. Now the world's largest oil spill has inspired a record.

The Lighter Side Of Today's News

Local singer and songwriter Amy Quates said she and three musicians, billed as "Slick Chic and the Tar Babies," recorded the "Mexican Oil Slick Blues" after the song enjoyed such a good reception at the hotel dining room where she performs.
Accompanied by marimbas and other south-of-the-border sounds, she sings:
"I've got the Mexican oil slick blues
This black crud all over my shoes
If only somebody wiser put that hole in the ground
We'd have more oil in the pumps and less crude floating around."
Adverse weather has prevented capping the blown-out well in the Bay of Campeche about 500 miles south of here. Tarballs and patches of sticky oil from the spill washed up on Texas beaches last month.
The 26-year-old singer said she was encouraged to write the song to capture the frustration of hotel and restaurant employees, whose business dropped off when the dirty beaches caused tourists to leave the area.

Suspect Known As Loner

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A partially paralyzed student who threatened to kill himself in front of 30 hostages was crying out for love, say police who coaxed him to surrender.

Louis M. Posey, 27, was to undergo court-ordered psychiatric tests today after barging into a business college classroom Thursday and holding police at bay for more than three hours. He later was charged with carrying a weapon and was being held under $10,000 bond.

"All he really wanted was friendship and love," said Barbara Hopper, one of three psychology-trained officers who convinced Posey to surrender. "It was his way of asking for help."

Posey, wearing a T-shirt emblazoned with a picture of Farrah Fawcett and armed with a .25-caliber pistol, burst into a psychology class on the third floor of Knoxville Business College.

"He kind of grabbed a girl by the hair and basically told us his intentions, that he was going to kill himself," said Ken Mays, a student in the class. "Initially, he said no one could leave because he wanted us all to watch him do it."

"He never harmed or threatened or pointed the gun at anyone but himself," Lt. Hugh Shelton said. "When he told everyone they could leave... six decided to stay because they wanted to show him that they were his friends and help him."

Mays, one of the six who remained, said Posey "expressed a desire for the police to shoot him, like he wished they would because he didn't have the nerve to do it himself."

The college is directly across the street from Knoxville's two daily newspapers. Police ordered everyone off the sidewalks and told the newspapers' employees to stay away from their windows after Posey told them that he wanted to surrender but was too embarrassed.

"He just felt that nobody cared for him," Shelton said. "The things he said made us believe that he felt he had backed himself into a corner and didn't have a way out. We tried to give him a way out."

Police, classmates and his landlady described Posey as a loner who had frequent bouts of depression since his father died 13 months ago.

Capt. Dorothea Sweeten, a police mental health specialist, said Posey told her he had taken two capsules of PCP.

Superdome Hostage Tells Of Assailant's Motive

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A shaken but uninjured Superdome executive taken hostage and held with a knife at her throat by an employee says her assailant wanted to tell his story to a television journalist because he had decided the "whole world was against him."

Police Thursday charged Wilbur Watson, 51, with kidnapping and assault for allegedly holding Gloria Barbarin, the Superdome's operations director, at knifepoint in an office.

The reporter who talked the assailant into releasing Miss Barbarin unharmed said a potential tragedy was averted because police handled the situation with discretion.

"I think he would have killed her," television newsman Bill Elder said. "I think if the police had rushed the room, he would have killed her. You don't scream at the top of your lungs and hold a knife against somebody's throat without wanting to do it."

Police said Watson pulled the knife when he met Miss Barbarin to discuss a three-day suspension imposed a day earlier against him for fighting on the job. Elder, who was preparing a noon newscast at the time, was one of two newsmen Watson asked to see. Elder spoke with him by telephone, but Watson insisted that Elder come to the stadium.

Watson opened the office door after he was convinced Elder was outside.

"When that door opened and I saw that man with that knife to that woman's Adam's apple, the whole thing dawned on me what was really happening," Elder said. "I felt pins and needles all through my body. I knew I had to be convincing."

Elder said Watson threw down the knife after several minutes and released the woman. The coroner's office ordered Watson to undergo a sanity examination.

Mrs. Barbarin said the employee had been involved with drugs before he came to work at the stadium.

"He decided that the whole world's against him and he wanted everybody to hear his story..." the sobbing woman said in an interview.

Glad You Asked That!

Q: A couple of questions: Is Amy Carter a spoiled kid because she goes wherever in the world her mother and father go? And was British writer Desmond Wilcox ribbing when he wrote that Mrs. Carter picks all the clothes for her husband? — Marilyn Friedman, Miami Beach.

A: About Amy being "spoiled," her mother explains: "Of course she's spoiled. You must remember that Jimmy and I had been married for 21 years when she was born and she was the first daughter. Now she has three grown brothers who are just like fathers to her. . . . But I think that she's become very well adjusted to that kind of attention and affection. She's had it from the whole family always. And ever since she's been born, she's been in the public eye. She is, in fact, completely nonchalant about it and I'm very proud of her!"

About picking her husband's clothes for him, Rosalynn answers: "Clothes don't mean very much to me — and even less to Jimmy. I buy all his clothes for him. He won't even go to the shop to have them fitted."

Comedian Marty Allen comes up with a political prediction. He says if Ford wins his party's nomination for president, to show his appreciation he'll name Ronald Reagan ambassador to the Bermuda Triangle.

Contrary to careless reports that Israel's Moshe Dayan lost his eye in a "boudoir brawl," the truth is Dyan lost his eye in combat, fighting with the Australians during the invasion of Syria, then under Vichy French control.

It hasn't been banded about (at least not much) that the first voice of Mickey Mouse on radio was his father, Walt Disney.

Q: Was any president of the United States ever granted a patent on an invention? — R.T.M., Columbus.

A: Yes. On May 22, 1849, Abraham Lincoln was granted patent number 6,469. The accompanying description of Honest Abe's invention was "Buoying Vessel Over Shoals." The model, later displayed at the Smithsonian Institution was hand-whittled by its inventor.

Presley's Mansion May Become Park

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee Tourism Commissioner Irving Waugh says the state is interested in helping turn the late Elvis Presley's 18-room Memphis mansion and its spacious grounds into a public park.

Graceland, as the singer named the stone residence after he bought it for his mother in 1957, has always been a mecca for Presley fans. Thousands have toured the grounds since his death in August 1977.

Checks To California High Court Judges Stopped

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The state's highest court isn't working fast enough — and the justices won't be paid until they abide by the same rules that all other judges must follow, a Superior Court judge has ordered.

In an apparently unprecedented decision, Judge Joseph Babich ruled Thursday that the Supreme Court had violated a state constitutional requirement to reach decisions on all cases within 90 days after they are submitted.

He issued a preliminary injunction ordering Controller Ken Cory, who issues the state's paychecks, not to pay Supreme Court justices until he determines they have no cases submitted more than 90 days ago.

Babich acted in response to a suit by the Law and Order Campaign Committee, a conservative group that tried unsuccessfully last year to defeat Chief Justice Rose Bird at the polls.

There was no word on whether the Supreme Court would try to have the ruling reversed, but Cory said he would probably not appeal.

"It's their rights that are being trampled upon," he said, adding the justices were asked to return paychecks mailed

Wednesday. Miss Bird earns $73,723 a year; the other six justices, $69,386.

Babich said the constitutional provision saying judges may not be paid if cases are held longer than 90 days is based on "a theory, according to the Bible, that if you don't work, you don't eat."

Deputy Attorney General Susan Underwood, representing Cory in court, argued that the controller had to accept the sworn monthly statements by Supreme Court justices that they had complied with the rule.

But Babich derided the court's justification for those statements — that it considers its cases "submitted" when it files a decision.

He said trial and appeals courts must consider a case "submitted" after oral and written arguments.

"If you're God, the rules, you make them up as you go along, (and) who's going to quarrel with you?" Babich asked. "It would seem to me that if rules apply ... they apply to all of us, whether you're on the lowest court of the state or the highest court."

Defenders of the high court say the 90-day rule is an impossible standard and has not been followed for years. They cite a heavy workload — including the screening of about 100 cases a week to decide which ones will be heard — the complexity of the cases, the arrival of related cases that could affect a pending case, and the difficulty at times of reaching a consensus.

John Feliz, director of the Law and Order Campaign Committee, said the decision "shows that the Supreme Court is not above the law."

The committee had listed 24 cases that it said have been before the court for more than 90 days, including several that have been pending for more than a year.

Meanwhile, Cory said his lawyer told him the decision could be appealed only by filing a new action, challenging the judge's decision, either at the Superior Court or Appeals Court level. If the appeal ever reached the Supreme Court, a special panel would be appointed to near the case.

The high court also is the target of an investigation by a state commission investigating allegations — some by the committee — that it deliberately held up potentially embarrassing decisions until after Miss Bird's confirmation. A special Supreme Court panel has been appointed to determine whether those hearings should be closed to the public.

Ethics Code Praised By State Chairman

ABILENE (AP) — Stringent codes of conduct have left some jurists grumbling, but they recognize the necessity for tightening the reins on renegades whose misadventures shove them into the limelight, says the head of the state's judicial ethics committee.

The codes have become so specific that many judges long for the days when the only rule was "you don't get caught in bed with a dead man or a live woman." Justice Quentin Keith, chairman of the Committee of Judicial Ethics, said Thursday

"We're kind of like a lightning rod." Keith told 400 judges at a State Bar of Texas judicial conference here.

"We emphasize that we're not going to challenge the authority of the Supreme Court, but we're going to enforce the code in the theory that a judge should be like Caesar's wife ... above suspicion."

The Code of Judicial Conduct and the State Commission on Judicial Conduct were established by the Texas Supreme Court in 1974.

Since then, Keith said, the commission has handed down 47 opinions on such subjects as judges accepting free football and movie passes, a judge who wanted to be a television auctioneer for charity, and television cameras in the courtroom.

"We don't want to see everyone tarred with a broad brush because of the mistakes of a very small minority," said District Judge Darrell Hester, chairman of the judicial conduct commission. He urged judges to respond to the commission's questions, saying 86 percent of the complaints are resolved after hearing the "judge's side."

Hester said compared to other judges across the nation, Texas jurists fare pretty well.

To emphasize his point, he listed several notable cases of misconduct.

— A Wisconsin judge who exonerated a 15-year-old boy accused of rape, saying the clothing worn by teen-aged girls invited rape.

— A California Supreme Court justice who slept through the presentation of several cases, then awoke to deliver his decision — on the wrong case.

— A judge who so disliked his morning coffee that he had the coffee machine vendor arrested.

— A judge in Louisiana who flips a coin to decide cases.

— A New York judge who declared a mistrial that freed an ex-convict convicted of robbery, rape and murder because the case ran over into the jurist's vacation time.

— A San Francisco judge who responded to a Japanese-American lawyer's request for more time to prepare for a case with this question: "How much time did you give us at Pearl Harbor?"

"In many instances, we are like the messenger who brought bad news to the king. The king turned on the messenger," Hester said.

"We understand your feelings when you get a letter from us asking for an explanation so a complaint can be investigated."

"But remember that your reply becomes a permanent part of a permanent file," he added with a grin.

"So you might want to leave out that part where you speculate on the activity of the members of the committee."

Solons Study Pay Boost, Abortions

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said today that a House-passed measure limiting federal payments for abortions could prove a major stumbling block to resolution of the equally controversial issue of a congressional pay raise.

"On abortion, I would say there's no room to give," O'Neill, D-Mass., told reporters.

House and Senate conferees arranged an afternoon meeting in hopes of working out a compromise that would allow the bill containing the two controversial provisions to pass.

The House delegation to the conference was packed with pay raise supporters. It could not be determined how the Senate delegation stood on the issue.

O'Neill left open the possibility that the House might begin its week-long Columbus Day recess at the close of business today even if no agreement were reached. But he said he would have to talk with House conferees before deciding.

He noted that the bill containing the abortion and pay raise provisions also includes emergency funds to operating the government after the new fiscal year begins Monday and that a failure to pass the bill before Monday would cause hardships within federal agencies.

But, he added, "it's happened before."

At stake is a 5.5 percent pay raise for congressmen and senators — a proposal that would add $3,200 a year to their current salaries of $57,500.

Speculation was rife that the House would easily prevail. And Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., a pay opponent with a reputation for knowing how the wind blows, said he expected the pay raise to survive the conference intact.

But there were two unknowns that could complicate the procedure.

One was whether the conference committee would accept a Senate-passed amendment that would prohibit any pay raise from going into effect until a new Congress is formed.

This would delay a pay raise until Jan. 1, 1981, and would mean all House members and one-third of the Senate would have to face the voters before receiving their raise.

The other unknown was whether the conference would accept the strict House language limiting federally funded abortions or opt for the less-stringent Senate version.

The Senate bill also contains money to keep the financially-ailing Milwaukee Railroad operating fully until Nov. 30 — a provision not in the House bill. But this discrepancy was not expected to prove troublesome.

No matter which way the conference goes, more than 22,000 top-level bureaucrats and federal judges appeared assured of a pay hike.

Both the House and Senate bills contained money for a 5.5 percent hike for bureaucrats and judges making at least $47,500 a year.

Quick congressional action was necessary because the bill which the pay provisions were attached provides emergency money to keep the government operating after Monday.

House Democratic Whip John Brademas, D-Ind., said Thursday the House would stay in session Saturday if necessary to pass the bill. But leaders on both sides were hopeful a quick compromise could be worked out and the legislation brought back to the House and Senate for final action later today.

All 10 House negotiators voted with the majority Tuesday when the House passed on a 208-203 vote the bill containing the pay hike.

In contrast, it was impossible to determine just how the Senate delegation lined up, although two of its negotiators previously indicated they might support a pay hike.

The Senate avoided a vote on the pay issue by not including it in the bill which it passed on a 76-11 vote Thursday. This maneuver avoided putting any senator on record as supporting or opposing a hike and left the decision up to the conference committee.

The abortion language included in the House bill would prohibit the use of federal funds to pay for abortions unless the mother's life is directly threatened.

Mercury Hits 101 In State

A-J News Services

The mercury soared to 101 degrees at Paducah and Abilene Thursday, as a late-September heat wave continued to bake much of the western section of the nation. Little or no relief is in sight for the region, according to National Weather Service forecasts.

Even a weak cool front that moved through the Panhandle and South Plains overnight may not prevent a recurrence today of the summertime temperatures of Thursday.

Paducah had the highest reading Thursday, but it was 100 at Jayton and 98 at Matador and Spur. Lubbock's high was 93.

It was the fourth straight day that all reporting stations on the South Plains have had temperatures of 90 or above.

The forecast calls for temperatures in the low 90s today and Saturday in the Lubbock vicinity.

Fair skies and southwesterly winds of 5 to 10 mph today and light and variable winds tonight are predicted.

The low tonight should be in the mid-50s.

Thunderclouds developed over the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles during the night; no significant rain was reported, however.

The extended forecast for the West Texas region calls for mostly fair skies Sunday through Tuesday and for daytime temperatures mostly in the 80s.

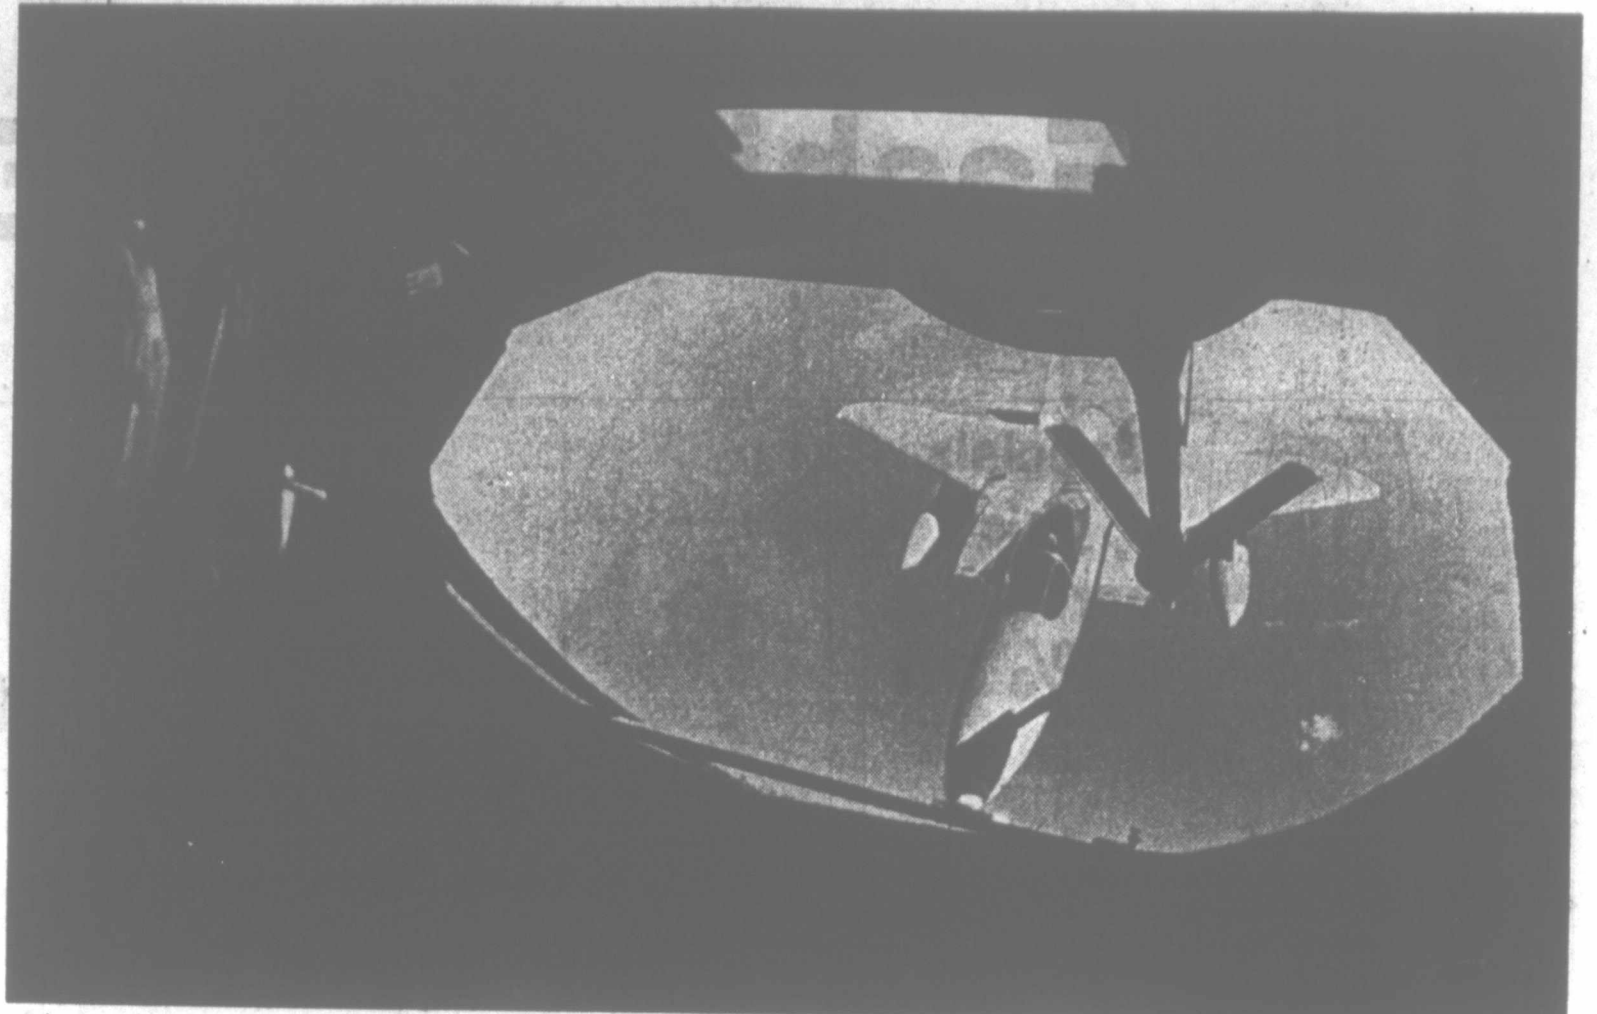

Rains that plagued the Southeast for days stretched northward today, but still lingered in Tennessee and the Carolinas, prompting flood warnings.

The rainy weather pattern of the last several days in the Southeast spread into the Ohio Valley and was advancing slowly toward New England, the National Weather Service reported.

However, rain and thunderstorms continued to fall over the southeastern section of the nation, dumping additional rain onto already saturated ground and prompting flash-flood watches. Watches were in effect early this morning for portions of eastern Tennessee, the mountains and foothills of South Carolina and the mountains, eastern slopes and foothills of North Carolina.

REFUELS IN THE SKY — This dramatic photo, made from the tail section of an Air Force tanker, shows an F-15 fighter plane being refueled in flight over the Pacific Ocean. The F-15 was one of 18 that flew non-stop from a base in Florida to Hawaii, en route to duty in Japan. Such lengthy flights in fighter aircraft are possible only because of the Air Force's mid-air refueling capability. The F-15 is one of the latest weapons in the Air Force arsenal, and similar planes flown by Israeli pilots recently scored stunning victories over Russian MIGs used by Syria in air battles over Lebanon. (AP Laserphoto)

Carter, Portillo Mull Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo arrived in Washington today for talks with President Carter that American officials hope will be smoother than their last meeting in Mexico City.

With an agreement already reached on sales of natural gas from Mexico to the United States, such long-standing problems as the sale of vegetables and the flow of illegal migrants from Mexico headed the agenda for the third summit held by Carter and Lopez Portillo.

The Mexican president arrived 40 minutes behind schedule at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland. Emerging from his plane, he stood at attention for the ritual 21-gun salute and playing of the national anthems, then quickly got into his limousine for the trip to the White House, accompanied by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance.

Lopez Portillo arrived at the White House 12 minutes behind schedule. "Good morning!", a smiling Carter said as he greeted his guest in the colonnade outside his Oval Office.

The two leaders, their arms around each others backs, posed briefly for photographers in the Rose Garden before going inside for their meeting.

Vice President Walter Mondale and national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski were among the U.S. officials joining Carter and Vance in greeting the Mexican leader.

American officials said in advance they hoped the session would be quiet and businesslike, in contrast to Carter's visit to Mexico last February, which led to strained feelings on both sides.

Lopez Portillo flew here from New York, where he addressed the U.N. General Assembly Thursday night. He will be guest of honor at a state dinner tonight and will confer with Carter again on Saturday.

The atmosphere for today's meeting improved dramatically with last week's announcement that the two governments ended two years of negotiations and reached an agreement for the sale of Mexican natural gas to the United States.

With that issue resolved, the major irritants in U.S.-Mexican relations became a winter vegetable sale controversy and the flow of illegal migrants over the border.

The vegetable issue has become particularly sensitive since it involves farmers from Florida, a state which has become a key early battleground between Carter and his prospective chief challenger for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Florida farmers have complained that Mexico is "dumping" winter vegetables, primarily tomatoes, on the American market for less than their cost of production.

The farmers want the State Department to negotiate an arrangement to control the flow of Mexican tomatoes and to add extra duties to them to keep the price high. If the administration fails, the farmers have threatened to sue the Treasury Department for more stringent measures allowed under U.S. anti-dumping laws.

Mexico, which sells $200 million worth of vegetables in the United States each year, has protested that it wants easier access to the American market, not more restrictions.

Actress Brigitte Bardot Raps Excessive Nudity On Beaches

PARIS (AP) — Brigitte Bardot, the sex kitten of the 60s, turned 45 today with an admission that "it's better to be old than dead" and a blast at the sexual revolution she helped to launch when she first appeared nude in a film nearly a quarter-century ago.

"It's true I helped liberalize morals," Miss Bardot said in a two-hour French radio interview broadcast Thursday on the eve of her birthday.

"I was one of the first to appear nude in a scene. But it was in the script, and it was natural... Today, it has gone too far. I'm not a prude, but all this showing of human flesh on the beaches isn't beautiful."

Miss Bardot, who starred in her last film, "The Woman Grabber," in 1973, said she was not concerned by her advancing age.

"After all, it's better to be old than dead," she said.

"What's important is to do the things you want to do, without saying 'I'm too old,'" she said. "Age, after all, is part of life like everything else."

She said she planned a quiet birthday celebration Saturday at her Mediterranean home at St. Tropez, where she has lived for the past five years with sculptor Morozlav Brozcek.

Miss Bardot devotes much of her time today to promoting a line of sunglasses and suntan lotion that bear the name of her villa, La Madrague. She also is writing her memoirs, contributing time and money to the protection of endangered animals and providing financial and moral support for lonely elderly women.

The daughter of a wealthy Parisian family, Miss Bardot said she had a difficult childhood. Her father "never gave me a dime" and often punished her with a horse whip, she said.

Her childhood, however, taught her a very important lesson: That she could say what she wished and do anything "but always with class," she said.

Miss Bardot began modeling at 18. Her first husband, Roger Vadim, launched her film career in 1956 with "And God Created Woman," a box-office smash.

Public school trustees met for a brief session today to announce certification of a $1.34 billion 1979 school tax roll.

City-school tax assessor-collector John Brooks had accurately projected a $1.34 billion tax roll this summer for board members, who based the school district's 1979-80 budget on that figure.

Brooks said today that approximately $50 million was left off the rolls because of taxes tied up in lawsuits that have not been tried. He said about $38.8 million of that total is tied up in a lawsuit brought against the city and schools by nine Lubbock banks that claim they are being unfairly taxed.

Earlier this year, the trustees reduced the school tax rate from $1.38 to $1.36, but increased property valuations will provide more revenue for the district than was obtained last year under the higher rate.

City-school tax assessor-collector John Brooks had accurately projected a $1.34 billion tax roll this summer for board members, who based the school district's 1979-80 budget on that figure.

Brooks said today that approximately $50 million was left off the rolls because of taxes tied up in lawsuits that have not been tried. He said about $38.8 million of that total is tied up in a lawsuit brought against the city and schools by nine Lubbock banks that claim they are being unfairly taxed.

Earlier this year, the trustees reduced the school tax rate from $1.38 to $1.36, but increased property valuations will provide more revenue for the district than was obtained last year under the higher rate.

BEAD JACKET

A jacket in the Money Museum in New York contains about 2,600 strings of beads. It was made in the early 19th century by the Tyal tribe of Formosa, and the jackets were used to purchase wives and cattle. The person who wore the jacket could also tear off strings of the beads and spend them for lesser purchases.

School Officials Map Fight Against ACLU

students, faculty and staff in participating schools are compelled" to participate in the religious exercises. "The public school system should not be involved in proselytizing or worship."

Plaintiffs in the suit allege that the defendants are causing them "to suffer immediate, substantial and irreparable injury and loss of their constitutionally guaranteed rights for which there is no adequate remedy at law."

It alleges also that the religious exercises imposed on the children of parents who are non-Christian or who "hold beliefs not in the mainstream of evangelical protestant faiths...disrupts home and family life and causes acute embarrassment and conflict between minor children and parents."

It states further that children are taught "contempt and scorn" and disrespect for the judicial system in light of the court decisions that have prohibited religious exercises in public schools.

Plaintiffs ask that the school board's policy be declared unconstitutional and that the practice of religious exercises in the schools cease.

The suit makes good ACLU lawyer Thomas Griffith's threat at the beginning of the year to take school officials to court if they did not ban religious exercises from the public schools.

Despite an ACLU presentation before trustees in December calling for the ban, board members stated that their mail and phone calls ran overwhelmingly against the ACLU efforts.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government index designed to forecast economic trends showed no change in August, giving cloudy signals on whether a recession is under way, the government said today.

The lack of movement in the Commerce Department's Composite Index of Leading Indicators followed slight declines of 0.2 percent in July and 0.3 percent in June.

"It's in the doldrums, but it has shown no decisive movement since April, when it dropped and didn't come up," said Commerce Department analyst Adren Cooper.

Three consecutive monthly declines in the index traditionally have signaled the start of a recession.

The index, however, has been mixed since it hit a peak of 143.7 in October. It fell a sharp 2.3 percent in April, in part reflecting the truckers' strike, and in August it stood at 139.1.

The August figure means the 10 components of the index were 39.1 percent ahead of their 1967 base.

In another development, Citibank of New York, the nation's second largest bank, raised its prime lending rate to a record 13 1/2 percent. Other major banks were expected to follow Citibank's lead in posting the new rate, which banks charge their most creditworthy corporate customers.

The Commerce Department said four of the components in the leading indicators index were down in August — liquid assets, sensitive prices, stock prices and building permits. But the declines were offset by increases in six categories: average work week, lower layoff rate, sales performance, contracts and orders for plant and equipment, money supply and new orders.

The index, Cooper said, signals weakness in the economy but "gives no indication of magnitude."

He noted that other measures of the economy also have been mixed: the nation's real output of goods and services fell in the second quarter but is expected to show no change or rise in the third; auto sales were off but are coming back; housing is down but not as much as predicted.

Many economists say the nation's seventh postwar recession began in the second quarter this year and that the downturn will persist into 1980, even if third quarter output figures show improvement.

Although a recession could help dampen inflation, currently running at an annual rate of more than 13 percent, it also would throw many people out of work. The Carter administration estimates that the downturn, though mild in comparison to the 1974-75 recession, will cost more than 1 million people their jobs.

The department also released its so-called Composite Index of Coincident Indicators, which is supposed to gauge the economy's current performance. This index fell 0.9 percent in August, the largest drop since a 1 percent decline in May.

The coincident index hit its peak in March before beginning a tumble.

On Thursday, the Commerce Department reported that a surge in imports, including a record-setting cost for foreign oil, helped push the U.S. trade deficit to $2.36 billion in August.

division into age groups of 14 and under and above 14.

Finalists for the rodeo will be announced Saturday.

Other attractions scheduled for College and Military Day are a series of free shows from 5 p.m. until 10 p.m. on the outdoor stage between the women's and merchants' buildings.

Persons planning to see Tammy Wynette perform Saturday along with Rex Allen Jr. and George "Goober" Lindsey, instead will find Margo Smith performing with Allen and Lindsey.

Miss Wynette, originally scheduled to headline two shows Saturday, is hospitalized in Woodbury, N.J., with a stomach-related illness that forced cancellation of her Lubbock appearances.

Miss Smith has produced three hits, including "Don't Break the Heart that Loves You," "It Only Hurts for a Little While," and "Little Things Mean a Lot."

Thursday's special guests, citizens older than 60, and other thousands of fairgoers crowded onto the grounds to enjoy entertainment exclusive to the fair's sixth day.

Treats included the Golden Years of Country Music show staged in the Fair Park Coliseum by a dozen performers from South Plains College.

The crowd also found another type of entertainment at the Cutting Horse Contest and the All Youth Rodeo, both held in the livestock pavilion.

Between milling around displays in exhibit buildings and outdoors, exploring the thrills along the midway and munching on fair food treats, many patrons filed in to see the top sheep and rabbits across the area entered for Thursday's contests.

Professor Researches Tumbleweed As Fuel

EL PASO (AP) — It's nearly tumbleweed season in West Texas, that time of year when autumn winds break the dry plants off near the ground and send them rolling over the prairies. Most folks don't pay much mind to the round, wiry weeds as they breeze across the landscape. But not Dr. Garry Hawkins.

Hawkins, an engineering professor at the University of Texas-El Paso, sees potential in those tumbleweeds.

He is working on a project to make alcohol from them that could be used with gasoline and would be much cheaper than the current "gasohol," which is a mixture of gasoline and alcohol distilled from food grains.

"In this area we're up to our tails in tumbleweeds," the 35-year-old mechanical engineer said. "I guess they grow in everything. I've seen them growing in sewage water."

Hawkins says he first heard of gasohol when he was a student at Texas A&M. He is now a professor at the University of Texas-El Paso.

M. He says a moonshiner who sold corn liquor to students said he was running all his tractors and other farm machinery on the same liquid.

The engineer says the tumbleweed product would cost about 30 percent less than the alcohol used in gasohol which is being sold in the Midwest. He says the alcohol produced from weeds would cost about $1 a gallon.

"We can beat the price by using waste materials instead of a food staple like corn or grain," Hawkins said.

Hawkins explained the tumbleweed has a cellulose in its basic structure. The cellulose — needed to make alcohol — is hard to isolate because it is bonded together with a cement-like substance.

"It's like a reinforced concrete pillar where the cellulose fibers are the metal rods inside the cement," he said. The trick is to get the cellulose away from the bonding material.

Hawkins is working on a method to release the bond with sulfuric acid. Hawkins says the acid is a waste product from a nearby refinery and a smelter and is available in amounts up to 80,000 pounds daily.

"Both of these places are up to their ears in sulfuric acid."

Hawkins said after the cellulose is removed it can be changed into sugar and distilled to alcohol in the same process used by whisky-makers.

Hawkins said one to three gallons of alcohol would be used with 10 gallons of gasoline to extend the limited fossil fuel reserves.

Tison Denies Involvement In Brother's Escape From Prison

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Joseph Tison, brother of a convicted killer who died after escaping from the Arizona State Prison, pleaded innocent Thursday to charges that he aided in the escape of Gary Tison and Randy Greenawalt.

Tison, 41, currently serving a four-year federal prison term in California on drug trafficking charges, appeared in Maricopa County Superior Court for arraignment.

Tison had been indicted in connection with the escape of his brother Gary and Greenawalt, also a convicted killer.

The indictment claims Joseph Tison acquired a vehicle, shotguns and a pistol and delivered them to Gary Tison's sons, Raymond Tison and Ricky Tison.

Joseph Tison faces trial Nov. 15 on charges of being an accomplice in the escape. Dorothy Tison, Gary Tison's widow; Kathleen Ehrmentraut, Greenawalt's girlfriend; and Robert W. Adams, a former cellmate of Gary Tison, also have been charged with assisting in the July 1978 escape.

Greenawalt and the two Tison brothers are under death sentences for the slayings of a Yuma Marine sergeant, his wife, 22-month-old son and 15-year-old niece during a crime spree following the escape. Another Tison son, Donald, was killed during a shoot-out at a roadblock near Casa Grande and Gary Tison died of desert exposure after fleeing the roadblock.

Bicycle Rider Making Trek Through Mountains

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Charles Sheldon of Tacoma, Wash., is riding a bicycle from his home to Lubbock, a distance of more than 7,100 miles, to visit friends in Lubbock. Sheldon is keeping a diary of his experiences during the ride and forwarding it to The Avalanche-Journal for publication. Following is the third installment.)

Sept. 14
I saw more youthful bikers — good looking people — but they don't look as tired as I feel. I stopped at Powell Junction for lots of water, then tried Lolo Pass.

The "Green Haulers" are good drivers and I don't envy them. They've been good to me and I give way to them.

Word must have spread by CB because many drivers coming toward me hit their air horns. Comfortable feeling.

Now to walk up Lolo for three miles. I shouldn't try such a hard climb toward the end of the day.

I reached Lee Creek Campground. Clarence Berger and his wife of Colin, Idaho, are here to go elk hunting, but he doesn't want to get one because it would be too much to carry out. He's a retired educator. They are really fine people. 52 MILES.

Sept. 15
Off to the village of Lolo, Montana, then towards Darby to the south. Into the sun all day. Heavy Saturday traffic and rough roads.

Finally KOA looms — what a relief. I'm eight miles from Dary. I take a bath and do the laundry. Met a young man who had a job on the San Francisco cable cars. He's back up here to operate these units. 71 MILES.

Sept. 16
This is the most bushed out I've been on the trip. Eyes are all puffed and red. I just road into the sun too much yesterday.

I'm giving up the "purist" for the practical. I'm hitchhiking to the top of Lost Trail Pass, elevation 7,200 feet. Three pickup rides and I've seen much more scenery than on the bike.

At North Fork Salmon River campground after a great downhill ride on 5 percent grades — Yipee! 64 MILES.

'OPEC Killer' Machine Geared To Help Farmer

By RAYNIE HARDESTY
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The sign says "The OPEC Killer," but the Panhandle South Plains Fair attraction is not a huge, muscle-bound giant.

It's a huge machine designed to turn farm products into ethyl alcohol which in turn can be used for fuel.

The portable alcohol processor recently was purchased by 42 farmers who have formed Cottle-King Agri-Fuels Inc. And while most farm machinery exhibits usually only draw a small crowd, in 1979 when the fuel crunch has been felt by almost everyone, many interested fairgoers are stopping to take a look at the machine.

Several hundred Panhandle and South Plains residents have signed their names to a list indicating to the farmers that they plan to be in Paducah when the farmers make their first batch of fuel alcohol within the next two weeks.

Any interested passerby can get a quick summary on how the machine operates from one or several of the enthusiastic owners of the unusual farm equipment.

The portable facility is capable of producing 300 gallons of ethyl alcohol per week as it is equipped now, but with the addition of more fermentation tanks, it should produce up to 600 gallons per day, the farmers say.

The simple machine, purchased in Buena Vista, Ga., produces what many are calling "agrifuel," because the fuel is produced from crops.

Although the ethanol production requires 50 to 60 bushels of feed stock, or any grain crop containing starches and sugars, only the starch is taken from the grains and the leftover mash can be used as a feed for cattle, hogs, fish, fowl — even humans.

The processor is powered "by anything that'll make a fire," said farmer James A. Long.

The only other resource needed to produce the fuel in the machine is about 30 to 35 gallons of water per bushel of grain.

The farmers' experiments have shown that diesel tractors can burn up to 95 percent alcohol in their engines, and "because alcohol burns cleaner and dryer, the oil in the tractor will last three times longer," Long said.

Other experimenters have estimated that the machines gain about 30 percent more horsepower using the alcohol fuel.

The farmers chartering Cottle-King Agri-Fuels Inc., said "we got up the money ourselves" to purchase the $14,150 dollar machine.

The members of the new corporation are planning to alternate weeks processing the fuel and donating a single rolled ball of sudan-type grain.

The agrifuel is a renewable resource, Long said, because it is natural, made from "sunshine, soil, water and organic material."

Alcohol also is a nonpollutant element for the same reasons, he said.

The new fuel, which can be burned pure by autos designed to use unleaded gasoline, "will be sold to anybody," although the corporation has not established a price for it.

"Wylie Distributors already is showing a lot of interest in it," Long said.

Although the idea of burning alcohol seems new to many residents, alcohol first was blended with gasoline as a motor fuel in 1906. Because of a federal tax however, the product was too expensive to make as compared to gasoline. After the tax was removed from fuel alcohol, but not drinking alcohol (a cleaner and purer form), "agrifuel" was sold by a plant in Alchison, Kan., for about four years in the middle 1930s. The 2,000 service stations selling fuel alcohol in eight midwestern states were closed, however, when cheap gasoline hit the market.

Long said the farmers hope to see alcohol save rural America during this year's recession by creating an economy in the less populated areas.

"For every dollar spent making alcohol, the product should generate $7 in the economy. We hope this would prevent our children from having to leave the farms and compete in city job markets," he said.

YMCA Efforts Aimed At Total Community

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles dealing with the United Way of Lubbock. The stories reflect actual case histories here.)

Lloyd Davis likes the YMCA so much he decided to make a commitment to the organization and be an active member of its board of directors. Davis not only uses the YMCA facilities on a regular basis, but has become chairman of its program committee.

The YMCA of Lubbock is a United Way agency. It will receive $47,890 from the United Way's 1980 goal of $1,803,752.

Davis, who is a division superintendent for Southwestern Public Service, is a relative newcomer to the YMCA in Lubbock. However, before coming to the Hub City in 1970, Davis served as president of the YMCA in Plainview. He said he dropped out of the organization until four years ago, when he joined the Lubbock chapter.

Davis said he first joined the YMCA to keep in good physical shape but later believed in the organization and wanted to make a contribution to it.

"I think the YMCA has a very important function in the community," he said. "It has something for all age groups and individuals in the community."

Davis explained that the YMCA offers many programs for individuals. He said it tries to emphasize participation of the family in its programs and the "Y" just doesn't serve one part of the community but all areas of the community. He said the YMCA sponsors an "outreach program" in cooperation with the Housing Authority of Lubbock, at Greenfair and Hub Homes. More than 100 persons were involved in these programs this summer.

"When I was raising my family, I was interested in involving my whole family," Davis said. Now, he said, his children are grown but the YMCA still concentrates its efforts in family programs and provides a Christian atmosphere where the activities can consolidate the family and bring it together.

According to executive director of the YMCA, Bob Schreiner, the "Y" has programs for both men and women as well as youth and tries to meet the needs of its members that aren't being met elsewhere.

Schreiner said the three-sided symbol of the YMCA means that the organization is concerned with the total person — spirit, mind and body. He said that the YMCA has goals it hopes to achieve for its members making the total person grow in spirit, mind and body.

"In Lubbock we are meeting these goals by providing a place for two or three concentrated efforts," he said. "They are in the areas of the family, programs, fitness, fitness for the entire family and the development of leadership through programs for young people."

Schreiner added that the "Y" is very much concerned in teaching youth how to get things done through the system through its Tri-Hi-Y groups, Hi-Y and Indian guide groups. The "Y" also provides a program to teach youth our form of government.

The YMCA not only offers programs for registered members, but also many programs that are for the public, such as its church leagues which include softball, volleyball and basketball teams administered by the YMCA. Schreiner said that in 1978 the YMCA had registered members numbering 6,242 but a total of 12,742 persons participated in the YMCA's programs.

In addition, the "Y" sponsors many health-oriented programs, including its popular fitness testing and evaluation for both men and women.

The YMCA of Lubbock is among 34 agencies supported by the United Way.

Margo Smith To Replace Tammy Wynette At Fair

Tammy Wynette, who originally was scheduled to perform Saturday at the Fair Park Coliseum, will be replaced by Margo Smith.

After fair officials learned Miss Wynette was hospitalized in a New Jersey hospital, Margo Smith was signed to appear for the scheduled 5 and 8 p.m. performances with Rex Allen Jr., and George "Goober" Lindsey, said general manager Steve L. Lewis.

Lewis confirmed a report Thursday morning that Miss Wynette had been hospitalized at Underwood Memorial Hospital in Woodbury, N.J., with a stomach-related illness and would not be

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: A reader in St. Augustine, Fla., said he quit going to church because the organist played too loudly. Well, I've been an organist since 1934, and the problem is probably not the organist, but the organ. Over the years, churches replace worn-out organs with rebuilt theater organs or parts of several organs, and the resulting sounds are disastrous!

The church is the only corporate body I know of in which each member is an expert concerning what should and should not be played for the service. It is also the only corporate body which pays its most qualified employees, i.e., the minister and the organist, salaries which bear no relationship to the cost in time and money spent to acquire professional status.

To all critics who think the organ music is too loud in church, I say the music in the service should run the gamut of soft to loud, depending on the occasion. Too many Christians today declare their faith sotto voce instead of fortissimo, and expect their organist to do likewise. I play for the joy of it, not for the pay, and God knows I sometimes pull out all the stops. Hallelujah and Amen!

LOUISE M. CHILDS IN S.F.

Courtesies

CHERYL McINTIRE
Cheryl McIntire, bride-elect of Larry Duncan, was honored Saturday with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Rasco. Mrs. Don Voyles, Mrs. W.T. Garland and April Gullett were co-hostesses.

The couple plans to be married in New Deal First Baptist Church.

DEAR LOUISE: Let's hear a slightly different tune from another reader:

DEAR ABBY: This is for the St. Augustine reader who quit attending church because of the organ music: I, too, had the same problem, but I asked God to show me the way, and He pointed me toward the Church of Christ.

The Church of Christ doesn't believe in instrumental music, and believe me, it is heavenly to go to church and not have to hear all that loud instrumental music. For true salvation in a quiet and spiritual atmosphere, try the Church of Christ.

REBECCA

DEAR NURSE: Consider me backed up.

DEAR ABBY: I found a clipping on my dresser this morning. It was your column with the letter from the man whose wife undressed in the closet. As you can probably guess, I am one of those wives.

After a dozen pregnancies, not too many wives have the kind of figure they want to parade around the bedroom nude to show off. I can go to bed alone and wake up pregnant.

The "Devil's Coup" is one of the rarest plays in bridge. Suddenly, however, it seems to be cropping up all over the place. We reported one a short while ago. Here's another from Hungary's match against Britain in the recent European Championships.

Both teams reached four spades on this hand, The British declarer played the hand routinely after a diamond lead and a heart shift.

and lost a trick in each suit. The result seemed normal, but watch what happened when Miklos Dumbovich was at the helm.

Here, too, the lead was a diamond, won by the ace, and the shift was to a heart. Declarer ducked and the king won. West cashed the ace of clubs and then reverted to hearts, and the defenders sat back to wait for their trump trick. For all we know, they are still waiting.

Declarer won the heart in dummy and cashed the king-queen of clubs. East discarded a heart on the second club and declarer parted with the heart ace. Declarer ruffed a heart, cashed the king of diamonds and ruffed a diamond, then ruffed a club. This was the position:

Declarer led a diamond, and no matter what West elected to do, the defenders' trump trick had vanished.

Dumbovich played the hand with great skill, but East had two chances to break up the coup. On the third and fourth rounds of clubs, East could have sluffed diamonds while retaining all of his hearts, which would have led to a different end position. Or, when the last club was led from the table, East could have ruffed with the jack, which would have prevented declarer from picking up West's trumps.

Careful Selection Of Suit Styles Adds Dozens Of Fashion Looks

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the year of the suit, and this year's suits can take women from the executive suite to a Broadway opening and still look fresh and appropriate at nightcap time.

By investing in one or two of these new-style suits, the careful shopper can create dozens of fashion looks to carry her through the busiest day, into the most glamorous evening.

The variety of styles this season is extensive, and fashion experts at the Fiber Information Center offer some hints on what to look for before suiting up.

When shopping for a suit, think shape and versatility. Because there is such a variety of shapes, it's best to try on several different looks to find the one most flattering to your figure type.

Some of the newest suit combinations include wrapped and peplum jackets over pleated or softly gathered skirts, classic blazer styles over straight skirts with kick-pleats or slits, and waist-cropped jackets over button-front or accordion-pleated skirts.

The most important aspect of owning a suit this season is its versatility. The jackets can be worn over trousers, dresses and other skirts. The skirts can mix with other jackets or go it alone with the new rich-textured acrylic sweaters or silky shirts available in a range of easy-care fabric blends.

Look for accessories such as belts, scarves and vests to add to your suit's versatility with a minimum expense.

If your schedule often requires you to socialize after a full day at the office, look for a fabric-blend suit to keep you looking fresh, the center suggests.

Many of the popular knitted suits will be made completely of man-made fibers in blend combinations of polyester, rayon, acrylic or nylon. These fibers offer a variety of textured looks including boucles, jersey, poutelle and rib knits. As an added plus, they're washable and retain their shape.

For after-five looks, suits take on a great new style. Look for body-hugging silhouettes with straight skirts that end in a trumpet ruffle, deep slits, or rows of swinging pleats. A polyester blend will help hold in those pleats, the information center points out.

Jackets are glamorous. They can be wrapped tightly around the waist with a gleaming belt or a glitter-spandex camisole can be worn underneath. Shoulders are padded and often accented with iridescent-yarn embroidery or beading.

Fabrics are luxurious: plush rayon velvets, rich-looking, silk-like polyesters, shimmering taffetas and satins of acetate and triacetate.

Jewel tones and black are the most elegant colors to choose in this season's dazzling evening suits.

Shopping is fun when you're slim. However, if you have a fat soul inside a skinny body, your thoughts are never far from food. Even when you're zipping in to skin-tight designer jeans, in velvet, the color of eggplant. (According to the tag, the color is "aubergine" — French for eggplant — but they were French jeans).

Which inspired me to think about slim new ways to prepare eggplant ... so I'll be able to sit down in these jeans!

ITALIAN EGGPLANT RELISH

2 cups peeled diced eggplant
 1/2 cup minced celery
 1/2 cup minced onion
 3/4 cup tomato juice (6-oz. can)
 1 tsp. red wine vinegar
 2 tbsps. olive juice (from jar of olives) optional: 1 tsp. sugar optional: 1 tsp. capers optional: few sprigs fresh chopped parsley
 3 Spanish (green) stuffed olives, thinly sliced
 Combine all ingredients except parsley and olives. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Uncover and simmer until most of the liquid evaporates and eggplant is tender. Stir in olives and parsley. Cool, then chill in refrigerator. Serve as a relish with meat, chicken or fish. (Good with cold tuna.) Makes four servings, about 50 calories each.

CHICKEN CAPONATA

2 lbs. cut-up frying chicken
 Ingredients for Eggplant Relish (preceding recipe) Spray a large non-stick skillet, chicken fryer or electric frypan with cooking spray for no-fat frying. Trim fringe fat from chicken. Place chicken pieces in a single layer, skin-side down. Turn on the heat. Brown chicken slowly over moderate heat with no fat added. Turn to brown evenly and prevent sticking. (Pour off any fat that accumulates in pan.) Turn chicken skin-side up. Add liquid ingredients: tomato juice, vinegar, olive liquid. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Stir in eggplant, onion and celery. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients. Uncover and simmer, stirring often, until chicken is tender and most of the liquid has evaporated. Serve chicken hot, garnished with eggplant sauce. Makes six servings, 160 calories each.

PEASANTS' CAVIAR

(Eggplant appetizer)
 3 cups peeled diced eggplant
 1/4 cup minced onion
 1 clove garlic, finely minced
 2 tbsps. olive liquid (from a jar of olives)
 1 tsp. olive oil
 2 tbsps. lemon juice (or more, to taste)
 salt, pepper to taste

Sprinkle diced eggplant lightly with salt and let stand 15 or 20 minutes. Press out excess moisture: Combine eggplant with onion, garlic, olive liquid and olive oil in a non-stick skillet which has been sprayed with cooking spray. Cook and stir over moderate heat until eggplant is soft. Remove from heat and allow to cool.

Add lemon, salt and pepper to taste. Chill in the refrigerator. Makes six appetizer servings, about 35 calories each.

'RATATOUILLE EN BROCHETTE'
 eggplant
 zucchini
 bell peppers cherry tomatoes
 Italian salad dressing, low-calorie tomato juice
 Peel eggplant and cut into 1 and one-half-inch cubes. Slice, but don't peel zucchini. Cut peppers into squares. Peel and halve onions. Alternate vegetables, thread on skewers. Combine equal parts salad dressing and juice and use as a baste. Broil, bake or barbecue skewers, brushing with marinade just until tender-crisp. Each serving (about a cupful of mixed vegetables and a quarter-cup marinade), about 65 calories.

Popular Names Often Change

NEW YORK — The most popular baby names in America today — Jennifer and Michael — were not even among the top ten choices of parents during the first half of the century, according to PARENTS magazine.

"Names like Jason, Brian (the 10th most popular boys' name of 1973), Jennifer, Nicole and Lisa, which had never been popular in America before the seventies, have become common," noted an article in a current issue of PARENTS. "Though half of today's most popular boys' names were in the top ten list of 1950, only one girl's name (Elizabeth) remains on the new list. 'Just as women are breaking with tradition,' said the article, 'their daughters' names are breaking a centuries-old pattern.'"

Following are 1978's most frequently used names for boys and girls. GIRLS: (1) Jennifer, (2) Jessica, (3) Nicole, (4) Melissa, (5) Michelle, (6) Maria, (7) Lisa, (8) Elizabeth, (9) Danielle, (10) Christine. BOYS: (1) Michael, (2) David, (3) John, (4) Christopher, (5) Joseph, (6) Anthony, (7) Robert, (8) Jason, (9) James, (10) Daniel.

Here in alphabetical order, are the names that remained consistently popular through the first half of the century. GIRLS: Anne or Anna, Catherine, Elizabeth, Helen, Margaret, Martha, Mary, Ruth, Sarah, Virginia. BOYS: Charles, David, George, James, John, Joseph, Richard, Robert, Thomas, William.

Three girls' and three boys' names accounted for approximately half of all English-language names for almost three centuries, the article noted. They are Elizabeth, Mary, Anne, John, William, and Thomas.

"When asked to explain the choice of a name, most parents say they like the sound of it," writer Patricia Oliver Slater said in her PARENTS article. "The curious thing is parents of the seventies like the sound of Jennifer, for instance, while parents of the fifties definitely did not. Is there some other influence that makes a name sound right to one generation and not to the next?"

"In the case of Jennifer, Erich Segal's LOVE STORY could have given the name a romantic connotation. Or Donovan's song 'Jennifer Juniper' could have lent it a dreamy quality," Slater conjectured.

Teenagers Favor Traditional Clothing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Back to school clothing for teenagers this fall has a streamlined look and a return to basics.

Look for straight-leg pants that measure 14-20 inches around the cuff, preferably corduroy in pinwale and wide-wale and berry red, black or white; penny loafers, menswear oxfords, ballet flats for streetwear, bright-colored pumps for dressup and duded-up cowboy boots.

Other trends — argyle socks, pleated, plaid skirts, sweaters alone or in sets and suits with jackets of varying lengths and shapes, many of them belted.

Neatest necklines are the boat and the jewel, but crews, V's and turtle-necks remain popular, says an article in the August issue of Seventeen magazine.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

As I sat in the dental chair having stitches put into my mouth, the dentist said, "You're not going to do a funny column about this, are you?"

"My teeth came dangerously close to his hand and I wanted to say, 'Of course I am...just as soon as I get the light piece I'm doing on World War II out of the typewriter.'"

I have no sense of humor whatsoever when it comes to my own pain. I'm really funny that way. The more it hurts, the less I laugh.

The less I laugh, the funnier everyone around me becomes. I guess I never realized before how sadistic a family can be. Here I am — my mouth struck down in its prime — and they're dancing around like they're auditioning for The Comedy Store.

"Hey, look at you. You're in stitches and I haven't even told the joke yet."

"Look at all the weight you're going to lose by not being able to eat. Already you look $300 thinner."

"I knew a woman who had her jaws wired shut. She choked to death on orange juice."

"Sit down and let me tell you what I feel about life."

"Mom can't come to the phone now, she's hitting the bottle." (This when I was coaxing syrup into the blender.)

"Hey, Mom...do your impersonation for Ralph. Come on. Listen to this. Say, 'You help me and together we'll solve our problems.' Smile at the same time. Who do you think it is? Give up? Jimmy Carter!"

As I painfully wrapped my parched lips around a straw my husband said, "You want to go out to dinner or something?"

My eyes widened in shock as I shook my head no. "Isn't that just like a woman?" he said. "They bug you every day of the week to take you out to eat and the moment someone suggests it they back down. I was going to take you to that expensive French restaurant. We went there back when you had an impacted wisdom tooth, remember?"

Just then, the kids came in with a couple of large pizzas. "How about some of the soft parts?" they offered. (My eyes welled with tears.) "Don't get too choked up about it. The soft part is the part that didn't get done."

And people wonder why some mothers are becoming registered terrorists for Planned Parenthood.

U.S. History Comes Alive On Cards

By SYD KRONISH
Associated Press Writer

American history comes alive on two new postal cards ready for issuance by the U.S. Postal Service. One features the Iolani Palace in Honolulu and the other honors Gen. Casimir Pulaski, Revolutionary War hero. Both cards are 10-centers.

The Iolani Palace card is part of the 1979 Historic Preservation Series. The palace served the Hawaiian monarchy and later became the legislative and governmental building of the Republic of Hawaii, the Territory of Hawaii and now the State of Hawaii. It was first occupied by King David Kalakaua, known as the "Merry Monarch."

The design of the card incorporates an original painting by noted Hawaiian artist Herb Kawainui Kane showing a frontal view of the palace, with palms lining the drive. Also seen is the characteristic rainbow that appears almost daily in Hawaiian skies.

The 10-cent, multi-colored postal card is the third in the Historic Preservation series which began in 1977 with the Galveston, Texas, Courthouse, and continued in 1978 with the Cincinnati, Ohio, Music Hall. The theme of the series is historically significant American buildings.

Requests for first-day cancellations should be addressed to "Iolani Palace Postal Card, Postmaster, Honolulu, HI 96820." Money orders in the exact amount will be accepted for orders up to the limit of 50 cards. Do not send cash. Orders must be postmarked by Monday.

To eliminate the requirement for USPS personnel to apply return addresses, you are requested to send self-addressed envelopes of an appropriate size or you may enclose return address labels with the order.

The Casimir Pulaski 10-cent card is the third in a series honoring heroes of the American Revolution and will be issued Oct. 11 at Savannah, Ga., during a re-enactment of the Battle of Savannah, where Pulaski was fatally wounded in 1779.

The Polish patriot joined Gen. George Washington's army in 1777 at the recommendation of Benjamin Franklin and served with distinction, being accorded the rank of Brigadier General by the Continental Congress.

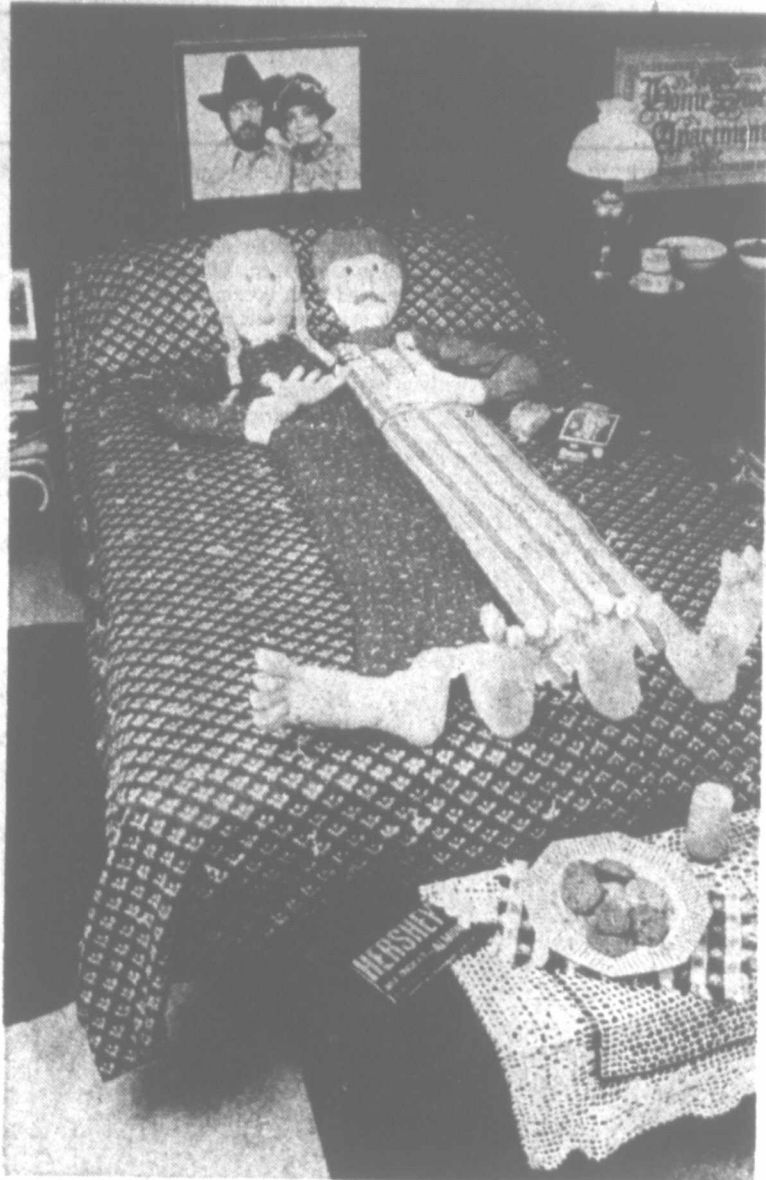

It is interesting to note that Pulaski formed a mixed corps known as the Pulaski Legion. He was experienced in guerrilla warfare and participated in the defense of Charleston, S.C., in May 1779. Pulaski was wounded leading a charge during the Battle of Savannah and died Oct. 11. The design of the postal card depicts Pulaski leading his men into action.

The commemorative postal-card series began in 1978 with the card honoring Molly Pitcher, heroine of the Battle of Monmouth. The second card in the series issued last February hailed George Rogers Clark, Revolutionary War frontier military leader. The designer of the new card, David Blossom, also designed the Pitcher and Clark cards.

Collectors who would like to purchase first-day cancellations of the Pulaski card should address their requests to "Pulaski Postal Card, Postmaster, Savannah, GA. 31401." In similar manner to acquiring the Iolani Palace card, send money orders in the exact amount up to the limit of 50 cards. Do not send cash. Requests must be received no later than Oct. 11.

Remember to enclose self-addressed envelopes or return address labels.

Philatelists who specialize in German stamps will be interested in "The German Album" by Minkus Publications. The album, richly illustrated, is for stamps of Germany, former German states, territories and colonies. It is complete through 1978 and sells for $40. The album is available at your local dealer or stamp department.

'Soft Art' Concept Gains Popularity

"Soft art," a relatively new concept in crafts today, has been gathering momentum in both the art world and the home recently. Many prestigious museums across the nation have even presented shows around this medium. Most objects made from fibers and fabrics and employing needlework techniques are considered "soft art." The forms the new art takes can be anything from quilts to pillows to the most experimental free-form designs.

Anyone can do it. All it takes is basic sewing knowledge and a lively imagination to create beautiful stitched and stuffed soft art. Your piece can be something utilitarian, such as a quilt, toy, or pillow; or it can be designed simply to delight the eye, such as a wall hanging or soft sculpture piece. Many craft publications feature patterns for such soft items as a cactus plant, stuffed birthday cake, and even a mini-soft sculpture car.

Soft wall hangings are simply stuffed pictures or mini-quilts. Inspiration for making a soft art wall hanging can be found in the world around you — in magazine pictures, in your own backyard, even when you open the door to your refrigerator. Experiment with a variety of techniques. You may want to paint your design onto the fabric instead of appliqueing or embroidering it. Or you may want to try fabric photo printing process.

To inspire you to make your first soft art piece, here's a whimsical quilt that brings American Gothic into the bedroom. The soft sculpture people are to be stitched together, stuffed, and then sewn to the comforter. Their arms and feet hang free and can be moved around. You can make the comforter, too, keeping it puffy with layers of quilt batting.

People quilt pattern includes full-size pieces and complete instructions and will adjust to any bed size. To order, ask for Kit NO. 01016 for $4.99 plus $1.45 postage and handling. Creative Home Crafts is required to collect and pay sible. We hope to share our conviction that when war and genocide unleash hatred against any one people or peoples, all are ultimately engulfed in the fire," commission chairman Elie Wiesel said in a letter to President Carter. Wiesel is a novelist and survivor of the Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps.

The Washington Post, which obtained a copy of the commission report before its presentation to Carter today, quoted sources as saying the proposed museum and a Holocaust educational foundation would cost at least $40 million.

Enthusiasm Necessary For Photojournalists

By SANDY COLTON
Associated Press Writer

So you want to be a photojournalist? My advice is don't even consider it unless you want to live, eat and sleep photography for the rest of your life with no guarantee you'll ever succeed.

Taking pictures for fun is fine, and I encourage it. But if you want to make your living at it be prepared to work, study, experiment and work some more. Then pray for a lucky break.

Over my desk I have a Chinese character that translates roughly into our word "enthusiasm." I tell all young photographers who ask for advice on becoming a photojournalist that unless they have that — enthusiasm — forget it and become an accountant or something else.

Photography, at least news photography, is not an 8-to-5 job. Those photographers who get ahead and excel over others have one trait in common. I like to say that they chase firetrucks. They think photography all the time and are constantly experimenting, trying new things and new ways of doing something.

They develop an eye and see pictures that others miss even driving from one assignment to another. Some actually do chase firetrucks.

Many of the top photographers are terribly insecure. I've seen some spend hours trying to get a specific shot they have in mind. They'll use various lenses, bracket their exposures, change their position and then agonize over the results.

Almost always they're like the fisherman who complains about the one that got away. They almost always feel that they could have done better.

When a new gadget comes along — filter, lens, flash unit or whatever — they can't wait to take it home and play with it. Using the family as guinea pigs, they'll shoot and shoot until the new gadget is old hat and they understand all of its ramifications.

Some time ago, when the fisheye lenses first came on the scene, there was a rash of round pictures. Photographers were using the lens to get as much into the picture as possible.

One of our young photographers asked to borrow the lens from our cabinet shortly after it arrived. He took it home and, using multiple flash and his children as models, came up with two of the best uses of this lens I've seen yet.

A lens like this has tremendous depth of field, meaning that a greater portion distorts a lot.

Halloween was just a week away when this photographer borrowed the lens. He came back with two square photos, cropped out of the normal circle you get from a fisheye, just in time to move on the wire as a Halloween illustration.

In one photo he cut out the back of a pumpkin lantern for the lens to show the candle burning in the foreground and his children peering into it framed in the eyes, nose and mouth. The second photo, used as an illustration here, had the distorted images of the children grinning into the lens from inches away.

That was years ago. That young photographer was Eddie Adams and he's gone on to become one of the top photojournalists in the world. He still experiments.

Technique Could Aid Fruit Tree Production

By EARL ARONSON
Associated Press Writer

Tissue culture, or micropropagation for mass-producing house plants has been in use for several years. Now researchers are seeking to make the technique feasible for mass-producing fruit trees and berries.

More than 700 strawberry shoots have been propagated in a jar about 4 inches in diameter — each one a potential full-sized strawberry plant — at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Science and Education Administration in Beltsville, Md. Similar four-inch jars house masses of apple shoots and clusters of blackberry and blueberry shoots supported by a synthetic growth medium. And the scientists are coaxing tiny cuttings to multiply rapidly in a clear medium containing nutrients and hormones.

Plant pathologist Richard Zimmerman says the technique could cut to a fraction the time required for nurserymen to propagate these plants, also reducing the space needed for the propagation of fruit trees.

Currently, for example, apple trees are propagated by grafting shoots from the parent tree onto rootstocks. One tree is produced for each shoot. In tissue culture, thousands of trees could be produced from a single shoot. Now it takes up to 12 years and several acres for nurserymen to propagate a new cultivated variety to introduce to the general market. With micropropagation, or miniaturization, it might take only a year and little space, Zimmerman says.

Tissue culture is also a good way to produce virus-free plants which, unlike field propagated plants, are grown in a sterile environment.

Unaffected stock, the researchers point out is especially important to strawberry growers because strawberry plants are susceptible to many viruses that rob vigor.

What Zimmerman's team is striving for is to make the culture method more uniform for the many strawberry varieties and to inform producers who will be setting up strawberry culture laboratories. The main object is to find the combinations of nutrients and hormones that produce the best shoot and root development for each fruit.

This is how it works: To start a culture, the scientists implant a shoot or meristem in a shoot-inducing medium. If the nutrients and hormones are in proper amounts the shoot will grow many new shoots. These can be separated and moved to a fresh medium to produce more shoots. The multiplication process can be repeated every three-four weeks to produce thousands of shoots in a four-month period.

In an additional three-four weeks, the shoots will root if placed in perlite, vermiculite, an agar-based medium, or a combination of these. To stimulate root development, an auxin (organic substance that promotes such growth) is added.

The researchers report fine multiplication and rooting result with strawberries and thornless blackberries. But apples and blueberries and other woody plants are more difficult to propagate by tissue culture.

Weather Stripping Stops Condensation

By ANDY LANG
Associated Press Writer

Q. — We have storm windows on our house. They are the old-fashioned kind with wooden frames that are hung separately. The past few years, whenever the heat is on in the house, moisture forms on the inside of the storm windows, sometimes turning to frost or ice. We would like to avoid that this year. Is there anything you can suggest?

A. — This reply may forestall some of the many letters that come in every year as soon as heating equipment goes into operation. So, all your potential questioners on the subject: clip out this answer and keep it handy for a look-see when the weather gets colder in your area. The formation of moisture — condensation — occurs when warm, moist air settles on a cold surface, which in this case is usually the glass in the window frame.

How does warm air reach the inside of a storm window? Obviously, from inside the house through openings in the non-storm window. You cannot stop the condensation unless you prevent the air from leaking through the inside window and settling on the storm window. You may think the inside window is airtight, but the condensation proves that it is not.

Air leaks in the common double-hung windows, which have upper and lower sashes, usually take place at the point where the sashes meet — the top of the lower sash and the bottom of the upper sash. Weather stripping is the answer. There are many types, some of which can be used if the sashes must be raised and lowered and some of which do not permit such movement. Generally, it is better to seal the windows for the duration of the cold-weather period and unseal them when the temperature rises and the heat is not on.

Q. — An old cabinet with a varnish finish is in need of refinishing. It will be used in a child's room, so we want to enamel it a bright color. The varnish has what seems to be a number of cracks or breaks in it. Can we fill these cracks and then enamel right over the old finish?

A. — When an old varnish finish is in good condition, it usually is all right to paint over it provided that any remaining gloss is removed. In this case, however, removal of the old varnish is necessary. It would probably be only a question of time before irregularities in the old finish attacked the new finish. Even if you were able to do a perfect job of filling the cracks, it would take so much time and be so much trouble that you would be better off to remove the old finish. Since there are so many different varnish removers on the market, be sure to follow the manufacturer's directions to the letter.

(The techniques of using varnish, lacquer, shellac, bleach, stain, remover, etc., are detailed in Andy Lang's booklet, "Wood Finishing in the Home," available by sending 35 cents PLUS a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 477, Huntington, N.Y. 11743. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column, but individual correspondence cannot be undertaken.)

Sales Of South African Krugerrand Continue At Impressive Rate

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The bearded image of Paul Kruger, president of the Transvaal Republic at the turn of the century, stares out from the face of a Krugerrand.

"You are looking at the most popular gold coin in the world — one fine ounce of pure gold," boasts Don Mackay-Coghill, director of South Africa's Intergold Corporation and the man in charge of the worldwide marketing operation for what he fondly calls "everyman's gold."

The coin was the brainchild of T.E.

Holloway, a former secretary of finance, and since its introduction in 1970 it has sold like no other gold coin before it.

Last year more than 6 million were sold throughout the world. Americans took half that total at an average price of $240 each which Mackay-Coghill says is not bad for a country whose government has been "anti-gold."

During the first eight months of this year, total sales were just under 3.5 million coins, slightly off the 1978 total but still impressive.

"Americans have a fetish for owning gold and, unlike gold bullion, the Krugerrand can be bought by anyone," he said.

With the price of gold reaching new records over $340 an ounce there has been a renewed curiosity about gold and, according to Mackay-Coghill, new interest in the Krugerrand and gold coinage in general.

The coin, tied directly to the gold bullion price, usually sells for a 3 percent premium above that price. Don't expect to get one now or in the near future for anything below $300, warns Mackay-Coghill.

Less than ten years ago they cost $35 each.

Intergold is the marketing agency for the Chamber of Mines, an association of the seven major mining houses in South Africa. It is Intergold's job to sell Krug-errands.

The success of the coin has prompted other countries such as Australia and Canada to launch their own versions. Since 1973 the number of countries selling gold coins has risen from six to 67.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't even try to fight city hall tomorrow. The quickest way to end any confrontations that might occur is to let things go in one ear and out the other.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Pride could be your biggest enemy tomorrow if you fail to ask advice or counsel from one you know has the answers you're seeking. Don't hold back. Seek advice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Usually your charm and wit takes you a long way toward achieving your goals, but not so tomorrow. Only proven methods or experience will suffice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's not like you to attempt to use anything but practical methods to accomplish your purposes. Tomorrow is the wrong day to try anything else.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may not like it because you are usually the one who comes up with neat and exciting ideas, but tomorrow it will be those you're involved with who'll provide the answers.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something very beneficial could develop for you tomorrow through the good offices of another. Listen attentively to proposals for joint ventures.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Politely disregard all the friendly butting-in you are likely to encounter tomorrow when you attempt to tackle a difficult task. There are no shortcuts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Before you become a self-appointed teacher tomorrow, make certain you know what you're talking about. Your instructions will be put to the test.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your first obligation is to your family tomorrow. Don't let outsiders talk you out of doing what is right. You're the one who will wind up being unhappy.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Face your limitations tomorrow. Instead of quarreling over who is right or wrong, give the other guy a chance to prove his contentions and you'll learn something.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) All talk and no action will net you exactly zero. If you hope to have a productive day tomorrow, the only way to achieve it is by the sweat of your brow.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 22) Sometimes you can go overboard with analyzing things to the point where you lose out. Tomorrow, however, you are wise to be cautious and not take any foolish gambles.

Ireland Plans Unprecedented Security During Papal Visit

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — An elite anti-terrorist unit carrying submachine guns will escort Pope John Paul II everywhere on his three-day visit to Ireland starting Saturday, and they will be backed by 12,000 troops and policemen in Ireland's biggest security operation since its founding 58 years ago.

The special "flying squad" of Special Branch agents, beefed up by army marksmen, will fly in three helicopters that will flank John Paul's special craft as he flies around the country on the first papal visit ever to this Roman Catholic nation, police sources said.

"Security will be so tight that even the president will have to carry a special identification card with his photo to get near the Pope," one informant said. "So will government ministers and the bishops. We're taking absolutely no chances at all on this."

The sources said this includes countering possible terrorist attacks by skin-divers from the River Liffey as the papal motorcade passes over Dublin's O'Connell Bridge.

Police Superintendent Peter McGeing told reporters the nationwide operation is "the biggest of its kind" since the Irish Republic was founded in 1921.

He said even the hundreds of invalids in wheelchairs who will be given special places close to the pope on his stops will have to carry official accreditation and will be searched before they get near the pontiff.

All army and police leave will be canceled until the pope leaves Shannon airport Monday for Boston aboard a jumbo jet for a five-day tour of the United States.

Officials said the security plan, which will cost $3.2 million dollars, will involve 7,000 police officers and 5,000 troops — nearly all the Irish Republic's security forces.

Officials said the huge open air masses the pope will celebrate, including one in Dublin's Phoenix Park Saturday before an expected 1 million Catholics, are "a security nightmare."

They said plainclothesmen will mingle with the crowds and random searches will be made among the estimated 2 million persons who will attend the string of services.

The massive security plan was launched amid fears that Protestant terrorists from Northern Ireland will launch attacks to avenge the Aug. 27 assassination in the Republic of Ireland of Queen Elizabeth II, by Irish Republican Army guerrillas.

The mainly Catholic IRA is fighting to end British rule in the north and reinstate the Protestant-dominated province with the overwhelmingly Catholic republic.

Authoritative sources here said the Ulster Freedom Fighters, a shadowy group of Protestant killers in the British-ruled North, have warned of a "spectacular" strike during the Pope's visit.

As a result, the 300-mile border with Northern Ireland will be virtually sealed by troops and police.

Plane Designed To Meet Pope's Needs

By United Press International

Pope John Paul II is no usual traveler, and the plane carrying him to Ireland and the United States next week is no usual aircraft.

When the pope tires of mixing with the other passengers on the flights — the plane has a capacity of 397 — he can climb the spiral staircase on his specially altered Aer Lingus 747 jumbo jet to his private suite.

And the menus being offered on all the pope's flights combine selections from the Polish, Irish, Italian and American kitchens.

For security on the trip from Rome to Dublin Sept. 29, the pope's plane will be escorted by four jet fighters. His trip will also take him to six American cities.

The Aer Lingus plane the pope will use is named "Padraig" — Gaelic for "St. Patrick," and the food on the flights will feature Polish soups and desserts.

The upstairs section of the aircraft, usually a lounge for first-class passengers, is being refitted with a bed, reading lamp, table for four and couch in a specially curtained-off section of the lounge. A wooden crucifix of Celtic design will be fixed to the bulkhead wall.

All of the installations will be secured to the floor. The bed will be made up with white Irish linen sheets, a yellow Irish tweed blanket, and a white bedspread.

The aircraft will have the pope's coat of arms, in color, on the fuselage forward of the front door and aft of the rear door, on both sides.

The pope's special compartment, just off the flight deck on the upper level of the first class lounge, is where the pope is expected to spend most of his time during the trips.

The hostess crews on both flights were chosen for their seniority and knowledge of languages. There will be the usual crew of three on the flight deck and 16 hostesses, plus a special interpreter available on both flights.

The layout of the pope's Aer Lingus 747 accommodates 24 first class passengers on either side of a central aisle in the front compartment, named the "Tara." The remainder of the aircraft is divided into four economy-class sections — the Ulster, the Connacht, the Leinster, and the Munster — Named after the five ancient provinces of Ireland.

For the three-hour Rome to Dublin flight, the plane's four film projectors will be loaded with Patrick Carey's 20-minute film, "Reflections Ireland." It has no commentary, but relies on the sounds of nature to complement the effects of the visual image of Irish scenes.

On the flight from Rome to Ireland, the pope will have an Irish breakfast, with fruit juices, a selection of cheeses, Irish bacon, pork sausages, black and white pudding, and Irish brown and white soda bread among the menu choices.

Flying from Ireland to Boston, the pope will be offered Kapusniak and Barszcz. The Polish soup, Kapusniak, is made from bone marrow, pork meat and pork sausages, carrots, knob celery, parsley roots and onions. The soup is strained and, when the meat has been diced, it is added again.

Barszcz is made from duckling cooked in a rich beef broth. The broth is then strained and garnished with thin strips of red beet root, shredded cabbage, slices of the duck's breast, and beef. It is served with sour cream.

The other portions of the meal include fish dishes and choices of veal, beef and chicken cooked Italian style.

For dessert, the pope will be offered Bliny Kartofle, a dish that originated in the Krakow district of Poland. It is an

Pilot Desires Publicity From Pontiff's Flight

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Clarence Powell Jr. says he agreed to serve as co-pilot on the plane that will carry Pope John Paul II to six American cities because of the job's high visibility to young blacks.

The 40-year-old pilot told a news conference recently that "it's possible" he was chosen for the flight because he is black. But he added the publicity surrounding the flight serves his purposes.

"My goal is to instill the desire in young blacks to continue their education and enter a career in commercial aviation," said Powell, regional vice president of the Organization of Black Airline Pilots. "Young blacks need to see someone in a high visibility position like this and that was one of the reasons I took the job."

David C. Venz, Trans World Airlines area director for public affairs, said Powell and Sal Fallucco, the captain of the flight, were chosen by company officials solely on the basis of their professionalism and experience.

Fallucco was in Kansas City and did not attend the news conference.

Powell, who served in Vietnam as a helicopter pilot, said he felt "quite honored and ecstatic" when informed he would be co-pilot on the pope's flight.

Although it will have its "circus" aspects, crowds, pageantry and ceremonies, Pope John Paul II's visit next week also could spark a harder spirit in many Americans.

That is seen by several church leaders as a potential effect of this robustly optimistic pope on a country described by its president as suffering from a "spiritual malaise," lacking confidence and hope.

The pope "will stir the spirits of the American people that are so desperately low right now," says Msgr. John Tracy Ellis of Washington, D.C., dean of U.S. Catholic historians.

"Americans are a believing people — who believe in God and who are anxious, to say the least, about the moral decline in this country," Ellis told a national Catholic weekly. Our Sunday Visitor.

He added that the pope "can lift us out of the mire of secularism and materialism and focus the attention of the nation — at least for a few hours — on the supernatural and moral level."

Inevitably, the visit also will generate flareups of controversy and already has, including protests by atheists, fundamentalists and some others about planned calls on President Carter, appearances on federal grounds and spending of public money.

But in the main, expectations are that the pope, a man of infectious vigor and staunch faith who has lived at the fiery heart of the century under Nazism and communism in Poland, will spread some of that hardihood around him.

"He will reinforce our faith," says John Reedy, of Notre Dame, Ind., who edits a widely read weekly on Catholic life, A.D. Correspondence.

"I would expect him to proclaim, again and again, the human dignity of every person, the need for this dignity to be served by the nations, by economic systems, by social policies."

"Most of all, I expect him to preach, joyfully and enthusiastically, the place of God in our lives, the good news that the destiny of humanity is in the hands of a loving Father."

James Hitchcock, a church historian of St. Louis University, says that the pope's week-long tour of six U.S. cities is bound "to have an impact. People are enormously fascinated and taken with him."

The Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University, said the pope, only a year in office, "arouses such excitement that it's almost hard to keep it from being theatrical."

"But he comes through fundamentally as concerned with people. I look forward to his saying something to young people, with whom he so far has related so well."

The Rev. J. Bryan Hehir of Washington, D.C., the foreign policy expert for the U.S. Catholic bishops, says the pope is certain to deal with the world's arms race when he addresses the United Nations.

"No more war," the late Pope Paul VI had pleaded in that international arena in 1965. And the new pope has said he is coming in the interest of "hope and peace."

Although his circuit will be mainly in large metropolitan areas, he'll also take a swing into a farm area of Des Moines, and is expected to stress the importance of rural life on the land.

This has been a recurrent concern of his, and the National Catholic Rural Life Conference has headquarters in Des Moines, headed by Des Moines Bishop Maurice J. Dingman.

The Rev. Robert Lynch of Miami, who has set up offices in Washington as coordinator for the papal visit, says he expects the pope to speak both to American "strengths and weaknesses."

"He comes to a country that is religiously plural, that is an example of democracy that works and yet is a country with imperfections in the political and social order ... and there are certainly moral imperfections."

He noted that the pope has been alerted to the fact that U.S. Bishops have set Oct. 7 as "Respect Life Sunday," and the pope may address that subject. It involves the keenly controversial topic of abortion, which Catholics and many other Christians oppose.

Ellis said he doubted the pope would deal with specifically U.S. social ills. "Any suggestion of that kind would be deeply resented by many and John Paul II is sufficiently astute not to mention those things specifically."

Some of the potential resentment already has shown up in protests from an atheist group, the Freedom from Religion Foundation in Madison, Wis., and from the Rev. Carl McIntire of Collingswood, N.J., against the pope's planned White House visit with Carter.

Calling the pope a "blatantly sexist leader" with an "oppressive stance" against women, the head of the atheist group, Anne Gaylor, wrote Carter that the pope "is unworthy of an official reception in a country based on separation of church and state."

McIntire, leader of a separatist movement opposing mainline churches, protested both the planned Mass on the Washington Mall and the reception by Carter, saying they would "generate a deeper crisis of confidence."

Texas atheist leader Madalyn Murray O'Hair filed a court suit against use of the Mall for the worship service, which is expected to attract a million people.

Groups in Boston and Philadelphia also have complained about public funds being spent on the pope's visit.

Bishop Thomas Kelly, general secretary to the U.S. Catholic bishops, points out the pope in his call at the White House will be regarded a "private visitor," not as head of the Vatican State.

The pope, on his formally designated "pastoral visit," says he's coming in "friendship, respect and esteem" for all American Christians, Jews and people of good will to speak the "uplifting and healing message" of the gospel.

STEWARDSHIP EMPHASIS — Frankie Cook, right, general manager of the Pony Express stewardship program at St. Matthew United Methodist Church, explains a campaign poster to Mandy Hastings, standing, and Mendi Cook. The church's campaign will involve the congregation in a team effort and will run through October and into early November.

Committee Expresses Concern About Court's Press Rulings

NEW YORK (Special) — The News and Information Committee of the National Council of Churches has passed a resolution formally expressing its "deep concern" about a series of Supreme Court rulings curtailing freedom of the press.

Citing six recent court decisions, the committee stressed that "the limitations on access to information that could result from these rulings go far beyond any inconvenience for the news media and pose a serious threat to the public interest."

The statement continues: "It is as if a free and informed citizenry who ultimately may be in danger. The people have the right and the duty to demand accountability of all public institutions."

The committee, which includes press officers from many of the NCC's 32 member communions, meets twice a year to guide the work of the NCC's Office of News and Information.

John Paul II To Participate In Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special) — The chapel of Trinity College will take its place in world ecclesiastical history on Oct. 7. During his visit to the United States, Pope John Paul II will join in an historic ecumenical prayer service there with leaders of eight Protestant and Orthodox Christian religions. 600 guests will symbolize about 150,000,000 church-going Americans and more than one billion people around the world.

Religions represented will be the Oriental Orthodox Church, which has been out of communion with Catholics for more than 1,500 years; the Eastern Orthodox, which separated about one thousand years ago; Lutheran, United Presbyterian and Reform; Episcopal, Methodist, Southern Baptist and Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

The pope emphasized the importance of this service by saying, "Prayer comes first; without this there is no talk."

Area Man To Attend Papal Mass In Iowa

NAZARETH (Special) — Jerome Brockman, director of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference in the Amarillo Diocese, will be one of 150 persons to receive Holy Communion from the hands of Pope John Paul II at a field Mass in Des Moines, Iowa, Thursday.

Brockman is one of ten diocesan rural life directors in the country selected because he is actively engaged in farming while serving part-time as a permanent deacon, a recently restored ordained ministry in the Roman Catholic Church.

Pope John Paul II, like many Polish people, has an active interest in crop and livestock farming, and readily accepted the invitation of Bishop Maurice Dingman of Des Moines to conduct this special Mass during his U.S. visit.

Robert Friedley, chairman of the committee and head of communications for the Christian church (Disciples of Christ) explained why a religious organization felt the need to highlight court decisions involving freedom of the press.

"If the church believes in human worth, which of course it does," he said, "then it believes in the people's right to know what is going on in places of power. These are issues of truth and access to truth, which are fundamental Christian values, not just political ones."

The resolution called attention to the following rulings:

—Gannett Co. vs. DePasquale (1979) which the committee said "has been construed as ruling that the public has no constitutional right under the 'public trial' guarantee of the Sixth Amendment to attend criminal proceedings."

—Zurcher vs. Stanford Daily (1978) "which ruled that the police can, with a warrant, make a surprise raid on a newspaper to search for evidence of crime committed by persons not connected or employed by the news organization."

—Houchins vs. KQED (1978), Pell vs. Procunier (1974) and Saxbe vs. Washington Post (1974), which ruled "that the news media, as representatives of the public, do not have special access to public institutions."

—Branzburg vs. Hayes (1972), "which ruled that a reporter has no right to withhold information about sources from a grand jury in a criminal investigation, which reporters contend will drastically affect the willingness of sources to provide confidential information and thereby curtail the public's access to information."

"While acknowledging that these are press abuses in our society that need correcting," the committee's resolution said, "we believe these rulings, and the Gannett Co. vs. DePasquale case in particular, are an overreaction that could lead to problems far more significant for a participatory society than those they seek to solve."

"We are especially concerned about the confusion that has resulted from the public statements of the U.S. Supreme Court Justices that show disagreement among themselves as to whether the Gannett Co. vs. DePasquale decision ... applies only to pretrials or whether it extends to the trials themselves. We urge the Supreme Court to clarify their position as soon as possible."

Warren Day, director of news and information for the NCC, explained why the Gannett ruling could be so dangerous. "If judges — many of whom are elected — can har the press from any trial proceedings," he said, "a few of them are bound to do so for less than honorable reasons, and our constitutionally guaranteed 'fair' and 'public' trials will quickly become less fair and less public.

The resolution calls upon news organizations and communications departments of the churches to alert their members to the problems cited and to point out the similarities with other recent rulings eroding the constitutional protection of religion.

Church News Post Speaks In Favor Of SALT

NEW YORK (Special) — The Rev. Dr. Avery D. Post, president of the 1.8 million-member United Church of Christ, testified this week before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee holding hearings on the SALT II treaty.

Speaking in support of the passage of the arms limitation treaty, Avery stated the position of his denomination: "The General Synod of the United Church, which is our central delegate body, endorsed ratification of the SALT II Treaty overwhelmingly when it met last June. We were the first major denomination to vote such an endorsement. While the General Synod does not speak for all of our churches or members, it does reflect the views that are generally held among us."

He said that the stand he was articulating came as a result of study by local congregations throughout the denomination and therefore had a broad base of support.

He stated that the United Church of Christ had both a theological and a moral interest in the outcome of the Senate's action.

In his testimony, he said: "SALT II is something more than an agreement on limitation and expansion of bombers and missile systems. It has a theological dimension that is just as crucial for determining policy as is the weighing of other issues. There is very little trust between the United States and the Soviet Union. Yet, true security for ourselves and the world can be attained only in relationships of trust. The approval of SALT II is one step on the road toward trust. The way we and the Soviets handle our responsibilities under this treaty may be made a second step on that road. A new and more sweeping disarmament agreement might then become a third."

FALL REVIVAL SLATED
Parkway Drive Baptist Church, 2913 E. 2nd Street, has scheduled a fall revival to begin Sunday and continue through Oct. 7. Jack Badgero of Fort Worth will be the guest evangelist and Richard Weather of Murfreesboro, Tenn., will be the music director. Sunday services will be held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and daily services will be at noon and 7:30 p.m.

Mother's Day Off Program Slated
Elgin Avenue Baptist Church will offer a Mother's Day Off program beginning Oct. 4, according to an announcement.

Chinese Evangelist To Speak Sunday
Very few people face a firing squad and live to tell about it. Chinese evangelist Nora Lam is one of those persons. She grew up in Shanghai during the Japanese occupation of China. She was a university student during the time of the Communist take-over. She refused to denounce her heritage and her Christianity and was taken before a firing squad. She will describe her deliverance and the subsequent years of exile and hardship in a presentation Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at the Bethel Assembly of God Church, 36th St. and Ave. K.

FIND STRENGTH FOR YOUR LIFE — ATTEND CHURCH

THE STEEPLEJACK

Look closely . . . in this picture a man is risking his life!

An old and respected trade is his. It had its beginning centuries ago when Christianity first began to express its devotion in unique forms of architecture. How could Christians proclaim constantly their faith in Christ? How could they lift the eyes of others to behold the Lord of Life?

Soon, over gabled village roofs rose gleaming spires. And men who tilled the fields, and men who trod the lanes, rejoiced to behold the symbol of Faith.

Then one day cities replaced villages . . . skyscrapers dwarfed the spires of God. And so, on the day this picture was taken, ten thousand people passed by and never raised their eyes. Only a few looked upward and thought in mild surprise, "Why, isn't that a man way up there on the steeple?"

Yes. A MAN. One of hundreds of millions whose skill and courage continue to be needed as the Church fulfills its mission.

Maybe your church doesn't have a steeple. But it has a task to challenge your skills . . . your courage.

VINCENT BUGLIOSI
Prosecuted Charles Manson

Bugliosi Warns Of Dangerous Cults

By RUTHANNE BROCKWAY
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Cults are walking time bombs, warned Vincent Bugliosi, prosecuting attorney in the Charles Manson trial, at a news conference Thursday prior to his appearance at Texas Tech University.

Bugliosi said cult leaders have the charisma to program their followers to do anything, including murder, but he added that not everyone is a potential cult member.

Most followers are in their late teens or early 20s, Caucasian and intelligent but "emotionally weak," he said. "The average American kid with sound values is not likely to follow (a cult leader)," he said.

The 45-year-old trial lawyer said an ex-Moonie (a follower of the Rev. Sun Myung Moon) told him if Moon had told her to kill her mother, she would.

Although Bugliosi said, "I don't think there's ever been a cult like Manson's," he added that Moonies and Hare Krishna are cults which are potentially dangerous. He termed the Ku Klux Klan, Black Panthers and Nazi groups as "a form of cults."

The Charles Manson "family" which was convicted of the Tate/LoBianca murders of 1969 was the subject of Bugliosi's book "Helter Skelter." The author speaks about a dozen times a year on the Manson episode. Although the murders occurred a decade ago, Bugliosi still finds high interest in the subject.

"People are fascinated by things that are strange and bizarre," he said, adding that the Manson cult was "unparalleled in bizarreness."

One of Manson's techniques was using "sexual perversion to break down ego and inhibition" of his followers, Bugliosi said.

The Rev. Jim Jones, leader of the People's Temple mass suicide in Guyana, reportedly had sex with both male and female followers and ordered them to do the same, Bugliosi noted.

Both Manson and Jones were charismatic leaders, he said, but Bugliosi said, "Jones lacked the classic evilness of Manson. Jones was more sickness and paranoia."

Both the Manson and Jones groups were isolated from society, he noted, saying that if the followers had kept in touch with the world through the news media they would have questioned their leaders.

De-programming cult followers involves exposing the leader as a fraud, he said, and by taking the follower out of cult isolation and back into society the cult "ideas cannot survive."

The man who put Manson behind bars said the prisoner would probably never get out if he were in Texas, but in California, Bugliosi said Manson has a 50-50 chance of eventual parole.

The trial brought Bugliosi fame and, "It allowed me to write two books," he said. But it also brought a lack of privacy and periodic death threats. For two years he and his family were protected by bodyguards.

His last death threat was about six months ago. He doubts that the calls and letters come directly from Manson family members, but rather from people who identify with Manson. "Just looks," he said.

He admits that the threats are upsetting at the time they occur, but shrugged and said, "You just have to go on and forget."

City Council To Let P&Z Decide On Motor Bank

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Despite pleas from Overton South residents, the City Council dumped the sticky question of whether to allow a motor bank on the east edge of the neighborhood back in the lap of the Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday.

The commission denied the request of American State Bank earlier this month to change property at 1707 15th St., from family apartment zoning (A-1) to restricted local retail (C-2A), but proponents appealed that decision to the council.

However, attorney Tom Johnson, who represented the bank at the council meeting, asked the council to send the case back to the planning commission until final boundaries are set for a proposed Design-Historic district for Overton South.

Members of the Overton South Neighborhood Association argued the district designation, to be finally decided by the council next month, has nothing to do with a change in zoning for the drive-in bank.

Association member Ted Hogan said the district would have nothing to do with land use in the area, but would impose design standards on new construction or renovation in the district.

Hogan added the requested zone change would conflict with a 1975 land use plan adopted for Overton South by the council and would constitute illegal spot zoning.

Approval of the zoning also would allow "further intrusion of commercial zoning" into the predominantly residential area and create traffic problems and encourage the spread of blight.

But council members voted 3-2 to ask the planning commission to reexamine the land use plan for the area west of Avenue Q to determine if some commercial zoning should be permitted and, if so, under what circumstances.

Councilman Bud Aderton, who made the motion to return the case to the planning commission, said he wanted more clarification of the situation and asked commissioners "to come back with something more specific which would be of help to me in reaching a decision."

However, Councilwoman Carolyn Jordan and Councilman Bill McAlister said the position of the planning commission seemed clear.

"I can't help but feel that the Planning and Zoning Commission already has addressed this," McAlister said.

"I haven't heard anything today to indicate why we need more commercial zoning on the west," Mrs. Jordan added.

The city Human Relations Commission also will be asked to reconsider a recommendation to the council on renaming Quirt Avenue after slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

Because a 30-year-old ordinance requires streets east of Avenue A to be named in alphabetical order after trees and shrubs, council members decided to ask the HRC to consider alternative ways to honor King.

After receiving the commission's reply, the council plans to schedule a public hearing on ways to honor King.

Also at the meeting, the council:

- Set a 10 a.m. public hearing on Oct. 11 to hear from residents of the Yellowhouse Canyon Addition and the owner of the neighborhood's private water system about inadequate water service.
- Amended a federal grant application so the city can purchase 18 rather than 14 39-passenger buses.

- Decided to meet with Chamber of Commerce officials on an HRC recommendation on ways to increase minority membership on the Board of City Development.

Reduced the city's participation in alley paving from 50 percent to 10 percent, virtually eliminating alley paving in the city.

County Hospital Gains Approval For Construction Of Burn Unit

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Health Sciences Center Hospital was approved for the construction of a specialized burn unit at Thursday morning's meeting of the Texas Health Facilities Commission.

Health Sciences officials have been working toward approval of a four-bed unit since June, when the local South Plains Health Systems approved their application for a certificate of need. SPHS backed the hospital in saying the South Plains area is in immediate need of specialized care for burn victims.

Administrator Robert Berryman, nos-pital legal counsel Don Cummings and Dr. David Bessinger made the pitch for the unit before hearing officer John Darrouzet Aug. 15. Darrouzet recommended the construction of the unit to the health facilities commission last week, with the stipulation that no more than $130,000 be spent on its construction.

However, that amount already has been spent on equipment for the unit.

Health Sciences is not financially able to construct the unit now, but has a year's time before the certificate of need expires. The unit had been estimated to cost about $182,000 for construction alone. In making their presentation to the South Plains Health Systems board in June, hospital representatives said that private corporations and granting institutions had expressed interest in funding the unit.

Proponents of the burn unit stress that the facility will organize and formalize acute burn care for victims in Lubbock and the surrounding area. Currently victims are treated in hospitals without burn programs or are sent to burn centers in Dallas, San Antonio and Galveston.

The unit would be remodeled from the existing surgical, intensive-care unit and adjacent call rooms and offices. Facilities for hydrotherapy and some physical therapy will be available within the burn unit so that severely injured patients will not have to be removed from the unit — thus risking contamination so dangerous to burn victims.

Surgical and specialized diagnostic procedures would still require removal from the unit. But the operating room is right across the hall, so traveling distance would be minimal.

In supporting the hospital's request for the unit, Bessinger submitted a survey indicating that approximately 475 burn patients were hospitalized in the area served by Health Sciences. That area includes Amarillo, Abilene, the Permian Basin, El Paso and Eastern New Mexico.

Bessinger's projections indicate an increase to 529 burn patients per year by 1983.

Man Disputes Officers' Account Of Shooting

HOUSTON (UPI) — A medical student disputes the police account of a man's fatal shooting, claiming officers abused the man and a woman companion, lied about the man being armed and in saying there was a second man who fled the scene.

Officers J.C. Valentino and R.W. Robinson reported they stopped a car and shot the driver, Reggie Lee Jackson, 28, Wednesday after the woman kicked Valentino and Jackson and another man fled. They said Jackson pointed a gun at them.

Charles Thompson IV, 34, a medical assistant who works for his physician father on Dowling Street where the shooting occurred about 2 a.m. Wednesday, said he was in the office waiting for friends when the incident occurred.

Thompson said he watched through a window and then went out through a side door to watch from behind the corner of the building.

Thompson said the officers stopped the car Jackson was driving and ordered Jackson and a woman out of the car. The officers said a second man was lying across the back seat. Thompson said there was no second man in the car.

"Let me tell you emphatically there was no such animal. That was absolutely false. There was one black male and one black female and that was it," Thompson said.

Thompson said Jackson was frisked, then ordered to drop his pants so the officers could search his shorts.

"There's no way in hell he could even have had a toothpick on him after that search, much less a gun," Thompson said.

Thompson said the officers also searched the woman and, when one of them put his hand in her hip pocket, she said, "You can't do that."

Thompson said the officer struck her on the head with a flashlight and said, "Don't you know I can hurt you, girl."

Thompson said she fell dazed to the pavement and one of the officers carried her to the patrol car.

Thompson said Jackson then started running and the officers gave chase. Thompson said he panicked and ran back inside the building and, through the wall, heard someone say "Please, please."

Health Sciences officials have been working toward approval of a four-bed unit since June, when the local South Plains Health Systems approved their application for a certificate of need. SPHS backed the hospital in saying the South Plains area is in immediate need of specialized care for burn victims.

able to make her Lubbock appearances.

Although Miss Smith is filling the headline position at the fair, said Lewis, tickets will be refunded at the Fair Park box office to those who do not want to see the second line-up of performers.

Miss Smith has had three number one singles, including "It Only Hurts a Little While," "Little Things Mean A Lot," and "Don't Break the Heart that Loves You."

The singer-songwriter's current release is "Baby, My Baby."

Miss Smith, whose new album should be shipped in October, began writing songs while teaching kindergarten and was encouraged by her friends to write seriously.

After singing in several local clubs, she signed with Twentieth Century Records in 1975 and released her first record, "There, I Said It," which hit number two on the country charts.

When country and pop music was phased out of that company, Miss Smith joined Warner Brothers and writes many of her songs with Noro Wilson, head of the artist and repertoire department.

Before headlining her own shows, Miss Smith had worked with Conway Twitty, T.G. Shepherd, Jerry Reed and Rex Allen Jr.

City Nurses Face Drug Charges

A male registered nurse at Health Sciences Center Hospital Thursday was charged with stealing seven stethoscopes from the hospital, and he and a male licensed vocational nurse at the county-owned medical complex were charged with possession of the pain-killing drug Demerol.

Robert Maurice Scott, R.N., 28, of 2217 Ninth St., was charged with possession of a controlled substance, Demerol, and theft over $200 in the reported theft of the stethoscopes.

Kelly Bryan Hogan, 24, of 223 Indiana Ave., No. 105-B, the L.V.N., was charged with possession of two controlled substances — Demerol and Seconal.

The district attorney's office recommended total bonds of $25,000 for Scott and $20,000 for Hogan.

Texas Tech University police, federal Drug Enforcement Administration agents and officers of the criminal district attorney's office took part in the investigation leading to the Thursday arrests of the two men, a district attorney's office spokesman said.

President Cited As Heart Attack Risk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter's physician Dr. William Lukash said today he has recommended the president continue to jog — but a health expert said Carter's cholesterol level makes him a heart attack risk.

Lukash called jogging a "good release" for Carter, and said he has recommended it. He said he has not used the controversial "stress test" to determine if Carter should keep jogging because its effectiveness is unclear.

But Nathan Pritikin, director of the Longevity Center and Longevity Research Institute in Santa Barbara, Calif., and author of "The Pritikin Program for Diet and Exercise" disagrees.

Pritikin wrote a letter to Carter — who will be 55 Monday — after the president's near collapse during a 6.2-mile road race earlier this month.

"I haven't heard from him," Pritikin told UPI, "but any person who stays on the typical American diet and runs had better not bother with a physician, he should just see a good lawyer because he's not going to live very long. Marathon runners are dying every week from heart attacks."

"That happens all over the country and when I saw President Carter's cholesterol level, which is 239, and his physician thought he was perfectly healthy, I quivered because the average cholesterol of a person dropping dead from heart disease is 235, Pritikin said.

"I suggested that his cholesterol level is far too high, and that he immediately modify his diet if he wants to continue running or otherwise I suggest he walks," he added.

Asked if it is Carter's strenuous exercise that worries him, Pritikin said: "Yes, and let me tell you why. The plaques, the artery boils, cholesterol boils that build up in the arteries are made of a mushy like substance. These are like a quivering ball of Jello, and every time you run the running makes this ball jolt, and if you run enough the jolt is going to break one of those off one day and that's the last day you're going to have."

He said the tragedy of heart disease is that "there are no symptoms until your coronary arteries are at least 90 per cent closed."

"Four hundred thousand people in our country die suddenly," he said. "There are no symptoms whatsoever before they die, and that's the last of them. That's the tragedy of it, in that the closure of the arteries happens over a period of years, and until the day you die, you're healthy."

Lukash was asked why he had not given Carter a stress test. He told UPI a recent study reported in the New England Journal "substantiated the limitations of this test." Carter has been given two comprehensive medical examinations since the race — one on the day of his collapse and another the next day — with Lukash pronouncing him in "excellent health."

Since then there have been questions why Lukash had not given Carter a stress test.

"Because the controversy regarding the effectiveness of the exercise stress test in detecting heart disease in normal individuals without risk factors of hypertension, diabetes, insufficient exercise and high blood lipids remains unsettled, the test has not been given to the president," Lukash said.

Top White House aides, who felt the incident — and front page pictures of him in a state of near collapse — did not help Carter's "image," have admonished Lukash for allowing Carter to participate in the race.

Administration Approves Steel Loan Guarantees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration announced approval Thursday of a guarantee of $111.1 million in private sector loans to help the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh carry out a plant modernization program.

The program also is designed to protect more than 28,000 jobs for steel workers.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce Robert T. Hall said the action will help strengthen the firm's capability for competing with foreign steel companies.

Vote By CAB Victory For Pan Am

MIAMI (AP) — Pan American World Airways has apparently won the three-way battle to take over National Airlines and gain the domestic routes it has coveted for so long.

The Civil Aeronautics Board on Thursday rejected Eastern Airlines' bid to merge with Miami-based National, saying the deal would be anti-competitive. The 3-0 vote means the Pan Am-National merger now needs only the approval of the CAB and President Carter. Texas International Airlines earlier dropped out of the race.

Eastern conceded defeat in the merger war. But President Frank Borman said he would renew efforts to win National's lucrative transatlantic routes.

"The decision has not shut us off from their European routes, and you can be sure we will pursue them with vigor," he said. "Eastern's need to expand and grow remains unchanged."

National, which has expressed its preference for a Pan Am merger, was pleased with the CAB decision.

Pan Am already controls 75 percent of National's stock and wants to absorb National by the end of the year — possibly as early as Nov. 15. Officials say the merger will cost at least $400 million.

Pan Am, based in New York, has promised to keep a major work force in Miami if the merger is approved. Although no layoffs would be made, some of National's 5,000 employees in Miami might have to be transferred, Pan Am said.

The CAB said its vote, with one abstention, was based on fears an Eastern-National merger would cut competition — especially on routes connecting Washington and New York to Florida.

Eastern and National have overlapping routes in 53 markets and their merger would have created the second largest airline in the world, capturing about 14 percent of the U.S. commercial airline business with 303 aircraft, the CAB said.

Borman's main target will be National's London-Miami route. National also flies between New York and Amsterdam and has routes connecting Florida with Amsterdam, Zurich and Paris.

"We feel very confident that the logic for our position for Miami-London is so strong that we will emerge victorious," Eastern Vice Chairman Charles Simons said.

The final decision on the Pan Am-National case is scheduled for Oct. 9. President Carter can overrule it within 60 days.

Strike Force Investigates Businesses In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal strike force is investigating Houston businesses that hire illegal aliens to make sure the undocumented workers are paid legal wage rates.

Bill A. Belt, the Department of Labor's regional administrator for employment standards, said a team of 10 investigators also is attempting to collect back wages for any illegal aliens who have been deported.

In a news conference Thursday, Belt said the team from the department's wage and hour division will make no attempt to identify individual illegal aliens for deportation.

The strike force, which began operating Sept. 10, are here "to remove the economic advantage for hiring undocumented workers by requiring employers to adhere strictly to federal labor standards," Belt said.

"Thus employers will be more inclined to hire residents and prevent exploitation of illegal workers," he said at a news conference.

He said this first strike force was initiated in Houston because it has the greatest percentage of employed undocumented workers in the country and ranks second to Los Angeles in the number of illegal aliens in residence.

He said the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimates there are 500-

Air Midwest Plans Daily Flights Between Roswell, Albuquerque

ROSWELL, N.M. (UPI) — Air Midwest has announced it will begin operating eight daily round trip flights between Roswell and Albuquerque and will also reinstate service to Clovis, N.M.

Air Midwest, which is replacing Texas International in providing service to four southeast New Mexico cities, said Thursday the new flights between Roswell and Albuquerque will begin on Monday.

The airline has been operating two flights daily between the two cities, while Texas International had been running a single daily flight between Albuquerque and Roswell.

Air Midwest senior vice president James A. Pickett also announced the resumption of service between Clovis and Albuquerque. Service to that city was suspended last July 1 so that Air Midwest could divert part of its aircraft fleet to serve Carlsbad and Hobbs. The new schedule calls for three daily flights between Clovis and Albuquerque.

Pickett said Air Midwest will utilize a 17-passenger, jet-prop airplane to serve Roswell. The flight schedule calls for the first daily flight to originate at 6:20 a.m. with the final flight of the day at 7:55 p.m.

Scientists Fail To Find Solutions To Oil Spill

GALVESTON (AP) — A team of scientists says some answers may have been found to control future oil spills, but nothing definite can now be predicted to control the fuel spreading through the Gulf of Mexico from the runaway Mexican oil well.

The scientists returned Thursday after a three-week tour of the oil spill in the Bay of Campeche and admitted they needed more time to analyze their findings before coming up with any definite technical solutions.

Dr. John Farrington, senior chemist for the team, said, "It is wrong to say the oil spill is the disaster of the decade. There are earthquakes and hurricanes and famines which have claimed thousands of lives. This oil spill does not fall into that category and has claimed no lives."

Dr. Donald Atwood, chief scientist on the voyage, said, "It is an ecological mess down there. It is one ungodly mess. But as of now, we must put together and study all the information we have collected."

"This is now a gray area and we are compiling information for future use. We feel frustrated because we cannot give hard answers to your hard questions."

The voyage to the oil spill, at a cost of about $1.5 million, was sponsored by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, an arm of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Aboard the ship U.S.S. Researcher were scientists from NOAA, Texas A&M University, the universities of Louisville, North Carolina, Washington, and the French and Mexican governments.

Atwood said one of the findings that may help control future spills was that thick concentrations of oil termed mousse "does not form until it is three to 15 miles from the well."

"Mousse appears also to be a function caused by sunlight and wind, not just a combination of oil and water," he said.

Atwood said the research team received "carte blanche" cooperation from the Mexican government.

Atwood said that in his personal opinion PEMEX, the Mexican national oil company is now putting all its efforts into placing a cement cap over the runaway well and that "there is very little cleanup operation now under way."

TV Coverage Of Trial Approved

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Television and still cameras will be allowed to record the October trial of Roger Dale Stafford, charged in the slayings of six restaurant employees.

District Judge Charles Owens agreed to the coverage Thursday and Stafford and his attorneys gave their approval.

During a brief hearing, Owens asked

Stafford if he wanted picture coverage of his Oct. 8 trial. "Yes sir," Stafford replied.

His attorney, Rick Brewer, said the defense did not object to the coverage "because there has been so much publicity already it is not going to matter. Besides, the jury will be sequestered."

Suspect Receives Aid In Eluding Student

A Lubbock Christian College student who reportedly chased down a purse thief about 12:15 a.m. today in the 5600-block of 19th Street, lost his hold on the suspect after another man came to the alleged thief's assistance.

John May, who lives in Johnson Hall on the LCC campus, was beaten by the two men, resulting in his being taken to Methodist Hospital, where he was treated for minor injuries and released.

May told police he saw the man running across the campus with an LCC coed's purse, and caught the thief in an alley. However, another man arrived on the scene, and both suspects were able to escape, according to reports.

May described the suspects as Mexican-American men.

In a separate report, Roy Rucker, 40, of 3007 Emory St. said a man shot him in the nose in front of a club in the 800-block of 34th Street about 11 p.m. Wednesday.

Rucker, who was treated and released at West Texas Hospital, said he was asleep in a pickup truck in front of the nightclub when the gunman entered the vehicle.

Businessman Files Suit Over Laetrile

GRAHAM (AP) — Mack Rickels says he has filed suit against the Food and Drug Administration to end "Gestapo-type tactics" directed at his business, the only registered Laetrile manufacturing plant in the nation.

Rickels said he filed suit in federal court at Fort Worth Wednesday to block the FDA from interfering with the manufacture, sale, importing or transportation of the substance.

Laetrile is extracted from apricot pits and its supporters claim it is a cancer-controlling agent.

Rickels began making Laetrile legally in January under protection of a state law.

However, federal law prohibits transportation of raw materials or final products of the manufacturing process across state lines.

The suit names as defendants the U.S. government; Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Patricia Harris; FDA Commissioner Jere Goyan and U.S. Customs Service Commissioner Robert Chasen.

The suit also alleges civil rights violations when the FDA raided Rickels' plant, on his ranch near here, Aug. 14.

"No one has taken the offensive against them (the government)," Rickels said Thursday.

"Instead of sitting around waiting ... we decided to take initiative and go to court in Texas, where we are operating within the law and no statute is being broken, and establish that the FDA cannot be permitted to use their normal Gestapo-type tactics to keep us from doing business."

Rickels said if it weren't for federal agents, his work would be rewarding.

"Never have I heard one single word against what I'm doing," he said, "aside from an employee of the FDA. Not one single time have I had anything except praise for my willingness to stand up to these people."

He said the state of Texas "has been very reasonable in its regulation of what I am doing. They do not have the blind attitude of the FDA. We feel that they (the FDA) should not be ... involved in any way in the production."

Parole Given Area Convict

AUSTIN — Benito Guzman, convicted of burglary of a vehicle in Dawson County Feb. 14, has been paroled by Gov. Bill Clements on recommendation of the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Another person convicted in the Lubbock area has had his parole revoked.

Guzman was paroled to Bee County after serving and earning eight months of a two-year sentence.

Jesse Gloria, convicted of burglary in Lamb County in 1975, had his parole revoked for unsatisfactory adjustment. Gloria had been on parole since July 1, 1977.

Men Charged In Burglaries

The Lubbock Criminal District Attorney's office Wednesday filed criminal charges against three Lubbock men in connection with as many as 50 burglaries in five South Plains counties.

Alfred Mendoza, 31, of 320 Ave. R and Rongelio "Roy" Rodriguez, 31, of 2710 Bates, were charged with burglary of habitation. Each man is being held in Lubbock County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Theft charges were filed against Ernest Rodriguez, 25, of 2408 Auburn. Rodriguez was released from jail Wednesday after posting bond.

Authorities believe the three men may have been responsible for burglaries in Lubbock, Lynn, Lamb, Hockley and Crosby counties during a six-week period that netted more than $200,000 in clothing, jewelry and household goods.

Sheriff's deputy Sonny Keesee said Mendoza and Alfred Rodriguez have provided authorities with information to clear 27 burglaries.

Man On Horse From Club

By JACK DOUGLAS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

You might say he was just horsing around, but that didn't stop police from taking him to the Lubbock County jail anyway.

It all started shortly before midnight Thursday at Lee's Lounge at 30th Street and Avenue H when the bartender refused to serve a man a drink because she thought he was too intoxicated.

So the man, apparently feeling the woman might at least water his four-legged friend, exited the club and re-entered on his horse.

"Will you please remove your horse?" the club manager asked the man. When he refused, police were called.

One of five officers dispatched to the scene said that when they entered the nightclub they found a "full-size" horse inside. Police ordered the man to take his horse outside, and, this time, he complied.

The man, who is celebrating his 54th birthday today, was taken to the county jail on suspicion of public intoxication. His human companion also was jailed after police learned there was a warrant for his arrest on a bad check charge.

The horse also was taken into police custody and carted to the city animal shelter.

And then there was another club patron who was having a beer and minding his own business when the horseman galloped in.

When police arrived, they recognized the patron and took him to the county jail after learning there was a warrant out for his arrest for a traffic violation.

Some days it just doesn't pay to get up.

Dream Trip Becomes Reality For School

This time last year, Lubbock State School staff members and residents began talking about a dream trip to California.

Beginning last winter, they started raising money with chili dinners, bake sales and rehabilitation cottage work. Then came car washes and community fund raising for the trip.

The money "was finally raised, and Sunday the trip will become a reality."

Four chartered buses will leave at 2 p.m. Sunday with 120 state school residents and 69 sponsors, including school staff members and parents of residents, for visits to Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm and Universal Studios.

The group will return to Lubbock Friday.

Drug Investigation Leads To 18 Arrests

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Narcotics officers, armed with warrants issued by a Bexar County grand jury, have arrested 18 persons on charges of dealing in drugs, including methamphetamines, amphetamines, cocaine and marijuana.

Seven of the 18 persons were identified as juveniles. The arrests by 20 officers were made this week, officials said.

Narcotics Sgt. Arturo Salinas said the arrests climaxed four months of undercover work by a single officer.

Withdrawal From SPAG Draws Fire From Minority Groups

By RUTHANNE BROCKWAY
Avalanche-Journal Staff

An organization of area minority groups says it may use its political clout to publicly disapprove of the Lubbock County Commissioners' decision to withdraw membership from the South Plains Association of Governments.

The Conference of Organizations, composed of representatives from 35 area minority groups, met Thursday to decide its course of action on the matter.

Individuals in the group already have expressed their displeasure. Gilbert Herrera of the Brown Berets called it "a slap in the face" and accused the commissioners of "playing games with us."

The commissioners pulled out after SPAG amended its bylaws to add eight members to represent the minority community.

Bidel Aguerro, publisher of El Editor newspaper, said of Lubbock County's withdrawal, "I don't know if it's a racial reaction or if they are sincere in saying it's because of federal intervention, but it's one of the two. I think it's more of a racial reaction."

Aguero believes minority members of county advisory boards should resign in protest of the matter, saying that the county doesn't object to minority membership on "rinky-dink" advisory boards but does object to "real representation such as SPAG."

The conference plans to poll minority members of advisory boards for their reaction on resignation. If that idea fails, the conference will write "a strong letter" to the county commissioners expressing public disapproval of their withdrawal from SPAG.

One conference member disagreed with the proposal that minorities resign from advisory boards, saying, "Who will represent us then?"

The conference also accepted the names of four minority representatives nominated by their executive board to

Balloon Making Slow Progress In Journey

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A balloon 10 stories tall floated gently over Wyoming today as its four occupants trusted the winds to carry them to the Atlantic Coast by early next week.

Forecasters on the ground had predicted the DaVinci Trans-America balloon would be near Cheyenne at daybreak today. They had to revise their forecast, however, when the balloon slowed north of Rock Springs, in western Wyoming.

"I'm assuming they've come nearly to a stop and have stayed that way for the past three hours," said Jim Serna of Weather Services Corp. of Bedford, Mass., about 5 a.m. EDT today. The corporation is the meteorological ground support team for what organizers hope will be the first nonstop balloon crossing of the country.

Later, however, the balloon appeared to pick up speed as it drifted to the east-southeast.

Bob Rice of Weather Services reported about 7:30 a.m. that the balloon was floating at 16,300 feet five miles directly south of Rawlins, about 105 miles east of Rock Springs.

"They had slowed down markedly late in the evening (Thursday) and then we hadn't heard from them in about six hours," Rice said. He estimated that the balloon averaged about 11 knots, or roughly 13 mph, during the night, but that its speed had increased to about 22 knots, or 25 mph, by daybreak.

The balloon's passengers took turns keeping watch and huddling in sleeping bags to ward off temperatures of less than 10 degrees as the balloon crossed Wyoming's desolate Red Desert at 17,000 feet above sea level.

They crossed Oregon and parts of Idaho and Montana after being launched Wednesday from Tillamook, Ore., and they hope to cross the country in 6½ days. So far the only reported problems have been a balky radio and cold temperatures at night.

The occupants of the two level gondolas are pilots Rudolf Engelmann of Boulder, Colo., Vera Simons of McLean, Va., and Fred Hyde of Kansas City, Kan., and NBC cameraman Randy Birch.

Girl Serious After Rescue From Pool

An 8-year-old Ackery girl, who was pulled from the bottom of a Lubbock swimming pool about 9:30 p.m. Thursday, was listed in serious condition today at Health Sciences Center Hospital.

Shelby Airhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Airhart of Ackery, was pulled from the pool at the Villa Inn Motor Hotel, 5401 Ave. Q, by a family friend who had taken a first aid course last year, "just in case I might need it."

Her mother, finding the girl missing from her room, went to the pool area where the youngster had been playing earlier and saw her daughter in the bottom of the pool.

Lamesa residents Jim Bob Beam and Max Richards, both friends of the Airhart family, pulled the girl from the pool and Richards began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. EMS paramedics called to the scene administered first aid to regulate the girl's breathing.

The Airharts, in town for the 4-H stock show at the Panhandle South Plains Fair, had checked into the south-east Lubbock hotel Thursday.

Richards, also in Lubbock for the fair's stock show, said he had taken a Red Cross-sponsored cardiopulmonary resuscitation course in April 1978, "just in case I ever needed it. And you know, I think I might just take a refresher course."

Police Remove Man On Horse From Club

By JACK DOUGLAS

You might say he was just horsing around, but that didn't stop police from taking him to the Lubbock County jail anyway.

It all started shortly before midnight Thursday at Lee's Lounge at 30th Street and Avenue H when the bartender refused to serve a man a drink because she thought he was too intoxicated.

So the man, apparently feeling the woman might at least water his four-legged friend, exited the club and re-entered on his horse.

"Will you please remove your horse?" the club manager asked the man. When he refused, police were called.

One of five officers dispatched to the scene said that when they entered the nightclub they found a "full-size" horse inside. Police ordered the man to take his horse outside, and, this time, he complied.

The man, who is celebrating his 54th birthday today, was taken to the county jail on suspicion of public intoxication. His human companion also was jailed after police learned there was a warrant for his arrest on a bad check charge.

The horse also was taken into police custody and carted to the city animal shelter.

And then there was another club patron who was having a beer and minding his own business when the horseman galloped in.

When police arrived, they recognized the patron and took him to the county jail after learning there was a warrant out for his arrest for a traffic violation.

Some days it just doesn't pay to get up.

Men Charged In Burglaries

The Lubbock Criminal District Attorney's office Wednesday filed criminal charges against three Lubbock men in connection with as many as 50 burglaries in five South Plains counties.

Alfred Mendoza, 31, of 320 Ave. R and Rongelio "Roy" Rodriguez, 31, of 2710 Bates, were charged with burglary of habitation. Each man is being held in Lubbock County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Theft charges were filed against Ernest Rodriguez, 25, of 2408 Auburn. Rodriguez was released from jail Wednesday after posting bond.

Authorities believe the three men may have been responsible for burglaries in Lubbock, Lynn, Lamb, Hockley and Crosby counties during a six-week period that netted more than $200,000 in clothing, jewelry and household goods.

Sheriff's deputy Sonny Keesee said Mendoza and Alfred Rodriguez have provided authorities with information to clear 27 burglaries.

Drug Investigation Leads To 18 Arrests

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Narcotics officers, armed with warrants issued by a Bexar County grand jury, have arrested 18 persons on charges of dealing in drugs, including methamphetamines, amphetamines, cocaine and marijuana.

Seven of the 18 persons were identified as juveniles. The arrests by 20 officers were made this week, officials said.

Narcotics Sgt. Arturo Salinas said the arrests climaxed four months of undercover work by a single officer.

Withdrawal From SPAG Draws Fire From Minority Groups

By RUTHANNE BROCKWAY

An organization of area minority groups says it may use its political clout to publicly disapprove of the Lubbock County Commissioners' decision to withdraw membership from the South Plains Association of Governments.

The Conference of Organizations, composed of representatives from 35 area minority groups, met Thursday to decide its course of action on the matter.

Individuals in the group already have expressed their displeasure. Gilbert Herrera of the Brown Berets called it "a slap in the face" and accused the commissioners of "playing games with us."

The commissioners pulled out after SPAG amended its bylaws to add eight members to represent the minority community.

Bidel Aguerro, publisher of El Editor newspaper, said of Lubbock County's withdrawal, "I don't know if it's a racial reaction or if they are sincere in saying it's because of federal intervention, but it's one of the two. I think it's more of a racial reaction."

Aguero believes minority members of county advisory boards should resign in protest of the matter, saying that the county doesn't object to minority membership on "rinky-dink" advisory boards but does object to "real representation such as SPAG."

The conference plans to poll minority members of advisory boards for their reaction on resignation. If that idea fails, the conference will write "a strong letter" to the county commissioners expressing public disapproval of their withdrawal from SPAG.

One conference member disagreed with the proposal that minorities resign from advisory boards, saying, "Who will represent us then?"

The conference also accepted the names of four minority representatives nominated by their executive board to last summer and guided it to a near perfect touchdown near Paris. But they say they'll be happy with anything on the East Coast.

"I'll take anything between Key West and Caribou," said Bob Rice, calling predictions of a landing near Norfolk, Va., more "press agentry" than scientific prediction.

Forecasters on the ground had predicted the DaVinci Trans-America balloon would be near Cheyenne at daybreak today. They had to revise their forecast, however, when the balloon slowed north of Rock Springs, in western Wyoming.

McCrorry, Burleson Met, Witness Says

FORT WORTH (AP) — Defense witness Jodie Mack Oliver says he saw David McCrorry and Pat Burleson engaged in whispered conversation at Burleson's karate studio just before millionaire Cullen Davis was arrested in August 1978.

Oliver was on the stand Thursday in Davis' murder solicitation trial.

McCrorry is the state's key witness against Davis in the trial, testifying Davis is tried to get him to arrange the deaths of several people including Davis' divorcee, Joe Eidson.

The Davis defense team contends Davis is the victim of an elaborate frame-up concocted by McCrorry, Burleson and Davis' ex-wife Priscilla.

Oliver also told the jury he saw McCrorry and Burleson together last January after both had testified in an earlier trial of the charges, a trial that ended with a hung jury.

On cross-examination prosecutor Jack Strickland brought out that Oliver is a convicted rapist whose living expenses are being paid by Davis' attorneys.

"I went to them for help because I thought my life was in danger," he said.

"They kind of put you on the Cullen Davis witness protection program?" Strickland asked sarcastically.

"Yes sir," he replied, amid defense objections.

Oliver told Strickland that a defense lawyer once gave him $1,000 to help him relocate in East Texas, but he volunteered that the cash "was not bribe money."

Earlier in the proceedings, and with the jury out of the courtroom, presiding judge Gordon Gray took lead defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes to task for failing to present an adequate defense.

"I read your opening statement, trying to figure out what you were doing, and it doesn't say anything, it's just words," Gray said.

"It was fractured a little bit," responded Haynes, "but it should not be held against Cullen Davis."

"Well," said Gray, "it presents no legal defense, you know. I mean, what you outlined in your opening statement is not a legal defense."

Haynes argued that "it's a legal defense to show no motive."

Later Gray told Haynes, "You're going to have to produce a defense with some testimony. Otherwise I'm not going to hear anything that I consider irrelevant. And I consider most of what you've produced so far as irrelevant and immaterial."

Saying he would not permit Haynes to turn his courtroom into a "circus," Gray declared:

Dream Trip Becomes Reality For School

This time last year, Lubbock State School staff members and residents began talking about a dream trip to California.

Beginning last winter, they started raising money with chili dinners, bake sales and rehabilitation cottage work. Then came car washes and community fund raising for the trip.

The money "was finally raised, and Sunday the trip will become a reality."

Four chartered buses will leave at 2 p.m. Sunday with 120 state school residents and 69 sponsors, including school staff members and parents of residents, for visits to Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm and Universal Studios.

The group will return to Lubbock Friday.

Champion Ewes, Rams Exhibited At Fair

By KATHLEEN HARRIS

Avalanche-Journal Farm Writer
Exhibitors from across Texas, Colorado and Indiana showed champion ewes and rams Thursday in the Panhandle South Plains Fair sheep show.

About 149 animals competed in the five breed divisions that were judged by John Menzies of Odessa.

Wesley Hodges of Sterling City dominated the Rambouillet show, exhibiting both the champion ram and the champion ewe.

Both Dorset champions were shown by Bob Cobean of Longmont, Colo. and Don Sellers of Kempton, Ind. won the two championships in Southdown competition.

In the struggle for the top animal in the Suffolks show, G. and R. A. Sanders of Mullins won the ram championship while Scott Orr of Tahoka took the champion ewe banner.

Miller Hampshires of Seagraves exhibited the top Hampshire ram and Carroll Bentley of Panhandle showed the champion ewe.

Livestock judging concludes today with the junior lamb and steer shows.

Results from Thursday follow:

USDA Providing Information For Grain Export Businesses

By RODERICK TURNBULL
Kansas City Board of Trade

KANSAS CITY — A U.S. Department of Agriculture report is called "U.S. Export Sales." It is published weekly and comes out the latter part of each week. The pamphlet on which the report is printed contains 30 to 45 pages.

The report is one of the major indicators as to the grain trade on how much business is being done overseas. The data contained affects prices and therefore is of interest to farmers whether they ever see it or not. It is, of course, publicly available and no doubt is studied carefully by representatives of other nations which are either importers or exporters of grain.

The USDA provides other data which also indicates the extent of the grain export business. In its supply and demand reports, as an example, it analyzes the "situation" and comes up with a projection on the yearly export total on the various grains. The projections may change as conditions change either in this country or around the world.

As an example, in July, the USDA projected wheat exports in the current marketing year (June 1, 1979 — May 31, 1980) would total 1,300 million bushels. In August, because of indicated increased world demand, the USDA raised its projection by 100 million bushels to 1,400 million.

The first of each week, the USDA provides the data on actual shipments of all grains in the previous week plus the total shipments to date for the marketing year.

The "U.S. Export Sales" report supplements the other data by revealing not only the actual shipments of the grains, but the sales that have been made for future delivery, both to definite and to "unknown" destinations. This report is a development that came with the law passed a few years ago requiring all exporters to report within 24 hours any export sales of 100,000 bushels or more whether to known or unknown destinations.

In general, the trade regards the quantity of the sale more important as a price factor than the immediate name of the buyer. Eventually, however, the name of the buyer is revealed.

There are a lot of figures in the export sales report and it takes some careful reading to get the gist of what it says.

Take wheat as an example. The pages on "all wheat" in the report listed outstanding sales in both metric tons and in bushels to some 69 countries since the start of this marketing year, June 1. Outstanding sales, the report explains, are unshipped balances on sales. The outstanding sales carried in the Aug. 16 release covered transactions up to Aug. 5.

The total on outstanding sales to known destinations in this report was 301.1 million bushels. At the same time, there was a total of sales to unknown destinations of 188.6 million bushels plus 6.5 million bushels in a technical classification that includes unsold commodities shipped abroad and those in transit from the U.S. to foreign ports.

Adding all the sales to known and unknown destinations, total from this report was 496.2 million bushels. At the same time, the amount of wheat that already had been exported since June 1 this year came to 254.1 million bushels. Adding the business on hand, to known and unknown destinations, plus the actual exports revealed a figure of 750.3 million bushels of wheat export business as of Aug. 5.

An interesting point here is that the USDA is projecting wheat exports of a record 1,400 million bushels in this marketing year. So, as of Aug. 5, almost exactly half of the whole year's expected total business has been accounted for. This is one reason for much of the talk about excellent export prospects this year. Incidentally, already, also 15 million bushels of wheat have been sold for delivery in the 1980-81 marketing year which starts next June 1.

The figures on exports are subject to change, mostly upward obviously as the year moves along, but also occasionally downward. An announced sale to either a known or unknown destination can be cancelled. The fact is, a sale never is accomplished totally until the exporter gets his money, but in most cases, of course, the transaction is completed.

It is routine, of course, that sales will be changed from the unknown to the known destination column.

Quite often it is revealed that a sale of a certain number of tons of wheat or corn has been switched from the unknown destination category to the Soviet Union. Switches to the Soviet Union seem to get the most attention, but over the last several weeks switches from the unknown category to several nations have been revealed. Obviously, the practice of listing sales as to unknown destinations is not exclusively designed for trades with the Soviet Union.

The corn marketing year is from Oct. 1 to Sept. 30. The export sales report as of Aug. 5 showed outstanding sales of 328.3 million bushels to known destinations and 40.9 million bushels to unknown for a total of 369.2 million for the remainder of this marketing year. At the same time, actual exports already had reached 1,759.1 million bushels. Thus the total business indicated for the year as of Aug. 5 was 2,128.3 million bushels.

Hog Sale Scheduled At Bilt Rite Farms

HAPPY (Special) — A hog sale by the Bilt Rite Farms of Larry N. Tackitt of Happy is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. here Monday at the Harman-Toles Elevator.

The offering will include 10 Hampshire boars, 30 Hampshire gilts, 10 Duroc boars and 30 Duroc gilts. Tackitt said older barrows for early shows will be a special offering at this sale.

In addition, the farms will offer Duroc, Hampshire and Yorkshire barrows plus a few gilts at a Bilt Rite barrow sale at 7 p.m. Oct. 31.

By DUANE HOWELL

A CONGRESSIONAL CRITIC OF COTTON'S research-promotion program says the U. S. Department of Agriculture has been lax in investigating fresh charges against Cotton Inc.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., in a new letter to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland, criticized the USDA for asking the Cotton Board to investigate the hiring of private detectives to spy on employees in Cotton Inc.'s office in Raleigh, N. C.

The detectives were paid with checkoff money collected from cotton farmers under authority of federal law. Findley said the USDA's inspector general, the Agricultural Marketing Service and the general counsel all should have investigated the issue.

Findley — whose urging initially prompted Bergland to order an inspector general's report that turned out to be critical of Cotton Inc.'s management — said asking Cotton Board chairman Don Anderson of Lubbock to investigate the latest charge is "like putting the fox in the chicken coop."

THE CONTROVERSY RESULTED from an investigation earlier this year by Cotton Inc. president Dukes Wooters to find out who sent copies of newspaper stories about a Cotton Inc. investigation to persons in the cotton industry. Wooters asked employees to take lie detector tests but some refused.

Dr. George Slater, vice president for agricultural research who was a target of Wooters' investigation, was forced to resign, although cotton industry sources said another person has admitted distributing the newspaper articles. Findley said he hoped the USDA would recommend that Slater be rehired.

Findley said the Cotton Board, a producer group appointed by the agriculture secretary to oversee the cotton research-promotion program, would produce only a "whitewash" because its leadership "is enmeshed in an incredible conflict of interest with Wooters."

The Illinois congressman said Anderson, a cotton producer and agribusinessman, had benefited from alleged "sweetheart contracts" arranged by Cotton Inc. providing for "the sale of thousands of bales of his cotton" to foreign textile mills. Findley said all cotton producers should have been given a chance to participate in this contract.

"I DON'T KNOW WHAT A 'SWEETHEART deal' is," Anderson said in an interview. "I have worked to help Cotton Inc. in any way I could to improve and carry out research projects on agricultural production, processing and marketing."

"The tragedy is that we don't have more people who are willing to cooperate with Cotton Inc. to make our whole production and marketing system more efficient. I think this is a situation where Cotton Inc. has worked with the people who were willing to work with them."

Anderson said research or pilot programs require "a lot of time, a lot of effort and expenditure of money" on the part of cooperators and added that not everyone is willing to become that involved. He said the situation is similar to that of farmers working with an agricultural experiment station.

"You go out there and put research plots in your field and in the long run it probably will help to make you money," Anderson said. "But, meanwhile, it costs you a lot of extra effort and extra time and extra money to carry out those research plots. They may wind up being of benefit to everybody but during the time the research is going on it costs you money."

ANDERSON SAID FINDLEY'S CHARGE that a large amount of his cotton was sold through preferential deals "is just absolutely untrue — and certainly no thousands of bales were involved."

He said what Findley probably was referring to was that the Texas Cotton Marketing Corp. — of which Anderson is board chairman — has cooperated with Cotton Inc. in pulling together types of High Plains cotton that would fit specific spinning and fabric requirements.

"There were a lot of problems, a lot of trouble, in accumulating the types of cotton needed," Anderson said. "And if any of my cotton — cotton off my farm — got involved in it, I don't even know it."

So far as he knows, Anderson said, Cotton Inc. — despite Findley's assertion that all producers should have been given "an equal chance at this lucrative contract" — probably would have had difficulty in finding anyone else who would or could have cooperated to the extent required in a detailed project of this kind.

THE TEXAS COTTON MARKETING CORP., Anderson said, has spent money on research grants or contracts with the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech to try to develop information on the qualities that would perform best in the open-end spinning system, for which High Plains cotton is especially well suited.

"That — the open-end spinning system — was what our particular interest was out here," he said.

"I guess you could take any cotton farmer across the United States who has cooperated with Cotton Inc. in either production research, gin processing research, module development, or whatever, and you could say he is working out a 'sweetheart deal' with Cotton Inc. to make him money in the long run," Anderson said.

"But that would not be a fair thing to say," he said, adding that the same principle applies to the dealings he had with Cotton Inc. which were criticized by Findley.

COTTON FUTURES CONTINUED TO ADVANCE Thursday, based on strength in the precious metals markets, the trade's need to meet cash commitments, and fears that the certificated stock level could fall short of increased demands, sources said.

October gained 52 points to settle at 66.45 cents. December advanced 62 points to settle at 66.48 cents. Volume was estimated at 7,050 lots.

Commission houses were the buyers throughout the day against scale-up trade selling. As expected, futures opened stronger in line with gains in the precious metals markets and the weakness of the dollar.

Early in the session, December made its daily high of 66.70 cents on speculative buying. Despite fears that October and December would have difficulty penetrating the 66-cent level, both moved higher with relative ease, sources said. Later, October reached the daily high of 66.50, up 57 points.

Although sources noted trade interests had intensified their demand in the nearby in order to satisfy outstanding commitments, they generally were sellers Thursday. Their buying had been supposed to attract producer selling at higher levels, sources said.

In addition, 17,927 bales have been removed from the certificated stock, prompting heavy trade short covering.

THE GOVERNMENT'S REPORT OF EXPORTS for the week ended Sept. 16, released after the close, was said to be encouraging and constructive.

U. S. cotton export sales for the week totaled 225,900 running bales for 1979-80 delivery and 6,000 bales for shipment in the 1980-81 marketing year.

China took 90,500 bales for 1979-80 delivery, bringing the total Chinese commitment for U. S. cotton this marketing year to 590,200 bales. The week's new sales of 6,000 bales for 1980-81 delivery went entirely to Spain.

Exports were moderate at 97,000 bales, with most of them going to Asia.

Grain Sorghum Board Officers Announced

The Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, with headquarters at Lubbock, has announced the election of four candidates to six-year terms on the board.

They are Dennis Anthony of Friona, who received 332 votes; John Gilbreath of Hart, 341 votes; Steve Lee of Hale Center, 298 votes; and Albert Scheele of Lockney, 282 votes.

There were 398 votes cast. Sixteen write-in candidates were received. A maximum of two votes were received by any one of the write-in candidates.

The four directors, one of whom was an incumbent, were chosen by grain sorghum producers in the 29-county TGSPB area.

Canvassing committee members were Lubbock County Judge Rodrick Shaw, Lubbock County Agent Randy Upshaw, assistant marketing director Bob Gray of the Texas Department of Agriculture, and TGSPB executive director Elbert Harp.

The TGSPB seeks to solve certain production problems, develop new markets for sorghum, and provide information on grain marketing.

Research Center Plans Sugarbeet Tour

AMARILLO (Special) — Growers and others interested in sugarbeet production are invited to a field day and tour on Thursday by Dr. B. A. Stewart, director of research at the U.S. Department of Agriculture Research Center at Bushland.

sugarbeets will be dug from selected treatments to estimate yield and sugar percentage. Additional beets will be dug just before the tour for inspection by growers.

Dr. G. B. Thompson, director of research at the Texas A&M Center at Amarillo, says the event will be sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, USDA's Science and Education Administration, Texas New Mexico Sugarbeet Growers Association, and Holly Sugar Corp.

Winters says, "My research shows that technology and methods are available to produce high tonnage and sucrose with only occasional hand labor."

The tour will start at 9:30 a.m. near the greenhouse.

Sugarbeet growers will see latest research to help fine tune their operations for maximum profit.

Dr. Steve Winters, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researcher at the Center says, "Our research shows that proper management of nitrogen will enable beet growers to have both high root yield and sucrose content."

Two days prior to the field day, a few

KIDS-ONLY CLUB

Five Bean Bags Used In Game

By SHARI LEWIS

Do you have a bean bag? Most American kids have one and don't really know what to do with it. Oh sure, you can play "catch" with a bean bag, but you can do that with a pair of rolled-up socks, too! Last time I was in Japan, I was startled to see many of the kids there played games with five or six bean bags at a time.

Here's a Japanese game that uses five bean bags. You can either make 'em out of small pieces of fabric, filled with dried beans, peas or rice, or use rolled-up sock balls or even pot holders instead.

Put four of the bean bags on the table or floor in front of you. Throw the fifth bag up in the air. Then, with that same throwing hand, quickly pick up one of the bags from the floor and shove it between two fingers of your other hand. Catch the falling bean bag with your throwing hand, and throw it up again. As it is in the air, scoop up the next bag from the floor, and put it between the next two fingers of your other hand.

And when you're done, you should have all four of the bean bags from the floor wedged between the fingers of that other hand.

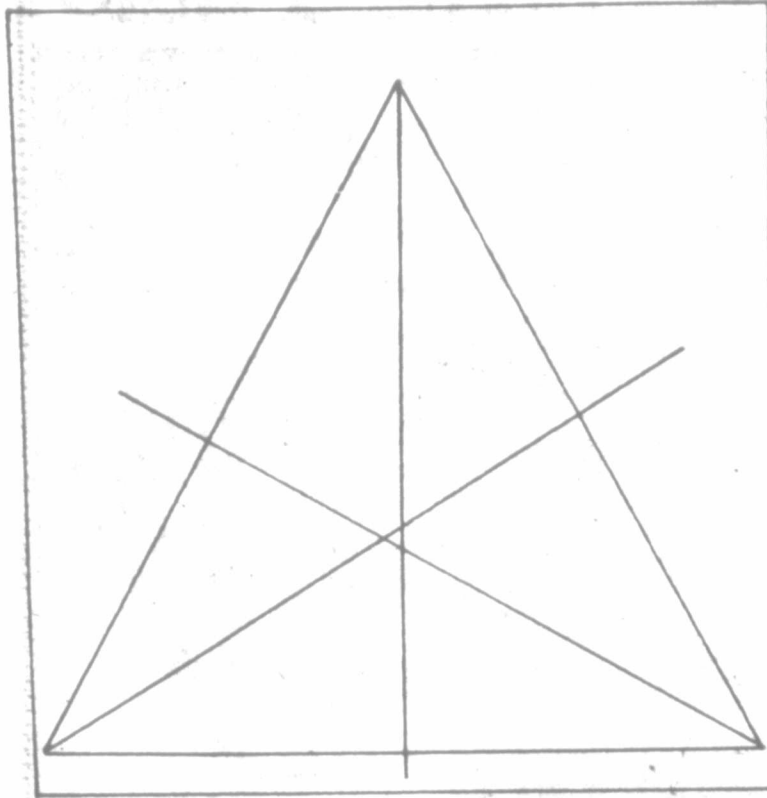

One word of warning: If you make your own bean bags, don't pack 'em so that they are solidly stuffed, and do sew the sides well. You want your bean bags floppy but not sloppy!

Today's Brain Twister: An amoeba divides by doubling each second. In two seconds there are four and in the third second there are eight, and so on. If it takes 60 seconds to fill a box, how long will it take the amoeba to fill half a box? (Look for the answer in Sunday's Kids-Only Club column).

Yesterday's Brain Twister: Can you take six toothpicks and, with them, form 15 triangles?

Answer: (See illustration.) (Mail to Shari should be addressed to Kids-Only Club, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles, Calif. 90053.)

Doctors Say Woman May Be Home Soon

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jessie Thomas, whose lower spine was replaced with a metal device in a pioneering operation, may be able to return home or to a rehabilitative hospital within a month, her doctors say. But there is little likelihood she will walk again, they add.

Dr. Charles Edwards, chief of orthopedic surgery at University of Maryland Hospital, said this week that Mrs. Thomas was sitting up in bed and preparing to resume "living as a person once again."

Louise White, a hospital spokeswoman, said doctors had fitted Mrs. Thomas with a special mid-body cast that allows her to sit up at a 75-degree angle.

Immediately following the surgery last month, Mrs. Thomas, 33, of Baltimore, had been placed in a special stretcher that kept her immobile.

The first book jackets in the United States were made in Charleston, S.C., in 1890 by Isaac Hammond.

Only From BOSE Hi-Fidelity Spatial Control Sound System

The Bose Spatial Control Sound System. The open, spacious sound of the Bose 901-IV Direct/Reflecting Speakers is already legendary. The Bose Spatial Control Receiver gives you unprecedented control over that sound.

Set the spatial control at "Wide" for the open spacious sound of an orchestra or a driving rock band. Slide it to "Narrow" for the more intimate sound of a soloist or small group. The receiver is automatically programmed to direct the sound to the proper place in the room. The control is in your hands.

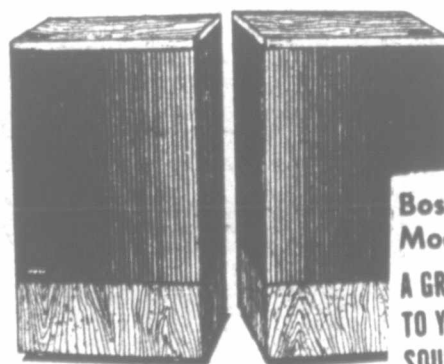

The Spatial Control Receiver has a built-in 901 equalizer. So we are able to save you money, because there is no need to buy the separate equalizer that normally comes with Bose 901 speakers. Still you get the equalizer's benefits.

Special Source and Room Compensation Controls let you adjust 901 speakers for variations in room acoustics and recording quality. BIG FUMBLE RECOVERY — Estacado defensive lineman Warren Lyons (81) clutches the football after recovering a Kent Potts fumble inches from the goal line early in Thursday's game against Monterey at Lowrey Field. Also protecting the pigskin is Estacado's Kelvin Majors. That killed a possible Monterey threat but the Plainsmen recovered for a 7-0 victory. (Staff Photo by Milton Adams)

MHS Hands Mats First Defeat 7-0

The game had been billed as a hard-hitting, defensive struggle. And, lo and behold, that's just the way it turned out as Monterey eked out a narrow 7-0 win over Estacado Thursday night.

A glance at the stats will tell how close the contest was and anyone who was at Lowrey Field knows how rugged the play was. Hardly a series went by without someone limping off the field. With the Plainsmen victory, both teams are now 3-1 on the year. The contest also marked the first shutout inflicted on the Matadors this season.

But the win came only by the narrowest of margins. After battling evenly through the first half, Monterey capitalized on a critical Matador mistake to break open the scoreless tie.

Facing a fourth-and-21 on his 32, Matador punter James Rose watched in horror as the snap from center sailed high over his head. Rose picked up the ball inside the 10 but was dragged down by a horde of Plainsmen at the EHS 21.

And Monterey wasted no time putting the ball in the end zone. Fullback Ricky Pinkerton burst 8 yards, then tailback Willie Johnson got 3 more to the EHS 8-yard line.

Johnson got another yard on the next carry, then blew up the middle for 7 yards and a touchdown. The Plainsmen tailback carried three Estacado defenders with him the last 3 yards. Kent Potts' extra point made it 7-0 with 4:28 left in the third period.

"Our kids wanted it really bad," said MHS coach James Odom. "I thought Ricky Pinkerton and Willie Johnson just did a great job for us. And the entire defensive unit was just outstanding."

Johnson, who carried for 86 yards on 20 carries, and Pinkerton (17 for 79) did provide the brunt of the MHS attack which netted 214 yards — all on the ground.

And the Monterey defense held the Matador ground attack to only 99 yards and 147 yards of total. That's the lowest output of the year for the Mats.

"They (Monterey) deserved to win," said Estacado coach Louis Kelley. "They played exceptionally well and that one mistake killed us. Still, our kids played a tough ballgame. It was just one of those things."

With just two over two minutes left in the contest, the Mats threw a scare into MHS.

Jerry Gray returned a Monterey punt from the EHS 15 all the way to the Monterey 45. But a clipping penalty moved the Mats all the way back to their own 12 — a hole they just couldn't dig their

Both teams moved well in the first half but couldn't come up with the big play. Monterey came within inches of scoring in the first quarter but fumbled near the Mat goal line.

Mustangs Shock Tascosa 17-0

By JIM FERGUSON

AMARILLO — The Tascosa Rebels must have taken a cue from one of those 50-watt radio stations that dot the Panhandle. At sundown, they went off the air.

Finding it almost impossible to move the football against the stingy Coronado defense, the Rebels lost this high school football contest Thursday night 17-0.

It was the first time in the 13-year history of the two teams that the Mustangs were able to win a contest here. The win also snapped a three-year streak for the Rebels.

"It was a great win for us," said Coronado coach Jack Quarles, "but I'll guarantee you, any win is a big one for us. We'll take anything we can get."

"I thought we did some things wrong, however," continued Quarles. "We dropped too many passes and we missed too many blocks and that really hurt. I think we should have beaten them by at least five touchdowns. We had the opportunities anyway."

With just two over two minutes left in the contest, the Mats threw a scare into MHS.

Jerry Gray returned a Monterey punt from the EHS 15 all the way to the Monterey 45. But a clipping penalty moved the Mats all the way back to their own 12 — a hole they just couldn't dig their

On third-and-1 at the EHS 3, Potts attempted a quarterback sneak. It appeared that both of his knees had hit the ground — but no one blew a whistle — so Potts dove forward and coughed up the ball.

When the official untangled the pile, Estacado end Warren Lyons was lying on the pigskin inside the 1-yard line.

"I thought we had beaten ourselves again," said Odom of the drive-killing fumble. "But we were able to make four, five and six yards on first down and that's what we needed to do to win."

Before the fumble, the Plainsmen had driven 44 yards following Kevin Evans' interception of a Gray pass.

Tech Takes On Baylor In First SWC Scrap

By NORVAL POLLARD
Executive Sports Editor
In all reality, Saturday's excursion deep into the heart of Texas boils down to nothing more than a hunting trip for the Texas Tech football team.

And head coach Rex Dockery and his Red Raiders are going to Waco loaded for bear — the Baylor Bears to be more exact.

The Red Raiders won't even have to track their game. The Bears are scheduled to show their hides at 2 p.m. on the artificial turf inside 48,000-seat Baylor Stadium. All Tech will have to do is figure out a way bring down its first Southwest Conference opponent of the 1979 season.

"We know Baylor is a good football team with some excellent people," Dockery said earlier this week. "This will be a conference game and I know both teams will be ready to play. Baylor already has a conference win and we need one badly."

The Bears are 1-0 in SWC action thanks to a 17-7 triumph over Texas A&M Overall, Baylor is 2-1. The Bears opened the season with a 20-7 win against Lamar and lost a 45-0 decision to Alabama last week.

Tech is 1-1-1 against nonconference competition. The Raiders lost their season opener to top-ranked Southern California 21-7, came back the following Saturday to defeat New Mexico 17-7, and tied Arizona a week ago 14-14.

For the Red Raiders to bring back that trophy bear from Waco, their offensive unit will have to eliminate some of the costly little mistakes that have slowed it down on several occasions this year. Penalties and missed assignments have stalled Tech drives and the Raiders have worked hard this week to remedy the situation.

"We've had an excellent week of practice with a lot of good intensity from our players," Dockery stated Thursday. "The players have a lot of confidence in themselves and what they are doing. You have to have that confidence before you can expect things to go right."

Tech moved the football against Arizona — 326 total yards to be exact. Senior fullback James Hadnot, the fourth-leading runner in college football this week, had 141 on the ground against the Wildcats. Hadnot is averaging 129.3 yards per game.

Sophomore quarterback Ron Reeves had his most productive passing game of the young season against Arizona, hitting nine of 20 passes for 188 yards and two touchdowns, a 59-yarder to junior flanker Edwin Newsome and a 23-yarder to senior plit end Howie Lewis.

The play of Tech's wide receivers had to be a boon to Reeves' confidence. Newsome had a pair of receptions for

Battle Between Title Contenders

BACK ON WEDNESDAY, when everyone was in a jovial mood, Estacado coach Louis Kelley poked some fun at Monterey head man James Odom. "I know you always wanted a black tailback," Kelley told Odom. "Well now you've got one — and he's making you a better coach."

Odom cracked up. There was no need to deny that Willie Johnson, who moved to Lubbock from Jackson, Miss., last year, was making it easier for him to sleep at night. And Thursday night at Lowrey Field, Johnson made Kelley's words prophetic. He gained 86 yards and time and again came up with the big play for the Plainsmen.

For instance: On third-and-5 at the Monterey 13, the Plainsmen pitched to Johnson. A group of Matadors swarmed him behind the line of scrimmage, but somehow Johnson wriggled free and turned what looked like a sure-loss into a 10-yard gainer.

Those kinds of plays can make you or break you. Instead of the Plainsmen punting from their own end zone, and ensuring the Mats of getting the ball at least at midfield, they drove all the way down across the 50.

When Monterey finally did punt the ball rolled dead at the EHS 6-yard line.

QB's Look At Baylor Game

Quarterbacks Ron Reeves of Texas Tech and Mickey Elam of Baylor came to agreement when they leave the past behind and look to Saturday. That's when the all-star SWC races get heavy for both teams. Reeves will be starting his 13th game for Tech, and Elam, still recognized for his performance in last year's 30-14 win over Texas, is the starter for Baylor. Elam, originally signed by Tech out of Irving High, transferred to Baylor and played sparingly at running back before taking the quarterback reins. The two young men talk about Saturday's battle.

Q. How about your team's attitude after three games?
 Reeves— I don't think we really are where we want to be as far as where we wanted to be before the season. That was 3-0, and 1-1-1 is really a long way from that. We've learned a lot of things through the games we've played. The defense has done a great job and they are really ready to play. The offense seems like we're just one man away from really coming around and putting it together like we have the ability to do.

Elam— I think we have a good mental attitude. We did have two victories before we played Alabama and one of those was an important conference win (over Texas A&M, 17-7). Now we know that the rest of our games, except for one, are conference games and it's like a whole new season. That's what our goals have been. Of course, Saturday night against Alabama was an embarrassment to us. We're just going to have to put that behind us and try to put things back together like we did the first two games. Alabama is not something we will completely forget about, but maybe we can learn something from it.

Q. Talk about your offensive line and the job it's doing.
 Reeves— It's almost the same line we had last year. I think that they're doing the job. The thing that we need to do is just really play together and everybody settle down every play. It seems like there'll be one guy let down each time and that keeps us from being as good as we can be. The ability is there but we just haven't put it together yet.

Elam— I think one of the strong points most people thought we would have would be the offensive line. I think it has been that way. Keith Bishop is the only one who's out who was in there to start with. Buzzy Nelson has done real well replacing Keith. I haven't noticed any slack because of that. I think they all have so much experience. Frank Ditta is probably the newest one, but Arlan Thompson and Billy Glass and Ron Barnes have all had at least two years experience.

Q. How about your running backs and receivers?
 Reeves— James Hadnot has really run hard this year. He's in a lot better shape physically. He's running the ball about 30 times a game and not getting tired at all, which shows that his weight program has helped. He's definitely one of the top running backs in the country. I would hate to have to tackle him. I think we need to get the ball to Mark Olbert a little more. He's doing a great job blocking, but he's also a good runner and I'd like to see him run more than just a couple of times a game. I've been working well with Howie Lewis and Edwin Newsome on the passing game. They both have all kinds of ability. Neither had any experience before this year. I think in the Arizona game they both built their confidence. If I can just get the ball out there to them and quit trying to force it, I think the passing game will be strong.

Elam— I think Walter Abercrombie and Frank Pollard are really coming on strong. Walter is picking up where he left off last season. He's got all the physical capabilities to do anything he wants to on the field. He worked very hard this past summer. Pollard is in his last year and he's running harder than I've seen him run since I've been here. It's his senior year and he's acting like it. The rest of our running backs — Dennis Gentry, Kenneth Matthews and Moke Lively — are ready to step in any time. There's no slack off when they come in.

Q. How about your personal performance thus far?
 Reeves— This summer I really worked harder than I ever had. I was excited about going into the year. But all of a sudden the intensity wasn't there and I don't know what the problem was. But last week through practice, it came back. And this week I'm fired up about the Baylor game. I've thrown a lot of interceptions and that's bad, but I think my biggest problem is the lack of intensity. I need to be the one who gets the offense together. The interceptions have come from forcing the ball and the stupid mistakes.

Elam— I didn't expect really big things at first since I only played one game at quarterback last year. But I was with my game performance against Lamar and A&M. Last week, against Alabama, I had a poor performance and as a team we didn't execute well. But I'm going to put that behind me and think about Texas Tech. I have been named starting quarterback so I think I'm established in that role. My passing is certainly better than it was last fall. I like to throw on the run more than being a drop-back passer. I have more confidence in looking at defenses and more confidence in what I'm doing when I'm going to throw.

Raiders Seek SWC Victory

 141 yards and one score and Lewis had four catches for 53 yards and a touchdown.

Reeves is currently the Southwest Conference's total offense leader with 147.7 yards per outing. Hadnot is fifth on the list with 129.3.

Baylor's offense has also had problems moving the football consistently this season. The Bears are sixth in the conference in total offense with 294 yards a game, 2 yards more per game than the Red Raiders.

The Bears are led by senior quarterback Mickey Elam, who played at Tech as a freshman, and sophomore tailback

Walter Abercrombie. Elam is a quick runner who can hurt a team if he is allowed to get outside. Abercrombie has run for 223 yards in three games and is tough inside and can move around flanks.

Defensively, the Bears have one of the finest linebackers in the country in 6-1, 225-pound junior Mike Singletary, an all-America as a sophomore. Singletary is joined by tackle Gary Don Johnson, end Andrew Melontree and free safety Vann McElroy in leading Baylor's stubborn defense, presently fifth in the conference in total defense (334 yards per game.)

The Raider defense has yielded 339 yards a game. Last week, Arizona picked the Tech defenders for 435 yards.

Saturday's game will feature the top two punters in the SWC and the fifth-leading punter in the nation.

Tech's Maury Buford is averaging 44.4 yards per punt to lead the conference and place fifth in the national rankings. Buford has punted 18 times for 799 yards.

Ron Stowe of Baylor is second in punting in the SWC with a 42.5 yard average. Stowe has punted 19 times for 808 yards.

 Roughly translated, that means that little bit of second effort by Johnson was worth more than 50 yards of field position for Monterey.

"I WAS IMPRESSED with Willie Johnson," said Kelley after the game. "Because we were hitting him pretty hard — and he kept coming back and breaking tackles. That's the sign of a good back."

The EHS-MHS game last night was a classic. Close, hard-fought. It was the kind of game my high school coaches liked to call, "a son-of-a-gun, getting-after-it, all-out battle."

Monterey finally won the battle 7-0, but that score can hardly be considered a surprise. When the Plainsmen and Matadors meet, you can expect a score like that. Last year Estacado won 7-0, the year before that Monterey came out on top 10-7.

But as hard as these teams fought, it was inspiring to see the mutual respect after the contest.

The ritualistic hand-shaking ceremonies after the game lasted longer than usual as players on both squads sought out members of the other team they had waged war against. Then, both teams mingled and knelt together for a post-game prayer.

After that broke up, the Plainsmen started to celebrate. But when the Estacado fight song was played by the Matador band both schools stood in silence. And the Mats returned the favor, standing silently when the Monterey fight song was played.

I was upset, all I wanted to do was talk to both coaches and leave. But the post-game ceremonies were taking longer than usual. Actually it was a nice thing to see. This is what it's all supposed to be about.

Anyway you spell it, the post-game attitude reflected by both teams came out C-L-A-A-S.

KELLEY OFFERED NO excuses, no alibis.

"They deserved to win," he said. "They played better than we did."

But Monterey's Odum mentioned something Kelley hadn't.

"You have to remember," said the MHS coach. "They were playing without their starting tailback and fullback. They're an awful good team."

The Mats probably did miss the presence of tailback Kelvin White and fullback Alvin Davis — but Kelley didn't say a word about it.

Probably both teams benefited from Thursday's contest. Monterey needed the win after it suffered a heartbreaking 22-21 loss to Midland last week. And the young Matadors needed to learn that they aren't invincible.

"I told my kids this was going to be a tough one," said Kelley. "Now they know what I meant. We're still a young team, we have to learn these things."

Right now, Monterey and Estacado have to be considered favorites in their respective districts. Both squads could be headed for great seasons.

"We saw two exceptional football teams tonight," said Pete Ragus, Lubbock schools athletic director, after the game. "You don't have to worry about Estacado. Once they get Kelvin White back, they'll be all right."

At the end of the season, both Odum and Kelley may look back on Thursday's contest and mark it as the point when Monterey and Estacado rose from contenders to champions.

Westerners, Austin College Entertains Chaparrals

Dunbar Collide

By DON HENRY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

It'll be time for the Sherman team Saturday afternoon. Lubbock Christian College and Austin College, tripped up week in their quests for success, will collide on the AC campus, and if coach Larry Kramer has his way, the Kangaroos will stay on the ground in doing so.

The two clubs will meet at 2 p.m. and both will be coming off disappointing performances.

For the Chaparrals, it was Black Saturday, for they lost a home game 55-0 to Tarleton State week. LCC is not competing for the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship, so there were no title considerations, just pride and the chance to impress some of the TIAA members.

But, for the Kangaroos, last week's game with McMurry was for the TIAA lead. McMurry won it 16-6, handing Austin its first defeat of the year.

teams, and both LCC coach Jerry Don Sanders and Kramer are seeking a reversal.

While Sanders said that his Chaparrals executed well enough but couldn't cope with Tarleton's strength, Kramer admitted, "We didn't play very well."

"We had played fairly well until last Saturday," Kramer observed of the Kangaroos who had won their first two games this year. "But, we got beat by a good ball club (McMurry)."

Larry Shillings (the Austin quarterback) had been throwing pretty well the first two games, but he had three interceptions against McMurry.

"But," added the AC coach, "I'd prefer not to depend on the pass so much (passes were the key to AC's upset of defending TIAA champion Tarleton in the season opener). We're really not that much of a throwing team."

"We have good runners. Rickey Turner (the 178-pound fullback) seems to carry the ball more often, but he's gotten the most results, so we will continue to give the ball to him. But, Kelly Hyde (180-pound tailback) is a capable running back."

Both Hyde, now a junior, and Turner, a sophomore, were starters last year when Austin College went 5-4-1.

Shillings is a sophomore transfer, having come to the Sherman school from Texas A&M.

LCC will be under the field leadership of Kent Allison, the freshman from Lubbock Christian High who sustained a back bruise in the loss to Tarleton. Curtis Dean finished out the game. However, Allison is expected to be ready to play.

In the four games, Dean has hit 18 of 38 passes for 238 yards and two touchdowns. Allison has completed nine of 34 for 159 yards.

The Chaparrals' lineup will not be altered except by injuries, but the injuries mounted this week. Center Jim Smith is sidelined, and Sanders has inserted Wade Welch in that spot. Vic Smith has been splitting workout time between defensive end and backup to Welch.

But this week in workouts, the Chaps lost leading rusher Marvin Wiley and linebacker David Brock. Wiley strained a knee and Brock sustained a hip pointer.

Sanders will replace Wiley with Pat Worthey as a starter alongside Ted Thornton at running back. Thornton has picked up 71 yards this fall. LCC will call upon Mark Harmon or Kyle Musick to fill the gap left vacant by Brock's injury.

The injuries should keep the pair out of the lineup for only a week.

While the Kangaroos are entertaining LCC, McMurry will be trying to protect its unbeaten (2-0) conference record against Sul Ross (1-1) at Abilene. Tarleton (1-0 in conference) will be at Trinity (0-3).

Next week, LCC will be on the road again, playing Trinity University in San Antonio.

The two 0-3 teams will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Lowrey Field. Lubbock's other three public schools were in action Thursday night.

"I'm tired of losing," said Lubbock High coach Army Salinas Wednesday at a coaches press conference. "My kids are also tired of losing."

"And I'm sure that Van's (Jefferson, DHS coach) are also tired of losing."

"We need a win very badly," added Salinas. "Because we're going to win some ballgames this year."

"We're looking forward to the game with Lubbock High," said Jefferson. "I think they have a fine ballclub this year because they are one of the best-coached teams in the city."

Jefferson praised the work of center Rudy Hernandez, defensive lineman Jeff Reid, defensive back Del Harris and halfback Fabian Garcia.

Although tonight's contest should be a close one, the Westerners may have a slight edge. Lubbock High, although 0-3 on the year, has scored 19 points so far this year. Meanwhile the Panthers are still looking for their first points of the 1979 season.

Now, it's nonconference time for the Pirates Lose To Cards; Expo Game Rained Out

By The Associated Press
The Pittsburgh Pirates' magic number is still four, and it's not so magic anymore.
"I think we'll bounce back. We have to," Phil Garner said Thursday after Major League Box Scores Page 9, Sec. D)
Pittsburgh was beaten 9-5 by the St. Louis Cardinals, trimming the Pirates' lead to one game in the National League

East.
The Montreal Expos, crushed 10-1 here Wednesday night in the biggest Pirate win of the season, could have moved back into a tie for first with a Thursday night sweep of a doubleheader in Atlanta. But the twinbill was rained out.
Meanwhile, it rained St. Louis base-hits, 17 of them, at Three Rivers Stadium as the Cardinals clinched third place with their makeup game victory.
Pirate manager Chuck Tanner shut-ted an assortment of pitchers, starters and relievers, to the mound. He did it because of injuries and because he didn't want to disrupt his starting rotation for three weekend games here with the Chicago Cubs.

Starter Dave Roberts was followed by John Candelaria, who has an ailing rib cage, and Don Robinson, who has a sore shoulder. Then came Dock Ellis, Kent Tekulve and Enrique Romo.
George Hendrick led the Cardinals with five hits in five at-bats, including a solo homer. Tony Scott had four hits.

"I don't think we had a letdown after the Montreal series. They just hit everything we threw today," said Tanner. "I used every pitcher we had to try and win the ballgame, but the Cardinals had their hitting shoes on."
Had the Pirates beaten St. Louis, they could have clinched the division with a sweep of Chicago, no matter how the Expos fared the rest of the way. But now, the Pirates could win the rest and still finish in a tie — if Montreal wins three from Philadelphia and a Monday makeup of the doubleheader with Atlanta.

Expos Manager Dick Williams almost was as happy with the rainout as he would have been with a sweep.
"It's beneficial to us because of injuries," said Williams. "It's in our hands now. If we win five straight, we get at least a tie. You hate to have someone else do your job, but we certainly need that help."
Giants 5, Dodgers 3
Mike Ivey slammed a three-run homer, his 27th of the season, and three Dodger errors aided the Giants victory. Vida Blue, 14-14, was the winner with relief help from Greg Minton, who got his fourth save.
White Sox 4, Twins 2
Jim Morrison belted a two-run homer in the 10th inning to give the White Sox a 4-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins.
Yankees 5, Indians 2
Oscar Gamble came up as a pinch-hitter with two-out in the ninth inning and smacked a three-run homer, his fifth home run in five days, to give the New York Yankees a 5-2 decision over the Cleveland Indians.

Red Sox 6, Blue Jays 5
Brewers 7, Mariners 6
Buck Martinez singled home Dick Davis in the 11th inning to give the Milwaukee Brewers a 7-6 decision over the Seattle Mariners.
Rangers 4, A's 3
Jim Sundberg's RBI single capped a three-run sixth inning for the Rangers and gained the victory for Larry McCall, 1-0, who was making his first start for the Rangers.

Shavers Seeks Heavy Crown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Earnie Shavers tries tonight to become the second-oldest heavyweight champion in history. He'll fight Larry Holmes, who found out in his last bout he is not too old to learn.
"It's always on my mind. You guys (reporters) won't let me forget it," said Holmes of his unimpressive performance against little-known Mike Weaver, who gave the World Boxing Council champion a rough time before being stopped in the 12th round last June 22.

"I learned to discipline myself," said the 29-year-old Holmes, who contends he didn't prepare properly for Weaver. He said he hasn't made the same mistake for Shavers, though he easily out-pointed Shavers in 12 rounds on March 25, 1978.
Should Shavers win the title at age 35, he would be second only to Jersey Joe Walcott as the oldest heavyweight champion. Walcott was 37 when he knocked out Ezzard Charles in 1951 to win the title on his fifth try. This is Shavers' second title shot; he was out-pointed by Muhammad Ali on Sept. 29, 1977.

"I'll knock him out in the fifth round," said Shavers, who said he has come of age as a fighter and will be a much different man than the one who lost to Holmes last year.
"I'm beginning to think now. I'm not trying to kill a guy with one hand," said Shavers, who used both hands to knock out Ken Norton in one round last March 23 and get back into the championship picture.

But while Holmes says he has learned his lesson, he adds Shavers is too old to learn to change.
"I don't really think you can get better when you get a certain age," said Holmes, a one-time sparring partner for Shavers who expects Earnie to be the same man he beat before. "I don't really believe Shavers has the punching power he says he has."
Oddsmakers agree with Holmes. To bet on the champion, one must give 4-1. If you like Shavers, you get 3-1.
Holmes weighed in Thursday at 210 pounds, five pounds lighter than for the Weaver fight, and one pound lighter than Shavers.
The fight at Caesars Palace headlines a show that also features another world title shot and appearances by unbeaten Sugar Ray Leonard and the great Roberto Duran.
ABC will televise the card.
Leonard, of Palmer Park, Md., is scheduled to fight for the WBC welterweight championship against Wilfredo Gomez No. 30. He will open the telecast with a scheduled 12-round North American Boxing Federation title defense against Andy Price of Los Angeles.
Also scheduled for live television is a 10-rounder between Duran, of Panama, the former lightweight champion now campaigning for the welterweight title, and Zeferino Gonzalez of San Jose, Calif.

Bean Takes World Golf Lead

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Big Andy Bean has had his difficulties in finding a driver to replace the club he shattered a couple of months ago.
Right now, it bothers him not a bit.
"I can do without a driver if I can keep on shooting 64s," Bean grinned after his magnificent, 6-under-par effort, one shot off the course record, had staked him to a 2-shot lead Thursday in the first round of the $400,000 World Series of Golf.

And, almost incredibly on the vast, sprawling length of the famed Firestone Country Club course — at 7,180 yards and only a par 70, one of the longest courses the touring pros ever see —

Bean did it with his driver in the bag.
He used a 3-wood — or less — off the tee on all but four holes. He used the driver only on the two par-5 holes, the 469-yard sixth and the first.
"I put it in a fairway bunker on the first and that's when the driver went back in the bag," Bean said. He said he'd shattered the driver during a practice round at the PGA championship and hasn't been able to find "a replacement that I'm really confident with."
"But I'm very, very confident with the 3-wood, and I'm really not sacrificing that much," said the man who ranks among the game's hardest hitters. "I was hitting it about 250 yards today, and I'm very, very confident with the 3-wood in my hands. To score on this golf course, it's very important to get the ball in the fairway, and that's what I was doing."
He also chipped in once, didn't make a bogey and birdied the last three holes to open up a lead over J.C. Snead and Australian Graham Marsh, tied for second at 66.

Coronado Topples Rebels 17-0

yards and an attempted pass from Harp to Abel Castro fell incomplete, leaving the Pones on the THS 29.
However, Harp put Melvin within field-goal position after scrambling 12 yards.
Coronado got its first touchdown at the 1:57 mark on a play that obviously hadn't been drawn on the blackboard. Harp scrambled for 30 yards to the THS 40, where he was tackled from behind and fumbled. An alert Jeff Modwell picked up the loose ball and rambled the remaining 40 yards untouched to put the Pones up 10-0 following the PAT kick.
Tascosa, which found it almost impossible to move the ball for most of the first 24 minutes, had one scoring drive thwarted on the CHS 4. The Rebels, who had only 110 yards total offense (thanks primarily to a 67-yard pass from quarterback Kevin Leuthkans to Wade Hunt), moved all the way to the CHS 5. However four plays netted only a yard.
Coronado got an insurance touchdown in the third period, this time on a 57-yard romp by Harp. After taking the snap from center, the junior signal-caller rolled left and looked downfield.

He found all his receivers covered so he pulled the ball down and, with a strong north wind spanking him on the backside, took off. At the 10, Harp ran into some heavy traffic but he shook loose of defensive back Troy Johnson and scored.
Melvin added the extra point to put CHS up 17-0 and that's all it needed.
In the second half, Tascosa had the ball for 45 plays while Coronado had it only 19. However, Tascosa was unable to cash in on great field position and played most of the game between the 30s.

He also chipped in once, didn't make a bogey and birdied the last three holes to open up a lead over J.C. Snead and Australian Graham Marsh, tied for second at 66.

A Sensible Solution to an Unnerving Situation

First you see the flashing red lights in your rear-view mirror and immediately you feel uneasy. Before you know it, you're signing a traffic ticket. The uneasiness continues! This happens to hundreds of Lubbock citizens each month, people like you. But why do so many feel so uncomfortable about that ticket? It's not a lack of community concern. It's not a lack of respect for the law. These people feel the ticket was not deserved. Have you ever felt that way? Now you can do more than just swallow your pride and pay the fine. Now you have a sensible alternative... The Ticket Clinic of Texas. We offer you professional legal counsel for a reasonable fee of thirty-five dollars. We don't guarantee positive results everytime, but we do promise qualified representation from Municipal to County Court. The Ticket Clinic provides our friends and fellow citizens with a sensible solution to an unnerving situation. The Ticket Clinic of Texas... 1110 10th St. 744-5044

Tiger-Texas Game Pits Nationally Ranked Teams

By The Associated Press
Will Missouri's mystery football team please stand up?
The Tigers have played more like pussycats in the first half of their three games this season, scoring only three points. But in the second half, they have been extremely ferocious, outscoring their opponents 89-8.
Coach Warren Powers, whose fifth-ranked Tigers are 3-0 after rallying for victories over San Diego State 45-15, Illinois 14-6 and Mississippi 33-7, is at a loss for words in trying to explain his team's Jekyll and Hyde performances.
"It's just unbelievable," he said. "We've looked at the play-calling, we've studied the film. It just seems like we make mistakes and cost ourselves chances to score in the first half."

Missouri will have to be wary of making mistakes Saturday. The Tigers face their sternest test of the season so far, meeting No. 4 Texas at Columbia, Mo.
The Longhorns have played only once, and also needed a second-half rally to win, overcoming a 9-0 first-half deficit to beat Iowa State 17-9.
Missouri is hoping the return to full-time duty of running back James Wilder will add thrust to its offense. Wilder, hampered by a hamstring injury, made his first appearance against Mississippi and scored one touchdown.
The Missouri-Texas game is one of five contests Saturday matching Top 20 teams against each other.
In the others, top-ranked Southern California, 3-0, is at No. 20 Louisiana State, which has walloped Colorado 44-0 and Rice 47-3, in a night game. No. 18 Penn State, 1-1, trying to rebound from a stunning 27-14 setback to Texas A&M and star running back Curtis Dickey, is on the road against sixth-rated Nebraska, 2-0, featuring I.M. Hipp, averaging 5.7 yards per carry.

Seventh-ranked Michigan State, 3-0, and with a 10-game winning streak since losing to Notre Dame 29-25 last year, visits the 15th-rated Fighting Irish, 1-1, beaten by Purdue 28-22 last week. And No. 14 Ohio State, 3-0, under the direction of sophomore quarterback Art Schlichter and freshman coach Earle Bruce, is at 17th-ranked UCLA, 2-1, in a nationally televised game.
Elsewhere, No. 2 Alabama, 2-0, is at Vanderbilt; third-ranked Oklahoma, 2-0, is on the road at Rice in a night game; Houston, rated eighth and 2-0, hosts West Texas State; No. 9 Washington, 3-0, entertains Fresno State, and 10th-ranked Purdue, 2-1, led by passing standout Mark Herrmann, is host to Oregon.

Also, No. 11 Michigan, 2-1, plays at California, upset winner over both Arizona State and Arizona; Florida State, rated 12th and 3-0, is at Virginia Tech in a regionally televised game; 13th-ranked Arkansas, 2-0, is home against Tulsa;
No. 16 North Carolina State, 3-0, entertains undefeated Wake Forest in a night game, and 19th-ranked Southern Methodist, 3-0, without injured star quarterback Mike Ford, visits Tulane in another night game.

One SWC Tilt Slated

By The Associated Press
The most Southwest Conference teams are out trying to protect the family name this week. Texas Tech and Baylor for keeps at Baylor Stadium in what should be one of those robust conference jousts that tickle the purists and puzzle the oddsmakers.
It's Parents Day at Baylor which is why the Bears are just one-point underdogs even after a 45-0 rout by Alabama last Saturday and the fact that the Red Raiders whipped coach Grant Teaff's crew 27-9 last year in Lubbock.
"They (The Red Raiders) embarrassed us last year," says Teaff. "They manhandled our defense. We had clear marks all over our chests from James Hadnot stomping on us. And they are a better team this year. That doesn't sound too good for a team coming off a 45-0 defeat."

However, the Red Raiders are aware they have a 3-11 record down through the years in Waco although they've won three of the last four.
"Their loss to Alabama is a little misleading because the score was a lot closer until the fourth quarter," says Tech coach Rex Dockery. "Also, this will be a conference game. Baylor already has a conference win and we need one badly."
"I've said all along that this team has a oneness and a character and that's on the line this week," said Teaff. "I'd flat out say this is the most important game of the year for us."
The big intersectional clash of the week features fourth-ranked Texas against fifth-ranked Missouri in Columbia, Mo.
In other games, 19th-ranked Southern Methodist was a field goal nod over Tulane; Houston was a prohibitive favorite over West Texas State; Texas Christian was a slim choice over Texas-Arlington, Arkansas was a 21-point selection over Tulsa; Texas A&M is a 10-point nod over Memphis State, and Oklahoma is a prohibitive favorite over Rice in Houston.

Texas coach Fred Akers said of Missouri: "They have proved they are a good football team three times. Their defense has been impressive. They are tough and physical and so are we, so it should be a heck of a contest."
It's the first football meeting in 33 years between the schools. To give you an idea of how long it has been, Tom Landry, now the coach of the Dallas Cowboys, scored the final touchdown in a 42-0 Texas victory in 1946.
The SWC is 10-5-1 against outside competition.

Tampa Bay Picked To Stay Undefeated

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Unbeaten, untied and unbelievable. That describes the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, who insist they are real contenders and are certainly playing that way so far this season.
After four weeks, the National Football League has just four unbeaten teams left and Tampa Bay is one of them. How long can this go on? Another week, at least, or so it says here.
No guarantees, of course, especially after last week's 7-7 disaster. The season's record is 39-16 for 709.
The picks
TAMPA BAY 17, CHICAGO 14: The Bucs believe they can't be beaten and the funny thing is they may be right.
MIAMI 27, NY JETS 14: Bob Griese returns to the Dolphin lineup and won't his eyes light up when he sees that Jet secondary.
PITTSBURGH 20, PHILADELPHIA 17: The Steelers are beat up but their reserves would be first stringers elsewhere.
HOUSTON 34, CLEVELAND 21: The state of Texas could never handle two defeats in one week to the Browns.
ATLANTA 21, WASHINGTON 17: All the game statistics except the final score went against the Redskins last week. This time the score will, too.
MINNESOTA 16, DETROIT 13: The Vikings are learning how to win with Tommy Kramer and their defense should handle the anemic Lion attack.
NEW ORLEANS 24, NY GIANTS 10: The margin would be more if Saints' flanker Wes Chandler were healthy.
DALLAS 30, CINCINNATI 14: Can the Cowboys be as bad as they looked against Cleveland? We'll find out against the Bengals.
LOS ANGELES 21, ST. LOUIS 10: Hopefully, the Rams can relocate their offense at home. They sure couldn't find it in Tampa Bay last week.
SEATTLE 31, KANSAS CITY 14: The Seahawks had Denver beat and gave the game back. They won't be as benevolent with the Chiefs.

SAN DIEGO 34, SAN FRANCISCO 14: Dan Fouts will have a passing picnic against the defenseless 49ers.
BALTIMORE 20, BUFFALO 17: The Colts are going to win a game sooner or later. Choose sooner.
DENVER 24, OAKLAND 20: Craig Morton stole one from the Seahawks last week and the momentum should carry the Broncos past the Raiders.
NEW ENGLAND 31, GREEN BAY 7 (Monday night): This should be a push-over for the Patriots.

Hoople Foresees Tulsa Upset

By MAJ. AMOS B. HOOPLE
Pigskin Genius

Egad, friends, what a card we have for you this week. Jove! No less than six of the Top 10 rated clubs will go at it head-to-head!

Feast your eyes on these sterling engagements: the Texas Longhorns vs. the Missouri Tigers; the Nittany Lions of Penn State vs. the Nebraska Cornhuskers; and the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame hosting the Michigan State Spartans.

To save you further suspense, here is how the fabled Hoople System is calling them. The Texas-Missouri fray will be close from the opening whistle until the closing gun with the visiting Longhorns winning 17-14.

A sellout crowd at Lincoln will be sorely disappointed as the hometown favorite Cornhuskers fall to Joe Paterno's high-scoring Penn Staters. We make it enn State 33, Nebraska 28.

And in the 45th meeting of two of the true Titans of the Midwest, Notre Dame, playing their first game at home this season, will prevail over an excellent Spartan aggregation 27-17. Har-rumph!

A pair of contests only a notch below the above-mentioned classics in importance will match the vaunted Southern California Trojans and the powerful LSU Tigers at Baton Rouge; and the strong Ohio State Buckeyes against the equally tough UCLA Bruins in Los Angeles.

The first-ever meeting of the Trojans and LSU should be a real barn-burner with Southern Cal taking home a 24-30 decision. In five previous contests, Ohio State and the Bruins stand 2-2-1, and this Saturday's clash will be as close as that record. Our computers — kaff-faff — call it for the host Bruins 22-17.

Some other games that merit your attention will find Alabama whacking Vanderbilt 35-7; Oklahoma swamping Rice 42-7; and Houston roraping over West Texas State 36-7; and Washington white-washing Fresno State 42-0.

The Hoople "Three Star Special" of the week will be a real shocker. Watch for the Golden Hurricanes of Tulsa to storm their way past a fine Arkansas Razorback club 22-18. Can't be, you say? Remember it was Hoople — and only Hoople — who gave you Brigham Young to upset Texas A&M in their season opener Har-rumph!

Let I forget, I must apologize to the legion of followers of the Miami (Ohio) Redskins for my faulty forecast on their Sept. 15 contest with Kentucky. My published forecast showed a predicted 15-14 victory for Kentucky. A check of my worksheets revealed I inadvertently transposed the figures when typing my final report giving the edge to the wrong team. Miami won by my predicted 15-14 tally. Harrrumph! (Ed. Note: Can you believe that guy Hoople?)

In a trio of intrastate clashes that bear watching this week, the Iowa State

Cyclones will — heh-heh — blow over the Iowa Hawkeyes 28-12 in their 70th matchup; and Utah will gain a hard-earned 28-21 win over Utah State in the 78th repeat of their ancient rivalry.

Three other engagements of more than passing interest figure to be crowd-pleasers all the way. The Florida State Seminoles will top Virginia Tech 28-24. The Pitt Panthers will silence the Temple Owls 28-18. And the surprising Tulane Green Wave will give their home fans a lot to cheer about before they succumb to the superior forces of Southern Methodist 35-27.

Now go on with my forecast:
Arizona 26, San Jose St. 14; Arizona St. 14, Oregon 31 7; Auburn 21, Tennessee 28; Austin College 31, LCC 6; Brigham Young 49, UTEP 14; Brown 18,

Rhode Island 13; Cincinnati 18, Villanova 17; Columbia 26, Lafayette 6; Cornell 33, Colgate 12; Dartmouth 14, New Hampshire 13; East Carolina 34, WVA 21; Florida 23, Mississippi 21; Georgia 21, South Carolina 20; Georgia Tech 23, Wm & Mary 24; Grambling 38, Prairie View 14; Harvard 17, Massachusetts 13; Illinois 14, Navy 8; Indiana 26, Colorado 21;
Iowa 28, Kansas 18, North Texas State 18; Kansas State 27, Air Force 4; Louisville 46, Drake 16; Maryland 26, Kentucky 9; Miami (Fl) 35, Louisiana Tech 14; Miami (O) 21, Central Michigan 6; Michigan 26, California 22; Minnesota 38, Northwestern 21; Mississippi 17, Southern Mississippi 13; North Carolina 35, Army 21; North Carolina St. 26, Wake Forest 22; Ohio U. 36, Kent State 12;
Penn State 24, Lough 20; Purdue 26, Oregon 16; Richmond 21, West Virginia 14; Rutgers 24, Princeton 20; Stanford 22, Boston College 7; Syracuse 31, Washington State 14; TCU 48, Tennessee 8; Texas 17, Missouri 14; Texas A&M 18, Memphis State 12; Texas Tech 37, Baylor 26; Toledo 18, Eastern Michigan 14; Virginia 25, Duke 17; Wisconsin 31, San Diego State 12; Wyoming 22, Colorado State 8; Yale 37, Connecticut 21

Mustang JV Collects Win

Coronado's Ed Mayfield scored his second touchdown on a 12-yard run with 25 seconds left to cap a wild and woolly final minute and give the Mustang junior varsity a 28-22 victory over Estacado Thursday night.

Three touchdowns were scored in the last minute, two by Coronado, including Mayfield's winner.

The victory raises CHS to 3-1 on the year.

The Coronado High School sophomore football team exploded for two first-quarter touchdowns and went on to easily defeat the Slaton Junior Varsity, 20-0 Thursday afternoon.

Quarterback Mark Sobosle and wide receiver Doug Sewell combined for two touchdown passes, a 16-yarder in the first quarter and a 40-yarder in the fourth quarter. The first quarter score followed an 86-yard touchdown gallop by halfback Jason Owen.

The Coronado defense, led by middle linebacker Mark Rickman, held Slaton to 106 yards on the ground while the Mustang infantry cranked out 288 yards.

Old, New Tenors Win Critic's Acclaim For Met Performance

By MARY CAMPBELL
NEW YORK (AP)—A good new tenor and a good veteran tenor appeared this week as the Metropolitan Opera presented its favorite twin bill, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci."
 Juan Lloveras made an impressive Met debut as Turiddu in Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana." His voice is warm and firm, with an appealing tone. He has broad shoulders, is slim and of medium height. Lloveras lives in Hamburg.

 Carlo Bergonzi, who made his Met debut in 1956, brought the unclouded beauty of his tenor voice to Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci." He doesn't raise volume in the play-acting scene near the end of the opera as most tenors do. But his voice conveys his anger and anguish at his faithless wife and he is very moving.

Cornell MacNeil, in splendidly focused voice, sounding young and vigorous, sang in both operas. He had the small part of the husband in "Cav" and sang the prologue and the hunchbacked Tonio in "Pag." He did the latter without a humpback, effectively conveying an unpopular outsider by a slouching posture and unintelligent expressions. Michelangelo Veltri conducted both operas, keeping the orchestra perhaps too loud.

 All five singers in "Cavalleria Rusticana" were strong. Fiorenza Cossotto threw her full, expression-filled voice into the role of Turiddu's rejected girlfriend. And Isola Jones sounded lightly seductive as the one who turned his head.

 It was a solid, satisfying evening.

'Rockford Files' Returns For Sixth Season

By PETER J. BOYER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ah, yes, he's back. Street tough and parlor charming, the lovable knight-errant of Malibu Beach, James Rockford, private eye.

The return of "The Rockford Files" to NBC may be the most welcome event of the new TV season; certainly, it's the best thing to happen to Friday night (on television, anyway). James Garner had wanted to pack it in after last season, but NBC, which could ill afford the loss of class, talked Garner into a sixth season.

This season probably really will be "Rockford's" last, and NBC is giving the show the attention it deserves. Lauren Bacal makes a guest appearance later this season, and tonight's premiere features Mariette Hartley, Garner's "wife" on those snappy camera commercials.

Garner and Miss Hartley transude charisma, and they work it like a couple of class cons.

In tonight's show, Rockford — he of the good intentions and bad luck — is faced with liquidation because an unfriendly neighbor has won a hefty settlement from him after an auto accident.

Miss Hartley plays a court-appointed receiver, who's there to make sure Rockford pays off. Of course, she falls for Rockford and gets involved in a typical Rockford caper, involving a loony bin, gold and the nasty neighbor who sued him.

Along to prove that Rockford's choice of companions is worse than his luck is Angel, the cowardly con who'd sell his pal Jimmy in a minute to save his own skin, half a minute for a buck.

So, Friday Night Pizza and "Rockford" Society, you've got another year of happy routine.

James Earl Jones, the man of the magical voice, comes to series TV Saturday night. Unfortunately, he arrives in a battered jalepsy of a show given him by CBS.

Actually, "Paris" is not so awful; it's just not very good. Ordinary is the term here. Just another cop show, with dul-lish dialogue and characters straight out of a "How to make a cop show" manual.

All this show has is Jones, who helps, but he doesn't salvage the thing. He plays Detective Woody Paris, an "I did it my way" cop who loves his work. His work this night involves a politician who murders his wife.

Don't worry, I'm not giving anything away. Sheriff Lobo could have solved this mystery.

"Paris" is far from being the worst of the newcomers, but it is certainly the biggest disappointment.

"A Man Called Sloane" Saturday night, stars NBC as a television network that wants to cash in on a movie hero, James Bond. So, they give Robert Conrad some nifty secret agent toys, a preposterous plot and sic him on some imaginatively conceived villains.

Saturday's baddie, for example, is a cosmetics king (Robert Culp) who wants to destroy part of the world and split the rest with his partners. He can do this because he has brainwashed America's top military brass with a musical pen, bought in a Beverly Hills boutique.

Actor's Childhood Dream Comes True In Movie

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tony Lo Bianco fulfilled a childhood dream this summer by becoming heavyweight champion of the world — portraying the late Rocky Marciano for an ABC-TV two-hour movie, "Marcian."

Actor Lo Bianco, a tough Italian kid in New York when Marciano ruled the heavyweight roost, was a natural for the part.

Like his idol, Lo Bianco was a fighter, a welterweight (147 pounds) who fought a half dozen Golden Gloves matches (losing two) and a couple of club fights before giving up the ring for greasypaint and footlights.

In addition to a common Italian heritage, Lo Bianco shared Marciano's dream of becoming a professional baseball player. Marciano tried out with the Cubs and Lo Bianco with the Dodgers.

"Being Italian and an athlete helped me play Marciano physically and emotionally," said Lo Bianco. "I understand Rocky's background and family life, his devotion to his wife and parents."

"There are similarities in the way we both grew up. But Rocky was more Italian than me. He was closer to the old country ways and customs. He was a first generation American and I'm a second generation American."

"Playing Marciano was the most exciting and exhausting role I've ever attempted. It was also the most uplifting. Rocky was very proud of being Italian and so am I."

Lo Bianco has distinguished himself in "The French Connection," "The Seven Ups," "F.I.S.T." and "Bloodbrothers" in movies and in more than a dozen television movies and specials.

But none of his parts was more demanding than Marciano. He gained 10 pounds to play the Brockton Bomber, five pounds less than Rocky's fighting weight of 185.

He worked for six weeks, sparring and punching bags in a gym, running six miles a day, boxing with professionals — in all, 12 to 14 hours a day. Lo Bianco devoted evening hours to studying Marciano fight films, reading magazine stories and two books about the champ.

"I kept a movie projector by my bed, running his fights over and over again so I could perfect his unorthodox fighting style," the actor said.

"We wanted to duplicate his fights, punch by punch if possible. I ran tapes of his TV appearances and fight broadcasts to capture the essence of the man."

"I talked to his brother, Peter, and to people who knew him well. Peter makes an appearance in the TV movie in my corner during the fight scenes. He had tears in his eyes when he said I reminded him of Rocky.

"We limit the fight scenes to his bouts with Roland LaStaré, Joe Louis, Jersey Joe Walcott and Archie Moore. The movie is essentially a love story, taking Rocky from the age of 24 until his death at age 46.

"I couldn't have played the fight scenes if I hadn't been a boxer myself. I fought every one of the three-minute rounds. The stunt coordinator said I was the only actor ever to do it."

"I paid the price a couple of times. I trained with Jose Torres, the former light heavyweight champion, who clipped me on the right eye once and almost closed it."

"During one of the scenes with a professional heavyweight I got caught flush on the jaw and was knocked four feet across the ring. Another fighter worked on my rib cage and left my whole side black and blue.

"At the end of five weeks of shooting the picture I fell apart. I could not move for a week. The fight scenes aren't fairy tales like the 'Rocky' movies or 'The Champ.' I was thoroughly exhausted.

"Rocky embodied America as it was in the post-war era, the struggle to succeed. He overcame chronic back problems, short arms and a basic lack of boxing skills to become the champion. He made the most of what he had, training 9 or 10 months a year. He never complained."

Now that you've tried all the others...

"Too much hot sauce on your tamales?"

Helen Hayes Thrilled By Mass Audience

By JOAN HANAUER
 NEW YORK (UPI) — Helen Hayes won't let retirement come between her and a live audience of 80,000 people.
 That's the expected attendance at Yankee Stadium Oct. 2 when Pope John Paul II celebrates a papal mass in which Miss Hayes will serve as first lector, reading from Genesis.
 "It's the biggest thing that ever happened to me in my whole long life," the 78-year-old actress said in an interview. "It must be the biggest audience any actor ever appeared before. It takes that kind of thing to yank me happily out of retirement."
 Miss Hayes' retirement as reigning first lady of the American theater was entirely voluntary and somewhat equivocal. She has stuck firmly to her decision not to "spoil anybody's memories" by further Broadway stage appearances, after ten years of "trying to wiggle out of the theater." But she can be tempted by something special on television — such as her appearance last year with Fred Astaire in NBC's "A Family Upside Down."

 "The script of 'Miles to Go Before We Sleep' is another thing that did it for me," Miss Hayes said.
 The script is an hour-long documentary to be broadcast by PBS Saturday at 7 p.m. (CDT) examining the high cost of mandatory retirement in the United States, both in monetary and human terms, narrated by Miss Hayes.
 Retirement for too many Americans turns from the pursuit of happiness to the pursuit of poverty, the program states, and it robs many healthy and productive people of a chance to earn their own living and feel their worth in a society that too often sadly neglects them.
 At one point in the program that focus on the lives of old people, a resident of a retirement home interprets the attitude toward the old as, "Why don't you die?" "Well, at least don't interrupt," shoots back a woman resident.

 One of Miss Hayes' favorite segments of the show highlights the fact that there are more than 110,000 Americans over 100 years old by training the camera on a hard-working 105 produce handler.
 "The script is another voice raised in defense of the old, or elderly, or whatever you call us," Miss Hayes said. "I'm sick of the self-consciousness. People hate to say 'old' in this youth-oriented culture. They're just so afraid of age.

 "This script line shows that we're still as capable — in some instances even more capable — than our younger friends and neighbors.
 "Against mandatory retirement? You bet I am. It throws away so much that's valuable.
 "Dr. Howard Rusk (pioneer in rehabilitation medicine) gave a speech at a luncheon in which he said that some people are born brilliant, but wisdom comes with experience and experience comes only with time. And we have been throwing away a lot of wisdom."

Serpent Fruits a public television documentary Few would argue that chemicals have improved the quality of American life. Yet there is now evidence that exposure to certain chemicals is a source of increased health hazards for Americans. Hear experts examine both sides of the issue on SERPENT FRUITS.
