Cavern Raid Switched To U.S. Court

CARLSBAD (UPI) - A State district judge Monday handed back to federal officials a case involving four men arrested in the armed takeover at Carlsbad Caverns National Park earlier this District Judge John Walker granted a request by defense attorneys for a writ of habeus corpus, a move which allowed the prisoners to be released from state felony charges in the case.

U.S. Attorney R.E. Thompson said in Albuquerque the suspects were immediately rearrested on federal warrants charging them with damage to federal property and aiding and abetting in the damage to federal property. He said the charges are misdemeanors, carrying maximum penalties of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Weeks Of Indecision

The judge's action apparently ended three weeks of indecision about jurisdiction in the case, which had been bounced back and forth between federal and state officials.

The suspects, Dennis James Mark, 39, Riesel, Texas, Eugene Hiram Meroney, 31, William Charles Lovejoy, 28, and David W. Kuczynski, 28, all of Odessa, were arrested on federal misdemean or charges when they surrended following a 5 1/2 hour armed takeover of the underground cafeteria at the national held a park employee as a hostage. About 100 tourists were trapped in an adjacent room.

The purpose of the takeover was not fully clear, although the gunmen pre-sented a rambling list of greivances and at one time demanded $1 million in cash airliner to Brazil.

In order to secure release of the hostage and to insure the safety of the 100 trapped tourists, FBI agents who negotiated the surrender of the four men promised they would be charged only with misdemeanors.

After they surrendered, federal officials later determined there was a jurisdictional problem and decided that the suspects should be arraigned on state misdemeanor charges.

But at their arraignment, District Judge Harvey W. Fort of Carlsbad refused to accept the misdemeanor charges in the case. The Eddy County District Attorney's office then filed state felony charges of kidnapping and aggravated assault against the suspects. Defense attorneys for the suspects then challenged the state action, filing the motion for a writ of habeus corpus so the men could again face federal misdemeanor charges as they had originally been promised

The U.S. Marhshal's office said the suspects would be picked up at Carlsbad early today and moved to Roswell to appear before U.S. Magistrate E. Ray Phelps for an initial presentment. The marhsal's office said the suspects would then be taken to Albuquerque for an arraignment later in the week.

The suspects were to have faced a preliminary hearing today in Carlsbad on the state charges. That hearing has been canceled because the state charges were dropped.

DELIVERY PROBLEM?

MORNING BEFORE 9:00 A.M. EVENING BEFORE 7:00 P.M.

Avalanche-Journal Staff THE APPOINTMENT of Carolyn Lanier as the city's first female human relations director drew mixed responses Monday from members of the minority

Those opposing the selection of Mrs. Lanier did so on the grounds that she is not bilingual and that she is white, not because she is a woman Although her qualifications are very good, HRC member Homero Rodriguez said, her appointment means the Human Relations Commission "has taken a step

"I don't really feel that the (black and Mexican-American) people can re-late to her," he said Monday. "I don't feel the people will feel free to come down and talk with her."

Duties Outlined

As Human Relations Commission director, Mrs. Lanier will "provide complaint and referral counseling and assist the (city) personnel department and the public information office in recruiting minority applicants for the police and fire departments," said Vaughn Hen-drie, the city's community relations car Jones, also a member of the United Political Action League, said of Mrs. Lanier's appointment, "If she is as concerned as I think she is, she might be a very good choice.

She also will help investigate complaints brought to the HRC.

Repercussions Foreseen He added, however, "there will probably be some initial repercussions" from East Lubbock residents.

"East Lubbock was responsible for getting the HRC formulated in the first place, and there has never been a black director," he said. "Some people were hoping this time one would be chosen."

Rodriguez and fellow HRC member Elton Conger both think choosing Mrs. Lanier was a mistake. They said they wonder how she would react to a riot brewing on the east side and how she could really understand the feelings and problems suffered by blacks and Mexican-Americans. "I just wonder how she will really do to get the pulse of the communities, not living there and not knowing how they (the minority residents) feel," Rodriguez

Most of the people with the problems "hail from (East Lubbock) or from the Hispanic neighborhood," Conger said. "You'd have to live there to be able to al leaders said Monday they are working to reverse a House setback to President Carter's standby gasoline rationing proposal and hope to have it on the president's desk by week's end. The bill, withdrawn from the floor last week after adoption of a Republican-sponsored amendment to limit the president's flexibilty to impose rationing, is up for another vote on today. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill predicted the House would reverse the amendment by Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman, R-N.Y. The Gilman amendment would prevent any rationing plan from being considered unless Congress had reviewed it Gilman said in an interview Monday that the leadership probably had found enough votes to reject his amendment.

We have a tough uphill battle with both the speaker and the president in oppposition to us...I would assume there would be some arm-twisting involved," he said.

But Gilman disputed the claim by O'Neill and other Democratic leaders that many of the 79 Deomocratic members who voted for his amendment last Wednesday had done so by mistake.

"I don't think that was the situation at all," Gilman said. "I don't see how anyone could have been confused about the proposal.

Asked at his daily news conference if he had mustered enough votes to reverse the Gilman amendment, O'Neill said, "I think so. And Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich.,

chairman of the House energy and power subcommittee which produced the bill, said the White House was "making efforts" to turn around defecting Democrats who had voted for the Gilman amendment. But Dingell denied that there had been any arm-twisting.

Dingell said he expected "a hard fight" on the rationing bill, but like O'Neill predicted its final approval so it could go to the president before Congress begins its August recess

Anderson, a contender for the 1980 Repulican presidential nomination, said that "the severity of the energy crisis has convinced me thaat the president needs maximum flexibility to deal with any sudden emergency.

But Anderson added, "I do not urge him to use it." Meanwhile, Senate Democratic Lead-

EMS Confronted By Equipment, Money Problems

By KIM COBB

Avalanche-Journal Staff
As if the county hospital district doesn't have enough to worry about with Health Sciences Center Hospital, the tax-supported Emergency Medical Services (EMS) is facing problems of its own.

Acting EMS director Doak Enabnit is concerned about growing problems concerned about growing problems, which include aging ambulances in need of repair or replacement, delays in response times due to a growing population and too few substations — and financial archives in the control of the control icial problems similar to those at

There is an available solution, Enabnit says. A private ambulance firm in Oregon has offered to assume the opera-tion of EMS as soon as the Lubbock County Hospital District Board of Managers invites them to negotiate a con-

But Enabnit says the board is "dragging their feet" by not making a decision one way or the other. Preoccupied with finding new management for financially depressed Health Sciences Center Hospital, the board has let the EMS proposal gather dust for several months.

Medical Services Inc. is one of five or six large private ambulance firms in the six large private ambulance firms in the U.S. today, having been involved with paramedical services since 1971 and ambulance services since 1958. The company is developing a reputation for bailing out ailing EMS systems whose federal monies have run out. Rather than seeking more government funds, many cities are turning over their services to MSI.

Some communities retain partial con-trol of their EMS through continued tax support. This allows area residents a certain amount of control over their emergency ambulance operation, as well as a reduction in individual service

But a few communities have agreed to turn the whole operation over to MSI, literally washing their hands of what has become a weighty burden both financially and administratively.
MSI president Bill Leonard contacted the LCHD board in a letter dated June 12 with a general approach to providing the Lubbock area with emergency ambulance service. He and other company representatives visited the Lubbock operation a few weeks before writing the letter to see if the existing service was adaptable to theirs.

for assuming the responsibility for medi-cal transportation in the city and surrounding areas:

-An invitation for an on-site visitation to Eugene, Ore., by both city and hospital district representatives for a minimum of two to three days.

—A revised city ordinance establishing mutually agreeable procedures and standards for providing full medical transportation services to Lubbock, including the appointment of MSI as the sole provider of emergency basic life support and advanced life support, under a satisfactory need-necessity law.

-Agreement on medical transportation rates that are comparable to national averages of other similar services. The rates would be reviewed for increase once a year.

-A signed letter of intent from the City of Lubbock to replace the existing provider with MSI for an initial period of five years, with an automatic five year's renewal if the performance is acceptable.

-Assignment of five of the existing equipped ambulances to MSI for providing medical transportation to Lubbock.

The ambulance would be maintained in compliance with MSI standards.

Leonard asked the board of managers to provide his company with a letter of intent indicating the district's interest in the proposal. Enabnit said the date for the letter of intent was requested for July 15, but the board has taken no action.

However a discussion with Leonard indicates the Oregon firm will discuss the proposal at any time the hospital dis-trict is ready. "We're in no big rush," Leonard explained, speculating that the district would probably be interested in transferring service to MSI if they could provide the same or better level of service and save the taxpayers money.

But Enabnit doesn't want the board to take its time on the matter. Two of the 10 EMS units are in immediate need of repair, with one ambulance out of use already. Board members recently turned over the ambulance repair problem to Don McInturff's administrative committee for study Meeting Wednesday, the committee is scheduled to hear estimates on what it would cost to repair the ambulances. After talking to Enabnit last week, McInturff said he thinks the repair of they support the treaty, but that the country would be better off without it if the pact serves to create complacency about needed improvements.

Vace and Gerge M. Seignious, head of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, disagreed with predictions by the Joint Chiefs that the United States would fall behind the Soviet Union in strategic nuclear power in the early 1980s.

While acknowledging that U.S. landbased missiles will be vulnerable to attack. Seignious said "that does not mean our deterrence will fail or that we will be at the mercy of the Soviet Union.

"Such a surrender scenario (is) irresponsible for it sends just the wrong message to the Soviets ... that we would back down when in fact we wouldn't," said Seignious.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, a treaty critic who had raised the issue of nucle ar superiority, called Seignious' statement "a not-too-thinly veiled assertion we are irresponsible and engaging in scare tactics.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE

A fire caused more than $1,000 worth of damage to the 3005 Mesa Road home of Dr. Edward T. Thomas Monday morning. The fire department was notified of the fire at 9:57 a.m. and had the blaze under control within 30 minutes. Two men were cutting trees by the house when the limbs fell across power lines to the house, apparently sparking the fire, officials said.

Brown's move toward a challenge to Carter comes at a time when the president is down in the polls. But Brown also faces problems, not the least of which are the difficulty in challenging a president of his own party and the potential candidacy of Sen. Edward Kennedy.

Kennedy says he supports Carter, but active draft-Kennedy movements have sprung up in several states, and the polls show the Massachusetts Democrat easily beating either Brown or Carter.

For another thing, Brown is better

For another thing, Brown is better known nationally than when he plunged into presidential politics in 1976, a little over a year after starting his first term

That can be a plus, giving him better name recognition, but it can also be a minus. Brown's positions on such vola-tile issues as abortion, nuclear power al views, appears to be the overwhelming favorite for the Democratic nomination among union leaders and members.

But many labor leaders doubt that Ken-

"Jerry Brown is in a much different position now." says Tom D'Alexandro, a Maryland Democratic leader and key Brown supporter in 1976. president.

"Now we've got a Democratic president. People now either like or dislike Jerry Brown. The mystery is gone."

However, D'Alessandro says if Brown can do well in an early primary where both Carter's and Kennedy's names are on the ballot "he's on his way. But if he loses, it's all over."

Pollster Lou Harris concluded recently that although it would take a "miracle" for Carter to win the Democratic nomination, his soundings find that Brown is "bombing out" as a challenger.

Brown's fervent, post-Proposition 13 support for spending cuts and a balanced federal budget and his pattern of being liberal on some issues and conservative on others gives people the feeling he is "very opportunistic, hypocritical, even unprincipled," Harris says.

Davis disputes that, saying that while Brown doesn't fit into any political mold, he does have predictable positions on many issues.

Six Union Chiefs Endorse Carter

Carter received an early re-election endorsement, Monday, from six union leaders whose support appears rooted in the belief that Sen. Edward Kennedy will not be a candidate in 1980.

The five union presidents and one vice president, sidestepping questions about whom they would support if Ken-nedy runs for president, said they expect the Massachusetts Democrat to stay out of the race.

"We didn't come here to speculate about Sen. Kennedy," said Paul Hall, president of the Seafarers union.

Hall and the other officials, whose unions represent some three million workers, said they were taking the unusual step of backing Carter seven months before the first presidential primary because he is in deep political trouble and needs all the support he can

"We're here to help a guy who is in bad need of help because too many segments of society that should come out front at this moment are not coming out," said Hall.

The labor leaders held a joint news conference to announce the formation of a Labor for Carter-Mondale Committee, a group created by Carter's political advisers in the hope of sewing up as much early union support as possible for the Good And Bad News Dept.

IT'S FINALLY official. The nation is in a recession

G. William Miller, President Carter's choice as the next treasury secretary, said as much the other day, the first time such a top government leader has acknowledged the

The amazing thing is that after Miller, who is relinquishing his job as head of the Federal Reserve Board, made his pronouncement that the long expected economic downturn had begun, no one jumped out of the windows. At least, none that we heard

LIKE SO MANY other bits of "bad news" these days, Miller's assessment was sort of like telling someone the roof was leaking after a 10-inch downpour. They already had an inkling of it!

And such is the case for most citizens and business people. High prices and a slowing down of the economy have been evident for weeks, if not months.

In fact, there is one theory of thought that by the time the government and economists get around to saying what is happening, half of it already has.

AS A MATTER of fact, there is considerable support for, and facts to back it up, that the so-called downturn may be moderate and of relatively short duration.

In view of this, Miller warned the Senate Finance Committee against any move to vote on tax reductions at this time in an effort to pump up the economy.

'Any across-the-board tax cut...would be unwise because it would unleash a new round of inflationary pressures," he told the

He held out the hope that "once the federal share of total spending is reduced a large dividend can be returned to the American people in the form of tax cuts...But I don't think today is the right time...

MILLER ALSO took note of forecasts that the jobless rate might go to 7.5 percent in the months ahead, compared to the administation's prediction of 6.9 percent.

And while this is traumatic for those included in the unemployed ranks, it is to be expected as more and more businesses cut back on expenses.

Miller's remarks were the first of note by a top administration official since President Carter's round of energy pronouncements and his Cabinet shake-up. It is an indication that for the moment the President does not plan any major moves on the inflation front, which considering his handling of other matters may be just as well.

On an area and local level, not only Lubbock and the South Plains but all of Texas and the Southwest are in much better shape than other regions to ride out any short downturn in the economy. Near record bank deposits, good crop prospects and a highly diversified economy offer the Lubbock-West Texas region a comfortable cushion. It's something for which to be thankful.

ouncing President Carter's nomination of the former New Orleans mayor, White House Press Secretary Jody Powell called Landrieu "a progressive mayor and a strong administrator as well as an effective spokesman for local government."

WHAT LANDRIEU has been a spokesman for is a tidal wave of federal funds into New Orleans and other cities. He was a strong advocate, for example, of bailing out New York City's extravagance with federal tax dollars and guarantees.

As president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, Landrieu pushed hard for "revenue sharing" funds to his and all other cities. This ill-conceived notion, adopted during the Nixon administration, relieves those who spend the money of the nasty necessity for raising it.

If confirmed, as expected, to head HUD, Landrieu can be expected to continue to be an "effective spokesman" for spending the ergy program.

"I can think of no person better qualified," purred Mrs. Patricia Harris, whom Landrieu succeeds at HUD because she has been promoted to head the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In Mr. Carter's defense, Landrieu was a popular choice among big city voters, who hope that more federal handouts will come their way rather than their having to pay their own way.

What Mr. Carter wants now is votes for 1980, not someone concerned about the national debt.

lack of intelligence or even stupidity. WELL, WE DON'T want that kind of racism. But, declaring "black English" a separate language? That's a form of separatism—another device to make or keep blacks "different." This sort of controversy pops up regularly in America. Several years ago, the Ford Foundation even financed a course teaching vernacular 'black English" to black students as their individual taxes), with the economic slowdown pressing a retroactive effective date of Jan. 1. 1980, and possibly expanding its size to $30 bil-

The languid Congress becomes fleet of foot when cutting taxes. Thus, the President is likely to be following in its wake as he did when he reluctantly signed the 1978 tax reduction.

One politically sensitive White House aide predicted that once again Carter will give his approval to tax reduction when it is too late to get the

THIS DERIVES from the tendency of this President, as with his predecessors, not to anticipate problems. But getting behind the power curve on tax reduction also points to other aspects of the Carter presidency that made necessary the desperate energy catch-up on Pennsylvania Avenue

At bottom is the chronically flawed performance by the administration's economic forecasters. Just as they were last to predict double-digit inflation, they trailed everybody in seeing recession ahead.

Dr. Charles Schultze. Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, on May 10 was still publicly denying the advent of recession There is still hope at the White House that the fall-off in the year's final quarter will be less severe than business economists expect, requiring no anti-recession medicine. Thus will the chimerical balanced budget be preserved.

EVEN WITHOUT such hopes, the President is inclined against tax cuts. "I really should have vetoed last year's tax bill," he recently informed a surprised adviser.

While enthusiastic about taxing windfall profits and three-martini lunches, Carter never has been turned on by lowering tax rates.

The President may well qualify for what Professor Arthur Laffer, guru of tax reduction, calls the deep root canal school of political economy.

Mostly orthodox Republicans, its members believe those economic proposals that hurt the most-like deep root canal work-will do the patient the most good. That can also explain Carter's instinctive preference for energy conservation over production, prior to post-Tokyo

The administration's tax cut phobia also fits into the predilection of liberal White House aides for government rather than market solutions.

WHILE FORMER Secretary of Energy James Schlosinger argued that gasoline decontrol is the antidote to long gas lines, the White House preferred to think about rationing.

Therefore, if recession must be fought, the consensus inside the administration is for discredited spending programs.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale, who rarely strays from the administration line, made that clear on NBC's "Meet the Press" July 1 when he boosted the administration's "countercyclical fiscal assistance program" now becalmed in Con-

That program's inadequacy is well known even in the White House ("A turkey, an absolute turkey," confides one aide), but the propensity for the spending option is there as well.

IN CONGRESS, however, a loosely organized conservative coalition led by Rep. James Jones of Oklahoma has the votes to defeat big spending and pass tax reduction. However conservative he is, Jones is a loyal Democrat and a truer supporter of Jimmy Carter than his liberal colleagues. He has told the President he wished last year's tax cut had been the Carter bill instead of the Jones bill. Now he is asking Carter to turn his back on faulty economic prophecy, bias against the mar-ket system and love of deep root canal work by embracing tax reduction If he does, Carter may yet get ahead of the economic power curve and save his presidency.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE:

Big 'D' For Me

NEW YORK-Old Dad bought a "walkte-tal-kie" today-and thereby made an honest man of all the economic crystal-gazers in the business. Sound confusing?

Read on. For several months now, the charts-and-graphs boys have been busily peeking into the future for a picture of what life will be like in the next decade. And you have to admit that's more fun than trying to predict what's going to happen in the next few months. The best they can tell us is that the rest of 1979 will be painful. The good news there is that Jimmy Carter has finally discovered he's in big trouble. The bad news is that he doesn't have any idea of how to get out of it.

AND NO economist worth his calculator has. either. They've been wrong so many times in the past few years they're beginning to feel a little spooked.

So you can't blame them for playing around with 1980 where, believe it or not, they find things looking up. Way up.

Just for openers, they want us all to know that there's not going to be a replay of the Big Depression in the '80s. No way. Once we live through this current "little problem," good news will be bustin' out all over.

We'll still have inflation, they're afraid, but it won't be out of control the way it is now. Business will shift into high gear in one of the best growth periods in our nation's history, with record-breaking profits and booming production By the middle of the '80s, there will be more jobs, more people, more new products, more technological break-throughs, better medical care, and all kinds of exciting changes in our life-

AMONG THEIR more specific predictions, the economists are saying that: 1. There will be more older people around and they will be busily spening their money on themselves, splurging on what businessmen call "leisure items.

2. The migration to the Sun Belt will continue.

 Electronic gadgets will boom.
 There will be a tremendous increase in home 5. New job opportunities will be all over the

Which brings us to Old Dad and his "walkie-tal-There's not much doubt that he fits into category 1, all right, gray hair and all. And his new baby CB neatly fulfills categories 2 and 3, because: AS OF DAWN tomorrow, we join the migration to the Sun Belt, caravaning across the country in two cars packed with two grandparents, one mother, three small children, and one dog whose digestive system goes into reverse the minute we drag her into the station wagon.

Turnpike driving being what it is, Old Dad is nervous about our chances of keeping together as we highball along, trying to beat the moving van to our destination. He's not about to lose time backtracking to rescue No. 1 daughter from a wrong turn (or vice versa) or for an emergency stop to settle sibling squabbles or mop up after the dog. Gloomy Gus that he is, he also pictures the station wagon sliding off into some ditch behind us while we barrel on down the road in our dinky sports car. How, he demands, would the highway police know where to find us? SO, OKAY. We now have this new toy hooked up via airwaves between the two automobiles, a sort of electronic umbilical cord with which either driver can holler up trouble in case of accident, flat tire or (and we're crossing our fingers on this one) empty gas tank. As for categories 4 and 5, we fit those, too. We've done our bit for home sales lately, with the purchase of not one, but two, homes in our new city. There's a small bungalow for the little ladies and their mother, and an even smaller one for the grandparents. (Almost close enough together to suit the world's most doting granny.) Category 5 comes in there, too. (You didn't think I'd let Old Dad sit around the house all day, did you?) He's got a new job to keep him out of trouble (and out of my hair).

The "walkie-talkie"? It'll probably wind up in the little ladies' toy chest. I'd let Old Dad keep it, except that, sure as anything, he'd discover it's a handy gadget to let me know he's coming home

And that's where I cut the electronic cord

Q. In cepty to a question from a cospic who this to sell their home and the land on which it is situated, you said that they would not have to pay capital gains tax on up to $100,000 of their profit because of a provision of the tax reform act of 1979.

We qualify under this new ruling but there is a question in our minds as to how much land is allowed to be in-volved. Our home is on 16 acres. Our neighbors have a home on 110 acres. Is there a limitation on the amount of

A. Double-checking this with experts at the Internal Revenue Service, we get the happiest and shortest possible an-

It makes no difference whether your home is on a large tract of land or a small city lot. You are still entitled to "once-in-a-lifetime forgiveness" from capital gains tax on up to $100,000 profit on the sale — provided you meet the other qualifications.

Those qualifications are that you must be 55 or older, that you have owned and lived in the house for three of the last five years and that it is your 'principal residence' - the place where ou live most of the time, not a vacation

The idea behind this provision of the Revenue Act of 1978 is to remove tax penalties from people in or approaching retirement who sell their homes and buy smaller ones or move into rental quarters. It recognizes that their "profits" on the sales of their homes usually result from inflation.

mortinge balance on my condominium is approximately $4,000. I have three mutual fund investments worth about $23,000, $30,000 in savings certificates and some Series E U.S. Saving Bonds.

I am considering cashing in all the mutual fund shares and savings bonds in order to put all my money in six-month savings certificates. My idea is to simplify things for my niece — my only living relative and heir. Does this make any kind of sense?

INVESTORS' GUIDE

A. Considering the poor investment performance, to date, of those three mutual funds whose statements you enclosed with your letter, there's not much doubt that your money would work bet-ter for you in six-month certificates. My advice is to go ahead with that part of

But hold off on redeeming your E bonds until after you retire. When you cash in those bonds, you will have to pay federal income tax on the accrued interest you will receive.

If you redeem the E bonds now, while you're in a relatively high tax bracket, the tax bite could be substantial. By waiting to redeem until after you retire, when you are in a lower tax bracket, you'll save tax dollars.

The move into insured savings certifi-cates will make life easier and less wor-risome for you. That — not simplifying things for your niece — should be your Q. My husband and I have a number of Series E U.S. Savings Bonds, which I plan to exchange for the new Series HH bonds when the HHs become available in 1980. We plan to do this so that we will then receive interest every six If one of us passes on before we exchange the Es for HHs, will the survivor be able to make the exchange? Or will the survivor have to cash the Es and use the money to buy HHs?

A. You have nothing to worry about. When an E bond is registered in co-ownership form, as yours are, and one of the co-owners dies, the surviving co-owner becomes sole and absolute owner. He or she may then redeem the bond, retain it as is, have it reissued or exchange it for a Series H bond now or a Series HH bond beginning in 1980.

It would be a bad move to redeem the E bonds and use the money to buy the E bonds and use the money to buy HHs. You would then have to pay tax on the accrued E bond interest. By making an exchange, you postpone the tax on the E bond interest until some later date — when you finally redeem the HHs received in the exchange.

Fuel inventories: Keeping our balance is part of the It takes a constant balancing act to meet America's energy needs, because the kind and amount of fuel most needed at a particular time amount of fuel most needed at a particular time.

amount of fuel most needed at a particular time usually goes up about 10% during the heavy summer driving months. Then, as winter closes in, many parts of the country need tremendous amounts of heating oil.

During the peak seasons for gasoline and heating fuels, the amounts needed are greater than can be met by day-to-day refinery capability, so it is necessary to refine and store a supply ahead of time.

At the same time, throughout the year we are obliged to turn out a steady amount of aircraft jet fuel as well as diesel fuel for farming vehicles and large trucks.

What does inventory balance have to do with the fuel shortage?

All fuels are vital to Americans, so no particular fuel including gasoline can be produced in a totally unrestrained manner at the expense of other fuels. Thus, when demand for gasoline unexpectedly surged to record levels early this year, it created problems in storing enough gasoline to supplement summer production for peak season driving. And now that the peak driving season is upon us, it's virtually impossible to make up for diminished gasoline inventories since inventories of heating oil must be built up for the coming winter.

Also, an inventory of crude oil must be maintained to avoid refinery disruptions if deliveries of new crude supplies are delayed. Nevertheless, we are holding our crude oil inventories down at minimum safe levels so as to maximize gasoline and heating oil availability.

Large inventories must be used just to make the systems work.

In addition to this constant balancing act, sizeable inventories of crude oil and other petroleum stocks are needed just to keep the facilities that make and transport fuels physically operating.

For example, 9 million barrels of oil (the daily total of all U.S. oil production) must actually be inside the Alaskan Pipeline for it to even function.

Putting inventory problems in perspective.

The necessity of adequate and balanced inventories to meet America's varying year-round fuel requirements is not the only factor involved in the shortage. Other factors like refining capacity, increased demand, government controls, environmental restrictions, and even differences in crude oil qualities all play a role and each will be discussed individually in the future.

Regaining our balance.

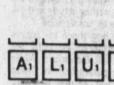

World and U.S. crude oil supplies are still short of demand. So in Thank you for listening. addition to continued careful management of inventories, America must do everything possible to speed development of our domestic sources of energy, while at the same time doing a better job of conserving the energy we have now.

KFYO's Bob Nash Moves To Television

Longtime Lubbock radio personality Bob Nash said Monday he is leaving KFYO, where he worked for 27 years, for a Lubbock television station.

Nash, 55, will join KMAC-TV Aug. 13, the station's general manager said Monday. The veteran radio personality will work in advertising and news for the station

Nash is one of several KFYO veterans to leave the station in recent weeks. Personalities Ed Wilkes and Jack Dale have also left KFYO since the station changed its middle-of-the-road music format to country-and-western earlier this year. Wilkes and Dale joined KLRB

However, Nash, said his departure was not caused by the format change. "I think they have the right format,"

Nash said. "(KMAC) is a better opportunity and when one's 55, you look for better opportunities. Nash's new responsibilities will include spot advertising announcing and anchoring KMAC's noon news broad-cast, according to KMAC station manager Bill McAlister.

Also to be determined is Nash's affili-ation with Dale and KFYO's broadcasting of Texas Tech University basketball

Nash said he will continue working Southwest Conference football games for the Mutual Broadcasting Network, but that it has not been decided whether he will stay with the KFYO basketball broadcasts. Dale had earlier announced he is staying with the broadcasts.

Not all women gain weight. About half report some gain, usually in the range of two to five pounds. This is liquid retention promoted by the hormones. It is usually lost at the time of menstruation, but returns. The extra pounds are usually shed after discontinuing the Pill. Any other weight gain would be due to excessive eating.

Dear Dr. Ruble: A letter from the 39year-old woman with a weight problem reminded me of a doctor of mine, who is now deceased. I was in his office for a checkup when he got a call from his secretary saying that "Mrs. so-and-so was in for her diet schedule." He produced it, the secretary picked it up and handed it to the patient. Being a curious person I asked what the diet was. He proceeded to explain that she had a weight problem and it was due to over-eating. Then he chuckled and said this:

"If she only knew how simple it would be to correct with a little special exercise. I asked what exercise. He said, 'She should sit at the dinner table, eat a portion of each item, and then stretch her arms, grasp the table, push her chair back, and say, 'Please excuse me. I have had a sufficiency." I shall never forget that. Incidentally, I am not overweight.

I presume you are still using this wonderful exercise.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am in my 70s and have developed the awful habit of deep yawning. Is it a sign of some problem? If, what? - Mrs. P.T.

Yawning rarely indicates a medical problem and then only when it occurs very frequently. Such problems can be associated with disturbances of lung function.

As common as yawning is, we know very little about why people do it. It is a reflex action. Nor do we know why people stretch their arms in the middle of a good yawn. That's called 'pandiculation," also a reflex action. In fact, a person with a paralyzed arm may move it during a yawn. Nor do we know why yawns are "contagious," why some people yawn at the sight of someone nearby yawning. There are yawning gaps in our knowledge of this subject. One thing to check for is a leaking muffler of the car, which can produce subtle effects like this.

year each in pensions. Now that may be perfectly okay with the taxpayers. It's probably neat and proper that we shell out and not quibble about this petty cash when they were, after all, our chief executives.

But I kept thinking about another chief executive, Harry S. Truman, and finally I picked up the phone and called Independence, Mo.

The Trumans never had it so good. Dr. Ben Zobrist, head of the Truman Library there, wasn't the man to give me dollars-and-cents figures on the Trumans, he said. That comes out of General Services Administration in Washington, and it takes a while. But he was caught up in the pleasure of the library's recent Truman Week celebration and not averse to talking about the late president and his unmoneyed way of life. "Well, you understand that Mr. Truman didn't even get a pension for the first several years after he left the presidency," Zobrist said. "And, of course, there was no Secret Service around for 10 years - not until after the assassination of President Kennedy in 1963. They say that President Truman didn't want the Secret Service guarding him and when the first agents arrived, he sent them back to Washington!" For 13 years the plain, outspoken Truman went to his office in the library every day, working diligently to get the presidential papers in order, and he didn't collect a salary at all. Although he and his Bess lived simply in the white Victorian house she inherited from her father, it is well-known that the former president worried about money.

"The Trumans were not moneyed people," Zobrist said. "The president always joked that he didn't even own a house. It's in Mrs. Truman's name.

In this hand from the Cavendish invitational practically every North player doubled West's opening club bid. Things proceeded many ways from there. Most North-South pairs arrived at four spades by South and one unfortunate South wound up with a loss of over 200 IMPs when West found the killing

West was sure from the bidding that his only chance to beat four spades would be to develop an extra trump trick, so in spite of receiving a discouraging three of clubs on his king, he continued with the ace and another.

South took the trick with his queen and led the deuce of spades, whereupon West continued the kill by going right up with his ace of spades and leading a fourth club. Now there was no way to keep the defense from getting a second trump trick.

Why did this defense lead why did this determe leads to a 200 IMP loss for North and South and corresponding gain for East and West? Because at 17 other tables game was bid and made in spades, hearts or notrump. TMe difference between minus 100 and plus 620 or 630 was 13 IMPs which when multiplied by 17 came to 221 IMPs.

Electrified Beef Called Revolutionary

COLLEGE STATION (Special) — Six hundred volts of electricity whacks the beef carcass. Such a jolt is repeated 15 times over a one-minute period.

The result is pure tenderness, though.

It's a great deal like making a silk purse out of a sow's ear, says Texas A&M University animal scientist, Dr. Gary Smith. Smith and a team of Texas A&M earchers say they are standing on the eshold of a revolution in the beef in-stry, and all because of this process they developed.

Called electrified beef, the process tenderizes meat without chemicals.

The cost: roughly 25 cents a steer.
The cost of the machine is between $20,000 and $100,000 depending on how big the processing plant is, says Smith.

Smith notes the electrical shocks change the acid base of the muscle tissue which makes up 50 mercent of the

sue, which makes up 60 percent of the total carcass

Under normal conditions, the muscles shorten as the beef cools, and short muscles mean tough meat. If the short-ening can be stopped, the result is tend-er meat. Chuck and round cuts could be as tender as the high-priced cuts.

Not every bit of beef is going to melt in your mouth, Smith admits, but the estimates electrified beef is between 30 and 50 percent more tender than nor-Actually, Texas A&M was not the Ben Franklin seems to have anticipated the Texas A&M researchers by a couple of centuries. In 1749, Franklin reported that killing turkeys electrically "made them uncommonly tender.

Currently there are 25 of the electri-cal beef tenderizing "LeFiell" machines in operation in the United States, with seven of the largest in Texas.

However, Smith says that the number should soar to about 300 here in the United States and by an equal number abroad once the machine is officially cleared by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, which began an investigation of safety features on the machine in April.

"I don't expect any problem in clear-ing OSHA Occupational Safety and Health Administration," says Smith. They have already made one investigation along with the Food Safety and Quality Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and it was approved then.

It shouldn't take long." He says right now the rest of the packing industry is taking a wait-and-see attitude, but demand by buyers of several large food chains is pressing the sup-pliers to move toward processing electri-

"I think most of the industry will move to electrified beef processing, but right now they don't want to spend that kind of money and get blown out of the water by OSHA," he says.

Interest in the electrified beef machines is not solely domestic.

The foreign countries are taking a very active look at the electrical treatments because their beef is a lot tougher than any that the United States pro-

"In Russia for instance, they aren't processing grain fed steers the way we do here," says Smith. "A lot of time what they are processing is three-to four-year-old bulls, and you talk about

That's one of the prime advantages in the electrical beef treatment developed by the Texas A&M researchers: the tougher the meat, the better the process

Dr. Jeff Savel, a Texas Agricultural Extension Service meat specialist who did his Ph.D. dissertation on electrified beef, explains that in the United States only about 5 percent of the young grain-fed beef can really be classified as tough, so what the electrical treatments are doing is to cut down on the tough cuts that occur in the fed-beef supply.

But in one of the foreign countries, where they do not have grain feeding, the change in tenderness would be even

The electrical shocks affect only muscle fibers and have no effect on organ meats such a liver or kidney.

"We have noticed that the process makes the beef a little brighter than usual and extends the case life of meats on display," says Savel.

PLAINS AGRICULTURE

BY DUANE HOWELL

COTTON IS PROGRESSING WELL across the South Plains, says Dr. James Leser, area extension entomologist at Lubbock.

"There are still many fields which have not begun squaring," he says.

These fields are going to have a rough time making respectable yields even if no further delay is incurred from weather or insect damage. Several fields observed, Leser says, had about 2,600 blooms and bolls per

Cotton fleahoppers continue to be found in many but not all squaring fields, he says. Only 17 percent of the squaring fields examined last week in Lynn County had any fleahoppers and these did not require treatment. Fewer than 25 percent of the fleahopper-infested fields checked needed treatment.

Referring again to a "sliding action level," Leser emphasizes that it is extremely important to realize that thresholds for treatment are dynamic and vary from field to field and depend upon the condition of the crop in relation to time of year. Bug and damage counts are not sufficient to make management decisions.

"ONCE COTTON BEGINS BLOOMING," he says, "I don't get too excited about fleahoppers unless I am not satisfied with the number of fruit already

"Obviously, in a field that was beginning to bloom and had set less than 50 percent of its fruit, the action level would be much lower than a in a field having set 75 percent of its fruit." The entomologist stresses that growers shouldn't give fleahoppers a chance to delay cotton further. But they also should be realistic about yield potential when establishing the action level, he adds. Late fruit might add pounds to the yield but poor fiber quality may discount the entire yield and offset the monetary gain from weight alone, he

Pointing out that it's about 20 to 30 days from square initiation to white bloom, Leser says growers shouldn't attempt to save squares that don't have a chance of making an open boll. Boll period - the days between white bloom and boll opening - is affected by season, he points out. Bolls dev eloping late in the season have a longer boll period, which is dependent on temperature on the High Plains.

ON THE AVERAGE, A WHITE BLOOM on Aug. 1 will reach maturity on Sept. 25, Leser says, a boll period of 56 days. A white bloom on Aug. 15 will reach maturity on Oct. 6, a boll period of 62 days, and a white bloom on Sept. 1 will mature by Nov. 9 for a boll period of 70 days.

Peak bloom is figured as approximately 18 days afer appearance of the first white blooms. About 75 percent of the crop, Leser says, is set during the first three weeks of blooming.

A few bollworm eggs continue to be found in scattered locations. So far, Leser says, the highest infestation of eggs reported was less than 3 percent. No larvae or damaged squares of any significance have been found.

"We probably don't even need to worry about this pest until after Aug. 10 in areas north of Abernathy and after Aug. 20 to the south," the entomologist

Grasshoppers continue to plague cotton in scattered locations. Most producers either have ignored this pest or have given up on achieving control. Leser says there are a few instances of excessive damage to stands along field mar-

BOTH COTTON APHIDS AND COWPEA APHIDS are showing up in many fields, Leser says, adding that there is "no need to get alarmed." These insects, he says, will provide a food source to generate populations of beneficials to help out on any bollworm control that may be needed.

"Beneficial populations are increasing in most fields examined." Leser s. "The most abundant beneficial found has been spiders. These are also one of the better flehopper predators."

Spiders ambush flahoppers as they walk by their hiding places, the entomologist says. Most other beneficials, including lady beetles, do not move fast enough to catch fleahoppers. Turning to other crops, Leser says greenbugs have increased in most sorghum fields, with some seed production fields requiring treatment. Southwestern corn borers and spider mites remain light, he says, with no corn fields needing treatment.

Emmy Still Seeking Prestige Equal To Oscar's

By VERNON SCOTT HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Academy of Television Arts & Sciences will annce its nominations next week, ever nxious of attaining the simplicity and of the movies' Academy

Emmy, for 30 years a poor relation to car, hasn't been able to produce the learna inherent in singling out one best ctor and actress nor the suspense of ming one show as "the best."

ecause of the greater numbers of TV shows in a welter of formats it is well nigh impossible to compare a series of great performances by Carroll O'Connor in "All in The Family" with a brilliant, one-shot performance by, say, Laurence Olivier in a TV movie.

The video academy does its best to reward outstanding performances in three different categories: best come series, drama series and limited series

Altogether, there are 25 separate categories in this year's competition, 30 percent fewer than last season's Emmy

Tricia Robins, executive director of the academy, says as many as 30 Emmys may be awarded due to ties.

"There is no way we can pare down our awards to a single 'best produc-tion'," she said. "And we can't limit awards to a single best actor or actress. "Anyone who watches television knows the programs are extremely varied. It wouldn't be fair to compare the work of an actor or actress in a weekly series of any kind against a single performance in a TV movie or miniseries.

Ballots have been mailed to approximately 3,300 academy members in a voting system as complicated as the awards

There are 15 different nominating ballots. Actors get one ballot, directors another, writers another, and so on down the line to cinematographers and art directors. One common ballot goes out for best programs.

The academy calls the system "peer group balloting." The system is an effort to eliminate blind voting by conducting, in effect, 15 different Emmy contests for

The final nominees are screened for blue ribbon panels, which judge the five nominees in each category. Winners will be announced at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium, Sept. 9, at an open end Emmy awards special, television this year by

Cheryl Ladd and Henry Winkler will be cohosts of the 31st Annual Emmy Awards show, which will enliven the presentations with musical and comedy

As in past years, sports, news and daytime programs will not be part of the awards ceremonies. Recognition of those elements of TV inevitably add to the tedium of a show which many consider over-long as it is.

Recently the limited series or miniseries created the most excitement and the largest number of Ernmy winners.

Last year the big winner was "Holocaust." Three years ago it was "Roots."

This season insiders tab "Centenni-"Backstairs at the White House" and "Roots: The Next Generations" as favorites to pick up the lion's share of

But it is the bread-and-butter shows, the weekly series, which generally hold the most interest for inveterate TV view-

Old favorites manage to garner Emmys year after year. In 1978, for instance, it was Carroll O'Connor and Jean Stapleton who won best actor and actress awards for "All in the Family." Best actor and actress in dramatic series went to Ed Asner (Lou Grant) and Sada Thompson (Family).

"We have tried to discontinue the proliferation of awards," said academy president Hank Reiger. "In all fairness, some members feel that because of the nature of our business there should be more awards.

"It's not cut and dried like motion pictures. You can't lump everything into "The Emmys are not a popularity contest like the Oscars. Peer group blue ribbon panels devote two days and evenings to viewing the nominees. The panels are made up of 15 or 20 leaders in

Television Producer William Todman Dies

NEW YORK (AP) - William S. Todman, co-developer of such popular tele-vision game shows as "What's My Line? "T've Got a Secret" and "Match Game," is dead at age 62.

Todman and his partner, Mark Goodson, were among the earliest and most successful televion producers. Their partnership, formed in 1946, also created The Price is Right," "To Tell the Truth" and "Password."

Todman, who had a history of heart problems, became ill at his home in Scarsdale last Tuesday and was taken to New York University Medical Center. He underwent surgery Sunday and died Sunday night. He would have celebrated his 63rd birthday Tuesday.

Besides broadcast properties, Good-son and Todman had controlling interest or ownership of several newspapers, in-cluding the Pawtucket Times in Rhode Island and the Trentonian and the ElizaGoodson-Todman corporation bought ra-dio station KOL-AM-FM in Seattle, Wash., in 1963

Todman, a New Yorker, went into radio as a free-lance writer and producer in 1938, the year he was graduated from Johns Hopkins University. In the early 1940s he wrote and directed musical broadcasts featuring Connie Boswell and Anita Ellis

In 1946 he and Goodson sold their first package, a show called "Winner Take All," to the CBS radio network.

Besides their successful game shows drama offerings of the team included "The Web," "Jefferson Drum," "Philip Marlowe," "Branded" and an anthology series, "The Richard Boone Show."

In the publishing side of the partnership, Todman was president of Central States Publishing Co., Mid-Atlantic Newspapers, and Central States Publishing Co. and vice president of New England Newspapers and Capital City Pub-thropies, chairing broadcast and entertainment divisions of the United Jewish Appeal and the Federation of Jewish Philantrophies and others.

beth Daily Journal in New Jersey. A lishing Co. Stranded Whale Given Trip Back Out To Sea

BOSTON (AP) - After tender, loving care from a bucket brigade of animal lovers, a stranded 2,000-pound whale headed back to its ocean home, Monday, where marine biologists believe other sea mammals will care for it.

The animal externally and internally appears to be in good health," John Prescott, director of the New England Aquarium, said Monday. The female pilwhale was rushed to the aquarium, Sunday, after being washed up on the beach near the Cape Cod Bay village of Prescott said the aquarium planned to take the mammal into open ocean aboard the "Phipps," a research vessel based in Boston. He said the whale would be loaded on a stretcher, and transported some 20 to 30 miles out to sea.

"It has to be taken out far enough where there is an adequate food supply for it, and hopefully where there is a school of pilot whales or a school of dolphins," aquarium spokeswoman Roz Ridgway said.

Those animals tend to take care of one another.

Transporting the 15-foot mammal aboard the vessel had to be cleared with the National Marine Fisheries Service, which governs the handling of whales, dolphins and seals, Prescott said. At first, marine biologists thought the black sea mammal, believed to be an adolescent, had pneumonia, but Prescott said laboratory tests showed it to be in good condition.

The whale, christened "Saquish" after the beach where it washed up, was fed heavy cream and chopped fish Monday at the aquarium to give it back its strength. Attendants maintained a round-the-clock watch on it to make sure the whale didn't tire and drown in the holding tank.

Baseball Bat Killer Gets Long Sentence

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) - Michael Spearman, 22, received the maximum sentence of 25 years to life imprisonment Monday in Westchester County Court for the baseball bat slaying of his employer, country and western singer Linda "Charlee" Scott.

Miss Scott's 10-year-old daughter found her mother's body last Nov. 10 lying in a pool of blood in an upstairs bedroom of the New Rochelle mansion that had been bought for the singer by her fiance and benefactor, Manhattan lawyer George Osterman.

Spearman, a former handyman, appeared for sentencing before Judge Gerard Delaney in Westchester County Court. He had been found guilty of second-degree murder May 24. Defense attorney Irving Kreppel asked for leniency for his client. He said Spearman had consistently denied killing Miss Scott, even under questioning by a physician who had given him Sodium Pentothal, sometimes called truth ser-

Spearman's confession to New Rochelle police, Kreppel said, resulted from seven hours of questioning while no lawyer was present.

'He was boxed in."

The attorney sai he would file an appeal immediately.

The action prevented a direct vote on expulsion, and means that Diggs can keep his House seat and voting privileges while appealing his conviction.

The move also cleared the way for a Major supporters of the expulsion move said they expect the House to approve the censure motion Tuesday and that they planned no further effort at this time to expel Diggs.

But they said another attempt could come if Diggs is unsuccessful in his at-tempts to get his federal conviction set aside. The move to expel Diggs was led by Reps. Dan Lungren and William E. Dan-nemeyer, both California Republicans. and co-sponsored by 40 other Republi-cans. Lungren and Dannemeyer said they offered their motion because House rules prevented them from trying to amend the ethics committee recommendation to change the punishment from censure to expulsion.

As a result, they said, the only chance they had to bring the question of expulsion to a vote was by offering their

Hit By Power Failure

BOSTON (AP) — A tree falling on a power line and a mechanical failure at generating plant caused a massive power failure Monday that affected about 00,000 residents of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, utility officials said.

Earlier, officials had blamed the two-hour outage on overuse of air conditioners that overloaded the power system. However, they later said hot weather aggravated, but did not create, the problem.

Lights flickered off and air conditioners died in dozens of cities and towns, coluding Roston Worcester, Mass, and Providence, R. I. The outage began at

As the regional power network began to break down, utilities switched off ower to about 15 percent of their customers to keep the blackout from preading further.

John Stevens, a vice president of Boston Edison, said the blackout was riggered when a tree fell across a 345,000-volt power line that links Massachuetts and Rhode Island with Connecticut.

About a half hour later, a malfunctioning safety device intended to guard gainst excess bearing wear shut down a large generator at Everett, Mass. Within 15 minutes, this loss of power caused an overload at another generator as Somewher Mass.

Senators Give Nod To Duncan, Volcker

Energy Committee unanimously approved the nomination of Charles W. Duncan as secretary of energy Monday, as the Senate moved swiftly to confirm President Carter's appointments to his Meanwhile. Carter's choice to head the Federal Reserve Board, Paul A. Volcker, pledged to the Senate Banking Committee that he will remain independent of the administration and take a tough line on inflation.

Board — an independent body not part of the Cabinet — will not attempt to lower interest rates at a time of soaring inflation. He declined to speculate whether interest rates must go higher.

The nominees testified as the Senate moved swiftly to confirm the appointments made by Carter to the Cabinet he has overhauled drastically in the past two weeks.

Only two nominees, who were announced only last Friday, have not gone

Landrieu, former mayor of New Orleans, named secretary of housing and ur-ban development, and Neil Goldschmidt, mayor of Portland, Ore., appointed secretary of transportation.

Of Carter's seven key appointments, one already has won Senate confirmation - Patricia Roberts Harris as secretary of health, education and welfare. More Voting Expected

At least three more are expected to go to the Senate floor this week - Attorney General-designate Benjamin Civiletti, Treasury Secretary-designate G. William Miller and Duncan.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is expected to approve Civiletti's nomination Tuesday after three days of hearings. The Senate Finance Committee has been holding hearings on Miller, former Federal Reserve chairman. Volcker's nomination as Miller's successor also could go to the floor this week. A Banking Committee vote on his appointment is expected Wednesday.

The Senate Energy Committee's 16-0 approval of Duncan's appointment came after the 52-year-old former Coca-Cola president, who now serves as deputy defense secretary, assured senators he had been promised direct access to the president and that he will not serve simply as a minion of the White House staff.

"I have a clear understanding that I will report directly to the president." said Duncan, who would succeed James R. Schlesinger at the Energy Depart-

Cooperation Promised

Senators reportedly have been con-cerned that Carter's shake-up would consolidate power in the White House and take Cabinet members out of the policy decision-making process. Duncan sought to assure the senators that he, not the White House staff, "will deal with policy.'

Duncan also tried to mend fences with senators sensitive to the hostility that often marked Schlesinger's relations with Congress. Duncan promised to cooperate with Congress to create "the padest possible national consensus" on energy matters.

Volcker's appointment is different from the other six. While the others will be members of the Cabinet, answerable to the president, Volcker will become head of the independent board that that regulates major banks and sets the nation's monetary policy.

After his confirmation. Volcker assured the senators, the board will act in-

Policies Might Clash

"I want to be clear that monetary policies ultimately are those of the Federal Reserve and they might clash at some point ... with what the administration believes are appropriate in particu-lar circumstances," Volcker testified.

Volcker's appointment as Federal claimed both in the United States and abroad. A Democrat, Volcker served as a treasury undersecretary for monetary affairs during the Nixon administration He helped engineer the devaluations of the dollar in 1971 and 1973. In 1975, he became president of the Federal Re-serve Bank of New York, the largest of 12 district banks in the Federal Reserve

When confirmed, the six new Cabinet members will join the six members who remained after the shake-up. They are Secretary of State Cyrus R. "I thought it was unfair to base a decision on one interview," he said. "Most were positive to her appointment because of some of the things she has done and her obvious interests in the area.

"She is someone who could get things done," he said, adding, "Mrs. Lanier has our support and we look forward to working with her.

The main arguments against her, according to Cole, were that she is white and not bilingual. But he does not consider those very good criticisms.

"She's got a record of getting things done," he said. "I don't see how we could pass that in an applicant."

Miss Alfaro said she was impressed with Mrs. Lanier's enthusiasm, adding, 'I feel she'll be able to accomplish many things (and) I'm confident the commission will be able to work with her very well.

Long-Jailed Algerian Leader Free

M'SILA. Algeria (AP) — Ahmed Ben Bella, the first president of independent Algeria, spent 14 years under arrest before his release this month. Now living in a limbo between prison and freedom. he keeps a close watch on events in his country and the world.

In a terse announcement July 4, the Algerian government said it had lifted "measures concerning" the 63-year-old Ben Bella and allowed him to return to his house in the village of M'sila.

Alert, smiling and surprisingly younglooking, the revolutionary leader can be seen coming and going from his house, taking occasional trips by car in the

He looks much the same as he did in the years 1963 to 1965 when he presided over the destiny of Algeria after its break from France.

Foreigners have not seen him since June 19, 1965, the day Defense Minister Houari Boumedienne led the military coup that deposed him.

"Longest-Held"

For the moment, the man sometimes referred to as "the longest-held political prisoner in the world," has accepted his new status with relative serenity, according to people close to him. The quiet villa is a definite improvement over the harsh regime at Chateau Holden prison near Algiers.

At the villa, "friends of the family" filter past the guards to see him. But no foreigners or strangers do. Ben Bella answered a few questions from a French radio station, so now he is not allowed direct telephone calls. His mail is cen-

President Boumedienne, who died last Dec. 27, reportedly was concerned until the very end about what would happen if he freed Ben Bella, afraid of his predecessor's popularity with the Algerian people.

Who are these people who daily troop to M'sila in hopes of seeing Ben Bella? "Many old friends," says a member of the family entourage.

Ben Bella surprised visitors with his knowledge of Algeria and the world today. He read hundreds of books in his 14 years of detention. Zohra, his wife, says he has not ex-he had decided to become a killer. Between March 1962 and 1967 he was sentenced in absentia to 412 years in prison on three different charges. Fleeing to Canada in 1969, he abducted industrialist Georges Delaurier and extracted a ransom of $200,000. He was arrested in 1971 and imprisoned in Montreal, but escaped shortly thereafter.

After a number of holdups in the United States in 1971, he was accused of killing a hotel owner in Quebec and a se-ries of armed robberies in Canada. Arrested in 1972, he escaped again.
In September 1972, he and Jean-Paul

Mercier were charged with killing two Canadian game wardens. Mercier was caught. Mesrine returned to France where he was arrested. After several more exploits, he made his latest escape last year, and wasted little time returning to crime. The month he escaped he strode into the police station at the Normandy coastal resort of Deauville. Flashing a police ID card, he demanded to see the chief. Told the chief was not in, Mesrine calmly walked out, went over the the Deauville casino and robbed it.

Vietnamese Scoff At China's War Aid Claims

PEKING (AP) — Chinese officiats, divulging a long secret chapter of the Indochina War, said Monday that Peking sent 300,000 soldiers to Vietnam — including anti-aircraft crews — to help Hanoi fight U.S. forces. They said more than 1,000 were killed.

The Vietnamese disputed the figures, however, saying the number of Chinese in Vietnam during the war was "tiny."

The statements came after an acrimonious and fruitless round of peace talks between the two countries. China reminded Vietnam of its past military help in order to underline what it says are it good intentions toward its smaller southern neighbor.

But the negotiations remained at an

Yang Gongsu, deputy head of the Chinese delegation, said at a news conference following the talks that China had supplied more than 300,000 army personnel to Vietnam between 1964 and 1971. They worked as anti-aircraft artil-lerymen, road builders, railway workers gistics teams to keep supply lines

If the Chinese were on one-year rotation duty in Vietnam, this means 40,000 or 50,000 would have been there at any one time. At the height of the war, men were serving in the Indochina theater. More than 1,000 Chinese soldiers were killed and several thousand others were wounded, he said. He said the Chinese did not enter South Vietnam, indicating that the casualties were the result of American air raids on the North.

During the war there were persistent reports that unknown numbers of Chinese military advisers and techni-cians were in North Vietnam. But this was believed to be the first time China has officially acknowledged sending troops to its communist ally's aid.

It was known at the time that both China and the Soviet Union were pour ing material aid into North Vietnam. Yang said the Chinese supplied more than 2 million guns, more than 270 million rounds of annunition, 37,000 artillery pieces, 18.8 million artillery shells, 179 aircraft and 145 naval vessels.

The head of the Chinese delegation to the talks, Han Nianlong, said at the negotiating session, "When the United States started a massive invasion of southern Vietnam and wanton bombing in the North, we ... went all out to help defend the airspace of northern Viet-to ship food and supplies, he said. "The bones of Chinese martyrs in their thousands remain on Vietnamese soil," he said. ".... Was all this to 'annex Vietnam'?"

Vietnamese negotiator Dinh Nho Liem said at a news conference that the 300,000 figure "pure fabrication" and the actual number was "tiny." Besides the Chinese in Vietnam, Western reports said some 20,000 Chinese soldiers were in Laos during the war, building an all-weather road from China's Yunnan province into northwestern Laos. The peace talks were begun to resolve the disputes between Vietnam and China that led to a brief but bloody border war earlier this year. Despite the continued bitterness across the negotiating table, both sides indicated they were willing to meet again for a 10th session, the fifth in Peking. No date was set.

"It is highly questionable whether the Vietnamese side has any sincerity for negotiations," Han said.

He again denounced the Vietnamese "export" of refugees and said Vietnam must stop its "expansionism" before any progress is made in negotiations.

Dinh said the talks have failed so far because China is unwilling to sign an

Three separate stabbings were re-corded Sunday in the city and Lubbock County, with two persons receiving hos-pital treatment and a third reportedly refusing medical aid.

Deputies said they arrived on the scene and saw the man bleeding cuts and leaning over a water faucet.

The man's nephew reportedly said he slashed his uncle after the victim began cursing a woman. No arrests had been made by Monday.

In another cutting, Maria Helen Hernandez, 18, of 1711-A Ave. R was injured after being in an altercation about 11 p.m. Sunday outside a club at Broadway and Teak Avenue.

The woman was listed in satisfactory condition Monday morning at Methodist Hospital.

ury Selection Moving Swiftly In New Davis Trial

FORT WORTH (AP) — The murder-for hire trial of millionaire Cullen Davis got off to an unusually swift start Mon-day when 50 of the first 80 prospective jurors said they had formed no opinion as to innocence or guilt.

Trial Judge Gordon Gray, admitting he was surprised so few had formed an opinion, said attorneys for both sides would begin individual questioning to-harmed, cooperated with the FBI in a bizarre drama that led to Davis' arrest Aug. 20.

A previous attempt to try the wealthy oil heir on the murder solicitation charge ended last January in a mistrial. A Houston jury deadlocked, 8-4 in favor of conviction.

Gray granted a series of defense motions designed to prohibit prosecutors from raising certain issues before prospective jurors, including the panel of 38 summoned Monday.

Those issues included the 8-4 vote for a guilty verdict by jurors in the Houston trial and the fact that Davis testified there in his own behalf. The second motion indicated it is not the foregone conclusion Davis will again take the stand. Other motions sought to preclude mention of the assassination earlier this year of a federal judge in San Antonio and to prohibit any comment about polygraph tests.

The latter motion presumably stemmed from a challenge by FBI informant David McCrory for Davis to join him in a joint lie detector confrontation.

Monday's motion for continuance was based on unsuccessful attempts by the defense to locate a key witness, onetime Fort Worth karate instructor Pat Burleson, 43.

ARLINGTON (AP) - Pinch-hitter Al Greene's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning off ace reliever Jim Kern led the Detroit Tiger to a 6-4 victory over the Texas Rangers Monday night in a game highlighted by the appearance of Mickey Rivers, obtained earlier in the day from the New York Yankees in a trade. ignited a two-run Rangers rally as a pinch hitter in the seventh inning that tied the game 4-4.

Kern got into trouble in the top of the eighth inning by walking Jason Thompson and pinch hitter Champ Summers. Aurelio Rodriguez singled to load the bases before Greene delivered his game-winning fly ball. The Tigers added an insurance run in the ninth off Kern on Jerry Morales' RBI single.

John Hiller, 4-7, was the winner with relief help from Aurelio Lopez, who earned his ninth save. Danny Darwin, 2-2, who had put the winning run on base with a walk, was the loser.

Detroit scored two runs in a first highlighted by a double steal in which Tom Brookens made a delayed steal of home after Morales had stolen second John Wockenfuss homered in the second inning for a 3-0 Tiger lead. The Tigers made it 40 in the fourth on an RBI groundout by Ron LeFlore.

Texas chipped away at the lead with Nelson Norman's run-producing double in the fifth, an RBI single by Jim Sur berg in the sixth and two runs in Rivers Ranger debut in the seventh. Rivers singled to center and Larvell Blanks delivered a pinch single. After a sacrifice, Al Oliver drilled a single, scoring Rivers and Blanks.

Detroit's Ron LeFlore led off the Tom Brookens' infield single. Steve Kemp struck out and Lance Parrish popped out but Jerry Morales singled LeFlore home with Brookens taking third. On a delayed steal, Morales stole second, then Brookens stole home. 'The Rangers' first hit came in the second inning because of a collision between Morris and first baseman Jason Thompson. Oscar Gamble hit a slow roller which Thompson fielded cleanly and tried to beat Gamble to the bag However, Thompson collided with Morris, who was trying to cover first.

After Wockenfuss collected his 10th homer of the year in the second, the Tigers made it 4-0 in the fourth inning on back-to-back singles by Aurelio Rodriguez and Alan Trammell followed by Lef'lore's RBI groundout.

Oliver, who was told he must shift to left field following Monday's contest, said: "I am tired of being moved around. I have a better arm than Rivers. This team had all winter to trade for a center fielder.

Moore drove Stone's first pitch about 10 feet beyond the left field fence with one out in the Brewers third. It was Moore's fifth homer of the year. The only other Brewer to reach base against Stone, 9-7, was Don Money, who walked two times - with one out in the fifth and two out in the ninth.

It was after the second walk to Mon-ey that Stone was lifted in favor of Martinez, a southpaw who came in to pitch to the lefthand-hitting Cecil Cooper. Martinez got Cooper to loft a fly ball to left on the first pitch to record his first save this year.

The Cubs fell behind 4-0 after four innings, but pulled even with a four-run eighth. Highlighting the inning were an RBI single by Ken Henderson, a two-run triple by Ivan DeJesus and a game-tying single by Bill Buckner.

The Phillies took a 3-0 lead in the first when Bake McBride singled and stole second and Schmidt walked. Cubs starter Rick Reuschel made a wild pickoff throw to first, allowing McBride to score and Schmidt to take third before Boone hit his ninth homer of the season.

The veteran southpaw, winning his fourth game in five decisions, struck out two and walked one.

Kansas City banged eight hits off three Toronto huriers, including starter Dave Stieb, 3-2. The Blue Jay trio also walked six and hit a batter.

The Royals took a 2-0 lead in the first on a run-scoring groundout by Amos Otis and an RBI single by Pete LaCock, then made it 3-0 on George Brett's double, a wild pitch and Porter's infield out in the third

Kansas City knocked Stieb out with six runs in the sixth on four walks and three hits, including a bases-loaded single by Porter that scored two.

PIRATES 8, METS 5

Ed Ott's tie-breaking RBI single sparked a three-run eighth inning, and the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the New York Mets 8-5.

Omar Moreno added a sacrifice fly and Tim Foli contributed a run-scoring single as the Pirates won for the fourth time in five games.

Pittsburgh tied it 5-5 with three runs in the fifth when Moreno singled and scored on Foli's double to left center. Dave Parker delivered Foli with a single, then scored on a throwing error by Mets' first baseman Willie Montanez.

New York took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on John Stearns' seventh home run of the season, but Pittsburgh went ahead 2-1 in the bottom of the inning on consecutive singles by Moreno, Foli, Parker and Willie Stargell.

The Mets made it 3-2 in the second as Dan Norman tripled home Steve Henderson before Craig Swan singled to score Norman from third.

The Mets picked up two more runs in the third. Richie Hebner singled, went to second on Henderson's single, then scored on a single by Montanez that Moreno bobbled in center field.

Henderson sprained his left ankle sliding into third, was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to a hospital for X rays. He was replaced by Joel Youngblood, who scored from third on a sacrifice fly by Norman.

The victory went to Pirates reliever Grant Jackson, 6-2, with Kent Tekulve collecting his 18th save. Dwight Bernard 0-2 was the loser

CARDINALS TAKE OPENER

Keith Hernandez drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a sacrifice fly, and the St. Louis Cardinals rode the five-hit pitching of John Denny to a 7-2 victory over the Montreal Expos in the first game of a doubleheader.

The fourth grand slam of Hernandez career came off Woody Fryman, who had relieved starter Bill Lee, 10-7, after eighth-inning singles by Mike Tyson and Garry Templeton

Fryman walked Jerry Mumprhey to fill the bases, then Hernandez powered a 3-2 pitch over the right-center field

Ted Simmons followed with a solo homer, his 19th of the season.

That was more than enough for Denny, 5-8, who gave up both Montreal runs in the fourth on Gary Carter's bloop RBI single and a run-scoring double by Ellis

The Cardinals tied it 2-2 in the sixth inning when Hernandez's sacrifice fly scored Templeton.

Montreal's fourth-inning runs wiped out a first-inning Cardinals tally which was set up by Larry Parrish's throwing error. After Ken Reitz reached second on the error, consecutive singles by Mike Tyson and Denny scored him.

Ex-Premier Said To Lead Iran Faction

PARIS (AP) - Shahpour Bakhtiar, the Iranian premier who fled when militant Moslems seized control of the country, will lead a non-religious front in Iran's elections for a constituent assembly, a spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman, who declined to be identified, did not say whether Bakhtiar would return to Iran to conduct a campaign personally for the Aug. 3 election of a 73-member assembly.

Avatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the Moslem holy man who organized the uprising that ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, has said Iran would seek to extradite the "criminal Bakhtiar" to stand trial for alleged crimes against the

According to Bakhtiar's spokesman, the former premier arrived in France, Monday, but he did not say from what country. It is generally believed Bakhtiar has been living in Switzerland or France since going into hiding. Feb. 12.

The spokesman said Bakhtiar would soon announce his return to "active political life on the occasion of the elec-

"Almost all the non-religious opposition parties, who opposed the shah for many years, have asked Bakhtiar to come out of the dark and be the leader of a democratic, non-religious Iran where all religions will have complete freedom of worship," the spokesman

Khomeini, a strict Moslem fundamentalist who rules Iran through a provisional government, has said the constituent assembly should draw up a constitution making the country an Islamic re-

The shah asked Bakhtiar to form a new government in December as the eountry was being torn by street battles. Bakhtiar, an opponent of the shah for a quarter of a century, agreed to head a government if the monarch would leave

He won a vote of confidence from the now-dissolved Parliament on Jan. and the shah, who is now living in Mexico, went into exile.

Khomeini returned to Iran from 'exile in France, Feb. I, and when he announced that Bakhtiar would be tried for unspecified crimes involving collaboration with the shah, the premier went uunderground.

There appears to be little chance for Bakhtiar and other opponents of a rigid religious state to gain much of a voice in the constituent assemby.

The government announced, June 30, that an "assembly of experts" would be elected to review a constitution now being drawn up by Khomeini's aides.

It set these requirements for candi-They must "believe in the Islamic republican order of Iran and be faithful to this order." They must be well known for their political, economic and social activities. Their eligibility will be determined by special revolutionary boards formed by local government officials and civic leaders. Barred from the election are senior officials of the provisional government and all officials who served under the

Huey Newton Says Acquittal At Hand

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Black Panther leader Huey Newton, predicting "unanimous acquittal," was told Monday he had a few days more to wait before his retrial on charges of killing an Oakland prostitute.

The first trial ended in February in a mistrial - the jury deadlocked at 10-2 for acquittal. The new trial had been scheduled to get under way immediately, but Judge John S. Cooper told a brief Alameda County Superior Court hearing that no om was available and for all involved to come back Thursday. He also said he could not guarantee space even

Whether it starts Thursday or not, both sides and the judge agreed the trial should be started no later than the end

The entire session took only about five minutes in a half-filled courtroom - a contrast to the tight security and large crowds that characterized the original trial in February. Only one bailiff, apparently unarmed, was in evidence

Prior to the hearing. Newton said, "I'm optimistic I'm going to be acquitted, unarnimously. There is no substance to this trial. The last time, they voted 10-2 for acquittal. The only purpose for this is to harass me."

U.S. Reports Labor Productivity Falling

productivity among American workers during the second quarter took its largest tumble in five years, adding more fuel to the fires of inflation, the government reported Monday.

The Labor Department said the decline in productivity during the April-June period produced another sharp rise in labor costs, which signals higher consumer prices ahead.

The department said productivity in the second quarter fell at an annual rate of 3.8 percent, the sharpest quarterly drop since a 6.9 percent drop in the first quarter of 1974, when the country was heading into a recession — as it is now.

It was the second consecutive quarter in which productivity has fallen. Productivity declined 2.8 percent in the first

The last time productivity fell two quarters in a row was in 1974.

Productivity is a measure of goods and services produced per hour. An increase in productivity helps offset steadily rising wages by letting a business spread its total labor costs among a larger number of goods produced for sale.

However, a drop in productivity combined with rising wages means sharply higher unit labor costs, as occurred in the second quarter.

The Labor Department said unit labor costs during the quarter jumped by 13.6 percent at an annual rate. In the first quarter, unit labor costs rose 14.6 percent at an annual rate.

Such a sharp rise "ends up being a big cost increase from the producers' standpoint," said Lawrence Fulco, a department economist. "It certainly will be a major inflationary pressure."

The department said the latest productivity drop was the result of a 4.7 percent decline in output and a 0.9 percent decline in hours worked.

In the manufacturing segment of the economy, productivity actually increased at a healthy annual rate of 3.3 percent, the government said. But the increase was more than offset by declines in other businesses, such as transportation, communications and other service indus-

Productivity rates for American workers have risen more slowly than in most other industrialized nation during the past few years. U.S. productivity rose 1.1 percent last year and 2.1 percent

The Carter administration has identified the lagging U.S. productivity rate as a major contributor to inflation, and has urged business and labor unions to work together in increasing the rate.

Productivity is affected both by labor-saving machines and work rules.

Cheapest Airline Fares Elusive, But Available

Associated Press Writer Question: Are today's air fares: (a) up; (b) down; or (c) unchanged? Answer: All of the above.

It depends on where you are going, when you are flying and whether you can make your way through the maze of competing offers to end up with the cheapest possible ticket.

Representatives of major world airlines, meeting in Geneva, agreed on Monday to increase passenger fares and cargo rates to cover increased fuel costs.

That means flying overseas generally will be more expensive after Sept. 1 when the price hikes take effect. But the increases will vary from airline to airline. Spokesmen for U.S. airlines, many of which did not participate in the Geneva talks, said they would have no immediate comment. And the bargain fares particularly on the highly competitive North Atlantic route - will continue to make it possible for careful shoppers to est fare available today actually may be lower than it was five years ago. Regular fares, however, have risen about 40 percent during the same period.

Determination and adaptability are the key to saving money. Ticket sellers and travel agents may not necessarily quote the cheapest price. You have to ask questions - lots of them - and you may have to change your plans to take advantage of a bargain. "There are many, many discounts, but you've got to fit into the scheme of things," said Jack Yohe, of the CAB's consumer protection division.

Here are some questions to ask to make sure you get the best deal:

*Are there discounts for flying during the week? If, so, what days are covered? For some airlines, the "weekend" begins on Thursday; for others, it doesn't start until Friday.

•Is it cheaper to fly at night? And, again, what is the exact definition of . What sort of time limits are there? •Are there cancellation penalties? ·How far in advance do you have to buy your ticket? ·What kinds of discounts are available for children?

•Does your bargain ticket entitle you to regular service?

Do stopovers cost extra? •Is a round-trip automatically cheaper than two one-way fares?

Judge Plays

ARTHUR KAPLAN

ATLANTA (AP) - He has provided aid at fires, car crashes and airplane accidents. He has been shot at while trying to save wounded policemen and threatened with death while trying to stop a suicide attempt.

Municipal Court Judge Arthur Kaplan doesn't get paid for any of it.

"It's just a rewarding, invigorating part of my life," the 54-year-old judge said. "Some things you buy with money, and some things you get a reward of life that money can't buy.

For the last 20 years, the judge has taught emergency medical techniques to police officers, firefighters and others likely to be first at an accident scene. He estimates that he has treated 18,000 accident victims and trained 10,000 persons in emergency techniques.

Kaplan participates in emergency care seminars around the country and teaches a course at the Georgia Institute of Technology. And night after night, the judge, who is married and has three children, cruises Atlanta streets, listening to the police and fire department radios in his car.

Kaplan is the only person ever honored with seven American Red Cross Certificates of Merit, each issued after a doctor certified that his actions saved a life. He received a commendation from former President Gerald Ford and was also honored with a "Judge Arthur Kaplan Day" in Atlanta.

"Don't make me out to be a hero," Kaplan said. "I'm not a hero. I just saw a need for it. You've only got four minutes (to live) if there is stoppage of breathing, and you can bleed to death easily

Kaplan was one of the pioneers who showed the need for police and firefighters to carry emergency first aid kits.

"Twenty years ago, there was no such thing (as emergency medical care)," he said. "An ambulance came to the scene to take you to the hospital, and if you got to the hospital, good. It used to be police were told to keep their hands off. Now it is a prime responsibility, because police officers are often the first on the scene

Kaplan, a Navy frogman in the Pacific during World War II, said he received a crash course in emergency medical techniques when his ship was shelled. "We got hit 16 times by enemy shore batteries, and our people were scattered everywhere. I worked with the doctor. because no one knew what to do. I had a little training with the Boy Scouts," he

The judge is well known for "talking down" persons attempting suicide and often has lectured on psychiatric emergencies. "You always approach with extreme caution, never do anything suddenly," he said. "You never lie to them, never threaten them. And never let people feel that you feel sorry for them.

Once, while talking to a woman who threatened to shoot herself with a .38caliber pistol, Kaplan found the weapon

"She said she was going to blow my brains out," he said. "The psychiatrist who called me left the room quickly. ... By the time he came back, I had talked her into giving me the weapon.

Kaplan, who has been caught in crossfires while aiding wounded persons, said he often thinks about the danger he

"You'd be a fool not to think about it, but somebody has to do it," he said. "You match wits with fate and outwit it. I guess that sums up why I do it."

Consumer Chief Blasts Decision

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Mark White's decision to stop taking consumer complaints strikes a blow against the Consumer Protection Act, the executive director of the Texas Consumer Association said Monday.

"The move by Attorney General White is nothing more than taking away the right of thousands of Texans to receive redress from unscrupulous business people," said Jim Boyle.

White announced last week that because of budget reductions, his office would stop receiving complaints by consumers against businessmen on Sept. 1.

The attorney general said the complaints should go to local Better Business Bureaus.

Boyle said White's move was "unwarranted and strikes another damaging blow at crippling the Consumer Protec-

He said that under former Attorney General John Hill, the attorney general's Consumer Protection Division handled 71,850 complaints and recovered $5.3 million for consumers by mediating their disagreements with businesses.
