Police said officers were searching other government buildings today, but there were no reports of other bombs.

Navy Lt. George Farrar, a spokesman for the naval training center, said the blast blew out windows on the east side of a one-story, wood-frame building and left a two-foot crater about six inches deep outside the building. The blast lifted a concrete parking lot marker and slammed it against a car about 12 feet

Fighting Continues At Boston Schools

BOSTON (AP) - White students overturned two cars and stoned two school buses carrying black students in East Boston today, and dozens of youths marched on City Hall in the third straight day of racial violence involving city high school students.

Police said the first fracas began when the buses were stoned before classes opened at East Boston High School. Further violence erupted when about 150 white students marched out of school to protest a racial incident Wednesday and to demand more security at the school, officers said.

Windows also were smashed on two police cars, and three students from East Boston High were arrested, authorities said. The school has about 1,200 neighborhood, has been largely unaffected by the court-ordered busing that has disrupted schools in the other parts of the city for the past five years.

However, on Wednesday, an 18-yearold white student at East Boston High was stabbed in the thigh and cut on the hand and forearm during a scuffle with a 16-year-old black student, police said. He was treated at a hospital, and the alleged assailant was charged with being a juvenile delinquent. Meanwhile, South Boston High School, disrupted by racial fighting on Tuesday and Wednesday, opened quietly this morning. However, only 11th and 12th graders were allowed into the school in a move officials hoped would ease racial tensions there.

On Wednesday night, about 200 white anti-busing demonstrators defied a city ban on large gatherings downtown and rallied for an hour on City Hall Plaza. Then they marched to within a block of Mayor Kevin H. White's house on Bea-

Mark White filed suit today against SEDCO, Inc. of Dallas and a Mexican drilling company - Permargo - alleg-ing the Mexican oil spill has caused more than $10 million damage to Texas waters and beaches.

White said the suit was filed about 10 a.m. in a Houston federal court.

White told a news conference he did not name the Mexican oil monopoly, PEMEX, in the state's lawsuit because of negotiations between the U.S. State Department and the Mexican government over possible payment for dam-

In answering questions, White said he had no plans to take a deposition from Texas Gov. Bill Clements, founder of SEDCO.

"I have assured him at least twice that I will treat this as any other lawsuit and not because of his connection with the company ... I do not know of any personal liability he would have in this suit," White said

Clements placed his majority share of SEDCO stock in a blind trust when he

White stressed the state might ask more than $10 million in damages later. Because the full impact of the oil spill upon the state's natural resources and ecological systems cannot be precisely estimated at this time, Texas is unable to allege an exact monetary amount of damages ... I am asking also that the defendants be liable for civil penalties of $1,000 per day since the oil from the Ixtoc I well entered Texas waters on or about Aug. 1, 1979," he said.

The attorney general showed newsmen a letter written today to Secretary of State Cyrus Vance. "We have not joined PEMEX in our lawsuit in order to permit you to continue with your ne-gotiations for damages from Mexico in regard to the oil spill," the letter said. "However, we will be unable to with-hold filing suit indefinitely, as PEMEX may be a necessary party to the law-

LISD Votes To Seek Exemption

By LISA PAIKOWSKI

Avalanche-Journal Staff Public school trustees today voted to request that two schools not be included in a Central Lubbock historic district, while the school superintendent stressed there are no plans to sell the buildings.

The board unanimously decided to ask the Lubbock City Council that boundary lines for the Design-Historic District in the Overton South area not include Lubbock High School and Thompson Junior High School. Boundaries and landmarks for the district are to be considered for final approval by the council next week. Trustee Harold Harriger noted there is a question as to the city's authority in forcing the schools to comply with dis-trict standards. He said the school district should not have to give up any jurisdiction over its property.

Any new buildings or structures and any remodeling of existing structures in the Overton South historic district have to be compatible with one of the architectural styles featured in the area.

Administrators have opposed the schools' participation in the district because they fear future school officials will be restricted in any efforts to sell the two buildings. Superintendent Ed Irons has said potential buyers might be put off by the standards imposed on property in the historic district.

Neale Pearson, chairman of the Central Lubbock UNIT neighborhood association, addressed the board today, saying that "implicit in Mr. Iron's remarks is that his office is thinking of closing one or both of those schools.

He said that if officials "are thinking of demolishing or selling any part or all of either schools," such action would affect the city's residential patterns. "I would like to put us on record as saying we want to improve the programs at Thompson and Lubbock High.

Irons replied, "We are looking down the road at 10, 15, 20 years from now. We have no idea at all of selling or closing any schools." Pearson said the "tenure idea is important" and that residents think about the future when buying their homes. "A long range commitment to Lubbock High School and Thompson is impor-

Carter Plans To Appeal Taiwan Rul

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter will fight a federal judge's order that he must ask Congress' permission before going through with plans to single-handedly end this country's mutual fense treaty with Taiwan, according to administration officials. The scheduled Jan. 1 termination of the treaty cannot come about, U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch ruled Wednesday, unless the action is approved by two-thirds of the Senate or by a simple majority of both houses of Congress. Carter's surprise announcement last December that he was terminating the 25-year-old treaty came as the United States recognized the People's Republic Gasch's decision came on a suit filed by Sen. Barry Goldwater and 24 other present or former members of Congress.

Goldwater immediately praised the judge's decision, saying it "means that no American, not even the president, can break the law of the land.

Goldwater of Arizona, a one-time Republican presidential nominee, said he hoped "the president will now submit a proper request for legislative approval of his policy on its merits, rather than continue to battle Congress over an issue of constitutional power.

The treaty provides for the United States to aid the island nation if it is attacked from the mainland. The pact contains an option that allows either party to end it on a year's notice.

Sheehan noted the one-year termination provision. "We gave our notice on Dec. 23, 1978, to go into effect on Jan. 1, 1980. ... We are confident the matter can be resolved before the termination

Factory Worker Proves Identity, Collects Part Of Inheritance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Reuben K. Metson, who earned $4.25 an hour working in a Michigan factory, isn't a family man. In fact, he hadn't seen his relatives in 22 years. But he walked into a bank here and collected the first installment on a $249,000 inheritance.

THE PARTY OF THE STREET OF THE STREET

"I'm going to have one, and one shot only, of a celebration," Metson, 47, said Wednesday night after he proved to a San Francisco Superior Court judge that he was a long-lost heir to the estate of his great-aunt.

"I've had all kinds of life experiences," he said. "And I'm not going to become any of that nouveau riche stuff now. The money is going to stay in the bank and earn interest.

A private investigator who tracked Metson down will get $60,000 of the inheritance.

Zoo Visitors Asked To Take Test For TB

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) - As many as 800 persons who visited the Duluth Zoo last winter have been advised to seek a skin test for possible tuberculosis infection following a TB outbreak among zoo

Skin tests on seven of the 38 employees at the zoo indicated they may have been infected during the outbreak, authorities said. Dr. Harold Leppink, St. Louis County health officer, said Wednesday that while X-rays of the seven employees showed no evidence of the disease, it was possible that infection could still surface.

All seven are being treated with isoniacid, a drug which prevents development of tuberculosis, Leppink said.

Visitors to the zoo between Nov. 10, 1978, and March 1, 1979, were advised that they may want to have the simple skin test, called a Mantoux test. But Leppink said they were not urged to have a test.

"Tuberculosis requires prolonged contact," Leppink said. "The doctors are of the opinion that the risk of infection for these people is very small but it is not zero. Therefore, we should try to find them and test them.

TB is a communicable disease which affects the lungs and is caused by a bacmake it up the ramp, some of the conterium. Symptoms include fever, night sweat and weight loss.

Zoo officials estimated between 200 and 800 persons visited the zoo during the outbreak which has been traced to three African Fennec foxes delivered to the zoo Nov. 10. One fox died four days later and another also was found to have tuberculosis.

Brown In White House?

ONE OF THE incongruities of the American political system is that "anyone can run for President...

One might add, "provided he has a base from which to launch his campaign, plenty of money to sustain a long campaign leading up to and through an election year, and adequate publicity.

Sometimes, it seems, that the latter factor plays a much larger role in determining some of the early contenders than should be

The mass media, to our way of thinking, often help build up a candidate, only to help tear him, or her, down later.

SUCH MIGHT be the case in the "noncandidacy" of California Gov. Jerry Brown. Like Sen. Ted Kennedy, Brown for months has been running and not running for the White House. Only the formalities remain. The fact that the Massachusetts Democrat finally all but formally challenged President Carter apparently will not deter Brown in the least. Nor will the fact that his real chances of getting the Democratic nomination, let alone winning the White House, are less than zero.

PERHAPS WE are a bit dense, but with due respect to Mr. Brown, his unusual circle of advisers and supporters, and all the media build-up, we can not understand how he three sides of an issue at the same time and that he comes from a state noted for its farout life-styles in general-none really say the man is qualified to lead the nation.

WE DO NOT say that Gov. Brown is not an able governor, nor that some of his efforts in behalf of the people of California aren't sound and productive.

Brown has such persons as actress Jane Fonda and former activist Tom Hayden, the Rev. Jesse Jackson and others tooting his horn, that he also has any number of highly respected and qualified advisors.

And although his age, 41, might be considered an asset, to us it says that he has not been around long enough to make the mistakes necessary to make a good statesman.

Jerry Brown may be the nation's most agile politician when it comes to double talk and changing horses in the middle of an issue. But President? They can't be serious.

Uh, Mr. President...

AS A STAUNCH Republican, Bob Blake should have known better than to climb into bed with Democrats.

Even though he set down strict conditions before doing so.

Back in mid-July, Blake took note of President Carter's invitation for comment from the public on plans to combat the energy crisis.

An independent dabbler in the oil business, Blake figured his ideas on the subject might be at least as enlightening to the administration as those of some slum landlord in New England.

He therefore sat down to his trusty typewriter and wrote to President Jimmy Carter himself, the White House, Washington, D.C.

"I AM SO ANXIOUS to have you read this letter personally," Blake began, "that I am willing to contribute $1,000 to your re-election campaign fund to accomplish this. My check is enclosed, made payable to the Jimmy Carter for President Committee, with the condition that the Committee may keep the check if you have read my let-

The rest of the letter:

"I am a Concerned Citizen, a Republican of modest means. I am also a small Independent Oil

'This letter is important to me because I feel that if you will read it, my views may help you alleviate part of our energy problem and our critical Balance of Trade Deficit.

"Your decontrol of old oil over a period of 28 months is commendable, but will not increase production noticeably if you add a high excise tax or so-called 'windfall profits tax'

"To get the increase of 1,500,000 barrels per day as fast as possible, you must provide encouragement to the independent oil operator and the small oil company by allowing them to receive the current world price in a free market for all oil produced in an old field over and above the

ONE MAN'S OPINION

"THE MILLIONS OF dollars spent for additional drilling and secondary recovery methods will increase production over a two-year period by at least 1,500,000 barrels and reduce our trade deficit by over 10 billion dollars (per year).

"You would allow the American producer the same price we are paying to OPEC but the money will be paid to Americans in America, providing jobs in America and resulting in the income taxes due to be paid to the United States.

"It will not cost the American consumer any additional money since it is for the increased production which, if not obtained, would have to be purchased from OPEC.

"You are a businessman. In your peanut business you would not want to sell your crop for $2 a bushel when the market price is $10 a bushel because your land was bought when land prices were lower than they are now.

"This is a simple way to partially solve the problem facing our country. I would appreciate

"Thank you, Sir, for taking time to read this

Biake signed it and mailed it. And waited. And waited. And waited.

July passed into history. August came and went. September came and went. No word from the White House. No sign of his check clearing through his bank account.

FINALLY, IN A letter dated Oct. 10 and signed by Evan S. Dobelle, national chairman of the Carter/Mondale Presidential Committee, Inc., 1413 K Street NW, Washington, D.C. 2005, Blake got this reply:

Thank you for your recent contribution to the Carter/Mondale Presidential Committee. Thousands of Americans like you who believe in President Carter and wish to see him re-elected have now contributed $2,000,000 to his campaign.

Your support will continue to help this great President to bring our government and our people closer.

With your contribution, you have demonstrated that you are with us. We are very grateful for it and look forward to your continued support." NOT A WORD FROM the President himself.

Not a word about whether he had read the letter, which was sent to the White House and answered from somewhere else. A chagrined Blake also discovered that his $1.-

000 check had been cashed. Not being a supporter of the President and not knowing whether Carter had read his letter, Blake wrote back to the re-election committee:

"The conditions of my letter for you to honestly cash my check were not adhered to and I would appreciate your returning the $1,000."

He hasn't had time to hear back yet. In the meantime, though, the President has not followed his advice, if he ever got it, and in the absence of increased domestic production, OPEC suppliers have again raised the price of oil.

Kemp's In A League By Himself

WASHINGTON-"My father is not a football player," says the daughter of Rep. Jack Kemp. 'He's a quarterback.'

Jennifer was retorting to a snippy review of her dad's book, "An American Renaissance: Strategy for the 1980s," (Harpers) in which the critic had disparaged Kemp's economics as coming from a mere professional athlete.

Kemp, of coures, besides being Player of the Year '65 in his league, has an arm's length of accomplishments as "Outstanding Young Man" in several fields, but I would be losing the focus by moving away from the gist of his daughter's ri-

The professional quarterback is leader, is thinker, is executive of his team. The 45-year-old Republican Conservative from Hamburg, N.Y., is all of these in his political capacity.

ELECTED IN 1970 from a Democratic-Laborite constituency, he is regularly returned to office for that one reason-he's a leader, thinker, exec-nation. There hasn't been such a magnetic hunk of manhood around since John F. Kennedy, The Congressman's high-frequency expressions

It's also possible to think of Kemp as a reincarin his book, and in his speeches, are Kennedian: "A rising tide lifts all the boats," "Let's get America moving again." His appeal to the Greater Buffalo community, I believe, is his infectious optimism-for the country, for the Republican party, for the individual. Kemp knows how far America has slipped in military power, diplomatic prestige, economic standing and productivity.

HE'S AWARE THAT the GOP is a cross-breed between Herbert Hoover standpatism and Tom Dewey me-tooism. He knows that most of the people who vote for him can barely hack it on

But, in each case, the Congressman is high in faith. He thinks that America, given a taxation system for incentive, will reinvest its ingenuity and take-home pay, so as once more to command the world's attention and admiration.

He has plans for the GOP to become the party of growth and quality, and he envisions a return of the Golden Age when American productions in industry, weapons, literature and sports were, more often than not, the world's best

Kemp is best known as co-author of the Kemp-Roth bill of tax adjustment. This measure would reduce the federal income take by one-third over a three-year period. Also, it would cut away punitive levies and government regulations which get in the way of Big and Small business.

This legislative package would limit federal spending by annual percentage reductions—a method known on Capitol Hill as indexing or inflation-proofing. Kemp-Roth is being examined, in its separate parts, by the committees on Ways and Means and on the Budget.

Kemp's fundamental idea comes down to trusting the people, not the government, to know what's best. He sees that, as in the case of our technological exports, the folk wisdom creed has been adapted for foreign use.

Specifically, it is the Swiss who rely on their population to initiate and annul legislative programs-matters dealing with deficit spending, welfare and working hours.

Half-hidden in the House's perpetual Republican minority, Jack Kemp is sure to emerge when Republican presidential candidates look for a running-mate who can bring in both Democratic and Conservative voters.

Caring Is Key Element Of Hospice Movement

WASHINGTON-Millions of Americans (I ong you) have stood by helplessly, watching our loved ones die alone, degraded by tubes, dependent on highly-trained personnel eager to turn to patients who can be saved and to dismiss those who are in their final hours, crying for release from the routine, rigid regulations, the set procedures, the intense pain. Millions of us have as a result come to favor any kind of treatment which will deaden the pain (who cares if a person with a week or two to live becomes "addicted?" What possible difference could it make to anyone?)

And thus, millions of us have become active supporters of the suddenly exploding hospice movement in the U.S. We know. We care,

And we are no longer the minor minority we were merely a few years ago. The hospice concept has been endorsed by such diverse groups as the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Associations, the American Hospital Association, the Department of Health, Education & Welfare, a cross-section senators and representatives from both par-

Carter has said the deense budget should increase by three percent and I say I don't think so Now, the idea that the Pentagon's budget is a huge, overgrown "sacred cow" is absurd. As Dr. James Clayton, dean of the graduate

- AS A PERCENTAGE of the gross national product, defense spending has been in a longterm decline since the Korean War, except for a brief spurt during the Vietnam conflict. In fiscal 1979 defense spending is estimated to be 5.1 percent of the GNP, which is only slightly higher than it was in 1950. The U.S. commitment to defense is really quite modest by international comparisons. The latest figures indicate that the "average" country spends almost 6 percent of its GNP for defense, which is higher than the U.S. spends. - Defense expenditures by the U.S. are now and will be for some years to come well below those of the Soviet Union. In equivalent dollars, the Soviet Union outspent the U.S. on defense by an estimated 40 percent in 1976.

THE SOVIET UNION spent an estimated 11 to 15 percent of its GNP for defense in 1975 and is expected to spend about 18 percent in 1980.

Economists Watch For Effects Of Tight Money

By PHILIP GREER
And MYRON KANDEL
It's nail-biting time in the economics business. After two years of climbing interest rates, topped by a surge that sent the prime lending rate up 14 points in just the last month, it's almost time to find out if tight money stops inflation.

The answer could determine whether price increases can be brought under control at all.

All through the upward spiral in rates which hasn't put any dents in infla-- Washington money managers insisted that it's difficult to cut down on borrowing and spending when the rate of inflation is higher than the level of in-terest rates. When that happens, they claimed, borrowing is good business strategy, so the loans keep mounting and the inflationary pressures continue.

When the prime rate soared over 13 ercent a couple of weeks ago, thesituation started to change. The prime isn't the most important rate in the credit picture, and other charges are still below the 13.2 percent rate of inflation, but it is the best-known barometer and it does tend to affect businessmen's thinking.

With rates mostly up to record highs and finally topping inflation, economists — and the rest of us — are waiting to see if it will cut borrowing, reduce the demand for goods and, eventually, bring down the rate of inflation.

Henry Kaufman of Salomon Brothers, who has been right on target with his interest rate forecasts, thinks the peak in interest rates may be coming soon, but he cautions that more difficult times still lie ahead.

"It isn't there yet," Kaufman told us, speaking of an interest rate level that would put a damper on borrowing, "but I think it's coming close. Many short-term rates are at or above the inflation rate, but it isn't all that clear.

"Many longer-term rates are still well below the rate of inflation. Triple-A utility bonds, for example, are around 10.2 percent, tax-exempt bonds are about 6.6 percent and government bonds are around 91/2 percent. So there's still a lot of money available below the prime rate and below the inflation rate.

(Over the past month or so, Ford Motor Co. has borrowed $500 million to finance its still-unintroduced 1980 models. It did it, according to bankers, well below the prime rate — a strong indication that rate levels don't always count for the biggest borrowers.)

"It isn't the current inflation rate that affects borrowing," Kaufman add-ed. "It's the expectation of future rates. After all, businessmen are borrowing that they don't expect to pay back until some time in the future. If they think inflation is going to get worse, they'll be willing to pay even higher rates." Erich Heinemann of Morgan, Stanley

& Co., Inc., told us that he believes in-

Judge Orders Separation Of Couple

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) - A judge who annulled the traditional Gypsy marriage of a 13-year-old girl and 16-year-old boy says he will ask Kentucky authorities to return the girl, who tried to elope there.

District Judge Jay Dalton issued a bench warrant for Dorothy Uwanawich nd said this week he would ask for her extradition from Kentucky.

"I have conferred with the Tulsa County District Attorney's office and we will see about arranging her return through the interstate juvenile com-

Dalton entered the case when the girl's father, David Uwanawich of Mobile, Ala., objected to the marriage planned by the boy's parents.

The boy's parents, Louie and Rachel Mitchell, said the couple eloped in Tulsa, spent the night together and exchanged gold coins — which in Gypsy custom signifies betrothal.

Dalton ruled the girl could not be married under Oklahoma law and ordered her kept by her maternal grand-parents in Chicago until state welfare officials could investigate the case.

After he ordered their separation, Dalton said he received reports the couple had gone to Kentucky.

terest rates "are getting into an area where monetary policy should begin to bite." But, he warned, "The crisis that helped to create this level of interest rates could necessitate further crisis action that could push rates even higher.

Both analysts pointed out that the current plight of the dollar could force the Carter administration and the Fed into new credit-tightening moves that would push interest rates even higher, no matter what happens to the economy n the meantime

'The risk of further tightening has increased because of the pressure on the dollar," Kaufman said. "It isn't difficult to see the prime rate going over 14 percent. One more notch by the Fed and the rate will go over 14 percent.'

They also noted that the Fed isn't likely to loosen up very fast if the economy turns down sharply. "There is an in-creasing liklihood that monetary policy will tighten even as the economy weakens," Heinemann said. "There's always a lag in Fed reactions.

Heinemann pointed out, too, that the monetary figures that government credit managers use to track the market are unlikely to show much slowing any time

"Corporations still have well over $200 billion in unused borrowings, with firm commitments, the fees all paid, just waiting to be picked up," he said. "The only thing that would prevent that money from being used would be a sharp drop in sales and cutbacks in production in order to reduce the cost of fi-

WhiteHouse Monitoring Suggested

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID WASHINGTON (AP) - Cuban tensions and the coming political campaign aren't the only problems in government. At any given moment, the issues on the Potomac can range from a sinking White House to inadequate tornado warnings and troubles with the census.

For example, following extensive study, the chief of the Vertical Network Branch believes the White House should be carefully monitored in the coming

While many politicians and reporters will be doing just that, their efforts aren't what Charles T. Whalen has in Whalen, you see, works for the Na-

north wall remains firm, there has been some sinking - about the thickness of two dimes - in the southwest corner of the executive mansion As minor as that sounds, Whalen terms it "statistically significant" and urges that the building be monitored to determine if any structural damage may campaigns never are going to be Sunday school lessons, but the politicians, press and public can keep them from becom-ing excursions into the garbage heap.

President Carter has signed a regulation exempting census workers from civil service coverage, a move some have criticized as a return to political patronage in such jobs.

Some personal matters are entirely proper for campaign discussion. Carter certainly was within the bounds in raising the issue of coolness under pressure.

Indians See Nun As Immortal

By United Press International For the poorest of the poor, starving and dying on the streets of Calcutta, India, hope resides only in a 69-year-old

Roman Catholic nun — Mother Teresa. When she leaves on one of her tours abroad, the lepers and the abandoned children ask the same question, "When will Mother return?"

Mother Teresa, a gentle, frail Yugoslav-born woman who works up to 18 hours a day, has won worldwide fame for her work with the lepers, the poor,

In India, she is not regarded merely as a Catholic nun who went into the slums 33 years ago.

"Some of us, when we speak her name, think of her as an incarnation of Kali (the presiding Hindu diety of the Bengalis)," one Bengali said.

"It is not just the poor of the city who have felt her spirit. We all know her. She is an institution of God, never mind her nationality. For us she is immortal. She is another Buddha, another

Mother Teresa, born Agnes Gonxha Bojaxhiu of Albanian parents in Yugoslavia, went into the slums in 1946. Her efforts are reflected in her face strong, heavily wrinkled, compassionate.

Israeli, Egyptian Aid Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) - Israel and Egypt are the big winners in a $2.8 billion military aid bill awaiting President Carter's signature into law.

The measure approved by the House on Tuesday and sent to the White House includes $785 million for Israel and $750 million for Egypt. It also contains $448 million in various loans and grants for Turkey - the result of a compromise that took four months to work out

gious order which she founded, today claims a membership of 1,130 sisters and more than 40,000 co-workers in India

Strict personal austerity, in keeping with the mother's wishes, is the lifestyle of this order, whose members wear a simple white sari. About their only worldly possession is a tin bucket in which they wash their clothes.

The order also runs homes for the destitute of Sri Lanka, Tanzania, Jordan, enezuela, Britain and Australia.

It all began, "many years ago when I was at home with my people," recalls Mother Teresa in Malcolm Muggeridge's book, "Something Beautiful for God."

She was 12, growing up in Skopje, Yugoslavia, "when we children used to to a non-Catholic school. But we also had very good priests who were helping the boys and the girls to follow their vocation according to the call of God. It was then that I knew I had a vocation to

So she decided to be a missionary.

About that time some missionaries from Yugoslavia had gone to India and their Bengal mission's nuns had begun work in Calcutta. "I offered myself to go out to the Bengal mission and from there they sent me to India in 1929," she says. After taking her final vows at the Loreto convent in Calcutta, she taught for about 20 years. In 1946 she received permission to leave her order and work among the poor. The Missionaries of Charity group was officially recognized by the Vatican in 1950 as a new religious order.

Speaking of the "enrichment I have received through my contact with the poorest of the poor," Mother Teresa, a name she took after becoming a nun, says, "We want to make them feel they

"We want them to know there are people who really love them, who really want them, at least for a few hours they live, to know human and divine love.'

We have picked up over 30,000 persons from the streets of Calcutta of whom about 50 percent have died." she

One of the big problems of the order is finance and lack of other resources but this has not stopped her from devising her own techniques of raising mon-

On his trip to India in 1964, Pope Paul VI gave Mother Teresa a luxury limousine, which she raffled off to raise about $13,000.

In 1971, Mother Teresa was named the first winner of the $25,000 Pope John XXIII peace prize. This gift also

Although she is always deperately in need of money for maintaining her charity, she has never accepted any government grants for her medical work. Her reason, as Muggeridge explains, is that such things would involve keeping books which would be difficult with the one battered typewriter she uses. She has her own explanation for the oft-repeated suggestion that what she does may be very litle compared to the enormous problems of Calcutta.

According to her, welfare is for a purpose, an admirable and a necessary one. But Christian love is for a person. The one is about numbers, the other about a man who was also God.'

U.S.-France Military Cooperation Increasing

TOUL-ROSIERES AIR BASE, France (UPI) — The late president Charles de Gaulle's order expelling U.S. troops from France is still on the books, but if you look hard enough nowadays you'll find American warplanes flying in French skies.

Military cooperation between the two countries seems to be on the upswing.

Recently, French Jaguar jets took part in American maneuvers in West Germany, flying mock bombing strikes to support U.S. tank units and narrowly skirting official French policy of having no part in NATO military plans.

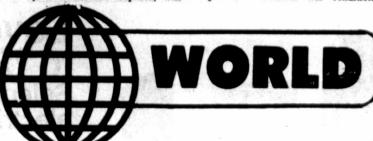

American jets - Germanoased A10s and F4 Phantoms and British-based F111s - regularly cross special French regions where military planes are allowed fly as low as 250 feet at speeds up to 540 mph. U.S. fighters also practice bombing at a range near Suippes, 100 miles from Paris.

U.S.-French air activity is not publicized, but was acknowledged during a rare visit for reporters to this French air base by Gen. Bernard Capillon, who

Capillon said the low-level training, welcomed by U.S. air commanders because of tight restrictions in other European countries against ground-hugging flights that simulate war conditions,

Navy Carriers In Indian Ocean To Display American Interest

States has sent an aircraft carrier battle group into the Indian Ocean in a step-up of American naval "show the flag" operations in those strategic waters.

The 64,000-ton carrier Midway and six other Navy ships entered the Indian Ocean from the South China Sea on Sunday for training maneuvers and port calls aimed at stressing U.S. interests in the area, including the oil-producing

The Midway battle group voyage comes only six weeks after the departure of a cruiser-led task force. In the past, such naval voyages normally have been conducted about two months apart.

Tourists Flock To Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) - Tourists flocked to Mexico in record numbers and spent more than ever before during the first six months of this year, despite the summer fuel crisis in the United States and sharply higher vacation prices in this sunny southern neighbor.

Tourism ministry figures show that 1,750,000 tourists - mostly Americans - came to Mexico from January to June, a 14 percent increase over the same six months of 1978.

And they spent $708 million, or an average $33.56 a day, which represents a 25 percent increase over the year before.

But prices for nearly everything have risen steeply because of a sharp peso devaluation in 1976 and the higher cost of imported goods caused by increased oil prices, according to a recent study by the private Banco Nacional de Mexico, one of the country's largest banks.

Still, Americans don't seem to mind the nearly doubled cost of services in Tourism Minister Guillermo Rosell de la Lama said the government airline, "Aeromexico," had carried 665,000 passengers between Mexico and the United States, a 30 percent increase over the same six months in 1978. Mexicana de Aviacion, the other Mexican carrier, increased passenger traffic in August alone by 20 percent in traffic with the United States.

Nearly 37 percent of the tourists drive to Mexico, for an average 10-day vacation. Automobile traffic across the border dipped 10 percent in July, officials say, because of scarce gasoline in the United States, but it was back to normal in August.

Tourists coming to Mexico continue to prefer hot coastal resorts such as Acapulco, Cancun, Puerto Vallarta and Cozumel, but Guadalajara and Mexico City hotels were about 75 percent full for the first six months, the minister reported.

Tourism during the summer months jumped by 8 percent, a reversal of the traditional downturn in Mexico because of the almost daily rains during the sum-

To meet increasing tourism, expected to surpass 4 million persons next year, the government has approved credits for $167 million to build 8,347 new hotel rooms and recondition 1,179 rooms. This will create 21,800 new jobs, the minister Another 6,466 new hotel rooms are just being completed.

Tourism contributes about 6 percent to the total gross national product of Mexico. "I expect this to increase to 7 percent this year," Rosell de la Lama

But he pointed out that steeply rising prices and other problems in Acapulco, the Pacific Ocean resort, had brought about a drop in tourism there.

Among those other factors may be highways. Speed limits on the Mexico City-Acapulco highway are not enforced and one vacationing American family reported seeing five serious accidents during their six-hour trip through the winding Sierra Madre mountains to the coast.

Although Oct. 29, 1929, was the most notorious day in the stock market crash, setting a record for the number of shares traded, stocks did not fall by the most points or greater percentage that day. A day after that speech, the Pentagon said the small, permanent naval force that has been maintained in the Persian Gulf-Indian Ocean area for about 30 years had been increased from three to five ships. The Navy said the Midway battle group, which includes cruisers, destroyers and oilers, will not become the nucleus of a permanent fleet in the vast Indian Ocean.

There have been suggestions since the turmoil in Iran and elsewhere in the Persian Gulf region that the United States might establish a permanent fleet there, similar to the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean and the 7th Fleet in the

The Navy indicated the Midway, along with its 60 war planes and accompanying ships, will return to the Pacific after it finishes its task in the Indian iust where the Midway group will operate, although past patterns suggest the ships probably will sail into the Arabian Sea and perhaps the Gulf of Aden.

Asked what the Midway battle group will do, the Navy said it will conduct "routine training," including launching and recovery of its planes, maneuvering, engineering and communication drills.

Senior Navy admirals have privately objected to the idea of establishing a permanent major fleet in the Indian Ocean because, they say, the Navy does not have enough ships to do this without taking significant strength from the Mediterranean and the Pacific.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown said last week that the Navy can increase the frequency of ship movements into the Indian Ocean "by a rather substantial factor ... without greatly decreasing the deployments in the Pacific or the Medi-

Assignment of the Midway to the Indian Ocean leaves the 7th Fleet temporarily with only one aircraft carrier, the Kitty Hawk, to operate in the entire Western Pacific region.

United Press International Writer Black and white youths out of work mostly black and mostly inner-city kids - are not without hope, says Jerome M. Rosow, President of the Work in America Institute.

And to show this is so, he tells of work programs which have proved to be helpful - all pilots or demonstrations, all pretty innovative and all described in detail in the institute report: "Job Strat-egies for Urban Youth, Sixteen Pilot Programs for Action."

These pilot programs should be carried out through existing institutions," Rosow reports in "The Work-Education Exchange," a newsletter of the National Manpower Institute.

'We need to face the reality that new opportunities must be attractive enough to compete with those found on the street. And - employers and unions and educators have to be involved, as well as the government.

One of the problems is financial. In New York City, for example, it was found a youth paid at the minimum wage of $2.90 an hour netted less than 1.68 an hour. And even to pay the minimum wage, the employer had to expend as much as $4.95 an hour when taxes, insurance, and benefits are added in.

To increase the financial incentives to work without adding to employers' costs, the report proposes three shortterm pilot programs that do not add to employers' costs:

Avalanche-Journal Staff

Another step in Lubbock's recovery from the May 1970 tornado will be ac-complished Sunday with the dedication and open house of the Parkway Neighborhood Center building at 405 N. Quirt.

Mayor pro-tem Alan Henry, former president of the Guadalupe-Parkway Neighborhood Center Board, will cut the ribbon at 3 p.m. for the dedication. The open house will be from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Barbara Sommerville, executive director of the Parkway and Guadalupe Centers, said the Parkway Center has been in existence since June 1970 in a variety of locations, but the 405 N. Quirt location is the first official building. In 1978 the City Council approved the use of Community Development Funds for the building, Miss Sommerville said.

She said the referral will take place in 10 days, "unless Chicago submits an acceptable desegregation plan." The 10day interim is required by federal regulations in the Civil Rights Act.

Mrs. Harris said HEW civil rights officials had collected a vast amount of evidence that showed "a clear pattern, over a period of almost 40 years, of intentional Board of Education action to reinforce and perpetuate segregated conditions and to avoid integration.

"We do not not want to go to court, but if we must we are prepared to argue our case before the judiciary," Hannon

The office said school boards fostered segregation by the way they drew school district boundaries and by the ways in which new schools were located, as well as in other ways.

If the city had accepted the conditions submitted by HEW last week, it automatically would have been given an extension until Nov. 17 to prepare a desegregation plan. Instead, the board vote 6-3 to ask HEW for an additional 170 days to come up with an acceptable plan, echoing a plea Hannon made a day earlier to President Carter.

However. Hannon told the board he had been informed Mrs. Harris would send him a letter today telling him that the Justice Department would get the case in 10 days, and that there would be

Foreign Relations Panel Rejects Treaty Proposal

Foreign Relations Committee today rejected a proposal that would have required the Soviet Union to count older missiles on a class of Soviet submarines as strategic weapons under the SALT II By a 10-5 vote, the committee turned down a reservation drafted by Sen. Richard Stone, D-Fla., to include under treaty restrictions the missiles carried by Golf class submarines which Stone said visited Cuba in 1972 and 1974. Stone said his reservation, which would have required Soviet approval, would close a small but "important"

treaty loophole. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, the committee chairman, said agreements with the Soviet Union ending the 1962 missile crisis forbid the Russians to introduce offensive nuclear weapons into Cuban waters.

"If we insist on including these old submarines under the .. . ceilings set by the agreement, we invite reciprocal action by the Soviet Union," Church said. He said the Soviets might well de-

In Mobile, the largest city in the Alabama and Mississippi.

Perhaps the hardest hit area was Gu'f Shores, an Alabama coastal resort community of 3,000 known as the "Redneck Riveria." The town's 1,000 motel rooms were either blown away or closed indefinitely for repairs.

"Ninety percent of our tax base has been destroyed," says Mayor Mixon Jones. "We depend on the sales, use and lodging taxes for our income.

The state and federal government have chipped in with emergency loans of nearly $300,000, but it won't be enough, Jones says, to help the city meet its annual budget of about $1 million.

Some Gulf Shores residents complain federal disaster assistance is too slow in arriving, but Jones said he was satisfied with the response.

'Some people feel like if we (United States) can send $50 million to Egypt to build a sewer system, we should be able to get some help on the Redneck Rivierhe said. "It's a slow and tedious process, but we're progressing."

Jones says it's too early to tell how much of the beachfront can be rebuilt in time for the 1980 summer season.

"It's hard to tell, but it's not going to be much as far as tourism," he said.

Only one motel is open and its rooms are available only to emergency workers. But, like all structures along the beach, it has no electricity, water or Another motel owner says he hopes to have about 40 rooms open by Dec. 1. But the Gulf State Park, the state's multimilion convention and motel complex. and a high-rise Holiday Inn are both in shambles.

What was a state-operated liquor store is now a twisted pile of tin. A bar once frequented by one of the area's most famous residents, Okland Raiders quarterback Kenny Stabler, is a heap of shattered lumber.

Most of the landmarks familiar to tourists - restaurants, gift shops and teen-age hangouts - are simply gone.

Huge patches of asphalt on the beachfront highway were washed away and piles of dirty sand that were once picturesque sand dunes dotted with sea oats line the roadway.

The beach, without its protective collar of dunes, looks like a flat field of new-fallen snow.

Concrete supports jutting out of the sand are all that is left of many hundredthousand-dollar homes along the beach. Those that weren't blown inland are heavily damaged.

A few people are working to patch up the remains of their summer homes, but other buildings sit untouched since Frederic slammed ashore. Walls knocked down by the storm reveal furniture, appliances and television sets still "Everybody is suffering from combat fatigue," the mayor says. "It gets kinda depressing when you see it (destruction) everyday on the beach."

But Joe Raines, who operates a construction business about a mile from the beach, says he believes the area will bounce back from the devastation.

"I don't think it'll be that hard to put it back together since the basic attraction - the beach - still remains," he said. "I think we'll come back stronger, economically and aesthetically.

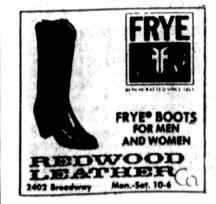

Raines, who has lived in Gulf Shores for nine years, said there is talk the town might get a new sewer system and that utilities might be placed under-

Along Alabama 59 between Gulf Shores and Bay Minette, hurricane damage is less obvious. There are some mobile homes left in a pile of rubble and some rooftop damage, but most of the destruction was aimed at trees — pines and pecans in particular.

"Mainly just the limbs were sheared, but by spring I don't think it will be noticed hardly at all," said Tom Lawry, a member of a cleanup crew.

But most of the streets are still littered with branches, shingles, glass, paper and other building materials.

Commissioner Mims said city workers will probably be picking up some debris for the next year.

The main streets are virtually cleared, but many side streets are still piled high with limbs, snapped utility poles and wires. Driving in downtown Mobile is tricky since many traffic lights were blown away and have not been re-

About 300 trucks are hauling debris out of the city daily, but Mims said the city needs another 700 trucks.

"I'm a stickler for cleanliness and I won't be pleased until we get it completely clean," he added.

In the predominantly black suburb of Prichard, some streets were still blocked with fallen trees and the massive cleanup effort is less visible than in Mobile.

Of the roughly 5,000 motel and hotel rooms in Mobile, only 700 were closed because of the storm. But the city is jammed with utility crewmen, insurance adjusters and other emergency workers.

Travelers were advised last week the nearest motel room was in Pensacola,

Some new car dealers in Mobile are trying to unload "storm damaged" cars and one street vendor is selling $4 Tshirts with the logo: "Survivor Hurricane Frederic, Sept. 13, 1979."

Other than the massive cleanup, life ems normal in Mobile. Its major tourist attractions have reopened and business is picking up.

"I can't see where we're going to experience any major problems in tourism," said Al Treadaway, manager of the Travel and Conventions Department of the Mobile Area Chamber of Com-

"Once we've completed this cleaning up of debris, the city is going to look a lot better," he said. "It's a little depressing seeing it the way it is now." Treadaway said the city hopes to res-

"During the summer, there is a tie-in with the beaches because people like to have a variety of things to do on vacation," Treadaway admitted.

Boy's Death Leaves Questions About Laetrile

BOSTON (UPI) - The death last week of 3-year-old Chad Green, taking Laetrile while suffering from leukemia, leaves many unanswered questions about whether the unproven cancer treatment is a miracle cure or a quack

The National Cancer Institute nearly one year ago applied for a license to conduct clinical studies of Laetrile. But so far the Food and Drug Administration has not decided if it will grant the request.

A decision now would come amid heightened public interest created by the Green case as well as a newly released report on Laetrile's toxic effects.

In an article this week in the New England Journal of Medicine, doctors at New York's University of Rochester Medical Center reported a case of cyanide poisoning in a woman treated with Laetrile and a so-called detoxification

Laetrile's known toxicity is one of three issues on which FDA is hinging its decision whether to approve tests in human beings, according to spokesman

Pines said the FDA has never approved a chemical for testing in human beings unless special animal tests indicated the drug had some anticancer activity and, he noted, "There never have been any documented cases of Laetrile having altered the course of cancer.'

FDA's final decision, Pines said, probably will not be affected by the

"There have been many people who have taken Laetrile and many people have died," he said. "This case has gotten a lot of prominence because the courts got involved and it was a child."

Another factor FDA must consider, Pines said, is the chemical structure of Laetrile. The peach-pit derivative varies depending on who produces it. "Different people make different substances and call them Laetrile," he said. "We want to know with some precision what controls were used in the production NCI last year reviewed case records of cancer patients who had taken Lae-trile and no other form of cancer therapy. Six patients showed improvement, although it was not certain they improved because of the Laetrile.

'Because of widespread public use and interest" in Laetrile, an NCI spokeswoman said, the Institute requested a clinical trial in which the drug would be given to cancer patients who exhausted all other forms of treatment. Proponents of Laetrile say the substance is transformed into hydrogen cyanide which then kills cancer cells. Normal cells are protected by an enzyme lacking in the cancer cells — that neutralizes the poison.

Many suporters of Laetrile also advocate a diet high in fruits and vegetables. However, researchers at Rochester have reported such a diet increases the chances of cyanide poisoning.

In a letter to the Journal, Dr. Dale L. Morse said he treated a 48-year-old lung cancer patient who was admitted to the hospital in shock, nine days after undergoing Laetrile treatments.

"This patient had received Laetrile in a clinically supervised setting and was getting a detoxification diet," he said. Enzymes in the food acted on the Laetrile to produce cyanide.

As for Chad Green, Morse said researchers will have to wait for his autopsy, expected in three weeks, to determine if Laetrile kept him alive longer, had no effect or helped kill him.

"I can't be sure what implications there would be," he said. "People may be more cautious about taking it (Laetrile).

Light Rain Falls Here

Light showers fell over portions of Lubbock and the South Plains this morning, and forecasters predicted a slight chance for more moisture this afternoon and tonight. Despite several reports of light rain in various parts of the city, no measurable amount was recorded at the National Weather Service at Lubbock Internation-Scattered thundershowers were reported near noon stretching from Iraan to north of Lubbock, with the heaviest near Justiceburg in Garza County.

There will be decreasing cloudiness late tonight and skies should become mostly fair Friday, forecasters said.

Continued warm weather is predicted, with temperatures expected to be in the low 80s today, mid-50s tonight and near 80 Friday.

Winds were forecast to be south to southwesterly at 15 to 20 mph today and southwesterly at 5 to 10 mph tonight.

The rain probability was set at 20 percent today and tonight.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy over most of Texas before sunrise today, but fog settled over parts of the Panhandle and Upper Gulf Coast and cut visibility to near zero in some places, the National Weather Service reported.

Temperatures were mainly in the 50s and 60s over most of the state with readings in the 70s over South Central Texas.

A few showers and thunderstorms are expected over the northern half of Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 52 at Marfa to 75 at San Antonio. Lubbock's low this morning was 60 after a Wednesday afternoon high of 80 degrees.

Nobel Literature Prize Goes To Greek Writer

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) - The today to Greek poet Odysseus Elytis, portray man's struggles against the background of Aegean landscape and Greek tradition.

The Swedish Royal Academy of Letters' selection of the 68-year-old Elytis, who is not widely known beyond his homeland, came as a surprise to many observers of the international literary scene. But it has often chosen aged poets with no large following outside their native languages — recent exam-ples are Spaniard Vicente Aleixandre in 1977, Italian Eugenio Montale in 1975 and Swede Harry Martinson in 1974.

Elytis is the second Greek poet to receive the coveted award, which this year carries a cash sum of $190,000. Giorgos Seferis won it in 1963.

More Earthquakes Shake Californians

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Southern California residents, shaken by two significant earthquakes this week, are going about their business a bit uneasily as aftershocks rumble from the desert to

A quake measuring 4.1 on the Richter scale and centered in Santa Monica Bay jolted a five-county area Wednesday, rattling windows and triggering several minor rockslides. There were so many phone calls that telephone service was stalled briefly in Los Angeles, but no damage or injuries were reported. The epicenter of the 1:52 p.m. tremor was eight miles south of Malibu, said Melinda Brinza of the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena. It wasfelt as far away as San Bernardino and Riverside, 70 miles east. There was a sudden jolt, like a truck had run into the side of the building right here on the ninth floor," said banker John Hainer, who was at work in a downtown high-rise. About 71/2 hours later, Caltech reported a 3.1 aftershock, centered a mile north of the first quake. Officials said no damage was reported. The Malibu temblor was apparently unrelated to Monday's 6.4-magnitude quake that devastated the Imperial Valley, 150 miles to the southeast. Along the fault which caused the Imperial Valley quake, slippage left a trail humped and broken earth a foot or two across and more than 30 miles long through empty desert, plowed fields and roads. Scientists call the break a mole track because it looks as if a giant mole had tunneled just below the surface.

Aftershocks continued Wednesday in the Imperial Valley. The most severe was a 5.1 jolt at 4:45 p.m. Near the epicenter of the Santa Monica quake, the Pacific Coast Highway was closed briefly while crews inspected Malibu's perennial slide area at Big Rock beach, sheriff's deputies said. Several minor rockslides were reported on Malibu Canyon Road, deputies said.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a reading of 7.5 reflects an earthquake 10 times stronger than one of 6.5.

An earthquake of 3.5 on the Richter scale can cause slight damage in the local area, 4 moderate damage, 5 considerable damage, 6 severe damage.

The board also authorized BGR Architects-Engineers to draw up detailed plans for a school bus maintenance warehouse. The firm has been working with the school district on a general plan for the facility.

Trustees agreed to allow the city to designate Ivory Street in front of Hunt Elementary as a public street.

The street, which is currently a private road owned by the school district, will be paved by the city down to Municipal Drive, allowing access to the school from the north as well as from the current entry point to the east.

bonds, notes and bills - considered to be unsurpassed in safety, since they are backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government - were offering double-digit yields that were moving closer and closer to the inflation rate.

An issue of 15-year bonds sold by the Treasury last week was offering an interest return in the neighborhood of 10.1

Among the shorter-term government securities, Treasury bills maturing in about a year yielded about 11.3 percent, and 3-and 6-month bills about 11.5 per-Some other types of securities now offer even more alluring yields for investors willing to assume greater risks, of

And if those experts who are forecasting a further rise in interest rates are correct, government securities will

But for investors for whom safety is the absolute No. 1 consideration, today's record-high yields on Treasury securities represent a better deal than they have been able to get in a long time.

"As well as being safe, marketable and attractive for income, they are also exempt from state and local taxation (but not federal)," the United Business Service of Boston said in a recent report. "Thus they are of particular interest in high-tax states.

The tax break is of no consequence, obviously, in those parts of the country where there are minimal or no state and municipal taxes.

In those areas, an investor might opt for a six-month money-market certificate from a bank or savings institution, government-insured up to $40,000, which would offer the same yield as a sixmonth Treasury bill.

Investors who prefer Treasury securities, for the tax break or any other reason, can get them through their bankers. The bank may be willing to do this free if you are a valued customer, or it may impose a service fee.

You can avoid any fees, however, by buying new bills, bonds or notes directly from your nearest Federal Reserve Bank - in person, or by mail.

This process may be unfamiliar, but pamphlets describing all the mechanics of it can be obtained from your district Federal Reserve Bank.

Investors in longer-term bonds, in particular, should be aware that the Reserve Banks will not redeem government securities before their maturity

There is an active market should you want or need to sell them early, but you must arrange to do so privately or, more likely, through your banker or stock-

In cases of sales before maturity, the New York Fed pointed out in the literature for residents of its district, there is the normal market risk that goes with any stock or bond. "Your profit or loss will depend upon the market price at the time of the sale and your purchase price," the bank noted.

Probe Slated On Stop Signs

CHICAGO (UPI) - President Carter, informed by an engineer that the nation could save millions of barrels of oil by eliminating one-third of its stop signs, has agreed to investigate whether unnecessary signs are a source of fuel waste.

Larry Kast, a mechanical engineer from suburban Dolton, told Carter during a town meeting this week he had studied kinetic energy and its effect on wasting energy.

Council Denies Role In EMS Rate Increase

By SYLVIA TEAGUE Avalanche-Journal Staff

gency Medical Services rates does not need the approval of the Lubbock City city officials determined

Lubbock County Hospital District board members had thought they needed council approval to raise the EMS base rate from $60 to $100.

However, Mayor Dirk West said the city attorney determined EMS is an "extension of the emergency services offered by the hospital district" so the city has no authority over the rates charged.

"They set their own rates for the emergency room and the hospital," West said. "It's their right to set their own rates for EMS."

The council always has set rates for private ambulance services operating in the city. West said, but the city's authority to establish the rates of an ambulance service run by another governmental entity is unclear.

But the council did approve the last EMS rate increase in April.

West admitted he is relieved the council will not have to rule on the EMS

"We might be put in a position of disagreeing (with the proposed rates) and they might waste our time by asking us to help fund EMS," West explained. "I'm glad they're not coming

TYLER (AP) - It was about 4 a.m., and motorists traveling on I-20 paid no attention to Don King, who had stopped his rig to inspect a strange-looking sack in the middle of the road.

No one else stopped, and King was alone on the rural stretch of highway. But it never occurred to the veteran truck driver to keep the $3,183 he found in a torn money sack.

"I didn't have that idea," said King, 35, of Grand Prairie, who gave the cash to authorities. "I wouldn't have tried it. I just thought I might help them out by picking it up. It never crossed my mind

The money was part of $10,000 - all $1 bills - that had fallen out of a Purolator armored van earlier Wednesday. At daybreak, deputies and volunteers scrambled along six miles of the freeway picking up the money until all but $549 was recovered

Most people who stopped to help recover the money turned it over to deputies, but "there were some who kept what they picked up," said Smith County Chief Deputy Jim Collins. "The highway patrol issued some warnings not to do that or they would be cited for obstructing the highway and endangering

"Our concern was not that people would rip the money off. Collins said. "We didn't want a lot of people stopping and creating a spectacle." He said there were no traffic jams. Purolator spokesman C.B. Crossen said, "A lot of honest citizens helped pick up the money." He would not comment on how the money fell out of the van, but King said a trucker reported on the CB that a Purolator van was seen heading east with its back doors wide

Attorney Identifies Bandido Members

U.S. Attorney James Kerr, who escaped an assassination attempt last Nov. 21, identified his assailants in a police lineup as members of the Bandidos motorcycle club, an FBI agent says in a document released in court.

FBI Special Agent Gregg Van de Loo also said in the document that a confidential informant claimed he was asked by Bandidos to participate in the assassination attempt.

The document revealed in a pre-trial hearing Wednesday was an Aug. 8 affidavit in which Van de Loo requested a warrant from U.S. Magistrate Joseph F. Leonard Jr. to search a San Antonio residence for the rifle used in the attempt on Kerr.

Kerr, 38, was involved in a massive federal crackdown on an international drug smuggling ring centered in El Paso when he was ambushed near his San Antonio home. That investigation had focused on the motorcycle club.

A gunman firing a .30-caliber automatic carbine from a back window of a stolen van riddled Kerr's car with more than a dozen bullets, but Kerr escaped serious injury by ducking behind the dashboard. He received 24-hour protection from federal marshals after the attack, but departed the Justice Department in August for another federal job in an undisclosed

There have been no arrests in the case. Federal grand juries in San Antonio and El Paso, which are investigating drug smuggling, the Kerr attack and the May 29 assassination here of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., have subpoenaed numerous Bandidos and their

Adam Thomas Jr. on Aug. 8. But they did not find the carbine the informant had claimed was beneath a mattress there 13 days before.

Other weapons were found, however, and Thomas, a Bandido associate, was charged with federal firearms violations.

U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears denied attempts Wednesday by defense attorney Charles Butts to suppress key evidence. Butts claimed there wasn't enough legal reason for Leonard to issue the warrant.

contract killer has been ordered to appear before a grand jury investigating the May 29 assassination of a federal judge, despite objections from the man's attorney that the panel is on a "fishing expedition.'

Charles Voyde Harrelson, 41, sentenced to a 15-year prison term in 1973 for a 1968 murder-for-hire, and his wife, Joan Starr Harrelson, are among 36 witnesses subpoenaed to appear this week before the grand jury.

The panel is investigating the May 29 assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. and the attempted assassination last Nov. 21 of Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr. There have been no arrests in either case.

Also subpoenaed were members of the Bandidos motorcycle club, reputed New England crime leader Salvatore Michael Caruana and Peter Lynn Krutschewski, a close associate of fugitive drug smuggler Jimmy Chagra.

nesses were involved in the two attacks, only that the grand jury feels they can shed light on the cases.

U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd denied Wednesday that this week's session is a fishing trip, calling Wednesday's session worthwhile.

"It absolutely is not a fishing expedition. We have specific directions and specific goals," he said.

Dallas attorney Charles W. Tessmer, representing the Harrelsons, attempted Wednesday to have the Harrelsons' subpoenas quashed. He claimed the subpoenas were "a fishing expedition," "uncertain, indefinite and overbroad" and "unreasonable and oppressive. But U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears denied the motions, saying, 'You're complaining that this is a fishing expedition. It might very well be. Under my impression of the law, unless a fishing expedition becomes overly oppressive, they can do a little fishing.

HALLOWEEN FARE - You can celebrate Halloween by following the age-old tradition of throwing an apple paring over your shoulder and making a wish. Or you can get into the cheery spirit of the season and surprise the family with Peanut Butter Apple Crumble for a different holiday treat.

Halloween Desserts Reflect Old Customs

NEW YORK (Special) — While "trick or treat" is the big thing, Halloween has become much more than a onenight event in American life. All through October, the approach of Halloween is enough to evoke cheery feelings - and the desire to spread them around.

For example, thoughts of bobbing for apples and making peanut butter cookies for the neighborhood youngsters can inspire a creative treat for the family that is perfectly tuned for the season.

Peanut Butter Apple Crumble is that kind of outstanding dessert. Flour, sugar, margarine and peanut butter are blended into a crumbly, luscious topping to cover an apple-orange filling. Crown each serving with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and fashion a "face" with a few shelled peanuts.

Such inspirations can become your own family traditions for the Halloween season, with some links to age-old custom. Centuries ago, in parts of Europe, tossing apple parings over the shoulder or nuts into a fire on All Hallows Eve were among rituals that were supposed to help foretell the future. Peanut Butter Apple Crumble on the table foretells a chorus of appreciative "oohs" and Another unique dessert that is timely for fall and winter is Peanut Butter Bread Pudding. Warm and hearty, it too can become a family tradition.

Children Construct Homemade Masks

NEW YORK (Special) - You can dress up the little ones for their Halloween trick-or-treat outing without spending a lot of money on costumes.

"For less than the price of a gallon of gasoline, you can create a fanciful animal mask by using different sizes and colors of paper plates and accenting them with leftover yarn, ribbon and other items, says Marie Smith, a greeting card designer favorites look like a big-eyed bug and a pert and pretty pig.

Instructions for her selected masks

MR. BUG EYES - This adorable bug is made from assorted sizes and colors of paper plates. Glue two smaller plates (preferably dark brown) to a larger, red plate. Use spools from leftover ribbon to make the eyes, inserting white paper cut-outs to resemble eyeballs with pupils. To make antennae, wrap yarn around two wires and top each with a yarn pompon, available in most gift wrap departments of card shops, drug stores and department stores

PRETTY PIGGY - This strictly birds, lions, rabbits and cats but Smith's feminine pig will be the belle of any Halloween ball. Attach a paper cup to a larger paper plate and trim the plate with red circles for rosy cheeks and paper triangles for ears. Curl pink ribbon and attach to the plate as ringlets.

To scure the masks to the face, use yarn ties. Punch small holes on each side of the mask and insert a strand of yarn, knotted at one end, in each of the holes. This allows the mask to be tied onto the head.

Various household garments, such as solid-color capes, can be used for the rest of the costume and tails can be added if suitable. Regardless what is chosen, Smith says parents should put lightreflecting tape on different sections of the costume so the child can be seen by nighttime motorists.

HOMEMADE MASKS - Bug eyes make this insect mask, left, too adorable to pass up. Created by Marie Smith, a designer for Hallmark Cards, the mask features two small, dark brown paper plates attached to a larger, red paper plate.

Bridge is a paradoxical game. When it seems that the contract is hopeless. great optimism should be exercised—any chance you take to make the contract is justified, even at the cost of an extra undertrick or two. However, when prospects appear rosy, the play should be approached with every caution. Ask yourself what could go wrong, then see what you can do to prevent it.

South became declarer at a contract of six hearts after an aggressive auction. North's cue-bid was under strength in terms of high cards, but in view of South's free bid and the fact that North's long diamond suit would provide partner with a welcome source of tricks, the cue-bid was an intelligent choice.

New Instrument Detects Cancer Using X-Rays

NEW YORK (Special) — A Swedish cadiologist has devised an instrument to help physicians diagnose breast cancer at an extremely early stage with minimal surgery. Early detection is widely regarded as the best means of curbing the high death rate from breast cancer, reports Medical World News.

Today's means of detecting tumors do not allow physicians to obtain a sample of questionable breast tissue as readily as they wish. When mammography xrays reveal a suspicious growth so tiny it cannot be felt, the patient is usually hospitalized, placed under general anesthesia, and subjected to a biopsy - an operation in which a small amount of tissue is removed for analysis. Because it is often difficult to locate a tiny lump, a surgical biopsy can be extensive.

The new x-ray device enables doctors to determine the exact location of a tumor so small it cannot be felt. Conceived by Dr. B. Bjorn Nordenstrom of Stockholm's Karolinska Hospital, it in essence provides a three-dimensional xray reading of the tumor's location. After the turnor is pinpointed, the device is used to guide a special needle directly to the growth. The needle is screwed into the tumor to retrieve a tissue sample. All this can be done with a local anesthetic within a mere 20 minutes.

Nordenstrom has used his device on 360 women with suspicious growths. In only one case did the needle miss the tu-

The proper play is to refrain from drawing trumps after ruffing the first trick. Declarer should cash the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond high. He enters dummy with a low trump to the eight and ruffs another diamond high, setting up the suit. Now even if trumps are 3-1, the contract is cold.

Declarer simply enters dummy with a trump, and if they have not split evenly, he draws the last trump and runs the diamonds, conceding a club at the end. However, with trumps 2-2, declarer will be able to discard all of his losing clubs and one spade on the diamond suit, and will then emerge with all the tricks.

Insulation Can Cut Fuel Bills

Associated Press Writer A lack of insulation could be standing between you and lower fuel bills.

The Department of Energy says Americans could cut heating costs by 20 percent to 30 percent if they installed dequate insulation; in some areas, attic sulation alone can save 20 cents of every heating dollar.

Shopping for insulation is complicated, however. How much do you need? What kind should you buy? Can you do t yourself or do you need an expert?

You should start with what's becoming known as the "Fourth R." The "R" stands for resistance and it's the key to measuring how well the insulation prevents the flow of heat from one place to another. Federal regulations taking effect next month require manufacturers to label all insulation with the R-Value at any given thickness.

If you have three inches of insulation with an R-Value of 3 per inch, your total R-Value is 9.

Remember: Efficiency does not depend on thickness; two inches of one type of insulation may have a higher R-Value than three inches of another kind.

You have to measure costs against efficiency. Here's how: Suppose one type of insulation has an R-value of 3.2 per inch and costs 10 cents per square foot. Assume you want to install insulation with a total R-value of 19. You will need just over 5.9 inches; every square foot wil cost you 59 cents. Now look at another type of insulation. It has an R-value of 3.7 per inch and costs 11 cents per inches to achieve an R-value of 19. Your total cost will be just over 56 cents. In this case, the insulation that seems more expensive is actually cheaper.

The amount of insulation you need depends largely on where you live. As a general rule, however, attic floors

Second In A Series

should have insulation with a total R-Value of between 26 and 38; exterior walls generally should have an R-Value of 11 to 13; and basement ceilings or crawlspaces should have from R-11 to R-

It may be impossible for you to measure the R-Value of the insulation you now have in your house, but government energy specialists say that if you have six inches or less in the attic, you're probably under-insulated.

Insulation comes in a variety of materials and forms. The most common materials are mineral wool - which accounts for more than 75 percent of residential insulation, cellulose fiber and

Mineral wool insulation, including fiber glass and rock wool, is relatively inexpensive and easy to apply. It is fire resistant and moisture resistant. It can irritate the skin, however, so it is important to wear gloves and long-sleeved clothes when working with any type of

The forms of insulation include rolls or blankets, batts, loose fill, rigid boards

Rolls are best for walls or floors with studs that are spaced a standard 16 inches or 24 inches apart. Insulation in rolls is designed for easily accessible areas which are not blocked by plumbing or Batts are similar to rolls, but they are cut into four-foot or eight-foot lengths. They are semi-rigid and, like the rolls, are best used in easily accessible areas like unfinished attics and floors. The batts are slightly easier to handle than the long rolls, but both are suitable for do-it-yourself installation.

Loose fill is useful when you want to insulate an odd-shaped space or an enclosed wall cavity that can't be reached with rolls or batts. It can be poured or blown into place; you will need special equipment if you want to blow it in. The loose fill has a tendency to settle after it is installed - a factor you have to take into account when deciding how much to add. Loose fill is sold in bags and the Rigid boards are plastics or fibers pressed into shape. They must be covered with half-inch gypsum board or other finishing material for fire safety. Boards can be used for basement or foundation walls and offer a high: R-val-

Different types of insulation can be combined. You can, for example, add batts over loose fill or vice versa.

Right Tools Make Insulating Job Easier

By The Associated Press

You can save hundreds of dollars if you do-it-yourself when it comes to insulation, but you've got to do it right or your money will be wasted. Here are some do's and don'ts:

-DO get the right tools. If you're using batts or blankets you'll need a sharp knife and a straight edge to cut against, a measuring tape and a portable light

Don't try to pull it or bend it out of the

-DO work from the outside to the center of the floor when you're insulating the attic. You'll be able to do whatever cutting and fitting is necessary in the middle of the attac rather than near the eaves where there is little headroom.

-DON'T put insulation on top of recessed lighting fixtures. motors or other

-DO be careful of electrical wiring through the attic floor. Electrical fire safety codes require a minimum of three inches of space between insulation and any heat-producing device

> -DON'T cover vents with insulation. As a general rule, you should allow one square foot of unobstructed ventilation opening for each 300 square feet of attic floor area. If you're using loose fill insulation, build a barrier, either with boards or with insulation batts, to keep the fill from shifting and blocking vents.

 DO use protective gear — gluves. face mask, long-sleeved shirt or jacket, esc. Wear old clothes: even the cleanest:

-DO be careful about sapor barmers. If they are made of a material that: could burn, cover them with gypsum board or some other non-combissible material. Don't let the "breatter" paper found on some batts to be exposed, it is intended unity to protect the insulation libers furing shapping and should be removed after the batts are in place.

No matter what material or form you select, you should use a vapor barrier to control moisture. Otherwise, the water vapor in the warm, moist air inside the house can seep into the insulation, causing it to loose its effectiveness.

Vapor barriers are made of foil, paper or plastic. Batts and blankets can be purchased with vapor barriers - generally silver in color - aiready attached to one side. # Abortion Advocates Set Activities To Gain Suppo

By United Press International

Supporters of legalized abortion Monday will kick off a week of activities around the country that they hope will convince politicians the majority of Americans endorse abortions on de-

Abortion Rights Action Week, said spokeswoman Betty Rothbart in New York City, is "designed to be a sign of our grass-roots strength throughout the

The week, which is scheduled to feature more than 200 different events in cities around the nation, is designed to counter the publicity and political victories right-to-life groups have been gar-

"In court cases, those who are prochoice have consistently won," said Miss Rothbart. "Because their record is so bad, the right-to-lifers are turning to the legislature. But we're not going to give up the gains we've won.

The intensity of the right-to-life movement's lobbying has thrown fear into politicians who describe the antiabortion people as "single issue" voters who will oppose or support a candidate solely because of his or her position on the abortion issue.

Many politicians do not believe proabortion voters hold their positions with the same intensity as right-to-lifers.

"Although most Americans support the Supreme Curt decision that abortion women, we find that reproductive rights and particularly the right to safe, legal abortion are still under constant attack," said Frances Kissling, national coordinator for the week.

Fifteen state legislatures have passed a call for a constitutional convention to prohibit abortion, and in recent years, local ordinances to inhibit abortion have been passed in several cities.

Abortion Rights Week, intended to counter all that, will feature rallies, vigils, information booths and other events, aimed at demonstrating the depth of the pro-abortion movement.

In New York City, supporters will hold a fund-raising program of disco lessons and dancing on the eve of the week, followed by a candlelight vigil in front of St. Patrick's Cathedral, led by pro-abortion clergymen.

San Francisco will be the sight of a torch run for reproductive rights" and San Jose will host an Abortion Rights

New Find May Enhance Search For Antidote To 'Angel Dust'

NEW YORK (AP) - A new discovery about PCP, or "angel dust," may spur the search for an antidote to the potent and dangerously unpredictable drug which is widely abused, scientists

Researchers here said this week that they have identified specific "receptor sites" in rats' brains to which the PCP molecule binds.

The work was done by Dr. Stephen Zukin of Mt. Sinai School of Medicine. and his wife, Dr. Suzanne Zukin, a biochemist at Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

Zukin said the discovery simplifies the search for a drug to counteract the hallucinations, paranoia and schizophrenic behavior that some people suffer after taking PCP, also known as phencyclidine.

PCP is an animal tranquilizer that is sometimes abused - occasionally unwittingly - as a recreational drug. The National Institute on Drug Abuse estimated last year that 6 percent of young people between the ages of 12 and 17 years and 14 percent of those from 18 to 25 -

"For a long time, there's been no way to treat the mental effects of PCP," Zukin said. "If somebody takes an overdose of opium or heroin, there are drugs that will end the effect. But for PCP, you just put them in a padded cell and hope it wears off."

The Zukins' discovery, reported in this month's Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, not only sheds light on how PCP works but provides a simple test for finding which drugs act on the same sites in the brain - a prerequisite for an antidote. Scientists think that most psychoactive chemicals - including opiates, tranquilizers, and the brain's own chemical signals - work by activating specific receptors" in the brain. These receptors are commonly likened to chemical keyholes that can accept only the specific other chemicals that "fit" with their chemical make-up.

Antidotes can also manipulate these receptors. For example, the antidote for morphine overdose, naloxone, works by displacing morphine from the opiate

The discovery of PCP receptors makes it possible to screen large numbers of drugs for a similar inhibiting effect to PCP, Zukin said.

The discovery also raises the possibility there is an unknown natural chemical similar to PCP that is involved in mental illness, he said.

The finding of brain opiate receptors in the early 1970s led quickly to the discovery of so-called "natural opiates," for pain and mood control. The Zukins have begun a search for such a "natural" PCP-like chemical.

If there is such a chemical, Zukin said, it may have something to do with psychosis. Some scientists have long suspected that schizophrenia and other mental disorders stem from a chemical imbalance in the brain, but the mechanism has remained a mystery.

Birthday Party Planned For Hansen Twins

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Separated Siamese twins Lisa and Elisa Hansen celebrate their second birthday today, and their mother says it lacks the uncertainty of their first, which the Hansens feared might have been their last.

The blonde twins — joined at the tops of their heads at birth — were separated May 30 in 161/2 hours of pioneering surgery at the University of Utah Medi-

'Last year their birthday was fine, but we weren't sure they would have another one. So this birthday is really a great joy for us," Patricia Hansen, 22, said Wednesday from the family's Ogden

Tonight the twins sit down to cake and ice cream and will open presents. Mrs. Hansen says about 25 friends and relatives will visit.

'They'll get some little dresses and shoes, and some new bonnets and some puppets," she said.

Lisa and Elisa are the first Siamese twins successfully separated when the area of cranial involvement was so extensive. Portions of their brains were connected and they shared some blood

They still face surgery to reconstruct their skulls. The tops of their heads are covered only by skin.

David Hansen, 24, said doctors will take bone from their ribs and form a sort of framework over their brains. They say it will fill in completely to form a hard covering.

The twins continue to undergo physical therapy aimed at strengthening muscles unused before they were parted.

"They don't really crawl because they still have some weakness on one side, "Hansen said. "But they scoot all over the place with one hand and one

The Hansens have received about 1,-000 letters from well-wishers all over the world. Especially meaningful are letters from parents of other Siamese twins or handicapped children, Mrs. Hansen said.

The twins' favorite playmate is their 5-month-old little sister, Shaylyn. They'll hold her bottle for her and hug her and kiss her," Mrs. Hansen said. It's a lot like having triplets. David Hansen, who has 10 brothers and sisters, and Mrs. Hansen, who has seven, plan a large family of their own. Is she expecting? "I'd better not be We've really got our hands full right now, but there will be plenty of time for

In 1744, a visiting Franciscan showed Las Caldas on a map of all the Southwest missions. The visitor also mentioned Las Caldas in a report to civilian and religious authorities in Mexico City, Burrus said. In 1766, another Franciscan reported to Viceroy Cruillas of New Spain that the Suma Indians revolted in 1745 "in the newly formed Curacy of Los Caldas." The Indians destroyed the entire settlement in 1749, according to Sonnichsen, but were subdued and taken to the nearby mission of San Lorenzo El Real, now located across the Rio Grande in Ciudad Juarez, Mexico.

All the colonial maps identifying Las Caldas showed it a few miles northeast of San Elizario, an historic community in the Texas Rio Grande Valley on the outskirts of El Paso.

...YAAH400!! ... HERE COMES THE METRIC SYSTEM!!

Metric Show Rolls Into Michigan

ing Metric Show rolled into Michigan this week, an effort aimed at explaining to Americans how to measure milk by the liter, hamburger by the kilogram and the miles to grandmother's house by the kilometer.

Americans gave the system mixed reviews at U.S. Metric Board hearings earlier this year in Dallas, Boston and San Indeed, Americans have steadfastly ignored the metric system despite its being the official system of weights and measures since 1893. This country alone among the world's industrial nations - seems to prefer using quarts and pints, and more obscure measures such as bushels and pecks, all four of which can be converted to the metric liter.

The only other non-metric nations are Brunei, Burma, Liberia and North and South Yemen.

The sessions in Dearborn, Mich., today and Friday are expected to feature a lively discussion on the merits of metrics, according to Bill DeReuter of the Metric Board, with auto industry figures arguing both sides of the question.

Congress created the board in 1975 to coordinate the voluntary conversion to the metric system." While many consider this a mandate to encourage Americans to give up yards, pounds and gallons in exchange for meters, grams and liters, others - even board members -

And if it is a mandate, it is one without teeth, since conversion is voluntary.

Changeover activists include U.S. industries that want to sell their products overseas where the metric system is nearly universal.

But firm opposition also exists, from people for whom the English system is too deeply ingrained to those, like the garage mechanic with a full set of English system socket wrenches, who hope to avoid the inevitable costs of the chan-

Nonetheless, the board predicts the metric system will be the dominant system in the United States by 1990.

In Detroit, the car companies are already converting to metrics because of their large involvement in overseas markets, and they are pushing for other industries to follow.

However, the United Auto Workers union is concerned that the costs of retooling to accomodate metric measurement would be borne by car owners and mechanics, according to DeReuter.

UAW fears were realized, at least in part, by the alcohol industry.

Distilleries and vineyards, under essure from the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, were leaders in adopting metrics, but the changeover brought price increases for wine and liquor buyers.

A federal study last year noted that most wines and distilled spirits that were converted to metric sizes experienced unit price increases greater than those that did not convert."

DeReuter said that public forums in Dallas and Boston drew opposition to change, so the board was surprised when a majority of those speaking in San Francisco favored use of metric

Epidemic Threatens Bighorn Sheep Herd

SANTA FE. N.M. (AP) - Seventy Desert Bighorn sheep will be evacuated from the San Andres Mountains next month to try to save them from a scabies epidemic that has claimed about two-thirds of the herd.

John Crenshaw of the Game and Fish Department said the state will apply for military clearance for the rescue on White Sands Missile Range in southcentral New Mexico. It will involve about 50 wildlife officers using nets, tranquilizer guns and helicopters.

The ewes were so infested with scab mites, which produce the scabies condition, they could not have survived the winter in the wild, he said. The disease reduces the animals' resistance to infec-

Some stations are selling by the half-gallon as an interim measure, but metric proponents are urging a conversion to pumps that measure in liters, which are slightly more than a quart.

This, they claim, would be cheaper than changing the calculator part of the pump. Some independents have already converted to liter measurements.

For the time being, there is no national concensus, and gas station owners or oil companies must make the decisions individually. The metric board has no power to compel the use of metrics, and when others tried to use leverage, the public outcry was overwhelming. In 1977, for example, the Federal Highway Administration proposed con-

Even the Metric Board seems dividment in the United States; sollowing lengthy discussion in San Francisco during August, the board wound up taking an almost neutral stand, defining its job as helping those who want to make the change to metric, but not to encourage either the metric or English systems

WASHINGTON (UPI) - As the formal Senate debate on SALT II approaches, pivotal leaders are beginning to clearly emerge in what may well be the most important Senate foreign policy showdown since the Versailles Treaty.

In the end, all the attention will be riveted on the handful of senators who have kept their own counsel throughout and on whose votes, in all probability, the verdict will rest.

They are the ones who will get pampered and pressured, threatened and cajoled as the debate winds down to a numbers game

But the senators who will have the greatest impact on fate of SALT II are those now staking out their grounds raising the issues that will form the core of the debate. There are a number of easily identifiable groups which have surfaced - each with its own set of leaders

If the treaty, which requires twothirds approval, is to have any chance, its adherents must constitute the Senate's largest bloc. Recognized as the most visible leaders are Sens. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., and Frank Church, D-Idaho.

At the moment, Cranston, an unabashed liberal who is considered a master of behind-the-scenes maneuvering, must be ranked as the treaty's top spokesman in the Senate. He not only has initiated minidebates in the Senate chamber, but has also made sure that opposition charges are promptly countered. He has kept in close touch with the White House.

Byrd, the Senate Democratic leader, is more reserved in his support and has been slow to publicly give the treaty his endorsement. But he has taken an active part in countering the opposition and will be invaluable in lining up votes. Much of the credit for passage of the Panama Canal treaty goes to him.

Church, a four-term veteran and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, faces strong opposition from the right in his bid for re-election. He is banking that opposition to Soviet troops in Cuba can tamper the wrath generated by his support of SALT II.

Washington Window

Javits, a liberal Republican and one of the Senate's most erudite and eloquent members, may retire next year and ratification of SALT II could be the last major battle of a long and distinguished career.

Senate Republican leader Howard Baker of Tennessee leads the opposition. As do all opponents, Baker claims he is not against a SALT treaty but considers the one negotiated as inequitable and Baker, an unannounced candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, needs to mollify the party's conservatives to atone for his leadership in passage of the Panama Canal treaty. Leading the opposition to SALT II should help.

Although the pro and the antis are the major forces, at least three other groups will play key roles.

Led by Sens. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., Henry Jackson, D-Wash., and John Tower, R-Texas, one group has tied ratification to a sharp increase in Pentagon spending as a means of overcoming what they perceive as a coming Soviet military su-

In sharp contrast, another group, led by Sens. George McGovern, D-S.D., Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., and William Proxmire, D-Wis., opposes the treaty because it marks an escalation in the arms race. They, however, are expected to finally support the treaty as better than John Glenn, D-Ohio and Joseph Biden, D-Del., are leaders of still another group - this one questioning whether SALT II can be adequately verified. As of now, Glenn is dubious, but Biden has become more optimistic.

As the debate approaches, these are the groups and the leaders to watch. They will have major say in the future of SALT II.

"People think that's just the working out of the Peter principle, that everyone sooner or later reaches his own level of incompetence, but the truth is the fellow hasn't failed the company, the company has failed him by putting him in a job for which he isn't suited.'

Most companies have wrongly oriented managerial training programs or no training programs at all. A training program is essential, he said, and it must be on-going, sophisticated and pointed toward specific promotions. General management training also is effective because it can teach basic skills in communication, organization and planning and can offset the deadening influence of the company hierarchy and vocational rigidity, he said.

Regarding promotion as a reward is wrong, Howard said. It leads people to think they are entitled to a promotion because of their past services whether or not they are prepared for it in experience, intellect or temperament.

They say that because I'm a man I'm not deserving of survivors' benefits," said McCusker, who's become a soldier in the war for sexual equality.

After filing a sex discrimination suit against the Rushton Mining Co., Mrs. McCusker received a job and retroactive benefits through an out-of-court settlement two years ago.

Christian Voice Seeks To Beat Liberals

ganization embracing two powerful forces in America — fundamentalist religion and conservative politics - is shifting its emphasis from lobbying Congress to defeating liberal incumbents.

Christian Voice is a tax-exempt organization that plans to use a vast religious media network to beam its message of political activism to millions of evangelical Christians.

It is targeting 30 to 40 members of Congress for defeat and plans to stress the issue of morality, Legislative Director Gary Jarmin said this week.

The "hit list" has not yet been set. But likely to be on it are the Senate's top liberal Democrats up for election

IRA POLL TAKEN

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) - Authors of a poll taken here say public opposition to the Irish Republican Army's tactics in Northern Ireland "does not match the strong opposition" expressed by officials. The survey, conducted by the Dublin-based Economic and Social Research Institute, found that more than 20 per-cent of those polled support the IRA "to next year - John Culver of Iowa, George McGovern of South Dakota, Birch Bayh of Indiana and Frank Church of Idaho.

Those five already are targets of another activist group — the National Con-servative Political Action Committee.

"It is a moral imperative for Christians to become active politically," Jarmin said in a telephone interview. "The message that Christ left us was to occupy until he comes and he didn't mean just the pews."

Through a barrage of advertising and direct mail, Christian Voice hopes to mobilize millions of fundamentalists who until now have shunned politics.

"Millions of Christians are frustrated. angry and fearful. They are searching for a means to channel their frustrations in such a way that they can have real impact," said Rev. Robert Grant, director of Christian Voice.

"We will provide the guidance in Washington and millions of Americans will provide the strength we need."

Jarmin said Christian Voice, which cannot engage in political activity while enjoying tax-exempt status, will create a separate political action committee by year's end to support its campaign-related endeavors.

An independent fund will be created to assist one of three Republican presidential candidates - Ronald Reagan, Philip Crane or John Connally, "in that order," he said.

Jarmin is no stranger to the waging of political war on liberals.

Before joining Christian Voice he was legislative director of the American Conservative Union, which focused on many of the same issues - prayer in schools, pornography, abortion and homosexuali-

He regards the evangelical movement as tailor-made for grass-roots politicization - a cohesive constituency, complete with its own television and radio network, which reaches more than 47 million Americans every week.

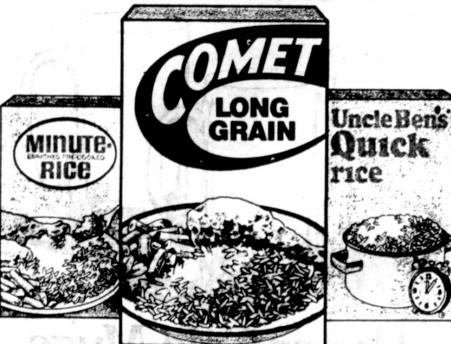

"The organization is already there the churches, the Christian stations and the Wednesday night prayer meetings,"

To accomplish its goals, Christian Voice is budgeting $3 million for 1980.

It plans public awareness efforts izicluding the distribution of tens of thousands of "morality ratings" depicting the voting records of members of Congress on "issues fundamental to basic Christian morality.

"By mailing these out to evangelical ministers all over the country and keeping people aware of the way Congress has ignored basic moral issues, we hope to raise a few eyebrows," Jarmin said, "especially on Sunday mornings."

Memories Of Depression Arise On Wall Street

By JOHN CUNNIFF NEW YORK (AP) — There is a foreboding that clings like a dank odor, and is is summed up in a single question that people may be afraid to ask even themselves: Will history repeat itself?

For those who went through the October 1929 stock market collapse and the Great Depression of the 1930s, the memories are being revived. For those born since, the imagination is being roused almost as vividly.

The thoughts accompany them to work, to football games. Worries reveal themselves in barroom arguments. A number of people actually are heeding the advice of alarmists to stach away canned goods.

America is observing the 50th anniversary in a way that it seldom does for its great defeats, and the defeat of its economic system was at least as destructive as a huge military loss. It cannot Newspapers are filled with recollections, with comparisons between then and now, with assurances, warnings and forecasts. Evangelists of survival have made the best-seller lists. No depression

What about the question? To begin with, we are assured that things today are not as they were in 1929.

Stock market credit, for example, is more restrictive; since 1974, a buyer must put up at least 50 percent of the purchase price. In the 1920s some buyers pyramided tiny investments into huge

You can't do that today, say the opti-larities. Julian Snyder, publisher of "International Moneyline," newsletter, suggests we have merely changed credit styles.

"Today, you can do the same thing (speculate) with the recently introduced put and call options, and you can buy a $1 million Treasury Bill futures contracts in Chicago for as little as $800." Besides, Snyder observes, stock debt is but a part of the picture. Industrial countries are borrowing billions to finance energy imports. And advanced nations, such as the United States, are lending billions to less developed nations money that might never be repaid.

Housing debt is also a bigger factor today than in the 1920s. Until recently, it was possible to borrow 90 percent of the purchase price, and pay the rest over 30 years at less than the prime interest

Those who publicly promise that history won't repeat itself probably have left themselves a private mental hedge, it being that history won't repeat itself in precisely the manner of five decades

That, however, leaves much unsaid, and that area is filled with speculation by the those who believe economies fluctuate in 50-year waves. The latest

But the only fully truthful statement that can be made about the whole mess, and economists general concede that the world economy is in a mess, is that nobody knows what the future holds.

No, not even Paul Vociker and the Federal Reserve Board, which a bit more than one week ago threw on the monetary brakes by restricting credit and raising the price of whatever was still available

The board's intent was to end speculation and the general mood of irreverance toward sound handling of personal, corporate and government finances. It would force a return to conservative borrowing-spending.

Simplified, what the Fed said was that we - people, businesses, and governments too — were trying to do more than could be accomplished with the resources available, and trying to hide the fact by borrowing.

It shocked millions of people, including even some politicians whose idea of government was to find new ways to spend the people's money. And the impact is just beginning. A deep recession A depression similar to 50 years ago?

Most economists appear to think not, but an increasing number in recent days think there might indeed be a repeat of 1974-1975, the worst recession since the In fact, some say, it is this recognition of what could happen that is the country's best safeguard against an economic collapse. Frightened people aren't likely to continue to spend big or take great risks. A new state of mind might be taking hold. It is said that prosperity isn't just an economic condition but a mental state too. That mental state, it seems, has become less than prosperous in recent days.

acocca Asks Subcommittee For Loan Guarantees

WASHINGTON (AP) - Appealing to Congress for a "helping hand" instead of a "handout," Chrysler Corp. asked today for $750 million in government loan guarantees to enable the financially troubled automaker to survive.

Testifying before a House subcommittee, Chrysler board chairman Lee Iacocca said the need for swift assistance to the nation's third largest automobile manufacturer "is very real.

William Miller has said the administration might grant up to $750 million if Chrysler comes up with an acceptable financial plan.

At any rate, he said, Chrysler "cannot survive as a producer of small cars only," nor of large cars only,

Rep. William S. Moorhead, D-Pa., chairman of the House Banking subcommittee on economic stabilization, said the cost of letting Chrysler go bankrupt "may, in the final analysis, be a much more costly choice than working out some form of financial assistance plan.

He added: "Finding out what those choices may be is the key purpose of these exploratory hearings. Rep. Rep. Richard Kelly, R-Fla., on the other hand, voiced outright opposition.

"The American people will not voluntarily invest in mismanagement," Kelly said. "By giving in to demands for aid we deny capital to firms which could use it more efficiently, we jeopardize jobs in healthier segments of the economy and we run the risk that political judgments will replace market judgments in our

The predictions came as the government and private industry announced surprisingly strong housing figures for September

-The Commerce Department said new housing construction rose 4.2 percent last month to an annual rate of 1.88 million units. Much of the strength was attributed to a 25 percent jump in starts on new apartment units, many of them federally subsidized.

-And Jack Carlson, chief economist for the National Association of Realtors, said sales of existing homes rose nearly 3 percent in September to an annual rate of 3.95 million units. "This could be our second best sales year ever, second only to 1978," Carlson said.

Meantime, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul A. Volcker warned that Americans will have to accept a lower standard of living if inflation is to be

The September housing figures came as a surprise to many analysts.

Housing experts had expected both starts and sales to fall off sharply by now because of the economic downturn that began in the year's second quarter.

But demand has remained strong despite record high mortgage rates, now in excess of 11 percent nationwide.

Carlson attributed the continued housing demand to the maturing of the "baby boom" generation, which is in the age range for many first-home purchas-

Officials Warn U.S. To Pay More For Fuel

WASHINGTON (UP1) - Oil executives predict higher consumer prices are on the way and the CIA says another gasoline shortage is also in the cards. But there's good news for natural gas customers A CIA economist predicted Wednesday another gasoline shortage will hit this country when the next upturn in the business cycle boosts U.S. oil consumption, possibly in 1981 or 1982. Maurice Ernst, director of the CIA's

Office of Economic Research, told a subcommittee of the House Select Committee on Intelligence Wednesday the gas lines and price increases last spring were symptoms of a continuing supply problem. The hearings continue today. 'Although oil shortages have disappeared in recent months, they are likely to reappear during the upswing of the next business cycle, possibly in 1981 or 1982," he said.

Ernst based his testimony on an unclassified report the CIA issued last August called "The World Oil Market in the Years Ahead." The subcommittee went into executive session at the CIA's insistence before asking Ernst any ques-

At a news conference, Laurance Fuller, president of Amoco Oil Co., said, "I personally anticipate a fairly substantial increase by OPEC this time," when it meets in December.

Fuller predicted OPEC probably would raise its $23.50 a barrel price ceiling 10 percent - the amount Iran and Libya have hiked their prices already.

Charles DiBona, president of big oil's American Petroleum Institute, said Platts Oilgram is reporting spot market prices of $36-$40 a barrel, a clear reflection of the Iranian and Libyan hikes.

Crude oil at those prices costs $1 a gallon, even before costs are added for import shipment, refining and distribution, he said.

On a related issue, the House was expected to reconsider today its 191-188 vote Friday to lift price and allocation controls from gasoline immediately.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said today he believed the House would reverse itself and vote to keep price lids on gasoline. He noted there was strong White House opposition to lifting gasoline controls at this time, despite the Carter administration's desire to phase out other petroleum price ceilings.

strategist, who declined to be named. House leaders contend the vote to decontrol gasoline goes far beyond Carter's plan for phased decontrol of domestic oil prices and could lead to runaway prices at the pump.

Advocates of gasoline decontrol argue that gas prices have soared even under price controls. And they say that since heating oil and diesel and let fuel are already decontrolled, it makes little sense to leave the 1973-vintage price controls on gasoline alone.

If approved by the House and signed by the president, the compromise rationing bill would give Carter standby authority to deal with oil cutoffs or shortages through rationing and a host of other energy-conservation measures.

Although the bill doesn't give the president quite the flexibility he originally sought, administration lobbyists participated in drafting the compromise and Carter's signature on the bill is expected if the House accepts it.

Under the compromise, rationing could be invoked in any shortage in which supplies of gasoline or diesel fuel decline by 20 percent, subject to a onehouse veto within 15 days. For a shortage of less than 20 percent, rationing could be imposed only if both houses agreed. Congress would not have a say in details of the rationing plan but could keep the president from putting it "on the shelf" by a vote of both houses - a vote the president could veto.

Only the gravest of shortages would touch off the 20 percent "trigger" built into the bill. For comparison, the 1973-74 Arab oil embargo entailed an overall fuel shortage of about 15 percent.

But the bill also would allow the president to take a variety of mandatory fuel-saving steps short of rationing in a national fuel shortage as small as 8 per-

These include setting state-by-state energy conservation targets, imposing federal plans on states failing to meet the specified targets, limiting the sale of gasoline to a minimum of $5 to prevent panic-buying and "topping-off" tanks.

Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., told the Senate the high trigger point would make it extremely hard for the president to ever invoke rationing. He said instead of biting the bullet on energy matters, Congress was "biting a marshmallow."

Senate Committee Votes To Give Americans Energy Tax Credits

poorest of the poor to middle income America, the Senate Finance Committee wants to make sure the government lends a helping hand when it comes time to pay the winter fuel bill.

And it wants to give everyone - regardless of wealth - a break on household investments designed to reduce future consumption of oil

The Senate's tax-writing committee, nearing the end of a marathon debate on a "windfall profits" tax bill, voted Wednesday to permit tax credits of up to $200 a year for millions of low and middle income Americans who heat their homes with oil, propane and Canadian

Experts estimate that as many as 9 million American households will qualify for some break under the proposal, designed to help offset sharply higher prices for the three fuels. A tax credit is subtracted directly from taxes owed to

The committee's vote was the latest indication that Congress is getting ready to place billions of dollars into the hands of needy consumers who face sharply higher energy costs this winter and in the next several years. The money would come from the "windfall profits" tax that President Carter wants Congress to levy on the increased revenues industry will receive from the gradual removal of price controls on oil.

As a further indication of Congress' determination to help consumers, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., arranged to testify today before a House subcommittee considering an additional $1.1 billion to help poor people pay their energy bills this winter.

It will be O'Neill's first time before a committee since he became the House's top Democrat three years ago and is symbolic of the importance he and other top Democrats attach to energy assistance programs.

The Senate already has voted to spend $1.2 billion on special assistance this winter, and its Senate Finance Committee has agreed to commit $30 billion through 1990 to help consumers offset the increased costs of energy.

Included is about $2 billion that

In its decisions on Wednesday, the committee agreed to make up to $200 available in income tax credits to households with income of $20,000 or below. Smaller credits would be available to households with incomes between $20. 000 and $22,000. The median national income is $16,000.

The credit would be calculated using a formula that takes into account the extent to which prices for heating oil, propane and Canadian natural gas go up faster than general inflation.

To encourage a reduction in oil consumption, meanwhile, the Senate committee approved $9.2 billion in tax credits for homeowners who invest in residential conservation and install solar. wind or geothermal systems over the next several years.

About half of the total - more than $4.6 billion — would come in the form of a 50 percent tax credit for installation of solar, wind or geothermal energy

LONDON (AP) - Zimbabwe Rhodesian guerrillas dropped their objections to Britain's draft independence constitution today and will rejoin the London peace talks, which have been suspended for four days, British officials an-

The announcement came after a 15minute meeting this afternoon between Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington, the conference chairman, and Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo, co-leaders of the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance.

The conference, in its sixth week, will now move on to the issue of arrangements for a transition to Britishgranted independence. The issue, more sensitive than that of a draft constitution, is the one regarded as most likely to wreck the talks.

At today's meeting, the guerrilla chiefs gave Carrington a statement saying there will be no need "to revert to discussion on the constitution," providing suitable transition arrangements can be arranged.

Carrington, British officials said, interpreted this as the firm "yes" to the constitution he had demanded.

A Foreign Office spokesman said

Carrington would shortly begin discussing transition arrangements with the guerrillas and the opposing delegation led by Zimbabwe Rhodesia Prime Minister Bishop Abel Muzorewa.

COLLABORATION CHARLES Demonstrators Protest Rising Cost Of Energy SHITTING. Heating and Eating," said one sign in a group of 600 protesters in Hartford, Conn., which included a large contingent CUZZLER A nationwide protest against the oil industry and rising energy costs drew hundreds of demonstrators from New Conn., which included a large contingent of elderly people. Oil company offices were the targets of several demonstrations and the industry responded with statements of its own. Charles J. DiBona, president of the petroleum institute, said the protesters were advocating policies that would reduce U.S. energy production and cause Jersey to California, but the turnout in some areas disappointed organizers. panies and politicians. But in Cleveland, where organizers had hoped 1,000 persons would turn out for a demonstration on a municipal mall, only 150 showed up. One organizer blamed the low turnout on the difficulty of getting working people to come downtown during the day. And in Trenton, N.J., a rally outside the Statehouse drew only 11 persons carrying signs. They were joined by about 30 elementary school students touring the capitol.

"Sure I'm disappointed at the turnout," said Samuel Scozzaro, chairman of the New Jersey Senior Citizens Federation and state rally coordinator. "I thought we'd have 150 people. I don't know why they didn't show up.

An Associated Press spot check showed most demonstrations drew fewer than 500 persons and were low key and peaceful. In Madison, Wis., however, about 150 persons protesting Exxon Corp. recruiting on the University of Wisconsin campus pelted recruiters and police with tomatoes. Capt. Robert Hartwig of the campus police said there were no injuries or arrests.

Other demonstrations were reported in West Virginia, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Minnesota, Montana, Washington, Oregon, and in several cities in California and New Jersey.

The protests, billed as a grassroots 'Campaign for Lower Energy Prices," were sponsored by the Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition, which had said there would be demonstrations in more than 100 cities.

Much of the protest focused on the spiraling cost of fuel and charges that politicians are failing to do anything to

Oil Production Cited As Energy Solution

AUSTIN (AP) — Railroad Commis-sioner Mack Wallace today described California Gov. Jerry Brown as part of a Ralph Nader-Jane Fonda effort to put the federal government in charge of oil and gas production.

Wallace told oil and gas executives that financial experts predict a bill introduced by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., would result in a production dec-

Also, Wallace said, the energy plans of the Carter administration are "erected on the false premise that no more oil and gas can be found in this country."

The fact is that there are over three million square miles of area in the United States with oil and natural gas potential," Wallace said. "Production has been developed on only about 50,000 square miles, less than 2 percent. Federal bureaucrats and radical environmentalists would have us walk away from the potential of the other 98 percent.'

Wallace addressed the statewide oil allowable meeting, after the commission had routinely set the production factor for November at 100 percent. The oil and gas regulatory agency has maintained 100 percent production, with the exception of a few fields, for all but three months since April 1972.

The East Texas Field, for example, was restricted to 86 percent production

The production rate was announced after major purchasers of Texas crude oil told the commission they would like to buy 2,684,610 barrels of oil a day in November, a decrease of 13,883 barrels daily from October.

Wallace noted the cost of crude oil imports had risen from $4.3 billion in 1972 to some $60 billion this year.

According to a study published by the Institute of Gas Technology, Wallace said, a decrease of 500,000 barrels a da in imports would save consu

"I cannot understand why the present administration insists on delaying production," Wallace said. "Production

But Wallace added, "There are some in our society who do not feel the same way. He mentioned demonstrations by Nader and Miss Fonda in 20 cities to reimpose price controls on crude oil, heating oil and natural gas and to impose price controls on gasoline.

"Ralph and Jane also want a government energy corporation which would buy and distribute all imported oil; explore for oil, gas and coal on federal lands; and compete with the private sectors in developing alternate energy sources," Wallace said.

"It takes no wizard," he added, "to see that Jerry Brown is a small part of the Ralph and Jane show. This week in New York, the governor proposed a sweeping scheme to impose public and government control over oil compa-

NEW YORK (UPI) - A federal idge has ordered Italian financier Michele Sindena kept under guard at a Man-hattan bespital while authorities try to unravel the circumstances of his disappearance this summer.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Griesa Wednesday rejected a government metion to have Sindona, charged with engineering the biggest bank failure in U.S. history, moved from Doctors Hospital where he reappeared Tuesday to the Bellevue Hospital prison ward.

But in turning down the request, Griesa ordered an around-the-clock guard at: Doctors Hospital and said if ecessary, a special barrier would be built to prevent the 59-year-old Sindona from jumping from the window of his 11th-floor room

Authorities were to resume questionng Sindona today. A government psychitrist also planned to interview him.

Investigators are attempting to determine if Sindona was kidnapped last summer as his family claims or if he went underground to evade prosecution on a 9-count federal indictment charging him with misappropriating $45 million in funds from the Franklin National Bank,

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) - Confessed killer Jesse Bishop, his execution in Nevada's gas chamber just four days away, says he has no second thoughts about the way he lived his life.

Soviet Campaign Aims At Slowing Spending

popular Western songs in the Soviet Union goes: "Money, money, money - it's a rich man's world.

Though the lyrics are aimed at Westerners, they could easily apply to Soviet society as well. Here, too, and at wallet and house full of appliances are signs of

Now a campaign is under way to urge Russians to stop spending too much.

"The press should help people learn to spend their money intelligently - not to indulge in mere consumerism, but to enrich their lives," said the magazine Zhurnlist in a recent issue. But despite the government's best efforts, the average Soviet worker wants to use his wages to live in material, not spiritual, comfort. The problem is that often the things he wants to buy are not available.

Why, when there is supposed to be a general increase in prosperity, can't I buy a color television? They don't supply enough of them to our stores. People experience the same difficulties in buying cars and certain other goods," a metal worker complained to a Soviet jour-

"What does prosperity mean, and why do we consider that it is increasing, if there aren't enough goods?'

Although Soviet salaries are substantially lower than Western wages, they are commensurate with the price of consumer goods here. The average Soviet earns the equivalent of almost $3,000 annually, and his wages have been climbing about 3 percent or 4 percent a year. In addition, most households have two wage earners.

Add to this the fact that bread has not changed price since 1954, rents since 1928 and milk and meat since 1962.

The Soviet state keeps the price of staples down only by paying enormous subsidies to producers, about $46 billion four more years of saving for many Soviet families, most of whom have already waited five years or more to purchase the popular Soviet-made Fiats sold here.

Soviet consumers are getting choosier with more money in their pockets - a trend that has officials fretting.

Through trial and error, many consumers find that the cheaper Soviet goods, while they may look good on store shelves, break down or rip open within a few weeks of normal use.

Newspaper articles abound with angry complaints about coffee grinders that don't grind, vacuum cleaners that Many Soviet families dream of owning a piano. But recently an economic journal reported that a Moscow store selling two different models for the same price - 675 rubles - still had stock in hand.

The reason was simple: one of the pianos was poorly made. The result was that "one was snapped up, and the other gathered dust.

The magazine went on to report that out of total Soviet store inventories, some 15 percent of the merchandise is

Black and white televisions are cheaper, but everyone saves for color sets. Small refrigerators went down in cost, but everyone yearns for larger models. Synthetic fabrics were a bargain, but everyone prefers real cottons and wools.

So what are the Russians doing with their money? Saving it.

A Soviet weekly reported this month that in 1977 - the most recent statistics available - Soviet people had 120 million savings accounts with an average balance of 972 rubles (about $1,500) - or half a year's salary.

Explained one angry reader to an in-erators are for sale in our town. That's probably why we see no advertisements for appliances. The only ad we see is: 'Keep your money in the savings bank."

And it seems that Soviet experts think it's just as well, while urging consumers to resist a "keep up with the Joneses" mentality.

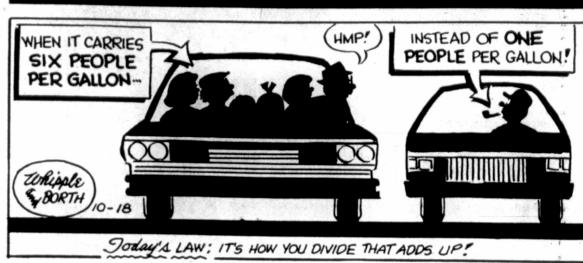

"As our standard of living rises, we acquire new notions of what is prestigious," complained a teacher in the education newspaper, Uchitelskaya Gazeta. "There is prestige in opening up a fat wallet in front of your friends at the cafe, or laying out 200 rubles for brandname jeans. There is prestige in knowing the price of any imported rag but not knowing what a loaf of bread costs.'

And a sociologist told the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda that the "corrupting influence" is not prosperity, but the prosperous.

'Let's not be hypocritical," he said. "It is the natural desire of every person to earn more money and live better. Money in itself is neither good nor evil. The question is what it represents to the person who possesses it.

BAN WINAI, Thailand (UPI) Swollen eyes streaming with tears, the Laotian woman squatted before the fire, fanning smoke into her face.

"She thinks the tears will wash away the soreness," explained an interpreter at Ban Winai refugee Camp, 350 miles north of Bangkok.

One of the three doctors at the camp, Dr. Jacques Labeeuw of Belgium, said the Meo woman's self-treatment could not help and could threaten her sight.

In the past month, Labeeuw said, 35 hill tribe children and 12 adults in the camp died of a variety of diseases complicated by severe malnutrition. More than 43,000 Laotians are in the camp.

"Skin disease, malaria, pneumonia, severe diarrhea and very bad malnutition - almost everyone has something and some have several problems at once," he said.

The people, used to living their tradiprimitive lifestyle in isolated areas, find it difficult to adapt to jampacked conditions of the camp and the changes in their customs that are required.

A Thai camp official said the Laotians use only makeshift outhouses that overflow each time it rains.

The official said most of the people also remain unconvinced they should boil their drinking water.

The nurse, who has worked in the camp for more than two years, told of a Meo boy who came down with a fever.

"They repeatedly doused the child with cold water to cool him off. But the treatment only sent the fever higher," Miss Kuikka said. "Only when the child was close to death did they bring him to us. He died in the hospital and then they blamed it on the doctors."

Diplomats, reporters and others with contacts in the German Democratic Republic say people there are deeply afraid to say anything which might make them subject to prosecution under the new laws, perhaps the most restrictive in the Soviet bloc.

Western correspondents can travel freely and conduct interviews with citizens in the East bloc nations of Poland. Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania. In Poland, dissident groups as as the Roman Catholic Church maintain regular contacts with Western reporters.

The new East German laws, enacted on June 28 and in effect since Aug. 1, have sharply restricted foreign reporters accredited in East Germany

Reporters must now obtain written permission from the Foreign Ministry for all interviews - something even the Soviets do not require — and for trips outside East Berlin.

The restrictions even apply to casual interviews with East German private citizens, such as so-called "man-on-thestreet" questioning. People who used to be willing to tell us things now say, 'Sorry, we've got too much at stake," said one Westerner. "Many sources of information have Under the new laws, East Germans

Perennial Corn Prospect Seen

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — The discov-ry that may someday lead to the develoment of perennial corn almost didn't

A perennial species of wild corn was ound about a year ago in the remote erra de Manantlan mountain region of outhwestern Mexico by an international am of scientists.

"Five cows in the wrong place and that plant would have been wiped out," said Hugh H. Iltis, a University of Wisonsin botanist who led the expedition.

Other members of the team were ohn Doebley of the University of Wisonsin. Batia Pazy of Hebrew University Jerusalem and Rafael Guzman of the niversity of Guadelajara in Mexico.

The species of wild corn they discoved and named Zea diploperennis has ne same number of chromosomes as omesticated corn. This makes crossreeding possible, something that could ot be done with another form of perenial wild corn called teocinte which was discovered in 1910 by Albert S. Hitchock of the Smithsonian Institution. When bred with corn, teocinte, with wice as many chromosomes, formed terile hybrids

Iitis and his colleagues published an article about their discovery about nine months ago. Since then, scientists all over the world have begun research that may lead to corn crops that spring up each year with no need for replanting.

Iltis sent seeds to such countries as West Germany, Spain, Italy, Israel, Columbia, India, Pakistan, Japan, China and the Soviet Union At a seminar in Irkutsk, Siberia, this summer. Iltis said he bumped into one Soviet researcher who was as "excited as a kid" to get the seeds. Development of a seed to produce an economically feasible, markatable product may be 10 to 100 years in the future, depending on the optimism of the scientist speaking. "I've been skeptical," Doebley said.

People have to wait and see. It may take 100 years for the genetic technology to develop. Perennialism can be controlled by many genes."

Iltis said other benefits of the discovery - such as disease-resistant hybrids

- are likely to come sooner. Iltis sais he had long suspected the existence of an even more primitive plant than teocinte and felt if it survived it would be growing somewhere near the plants Hitchcock found.

He and his group reached the area with the help of a supporting party of local Indians, four mules, two horses and one donkey.

The new-found plant is thought to be an ancestor of corn, but does not closely resemble it. The plant produces rows of six to 10 triangular seeds fitted together

Corn is one of the world's top three food crops (the others are wheat and rice), and is the biggest and most valuable agricultural crop. About 10 percent of the U.S. crop is eaten by people in a wide variety of forms from corn-on-the-cob to popcorn. The rest is consumed by animals and ultimately provides food for people in the form of meat, milk and eggs. Dr. Lowell R. Nault of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center told Iltis his early experiments showed Zea diploperennis highly resistant to several viruses.

"The locals considered the plant a mala yerba — a bad weed — and were trying to eliminate it," Iltis said. "For God's sake, it's immune to everything.

Iltis said the importance of the discovery is overshadowed by the need for conservation of the Mexican wilderness to save from extinction endemic species that may prove useful to man.

The big question is, will this be possible without a national park system in Mexico." he said.

To have a national park of some sort there would not be unjustified considering that it is much more diverse and at least as beautiful as The Great Smokey Mountains National Park on the North Carolina-Tennessee border.'

Forester Opposes Use Of Toxic Herbicides

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) - A federal forester says the use of toxic herbicides can be eliminated in forest manage-

Otis Lowry says he has come in for a good deal of "pressure" because of his beliefs. He says his theories will probably never be oficially endorsed.

Lowry said the main controversy surrounding his work in the woods along Oregon's southern coast "is the fact that I don't use chemicals." He blames the entrenchment of old-line foresters coupled with the self-interest of the chemical industry with the opposition to his "People have just been taught that you have to do this (use chemical herbicides)" even though, he said, 'there's no hard data that shows chemiby Brad Anderson cals are any good at all."

On about 2,000 acres of federally owned land in the Coos Bay area, Lowry is letting nature take its course.

According to Lowry, the best procudure to follow after an area is clear-cut is to thoroughly burn the site of slash and left-over debris.

Then the product crop, Douglas fir. should be planted in the ground in biodegradable seedling containers. While many foresters recommend containerized seedlings, the technique is not as effective as it could be, Lowry says, because most containers have been made

Lowry says he and others have developed a biodegradable seedling container that doesn't require removal after plant-

In another departure from prevailing practices, he believes hardwoods, primarily alder which grow thick and fast in Oregon forests, should be allowed to grow alongside the Douglas fir seedlings.

The common management philoso phy, Lowry says, is based on "product management," meaning that everything which appears to be detrimental to the product crop, in this case Douglas fir, should be eliminated.

"systems Lowry subscribes to management" - that everything in the environmental system is there for a purpose and should be retained as much as

The presence of the alder growth, which is the main target of herbicide spraying in the Northwest, adds nutrients to the soil, he says. Its most important benefit, according to his studies, is the alder's ability to fix nitrogen in the soil in turn speeding the growth of

Lowry says that spraying to remove lings from the shadowy "canopy" of overhanging hardwood trees - can damage those conifer trees which have grown faster and overcome the canopy. And he says, the "release" is not really needed because the Douglas firs will eventually outstrip the alders.

After the fir trees grow above the alder, he says, they grow as fast or - because of the additional nutrients in the soil provided by the hardwoods faster than other trees grown in more traditional ways.

"If you can just keep your hands off it for the first few years when the fir trees appear to be doing poorly because they are under the canopy, you'll have a better crop in the long run," Lowry

Talmadge's Re-Election Challenged

ATLANTA (AP) - A week after he was denounced by the U.S. Senate for financial misconduct, Georgia Sen. Herman Talmadge drew his first clear-cut challenge for re-election.

Lt. Gov. Zell Miller announced at a news conference this week that he would run against Talmadge in the Democratic primary next August. He accused the senator of using his public office to amass a personal fortune.

"When Herman Talmadge entered the United States Senate, his assets were principally two farms he inherited from his father and income from a ham business which his wife started and made successful." Miller said

"Now, 23 years later, the vague and conservative financial disclosure records of the United States Senate itself show his wealth stands in excess of $7 million.

Where did all that wealth come from?"

in program, Talmadge said Miller's assertion that he has profited from public office is "absolutely untrue."

Talmadge predicted he will win re-election to his fifth consecutive Senate term by a 3-1 margin but said Miller will

Kennedy Sponsors ${m Immigration~Bill}$

WASHINGTON (AP) -A higher ceiling on legal Mexican immigration to the U.S. would whittle down the eight-year wait that is keeping some families apart, says Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

There is a "serious and unfortunate backlog" of immediate relatives of permanent resident aliens waiting for entrance visas, he said Wednesday at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing.

Kennedy, the committee's chairman, is the sponsor of a bill that would authorize an increase in the 40,000 visas that can be issued each year for Mexico and Canada to be evenly split. The bill would allow any part of the new quota not used by one border naonly hours to fly reinforcements in. It# tion to be shifted for the other to use the next year. Since immigration from Canada is well below its current quota, at least 60,-000 of the proposed 70,000 total could be expected to go to Mexico. Kennedy said the proposal also "con-

The bill would allow the number of visas to rise but does not specify an

of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said raising the limit on immigration from 40,000 to 70,000 for the border nations would be acceptable to the administration

President Carter mentioned a 50,000 total in his 1977 message to Congress.

Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., said the measure would set a precedent for other nations to be treated the same way. He said nations such as Taiwan and the Philippines also have substantial backlogs of family applicants.

The piecemeal addition of a few tens of thousands of people in the category of refugees, a few tens of thousands of people from one particular country of emigration, and then a few tens of thousands of people who originate from the next point of pressure, is not the way to build a coherent and logical immigration system," Huddleston said.

Al Perez of the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund said increasing the quota would improve U.S.-Mexican relations, help families to be reunited and protect the rights of illegal immigrants.

The court jester led the way to the shade of a large tree while minstrels strolled about the festival grounds; soldiers loaded down with chain mail prepared for combat as a multitude of shoppes" displayed all manner of arts, baubles and crafts.

For a brief moment it was a scene from England of the 16th century, but in reality it was the 1979 Renaissance Festival near Houston. Definitely, the most interesting festival I've ever attended.

The arts and crafts and entertainment happening (presently in progress weekends through Nov. 3-4) uses the Renaissance period in England as a continuing theme. Even if activities and characters of the 15th through 16th centuries (and sometimes other periods) get mixed up - it's always entertaining and a lot of fun for the entire family.

Henry VIII this year is portrayed by Elroy Forbes, and Carol Palmer is the beautiful Queen Anne. Acting as festival both persons are Houston resiabout their business.

The scene has the look of general disorganization and so much is happening, the first-time visitor may not know where to begin exploring a day of unusual sights and sounds. At this point, it's wise to stop for a moment and examine the 16-page Renaissance guide and proand skittles.

In the guide is a map and a schedule of events for the Globe Theatre, Castle Stage and Players' Podium. Performances at the Globe include juggling, magic, and swashbuckling comedy. Activities at the Castle begin with Gypsy music and dancing, and concludes with Irish entertainment. Belly dancing is the highlight of day-long entertainment at the Podium.

Visitors to the festival can be passive onlookers or involved participants. You can be the subject of face painting artistry or find yourself spending a couple of minutes in the stocks; participating games include archery, bocce ball, fencing, Jacob's Ladder, King of the Log,

If all the activities and general merriment make you hungry, there are food booths bordering Dove Meadow. There are over 40 delicious delicacies, from roasted shrimp and Bird on a Nest to cream puffs and Fruit on a Lance, to please the palate.

"Ay say, me lord," asked a female voice in 'kerbstone' English that would have made Eliza Doolittle comfortable,

"buy a sausage from a poor girl?"

The voice belonged to a lovely lass pushing a two-wheeled cart laden with strings of smoked sausage. Behind came a young man hawking pretzels big enough to cover a saucer. The two food peddlers struck up a conversation using phrases sprinkled with sounds and terms that would have made Francis Bacon, John Milton or Shakespeare homesick. It was quite evident that the festival employees had done their homework in acquiring a vocabulary and accent worthy of Merry Old England.

The fifth Annual Texas Renaissance Festival that began September 29, will continue Saturdays and Sundays through November 3-4. The hours of the festival are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Adult ticket prices are $7, children ages 8-12 $3, and children under 8 years are admitted free of charge. The prices include all entertain-ments; food and beverage are extra. Parking is free.

Located between Magnolia and Plantersville on Farm Road 1774, the festival site is easily reached from I-10, I-45 or U.S. 290. More information is available from Texas Renaissance Festival. Route 2, Box 219A-1, Plantersville, Texas 77363, or phone (713) 356-2178. The festival guide describes the memorable event as "a free enterprise organization dedicated to presenting high quality family entertainment." The poet Milton would have added:

Deco Tour Offered At Hotel

NEW YORK - The Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, an art deco masterpiece, offers a free booklet to guests and visitors who wish to take their own tour of the Waldorf's unsurpassed art deco decor.

The booklet is a self-guide to the artistic splendors of the great hotel, covering the building's exterior and the first three floors of the interior. Included in the tour are the Waldorf's famous Grand Ballroom, Silver Corridor and incredible galaxy of chandeliers, among numerous other splendors.

Opened Oct. 1, 1931, the Waldorf is located on 1.87 acres in the heart of Manhattan's finest real estate. It occupies a full city block between Park and Lexington Avenues, at 49th and 50th

The enormous edifice has 1852 guest rooms, plus lobbies and public rooms of spectacular magnificence. It typifies the vibrant art deco period that flourished from the 20's to the early 30's, and is considered the unofficial art deco museum of New York. No other edifice in the city contains as many authentic and perfectly preserved art deco features. The art deco guide to the Waldorf is available in all guest rooms, and at the information desk in the hotel's main lobby. Tourists are welcome to sightsee the famous hotel.

Dirt Work At Center Disputed

By BOB CAMPBELL

Lubbock County commissioners have found that $60,000 in uncontracted work has been done at the site of the new county juvenile detention center without their authorization.

County Judge Rodrick Shaw has been in contact with Austin architect Lamar Youngblood and representatives of Page & Wirtz Construction Co. about the work this week. The architect and contractor are blaming each other for the lack of consultation with the commissioners, and the dispute is scheduled for discussion at a Monday commissioners meet-

The $60,000 for the dirt work on the foundation was not included in the $1 million contract awarded to Page & Wirtz in the late summer.

"At the present time, I feel like the architect and the contractor are good, reputable firms," Shaw said, "and I feel like they will come up with a logical ex-

Shaw said he was told that the construction site near North University Avenue and North Loop 289 had to be elevated with previously unforeseen dirt work but said the commissioners court, over which he presides, would have preferred to consider possible alternatives. "We're hearing an amount we didn't authorize," he said, "and from the viewpoint of the commissioners court, it was work that was not done in the right

The matter was first discussed at a recent commissioners meeting, but a question arose as to whether the contract authorized the contractor to do any necessary dirt work on a per-unit basis. Shaw had been gathering more information since then, and he reported Wednesday that the contractor and architect had given different accounts of how the work came to be done. He said Page & Wirtz reported being authorized by Youngblood, who has direct supervision of the project, to do whatever dirt work was necessary to proceed with the foundation. But in a Wednesday conversation with Youngblood, he said, the architect told him Page & Wirtz had been told to evaluate what extra-contractual work would be neccesary and to report back to Youngblood before proceeding with Shaw said a representative of Youngblood's firm may appear at the Monday commissioners meeting.

Before the possibility arose in the last meeting that the contract may have authorized the work, Commissioner Coy Biggs of Slaton said he would oppose the county paying for any work not called for in the contract or otherwise authorized by the commissioners, which would mean Page & Wirtz having to pay the $60,000 out of its profits.

Course Offered On Litigation

Attorneys wanting some helpful hints in basic litigation or who want a refresher course with some additional insight into trial practice can attend the Institute in Basic Litigation for the General Practitioner scheduled for Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Ballroom of the Hilton

The course is co-sponsored by the State Bar of Texas' Litigation Section and the Lubbock County Bar Associa-

Judge Denzil Bevers, 72nd District Court, will act as moderator for the institute. J. Michael Irish, president of the Texas Young Lawyers Association, and D. Thomas Johnson, president of the Lubbock County Bar Association, will welcome participants.

Topics to be discussed include: Selecting a Jury for your Client; Effective Presentation of Evidence; Management of Documentary Evidence; Tactical Use of Motions During Trial.

EMS Rates

Although the city's authority for rate making or setting performance standards for EMS is in a "gray area," West pledged the council "will continue to monitor response times" of the ambulance service.

The hospital district still is seeking the approval of Blue Cross, Blue Shield of Texas for the rate increase because the insurance company approves medical rates for insurance payments.

Probably, if the event had been on the cowgirl agenda, Miss Cowden already would have a good proficiency rating with a rope at both head and heels of a steer. However, team roping opened to cowgirls in National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association rules only recently.

Most college cowgirls are on a cowboy-cowgirl team but now and then two cowgirls take on both heading and heeling chores.

Miss Cowden, a senior physical education major, competes in goat-tying, her main event, and also in breakaway roping. She went to NIRA finals at Bozeman, Mont., once as a team member and once as a high point individual, placing second in regional goat-tying stand-

Palomo Found Innocent In Manslaughter Trial

Avalanche-Journal Staff Marcelo Palomo Jr. was acquitted Wednesday afternoon of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the May 31 traffic death of a Lubbock boy.

A 237th District Court jury took only an hour Wednesday afternoon before deciding that Palomo was not criminally responsible for the death of 9-year-old Greg Wilson

The Wilson youngster and 10-year-old Kenny Ray McDowell were killed when the bicycle they were riding in the 1400block of Parkway Drive was struck by Palomo's car. Palomo was indicted on involuntary manslaughter charges in connection with both deaths, but stood trial this week for only the Wilson-boy's Palomo, who sat with his hands cienched atop the counsel table during most of the three-day trial, took the stand Wednesday morning and calmly told the jury he was not intoxicated when the collision occurred. He added that he had seen the youths riding along the right shoulder of Parkway Drive and tried to avoid striking them.

"It was just something that happened," the 25-year-old defendant said.

In order for the jurors to return a guilty verdict, they first had to find that Palomo was intoxicated at the time of the wreck. If they decided Palomo was drunk, panel members then had to determine whether the defendant's intoxication was the cause of the collision.

Jurors, however, did not deliberate beyond the first question, deciding that evidence did not prove Palomo was intoxicated when the wreck occurred.

Defense counsel Pat Simek told the panel during final arguments that the state's case against Palomo created "a tremendous doubt as to what condition Marcelo Palomo was in the day of the

Simek argued that Palomo could not have avoided striking the youths who were "in the middle of the road on a major thoroughfare."

"There is no evidence to show Marcelo Palomo operated that vehicle in a manner any different from a normal person," Simek said. "His testimony indicates he made every effort to avoid them. It didn't take someone who had had a beer to be faced with that situa-

The defendant had told the panel he saw the two boys as he was going down one of the small hills in the Parkway Drive canyon area. After passing another car, Palomo said, he changed lanes to avoid the youths, but they continued riding the bike across the street and when he slammed on his brakes, he skidded into them.

"Just because two children were killed," Simek told the panel, "that alone is no reason to punish a man more; especially when he did nothing

Prosecutors Danny Hurley and Everett Seymore, however, argued that Palomo's maneuvers the evening of the wreck were not consistent with the ac-

Both prosecutors pointed out Palomo's testimony that he stopped at a Clovis Highway club after work and had four beers before heading for his 229 Beech

"He (Palomo) testified he saw those kids well ahead of the collision point and if his judgment hadn't been impaired by the voluntary use of alcohol, that collision wouldn't have happened," Seymore

Pointing at an aerial photograph of Parkway Drive, the energetic young prosecutor told the panel, "This roadway is not hilly and obstructed as Mr. Simek would have you believe.

"Those boys were highly visible at eight o'clock in the evening on May 31, one day before the start of summer vacation those boys never saw," Seymore continued, his voice growing louder.

Lead prosecutor Hurley also vigorously attacked the defense argument that the collision was unavoidable and that Palomo was driving normally.

Referring to the defendant's testimony of changing lanes before the collision, Hurley asked the jury, "Is it normal to be weaving in and out of traffic when he saw those kids approximately 900 feet from the point of impact?

"I submit to you that it would be normal to slow down so you won't hit those children and knock them through the air 164 feet." Hurley argued.

Ford Raps Carter's Work With Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) - If President Carter is re-elected, he will not be able to "retrieve or achieve" the working relationship with Congress needed to run the country successfully, says former President Ford.

In the October issue of Congress To-day magazine, Ford blames Carter's alleged problems with Congress on his lack of experience with the House and Senate before taking office. Ford charges the president still has not learned to use his constitutional powers with the legislative branch, adding, "A president's responsibility is to use the veto wisely and sufficiently often to gain respect from Congress."

WEATHER FORECAST - Rain is expected in the forecast period until Friday for the Pacific Northwest. Showers and rain are forecast for the central Midwest and upper Great Lakes. Warm weather is forecast for most of the nation. (AP Laserpho-

Irving Bus Driver Flashes Gun To Control High School Youths

IRVING (AP) - A bus driver for Irving schools came up with her own method of keeping unruly students in line she pulled a pistol and waved it in the student's faces while demanding order, according to police.

Irving school authorities said they learned about the Wednesday incident after the driver delivered her first busload of students to Irving's Nimitz High School and left to pick up some more.

Dallas officers intercepted the bus and arrested the 21-year-old driver, confiscating a loaded .357 Magnum revolver from a box beside the driver's seat, pol-

The officer said the driver told them she started packing the pistol after several students flashed knives and generally misbehaved after she took over the route on Friday.

"She decided to scare them so they wouldn't jack with her," said Dallas officer Joe McCrary.

The driver, an employee of the Dallas County school superintendent's office, was suspended pending an investiga-

Rate Request Cut

DALLAS (AP) - The city council cut more than $22 million from a Dallas Power & Light Co. rate increase request, an action company officials said would endanger its AAA bond rating.

"I am not sure we have any option but to appeal the decision," said DP&L Vice President W.W. Aston, after Wednesday's unanimous vote. The increase approved by the council was smaller than the increase DP&L received last Friday in a ruling from the

Texas Public Utilities Commission Deputies Fired

DALLAS (AP) - Three Dallas County deputies have been fired, and two of them jailed, in the past two weeks, Sheriff Carl Thomas revealed Wednesday.

Thomas said one deputy was arrested Saturday in Grand Prairie, after a highspeed chase with city police, and was Another ticket cashier had been arrested jailed for resisting arrest and driving while intoxicated.

Another deputy was arrested and jailed in Garland for assault on his wife, Thomas said.

The third deputy allegedly stopped a bus in downtown Dallas while he was off duty and tongue-lashed the driver, Thomas said. The sheriff said that deputy was fired Oct. 11 when he failed to show up for a polygraph exam.

Tour Slated

DALLAS (AP) - Officers with the American Stock Exchange will lead a delegation of Texas-based energy executives to Europe next month, to find foreign money for the Texas energy firms.

Three Dallas Companies and three Houston corporations will meet with investment brokers and media representatives in London, Edinburgh and Zurich.

John Bryen, Amex executive vice president, said Wednesday the tour is the latest in a series of programs the exchange has initiated to benefit its members.

The Dallas companies are Earth Resources Co., Delhi International Oil and Dorchester Gas Corp. Those from Houston are Mitchell Energy and Development Corp., Weatherford International Inc. and Crutcher Resources Corp.

Five Arrested

HOUSTON (AP) - Five persons, including the wife of the operator of a chain of adult movie theaters, have been arrested in the first two days of Houston's enforcement of the state's new anti-pornography law.

Police began making the arrests after the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals lifted on Friday a temporary injunction that had blocked enforcement since the statute became effective Sept. 1.

Among those arrested Wednesday and charged with commercial obscenity was Katherine Voorhees Spiegel, 32, the wife of Joe Spiegel, 34, president of Theaters West. She was released under $400 bond.

Resolution Approved

HOUSTON (AP) - A resolution supporting the concept of setting up a housing finance corporation to provide $200 million in low-interest homebuilding funds has been approved by the City Council.

The project would enable families with combined incomes of $30,000 or less to borrow money at interest rates ranging from 7.5 to 8.25 percent. The council asked Mayor Jim McConn to name a council committee to develop recommendations for establishing the

Flood District Sought

HOUSTON (AP) - Two state legislators have suggested creation of a multicounty flood control district for the Houston metropolitan area.

State Rep. Bill Caraway and Sen. Gene Jones said Wednesday they are developing legislation to create the district.

They said a regional approach is needed because maarea streams cross jurisdictional lines of various flood control dis-

Juror Jailed

HOUSTON (AP) - A prospective juror spent six hours in jail because he was 10 minutes late.

State District Judge George Walker ordered John Cockran, 23, to jail Wednesday for one day and fined him $50 for arriving late after a noon recess.

Cockran said he had never been in jail before and he could not understand Walker's ruling.

Indictments Against Kirk Dismissed

WICHITA FALLS (AP) - Former 78th District Judge Stanley Kirk wasn't even there when his Wichita County legal troubles came to an end.

"But money market certificates have become increasingly ineffective in shielding thrift institutions from a severe deterioration in savings and time deposit flows," Krout told the Mortgage Bankers Association conference on Wednesday

Short-Term Certificates

That deterioration, called disintermediation, is a problem for the housing industry since savings institutions are by tradition and charter - primary mortgage lenders. When savings dry up, so do mortgages.

From April to September, a record $4 billion in deposits flowed out of mutual savings banks, Krout said. Savings and loan associations were not hit so hard, but they too had a weakened sav-'It can be argued that the money market certificate did not prevent disintermediation; as present savings trends demonstrate, it only delayed its arrival," said William O' Connel, executive vice president-elect of the U.S. League of Savings Associations.

Much of the problem facing thrifts is linked directly to the federal regulation that limits interest on passbook accounts to 5.5 percent. That is slightly higher than commercial banks can offer on the same accounts, but it is far lower than the 13 percent inflation rate. The problem also is linked to the severe competition facing the thrift institutions' money market certificate.

Not Attracting Savings Commercial banks and Treasury bills offer the same interest on similar certificates. Money market funds, sold by brokerage houses and mutual funds, carry even higher interest, with no $1,000 minimum.

Money market funds increased threefold since the beginning of 1979 and could double again before the year ends, sponse to a judge's ruling, public school officials were prepared to admit 56 children of illegal aliens, and to send the parents' names to immigration officials. The children never came.

U.S. District Judge Joe Fisher had ruled the undocumented children, who missed six weeks of school, must be admitted and said the Texas Education Agency must contribute toward the cost of their education on an equal basis with other children. But he also instructed the Port Arthur Independent School District to forward the parents' names to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, a ruling which brought protests from national LULAC President Ruben Bonilla of Corpus Christi.

That aspect is unique and novel, but also very unconscionable," Bonilla said. "LULAC condemns any policy allowing schools to be used as an agent of enforcing immigration policy.'

Bonilla said he wrote U.S. Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti and the INS asking them to announce that public school records would not be used as a basis for deportation.

Fisher's ruling was, preliminary, pending outcome of a similar case sent from Tyler, to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. The cases are among 15 class action suits filed on behalf of undocumented children in Tex-

Port Arthur ISD officials had said the children could attend classes if they paid tuition. They described Fisher's decision

Bill Kirby, executive assistant to the Texas commissioner of education, how-have to be adjudicated through the court system," possibly reaching the Supreme Court, Kirby said.

ANTHRAX OUTBREAK

SILOBELA, Zimbabwe Rhodesia (AP) — Veterinarians, thwarted by guerrilla warfare, have been unable to treat an outbreak of anthrax that has claimed 22 lives, health officials say. At least 550 other persons have been hospitalized by the cattle-borne bacterial disease. Peter Benzon, chief animal inspector for Rhodesia's Midlands area, blamed black nationalist forces for the lack of treatment.

Services in Beaumont, the public interest legal organization that fought the Port Arthur school district, said Fisher's ruling would not "make a whole lot of difference in terms of what will or won't happen. INS could get them (parents' names) from the school anytime it decided to make a phone call.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice in September 1978 ruled a 1975 state law requiring tuition for the children of illegal aliens was unconstitutional, but said his ruling applied only to Tyler.

The Texas Supreme Court upheld the same law in May 1978 on a Houston

Clint Formby Recipient Of TAB Award

AUSTIN (UPI) - Texas Tech regent Clint Formby of Hereford, a partner and managing director of radio stations in four Texas cities, was named Pioneer Broadcaster of the Year Wednesday by the Texas Association of Broadcasters. The award, considered the higher recognition the TAB can give to one of its members, was presented to Formby at the closing banquet of the association's 26th annual convention. Formby is partner and managing director of KPAM AM and FM in Hereford, KLVT in Levelland, KTEM and KPLE In Temple and KTBB in Tyler.

Formby was president of the TAB in

In 1964 he was named a member of the National Association of Broadcaster's Radio Code Board, in 1968 he was named to the NAB small market radio committee and in 1970 he became a member of NAB's radio board, which he chaired for two years. Formby currently is vice president of the board of directors of the Broadcast Education Association.

Formby is now serving his second six-year term as a member of the Board of Regents of Texas Tech and of Tech's school of medicine. He was chairman of the board for two years and on the executive committee five years.

As a regent, he was primarily responsible for funds allocated for Tech's mass communications building. The Pioneer Award is given to persons who have been in the broadcasting business 25 years or more and have acted in the best interest of both the public

AUSTIN (AP) - At Attorney General Mark White's request, the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals has dismissed an attempt by Roloff Evangelistic Enterprises, Inc., to overturn a May 1979 contempt judgment

White said in his motion on behalf of the Texas Department of Human Resources the appeals court did not have jurisdiction in the case, and Roloff could not prevail even if the court had jurisd-

White's petition traced the history of the state's legal battle against Roloff.

It said on Oct. 22, 1976, a Travis County district court entered a permanent injunction to prohibit Roloff from operating child care facilities in Texas without a license.

Roloff was ordered to allow the Department of Human Resources to inspect the Rebekah Home for Girls, Anchor Home for Boys and the Lighthouse for Boys. The South Texas homes are run by Evangelist Lester Roloff, who has refused to get the licenses required by the state.

The same judgment awarded civil penalties to the state.

BILINGUAL GOSPEL - The Galileans, an award-winning gospel group singing lyrics in both English and Spanish, will perform at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Faith Assembly of God at 5426 50th St. Also on the program will be the Rev. Jess White, pastor. The

New York City Opera Opens Once Again

By MARY CAMPBELL NEW YORK (AP) - The New York City Opera started again last Thursday night, with its delightul new "Falstaff," thanks to settlement of a contract dispute between management and the or-

The last previous performance was

Sept. 30. Sarah Caldwell conducted, keeping a spirited tempo going, and did the stage direction. It's the first time she has done both for the company. This "Falstaff," in a deft English translation by Andrew Porter, was first done by Miss Caldwell's Opera Company of Boston.

The evening suited the company's aims of pleasing presentations, both vocally and visually. Donald Gramm, a flexible-voiced veteran of the role, portrayed a rather intelligent Falstaff. He was vain enough to think two young women loved him but didn't, in general, act goofy.

Everybody sang creditably, led by Glenys Fowles as Mistress Ford. Other principals were Richard Fredricks as Ford, Elizaeth Hyne as Nanetta Ford, Bruce Reed as her suitor and Muriel Costa-Greenspon as Mistress Quickly. James Bassett was properly comic, and sang well, too, as Bardolph.

The most unusual bit of staging had Falstaff yell that he was drowning at the beginning of act three and then climb out of the orchestra pit on a weedstrewn ladder, to take weeds off his shoulders and pitch a fish from his coat.

At the end of Act 2, instead of escaping from the laundry basket through a false bottom and trap door as at the Metropolitan Opera, this Falstaff could be seen in the basket as it was carried out to be dumped in the river. An English translation is especially enjoyable in an opera which has jokes, as "Falstaff" does. Miss Caldwell conducted so that most of the words could be heard and understood. She is a veteran of "Falstaff" conducting. It was her first opera conducted locally, with different scenery, at a time when the Boston company had a traveling company Helen Pond and Herbert Senn designed these sets, with charming English inns and houses of the time of Henry IV. They were two and three stories high and constructed like unfinished houses on the sides, so the New York State Theater audience could see in.

Miss Harris' current, somewhat unusual professional relationship with "The Belle of Amherst" - Miss Dickinson and "Currer Bell, Esq." - Miss Bronte - is hardly surprising in light of her lifelong affection for the two women and their work.

"I think I sort of read them side-byside" she realls, "beginning in high school with Emily Bronte's Wuthering Heights' and Charlotte's 'Jane Eyre.'

"I was reading the letters of Emily Dickinson," Miss Harris says, "and then I realized that there were letters of

"Currer Bell, Esq.," concludes a twoweek run on many National Public Radio stations Sunday. It's the season's premiere program in NPR's "Masterpiece Radio Theater' series.

As with all NPR programs, air date and time may vary, so check local listings for time and station.

Miss Harris' performance in "Currer Bell, Esq.," is but a part of her "Masterpiece Radio Theater" association this season. She will introduce subsequent programs in the weekly series - Anne Bronte's "The Tenant of Wildfell Hall" Oct. 28-Dec. 2, "Les Miserables" Dec. 9-March 23, and "Moby Dick" March 30-April 27.

"You know, I was a big failure in radio," the actress says, reflecting on her current relationship with the medium. "I auditioned when I first came to New York in the 40's ... never got to first

NY Philharmonic's Singing Duo Lives Up To Expectations

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — The team of Dame Joan Sutherland and Marilyn Horne, singing with the New York Phil-

ZUCCHINI

TORONTO (AP) - Zuechini is a summer squash that can be cooked, eaten raw or frozen for later use, according to food specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. They advise that since zucchini is a tender vegetable, it requires only a short cooking time and the best methods include no non fruing or haking.

harmonic recently, fully lived up to the high expectations of concert goers.

The concert and all three encores in Avery Fisher Hall was televised nationally by the Public Broadcasting Service. Richard Bonynge, who is Dame Joan's husband, conducted.

Dame Joan, the Australian coloratura soprano, and Miss Horne, the American mezzo-soprano, are a team, one of those combinations rare in ballet and rarer in opera, where two talents fit together naturally and perfectly.

They could have developed big careers singing together in the same operas but they have chosen to pursue big careers singing separately. So when they do team up, there is much anticipation.

Their vocal timbres are much different, Dame Joan's clear and Miss Horne's darkly dramatic. But their voices fit together in duets as though they were sisters who had spent years unconsciously modulating and adapting to each other's sound.

Miss Horne's voice is even darker now than it was when the two women starred triumphantly in the premiere of the Metropolitan Opera's current production of "Norma." But they still blend just as well. They build their program, mostly of opera arias and duets, to the 'Mira, O Norma'' duet from "Norma."

They began with a duet, Barcarolle from "The Tales of Hoffmann," in which Dame Joan seemed to be holding back to favor her partner. Then they traded Handel solos and Dame Joan sang the long first-act aria from "La Traviata," infusing the lyric part with deep feeling and going on to triumphant coloratura. Miss Horne used her extensive range, from soprano to contralto, in a solo from "Semiramide." The first half of the concert ended with a duet from that opera.

THE FOREST PROPERTY OF THE PRO

They started the second half - singing as one person — a duet from "Lakme." Then Miss Horne, accompanied only by a harp, sang "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair" with simplicity and warmth. It was as lovely as anything all evening and the hall was absolutely Dame Joan sang "Vilia" from "The Merry Widow," which she has told the Met Opera she wants to perform there. Miss Horne used a velvety warm tone for the most seductive aria from "Samson and Delilah." Dame Joan followed with an aria from "Lucia di Lammermoor," the opera in which she became an international star.

And they ended with "Mira, O Norma." The first half ended with a man in a velvet jacket throwing flowers at the singers' feet. The second ended with flowers thrown from balconies, handed up from the audience and bouquets of red roses carried on stage by ushers.

Encores had Miss Horne singing from "The Italian Girl in Algiers," Dame Joan from "Mireille" and another duet from "Semiramide."

TROPHY-BEARER - Early this morning, the World Champion Pirates arrived back home in Pittsburgh, and as they got off the plane, the championship trophy came out in the arms of Willie Stargell, the World Series' MVP. (AP Laserphoto)

BALTIMORE (AP) — Perhaps Pops Stargell should stick two of those little gold stars on his hat. His four hits, World Series-winning home run and his leadership of a record-tying comeback by the Pittsburgh Pirates would seem to merit such reward.

Stargell, the 38 year-old father of the Pirates' baseball family, hands the ornaments to his teammates for meritorious achievement. And the cheering in the streets of Pittsburgh this morning - for Wednesday night's 4-1 victory over Baltimore and the rally from a 3-1 deficit in games - told how meritorious that performance was.

If it didn't, a visit from President Carter did. With his Secret Service entourage, Carter joined Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in saluting the man they call Pops and the rest of the Pirates.

"He said congratulations and talked to me about the records I broke. He said it was a thrilling game between two oustanding teams," said Stargell, named Most Valuable Player in the Series. "I wanted to ask him if he had any peanuts on him, but there were too many Secret Service men around and I was afraid to

It was Stargell, a mountain of a man, who provided the muscle, and reliever Kent Tekulve - the thin man of baseball - who triggered the Pirates to their seventh-game triumph.

Stargell's hits included two doubles and that two-run sixth-inning homer. Tekulve choked an eighth-inning Baltimore rally and set the Orioles down in the ninth to clinch the fifth Series title in Pittsburgh's seven championship ap-

The Stargell-Tekulve act capped one of baseball's great comebacks as the Pirates became the fourth team in history to make up a 3-1 deficit in a seven-game Series. The others were the 1958 New York Yankees, 1968 Detroit Tigers and the 1925 Pirates

After Rich Dauer's home run gave Baltimore a 1-0 lead in the third inning. Stargell sent Pittsburgh ahead 2-1. The Pirates added two runs in the eighth to wrap up the comeback.

'I feel bad," said Baltimore manager Earl Weaver. "We won 102 ball games in the regular season. We won 108 the whole year. We needed 109. We fell one

It was the first Pirates' Series triumph since 1971, when Roberto Clemente led them to a victory over the Orioles in seven games. Clemente later perished when his private plane crashed on a mercy mission to hurricane-stricken Nicaragua.

The late Danny Murtaugh was the manager of that 1971 champion

Pittsburgh manager Chuck Tanner, who succeeded Murtaugh after the little Irishman died, observed, "Danny Murtaugh and Clemente must be having a ball up there right now." Actually, death hung over the Pirates throughout the Series. Tanner's mother died Sunday morning and the manager's joy was certain to turn to tears today when he was to attend the funeral for Anne Tanner in New Castle, Pa.

Her passing may have spurred the Pirates' comeback. As an emotional Stargell noted after this triumph: There has been a closeness on this team that there are no words I can think to describe.

We scratched and clawed our way to this day," said the 225-pound first baseman, his voice broken and tears running down his cheeks. "We are fami-

Baltimore's Scott McGregor, the los-ing pitcher, was asked what he thought of Stargell, who was 12-for-30 in the Series, hit .400, tied Reggie Jackson's re-cord for total bases with 25 and set a record with seven extra-base hits on three homers and four doubles).

He also became the 40th player in Series history — the fourth this series — to collect four hits in a game.

"I tell you, Mr. Stargell is one heck of a man. You gotta tip your hat to them all. But we had a good season. I'm not going to pout. I may party, too," McGre-

The absence of the long ball when it was needed took its tall on the Orioles. They managed just four hits Wednesday night, snapped a 21-inning scoreless streak with Dauer's homer in the third.

Sorry, but West Texican isn't a romantic language.

No matter, though, both terms fit tonight's meeting between Monterey and Plainview like a velvet-lined Riddell headgear. Kickoff for the important District 4-AAAA encounter is 7:30 p.m. at Lowrey Field.

The contest is the conference opener for both teams. But that's only about half the story. What's more important is that it pits the loop's two top teams. And although the new season is just getting unloaded, a loss could all but knock either the Plainsmen or the Bulldogs out of the playoff picture.

"I'd have to be crazy to say this wasn't an important game for both teams," commented MHS head coach James Odom.

If statistics told the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help them Knute, then there'd really be no need for PHS to show up for tonight's

On paper, the high school football contest is a mismatch from the word 'hutt". But on the field, it's a different story. That's why they play games on grass and not wood-pulp.

Shed no tears for the Greg Sherwoodcoached Bulldogs, though. Plainview comes south sporting a 2-3 record, averiging 255.6 yards on offense and 172.8 defensively. The numbers aren't that great until noticing that they came against teams like Estacado, Amarillo High and Midland Lee — all three contenders in its respective districts.

While Johnson has been rolling up 804 yards on 131 carries, his counte PHS back Ervin Davis, has gained 434 yards on 86 tries. Davis, hobbled most of the season with a series of nagging injuries, came on strong two weeks back,

Green Gets Year's Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The Philadelphia Phillies were announcing today that Dallas Green will manage the National League team next season.

The announcement, widely reported in advance, was not so much a poorly kept secret as it was a victim of the World Series. The Phillies said because everyone's attention was focused on the Fall Classic, they they would wait until its conclusion to name their manager.

Green, 45, took over the Phillies' managerial job for the final six weeks of the 1979 season after Danny Ozark was fired in Atlanta Aug. 20. Green's job as interim manager was to find out why the preseason favorites to win a fourth straight National League East title had dropped to fifth place. The Phillies won 19 and lost 11 under

Green and overtook the Chicago Cubs for fourth in the division, but still finished 14 games behind Pittsburgh.

Green accompanied Phillies personnel director Paul Owens to Baltimore for the World Series, where they talked with at least four teams about potential Bucs Find New Name Among All-Timer List One of them took place late Tuesday BALTIMORE (UPI) - In another night after the Pirates had won the sixth year or so, when Willie Stargell hangs up that big first baseman's mitt of his for good, he can keep wearing his Pittsburgh Pirates' uniform for as long as he likes. And the way he feels now, that could be a lifetime

For years, the ballplayer who personified the Pirates best, and longest, was Honus "Hans" Wagner, their beloved, bowlegged, powerful hitting shortstop who was among the first inductees to be enshrined in Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Later on, Paul and Lloyd Waner, the two brothers everybody called "Big Poison" and "Little Poison," came to symbolize the Pittsburgh club most, along with gentleman Harold (Pie) Traynor. More recently, it was the dynamic Roberto Clemente who was the first one to come to mind in connection with the Pirates, and now, especially after leading them to their first world championship in eight years, it's Willie Stargell's

"We've sat and talked about the future many times and I've told him he has a job with us for as long as he wants. He knows that," said Harding "Pete" Peterson, the Pirates' executive vice president and general manager. Peterson was speaking about Stargell while pinned against a row of wire lockers by players, members of the media and a wide variety of just plain wellwishers who managed to squeeze their way into the Pittsburgh clubhouse moments after the Pirates humbled the Baltimore Orioles 4-1 in Wednesday night's seventh game of the World Se-

Practically everybody else in the room also was talking about Stargell, and about the way he had hammered a two-run homer, a pair of doubles and a single to end up being named the Series' MVP by a unanimous vote.

In another corner of the room, the weary, perspiring 38-year-old Stargell had his back to the wall and was doing his level best to reply to each question put to him by everyone crowded around him. He was answering the questions as honestly as he knew how, but there were some things he kept inside him.

game, 4-0. Stargell hadn't gotten any hits in four official at-bats but he had the satisfaction of driving in one of the runs with a sacrifice fly, and sitting on the bed in his hotel room, he somehow drifted back to his childhood while the others in the room listened attentively.

The four people there were his sister. Sanrus Stargell Collier, her husband, Clay, Dave Parker and Curt Motton, an old friend of Stargell's who once played for the Orioles 'Remember when we lived in the projects in Alameda, (Calif.)?" Stargell reminded his sister.

"I sure do, Bubba," she answered. His teammates all call Stargell 'Pops," but everybody in his immediate family calls him "Bubba.

I couldn't have been more than 14, and what I'd do was find me a wooden stick somewhere, go down to that vacant lot near the railroad tracks and practice hitting rocks with that stick," Stargell said. "I always wanted to play and never thought a thing about money then. wanted to play ball whether they paid me or not. After helping demolish the Orioles in Wednesday's night's finale and hitting 400 while setting a World Series record for extra bases and equaling another record for total bases, Stargell was among those asked to come to the interview room between both clubhouses. He complied with the request and form, they brought his sister in. Stargell spotted her sitting among the newsmen. "That's my sister out there," he suddenly broke in. After answering another question, he beckoned her up to the platform and she ran up to join him.

Stargell embraced his sister and all the memories of his childhood immediately rushed back again. He couldn't control his emotions and he began weeping unashamedly. Reaching for the towel around his neck, he put it up to his face to wipe away the tears.

"You have to excuse me, gentlemen," he apologized.

I'm so happy for you," his sister said to him, holding him close.

Back in the Pirates' clubhouse later. Sandrus Stargell related, "Ever since I was a little girl, I always loved my brother," she explained, smiling now. Our whole family loves him - whether he ever hits another home run or not."

Bubba Stargell probably still has a few more home runs left in him, and when he's all though hitting them, the Pirates are hoping he'll stick around.

Rivera Earns First Start As Red Raider

By CHUCK McDONALD

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff Texas Tech football coach Rex Dockery has absolutely no trouble recalling last year's bout with the Rice Owls.

Just ask him. Coach, last year Rice kinda snuck up on you guys at the end of the game -

"Snuck up," repeated Dockery with a laugh. "Boy that's a nice way to put it - they like to gave me a heart attack." Exactly what happened last year was that after the Raiders built up a 35-6 lead, the Owls came roaring back and Tech had to fight nail-and-tooth for a 42-

And according to Dockery, the Raiders will face a much improved Owl outfit this Saturday in Jones Stadium.

"Rice is a lot better team than they were a year ago," said Dockery after practice Wednesday. "They're moving the ball a lot better and Earl Cooper is having a great year.'

But Cooper may find it tough to run inside on the Raiders come Saturday. Because the middle of the line will be manned by one of the biggest athletes to don a Tech uniform in recent years.

'We're going to start Gabriel (Riverat noseguard this Saturday, " said Dockery, "We feel like he merited a start after looking at the films from last

Big Gabe, the Raiders lovable giant, earned his first collegiate start by making 13 tackles — seven of them unassited against the Hogs last Saturday. But Dockery added that the coaching staff is man to shed a few pounds.

Although that was the only lineup change that Dockery said the Tech staff had in mind, he also mentioned that freshman quarterback Jim Hart could play a bigger role against Rice.

"Jim's a good, quick athlete," said Dockery. "He got in all the work with the first team today and we think there's a good chance he'll get to play more this Saturday.'

But how much playing time Hart will get could be determined by the physical status of No.1 quarterback Ron Reeves.

"Ron's still pretty sore from the Arkansas game," reported Dockery. "He hasn't been able to throw this week. But we're hoping that he'll be ready Fri-

Overall though, the Raiders are in good physical shape and Dockery indicated they would go with the same lineup - except for the change at noseguard as last week's.

"I'm encouraged by our practice," he said. "I think the player's have responded well after the loss - that's good to

"Earl is having an exceptionally good year for us," Rice's second-year head man Ray Alborn stated. "He's done it all for us. I don't see how anyone could leave him off their all-conference team. He's done a great job and I'm tickled to death for him.

The Owls also have a dangerous quarterback in Randy Hertel. Although the 6-1, 180-pounder is not having the type of year throwing the football that he did in 1978 (Hertel finished second behind SMU's Mike Ford in SWC stats last year with 167.7 yards per game passing), Hertel remains a capable passer.

The junior signal caller is currently ranked eighth in the conference passing standings with 88.1 points, but he is first in total offense with an average of 152.8 yards per game. Hertel has passed for an ncredible 1,027 yards, but he's been in tercepted 16 times in only six games.

'Magic' Johnson Injured

the Los Angeles Lakers, but some of the magic is already

Rookie guard Earvin "Magic" Johnson was carried to the sidelines writhing in pain Wednesday after tangling with the Seattle SuperSonics' Dennis Johnson as they tried for a rebound late in the third quarter. Seattle went on to win 112-110, handing the Lakers their first defeat in three games.

The Seattle team physician, Dr. Martin Kushner, diagnosed Johnson's injury as a slight tear to the medial collateral ligament in his right knee. Kushner said Johnson would probably be sidelined at least six weeks.

Laker coach Jack McKinney rushed to Johnson's side as the 6-foot-8 guard crumpled to the floor with about 1:30 remaining in the period.

Johnson, who led Michigan State to the NCAA championship last spring, lay in pain while play continued until Seattle's Paul Silas was whistled for a foul with 1:25 to go in the period. Johnson was carried off on a stretcher by six police

McKinney, who said the injury "is to the big ligament on the inside of the right knee," said Johnson will see Los Angeles surgeon Dr. Robert Kerlan today. "I don't want to feel down, because I don't want my team to get down," McKinney said. "This is something that has happened one time to McKinney is no stranger to basketball injuries, working as an assistant coach for the Portland Trail Blazers last year when that team was riddled with injuries.

"All he (Magic) wants to do is play basketball," McKinney said. "I feel very bad for Magic right now, because this is a trauma in his life.

The Lakers made the 20-year-old Johnson the first pick in this year's collegiate draft after he finished his sophomore season. He was a unanimous all-America selection and the most valuable player in the NCAA tournament.

Against Indiana State in the championship game won by Michigan State 74-65, Johnson scored 24 points and added seven rebounds and five assists.

In his two seasons with the Spartans, Johnson averaged 17.1 points and 7.6 rebounds but it was as a playmaker he developed his sleight-of-hand reputation.

Playing with Norm Nixon in the Los Angeles backcourt. Johnson had totaled 45 points, 12 assists and 17 rebounds in his first two regular-season games, both Laker victories.

In 31 minutes Wednesday night, Johnson hit four of eight shots from the field and seven of eight from the foul line for 15 points against Dennis Johnson, one of the league's top defensive guards. The Laker rookie also had three rebounds

Rockets Singing Tune Of 'Home Sweet Home'

After bombing on the road, the Houston Rockets brought their show home.

"I was a little nervous before this game," said Calvin Murphy. "We had played three and lost three, and we were a little tired and a little frustrated."

Murphy and his Houston teammates, however, felt considerably better after a NBA Summaries, triumph over the Indiana Pacers Wednesday night. Murphy had a big hand in Houston's first victory of the season with 22 points. Moses Malone had a bigger one with 44 points and 29 rebounds.

"Last night, the New York writers were a little down on Mo," Murphy said. "I told them I sure would hate to be the man that had to guard him when we played Indiana.

The night before, Malone had a subpar game against the New York Knicks when rookie Bill Cartwright held him to 17 points and 15 rebounds. But Wednesday night, Indiana's James Edwards was hardly as effective.

"When I rebound well, I can score, so I don't worry about that," said Malone. "We have a lot of shooters. I go after the rebounds.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Washington defeated Atlanta 100-97, Boston whipped Cleveland 127-108, Philadelphia stopped New Jersey 113-88, Golden State whipped Kansas City 107-94, Milwaukee turned back Denver 125-97 and Seattle edged Los Angeles 112-110.

After the Houston-Indiana game was tied at 47 at the half, Murphy hit 14 third-quarter points and Rick Barry added 10 as the Rockets pulled away to a 10point lead, which Indiana could never Bullets 100, Hawks 97 Roger Phegley came off the bench to score 11 of his 19 points in the fourth quarter to spark Washington past Atlanta. Phegley, a second-year forward from Bradley, sank seven of his last eight shots to give the Bullets the boost they needed for their first victory in three starts this season.

Atlanta led 95-89 with 4:36 to play. Then Phegley scored seven straight points to put the Bullets in front to stay

Celtics 127, Cavaliers 108 Dave Cowens led seven Boston players in double figures with 21 points as the unbeaten Celtics rallied in the second half to beat Cleveland.

Held scoreless in the first half, Cedric Maxwell poured in 10 points in the opening minutes of the third period. That triggered a decisive 41-point quarter which led the Celtics to their third victory of the week-old season.

Julius Erving scored 22 points and Bobby Jones added 16 to lead Philadelphia past New Jersey. Erving scored 14 of his points in the first half when the Sixers took control of the game.

Erving is being called on to do more

John Lucas and Purvis Short keyed a second-half surge, leading Golden State to an easy victory over Kansas City. The Kings, defending Midwest Division champions, never led as the Warriors took a 48-43 halftime lead and quickly pulled away after intermission behind Lucas and Short. Bucks 125, Nuggets 97

Marques Johnson scored 29 points and Junior Bridgeman had 23 to lead Milwaukee over winless Denver. The scoring of Johnson and Bridgeman helped the Bucks open a 23-point second-quarter lead.

The Nuggets, 0-4, were led by David

Thompson's 25 points. Sonics 112, Lakers 110

Jack Sikma and rookie James Bailey each scored nine points in the fourth quarter as Seattle defeated Los Angeles.

Associated Press Sports Writer There will be another heavyweight championship fight of half the world Saturday, but this one has some major

It will be on NBC; it won't be on prime time, and the live telecast will be preceded by a show exploring whether the network should carry the fight at all.

In addition, this World Boxing Association title bout will match two fighters - black American John Tate and white

AP Sports Analysis

South African Gerrie Coetzee - who have never worn the heavyweight crown. A sports story with news overtones, the fight will be held in South Africa, a nation blacklisted in parts of the world because of its apartheid policies.

And from a television perspective, the fight will be interesting because it will be handled by a new voice for na-tional audiences and boxing — Marv Albert, a native New Yorker who bucks a trend in broadcasting because he doesn't sound like he comes from Omaha, Neb.

This is a critical assignment for Albert, primarily a local broadcaster who has been criticized for not being a hardnosed journalist and not tackling controversial issues and

While Albert has broadcast countiess games involving the New York Knicks and the New York Rangers on local TV and radio, he has only done a couple of non-title fights for NBC, along with the usual amateur fisticuffs that break out in hockey games.

"This will definitely be my biggest broadcast audience," said Albert before leaving Wednesday for the fight in Pretoria. "But you could psyche yourself out if you think about

Albert was picked because of his voice enthusiasm, a quality NBC hopes will help hype a fight that didn't cap-ture the fancy or finances of the TV networks. All three turned down the fight as a prime-time package. NBC Sports was in favor of this fight — plus a welterweight title bout between champion Pipino Cuevas and Roberto Duran - at night but NBC's top brass overruled the sports depart-

ABC, CBS and NBC all considered Tate-Coetzee as an approximately one-eighth of what ABC paid for last month's Friday night card that included the World Boxing Council heavyweight championship between Larry Holmes

ABC turned it down because of two concerns, according to Jim Spence, vice president of ABC Sports — "location in light of South Africa's apartheid policy and financial." Spence said ABC was offered the fight for earlier in October when the baseball playoffs were on NBC. This strong TV competition against the fight was the reason ABC thought promoter Bob Arum's asking price of $400,000 was too high.

Spence said ABC had strong reservations against doing a fight from South Africa but never came to a final decision. We pever had to face that question. It never got that far because of the financial aspects," he said. "But we did express our concern to Arum.

NBC's position, which we feel is proper, is that the fight is a legitimate news event that deserves coverage. It becomes a form of news censorship when the networks dictate which stories should, or should not, be covered because of politics. A logical extension of TV boycotting this right would be to ignore the 1980 Olympics because they are in Moscow.

There's no denying the existence of strong opposition to the fight and NBC's telecast of it. NBC scores points for recognizing this with its "Sports Journal" show, which will immediately precede the fight and include a look at conditions in South Africa and interviews with the Rev. Jane Jackson and Arthur Ashe, opposed to the broadcast, and Arum and NBC Sports President Art Watson, in favor of it.

Don Ohlmeyer, executive producer of NBC Sports, instructed Albert to observe the crowd in Loftus Veruflad Stadium Saturday to see whether there is segregated sealing and to see whether the black South Africans are cheering for Tate. "It's not the coverage of the fight but the coverage of the whole situation that counts," Ohlmeyer said.

As a heavyweight championship fight, Albert knows no one is billing this elimination contest to find a successor to the retired Muhammad Ali as "The Fight of the Century."

"It's almost like a semifinal to an eventual fight with

"It's almost like a semifinal to an eventual fight with Holmes," said Albert. "I'm not gonna come on and say this is the greatest fight of the century. But for me, doing boxing is new, and it's nice to be excited about it."

Politics is also new for Albert. But unfortunately, it's old hat for sports.

Cougars Count On Efforts Of 'Reliever'

HOUSTON (AP) - When Houston receiver Eric Herring leaped high into the air against Texas A&M last Saturday and with one hand grabbed a key pass like someone plucking a grapefruit off a tree, it marked the start of another save for Houston "relief" quarterback Terry

Elston followed his pass to Herring with another completion to Terald Clark and then ran in the winning touchdown with 15 seconds to play for a tension-packed 17-14 victory. It marked the third time in five Houston games that Elston has been called from the Cougar bull pen to key a victory and it has earned him the nickname of Joe Sambito, the Houston Astros' all-star relief pitcher. With our offense, we have to have two quarterbacks," said starter Delrick Brown. "I knew we'd win eventually. With the depth we have it was bound to ome. I saw some great fast balls 'Sam-bito' threw. Elston fueled a time-consuming drive to preserve Houston's season opening victory over UCLA and scored the winning touchdown in the victory over Florida prior to his antics against the Aggies

"It's good to have two quarterbacks who can come in and function," Elston said. "Delrick and I room together We're friends. I saw that Delrick and Danny Davis had this same sort of situation last year. It takes a lot of pressure off one guy. If you have only one quarterback and he goes down, there's pan-

Brown was the one coming off the bench last season and Elston gladly assumes the same role this season.

"Delrick had to wait his turn and I have to wait my turn," Elston said. "I'm sure Danny Davis (last year's starter) had to wait his turn too.

Akers told the club No. 10 Arkansas has the "best kicking game we will face Texas moved up two places to No. 2 after beating Oklahoma and will play Arkansas at Little Rock before a capacity crowd of 53,555 and a regional television audience. It will be Texas' third road game against an undefeated opponent, including Missouri, which it defeated 21-0, and Oklahoma.

The club's largest crowd of the season greeted Akers with a standing ovation, and he said of the Oklahoma victory, "Everything was just great if you were orange." Texas' colors are burnt orange and white.

T've heard it said that all you have to do to have good morale is win," Akers stated. "I don't believe that. I don't think our team is satisfied with just winning. I think they're disappointed if they win and don't show improvement.

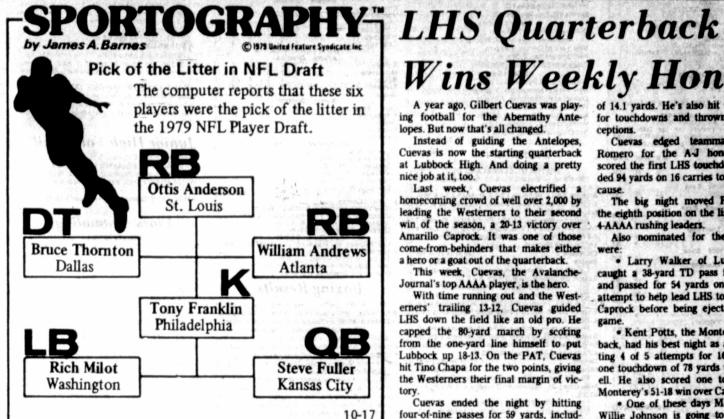

"I don't think we're close to reaching our potential," he added.

Asked what he could do for an encore after Oklahoma, Akers replied, 'Let me say this. We signed on to play 11 (games) — 12 hopefully. It may be a one-game season for a lot of folks but not for me or our players. There's nothing deader than last week's news."

He said Texas had "better expect a real dogfight (aginst Arknsas). They have an explosive offense and are more balanced, much moreso than Oklahoma. Their offensive line is among the betters one in the entire nation. They're throwing at an extremely high completion rate. . . and apparently their defense has jelled.

ing football for the Abernathy Antelopes. But now that's all changed.

Instead of guiding the Antelopes, Cuevas is now the starting quarterback at Lubbock High. And doing a pretty nice job at it, too.

Last week, Cuevas electrified a homecoming crowd of well over 2,000 by leading the Westerners to their second win of the season, a 20-13 victory over Amarillo Caprock. It was one of those come-from-behinders that makes either a hero or a goat out of the quarterback.

This week, Cuevas, the Avalanche-Journal's top AAAA player, is the hero.

With time running out and the West-erners' trailing 13-12, Cuevas guided LHS down the field like an old pro. He capped the 80-yard march by scoring from the one-yard line himself to put Lubbock up 18-13. On the PAT, Cuevas hit Tino Chapa for the two points, giving the Westerners their final margin of vic-

Cuevas ended the night by hitting four-of-nine passes for 59 yards, includ-ing a 38-yard TD heave to Larry Walker in the second quarter that gave Lubbock a 12-0 halftime lead.

But that's not all, folks.

Cuevas also carried the ball 14 times for 63 yards and handled the LHS punting chores after Walker was ejected from the game late in the second period.

Perhaps his biggest run came during the game-winning drive when he rambled nine yards down to the CHS 11. From that point, the Westerners used a 10-yard bolt by Johnny Johnson to put the ball into scoring position.

Since taking over the quarterbacking duties from Walker three games ago, Cuevas has become the third leading passer in District 4-AAAA. He has hit 20 of 54 attempts for 281 yards, an average of 14.1 yards. He's also hit three passes for touchdowns and thrown four inter-

Stargell Leads Series Parade Of Records

Led by a two-run homer by the remarkable Willie Stargell and stalwart relief work by Grant Jackson and Kent Tekulve, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-1 Wednesday in the seventh and deciding game of the 1979 World Series, establishing a host of historical and statistical Series milestones.

The Pirates became only the fourth team to come back from a three-gamesto-one deficit and win a best-of-seven Series, and the first ever to do it twice. They also did it in 1925 against the Washington Senators. Other clubs to come back after being down 1-3 were the 1958 New York Yankees and 1968 Detroit Tigers.

In addition, the 1903 Boston Pilgrims (now the Red Sox) came back from a 1-3 hole to defeat the Pirates 5-3 in games, at a time when the Series was a best-ofnine affair.

All five Pittsburgh World Championships (1909, 1925, 1960, 1971, and 1979)

were won in the maximum seven games With a two-run homer and a pair of doubles in the finale, Pirates captain Stargell finished the Series with seven extra-base hits, breaking an all-time Series record. The old mark of six was held jointly by the New York Yankees' Babe Ruth in 1928, Detroit's Ervin Fox in 1934, Brooklyn's Duke Snider in 1952, St.Louis' Lou Brock in 1968 and the Yankees' Reggie Jackson in 1977.

Adding a single to his three extrabase hits Wednesday, Stargell also became the 40th man to collect the Series record of four hits in a game, and the fourth to do it this year. Pittsburgh's Dave Parker and Bill Madlock, along with the Orioles' Kiko Garcia, also had four-hit games.

The quartet of four-hit performences tied a Series record. The only other Series which featured four players who had four-hit games was the 1946 classic, in which St. Louis' Enos Slaughter, Whitey Kurowski and Joe Garagiola, along with Boston's Wally Moses, had four-hit

Stargell also powered his way to 25 total bases, tying Reggie Jackson's alltime Series mark set with the Yankees

Relief ace Tekulve, who retired the side 1-2-3 in the ninth to nail down the World Championship, became the first pitcher in Series history to save three games in a Series under rules established in 1969. The old record of two was accomplished five times, most recently by Cincinnati's Will McEnaney in 1976.

Pittsburgh second baseman Phil Garner batted .500 (12-for-24) to join only six other regulars who hit .500 or better over the course of a Series, and tie a record for a seven-game set. The all-time record is Babe Ruth's .625 hit in the four-game Series of 1928.

Pirates leadoff man Omar Moreno tied a seven-game Series record with 33 total at bats, joining Bucky Harris of the 1924 Washington Senators and Sam Rice. of the 1925 Senators.

By having five players with 10 or more hits (Stargell, Garner, Moreno, Parker, and Tim Foli) the Pirates set a Series record in that department.

During the two-run Pirate ninth Wednesday, both Parker and Bill Robinson were hit with pitched balls, the third time in Series history that two batters have been plunked in the same inning. It also happened to the 1909 Pirates and the 1968 Detroit Tigers.

By going through the Series without stolen base, the Pirates joined many other clubs in being shut out in basepath-

The Orioles joined six other teams who went through an entire Series without picking up a save under post-1969 rules. The one other time it happened in a seven-game Series was to the Boston

Red Sox in 1975. Many pinch-hitting milestones were established. The Orioles used 23 pinch hitters over the seven games, breaking the old record of 20 set by the 1973 Oakland A's. Baltimore pinch-hitters got a total of six hits, tying the mark also held by the Yankees in 1947 and 1960, and by the A's in 1972. Baltimore's Terry Crowley and Pat* Kelly each appeared in five games as a pinch hitter, tying the Series standard. Eight other players hold the mark, the most recent being Oakland's Angel Mangual in 1973. By using five pitchers in one inning Wednesday (Tim Stoddard, Mike Flanagan, Don Stanhouse, Tippy Martinez, and Dennis Martinez in the ninth), the Orioles set a new a Series mark. The old mark of four was held by six other clubs, the most recent being the 1968 St.Louis Pittsburgh's Phil Garner participated in nine double plays at second base, a new Series record. The Pirates' five sacrifice flies smashed the old mark of three held by four teams.

Sold as surplus for $2.5 million 37 years after being built, the rail cars are rated by both Egyptian and U.S. officials as one of the success stories of America's economic assistance program in Hans Bang, a former U.S. Army warrant officer from New Watertown, N.Y., who is now an aid procurement official, uncovered the freight cars stored in an Army depot at North Cumberland, Pa., in 1976 after checking a tip from his Washington, D.C., grapevine.

"At first, the Egyptians couldn't believe we would sell them freight cars for $1,000 apiece, the original cost, but they were European gauge and couldn't be used in the United States," said Bang,

He explained that some of the 900 cars cost as little as $1,000 but others dria became the target of local press cost more. He said the $2.5 million cost criticism because of their noise and of all the cars included transportation by ship to Egypt and repairs of parts that had deteriorated over the years.

The last of the mint-condition gondolas, tankers and box cars - worth $21 million at today's prices - arrived last month and most are rolling through the deserts and farmlands of Egypt. Rail officials credit the new fleet with boosting cargo shipments by 19 percent.

U.S. money is currently being spent on a wide variety of projects, including grain silos, sewage treatment, cement and power production, and upgrading port facilities. About $200 million goes to wheat imports and technical assistance is given on prospective projects, including a study on the development of the Sinai Desert from which Israel is withdrawing

But the U.S. aid program, started in 1975 after Cairo and Washington restored diplomatic relations in the wake of the 1973 Mideast war, has not been entirely a success story. For example, about 1.600 buses bought with $45 million in aid money for Cairo and Alexanwere dubbed "Voice of America" by un-

U.S. officials said the president of the company which made the buses to Egyptian specifications flew to Cairo recently with a planeload of mufflers but complaints continue that the buses are not durable enough.

Lengthy bidding and contracting procedures, bureaucratic bottlenecks, and time-consuming feasibility studies have also meant a huge backlog of unspent funds - $2.2 billion of $4.1 billion in aid since 1975 remains to be spent.

There is no question that when we started we and the Egyptians had a hell of a time learning each other's systems," U.S. aid director in Cairo, Don Brown, said in an interview. But now, he added, the program is "beginning to roll as we said it would and projects that took a year to get started before now take only a few months."

On a recent tour of Egypt, the Agency for International Development chief, Douglas Bennet, told reporters, "We are concerned obviously about bottlenecks. Any dollar that is sitting someplace unused is not a dollar spent for a real need but at this point I don't consider the backup excessive.'

Of the approximately 100 U.S.-funded projects, Minister of State for Economic Cooperation Gamal Nazer estimated in an interview that about 10 percent were behind schedule, anywhere from two weeks to a year. 'We are a little bit behind schedule

but we are improving," Nazer said, adding that the pileup of unspent funds was misleading. "If I build a cement plant, I would be silly to import all the equipment right away and let it rust in the

But Nazer and other Egyptian officials do complain about what they see as a U.S. tendency to overstudy projects and note that while U.S. aid is tied to American products no such restrictions are imposed by other donor nations.

Division Threatening Fed's Inflation Policy

NEW YORK (AP) - While respected business leaders and economists ap-plauded the Federal Reserve's new policy of restraint, a policy they say might arrest inflation, that policy's future isn't

The faltering conceivably could begin with the Fed itself. While the board agreed unanimously on Oct. 6 to restrict the availability of credit, it hadsplit 4-3 on a similar decision just shortly before.

Fed watchers can't forget that such a split meant, and maybe still means, a basic disagreement on how to deal with

The subsequent unanimous decision, they say, may have signified more the power of Chairman Paul Volcker's personality than a genuine meeting of minds, and that unanimity could be shattered later on.

There is much dissent elsewhere too. Lane Kirkland, who may succeed George Meany next month as AFL-CIO president, claims the Fed erred. The effect of the tight money move, he said, would be to worsen inflation.

President Carter seems to have straddled. He has indicated support for the Fed, but he won applause last week by telling an AFL-CIO meeting that interest rates, a Fed restraint tool, were too

John Wright of Wright Investors Service, a large advisory firm and manager of hundreds of millions of investment dollars, represents a segment of financial thinking that believes the Fed policy is a fiasco.

The policy, he told clients this week, 'has dangerous consequences." If continued, he said, it could "dissipate the nation's capital, stagnate growth and im-

Landscape Arch, possibly the longest natural stone span in the world, measures 291 feet from buttress to buttress.

He feels the Fed perceives its fight as being against inflation induced by exessive money growth. That, however, is not the problem, he said. Besides, "interest rates per se have never been an effective deterrent against speculation

As interest rates rise where regulations do not impede them, passbook savers at thrift institutions, such as savings banks and savings and loan associatio grow more irritated. They can earn but 5 percent.

Owners of U.S. Savings Bonds don't do much better, if at all, and so have become sellers in recent months. They can obtain 6.5 percent, but to do so they must hold their bonds for many years.

Homebuyers and homesellers almost certainly will seek relief, and probably will have the help of savings institutions.

All this is merely a foretaste of pressures to come.

TODAY'S STOCK PRICES

Dow Jones Up .94 To 831.66

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices were little changed in moderate trading today with oil issues and special situation stocks providing most of the focus.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues, which gained more than twopoints in the early going, was up just .94 at 831.66 by Big Board volume came to 12.58 million shares, up from 11.89 million at midday in the previous session. Gaining issues outnumbered losers by a 6-5 margin.

Analysts suggested that traders may be cautious today while awaiting the results of the Federal Reserve's weekly report on money supply due after the close of the

It may offer an indication of whether the Fed's recent credit tightening moves are successful in slowing money growth to ease inflation pressures.

Oil issues generally continued their recent strength. Some analysts have suggested that investors expect good profit figures in the third quarter earnings reports which are expected to come out in the next week or so.

Among actively traded issues, Union Oil of California gained 34 to 47%; Texaco rose % to 29% but Standard Oil of California was unchanged at 55%. Getty Oil gained 1 to 67 in less active trading. Exxon rose 1/2 to 57%.

IBM fell 14 to 63 as the most actively traded NYSE issue. The company reported lower third quarter earnings on Wednesday. Boeing, also active on the Big Board, was down 14 to 43%.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Cattle: 400; not enough any one class on offer to adequately test rade.

Staughter cows: few utility 24 40.56-40.35. Cutter 1-2 40.35-40.35. few cannot 40.25.

Local Man Uses Bat On Bandit

A knife-wielding man who allegedly kicked down the door of a 15th Street house about 2 a.m. today apparently was thwarted when the resident he reportedly tried to rob struck him in the chest with a baseball bat.

Pedro Zavala Jr., 25, of 2210 15th St. told police he awoke when the intruder confronted him in the bedroom and said, "Give me all your money or I am going to kill you."

Zavala said he told the would-be bandit he didn't have any money. Zavala said the intruder cut him in the lip with a knife when he tried to get out of bed.

The complainant said he picked up a baseball bat from beside the bed and hit the man in the chest. While the intruder was kneeling in pain, Zavala ran out a back door and drove to Methodist Hospital, where he was treated and released. He told police that before he drove off, he saw the man get into a black Chevrolet pickup truck. The only thing missing from the house when Zavala returned was a $75 stereo set, according to The suspect was described as a white man, between 18 and 25, short, muscular

were told a 12-year-old Lubbock girl scratched and bit an infant, and then threw the baby across a room. However, the 3-month-old boy apparently suffered only minor injuries to an arm, and reports indicated the tot was not taken to a hospital.

Witnesses told police they saw the girl scratch and bite the boy on the arm at the baby's house about 6:15 p.m., and then saw her throw the infant across the

No motive was given for the girl's actions. However, the baby's mother told police her family had had trouble with the girl's mother. A 60-year-old Lubbock business owner was arrested about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday for suspicion of driving while intoxicated, and what officers found in the man's car would make any coin collector proud. While being escorted to a patrol car, the man pointed inside his vehicle and said, "There's a million dollars in those Inside the two containers they found, among other things, a large quantity of coins, many of which were collector's Reports indicate some of the coins dated back to the late 1800s. There were 15 Flying Eagle and Indian Head coins, a United States bicentennial silver coin set and a Denver mint souvenir set. The driver reportedly had fallen asleep, and was traveling slowly through a red signal light at Broadway and Ave-

Short Caused School Fire

A fire Wednesday night at Smylie an electrical short in the school's athletic dressing room, according to a spokesman for the Lubbock fire marshal's off-

The biaze was reportedly shortly after 8 p.m. when three Lubbock Independent School District employees spotted flames shooting out of the dressing room windows on the west side of the school. The spokesman said the fire began when an electrical short in a junction box just above the entrance ignited foam rubber athletic pads piled on top of lock-

While the fire marshal's office said the blaze was due to the electrical maifunction, a police report indicated the fire could have been the work of an arsonist. The report states a small amount of fuel was located on a sidewalk just north of the school. However, the blaze began on the west side of the structure. A spokesman at the school said it had not been determined early today how much damage was sustained from the fire. It earlier had been announced that today's eighth grade football game be-tween Smylie Wilson and Makenzie Junior High might be canceled. However, the spokesman said the contest would be played as scheduled.

Police Still Seek Killers

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - The search for two men charged with the execution-style slayings of a Putnam City Baptist minister continued in the Oklahoma City area today. First-degree murder charges were filed in district court in El Reno Wednesday against Glen Burton Ake, 24, also known as Johnny Vandenover, and Steven Keith Hatch, 26, also known as Steven Lisenbee. Canadian County District Attorney Stan Chatman said it is believed the two men are from Enid. A nationwide alert was issued for the pair charged in the shooting deaths Monday night of the Rev. Richard B. Douglass, 43, and his wife, Marilyn, 36, in their Okarche home.

The couple's two teen-age children, Richard Brooks Jr., 16, and Leslie Don, 13, were listed in stable condition in an Oklahoma City hospital Wednesday night with several bullet wounds. They managed to escape the bloodbath in a car after they were bound and shot car after they were bound and shot.

"There's a possibility there will be other charges after the suspects are in custody," said Chatman.

Expert Predicts Tight Supply Of Fertilizer

By KATHLEEN HARRIS Avalanche-Journal Farm Writer The fertilizer supply in 1979 was tight but will be tighter in the coming year, according to Ed Harre of Muscle Shoals, Ala., representative of the National Fer-tilizer Development Center of the Ten-nessee Valley Authority.

Harre addressed about 400 delegates to the annual convention and exposition of the Texas Plant Food Institute here

Wednesday at the Memorial Civic Cen-

"There will be shortages amidst a glut," Harre said. "And the cost of fertilizer will be higher in 1980."

Though the production of nitrogen will increase by 1 million tons, Harre projected, the supply will not be sufficient to support the 5-6 percent growth in use

Nitrogen, which was described as revely inexpensive in the past, will be ected by both higher prices and shortages of natural gas used to produce it, he said. With increased demands, he said, the worldwide surplus will decrease to 1 percent.

"The trend of applying phosphates will get progressively tighter," Harre predicted, "as a result of a shortage of sulphur used in phosphate production."

The United States, which supplies 60 percent of the phosphate in world trade, is at 95 percent of capacity with no new growth anticipated, he said. With inventories declining and no new sources of potash foreseen, Harre said, exports of the nutrient may need to be restricted in 1980 Jerry Stoller of Houston, president of the Stoller Chemical Co., discussed the use of micro-nutrients

"Micro-nutrients don't occur uni-formly in the field," Stoller noted, "so farmers need to learn how to sample the soil and identify the presence or absence Zinc deficiencies, for example, are ginning to surface on the High Plains, oller said, as farmers deep-plow sandy The convention and exposition, with 50,000 square feet of exhibit space covered by 60 exhibitors, will end at 5 p.m.

Solon Demands Resignation

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, U.S. Virgin Islands (UPI) - A territorial senator has demanded the resignation of the health commissioner for implying that darkcomplexioned blacks are not as intelligent as light-skinned blacks.

Sen. Ruby Rouss, of St. Croix, also said Commissioner Dr. Roy Schneider

owes an apology "to all of the people of the Virgin Islands and to the thousands of Virgin Islands employees whose skin pigmentation is darker than his." He called Schneider's statements on the relationship to skin color "inflammatory and ridiculous." The controversy erupted last week when Rouss, who chairs the territorial senate's health committee, criticized Schneider's department for the loss of federal accreditation of hospitals on St. Croix and St. Thomas and other health

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., expected challenger for the 1980 emocratic presidential nomination, acepted an invitation to address the San riego convention of the AFL-CIO Buildng and Construction Trades Departnent last Thursday.

Then Carter, rather belatedly, acceptd a longstanding invitation to appear at he same convention on the same day. Brown first passed word to union offiials that he did not care to introduce he president at the event, then decided not to appear at all.

hows that nearly half of those who start New York City high schools, the nation's argest school system, drop out and nevr earn a diploma.

The report, released this week by the Board of Education's Division of High chools, put the dropout rate, in a fouryear period ending in 1978, at 45 perent, which it said translates to 40,000 tudents a year.

"There is no question that our reponsibilities to these young people have grievously unfulfilled," chools Chancellor Frank Macchiarola. Cited as reasons for the high dropout ite were academic failure, boredom or lack of motivation, feelings of alienation, personal and home problems, and langage difficulties.

A typical dropout reads at about a fourth grade level and has a poor selfimage caused by frustration in the classroom, the study said. It said schools contribute to the situation by concentrating on successful students and giving little attention to those with problems. The division recommended in the study that pupils with problems get more attention and instruction tailored to their needs.

It also urged a plan to improve attendance, since poor and erratic attendance can lead to poor skills development; a new program to encourage dropouts to obtain equivalency diplomas, and revised high school admission re-

Not so many years ago, no candidate would have thought of announcing for president before Jan. 1, of the presidential election year. By Jan. 1, 1980, it's likely that every major contender for the Democratic and Republican nominations will have formally entered the race.

Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois, announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination Aug. 1, 1978. Others have been campaigning for at least as long.

A lesson that may have been lost on those who lust for the White House is that the leading contenders for both major party nominations are the unannounced candidates - President Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy among the Democrats, and Ronald Reagan among the Republicans.

The 1980 campaign has been going on so long, no one is certain when it began.

it to the first speaking trip Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., made after the last vote was counted in the 1976 election. Dole was the vice presidential candidate on the losing Republican ticket and he lost no time in taking soundings for a race for the top spot on the 1980 ticket.

A few revisionist historians might go so far as to date the start of the 1980 campaign to the time, maybe 20 or more years ago, when Harold Stassen perceived that 1980 might be a good year for one more try at the White House.

Whatever date is agreed upon as the start of the 1980 campaign, the trend is clear: presidential candidates soon may start to announce more than four years

Swedish Research Scientist Believes New Birth Control Pill Safer

By SARAH BACKUS-STOMQUIST STOCKHOLM (UPI) - The soybean. heralded as an inexpensive, protein-rich food for millions, also may help curb the world's spiraling population.

A research scientist at Sweden's

Lund University has developed a new and he says safer - birth control pill based on the natural hormone estradiol derived from soybeans.

Prof. Birger Astedt said research indicates that estradiol does not cause the type of blood clotting complications that have been associated with synthetic estrogens used in standard oral contraceptives. He said the synthetic estrogens interfere with blood coagulation and increase the risk of thrombosis, or blood

Astedt said that while the new pill is safer in this regard, it still produces some other common side effects such as headaches and weight gain associated with oral contraception

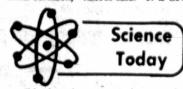

Estradiol had been known for some time to be safe in regard to blood clotting. Astedt said, but its effectiveness in helping to prevent pregnancy was unproven

Astedt and his team tested the new pill on 200 women in the southern Swedish cities of Malmo and Lund during a ural does not necessarily make it safe," two-year period ending last year.

None became pregnant. Astedt believes the soybean-based pill's effectiveness is now proven.

The results of Astedt's tests are scheduled to be published in the British Journal of Gynecology.

We have only been interested in basic research," Astedt said. "It is now.

possible for pharmeceutical companies interested in the production of these pills to further develop them.'

Dr. Gabriel Bialy, head of contraceptive development for the United States' National Institutes of Health at Bethesda, Md., said estradiol dosage is an important issue because previous studies have indicated that very large doses of the hormone might be needed.

Besides raising costs, Bialy said in Washington large doses might cause adverse side effects.

Common Complaint

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - I've been hoping you would write something about postnasal drip. I've been to a number of doctors and about the only advice I get is to move. An allergy doctor did skin tests and they proved that I'm not allergic to anything except the air I breath.

The drip down the back of my throat causes me to feel nauseated and I have to clear my throat all the time, especially after a drink or a meal. This hawking is embarrassing and annoying. I know there are a lot of other people who would like to hear what you think about this.

DEAR READER - Post-nasal drip is a common complaint. We all have it to some degree. Basically, the secretions that cause post-nasal drip are normal and come from the 'weeping of the sinuses." Those membranes are moist because they produce fluid and mucous material. If they dried out, we'd be in deep

The amount of secretions formed varies. Certainly some people do have allergic disorders that increase the amount of secretions. That's why individuals who have a lot of trouble with this disorder should see a doctor as you have done.

The amount of secretions formed is increased when you drink something hot and sometimes after eating.

Smoking cigarettes is a major contributing factor in many people. Obviously, anyone with this complaint who smokes and wants relief should Any substance in the air that irritates the lining of the sinuses can increase your postnasal drip. In your case it's perfectly logical that one of the better solutions to your problem would be breathing clean air. Unfortunately, there is very little your doctors can do to solve that problem for you. Before moving for that reason it is wise to check the new location, as polluted air is everywhere.

Frequent blowing of the nose to remove the secretions helps to keep them from accumulating in the back of the throat and draining down the

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm 17 years old and I've got a pretty big problem. I'm not overweight. I weigh 165, I'm 6 feet tall and I'm in good shape. My problem is stretch marks. They cover my hips and buttocks. How can I get rid of this affliction? I was fat as a boy of 12 and I gradually lost weight. Please, Doc, what's the answer?

DEAR READER - There are limited things that can be done to stretch marks once they've appeared. If it is really important to you, you might ask a plastic surgeon who does cosmetic work if there's any improvement he or she might be able to make for you, but I wouldn't expect too much

I wanted to include your letter in my column to emphasize that even being fat during childhood can leave its mark on the body. Your problem should emphasize to parents to pay attention to whether their children are getting fat even at an early age.

Readers who want a basic diet to help eliminate unwanted body fat can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. Send your request to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Scientists To Explore Depths Of Lake

TAHOE CITY, Calif. (AP) - Exploration of the deep, mysterious Lake Tahoe continues with scientists planning more dives to observe its plant and animal life, its geology and man's refuse

The three-person crew of the electrically driven mini-sub Pioneer I dove to about 700 feet Wednesday in the northern tip of the sapphire-blue lake to ex-amine plankton and an underwater can-

The vessel was to be towed by a University of California-Davis research boat to Agate Bay for a study of the area's plankton, then to Crystal Bay for a look at the canyon on the third day of a fourday expedition financed by the San Jose Mercury-News.

The 17-foot sub had been taken on five dives already in two days of re-

The deepest dive so far, 857 feet, was made Tuesday by expedition leader Dr. Charles R. Goldman, a UC-Davis expert on fresh water lakes, pilot Don Bolstad and Mercury-News reporter Ken Castle.

That dive was to have gone to 1,000 feet, but was cut short as darkness fell.

"We saw a very well preserved Seven-Up can, but no wherks, no bodies," Goldman said. The dive—the third of four that day - was at Rubicon Bay on the western shore of the lake.

That area, known to be a graveyard for dozens of ships and planes, is also believed to hide bodies which never surface because the coldness of the water, as low as 39 degrees, prevents decomposition and bloating.

Finding a sunken vessel whose identity and date of sinking could be estab lished would help scientists measure se diment accumulation, Goldman said Exports Aid In Growth

Of Firm NEW YORK (UPI) - Many American businessmen are finding the only way to expand is to export, but they will have to change their way of doing business, says one who has been successful

Declan McCourt is a Harvard-educated dynamo who runs TMG, Ltd,, an Irish conglomerate whose sales have grown from around $7 million in 1974 to more than $67 million in 1978 and to a projected $180 million this year.

TMG, Ireland's eighth-largest public produces structural steel, farm and industrial machinery and equipment, medical equipment and Waterford cookware. It also imports and manufactures Japanese Datsuns for distribution in Ireland.

The firm's growth came partly from acquisitions of troubled companies (it NABISCO PREMI acquired Massey-Ferguson (Eire) Ltd. earlier this year) but its successful export policy played a big part in the sales McCourt believes many American companies fail in export markets because of an attempt to follow U.S. ideas and business customs in other countries.

"Take planned obsolescence," he said. Much business in this country is based on planned obsolescence - selling products designed to be used a short time, then replaced.

"This approach works in the United States, but much of the rest of the world doesn't think that way," he said. Economic and social customs in some countries are attuned to buying things to last a long time, perhaps a lifetime.

"American products seem to these people to be of poor quality. If you're going to sell at all in some countries you have to offer products made to last a

Another failing of U.S. business is an unwillingness to study local cultural conditions in detail and refusal to make products tailored to national markets or to adapt to local financing and market-

But he said American business is not entirely to blame for the lack of success in exports.

"There is a general lack of national commitment by the government to the necessity of greatly expanding exports in order to reduce the national balance of payments deficit," McCourt said.

"If Americans, like the Irish, depended on export trade for their very survival, you'd see a change," he said. Ireland has accomplished miracles in exporting in recent years, McCourt said. "The Irish always have exported meat and dairy products and horses, but now they sell manufactured products all over the world." Total Irish global exports will reach $6 billion this year and will account for

47 percent of Ireland's gross national Exports to the United States rose nearly 18 percent last year and in the coming months 30 more Irish companies will enter the U.S. market with a range of products that includes housewares, books and industrial pumps.

TMG's Waterford Ironfounders plans to market a woodburning stove in the United States

McCourt said he marveled at the amount of renewable firewood reserves in the United States and said the woodburning stove market could hit $2 million a year.

Revealing an awareness of the paro-chialism that used to mark much Irish business in America, McCourt said, "Curiously the 30 million Irish Americans seem to play little part in the new popu-larity of Irish goods in the United States. "They may buy Irish whiskey and other traditional Irish products but show no special preference for the new Irish manufactured goods."

The sub will be used to plant markers so future researchers can check on the progress of sediment accumulation.

Goldman said Tuesday he was surprised to see algae-eating crayfish rched on sheer cliff walls at the 450-500-foot level. He credited the creatures with cleaning the 1,600-foot-deep lake floor, which has become increasingly covered with underwater plants.

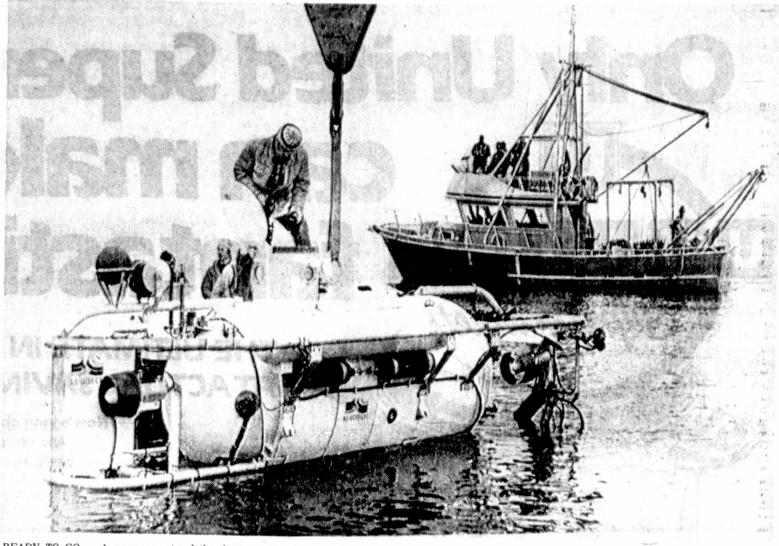

Goldman said he was "very pleasantly surprised" to see more Mackinaw trout Tuesday than were seen the previous day, and was encouraged that the soda can and a fishing net were the only debris spotted, in contrast to Monday's cloudy sediment and heavier garbage

The Mackinaw trout is a legend in this area, with reports of fishermen hauling in specimens weighing pounds or more. Goldman re sighting some "near record" trout Tuesday, but did not estimate the weight.

The white and red sub operated without a hitch Tuesday, except for the loss of its strobe lights, Goldman said. On Monday, there were problems with the compressed air system used to blow out the ballast tanks

Tools on the exterior of the sub are being used to take samples of algae, rocks, clay and water to be tested by researchers.

The sub, owned by Martech International of Houston, is normally used for oil exploration and pipeline inspection. It is designed for diving to 1,200 feet, although it has been taken as deep as 1,400

READY TO GO - A crewman entered the threeman, 17-foot Pioneer I mini-sub recently in preparation for a test dive prior to a four-day continuous research project into the depths of Lake Tahoe. The 37-

foot trawler R.V. John LeConte stands by to tow the sub to the location of the dive. (AP Laserphoto)

Polish Pope Stands Out

Associated Press Writer

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. - "This is a sight you can tell your grandchildren bout," parents wherever we went told the tots they lifted above the crowds to be blessed by Pope John Paul II.

Well, I don't have any grandchildren, but if I did I think they'd go running in the opposite direction, doing an end run around Longfellow's "The Children's Hour," to avoid hearing anoth-Stew er papal anecdote from me.

Reporters don't nomally get carried away with the stories they cover, but since returning home to my Connecticut hearth after following this dynamic pope through Ireland to the Boston Common to Yankee Stadium, an Iowa cornfield, the mall in Washington and so many other improbable places, I can't get the memory of the man out of my mind.

In an age when so many world and national leaders seem blah and dreary and Muppet-sized, this Polish pope with those pale blue eyes and that ruddy prize-fighter's face stands out as a real life-sized man, a person of great compassion, overwhelmingly obvious sincerity, unbudging moral integrity and un-

The White Tornado," we called him, and we meant no disrespect. At least four reporters keeled over from exhaustion and minor cardiacs along the pope's whirlwind pilgrim path. Often we were up at dawn to cover his first Mass, and still shouting into telephones after midnight to report his good night blessing from a balcony or bedroom window. "Go home now and let me get some sleep," the pope frequently had to tell his late show audiences.

In Ireland we boarded a train at 2 a.m. to cover the pope's arrival by helicopter in the flower-decked winner's circle of the Galway Race track ten hours later. By the way, he vested in the jockey's weighing-in room, said Mass on an altar set up over the hidden tote board and blessed the local bishops assembled in the paddock.

Coming back to the hotel that night was the real agony. We reached Dublin at 3 a.m. after boarding the "express bus" at 4 p.m. while the Pope was still blessing the young people who had thronged to the Galway youth rally from

No one I tell this to seems to believe it, but we got caught in the worst traffic jam I have ever sat through. It took our bus five hours to negotiate the two and a half miles from the race track to the Galway town center, where we would pick up the main Dublin road. The Garda, the Irish police, were stuffing their torches (flashlights) in the pockets of their Mac's (raincoats) and walking off the job in despair of ever unsnarling that carbon monoxide chaos.

Drivers who had gained an inch refused to budge an inch to clear the way for our police escort. Aboard our press bus, we had Ireland's third ranking police officer, a young man in charge of plans and operations. In front of us a busload of nuns and priests had half-way pulled out onto the road from a parking pasture, blocking the lefthand lane.

The high ranking officer asked the driver politely to pull back. He refused. Our man, dressed in mufti, flashed his credentials. The driver shrugged. Our man called a uniformed constable. The driver yawned. Our man began to cuss him out in graphic expletives. A nun reached over and closed the driver's window to shut out the torrent, while another appeared on the steps with a bottle of holy water and began sprinkling the high ranking police official:

Monished him as her bus stood fast in the roadway.

Other memories come crowding in. In Washington. I asked a little crippled boy. 8-year-old Michael Shea, stretched out on his pallet in his Sunday best with highly polished shoes on his tiny twisted feet, if he had seen the Pope." "Yes," he said, eyes shining, "but he didn't see me."

It must be a sad thing to be a pope and see so much expectation radiating from the faces of the suffering. But it must be a glad thing also to see so much love pouring out from the ordinary people. On the Mall, for the first time, I saw priests handing the hosts over the fences to people who passed them further back to others way back in the crowd in a sort of sacerdotal bucket bri-

And who can forget Madison Square Garden in New York, when the band of St. Francis Prep played the "Theme from Rocky," as burly Bishop Paul Marcinkus, the Pope's body guard from Cicero, Ill., strode out the dressing room door usually reserved for the champ in a title fight at the garden.

That was the day "woo" became Wow. spelled backwards in Polish, as the Pope's showed his admiration for the combination rock concert and youth revival meeting that 17,000 New York area teen-agers staged for him.

As we checked out of the Palmer House to head for Washington, we noted from a huge signboard in the lobby that Gen. Alexander Haig, the former NA-TO commander and current presidential possibility, was to be the main speaker at a big Chicago convention. But someone had pasted the Pope's picture

And the last night in Washington, while John Paul II was saying Mass on the Mall, the bartender in Duke Zeibert's restaurant had a problem with the TV set. "Some want the pope, some want the Skins (Redskins) and some want the Colts, what should I do?" he asked the Duke's son, Randy, who was on duty at the cash register.

Playing it safe and Solomon-like, Randy opted for the pope.

Executives Adopting Quiet Hour

By JAMES V. HEALION NEWINGTON, Conn. (UPI) - Between the daylight and the darkness, there comes a pause in the day's occupations that is known as "The Quiet Hour," a respite that is now used by executives in more than 1,000 companies

A newsletter for corporate executives hit on the hour of quiet idea which allows harried executives a chance to get some work done in relative peace and quiet. No interruptions is the key, and that means no telephone calls.

The "Quiet Hour" concept is symbolized by a red "STOP" sign that the newsletter - called Execu Time provides its readers. It is generally stuck on a door or desk to ward off intruders, however well-meaning.

That's just one idea the newsletter has come up with recently. It is now telling its readers about a new way to solve such problems as unscheduled visitors,

The answer is on a chart, much like the auto manuals that list symptoms and solutions: "Install a Quiet Hour, have visitors screened; require advance scheduling (or advocate this policy with people who can require it); cancel; don't go.'

The chart is the brainchild of Robert Moskowitz, Execu Time's editor, and Michael Hough, who publishes the business newsletter in this Hartford suburb.

"The chart presents a new organization of tested information, so nearly anyone can zero in on one or more specific symptoms indicating their poor use of time, and then move quickly through a list of the most likely causes to a review of the most effective remedies," Moskowitz said.

Doing too much at once? S-8 on the chart says to "concentrate on highest payoff activities; learn selective procrastination; cut back on work through delegation, neglect, conscious dumping; devote your time to your highest value responsibilities and opportunities.

The Trouble Shooting Chart is broken down into 24 broad categories of symptoms, perhaps 150 possible causes and an equal number of solutions. More elaborate solutions appear in various issues of the newsletter.

Execu Time offers all kinds of tips to businessmen

"The cost of sending a business letter is constantly on the rise, and the biggest inflation factor is the time needed to compose, type, review, correct, retype and sign it," it says. "Here's how you can cut down on this heavy time investment without sacrificing any results:

-Don't write a big, fancy letter when a penciled note will do. If you get a letter and decide to respond, jot your reply on the same sheet, copy it and send back the original.

-When you must compose a full letter (because your secretary can't handle this one), cut out all unnecessary wordiness. Get right to the point. Say things plainly. Inform but don't educate. Make it one page. -Work from a very brief outline. Sometimes three or four key words are enough. Cover each point quickly and efficiently, in order.

-First drafts are good enough 90 percent of the time. Dictate your letter and make no changes on the typed copy unless absolutely essential. Each typo costs 50 cents to correct.

"Modest typos should be left alone or corrected by hand. The overall impression must still be clear and clean, but perfectionism and fussiness are no longer needed to make a business-like impression. The idea is for an executive to make the best use of the company's time -

You and the Law

Presented by the State Bar of Texas

Q: I am a senior citizen who moved here more than a year ago from Illinois. Is the will I had drawn up by an attorney in Illinois valid or should I have a Texas attorney draw up a new will?

A: An attorney familiar with Texas probate and estate administration should review your will to make certain you have taken advantage of certain provisions for independent administration. Texas law, in addition, has requirements for signatures and witnesses that must be checked in your Illinois will. Your Texas attorney can determine whether your will serves your wishes completely and economically.

Q: What is considered separate property to be passed to the deceased's surviving spouse and heirs?

A: Separate propoerty is any real, personal or mixed property owned or claimed by the spouse before marriage or acquired during the marriage by gift, or inheritance. If a person dies without a will, property other than community property goes one-third to the surviving spouse and the remainder to the heirs. The surviving spouse is also entitled to a life estate of one-third of the land of the deceased with the remainder to heirs. However, a person may write a will disposing of his separate property to whomever he wishes.

Q: My husband and I each have children by previous marriages. We are in our 50's and have made no will. When my husband dies, could his children come in for all we own, or would the survivor have full ownership of all properties?

A: In this case, your husband's one-half of your estate would go immediately to his children if he died without a will. You would be left with the half you already owned, but none of his.

If there is any separate property, the law provides for you and his children to share interest in certain fractions.

You may both avoid this division of property by writing wills leaving your property to each other.

Q: My husband died in November of last year. Since then I have received conflicting advice concerning the probate of his will. His estate consists of the home and a $5000 savings account, both in my name. Is it necessary to probate the will? What procedure do you suggest?

A: Yes. It is necessary to probate the will to prove title and right of possession to any real and personal property disposed of in the will. The executor named in the will or any interested party may make application to the court of the proper county to have the will admitted for probate.

Q: I was arrested for a Class "A" misdemeanor in February. My court date was set in March. When I arrived at court, the judge was out of town and a new date was then set. Isn't there a law that my charges must be dropped after a certain period of time?

A: The Speedy Trial Act requires the state to be "ready for trial" within 90 days after a person's arrest for a Class A misdemeanor. Your case may be called several times within the specified time limit before both sides are actually ready for trial. Even if your case is not tried within the specified time limit, the Act contains numerous exceptions which may apply. Depending on the jurisdiction, only a small percentage of criminal cases are ever dismissed by trial judges because of failure to comply with the Speedy Trial Act.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

Inflation's Origins No Mystery

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — While confusion reins over what to do about it, there is little mystery about inflation's origins. It isn't a virus escaped from a lab, or an emission from outer space. It is manmade, homemade.

Washington has produced a disproportionate share. In this decade alone it has spent about $320 billion more than it had in its check book.

The only way government can do that is to print more money, and when that happens it means the buying power of all dollars in circulation is reduced. The effect is the same as a tax; the method is less obvious.

What does $320 billion mean? It is just a bit more than what Fidel Castro last week said advanced nations should give to poor nations, and which the advanced nations indicated could bring on financial disaster.

Some critics blame the Federal Reserve, which under Paul Volcker now seeks to shock the country into an awareness of its plight, for having made money tooeasy to come by. The Fed could have slowed the presses.

What determines when the presses run too often or too fast? Generally speaking, when the money put into circulation exceeds the production of goods and services. The Fed permitted this for many years.

During the period 1950 — 1970, for example, the level of currency and checking account balances rose at an average of about 3.2 percent a year, but productivity was growing too, although at a lower rate.

Through most of the decade of the 1970s, however, the money level rose at better than 6 percent, while productivity increases were shrinking and, this year, going into reverse. Money became "too easy" to get.

The decline of productivity, or the efficiency of production, is in itself a cause of inflation, but what causes it to decline is the subject of wide debate. Management claims labor has made excessive demands; labor claims management is shortsighted in planning.

Essential as it is to understand productivity and why it has fallen — many economists claim it is the No. 1 economic question — the sad fact is that, like human hypertension, we have more theories than answers.

In fact, the Commerce Department's latest "Survey of Current Business" contains 21 pages on the subject, with 16 of them devoted to "The Unexplained Portion of the Decline in Productivity Growth."

Whatever the answers, and many are named (lack of innovation, taxes, unskilled help, regulation, environmental restraints, decline of work ethic) the impact is in costs and prices, and that means inflation.

Of course there are other reasons too, and nobody is unaware of at least one of them. Energy prices, that is, affect everyone — most of them directly, as in buying gasoline or home heating oil.

subtle impacts too that might add greatly to inflation; in forcing factories to move, for example, or in making workers less productive or in worsening the payments imbalance.

An economist can go on and name

But energy cost increases have more

An economist can go on and name many other factors that contribute to inflation, factors that we might not fully understand but which we know for certain are, to use a comparable medical term, carcinogenic.

We made inflation — it would exist even without energy price increases and we have some very good ideas of what must be done to lower it, at least by several percentage points from its 13 percent level.

The problem, it seems, is that there is no easy way. Whatever is effective is painful too. Restraint is painful, and nobody wants to volunteer.

South Carolina Sets First GOP Primary

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The first Republican primary in the South will be in South Carolina on March 8, three days before Georgia, Florida and Alabama, state GOP leaders have announced.

The primary was approved Saturday by the reconvened state Republican convention over the objections of delegates who termed it little more than a "Reagan-Connally popularity contest." An Associated Press survey in South Carolina last week gave Ronald Reagan the most first-choice votes for the GOP nomination, with John Connally second.

The balloting will be open to all voters because South Carolinians are not registered by party.
