Gunmen Attack U.S. Navy Bus, Kill Two

TOA BAJA, Puerto Rico (AP) — Unidentified gunmen ambushed a busload of U.S. Navy personnel this morning in a barrage of pistol and shotgun fire, killing two servicemen and wounding 10 other persons, authorities reported.

The wounded included three women. One of the women and two or three of the men were hospitalized in serious condition.

No one claimed immediate responsibility for the attack, the first fatal assault against the U.S. military in Puerto Rico in almost a decade. Violence by underground pro-independence groups generally has been limited to attacks on property.

Rear Adm. Arthur K. Knozen, senior U.S. naval officer in the Caribbean, called it a "heinous crime we cannot tolerate."

The Navy said names of the victims were being withheld until next-of-kin could be notified. But local authorities said the two dead men were the bus driver and a radar technician.

The attack occurred at 6:20 a.m. (4:20

CST) as the yellow school bus with Navy markings left a naval communications facility in Toa Baja, 10 miles west of San Juan on Puerto Rico's north coast, taking 18 persons to work at a radar station 1 1/2 miles away.

Unconfirmed reports said the gunmen — said to number at least four — used two vans in the ambush, one blocking the way along a deserted section of the narrow road, a San Juan police spokesman said.

Authorities here said the attackers opened fire with a heavy-gauge shotgun and pistols, apparently .22-caliber and .38-caliber.

One of the survivors said the driver was killed immediately when he was shot under the right eye. One of the passengers grabbed the wheel, spun the bus around and drove it back to the Sabana Seca communications facility, the survivor said before Navy officers took him away from reporters. His name was not given.

The terrorists abandoned one white van and fled in the second van, police said.

At least 41 bullets tore into the bus, most of them through the windows in the front half of the vehicle.

None of those on the Navy bus was armed, said Lt. Steve Chesser, public affairs officer at the Navy's Roosevelt Roads base.

Adm. Knozen said the attack was "a well-planned, well-executed ambush. It was not a target of opportunity."

It was the first fatal attack on U.S. servicemen here since March 1970, when an American was gunned down in San Juan in what terrorists said was retaliation for the death of a student during a riot at the University of Puerto Rico.

Small pro-independence groups have bombed federal facilities in Puerto Rico and branches of mainland banks in the past decade, but such attacks have usually occurred in the hours between midnight and dawn and caused no injuries. The FALN — Armed Forces for National Liberation — also has staged bombing attacks in the United States.

Some of the pro-independence groups had vowed vengeance for the death of See NAVY GROUP Page 14

Shah Gets Refuge At Air Base

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The deposed Shah of Iran rested at a secret location somewhere on Lackland Air Force Base today, where he was placed under the protection of the U.S. military for the first time since the Iranian crisis erupted.

The surprise, pre-dawn transfer from New York Sunday was aimed at providing "a secure convalescent facility" for the ailing shah until the U.S. government finds him a place to live. White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said.

However, several hours after being given a fourth-floor ward at Lackland's Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital, the shah was later moved out of the hospital to another location on the base, a top Lackland source confirmed.

Officials would not give a reason for the move, and would not comment on speculation it was for security reasons. The nine-story hospital is located on the fringe of the base and in clear view of a busy highway.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, 60, went to New York's Cornell Medical Center Oct. 22 for treatment of lymph cancer and for gallbladder surgery. A mob of Muslim militants holding 50 Americans hostage at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran has demanded the return of the exiled monarch to Iran.

The shah's transfer places him under guard of a U.S. military force for the first time since the seizure of the U.S. Embassy — and offers more security in any future move the shah may make from here. In Iran, Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said the move does not affect the hostages one way or the other.

Iran Denounces American 'Plot'

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The shah's move to Texas brought new threats to put the American hostages on trial as Iranians voted in a referendum to approve Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's new Islamic constitution.

Tehran Radio announced the Revolutionary Council has set up a center for national mobilization to carry out Khomeini's orders to create a people's army ready for battle against America.

The government radio also said Iran will ask the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to abandon the dollar as the currency for the international oil trade medium of payment and instead use a "basket" of strong currencies.

Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said the shah's flight Sunday from a New York hospital to an Air Force base outside San Antonio was part of "a plot against our revolution. If the United States decides to continue the crisis ... the trial of the spies here will begin."

"If the shah leaves the United States for another country, we will try the hostages," said a spokesman for the students holding the 50 Americans who on Sunday began their fifth week of captivity in the U.S. Embassy.

Another of the militants said the shah's move from New York to Texas was "another trick taken by the CIA to protect the shah. But everyone in the world knows he cannot be protected against the will of God and the will of the people."

The embassy occupiers also said that one of the hostages had confessed to being a CIA spy, and that Charge d'Affaires L. Bruce Laingen and two senior aides being held separately at the Foreign Ministry were "proved to be" spies and must be kept and guarded carefully.

Laingen and his aides happened to be at the Foreign Ministry when the students occupied the embassy on Nov. 4 and demanded that the U.S. government return Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to Iran for trial. Ghotbzadeh said last week that the three diplomats could leave the country if they could get to the airport safely, but he reversed this after the students at the embassy complained.

The shah arrived in the United States from Mexico Oct. 22. He underwent treatment for cancer and gallstones in New York and is to recuperate for an indefinite period in Texas.

Egypt has offered the shah asylum, and Egyptian officials said they believed the deposed monarch was likely to remain in the United States for several more weeks. U.S. officials said nothing about the shah's eventual destination.

President Carter, asked whether the shah might be offered permanent U.S. asylum, said, "I cannot answer that now."

(A newspaper in Panama said today that the shah probably will go to that

Murder Plan Bared Here

By KAY BELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Authorities here say disputes over the 1965 will of a Lubbock woman apparently prompted a Chicago couple to offer a "hit man" $150,000 to kill one of the beneficiaries of the contested document.

Vaso V. Mraovic, 41, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Charles Smith this morning on the charge of capital solicitation — hiring another man to kill Arthur Boldt, owner of the McDonald's Restaurant franchise here.

Bond for the 41-year-old Mraovic was set at $250,000 by Smith, and the criminal district attorney's office has recommended a similar bond for Mraovic's 69-year-old wife, Ann, who authorities said still was at large in Chicago this morning.

According to court documents, Boldt also has been offered a franchise for the hamburger chain in Lawton, Okla., where he and his late wife, Lillian, lived before moving to Lubbock in 1969.

Boldt and the Mraovics have been involved in court battles concerning Mrs. Boldt's estate following her death March 29, 1978. In her will, Mrs. Boldt provided that her mother, Ann Mraovic, be named sole beneficiary of Mrs. Boldt's estate. Boldt was named executor of the document.

Last week an order was entered setting a hearing to resolve one of the will disputes. That same day, authorities say, Mraovic arrived in Lubbock to complete details on the alleged "murder for hire."

The man Mraovic is accused of hiring, a 35-year-old Jordanian also from Chicago, reportedly was offered as much as $150,000 to kill Boldt. However, the man, whom officials did not want identified until a material witness bond is entered against him, reportedly had received only $8,500 from Mraovic before Mraovic's arrest Saturday morning.

Officials from the district attorney's office and members of the Texas Rangers arrested Mraovic shortly before 9 a.m. Saturday after he allegedly paid the hired assassin $3,500 with which to purchase a gun and silencer. The man allegedly hired by the Mraovics was paid $5,000 in Chicago for the job and was to have collected the rest upon completion of the contract, authorities said.

Officials said Mraovic had an additional $27,000 on his person when he was arrested at the Holiday Inn, 66th Street and Avenue H.

Although investigators declined official comment this morning, the hired gunman reportedly contacted Boldt upon arrival in Lubbock and told his alleged "target" of the contract. Boldt in turn contacted the local FBI office and then

Senators Optimistic On Oil Profits Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republicans and Democrats are nearing a breakthrough on the oil windfall profits tax, which has been stalled for several days, the assistant Senate Republican leader said today.

We might just be coming to a breakthrough, Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, told reporters when asked about week-end negotiations.

Senate Democratic leader Robert

Byrd, D-W.Va., was less optimistic that a breakthrough was imminent, however. "I would hope we could get the bipartisan group back together again," Byrd said.

Stevens said under a plan by Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., oil producers would get a windfall profits tax credit for reinvesting their windfall profits in crude production.

Brimson said Stevens "is looking to a production incentive, a windfall profits tax credit for those who plow their profits back into the ground."

The Senate today entered its second week of debate on the controversial oil windfall profits tax, with liberals cautiously optimistic they have the votes to boost its revenues to at least $185 billion.

Byrd said Saturday President Carter should reimpose controls on oil prices if Congress does not pass "a fair and equitable" windfall profits tax of at least $190 billion.

Byrd told his regular weekend news conference he might seek a vote to shut off debate in the Senate on the tax bill if an impasse over the revenue level is not broken.

Influential Senate Finance Committee sources said they were resigned to having the committee's original $138 billion windfall bill increased substantially, due to support by both Carter and his chief rival for the Democratic presidential nomination — Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts — for a tougher tax, and the oil industry's public relations at a low point because of soaring profits.

Senate floor action was stymied for two days last week because Republicans opposed an amendment by Sens. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., and John Chafee, R-R.I., that would increase windfall profits revenues $22.5 billion by raising the windfall tax rate on oil from wells in production since 1972 from the 65 percent rate in the committee bill to 75 percent.

Grocery Prices Climb To New High In City

By DEBBISTALTER
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Food costs today registered in at their highest level in the past five years, with only one out of 16 items routinely checked in an Avalanche-Journal survey dropping in price.

Meat, which often makes the big difference in shopping bill totals, has risen significantly in the past month, with both a pound of round steak and a pound of bacon each costing 20 cents more now than at the beginning of November.

Round steak was $2.19 a pound in November, but has jumped to $2.39 a pound. However, prices of this meat have been highly variable in the past year, ranging from $1.68 a pound in October to $2.59 in May and June.

Bacon, which had cost the shopper $1.39 a pound last month, now runs $1.59 a package. This price, though, is a far cry from the highest total recorded in the A-J survey, which was $2.19 a pound in November 1975.

These two meats accounted for most of the 56-cent increase in the total of the 16 items in the survey. The A-J list totaled $21.94 today, compared to the Nov. 1 price of $21.38.

This month's price was the highest ever since the survey began in March 1975. Last December, the 16 items were $20.74, and the lowest overall price for the items in five years was $15.20 in April 1975.

In the latest survey, laundry detergent was also a big price-jumper, with the cost of a 49-ounce size box going from $1.75 to $1.85.

High Court Rebuffs Newspapers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to free two Albuquerque, N.M., newspapers from giving the names of confidential sources to a man who is suing the paper for libel.

The justices, without comment, turned down an appeal filed by the publishers of the Albuquerque Journal, whose secret news sources were jeopardized by state court orders, and the Albuquerque Tribune.

Both papers were sued for libel in 1975 by William Marchiondo, a prominent Albuquerque lawyer.

Marchiondo's suit, which seeks more than $8 million in damages, alleged that one or both of the newspapers published four libelous items.

Marchiondo's suit, still in the pretrial "discovery" stage, was first filed in 1975 and then amended last year to include charges of libel stemming from the latest item.

Lawyers for Marchiondo won trial court permission to demand all sources of information for any article, even those not alleged to be libelous, ever carried by either paper about Marchiondo.

In addition, the court ordered Journal reporter William Hume to surrender to Marchiondo's lawyers all documents pertaining to Marchiondo which he had obtained in the past five years.

The Supreme Court also rebuffed a request to shield works of fiction from libel suits, leaving intact a $750,000 award against the author and publisher of a 1971 novel.

The justices, by a 6-3 vote, refused to review a California court ruling that gave the award to the so-called "father of the nude marathon," stemming from the novel "Touching."

In other action today, the high court —Rejected the appeal of a former Oregon college professor convicted of plotting the 1973 bombings of two Portland military recruiting centers. The defendant said prosecutors' tactics had violated his free speech rights.

—Agreed to settle a long-standing legal battle over land and water in California's Imperial Valley in a case that could affect more than a million acres of farmland in 17 Western states.

—Refused to allow reimbursement of certain Social Security benefits to anyone but the surviving spouse of the original recipient, in a case involving a daughter seeking to recover nursing home payments from a mother who died shortly after she was admitted.

—Left intact a Federal Trade Commission order barring a New York mail-order firm from making product safety or performance claims unless it first submits written proof.

Goodfellows Get Pleas For Help

"He is growing up with his mother only. His father lives in town, but he is irresponsible to him."

The mother has a part-time job, but the salary doesn't stretch as far as Christmas.

"And he loves all kinds of toys." Without the Goodfellows, Christmas might be just another day to this little boy and many others like him.

But there is a Chief Goodfellow and a host of helpers dedicated to seeing that all Lubbock children have a bit of Christmas.

Thanks to all the persons sending in coupons from The Avalanche-Journal, Chief Goodfellow is making out quite a list for this year.

All names will be screened by a special group to be sure Chief Goodfellow's helpers get to the right houses Christmas Day.

Others knowing of a child that could be without a visit from Santa this year may fill out the coupon on Page 7, Sec. D, and mail it to Chief Goodfellow, P.O. Box 4918, Lubbock, Texas 79408.

To help Chief Goodfellow put toys, fruit and candy in about 10,000 sacks this Christmas, mail donations to the same address.

Glamorous Campaign Worker
NEW YORK (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis is working a Kennedy presidential campaign again — this time selling tickets by telephone for a fund-raiser for her brother-in-law.

The $1,000-per-person dinner to be held Dec. 12 at the posh Hotel Pierre is only one of several being planned by Mrs. Onassis and Jean Kennedy Smith, whose husband, Stephen Smith, is chairman of Sen. Edward Kennedy's campaign.

"We're looking for a big success," Mrs. Smith said Sunday. "Jackie's selling tables to her friends and we're all working the phones."

Mrs. Onassis is the widow of President John Kennedy and Greek shipping tycoon Aristotle Onassis.

Meanwhile, backers of President Carter are planning a similarly priced bash for Wednesday.

Broadway Hit Goes To Moscow

NEW YORK (AP) — Vodka's the thing in Moscow, but that isn't holding back the stars of the Broadway Hit, "The Gin Game."

Hume Cronyn and his wife, Jessica Tandy, are taking their Pulitzer Prize-winning production from the Great White Way to the Soviet Union for an opening Thursday. The Soviets have seen American musicals, but this is the first play sponsored by the State Department, which wants to show Americans in a home setting.

The production will run for eight days in Moscow before a tour in Leningrad.

Members of the audience will be provided with head sets carrying translations of the dialogue.

Spirit Of Christmas

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — The Society to Curtail Ridiculous, Outrageous and Ostentatious Gift Exchanges, also known as SCROOGE, is saying "Bah, humbug" to extravagant presents at Christmas.

Instead, SCROOGE is supporting the "true spirit" of Christmas past — decorated trees, good cheer with family and friends, Christmas cards with personal notes and visits to the sick and elderly.

"The only thing I'm against is all these asinine gifts that have gotten out of hand," declared Charles G. Langham, SCROOGE's founder and executive director. SCROOGE has about 75 members.

Langham, a 38-year-old Army publications officer from Charlottesville, has been thinking about cutting back on his gift buying since he and his wife ran up about $500 to $600 worth of Christmas credit card bills three years ago.

One of SCROOGE's principles is a reminder for "general self-control in gift exchanges, recognizing that a 'Merry Christmas' can't be bought."

Cowboy Pushes For Sixth Title

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Oklahoma cowboy Tom Ferguson brought down a steer Sunday faster than any competitor so far in this year National Finals Rodeo, moving ahead in his quest for an unprecedented sixth consecutive All-Around Cowboy title.

The Miami, Okla., cowboy, who has topped the all-time rodeo money list with more than $525,000, won Sunday's steer wrestling competition with a time of 4.2 seconds, the fast so far in competition and just .7 off his own world record.

National titles in eight cowboy categories are determined by total scores from 10 go-rounds of competition, scheduled through Dec. 10. Sunday's go-round was the second in this year's national championships.

Dairy Prices Boosting Family Grocery Costs

By The Associated Press
 A new round of price increases at the dairy counter helped boost family supermarket bills again last month, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

There were several special sales on pork chops, but the decreases were not great enough to offset the increases in the price of eggs and milk.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 food and non-food items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. Chocolate chip cookies were dropped from the list when the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

Here are some of the findings in the latest AP survey:

The marketbasket bill increased at the checklist store in eight cities, up an average of 2.4 percent, and decreased at the checklist store in five cities, down an average of 1.8 percent. On the average, the marketbasket bill at the checklist store went up eight-tenths of a percent during November. That compared with a decrease of two-tenths of a percent in October.

Since the first of the year, the marketbasket bill has increased at the checklist store in every city, with rises ranging from 3 percent in Salt Lake City to just over 12 percent in New York. On the average, the marketbasket bill was 7 percent higher at the start of December than it was 11 months earlier.

Foods, rather than non-foods, are responsible for most of the increase. Almost one-fourth of the items on the AP checklist are non-foods, but during November these items accounted for only about one-eighth of the price increases.

Higher prices for eggs — in demand as a substitute for expensive cuts of meat — and for milk boosted marketbasket bills last month as they did during October. Eggs increased in price at the checklist store in 10 cities during November after rising in six cities in October. Milk prices which were up in six cities in October, went up at the checklist store in five cities during November, reflecting a seasonal decline in production. Coffee prices also were higher — up in six cities last month.

The price of center-cut pork chops dropped during November at the checklist store in eight cities. Hog farmers have increased production to take advantage of the high beef prices caused by small cattle supplies and almost 20 percent more pork was produced this November than was produced in the same month last year.

A look at the overall number of items in the AP survey showed there were about the same number of increases during October and November, but there were fewer decreases last month. Here are the percentages:

Up	25.3	26.4
Down	23.6	18.1
Unchanged	46.7	52.2
Unavailable	4.4	3.3

No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents.

The day of the week on which the check was made varied depending on the month. Standard brands and sizes were used when available. If the requested size and brand was not available on March 1, 1973, a comparable substitute was selected. Items temporarily out of stock on one of the survey dates being compared were not included in the overall total.

The AP did not try to compare actual prices from city to city — to say, for example, that eggs cost more in one area than another. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase or decrease — saying a particular item went up 10 percent in one city and 6 percent in another.

The USDA marketbasket issued each month is based on a complex set of statistics and is used mainly to illustrate changes in relative costs of different segments of the food industry.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar.

Lumber Companies Fined For Fixing Prices

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. District Judge Patricia Boyle has fined five lumber companies and the Detroit Lumberman's Association $255,000 for lumber price-fixing in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The association and the companies had pleaded no contest to the charges, but the judge ruled Thursday that such a plea was in fact an admission of guilt.

Fined were Erb Lumber Co., $75,000; National and Wallach lumber companies, $40,000 each; and Haggerty and Gibbs lumber companies, $35,000 each. The association was fined $30,000.

Soloist Wins Praise From Music Critics

NEW YORK (AP) — Some daredevils ride barrels over Niagara Falls. Some are motorcycle jumpers. Some scale Mount Everest.

One brave man makes his living as a soloist on the horn — 199 inches of brass, coiled to strike its player with the embarrassment of a prominent, unmistakable flub.

"I like to take a few points into the danger area, to risk it," says Barry Tuckwell, "because what makes a performance exciting is that someone has gone beyond safety."

"Being safe doesn't mean tuppence to me."

With his wavy, silver hair, rakish mustache and tiny goatee, the 48-year-old Australian lacks only a cape and a duelling scar to be the "complete daredevil."

"Great players also know how to cover up," Tuckwell adds with a smile. "With a horn, though, it's more immediate — you know who's done it."

Tuckwell simply has no competition on the horn, often called the French horn. He makes critics gush. If the hunter played his horn as well, said a critic for the Stuttgarter Nachrichten, "the deer would have died from ecstasy."

He plays some 200 concerts a year, ranging from the great concert halls of London, New York and Vienna to Borneo and Bangkok.

Tuckwell says a horn player must almost be two persons — one cold and calculating, the other wildly romantic. In concert, one sees a stiff, unemotional Tuckwell, betraying no trace of effort, one hears the romantic in the glorious sounds pouring from his gleaming horn.

In his hotel room, with a cold bottle of beer in hand and an empty on the table, the two Tuckwells alternate. He often stops to consider his answers, but he can be a lively raconteur, whether discussing music or discoursing authoritatively on Australian beer.

After 36 years of performing, Tuckwell often says that his schedule is too busy, that he longs to spend more time in London with his wife and three children. Next year, he vows, he will play only 100 concerts. Well, only 120, for sure.

Although his hair is silver, and a bit of a paunch peeks over his belt, Tuckwell says the sheer physical challenge of playing the horn has diminished with age.

"I've thought of a lot of things I could do where I could have a more stable existence," he says, "but then I think, 'That's hanging the horn on the hook. And I can't do that.'"

So he carries on his marriage by telephone, and continues the endless practicing of tiny phrases, searching for that intonation that will astonish an audience.

"When you hear someone play something that makes you gasp," he says, "it's because you don't know what they did."

Envelopes Reveal Days To Christmas

By SHARILEWIS

One mid-December when my daughter was little, I stretched a ribbon across her room. On this ribbon, I stuck 10 small envelopes. They were numbered backwards — 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, and so forth — and in each were instructions for something that was fun to do before Christmas. Mallory knew that she could open one envelope a day. In it she would find simple directions for a Christmas game to play or an easy-to-make greeting card, gift wrapping, Christmas decoration or Christmas food.

This kept her very busy, and not once did I hear "how many days till Christmas?" Mallory knew, because she could clearly see how many envelopes were left.

In the weeks to come I'll give you lots of easy-to-do Christmas activities. If you want to hang a "How Many Days Till Christmas" ribbon for a kid sister, brother or little neighbor, just collect these columns, tuck one in each envelope. Tell the little one that you'll be Santa's assistant and help with the fun each and every day.

Today's Brain Twister: Can you figure out a 10 digit number which:

—Has a first digit that tells how many zeros there are in the total 10 digit number?

—Has a second digit which tells how many ones are in the 10 digit number?

—Has a third digit which tells how many twos are in the 10 digit number? (Look for the answer in tomorrow's Kids-Only Club column.)

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

Iran Not Only Problem

IN CASE NOBODY in Washington has noticed during the month-long crisis over Iran, the United States still has a number of pressing domestic problems that need attention.

Inflation remains the worst of these. Recession is threatening.

The Consumer Price Index rose another 1 percent in the latest month analyzed and will end the year with an increase of 13 percent or more.

That's more than double the rate when Jimmy Carter was elected President with a promise to balance the budget and curb inflation.

THE LUBBOCK AREA, although it has felt inflation along with the rest of the nation, hasn't noticed it if a recession has begun.

Bumper cotton and grain crops, record employment levels and booming retail sales as the Christmas season gets underway make this an area blessed.

But, while it would be unfair to say that Congress has stopped in its tracks to become a spectator of the Iranian situation, lawmakers have done nothing to help the situation at home.

In fact, the major Congressional action in November was final approval of a $547 billion federal budget which will perpetuate the deficit spending that is at the root of the nation's inflationary problems.

And, for most of the month, Congress has been trying to add new taxes—in the form of a windfall levy on oil company revenues—rather than relieve Americans of burdens they already carry.

THE EXTENT OF the problem caused by high budgets, big deficits and tax gouging can be seen by a quick look at the Consumer Price Index.

It now costs $225.40 to buy the same goods and services that cost only $100 in 1967. The price has gone up by $12.20 just in the last year.

Yet, rather than try to deal with this problem in a rational way, Congress keeps trying to exacerbate it by increasing spending for social programs. This makes it harder for the poor to make ends meet, which starts the vicious circle all over again because Congress then appropriates more money to "help them over the hump."

The hump has been around far longer than the Iranian crisis has been. And it'll still be here when Iran's nothing but a faded memory.

James J. Kilpatrick:

Get Government Off Our Backs

WASHINGTON—Thomas Jefferson used to tell the story of the long-suffering Indian chief who put a pebble in his pouch for every grievance he endured. When the pouch was full he went to war.

The House of Representatives suddenly has taken to the warpath, and Capitol Hill is ringing with wild cries and hoarse alarms.

On two back-to-back votes last month, the House has stunned the Democratic leadership. On Nov. 14 came the Russo amendment to the Federal Trade Commission bill.

Twenty-four hours later came the Gephardt substitute for the President's hospital cost containment bill. Two massacres in a row! The administration, if it is wise, will draw its wagons in a circle.

THE TWO VOTES provide dramatic confirmation of political trends of the first importance. If there had been doubt before, there cannot be much doubt about it now. The House has heard a message from the folks back home.

Reduced to its simplest terms, the message goes as follows: Get the government off our backs.

On the evening of the 14th, sitting as a Committee of the Whole, the House took up the Federal Trade Commission Improvements Act of 1979. The bill offered a clear choice both for conservatives who loved it and liberals who loathed it. No fight could have been more sharply defined.

The bill would vest Congress with a legislative veto over trade rules promulgated by the FTC; it would curb the infuriating procedure by which the FTC uses tax funds to hire favorable witnesses; it would prevent the FTC from attempting to revoke such trademarks as the Formica trademark; and it would impose other deadlines and restrictions on the agency.

But there was one more decisive improvement yet to come. Rep. Martin A. Russo, D-Ill., took dead aim on a pending trade rule by which the FTC would impose a web of regulations upon funeral directors.

HE OFFERED AN amendment that would flatly prohibit the FTC from using public funds to issue the rule. The amendment carried by an astonishing vote of 223 to 147.

Much worse was in store. On the 15th, bowing to Carter's insistence, the House leadership called up the administration's misbegotten bill to impose mandatory controls on the nation's hospitals if they fail voluntarily to meet certain arbitrary figures on cost reduction.

This was the President's particular baby. Even in the bill's watered-down form, he wanted it badly. He lost, 234-166, when the House voted instead for an innocuous substitute sponsored by Rep. Richard A. Gephardt, D-Mo. The bill provides merely for a study commission.

THE THRUST OF the two measures is identical. The people are fed up with what they regard as the excessive regulation of their lives by agencies of the federal government.

On the hospital bill, opponents argued that "cost containment" would create fantastic burdens of paperwork, that purported savings are highly conjectural, that the bill would reduce the quality of medical care.

But when they called the roll on Russo, 108 Democrats abandoned the old alliances altogether. On the hospital bill, the leadership fought desperately to close ranks.

Alas, 99 of the troops went over the hill. The two-party system, as I have remarked many times before, is in grave trouble.

STILL ANOTHER HEARTENING lesson may be remarked. The FTC would not have suffered this deserved humiliation if small-business men had failed to turn on the pressure.

Funeral directors, auto salesmen, vocational school directors and many others mounted an impressive political effort. Hospital administrators made an overwhelming case against the cost containment bill.

After years of submission to expansive liberalism, conservatives are fighting back effectively. Like the Indian chief, they have filled their pouch with pebbles. Right on!

ONE MAN'S OPINION

A Star For Carter

GAIL JACKSON launched a one-woman campaign to get Lubbock churches to ring their bells and people to pray for peace at noon each day until securing the release of American hostages in Iran.

Good idea. Besides invoking the power of prayer, maybe we could get all the lines-tied up so that the Ayatollah Khomeini—who claims to be in direct contact with God—can't get through.

First the Iranians seized the hostages because we let the shah into the country, then they threatened to harm them if we let him leave.

With everybody in Tehran demonstrating outside the American embassy, wonder who's keeping the store?

AS THIS IS written, the deposed shah of Iran is still in the United States, which, in my opinion, is where he ought to stay.

Why should we let the fanatical followers of a religious nut dictate to us who will live in this country?

If it's not the shah, it'll be some other issue that will be used to stir up demonstrations against us.

Muslims stormed American embassies in Thailand, Kuwait and the Philippines Friday in a widening circle of emotional irrationality orchestrated against the U.S.

We will continue to be humiliated, with our people's lives endangered, until we show that we are tired of being pushed around. Kicking the shah out can be interpreted no other way except that we caved in under pressure.

JOSEPH SOBRAN:

Camelot Sounds A Bit Bizarre

WASHINGTON—It was among the great moments in heraldry. The press announced that Stephen Smith was about to announce that Teddy was going to announce.

And so it came to pass that I put on the stereo my aged recording of "Camelot." The needle stuck on Richard Burton chanting, "Camelot! I know it sounds a bit bizarre—a bit bizarre—a bit bizarre—"

Very bizarre, in fact. Only superannuated pages could feel any bewitchment in a restoration of that court. The many-sided devotion to Guinevere has no parallel in the Kennedy tribe's degrading treatment of its squaws.

Do these intrafamilial sins really matter to the public? Not very much, except that Kennedys trade on legends, spun by hireling troubadours, of glamor and idealism.

KENNEDY'S CONDUCT AT and after the death of Mary Jo Kopechne may very likely have been criminal. His own original explanation that he "panicked" was self-serving. Sitting up all night with lawyers is a cold-blooded way of panicking.

The "Kennedy legacy," a hand-me-down Presidency, will be claimed on the basis of a purely public quality: "leadership." Why this ranks as a Kennedy speciality is anyone's guess.

Jack never got a major bill through Congress. Bobby's claim to fame was Jack's elegies. He is remembered as a martyr to all the causes he was busy trying to adopt when he was shot.

We are left—stuck—with Teddy, whose chief virtue is that he is not Jimmy Carter.

CARTER SEEMS A terribly pitiful figure right now. His personal presence makes you feel that when he is alone with another head of state he is hopelessly outnumbered, and all the Democratic realists are deserting him in the name of Kennedy idealism.

Carter has tried ever so hard to obey the traditional liberal Democratic prescriptions, and his chief fault has been to abandon the pretense that all of them work.

So he is blamed for their failure, and Kennedy, the leader, is pledged to "make" them work. Preferring Kennedy is a way of blaming Carter for the souring of a dream.

Teddy is the dregs of a drunken party. And he is good at acting the part. It takes the effrontery of a spoiled heir to pose unblushingly as the embodiment of compassion as you promise to despoil the productive.

When a George McGovern vows to spend some people's money on other people, it sounds like a threat. His populist origins are too plain.

But a Ted Kennedy can say the same things with an air of philanthropic magnanimity, as if it were Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, who said the shah was welcome in his country, has shown a lot more class than the U.S. State Department—whose own employees were hostage—has demonstrated.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is financing a $305,000 study to find out what 4,100 farm women think of it.

At more than $70 per telephone interview, they'll probably think the USDA is wasting money again.

Pollsters say Texas men favor John Connally for the GOP Presidential nomination, while the women like Ronald Reagan best.

Males go for the silver hair, females for the silver screen.

It cost taxpayers $670,000 for the Senate Ethics Committee to investigate Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., who ultimately was denounced as "reprehensible" for misusing a considerably smaller amount of taxpayers' money.

Note to City Hall: Folks who live near the pump station under construction at 82nd St. and Memphis Ave. have complained to you about blowing dust. Any reason why the situation can't be improved?

The Gov't has printed up a whole passel of pamphlets about credit, a subject in which it is expert.

I THOUGHT the President handled himself quite well under difficult circumstances in his televised news conference the other night.

He placed the Ayatollah Khomeini outside the realm of civilized behavior, made the point that the kidnaping and mistreatment of hostages violates the Moslem religion and made it clear that the government of Iran will be held accountable.

President Carter made no slip that could have been used as an excuse to harm the 50 Americans being held in Tehran.

It cannot be forgotten that the threat to world peace could have been avoided. The U.S., rather than withdraw its support of the shah, could have gone into Iran last January with troops to protect American lives and property and Iranian oil fields at the shah's invitation.

That would have quelled the revolution then and there.

Having booted that one badly, as he has most foreign policy matters, Carter belatedly began showing some backbone after the crisis developed.

TAKING HIS CUE from the American public, which was far out in front of him, he finally began drawing a line on the extent to which we will allow ourselves to be humiliated.

He still didn't go as far as he might have, which would have been to echo a former President in a similar situation and say, "This government wants the hostages alive or the Ayatollah Khomeini dead."

But Carter did say that "the government of Iran must recognize... the grave consequences that will result if harm comes to any of the hostages."

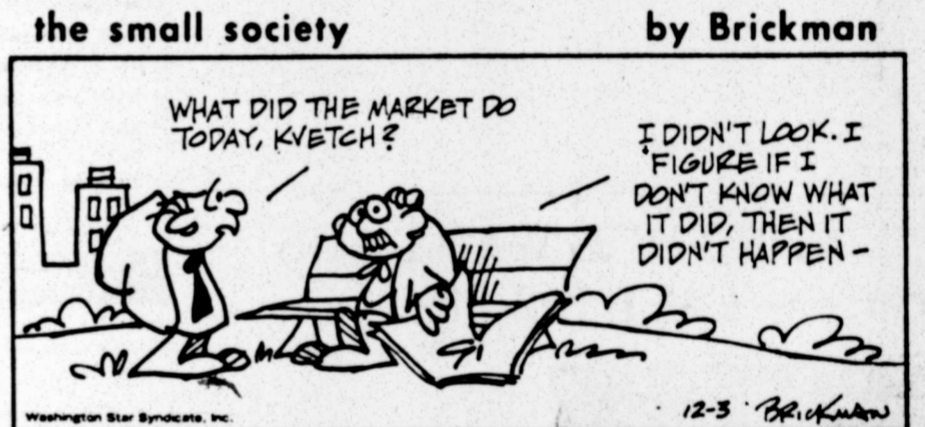

It was Jimmy Carter's finest hour.

all coming out of his own pocket. That's leadership. But it is not even redistribution that Kennedy trades in. It is the illusion of redistribution. For generations the northeastern Democratic establishment has combined appeals to idealism (as in civil rights) with the winking assurance that somebody else, somebody just a little richer than thou, was footing the bill.

Today the venerable fiction is wearing thin. The average citizen works until June 9 to pay his taxes; what he earns the rest of the year is sapped by inflation, the result of spending money which "somebody else" has not yet made.

If Camelot wins, it had better put Merlin in charge of the Treasury. Or by 1982 Jimmy Carter may look as good as Gerald Ford is beginning to look now.

Sylvia Porter: Breast Cancer Odds Are 11-to-1 In U.S.

WASHINGTON—Of every 11 American women, one of us will develop breast cancer at some time during our lives, reports the American Cancer Society.

And while this possibility is of deep concern to every woman, it can be a tremendous economic problem to the working woman, whether she contributes to the household income or supports herself.

We now make up a full 40 percent of the nation's work force. With that many of us directly involved, breast cancer can have a major impact on the nation's economy as a whole.

Are you a working woman? Have you worried about how incapacitating you might be if you were found to have breast cancer? Could you return to work? If so, how soon? How would it affect your relationship with your employer, co-workers?

UNTIL A SHORT while ago, the subject was too frightening for most women even to contemplate and the outlook given by medical authorities was not always cheerful. But now breast cancer is "out of the closet"—and the news from the medical front is encouraging.

Recently, the ACS held an extraordinary "National Breast Cancer Teach-In" in New York, attended by more than 2,000 women. What emerged was a picture of this cancer as no longer a terrifying, mysterious disease.

Instead, public education, the increasing use of self-examination and other early diagnostic tools are all leading to longer and even complete cures. Radical surgery is not the only option now open to women with early breast cancer.

Appearances can be vastly improved by reconstruction after mastectomy. Newer forms of chemotherapy can add to hope for long-term control of the disease.

AT THE TEACH-in, Dr. James F. Holland of Manhattan's Mount Sinai Hospital and Dr. Richard Cooper of Buffalo General Hospital reported on a 10-year study showing that women whose cancer had spread to lymph nodes and who had only a 50-50 chance of survival for five years now have a two out of three chance of living eight years free of the disease.

And today's multi-drug attack also has raised the odds on an average number of patients living as long as 18 years without recurrence.

Multi-drug treatment of breast cancer, following a similarly successful program in acute leukemia in children is now a major weapon against the disease. The chemotherapy usually is done as an outpatient basis. The working woman can continue her career uninterrupted.

Women who have minimal surgery could continue working with no break at all once therapy is completed, says Dr. Arthur Holleb, chief medical officer of the ACS. Even with a mastectomy, the average hospital stay is seven-eight days—and with uncomplicated recovery, most women can return to normal occupations within a few weeks.

* ALMOST ALL WOMEN can return to a normal external appearance after surgery—especially important to women who work, says Mrs. Margery Wiesenthal, ACS board member and advisor to its National Reach to Recovery program.

* Anticipate questions when returning to work. The office staff will be curious and it's wise to spend several minutes telling your co-workers precisely what happened, and then go on with questions about what has been happening to others while you have been away.

* Return to work and while pursuing your normal function, take precautions. If a woman has had a mastectomy on one side, be careful of the arm on that side. Carry your purse in the opposite hand, avoid constrictive clothing and unnecessary lifting.

"USE COMMON SENSE, really," cautions Dr. Holleb. If the lymph glands have been removed, avoid sharp instruments and take precautions in manicuring as you are more prone to a serious infection of the arm. Otherwise, return to a normal life.

* Finally, spend time on your appearance and try to look your best, all authorities urge. Some employers do find the subject of breast cancer distasteful.

Others are worried about insurance coverage (medical insurance covers the cost of surgery but not such matters as reconstruction except in a few states). But with continuing public education on breast cancer, these obsolete attitudes are changing, too, and they will one day disappear entirely.

Old Clock Tended By Priest

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — On Sundays, he's Father Julien, a Roman Catholic priest tending to his flock at the Santa Maria del Mar Church in Flagler Beach, Fla.

On Mondays he becomes Father Time. That's when Father Julien often takes his day off and drives to DeLand, 40 miles to the southwest. He parks at the Volusia County Courthouse, climbs to the third floor, up a tiny set of stairs to the roof, through another door, up two ladders, through a trap door, up two more ladders and onto a small platform.

There, he goes to work on the county's 50-year-old, two-ton clock and chime system.

Father Julien — he prefers to use no first name — became interested in the old county clock last year when he saw a newspaper story about its difficulties.

The clock is believed to have been built in 1928, he said, by E. Howard & Co. of Boston. Julien said the company wasn't in business any longer so he had to have replacement parts custom-made at a local machine shop.

There are other problems, such as the large wooden hands on each of the four large clock faces. "The hands aren't balanced," he explained. "It causes stress on the inside. Who would believe the hands of time would be holding things up?"

The old clock's brass bushings and drive rods and connectors are also worn, he says, and strikers don't strike to mark the hours. But he has been able to get the chime system started. It is designed to chime like London's Big Ben every quarter-hour.

Julien's interest in clocks comes from his father, Clarence Julien, a semi-retired watchmaker in Daytona Beach.

It's not the first venture into clock repair for the bearded, 41-year-old priest. "I did some work on the courthouse over in Okaloosa county (in the Florida Panhandle)," he said. "They put an article in the paper over there and called me 'Father Time.' But things didn't work out as well. That clock was electrical, and messed up with pigeons."

The clock in DeLand was originally driven by a heavy pendulum and weights, but was converted to electricity about 30 years ago.

Julien says it will probably take another six months to get the giant clock working properly and concedes the work is sometimes tedious. But he says it's better than replacing the old timepiece with a new-fangled device.

"When something is 50 years old you usually replace it and simply say it has served its time," he said. "But because of the nature of this piece of machinery and its sentimental value and beauty, a digital display just wouldn't do."

Some 11 million Americans now regularly jog or run, more than twice as many as five years ago, according to National Geographic.

California Report On Supplies Of Water Stirs Controversy

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — In the thirsty acres of California agriculture, water is gold.

There are few things more precious to a farmer than water and what happens to it — how much it costs, how much of it is available and how much government tries to regulate its use.

As the pioneers settled California, people shot at each other over water rights, and fortunes were made and lost over irrigation ditches and where they flowed.

George Ballis of National Land for People, which aims to break up large corporate land holdings, says that to understand California politics one must see gold in irrigation ditches.

That is why what might seem like an innocuous draft state report on underground water supplies is stirring up more than a little flurry in towns like Redding, Hanford and Bakersfield.

The report lists 16 underground basins subject to critical conditions of overdraft — losing more water than is replaced by nature — and it recommends new boundaries for 33 basins. All this might seem like interesting reading for water or geology students except for one thing: California's $10 billion agriculture industry looks on this approach as a step toward state regulation.

"There's no bones about it. They're trying to get their nose in our tent, and we intend to hit them right on the nose," said Joe Summers, a Hanford consulting engineer who represents the Tulare Lake Basin Water Storage District and several other water clients.

Mickey Allen, lobbyist for the Association of California Water Agencies, says his clients' message is simple: "State control of groundwater is unacceptable to us in any form."

"We don't want Big Daddy State coming in and saying, 'You have to cut back' without any regard to the investment" farmers have in their land, Allen said.

Currently, the state has no power over whether a farmer can drill a well. The farmer must merely inform the state he is doing so, and any water-rights disputes are typically fought out in court.

Underground water, stored in vast areas of sandy soil beneath the earth's surface, is free — in contrast to the water a farmer buys from a local, state or federal water project — and a farmer can pump a virtually unlimited amount.

Tech Teacher Says Khomeini Product Of Religion

By NANCY ALLEN
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini is not a demented lunatic, as many Americans may believe him to be, but simply a product of his religion, says a Texas Tech University comparative religions teacher.

"He's not insane," the Rev. Bill Chapman told the Avalanche-Journal. "In fact as a Shiite Moslem, he's probably mainstream."

The Shiite (pronounced she-ite) sect comprises about 15 percent of the world's over 700 million Moslems. They are a small but vocal minority, concentrated in Iran.

While most Iranians, including the former shah and his family, are Shiites, according to Chapman, most Moslems are members of the Sunni sect.

The differences between the two factions are pronounced and date back to a conflict over the successor to the Prophet Mohammed — in which the Sunnis emerged victorious — some 1,300 years ago, Chapman explained.

Since that time, the Sunni Moslems have developed the calmer character of the two sects, being adherents of a faith the Presbyterian minister described as "relatively unemotional." The Shiites, however, Chapman called "more literalistic, idealistic, apocalyptic, intense and emotional."

Pointing to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's vocal disgust at the Khomeini-endorsed takeover of the American Embassy in Tehran, Chapman said, "You've got to remember Sadat's a Sunni. They look at this thing (the hostage holding) like most American Christians reacted to Jim Jones of Jonestown (Guyana). They think he's (Khomeini) a madman."

Saying he does not believe the present crisis in Iran represents a conflict between the U.S. and all of Islam, only the Shiite sect, Chapman said the basic difference between the two sects lies in their interpretation of the Koran, Islam's holy book.

Where the Koran states that "government shall be based on consultation, the Sunnis, notably in Egypt and Turkey, developed democratic systems, explained Chapman. The Shiites, however, decided "consultation" referred only to holy men and favored a theocratic form of government.

There was one problem with that ideology in Iran, Chapman continued. In the name of modernization, the Pahlavi dynasty — the former shah's family and the nation's ruling power — began efforts aimed at eroding the influence of Islam when they assumed leadership in 1925.

In Tehran, the three successive shahs transferred the church's wealth, second only to that of the nationalized petroleum industry, to government control, Chapman said.

Meanwhile, in the holy city of Qom, the Pahlavis were becoming increasingly less popular among devout Shiites. They were spearheaded in their discontent during the 54-year Pahlavi reign by the twice-exiled Khomeini.

When the Shiites finally ousted the shah after a brief but bitterly fought revolution earlier this year, a collective religious fervor long unexpressed was given free rein.

Chapman was quick to point out, however, that the zeal so frantically demonstrated in the streets of Tehran every day is no passing trend among Iranians, students or otherwise.

"They're not going to get tired tomorrow," he said. "It's a deeply, deeply set kind of emotion." Chapman called the year's events in Iran and their roots "virtually unique" in modern history.

"There's no comparison" between the students demonstrating in Iran today and American student actions during the volatile 1960s, Chapman continued. "Islam is a much deeper experience, it's a whole different animal," he said.

Khomeini then, Shiite among Shiites, feels the students who sacked the U.S. Embassy are "totally justified" in taking American hostages to secure the return of the former shah, according to Shiite beliefs.

"To him the shah is a criminal who must be punished according to Islamic law," continued Chapman. "In Islam, Khomeini then, Shiite among Shiites, feels the students who sacked the U.S. Embassy are 'totally justified' in taking American hostages to secure the return of the former shah, according to Shiite beliefs.

"Don't ask me what we should do with the shah," said the concerned Chapman. "I don't have any idea."

Asked if the Iranians — the Shiites — would accept anything less than the Shah in settlement of the present conflict, Chapman replied gravely, "I don't know, I don't think so."

Minority Leaders Claim State Bilingual Program Inadequate

TYLER (UPI) — The state of Texas and the federal government opened a federal court hearing today with substantially the same arguments that have characterized the nine-year clash over minority education in the state.

Education for bilingual students in Texas has been monitored by a federal court order since 1971. The hearing was convened in court of U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, who issued the original order.

Speaking for the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund, Peter Roose of San Francisco opened for the plaintiffs and introduced two boxes containing 407 exhibits, mostly affidavits from expert witnesses backing the contention that bilingual education should be continued for all students whose primary language is not English throughout their public school careers.

Susan Dasher, assistant attorney general representing the state, argued that Texas' current policy of providing bilingual instruction for kindergarten through third grade pupils adequately teaches basic reading skills.

"Skills are most easily learned in a native language, hence (it is) argued that reading should always be initiated in a child's home language," Miss Dasher said in her opening arguments. "Educators often point out that reading is learned only once; the skills mastered in the first language are transferred to the business of reading in the second language."

State Senator Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, was the first witness called by the plaintiffs. He spent most of the morning session relating his background and credentials. About 15 witnesses are expected to testify in the hearing, which may last up to two weeks.

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman who jumped from the Empire State Building's 86th-floor observation deck was saved when a gust of wind pushed her onto a ledge one floor below, police say.

Police said Elvita Adams, 29, of the Bronx, suffered only minor injuries when winds of up to 23 mph pushed her tumbling body onto an 85th-floor ledge Sunday evening.

Security officer Frank Clarke said he pulled the woman through an open window after someone on the observation deck reported hearing moans below.

Marketing Costs Keep Pushing Food Prices Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers can hardly notice the difference anymore when prices farmers receive for food decline. Marketing costs, the largest being labor, keep pushing up food prices no matter what happens on the farm.

Thus, October retail food prices rose 1 percent, even though the farmers' share fell 2.2 percent. The Agriculture Department predicts food inflation next year cannot fall below 7 percent because of built-in increases in the marketing system.

The Agriculture Department predicts that farm income may fall 20 percent next year. Yet some Americans may blame farmers for higher food prices.

A new examination of labor costs in food marketing in the fall issue of the "National Food Review," an Agriculture Department magazine shows that productivity growth in food marketing has been slow since the beginning of the decade.

Farmers' productivity rose so much that it took fewer farmers to produce 7.6 billion bushels of corn in 1979 than it did to grow 5.6 billion bushels in 1972.

But output per hour of labor in industries manufacturing food increased 1 percent from 1972 to 1977. Productivity in retail food stores dropped 6 percent from 1972 to 1977.

For the first time ever, labor's share of the food dollar surpassed the farmer's in 1977. Now the farmer gets about a third of the food dollar. The other two-thirds pays for food marketing. Last year, labor costs accounted for 47 percent of food marketing costs.

Nearly 7 million workers clean, grade, pack, process, price and shelve food.

Labor costs include wages and employee benefits. Government statistics do not include all labor costs so the share is actually larger than numbers indicate.

The tabulated labor costs relate to processing, wholesale, retail and restaurant workers.

They do not include labor costs for inter-city transportation or manufacturing of such things as food containers, which are counted only as transportation and packaging costs.

In the magazine article, Agriculture Department official Harry Harp said, "Higher wages coupled with slow growth in productivity were mainly responsible for the upward trend in labor costs over the last five years."

Hourly earnings of employees in the food sector rose at an annual rate of 8.4 percent from 1973 to 1978, compared to a 7.6 percent average annual increase for all workers in the economy.

Among the biggest gainers were retail grocery workers, whose wages increased at an average annual rate of 9.2 percent as a result of cost-of-living adjustments in their union contracts.

Harp said wages of non-union workers have not grown as rapidly.

He said that 987,000 food industry workers are covered by major collective bargaining contracts. He estimated that workers belonging to smaller bargaining units would push the total to 1.5 million workers.

A majority of grocery employees belong to the United Food and Commercial Workers International Union, which was created last June with the merger of the Retail Clerks and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters unions.

Most food processing workers belong to the newly merged union or the Teamsters Union.

Previously negotiated cost-of-living increases will raise union costs this year.

Only 36 percent of union food manufacturing workers have similar clauses in their contracts.

Harp said that hourly costs of employee benefits above and beyond wages in the food industry rose from 81 cents in 1967 to $2.06 in 1977, a 154 percent increase. At the same time, hourly wages rose 93 percent.

U.S. Snubs Apology By Libyan Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Libyan government has offered "profuse apologies" for the attack Sunday on the U.S. embassy in Tripoli and has increased the guard there, but the response to a U.S. protest was inadequate, State Department officials said today.

"We will be satisfied only when we have satisfactory assurances for the security both of our embassy and our people in Libya," department spokesman David Passage said.

Fourteen embassy dependents left Libya today, some flying to Paris and others to Rome.

Libya's response came from Ali Turayki, the foreign minister, to William Eagleton, the top U.S. diplomat in Libya.

But the State Department wants Libya's leader, Col. Moammar Khadafi, to acknowledge the attack as a way of reassuring that the Libyan people understand the embassy is not to be a target of violent demonstrations.

Only one policeman was outside the embassy when some 2,000 people, carrying pro-Iranian banners and spurred on by a sound truck, assembled outside the embassy.

Some demonstrators clambered up the wall to the second floor and others set fire to the building. There were no injuries and all 14 American employees inside escaped unharmed.

Couple Accused In Murder Plan

District attorney's office officials and Texas Rangers reportedly watched the exchange of cash Saturday at the Holiday Inn, 66th Street and Avenue H, before arresting Mraovic.

Another source told The Avalanche-Journal that the man allegedly hired to kill Boldt also cooperated with investigators and was equipped with electronics equipment allowing investigators to listen to his Saturday morning conversation with Mraovic.

Chicago authorities have been notified of the charges against Ann Mraovic and the number of her Lubbock arrest warrant has been supplied to Illinois officials. But because she was not in Lubbock when the alleged act of exchanging money to have Boldt killed occurred, local officials said there is a possibility they may meet some jurisdictional problems in bringing her to Lubbock to face the capital solicitation charge.

Lillian Boldt's will went into probate in July 1978. However, in August, Boldt filed with probate court a document asking for "determination of matters incident to the estate" — including the Boldt's townhouse at 2302 Slide Road, a condominium in Chicago, land in Wisconsin and stock holdings in the Texas-based Boldt Inc. as well as Standard Oil of Indiana, Union Carbide, American Telephone & Telegraph, Utah Shale & Minerals Corp. and Exxon.

Boldt has asked the court to determine the value of the property and whether it should be included in the estate of his late wife. He contends in his request for declaratory judgment that a large portion of the property should go to him as the surviving spouse.

And he asks the court to allow him to terminate monthly payments of $3,000 to Mrs. Mraovic until the estate is settled.

In an answer to Boldt's petition, the Mraovics (represented by Lubbock attorney Claude Freeman) deny Boldt's claim to the property and had the case transferred from County Court to State District Judge William R. Shaver's 140th District Court.

Mrs. Mraovic also has accused Boldt of "wasting and misusing" estate funds and asked Shaver to remove Boldt as executor of her late daughter's will because "there exists a conflict of interest" between Boldt and the estate matters.

Shaver Thursday ordered a Feb. 15, 1980, hearing on the request for Boldt's removal as executor of his late wife's estate. That same day, authorities say, Mraovic arrived in Lubbock to complete details on the alleged "murder for hire."

Testimony Cites Life Of Tragedy

By JACK DOUGLAS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

SHALLOWATER — The life of a 26-year-old woman, whose badly decomposed body was found last month near Shallowater, was marred by one tragedy after another, according to testimony this morning at an inquest.

The hearing, which began about 10:30 a.m. today, was called by Shallowater Justice of the Peace Dardie Williamson in an attempt to determine cause of death of Doris Christy of Shallowater.

Mrs. Christy's body was found under farm machinery in a field about two-tenths of a mile east of here Nov. 15. A pistol was found under the dead woman's head.

Witnesses called this morning revealed a former husband and a male friend of Mrs. Christy's had been killed in separate shootings and that another husband died of a heart attack about two weeks before she was reported missing.

Testimony also indicated the woman had lost custody of her daughter and that her father, also of Shallowater, is dying of cancer.

First to testify was a 13-year-old Shallowater boy, who said he was jogging when he found the body.

"I looked under an old piece of farm machinery, and I saw a dead body there. I went home and told my parents," the boy said.

The woman's brother, Dale Risenhoover, said his sister had been missing about two months before the boy's discovery.

Testimony indicated the woman was last seen at her father's Shallowater residence about 4:30 p.m. Sept. 1.

"She said she was going to take a walk," Risenhoover said. He said he became concerned the next day when he found the woman's purse at the house. "She never left the house without her purse."

Risenhoover told the jury two notes were found in the purse, one to her father and the other to her 8-year-old daughter.

He quoted one of the notes as saying, "I'm sorry for everything I've ever done." He added the second note expressed the same thought.

The woman's husband, T.L. Christy, died of a heart attack about two weeks before she disappeared. They had been married about six years.

Asked about the cause of death of a former husband, Risenhoover answered, "He was shot and killed." When Assistant District Attorney Yvonne Faulks asked what happened to a male friend of the woman, the brother again answered, "He was shot and killed."

Texas Ranger Joe Hunt said that during his investigation, he was told that the woman's second husband was shot and killed while fleeing a Lubbock club. The man allegedly gunned down a woman in the club, and while he was fleeing the bartender fatally shot him, according to Hunt's testimony.

Hunt said he also was told a male friend of Mrs. Christy's was shot and killed while attempting to repossess a car in the summer of 1977.

Another acquaintance of Mrs. Christy's, Rodney Peterson of Shallowater, told jurors he also was shot during the attempt to repossess the vehicle.

When asked by Mrs. Faulks if anything was missing from the woman's purse, Peterson answered, "Yes, ma'am. My .22 pistol."

He said he had given Mrs. Christy the gun in July after she told him she had received several threatening phone calls.

Hunt said he talked with a man who reportedly had lodged several threats against Mrs. Christy in the past. The man told Hunt the last time he had seen the woman was in about May.

None of the witnesses called this morning said they knew of anyone who would have wanted to do harm to the woman.

Lubbock County Sheriff's Deputy Don Gass and Lubbock pathologist Dr. John Ray were scheduled to take the stand this afternoon.

Navy Group Ambushed; Two Slain

Angel Rodriguez Cristobal, who was found dead in his cell at a federal prison in Tallahassee, Fla., three weeks ago. Prison authorities said he apparently hanged himself.

Rodriguez Cristobal was among 21 persons arrested and tried for trespassing on Navy target beaches on the small offshore island of Vieques. Nineteen were convicted. Protests have been held on the island in an attempt to force the Navy to stop its target bombardment and amphibious exercises. The Navy maintains the island is vital for training the Atlantic fleet.

After today's attack, Navy forces in fatigue uniforms and carrying M-16 automatic rifles patrolled the road where the ambush took place as police and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation searched the area.

Three Killed In Fiery Car Wreck

DUNCANVILLE (AP) — A Grand Prairie man who had been a Duncanville police officer for two weeks, a police sergeant and a passenger in a car fleeing the scene of a Dallas burglary attempt died early today in a flaming two-car accident.

Dallas police spokesman Bob Worth identified the police officers as Roger Charles Hobden, 22, of Grand Prairie, and Sgt. Michael Olin Poe, 30, of Duncanville. The other person killed carried no identification and was not immediately identified, Worth said.

The driver of the vehicle being pursued was in serious condition at Parkland Hospital in Dallas. They said he was being treated for a broken jaw and internal injuries.

Charges were pending against the injured driver, a police spokesman said.

Police said the chase began in Dallas after officers were called to a business establishment to answer a burglary report.

The officers first chased a person, later identified as the juvenile driving the car, across a parking lot. Later, they found a car that had been reported stolen, the spokesman said.

Four items inched up only slightly in price this month, with half of the survey products remaining unchanged in cost from November.

Among the price gainers were milk, up 6 cents from $2.47 a gallon to $2.53; eggs, up 4 cents from 68 cents for a dozen of the medium size to 72 cents; stick margarine, up 4 cents from 77 cents for a one-pound package to 81 cents; and uncut fryer chicken, which rose only 2 cents up an Islamic republic. Today and Sunday, the voters completed the change from the monarchy by voting on a constitution making Iran a theocratic state with Khomeini as the nation's leader for life.

Although overwhelming approval was expected in the two-day vote, middle-of-the-road and leftist political parties boycotted the referendum because the 78-year-old Khomeini would become supreme political leader without the electoral approval of the people.

The Kurdish, Arab, Baluchi and Turkomen minorities also joined the boycott because the constitution failed to recognize their demands for autonomy. Most of the minorities are Sunni Moslems. Khomeini and most other Iranians are Shiite Moslems.

The U.N. Security Council scheduled another session on the U.S.-Iranian crisis this afternoon. During the first two sessions Saturday and Sunday, all speakers condemned the taking of the hostages and called for their release.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said he expected a resolution now being drafted to be adopted by mid-week. U.S. Ambassador Donald McHenry predicted action by the Council today or Tuesday.

The Iranians are boycotting the session, contending the meeting has been stacked in advance in favor of the United States, but they said they would send a low-ranking administrative officer to the United Nations.

Waldheim called this a "positive development," adding: "I think we should be aware of the fact that there is a difference between what is said publicly and what they tell us in talks and negotiations we have with them."

Waldheim has discussed a package deal with the Iranians for the release of the hostages in exchange for setting up an international inquiry into Khomeini's charges the shah was responsible for the murder of more than 60,000 Iranians and plundered the treasury.

McHenry said he had "seen the suggestion of some kind of commission to examine the grievances of Iran. In principle I think no one has any objection to that, but it can't be a condition for the release of the hostages."

The Security Council debate on the U.S.-Iranian crisis has produced two proposals for ending the deadlock, an international investigation of the deposed shah and a council mission to Iran to seek the release of the 50 Americans held hostage at the U.S. Embassy.

McHenry said Sunday after a council session that he was not opposed to establishment of a commission to investigate Iranian charges that the shah plundered the country's treasury and was responsible for the death of 60,000 or more political opponents.

But McHenry said the inquiry could not be a condition for the release of the Americans held since the embassy seizure Nov. 4 by Iranian militants demanding the return of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

Kennedy touched off a storm Sunday night when in a television interview here he described the shah's 37-year reign in Iran as "one of the most violent regimes in the history of mankind" and said the interests of the United States lie "with the Iranian people."

Ever since the seizure of the U.S. embassy in Tehran on Nov. 4, the Massachusetts Democrat has said repeatedly that Americans should "speak with one voice, and that voice should be that of the president."

Kennedy, although campaigning against President Carter for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination, has said he fully supports Carter's handling of the Iranian crisis.

In a television interview in Los Angeles on Sunday, Kennedy said: "I don't think it is useful or wise to consider the condition of human rights in Iran prior to this circumstance, although many of us spoke out on those issues over a long period of time."

He added that "I don't think looking to the past or anticipating the future enhances the opportunity for the safety and security of those hostages."

When asked today if he had changed his view, Kennedy said he had not, that he had only "stated something I've already stated many times in the past."

He also insisted he is still supporting the administration because "I've supported the administration position for release of the hostages."

Asked why he had suddenly so harshly criticized the shah, Kennedy replied: "I was asked about it."

Kennedy's remarks about drew a stiff response from the Carter administration in Washington.

"The statement attributed to Sen. Kennedy during a political appearance is unfortunate and not helpful," State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said. "The secretary of state regrets any such statement which shifts the focus away from concern for the hostages and may interfere with delicate negotiations."

The spokesman declined to elaborate on the negotiations.

Kennedy was denounced by Democratic National Committee Chairman John C. White, a Carter ally, who said the senator's remarks would divide the country and be welcomed by Iran's revolutionary leaders.

"What they (Iran's leaders) have been trying to do is to divide this country, and to divide the leadership ... Certainly they'll welcome support for their position," White said in a telephone interview.

In the interview with San Francisco station KRON-TV Sunday night, Kennedy said U.S. officials dealing with foreign policy "have to get their acts together."

"The shah had the reins of power and ran one of the most violent regimes in the history of mankind — in the form of terrorism and the basic and fundamental violations of human rights, in the most cruel circumstances, to his own people," he said.

With that in mind, Kennedy said, "how do we justify ... on the one hand accepting that individual because he would like to come here and stay here with his unrepented billions of dollars that he's stolen from Iran and, at the same time, say to Hispanics who are here legally that they have to wait nine years to bring their wife and their children to this country."

Dollar Dips; Gold Soars

A-J News Services

LONDON — The dollar dropped to a record low against the West German mark and gold soared more than $15 an ounce today as dealers reported foreign exchanges preoccupied by the U.S.-Iranian crisis.

In early trading in Frankfurt, the dollar brought 1.7135 marks, a full pennig below the previous low fixing price set Oct. 30, 1978.

The dollar closed in Frankfurt Friday at 1.7290 marks. That had been the lowest for the dollar since Oct. 30, 1978, just before President Carter announced special measures to support the American currency in foreign exchange trading.

In Milan, the dollar plunged to its lowest level since Oct. 3 against the Italian lira. In a continuation of Friday's downward trend, the dollar was quoted at 810.50 lire, down from 815.70 late Friday.

On the London bullion market, the price of gold was quoted at $431 an ounce, up $15.50 from $415.50 Friday. In Zurich, the metal rose $12 in early trading to $428, compared with $416 Friday.

U.S. Studying Protection For Embassy Personnel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is reassessing security problems faced by its diplomatic personnel in Islamic countries after still another attack on a U.S. embassy by demonstrators proclaiming solidarity with Iran.

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said Sunday the reassessment will focus on the situation in oil-rich Libya, where demonstrators forced the evacuation of 14 Americans from the U.S. Embassy in Tripoli and caused fire damage to the first floor.

The attack followed by six days the U.S. decision to withdraw non-essential diplomatic personnel and dependents from American missions in 11 Moslem countries.

At the time of the demonstration, only one policeman was stationed at the embassy gates. U.S. appeals to Libyan authorities for increased protection had gone unheeded, Carter said, and he denounced the Tripoli government's attitude as "inadequate and unresponsive." He said the "strongest possible protest" was lodged with Libyan officials here and in Tripoli.

Carter suggested that the demonstrators had the backing of Libyan authorities. He said Libya is not the type of country where protests take place without government consent and added that some demonstrators wore Libyan Army uniforms.

The attack followed similar pro-Iranian demonstrations by Moslem militants in the previous two days at American missions in Kuwait, the Philippines, Great Britain, Thailand and India, and the sacking of the U.S. Embassy in Pakistan 11 days earlier. The Syrian government also reaffirmed its support for Iran's revolution on Saturday.

U.S. officials fear that the displays of support for Iran might tend to stiffen the resolve of Iranian militants holding 50 Americans hostage in Tehran.

There also was private acknowledgment here that the demonstrations could undercut President Carter's statement last Wednesday that U.S. demands for release of the hostages have broad support in the Moslem world.

Nonetheless, the protesters generally have made a distinction between the Iranian revolution, which they support, and the seizure of American hostages at Tehran. The demonstration in Tripoli came after a statement by Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy the previous week that he favors release of those hostages.

U.S. officials also say they are pleased with the broad-based support for the U.S. position at the United Nations.

Spokesman Carter declined to link Sunday's events in Libya with the Iranian crisis. But the Carter administration has long been aware of the close relationship between Khadafy and Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

According to sources with ties to the U.S. intelligence community, Khadafy helped finance Khomeini's campaign against the Shah of Iran during Khomeini's Paris exile in 1978. There also have been reports that, during the same year, a number of Khomeini's top aides traveled to Tripoli for strategy sessions with Libyan authorities.

Intelligence reports received here also hold Khadafy responsible for the 1978 disappearance of Mousa Sadr, an Iranian Moslem Shiite leader and a rival of Khomeini's. One informant said Mousa Sadr, who had been living in exile in Lebanon, was executed.

Mousa Sadr's fate has never been disclosed although it is generally acknowledged that Khomeini's anti-shah movement began to gain momentum after Mousa Sadr's disappearance.

John Tower Says Shah 'Welcome In Texas'

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Sen. John Tower says the Shah of Iran is a longtime ally who deserves the care he is getting at a San Antonio Air Force base.

Gov. Bill Clements says the Shah was sent here because "Texans are well-known for our defense of patriotism."

But a local city councilman, fearing demonstrations, says some local residents are asking, "Why us?"

The deposed monarch arrived at the massive Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital early Sunday after a plane trip from New York. The Shah is here to recuperate from gall bladder surgery at a New York hospital.

Tower called the Shah "an old ally of our country, praised by the last seven presidents."

"He is welcome in Texas," the senator said in Dallas.

A mob of Iranian students, demanding the return of the Shah, is holding 49 hostages at the United States embassy in Tehran.

"The safe release of the hostages is not negotiable," the Republican senator said.

Clements said state officials were not given advance notice of the Shah's transfer.

"I do not anticipate any problems caused by the Shah's presence here for medical attention in the base hospital. We support the president in his position in this regard and I am sure the president must have had in mind that we in Texas are well-known for our defense of patri-tism and that we will not be coerced by Mr. Khomeini or anyone else," Clements said late Sunday.

The governor said he expects Texans to accept the Shah "in a spirit of hospitality and also peace and tranquility."

"Out-of-state agitators will not be tolerated, and I have already so directed the Department of Public Safety," he said in a release issued in Austin late Sunday.

Despite the optimism of the governor and senator, City Councilman Bernardo Eureste says the Shah's presence may cause problems for the city.

"We are possibly going to have some rough days ahead," Eureste said. "I think the city should have been consulted. Some people will say, 'Why San Antonio? Why us?' I don't know that we need the Shah in San Antonio."

San Antonio Mayor Lila Cockrell would not say the Shah is "welcome" here, but she said the city supports "our president and our country in its time of crisis."

U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, was among the Shah's first visitors Sunday. The congressman welcomed the Shah in a 15-minute visit.

"He conveyed a very heartfelt sense of gratitude to the American people," Gonzalez said. "I'm supportive of the decision to move him here. This is ideal."

The congressman said the Shah "looked fine," but "there's no question that he needs this follow-up medical treatment."

Citizens Increasing Harassment Of Muslim Student Association

PLAINFIELD, Ind. (AP) — The sign greeting travelers along the rural road in central Indiana reads, "The Islamic Center: the Muslim Student Association of the U.S. and Canada."

And emblazoned across that, in dripping spray-painted letters, an obscene, two-word indictment of Iran — a terse reminder of an international crisis half a world away.

"We have had our sign vandalized twice — actually, this is the third time," sighs Mahmoud Rashdan of Jordan and secretary-general of the association. "But each time our sign is vandalized, we just put up a better one."

For the last three years, the 5,000-member non-profit religious group funded by memberships has used this 123-acre Hendricks County farm as its headquarters and information clearinghouse for some of the 1.5 million followers of Islam in the United States and Canada.

Growing tension over the hostage situation in Iran has touched many of MSA's 275 affiliated chapters and their 25,000 members around the country although only 10 percent of the members are Iranian. Despite the center's location in the heart of the Midwest, where patriotic fervor runs high, the harassment has yet to go beyond its sign and telephone lines.

"We have received telephone calls, harassing and threats. One of them said, 'We are Christians here, and you'd better leave. This is no place for Muslims.' Another one, 'Your days are numbered,'" Rashdan said.

Most of the 7,000 residents here don't know who the Muslims are or what they believe. But they know the association applied for approval more than two years ago to build a mosque, library and retreat on their land.

Those efforts sparked a bitter battle, waged by a group called the Concerned Citizens of Hendricks County, to block approval for the construction in zoning board hearings and finally in court.

"They are acting from ignorance," Rashdan said. "They say they are not interested in what we are doing. But they should be interested so they can decide whether their position is logical and rational. If this were a Catholic Church, if this were a Catholic group doing the same, would they have taken the same position? I doubt it."

Jean Milharic, a resident of a nearby subdivision and founder of the 900-member citizens group, insists the issue is strictly one of zoning, not religion.

"The people up there are not Iranian, although they share the same religion. So we don't have a crisis as such out here. We're divorcing that from this issue. We're just not care to have a business in a residential area," she said, referring to the association's plans to expand its Islamic books and supplies service.

"I would fight my own church if it were trying to set up a business in this area," added Mrs. Milharic, a Catholic and mother of two.

So far, the Muslims have won, and they now are waiting for the zoning board to decide whether to rehear the case and hoping the board will not be influenced by the Iranian crisis.

"It depends how much they can withstand public pressure. I hope they are people of character and of discipline and principles and that they will be able to decide the case on its own merits as they have done in the past," Rashdan said. "We are all human beings. We are likely to be affected by what's happening around us."

Americans Purchasing More Bomb Shelters

DALLAS (AP) — People are buying more bomb shelters since the crisis in Iran than in the past 25 years, says Jerry Poarch, president of the only shelter company in the city telephone directory.

Poarch said he has a backlog of 15 orders, with business better since the mid-1950s when the Cold War sparked nervous talk about a nuclear conflict.

He said most of his customers don't call them "bomb shelters."

"Some people say they want one for a wine cellar. Others say they want it for storage or to use as an extra room," Poarch said. "We sold one to a man who wanted it for his poker games."

Poarch says his father designed the underground shelter 25 years ago. It sold for $1,995 then, but costs $3,495 today.

"The hole itself is 12 feet deep, according to the landscape," Poarch said. "You've got approximately two feet of concrete in the top and two more feet of dirt on top of that."

The one-room shelter itself is a 10-by-12-foot oval.

"You have 500 percent more protection than you would have in your home, and it will withstand a 20-megaton bomb within a quarter mile without cracking," Poarch said.

He says his customers don't want their names banded about.

"Our clientele stays secret. We keep files, but we don't let them out. They always say, 'We don't want anyone to know about this,'" he said.

He admitted the small shelter would get uncomfortable during an actual nuclear attack.

"Fourteen days is the normal staying period after a nuclear bomb," Poarch said. He said it would take two weeks for the radiation to subside to safe levels.

Meanwhile, any survivors inside the cramped quarters will have to drink canned water, eat dried foods, use a chemical toilet and go without bathing. The shelters have no plumbing.

Cornfield Vows To Revive IOS

By PHILIP GREER
And MYRON KANDEL
Bernie Cornfield wants to get back in to the game.

Flushed with his exoneration last month on charges that he swindled his former employees, the one-time mutual fund king is laying plans to resurrect Investors Overseas Services, now a sorry shell of the complex that once managed nearly $3 billion.

"Why shouldn't I" is the way Cornfield sums up his reason. "The company still has assets and nobody is doing anything with them. The only people making money are the liquidators — and they're making plenty."

Cornfield has talked before about reviving IOS, but nothing has ever happened. There's no guarantee of success this time either — in fact, with government agencies in the U.S., Canada and around the world more than likely to line up against him, the chances look very slim. But his legal victory has given his pitch more steam.

IOS and its subsidiaries, which Cornfield lost to Robert Vesco in 1971, have been in court-ordered liquidation since 1973. Millions of dollars have been spent so far by attorneys and accountants in Canada and the Bahamas — including their own fees — trying to gather in the money, securities and real estate they once owned (much of it channeled to Vesco through a vast maze of dummy corporations). Some of the money has been distributed to shareholders of the former IOS funds, but millions are still on ice.

"If I can get 10 million shares put into a voting trust — and I think I'll have them within the next couple of weeks — and get a respected institution to be up front, I plan to file suit in New Brunswick (Canada) to get the company out of liquidation," he told us over lunch the other day.

"Vesco has about 17 million shares, but they were probably bought with the company's own money, so we'll try to have them canceled. If they are, then our 10 million will be about 30 percent of the stock and we can make a strong case in court."

Although 52-year-old super-salesman Cornfield exudes his usual confidence, he's probably shooting at an empty barrel. The liquidators of IOS have found some money, but not nearly enough to bring the company back to life. Shareholders aren't likely to get anything at all and creditors are going to have to wait in line for even a small part of what they're owed.

The assets Cornfield talks of — a 50 percent interest in a contract to manage a European mutual fund with the prestigious House of Rothschild, the Australian Fund of Funds, real estate management contracts in Spain and Florida, and others — aren't exactly an undiscovered hoard of treasure. The liquidators know all about them. Even after figuring them in, as one knowledgeable source puts it,

"IOS is so far under water that there isn't any way to bring it back."

But suppose he does resurrect the company? How does the bearded and stocky erstwhile czar, who is in the midst of divorce proceedings, plan to bring back his glory days of the 1960s?

"When I was on trial in Geneva," he said, "about 150 old IOS salesmen came to see me. They're all selling something else now, but they said that if I got something going, they'd be back with me again."

Some old IOS insiders don't doubt that. "The salesmen loved Bernie," one said. "If he blows the whistle, I'm sure a lot of them will come running."

"The company could go back into business with a different emphasis," Cornfield said. "Real estate condominium sales, different kinds of mutual funds like currency funds that are very popular in Europe now. They've made a lot of money. Then there's Overseas Development Bank in Geneva. It's been sold a dozen times — no money ever changed hands except once, when it was bought by the company that makes Bally shoes, and that money went to Vesco. I'd try to get that back for IOS."

There's one other reason Cornfield wants to bring IOS back from the dead. Since resigning in 1970, he's been hit with a number of suits and settled them partly by repaying some stockholders in the IOS mutual funds. He's also been in jail for 11 months and, for the last five years, has had a battery of lawyers working on his criminal case.

He says his contract with IOS included a clause to cover his legal expenses, but he hasn't seen any money — and isn't likely to. He's met with the liquidators, but they've told him to get on line with the other creditors. The tab, he says, is $5 million.

Understandably, Cornfield doesn't have much love for the liquidators.

"They're doing the same thing Vesco did," he says bitterly. "But they're doing it legally."

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Although it's very uncharacteristic of you, you may have trouble seeing the other person's point of view tomorrow. An open mind is a must in negotiations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be wary of tendencies tomorrow to worry about how hard something you want to accomplish is going to be. Negative thoughts halt your progress.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Before volunteering to manage something for another tomorrow, be certain you know what you're getting into. Things could be more complicated than they appear on the surface.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Have faith in your own ideas tomorrow regarding something you'd like to see changed. If you worry too much about what others may think, it won't get done.

Crime Line Focusing On Burglary, Robberies

Crime Line now has helped Lubbock law enforcement officers to clear more than 100 felonies in the eight months of its existence, says Mayor Dirk West, who this week accepted a check for more than $6,000 from the Lubbock Home Builders Association for the Crime Line Reward Fund.

The city's crime solution program, touted as one of the most successful in the nation, operates entirely on private donations. Persons wishing to contribute to the Crime Line Reward Fund, should mail their checks, which are tax-deductible, to Box 2000, Lubbock.

Persons with information concerning any felony crime are urged to call Crime Line. Any person with information that leads to the arrest and indictment of a felon may be eligible for a reward of at least $300. All callers remain completely anonymous.

This week, Crime Line is spotlighting two aggravated robberies and a burglary that Lubbock police are especially anxious to clear up, and has set reward on the location of two more fugitives.

Crime Line is offering $300 for any information on an aggravated robbery that occurred about 7:30 p.m. Nov. 22 at Guadalupe Park, in the 100 block of Ave. P. Lubbock police said two men told them they saw a car parked in a ditch next to the park, and they went to the car to offer assistance.

About this time, another car, described as a 1973 or 1974 Oldsmobile two-door with a brown top and yellow bottom, pulled up, and two men, described as being Mexican males 5-foot-8 and 5-foot-3, both in their early 20s, helped them pull the car from the ditch.

Once they got the car out of the ditch, the victims said the car drove off, and the two Mexican males pulled guns and robbed them of their billfolds. One of the robbers shot one of the victims in the right leg, they said.

The other aggravated robbery occurred at 12:11 a.m. Nov. 26 at Che Che's Lounge at 1819 E. Broadway, where the victim told police he was robbed by three Mexican males in the bathroom of the club.

The victim, who said he was cut above his nose, above his right eye and under his chin in the incident, said all three of his attackers were between 21 and 23 years of age, and described them as follows: one was tall and skinny, wearing a gray shirt; another was short and stocky and wearing blue jeans; and the third also was stocky. The victim said the men jumped and cut him in the restroom, robbed him of $70, and vanished into the club.

A $300 reward has been posted for the burglary of a house at 6609 Norwood that happened around Nov. 25. Police said someone pried open the rear east door of the house, ransacked it and took about $3,000 worth of property.

Taken were: a Magnavox 9" portable color TV set, engraved with Texas driver's license number 4506870; a JVC five-inch black and white TV, gray in color, and also engraved with TDL No. 4506870; a Panasonic AM/FM cassette player-recorder; a black multi-band radio; several watches and some jewelry; and $2000 in cash with bills marked "700" in red ink.

Crime Line also is offering $300 rewards for information leading to the discovery of the whereabouts of two fugitives wanted by local lawmen. The first is David Raymond Davila, a Mexican male, 17 years old, who has been charged with aggravated assault. He is described as 5-foot-8, weighing 130 pounds, with brown hair and brown eyes.

Also sought is Jessie Guzman, 32, who has been charged with theft over $200, and issuance of bad checks. He is described as a Mexican male, 5-foot-2, weighing 180 pounds, with a tattoo of a woman on his right arm.

Information leading to the solution of any of these crimes can get the caller a reward of $300. Crime Line will present rewards to persons leading police to the solution of any felony crime, even if those crimes have not been listed in this column.

Jewish Official Discusses Crisis

By JOHNNY HOLMES
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The Iranian crisis has become "a terribly historic event" and is unique because it has become a matter of "personalized foreign policy," said a B'nai B'rith Middle Eastern Affairs authority here Sunday.

"I haven't seen the American people this stirred up since Pearl Harbor," said Kenneth Jacobsen, director of the Middle Eastern Affairs Department of the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith, who was in Lubbock to attend a reception and present a special program to a local ADL assembly. "And it's interesting that the crisis is occurring so close to the presidential campaign because it'll force the candidates to speak out on America's place in the world."

As the department director, Jacobsen evaluates Middle East issues and helps form ADL policies concerning them. His visit to Lubbock is one of several cross country swings to visit the 27 ADL offices and speak to interested groups. "It really doesn't matter if people are Jewish or Christian or whatever," he said. "I try to have a meaningful dialogue on the issues of the area and talk with them about our common interest, problems and questions. We all need to be concerned about the Middle East."

The key to the Iranian situation is the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, who Jacobsen feels is keeping the majority of the Moslem Iranians whipped into a pop rally-type frenzy. "The Ayatollah is so anti-American because he perceives the United States, the symbol of progress in the modern world, as the greatest threat to his rather primitive way of life," he said.

"Khomeini isn't even looking at Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's reputed ruthlessness when he calls the shah a criminal," said Jacobsen. "Khomeini hates the shah because the shah tried to bring Iran into the 20th century. He tried to liberate the women, enrich the economy and send the kids to secular schools. Khomeini has reversed all that."

Jacobsen said he felt President Carter has handled the crisis "responsibly," and noted that Carter's two main goals in resolving the tense situation are "to gain safe release of the hostages but also to create a climate where such a thing cannot recur.

"The way to keep our friends friendly is to act like a leader," he said, opining that the Iranian matter is an example of the perception among some nations of the world that America's standing as the world leader is declining.

"This just points out two things that could greatly affect us later," he said. "One is that we have energy problems that have nothing to do with the Arab-Israeli situation. As the strongest nation in the world, we are forced to depend on such weak and instable regimes for so much of our energy. And two is that, even though Saudi Arabia complains about our power, they really want us to be a strong leader."

Back in the U.S. less than a month from his most recent visit to the Middle East, Jacobsen said that the main problem the people of the United States have in dealing with the volatile situation there is that, "lots of times, people just don't know the facts. Plus, it's a complicated situation, when you get into the Palestinian state and other such matters."

Jacobsen doesn't see the creation of a Palestinian state in the near future, and points once again to the siege of the American embassy in Tehran as an example of what could happen. "If you give these kind of people a break, in the form of a state or a country, they won't get more moderate as some people seem to think. They'll just get crazier."

"It's hard to imagine a Palestinian state that isn't a PLO (Palestine Liberation Organization) state, and once they got it, they would automatically attack Israel, because the destruction of Israel is what they're all about," he said. "You'll notice none of the Arab states are calling for a PLO state because of the potential threats to them. What they (the Arab leaders) want is to pacify each other by talking about it and maintaining the status quo."

The PLO's greatest asset, in terms of winning the favor of the western world, is its leader, Yassar Arafat, whom Jacobsen said may be the most moderate and cool-headed member of the terrorist organization.

"The PLO is just an umbrella for several terrorist organizations, and it'll never give up its goal of destroying Israel," he said. "But Arafat believes in a more tactical approach. He even offered to help the U.S. in Tehran, but got attacked from inside the PLO. Now, you'll notice, the PLO is coming out in favor of Khomeini."

"Arafat is more able to win public opinion than the other leaders of the organization, but he faces much pressure from within. He very likely would be killed if he recognized Israel."

As for now, though, the spotlight in the Middle East remains focused on Iran, and Jacobsen doesn't foresee a swift, silent ending to the chapter. "I have no idea how long the hostage situation can continue," he said. "But it won't end there. As long as Khomeini feels the U.S. is such a threat to him, he won't back off. That could mean a long term struggle that he would just love to lead."

NEW YORK (AP) — The volume of help-wanted advertising in U.S. newspapers gained sharply in October even though numerous other indicators were giving evidence of an economic downturn, according to the Conference Board.

TEXAS TALL — The old saying is that Texans try to do everything bigger and better than the competition. Christmas is no exception, as seen in the traditional "big tree" at the Civic Center's Santa Land display. ## Club Notables

By CONNIE CHAPMAN
Family News Staff

Many of this week's club notices highlight festive Christmas happenings. Everything from coffees and brunches to full-scale holiday banquets are scheduled by groups meeting this week. Some will include a gift exchange in their December program and many will also include collecting gifts for others who might not have such a merry Christmas, like the people at the Lubbock State School or in nursing homes.

Edna Magee, reporter for the Lubbock Shakespeare Club, says that Tuesday's meeting of that organization will honor past presidents and officers. Those to be recognized for their years of commitment to the Shakespeare Club are Grace Conzelman, Cora Lee Floyd, Marguerite Harden, Lillie Henderson, Marie Lockhart, Ruth Lowrey, Gladys Sims, Mary Winder, Ouida Yeats and Mary Cobb.

The club which was organized in 1931 is now in the process of reorganizing and anyone interested in becoming a member may attend the Tuesday noon luncheon at the Lubbock Women's Club. For additional information, call 744-0234 or 744-9807.

We pass on a reminder about the dinner and Christmas for show which the Soroptimists are having today at 7 p.m. at the KoKo Palace. Jean Gragg, a Golden Guild furrer from Wichita, Kan., will narrate the show.

JEAN GRAGG

At their meeting Tuesday, Lubbock Woman's Study Club will honor their district president, Mrs. E.H. Baedeker.

Another "notable event" is the Christmas coffee planned by the Texas Tech University Women's Club for Wednesday morning. Not only is this a good time for women faculty and wives of faculty to get together to enjoy the spirit of the holidays, but the club also is honoring community friends and neighbors as special guests.

A notice from the Women's Council of Realtors reminds us that a new year is also about to start. That group will install officers for 1980 at their dinner and dance Wednesday at the Hillcrest Country Club. The installation banquet com-

Plumbing Repaired By Home Consumers

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Many an average American consumer is taking wrench in hand these days to repair home plumbing.

A study by a Cleveland business information and market research firm indicates do-it-yourself plumbers will represent a $3 billion retail market by 1990.

By then, do-it-yourselfers are expected to account for one-fourth of the more than $6 billion in manufacturers' sales of fixtures and fittings — an 18 percent increase from the last year's total.

The study by Predicats, Inc. says two factors are responsible for the scarcity of professional plumbers and their rising labor charges.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF
© 1979 by Chicago Tribune

Q.1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQJ8 ♥AJ ♠952 ♦AQ1093
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 2 ♦ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—The key to all accurate auctions is to establish a fit as soon as possible. Despite the fact that you have a good five-card suit of your own and a solid opening bid, the most important feature of your hand is the excellent support for the suit in which partner has made a jump shift. Any bid other than a raise to three spades would be a bridge crime.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AKJ952 ♥A73 ♠K6 ♦6
What is your opening bid?
A.—By a process of elimination, it is easy to arrive at the right decision. An opening bid of four spades is preemptive, and your hand is far too strong for that. However, a demand bid of two spades promises much more in high cards and playing tricks than you can deliver. Therefore, your only acceptable opening bid is one spade.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A93 ♥952 ♠83 ♦AK762
Partner opens the bidding with one no trump. What do you respond?
A.—Had your five-card suit been a major, it would be correct to jump to three in your suit to give partner a choice of contracts. However, it is inappropriate to jump in a minor unless you envision a slam, or have such an unbalanced distribution that game in no trump would be in jeopardy. Neither condition exists here, so a raise to three no trump is the only sensible choice.

Q.4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q62 ♥743 ♠AQ5 ♦8752
Partner opens the bidding with one no trump. What action do you take?
A.—When you hold 8 balanced points and partner opens one no trump, you would normally invite game by bidding two no trump—after all, partner might have 18 points for his opening. Here, however, your perfectly flat hand is a liability. In addition, you have no intermediate cards to give your hand "body." Since game prospects are quite remote, even opposite a maximum, we would not extend the invitation. Pass.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J5 ♥J105 ♠QJ92 ♦QJ95
Partner opens the bidding with one no trump. What action do you take?
A.—Once again you have 8 points, and again there is a drawback to the hand—a total lack of aces and kings. Nevertheless, this is a much better hand than the previous example. Those tens and nines in combination with your honors improve the holding considerably. In addition, you have two useful four-card suits. Bid two no trump.

Q.6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ93 ♥J10952 ♠874 ♦J
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass Pass 1 ♦
1 ♦ Pass 2 ♦ 3 ♦
Dble. Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Although we are loathe to remove partner's low-level penalty doubles, all such actions are, to a certain extent, cooperative. Here's a case where we would definitely pull to three spades because all of our defensive strength is in spades, and West is almost certainly short in that suit. In addition, North could not open the bidding, so it's unlikely that he can beat the contract in his own hand.

Q.7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A4 ♥KJ10 ♠AQ854 ♦K63
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♦ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 ♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—There is a popular fallacy that any jump to game is a shoutout. That is not the case. Here, you have the equivalent of a no trump opening bid, but a jump to two no trump does not show a hand of that strength. You can describe your hand accurately by jumping to three no trump. This does not bar partner from further action. Indeed, it should encourage him to go on if he, too, has extra values.

Q.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K8 ♥AQ6 ♠KJ9832 ♦K9
What is your opening bid?
A.—You could open one diamond, but think of the rebid problem you would face over any response by partner. There is simply no bid you can make at your second turn that is neither an underbid nor an overbid. To avoid that problem, we recommend that you open one no trump despite the fact that you have a six-card suit. After all, if one of your low diamonds had been a black card, this simply wouldn't have been a problem.

Dear Abby,

DEAR ABBY: I'm over 80, and have a difficult decision to make. About 55 years ago, my youngest brother (then 23) married a pretty girl who said she was expecting his child. At the time there was talk in town that she was romantically involved with a married man — her employer.

Unfortunately, her child turned out to be the living image of her employer! When the boy was four, his parents divorced, and the mother and son left town. To the day of my brother's death (three years ago), he never mentioned her or his "son." My brother never married again.

Last year, a handsome, well-mannered man knocked on our door and introduced himself as my brother's son. He said his mother had died recently, and he wanted to visit the town of his birth and meet his "father's" family. He was full of questions about his "father," saying his mother refused to talk about him. He asked me why his parents had divorced. (His biological father also is dead).

My question: Should he be told? He has a lovely family and lives 900 miles away. We have several cousins who know the story, but they say they'll never tell.

If he should be told, I think I should be the one to tell him before I pass on. He'll probably not visit this way after I'm gone. What would you do, Abby?

INDIANA

DEAR INDIANA: I would leave well enough alone, and say nothing. I'll probably hear an uproar from many who believe it's everyone's "right" to know their real roots, but I would not exhume this 55-year-old skeleton.

DEAR ABBY: Although I haven't spent much time in school, I have worked hard to improve my English. In recent years one of my best guidelines has been the Dear Abby column. Therefore, I hope you will not be offended if I ask you to quit using the word "Asiatic" when referring to the continent of Asia, or its people. People of Asian descent consider it not only incorrect, but insulting. It means "more than a little insane, or some kind of nut."

Those who have served in the U.S.

Navy or Marine Corps will confirm this. Please use "Asian" instead.

JOE E. IN ORLANDO

DEAR JOE: Thanks. I learned something today. Although my dictionary states that "Asian" is preferred to "Asiatic," it gives no hint that the latter is insulting. The put-down was inadvertently Occidental.

DEAR ABBY: Phil is 28 and I'm 22. We met at church choir about a year ago and have been going together ever since. He's asked me to marry him, but there is something about him that bothers me. Please don't laugh; it's the way he cheats out when it comes to money.

He refuses to give a dime to any charity. (He calls them all "rip-offs.") He won't leave a tip unless the service was exceptional — which rarely happens. (I leave tips out of embarrassment.)

Once when he took me out for dinner

I said I wasn't very hungry, so he ordered a big meal for himself and told the waiter I didn't want anything. He ate in front of me and didn't even offer me a cup of coffee! I felt so hurt I nearly cried.

He's always asking me to take my car and never offers to put in any gas. (I always pay for the parking, too.)

We both work, and he doesn't have anybody to support but himself, so I can't understand why he's so tight.

I know it's the thought that counts, but every gift he's given me has been so cheap that I'm almost ashamed to show it to anybody.

Other than his tightness with money, we have a good relationship.

How important is a person's attitude about money?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Very. Don't treat it lightly. A person who is stingy, uncharitable and generally tight with his money is usually inconsiderate, ungracious and uncharitable in other areas. You are wise to wonder.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

Someone asked me the other day if I had my life to live over would I change anything.

My answer was no, but then I thought about it and changed my mind.

If I had my life to live over again I would have waxed less and listened more.

Instead of wishing away nine months of pregnancy and complaining about the shadow over my feet, I'd have cherished every minute of it and realized that the wonderment growing inside me was to be my only chance in life to assist God in a miracle.

I would never have insisted the car windows be rolled up on a summer day because my hair had just been teased and sprayed.

I would have invited friends over to dinner even if the carpet was stained and the sofa faded.

I would have eaten popcorn in the "good" living room and worried less about the dirt when you lit the fireplace.

I would have taken the time to listen to my grandfather ramble about his youth.

I would have burnt the pink candle sculptured like a rose before it melted while being stored.

I would have sat cross-legged on the lawn with my children and never worried about grass stains.

I would have cried and laughed less while watching television...and more while watching real life.

I would have shared more of the responsibility carried by my husband which I took for granted.

I would have eaten less cottage cheese and more ice cream.

I would have gone to bed when I was sick instead of pretending the earth would go into a holding pattern if I weren't there for a day.

I would never have bought ANYTHING just because it was practical wouldn't show soil guaranteed to last a lifetime.

When my child kissed me impetuously, I would never have said, "Later. Now, go get washed for dinner."

There would have been more I love yous...more I'm sorrys...more I'm listennings...but mostly, given another shot at life, I would seize every minute of it...live it...exhaust it...and never give that minute back until there was nothing left of it...

Better than mistletoe: Your perfect figure.

Pat Walker's can make your holidays the happiest ever!

Wouldn't it be wonderful to whirl through the holiday season looking and feeling great, no longer burdened by excess weight? You can, you know. Joyce O'Bar offers beautiful proof that the Pat Walker program is as effective as it is pleasant.

The lovely Mrs. O'Bar radiates enthusiasm for the Pat Walker program—and with good reason. Without Pat Walker's, she says, she never could have achieved her present measurements. She relates her experience:

Through the years I have tried almost every diet plan available, only to gain what I lost. Today, after being a patron of the Pat Walker Salon for two years and maintaining my [new] weight, my friends and family know what the program has done for me.

Personally, it is figure perfection! I have lost 32 pounds and 53 inches. I wear size 7-8 clothes; before Pat Walker's program, I wore size 14. Today I'm 36-24-36 and will continue my treatments for firming and toning.

Pat Walker salons offer complete privacy in elegant surroundings. [Other features include] passive exercise, no disrobing and an individualized program for each patron. This is the only way I could have accomplished losing the pounds and inches where I wanted and maintaining my weight. No matter what your size or age, if you care for your appearance this program can work for you. I cared... I'm a believer!

Rifle Used By Sniper Auctioned

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A rifle used by a sniper who shot at least 30 persons watching a parade last spring, including two women who were killed, was sold at a public auction Sunday.

"This gun might actually become part of history," said the buyer, H.R. Ferguson. "I think that any weapon that's associated with something infamous is going to increase in value. I wouldn't have bought it if I didn't think there was someone else who would buy it again."

The AR-15, semi-automatic, 233-caliber rifle went for $485 and included two blood-stained magazines to hold the ammunition. A Bible the killer apparently read went for $15.

The goods were the personal belongings of Ira Attebery, who opened fire on the crowds at a Fiesta parade April 27.

"Many people wanted to know if they could buy something with a bullet hole in it," said Trudy Gross, wife of attorney Steven Gross who handled the auction for the estate of the psychologically troubled Attebery, 64.

About 60 persons huddled under cold, overcast skies to bid on Attebery's gun collection, his shot-up motor home, his clothes and other possessions.

They included such things as 20 rolls of toilet paper and 12 electric razors. The King James Bible had a scrap of paper tucked in it that read "St. Luke 6:27. Feb. 19, 1978." That verse reads: "But I say unto you which hear, love your enemies, do good to them which hate you."

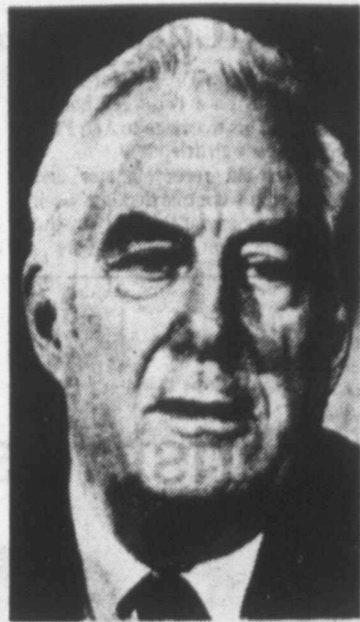

The Bible was sold with a can opener and other assorted household goods on a table. Attebery's household belongings brought between $200 and $300, Gross said.

But the biggest price was paid for Attebery's 1972 green and white Ute-Liner motor home, damaged by bullet holes that broke all the windows. It was sold for $3,000 to C.W. Keaton of Harlingen.

A 1975 Dodge went for $1,350. Gross said the money will be used to pay any claims against the estate of Attebery, who shot himself to death after spraying the parade with bullets and engaging in a gunbattle with police. Six officers were wounded.

Attebery also left almost $90,000 in several savings accounts, which were to go to various relatives upon his death. Now the money is tied up in litigation because of lawsuits filed against the estate by about 50 plaintiffs.

"We got more than I expected," Gross said after the auction.

Book Analyzes Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The inner workings of the Supreme Court, blemishes and all, are detailed as never before in a new book by two veterans of Watergate reporting.

"The Brethren," to be published in January, this week is being serialized by newspapers across the country and is the subject of a lengthy Newsweek magazine article.

The book by Bob Woodward and Scott Armstrong reconstructs many of the high court's secret deliberations of major cases between 1969 and 1976.

Woodward, who with Carl Bernstein won a Pulitzer Prize and international fame for reporting on the Watergate scandal for The Washington Post, now is an editor with the newspaper. He previously has authored two Watergate books, "All The President's Men" and "The Final Days."

Armstrong, a Post reporter, helped research "The Final Days."

The new book adopts the same reporting style as the two Watergate works, not offering direct attribution but instead relying on numerous confidential sources to reconstruct verbatim conversations.

In detailed accounts of how the court's finished products came about, the book suggests how important a role antagonisms and politicking often play in decision-making.

What remains to be seen is what impact the book will have on the justices' future relationships with each other and their law clerks. Because of the court's institutional secrecy, that impact may be difficult to assess.

The court's voting patterns in recent years have signaled deteriorating relationships among its nine members. The new book's revelations could exacerbate those tensions.

Some examples: — Retired Justice William O. Douglas grew so angered at what he considered phony voting, which allegedly enabled the chief justice to control who wrote majority opinions, that he once threatened to voice his suspicions in a published dissenting opinion.

Douglas' anger apparently was sparked by Burger's reported penchant for hesitating before stating his position in pending cases, even though the chief justice traditionally is the first member to comment on any given case.

Such maneuvers, the book says, once spurred Justice Byron R. White to yell, "Jesus Christ, here we go again." And Justice Potter Stewart marked another such occasion by doodling a Burger gravestone with a suggested epitaph: "I'll pass for the moment."

In such key decisions as the 1974 Watergate tapes case that forced Richard Nixon to resign from the presidency and a 1971 approval of busing as a remedy for school segregation, Burger assigned himself to write a unanimous opinion only to have the task wrestled away by a coalition of other court members.

Not all the book's anecdotes are new to court-watchers, but the sheer number of them — new and old — is unprecedented.

In an interview today, Woodward described "The Brethren" as "really a 'how-to' book" that tells readers how the court reaches its verdicts.

"It's a political process ... not simply a lawyer's work analyzing cases and the Constitution," he said on CBS-TV's "Monday Morning" program. In many cases, he said, the opinions released by the court "are covers for what the real motives are."

Abortion Foes May Boycott Caucuses

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa's anti-abortion forces are seriously considering boycotting the Democratic precinct caucuses next month, a leader says.

Carolyn Thompson of Des Moines, chairman of the Pro-Life Action Council, said Sunday the major Democratic presidential candidates "just aren't good enough."

On the other hand, the council may decide to flood the Democratic meetings and vote "uncommitted" as a way of showing strength and as a protest against the candidates, she said.

Of the three main candidates — President Carter, California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy — none supports the constitutional amendment to prohibit abortions, which is the litmus test for anti-abortion backing.

While some in the group want to stage their protest, Mrs. Thompson said, many others would prefer to ignore the party and "let them fight it out and then go down the tubes (against the Republican nominee)."

The decision on how to play the Jan. 21 caucuses, she said, is up to the council.

single group in Democratic caucus politics, assuming they decide to attend.

"We're everywhere, not just in the cities or not just in the rural areas," she said.

In an interview Sunday, Mrs. Thompson also said those in her group who are Republicans will be urged to attend their neighborhood caucuses and vote for a candidate to be endorsed by the council in January. She said the choice on the GOP side has been narrowed to three — Ronald Reagan, Philip Crane and Robert Dole — "in that order."

Although she declined to give numbers, Mrs. Thompson said that the anti-abortion forces could be the most potent single group in Democratic caucus politics, assuming they decide to attend.

"We're everywhere, not just in the cities or not just in the rural areas," she said.

Officials Find Decapitated Bodies In Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — Fireman James Rogers carried one of the burned bodies from a Manhattan motel room and was preparing to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation when he noticed the body had no head.

"I'm used to seeing charred bodies, but this was the worst experience I've ever had in 12 years of firefighting," Rogers said Sunday after the discovery of the headless, handless corpse of two women, both believed to be in their late teens or early 20s.

Police said the lower portions of the women's torsos were doused with a flammable liquid and set afire before the killer fled, apparently taking the heads and hands with him.

Detective Alvin Cumberbatch said the killer may have taken the heads and hands to prevent identification of the victims.

"Without fingerprints to make the identifications, the last resort is usually dental records, but we don't have those either," he said. He said autopsy reports may reveal scars or other identifying marks, but "it's going to be rough."

According to officials, the hands and heads were severed with surgical skill, perhaps by a scalpel. The exact cause of death was not determined immediately.

Detectives said the $54-a-day room at the Travel Inn motel on the West Side had been rented since Thursday by a man who was "probably using an alias."

Suspects Caught In Third Rape

CLEVELAND (AP) — Detective Gregory Kunz said he was talking with a 30-year-old rape victim on the telephone, telling her that the second of two men who had raped her was in custody and "she didn't have anything else to worry about."

A knock on the woman's door ended that conversation Friday, but a short time later, Kunz was alerted that the woman was being raped again — the third such assault in two weeks at the apartment where she lived with her four children.

According to police, the latest assault was committed by two teen-aged high school students who kicked down the door when the woman refused to open it, then took the .25-caliber pistol she had just bought for protection.

One of the children ran to a neighbor's apartment to get help, but police who surrounded the apartment were held at bay for two hours by one of the youths.

Police said the youth finally ordered the woman at gunpoint to walk ahead of him from the apartment, where he was apprehended. The youth and his companion, who police said had passed out on a bed, were taken to the city jail.

A U.S. ANSWER TO OPEC—H-COAL FOR GASOLINE & HEATING OIL IN PRODUCTION

PLANT MAKES GASOLINE FROM COAL — Diagram shows how the H-Coal process is used to convert 600 tons of coal a day into naphtha and other middle dis-tillates at Dynalectron's plant at Catlettsburg, Ky. The H-Coal process uses powdered coal and oil slurry, which is placed in a reactor with hydrogen. Under the influence of a catalyst, naphtha and middle distillates are formed. They are then refined to make gasoline and home heating oil at a separate oil refinery.

Pilot Plant Produces Gasoline From Coal

CATLETTSBURG, Ky. (Special) — Gasoline synthesized from coal will be in the pumps for use in your car in the near future. Some has already been made. It's been expensive to produce, but it may be an important tool in ending the OPEC price gouging. It's synfuel — synthetic fuel — and it works.

Lots of money and lots of technical know-how have made it possible. The producer is Dynalectron Corporation of McLean, Va., at a coal-to-fuel conversion plant in Catlettsburg, Kentucky.

Dynalectron is a member of a consortium that includes the U.S. Energy Department, the state of Kentucky, Electric Power Research Institute, Ashland Oil, Conoco, Mobil Oil and Standard Oil of Indiana.

Establishment of the plant, and running it for the next two years, will cost $300 million. It's a pilot plant built to prove the process works and to eliminate the bugs, and it will take 4200 such plants to meet the nation's present daily needs.

WOMEN'S UNIFORMS

(AP) — When the U.S. Army Natick Laboratory here began measuring and fitting the "average" woman soldier in an effort to provide better fitting uniforms, the data showed: Women are on the average 2-3 inches smaller in shoulder circumference than men, 3-5 inches slimmer in waist circumference, and 4-5 inches shorter than men.

But the signals point to "go." John F. O'Leary was deputy secretary of the Energy Department when he told a Congressional subcommittee last June: "It's true that synthetic fuel today would cost more to produce than the current price of products refined from imported oil. But it's expected that by the late 1980's and early 1990's, when synthetic production is in full swing, the price of imported oil will have risen enough to make synthetics fully competitive — perhaps even make them attractive."

There are strong indications that Congress is convinced this is the answer to reduce reliance on foreign oil imports.

The Senate has overwhelmingly approved legislation bringing the total allocated monies for production of synthetic fuels to $34 billion.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor-singer Shaun Cassidy is on a two-week honeymoon following his marriage to Ann Pennington, his steady girlfriend. The 21-year-old recording star and Miss Pennington were married last week in a private ceremony at the Unity by the Sea Church in Santa Monica, said a spokesman for Cassidy. Cassidy had four best men, longtime friend David Joliffe and his three brothers, David, Patrick and Ryan, the spokesman said. The groom is a son of the late actor Jack Cassidy and his second wife, actress Shirley Jones.

Boneless Hams
The boneless hams are prepared at the Lubbock facility and are completely cooked, ready to eat and have the same sugar-cured goodness of the other hams for which Prater's is so favorably known. The boneless hams are available in 4 to 8 lb. sizes.

Or maybe the choice is brown-and-serve baked turkey. Fresh, fattened birds; Smoked turkeys; or those long-cured country hams, smoked or spiced;

Bacon, Sausage
Hickory-smoked Canadian bacon; country-cured bacon; smoked sausage, and smoked turkey breasts.

For the small family, Prater's comes through with smoked chickens at a 1 1/4 lb. average size.
It's all at Prater's.

A spacious display room with self-service refrigerated cases makes viewing and selecting especially convenient at Prater's.

For assurance of a Christmas meal unmatched in tasty goodness, depend on Prater's products (that also are great for gifting).

Store hours are 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays. The phone number is 745-2727.

Brown-and-Serve
The brown-and-serve baked turkeys are marinated by Prater's then completely cooked, ready to eat. They are cooked in foil to retain all the delicious juices, then placed in plastic bags and vacuum packed. The average turkey requires only 1 1/2 hours oven time to be ready for the table. (It is advised to remove the foil from the breast and legs during the last 15 minutes of preparation to bring the bird to a golden brown.)

Fresh, fattened birds, as readied by Prater's defy comparison. The firm's successful goal has been to produce fresh birds for the people in this area at holiday times when they want them most.

Prater's turkeys have a better finish, are fatter and juicier than turkeys that have been quick-frozen and which may have remained frozen for weeks or even months.

Prater's Turkeys began business in 1952 with only 500 turkeys, working up to 30,000 at one time.

Now the word is generally known... broadbreasted, baby beef type fresh turkeys from Prater's just cook and taste better than quick-frozen birds that have been shipped long distances.

For Fast Preparation
Prater's smoked items are ready to heat and serve, having been smoked slowly over hickory embers until the meat is moist with just the correct touch of hickory flavor.

Great For Gifting
Business concerns and individuals alike have found that Prater's smoked turkeys, hams and Canadian bacon make ideal gift items at Christmas and for other special occasions.

And it is time to think about Christmas remembrances, isn't it? Prater's can help.

Mail Anywhere
For example, aside from the goodness of the products, Prater's provides all smoked items already individually gift boxed in an attractive white carton ready for mailing. These can be picked up for the customer to mail, or Prater's can handle it all, for one or a hundred, mailed anywhere. These should be ordered by Dec. 6 to assure Christmas delivery.

MAKING CHRISTMAS SELECTION EASY — Kay Callaway, owner and operator of the Town & Country Gift Shop, is shown against backdrop of some of the truly beautiful gifts assembled there to provide a Christmas type of store all year long.

Town & Country Gift Shop
Always 'Valued Gift Source'

"Looking for a new place to go? Want that 'up town' merchandise but with that old country price?"
Then, why not try Town & Country Gift Shop, at 4th Street and University Avenue, Town & Country Center in Lubbock.
"It is an old country store stocked with gifts galore."
"Something for everyone."
"For mother, daughter, father, son for doctor, lawyer, teacher, fire chief, friends or loved one."
"From a small brass apple to a gold unicorn... it's not every place that has a horse with a horn!"
This is the word from Kay Callaway, owner and operator of this Christmas type of shop that affords pleasure in selection all year long.

"A World Of Gifts"
Town & Country Gift Shop, with its world of gifts, is open from 10 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays. Master Charge and Visa use is welcomed.
The selection is really tremendous at Town & Country Gift Shop, with many of the items handcrafted and with many adaptable to personalizing (which the skilled folks there can do).
Select from a full line of party goods, sorority gifts, cards for all occasions, candles, wall plaques.
Stuffed animals, bar accessories and gifts for men:
Scads of Christmas party favors, handcrafted lamps, a full line of brass ware, even "anniversary" items.

It is a shop in which one can enjoy browsing, selecting and purchasing... a veritable "one stop" Christmas store where so many gift situations can be solved.
"Come in, discover just how very much Kay Callaway has assembled in a discriminating stock during her three-year ownership, and discover, too, how friendly and how appreciative the folks are at this store priding in its 'world of gifts'."
And don't forget the convenient location, with its off-street parking, at Town & Country Center, 4th & University, easy to reach from just anywhere!

Business & Industrial Review

SERVES MULTIPLE NEEDS — Farmer's Depot, at North University — FM 1294 intersection, takes pride in having those needed, practical though often hard-to-find items — from Old Time knives to staple groceries, stoneware or Christmas nuts!

Farmer's Depot General Store Status Proven By Fantastic Product Variety

"Peanuts by pound or handful, gorgeous fir Christmas trees, gopher traps, horse tack or groceries... where else but in a complete old-fashioned General Store... and where else but Farmer's Depot!"
 Yes, quite a service is rendered a wide South Plains area by Farmer's Depot, North University at FM 1294, phone 746-5510, Lubbock, a customer-considering establishment providing feed, hardware, groceries, fuel, and more!
 Not only is there a tremendous service afforded, but a visit there can be a most enjoyable experience, trading with home folks who know and understand area needs and preferences.

 Farmer's Depot was opened in late 1978, designed, built and owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Boepple. (Darrell, here since 1964, was former manager of Mayflower in Lubbock.)
Christmas Merchandise
 Of immediate interest, to rural and town folks alike, are seasonal needs stocked at Farmer's Depot, such as: Christmas lights by sets and individual bulbs, tree stands, beautiful holiday wrapping paper by the yard, Christmas balls and other decorations;
 Trees
 And a big selection of premium select

Douglas firs and Plantation Douglas firs for the most beautiful Christmas tree ever. Select in multiple sizes, 4 ft. to 9 ft., at modest price range of $12.95 to $25.95.
 Store hours are 7:30 a.m. until 7 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.
 Here are listed some of the products found in the big Farmer's Depot, hinting of the really comprehensive stock:
 Lots of hardware, nails, turnbuckles, loose grains by the pound for chicken feed, rabbit feed, bird seed, free literature on Purina feeds, with the Purina line stocked;
 Mouse traps, bear traps, the new wind-up mouse trap, nest eggs, mailboxes, yard tools;
 Livestock medication supplies; cattle blocks, fence charging equipment including pullers, chargers, wires, insulators and all, hog rings, nuts and bolts;
 Groceries, Wearables
 A full-line grocery stock, canning supplies, hand tools, work gloves, some jackets and coats;
 And livestock feeds (with prices prominently posted); hay, thousands of baby chicks in season; feeders, cattle tanks, electrical tape or windshield deicer.
 Keys are made, and a bulletin board is maintained for customer convenience.
 Farmer's Depot even rents stalls in the Spring to afford a real farmers' market.
 Small wonder Darrell Boepple's Farmer's Depot has experienced such enthusiastic reception and growing trade; he has provided a General Store that invites reliance in every season, by farm, ranch and urban residents alike.

Don Crow Invites Test Drive

"We at Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., Slide Road at South Loop 289, know that we can be of special service to you as a motorist, and we have geared each department to provision of the best service available. Week after week we on these pages direct an informative message outlining in brief some department, service or product."
 To truly comprehend Don Crow Chevrolet's concept and operation and just how completely it is customer oriented, however, one should in person come to the big facility where a friendly welcome always is the rule.
 And what better time is there to come out than now during Chevy's National Economy Drive when the invitation is extended to come in for a test drive of one of the sensational '80 Chevrolets from Don Crow's huge inventory?
 When one recognizes the Chevrolet economy, the Don Crow willingness to trade, and the scores of other Chevy attributes, then happy faces will be worn by all! Right?

 Wouldn't a new Chevrolet from Don Crow be the Christmas consideration your family, wife, son or daughter deserves? Or isn't a new vehicle the need... right now... in time for holiday travel?
 In either event, it could all start with a no-obligation test drive at Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., during Chevy's National Economy Drive underway.
 "May we have the pleasure and honor of that visit at your earliest opportunity?"
 "We want to again prove that one can depend upon Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., a firm established and operated for the utmost in customer satisfaction. There isn't a staffmember here who detracts from this well-guarded image, and you, the customer who writes our paychecks, can be assured of the consequent benefits."

Business & Industrial Review

ON THE JOB FOR SECURITY... ECONOMICALLY — Larry Bucks, patrolman for Security Protection Systems, is shown on a cycle now utilized in the firm's fleet, with Lt. Richard Bertrand driving one of the auto units. Cycle use is being tried as a method of saving in fuel expenses, contributing to fees that easily can be lived with.

Security Protection Systems Continually Expands, Upgrades

Security Protection Systems, not content to rest on its laurels, continues to make news... for the customer's protection, service, convenience, and more.

Three new situations should be pinpointed in brief:

- (1) Security Protection Systems, 4606 34th St., in Lubbock, is in process of constructing and equipping an all-new central station at the same address.
- (2) Amarillo facilities now are provided, with operations in full swing there.
- (3) A motorcycle and side car now is included in the firm's Lubbock fleet, combating increased operation costs to save in dollars and cents for the customer.

Wide Service Range
In brief, Security Protection Systems is in the business of radio dispatched patrol guards for residential and commercial accounts; burglar, hold-up and fire alarm systems; private investigations (domestic, criminal, civil), and polygraph services.

"From modest beginnings in late '75, in the business then of alarms for the residential market, the firm now can boast of over 550 alarms, over 400 patrol accounts, 85 per cent of all guard business in the area, over 200 full-time employees, and greatly expanded services and areas of operation to fully qualify as 'the Total Security Company'."

Daniel B. Gallagher, founder and president of the company, still heads this locally owned and locally operated corporation. Soon after its founding, the firm actually outgrew its quarters, and it now operates from spacious company-owned facilities at the 4606 34th St. address where its central station is maintained with 24-hour service, seven days a week.

More about the new central station, designed for full UL approval:

The central unit has its own back-up power to assure 24-hour-a-day operation regardless of conditions. Recognizing that the security of this central station is the heart of the alarm company, maximum security measures have been taken, including closed circuit TV monitoring outside premises and entryways, a "man trap" with two steel doors as entry to the station's central unit, direct lines to police and fire departments; all incoming cable buried underground; even all doors remotely controlled by the operator.

"Upon completion of this enlarged unit, scheduled late this month, the firm can lay just claim to offering any alarm system and related service."

Regional Patrol
The firm offers a patrol service in Hereford, providing guard service in Deaf Smith County, the Friona area, Plainview, and of course in Lubbock (claiming 85 per cent of all guard business in the Lubbock area).

The director of the corporation's polygraph and private investigation service is a former chief deputy sheriff of Deaf Smith County. He is a licensed polygrapher.

Security Protection Systems serves homes and businesses on about a 50-50 ratio in installation of alarms, putting the emphasis on alarm purchase rather than leasing, as a customer savings. A modest monitoring service fee is naturally necessary.

Widely Used
Security Protection Systems responds to alarms with its own patrol cars when disaster occurs and police cannot respond quickly (in event of power failures, as example), and the SPS patrol cars respond also when the firm has an alarm system and patrol service for a residence or business.

The company's patrol service is utilized by about 100 commercial accounts, seven nights a week!

Neighborhood service now is provided in some areas on day and night basis.

The private investigations phase of the company's comprehensive services even includes undercover investigations.

Both armed and unarmed guards are provided, even for special events such as parties, with guard service available on one-time or continuing basis.

"May we count you among our growing family of customers? Full details are available at our central station and offices, 4606 34th St., phone 792-7208."

Electric Overhead Door Operators Seen As 'Thoughtful' Christmas Gift

"What gift could be more thoughtful and appreciated for seasons to come than electric operators for the garage doors?"

"For wife, husband, parents and others, this installation could well be the most considerate of Christmas remembrances."

Overhead Door Co., 50th Street at Frankford Avenue (just off the Brownfield Highway near the Loop), phone 797-4141, long has served Lubbock and area needs in automatic overhead door units, and this Christmas season is no exception.

In fact, installation is possible before Christmas if arrangements are made at early date.

Or... if total surprise is desired, installation can be made later, with one gift wrapping the small control to place under the tree! Good idea!

There are several models from which to choose at Overhead Door Co., the pros in the field. Service and satisfaction is traditional there.

"Did the first biting breath of winter find your family and yourself enjoying the convenience of an automatic overhead door installation for the garage?"

"Will this winter and future seasons find your family and yourself enjoying the convenience of an automatic overhead door installation for your garage?"

"There is no need for you to walk on slick driveways to open or shut the garage door, just as there is no need to drive into a darkened garage at night. After all, you can enjoy the convenience and security of an automatic installation from Overhead Door Co., 50th Street at Frankford Avenue (just off the Brownfield Highway near the Loop), phone 797-4141."

Convenience, safety and protection — this is the whole story of automatic overhead doors from Overhead Door Co. of Lubbock.

General Aluminum Windows
And now, not only does this veteran Lubbock firm offer the automatic openers and complete overhead doors and openers, but also has been named as new distributor for General Aluminum Windows!

Serving with finest products and desire to please, traditional with the firm for its full quarter century of service, the Overhead Door Company of Lubbock is observing its 25th Anniversary and is geared in every operation to render maximum customer service.

"Give your home distinction and new convenience at low cost. Give your family the Overhead Door electric operator from Overhead Door Co. of Lubbock."

"Take your pick of the several opener models afforded, including the fine Touch 'n Go system, for your particular need and preference; each represents a real value."

Whether selection is from an opener system, a steel, wood or fiberglass overhead door, or the General Aluminum Windows, Tim Hatch at Overhead Door Co. assures the very best value in installation and sales.

Rainbo Fruit Cakes Suggested Ideal Gift 'In Best Of Taste'

"Surely a Rainbo fruit cake is in your planning for Christmas... for the family table or as a gift!"

"The wise word is to check now in your favorite store for the great Rainbo fruit cakes; or if you prefer, call Rainbo in Lubbock at 747-3244, and ask for Chester Harris, the service-oriented marketing manager who will personally see that your order, for one cake or a hundred, is filled to complete satisfaction. After all, it is time to prepare for the Christmas holiday needs. Right?"

Rainbo is glad to ship gift fruit cakes, of course. In fact, one gift list sent to Rainbo and one's problems are solved! But again, time must be considered, and it is suggested that orders for mailing be placed immediately to assure delivery at proper time.

Rainbo takes justifiable pride in its fruit cakes, just as it does in its many other tasty products... it will not take second place to anyone in promotion of good eating and good times for its West Texas friends, at Christmas or any time!

After all, Rainbo Baking Company spreads its "goodness" throughout the complete line of bakery products.

Traditionally Good

"On a special frosty morning long ago, perhaps you were awakened by a sweet aroma and soft sounds from your grandmother's kitchen. The sweet smell of fancy fruits... the crack of pecans you picked yesterday... the closing of the oven door... and suddenly, you realized grandmother was baking her special holiday fruit cake!"

"You knew she had carefully selected fancy pecan meats, juicy cherries, plump golden raisins, and tender, sweet pineapple. Then she blended these with bubbling hot butter, fresh farm eggs and extra egg yolks. The richness of this cake became your favorite holiday treat."

In the same tradition, Rainbo Bakers began early in their kitchens selecting only the finest ingredients for their fruit cakes. Blending and baking a perfection that is Rainbo Supreme Fruit Cake.

"The richness of this cake will become your favorite holiday treat!"

Grandmother's recipe may have looked like this:

1/2 lb. fancy pecan meats, 1/2 lb. red glace cherries, 1/2 lb. tender, sweet pineapple, 1/2 lb. California golden raisins, 1/4 lb. pure butter (92 score); two whole eggs plus extra yolks; and 4 oz. flour, just enough to hold it together.

Today, the suggestion is Rainbo Supreme Fruit Cake... when your gift is a matter of taste, of course.

"When you select one of our delicious fruit cakes, there's never a worry about sizes, colors or whether or not they already have one. This is the distinctive gift everyone likes to give, and loves to receive."

"Quality you can taste... our exclusive recipe... calls for the finest fruits and fancy pecans baked in a pure butter batter. You'll be remembered with each delicious slice!"

"Reusable tin... each of our delicious ring cakes is packaged in a beautiful reusable gift tin (each tin is carefully packed in an individual mailer designed to insure safe, sound delivery);

"And unconditional guarantee. If you have any doubts about the quality of our cakes, we will refund your money or replace your cake... at Rainbo."

Touch Of Class, In Terrace Center, Sure Source Of New, Unique Gifts

For Christmas shopping... it is the Touch of Class, in the Terrace Shopping Center, 4902 34th St., that fills the bill! New and added lines, together with the already-outstanding selection, make for shopping ease and fulfillment.

By way of explanation... note the following:

So many have commented on the "Touch of Class" sign now up on a West 19th Street location in Oak Tree Village, just west of Methodist Hospital. Yes, so enthusiastic has been the response to the Touch of Class, established just over a year ago, that a second and added facility soon will be reality. Even though the sign is in place, opening has been delayed until after Christmas for the second store owners Gary and Leola Chevalier report, due to carpet still unlaid, and other final preparation.

So... continue to find it all at Touch of Class in Terrace Center!

No doubt about it, Touch of Class since its founding has stocked profusely and selectively, proving not only to be a "special-occasion bonanza" but also a great source of supply for whatever occasion at hand.

Fireplaces By Artistic Design Tells Products Great For Gifting, Saving

"Why settle for less than a stove for today's home that burns yesterday's fuel, reliably, comfortably and economically?"

And why settle for less than the assistance and products (including Fisher stoves) of Fireplaces by Artistic Design, Town South, at 3402 73rd St., Lubbock!

One can really relate to Fireplaces by Artistic Design, especially with Christmas and winter at hand. Wouldn't a fireplace or a wood burning stove be a great Christmas gift consideration for the family, for dad and mother, for any loved one?

Fireplaces by Artistic Design actually can have a fireplace or stove completely installed in one's home just four days after initial order! Yes, just four days from order until actual use. This includes installation of the stoves on a non-combustible tile pad, too.

Even if one already has a masonry fireplace, a Fisher insert installation can be installed... in 30 minutes! How simple can the job be made!

More Than Fireplaces Alone

One may not realize that Fireplaces by Artistic Design actually has so much more than fireplaces or stoves alone. Check further in the unique store for great gift items... fireplace accessories, wall decor items, and more, each contributing to the "total decor concept" that is basis of the firm's operation and stock. Even a "total energy" package is afforded.

Fisher Advantages Told

It is pointed out that the Fisher stoves have been designated as "official stoves" for the 1980 Olympics. Quite a recommendation and honor, wouldn't you think?

A Fisher stove is available for any room, of any size. Fisher radiates heat throughout the house without ducts, as a result of natural convection. Fisher prides in being a stove "people recommend to their friends."

Display of merchandise at Fireplaces by Artistic Design is another factor making for ease in Christmas shopping and selection. There are several room arrangements, with wall dividers making for ease in viewing and comparison.

(If you are not sure what unit to give as a present, then a Gift Certificate from Fireplaces by Artistic Design is suggested.)

The friendliness and capabilities of the folks at Fireplaces by Artistic Design make you feel immediately at home. From the time that one is greeted upon entry to the attractive store, traditional West Texas friendliness and sincere interest is recognized and appreciated. The coffee pot is always on!

More about the product and service selection... with only a brief outline presented here. One simply must come to this unique and recently established Lubbock store, just off the Loop 289-South Indiana intersection, to discover the scope of products and services:

Custom Construction

There are fireplaces, and fireplaces, and fireplaces! By such respected names as Majestic, Fisher and Malm. There are modern, contemporary and antique units!

Let Larry Morris and wife, Bonnie, owners of Fireplaces by Artistic Design, personally design a fireplace for your home! They are most adept in planning and custom building, even providing estimates right in the home. Fireplaces by Artistic Design stands behind all its installations.

Storm Windows

And there are storm windows and doors in the firm's offerings within its total energy package, part of all available including installation.

Select from decor items prominently displayed within the store, including original oils and prints.

Antiques

Browse and note the gorgeous antiques, including sideboards, breakfronts and others... all out-of-the-ordinary. (Note the lamps that include both copper and brass fire extinguisher utilization.)

Ceiling Fans

On and on the list of "goodies" could go, including heater grates, scented candles, custom made game tables (to the customer's design), five lines of ceiling fans, with prices from $180 to $500, and still other items.

It is a surprising store!

Larry Morris marks eight years of experience in the fireplace and decor field in Lubbock, and he is ably assisted by his wife, a lifelong Lubbock resident, in operation of the unique south Lubbock firm opened in August.

"This winter... and seasons to come... can be more fun after selection at Fireplaces by Artistic Design, a most unique establishment!"

WORKSHOP PROJECTS RECEIVE HAGOOD'S ATTENTION

Hagood's Arts & Crafts Announcing Pre-Christmas Workshop Schedules

"We at Hagood's Arts & Crafts thank you for your generous patronage, and we enjoy serving your craft needs to the best of our ability."

Of immediate interest at Hagood's Arts & Crafts, 8211 Indiana (around the corner at 83rd and Indiana) are the Tole classes and other workshops continuing through Dec. 15, and then resuming the second week in January.

December workshops include:
Dec. 4: Gold leaf, ink and glass stain; 6 p.m. until 9 p.m., instruction free.
Dec. 5: Macrame, 6 p.m. until 9 p.m.
Dec. 5: Christmas wreaths; 6 p.m. until 9 p.m.

(Both the above workshops also feature free instruction.)

Dec. 8: Acrylic Christmas workshop, 10 a.m. Ellen Stanley will be teaching a wooden Christmas mouse cut out on tavern board. Judy Spirehe will be teaching a wooden carolers acrylic, cut out on a note board. Come by and choose the one you would like to do. Instruction fee is $12.50, or $15 if we furnish the acrylics. These projects will brighten anyone's home for the holidays, for sure.

Dec. 15: Instruction on 3-D glazed prints cut-out kits. These are very beautiful and most inexpensive. Workshop time is 10 a.m. until noon, with free instruction.

"Due to the popularity of these workshops, it is advised to call beforehand when possible to assure inclusion in the one of your choice. Also, inquiry is invited regarding the comprehensive January opportunities."

Hagood's Arts & Crafts is buzzing with holiday activity... with exciting new arrivals and a greatly increased stock. The shop has been expanded, rearranged, upgraded and specialized to be of added service to the arts and crafts community.

Stamp Benefits
"We give and redeem Gold Bond stamps," is further word from Hagood's where Visa and Master Charge also are welcomed.

"We invite you to take advantage of the workshops afforded," is the sincere invitation from Billie Hagood, owner of the big store; "we invite you to visit and discover our stock... it could be a revelation! There are doll supplies, beads, candle supplies, Christmas kits, Walter Foster books, tole books and miscellaneous craft books, plaster, macrame, silk flowers, tole and canvas supplies, essels, frames, glass, stretcher strips, balsa wood, Exacto art supplies, prints, fantasy fur, fashion foam, chenille stem felt, and much more."

Frames
The sizable stock of frames is marked at really low competitive prices.

"If there are other supplies you need, tell us and we will try to get them for you. Hagood's Arts & Crafts is just that kind of considerate store!"

Tick Tock Clock Shop Presents Exceptional Clock, Fan Choice

A fine clock... or a quality ceiling fan... from Tick Tock Clock Shop is heartily recommended as a Christmas gift to please!

The selection, the quality and the beauty of merchandise at Tick Tock Clock Shop (in Monterey Center on the 50th Street side) is a matter of record and general knowledge.

However, some of the related benefits may not be fully recognized, and a number are listed here in brief:

More than 600 clocks actually are on display!

Financing is available, as are gift certificates.

Meaningful Warranty
There's a 3-year warranty on all key-wound clocks with German movement, and this guarantee at Tick Tock includes all parts and labor.

"And remember, we at Tick Tock Clock Shop fix anything that should malfunction on these, for a full three years. At the end of this period we can service at a nominal charge and then renew the all-inclusive warranty for three more years! What more could be asked?"

There is free delivery and set-up on all grandfather clocks.

Free gift wrap on mantle and wall clocks is afforded, of course.

Lines To Trust

Tick Tock is authorized factory service center for the prestigious Ridgeway, Trend, Pearl, Howard Miller and Seth Thomas lines.

Big Selection Fans

The big store comes through with a truly exceptional selection of ceiling fans, too, together with parts and accessories (blades, switches and all).

Select at super savings from Ritz, Casa Blanca, Emerson, Centennial or Unique. There are 75 models of ceiling fans, in stock, from which to choose.

Tick Tock balances its ceiling fans, and arrangement can be made for installation.

Doesn't all this make Christmas decisions easy?

"In every field of endeavor, there is a leader, and there are followers. For the fourth year in a row, it is clear that Tick Tock Clock Shop is leader in its field; owners Al and Shirlene Juno and family have worked mighty hard to be sure it is so."

"We want to be your clock specialists, and in recognizing that a fine clock is today's treasure and tomorrow's heirloom, we direct all efforts to customer satisfaction... in every season."

Project Revitalizing Downtown Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The renaissance effort currently under way in this mid-American city's downtown district provides hope for other decaying central-city areas that the past may still be alive.

Heavily-trafficked Hennepin Avenue, long regarded as Minneapolis' red-light district, has become the nucleus of much of this urban renewal activity. The major face-lifting project so far has been the restoration and transformation of the historic 89-year-old Masonic Temple into a complete arts center.

Designated the Hennepin Center for the Arts, the building was renovated and remodeled in order to provide performing, teaching and studio facilities for many of the city's non-profit arts organizations.

According to Bower Hawthorne, the center's president, "The primary objective of the Hennepin Center is to serve as a catalyst for rejuvenating the street as the entertainment center of Minneapolis. We are hopeful that other groups in Minneapolis and around the country will follow our lead."

When it was completed in 1890, the eight-story Romanesque structure, which was constructed of pale Ohio sandstone, housed 11 Masonic groups. Designed by the prestigious architectural firm of Longs and Keys, it features five lodge halls, 50 ante-committee and reception-rooms, and elegant offices on the ground floor, complete with gas and electric lights.

The building, in fact, has been recognized as an outstanding example of 19th-century design and stonemasonry by the national Registry for Historic Preservation.

U.S. Restores China Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is resuming direct passenger air service with China for the first time in 30 years.

A Pan American jet, modern day successor to the old China Clipper flying boats that once connected the West Coast with the Chinese mainland, was to fly this week from San Francisco to Shanghai with about 300 passengers, an airlines spokesman said.

The flight will be the first of six charter flights to China under an agreement between Pan American and the General Administration of Civil Aviation of China.

The charter trips, each lasting about two weeks, will take place in December, January and February.

American air service to China was terminated in 1949 when the mainland fell to the communist forces of Mao Tse-tung.

With the re-establishment of diplomatic relations last January, only specially invited groups of Americans have been able to fly directly to China on charters.

Dallas Rips Giants With 'Positive' Effort

IRVING (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, after a brief stretch of self-destruction, are on another patented Super Bowl stretch drive.

They played their finest second half of the season Sunday in a 28-7 rout of the New York Giants fashioned on three Roger Staubach-to-Drew Pearson touchdown passes.

The victory put Dallas on a collision course with the NFC East Division-leading Philadelphia Eagles, who slaughtered Detroit 44-7.

Dallas and Washington own 9-5 records, a game behind the Eagles. If the Cowboys beat the Eagles this Saturday and Washington two weeks from now, they can claim the division title. Philadelphia has already clinched at least a wild card berth.

Dallas had lost three straight games for the first time since 1974 going into Sunday's meeting with the Giants. It was reminiscent of past Cowboys seasons where they sagged to 5-4, 4-3, 5-3, and 6-4 records before mounting Super Bowl drives.

"This gives us the positive note we needed going into Philadelphia," said Cowboys coach Tom Landry. "Whoever wins at Philadelphia wins the East. All the chips are on the line.

"It was the best overall performance of the year. We did everything well."

Pearson, who caught three touchdown passes in one game for the first time in his career, almost self-destructed, literally.

He caught a touchdown pass of seven yards in the first half to tie the score 7-7, then gathered in an eight-yard scoring pass in the third period to put Dallas ahead to stay. However, Pearson twisted his knee throwing the ball into the stands in celebration.

"My spiking days are over," said Pearson after the game. "I retired my spiker. What can I say? It almost cost me my leg.

"I got so excited that I tried to throw the ball in the stands and came down wrong. It scared me for a while but it's all right."

Pearson went to the locker room for a quick X-ray, then returned in time to shag a 44-yard touchdown pass from Staubach. Pearson gently dropped the ball in the end zone after his third catch.

"That's the most touchdown passes I ever caught in my life and maybe that's why I got so excited. Roger was reading me all the way. Now I guess I'll be fined $150 for throwing the ball in the stands."

He added, "I guess it was worth it — that's going to be the last time."

The Giants, who held a brief 7-0 lead in the first quarter on a two-yard Billy Taylor touchdown run, praised Pearson's performance.

Defensive back Terry Jackson, who was beaten on two of Pearson's touchdown catches, said, "It was just his day. He had a hell of a game. He's a hell of a player. But he's been catching touchdown passes for seven or eight years."

The other Giant cornerback, Ray Rhodes, who was burned for the third TD pass, said, "He made a great play. I rate him among the top receivers in the league."

The Cowboys' stagnant running game perked up considerably with Tony Dorsett gaining 108 yards on 29 carries and fullback Robert Newhouse pushing out 48 yards on 10 carries.

Dorsett became only the second runner in National League history to rush for over 1,000 yards in three consecutive seasons. The other was John Brockington of Green Bay, who did it in the early 1970s.

The Cowboys played with unique emotion in the game.

Dorsett said the offensive line was more enthusiastic than it had been all season.

"On that last drive, they were just jumping up and down," said Dorsett. "It's a good feeling to see those linemen jumping up and down and wanting to block somebody.

"One of our goals has been to get our running game going. It draws the linebackers in and you saw what happened today. Drew killed them. Roger can throw it and Drew can catch it."

Time For Action

EVERYONE HAS BEEN BEATING up on the Dallas Cowboys lately, so the New York Giants thought they could do it too. They came into Texas Stadium Sunday with grim faces and threatening stares, just like the Pittsburgh Steelers, and the whole team showed up on the field for the coin toss.

But all the Giants did was to make Harvey Martin angry. It isn't difficult to get Harvey upset on game day, anyway, and he resented what he considered to be New York's attempt to intimidate the 'Pokes.

Harvey got in a shouting match with the Giants and before it was over, the All-Pro defensive end promised the Giants that the Cowboys were going to kick their tails. That is a rough translation, since this is a family newspaper.

It looked like Harvey was just whistling Dixie for a time, as the Giants took the opening kickoff and drove all the way to paydirt. Just a week ago, the Giants rammed the ball down the throats of the Washington Redskins, with former Texas Tech star Billy Taylor carrying the load, and no doubt they thought they could do the same thing to the Cowboys.

Harvey was vindicated, though, after the Cowboys made a few adjustments and blanked the New Yorkers the rest of the way. Then Roger Staubach got his guys untracked in the second half and it was all over.

HARVEY STILL WAS in an emotional state after the game. He was fuming about the nerve of those Giants and beginning to think about the big game at Philadelphia Saturday.

"It was time for us to go out and beat somebody," Harvey declared. "The Giants wanted a physical game and we gave it to them. We're going to have to play the same way at Philadelphia just to survive. So that's what we're going to do."

Big Harvey is right about that. Philadelphia hasn't been this close to an NFL championship since 1960, when Norm Van Brocklin quarterbacked the Eagles to the title. It has been a long, dry spell for the grid fans in Philadelphia, and 71,000 of them will jam Veterans Stadium Saturday to celebrate the new era.

THERE WERE A COUPLE of encouraging developments for Dallas in the victory over the Giants, even though the New Yorkers — despite their recent success — do not rank with the ogres of the league. The Cowboys' ground game came back to life, with Tony Dorsett and Robert Newhouse actually finding a little daylight here and there.

The blocking still would not have brought cheers from Vince Lombardi, but Tom Landry found it something to smile about.

The Dallas defense showed flashes of its old form, too. There was one terrific goal-line stand, with sub linebacker Bruce Huther personally stopping Giant runners the first three downs.

John Dutton had to leave the game early because of an injury, but Larry Cole went back to end and Dave Stalls to tackle without loss of efficiency. The tackling in the secondary was crisp and the 'Pokes got some turnovers, for a change.

Defensive tackle standout Randy White saw only limited action because of his foot injury, but his presence seemed to inspire his teammates to greater effort. Dallas' hopes for a win at Philadelphia rest on the return of the Manster to full-time duty.

THE COWBOYS PROBABLY could lose to Philadelphia and still get into the playoffs as a wild-card entry, but the 'Pokes better beat the Eagles if they have any hopes of returning to the Super Bowl. The path of the wild-card is rocky indeed, with that preliminary game matching the two non-winners in each conference before the real shooting gets under way.

If Dallas loses to the Eagles, then they would face an initial tussle with the Redskins, most likely, followed by road trips against the two division champions. It would be uphill and against the wind all the way.

Dallas partisans like to point out that the Cowboys were a wild-card team in 1975, when they went to Super Bowl X. But they didn't have to fight that prelim bout with another wild-card team. And fans should remember that the 'Pokes just barely squeaked by the Vikings at Minnesota on the "Hail Mary" pass from Staubach to Drew Pearson. Those kind of miracles don't happen very often.

If the Cowboys really want to go to Pasadena in January, they better beat those Eagles. Like Harvey Martin says, it's time for action — not talking.

White Claims Heisman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles White came to Southern California as a cocky, fast-talking freshman certain he was going to set the college football world afire and win a Heisman Trophy or two in the process.

A very changed Charles White today was awarded the 1979 Heisman, honoring him as the nation's top college football player.

White easily outdistanced Billy Sims of Oklahoma, the 1978 Heisman winner, in this year's voting.

"I grew up a lot as a football player and as a person during the past four years," the Trojans' senior tailback said during a recent interview. "It has a lot to do with learning to accept responsibility, both from the outside and from myself."

"While I know I've grown up a lot, I still feel I have a lot of maturing to do. Trying to make it in pro football, for instance, will be a new challenge for me and I'm sure I'll have to change in some ways."

In contrast to the strutting youngster who came to Southern Cal in 1976, White gradually grew to be known as a selfless team player; a leader who led by example; and a soft-spoken individual who lavished superlatives on his teammates but draped none on himself.

"You talk about leadership qualities, and Charlie has them all," said Trojan coach John Robinson. "Despite his success, he never asked for anything special, was always the hardest worker out on the practice field.

"Charlie had a lot of pressure on him right from the beginning of his freshman year," Robinson added, "but he handled it. I've run out of adjectives to describe him, and I just can't tell you how much I admire him."

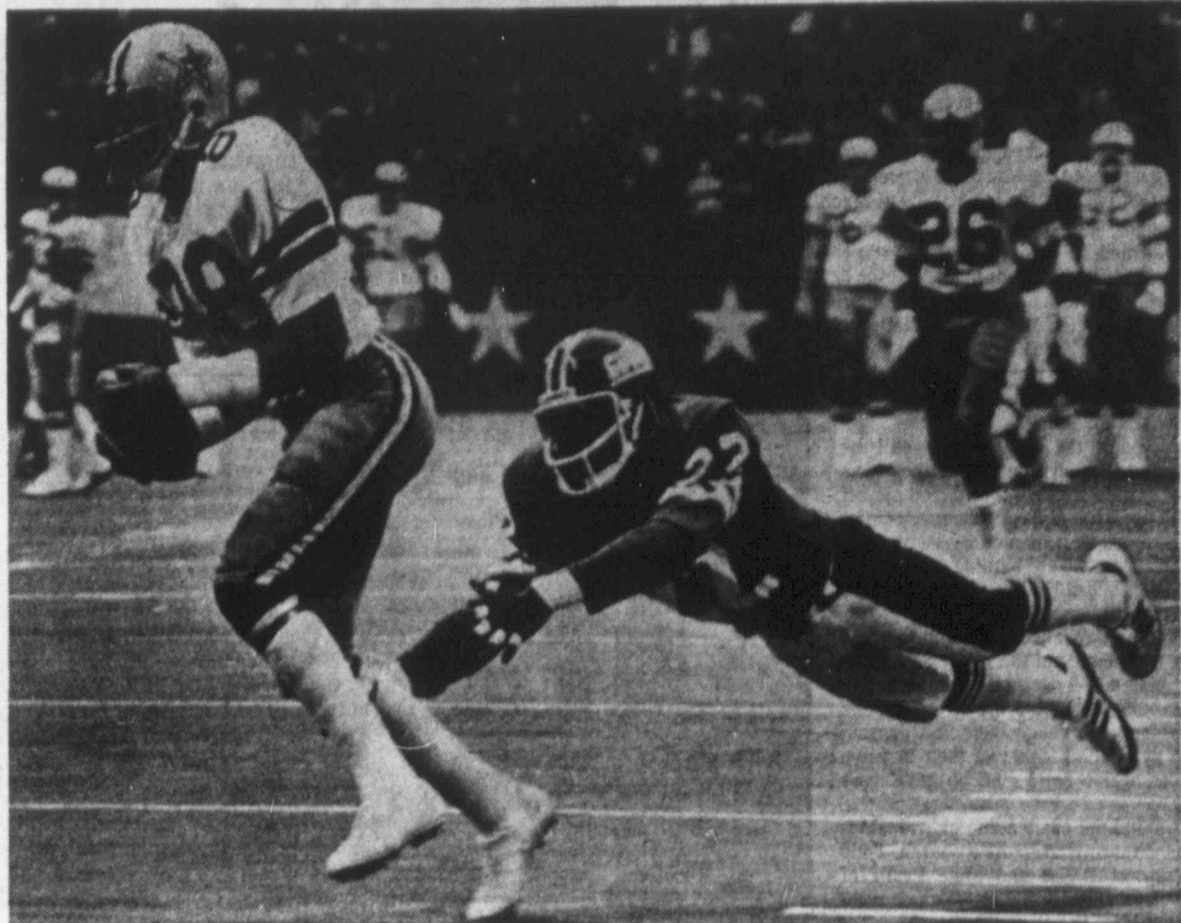

The quick and deceptively powerful White, 6-foot and 185 pounds, topped the nation with 1,803 yards on 293 carries for the second-ranked and 10-0-1 Trojans this season. His career total of 5,598 yards places him second behind former Pittsburgh Heisman-winner Tony Dorsett on the NCAA's all-time rushing list.

All early signs had pointed to greatness for White, who came out of suburban San Fernando High with an average of nearly 10 yards per carry for his last two seasons. A national prep record holder in the 330-yard low hurdles, he was named 1975-76 Southern California prep athlete of the year in both football and track.

White backed up Ricky Bell his first season at Southern Cal, but played a lot when the senior starter was hit by injuries, gaining 858 yards on 156 carries and capping his freshman year with a 114-yard performance in the Trojans' Rose Bowl victory over Michigan.

White finished fourth to Oklahoma's Billy Sims in the 1978 Heisman balloting, and this season he was reluctant to talk about his prospects.

Raiders Seek Second Cage Win Against SDS

By CHUCK McDONALD, Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

The call was supposed to be a fact-finding one for the reporter. As it turned out, South Dakota State assistant coach Gary Esboldt had plenty of questions of his own.

And that's understandable: Texas Tech and SDS hardly play in the same neck of the woods. And each team's knowledge of the other is — at best — sketchy.

Nonetheless, Tech will host South Dakota State tonight at 7:30 in Lubbock Coliseum in the Raiders' second outing of the season.

But if Esboldt could've talked with West Texas coach Ken Edwards, the WT boss probably would've had one crucial piece of advice.
Don't — do not — try and run a zone defense against the Raiders. The Buffs tried it Saturday night in the Coliseum and watched a host of Tech bombers shoot their zone defense to pieces.

"Well, how did Tech look against West Texas?" asked Esboldt.

Well, coach, they shot pretty well.
Pretty well, indeed. The Raiders hit 66 percent of their field goals to tie a school mark as they defeated WT 78-64 in the Raiders' season-opener.

South Dakota was having its own problems Saturday night as the Jackrabbits faced Missouri in Columbia and came out on the short side of an 80-80 score. South Dakota is 0-2 on the year after an opening-season loss to Nebraska.

But the Jackrabbits should give the Raiders another good test tonight. South Dakota will show a large, strong front line. At the post is senior Jim Walker and the forwards are Steve Lingenfetter and Bob Winzenburg. All are 6-9.

"All three are capable of rebounding and scoring in double figures," reported Esboldt. "We had some trouble against Missouri because two of our big men fouled out after we'd closed the gap to 12 points.

"But we're a pretty balanced scoring team," he added. "And we played pretty well defensively in the second half."

Handling the guard duties for the Jackrabbits will be Paul McDonald and Clayton McDowell.

The Raiders may see a change in their starting lineup from the group that started

D Sports
Lubbock Avalanche-Journal
Monday, Dec. 3, 1979

Myers expects an altogether different type of opponent and game tonight.

"They're a big team," Myers said of the Jackrabbits, "and they're more physical and a stronger rebounding team than West Texas was."

"I think they'll run a man-for-man defense rather than a zone," he added.

"They've played two good teams — Missouri is favored to win the Big Eight, so you know they're pretty tough."

But Myers admitted that Saturday's opening win gave his club a boost.
"It sure puts you in a better frame of mind," he said. "We'd been looking forward to that game for a long time. I just hope we can level off and keep a good even momentum."

The Raiders will start Ralph Brewster at the post, Little and either Hill or Nichols at the forwards, and Taylor and Kent Williams at guard.

And even the Raider starting lineup comes as news to the Jackrabbits.

"I don't know much about Tech," admitted Esboldt. "But I understand that they really have a fine club."

"We're going to try and use the fast break but if it isn't there we're a pretty disciplined club," he added. "We'll try and run our pattern offense."

Does that sound familiar?

Vermeil Humbled By Playoff-Clinching Triumph

By The Associated Press
"It's a humbling experience," said Philadelphia coach Dick Vermeil after his Eagles became the first team to clinch a berth in the National Football League playoffs by beating the Detroit Lions 44-7 Sunday.

"But I've said all along the players win games, and I really believe that," added Vermeil. "I told the players I'm just thrilled that they took me along."

With two weeks to go in the regular season the Eagles, 10-4, lead the National Conference's East Division by one game over Washington, which beat Green Bay 38-21, and Dallas, which defeated the New York Giants 28-7.

Although the Eagles may still be caught in the divisional race, they have assured themselves of a wild-card playoff berth by virtue of having a better conference record (9-2) than either Tampa Bay or Chicago, who are battling for the Central Division lead and are also involved in the wild-card scramble.

Tampa Bay failed to lock up the division for the second successive Sunday by dropping a 14-0 decision to Chicago. The Bucs, 9-5, now lead the Bears by one game and can clinch their first division title by winning either of their last two games, against San Francisco and Kansas City.

Among the outstanding individual efforts, Franco Harris of Pittsburgh, Tony Dorsett of Dallas and Mike Pruitt of Cleveland surpassed the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the season, rookie Ottis Anderson of St. Louis had his eighth 100-yard running day and Dan Fouts of San Diego passed for more than 300 yards for the sixth time this season.

Ron Jaworski threw two touchdown passes to Harold Carmichael and Philadelphia's defense limited Detroit to five first downs and only 53 yards rushing. Defensive end Claude Humphrey, who came to the Eagles this year in a trade, said the defense Sunday was outstanding.

"Everybody was picking up each other, hitting, helping out," said Humphrey. "It was just a shame it was Detroit we were playing today. We could have beaten anybody in the National Football League."

Vermeil is confident the Eagles can go further in this year's playoffs than last year, when they were eliminated by Atlanta in the first round.

"We're a much more complete team," he said.

Browns' Defense Leads 14-7 Victory Over Oilers

CLEVELAND (AP) — The spotlight has been on their explosive offense, but it was the Cleveland Browns' much-maligned defense that played the key role in Sunday's 14-7 victory over the Houston Oilers.

The triumph kept the Browns, 9-5, in the running for a National Football League playoff berth, while knocking the Oilers, 10-4, out of a first-place tie with Pittsburgh in the AFC Central Division.

The Cleveland offense played an uncharacteristic ball-control game. Meanwhile, the defense rose up and held the Oilers and powerful fullback Earl Campbell to a total of 249 yards.

"We've been maligned (on defense), maybe deservedly so," said Cleveland coach Sam Rutigliano. "But, our defense had its back against the wall and did the job against a great offensive football team. They did it all."

The only Houston score, on an 11-yard burst by Campbell in the first quarter, followed the recovery of an onside kick at Cleveland's 45.

"Their touchdown wasn't the fault of the defense, it was field position," Rutigliano said. "We tried the onside kick because we felt we had to maintain possession to give us the opportunity to score more points. It just backfired."

The Cleveland offense, led by fullback Mike Pruitt, did maintain possession more than the Oilers, running 71 plays to 58 for the Oilers. But the only scoring by the Browns came when quarterback Brian Sipe combined with Pruitt on a 42-yard pass play in the first quarter and on Pruitt's one-yard dive early in the fourth period, capping an 87-yard, 16-play drive.

"We had problems getting things done on offense, but this may be the most significant game we've played all year because of the way the defense played," Sipe said. "This is exactly what we needed."

Sipe was sacked five times, but scrambled for 42 yards in five carries. His 19-yard run on a broken play set up the winning score.

Pruitt carried 25 times for 111 yards, giving him 1,062 for the season. He joined Jim Brown, Leroy Kelly and Greg Pruitt in Cleveland's 1,000-yard club.

"I'm happy about the 1,000 yards, but I'm happier about the win," Pruitt said. "This game was on my mind all week long. When I got here today, I felt there was no stopping me."

NCAA Cage Finalists Stumble

By The Associated Press
It's a new season in college basketball — and no one knows it better than Jud Heathcote and Bill Hodges.

They learned it the hard way over the weekend, losing games they presumably would have won last season.

Heathcote's defending NCAA champions from Michigan State, playing without the ubiquitous Earvin "Magic" Johnson and Greg Kelsey, now in the National Basketball Association, took an 88-73 drubbing from 16th-ranked St. John's in the finals of the Lapchick Tournament in New York Saturday night.

Hodges' Indiana State team, playing without the great Larry Bird, had a 20-game home winning streak snapped 66-63 by unheralded Armstrong State Friday night before struggling to a 72-65 victory over Colorado State.

"Friday night, we learned a big lesson," said Hodges. "We realized what we now have to do."

With the loss of Bird, now an NBA rookie with the Boston Celtics, the burden of leadership on the Sycamores has shifted to guard Carl Nicks, who scored 37 points in Friday night's loss and 28 in Sunday's victory.

"Saturday's practice was very good," said Hodges, college Coach of the Year with last year's NCAA runner-up Sycamores. "Yet we still have things to work on. Mostly, it's a matter of determination."

Michigan State as well will have to be just as determined, considering the loss of its two superstars. But the Spartans weren't proficient enough Saturday night to take care of a strong St. John's team.

"They're a very good team," Heathcote said of St. John's, "certainly as good as any of the good teams in our league (the Big Ten). You have to play awfully well to beat them on their home court. They can beat you in a lot of ways."

They've got strong rebounding, good ballhandling and play a solid defense."

Reggie Carter, coming back from a two-game suspension, scored 22 points to lead the St. John's attack as the Redmen won their home-grown tourney for the fifth straight year. In the third-place game, Oral Roberts defeated Princeton 70-62 as Calvin Garrett scored 18 points.

The opening of the 1978-79 college basketball season also featured pretty much of a lost weekend for 14th-ranked Texas A&M, a participant in last year's NIT and expected to be the strongest team in the Southwest Conference this season.

The Aggies lost two games in a row in the Great Alaska Shootout Tournament, to Iona and Lamar, before finally winning Sunday with an 82-66 victory over the University of Pacific in the seventh-place consolation game. Vernon Smith, playing in his first game of the season for the Aggies, scored 28 points for the Aggies.

Kentucky, the nation's second-ranked team, defeated Iona 57-50 Sunday night for the Alaska Shootout championship.

In the consolation game for fourth place Bradley defeated Lamar 82-75 with the help of four free throws by Hasan Houston in the last two minutes.

Elsewhere, there were few surprises on college basketball's first weekend, as third-ranked Duke defeated sixth-ranked North Carolina 86-74 for the championship of the Big Four Tournament in Greensboro, N.C. Mike Gminski scored 21 points and excelled defensively for the Blue Devils, who won their third straight game of the season.

"If they play like this, they'll win the national title," said North Carolina coach Dean Smith. "That was the best Duke team I've ever seen tonight... the best in their history, in my estimation."

In the Big Four's third-place game, North Carolina State defeated Wake Forest 70-65 behind Art Jones' 17 points.

Top-ranked Indiana, meanwhile, opened its season with an 80-52 rout of Miami, Ohio, behind a balanced attack led by Mike Woodson's 14 points and Isaiah Thomas' 12. Another Big Ten powerhouse, fourth-ranked Ohio State, whipped Ohio 78-51 as Herb Williams scored 17 points.

LCC Hosts Oklahomans

Oklahoma — but against a Texas team. They whipped Jarvis Christian in the consolation game of the USAO tournament last Thursday.

That snapped a five-game losing stretch for the Chaparrals who are now 3-6 for the season.

The tournament could have served as a springboard to the starting lineup for 6-2 sophomore Bill McGee. The Houston Lee product was the only Chaparral named all-tournament at USAO.

The other four starts are expected to be 6-6 Kevin Wharton, 6-4 Keith Gardner, 6-2 Bruce Carver and 6-0 Marshall Smith.

The men's game will begin at 8 p.m. after the LCC women play the Wayland Baptist College Queen Bees at 6 p.m.

LCC women are 0-6, after having dropped games to Texas Wesleyan and Oklahoma Christian College in a tournament at Wichita Falls over the weekend.

Leading the women is Darla Lynch, a freshman who is averaging 21 points a game. She is expected to start with Sherry Brown, Fawn Musick, Sherry Williams and JoAnn Phillips.

Aggie Shocker Starts Shuffle Of Bowl Lineup

By The Associated Press
A crazed hijacker couldn't have messed up the Southwest Conference's travel plans more than Texas A&M did.

The Aggies became the bane of travel agents Saturday with a 13-7 upset of sixth-ranked Texas that forced (a) Arkansas to detour its Jan. 1 holiday plans from Dallas to New Orleans, (b) Texas to spend Dec. 22 in El Paso instead of New Year's Day in New Orleans and (c) Houston to switch from Dec. 22 in El Paso to Jan. 1 in Dallas.

Had Texas won, the Longhorns would have gone to the Sugar Bowl, eighth-ranked Arkansas to the Cotton and No. 10 Houston to the Sun. Now, Houston, which crushed Rice 63-0 and tied Arkansas for the SWC championship, will meet Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl by virtue of its head-to-head triumph over Arkansas. The Razorbacks were rerouted to the Sugar Bowl against No. 1-ranked Alabama while Texas faces No. 13 Washington in the Sun.

"We won't be getting a Nebraska film," sighed Arkansas coach Lou Holtz.

The bowl picture finally was completed when Alabama turned back 14th-ranked Auburn 25-18 on Steadman Shealy's 8-yard run with 8:17 left. The Crimson Tide won its eighth Southeastern Conference crown in nine years and will be the host team in New Orleans.

The Fiesta Bowl, which had Alabama on hold, quickly subbed Arizona to meet 11th-ranked Pitt, which finished the regular season by trouncing No. 19 Penn State 29-14.

Apparently the Sugar and Rose Bowls will settle the national championship. Alabama's defending national champs will take a 20-game winning streak, longest in the land, to New Orleans while runner-up Southern California and third-ranked Ohio State slug it out in Pasadena.

First, though, it remains to be seen whether the voters will keep Alabama No. 1 in The Associated Press' final regular-season poll this week. The Crimson Tide coughed up four fumbles in the third period and blew a 17-6 lead before rallying to overtake Auburn.

"I thought we played good enough to be No. 1," said linebacker Thomas Boyd, who led Alabama's stingy defense with 15 tackles.

Elsewhere on the slim final weekend of the regular season:

Sophomore Ed Meyers, making only his second varsity start, set a series record by rushing for 279 yards and scored three touchdowns as Navy flattened Army 31-7. Jimmy Streater threw two scoring passes to Anthony Hancock as Tennessee whipped Vanderbilt 31-10. Boston College used three late interceptions and a fumble recovery to preserve a 13-10 decision over Holy Cross. Jim Kelly passed for one touchdown and scored another as Miami, Fla. defeated Florida 30-24 — the Gators suffered their first winless campaign since 1946 — and quarterback Blane Gaison scored three times to lead Hawaii past Arizona State 29-17.

The complete bowl pairings:
Sugar: Alabama-Arkansas; Rose: Southern Cal-Ohio State; Orange: Florida State-Oklahoma; Cotton: Nebraska-Houston; Holiday: Brigham Young-Indiana; Bluebonnet: Purdue-Tennessee; Sun: Texas-Washington; Fiesta: Pitt-Arizona; Gator: Michigan-North Carolina; Hall of Fame: South Carolina-Missouri; Peach: Baylor-Clemson; Liberty: Penn State-Tulane; Tangerine: Wake Forest-LSU; Garden State: Temple-California; Independence: McNeese State-Syracuse.

Shealy threw a 28-yard touchdown pass to Keith Pugh in the second period and scored on a 1-yard plunge, giving Alabama a 14-3 halftime lead before the Crimson Tide gave the ball away four times in the third quarter, three in its own territory.

However, Auburn managed only 10 points out of those gifts on Jorge Portela's 39-yard field goal and Charlie Trotman's screen pass to Joe Cribbs, a 36-yard play with eight seconds left in the period.

Unwanted Cougars Order Cotton Bowl Credentials

By The Associated Press
Two weeks ago the Houston Cougars were feeling unwanted and downhearted. The Cougars were convinced the major bowls — the Sugar Bowl in particular — had dealt them a losing hand by making an agreement with Texas and Arkansas. But there was still a longshot Cotton Bowl chance. The only hope Houston had left was to win all of its games and turn to the Texas Aggies. The Aggies dealt the Cougars in like long lost brothers. Now, it's Houston in the Cotton Bowl against Nebraska, Arkansas in the Sugar against Alabama, and Texas in the Sun Bowl, capping one of the wildest Southwest Conference campaigns in the books. The Aggies shocked Texas 13-7 while at Rice Stadium, Houston routed Rice 63-0 with its students giving "Gig 'Em" cries and the band playing the Aggie War Hymn.

"It's beautiful, like a dream come true," said Houston running back John Newhouse, who scored three touchdowns against Rice. "I wish we could have gotten to the Cotton Bowl alone, but we'll take it this way."

Newhouse spent most of the second half, listening to the Aggie-Texas game on the radio as Houston routed Rice on the field.

"I really didn't know if we could make it back again," said Newhouse. "We heard all that stuff about Arkansas and Texas and felt like the bowl people were being dishonest with us."

Houston linebacker David Hodge said

"For one day we were Aggie fans. And the Aggies came through for us."

By the fourth quarter Houston coach Bill Yeoman had attached a cotton ball to his lapel while Cougar cheerleaders milled about, giving "Gig 'em" gestures.

In the locker, Yeoman asked his team: "Do we vote on this?" "Hell no," the players replied.

"We accept with more pleasure than will ever know," Yeoman answered.

Yeoman said later, "It's very gratifying for the kids to go back to the Cotton Bowl, but the important thing really was a share of the conference championship."

Arkansas and Houston shared the co-championship. Texas finished third, Baylor fourth, Texas A&M fifth, SMU sixth, Texas Tech seventh, TCU eighth and Rice last.

Houston meets Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl while Arkansas seemed to be most happy playing Alabama in the Sugar. Texas goes against Washington Dec. 23 in the Sun Bowl.

"This whole state is pretty excited," said Arkansas coach Lou Holtz. "It's always exciting to play the No. 1 team in the nation. Of course, you can't be too intelligent if you're actually happy about playing Alabama since they're so good."

Holtz has coached against Alabama coach Bear Bryant just once, when Holtz was in charge of the defensive secondary at South Carolina. "We had excellent preparation and a great game plan," said Holtz. "We held the score, I believe to 42-0."

World Gymnastics Meet Opens At FW

FORT WORTH (AP) — The pressure is on for two Japanese gymnasts who have what could be their last chance to dethrone reigning world champion Nikolai Andrianov of the Soviet Union.

The Russian and Japanese men's teams were favored to sweep their events, which opened with compulsory today, in the 20th World Gymnastics Championships. The Japanese, led by veterans Eizo Kenmotsu and Shigeru Kasamatsu, will defend their 1978 world championship team title.

Kenmotsu, 31, and Kasamatsu, 32 — considered "mature" by gymnastic standards — both have discussed retirement after the 1980 Olympics.

Andrianov, 27, has been a consistent gold medalist for the Soviets since 1975 when he took a combined first at the European Championships. He has taken gold medals in combinations at every succeeding competition he entered, including the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.

Andrianov earned his superstar status with consistent performances in all six men's events, executing a dazzling open double somersault on four instruments.

Kenmotsu, the senior member of the Japanese team, has appeared in world competitions for 11 years. Known for his attention to detail, the physical education professor's strength rests on the pommel-horse and the parallel bars.

Kasamatsu may threaten defending champ Kurt Thomas on the floor exercise, although the seven-year competitor has had several recent disappointments — particularly an attack of appendicitis hours before the team competitions in Montreal.

Thomas, who brought men's gymnastics to the attention of many Americans, also shows strength on the horizontal bars. Thomas and Oklahoma Bart Conner hope to lead the Americans to a bronze team medal here and a berth in Moscow in 1980.

Conner, 21, fresh from a gold medal on the pommel-horse at this year's World Cup, will take a shot at the "Grand Master" of that event, Zoltan Magyar of Hungary. Conner also has increased the level of difficulty on his high bar, parallel bars and floor exercise.

Magyar snared his first gold medal in the pommel-horse at the 1973 European Championships, and has dominated that event since then. Trying for his third consecutive world title, Magyar, 26, and coach Laszlo Vigh have been polishing his longest and most exciting routine for debut here.

Kansas City Stifles Celts' Bird

By The Associated Press
Because of Scott Wedman's defense, foul trouble and a poor shooting night, center Larry Bird of the Boston Celtics was merely mortal against the Kansas City Kings.

"He had one of those nights to prove he's human and he's a rookie," said Boston coach Bill Fitch after Bird was held to four points in the Kings' 94-88 victory Sunday night.

"He was just stinko tonight, but he'll bounce back," said Fitch.

"I didn't want to take bad shots when I was in a shooting slump," said Bird, who took only four shots — making one — in 28 minutes of action as the Celtics saw a six-game winning streak snapped.

Kansas City didn't shoot well, either, making just 37 of its 93 field goal attempts for 39.8 percent accuracy. The shooting by both teams was most evident in the third quarter, when Kansas City outscored Boston 15-14.

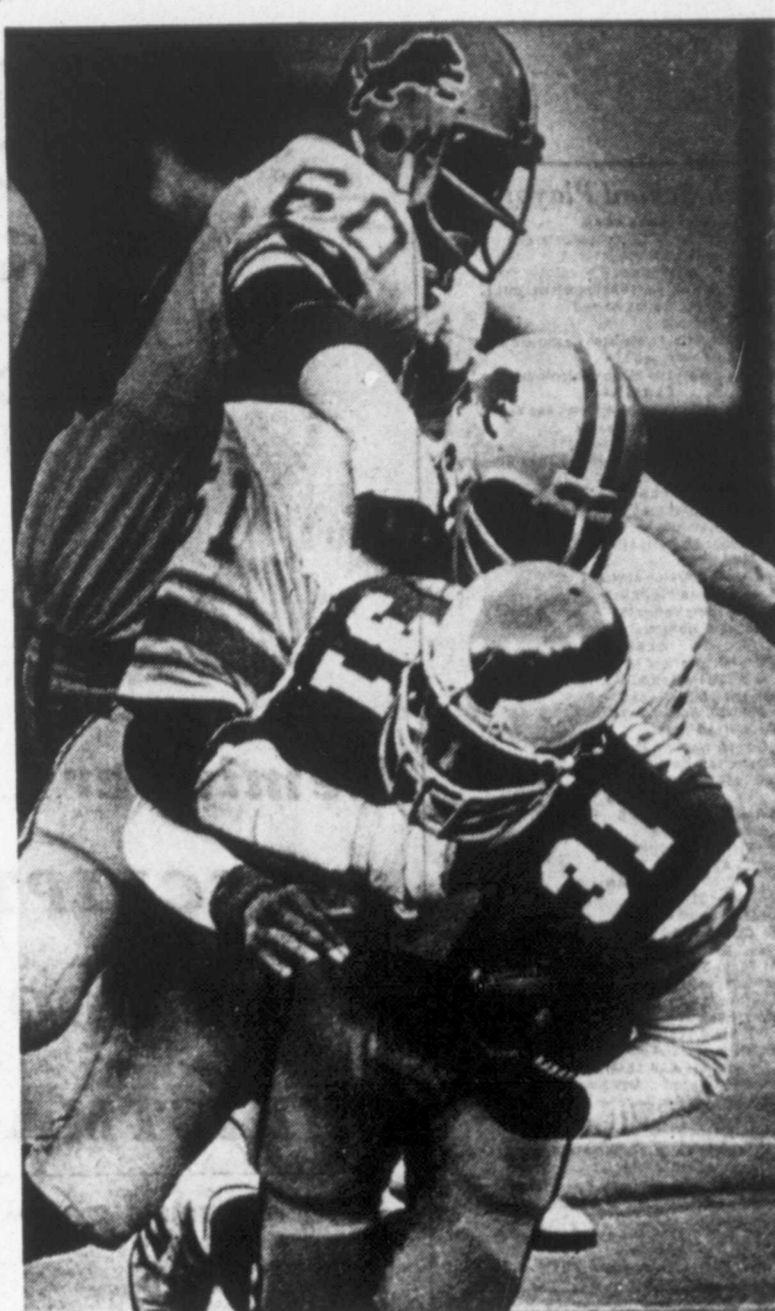

Wedman, who led Kansas City scorers with 16 points, suffered a facial cut with 6:34 remaining when he was knocked to the floor by the swinging elbow of Boston's M.L. Carr.

"I was on the wing and started to cut through. The next thing I knew, I was on the floor," said Wedman. "I saw stars. I hit the ground and stayed there."

"He (Carr) was handchecking me earlier and I was hitting his hands so I could move, but that's the only thing that preceded that."

Carr was ejected from the game.

Nate Archibald led Boston scorers with 21 points.

Baseball Owners Eye New Team In Denver

TORONTO (AP) — Baseball men gathered in this snow-draped Canadian metropolis Monday for the start of their annual convention and they are expected to devote much of their behind-the-scenes conversations to the man who isn't here — Charles O. Finley.

Questions buzzed:

Is Charlie O.'s shaky Oakland franchise ready to be bartered off to Denver oil tycoon Marvin Davis and transferred to the mile-high Colorado city?

Or is Finley, the wily maverick, again tweaking the establishment's nose, putting on a big tease and suddenly becoming obstinate on a deal that was believed all but signed, sealed and delivered?

As baseball's hierarchy assembled to explore the state of the game and make whatever adjustments are necessary, including a close look at the impending players agreement, the consensus appeared to be that there will be big league baseball in Denver next season.

A definite settlement of the issue will not be made here because Finley has thrown up some last minute road blocks — as he did before when the move to Denver appeared imminent — but the move is still very much alive.

Baseball men point out that in 1970 when Seattle moved to Milwaukee, the final decision was not made until January. Yet the franchise was ready for the season opener in April.

"When is a contract not a contract?" one high-placed American League official quipped. "When you're dealing with Charlie Finley."

The Associated Press learned three weeks ago that the Oakland-to-Denver deal had been virtually settled and Davis had even begun assembling an administrative staff with a Yankee accent.

Al Rosen, former president of the Yankees, was being wooed away from his lucrative Atlantic City casino job to take over the top job. Bob Lemon, the former manager of the Yankees, was to take over field duties.

Rosen and Lemon, both at the last minute, cancelled reservations to attend the baseball meetings. So did Davis, who when told in Palm Springs, Calif., of reports that the deal had been completed, snapped.

"That's baloney. No deal has been consummated. We're not closer to an agreement. We are farther apart. That's why I didn't go to the meetings."

Finley also failed to show up, sending instead his brother, Carl, a vice-president of the A's.

NM Senator Blames Regents In Cage Scandal

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The University of New Mexico Board of Regents must take much of the blame for allegations resulting from a federal investigation involving the Lobo basketball program, Sen. Aubrey Dunn, D-Otero, said Sunday.

But Dunn also said the Legislature, the governor and UNM President William E. Davis should take some responsibility for events that led to allegations of bribery and transcript-fixing and the suspension Friday of coach Norm Ellenberger and his top recruiting assistant, Manny Goldstein.

Dunn and Gov. Bruce King told a group of newspaper editors they were alarmed and concerned by an FBI probe into possible violations of federal law involving credits of a Lobo basketball player who transferred to the university from a California junior college.

King, asked whether the university regents should have been more aware of what transpired in the UNM basketball program, replied, "There has been a certain amount of concern in my mind along these lines. But everyone has to accept some responsibility and we'll go from there."

"I don't think Charlie is coming," Carl said. "But you never know. I do know that he says he is anxious to sell the club."

In Chicago, Charlie O. said: "No, we haven't sold the team. Nothing is settled."

Earlier in the week, Lake View coach Jim Slaughter had made a statement that's probably haunting him today.

"Estacado's best offense," said the Chief coach, "is probably their tailback sweep."

As it turned out, the Lake View coach knew what he was talking about.

But the play that seemed to turn the entire course of the game around didn't come in the fourth period. No, it happened midway through the second quarter.

Lake View had just cashed in a Matador fumble and taken a 7-0 lead. Spirits were soaring in San Angelo Stadium — but the celebration didn't last long.

Matadors Send Warning To Semifinal Opponent

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Heading into the Estacado locker room following the Matadors' 21-7 victory over San Angelo Lake View Friday night, a frostbitten Mat fan was heard to give a little piece of advice.

"You'd better be careful in there," was the warning. "Those guys are liable to be walking on the ceiling."

And darned if he wasn't right.

Those Estacado Matadors were sky-high in San Angelo Friday night — and they had good reason to be. Held in check for more than three quarters, the Mats exploded as they have done so often this year and emerged with a tough 20-7 victory.

And post-game interviews weren't much of a success. Mostly, the responses amounted to "We're No. 1!" chants from everyone in the locker room. And middle linebacker Stacy Burrell, who had a big game for the Mats, issued a warning to the McKinney Tigers.

"You writing a letter?" asked Burrell. "Well, you send one to McKinney." He said, "You tell 'em we're gonna take 'em."

"The way the Matadors are playing now, Burrell just may be right.

But until the Mats' two fourth-period touchdowns, the Chief defense had held them almost completely in check. With the score tied 7-7 and just over seven minutes remaining, most observers in the press box were tallying up penetrations and first downs.

At that point the teams were even in penetrations and Lake View held a 7-4 edge in first downs.

But then lightning struck.

Kelvin White turned the corner and went 53 yards for a touchdown and the Matadors were in the Class AAA semifinals for the second straight year. Moments later, Estacado got an insurance tally when Warren Lyons snagged a 31-yard pass that put the Mats in business at the Lake View 3. Again White carried it over for the clinching score.

It was quite a turnaround for White, who'd carried the ball five times for zero yards in the first half. In the second, he gained 114 yards on nine totes.

That gave White 1,013 yards on 161 carries this year. But more importantly, it gave Estacado an 11-1 season mark and a trip to Abilene to face McKinney this Saturday.

"We knew that we could break one eventually," explained Estacado coach Louis Kelley after the game. "They'd been containing our sweep for most of the game — but we knew we could break one."

Jerry Gray — who returns punts, kickoffs, plays in the Matador secondary and calls the signals from his quarterback position — hauled in the kickoff around the 7, sprinted towards the sidelines and picked up a wall of blockers. Gray then sprinted the rest of the way untouched and the Matadors were back in the game. And although the Mats had only been able to generate 29 yards of offense in the first half, they were tied 7-7 at the intermission.

"That really gave us a lift," said Kelley.

Lewisville, Temple Advance In Playoffs

By The Associated Press
The second week of the schoolboy football playoffs meant surprise victories for some teams, an unexpected end of the season for others and the sweet taste of revenge for at least one.

Temple turned the cards on Plano and knocked the Wildcats out of the state Class AAAA championship game for the first time since 1978.

Fullback Basilio Martinez scored from the 1-yard line with 5:30 left as Temple nailed down a come-from-behind, 19-16 victory. Plano had ended Temple's playoff hopes last year with a last-minute, 15-14 win.

Lewisville — surprise winners last week over top-ranked Abilene Cooper — (State Playoff Brackettes, Page 6, Sec. D) used two touchdown runs by Freddie Wells and a strong defensive performance to down Arlington Heights 28-12 and advance to the quarterfinals.

Quarterback Brad Robalin passed for two touchdowns and Gilbert Martinez booted a 42-yard field goal as El Paso Coronado thrashed Lubbock Monterey 24-8.

Jim Dippel scored his second touchdown of the game from 7 yards out with 3:18 left as Baytown Lee beat La Porte 29-28. In other Class AAAA playoffs, Trinity shocked Dallas White 14-0; Houston Memorial blanked Houston Kashmere 11-0; Alice blitzed Austin Reagan 31-13; and San Antonio Wheatley slipped past San Antonio Jay 21-20.

Quarterback Johnny Holley scored two touchdowns as McKinney posted a 26-14 win over Mount Pleasant in Class AAAA quarterfinal action, and the Lions advanced to next week's semifinal game against Lubbock Estacado, which beat San Angelo Lake View 21-7.

Bay City won a spot in the AAA semifinals by the narrowest margin. Bay City tied Gregory-Portland 10-10 but advanced to the semifinals by virtue of a 3-2 lead in 20-yard line penetrations.

Joe Broussard intercepted a pass and ran it back 98 yards for a crucial third-period score as Beaumont Hebert beat Brownwood 15-11 in another Class AAAA quarterfinal game.

In Class AA regional action, quarterback Brent Parker and tight end Dale Dixon hooked up on three scoring passes as Breckenridge edged Wylie 21-19.

In other Class AA playoff games, Childers whitewashed Muleshoe 20-0; Fabens stomped Stamford 48-14; Van shocked Pittsburg 7-6; Waller outlasted Port Arthur Austin 33-24; MacGregor edged Marble Falls 12-7; Edna creamed Medina Valley 47-15; and Port Isabel blanked Hallettsville 10-0.

In Class A regional playoffs, New Deal blasted Stratford 47-16; Seagraves whitewashed Haskell 21-0; China Spring blanked San Saba 7-0; Pilot Point sneaked by Wolfe City 20-14; Troup downed Hawkins 21-14; Lovelady outfogged Waskom 28-22; Hull-Daisetta edged Bartlett 8-7; and Falls City beat Comfort 14-0.

In Class B quarterfinals, Wheeler topped Grandfalls 31-6; Valley View beat Windthorst 21-14; Salado blasted Agua Dulce 31-7; and High Island trounced Union Hill 35-6.

Lakers 116, Bucks 103

Norm Nixon had 25 points and nine assists and rookie Earvin "Magic" Johnson added 23 points and 13 assists as Los Angeles beat Milwaukee.

Johnson scored eight of his points during an 18-0 Los Angeles spree that boosted its lead to 102-82 in the fourth quarter. The Lakers' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 19 points and eight blocked shots.

Junior Bridgman collected 30 points for Milwaukee.

SuperSonics 111, Warriors 98

Seattle got 21 points from Gus Williams and double-figure scoring from five others in routing Golden State.

The Warriors, who came closest at 69-60 with 7:17 left in the third period, got 22 points from Robert Parish but still lost their fifth consecutive game and 11th in the last 14.

Cavaliers 126, Hawks 108

Campy Russell got 21 points and Austin Carr 20 as Cleveland crushed Atlanta. The Hawks got 26 points from Charlie Criss and 23 from Tom McMillen, but just four from John Drew, who had two fouls in the first 1½ minutes.

Atlanta also made 30 turnovers — eight by Drew in 16 minutes of play — and missed 15 foul shots. Meanwhile, the Cavaliers' Fouts Walker had 15 points, 10 rebounds, 11 assists and five steals.

Ex-Ag Gridder Wins Shuman Handball Title

Billy Hobbs came from behind in the deciding third game Sunday afternoon to defeat defending champion Mike Owen and capture the 1979 Dean Shuman Handball Tournament crown.

Hobbs, a former Texas A&M all-America linebacker and professional football player, was down 7-4 in the 11-point tiebreaker but rallied to upend Owen 11-8 to claim the title.

Hobbs won the first game of the match 21-18, only to lose the second 21-3 to set up the tiebreaker.

Consolation honors in Class A went to A.J. Pirkle, who defeated Randy Sanders 21-13, 21-12.

Class B honors were won by Dick Powell, who turned back Weldon Knebe 21-13, 21-16 in the championship match. Steven Cook upended Manuel Marquez 9-21, 21-20, 11-5 to take B consolation honors.

The Masters class was won by Tito Arencibia, who triumphed over Larry Higgins 21-5, 21-11. John Preston took consolation in the Masters class by turning back Don Meador 21-17, 19-21, 11-9.

Publication Contains News For Businesses

By GERARD W. COFFEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — The courier rides through the streets of Manhattan about dawn each day, delivering to the doorsteps of several corporations a 2½-pound publication unlike anything available on the newsstands.

It looks nothing like a newspaper, has only a handful of clients, carries an annual subscription price of $18,000 and is intricately cross-referenced.

The report is a daily news intelligence service called ACCESS, a compilation of business and political news for multinational corporations and banks that brings to its subscribers news from foreign and domestic sources not readily accessible.

Most major companies and banks have public relations or news staffs that go through the major daily newspapers and the major news and trade periodicals to compile news and information of use to their executives.

Publisher Stanley Stillman, a Harvard lawyer who gave up his job as a Time magazine business writer to found ACCESS, emphasizes that it is designed to supplement, not substitute for, a corporation's own intelligence-gathering effort.

"It provides basic information, but it also fills in the blanks, giving a more comprehensive picture from several reports on the same topic, from sources not readily available," says Stillman.

The summary section looks more like the CIA's daily intelligence estimate than a newspaper.

Among the more than 50 news sources contained in a typical day's edition are the Atlanta Business Chronicle, Far Eastern Economic Review, New African, Australian Financial Review, Jerusalem Post, Die Welt and the Johannesburg Star.

The report features a daily business and political news brief; a news watch section of developing stories; an index of stories cross-referenced by geography and subject, and photostat copies of the stories themselves. An item about an oil find in Venezuela would be cited under South America, energy, Venezuela, oil, etc.

"What we're providing our clients for $18,000 a year is a product that would cost them more than five times that amount to produce themselves," says Stillman, citing staff salaries, source subscriptions, duplicating and other costs.

"We're also giving them information on events and people that sometimes does not appear in the major newspapers and periodicals until days or weeks later — or sometimes not at all — because of space limitations."

DR. LAMB

Unable To Lose

By LAWRENCE LAMB, MD.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I want to comment in reference to your column about the lady who was unable to lose weight even though she only consumed a 1300-calorie diet and engaged in a vigorous exercise program daily. I gather you felt that she either couldn't count calories well or might not be telling the truth. But I am like her and I know other women with the same problem.

I use the term hypometabolic to describe this condition. It's a slow metabolism that's not hypothyroid. I take one grain of thyroid and can burn nine calories per pound of body weight for 24 hours if I also follow a program of long-distance running. Of course, I only weigh 100 pounds so I can only eat about 900 calories a day.

I think there are a number of women who have this problem and they have difficulties because they ask advice from a male-dominated medical establishment. Instead of getting help, they're humiliated. We're told we're not possible and we can't count or that we're crazy or liars or all of the above. Maybe after doctors admit we exist they will be able to study this problem and help us.

DEAR READER — As I've indicated before, there are certain laws of nature that can't be changed. You are absolutely right that if a person really didn't use very many calories he would get fat on a relatively low-calorie diet. The law of energy simply is that if you consume more calories than your body uses, you will accumulate fat. And in order to lose body fat, which is nothing more than stored energy, you have to take in fewer calories than your body uses.

Now anyone who thinks that he or she is one of the low metabolism group you speak of can easily have it verified. All you have to do is have your doctor request a basal metabolism rate test. This is an old test in medicine based on how much oxygen the body consumes. It's done in the resting state and after a good night's rest and with the person fasting. Lying there resting for an hour the total amount of oxygen used at absolute rest can be measured.

The technician can multiply the liters of oxygen the body actually used by 4.825 to determine how many calories the body uses for one hour at absolute rest. By multiplying this by 24 hours, you can determine how many calories the body would use if you stayed in bed and rested all day long. The normal adult will use between 1400 and 1800 calories a day under such circumstances.

Clearly, if you adjust the diet for such a person to provide exactly the same number of calories that the body uses if it rested for the entire 24 hour period, that individual would be consuming fewer calories than the body would use when you're up and active part of the day. So your question can be easily verified with facts rather than argued about.

Using available formulas, your basal calorie requirement for a full day are only about 1000 calories. But your individual requirements could be calculated with the method I just described.

Readers who want a balanced diet plan to help lose excess body fat can send 75 cents with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope for The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. Send your request to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Humorist Started By Accident

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — One-liners, a goatee, wire-rimmed glasses and a battered felt hat are the tools of Jack Taylor's trade.

"They are what Taylor, a traveling humorist, uses to shift into his act as Timothy Hays, mavor of Whoopup.

"I don't have a message I leave that to the motivators, the more serious speakers," Taylor said in an interview.

"If I can just make them laugh, I think there's value to that."

The 75-year-old former newspaper editor and University of Missouri alumni magazine editor retired in 1970. He said he had moonlighted on the rumor circuit during most of his 21 years of employment at the university.

To prepare, he dons his goatee, the glasses and hat and launches into his routine — rapid-fire gags in a grassroots, country style.

CHILL MELONS

Melons should be served slightly chilled, but not so cold that their subtle flavor is masked. Before serving, they should be cut open and the pulpy mass of seeds scooped out. All ripe melons should be refrigerated and used as soon as possible.

cent appearance before a Chattanooga civic club.

Money isn't everything — but it does keep you in touch with your children.

"My wife dresses fit to kill — and she cooks the same way.

"It's tough when you reach your September years and realize you blew July and August."

Taylor, who lives in Columbia, Mo., said he now averaged 100 appearances a year. He says his lines, for the most part, aren't original.

"Not hardly any of them," he said in telephone interview. "You just steal 'em where you can get 'em."

He slipped into doing humor by accident, back in 1947.

He had put aside a journalism career, which included employment by The Associated Press and two newspapers — the Sedalia (Mo.) Capital and Canton (Ill.) Daily Ledger — and became involved in making highway-safety movies showed by the Missouri Highway Patrol. In the movies, he used the name "Timothy Hays."

He was also editing farm publications and, invited to participate in entertainment at several farm-club programs, dubbed himself Timothy Hays, mavor of Whoopup, adopting the name of a small town near Columbia, Mo.

Taylor, originally from Hartman, Ark., said he had averaged about 40 appearances a year moonlighting, while employed by the university.

He said his jokes involved middle age "and then some," marriage "and other perils."

Taylor said, "It's corny, but I get a kick out of it."

Catalogs Offer Extravagant Gifts For Christmas

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Catalog browsing at this time of year should squelch any gloom-and-doomers who say this nation is in a recession.

What recession? That's the only possible reaction to the cornucopia of costly gifts offered for Santa's pack.

How about diamond rings for close to $1 million each? A space age multi-satellite antenna that for $36,500 can be installed in your own backyard and add 100 more channels to your television set? A mink jogging suit for $10,000? "His" and "Hers" dirigibles at $50,000 each? A jeweled needlepoint set at $8,000? A gold-and-platinum lighter with precious jewel studding for $15,000 and its matching pipe for $3,000? An architect-designed home health center at $1.650 million?

"Gold that buys health can never be ill spent," tis said. There's plenty of gold in them thar catalogs, but it'll cost more this holiday giving season. So will silver, platinum, diamonds and other precious stones. All are costing more this year than last and prices are busily fluctuating.

"We are putting costs at a minimum of 10 percent higher than last year," said a spokesman at Cartier, which offers that needlepoint set — a thimble and scissors with cabachon rubies and round diamonds studding 18-karat gold and platinum.

Tiffany's said prices on gold and silver had nearly doubled since it began com-

Building Blocks

Made Of Gold

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sculptor Roland Gebhardt offers the ultimate gift for the child who has everything else — a 24-karat gold building block set for $46,000. Sales tax is extra.

In less expensive versions, you can get the "Pieces of Eight," as it's called, at $29,000 for 18 karat, $19,000 for 14 karat, and in aluminum and teak for $90.

In that 24-karat version, the blocks weigh in at 57 ounces. Each piece, approximately three-quarters of an inch by three-quarters by 2-1/2 inches, is identically shaped and can be arranged in an endless variety of configurations.

"Kids get the system fast," said the sculptor. "Adults are more inhibited... they tend to think flat instead of dimensionally."

Gebhardt, who's done multiples before, said the new "toy" grew from a form he always had on a table in his New York studio. "People were always playing with it," he said, "so a friend said why not market it?"

Autonomics, Inc., was formed with the friend, Robert Spalten, as partner. Gebhardt signs one block of each set.

The sculptor has had both one-man and group shows of his works in New York and at the Hudson River Museum.

piling its catalog last May. Gold has gone from $247.30 an ounce on May 1 to $395.25 now. In that same time, silver rose from $7.99 an ounce to $16.79.

Many fine jewelry stores are not listing prices on major pieces because, "They're one of a kind and you couldn't post a price, really," as a spokesman for Van Cleef & Arpels put it. "It's like a collector seeing a Cezanne that interests him...He'll go look."

Cartier and Tiffany don't post prices on some of their one-of-a-kind items either but their catalogs feature prices on most other items.

Tiffany, for instance, advertises a marquise-cut diamond set in platinum to make a ring priced at $985,100 and a pear-shaped diamond at the same price. Another emerald-cut diamond ring in platinum setting is $850,000.

Nieman-Marcus, headquartered in Dallas, offered that dish-shaped antenna pointing directly to a satellite in orbit above the equator, giving the viewer the options that include 2,000 sports events yearly, 6,000 hours of special children's programming, 10,000 movies, and such as live nightclub show from Las Vegas or New York, and sessions of the U.S. House of Representatives. You have to have a Federal Communications license — application included — as well as authorization from program distributors including first-year fees.

The N-M dirigibles, 120 feet long and powered by a 72-horsepower engine, are called completely collapsible and portable. Cruise at 25 miles per hour and come with full flight instructions.

Dunhill's offered that one-of-a-kind lighter and matching pipe in 18-karat gold and platinum studded with diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires. And a one-of-a-kind chess set, tri-level, made of porcelain, sells for $10,000.

Many of the 1979 catalog offerings stress gifts for health and fitness, for warmth when thermostats are lowered, and the influence of traveling exhibits at leading museums also shows in fine reproductions of such as items from the treasures of Tutankhamun, the Pompeii, and the Gold of El Dorado, now on view at the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

Sakowitz, headquartered in Houston, featured 13 ways to give the gift of health ranging from $48 to $1.650 million. For $48, it offered membership in the Aerobics International Research Society, a book on aerobics, and a ball-bearing jumping rope.

That "ultimate" home health center will include his-and-her locker rooms, whirlpool sauna, steam room, indoor track and gym, universal exercise room, first aid room and a health food lounge and bar.

The store said it had no takers yet on the home health center but several purchases of motorized home treadmill at $2,295 and the exersentry heart rate monitor to be worn while exercising, at $345. It had one inquiry from a West Texas woman interested in the Texas-shaped swimming pool filled with Perrier water at $127,174.32. She didn't want the bubbly and she wanted a smaller pool.

Sakowitz said it had sold a couple of three styles of classic contemporary cars it offered, the MG-TD "replicar" at $9,250. No takers, yet, on its Aston Martin Volante V8, at $79,000, and La Crosse, at $65,000.

There are all sorts of car reproductions around. Hammacher Schlemmer, of New York, still offers its half-scale Model T Ford at $995.

And to keep warm when the thermostat is low, there is its floor heating pad which it says uses less electricity than a 100 watt bulb, at $22.95.

Dozens of stores offer electrified foot stools and sack robes, quilted and enveloping, but with snap fasteners so they can be converted into comforters for twin or full size beds. Plummer McCutcheon, New York, prices one at $89.50.

In the keep warm, and keep fit, division, is Bloomingdale's sheared mink jogging outfit, the mink dyed navy with red stripes down the sides and around the throat, at $10,000.

To keep fit while disco-ing, or maybe to ward off the bruises, are knee pads, elbow pads and wings in pink, purple, green, silver, gold or bronze quilted lame, each for under $30. Also available, a helmet.

Hardly to keep fit, but in the action mood anyway, are the offerings of chocolate shaped like sneakers, shoes, and skates, and boots. Several stores offer their charge plate replicas in chocolate (good only for eating, not charging). Bloomingdale's also offers a solid chocolate chess set (edible) for $75. Neiman-Marcus molded hefty pieces of chocolate into the shape of a molar for those with a sweet tooth, for $10.

Money's no object for the offbeat Christmas present? The Neiman-Marcus catalog advertises professional chimney sweeps. Dee and David, dressed in traditional top hat, tails and red scarves, who not only will clean the chimney for $3,000 plus travel expenses but then will sing and dance numbers from recent Broadway hits.

Some of the costliest furs around come from the Dallas-based store where man's black-dyed Swakara karakul lamb cape goes for $5,000, a throw for her in natural Russian lynx bellies is $100,000 and a sable from the Leningrad auctions covers her to the tune of $100,000.

Ron Foppen of the catalog division said the store expected to sell "about six" of the antennae, it already had sold one dirigible and "probably will sell about 12 as we tailor the dirigible to individual needs."

Foppen said there were no takers yet on the chimney sweeps but its toothpaste package of four tubes flavored with non-intoxicating bourbon and scotch at $10 was a big item.

The store has sold "several" of its British home tours, at $3,000 per person, including four nights in a fine London hotel with theater, shopping and night-life, and the weekend in a stately country home.

Bloomingdale's, New York-based, will take you to Texas in style — three days of revelry in April during the Fiesta San Antonio including a rodeo, at $225 per person, exclusive of travel costs. The store also has lined up evenings in New York at the Joffrey Ballet, a Victorian evening at Lincoln Center, and the Gold of El Dorado museum exhibit, with some of the costs a donation and thus tax deductible.

"The most unforgettable, extravagant, exciting gift of the year" is offered by Paelzer Brothers, Chicago — a gourmet dinner prepared by Louis Szathmar, cookbook author and owner-chef of The Bakery, a Chicago restaurant.

Chef Louis and his assistant will prepare the meal, anywhere in the United States, for $5,000 for a party of eight. If you don't want to give such a party, give a gift certificate to someone on your list.

The Boehm studio has done porcelain reproductions of treasures from the Tutankhamun exhibit, which recently toured some U.S. cities.

The porcelains, marketed through Kruckemeyer and Cohn, Evansville, Ind., include the cheetah head at $275 and the famous gold mask of the boy king at $2,700 editions limited to 1,000.

Less expensive are designs the American Museum of Natural History is selling from the Pompeii exhibit including bronze statuary, needlepoint kits, and a jigsaw puzzle. From its Gold of El Dorado, there are 30 posters produced in cooperation with Colombia's Museo del Oro, home of the world's largest collection of pre-Columbian gold, at $9.95, plus fairly inexpensive designs reproduced on umbrellas, tote bags, scarves, jewelry and neckties.

There's a little something expensive for everybody this year in shops along Rodeo Drive, the glamour shopping street in the heart of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Frances Klein, antique jewelers, offers a 55-karat Art Deco diamond necklace made in 1925 in Paris for Rosey Dolly of the Dolly Sisters, at $155,000.

Knight's Limited has a replica of a 19th century oil well pump, with moving parts, hand-made in brass with a personalized name plate, for $1,400, and a replica of a ship's hull, split so you can see the working parts. Made into a desk lamp base, it also sells for $1,400.

Jerry Magnin and Polo of Rodeo Drive feature a multi-colored mink ski jacket at $2,995. And Right Bank Clothing Co. has a 10-inch tall Teddy bear in his own straw basket for $800 in light mink, $650 for dark.

Gump's, San Francisco, features six-panel, 18th century Japanese screens at $45,000 a pair, and many items of white nephrite, a variety of jade, as vases or animal arnings, ranging from $3,500 to $12,500.

For the gadget minded, the Citizen Watch of America, Lynhurst, N.J., has a watch that keeps track of time at home, and simultaneously in any other part of the world. Of double-faced precision quartz, the Digi-Ana is battery-powered, displays the time in hours, minutes and seconds in either the conventional two-hour or the military 24-hour segments, has a calendar that gives day, date and month, chimes every hour on the hour and has a 24-hour alarm that will beep until you shut it off. It comes in stainless steel, $195, and gold-filled, at $230.

A forerunner of the digital is Cartier's pocket watch, circa 1925, which records the hours in a small window with the minutes indicated on a perimeter track. Price, $12,000.

There are plenty of offbeat gifts and "stocking stuffers."

Tiffany's offers a gold paper clip at $100, several stores feature gold collar stays at $150 and under, Horchow's in Dallas has a "bah humbug" necktie at $14.50, and sticks of cinnamon to stir and flavor mulled or other drinks.

Santa Claus and Teddy bear characters, six inches tall, are sculptures of flexible plastic mold. Fill the molds with tap water, freeze, unmold and have your own ice sculptures for $8 each figure.

At I. Magnin, San Francisco, you can get a 14-karat gold matchbook cover with a diamond solitaire stud, for him or her, at $890, assorted brushes with handles of 14-karat gold plate include a nail brush at $23, a toothbrush at $17, and a shaving brush at $28.50.

Believing that straight gin was dangerous, British naval surgeon Sir T.O. Gimlette invented the "healthy cocktail" — the gimlet — by diluting gin with lime juice in 1890.

ERA Backer Awaiting Verdict

STERLING, Va. (UPI) — Sonia Johnson says she hopes she won't have to wait too long to find out whether Mormon Church elders will decide to excommunicate her for campaigning in favor of the Equal Rights Amendment.

"I hope it (the waiting) doesn't go on too long," she said after a three-man church panel told her Saturday night that it would reveal its decision in a few days.

Hours after the end of her three-hour trial before the panel, Mrs. Johnson got up early and went to her church to play the organ, perhaps for the last time. She was accompanied by a number of witnesses who had testified for her before the Mormon court.

Bishop Jeffrey Willis — who both presented the case against her and heads the court — will notify her, probably in a letter, of the panel's decision, Mrs. Johnson said.

Mrs. Johnson, a fifth-generation Mormon, heads "Mormons for ERA," and has campaigned in favor of the amendment around the country. The Mormon church opposes the amendment on grounds it would lead to the breakup of the family.

Mrs. Johnson said during the hearing Saturday neither she nor her four witnesses were allowed to say the words "Equal Rights Amendment" because Willis deemed them out of order.

"How can they understand me, if they don't understand what motivated me?" she asked.

Willis said after the trial: "This procedure was conducted in harmony with the doctrine of the church government. Sister Johnson's position on the proposed Equal Rights Amendment ... was not an issue before us."

He said the real issue was whether she had given outsiders the wrong impression of the Mormon Church during her pro-ERA campaign.

As an alternative to excommunicating Mrs. Johnson, the tribunal could reprimand her or place her on one of a number of forms of church probation. There are several tiers of church officials to whom she could appeal the verdict.

Gas Rationing Now Statewide

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 43 California counties that imposed no restrictions on gasoline purchases today joined 15 others in implementing odd-even restrictions on the sales of gasoline.

Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. ordered the restrictions statewide. Earlier this year, the most populous counties in California adopted such restrictions as gas supplies temporarily became scarce.

Some public officials, dealers and law enforcement officials have criticized the requirement, which will restrict gasoline purchases to days that correspond with the odd or even numbers on motorists' license tags.

"This is a fine example of the state saying 'Here's a program and you're going to pay for it,'" said San Joaquin County Supervisor Doug Wilhoit. "Brown's action was too quick and too much."

Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, R-Roseville, called the odd-even plan "extremely damaging to the state's economy, especially in rural areas depending on tourism."

There are several exceptions to the requirements, one of them permitting the sale of gas on any day to motorists who can prove they are more than 100 miles from their homes.

DECISION TO COME — Sonia Johnson, left, is shown at a Mormon Church in Fairfax, Va., this weekend with Esther Peterson, President Carter's consumer affairs adviser. ## Banished Mennonite Being Tried On Charges Of Abducting Wife

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Robert Bear, condemned to what he calls a "living hell" for challenging the Reformed Mennonite Church, stands trial today on charges of abducting his wife who shunned him.

The ultra-conservative church excommunicated him seven years ago. And the 50-year-old farmer, unsuccessful in a series of battles in the courts, hopes the trial will focus on his plight.

His personal holy war is aimed at shunning — a 400-year-old sanction that bans church members, including Bear's wife and six children, from having any business or social contact with him.

Now free on $30,000 bond, Bear does not deny allegations that he picked up his wife in his arms at a farmers market and detained her for over 30 minutes in an attempt to take her home.

"I'm glad I was arrested. It will help get to the root of this more directly," said Bear in September.

And he is unafraid of the prospect of prison. "Out of jail or in, this existence is worse than death. If it continues, jail doesn't matter," he said.

Bear is accused of assault, disorderly conduct, unlawful restraint and false imprisonment. According to police, he forced his wife, Gale, into the cab of his truck. The charges carry a maximum jail sentence of 10 years.

Bear's problems began in 1972 when he was excommunicated from the 500-member church by his wife's brother, Bishop Glenn Gross.

Bear had criticized Gross, whose authority under Mennonite doctrine is equal to God's, for giving communion to the bishop's parents after one had accused the other of infidelity.

His ostracism was so complete that his wife refused to sleep with him or cook for him. With his children shunning him also, he moved out of his Cumberland County farmhouse into a bare house trailer.

"My own son told me I was crazy. My little girl called me a bastard," said Bear, who has since written a book entitled "Delivered Unto Satan."

His parents died shortly after his ordeal began. And Bear said, "To the day they died, they looked at me in disgust."

A judge refused to overturn the ban because it was a church matter, even though Bear called it barbaric to be "damned to hell forever."

In 1977, Bear was fined $50 for defiant trespass after breaking into his wife's home in Mechanicsburg. And later that year, he watched 100 acres of his once prosperous potato farm sold at a sheriff's sale to pay off back taxes and debts.

Gross admits the ban exists but denied Bear's charges in a recent interview.

"We have never treated Robert with anything but kindness, and we don't shun people, we excommunicate them," said Gross.

He said the church has not broken up Bear's marriage.

"My sister has a mind of her own. There was trouble between them for more than two years before she finally moved out," the bishop said.

Hostage Dies After Switch

MEQUON, Wis. (AP) — A police chief who persuaded a robbery suspect to let him trade places with two hostages was fatally wounded in a roadside shootout in which his assailant also died, officials say.

Chief Thomas Buntrock, 42, was struck in the head by a shotgun blast Sunday, apparently as he lunged into the back seat of his car in an attempt to overpower his abductor, police said.

Within a matter of seconds, an estimated nine shots were fired, many of them by Ozaukee County deputies and Mequon police as they surged toward the chief's car and killed the man.

"Boom, boom, boom, the cops let loose on the bad guy," said Donna Rhode, who watched the incident in the glare of police car headlights.

Identities of the man and the two hostages were not released immediately.

Authorities said the incident began when a man suspected of robbing a service station was pursued by a patrol car until his car was forced to the roadside. The man fled into a field, authorities said, but shortly afterward a man and his child were taken captive by a man who commandeered their car and drove it down a dead-end road.

When Buntrock arrived, the man left the car containing the hostages and got into the chief's car, which then drove up the street with squad cars close behind.

Gunfire broke out when the chief's car reached a roadblock at a main thoroughfare.

"The windshield was blown right out of the car," said witness Bill Bachman.

Bombing Hurts Official's Wife

BLACK JACK, Mo. (AP) — The wife of a union official suffered minor injuries when a bomb apparently intended for her husband exploded in their van, police said. The husband had been crippled six years ago in a bombing.

It was the second car bombing in the St. Louis area within a month, officials said.

Harriet Callanan, 29, wife of Pipefitter Union official Thomas J. Callanan, was thrown to the pavement by the impact of the blast, which showered her with glass. She was treated for burns and cuts at Christian Hospital Northeast, where she was released early Sunday.

Stock Market Shows Drop At Noon

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was lower today, with mining stocks bucking the trend, as worries over the Iranian situation pushed the price of gold sharply higher and cut the dollar's value on currency exchanges.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off by 1.36 points at 820.82 after being off by nearly 4 points earlier in the session.

Declines outdistanced advances by a 7-5 margin on the New York Stock Exchange as Big Board volume came to 13.43 million shares at noon, up from last Friday's noon volume of 13.19 million.

Gulf & Western led the NYSE most-active list, rising 1/2 to 18 1/2. But an actively traded U.S. Steel was off by 1/4 at 17, while AT&T slid 3/4 to 53 1/4.

Intel, which reported a third-quarter loss of $176.1 million, dropped 5/8 to 5 1/4. Houston Oil & Minerals rose 1/4 to 2 1/4 on the American Stock Exchange after announcing a natural gas discovery off the coast of Texas.

Asarco, which announced a 12 1/2 percent copper price hike today, was up 1 3/4 to 29 1/4. Gold mining issues also rose, with Dome Mines up 1/4 to 44 1/4.

The price of gold jumped by more than $15 an ounce in Europe this morning, and the dollar fell to a record low against the West German mark.

The moves came as Iran's oil minister was quoted as saying the Iranians will ask the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to price its oil in a "basket" of currencies instead of the dollar.

OPEC's oil ministers open their year-end meeting in two weeks in Venezuela.

The NYSE's composite index fell 0.7 to 60.64; the Amex market value index was up .72 at 228.50.

By SYLVIA TEAGUE, Avalanche-Journal Staff

Inflation is the single most important issue facing the United States today, and the federal budget should be balanced, 19th Congressional District voters have told Rep. Kent Hance.

Of the more than 31,000 persons who responded to a districtwide opinion poll on major legislative issues, nearly 94 percent said the federal budget should be balanced and favored a systematic payback of the national debt, even if it means the reduction or elimination of some favorite programs or local projects.

Representatives also showed solidarity on most energy issues. Nearly 90 percent favored a relaxation of environmental standards to allow a greater use of coal, more than 83 percent favored a decontrol of oil prices and 81 percent supported spending federal funds for the research and development of solar energy.

Although nearly 75 percent of those polled said they favored the construction of more nuclear power plants, more than 59 percent said they opposed allowing nuclear waste to be stored in West Texas or eastern New Mexico.

More than 70 percent of the respondents said they would support a delay in banning saccharin, the decontrol of gasoline prices and a tax credit for parents who pay for their children's college education.

However, by a margin of nearly 71 percent, those polled turned thumbs down on a program of national health insurance by which the government would provide basic medical services to all citizens.

The respondents also rejected by nearly 54 percent establishing a single six-year term of office for the president.

Those polled supported, although less strongly, giving the president the authority to ration gas, returning the Post Office to congressional control, reinstating the military draft, reinstating military registration without the draft and maintaining the seven 56 mph speed limit.

Of seven possible problems, those polled were asked to select the single most important issue facing the country today.

Inflation was the choice of 54 percent, followed by energy with nearly 22 percent and defense with 9 percent.

About 6 percent of the respondents selected taxes as the most important issue facing the country, 5 percent chose agriculture, 1.9 percent selected international relations and 1.7 percent chose health.

Hance said the poll "helped reaffirm our beliefs about what people want their government to do."

The poll results reinforced feelings "that people are interested in their government," Hance said.

"People do care about what laws are passed and how those laws will affect them."

Results of the questionnaire are being mailed to respondents this week.

Government Considering Ford Recall

DETROIT (AP) — A federal agency is investigating the possibility that allegedly defective Ford Motor Co. automatic transmissions may have been responsible for as many as 60 deaths, 1,100 injuries and 3,700 accidents, the Detroit Press reports.

The newspaper quoted unidentified National Highway Traffic Safety Administration sources Sunday as saying the agency will decide early next year whether to push for a recall of the 1970 to 1978 models with transmissions believed to slip out of gear.

However, the agency found no physical evidence of any safety flaw after investigating designs of transmissions installed in more than 12 million cars and light trucks, the newspaper said.

Should such a recall be ordered, it would be larger than the record recall of 6.7 million General Motors Corp. vehicles in 1971.

The problem allegedly occurred when a driver, thinking the car has been placed in park, instead positions the shift lever between park and reverse. Engine vibrations or slamming the idling car's door may cause the gear shift to slip into reverse, the NHTSA sources were quoted as saying.

Ford says driver error is the cause of any problem and that it is no more frequent among its models than those of its competitors.

NHTSA surveys show transmission-related accidents are more than 10 times more common with Ford vehicles than with competitors' models.

UFO Story Baffles French Authorities

CERGY-PONTOISE, France (AP) — Authorities in this small town northwest of Paris are trying to decide whether to charge Frank Fontaine and his friends with criminal mischief or launch a search for a mysterious glowing unidentified flying object.

"This is just too fantastic," said Police Chief Roger Courcouis after listening to the testimony of Fontaine, 19, and his two friends, Jean-Pierre Prevot and Salomon N'Diaye, both 25.

Fontaine, who had been the object of a police search since last Monday, reappeared today in the exact spot where he disappeared a week ago, his friends reported. They said he was wearing the same clothes and had exactly the same amount of money as the day he vanished.

Police said the three have consistently repeated this same story under long questioning.

At 4 a.m. last Monday, the three young men had just finished loading a station wagon with clothes they were going to sell at an open market when they saw a brilliant light about the size of a tennis ball to the right of the car.

The ball became larger and larger and came to a rest on the hood of the car, causing their eyes to burn. From that moment, until his reappearance this morning, Fontaine remembers nothing. Prevot and N'Diaye left Fontaine to watch the car as they ran home to get a camera. When they returned, their friend was gone. The car was there with the door open and a halo of light surrounded the car. The halo suddenly disappeared.

Just as mysteriously as he vanished, Fontaine reappeared at 4:30 a.m. today, in exactly the same spot, the story went. When he saw the car was gone, he thought it had been stolen and rushed to the house of N'Diaye.

Seeing his friend in his pajamas, he said: "What are you doing in your pajamas? Five minutes ago you were ready to leave for Gisors."

Police checked the young man—and the spot where he supposedly disappeared with a geiger counter but found no trace of radioactivity. Nor was there any trace of mud on Fontaine's clothes or shoes.

Courcouis said Fontaine has not varied his story one bit and his tale conforms exactly with the testimony of his two friends. But police remain skeptical and have called in experts from the Group for the Study of Non-Identified Aerospace Phenomena, a section of the French National Space Agency.

Bifocal eyeglasses, with the upper part for viewing distant objects and the lower for near, were invented by Benjamin Franklin.

Mary Martin Returns To TV In ABC Movie

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It's been four decades since Mary Martin, wrapped in a mink coat, exploded on Broadway in "Leave It To Me" singing "My Heart Belongs To Daddy."

It's also been 34 years since the pert, classy musical star has appeared in a movie — "True to Life," with Dick Powell, Franchot Tone and Victor Moore for Paramount Pictures.

It's been at least 10 years since Mary starred in a TV show — not counting a rerun of "Peter Pan" six or so years ago.

But Mary has never retired. At 66, she pops up as sassy and energetic as ever Friday co-starring with Jack Albertson in the two-hour ABC-TV movie, "Valentine."

Mary plays a 70-year-old widow who meet and falls in love with an old goat (Albertson) in a retirement community and, over the objections of her daughter, runs off on a vacation with her elderly boyfriend.

"It's the first new thing I've done for television in years," Mary said happily. "But it's difficult for me to say just how long it is because, when I think of the past, I think in terms of five or 10 years being a long time."

"I'm shocked when I realize that I did 'South Pacific' 30 years ago. Shocked because I still think and feel as if I were 19."

Mary has lived in Palm Springs for the past six years, following the death of Richard Halliday, her husband of 33 years, in 1973.

Content to swim in her pool every day and visit with her close friend and neighbor, Janet Gaynor, Mary hasn't felt the need to work. She frequently is visited by daughter Heller and son Larry Hagman.

Mary is financially independent and free to pick and choose whatever projects come her way, although it takes considerable prodding to lure the star away from her large desert home nestled among the citrus and palm trees.

She says she will miss her neighbor when Miss Gaynor heads for New York this month to begin rehearsals for her first Broadway play. Mary has no plans herself for returning to musicals.

"They're making different kinds of musicals today," Mary said. "But I'm convinced the romantic musicals will definitely come back, improved by the innovations being used in new musical shows. Everything goes in cycles."

"I've been offered Broadway shows, but I'm not doing them because I'm having a wonderful time with my children and grandchildren."

"You see, I couldn't leave a musical until it was paid off and made a profit. Today's shows cost at least $2 million which means it would take two or three years to pay off. And I don't want to spend that much time in a show."

"This TV movie with Jack Albertson was sort of a fluke. No one would have thought of casting me in it until I met a young Hollywood manager, Judy Thomas, who asked me one day what I wanted to do professionally."

"I told her, 'Nothing.' When she insisted, I said I'd like to play a woman about my age in a dramatic part which required no singing and one that would be sentimental and funny."

"Six weeks later Judy called to say the producer (Ed Feldman) director (Lee Philips) and star (Albertson) of a TV movie wanted me to have dinner with them and read their script."

"I drove into Hollywood and they gave me the script, saying I had to make up my mind by 10 o'clock the next morning whether I wanted to play the role."

"I was crazy about the story. But I wondered if I could get by with playing a woman 70, especially one named Gracie Schwartz. I agreed to do it providing we rehearsed for five days, which we did."

"It was a wonderful experience. I enjoyed it thoroughly. And it wasn't any strain at all. I've never stopped moving pianos and running around at full pace anyway. I'm in constant motion."

Mary tries to spend two months a year at the 700-acre farm in Brazil where she and Halliday lived for much of the latter part of their life together. She says it still is self-supporting.

"I love the farm and I've fixed my place here in Palm Springs, with the trees and all, to make it to look as much as possible like our home in Brazil," Mary said. "Sometimes it's difficult to go to the farm because I have so many wonderful memories of Richard there."

OL' BLUE EYES AND THE ROSE — Entertainer Frank Sinatra got a rose pinned on his lapel by Tournament of Roses Queen Julie Raatz recently as they met for the first time. The two will be together again for the Rose Parade and Rose Bowl game on New Year's Day, 1980. (AP Laserphoto)

Silverman Waiting To Make Schedule Changes For NBC

By JOAN HANAUER
NEW YORK (UPI) — The fireworks of the November sweeps — throwing regular programming to the winds in favor of specials, movies or other ratings-boosters — apparently has complicated matters for NBC's Fred Silverman.

NBC had been expected to release its second season schedule this week, but Silverman now wants to wait one more ratings week, with programming back to normal, to see how his shows fare against their regular opposition.

ABC has announced extensive new programming, while CBS, which topped the Nielsen ratings again for the week ending Nov. 25, was making tentative noises about perhaps overtaking ABC for the season to date.

There's only one serious show among the six newcomers ABC will introduce. That's Dennis Weaver as "Stone," a detective and best-selling author whose problems in the department are topped by the complications of his personal life. The pilot, shown earlier this year, was a well-made television movie that earned good ratings.

ABC's other new shows concentrate on laughs, but what isn't funny to the No. 1 network is that only two of the shows it introduced in the new season this fall have been successful, while six have been or will be pulled off the air.

Gone and best forgotten are "240 Robert," "Lazarus Syndrome" (maybe coming back), "Detective School," "Out of the Blue" and "A New Kind of Family."

Only "Benson" and "Hart to Hart" remain. "The Associates" is scheduled to return in late March.

In addition, ABC has switched some hits that have faltered in new time slots — "Mork & Mindy" returns to Thursday, "Laverne & Shirley" will be tried on Monday, and "Angie" gets switched to Saturday.

The ABC slogan appears to be: if life can be beautiful, crime can be hilarious, and imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

"Tenspeed and Brown Shoe" stars Ben Vereen and Jeff Goldblum as "odd couple detectives ... Their chemistry is explosively funny," according to ABC. Then, in a show that sounds like The Dukes of Hazzard join CHIPs, "B.A.D. Cats" offers what is described as "high speed, hour-long hilarious adventure" about "the exploits of young members of a Burglary Auto Detail who burn up the roads as daredevil racers in their off-duty hours." A screech a minute.

Iran Crisis Not Losing Any Votes For Carter

By BROOKS JACKSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Iranian crisis may be restricting President Carter's campaign travels, but don't assume it is losing him votes.

It is a basic rule of thumb in national politics that, up to a point, a crisis is always good for a president.

This is especially true when the crisis involves a foreign power attacking U.S. interests, as the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and his fanatic followers have been doing for a month.

There is a great danger in all this for Carter, however. The Iran crisis, like all crises, must eventually end.

You can be sure the president's political opponents will no longer be silent then. Eventually, voters must decide whether the man they turned to delivered the leadership they expected.

Such crises stir patriotic emotions. Citizens tend to put aside other considerations — their heating bills, for example — and unite against the common enemy.

And they turn for leadership to the only person in a position to exercise it in such a time: the president, whoever he is.

Thus Carter, who is scheduled to officially announce his re-election campaign next week, stands to benefit greatly from the Iran crisis.

First, it allows him to appear "presidential," above the grubby business of politics.

Second, it allows him to hog-tie his opponents, both Republicans and Democrats. Carter can paint any criticism of his leadership as an irresponsible threat to the well-being of the hostages.

Here's the way the president played it at his nationally broadcast news conference last week:

"I will have to continue to restrict my own political activities and call on those who might be opposing me in the future for president to support my position as president and to provide unity for our country and for our nation in the eyes of those who might be looking for some sign of weakness or division in order to perpetuate their abuse of the hostages."

Translation: I'm not being political. Don't criticize me or you may hurt the hostages.

And it was no accident that Carter held that news conference during prime evening time, and in the stately East Room of the White House rather than in the workaday auditorium he usually uses. He aimed for the biggest possible audience, and the most "presidential" setting.

Earlier, Republican presidential contender John Connally griped that Carter was unfairly asking candidates not to make inflammatory statements while himself denouncing the Iranians. It was in a way a tribute to Carter's political sense.

Carter stands to benefit politically from a massive public relations campaign launched from the White House last week. His press secretary, Jody Powell, sent 7,500 mailgrams and letters to newspapers, magazines, broadcast stations and other news outlets saying Carter endorsed the ringing of church bells and the writing of letters to Iran's U.N. mission as a show of national unity.

Powell insisted the publicly financed campaign was "non-partisan" because the bell-ringing and letter-writing had first been suggested by a Republican senator, Charles Mc Mathias of Maryland, and a career diplomat, Bruce Laingen, who is under house arrest at the Foreign Ministry in Tehran. And Powell took pains to say the president wanted support not for his handling of the crisis, but for the hostages.

But Powell's letter also says: "It is of overriding importance that Iranian authorities understand that Americans are united in their determination not to yield to blackmail in the demand for the safe return of the hostages."

United behind whom? Who has been denouncing "blackmail?" The president, of course.

The political effects are inevitable. Politician Carter can campaign quite effectively just by staying in the White House and being the chief executive.

Alarm Disrupts X-Rated Movie

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Feminists claimed victory in the disruption of an X-rated film on the University of California campus, but the real "winner" was the person who pulled a fire alarm, forcing the evacuation of the theater.

During the second screening of "Misty Beethoven" last week in Booth Auditorium, a dozen feminists charged into the hall, chanting and carrying signs in protest of the movie.

At the same time, someone pulled an alarm, bringing in the campus police who ordered the evacuation of the building. It turned out to be a false alarm.

The 400 people who paid $1 to see the movie were greeted outside by more feminists yelling: "We've won. We've won."

The feminists said X-rated films portray women as sex objects.
